That which is the Ground of the Party's Suit cannot be taken by Protestation, for it may be denied by Answer, and Issue may be joined upon it; as in Detinue by the Executor of A. the Defendant cannot take by Protestation that A. did not make the Plaintiff his Executor. S. P. Moor 356. pl. 481 Cro. C. 365, 366. Cart. 39. Doc. Pla. 296. Heath's Max. 26. 1 Finch 176. 2 Finch 359.

Also the Protestations here are repugnant to the Matter pursuant. † For a Protestation (as Walsh defined it) is a saving to the Party who takes it from being concluded by any Matter alledged or objected against him, upon which he cannot join Issue, and it is no more than an Exclusion of a Conclusion, for he that takes it excludes the other from concluding him; and it ought to be consistent with the Sequel of the Plea. But here the Matter taken by the Protestation, viz. the making of the Plaintiff Executor, may be denied by Answer, and Issue may be joined upon it, for it is the Ground of the Suit, and it utterly destroys the Action of the Plaintiff; and such Matter as is the Effect of the Party's Suit cannot be taken by Protestation. Also the Lord Dyer said, that he has confessed in the Plea afterwards a Thing which is meerly contrary to the Protestation, for after that he has alledged in his Plea that the Administration was committed to the Son, and that the Son by force thereof was possessed of the Goods, he says, and being so thereof possessed, afterwards and before the Day of the proving the Testament of the aforesaid Thomas Kene the Testator by the aforesaid Alvared, &c. by which Words (before the Day of the proving the Testament of the aforesaid Thomas Kene the Testator) he agrees that there was a Testator, and a Testament, which is contrary to his Protestation, whereby he denies it. Wherefore his Protestations being repugnant to the Plea afterwards are not well taken.

† Co. Litt. 124. b. Litt. R. 203, 228. Doc. Pla. 295. Heath's Max. 26. 1 Finch 176. 2 Finch 360. Vin. Abr. tit. Protestation A.

Exception 2.

In Detinue by an Executor against the Vendee of Goods sold by an Administrator before the Will proved, the Defendant needs not shew the Letters of Administration. S. P. 1 Show. 408.

And as to another Exception taken to the Bar, in that the Defendant does not shew forth to the Court the Letters of Administration, Walsh and Weston said that this is not ne-ceſſary for two Cauſes, firſt, for that he pleads them by way of Bar, in which Caſe they ſhall not be ſhewn, [a] as they ought to be if a Thing was demanded by the Adminiſtrator; and ſecondly, for that the Defendant here is not privy to them, but they remain with the Adminiſtrator. So that the Plea is good notwithſtanding this Exception.

[a] Same Diverſity P. 10, Ed. 4. 1. a. per Cboke. Fitz. Monſtrans de faits 107. P. 16. Ed. 4. 2. a. 1 Show. 408.

Another Exception was taken to the Plea in Bar, for that the Defendant has alledged that the Adminiſtration was committed to Thomas Kene the Son by the Commiſſary of the Biſhop of Coventry and Litchfield, and has not alledged that the Biſhop of Coventry and Litchfield was the Ordinary of the Place where the Teſtator died; and if the Place was not within his Dioceſe, the Biſhop of Coventry and Litchfield had no Authority to commit Adminiſtration, but it is void, and therefore to make it good he ought to ſhew that the Biſhop was Ordinary of the Place. But Weſton ſaid that it is not neceſſary, becauſe it appears by the Letters of Adminiſtration, that the Teſtator died within the Dioceſe of the Biſhop who committed the Adminiſtration, which ought to be credited by Us, and to be intended accordingly. But the Lord Dyer held the contrary, for inaſmuch as the Adminiſtrator derives his Authority from the Biſhop of Coventry and Litchfield, who has no Power to commit Adminiſtration to him unleſs the Teſtator dies or has Goods within his Dioceſe, therefore it ought to be preciſely averred that the Place where, &c. is within his Dioceſe. And altho' the Letters of Adminiſtration ſhew it, yet they don't bind any in our Law, for they may be [b] denied, and the Seal of the Ordinary ſhall not be concluſive, but it is [c] iſſuable, and ſhall be tried by [d] an Inqueſt in our Law, if Iſſue be joined upon it. And he ſaid that in a Writ of Annuity againſt a Parſon, if he ſays that he found his Church diſcharged, and prays in Aid of the Patron and Ordinary, the uſual Courſe is to pray in Aid of ſuch Biſhop loci illius Ordinarii. And ſo he ought to pray here, and foraſmuch as he has not done ſo, the Plea is not good.

Exception 3. Whether it ought to be averred that the Ordinary who committed the Adminiſtration is Ordinary of the Place where the Teſtator died. See H. 31 H. 6. 13. pl. 5. Fitz. Judgment 35. Bro. Pleading 153. Nels. Lex. Teſtam. 31, 32, 437.

[b] 9 Co. 31. a. 41. a. Doc. Pla. 353.

[c] Theol. Dig. lib. 4. cap. 10. §2.

[d] Dy. 294. pl. 7. 9 Co. 31. a. 40. b. 41. a. Poſt 282 (d).

As to the Matter in Law, Walſh puiſne Juſtice and Dyer Chief Juſtice held the Law for the Plaintiff, and Weſton held it for the Defendant. [e] For, he ſaid, by the Common Law before the Statute of Weſtminſter 2. cap. 19. if a Man had died inteſtate, the Ordinary ſhould have had his Goods to diſpoſe of in pios uſus, for when he died inteſtate, and had not committed his Goods to any Perſon to be diſpoſed of, the Law adjudged the Ordinary the moſt proper Perſon to have the Diſpoſition of them. For it was to be preſumed that the Ordinary, who had the Care of his Soul in his Lifetime, would be the fitteſt to have the Care and Diſpoſal of his Goods in pios uſus after his Death, for which Reaſon when the Inteſtate had not left the Charge of his Goods to any one, the Law committed them to the Ordinary. And therefore the Ordinary might ſeize them, and keep them without Waſt, and he might have [f] given or alien'd them, or have otherwiſe diſpoſed of them at his Pleaſure, and the Money ariſing from them he was to diſpoſe of in pios uſus, and if he did not, he broke the Confidence and Truſt repoſed in him, for which he ſtood charged in Conſcience to God: But nevertheleſs the Gift or Alienation of the Goods by the Ordinary was good by the Law of the Realm. And altho' the Law committed the Goods to the Ordinary, [g] yet it did not make the Ordinary chargeable to Actions of Creditors for Debts due to them by the Inteſtate, but the Charge of the Ordinary was only to employ them in pios uſus, and in Acts of Charity, and the Common Law did not make him, being a ſpiritual Governor, ſubject to temporal Suits for ſuch Things. And this was a great Defect in the Common Law, there being no Remedy to come at the Debts of the Inteſtate, for which Reaſon the Statute of Weſtminſter 2. cap. 19. was made, which provides that where after the Death of a Perſon dying inteſtate, who is bounden to ſome other for Debt, the Goods come to the Ordinary to be diſpoſed, the Ordinary from henceforth ſhall be bound to anſwer the Debts, as far forth as the Goods of the dead will extend, in ſuch Sort as the Executors of the ſame Party ſhould have been bound, if he had made a Teſtament. Which Act has remedied the great Miſchief which was ſuffered at the Common Law, and has provided that the Debts of the Inteſtate ſhall be paid, and that the Ordinary ſhall be chargeable for them, and ſhall be anſwerable to the Creditors, as far as the Goods of the Inteſtate, which come to his Hands, will extend. And the Words of the Act (bounden to ſome other for Debt) are not only to be intended of ſuch Inteſtates who were bound in an Obligation, but they comprehend every Debtee for whatever Cauſe who dies inteſtate, whoſe Executors (if he had made any) ſhould have been chargeable with his Debt. And therefore they comprehend the Debt of an Inteſtate who owes to his Leſſor Arrears of Rent reſerved upon a Leaſe for Years, and every other Debt which an Executor is bound to pay. [h] So that this Statute has made the Ordinary, who before diſpoſed of the Goods of the Inteſtate as a ſpiritual Governor, ſubject to temporal Suits for them, and ſueable by Action of Debt, or other perſonal Suit, which lay againſt the Inteſtate, and has made him chargeable in the temporal Law as far as the Value of the Goods will reach. [i] And accordingly there is a Writ formed in the Regiſter, viz. Command A. Biſhop of E. to whoſe Hands the Goods and Chattles which were B's, who died inteſtate, as it is ſaid, came, that juſtly, &c. he render, &c. ſo that the Poſſeſſion of the Goods and the Act make him chargeable, but further than the Goods extend he ſhall not be charged. And, Sir, altho' the Ordinary might by the Common Law ſeize and take the Goods which the Inteſtate had at the Time of his Death, yet for the Debts due to the Inteſtate, or for Things in Action, the Ordinary had no Remedy either [k] before or [l] ſince the Statute, for he could not bring an Action of Debt or other Action for a Debt due to the Inteſtate, and by the ſame Reaſon he could not [m] releaſe the Debts due to the Inteſtate; but his Intereſt was only to ſeize the Things which the Inteſtate had in Poſſeſſion, and with them he might do as he pleaſed, but he could not ſue the Debtors of the Inteſtate. And this was taken to be a great Miſchief, for by this Means the Debtors would keep in their own Hands the Money which they owed the Inteſtate, and thereby the Perſons to whom the Inteſtate was indebted could not have Remedy for the Debts due to them by the Inteſtate, but only according to the Rate of the Value of the Goods in Poſſeſſion, ſo that if the Debt which the Inteſtate owed

The Matter in Law.

Weſton Juſtice for the Defendant.

[e] 9 Co. 38. b. 39. a. 2 Inſt. 397. 2 Bulſt 3. Cart. 127. 3 Mod. 59. 2 Show 409. 1 Finch 410. 2 Finch 173. Bac. Law. Tracts 160. Poſt 280 (b). So now in Caſe of an Inteſtate dying without Kindred, the Ordinary may diſpoſe in pios uſus, Salk. 37. Manning v Napp.

[f] 1 Finch 410. 2 Finch 174. But ſee the contrary 8 Co. 135. b. 9 Co. 39. a. Dy. 255, 256. pl. 8. 1 Rol. Abr. 918. C. pl. 1. 2 Inſt. 398. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 173, 174.

[g] Herewith agree M. 18. H. 6. 23. b. per Forteſcue. Dy. 247. pl. 73. 1 Rol. Abr. 906. pl. 3. 3 Mod. 60. 1 Show. 409. obiter. 1 Finch 410. 2 Finch 174. Nelſ. Lex Teſtam. 11. Poſt 280 (d). Yet ſee the contrary H. 11 H. 7. 12. b per Fineux. Bro. Adminiſtrators 50. M. 9. Ed. 4. 33. b. per Danby. Fitz. Executors 35. 5 Co. 83. a. 9 Co. 39. b. 2 Inſt. 397.

[h] 1 Rol. Abr. 906 pl. 4

[i] Regiſt. 141. a. F. N. B. 122. d. Nelſ. Lex. Teſt. 11.

[k] M. 18. H. 6 23. b. per Forteſcue. 9 Co. 39. a. 1 Rol. Abr. 906. pl. 1. 1 Finch 410. 2 Finch 174. 3 Mod. 25.

[l] M. 19. Ed 3. Fitz. Covenant

[k] M. 18. H. 6. 23. b. per Forteſcue. 1 Rol. Abr. 906. pl. 5. W. Jones 175.

[m] M. 18. H. 6. 23. b per Forteſcue. 9 Co. 39. a. 1 Rol. Abr. 906 pl. 6. W. Jones 175.

was 40 l. and he died having Goods to the Value of 20 l. and a good Debt of 20 l. was due to him by Obligation, now he to whom he owed the 40 l. could only have Remedy for 20 l. of his Debt, that is to say, for no more than the Value of the Goods in Possession, for none could sue for the 20 l. due to the Intestate. And thus he to whom the Intestate was indebted was defrauded of his Debt, and he that was indebted to the Intestate retained the Debt in his Hands, which by good Reason ought to go to satisfy the Creditor of the Intestate; and this was taken to be a Thing against Conscience, and a great Mischief. And therefore to redress it the Statute of 31. Ed. 3. cap. 11. was made, which enacts, that in Case where a Man dieth intestate, the Ordinaries shall depute the next and most lawful Friends of the dead Person intestate to administer his Goods, which Deputies shall have an Action to demand and recover as Executors the Debts due to the said Person intestate in the King's Court, for to administer and dispend for the Soul of the dead, and shall answer also in the King's Court to others to whom the said dead Person was holden and bound, in the same Manner as Executors shall answer: And they shall be accountable to the Ordinaries, as Executors are in the Case of a Testament, as well of the Time past as the Time to come. So that this Act provides that where a Man dies intestate, the Ordinary shall commit the Administration to others who are the next aud most faithful Friends of the dead, and it gives them an Action of Debt, and does not give it to the Ordinary himself. And the Reason thereof seems to be, because the Ordinary is a spiritual Governor, wholly conversant in spiritual Causes, to whom it is inconvenient to toil in the temporal Concerns of others, and therefore the Statute has given him Liberty to appoint others to take the Trouble of the Administration of the Intestate's Goods, and they shall have Power as Executors, and may recover the Debts of the Intestate,; and so it has remedied the said Mischief. And, Sir, altho' this Act gives Power to the Ordinary to commit the Administration to others, yet it seems to me that he might [a] do it by the Common Law before this Act. For if the Common Law gave the Possession of the Goods to him, from thence it follows that he might commit them to another, for when he had the Goods he might do with them at his Pleasure; and as he might [b] give them or sell them, by the same Reason he might commit them to another, if he pleased, and the Committee might do the same with them that the Ordinary might. For the chief Charge of the Ordinary is about divine and spiritual Things, and altho' our Law gives him Authority over the Goods of Intestates in his Diocese, yet the Care and Disposition of them is not his principal Charge, for that is conversant about spiritual Matters, as it is said before, and if he could not commit the Goods and the Dispofal of them to another, great Inconvenience would follow from it. For as one might die intestate within his Diocese, so might 20, or 100, or 1000; and if he could not commit the Administration and Care of them to others, then he must take it upon himself, and the Business would be so great that it would withdraw him from his principal Charge and Vocation, which is about divine and spiritual Things, and after all he could not be able to perform all the Business concerning the Goods of Intestates, which would be attended with great Inconvenience. For which Reason the Law ex necessitate gave him Authority to commit the Administration of the Goods of Intestates to others, before the Statute of 31. Ed. 3. And such Committees might [c] give or sell the Goods which came to their Hands, and do with them at their Pleasure; and such Committees or Administrators might be [d] sued in an Action of Debt before the Statute of 31. Ed. 3. as well as the Ordinary might, and this by Equity of the Statute of Westminster 2. cap. 19. So that before the Statute of 31. Ed. 3. the Administrators might be sued by the Creditors, and the Administrators had full Power to alien or give, or otherwise dispose of the Goods of the Intestate which came to their Hands. [e] But such Administrator could not get in any Debt, nor sue any Action, for his Authority was confined only to the Things in Possession, and he could not meddle with Things in Action, for he could not release a Debt due to the Intestate, any more than an Executor now can before Probate of the Will. For before the Executor has proved the Will of the Testator, he cannot have [f] any Action of Debt, and by the same Reason he cannot [g] release the Debt, for he cannot be said to have a Right to that which he has no Means to obtain, and the Debt which he cannot demand he cannot discharge. And thus the Law was touching the Administrator before the Statute of 31. Ed. 3. for he had no Power to get in any Debt or Duty due to the Intestate, and by Reason thereof the Debtors of the Intestates would keep the Debts in their own Hands, and the Creditors of the Intestates, who ought to have them, were disappointed of them, as it is said before, which was a Thing against Conscience, and a great Mischief; for the Redress of which the Act enables the Administrators to have an Action, and to recover the Debts, as Executors may, which Point is the only Purview of the Act. But as to our Case, viz. as to the [h] giving or aliening the Goods in his Hands, the Administrator had Power to do this at the Common Law. And altho' the Act provides that the Ordinary shall commit the Administration in case where a Man dies intestate, and in our Case here he did not die intestate, but made a Testament and Executors, and before the Probate Administration was committed, and the Administrator aliened the Goods, and afterwards the Testament was proved, yet it seems to me that the Sale of the Administrator shall be good, because it is declared in the Pleading that the Ordinary had Notice of the Testament. [i] And if he that is Executor keeps the Testament secretly, and neither he nor any other gives Notice of it to the Ordinary, there is no Defect in the Commission of Administration by the Ordinary, for he did not know but he had the Care of the Goods; and there is Reason to think that the Goods might have been wasted, if he had not appointed the Administrator to have the Care of them, and therefore he is not bound to take Notice of the Testa-

[a] 2 Keb. 210. Nelf. Lex. Testam. 12. Hale on F. N. B. 120. d. Post 280 (h).

[b] See Ante 277 (f).

[c] Note, when the Common Law invested the Ordinary with Power to commit Administration before the Statute of 31. Ed. 3. yet such Committee was in every Respect in the same Plight with the Ordinary himself from whom his Estate was derived, and therefore if the Ordinary could not give or alien the Intestate's Goods (as the greater Opinions seem to be Ante 277 (f). and there is no Authority here vouched to support the contrary Assertion) ex consequente sequitur that such Committee could not do it, nam derivativa potestas non potest esse major primitivâ.

[d] Post 280 (i). Note, they were chargeable by the Name of Executors, 5 Co. 82. b. 9 Co. 40. a. b. 2 Inst. 398. Hale on F. N. B. 120. d. Nelf. Lex Testam. 13.

[e] 2 Inst. 398, 404. 5 Mod. 93. 1 Show. 407. Nelf. Lex Testam. 12. Post 290. (d).

[f] T. 7. H. 4. 18. pl. 19. Fitz. Executors 107. Bro. 49. Perk. § 482. 5 Co. 28. a. 9 Co. 38. a. 39. a. 10 Co. 52. a. Co. Litt. 292. b. 1 Rol. R. 21. Hutt. 31. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 35. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 144, 145, § 4. 154. Cowel's Inst. 116. § 4. Post 280 (o). Note, this is to be understood, that he cannot sue effectually, for the Executor may commence an Action before Probate, but he cannot declare upon it. 1 Rol. Abr. 917. A. pl. 2. T. Raym. 481. Salk. 302, 303. per Powel J. 11 Mod. 9, 10. Law of Testaments, &c. 360, 361, 363.

[g] All the Books seem to be clearly against this Opinion in this Point. See Co. Litt. 292. b. 5 Co. 28. a. bis. 9 Co. 39. a. 10 Co. 52. a. 2 Brownl. 174. T. Jones 73. 1 Freem. 436. Salk. 301. 3 Salk. 163. 10 Mod. 171. 11 Mod. 39. 4 Bac. Abr. 280. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 145, § 4. Law of Testaments &c. 360, 363. Wentw. Off. of Execut. 296. Post 281 (e). [h] See supra (c). [i] Law of Testaments, &c. 451.

ment,

ment, for that is a ſecret [a] Thing, which the Ordinary ſhall not be bound to enquire after; and teſtamentum eſt teſtimonium mentis, and how can it be ſaid the Teſtimony of his Mind, when it is not known? Wherefore it is reaſonable that it ſhould be made known to the Ordinary. [b] As if there be Lord and Tenant, and the Tenant makes a Feoffment, the Lord may avow upon his ancient Tenant, for he is not bound to take Notice of the Feoffment, but the Feoffee ought to give the Lord Notice of his Purchaſe. [c] And if an Action of Debt is ſued againſt an Executor who has Aſſets in his Hands, and he not having Notice of the Writ pays the Aſſets to others, and afterwards has Notice of the Writ, he ſhall be allowed to pay the Aſſets to the others, and ſhall not be chargeable to the Plaintiff for it, altho' he had not Notice before the Capias pluries, as it is held in 2. H. 4. for there the Executor who came in at the Capias pluries ſaid that he had fully adminiſtred before he had Notice of the Writ, which was ſued in [d] another County than where he dwelt, and the Opinion of the Court was, that the Plea was good, and that he ſhould not be charged to the Plaintiff for the Goods which he had employed in Payment of other Debts pending the Writ, where he had not Notice of the Writ; wherefore the Plaintiff ſaid that he warned him at ſuch a Day, at which Time he had Aſſets, priſt, et alii e contra. [e] So that we ſee Notice ought to be given to the Ignorant by him that has Knowledge of the Matter, or elſe he that has Knowledge ſhall not take Benefit of the Things which the ignorant Perſon does by Reaſon of his Ignorance of the Matter. So here the Executor who had Knowledge of the Will, and did not give Notice of it to the Ordinary, but ſuffered the Ordinary who was ignorant of the Will, to commit Adminiſtration to another, who has adminiſtred and ſold the Goods to the Defendant, ſhall not take Advantage of his own Silence, nor avoid the Sale made by the Adminiſtrator, who is not averred to have Notice of the Will at the Time of the Sale made; neither ſhall his Probate of the Will afterwards avoid the Acts done by the Adminiſtrator meſne between the Time of the Adminiſtration committed, and the Probate of the Will. And altho' the Act of 31. Ed. 3. provides that the Ordinary ſhall commit Adminiſtration in Caſe where a Man dies inteſtate, and in our Caſe here he did not die inteſtate, yet both ſince the Act and at the Common Law before the Act Adminiſtration may be committed where he that is dead makes a Teſtament and Executors. [f] As if the deceaſed makes Executors, and they refuſe before the Ordinary, [g] or if the Executors prove the Teſtament, and afterwards die inteſtate, there Adminiſtration may be committed, and yet it is not within the Words of the Act; but it is within the [h] Intent of the Act, for the Intent of the Act was, that Adminiſtration ſhould be committed where there was no Executor that would intermeddle. So ſhall it be here. [i] And if a Man makes his Will, and appoints that the Executors of J. S. ſhall be his Executors, and he dies living J. S. there the Ordinary may commit Adminiſtration of the Goods of him that is dead; and if the Adminiſtrator gives or ſells the Goods, and afterwards J. S. makes his Executors, and dies, and his Executors prove the other Will, yet they ſhall not avoid the Sale, or other Acts of the Adminiſtrator, altho' he did not there die inteſtate, but made his Will. And, Sir, the Intent of the Act is, that if a Man makes his Teſtament and Executors, and there is a meſne Time in which the Executors cannot or will not execute the Teſtament, the Ordinary may in the mean time commit Adminiſtration, and the Acts of the Adminiſtrator made for the Time ſhall bind, and this ſtands with the Intent of the Act, and with common Reaſon. [k] And if a Man makes his Executors, and enters into Religion, and is afterwards deraigned, he ſhall not avoid the Acts of the Executors done in the mean time. [l] Same Law if a Man makes his Teſtament, and ordains that a [m] Year after his Death ſuch Perſons ſhall be his Executors, and dies, the Ordinary within the Year may commit Adminiſtration, and the Sale or Gift of the Goods by the Adminiſtrator within the Year, or other Acts done by him within the Year, ſhall never be avoided by the Executors after the Year; for the Ordinary during the Year has Authority to meddle with the Goods, and may during that Time commit the Adminiſtration of them to others, from whence it follows that during that Time the Acts done by the Adminiſtrator ſhall be good for ever. So here the Ordinary not knowing that a Will was made had good Authority to commit Adminiſtration by the Intent of the Act, and the Adminiſtrator to adminiſter. And therefore the Probate of the Will afterwards ſhall not diſprove or avoid that which was well done before, but the Sale to the Defendant by the Adminiſtrator is good and indefeaſible; for which Cauſes it ſeemed to him that the Plaintiff ſhould be barred.

On the other Hand Walſh and the Lord Dyer argued for the Plaintiff. And they ſaid that the Plaintiff has declared as Executor, and has brought his Writ accordingly, in which it is contained that the ſaid Thomas Kene made his Teſtament, and thereby made the Plaintiff his Executor, and the Teſtament is proved, and he has produced it to the Court. And the Defendant in the Bar has ſhewn his Death, and the Commiſſion of Adminiſtration to the Son, and his Sale before the Probate; but he has not ſaid that he died inteſtate, and therefore inaſmuch as he has not alledged it, but has confeſſed by the nient dedire that he made a Will, and that it is proved, we ought to conſider how the Matter and the Authorities of Executor and of Adminiſtrator to one ſame Perſon ſtand together. And as to this, [n] there are three Perſons (as Walſh ſaid) who have to do with the Goods of the dead, that is, the Executor, the Ordinary, and the Adminiſtrator. [o] The Exeeutor is the Officer appointed for that Purpoſe by the Party himſelf, in whom the Party has repoſed the Property of the Goods, and a Confidence to diſpoſe of them, and to execute his Will. And if the Party does not appoint any one, then the Law appoints one to preſerve his Goods without Waſt, and to diſpoſe of them, and that is the Ordinary, [p] who in Reſpect of his Function, Piety, and Integrity is eſteemed in the Law the moſt worthy and fit Perſon to perform ſuch an Office. [q] And Adminiſtrators are appointed by the Ordinary for his Eaſe, and to diſcharge himſelf of the Burden of the Office, and they take their Commencement by a

[a] See Hob. 51 Holmes v. Twiſt, Notice muſt be given of a Thing ſecret.

[b] H. 8. H. 7. 10. b. per Read et Jay. M. 22. H. 6. 34. b. per Fulthorp. H. 7. Ed. 4. 28. a. per Choke. M. 8. Ed. 4. 12. b. per Markham. Bro. Avowry 97. H. 29. H. 8. Bro. Ibid. 111, 146.

[c] T. 2. H. 4. 21. pl. 2. Fitz. Executors 51. Bro. 43. Adminiſtrators 52. Aſſets inter maines 4 Notice 16. 1 Rol. Abr. 927. T. pl. 2. Cro. E. 793. 2 Leon 60. 3 Keb. 172. 1 Finch 336. 2 Finch 79. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 220. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 141. Nelſ. Lex. Teſtam. 432. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 433.

[d] The Law ſeems to be the ſame, tho' the Writ be ſued in the ſame County wherein the Executors are commorant, as it is ſaid by Vaughan C. J. upon Conference with the Judges of K. B. and upon Conſideration had of this Book, and of the Book of 2 H. 4. here cited. 1 Freem. 57, 112. with which agrees Wentw. Off. of Exec. 145.

[e] O. Bendl. 134. Hogan's Caſe.

[f] 1 Rol. Abr. 907. pl. 6. 2 Bac. Abr. 405. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 454.

[g] Poſt 281 (q).

[h] That the Act extends to both theſe Inteſtates, 9 Co 40. a. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 454.

E contra for the Plaintiff, Walſh and Dyer C. J.

[i] Poſt 281 (n).

[k] T. 4. H. 7. 14. a. per Brown.

[l] 1 Vin. Abr. tit. Executors C. pl. 13. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 77. § 2. 231, § 5. Poſt 281 (p).

[m] Hereby note that the Power of an Executor may be ſpecially limited and qualified, See Swinb. 240, 310. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 10. [n] Cart 125. [o] Salk. 303. 3 Salk. 163. [p] Wentw. Off. of Exec. 43. [q] Salk. 303. 3 Salk. 163.

[a] 9 Co. 38. a. 11 Mod. 39. Swinb. 381.

[b] See Ante 277 (e). and the Books there cited.

[c] T. 9. H. 7. 2. b. per Fisher. Bro. Extinguishment 53.

[d] Ante 277 (g). and See the Books there cited.

[e] 1 Show. 409 obiter, arguendo. Nelf. Lex Testam. 11.

[f] F.N.B. 120. d. Nelf. Lex Testam. 12.

[g] T. 11. Ed. 3. Fitz. Executors 77. Bro. 161.

[h] Ante 278 (a).

[i] Ante 278 (d).

[k] F.N.B. 120. d.

[l] 9 Co. 38. a. 11 Mod. 39. Swinb. 49.

[m] M. 9 Ed. 4. 47. a. per Litt. Bro. Executors 90.

[n] Salk. 301. per Gould. J. Treat. of Wills 236.

[o] See Ante 278 (f) and the Books there cited.

[p] 1 Freem. 446 per Levinz, arguendo. Salk. 301 per Gould. J. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 145, § 3.

[q] 36. H. 6. 7. b. Fitz. Administrators 6. 1 Vent. 304. Swinb. 27. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 38. Law of Testaments, &c. 365.

[r] For the Command of the Executor amounted to an Administration, Went. Off. of Exec. 39, 40. Law of Testaments &c. 367. Vin. Abr. tit. Executors B. a. pl. 44.

[s] 9 Co. 37. b. 1 Freem. 151. 2 Bac. Abr. 405. Swinb. 384, 443. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 63, § 6. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 38. 40. Law of Testaments &c. 365. 367, 450. But it seems, if the Ordinary does admit one to refuse, notwithstanding he has administred, it stands good, nam factum valet, quod fieri non debuit.

[t] Godolph. Orph. Leg. 145, § 2. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 92.

spiritual Act, viz. by the Letters of Administration, and have Authority over a Thing temporal. [a] But the Executor takes his Commencement by a temporal Act, viz. by the making of the Will of the Testator, which is a temporal Act, but takes it's Perfection by a spiritual Act, viz. by Probate in the Spiritual Court, and the Executor's Authority is over a Thing temporal. But the Ordinary or Administrator have no Authority or Interest, unless the deceased die intestate. For the Lord Dyer said, [b] if a Man had died intestate, the Property of his Goods came by the Common Law to the Ordinary, because the deceased had not appointed any one to take Care of them. For as by the Course of the Common Law a [c] Freehold shall be in some one, and shall not be in Suspence, so by the Common Law the Property of Goods shall be in some one, and shall not be in Suspence. And when a Man has a Property in Goods, the Property cannot be in him longer than he lives, and after his Death the Goods belong to another, as the ancient Verse is, Da tua dum tua sunt, quia post mortem tua non sunt. Then forasmuch as they cannot be his own after his Death, and he has not appointed them to any other, but has left them to the World, the Law gives the Property of them to the Ordinary, and because he had the Care of his Soul whilst he was alive, the Law gives him the Goods to dispose of for his Soul after his Death, and to such and no other Purpose he had the Goods, [d] for by the Common Law he should not be charged in an Action of Debt for a Debt due by the Intestate. [e] And the Letter of the Statute of Westminster 2. cap. 19. seems to purport this, for it says, the Ordinary from henceforth shall be bound to answer the Debts, as far as the Goods of the dead will extend, in such Sort as Executors should have been bound, if he had made a Testament; which Words (from henceforth) imply that before he was not chargeable, and therefore (he said) from henceforth was put in to make him chargeable afterwards; and by this Statute he was made so chargeable that if he had died his [f] Executors should have been chargeable in an Action of Debt, as far as the Goods which came to the Hands of the Ordinary would extend. And therefore, he said, in 16. Ed. 2. an Action of Debt in such Case was maintenable against the Executors of the Ordinary: And in [g] 11. Ed. 3. an Action of Debt was brought in such Case against the Executors of the Ordinary, but it is not there adjudged one Way or other, and the said Case in 16. Ed. 2. is there cited. And notwithstanding that the Statute of Westminster 2. cap. 19. made the Ordinary chargeable in an Action of Debt, [h] yet after that Statute and before the Statute of 31. Ed. 3. the Ordinary might commit the Administration to another, [i] and such Administrator should be charged in an Action of Debt: For in 19. Ed. 3. in an Action of Debt brought against the Ordinary, he pleaded that before the Action brought he had committed Administration to another, and there it is held a good Plea. And he also said that [k] Fitzherbert in his Natura Brevium takes the Law to be that the Ordinary might before the Statute of 31. Ed. 3. have committed the Administration to another, for he there says that before the Statute of 31. Ed. 3. Administrators could not have an Action of Debt against the Debtors, in which Saying it is implied that there were and might be Administrators before the said Statute. But the Power or Interest which the Ordinary himself had, and the Power and Authority which the Common Law or the Statute of 31. Ed. 3. gave him to commit Administration to another, is but where a Man dies intestate, so that if he makes a Will, such Power and Interest is not given. For when a Man makes a Will, thereby he commits all his Goods to his Executor, and in him he repose the greatest Confidence, and the Law favours his Will; for Wills have been ever since Property has been amongst Men, and they have always been, and by Necessity of Reason ought to be, favoured. So that it shall be called a Will, and his Executors who are named shall be called Executors, before the Probate of the Will. For St. Paul says, a Testament is confirmed by Death, so that by his Definition, and by our Law also, it is a Testament when the Testator is dead, and the Executors named are Executors [l] presently and before the Probate of the Testament, for the Probate is but a Confirmation and Allowance of that which the Testator has done. For the Spiritual Court Men have divers Terms, as Insinuation, which is a Surmise that there is such a Testament, and Approbation, which implies that the Surmise is tried to be true, and allowed, and in Witness thereof the Ordinary puts his Seal. But before this is done it is a Testament, and the Executors named are Executors, for the Death preceding makes it a Testament, and by the Death the Property of the Goods which was in the Testator is cast upon and vested in the Executors. And they are not called Executors in Respect only that they actually execute, but in respect that they may execute. [m] And they may execute before Probate, [n] and may be sued, [o] altho' they shall not sue for any Duty due to the Testator until they have proved the Testament, [p] and they may alien or give away the Goods, or otherwise dispose of them before Probate. And upon this he cited the Case in 36. H. 6. where an Executor commanded A. to take certain Goods of the Testator out of the Possession of B. who accordingly did so, and afterwards the Executor refused to administer, and the Ordinary committed the Administration to B. who brought an Action of Trespass against A. for the said taking of the Goods; and there it is the Opinion of three Justices, that the Justification by the Command of him who was named Executor was good, notwithstanding his Refusal afterwards, for the Refusal shall not make the Command void, nor prejudice him who was not Party, and who did well at the Time of the Act done. Which Case argues that before the Probate of the Testament the Executor has an Interest and Authority in the Things which belonged to the Testator. And he said that it seemed to him in this Case, that the Ordinary might there have well [r] refused the Refusal of the Executor, [s] for when he had once intermeddled with the Goods, the Ordinary ought not to have permitted him to refuse afterwards. And he said that there are some Things which must of Necessity be done before there is any Time to prove the Will, [t] as to remove the Goods and Chattles out of the House and Lands of the Testator, which after his Death are descended to the Heir, for if the Executors do not this in as ſhort a Time as they conveniently can, the Heir may diſtrain them Damage feaſant. So that before Probate the Law allows the Executors who are named to be Executors, and compels them to do ſome Things as Executors, and adjudges the Property of the Goods of the Teſtator to be in them before any Seizure; and if any one takes them before the Executors ſeize them, [a] they ſhall have an Action of Treſpaſs or Replevin againſt him before Probate, for the Property and Poſſeſſion was caſt upon them before Seizure. [b] As if the tenth Part of Corn is ſevered for Tithes, the Parſon ſhall have an Action of Treſpaſs, before any Seizure, againſt him that takes it away, for the Property and Poſſeſſion was in him before Seizure, becauſe the Thing is certain by the Severance of the tenth Part. [c] But, he ſaid, if the Parſon ought to have the beſt Beaſt for a Mortuary, the Property ſhall not be in him before Seizure, as 10. H. 4. is, for a Diſpute may ariſe whether it be the beſt Beaſt or not, and therefore he ſhall determine his Election by Seizure, and before that is done he ſhall not have an Action of Treſpaſs or Replevin. Then if the Law immediately after the Death of the Teſtator veſts the Property and the Poſſeſſion of his Goods in the Executor, from thence it follows that the Law never veſts the Property in the Ordinary, and from thence it follows that the Law never veſts the Property in the Adminiſtrator. For if he ſhould have the Property, then there would be two Properties of one Thing, or at leaſt the Law muſt take the Property out of the Executor, and veſt it in the Adminiſtrator; but the Law will not do him ſuch Wrong, nor will it deveſt that which it has once veſted. And the Adminiſtrator cannot have a greater Property of the Things in Poſſeſſion than the Ordinary had before, and here the Ordinary before Adminiſtration had no Property at all, nor any Thing to do with the Goods, but the Executor had the Property and the full Poſſeſſion of them. And if there ſhould be any Doubt in this Point, it is removed by the Probate, for thereby the Will is fully perfected and conſummate, and is of the ſame Effect as if it had been proved immediately after the Death of the Teſtator, by reaſon of the [d] Relation of the Probate in this Point. [e] For if before the Probate he had releaſed a Debt, and afterwards had proved the Will, this makes the Releaſe good and perfect, as Walſh ſaid, and yet at the Time of the Releaſe made he could not have an Action of Debt for the Duty, becauſe he could not ſhew the Will proved under Seal; but the Relation of the Probate removes all Imperfection which might have been alledged before, and it over-reaches the Adminiſtration, and the Authority of the Adminiſtrator, as the Lord Dyer termed it, and diſproves his Acts by annihilating his Power. [f] As if one takes Letters of Adminiſtration of the Ordinary of the Goods of one who dies inteſtate, and afterwards the Metropolitan commits Adminiſtration to another, becauſe the inteſtate had Goods to the Value of [g] 10 l. in divers Dioceſes, there this diſproves the Authority of the firſt Adminiſtrator, and makes the ſecond Adminiſtrator to avoid the Acts of the firſt. [h] And he ſaid that in 10. H. 7. Keble ſaid in this Caſe, that the ſecond Adminiſtrator ſhall have an Action of Treſpaſs againſt the firſt Adminiſtrator for taking the firſt Goods, for the firſt Ordinary who committed the Adminiſtration had no [i] Authority to do it where the inteſtate had Goods to the Value of 10 l. in divers Dioceſes, but that Adminiſtration and all the Dependances upon it are utterly diſproved by the Commiſſion of the ſecond Adminiſtration. [k] And he alſo cited the Caſe in 7. Ed. 4. where one as Adminiſtrator to J. S. brought a Writ of Debt againſt another, and the Defendant pleaded that the ſaid J. S. made him his Executor in another County than where the Action was brought and the Adminiſtration committed, and that pending this Suit he had proved the Will; and there Littleton ſays, "if a Man makes an Executor, it is reaſonable that (if he will) he ſhould have the Diſpoſition of the Goods to diſpend for the Soul of the deceaſed, for that was his laſt Will, which "Will is reaſonable to be performed; and a Man may make me his Executor without my Knowledge, and afterwards when I have Notice of it, I may take upon me the Power of Executor; "and the Ordinary may well commit Adminiſtration in the mean time (as he has done here), but "preſently by the Probate of the Teſtament the Power of the Adminiſtrator is determined, unleſs the Executor has once [l] refuſed before the Ordinary, and then perhaps the Law would be "otherwiſe." And to this ſaying of Littleton agreed Newton and Danby there; and they ſpoke further there whether he ſhould traverſe that he did not die inteſtate, but the clear Opinion there upon the Matter was, that by the Probate the Power of the Adminiſtrator ſhould be diſproved, and that the Plaintiff there ſhould be barred. [m] And further, he ſaid, it ſeems by the Book in 3. H. 7. that before the Ordinary commits Adminiſtration where there is an Executor made, he ought to award Proceſs againſt the Executor to come in and prove the Teſtament, and if he will not prove it, then the Ordinary may commit Adminiſtration to others, and this ſtands with Reaſon. But here there is no ſuch Thing done, for which Reaſon the Probate here diſproves the Adminiſtration not only from the Time of the Probate, but for the whole Time. For, he ſaid, the Probate proves the Executor here to be a full and perfect Executor not only for a Time, but for the whole Time fully and entirely ſince the Death of the Teſtator. And it is not like to the Caſe put, viz. [n] where a Man appoints by his Teſtament that the Executors of J. S. who is alive ſhall be his Executors, and dies, for there until the Death of J. S. he dies [o] inteſtate, for in the mean time he has no Executor. Nor is it like to the Caſe put, [p] where he makes one his Executor a Year after his Death, for within the Year he is inteſtate, and therefore for that Time the Ordinary has Power to commit Adminiſtration, and that ſhall never be diſproved. Neither is it like to the Caſe put, [q] where one makes his Executor, who proves the Teſtament, and dies inteſtate, for there the Ordinary may commit Adminiſtration of the Goods of the firſt Teſtator, [r] becauſe from the Time of the Death of the Executor, who died inteſtate, the firſt Teſtator died inteſtate, for which reaſon from that Time forwards the Ordinary may commit Adminiſtration. Neither is it like to the Caſe put, [s] where a Man makes his Executors, who refuſe, for there

[a] Theol. Dig. lib. 1. cap. 18. § 30. 8 Co. 135. b. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 145, § 4. 154. Went. Off. of Exec. 35. Nelſ. Lex Teſtam. 466. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 361.

[b] See Perk. § 63.

[c] M. 10. H. 4. 1. pl. 2. Fitz. Premunire 13.

[d] The Probate has Relation to the Death of the Teſtator, Went. Off. of Exec. 48. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 377.

[e] See Ante 278 (g). and the Books there cited.

[f] Godolph. Orph. Leg. 251, § 5.

[g] As to what ſhall be deemed bona notabilia to entitle the Metropolitan, ſee Swinb. 438.

[h] P. 10 H. 7. 18. pl. 1. Theol. Dig. lib. 1. cap. 19 § 12. 2 Leon Dunn's Caſe dubitatur.

[i] S. P. 5 Co. 30. a. 8 Co. 135. b. Swinb. 443.

[k] T. 7. Ed. 4. 12. b. Fitz. Adminiſtrators 8. Bro. Executors 111. T. Jones 72.

[l] See Abraham v. Cuningham 1 Freem. 446. 1 Vent. 303.

[m] H. 3. H. 7. 14. pl. 21. Fitz. Adminiſtrat. 11. T. 4. H. 7. 13. pl. 10. Bro. Adminiſtrators 32.

[n] Ante 279 (l).

[o] Godolph. Orph. Leg. 78. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 10. Law of Teſtam. &c. 351. Vin. Abr. tit. Executors G. 3. pl. 1.

[p] Ante 279 (l).

[q] Ante 279 (s).

[r] 1 Keb. 247. Swinb. 90.

[s] Ante 279 (f).

there the Ordinary may afterwards commit Administration to others, because upon the Matter he died [a] intestate. But here in our Case Grayſbrook the Plaintiff was made Executor immediately without the Intervention of any mean time, and by the Probate he has made himself a full and continual Executor, occupying the Place and Authority of Executor for the whole Time incurred since the Death of the Testator, leaving no Time for the Ordinary or for the Administrator to intermeddle, but disproving their Authority and Interest. And he said that the Seal of the Ordinary put to the Administration is but a Matter [b] of Fact, which is not any Estoppel for the Time, nor shall it force the Executor to sue in the spiritual Court to repeal it, but he shall avoid it by Plea, or by taking the Goods from the Administrator, or by some other Matter of Fact as Occasion shall offer. [c] And to prove this he cited the first Case in Trin. 44. Ed. 3. where one brought a Writ of Debt against another as Administrator, and declared that the Debtor died intestate, and that the Ordinary deputed the Defendant to be Administrator, and he shewed the same in Certainty, and the Opinion of the Court there was, that he ought to do so; and the Defendant said that the deceased made his Testament, and constituted the Defendant and another his Executors, and he demanded Judgment of the Writ, and shewed forth the Testament proving his Plea, and the Plaintiff offered to aver that the Party died intestate, and the Defendant said that he should not be received to this Averment against the Testament which is proved before the Ordinary, and is under the Seal of the Ordinary, sed non allocatur; wherefore the Plaintiff had the Averment, and it was tried [d] per Pais. So that the Seal of the Ordinary to the Probate of the Testament could not deprive the Plaintiff of his Averment, but that he should have it, and try it per Pais. [e] Also he cited the Case in 21. H. 6. where one brought an Action of Debt against a Man as Executor, who had administered as Executor of his own Wrong, and afterwards and before the Writ purchased had taken out Letters of Administration; [f] as also the like Case in 2. R. 3. in a Scire facias brought against certain Persons as Executors, where they had administred as Executors, and afterwards had taken out Letters of Administration; in which Cases it seems by the better Opinion that the Plaintiff shall not be concluded by the Letters of Administration; but neither of the Cases is there adjudged. [g] Also he cited the Case in 34. H. 6. where Thomas Lombard as Administrator brought an Action of Debt, and the Defendant was received to avoid the Letters of Administration by saying that the deceased made Executors, and that the one had proved the Testament in the Arches, and that one was alive, absque hoc that he died intestate, &c. and the Plaintiff maintained that he died intestate, and thereupon Issue was joined. [h] And also, he said, in the Case of 7. Ed. 4. before cited, the Executor who proved the Testament was not forced to avoid the Letters of Administration granted before the Probate by Suit in the spiritual Court, but he proved the Testament, and upon this he was received by Plea to avoid the Letters of Administration. So shall the Defendant here, and thereby he shall avoid the Sale of the Administrator. But Walsh said, if the Defendant here had averred that the Administrator had aliened the Goods to him for a certain Sum, and had employed the Money in Discharge [i] of the Funeral, or of the Debts of the deceased, or about other Things which an Executor should be forced to do, there the Sale for such Purposes should not be avoided, but should remain indefeasible; and the Reason is, because by the Commission of the Administration to him by the Ordinary, who was ignorant of the Testament, he has a Colour of Authority, though it is not a rightful one, and he that has the Right suffers no Disadvantage although he be bound by the Act of the Administrator, for it is no more than he himself was compellible to do, and the Administrator having done that which the Executor himself was obliged to do, his Act shall be allowed good, because the Executor himself is thereby freed and excused from the Trouble of doing it. And so inasmuch as the Administrator was compellible to do it, (for if he was sued for a Thing which ought to be done, he could not disable or discharge himself for the Time) it is reasonable, and no Detriment to any one that the Thing done should remain stable and firm without Impeachment. [k] And hereupon he cited the Case of Sands and Peckham in 4. H. 7. where Peckham claiming to be Executor to one who was dead by a false Testament supposed to be made by the Testator, had got this false Testament to be allowed, upon Default of Sands who claimed to be Executor by a latter Will, before a certain Person appointed by a Delegacy, and the Will exhibited by Peckham was proved, and afterwards Sands sued out another Delegacy to another, who awarded that the Testament exhibited by Sands was true, and that he was Executor, and that the said Testament whereby Peckham claimed should be void, and upon this Sands sued an Action of Debt against Peckham for 40 Marks, which he was bound to the Testator to pay, and Peckham shewed the Allowance of his Testament ut supra, and that during the Time that his Testament was in force he paid the 40 Marks to one of whom the Testator had received so much for Usury; and it was adjudged no Plea, because he was not bound by Law to repay the Usury, for it is but a Thing of Conscience, which the Law will not compel him to pay. But there it is held, that although he was not Executor of Right but of Wrong, [l] yet if he had paid any Debt due by Specialty, or other Thing which the Law will force the Executor to pay, the true Executor should have been bound by it, and should have been obliged to allow it, because the other was compellible to pay it, and the true Executor had no Prejudice by it, forasmuch as he himself should have been bound to pay it. And it is there put, [m] that if the Bailiff of a Manor pays the Debts of his Master due by Specialty or Contract, he shall not be allowed for it in his Account, because he was not compellible to pay them; [n] but if he pays Quit-rents issuing out of the Manor, he shall be allowed for it in his Account, because it belongs to his Office to pay them. And so here if the Administrator had aliened the Goods specified in the Count to pay the Funeral or Debts, the Sale had been good and indefeasible; quod alii duo Justiciarii concesserunt. And upon

[a] M. 20. H. 6. 1. pl. 4. Per Newton. 36. H. 6. 8. a. Per Nedham. Dy. 236. pl. 27. 1 Rol. Abr. 907. pl. 1. 9 Co. 37. a. 1 Finch 148, 151. 409. 2 Finch 168, 171.

[b] Wentw. Off. of Exec. 48. Law of Testaments, &c. 376.

[c] T. 44. Ed. 3. 26. Fitz. Administrators 15. Estoppel 9. Bro. Administrators 11. Estoppel 36. Record 12. 9 Co. 31 a. 41. a. Doc. Pla. 159, 353.

[d] See Ante 277 (d).

[e] M. 21. H. 6. 8. a. Fitz. Executors 16. Bro. 74.

[f] M. 2. R. 3. 20. a, b. Bro. Executors 167.

[g] M. 34. H. 6. 14. a. Fitz. Administrators 3. Bro. 7.

[h] T. 7. Ed. 4. 12. b. Fitz. Administrators 8. Bro. Executors 121.

[i] Theol. Dig. lib. 1. cap. 18. §31 2 Bac. Abr. 411. So it was held in Equity, where a Widow possessed herself of the personal Estate as Executrix under a revoked Will, and paid Debts and Legacies, but had no Notice of the Revocation, that she should be allowed those Payments, Hale v. Stotvel, 1 Chan. Cas. 126.

[k] T. 4. H. 7. 13. b. Fitz. Executors 41. Bro. Debt 140. Ante 185 (a).

[l] Note, all lawful Acts which an Executor of his own Wrong does are good, 5 Co. 30. b.

[m] Ante 14 (d).

[n] Litt. R. 71. Cro. J. 178. Owen 28. 1 Mod. Entr. 65. pl. 4. Ante 14 (d).

upon this Dyer cited the Caſe in 12. H. 7. * where the Dean and Chapter of Paul's brought an Action of Treſpaſs againſt one for cutting down great Trees, and the Defendant juſtified as their Bailiff of a Manor, in which there was a Park incloſed with Pale from Time beyond the Memory of Man, and that he cut down the Trees for the neceſſary Incloſure of the Park with Pale, and applied them to that Uſe; and the Opinion of the Court was that he might juſtify, for it belongs to his Office to repair or maintain the Park or Edifices of the Manor in the ſame Condition as they have always been, but he cannot make a new Pale, or new Houſes, or any Thing in other Manner than they have uſed to be, but to maintain and keep them in the ſame Form is a part of his Office, and he ſhall be allowed for the ſame. So in the principal Caſe, if the Defendant had ſhewn that the Sale was made to him by the Adminiſtrator in diſcharge of any Thing which he had been compellible to do, the Sale ſhould not have been avoided; but he has not ſhewn any ſuch Matter, nor has he taken any ſuch Averment, and therefore it cannot be taken by the Plea that it was applied to any ſuch Purpoſe, for which Cauſe the Plea in Bar is not good, and the Plaintiff ought to recover. And (as I heard) Anthony Brown Juſtice afterwards declared to them that he was of the ſame Opinion, wherefore Judgment was given for the Plaintiff the ſame Term, as follows, viz.

* T. 12. H. 7. 26. Bro. Baily 42 Treſpaſs 288. Owen 28.

The reſt of the Record.

Judgment.

At which Day here came as well the aforeſaid Alvared as the aforeſaid Robert by their Attornies aforeſaid. And thereupon the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Juſtices here more fully underſtood, it ſeems to the ſame Juſtices here that the aforeſaid Plea of the aforeſaid Robert Fox above in Bar pleaded is inſufficient in Law to preclude the aforeſaid Alvared from having his Action aforeſaid againſt the ſame Robert. Therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Alvared recover againſt the aforeſaid Robert the Goods and Chattles aforeſaid, or the Value of the ſame. And the ſame Robert in Mercy &c. And the Sheriff is commanded that he diſtrain the aforeſaid Robert by all his Lands, &c. and that of the Iſſues, &c. ſo that he render to the aforeſaid Alvared the Goods and Chattles aforeſaid; and that by the Oath of good, &c. he diligently enquire what Damages the aforeſaid Alvared hath ſuſtained, as well by Occaſion of the detaining the Goods and Chattles aforeſaid, as for his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this behalf expended: And if the aforeſaid Robert hath not rendered the Goods and Chattles aforeſaid to the aforeſaid Alvared, then how much the ſaid Goods and Chattles are worth according to the true Value of the ſame, and how, &c. the Sheriff ſhould make appear here from the Day of the Holy Trinity in 15 Days under the Seal, &c. and the Seals, &c. At which Day here came the aforeſaid Alvared by his Attorney aforeſaid; and the Sheriff, viz. William Devereux Eſquire now returned, that the aforeſaid Robert Fox hath not rendered to the aforeſaid Alvared the Goods and Chattles aforeſaid, or any Parcel thereof. Alſo the ſame Sheriff returned a certain Inquiſition taken before him at Birmingham in the County aforeſaid the 14th Day of June laſt paſt by the Oath of 12, &c. by which it is found that the Goods and Chattles aforeſaid are worth, according to the true Value of the ſame, 4 l. And that the aforeſaid Alvared has ſuſtained Damages by Occaſion of the detaining the ſaid Goods and Chattles, beſides his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this behalf expended, to the Amount of 20 s. and for the ſaid Coſts and Charges to the Amount of 46 s. 8 d. Therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Alvared recover againſt the aforeſaid Robert the aforeſaid 4 l. for the Value of the Goods and Chattles aforeſaid, and alſo his Damages aforeſaid to the Amount of 46 s. 8 d. by the Inqueſt aforeſaid above found, and alſo 7 l. 13 s. 4 d. to the ſame Alvared at his Requeſt for his Coſts and Charges aforeſaid by the Court here of Increaſe adjudged. Which ſaid Damages in the whole amount to 10 l. And the aforeſaid Robert in Mercy, &c.

A Re-

A Report of a Judgment given in the King's Bench in Trinity Term in the ſeventh Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, by the Juſtices of the ſame Bench, after Argument of the Counſel for the Parties, upon a Demurrer in Law on the Count made on a Bill exhibited by Richard Chapman, Executor of the Teſtament of Anne Chapman, Executrix of the Teſtament of John Chapman, Plaintiff, againſt Robert Dalton Defendant, for a Covenant made by Indenture between the ſaid Robert Dalton and Elizabeth his Wife of the one Part, and the ſaid John Chapman of the other Part, and broken by the ſaid Robert Dalton. And the Record is amongſt the Records of Trinity Term 6 Elizabeth. Rot. 230. and was read as follows,

Trin. Term 6 Eliz. Declaration. Same Precedent Raſt. Entr. 134. a. b.

BE it remembered, that heretofore, viz. in the Term of Eaſter in the fifth Year of the Reign of the Lady Elizabeth now Queen of England, before the ſame Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter, came Richard Chapman Executor of the laſt Will and Teſtament of Anne Chapman late of Cornbrough in the County of York Widow deceaſed, Executrix of the laſt Will and Teſtament of John Chapman late of Cornbrough within the Pariſh of Sherofton deceaſed, otherwiſe called Richard Chapman my Son whom I make my ſole Executor, otherwiſe called Richard Chapman Executor in the ſame Teſtament named, otherwiſe called Anne my Wife whom I make my full Executrix, otherwiſe called Anne Chapman Executrix in the ſame Teſtament named, by Thomas Butler his Attorney, and produced here in the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen then there his certain Bill againſt Robert Dalton in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal, &c. of a Plea of Covenant broken; and there are Pledges of proſecuting, viz. John Doe and Richard Roe. Which ſaid Bill follows in theſe Words, viz. London, viz. Richard Chapman Executor of the laſt Will and Teſtament of Anne Chapman late of Cornbrough in the County of York Widow deceaſed, Executrix of the laſt Will and Teſtament of John Chapman late of Cornbrough within the Pariſh of Sherofton deceaſed, otherwiſe called Richard Chapman my Son whom I make my whole Executor, otherwiſe called Richard Chapman Executor in the ſame Teſtament named, otherwiſe called Anne my Wife whom I make my full Executrix, otherwiſe called Anne Chapman Executrix in the ſame Teſtament named, complains of Robert Dalton in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal of the Marſhalſea of the Lady the Queen before the ſaid Queen being, of a Plea of Covenant broken, for this, to wit, whereas by a certain Indenture made at London, viz. in the Pariſh of the bleſſed Mary of the Arches in the Ward of Cheap in London the 20th Day of March in the 33d Year of the Reign of Lord Henry the Eighth late King of England, between the aforeſaid Robert Dalton and Elizabeth his Wife, by the Names of Robert Dalton Son of Thomas Dalton of Kingſton upon Hull Merchant of the Staple of Calais, and Elizabeth his Wife Daughter and Heir of John Silſtern and Chriſtian his Wife, of the one Part, and the aforeſaid John Chapman in his Lifetime, by the Name of John Chapman of Cornbrough in the County of York Yeoman, of the other Part, (one Part whereof ſealed with the Seal of the ſaid Robert and Elizabeth, bearing Date the ſame Day and Year the ſame Richard here produces in Court) it was covenanted, granted, and agreed between the ſame Parties by the Indenture aforeſaid, as follows, to wit, that the aforeſaid Robert and Elizabeth his Wife, for the Sum of 10 l. of good and lawful Money of England to them by the aforeſaid John Chapman paid, in the Name of a Fine called a Groſſome, at the ſealing of the Indenture aforeſaid, whereof the aforeſaid Robert and Elizabeth his Wife acknowledged themſelves by the Indenture aforeſaid well and truly to be ſatisfied, contented, and paid, and the aforeſaid John Chapman and his Executors thereof clearly to be diſcharged, by the Indenture aforeſaid had demiſed, granted, and to farm-let, and by the ſame Indenture did demiſe, grant, and to farm-let to the aforeſaid John Chapman four Cloſes called Northfield, with all and ſingular the Appurtenances, ſituate, lying, and being in Cornbrough aforeſaid in the aforeſaid County of York, then in the Tenure and Occupation of the aforeſaid John Chapman; to have and to hold, occupy, and enjoy the aforeſaid four Cloſes with all and ſingular their Appurtenances, to the aforeſaid John Chapman his Executors and Aſſigns, from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin from thence next following after the Date of the Indenture aforeſaid, unto the End and Term of 21 Years from thence next and immediately following, and fully to be compleat and ended: yielding and paying therefore yearly to the aforeſaid Robert Dalton and Elizabeth his Wife, and to the Heirs of the aforeſaid Elizabeth 12 l. of good and lawful Money of England at the Feaſts of St. Michael the Archangel, and of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary by equal Portions during the Term aforeſaid. And if it ſhould happen that the aforeſaid annual Rent of 12 l. or any Part or Parcel thereof be in Arrear and unpaid at any of the aforeſaid Feaſts on which it ought to be paid, by the Space of one Month, being lawfully demanded, then it ſhould be lawful for the aforeſaid Robert and Elizabeth his Wife, and the Heirs of the ſaid Elizabeth, into the Premiſſes to enter, and there to diſtrain, and the Diſtreſs ſo taken to drive off, lead, carry away, and keep, until the aforeſaid Robert Dalton and Elizabth his Wife, and the Heirs of the ſaid Elizabeth ſhould be lawfully ſatisfied, contented, and paid for the aforeſaid annual Rent, and every Parcel thereof, together with the Arrears if any ſhould be. And alſo the aforeſaid Robert Dalton and Elizabeth his Wife for themſelves, their Heirs, and Executors covenanted and granted by the Indenture aforeſaid to and with the aforeſaid John Chapman and his Executors, that they the aforeſaid Robert Dalton and Elizabeth his Wife, and the Heirs of the aforeſaid Elizabeth, of their own proper Charges and Expences yearly during the Term aforeſaid, would content and pay, acquit, and diſcharge the aforeſaid John Chapman and his Aſſigns againſt the Lord the King or his Collectors concerning the Proceſs called Greenwax, Iſſues of Counties, called County-Fees, and Iſſues, with all ſuch Charges, belonging belonging to the aforeſaid four Cloſes with the Appurtenances, provided alſo that the aforeſaid John Chapman and his Aſſigns of their own proper Charges acquit the aforeſaid Robert Dalton and Elizabeth his Wife, and the Heirs of the aforeſaid Elizabeth, againſt Suit to the Court of Sherofton for the aforeſaid four Cloſes with the Appurtenances during the Term aforeſaid. And further the aforeſaid Robert Dalton and Elizabeth his Wife for themſelves, their Heirs, Executors, and Adminiſtrators covenanted and granted by the Indenture aforeſaid to and with the aforeſaid John Chapman and his Executors, that they the aforeſaid Robert and Elizabeth, or the Heirs of the aforeſaid Elizabeth, after the End and Term of the aforeſaid 21 Years, ſhould make or cauſe to be made to the aforeſaid John Chapman and his Aſſigns a good, certain, ſufficient, and lawful Demiſe of the aforeſaid four Cloſes called Northfield, with all and ſingular the Appurtenances, for the Term of 21 Years, commencing at the 26th Day of March which ſhould be in the Year of our Lord 1563, next and immediately following the aforeſaid Term of 21 Years before named, and in the Indenture aforeſaid ſpecified and contained, without any Groſſome or Fine to be paid and rendered for the Premiſſes to the aforeſaid Robert and Elizabeth, or to the Heirs of the ſaid Elizabeth, but only the annual Rent to be paid or yielded for the ſame at the aforeſaid Feaſts due and accuſtomed, as by the ſame Indenture among other Tnings more fully appears. By virtue of which ſaid Demiſe the ſame John Chapman immediately after the Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary next following the Date of the ſaid Indenture into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and was thereof poſſeſſed: And being ſo poſſeſſed thereof, the ſame John afterwards, viz. the 18th Day of January in the Year of our Lord 1546. at London in the Pariſh and Ward aforeſaid, made and declared his laſt Will, and by the ſame conſtituted and ordained one Anne then his Wife his Executrix, and died; after whoſe Death the ſame Anne proved the ſaid laſt Will and Teſtament, and into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and was thereof poſſeſſed. And the ſame Anne being ſo poſſeſſed thereof, afterwards, viz. the 20th Day of September in the Year of our Lord 1558. at London in the Pariſh and Ward aforeſaid, made and declared her laſt Will, and by the ſame conſtituted and ordained the aforeſaid Richard Chapman her Executor, and died, after whoſe Death the ſame Richard Chapman proved the ſaid laſt Will and Teſtament, and into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and was thereof poſſeſſed. And afterwards, viz. at the Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary, viz. the 25th Day of March in the fifth Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, the aforeſaid Term of 21 Years ended and was determined. And the ſame Richard Chapman ſays, that although the aforeſaid John Chapman in his Lifetime, and the aforeſaid Anne after the Death of the ſaid John, and the ſame Richard after the Death of the aforeſaid Anne, all and ſingular the Covenants, Grants, and Agreements in the Indenture aforeſaid above ſpecified on the Part of the ſaid John Chapman and his Executors to be performed and fulfilled have well and faithfully, according to the Force, Form, and Effect of the Indenture aforeſaid, kept and fulfilled, nevertheleſs the aforeſaid Robert Dalton (for that the ſame Robert and Elizabeth after the End and Term of the aforeſaid 21 Years to the aforeſaid Richard Executor of the aforeſaid Anne Chapman Widow, Executrix of the aforeſaid John Chapman deceaſed, a good, ſure, ſufficient, and lawful Demiſe of the aforeſaid four Cloſes called Northfield for the aforeſaid Term of 21 Years to begin at the End of the aforeſaid Term of 21 Years above to the aforeſaid John Chapman made, viz. at the 26th Day of March which was in the aforeſaid Year of our Lord 1563, according to the Force, Form, and Effect of the Indenture aforeſaid, although often requeſted, have not made, nor cauſed to be made to the aforeſaid Richard after the Death of the ſaid John and Anne) the Covenant aforeſaid between the ſaid Robert and the aforeſaid John in his Lifetime made, has not kept, but broken, and the ſame to the aforeſaid Richard after the Death of the ſaid Anne hitherto to keep has wholly refuſed, and yet does refuſe, to the Damage of the ſaid Richard 800 l. and in Delay of the Execution of the Teſtaments aforeſaid; and therefore he brings the Suit, &c. And the ſame Richard produces here in Court the Letters teſtamentary as well of the aforeſaid John as of the aforeſaid Anne, by which it ſufficiently appears to the Court of the Lady the Queen here, that the ſaid Anne was Executrix of the Teſtament of the aforeſaid John, and that the ſaid Richard is Executor of the ſame Anne, and thereof hath the Adminiſttation, &c.

And now at this Day, viz on Friday next after the Morrow of the Holy Trinity in this ſame Term, until which Day the aforeſaid Robert Dalton had Leave to imparl to the Bill aforeſaid, and then to anſwer, &c. before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came as well the aforeſaid Richard Chapman by his Attorney aforeſaid, as the aforeſaid Robert Dalton by Wilfrid Erand his Attorney. And the ſame Robert defends the Force and Injury when, &c. and prays Judgment of the Declaration aforeſaid, becauſe he ſays that the ſaid Declaration, and the Matter therein contained, are inſufficient in Law to compel him the ſame Robert to anſwer to the ſaid Declaration, to which he the ſame Robert has no Neceſſity, nor is by the Law of the Land in any wiſe bound to anſwer; wherefore for Want of a ſufficient Declaration in this behalf, the ſame Robert prays Judgment, and that the ſaid Declaration may be quaſhed, &c. Defendant demurs to the Declaration.

And the aforeſaid Richard ſays, that by any thing by the aforeſaid Robert Dalton above in Pleading alledged, the Declaration of the ſaid Richard aboveſaid ought not to be quaſhed, becauſe he ſays that the ſaid Declaration, and the Matter therein contained, are good and ſufficient in Law to compel the ſaid Robert to anſwer to the ſaid Declaration, to which the ſame Robert hitherto has not anſwered, nor the ſame yet in any wiſe denied; which ſaid Declaration, and the Matter therein contained, the ſame Richard is ready to verify and prove, as the Court, &c. wherefore for that the ſame Robert to the ſaid Declaration has not anſwered, he prays Judgment and his Damages by Occaſion of the Premiſſes to be adjudged to him, &c. Joinder in Demurrer.

Continuance. And becauſe the Court of the Lady the Queen here is not yet adviſed of giving their Judgment of and upon the Premiſſes, Day thereon is given to the Parties aforeſaid before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter, until Monday next after the Octave of St. Michael, to hear their Judgment of and upon the Premiſſes, &c. becauſe the Court of the Lady the Queen here thereof not yet, &c.

The CASE. Trin. Term 7 Eliz.

A. leaſes Land for 21 Years, and covenants with the Leſſee to make to him and to his Aſſigns a good Leaſe for 21 Years, to commence after the End of the firſt Term, the Leſſee makes his Executrix and dies, the Executrix makes her Executor and dies, the firſt Term expires, the Executor of the Executrix, being Executor to the firſt Teſtator, ſhall have an Action of Covenant for the ſecond Leaſe, and it ſhall be Aſſets in his Hands. S. C. cited 1 Co. 98. b. 3 Bulſt. 257. 2 Rol. R. 409. Litt. R. 174. Palm. 555. Bridgm. 40. Theol. Dig. lib. 1. cap. 18. § 32. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 182, § 3. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 81, 100. Nelſ. Lex. Teſtam. 92. Vin. Abr. tit. Executors G. a. pl. 51. See like Caſe 1 Rol. Abr. 913. pl. 2.

The Caſe briefly drawn out of the Record is thus, Richard Chapman Executor of Anne Chapman Executrix of John Chapman has counted upon a Bill exhibited by him againſt Robert Dalton, that by an Indenture made at London the 20th Day of March Anno 33. H. 8. between the ſaid Robert and Elizabeth his Wife, and the ſaid John Chapman, the ſaid Robert and Elizabeth leaſed to farm to the ſaid John Chapman four Cloſes called Northfield, with the Appurtenances lying in Cornbrough in the County of York for the Term of 21 Years next enſuing the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady then next to come, rendering the Rent of 12*l.* yearly to be paid by equal Portions at the Feaſts of St. Michael the Archangel, and of the Annunciation of our Lady. And further the ſaid Robert and Elizabeth for themſelves, their Heirs, Executors, and Adminiſtrators covenanted and granted by the ſaid Indenture to and with the ſaid John Chapman and his Executors, that the ſaid Robert and Elizabeth, or the Heirs of the ſaid Elizabeth, after the End and Term of the ſaid 21 Years, ſhould make or cauſe to be made to the ſaid John Chapman and his Aſſigns, a good, ſure, ſufficient, and lawful Leaſe of the ſaid four Cloſes for the Term of 21 Years, to commence the 26th Day of March which ſhould be in the Year of our Lord 1563. next and immediately enſuing the ſaid Term of 21 Years ſpecified in the ſaid Indenture, without any Fine to be paid or rendered for the Premiſſes to the ſaid Robert and Elizabeth, but only the annual Rent to be paid at the ſaid Feaſts due and accuſtomed, as by the ſaid Indenture appears; by Force whereof the ſaid John Chapman immediately after the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady then next following, entered into the ſaid four Cloſes, and was thereof poſſeſſed. And he ailedges further, that the ſaid John Chapman in the Year of our Lord 1546, made the ſaid Anne his Wife his Executrix, and died, and ſhe proved the Will, and afterwards in the Year of our Lord 1558, ſhe made her Will, and thereby made the ſaid Richard her Executor, and died, and the ſaid Richard proved the Will, and entered into the Premiſſes, and was thereof poſſeſſed. And afterwards at the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady Anno 5 Elizabeth, the ſaid Term of 21 Years ended. And that the ſaid Robert Dalton and Elizabeth, although often requeſted, have not made to the ſaid Richard Chapman a new Leaſe of the ſaid four Cloſes for 21 Years, according to the Form and Effect of the ſaid Indenture, wherefore the ſaid Robert has not performed the ſaid Covenant, but has broken it, whereby an Action has accrued to the Plaintiff. And upon this Declaration the Defendant has demurred in Law.

For the Defendant. And the Matter was argued by Baber Utter Barriſter, and by Wray Apprentice on the Part of the Defendant, and by Fleetwood Apprentice, and by another Apprentice of the Middle Temple on the Part of the Plaintiff. And the Objection which the Defendant's Counſel made to the Count was in the principal Point of the Matter, viz. in that the Defendant had covenanted that he and his Wife, after the End of the firſt Term, would make a new Leaſe to John Chapman and his Aſſigns for the Term of 21 Years, and before the Time that the new Leaſe was to be made, viz. during the firſt Term, and before the End of it, John Chapman made his Executors, and died, ſo that thereby the Covenant was become impoſſible to be performed by the Act of God; for the new Leaſe ought to be made to John Chapman and to his Aſſigns, and he was dead before the Time limited for the making of it, and therefore the Leaſe could not be made according to the Limitation, for it ought firſt to veſt in John Chapman, and the Party ought not to perform it in other Manner than the Agreement was made. And the Meaning of Aſſigns here is, that it ſhall be only to him and to his Aſſigns, as habendum to him and to his Aſſigns, ſo that Aſſigns are Words of Limitation. For they are put in a [a] Copulative, viz. to him and to his Aſſigns, which varies from the Words, to him or to his Aſſigns, [b] for where the Sentence is in the Diſjunctive, if the one Part cannot be performed, and the other may, then perhaps the Party ſhall be forced to perform that which may be performed. And if it ſhould be taken in ſuch Senſe, then it would have been neceſſary that by his Will or otherwiſe he had named ſome one to whom the Leaſe ſhould be made, and ſuch Perſon named might perhaps be accounted an Aſſignee. But foraſmuch as he has not done ſo, there is no one that ſhall be an Aſſignee to him, for his Executors are not called Aſſigns, becauſe they ſhall take the Things which the Teſtator had, but this is a Thing to be done de novo, which the Teſtator never had, and it is to be done according to the Limitation. And if one ſhould take the Senſe of it diſjunctively, as it has been ſaid, viz. to him or to his Aſſigns, then there ought to be an Aſſignee in Deed to whom it ſhould be done, and not an Aſſignee in Law, as an Executor is. And, Sir, if an Aſſignee might be ſo expounded as that an Executor might be Aſſignee to his Teſtator, yet the Executor of an Executor cannot be ſo, for by the Courſe of the common Law he is not in ſuch Degree as an immediate Executor is. [c] For Executors of Executors ſhould not have an Action of Debt or any other Action for a Duty due to the firſt Teſtator by the Courſe of the common Law, for they were not Executors to the firſt Teſtator, nor Privies to his Will, but meer Strangers. For which Reaſon the Act of 25. Ed. 3. cap. 5. makes Proviſion in the Point, as follows, Alſo it is accorded and eſtabliſhed, that Executors of Executors ſhall have Actions of Debts, Accounts, and of Goods carried away of the firſt Teſtator, and Execution of Statutes Merchant and Recognizances made in Court of Record to the firſt Teſtator, in the ſame Manner as the firſt Teſtator ſhould have had, if he were in Life

[a] See Dy. 27. pl. 177.

[b] Mich. 29. Geo. 2. B. R. Drummond v. Duke of Bolton.

[c] Kelw. 45. a. Per Frowick. But ſee the contrary M. 7. Ed. 3. 62. pl. 54. Per Rok. 2 Init. 404, and that the Statute of 25. Ed. 3. as to the Action of Debt therein mentioned is but in Affirmance of the common Law, though it ſeems hereafter 290 (b) that there was ſome Doubt thereof at the common Law.

Life, as well of Actions of the Time paſt, as of the Time to come, in all Caſes where Judgment is not yet given between ſuch Executors of Executors; but that the Judgments given to the contrary in Time paſt ſhall ſtand in their Force: And that the ſame Executors of Executors ſhall anſwer to others of as much as they have recovered of the Goods of the firſt Teſtator, as the firſt Executors ſhould do, if they were in full Life. So that this Act does of Neceſſity purport that the Law was contrary before. And the Words of the Act, viz. that Judgments given to the contrary in Time paſt ſhall ſtand in their Force, make known to all that Judgments were given to the contrary before, and it is to be preſumed that ſuch Judgments were given according to Law, and that the Law was ſo, or elſe the Statute would not have confirmed them. And Wray made Uſe of this as an Objection to the Action of Covenant brought here, for he ſaid that the Executor of an Executor ſhall not have an Action of Covenant upon any Covenant broken which was made to the firſt Teſtator; for the Act only gives them Actions of Debt, Account, and of Goods carried away, and not Actions of Covenant, for which reaſon Actions of Covenant ſhall be at the common Law, and ſo the Action here brought ſhall not be maintenable. Wherefore although the firſt Executors might be reputed Aſſignees to the firſt Teſtator, yet their Executors cannot by the common Law, although they are enabled to ſue certain Actions. And beſides there is no Privity between them and the firſt Teſtator by the common Law, for which reaſon the new Leaſe cannot be made to the Plaintiff here as Aſſignee of the firſt Teſtator, becauſe he is Executor to the Executrix of the firſt Teſtator. And alſo it was ſaid that the matter will not bear the Covenant to be ſo ſtrained as to be performed to the Plaintiff, becauſe if the Leaſe ſhould be made to the Plaintiff, it would be of another Effect than if it had been made to John Chapman, for if it had been made to John Chapman and to his Aſſigns, according to the Words of the Covenant, and he had died, and the Term had come to the ſaid Anne, and from Anne to the Plaintiff, as her Executor, in this Caſe the Plaintiff ſhould have had the Term to the Uſe of the firſt Teſtator, and it ſhould have been Aſſets in his Hands of the Goods of the firſt Teſtator. [a] But here if the Leaſe ſhould be made to the Plaintiff, and he ſhould be the firſt in whom it veſted, he would be a Purchaſer of the Leaſe, in which Caſe he would not have it to perform the will of the firſt Teſtator, nor could it be put in Execution as Part of his Chattles, becauſe it never was in him. So that in Subſtance and in Matter it would not be all one to have the Leaſe made to the firſt Teſtator, and to have it made to the Plaintiff, for the Plaintiff would be poſſeſſed of it in different Reſpects. And for theſe Cauſes they took it that the Plaintiff ſhould be barred. And they amplified and enlarged theſe Arguments and Reaſons with many Caſes, which I ſhall not here recite at large, my Intention being only to relate briefly the material Points of the Matter debated.

[a] See to the contrary Ante 286 the Books there cited at the Head of the Caſe, and Poſt 292 (d).

E contra for the Plaintiff.

And the Apprentices on behalf of the Plaintiff maintained the Count with two diſtinct Arguments, each of them tending to confute the Argument on the other Side. And in the firſt Part of their Argument they ſaid that where the Covenant was to make the Leaſe at a Day to come to John Chapman and to his Aſſigns, the Words (to him and to his Aſſigns) are to be conſidered, and their true Meaning is to be diſcuſſed. And firſt it is to be conſidered [b] that every Covenant and Grant ſhall be taken moſt ſtrongly againſt him that makes it, and moſt beneficially for him to whom it is made. And if the Words of it have a double Signification, that which tends moſt to the Prejudice of him that ſpeaks them, and to the Advantage of the other, ſhall be preferred. Then here as to the Word (Aſſigns) ſome effectual Senſe muſt be made of it, by the ſaid Rule, to the Avail and Benefit of him to whom the Thing is to be done. And according to the Expoſition before made by thoſe who argued on the other Side, the Word (Aſſigns) has not any effectual Meaning. For if it is applied in the Senſe of a Limitation, viz. to have and to hold to him and to his Aſſigns for 21 Years, the Word (Aſſigns) is meerly void. For if I make a Leaſe to a Man for 21 Years, his Aſſigns ſhall have it as much as if I had leaſed it to him and to his Aſſigns, for the Law gives him Power to aſſign it to another; ſo that to make a Leaſe to a Man for 21 Years is the ſame in Effect as if the Leaſe had been to him and to his Aſſigns for 21 Years, and Aſſigns ſo taken is but a Word of Abundance, and is in Effect but a Cypher in Arithmetic, and conveys no Benefit to him to whom the Covenant is made, for which reaſon another Senſe of it muſt be found out. And, Sir, the Word (Aſſignee) has two Senſes; in the one it ſignifies the Perſon to whom a Thing granted or given ſhall be afterwards granted or conveyed by him that has the Thing. As if a Man makes a Leaſe for Years of a Houſe, and grants to the Leſſee that he and his Aſſigns ſhall have 20 Cart-loads of Wood yearly in a Wood of the Leſſor, there the Aſſignee ſignifies the Perſon to whom the Leſſee ſhall aſſign the Leaſe. And ſo if a Man makes a Feoffment in Fee, and warrants the Land to the Feoffee and to his Heirs and Aſſigns, there the Aſſignee is he to whom the Feoffee or his Heirs ſhall aſſign the Land, for if ſuch Feoffee makes a Feoffment, the ſecond Feoffee ſhall vouch. So if a Man ſells a Horſe, upon Condition that if he pays 40*s.* to the Vendee or to his Aſſigns, he ſhall have the Horſe again, there the Aſſignee is he to whom the Vendee ſhall grant or give the Horſe. So that ſuch Sort of Aſſigns are thoſe Perſons to whom a Thing firſt granted or given is afterwards conveyed over. But there is no ſuch Perſon in our Caſe, for here there is no Eſtate made, nor Thing granted, and therefore an Aſſignee cannot be ſo taken in our Caſe, for in ſuch Senſe it has no Place here, and therefore we ought to look out for another Senſe of the Word Aſſigns. And in the other Senſe it ſignifies the Perſons to whom a Thing ſhall be done, which is not done. [c] As if I am bound in an Obligation upon Condition to make a Feoffment to you or to your Aſſigns, there Aſſigns are ſuch whom you ſhall name to me, to whom I am to make the Feoffment. So if the Condition be that ſuch a Day I ſhall give to you or to your Aſſignee a Horſe, there Aſſignee ſhall be taken for ſuch Perſon whom you ſhall appoint to receive the Horſe from me.

[b] See Ante 10(i). and the Books there cited.

[c] Bridgm. 40.

ner. So that in this Senſe an Aſſignee is before the Thing given or granted, and in the other Senſe he is after the Thing given or granted. And, Sir, Aſſigns in the laſt and in the firſt Senſe alſo (though in the firſt Senſe we have nothing to do with them here) are in two Manners, viz. Aſſigns in Deed and Aſſigns in Law. Aſſigns in Deed are thoſe whom the Party actually aſſigns to receive the Thing, as in the ſaid Caſe where the Condition is that ſuch a Day I ſhall give to you or to your Aſſignee a Horſe, there if you appoint J. S. to whom you would have me give the Horſe, he is your Aſſignee in Deed, becauſe you aſſigned him in Deed to receive the Horſe. Aſſigns in Law are Executors who are named by the Party, but the Things which they ſhall have are limited and conveyed to them by the Law, for they are reputed in the Law ſuch as ſhall have all the Goods and Chattles which the Teſtator had, and Contracts perſonal, and therefore Chattles real are removed by the Law from the Teſtator to them, and they repreſent the Perſon of the Teſtator for thoſe Things, and they ſhall have them to the Uſe of the Teſtator, for which Reaſon they are called his Aſſigns in Law. And therefore in the Caſe beforementioned of a Condition that I ſhall give ſuch a Day to you or to your Aſſigns a Horſe, if before the Day you make your Executors, and die, there at the Day I ought to give the Horſe to your Executors, becauſe they are your Aſſigns for this Purpoſe, and they repreſent your Perſon as to receiving any Chattles real or perſonal. And inaſmuch as you have not aſſigned any one in Deed to receive the Horſe, the Law ſays that the Executors, who are your general Receivers of Things perſonal, ſhall have the Horſe, for they were named by you to ſuch Purpoſe; and when they are named by you, the Law, without any Words ſpoken touching the Thing, ſays that they are the Perſons who ought to have the Thing, for they are your Aſſigns in Law. * And upon this the Caſe in 27. H. 8. was cited, where Executors brought a Writ of Debt upon an Obligation made to the Teſtator, and the Defendant ſaid that the Obligation was endorſed upon Condition, that if the Defendant ſhould perform all the Covenants compriſed in certain Indentures made between the Teſtator and the Defendant, that then, &c. and by the Indentures the Teſtator had leaſed certain Lands to the Defendant for the Term of 20 Years, and there was a Clauſe in the Indenture that he ſhould deliver to the Leſſor or to his Aſſigns at the End of the Term a true Rental of all the Lands to him leaſed, and the Defendant alledged in Diſcharge of this Covenant, that before the End of the Term the Leſſor died, and made no Aſſignee, and he alledged Performance of the other Conditions; and the Plaintiff replied that the Leſſor made him (the Plaintiff) his Aſſignee, and upon this they were at Iſſue; and there Wilby ſaid that this Iſſue was misjoined, for the Defendant has not denied but that the Plaintiff is Executor to the Teſtator, and thereby he is Aſſignee in Law, and the contrary to the Iſſue appears to the Court: And Engleſield and Shelley ſaid that ſo it ſeemed to them. So that by this Caſe it appears that Executors are Aſſigns in Law for the taking of Chattles real and perſonal. Then as to our Caſe here, there is no Aſſignee in Deed appointed by the Teſtator, to whom the new Leaſe ſhall be made, for John Chapman appointed no Perſon in Deed to whom it ſhould be made, and therefore we ought to reſort to an Aſſignee in Law. And here we have an Aſſignee in Law, viz. Anne who was his Executrix, and ſhe has made the Plaintiff her Executor, who is Aſſignee in Law to the firſt Teſtator.

* P. 27. H. 8. 2. pl. 5. Bro. Deputy 1. Condition 5. Expoſition 4. Hob. 9, 10. Moor 482.

But here an Objection may be made why the new Leaſe ſhall not be made to the Plaintiff, nor to Anne, if ſhe had lived to the End of the Term, notwithſtanding that they ſhould be called Aſſigns in Law, and that is, becauſe the Covenant is that they ſhall make the new Leaſe to John Chapman and to his Aſſigns, which Word (and) is a Copulative, ſo that in this Caſe (it may be ſaid) the Aſſignee ought to be a joint Taker with John Chapman, for the Clauſe is not that the Leaſe ſhall be made to him or to his Aſſigns, for if it had been ſo, then if the Executor be adjudged an Aſſignee, it might be made to him, but the Aſſignee here is copulatively joined to him, ſo that John Chapman muſt of Neceſſity be one who ſhall take the Leaſe, and becauſe he is dead it cannot be made to him and to his Aſſigns, for the one Part of the Copulative fails, and therefore the Covenant cannot be performed; Sir, to this Objection it may be anſwered, that he who puts this Expoſition upon it expounds it contrary to all Reaſon, or utterly deſtroys the Covenant. † And he is a bad Expoſitor that deſtroys the Text. And that ſuch an Expoſition is abſurd, or deſtroys the Text, is very evident; for from thence it would follow, that if John Chapman had been alive at the Time of the firſt Leaſe ended, the ſecond Leaſe could not have been made to him alone, nor could it have been made to his Aſſigns alone, if he were dead, but to him and to his Aſſigns jointly; ſo that his Aſſignee muſt have been a Jointenant with him, and the Leaſe could not have been made until John Chapman had named an Aſſignee who ſhould take jointly with him. And to expound it in ſuch Manner that John Chapman alone could not have taken the Leaſe, if he had been alive at the Time when it ought to be made, is contrary to the Intent of the Parties to the Covenant, and contrary to all common Conſtruction of the Word (Aſſigns) and meerly abſurd. So that an Aſſignee in Deed could not be joined to him in taking the Leaſe by any reaſonable Intendment. And, Sir, Aſſigns in Law, viz. his Executors, cannot take the Leaſe jointly with him, for when he is alive he cannot have any Executor. And then to ſay that becauſe he could not have an Executor who ſhould take jointly with him, the Defendant and his Wife are not bound to make the Leaſe to him alone if he was alive, becauſe the Leaſe ought to be made to him and to his Aſſigns jointly, would be meerly a Deſtruction of the Text, for it is impoſſible to make the Leaſe jointly to him and his Executors, and to excuſe himſelf from making any Leaſe at all for ſuch Cauſe is an abſolute Deſtruction of the Covenant. So that to take the copulative (and) in the literal Senſe of the Word, would not ſuffer either the Aſſignee in Deed or the Aſſignee in Law to have any Place, but the literal Senſe of it would be Nonſenſe.

† Mala eſt Expoſitio quæ corrumpit viſcera textus, Hardr. 149. Wing Max. reg. 17. Ante 196 (*).

Nonſenſe. And therefore to join the Aſſignee in Deed with John Chapman in taking the Leaſe makes the Senſe abſurd, and ſo does it to join the Aſſignee in Law with him in taking the Leaſe, becauſe of the Impoſſibility of it, and ſuch Expoſition utterly deſtroys the Text. And foraſmuch as the literal Senſe begets Abſurdity or Impoſſibility, we ought not to follow it, but to make ſome other Senſe of it, and ſuch as may ſtand with Reaſon and the Intent of the Parties, and that is, to take the Word (and) for (or) viz. the Copulative as the Disjunctive. So that where the Words are, that they covenanted to make a Leaſe at ſuch a Time to John Chapman and to his Aſſigns for 21 Years, they ſhall be taken in this Senſe, viz. that they ſhall make the Leaſe to John Chapman or to his Aſſigns for 21 Years. And accordingly in our Law we may frequently ſee the Disjunctive taken as the Copulative, and the Copulative as the Disjunctive, in order to make the Words ſtand with Reaſon and the Intent of the Parties. [a] And hereupon was cited the Caſe in 21. Ed. 3. in an Action of Debt, where the Defendant bound himſelf by Indenture to pay the Plaintiff a certain Sum, if ſo be that the Defendant did not enfeoff the Plaintiff or his Heirs of certain Land when he came to his Aunt, and the Plaintiff declared that the Defendant came to his Aunt, and that he (the Plaintiff) required him to enfeoff him, and he did not enfeoff him, whereby an Action accrued to the Plaintiff, &c. and Exception was taken to the Declaration, becauſe the Condition was in the Disjunctive, viz. that the Plaintiff ſhould have the Sum if the Defendant did not enfeoff him or his Heirs, and he has ſaid that he did not enfeoff him, but ſays nothing of the Feoffment to his Heirs, and if he had performed any Part of the Disjunctive, the Plaintiff could not have the Debt; but the Declaration was held good enough notwithſtanding this Exception, becauſe the Plaintiff could not have any Heir during his Life: So that altho' the Condition was in Words disjunctive, yet inaſmuch as the Plaintiff was alive, in Senſe it was not disjunctive, for he could not have any Heir whilſt he was alive, and the Senſe of the Words are to be taken to enfeoff the Plaintiff if he is alive, and if he dies, then to enfeoff his Heirs, and therefore the Defendant was driven to anſwer to the Count. And as the Plaintiff there could not have any Heir during his Life, ſo here John Chapman could not have any Executor during his Life; and as the Condition there in the Disjunctive to enfeoff at a Time to come him or his Heirs was taken to enfeoff him if at the Time limited he was alive, and if he was dead at the Time, then to enfeoff his Heirs, ſo here the Covenant in the Copulative to make a Leaſe at a Time to come to him and to his Aſſigns ſhall be taken disjunctively, that is to ſay, to him if he be alive, and to his Aſſigns if he be dead. So that the ſaid Caſe bears a great Reſemblance to our Caſe here. And in many Caſes Words ſpoken in the Copulative ſhall be taken in the Disjunctive, if ſuch Senſe be moſt ſtrong againſt thoſe that ſpeak them. [b] As if I am ſole ſeized of Land, and J. S. is alſo ſole ſeized of other Land, and I and he grant to another a Rent Charge of 20 s. out of all the Lands which he and I have, the Grantee ſhall have 20 s. out of my Land, and other 20 s. out of the Land of J. S. and yet the Grant was out of the Lands which he and I had, but the Word (and) which is a Copulative cannot ſtand with the Operation of the Law, which makes the Grant disjunctive. [c] So if I and J. S. give to another all the Goods which I and he have, the Donee ſhall have all the Goods which each of us have ſeverally by ourſelves. [d] And ſo, it was ſaid, by the Book in 19. H. 6. in a Scire facias to have Execution upon a Recovery in Maintenance, if a Man releaſes to J. S. and J. K. all Actions and Suits which he has againſt the ſame J. S. and J. K. thereby all Actions and Suits which he has againſt either of them by himſelf are releaſed; ſo that altho' the Word (and) literally couples them together, yet in Senſe the Releaſe goes to them ſeverally. [e] And ſo if I of the one Part, and J. S. and J. K. of the other Part ſubmit ourſelves to ſtand to the Arbitrement of certain Perſons, touching all Actions between me and the ſaid J. S. and J. K. the Arbitrators may make an Award of all Actions between me of the one Part, and J. S. or J. K. ſeverally by himſelf of the other Part, as it is held in 2. R. 3. notwithſtanding the Words are in the Copulative, viz. J. S. and J. K. So in the common Caſe in Indentures, if a Man bargains and ſells his Land to another, and covenants to make a good and ſufficient Eſtate in Fee-ſimple to the Bargainee and to his Heirs in the Term of St. Michael then next enſuing, or within two Months next enſuing, and before the Term of St. Michael, or within the two Months the Bargainee dies, there the Bargainor may and ought to make an Eſtate to the Heir of the Bargainee in the Term of St. Michael, or within the two Months, and yet the Words were that he ſhould make the Eſtate to the Bargainee and to his Heirs; in which Caſe if one ſhould reſt upon the Letter, the Copulative (and) purports that the Feoffment cannot be made but to the Bargainee and to his Heirs jointly, but the Bargainee cannot have any Heir in his Life time, and therefore the Senſe of the Words muſt be ſo taken that the Feoffment ſhall be to the Bargainee, if he be alive at the Time, and if he be dead, then to his Heirs. And ſo if the Covenant was that at ſuch a Day the Bargainor ſhould deliver the Evidences to the Bargainee and to his Heirs, there if the Bargainor dies before the Day, he ought at the Day to deliver them to his Heirs, for the Covenant cannot be literally performed, viz. to him and to his Heirs jointly, nor was there any Poſſibility at firſt for it to be performed literally, and therefore ſuch Senſe ought to be made of it as may beſt be performed, and as ſtands with Reaſon, and that is, to take the Copulative as the Disjunctive, viz. to him or to his Heirs. So in the principal Caſe, the Covenant to make the Leaſe at ſuch a Day to John Chapman and to his Aſſigns for 21 Years ought to be conſtrued that it ſhall be made for the Term of 21 Years to him or to his Aſſigns, that is to ſay, to the ſaid John Chapman or to ſuch Perſon as he ſhall name, if the ſaid John Chapman be then alive, and if he be not then alive, but dead, then it ſhall be made to his Aſſigns, that is, to his Aſſigns in Deed, if he has made any, and if not, then

A covenants with B to make a Leaſe for Years of Land to him and to his Aſſigns at ſuch a Time, this ſhall be conſtrued to him or to his Aſſigns, ſo that if B dies before the Time, it ſhall be made to his Aſſigns alone. S. P. cited 1 Leon. 74. Bridgm. 40. And ſee other like Caſes where the Words (and) and (or) have been taken for each other, 5 Co. 112. a. 1 Brownl. 122. Ley 79. Ld. Raym. 505. 506. 1 Bac. Abr. 431.

[a] M. 21. Ed. 3. 29. pl. 9. Bro. Conditions 47. 5 Co. 112. a. 1 Brownl. 122. 1 Rol. Abr. 450. pl. 13. Vin. Abr. tit. Condition S. b. pl. 1. So vice verſa a Covenant to enfeoff J. S. and his Heirs, whereas it is impoſſible to enfeoff his Heirs whilſt J. S. himſelf is living, therefore it ſhall be taken for a Disjunctive, Gouldſb. 71. Owen 52.

[b] See Ante 140 (i). 161 (h). 171 (d).

[c] M. 19. H. 6. 4. a. per Newton. Bro. Done 12. Grants 148. Jointenants 15. Hetley. 9.

[d] M. 19. H. 6. 3. b. Fitz. Releaſe 3. Bro. 21. Jointenants 66.

[e] M. 2. R. 3. 18. b. Bro. Arbitrement 44. 5 Co. 8. a. 8 Co. 98. a. 3 Bulſt. 65. 1 Brownl. 112. Bridgm. 91. 1 Rol. R. 298, 375, 376. Yelv. 203. 1 Rol. Abr. 246. pl. 5. Hardr. 399. Lutwy. 1628. Comyns 547. 1 Vern. 259.

then rather than the Covenant ſhall be loſt, it ſhall be made to his Aſſigns in Law, which are his Executors.

And as to what has been ſaid, that the Plaintiff is Executor of an Executor, and is not by the Common Law Executor to the firſt Teſtator, but is in another Degree by the Common Law than the immediate Executor is, Sir, this is not ſo, [a] for if I ordain by my laſt Will that J. S. ſhall alien my Land, and he does ſo, this is my Alienation by him. So if I give Authority to my Steward to demiſe my Land, and he does ſo, this is my Demiſe by him. So if I give Authority to my Bailiff to alien my Sheep or other Chattles, and he does ſo, this is my Sale by him. [b] So when a Man makes J. S. his Executor, therein it is implied to be his Intent that if J. S. makes his Executor, and dies, his Executor ſhall be Executor to the firſt Teſtator, for the firſt Executor intended it, and ſo the ſecond Executor is made Executor to the firſt Teſtator by the Nomination and Election of the ſecond Teſtator, to whom the firſt Teſtator committed ſuch Authority of Election and Nomination. [c] So that the ſecond Executor after the Death of the firſt Executor ſhall be immediate Executor to the firſt Teſtator, as choſen by the ſecond Teſtator by Force of the Authority given him by the firſt Teſtator, and therefore he ſhall be in ſuch Degree to the firſt Teſtator as the firſt Executor was, or elſe all Contracts between Man and Man would by the Common Law periſh in a ſhort Time, viz. after the Death of the firſt Executor. For neither the Ordinary nor his Adminiſtrator could by the Common Law have any Action of Debt or other Action given to the firſt Teſtator, [d] for they could not have any Action given to the Inteſtate, until the Statute of 31. Ed. 3. cap. 11. was made, which gives ſuch Actions to Adminiſtrators. So that by this Means no Contract could be of Continuance at the Common Law, and therefore ſuch Defect was not at the Common Law. And upon this divers Caſes were cited which happened before the Statute of 25. Ed. 3. [e] And Note that in Mich. 10. Ed. 2. Fitz. Executors 110, the Executors of an Executor brought an Action of Debt for the Arrears of an Annuity due to the firſt Teſtator, and it was well debated whether there is any Privity between them and the firſt Teſtator, and whether the Action ſhould be maintenable, and after having taken Time for Deliberation, all the Juſtices awarded that they ſhould be anſwered. And it was ſaid that the chief Purview of the Statute of 25. Ed. 3. was for the two other Actions given by that Act to Executors of Executors, viz. the Action of Account, and of Treſpaſs for Goods carried away, which Actions [f] Executors could not have by the Common Law until they were given by Statutes, [g] and they were not extended by Equity to the Executors of Executors. [h] But as to the Action of Debt, it was not neceſſary to be put in the Statute, for the Law gave it to the Executor of an Executor before, and yet many doubted thereof, to remove which Doubt it was well done to put it in the Act, and to make Proviſion that all Judgments before given to the contrary ſhould ſtand in Force, for thereby all Diſputes, which might otherwiſe have happened, are avoided. So that Executors of Executors were by the Common Law, as to all Contracts, in the ſame Degree as the firſt Executors were, and might have all Actions which the Common Law gave to the firſt Executors, and ſo they might have Actions of Covenant, and if they could not, yet they are given [i] to Executors of Executors by Equity of the ſaid Statute of 25. Ed. 3. So here Richard Chapman the Plaintiff, being Executor of an Executrix, is as well an Aſſignee to the firſt Teſtator as the firſt Executrix was, and ſhall as well maintain an Action of Covenant as the firſt Executrix might have done, and therefore the Action ſhall be maintenable.

The other Argument which they made in Support of the Declaration was, that admitting Aſſigns to be a Word of Limitation, as habendem to him and to his Aſſigns, and ſo to be a void Word, as it was taken by the other Side, or admitting that it had been out of the Covenant, then the Covenant is that the Huſband and Wife at the End of the firſt Term ſhall make a new Leaſe for 21 Years to John Chapman, and he dies before the End of the firſt Term, in this Caſe the Huſband and Wife ought to make the Leaſe to the Plaintiff being Executor of the Executrix of John Chapman, and they ſhall not be diſcharged of the Covenant by the Death of the Party to whom it ſhould be made. [k] For in every Agreement made between any Parties the Intent is the chief Thing to be conſidered, and if by the Act of God, or by other Means not ariſing from the Party himſelf, the Agreement cannot be performed according to the Words, yet the Party ſhall perform it as near to the Intent of the Agreement as he can. And the Intent here was that a new Leaſe ſhould be made at the End of the firſt Leaſe; and to whom ſhould it be made? to this it may be anſwered, to John Chapman; and if he be dead, ſhall no Leaſe be made then? yes ſurely; and to whom? to thoſe who ſhould have had it, if it had been made to John Chapman himſelf; and who are they? his Executors, and to them ſhall the new Leaſe be made; for the Subſtance of the Agreement was that the Eſtate ſhould be made, and that the Intereſt ſhould be had, and the Perſon to whom it ſhould be made was not the principal Point of the Agreement. But if the Tenant is bound in an Obligation to his Lord, or covenants with him to do to him at ſuch a Time Homage, or Fealty, or other corporal Service, there if the Lord dies before the Day, it ſhall not be done to his Executor or Heir, for the corporal Service ſhall in ſuch Caſe be done to the Body of the Lord, and when he dies, the Thing dies alſo, for the ſame Homage or Fealty cannot be done to another, tho' other Homage or Fealty may be due to the Heir. So that if the Body dies, being the chief Cauſe for which a Thing is to be done, the Thing alſo dies with it. But here the Term and the Eſtate in the Land is the principal Thing, for if it had been made to John Chapman, and he had died, the Eſtate had not died, but ſhould have continued during the Term. And by the like Reaſon if he dies before the Eſtate can be made, the Eſtate ſhall be made to thoſe who ſhould have

[a] Godolph. Orph. Leg. 478, § 145.

[b] Salk. 303. per Powel J.

[c] Palm. 156. per Dodder. J. Swinb. 329. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 87. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 255, 256. 1 Finch 150. 2 Finch 173.

[d] Ante 278 (e). 2 Inſt. 398, 404.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

[e] 1 Finch 150. 2 Finch 173. See Palm. 156. Doderidge J. ſays that from this Caſe of 10 Ed. 2. unto the preſent Time it was always allowed for a Rule that the Executor of an Executor ſhould be Executor to the firſt Teſtator.

[f] M. 7 Ed. 3. 62. pl. 54. per Schard. H. 19 Ed. 3. Fitz. Account 56. F. N. B. 117. c. in Margine. 2 Inſt. 404. 1 Finch 149. 2 Finch 167.

[g] See Accord M. 7 Ed. 3. 62. pl. 54. 2 Inſt. 404. Sed vide Wentw. Off. of Exec. 256.

[h] M. 7 Ed. 3. 62. pl. 54. per Rok. 2 Inſt. 404. Sed Contra Kelw. 45. a. per Frowick. Ante 286 (c).

[i] Moor 482.

[k] Vin. Abr. tit. Contract E. pl. 11. tit. Intent A. pl. 3.

have had it if it had been made. And when the Leaſe was limited to be made at a Day to come, viz. at 21 Years afterwards, it was then well enough known and conſidered by each of the Parties, that he to whom the Leaſe was to be made was ſubject to Death, and that the Hour of his Death was incertain, and that it was probable enough he might die before the Time when the Leaſe was to be made. And therefore it cannot be preſumed that the Party intended to have the Agreement diſſolved by his Death, nor can any one imagine that he would be guilty of ſo much Folly, or that the other intended by ſuch Event to be diſcharged from making the Leaſe, but it ſhall be preſumed that it was the Intent of both the Parties that the Leaſe ſhould be made, notwithſtanding the Death of him that ſhould take it, and he has left others after him able to take the Leaſe, viz. his Executors, and he who is to make it receives no more Damage by making the Leaſe to the Executor than by making it to the Teſtator. So that altho' he cannot perform the Covenant according to the Words, yet he ſhall perform it according to the Intent. [b] As in the Caſe in Littleton, where a Man makes a Feoffment upon Condition that the Feoffee ſhall make an Eſtate in ſpecial Tail to the Feoffor and to his Wife, and to the Heirs of their two Bodies, there if the Huſband dies before the Eſtate made, it ſhall be made as near the Condition as may be, that is, he ſhall make an Eſtate to the Wife for Life without Impeachment of Waſt, Remainder to the Iſſues in Tail according to the firſt Limitation of the Tail; [c] and if the Wife be dead, then the Feoffee ought to give the Land to the Iſſues, and to the Heirs of the Body of the Father and Mother begotten. And ſo in the other Caſes there put the Intent ſhall be performed as near as it can be where the Words cannot be performed. And it is not always requiſite that in Agreements every Thing ſhould be performed according to the Words. [d] For if there be a Feoffee in Mortgage to whom 10 l. ought to be paid, and the Mortgagor pays a Cup or a Horſe to the Mortgagee in Satisfaction thereof, he has performed the Condition, as Littleton ſays. [e] So if the Condition be that he ſhall pay it at ſuch a Place, and he pays it at another Place, and the Mortgagee accepts it, Littleton ſays that it ſhall be good enough, for the Value is the Subſtance. [f] So if a Man be bound in 20 l. to pay 10 l. ſuch a Day at ſuch a Place, and he does not come to the Place at the Time appointed to receive the Sum, he has not loſt it, as 7. Ed. 4. is; [g] but if he ſues an Action for the Penalty, the Obligor ought to ſhew the Matter, and ſay that he was ready at the Place and Time appointed to pay the leſſer Sum, and alſo that he is yet ready; [h] and if the Obligor had paid the Sum in another Place to the Obligee, the Penalty had been ſaved. So if the Mortgagor ought to pay to the Mortgagee a Sum at a certain Day, [i] or if a Man is bound in a greater Sum for the Payment of a leſſer Sum at a certain Day, there if he pays the Sum before the Day, the Condition is performed. [k] So if the Condition upon a Mortgage is, that if the Feoffor at ſuch a Day pays ſuch a Sum, then he and his Heirs ſhall re-enter, in this Caſe if he dies before the Day, his Executors, or his Heir (as Littleton ſays) may pay it, [l] for the Payment at the Day is more the Effect and Subſtance of the Matter than the Perſon of the Feoffor: So that another Perſon may pay it than he who is limited by the Words. [m] So if a Feoffment is made upon Condition that if the Feoffee does not pay the Feoffor ſuch a Sum at ſuch a Day, then the Feoffor ſhall enter, there if the Feoffee before the Day makes a Feoffment over, and at the Day does not pay the Sum, the ſecond Feoffee at the Day may tender and pay the Sum, notwithſtanding that the Agreement reached no further than that the firſt Feoffee ſhould pay it. [n] So where an Agreement is made that a Sum ſhall be paid to one Man, it may be paid to another, by 17. Aſs. where the Diſſeizor granted by Indenture that if the Diſſeizee paid ſuch a Sum to him at ſuch a Day, then a Releaſe made to him by the Diſſeizee ſhould be void, and before the Day the Diſſeizor made a Feoffment, there the Sum was paid to the Feoffee. From which Caſes we ſee that where Agreements are made that one Thing ſhall be done, another Thing may be done for it; and where it is agreed to be done at one Place, it may be done at another Place; and where it is to be done at one Day, it may be done at another Day; and where by or to one Perſon, it may be done by or to another Perſon, and yet at the ſame Time the Agreement is performed, and not broken. And the Reaſon thereof is, becauſe the Intent is performed, which [o] is the principal Point in all Agreements, and if this be performed, it is ſufficient, altho' every Circumſtance is not performed according to the Words; and if the Words are performed, and not the Intent (as it may be in ſome Caſes) yet the Agreement is not performed. [p] As in the Caſe of 21. H. 6. in Debt, where the Defendant was bound upon Condition that if his Feoffees of his Manor of W. granted to the Plaintiff an annual Rent of 40 s. out of the ſaid Manor, that then, &c. and he had three Feoffees, and two of them granted the Rent to the Plaintiff; there the Words of the Condition were performed, becauſe his Feoffees granted the Rent, but yet he had not performed the Condition, for all the Juſtices there took it that all the Feoffees ought to have granted the Rent: And ſo they certainly ought, for there the third might have had the Land by Survivorſhip, and he ſhould have avoided the Rent, and alſo more than two Parts of the Manor was not charged with the Rent; ſo that the Intent was not performed, altho' the Words were performed. [q] So it is put in 3. H. 7. that if one is bound to enfeoff me of the Manor of D. and he makes a Feoffment to another of Parcel, and afterwards enfeoffs me of the Manor, there he has performed the Words, but yet he has not performed the Intent, which was that I ſhould have the whole Manor as it then was. [r] So in the Caſe of Colthirſt v. Bejuſhin in 4. Ed. 6. a Remainder was limited to Bejuſhin, if he would inhabit and be reſident upon the Land during the Term, there it is taken that if he be reſident a Week during the Term he has performed the Words of the Condition, but not the Intent, for the Intent was that he ſhould be reſident during the whole Term. So in [b] Litt. § 352. 1 Vent. 381.

[c] Ante 7 (n). and the Books there cited. 2 Leon. 25. W. Jones 181. 1 Vent. 381.
[d] Litt. § 344. Perk. § 749. Dy. 1. pl. 3. 1 Rol. R. 256. at the Bottom.
[e] Litt. § 343. 1 Rol. R. 297, at the Top.
[f] P 7. Ed. 4. 4. Fitz. Dette 79. Bro. Condition 145.
[g] T. 19. H. 8. 12. a. Bro. Touts temps priſt 1. Co. Litt. 207. a.
[h] Perk. § 748. Dy. 222. pl. 22.
[i] H. 10. H. 7. 14. pl. 11 per Fineux. Perk. § 748. 1 Rol. R. 297. Dy. 2. 2. pl. 22.
[k] Litt. § 334. T. 27. H. 8. 19. b. per Audley. O. Bendl. 134, 135, 137. Moor 336. 4 Leon. 176. Winch 116. 10 Mod. 420. Strange 133. Preced. Cha. 487.
[l] O. Bendl. 137.
[m] Litt. § 336. O. Bendl. 134. 135, 137. Moor 336. Winch 116. 4 Leon. 176. 5 Co. 96. b. 10 Mod. 420. Vin. Abr. tit. Tender C. pl. 5.
[n] 17 Aſs. pl. 2. Fitz. Condition 14. Bro. 103.
[o] O. Bendl. 137. per Bramſton C. J. Vin. Abr. tit. Contract. T. pl. 4.
[p] M. 21. H. 6. 10. pl. 22. Fitz. Bar 154. Bro. Condition 56. Perk. § 790. 2 Bulſt. 178. Ante 23 (b). 30 (f). 34 (f).
[q] H. 3. H. 7. 4. b. per Vavisor. Fitz. Bar. 129. Bro. Condition 126. Ante 23 (a). and ſee the other Books there cited.
[r] Ante 23. per Pollard, arguendo.

in the Caſe in 49. H. 6. * where an Abbot was Parſon Imparſonee from Time, &c. and he had an Annuity from Time beyond the Memory of Man in Right of the Parſonage, and he brought a Writ of Annuity as Abbot without naming himſelf Parſon, and counted upon a Preſcription in him and his Predeceſſors Abbots, and the Preſcription was traverſed, and found for the Plaintiff, there every Word of the Verdict was true, and yet [a] Attaint lay againſt the Jury, for when he brought the Writ by the Name of Abbot, and as ſuch claimed the Annuity, he was not ſeized of it in that Form, but as Parſon, and becauſe he did not claim it as Parſon, they ought not to have found the Iſſue for him; ſo that altho' every Word of the Verdict was true, yet their Verdict was falſe, for the Words of the Verdict and the Intent of the Verdict did not agree together. [b] Wherefore the Intent in every Matter ought to be reſpected, and if this be performed it is ſufficient, altho' the Words are not performed. So here in our Caſe the Intent of the Covenant is performed, if the Leaſe be made to the Executor, altho' the Words were that it ſhould be made to the Teſtator himſelf. And as to the Objection made, viz. [c] that if the Leaſe ſhould be made to the Plaintiff, it would have quite another Effect than if it had been made to the Teſtator himſelf, becauſe if it is made to the Plaintiff, he will not have it to the Uſe of the firſt Teſtator, nor ſhall it be accounted Aſſets in his Hands of the Goods of the firſt Teſtator, Sir, [d] this is quite otherwiſe, for the Covenant was made to the firſt Teſtator, and the Title thereto was derived from him to the Plaintiff, and that which is done in Performance of the Covenant ought to be in the Plaintiff in the ſame Degree as the Covenant was in him, ſo that he ſhall have the Leaſe in the like Manner as he had the Covenant, which was the Cauſe and Origin of the Leaſe. [e] And therefore, it was ſaid, if an Executor aſſigns Auditors to one who was Accountant to the Teſtator, and the Auditors find him in Arrears, the Action of Debt, which the Executor ſhall have, ſhall be in the detinet only, as it is taken in 11. H. 6. for the Debt ſhall be in him as Executor, and it has Reſpect to the Foundation of it. [f] So if a Man has a Villain for Years as Executor, and the Villain purchaſes Land, and the Executor enters, the Land ſhall be to the Uſe of the Teſtator, and ſhall be Aſſets in his Hands, becauſe to ſuch Uſe he was poſſeſſed of the Villain, who was the [g] Cauſe of the Land coming. So here the Covenant which was the Cauſe of the Leaſe came to the Executor in Right of the Teſtator, and in the ſame Right ſhall the Leaſe be poſſeſſed; for which Reaſons it ſeemed to them that the Plaintiff ſhould recover. And theſe Grounds and Reaſons were amplified with many Caſes, all which it is not my Deſign to recite at large.

* H. 10 Ed. 4. 16. b. Fitz. Fauxer de recov. 18.

[a] F. N. B. 106. h. 107. a. many good Caſes there to ſame Purpoſe.

[b] Vin. Abr. tit. Intent A. pl. 4.

[c] Ante 287 (a).

[d] See the Books cited Ante 286 at the Head of the Caſe.

[e] H. 11. H. 6. 17. per Paſton et Newton.

[f] P. 32. H. 8. Bro. Villenage 46. B. N. C. § 194. Dr. & Stud. lib. 2. cap. 18, fo. 170. Bro. Villenage 70. Co. Litt. 117. a. 124. a. 2 Rol. Abr. 734. G. pl. 1. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 181. b. Godb. 30. Godolph, Orph. Leg. 183, § 4. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 73. 3 Danv. Abr. 377. pl. 16. Plowd. Quær. § 234.

[g] See 2 Rol. Abr. 735. J.

And after theſe Arguments had, all the four Juſtices of the King's Bench aſſembled this preſent Trinity Term at Serjeant's-Inn in Fleetſtreet, in the Chamber of Catline Chief Juſtice of England, to confer together upon this Matter. And they all unanimouſly agreed that the Action was maintenable. And the Chief Juſtice told me that the principal Reaſon which ſatisfied him was the latter of the two laſt Arguments; and the Opinion of the other Juſtices was accordingly. Wherefore the ſame Term they gave Judgment for the Plaintiff without arguing the Matter at large, and the Judgment was as follows.

The reſt of the Record.

At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came the Parties aforeſaid by their Attornies aforeſaid. Whereupon all and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Court of the Lady the Queen here more fully underſtood, and mature Deliberation being had thereupon, for that it ſeems to the Court of the Lady the Queen here that the Declaration aforeſaid and the Matter therein contained are good and ſufficient in Law to compel the ſaid Robert to anſwer to the ſaid Declaration, whereby the aforeſaid Richard ought to recover his Damages by Occaſion of the Premiſſes: But becauſe it is unknown to the Court of the Lady the Queen what Damages the aforeſaid Richard has ſuſtained as well by Occaſion of the Premiſſes as for his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, therefore the Sheriffs are commanded that by the Oath of good and lawful Men of their Bailiwick they diligently enquire what Damages the aforeſaid Richard has ſuſtained as well by Occaſion of the Premiſſes as for his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, and the Inquiſition which they ſhall take thereupon to ſend to the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter on Wedneſday next after the Octave of St. Michael under the Seals, &c. and the Seals, &c. together with the Royal Writ to them thereupon directed, &c. The ſame Day is given to the aforeſaid Richard there, &c. At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came the aforeſaid Richard by his Attorney aforeſaid: And the Sheriffs returned a certain Inquiſition before them taken at the Guildhall of the City of London ſituate in the Pariſh of St. Lawrence in the Old Jewry in the Ward of Cheap of the ſame City, the 26th Day of September in the ſeventh Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, whereby it is found that the aforeſaid Richard hath ſuſtained Damages by Occaſion of the Premiſſes, beſides his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, to the Amount of 330 l. and for the ſaid Coſts and Charges 5 l. Therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Richard recover againſt the aforeſaid Robert his Damages aforeſaid found by the Inqueſt aforeſaid, and alſo 12 l. for his Coſts and Charges aforeſaid to the aforeſaid Richard by the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen here by his Aſſent of Encreaſe adjudged, which ſaid Damages amount in the whole to 347 l. And the aforeſaid Robert in Mercy, &c.

1 Judgments 239, 240.

Judgment.

A Report of a Judgment given in the King's Bench by the Juſtices of the ſame Bench in Michaelmas Term in the ſeventh and eighth Years of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, upon a ſpecial Verdict found in an Action of Treſpaſs brought by Margery Oſborn Plaintiff, againſt Thomas Carden and John Joy Defendants. And the Record thereof appears among the Records of Michaelmas Term 6 & 7 Elizabeth. Rot. 136.

IT appears by the ſaid Record that Margery Oſborn, in Eaſter Term laſt paſt before the ſaid Term of St. Michael, exhibited a Bill of Treſpaſs againſt Thomas Carden and John Joy for breaking and entering into her Cloſes and Houſes at Ledes in the County of Kent the 20th Day of July in 5th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, and declared of her Graſs ſpoiled, and of 40 Cart-loads of Underwood cut and carried away, &c. to the Value of 40 l. The Defendants pleaded not-guilty, and the Jury as to the 40 Cart-loads of Underwood found the Defendants not-guilty; and as to the reſt of the Treſpaſs they gave a ſpecial Verdict, and found that Thomas Ford was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee of the Meſſuages and Tenements in which the Treſpaſs was aſſigned, and held them of Warham Seintleger as of his Manor of Ledes in Socage, viz. by Fealty and Rent, and died ſo ſeized thereof; and that the Tenements were of the Tenure and Nature of Gavelkind, and always partible amongſt the Heirs Males. And that after his Death the Tenements deſcended to John Ford, then being of the Age of 16 Years, and to Walter Ford, then being of the Age of 5 Years and a half, as Sons and Heirs of the ſaid Thomas, according to the Cuſtom aforeſaid, and afterwards John died without Heir of his Body, after whoſe Death his Part deſcended to the ſaid Walter as his Brother and Heir, which Walter at the Time of his Death was of the Age of 5 Years and a half, by Force whereof the ſaid Margery now Plaintiff being natural Mother of the ſaid Walter, as Guardian in Socage, ſeized the Body of the ſaid Walter, and entered into the Tenements, and was thereof poſſeſſed. And being ſo poſſeſſed, ſhe took to Huſband Thomas Oſborn, whereby he and the ſaid Margery were poſſeſſed. And they being ſo poſſeſſed, the 23d Day of June in the 3d Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, by their Indenture bearing the ſame Date, demiſed and leaſed the ſame Tenements to the ſaid Thomas Carden, to have to him and to his Aſſigns from the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel next enſuing the Date of the ſaid Indenture, unto the End and Term of 8 Years thence next following. By Force whereof he was poſſeſſed, and being ſo poſſeſſed, the ſame 23d Day of June he leaſed the ſame Tenements to the ſaid John Joy one of the Defendants, to have and to hold to him unto the End of 4 Years from thence next enſuing; by Force whereof he entered, and was poſſeſſed, and he being ſo poſſeſſed, the ſaid Thomas Oſborn the 10th Day of June in the 5th Year of the Reign of the ſaid preſent Queen died, after whoſe Death the ſaid Margery, claiming the Tenements as Guardian in Socage to the ſaid Walter in Form aforeſaid, entered into the Tenements, and was thereof poſſeſſed until the Defendants, at the ſaid Time when the Treſpaſs is alledged to be done, re-entered into the Meſſuage and Tenements aforeſaid, upon whoſe Entry the ſaid Margery has ſued her Bill. And further they ſaid, that the ſaid Walter Ford was yet within the Age of 14 Years, viz. of the Age of 12 Years. And upon this the Jury prayed the Advice of the Court, whether the Entry of the ſaid Margery, notwithſtanding the Demiſe aforeſaid, was lawful after the Death of the ſaid Thomas Oſborn, or not: And if it ſeemed to the Court that the Entry of the ſaid Margery was not lawful, then the Jury ſaid that the Defendants were not guilty; and if it ſeemed to the Court that the Entry of the ſaid Margery was lawful, notwithſtanding the ſaid Demiſe by her Huſband and her made as before, then they ſaid that the Defendants were guilty of the reſt of the ſaid Treſpaſs alledged againſt them, in Manner and Form as the Plaintiff had alledged, and then they aſſeſſed Damages to the Plaintiff, beſides her Coſts, to 11 l. and for her Coſts to 5 l.

A Woman Guardian in Socage marries, and joins with the Huſband in a Leaſe of the Infant's Land, it ſhall not bind her after the Huſband's Death. S. P. 1 Rol. Abr 343. F. pl. 3. 2 Rol Abr. 46. H. pl. 2. 1 Finch 144. 2 Finch 147, 148. Crompt. J. C. 118. a. 1 Bac. Abr. 303. 2 Bac. Abr. 683. 3 Bac. Abr. 309, 408. Vin. Abr. tit. Guardian Q. pl. 4. in notis.

And upon this Verdict the Counſel for the Plaintiff, taking the ſaid Demiſe to be voidable by the Wife, and that her Entry was lawful, oftentimes prayed the Judgment of the Court, and the Defendants prayed their Judgment that ſhe might be barred, and the Matter was frequently touched and debated as well by the Juſtices as by the Counſel for the Parties. And at laſt the Court awarded that the Plaintiff ſhould recover, becauſe the Demiſe did not bind the Wife longer than the Coverture. [a] For the Law gives the Guardianſhip of the Body and Lands of the Infant to the Wife being his Mother, or other of his Parents or Anceſtors, for the great Affection which the Law preſumes to be in the Mother, or other Parent or Anceſtor towards the Infant, for greater Love there cannot be, in the Suppoſition of Law, than the Anceſtor has for the next of his own Blood; and it is an old Saying, that Love deſcends, and is tried to be more true than aſcending. For which reaſon the Law, which greatly tenders the Preſervation of Infants, has appropriated the Care of them and of their Lands in Socage to their Parents, and for Default of them, to their other Anceſtor who is the next in Blood and in natural Affection to them. And all this is for the Advantage of the Infant, and not of the Parent, or other Guardian, for the Guardian ſhall reap no Benefit from it, but the Infant, for the Guardian ſhall maintain the Infant with his Land, and of the reſt of the Profits ſhall render an [b] Account to the Infant. So that the whole Eſtate and Intereſt of the Guardian is to the Uſe of the Infant, and no Part of it is to the Uſe of the Guardian. [c] And therefore if the Guardian in Socage dies, his Executors ſhall not have the Wardſhip of the Body, nor of the Lands of the Infant, for they ſhall have nothing but what the Teſtator had to his own Uſe; and alſo the Executors have not ſuch a natural Affection for the Infant as the Teſtator had for him, and therefore when the Guardian is dead, the Executors ſhall not have the Wardſhip, but the next Anceſtor to the Infant, who has the like natural Affection for him.

[a] Crompt. J. C. 118. a.

[b] 1 Finch 143. 2 Finch 147.

[c] Litt. § 125. Vaugh. 181, 183. 2 P. Wms. 121. Crompt. J. C. 118 a. 1 Finch 7, 144. 2 Finch 9, 147. Wing. Max. reg. 19. pl. 60. 2 Bac. Abr. 681. Vin. Abr. tit. Guardian N. 4. pl. 5.

him. [a] And this is the Reaſon that if the Guardian in Socage is outlawed or attainted, he ſhall not forfeit the Wardſhip to the King, becauſe the Intereſt which he had was to the Uſe of another, and not to his own Uſe, and beſides there is not ſuch Proximity of Blood nor natural Affection between the King and the Infant as there was between his Anceſtor and him. Then here when the Wife, being Guardian in Socage, took Huſband, the Huſband had an Intereſt in the Wardſhip in Right of the Wife, for the Huſband partakes with the Wife in all her Prerogatives; and therefore when the Wife had the Wardſhip of the Infant, and the Huſband had the Wardſhip and Direction of the Wife, therein he had the Wardſhip of all thoſe Things of which the Wife had the Wardſhip before, for the Law does not deprive the Huſband of any Intereſt, Prerogative, or Thing, which the Wife had, but veſts the Intereſt in him with his Wife, becauſe they are but one Perſon in Law. [b] But if a Woman Guardian in Socage takes Huſband, and dies, now the Huſband has loſt his Intereſt, for the Wife had it to the Uſe of another, and alſo there is not ſuch Affection in the Huſband towards the Infant after the Coverture is diſſolved, as there was in the Wife, and therefore ceſſante cauſâ, ceſſabit effectus. Then here when the Huſband made a Leaſe of the Land of the Infant, and died, leaving the Wife, yet ſhe remains Guardian in Socage of the Body, and therefore the Huſband's Demiſe of the Land is voidable by the Wife, for the Huſband and Wife had it only to the Uſe of the Infant, and the Infant ought to live of it, and be maintained by the Profits of the Land. So that the Body being the Principal requires the Profits of the Land to be applied to its Support, and of the Reſidue to have an Account, which the Act of the Huſband cannot take away, for his Eſtate and Intereſt was but to another's Uſe, and the Uſe ſhall be required by the Infant of every one that has the Land; and inaſmuch as he who has the Uſe cannot, by reaſon of the Imbecillity of his Age, and Want of Diſcretion, meddle with the Profits of the Land, the Wife, who is authorized thereunto, ſhall in his Right take upon her the Management of the Land and the Profits thereof, and in his Right and for his Gain and Advantage ſhall ouſt every one that holds the Land to another Purpoſe. [c] Wherefore although the Wife ſhould not avoid the Act of her Huſband as to the Giſt, Demiſe, or Sale of the Chattles real or perſonal which ſhe had to her own Uſe, yet in the Caſe here ſhe ſhall, becauſe the Thing demiſed is held in another's Right, and for the Intereſt of the Infant it ſhall be avoided. So that this plainly differs from the other Caſes, for it is in Effect the Act of the Infant by the Guardian. And therefore the Direction and Management of the Land cannot be deveſted out of the Wife by the Act of another, any more than the Privity of Blood, or the Juriſdiction of the Perſon of the Infant may, for the Land is for his Suſtenance. And divers other Things were ſaid by the Juſtices more at large to enforce the Entry of the Wife, for which Reaſon Judgment was entered, as follows.

[a] M. 33. H. 6. 55. pl. 49. Bro. Forfeiture 70. Gard. 6. Co. Litt. 88. b. 3 Co. 39. a. 7 Co. 13. b, Calvin's Caſe. 7 Co. 12. b. Godb. 316. Cro. J. 99. Owen 115. 2 Rol. R. 323. Crompt. J. C. 118. b. 2 Bac. Abr. 681.

[b] Co. Litt. 89. a. 351. a. 1 Finch 7. 2 Finch 9, 147. Dy. 251. pl. 90. 1 Rol. Abr. 345. pl. 12. 2 Bac. Abr. 681.

[c] Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 7. Co. Litt. 351. a.

Judgment. At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came the Parties aforeſaid by their Attornies aforeſaid, whereupon all and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Court of the Lady the Queen here more fully underſtood, and mature Deliberation being thereupon had, it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Margery recover againſt the aforeſaid Thomas and John her Damages aforeſaid by the Jurors aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid aſſeſſed, and alſo 4 l. 15 s. for her Coſts and Expences aforeſaid to the ſame Margery by the Court of the Lady the Queen here with her Aſſent of Increaſe adjudged, which ſaid Damages amount in the whole to 16 l. And the aforeſaid Thomas and John be taken, &c.

A Re-

A Report of a Judgment given in the Court of Wards and Liveries by Sir William Cecil Knight Chief Secretary of our Lady the Queen, Maſter of the ſame Court, and by others of the Counſel of the ſame Court, in Michaelmas Term in the ſeventh and eighth Years of the Reign of our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth, upon a Bill exhibited in the ſame Court for John Carell an Infant and Ward of the Queen, by John Carell Attorney of the Court of the Dutchy of Lancaſter his Grandfather on the Part of the Father, and Prochein Amy, againſt Richard Cuddington Eſquire Huſband to Elizabeth Grandmother to the ſame Infant on the Part of his Mother, touching the Point whether the ſaid Grandfather or Grandmother ſhould be Guardian in Socage to the ſame Infant.

THE Caſe was thus. One Thomas Buckenham Eſquire was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee of and in the Manor of Great-Livermore in the County of Suffolk, and alſo of and in the Manor of Suitterton, otherwiſe Clareball and Oldhall in the County of Norfolk, and he had to Wife the ſaid Elizabeth, and conveyed to her for Term of her Life for her Jointure the Manor of Great-Livermore, and afterwards died ſeized of the Reverſion thereof, and alſo died ſeized of the ſaid Manor of Suitterton, having Iſſue by the ſaid Elizabeth, John Buckenham and Dorothy Buckenham. And afterwards the ſaid John Buckenham entered into the ſaid Manor of Suitterton, and being ſeized thereof, and of the Reverſion of the Manor of Great-Livermore, died without Iſſue, by whoſe Death the ſaid Manor of Suitterton, and the Reverſion of the ſaid Manor of Great-Livermore deſcended to the ſaid Dorothy, as Siſter and Heir of the ſaid John Buckenham, by Reaſon whereof ſhe entered into the ſaid Manor of Suitterton, and was ſeized thereof, and of the Reverſion of the ſaid Manor of Great-Livermore. And the ſaid Dorothy being ſo ſeized took to Huſband Thomas Carell Son and Heir apparent of the ſaid John Carell Attorney of the Dutchy, whereby he and the ſaid Dorothy were ſeized of the ſaid Manor of Suitterton, and of the Reverſion of the ſaid Manor of Great-Livermore in Right of the ſaid Dorothy, and they being ſo ſeized, by Fine ſur conuſance de droit come ceo que il ad de ſon done granted the ſaid Manor of Suitterton, and the Reverſion of the other Manor to one Richard Noy in Fee, and took back by Grant and Render an Eſtate to them and to the Heirs Males of the Body of the ſaid Thomas Carell by him upon the Body of the ſaid Dorothy lawfully begotten, the Remainder to the right Heirs of the ſaid Dorothy in Fee. And afterwards the ſaid Dorothy died, having Iſſue the ſaid John Carell an Infant begotten upon her by the ſaid Thomas Carell. And afterwards and now lately in the Time of the preſent Queen the ſaid Thomas Carell died, the ſaid John Carell his Son and Heir being within the Age of 14 Years, after whoſe Death as well the Manor of Suitterton, as the Reverſion of the Manor of Great-Livermore deſcended to the ſaid John Carell the Infant. And becauſe the Reverſion of the ſaid Manor of Great-Livermore was held of the Queen as of the late diſſolved Abbey of Bury in the County of Suffolk by Knight's-Service, and not in capite, the Wardſhip as well of the Body of the ſaid John Carell the Infant, as of the Reverſion of the ſaid Manor of Great-Livermore belonged to the Queen, and the ſaid Manor of Suitterton was held of the Biſhop of Norwich in Socage. And the ſaid Richard Cuddington, who after the Death of the ſaid Thomas Buckenham had married the ſaid Elizabeth, pretending to be Guardian in Socage to the ſaid John Carell the Infant, of the ſaid Manor of Suitterton, in Right of his Wife Grandmother to the ſame Infant on the Part of his Mother, had entered into ſame Manor, and had taken and detained the Iſſues and Profits of it to the Uſe of the ſaid Infant. And the ſaid Infant by the ſaid John Carell his Grandfather exhibited his Bill in the ſaid Court againſt the ſaid Richard Cuddington, complaining that the ſaid Richard had wrongfully entered into the ſaid Manor, and taken the Rents, Iſſues, and Profits of it, and detained the Evidences thereof. And the ſaid Richard Cuddington made his Anſwer, and the ſaid Infant replied, and in the Bill and Pleading all this ſaid Matter was diſcloſed. And the whole was reduced to one Point, viz. whether John Carell Grandfather to the Infant on the Part of his Father, or the ſaid Elizabeth being Grandmother to the Infant on the Part of his Mother, ought to be Guardian in Socage to the Infant of the ſaid Manor of Suitterton. For if John Carell the Grandfather ought to be Guardian in Socage, then the Entry of the ſaid Richard Cuddington into the ſaid Manor, and the taking the Profits, and detaining the Evidences thereof, was not lawful; but if the ſaid Elizabeth ought to be Guardian in Socage, and not the ſaid John Carell the Grandfather, then the Entry of the ſaid Richard Cuddington her Huſband, and the taking the Profits, and detaining the Evidences of the ſaid Manor, was lawful.

Where upon Marriage Lands deſcending on the Part of the Wife are ſettled by Fine ſur Grant and Render in Tail ſpecial, Remainder in Fee to the right Heirs of the Wife, and Huſband and Wife die, leaving Iſſue under 14 Years of Age, the Grandfather on the Part of the Father ſhall have the Cuſtody preferable to the Grandmother on the Part of the Mother, for tho' they are in equal Degree as to the Eſtate-tail, yet as to the Inheritance of the Fee-ſimple, it can never by any Poſſibility deſcend to the Grandfather on the Father's Side, or to any of his Blood, being Strangers to the Wife from whom the Land moved; but on the other Hand, as the Land came from the Mother, and as ſhe by the Fine became a Purchaſer of the Fee-ſimple, thoſe of her Blood may inherit, and thro' them the Grandmother may by Poſſibility take, and therefore ſhe is by Law diſabled to have the Guardianſhip. S. C. cited Crompt. J.C. 118.b. Vin. Abr. tit. Guardian O. pl. 8. Poſt 446.

But See Cary's Rep. 137, 138. where an Infant was ſeized of an Eſtate-tail, with a Limitation in Remainder to the Grandfather on the Father's Side, and it appearing that there were divers Remainders between his and the Infant's Eſtate, the Court would not interpoſe in favour of the Grandfather on the Mother's Side, to whom the Land could not deſcend. 20 Eliz. Sweetman v. Edge.

For the Plaintiff

And John Carell the Grandfather apprehended that he ought to be Guardian in Socage, becauſe two Eſtates of Inheritance in the ſaid Manor of Suitterton are deſcended to the Infant from two ſeveral Anceſtors, the one is an Eſtate-tail in Poſſeſſion to the Heirs Males deſcended to him from his Father, the other is an Eſtate in Fee-ſimple in Remainder deſcended to him from his Mother. And the ſaid John Carell the Grandfather is Grandfather and next Anceſtor to the Infant on Part of his Father, and if the Infant ſhould die, he is not inheritable to either of the Eſtates, for if the Infant ſhould die having Iſſue, then the Iſſue would inherit, and if he ſhould die without Iſſue, then the Eſtate-tail to the Heirs Males is determined, and there is none to inherit it. So that he being Grandfather cannot poſſibly reap any Advantage from the Death of the Iſſue, in reſpect of this Eſtate; no more can he in reſpect of the Fee-ſimple. But the ſaid Elizabeth the Grandmother may have Advantage from it; for when Thomas Carell and Dorothy his Wife gave the Fee-ſimple of the Manor by Fine to Richard Noy, and took back an Eſtate to them and to the Heirs Males of the Body of the ſaid Thomas Carell by him begotten upon the Body of the ſaid Dorothy, the Remainder to Dorothy in Fee, now Dorothy was a Purchaſer of the Fee-ſimple, for her former Eſtate in the Fee-ſimple was out of her by the Fine, and veſted in Noy the Conuſee, and ſhe by the Grant and Render in the Fine had the Fee ſimple back from Noy the Conuſee, as a new Purchaſe, in which Caſe if ſhe had died without Iſſue, the Fee-ſimple ſhould have deſcended to the Heirs on the Part of the Mother of the ſaid Dorothy, in Default of Heirs on the Part of her Father. [a] And ſeeing that ſhe had Iſſue, if that Iſſue ſhould die without Iſſue, the Fee-ſimple would deſcend in the ſame Manner, viz. to the Heirs on the Part of the Father of Dorothy, if there be any, and if not, to the Heirs on the Part of the Mother of Dorothy, which is the ſaid Elizabeth. And perhaps the Land might deſcend to the Brother of Elizabeth, if ſhe has a Brother, and if not, to ſome Couſin of Elizabeth, and from ſuch Brother or other Couſin to Elizabeth; ſo that here there is a Poſſibility for Elizabeth the Grandmother to have the Land by Deſcent, if the Heir ſhould die without Iſſue, but there is no ſuch Poſſibility in favour of the ſaid John Carell being Grandfather on the Part of the Father. For Thomas Carell the Father, and his Anceſtors, and all his Blood are Strangers to Dorothy the Purchaſer, and there is no Poſſibility that the Land could deſcend to them, if Dorothy or her Iſſue ſhould die without Iſſue. And therefore if the Queen had not had the Wardſhip of the Body of the Infant, and he had had no Land holden by Knight's-Service, yet Elizabeth the Grandmother ſhould not have had the Wardſhip of his Body, becauſe the Law preſumes that the Heir would not be ſo [b] ſafe in her Wardſhip, as in the Wardſhip of the ſaid John Carell being his Grandfather on the Part of the Father, to whom there is no Poſſibility of the Land coming by Deſcent, and who can have no Expectation of Gain by the Death of the Heir. And as ſhe ſhould not have had the Wardſhip of the Body, ſo ſhe ſhall not have the Wardſhip of the Land, where the Queen has the Body. For the Law which directs the Wardſhip of the Body of the Heir in Socage, where he has no Land holden by Knight's-Service, gives the ſame Direction for the Profits of his Land holden in Socage, whether he has Lands holden by Knight's-Service of the Queen (not in capite) or of any other. So that the ſame Law, and no other, remains in Regard to his Lands, altho' another has his Body; for which Reaſon the ſaid John Carell apprehended that he, being Grandfather on the Part of the Father, ſhould have the Wardſhip of the ſaid Manor of Suitterton until the Infant came to the Age of 14 Years, and not the ſaid Elizabeth, nor her Huſband.

[a] Vin. Abr. tit. Heir W. a. pl. 5.

[b] See Forteſc. de laud. leg. Angl. cap. 44. And Selden's Notes thereon. Cowel's Inſt. 32.

E contra for the Defendant,

On the contrary the Defendant ſaid, that firſt of all it is to be granted that two Inheritances in the Manor of Suitterton are deſcended to the Infant, the one in Tail, and the other in Fee, both which are in him, and although the Grandmother on the Part of the Mother be nearer to the Poſſibility of having the Fee-ſimple by Deſcent, if the Infant die without Iſſue, than the Grandfather on the Part of the Father is, yet it is as abſolutely impoſſible for the Grandmother on the Part of the Mother to have the Land by Deſcent in Reſpect of the Eſtate-tail as it is for the Grandfather on the Part of the Father to have it, for both the one and the other are utterly incapable of having the Land in Reſpect of that Eſtate, becauſe neither of them come under the Tail; and therefore there is no Poſſibility that this Eſtate-tail ſhould deſcend to either of them. Then here, although both the Eſtates of Inheritance are in the Heir, yet the one is before the other, viz. the Eſtate-tail is before the Fee-ſimple, and precedes the Fee-ſimple. For if the Lord paramount would make Avowry upon the Heir, he ſhall not avow upon him as upon his very Tenant, but he ought to ſhew both the Eſtates, and ſhall avow upon him as upon his very Tenant by the Manner. [c] For the Fee ſimple does not merge the Eſtate-tail precedent, as it ſhall do an Eſtate for Life, but the Eſtate-tail remains, and is executed, and is in Poſſeſſion, and the Fee-ſimple is expectant, and not executed. For if the Eſtate-tail here is executed by Entry, or by Scire facias grounded upon the Fine, and the Iſſue die without Iſſue of his Body, the collateral Heir ſhall have another Scire facias to execute the Fee-ſimple, which proves that the Fee-ſimple is not executed, but the Eſtate-tail, and that the Eſtate-tail is an Eſtate in Poſſeſſion. And in Reſpect thereof ſhall the Profits and Iſſues of the Manor be received; for if the ſaid Dorothy and her Huſband had conveyed the Fee-ſimple to another, reſerving the Tail, yet the Profits ſhould be taken and received in reſpect of the Tail. So that the Fee is not the Reaſon of ſeizing the Heir, and taking the Profits by the Guardian in Socage, but only the Eſtate-tail, to which the Grandmother here is as much a Stranger as the Grandfather is. But if the Heir had not had any Land holden by Knight's-Service, ſo that the Queſtion here had been which of them ſhould have the Wardſhip of the Body and Land, there indeed it might have gone againſt the Grandmother, becauſe it might be objected in that Caſe that if ſhe ſhould have the Wardſhip of the Body of the Infant, ſhe might perhaps, by deſtroying him, be nearer to the Land, that is, if he had no Heir on the Part of the Father of Dorothy, for if he dies without Iſſue, the Eſtate-tail is determined, and the Fee ſhall be executed in the collateral Heir, which might by Poſſibility bring the Land to the Grandmother. But here no ſuch Objection can be made, for the Queen has the Wardſhip of the Body, ſo that that Point is put out of Queſtion. And the Matter in Diſpute here is in regard to the Land only, and the Perception of the Profits thereof in reſpect of the Eſtate-tail, to which the Grandmother is as much a Stranger as the Grandfather is, and in rei veritate they are in equal Degree; [d] in which Caſe ſuch of them as firſt enters into the Land ſhall hold it againſt the other, for the other ſhall not deveſt it if he has not a better Right, which he has not here, for they are in equal Degree, and therefore inaſmuch as the Defendant entered into the Land, as Guardian in Socage, in Right of his Wife the Grandmother of the Infant, before the Grandfather of the Infant entered, he ſhall hold the Land againſt him, quia in æquali jure melior eſt conditio poſſidentis. As if upon the Render of the Eſtate-tail by the Fine the Remainder in Fee

[c] 2 Co. 61. a. 3 Co. 74. b. 75. a.

[d] Co. Litt. 88. a. 1 Finch 21. 2 Finch 30, 31. Wing. Max. reg. 98. pl. 2, 3.

Fee had been limited to a Stranger, and the Eſtate-tail only had deſcended to the Infant, in this Caſe the Defendant, being Huſband to the Grandmother on the Part of the Mother, ſhould have kept his Poſſeſſion, and the Grandfather on the Part of the Father ſhould not have deveſted it out of him, becauſe they are in equal Degree to the Tail, for which Reaſon he that firſt gets the Poſſeſſion ſhall hold it againſt the other. So is it as the Caſe now ſtands, and therefore he prayed to be diſmiſſed with his Poſſeſſion.

And afterwards, this being a difficult Point, the Court made the Parties to agree in a Caſe containing the Matter, which was delivered in Writing by the Court to the Lord Dyer Chief Juſtice of the Common Bench, and to Saunders Chief Baron of the Exchequer, who were of Counſel with the Court, to have their Opinions therein, who upon great Advice and Conference with the other Juſtices declared it to be their reſolute Opinion, that John Carell the Grandfather on the Part of the Father ought to be Guardian in Socage of the ſaid Manor, and that the Law was the ſame in Regard to the Land only, as it ſhould be in Regard to the Body and Land together, if both were in Queſtion. And upon this the Court gave Judgment accordingly, as appears by their Decree made in the Cauſe, which Decree follows entire except in the Rehearſal of the Pleading, which being no more than a State of the Caſe, I have for Brevity's Sake omitted it, as a Thing not very material to be recited.

The Decree. And after upon the hearing and debating of the ſaid Matter before the Maſter and Counſel of the ſaid Court of Wards and Liveries, it was agreed by the Counſel learned of both the ſaid Parties, that a Caſe ſhould be put into this Court touching the Matter whether the ſaid John Carell the Grandfather of the ſaid Ward, or the ſaid Richard Cuddington and Elizabeth his Wife Grandmother of the ſaid Ward, ſhould and ought by the Law to take the Iſſues and Profits of the ſaid Manors, Lands, and Tenements of the ſaid John Carell the Son holden in Socage, as Prochein Amy to the ſaid Infant. Whereupon a Caſe was agreed upon by the ſaid Parties, and the ſame Caſe put into this Court by the Counſel learned of the Defendant. And the ſaid Maſter and Counſel of the ſaid Court delivered the ſaid Caſe to the Queen's Juſtices being Aſſiſtants to the ſaid Court for all Matters in Law ariſing in the ſaid Court, who upon great Adviſement and Conference with the reſt of the Queen's Juſtices declared to the ſaid Maſter and Counſel of the ſaid Court their reſolute Opinion of the Law touching the ſaid Caſe. And foraſmuch as upon the hearing and debating of the ſaid Matter in this Court, and alſo by the Opinion of the ſaid Juſtices, it appeared to this Court that the ſaid John Carell the Grandfather is Grandfather to the Infant on the Part of the Father of the ſaid Infant, and that the ſaid Lands and Tenements could not by any Poſſibility deſcend or come to the ſaid John Carell the Grandfather, nor to any the Heirs of the ſaid Infant on the Part of his ſaid Father, and it appeared to this Court that the ſaid Manors, Lands, and Tenements may by Poſſibility deſcend and come to the ſaid Elizabeth Grandmother to the ſaid Infant, and to others of the Blood and Heirs of the ſaid Infant on the Part of his ſaid Mother, for that the ſaid Dorothy his ſaid Mother was a Purchaſer of the Fee-ſimple of the Premiſſes; and ſo for the Cauſe of the Poſſibility of the Inheritance of the Fee-ſimple that may deſcend to the ſaid Blood of the Part of the Mother of the ſaid Infant, neither the ſaid Elizabeth, nor any of the Part of the Mother of the ſaid Infant, to whom the Inheritance of the Premiſſes by Poſſibility may deſcend, may by the Law have the Cuſtody of the Body or Lands of the ſaid Infant holden in Socage, but are diſabled thereunto by the Laws of this Realm, by Reaſon whereof ſhe may not by Law be preferred to be Prochein Amy and Guardian in Socage of the ſaid Infant. Therefore and for divers other good Conſiderations and weighty Cauſes the ſaid Maſter and Counſel of the ſaid Court moving, it is now ordered and decreed by the ſaid Maſter and Counſel of the ſaid Court, that the ſaid John Carell the Grandfather ſhall and may from henceforth peaceably and quietly take, perceive, and have all the Rents, Iſſues, Revenues, and Profits of the ſaid Manor of Suitterton, and of all other the ſaid Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments in Suitterton or elſewhere in the ſaid County of Norfolk, being of Socage Tenure, as Prochein Amy to the ſaid Infant, to the Uſe of the ſaid Infant, without any Let or Interruption of the ſaid Richard Cuddington and Elizabeth his Wife, or either of them, or of any other Perſon or Perſons by the Commandment or Procurement of them or either of them. And it is further ordered by the ſaid Court, that the ſaid Defendant ſhall at or before the Feaſt of Eaſter next coming pay or cauſe to be paid to the ſaid John Carell the Grandfather, to the Uſe of the ſaid John Carell the Son, all the Rents, Revenues, and Iſſues of all ſuch Socage-lands of the ſaid Infant in the ſaid County as they have received ſince the Death of the ſaid Thomas Carell Father of the ſaid Infant. Nevertheleſs it is further ordered by the ſaid Court, that the ſaid John Carell the Grandfather ſhall permit and ſuffer the ſaid Defendant and his Aſſigns to have and occupy the ſaid Lands and Tenements in Suitterton aforeſaid until the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel next coming, yielding the yearly Rents and Charges for the ſame, which was yielded and paid for the ſame to the ſaid Thomas Carell by the ſaid Richard Cuddington in his Life time for the ſame,

A Report of a Caſe argued in the King's Bench before the Juſtices there in Michaelmas Term in the ſeventh and eighth Years of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, and adjudged in Trinity Term in the eighth Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen, upon a Bill of Treſpaſs brought by Henry Sharington and Gabriel Pledall Plaintiffs, againſt Thomas Strotton and others Defendants. And the Record appears amongſt the Records of Michaelmas Term 6 & 7 Elizabeth. Rot. 253. and it was read as follows, Mich. Term 6 & 7 Eliz. Rot. 253. Wilts. Declaration. Same Precedent Raſt. Entr. 659. b.

BE it remembered, that heretofore, viz. in the Term of Eaſter laſt paſt, before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came Henry Sharington Eſquire and Gabriel Pledall Gentleman by Thomas Stranſham their Attorney, and brought here into the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen then there their certain Bill againſt Thomas Strotton, Walter Gale, Edward Wetherhead, Richard Aldridge, Robert Prater, Henry Maſſey, and John Gilden in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal, &c. of a Plea of Treſpaſs; and there are Pledges of proſecuting, viz. John Doe and Richard Roe. Which ſaid Bill follows in theſe Words, viz. Wilts. viz. Henry Sharington Eſquire and Gabriel Pledall Gentleman complain of Thomas Strotton, Walter Gale, Edward Wetherhead, Richard Aldridge, Robert Prater, Henry Maſſey and John Gilden in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal of the Marſhalſea of the Lady the Queen before the ſaid Queen being, for that they the 20th Day of March in the 6th Year of the Reign of the Lady Elizabeth now Queen, with Force and Arms, &c. the Cloſe of the ſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel, called Haſelond-wood, containing by Eſtimation 30 Acres of Wood, at Bremble in the County aforeſaid broke and entered, and the Wood of the ſaid Henry and Gabriel there then growing cut down, and 200 Cart-loads of the Wood aforeſaid to the Value of 40 l. took and carried away, and alſo the Germins of the Wood of the ſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel there lately growing with certain of their Cattle, viz. Horſes, Oxen, Cows, and Sheep eat up, trod down, and deſtroyed; and other Wrongs to them did, to the Damage of the ſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel 100 Marks; and againſt the Peace of ſaid Lady the Queen now, &c. and therefore they bring the Suit, &c.

Bar.

And now here at this Day, viz. on Monday next after the Octave of St. Michael in this ſame Term, until which Day the aforeſaid Thomas, Walter, Edward, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John had Leave to imparl to the Bill aforeſaid, and then to anſwer, &c. before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came as well the aforeſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel by their Attorney aforeſaid, as the aforeſaid Thomas, Walter, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John by Richard Haywood their Attorney. And the ſame Thomas, Walter, Edward, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John defend the Force and Injury when, &c. And as to the coming with Force and Arms, or whatever is againſt the Peace of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, they ſay that they are not guilty thereof; and of this they put themſelves upon the Country, and the aforeſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel likewiſe, &c. And as to the Reſidue of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid above ſuppoſed to be done, the ſame Thomas, Walter, Edward, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John ſay that the aforeſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel their Action aforeſaid againſt them ought not to have or maintain, becauſe they ſay that the Cloſe aforeſaid, and alſo the Places in which the Treſpaſs aforeſaid is ſuppoſed to be done, are, and at the aforeſaid Time when the Treſpaſs aforeſaid is ſuppoſed to be done were, 30 Acres of Wood with the Appurtenances in Bremble otherwiſe Bremell aforeſaid. Which ſaid 30 Acres of Wood with the Appurtenances are, and at the aforeſaid Time when, &c. and alſo from Time whereof the Memory of Man is not to the contrary were, parcel of the Manor of Bremell in the County aforeſaid, of which ſaid Manor with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. one Andrew Baynton Eſquire long before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſame Andrew being ſo ſeized thereof, before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 3d Day of July in the 2d Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, at the City of New-Saliſbury in the County aforeſaid, by a certain Indenture made between the ſaid Andrew, by the Name of Andrew Baynton of Bromham in the County of Wilts. Eſquire, of the one Part, and one Edward Baynton by the Name of Edward Baynton of Rowdon in the ſaid County of Wilts Eſquire Brother of the ſaid Andrew, of the other Part, (one Part whereof ſealed with the Seal of the aforeſaid Andrew, the ſame Thomas, Walter, Edward Wetherhead, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John here produce in Court, the Date whereof is the ſame Day and Year) it was covenanted, granted, and agreed between the aforeſaid Andrew and the aforeſaid Edward Baynton in Manner and Form following, viz. whereas the aforeſaid Andrew at the Day of the Date of the ſame Indenture had no Iſſue Male of his Body lawfully begotten, and the ſame Andrew then being fully determined and reſolved how, and in what Manner, Quality, and Degree the Manors, Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments then afterwards by the ſame Indenture mentioned and contained, of which the ſame Andrew was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee, and all other his Manors, Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments with the Appurtenances in the County of Wilts ſhould continue, remain, and be, as well in the Lifetime of the ſaid Andrew as after his Deceaſe, and alſo the ſame Andrew then being deſirous that the ſaid Manors, Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments then in the ſame Indenture expreſſed might come, remain, and deſcend to the Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten, in Manner and Form then in the ſame Indenture likewiſe expreſſed, and to the Intent that all the ſame Manors, Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments might continue and remain to ſuch of the Blood and Name of Baynton, as in the ſame Indenture ſhould be named, mentioned, and contained, the ſame Andrew Baynton, as well for the Cauſes aforeſaid, as for the good Will, fraternal Love, and Favour which he bore as well to the ſame Edward Baynton his Brother, as alſo to ſuch others of his Brothers as in the ſame Indenture ſhould be named, covenanted and granted for himſelf and his Heirs, that he the ſame Andrew Baynton his Heirs and Aſſigns, and all and every other Perſon or Perſons, and their Heirs, who then were ſeized, or from thenceforth ſhould ſtand and be ſeized of and in the Manor aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, whereof the aforeſaid 30 Acres of Wood with the Appurtenances then were Parcel, ſhould from thenceforth ſtand and be ſeized thereof, and of every Part or Parcel thereof, to ſuch Intents and Purpoſes as in the ſaid Indenture further and more fully ſhould be ſpecified, that is to ſay, to the Uſe of the ſaid Andrew for and during his natural Life, without Impeachment of any Waſt during the Life of the ſaid Andrew, and after his Death to the Uſe of the ſaid Edward Baynton and Agnes his Wife and their Aſſigns for Term of their natural Lives, without Impeachment of any Waſt during the Life of the ſame Edward Baynton, and after the Death of the ſaid Edward Baynton and Agnes, to the Uſe of the Heirs Males of the ſaid Andrew lawfully begotten or afterwards to be begotten on the Body of Frances Lee Daughter of Richard Lee deceaſed, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue Male of the Body of the ſaid Andrew, to the Uſe of the Heirs Males of the ſaid Edward Baynton lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue Male of the Body of the ſaid Edward Baynton lawfully begotten, to the Uſe of Henry Baynton, another of the Brothers of the aforeſaid Andrew and Edward Baynton, and of the Heirs Males of the Body of the ſaid Henry lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to the Uſe of Henry Baynton a younger Brother of the aforeſaid Andrew and Edward Baynton of the half Blood, and of the Heirs Males of the Body of the ſaid Henry Baynton the younger, half Brother of the aforeſaid Andrew and Edward. And further it was covenanted and granted between the Parties aforeſaid for themſelves and their Heirs by the ſame Indenture, that all Feoffments, Fines, Recoveries, and all other Conveyances and Aſſurances from thence happening to be made, had, or ſuffered by the ſame Andrew Baynton his Heirs and Aſſigns, or by any other Perſon or Perſons, ſhould be to the Uſes, Intents, and Purpoſes in the ſaid Indenture contained, expreſſed, and ſpecified, and to no other Uſes and Purpoſes, as by the ſame Indenture more fully appears. By Reaſon of which ſaid Covenants, Grant, and Agreement, and by Force of a certain Statute at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex the 4th Day of February in the 27th Year of the Reign of Lord Henry the eighth late King of England, Father of the Lady the Queen now, concerning the transferring of Uſes into Poſſeſſion, then made and provided, the aforeſaid Andrew was ſeized of the aforeſaid Manor of Bremble with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. in his Demeſn as of Freehold without Impeachment of any Waſt, Remainder thereof to the aforeſaid Edward Baynton and Agnes his Wife and to their Aſſigns for Term of their Lives, without Impeachment of any Waſt during the Life of the ſame Edward Baynton, Remainder thereof to the Heirs Males of the aforeſaid Andrew lawfully begotten or to be begotten on the Body of the aforeſaid Frances Lee Daughter of Richard Lee deceaſed, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue Male of the Body of the aforeſaid Andrew, Remainder thereof to the Heirs Males of the Body of the ſaid Edward Baynton lawfully begotten, Remainder thereof to Henry Baynton the elder Brother of the aforeſaid Andrew and Edward Baynton, and to the Heirs Males of the Body of the ſaid Henry lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue Male of the Body of the ſaid Henry, Remainder thereof to Henry Baynton the younger, half Brother of the aforeſaid Edward and Henry, and to the Heirs Males of the Body of the ſaid Henry Baynton the younger lawfully begotten. And the ſaid Andrew being in Form aforeſaid ſeized of the aforeſaid Manor of Bremble with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. Remainder thereof in Form aforeſaid, the ſame Andrew before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 21ſt Day of February in the 6th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, at Chippenham in the County aforeſaid, died, without Heirs Males by the ſaid Andrew on the Body of the aforeſaid Frances Lee lawfully begotten; after whoſe Death, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. the ſaid Edward Baynton and Agnes his Wife entered into the aforeſaid Manor of Bremble with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. and were thereof ſeized, viz. the ſame Edward in his Demeſn as of Fee-tail, and the ſame Agnes in her Demeſn as of Freehold, Remainder thereof in Form aforeſaid. And the aforeſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel claiming the aforeſaid 30 Acres of Wood with the Appurtenances by Colour of a certain Deed of Demiſe to them thereof made for Term of their Lives by the aforeſaid Andrew Baynton long before the aforeſaid Indenture between the ſame Andrew and the aforeſaid Edward Baynton in Form aforeſaid made (where nothing of the ſame 30 Acres of Wood ever paſſed by that Deed into the Poſſeſſion of the ſaid Henry and Gabriel) into the aforeſaid 30 Acres of Wood with the Appurtenances before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. entered, upon the Poſſeſſion thereof of which ſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel the ſame Thomas, Walter, Edward Wetherhead, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John, as Servants of the aforeſaid Edward Baynton and Agnes his Wife, and by their Command, at the aforeſaid Time when, &c. entered, and the Cloſe aforeſaid there then growing cut down, and the aforeſaid 200 Cart-loads of Wood took and carried away, and alſo the Germins of the Wood there then growing with the Cattle aforeſaid eat up, trod down, and deſtroyed, as it was lawful for them to do. And this they are ready to verify, wherefore they pray Judgment if the aforeſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel their Action aforeſaid againſt them ought to have or maintain, &c. Colour.

And

Plaintiffs demur.

And the aforeſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel ſay that by any Thing by the aforeſaid Thomas, Walter, Edward Wetherhead, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John above in Pleading alledged, they ought not to be precluded from having their Action aforeſaid againſt the ſaid Thomas, Walter, Edward Wetherhead, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John, becauſe they ſay that the Plea aforeſaid in Manner and Form aforeſaid above pleaded is inſufficient in Law to preclude them the ſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel from having their Action aforeſaid againſt the ſaid Thomas, Walter, Edward Wetherhead, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John, to which they the ſame Henry Sharington and Gabriel have no Neceſſity, nor are by the Law of the Land in any wiſe bound to anſwer: And this they are ready to verify, wherefore for Want of a ſufficient Anſwer in this Behalf, the ſame Henry Sharington and Gabriel pray Judgment and their Damages by Reaſon of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid to be adjudged to them, &c.

Joinder in Demurrer.

And the aforeſaid Thomas, Walter, Edward Wetherhead, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John ſay that the Plea aforeſaid in Manner and Form by them the ſaid Thomas, Walter, Edward Wetherhead, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John above pleaded is good and ſufficient in Law to preclude the aforeſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel from having their Action aforeſaid againſt them the ſaid Thomas, Walter, Edward Wetherhead, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John, which ſaid Plea and the Matter therein contained they the ſame Thomas, Walter, Edward Wetherhead, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John are ready to verify, whereunto the aforeſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel hitherto do not anſwer, nor the ſame in anywiſe deny, but the ſaid Averment wholly refuſe to admit, wherefore they pray Judgment, and that the aforeſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel may be precluded from having their Action aforeſaid againſt them the ſaid Thomas, Walter, Edward Wetherhead, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John. And becauſe the Court of the Lady the Queen here is not yet adviſed of giving their Judgment of and upon the Premiſſes, Day thereon is given to the Parties aforeſaid before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter until Tueſday next after the Octave of St. Hillary, to hear their Judgment of and upon the Premiſſes, &c. becauſe the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen here thereof not yet, &c.

Continuance.

THE CASE.

Mich. Term 7 & 8 Eliz.

Affection for the Proviſion of the Heirs Males which a Man ſhall beget, and the Continuance of the Land in his Name and Blood, and brotherly Love, are ſufficient Conſiderations to raiſe a Uſe in Land by Way of Covenant, but not long Acquaintance or Familiarity. S. P. 1 Finch 18. 2 Finch 25.

The Caſe was recited in this Manner. It appears by the Record that Henry Sharington and Gabriel Pledall have exhibited a Bill of Treſpaſs againſt Thomas Stretton and others, for entering into their Cloſe called Haſelond-Wood, containing 30 Acres of Wood, at Bremble in the County of Wilts, the 20th Day of March in the 6th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, and cutting down their Wood, and carrying away 200 Cart-loads of Wood to the Value of 40 l. And the Defendants plead in Bar, that the Place where, &c. is 30 Acres of Wood, which are, and at the Time of the Treſpaſs done, and for Time immemorial were, parcel of the Manor of Bremble in the ſaid County, of which Manor whereof, &c. one Andrew Baynton, before the Treſpaſs, was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo ſeized, before the Treſpaſs, viz the 3d Day of July in the 2d Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, at the City of New-Saliſbury in the ſaid County by an Indenture made between the ſaid Andrew of the one Part, and one Edward Baynton Brother of the ſaid Andrew of the other Part (one Part whereof ſealed with the Seal of the ſaid Andrew the Defendants ſhew forth) it was covenanted, granted, and agreed between the ſame Andrew and the ſaid Edward in Manner and Form following, that is to ſay, whereas the aforeſaid Andrew Baynton at the Date of the ſame Indenture had no Iſſue Male of his Body lawfully begotten, and the ſame Andrew then being fully determined and reſolved how, in what Manner, Quality, and Degree, the Manors, Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments mentioned in the ſame Indenture, of which the ſame Andrew was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee, and all other his Manors, Lands, and Tenements with their Appurtenances in the County of Wilts ſhould continue, remain, and be, as well in the Life time of the ſaid Andrew, as after his Death, and alſo the ſame Andrew then being deſirous that the ſaid Manors, Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments ſpecified in the ſame Indenture might come, remain, and deſcend to the Heirs Males of his Body begotten, in Manner and Form afterwards in the ſame Indenture expreſſed, and to the Intent that all the ſame Manors, Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments might continue and remain to ſuch of the Blood and Name of Baynton as in the ſame Indenture ſhould be named, mentioned, and contained, the ſame Andrew as well for the ſaid Cauſes, as for the Good-will, brotherly Love, and Favour which he bore as well to the ſame Edward Baynton his Brother, as to ſuch others of his Brothers who ſhould be in the ſame Indenture named, covenanted and granted for himſelf and his Heirs, that he the ſame Andrew Baynton his Heirs and Aſſigns, and all and every other Perſon or Perſons and their Heirs, who then were ſeized, or who ſhould afterwards ſtand or be ſeized of and in the ſaid Manor with the Appurtenances whereof the 30 Acres then were parcel, ſhould from thence ſtand and be thereof ſeized, and of every Part thereof, to ſuch Intents and Purpoſes as in the ſame Indenture are ſpecified, that is to ſay, to the Uſe of the ſame Andrew for Term of his natural Life without Impeachment of any Waſt, and after his Death to the Uſe of the ſaid Edward Baynton and Agnes his Wife and their Aſſigns for Term of their Lives, without Impeachment of any Waſt during the Life of the ſaid Edward Baynton, and after the Death of the ſame Edward Baynton and Agnes, to the Uſe of the Heirs Males of the ſaid Andrew lawfully begotten or to be begotten on the Body of one Frances Lee Daughter of Richard Lee deceaſed, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue Male of the Body of the ſaid Andrew, to the Uſe of the Heirs Males of the ſaid Edward Baynton lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Heirs Males of the Body of the ſaid Edward Baynton lawfully begotten, to the Uſe of Henry Baynton, another Brother of the ſaid Andrew and Edward, and of the Heirs Males of the Body of the ſaid Henry lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to the Uſe of Henry Baynton, the younger Brother of the ſaid Andrew and Edward of the half Blood, and of the Heirs Males of his Body, as by the ſame Indenture appears. By force of which Covenant, Grant, and Agreement, and of the Statute made the 4th Day of February in the 27th Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. concerning the transferring of Uſes into Poſſeſſion made and provided, the ſaid Andrew Baynton was ſeized of the ſaid Manor of Bremble, whereof, &c. in his Demeſn as of Freehold, without Impeachment of Waſt, the Remainder over to the ſaid Edward Baynton and Agnes for their Lives, without Impeachment of any Waſt during the Life of Edward, the Remainder over to the Heirs Males of the ſaid Andrew lawfully begotten on the Body of the ſaid Frances Lee, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, the Remainder to the Heirs Males of the Body of the ſaid Edward Baynton lawfully begotten, with the Remainders over as before. And the ſaid Andrew being ſo ſeized of the ſaid Manor whereof, &c. the Remainders over in Form aforeſaid, the 21ſt Day of February in the 6th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, at Chippenham in the ſaid County of Wilts died, without Heirs Males by the ſaid Andrew on the Body of the ſaid Frances Lee lawfully begotten. After whoſe Death, and before the Time of the Treſpaſs, the ſaid Edward Baynton and Agnes entered into the ſaid Manor of Bremble, whereof, &c. and were thereof ſeized, &c. And the Plaintiff's claiming the 30 Acres of Wood by colour, &c. entered, &c. upon the Poſſeſſion of whom the Defendants as Servants of the ſaid Edward and Agnes, and by their Commands, at the ſaid Time when, &c. re-entered, and did the Treſpaſs, &c. And upon this Plea in Bar the Plaintiff's have demurred in Judgment.

And the Matter was argued in Michaelmas Term in the 7th and 8th Years of Queen Elizabeth by Fleetwood and Wray on the Part of the Plaintiffs, and by Thomas Bromley, and an Apprentice of the Middle Temple on the Part of the Defendants. And thoſe who argued on behalf of the Plaintiffs ſaid that the Matter of the Bar was inſufficient, and that there was no Uſe here made by this Indenture, nor was any Poſſeſſion conveyed to the ſaid Edward Baynton and Agnes by the Statute of Uſes upon this Covenant and Agreement by the Indenture. For they ſaid, firſt it is to be conſidered that Andrew Baynton, at the Time of making the Indenture, was ſeized of the ſaid Manor in Fee-ſimple, clear of all Eſtates and Intereſts of any Stranger therein, and if he intended to make a Stranger have a Uſe in it, he ought to have taken one of theſe two Ways to raiſe ſuch Uſe. The one is, to part with the Poſſeſſion, by the Circumſtances required by the common Law, to the Uſe intended, as to make a Feoffment, to levy a Fine, or to ſuffer a Recovery of the Land to the Uſe intended; and this Way the common Law is ſatisfied, as well as the Party alſo who has the Uſe, for the Circumſtances of the common Law are purſued, and the Uſe is no more than a Confidence annexed to the Eſtate which the Perſon parts with, and when he parts with the Eſtate by his own Conſent, he may make it upon Confidence, and this way the Uſe is properly made. The other way is, to keep the Land in his Hands without parting with it, and yet to do ſuch a Thing as ſhall make the Poſſeſſion to be to the Uſe of another, and that cannot be unleſs the Thing done imports in itſelf a good and ſufficient Conſideration to make the Poſſeſſion be to the Uſe of another, which ſhall be upon a Contract, or upon a Covenant or Grant on Conſideration. [a] As if a Man is ſeized of Land in Fee, and bargains and ſells the Land to another in Conſideration of a certain Sum paid to him, or agreed to be paid at a certain Day, here is a Contract, and the Bargainor ſhall be ſeized to the Uſe of the Bargainee by the Courſe of the common Law, becauſe he has done an Act upon Conſideration, that is, he has bargained the Land for Money; and inaſmuch as he hath the Money, or Security for it, it is reaſonable that the Bargainee ſhould have ſomething for it, and the Land he cannot have as his own, becauſe he had not Livery of Seizin, and therefore Reaſon has neceſſarily veſted the Uſe in him, which is but a Right in Conſcience to have the Profits, and to have the Land ordered according to his Will; [b] and if the Bargainor will not permit him ſo to have it, Reaſon veſts in the Bargainee a Title to compel him by the Judge of Conſcience to do it. So is it in the Caſe of a Covenant upon Conſideration, [c] as if I promiſe and agree with another that if he will marry my Daughter, he ſhall have my Land from thenceforth, and he does ſo, there he ſhall have a Uſe in my Land, and I ſhall be ſeized to his Uſe, becauſe a Thing is done whereby I have Benefit, viz. the other has married my Daughter, whoſe Advancement in the World is a Satisfaction and Comfort to me, and therefore this is a good Conſideration to make him have a Uſe in my Land. [d] So that a good Conſideration is always requiſite to create a Uſe de novo in the Land of another, where there is no Tranſmutation of the Poſſeſſion of the Land. Then in our Caſe here, inaſmuch as Andrew Baynton was ſeized of the Land in Fee-ſimple, and intended to raiſe Uſes in it without any Tranſmutation of the Poſſeſſion, which he cannot do by the Courſe of the common Law unleſs the Circumſtances purſued in the raiſing of ſuch Uſes import a good and ſufficient Conſideration to ſupport the ſame, for this Reaſon we ought to weigh the Conſiderations here, and ſee what Subſtance they have in the Law. And the Cauſes contained in the Indenture are three; firſt, a Deſire which he had that the Lands might come, remain, and deſcend to the Heirs Males of his Body limited in the Indenture; ſecondly, his Intent that the Lands ſhould continue and remain to ſuch of the Blood and Name of Baynton as are named in the Indenture; thirdly, the good Will, and brotherly Love and Favour, which he bore to his Brother Edward Baynton, and to his other Brothers. And theſe are all the Conſiderations, for the Matter in the Rehearſal, viz. that the ſaid Andrew had no Iſſue Male, and that he was determined and reſolved how his

For the Plaintiffs.

[a] H. 21. H. 7. 18. b. Per Read. M. 6. Ed. 6. Bro. Faits enrol. 9. in fine.

[b] P. 32. H. 8. Bro. Conſcience 25. B. N. C. § 181.

[c] M. 36. H. 8. Bro. Feoffments al Uſe 54. 2 Rol. R. 105. Crompt. J. C. 60. b. Dy. 96. pl. 41. Vide Ibid. 296. pl. 22.

[d] Cart. 138. T. Raym. 46. Curſon 338. Crompt. J. C. 61. a.

Manors and Lands ſhould remain and be as well in his Lifetime as after his Death, is no Conſideration at all, but the Want of Iſſue Male is the Cauſe that moved him to reſolve, and the Reſolution is but a Demonſtration of his Mind, and none of them is any Conſideration, for the Conſiderations are the three beforementioned. And as to the firſt, viz. his Deſire that the Lands might come to the Heirs Males of his Body, this does not ſeem to be any Conſideration to the Father, for the Father has no Gain or Advantage by it, but the Heirs Males of his Body. And the Conſideration ought to be to him that is ſeized of the Land, for if he has no Recompence, there is no Cauſe why the Uſe of his Land ſhould paſs. And none of the Conſiderations contain a Recompence here, for the Continuance of the Land in his Blood and Name of Baynton is no Recompence to him, nor Cauſe worthy to raiſe a Uſe; no more is the brotherly Love and Favour which he bore to Edward Baynton or to his other Brothers, for although theſe Cauſes induce Affection, yet every Affection is not a ſufficient Cauſe to alter the Uſe. [a] For if a Man grants to J. S. that in Conſideration of their long Acquaintance, or of their great Familiarity, or of their being Scholars together in their Youth, or upon ſuch like Conſiderations, he will ſtand ſeized of his Land to his Uſe, this will not change the Uſe, for ſuch Conſiderations are not looked upon in the Law as worthy to raiſe a Uſe, becauſe they don't import any Value or Recompence. For if upon Conſideration that you are my familiar Friend or Acquaintance, or my Brother, I promiſe to pay you 20 l. at ſuch a Day, you ſhall not have an Action upon the Caſe, or an Action of Debt for it, for it is but a nude and barren Contract, et ex nudo pacto non oritur actio, and there is no ſufficient Cauſe for the Payment, nor is any Thing done or given on the one Part, for you were my Brother or my Acquaintance before, and ſo will you be afterwards; ſo that nothing is newly done on the one Part, as is requiſite in Contracts, and alſo in Covenants upon Conſideration. As if I ſell my Horſe to you for Money or other Recompence, here is a Thing given on both Sides, for the one gives the Horſe, and the other the Money, or other Recompence, and therefore it is a good Contract. So is it in the Caſe of a Covenant upon Conſideration, as if I covenant with you, that if you will marry my Daughter, you ſhall have my Land, or I ſhall be ſeized to your Uſe, here is an Act on both Parts, for you are to marry my Daughter, and for that I grant to you the Uſe; ſo that there is an Act done and a Cauſe ariſing newly on each Part. But in the principal Caſe there is no ſuch Thing, for the Iſſue Male of Andrew Baynton ſhould have been his Iſſue Male, and his Name and Blood ſhould have been his Name and Blood, and his Brothers ſhould have been his Brothers, and fraternal Love ſhould have been between them, if this Covenant or Grant had not been made, ſo that all this was before the Indenture or Covenant, and ſhould have been after the Time of the Indenture or Covenant, if the ſame had not been made. Wherefore no new Thing is here done or cauſed by the one Side, and there is no Cauſe here but what would have been if no ſuch Covenant or Indenture had been made. But the common Law requires that there ſhould be a new Cauſe, whereof the Country may have Intelligence or Knowledge for the Trial of it, if need be, ſo that it is neceſſary for the Public-weal. [b] For Livery of Seizin was firſt invented as an Act of Notoriety, whereby People might have Knowledge of Eſtates, and be more able to try them, if they ſhould be empanneled on a Jury; and by the like Reaſon when a Uſe ſhall paſs, there ought to be, by the common Law, a Contract, or a public and notorious [c] Conſideration to a Covenant, which may cauſe the Country to have Knowledge of the Uſe for the better Trial thereof, if it ſhould be neceſſary. And ſuch was the Intention of the Parliament in 27. H. 8. when they made the Act that the Poſſeſſion ſhould be where the Uſe was, one of the great Cauſes of making which Act was to remove Ignorance, and that the Country might know in whom the Eſtate of the Land was. [d] And the like Conſideration they had in making the Act of Inrollments, which reſtrains Eſtates of Freehold from paſſing by Bargain and Sale, except it be by Writing indented enrolled within ſix Months. And if Uſes might be ſo eaſily raiſed by Covenants upon ſuch Conſiderations as theſe here are, where no Act or Thing apparent is done whereof the Country may have Notice, it would deſtroy the Effect of the ſaid Statute of Uſes, and would be pernicious to the Public-weal, and make it very difficult for the People to know who were the Owners of Lands and Tenements. And it is to be preſumed that the Makers of the ſaid Act of Inrollments did not take the common Law to be ſo, for if they had, they would have remedied it in this Caſe, as well as they did in the Caſe of a Bargain and Sale, which is much more notorious than a Covenant upon ſuch ſecret Conſideration, where no apparent Act or Thing is done to inform the Country of the Alteration of the Eſtate in the Land; and foraſmuch as they did not add any Remedy to it, it is an Argument that they did not take the Law to be that Uſes might paſs upon ſuch Covenants without notorious Conſiderations. But if the Uſe had been in eſſe, it might well enough have paſſed to a Stranger by the Grant of ceſtuy que uſe without any Conſideration; [e] for the ceſtuy que uſe may as well give or grant his Uſe without Conſideration as he may his Horſe or other Chattle, and he may alſo [f] deviſe it, but to create it de novo out of Land cannot be done without good Conſideration. [g] And to this Purpoſe they alledged the Opinions of Read and Tremail, two of the Juſtices of the King's Bench, in the Caſe of an Office traverſed in 21. H. 7. and the Caſe there put by Read, fo. 19. was alſo cited, viz. it was covenanted by Indenture between Sir John Mordant and his Wife and one T. that the ſaid T. ſhould have the Land to him and to his Heirs of his Body, and that for Default of ſuch Iſſue, the Lands ſhould remain to Sir John Mordant and his Wife in Fee, and it was adjudged that he ſhould not have any Uſe by Force of the Indenture, as it is there rehearſed by Read, but they were put to their Action of Covenant. So here no Uſe ſhall be raiſed upon theſe Conſiderations, for they are utterly

[a] S. P. agreed Per Curiam Trin. 3 Jac. 1. B. R. Ward v. Tuddingham. 2 Rol. Abr. 783. pl. 5. 6. Cart. 139. 1 Finch 18. 2 Finch 25. Curſon 338.

[b] 5 Co. 84. b.

[c] Cart. 138. T. Raym. 46.

[d] Cart. 138. Curſon 338.

[e] Dr. & Stud. lib. 2. cap. 22. fo. 185. lib. 2. cap. 23. fo. 187, 188. 2 Finch 34.

[f] Godolph. Orph. Leg. 391, § 2.

[g] 8 H. 21. H. 7. 18, 19. Bro. Feoffments al Uſes 16. Crompt. J. C. 62, b.

terly ineffectual to ſuch Purpoſe, and then if no Uſe could be raiſed by the common Law, from thence it follows that the Statute does not execute any Poſſeſſion here, for it executes no Poſſeſſion but where there was a Uſe before; for which Reaſon the Bar is not good, but the Plaintiffs ſhall recover. And many other Things were ſaid, and many Caſes put to enforce this Argument, which I have omitted, my Deſign being only to ſhew briefly the principal Reaſons thereof.

E contra for the Defendants.

On the contrary Thomas Bromley and the ſaid Apprentice argued for the Defendants. And firſt they admitted that if a Man who is ſeized of Land has a Mind to raiſe a Uſe in it without any Tranſmutation of the Poſſeſſion, there are two Ways by the common Law to do it, viz. by Bargain and Sale, or by Covenant upon Conſideration. For the Statute of 27. H. 8. cap. 10. for executing the Poſſeſſion according to the Uſe, ſays in the Purview, where any Perſon ſtands ſeized of any Lands, &c. by any Bargain, Sale, Covenant, Agreement, &c. the Perſon who has the Uſe ſhall be ſeized of the Land. [a] So that by the Intent of the Makers of the Act a Man might be ſeized by Bargain and Sale, or by Covenant or Agreement. And a Bargain and Sale is, when a Recompence is given by both the Parties; as if a Man bargains his Land to another for Money, here the Land is a Recompence to the one for the Money, and the Money is a Recompence to the other for the Land, and this is properly a Bargain and Sale. But here there is no ſuch Bargain and Sale, nor ſuch Recompence given on both Sides, and therefore we have no Need to diſpute upon this Point. The other is the Covenant or Agreement, and this is to be intended in every Caſe upon Conſideration. But this Conſideration may ariſe on the one Side only, and it is not requiſite to have a Conſideration and a new Act done by both Parties; and ſuch Conſideration ought to be ſufficient. And therefore, they ſaid, the Conſiderations are to be weighed. And hereupon the Apprentice divided the Matter into two diſtinct Points. Firſt, whether the Grant and Agreement upon theſe Conſiderations (admitting it had been without Deed or Writing) had been ſufficient to raiſe the Uſes according to the Agreement or not. Secondly, admitting the Conſiderations to be inſufficient if they had been without Deed, or admitting that there were no Conſiderations at all, if nevertheleſs the Uſes ſhall be raiſed here, inaſmuch as the Agreement thereunto is by Deed.

[a] Crompt. J. C. 60. b.

1 Point.

And as to the firſt Point, which contains the Conſiderations, he ſaid that the Conſiderations are in Number four, and each of them is ſeveral, and he made ſeveral Points of them, and argued to them ſeverally.

1 Conſideration. If the Affection for the Proviſion of the Heirs Males which the Covenantor ſhall beget is ſufficient to raiſe a Uſe. S. P. 2 Rol. Abr. 785. pl. 6. 1 Finch 18. 2 Finch 25. Wing. Max. reg. 78. pl. 15.

The firſt is, the Affection of the ſaid Andrew Baynton for his Heirs Males which he ſhould beget on the Body of Frances Lee, and his Proviſion in the Eſtate made for their Security accordingly. For the Deed is recited to contain theſe Words, the ſame Andrew Baynton as well for the Cauſes aforeſaid, as for &c. ſo that ſome of the Conſiderations precede the (as well) and ſome follow the (as alſo), and the firſt of them which precede the (as well) is the Conſideration for the Iſſues Males begotten by him upon Frances Lee, and their Security made by the Limitation of the Eſtate accordingly. And it was ſaid, this Cauſe proceeds from Nature, for when God had firſt created Man and Woman, and other living Creatures, he ſaid to them, encreaſe and multiply, and the Way to encreaſe and multiply is by Procreation, and therefore when he ſaid (encreaſe and multiply), he intended it to be by Procreation, and he was willing that it ſhould be done, and for that Purpoſe he inſtilled into Mankind an Appetite for Procreation, which Inſtinct is Nature in them, and the Appetite for the ſame is natural; ſo that to beget is natural, and the End of it is to have Iſſues, and the having Iſſue is the Continuance of the People, for otherwiſe the World would be at an End. But all Procreation is not lawful, [b] only that which is by Marriage. And Matrimony is ordained by God, and limited to rational Creatures to beget and procreate Iſſues; ſo that Matrimony is the Means of Procreation, to which Nature urges us. And therefore the Philoſopher Ariſtotle in his Book of Politics, in which for the Inſtruction of the World he deviſed a Public-weal with Laws and Governments, perceiving that it would be in vain to make Laws but to a People, and that People are neceſſary before Laws, and that People are made by Procreation, and that Procreation is urged by Nature, and ought to be in Matrimony, begins at the Foundation, and treats firſt of Matrimony in his firſt Book of Politics, and ſays, principio neceſſarium eſt maris et fœminæ conjugium, quorum uterque ſine altero debilis eſt, nec poteſt conſiſtere procreandi cauſa; idque non animi judicio, ſed ut in cæteris animantibus et iis rebus quæ terra eduntur, naturale eſt deſiderium, quale quicque eſt, tale quid alterum relinquendi. So that he, having ſearched deep into the Laws of Nature, found that Marriage is neceſſary between Man and Woman for the Sake of Procreation of Children, and that the one of them is feeble without the other, neither can the one ſtand without the other, and that there is a natural Deſire in them and in all other living Things to beget and leave behind them in the World a Thing like themſelves. So that a Bull has a natural Deſire to beget a Bull, and an Ape to beget an Ape, and a Man to beget a Man, and that non animi judicio, that is, as a Thing indifferent, which one may do or not do, but it is a natural Appetite to which Nature urges us. Wherefore to beget Iſſues proceeds from Nature.

[b] Poſt 415 (b).

And this Point of Nature has another Point of Nature joined with it, and that is, when the Thing like itſelf is begotten, to nouriſh it. For it would be in vain to beget a Thing, and to ſuffer it to periſh, for then Nature loſes its Effect; and the Appetite of Procreation is not without its End and Deſign, which is, to bring to Perfection the Thing begotten, and to leave it alive after him that begot it. And for this Purpoſe Nature has inſtilled in the Sire a Love for the Thing begotten, which urges him to take care of the Education and Nurture of it, and to provide it with every Thing that is neceſſary, and to defend it againſt all Dangers, nam cuique naturale eſt id quod procreavit tueri. And becauſe Nature has appointed the Iſſue to be nouriſhed, defended, and ſupported by the Father, Ariſtotle in his ſaid Book has appropriated him to be Part of the Family of his Father. And therefore in enumerating the Parts of a Family, he ſays, primæ autem et minimæ familiæ partes ſunt dominus, ſervus, vir et uxor, pater et liberi. And afterwards in reciting the Governments which the Father of a Family has in his Family, he ſays, inde dominatus, patrium imperium, et res uxoria; for it is fit that the Iſſue ſhould be in Subjection to the Father, and that the Father ſhould have the Superiority and Lordſhip over him, and thereupon Ariſtotle ſays of Parents in his ſaid Book, id quod procreavit ac genuit, id ut præſit, et amicitiæ ratio et ſenectutis poſtulat. From whence it is evident that to beget is natural, and to preſerve the Thing begotten, and provide every Thing neceſſary for its Support, is alſo natural.

Then let us conſider the Parts hereof in our Caſe. Andrew Baynton recited that he was deſirous that the Tenements and Hereditaments whereof he was ſeized (Part of which are now in Queſtion) might come and deſcend to the Heirs Males of his Body begotten, in Manner and Form in the ſaid Indenture expreſſed, and for this Cauſe he covenanted and granted to ſtand ſeized of the ſame Lands to the Uſe of himſelf for Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of Edward Baynton and Agnes his Wife for their Lives, and afterwards to the Uſe of the Heirs Males of the ſaid Andrew lawfully begotten or to be begotten on the Body of Frances Lee. Here this Conſideration recited, and the Limitation of the Eſtate accordingly, is founded purely on the ſaid Principles of Nature, viz. of begetting and procreating a Thing like unto himſelf, and alſo of providing for its Suſtenance, Education, and Living afterwards. For the Tail limited to Andrew Baynton ſhall in all Probability deſcend to the Iſſue, and it is an Inheritance certainly made and appointed for the Benefit and Advancement of the Iſſues Males of the Body of Andrew only, and of none other. And the Statute of Weſtminſter 2. cap. 1. ordains in ſuch Caſe, that the Will of the Donor ſhall from thenceforth be obſerved; ſo that by this Act the Eſtate is amortiſed to the Iſſues of his Body, though the Fee-ſimple is not, and the Iſſues ſhall, by the Intent of Andrew Baynton who is here Donor, have the Lands as long as ſuch Iſſues ſhall endure; and in his Proviſion for them he followed Nature for his Guide, which is a ſufficient Conſideration in our Law. And if the Philoſophers have ſearched ſo deeply for the Law of Nature, and in their Laws which they have deviſed and written for the Government of the People, have commanded us to follow Nature, and have taken Nature to be one of the Foundations whereupon all Laws are built, and have eſteemed it a ſufficient Cauſe to perform what Nature moves us to (as indeed it is), we ought not to think that the Founders of our Law were remiſs in ſearching after the Law of Nature, or that they were ignorant of it. Nor have we any Reaſon, from the Laws which they have made, to conceive ſo low an Opinion of them, for their Laws argue to the contrary, and ſhew that they who made them were Men of the greateſt and moſt profound Judgment, and acquainted as well with the Law of Nature, as with the Law of Reaſon, and the Law of God alſo. For there is nothing ordained in our Law contrary to Nature, or Reaſon, or the Law of God, but our Law is agreeable to them all. And becauſe Nature, Reaſon, and the Law of God countenance and reſpect the Love which is between the Father and his Iſſues, the Founders of our Law have alſo purſued the ſame, and in regard thereof have eſtabliſhed divers Maxims and Laws. [a] And therefore the common Law gives to the Father the Care and Education of his Son, [b] and if any other takes him from his Father, he ſhall have an Action againſt him, and the Words of the Writ are, wherefore his Son and Heir he took, and this Law is intended to give Nature her due. And if the Father be killed, the Son ſhall have an Appeal of his Death, for the Death of the Father is a great Loſs to the Son, and therefore the common Law gave the Appeal to the Son preferable to any other, becauſe it is to be preſumed that the Son has the ſincereſt Love and Affection for the Father, and will moſt ſeverely revenge his Death. Which Caſes ſhew us what mutual Love there is between the Father and the Son in the Opinion of our Law. And the Statute of Articuli ſuper chartas cap. 11. ordains, that no Officer, nor any other (to have Part of the Thing in Plea) ſhall take upon him the Buſineſs that is in Suit, nor ſhall any one upon any ſuch Covenant give up his Right to another; but the Statute ſays, it is not to be underſtood that any Perſon ſhall be prohibited to have Counſel of Pleaders, and of learned Men in the Law for his Fee, or of his Parents and next Friends; [c] and in 6. Ed. 3. the Father being impleaded made a Feoffment to his eldeſt Son and Heir apparent, pending the Suit, and the King brought a Writ of Champerty againſt the Father and the Son, and there it ſeems by the clearer Opinion that the Action is not maintenable, and yet the Caſe is within the Danger of the Words of the Act; for although the Father might, by the Act, have Counſel of his Son, as of one of his next Friends, yet to make an Eſtate to him is forbidden by the Words; but it is there held that by every Law the Son ought to aid his Father, and therefore it ſhall not be taken that the Son was intended by the Statute: So that notwithſtanding he is within the Words, he is out of the Intent of the Act, for no reaſonable man can make ſuch an Expoſition of it as to ſeparate the Son from the Father, or e contra, in Aſſiſtance and Counſel, they being ſo nearly connected by Nature. [d] And note that there Herle put the Caſe that in an Appeal brought by a Woman of the Death of her Huſband, the Son being Abettor ſhall not render Damages, but ſhall avow the Abetment, becauſe he was next of Blood. So that our Law encourages between the Father and the Son this Love and all other Things which Nature has ordained, and does nor break or violate the ſame in any Reſpect. [e] And if the Son and Heir apparent to the Father takes a Wife, and endows her of the Land of the Father ad oſtium Eccleſiæ ex aſſenſu patris, and dies, the Wife ſhall enter, and ſhall have it for her Dower. So that the Wife of the Son ſhall have Dower of the Land of the Father by the Marriage of the Son, and that ſhall be called Dower, and ſhe ſhall have it without Livery of Seizin, by the Aſſent of the Father only; but the Wife of no Stranger can have ſuch Dower by ſuch Aſſent.

[a] Litt. § 114. Lect. Frowick Bro. Gard 120. M. 33. H. 6. 55. pl. 49. Per Litt. Bro. Gard 6. H. 9. Ed. 4. 53. pl. 16. Per Cateſby. Bro. Gard 55. Dy. 190. pl. 19. Vaugh 180. Forteſc. Rep. 406. Swinb. 211.

[b] F. N. B. 90. h. 143. r. Bro. Gard 110. in fine. M. 3 Ed. 4. 12. pl. 5. Per Danby. Fitz. Brief 145. Bro. 481. Faux Latin 81. H. 9. Ed. 4. 53. pl. 16. Per Cateſby. Bro. Gard 55. Dy. 190 pl. 19. 3 Bac. Abr. 17. Forteſc. Rep. 22. Swinb. 211.

[c] T. 6. Ed. 3. 33. pl. 19. Fitz. Champerty 10. Bro. 11. Ante 88 (e). and ſee the Books there cited.

[d] See Ante 88 (f). and the Books there cited.

[e] Litt. § 40. 2 Bac. Abr. 154.

And

And thus we ſee that the Dower of the Wife of the Son ſhall be tranſlated from the Son to the Land of the Father by his Aſſent only without other Act, for the Wife of his Son is in a Manner his own Wife, and within his Care, in Reſpect of the Love which the Law preſumes to be between the Father and the Son. [a] And ſo if a Man is ſeized in Fee of Land holden of J. S. by Fealty and 10 l. Rent, and gives it in Frank-marriage to one with his Daughter, the Father ſhall pay the 10 l. annually until the fourth Degree is paſt, and ſhall have nothing of the Donees for it, tho' he ſhould have the Rent of every other Donee, and the Reaſon thereof is, becauſe it was given with his Daughter in Marriage, by which it is preſumed that his Daughter is advanced, and therefore the Father ſhall pay the Rent. So that for the Advancement of the Daughter the Father ſhall be charged by a Maxim of the Common Law, and the Charge is tranſlated from the Daughter to the Father, and this is grounded upon the Conſideration of Nature. For the Land was given to the Huſband in Marriage with his Wife, by which Acceptance the Huſband takes upon him to find the Wife with every Thing that is neceſſary, and in Conſideration thereof the Father ſhall bear the Charge of the Rent, becauſe his Daughter is to live by the Land given with her in Marriage. [b] And if I make a Contract with another, that if he will take my Daughter to Wife, I will give him 20 l. in this Caſe if he takes her to Wife, he ſhall have an Action of Debt for the 20 l. in our Law by 22. Aſs. and yet I have nothing for it, and if it was not out of Regard to Nature, this ſhould be called a nude Contract, et ex nudo pacto non oritur actio. But, Sir, my Daughter is advanced by the Marriage, which is a ſufficient Conſideration to me for the 20 l. So that a Conſideration proceeding from Nature is a ſufficient Conſideration in our Law. And from theſe Reaſons and Caſes it is manifeſt that Things proceeding from Nature are reſpected not only in Philoſophy, but alſo in our Law, and are of great Force and Operation in our Law, and therefore are eſteemed to be good and ſufficient Conſiderations. From whence it follows that the Conſideration of Andrew Baynton here expreſſed for the Proviſion [c] of his Heirs Males is a ſufficient Conſideration to raiſe a Uſe in the Land.

[a] Litt. § 19.

[b] 22 Aſs. pl. 70. per Thorp. Fitz. Prohibition 2. Bro. Debt 134. Juriſdiction 63. F. N. B. 44. a. 120. k. Dr. & Stud. lib. 2. cap. 24. fo. 195. Hardr. 72. 1 Freem. 97. 1 Rol. Abr. 593. pl. 1. 1 Rol. R. 433. Cro. C. 194. Cart. 234.

[c] 2 Rol. Abr. 785. pl. 6. 1 Finch 18. 2 Finch 25.

The ſecond Conſideration is the Continuance of the Land in the Name of Baynton, and this ſeems to be a good Conſideration to raiſe a Uſe. For by the Continuance of it in the Name of Baynton he intended to exclude all Females from inheriting the Land, and to place it in the Heirs Males. [d] For a Female by Marriage changes her Surname for the Surname of her Huſband, and loſes that of her Father, but the Male continues his firſt Name. And divers good Reaſons might move him ſo to do. For God has divided rational Creatures into two Sexes, Male and Female, [e] the Male is the Superior, the Female the Inferior, and as Ariſtotle in his ſaid Book of Politics ſays, Mas eſt præſtantior, deterior fœmina. Alſo Men are for the greateſt Part more reaſonable than Women, and have more Diſcretion to guide and manage Things than Women have, for to govern and direct is more ſuitable to the Capacity of the Male than of the Female. And therefore Ariſtotle ſays, Mas ad Principatum aptior eſt naturâ quam fœmina. And as a Woman is not as fit to govern in Things of a higher Nature as a Man is, ſo is ſhe not as fit to govern in Things of a lower Nature, which perhaps Andrew Baynton conſidering apprehended that the Profits of his Inheritance would not be ſo well expended and employed by Females as by Males, nor the Lands ſo well ordered, nor Hoſpitality ſo well kept up by the one as by the other, and that there would not be ſo great Comfort and Support to his Race, or Kindred, or Allies, or Friends and Acquaintance, as well as to the Country in general where he and his Parents dwelt, if his Inheritance ſhould come to Females, which are Things a Man cannot think of without Uneaſineſs and Diſcontent. Alſo if his Inheritance ſhould come to a Female, in all Probability ſhe would take a Huſband, to whom by her Marriage ſhe ſubmits herſelf and all that ſhe has, and conſequently ſhe and the whole Inheritance would be ſubject to the Will of a Stranger, and be governed by him. And every Man has a natural Deſire to leave the Inheritance which he has gotten by Toil and Labour to one of his own Blood, who may uſe and enjoy it according to his own Will, and no Man would willingly ſuffer a Stranger to reap the Fruits of his Labour; and therefore ſuch of his Blood to whom he deſires to leave his Subſtance is an Heir Male, and the Want of an Heir Male is a great Grief. [f] For which Reaſon in the Old Teſtament God ſays by his Prophet Elias to King Achab, whom he intends to plague, I will kill of Achab him that piſſeth againſt the Wall, which is but a Circumlocution of Males only, and not of Females, for Males emit their Urine ſtanding, but Females don't, and it is as much as if he had ſaid, I will kill all the Males coming from Achab. So that in the Judgment of God it is a greater Plague to want Males than Females, and it is a great Bleſſing of God to have Iſſue Male, to whom it is a Comfort to Man to leave the Fruits of his Labour. Alſo by eſtabliſhing the Inheritance in the Heirs Males having the Name of Baynton, Andrew will thereby obtain Fame, and be remembered by his Poſterity, which is what every Man deſires to obtain, and this Paſſion urges many to do noble Actions in their Life time, which may remain as Monuments of them for Ages after Death, and it is a laudable Paſſion. And to eſtabliſh a great Inheritance, as this is, in one Name, is an Action for which he deſerves to be greatly celebrated and commended by his Poſterity, and to be called the Founder of the Family, and it ſhall be held in as great Memory by all who ſhall be relieved by it, as the Foundation of a College, or School, or the like. And thoſe eſpecially who ſhall inherit the Lands, and reap the Benefit of them, ought to give him greater Praiſes, and (if they are not ungrateful) pray to God for him. [g] As if a Man gives Land in Franka'moign, they are bound to make Oriſons to God for him, and in Conſideration of ſuch Oriſons he is bound to pay to the chief Lord all Rents and Services iſſuing out of the Land. [h] And in 17. Ed. 4. it is taken by many, that if I promiſe a Surgeon a certain Sum for 2 Conſideration. If the Continuance of the Land in the Name and Blood of the Covenantor is a ſufficient Conſideration to raiſe a Uſe. S. P. 2 Rol. Abr. 785. pl. 8. Davis 30. a. Cart. 141. 2 And. 77.

[d] M. 40. Ed. 3. 37. pl. 9. per Wiching. Bro. Pleading 16. M. 2. H. 4. 1. pl. 5. Fitz. Brief 207. Bro. 92. Noſme 7. H. 27 H. 6. 8. pl. 10. per Priſot. Bro. Negativa pregnans 2. Perk. § 41. Andrew's Rep. 134.

[e] Poſt 445.

[f] 3 Book of Kings cap. 21. v. 21.

[g] Litt. § 135, 142.

[h] T. 17. Ed. 4. 5. a. per Rogers et Suliard. Bro. Debt 161. M. 37 H. 6. 9. a. per Moile. Dr. & Stud. lib. 2. cap. 24. fo. 194. 1 Rol. Abr. 593. pl. 3, 4. Cro. J. 521. Owen 94. 5 Mod. 13. 1 Finch 50. Vin. Abr. tit. Nudum Pactum A. pl. 6.

for curing ſuch a poor Man, [a] or if I promiſe a Labourer ſo much Money for repairing ſuch a Way, which is a Highway, he ſhall have an Action of Debt for it, becauſe it is a Work of Charity, and I deſerve Commendation for it, and therefore it ſhall not be called nudum pactum. So here Andrew Baynton deſerves to be praiſed and commended for his Gratuity by all thoſe of the Name of Baynton who ſhall inherit theſe Lands, or ſhall be relieved by their being eſtabliſhed in the Name of Baynton. And therefore for theſe Reaſons there is a ſufficient Conſideration in the Limitation of the Name to raiſe a Uſe.

[a] T. 17. Ed. 4. 5. a. per Rogers et Suliard. Bro. Debt 161. 1 Rol. Abr. 593. pl. 5. Dr. & Stud. lib. 2. cap. 24. fo. 194.

3 Conſideration. If brotherly Love is a ſufficient Conſideration to raiſe a Uſe. S.P. 2 Rol. Abr. 785. pl. 3. 1 Finch 18. 2 Finch 25. Moor 505. Rep. temp. Hardwick 108.

The third Conſideration here is, the brotherly Love, and Continuance of the Land in ſuch of the Blood of the ſaid Andrew as are mentioned in the Indenture, viz. his Brothers, for this is but one Conſideration, that is, his Blood, and the Brother is one of the next Degrees of the Blood, after his Parents and Iſſues. And as to this Conſideration, viz. the Continuance of the Land in his Brothers and others of his Blood, it is alſo founded upon Nature. For thoſe who deſcend from one ſame Parentage, and are joined neareſt in Blood, are by Nature joined in Love. And the Founders of our Law knowing this have purſued the ſame, and in Reſpect thereof have eſtabliſhed divers Maxims and Laws. [b] And therefore if the Father dies ſeized of Land, and the youngeſt Son enters, the eldeſt Son ſhall not have an Aſſize of Mortdanceſtor, nor a Writ of Right, nor any other Action againſt him, [c] for the Law preſumes that he who is ſo near to him in Blood, is alſo as near to him in Love, and therefore it cannot be ſuppoſed that he entered as an Enemy, but as a Friend to preſerve the Inheritance in his Abſence. So that the Common Law, purſuing the Dictates of Nature, has not given any Action againſt him. [d] And for this Reaſon alſo the Deſcent of the younger Brother, or of any of his Iſſues, ſhall not take away the Entry of the eldeſt, or of his Iſſues; for the Common Law will not believe that any of them claimed any Freehold or Inheritance, but held it rather as Bailiff or Friend of the eldeſt, and therefore the Deſcent ſhall not take away his Entry. [e] And upon this Preſumption of Law it is, that a collateral Warranty made by the Brother, or other of the Blood more diſtant, is a Bar to him upon whom it deſcends without Aſſets; for the Law does not preſume that he would hurt his Heir who is the next of his Blood, without otherwiſe advancing him as much as he has hurt him by the Warranty. And herein the Law is founded upon great Reaſon and Conſideration, for the Founders of our Law did not make Laws to countenance Things againſt Nature, which are monſtrous and ſeldom happen, but to licenſe Things which are conſiſtent with Nature and often happen, and therefore the Common Law preſumes that he is advanced as much by other Means as he is hurt by the Warranty. [f] And Brothers or Couſins ſhall not wage Battle in a Writ of Right, for the Law thinks it not good to give the Writ of Right between them with Liberty of Battle. [g] But if they are Siſters, or Brothers in Gavelkind, the Nuper obiit lies between them where the Anceſtor died ſeized, and this is only for the Trial of the Blood, for they ſhall not wage Battle in it. [h] And if the Anceſtor did not die ſeized of the Freehold, and the one enters into the whole Land to which ſhe and the others have Right, the others ſhall have a Writ of Right de rationabili parte, in which no Battle lies, but it is a Writ for the Trial of the Blood. And if the Blood is tried in theſe Writs, then the Demandant ſhall have Judgment of his Part, as a Thing purſuant, and not as the principal Point. [i] And it is a good principal Challenge in every Action to ſay that the Juror is Brother or Couſin to one of the Parties, in Reſpect of the Affection and Love which the Law preſumes to be between them. [k] And in 20. H. 7. it appears that the Duke of Buckingham, becauſe of a Marriage intended between the Lord Henry his Brother and the Lady of Wiltſhire, covenanted with Reinold Bray and others that certain Manors ſhould be to the ſaid Lady, and to the Heirs Males which the Lord Henry ſhould beget of her Body, and afterwards they intermarried, and then the Duke granted to the ſaid Lord Henry and Lady the ſaid Manors for their Lives, and it was there debated whether the Uſe ſhould paſs in Reverſion to the ſaid Lord Henry for his Life, ſo as that he ſhould have it for his Life after the Lady was dead without Iſſue, and there it was ſaid that the Uſe ſhould be to the Lord Henry in Reverſion for his Life, for the Grant was upon good Conſideration, for the elder Brother is bound by the Law of Nature to aid and comfort his younger Brother, as the Father is the Son, in which Caſe the Uſe was executed; but indeed the Book is not adjudged, tho' this ſeems to be the better Opinion. And ſo ſhall the Conſideration in our Caſe be ſufficient. And in the Old Teſtament God prohibits Marriage within the Levitical Degrees, which was upon no other Conſideration than to encreaſe Love; for God, who knows the Nature and Affections of Men better than Man himſelf, ſaw that Love grew by Nature between Couſins and thoſe who are near in Blood, and being deſirous to enlarge that Love further, he prohibited certain Degrees, within which it was not lawful for any to marry, to the Intent that they ſhould marry into other Families, and thereby bind their Lineages together in Love, ſo that Love might be encreaſed, which God deſires above all other Things. And this Prohibition he made upon divine Policy, for Love was ſufficiently implanted by Nature in thoſe who are near to each other in Blood, and there was no Need to make it greater than Nature had made it, but to marry elſewhere begets other Love in other Families, whereby Love is propagated and encreaſed. So that the Degrees were prohibited upon divine Policy, and by the Laws of Holy Church the Degrees of Marriage are further prohibited upon the Reaſon aforeſaid. From whence we ſee that by the Law of Nature, and by the Law of the Realm, and by the Law of God (which in Intent approves them both) brotherly Love and Advancement of one's Blood is taken to be of great Effect, and ſeems to be a ſufficient Conſideration to raiſe a Uſe in Land. [l] And Bromley ſaid that when a Felon was found guilty in an Appeal of Murder, the ancient Uſage was, that all thoſe of the Blood of him who was murdered ſhould draw the Felon by a long Cord to the Place of Execution, which

Cuſtom

[b] 8 Co. 101. b. Sed Contra M. 21. H. 6. 25. a. per Port.

[c] 2 Rol. Abr. 785. pl. 3.

[d] Litt. § 396. P. 40. Ed. 3. 24. pl. 26. Fitz. Entry congeable 23. Bro. 6.

[e] Litt. § 709. Co. Litt. 373. a. Wing. Max. reg. 79. pl. 1.

[f] 1 Finch 18, 362. 2 Finch 25. Wing. Max. reg. 78. pl. 17.

[g] Regiſt. 226. b. Co. Litt. 175. a. 1 Finch 2 9, 362. Booth 119.

[h] Booth 119, 120.

[i] P. 21. Ed. 4. 33. a. Bro. Challenge 180. Co. Litt. 157. a.

[k] M. 20. H. 7. 10. b. Winch 36.

[l] M. 11. H. 4. 12. a. per Tirw. et Gaſcoign. 3 Inſt. 131. 1 Hawk. P. C. 70.

Cuſtom was founded upon the Loſs which the whole Blood ſuſtained by the Murder of one of them, as well as to ſhew their Revenge againſt the Offender, and the Love they bore to the Perſon killed.

The fourth Conſideration is the Marriage had between Edward Baynton and Agnes his Wife; for the Uſe is limited after the Death of Andrew to Edward Baynton and Agnes his Wife for Term of their Lives. In which Words (his Wife) it is implied that Marriage was before had between Edward Baynton and the ſame Agnes, for without Marriage ſhe could not be his Wife. And then none of the Conſiderations ſpecified before the Eſtate limited ſerve as an Inducement to the Eſtate of Agnes but one, and one does, which is, the Good-will and brotherly Love which Andrew bore to the ſaid Edward Baynton. So that the whole being put together, the Senſe is, that Andrew Baynton, in Conſideration of the Good-will and brotherly Love which he bore to Edward Baynton his Brother, covenanted to ſtand ſeized to the Uſe of himſelf for his Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of the ſaid Edward and Agnes his Wife, whom he had before married; which cannot be otherwiſe taken than for the [a] Jointure of Agnes, and it is within the Words of the Act of 11. H. 7. cap. 20. in that it is given by the Anceſtor of the Huſband, and it is within the Words of the Act of 27. H. 8. cap. 10. which excludes Dower, and every Jointure is in Conſideration of Marriage. So that it is proved by the Matter that the Marriage between Edward and Agnes is the Conſideration of the Limitation of the Eſtate to them, altho' it is not plainly ſo expreſſed. And therefore Agnes ſhall have an Eſtate therein, and conſequently the Defendants as Servants as well to her as to Edward may juſtify the Treſpaſs. And thus the four Conſiderations and the Efficacy of them are diſcloſed, which are greater than any Money or Matter of Recompence, and the more ſo, in that ſome of them are founded meerly upon Nature, et naturæ vis maxima, and ſome of them are founded upon other Cauſes of great Importance, and each of them alone by itſelf is ſufficient to raiſe the Uſes, and when they are all put together, they are of greater Force, nam omnis vis unita fortior eſt. So that the Uſes are here raiſed by theſe Conſiderations, and then the Statute of Uſes executes the Poſſeſſion accordingly without Inrolment of the Deed within ſix Months. For the Act of Inrolments extends only to Bargains and Sales, whereas this is no Bargain and Sale, as it is before granted, but a Covenant and Grant upon Conſideration, which is out of the Statute of Inrolments, for which Reaſon the Poſſeſſion is executed according to the Limitation of the Uſes. And therefore Agnes ſhall have a joint Eſtate with Edward, and the Defendants as Servants to them both, and by their Command, have well juſtified the Treſpaſs. But if it ſhould be taken that the Eſtate here is not limited to Agnes in Conſideration of the Marriage, and that this Cauſe would be inſufficient to convey the Uſe to her, yet, the Apprentice ſaid, if any of the other Conſiderations, either for the Advancement of the Iſſue of the ſaid Andrew, or of his Blood, or any of the other Conſiderations are ſufficient to raiſe a Uſe in Tail to Andrew, or to any of his Brothers, this ſhall be ſufficient to convey an Eſtate to Agnes alſo. [b] For, he ſaid, if A. is ſeized of Land in Fee, and covenants with B. that in Conſideration that B. will marry his Daughter, he will from the Time of the Marriage ſtand ſeized of his Land to the Uſe of himſelf for his Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of one C. and to the Heirs of his Body begotten, and afterwards to the Uſe of one D. and to the Heirs of his Body begotten, and afterwards to the Uſe of the ſaid B. and of the ſaid Daughter of the ſaid A. and to the Heirs of their Bodies begotten; there after the Marriage had, the ſaid A. ſhall be ſeized by the Common Law to the Uſe of himſelf for Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of C. in Tail, and afterwards to the Uſe of D. in Tail, and afterwards to the Uſe of the ſaid B. and his Wife Daughter of the ſaid A. in Tail, according to the Limitation, and yet there is no Conſideration for which the ſaid C. and D. ſhould have the Uſe in Tail, for the Marriage of B. is a private and ſeveral Conſideration for himſelf to have the Eſtate-tail, but it is no Conſideration for C. and D. who are Strangers; and altho' it be not, yet inaſmuch as the Eſtate to B. and to his Wife is limited after the Death of A. and after the Death of C. and D. without Iſſue, and not before, it follows that B. and his Wife ought to have it in ſuch Form, and not otherwiſe, and that is, in Remainder. And this Remainder ought to be in him immediately after the Marriage, for the Covenant is, that from the Time of the Marriage he will ſtand ſeized to the Uſes, &c. and this by Neceſſity of Reaſon makes the Uſes to veſt in C. and D. for the Sake of the Remainder of B. and his Wife, becauſe they ſhall precede the Eſtate of B. and his Wife. [c] But if the Limitation to C. and D. had been after the Eſtate of B. and his Wife, as if the Covenant had been that A. ſhould ſtand ſeized to the Uſe of himſelf for Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of B. and his Wife in Tail, and afterwards to the Uſe of C. in Tail, and afterwards to the Uſe of D. in Tail, there the Remainders to C. and D. ſhould be void, becauſe there is no Conſideration to make them good; for the Marriage between B. and his Wife is only a Conſideration for the Eſtate of B. and his Wife, and the Marriage touches their particular Perſons, which is no Conſideration to a Stranger. [d] Yet Money might be given by one in Conſideration of all the Eſtates, but this Conſideration of Marriage is limited to the Perſons married, and to the Father whoſe Daughter is married, and is no Conſideration for a Stranger, as it ſeems. But foraſmuch as the Eſtate of the Wife of Edward Baynton is precedent to the Eſtates-tail limited to Andrew and his Brothers, and not ſubſequent to them, this is a ſufficient Reaſon to make her Eſtate good. And conſequently the Juſtification in the Name of her and of her Huſband is good. And as to the Opinions of the Judges in [e] 21. H. 7. Bromley admitted the Law to be, that [f] no Uſe could be there raiſed as the Caſe was, for there the Covenant was in the future Tenſe, viz. that the Land ſhall revert, remain, or deſcend, which is in the Diſjunctive and incertain, and at the Election of the Covenantor to make the Land come to him by the one Way or the other; and it is in Fee-ſimple, or Fee-tail, which is alſo incertain, for which Reaſons the Uſe could not be had there, but the Party ſhould be driven to a Writ of Covenant. And in the Caſe there put of Mordant, that was in the future Tenſe alſo, and no

4 Conſideration. If the Marriage of the Brother of the Covenantor is a Conſideration to raiſe a Uſe to the Brother's Wife. S. P. 2 Rol. Abr. 783, 784. pl. 1. 785. pl. 2. Moor 505.

[a] 2 Vin. Abr. tit. Jointure J. pl. 11.

3

[b] S. P. Crompt. J. C. 63. a. But 4 Leon. 137. it is ſaid by Moor, arguendo, that this Conceit was ruled in the Ld. Paget's Caſe not to be Law.

[c] 2 Rol. Abr. 784 pl. 5.

[d] 2 Rol. Abr. 784. pl. 7.

[e] Ante 302 (g).

[f] S. P. Winch 36, 60, 61. Dy. 55. a. pl. 2. in Margine. Crompt. J. C. 62. b.

Conſideration is there put. But there is no ſuch Matter here in our Caſe. And therefore for the Conſiderations here, and the Cauſes before alledged, the Uſes ſhould have been raiſed if there had been no Deed in the Caſe, and conſequently the Bar ſhall be good.

2 Point. Then as to the ſecond Point, admitting the Conſiderations to be inſufficient, or admitting that no Conſiderations had been expreſſed, yet the Covenant of itſelf without Conſideration is ſufficient to raiſe the Uſes. And in order to underſtand this the better, let us ſee what Advantage the Party here ſhall have by the Deed, if the Deed be not ſufficient to raiſe the Uſes. And it ſeems clearly that he ſhall have none. For he cannot have an Action of Covenant upon the Deed, becauſe there is nothing executory here; for Andrew has covenanted with Edward that he and all Perſons ſeized of the Land ſhall from thenceforth ſtand and be ſeized to the Uſes limited. And if they did not ſtand ſeized, there is no Default in Andrew, but in the Law, for he granted that from thenceforth, viz. immediately, he would be ſeized, and no Default can be charged in him if he did not ſtand ſeized. Nor can Edward have an Action of Covenant againſt him, [a] for an Action of Covenant ſhall never be brought, but where it is covenanted that a Thing ſhall be done in Time to come, or that it was done in Time paſt. As in the Caſe put in 21. H. 7. where the Covenant was that the Land ſhall revert, remain, or deſcend: Or if a Man covenants to build a Houſe, or to give a Horſe, or to make ſuch an Aſſurance, or the like, which may be executed and performed afterwards; or where I have done ſuch a Thing. But there is no ſuch Matter here, for he covenanted and granted preſently to ſtand ſeized to Uſe, upon which no Action of Covenant lies. For if I covenant and grant with you, that my white Horſe ſhall from henceforth be your Horſe, you ſhall not have an Action of Covenant againſt me altho' I detain the Horſe, for I have not covenanted to do any Thing in Time to come, nor that any Thing was done in Time paſſed; but the Phraſe of Speech amounts to the Effect to veſt a preſent Property in you. So here when he covenanted from thenceforth to be ſeized to the Uſes limited, the Phraſe contains in Effect a preſent actual Seizin to Uſe, and if the Law be that the Uſes ſhall be preſently made by it, then is he ſeized to the Uſes, and if the Law be not ſo, and will not ſuffer it, then he is not ſeized to the Uſes, and there is no Default in him; and from thence it follows that the Covenant and Grant and the Deed ſhall be void and of no Effect. But here Andrew made the Deed, and ſealed and delivered it, and it was according to the Intent of both the Parties, and Andrew could never plead non eſt factum; and then if it be his Deed, to make it of no Value would be a hard Expoſition, and inconſiſtent with the Exiſtence of the Deed. For a Deed is not a Deed but to ſome End and Effect, and to ſay that it is a Deed and of no Effect is a Contrariety. And if the Uſes ſhould not be raiſed, no other Advantage, Benefit, or Effect could be made of it here. So that we ſee no Action of Covenant ſhall be maintenable upon the Deed, nor any other Advantage made of it, if it does not raiſe the Uſes. Then let us hear and weigh the Objection made againſt the raiſing of the Uſes. And the Objection is, that the Uſes ſhall not be raiſed becauſe there is no Conſideration. And as to this, when God had firſt created Heaven and Earth, and all living Things upon the Earth, he made Man Sovereign over all, and gave to Man the Dominion of all, and to him he gave the whole Earth, as the Scripture ſays, the Earth he gave to the Sons of Men. So that Men are by the Endowment of God made Lords of the Earth, and Poſſeſſors of all Things in it. But how much of the Earth and of the Things therein one Man ſhall have, and how much another, God has left to be aſcertained and ſettled by Mankind by Laws to be made by them for that Purpoſe, and by ſuch Laws Proviſion is made accordingly in every Realm and Country. Then when Andrew Baynton by the Laws of this Land had the Manor of Bremble in Fee-ſimple, by our Law and by the Law of God alſo he had the Dominion thereof, and the Manor was ſubject to him; and if he had the Dominion over the Land, and the Land was ſubject to him, then was it ſubject to his Will, for his Will proceeds from his Mind, which is the principal Part of him, and which directs his Body and all that he has; and if his Land be ſubject to his Will, then is his Will a ſufficient Conſideration for which the Land ſhall go as his Will is. Then when Andrew Baynton had the Land to his own Uſe, and made an Indenture between him and Edward Baynton, that from thenceforth he ſhould be ſeized of it to other Uſes, here is a ſufficient Conſideration why the ſame ſhould be done, viz. the Will of him that has the Thing, and greater than this there is no Conſideration. And, Sir, by the Law of this Land there are two Ways of making Contracts or Agreements for Lands or Chattles. The one is, by Words, which is the inferior Method; the other is, by Writing, which is the ſuperior. [b] And becauſe Words are oftentimes ſpoken by Men unadviſedly and without Deliberation, the Law has provided that a Contract by Words ſhall not bind without Conſideration. [c] As if I promiſe to give you 20 l. to make your Sale de novo, here you ſhall not have an Action againſt me for the 20 l. as it is affirmed in the ſaid Caſe in 17. Ed. 4. for it is a nude Pact, et ex nudo pacto non oritur actio. And the Reaſon is, becauſe it is by Words which paſs from Men lightly and inconſiderately, but where the Agreement is by Deed, there is more Time for Deliberation. [d] For when a Man paſſes a Thing by Deed, firſt there is the Determination of the Mind to do it, and upon that he cauſes it to be written, which is one Part of Deliberation, and afterwards he puts his Seal to it, which is another Part of Deliberation, and laſtly he delivers the Writing as his Deed, which is the Conſummation of his Reſolution; and by the Delivery of the Deed from him that makes it to him to whom it is made, he gives his Aſſent to part with the Thing contained in the Deed to him to whom he delivers the Deed, and this Delivery is as a Ceremony in Law, ſignifying fully his Good-will that the Thing in the Deed ſhould paſs from him to the other. So that there is great Deliberation uſed in the making of Deeds, for which Reaſon they are received as a lien final to the Party, and are adjudged to bind the Party [e] without examining upon what Cauſe or Conſideration they were made. And therefore in the Caſe put in 17. Ed. 4. put it thus,

[a] 1 Finch 158.

[b] Ld. Raym. 648. per Gould. J. 1 Finch 159. Vin. Abr. tit. Nudum Pactum A. pl. 2.

[c] T. 17. Ed. 4. 4. b. 5. a. per Townſend.

[d] 1 Finch 159.

[e] Cowel's Inſt. 178. Crompt. J. C. 49. b.

thus, that I by Deed promiſe to give you 20 l. to make your Sale de novo, here you ſhall have an Action of Debt upon this Deed, and the Conſideration is not examinable, for in the Deed there is a ſufficient Conſideration, viz. the Will of the Party that made the Deed. [a] And ſo where a Carpenter by Parol without Writing undertook to build a new Houſe, and for the not doing of it the Party in 11. H. 4. brought an Action of Covenant againſt the Carpenter, there it does not appear that he ſhould have any Thing for building the Houſe, and it was adjudged that the Plaintiff ſhould take nothing by his Writ: But if it had been by Specialty, it would have been otherwiſe; and ſo it is there held by Thirning, cauſa qua ſupra. [b] So in 45. Ed. 3. in Debt, the Plaintiff counted that a Covenant was made between him and the Defendant, that the Plaintiff ſhould marry the Defendant's Daughter, and that the Defendant ſhould be bound to him in 100 l. and he ſaid that he had married his Daughter; and the Count was challenged, becauſe this Debt is demanded upon a Contract touching Matrimony, which ought to be in Court chriſtian; but notwithſtanding this, foraſmuch as he demanded a Debt upon a Deed, whereby it was become a lay-Contract, he was put to anſwer: But otherwiſe it would have been, if it had been without Deed, as it is there put; [c] and 14. Ed. 4. and alſo 17. Ed. 4. are, that if it be without Deed the Action does not lie, becauſe the Marriage, which is the Conſideration, is a Thing ſpiritual; which Books are contrary to the Opinion of Thorp in the ſaid Caſe in [d] 22. Aſſ. Ante fol. 305. So that where it is by Deed, the Cauſe or Conſideration is not enquirable, nor is it to be weighed, but the Party ought only to anſwer to the Deed, and if he confeſſes it to be his Deed, he ſhall be bound, [e] for every Deed imports in itſelf a Conſideration, viz. the Will of him that made it, and therefore where the Agreement is by Deed, it ſhall never be called a nudum Pactum. And in an Action of Debt upon an Obligation, the Conſideration upon which the Party made the Deed is not to be enquired, for it is ſufficient to ſay that it was his Will to make the Deed. And ſo inaſmuch as in the principal Caſe it is agreed that the Uſes might be raiſed by the Deed, if there had been a Conſideration in it, and here there is a Conſideration contained in the Deed, viz. the Will of Andrew Baynton, which is ſufficient of itſelf, for this Reaſon the Uſes ſhall be raiſed thereby; and if this ſhould not be ſufficient to raiſe them, yet they ſhould have been raiſed by other Conſiderations, if they had been without Deed, whereas here they are by Deed, and ſo they ſhall be raiſed a fortiore. For which Reaſons they prayed Judgment that the Plaintiffs might be barred. And many other Things were ſaid, and Caſes put to enforce theſe Arguments.

[a] M. 11. H. 4. 33. a. Bro. Action ſur le Caſe 40. H. 3. H. 6. 37. a. Per Rolf. Ld. Raym. 909. Per Gould J.

[b] M. 45. Ed. 3. 24. pl. 30. Fitz. Debt 131. Bro. Juriſdiction 11. 1 Freem. 97. Per Vaugh. C. J.

[c] T. 14. Ed. 4. 6. pl. 3. Bro. Debt 160. Juriſdiction 93. T. 17. Ed. 4. 4. b. Bro. Debt 161. T. 15. Ed. 4. 32. pl. 14. Bro. Contract 14. Debt 104. H. 19. Ed. 4. 10. P. 20. Ed. 4. 3. pl. 17. in all which Books nothing is ſpoken of a Deed.

[d] See 1 Freem. 97. the Opinion of Thorp in the 22. Aſſ. pl. 70. made reconcileable with the Argument here.

[e] Vin. Abr. tit. Nudum Pactum A. pl. 7.

And after theſe Arguments the Court took Time to deliberate until Hillary Term, and from thence until Eaſter Term, and from thence until this preſent Trinity Term in the eighth Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, and the Defendants now prayed Judgment. And Corbet Juſtice ſaid that he and all his Companions had reſolved that Judgment ſhould be given againſt the Plaintiffs. For it ſeemed to them that the Conſiderations of the Continuance of the Land in the Name and Blood, and of brotherly Love, were ſufficient to raiſe the Uſes limited. But, he ſaid, as my Lord Chief Juſtice is not now preſent, you muſt move it again when he is preſent, and you ſhall have Judgment. And afterwards at another Day, Catline Chief Juſtice being preſent, the Apprentice prayed Judgment. And Catline and the Court were agreed that Judgment ſhould be entered againſt the Plaintiffs, and he ordered Haywood the Prothonotary to enter it. And the Apprentice ſaid, may it pleaſe your Lordſhip to ſhew us, for our Learning, the Cauſes of your Judgment. And Catline ſaid, it ſeems to us that the [f] Affection of the ſaid Andrew for the Proviſion of the Heirs Males which he ſhould beget, and his Deſire that the Land ſhould [g] continue in the Blood and Name of Baynton, and the [h] brotherly Love which he bore to his Brothers, are ſufficient Conſiderations to raiſe the Uſes in the Land. And where you ſaid in your Argument Naturæ vis maxima, I ſay, Natura bis maxima, and it is the greateſt Conſideration that can be to raiſe a Uſe. [i] But as to the other Conſideration moved in the Argument, viz. of the Marriage had between Edward Baynton and Agnes, the Record does not prove this, nor is it ſo averred, and it ſhall not be ſo intended, and therefore I don't regard it, but the other Cauſes and Conſiderations are effectual, and thoſe which moved us to our Judgment. Wherefore Judgment was given as follows.

Trin. Term 8 Eliz. Curia.

[f] 7 Co. 13. b. 2 Rol. Abr. 785. pl. 6. 1 Finch 18. 2 Finch 25. Wing. Max. reg. 78. pl. 15.

[g] 2 Rol. Abr. 785 pl. 8. Davis 30. a. Cart. 141. 2 And. 77.

[h] 2 Rol. Abr. 785. pl. 3. Moor 505. 1 Finch 18. 2 Finch 25.

[i] 1 Moor 505. it is ſaid arguendo, that if the Juſtices had here entered into the Conſideration of the Marriage, it would have been ſufficient to raiſe a Uſe to Agnes, without any Averment or expreſs Conſideration.

At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came as well the aforeſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel Pledall as the aforeſaid Thomas Strotton, Walter Gale, Edward Wetherhead, Richard Aldridge, Robert Prater, Henry Maſſey, and John Gilden by their Attornies aforeſaid; whereupon as well the Plea aforeſaid as all other and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Court of the Lady the Queen here more fully underſtood, for that it ſeems to the Court of the Lady the Queen here that the Plea aforeſaid in Manner and Form aforeſaid above pleaded is good and ſufficient in Law to preclude the aforeſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel Pledall from having, maintaining, and proſecuting their Action aforeſaid againſt the aforeſaid Thomas Strotton, Walter Gale, Edward Wetherhead, Richard Aldridge, Robert Prater, Henry Maſſey, and John Gilden, therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Henry Sharington and Gabriel take nothing by their Bill aforeſaid, but for their falſe Claim thereof be in Mercy. And that the aforeſaid Thomas, Walter, Edward Wetherhead, Richard, Robert, Henry Maſſey, and John Gilden go thereof without Day.

The reſt of the Record.

Judgment.

Note that by the civil Law Nudum Pactum is defined thus, * Nudum Pactum eſt ubi nulla ſubeſt cauſa præter conventionem; ſed ubi ſubeſt cauſa, fit obligatio, et parit actionem. Alſo Nuda Pactio eſt tenuis et deſtituta tam nomine proprio, quam mutatione rerum et factorum, manens in ſimplici paciſcentium colloquio.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

* Cart. 141. Vin. Abr. tit. Nudum Pactum A. pl. 1.

A Report of a Judgment given by the Court of Exchequer in Hillary Term in the tenth Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, by the Aſſent of all the Juſtices of England, in a Caſe depending in the ſaid Court between the Queen and the Earl of Northumberland, upon an Information exhibited by the Queen's Attorney againſt the ſaid Earl touching a Mine of Copper containing Gold or Silver, claimed by the Queen in the Lands of the ſaid Earl. Which Caſe was argued in the Exchequer Chamber before all the Juſtices of England, and the Barons of the Exchequer in Michaelmas Term next before the Judgment given. And the Record thereof appears among the Records of the Exchequer in the Remembrancer's Office in Michaelmas Term in which the 8th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Queen ended. Rot. 239.

Information. Same Precedent Raſt. Entr. 410. pl. 3.

BE it remembered, that Gilbert Gerard Eſquire Attorney General of the Lady the Queen now, who proſecutes for the ſame Lady the Queen, being preſent here in Court the 28th Day of November in this Term in his proper Perſon for the ſame Lady the Queen, gave the Court here to underſtand and be informed, that whereas the Lady the Queen now, by Reaſon of her Prerogative royal, is intitled to have and enjoy, and ought to have and enjoy to her own proper Uſe all and ſingular Mines and Ores of Gold and Silver, and of other Metals whatſoever containing in themſelves Gold or Silver, with all Things concerning them, which may or can be found in any Lands, Tenements, or Hereditaments within this Realm of England, or other the Dominions thereof, as well in the proper Lands and Soil of the ſame Queen, as in the Lands and Soil of any of her Subjects; And whereas alſo the ſaid Lady the Queen now the firſt Day of March in the 8th Year of her Reign was and yet is ſeized in her Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of her Crown of England, of and in * certain waſt or mountainous † Lands called Newlands in the County of Cumberland, in which there are certain Veins or Mines and Ores or Metal of Copper containing in themſelves Gold or Silver, which to the ſaid Lady the Queen appertain and belong, as in many Records, Rolls, and Remembrances of this Exchequer more fully of Record appear; and whereas alſo the ſaid Lady the Queen the aforeſaid firſt Day of March in the Year aforeſaid at her Palace at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex commanded and aſſigned one Thomas Thurland Clerk and Daniel Howſeter to cauſe and procure certain Lands to be ſearched and dug for ſuch Ore and Metal called Ore of Copper containing in itſelf Gold or Silver, within the ſaid waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands, or in any Lands or Tenements in the ſaid County of Cumberland, to the Uſe of the ſaid Lady the Queen, and ſuch ſearching and digging to be continued there with all Diligence for a certain Time yet enduring, and alſo to procure ſuch Ore or Metal there from Time to Time found and dug up to be taken and carried away from thence, and to the Uſe of the ſaid Lady the Queen to be melted, fined, or otherwiſe converted. By Reaſon whereof the aforeſaid Thomas Thurland Clerk and Daniel Howſeter cauſed the Quantity of ſix hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Ore and Metal of Copper containing in itſelf Gold or Silver to be dug up in the ſaid waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands, and there to be laid ready upon the Land to be carried away from thence, endeavouring and intending to continue the ſaid Search and Digging there, as they were commanded by the aforeſaid Lady the Queen, until Thomas Earl of Northumberland the 8th Day of October laſt paſt, and divers other Days and Times afterwards, in and upon the Poſſeſſion of the ſaid Lady the Queen of the aforeſaid waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands entered, intruded, and made Ingreſs, and the aforeſaid Thomas Thurland Clerk and Daniel Howſeter and other Labourers in the Mines and Ores aforeſaid as well from and in the making and continuing the Search and digging of the aforeſaid Lands and Mines for the Ore and Metal aforeſaid within the aforeſaid waſt Lands called Newlands, as from and in the taking and carrying away the aforeſaid ſix hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Ore and Metal of Copper aforeſaid there in Form aforeſaid dug up and laid upon the Land, hindered and diſturbed, and them yet to hinder and diſturb does not deſiſt, to the ‡ Damage of the ſaid Lady the Queen 1000 l. Wherefore the aforeſaid Attorney of the Lady the Queen for the ſame Lady the Queen prays the Advice of the Court in the Premiſſes.

* Note the Generality of the Information, which does not ſpecify the certain Quantity of the Acres, no more than in Treſpaſs Quare clauſum fregit. which is brought for a Treſpaſs at the common Law. Savil 48, Per Manwood.

† See 2 Rol. R. 166.

‡ See 2 Hawk. P. C. 243, 244.

Anſwer.

And now, viz. &c. comes the aforeſaid Earl of Northumberland by Thomas Fanſhaw his Attorney, and prays Oyer of the Information aforeſaid, and it is read to him. Which being read, heard, and by him underſtood, he complains that he ſhall be vexed and diſquieted by Colour of the Premiſſes in the aforeſaid Information ſpecified, and that by no Means juſtly, becauſe by proteſting that the Information aforeſaid, and the Matter therein contained, are inſufficient in Law, to which he has no Neceſſity, nor is by the Law of the Land bound to anſwer, by proteſting alſo that the Lady the Queen now ought not to have or enjoy, by Reaſon of her Prerogative royal, all and ſingular Mines and Ores of Gold and Silver, and of other Metals whatſoever containing in themſelves Gold or Silver, with all Things concerning them, in the Lands or Soil of any of her Subjects, for Plea as to the Entry and Ingreſs into the aforeſaid waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands, and as to the Interruption and Diſturbance as well from and in the making and continuing the Search and Digging of five hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore, Parcel of the aforeſaid ſix hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore, as from and in the taking and carrying away of the ſame five hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore, the ſame Earl ſays that the ſame five hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore were dug in one Vein or Mine

Mine of the aforeſaid Veins or Mines for Ore and Metal within the aforeſaid waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified. And that the aforeſaid waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands, in which are the aforeſaid Veins or Mines of Ore or Metal of Copper, are, and from Time whereof the Memory of Man is not to the contrary have been, Parcel of 10,000 Acres of a certain great Waſt-land called Derwentfels in the ſaid County of Cumberland. And further the ſame Earl of Northumberland ſays, that Lord Philip and Lady Mary late King and Queen of England, long before the Interruption and Diſturbance aforeſaid, were ſeized of and in the aforeſaid 10,000 Acres of the aforeſaid great Waſt-land called Derwentfels whereof, &c. in their Demeſn as of Fee, as in Right of the Crown of the ſaid late Queen of England. And the ſame late King and Queen being ſo ſeized thereof, by their Letters-patent under their Great Seal of England, bearing Date at Richmond in the County of Surry the 16th Day of Auguſt in the 4th and 5th Years of their Reigns, here ſhewn to the Court, gave, and of their ſpecial Grace, and certain Knowledge, and meer Motion for themſelves, the Heirs and Succeſſors of the ſaid late Queen, granted to the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland the aforeſaid 10,000 Acres of the aforeſaid great Waſt-land called Derwentfels whereof, &c. amongſt other Things, by the Name of all the Honour of the ſame late King and Queen of Cockermouth, and of their Caſtle of Cockermouth and Egremond, and of their Lordſhip and Manor of Cockermouth, and of their Park of Cockermouth, and of their Foreſt of Cockermouth, and of all other their Lordſhips, Manors, Lands, Tenements, and Villages of five Villages, Aſpater, Newlandraw, Allardale, Sarmorthy, Lorton, Coledale, Rogerſet, Molkarkin, Braythaite, Buttermire, Derwentfels, Wilton, Kirkland, Roſſawen otherwiſe Roſſington, Aikhead, Woodſide otherwiſe Woodſend, Dundraw, Waverton, and Weſtward, Egremond, Wilton, Drege, Carlton, Aſhdale, Waſhdale, Netherwaſhdale, Egremond, Bondage, Drege, Ravenglaſh, Keneſide, Dene, Wineſield, Birkley, Broughton-Parva, Broughton-Magna, and Calbeck Underfield, and of their Foreſts of Derwentfels, Weſtward, Aſhdale and Waſhdale, with all their Rights, Members, and Appurtenances in their County of Cumberland, late Parcel of the Lands, Poſſeſſions, and Hereditaments of Henry late Earl of Northumberland; to have, hold, and enjoy all and ſingular the Premiſſes with all their Appurtenances to the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland, and to the Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten and to be begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, the Remainder to Henry Percy Eſquire, Brother of the aforeſaid Earl, and to the Heirs Males of the Body of the aforeſaid Henry lawfully begotten and to be begotten. And further the aforeſaid late King and Queen of their more abundant ſpecial Grace willed, and of their certain Knowledge and meer Motion by their aforeſaid Letters-patent for themſelves and the Heirs and Succeſſors of the aforeſaid Queen granted, that the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland, and the Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten and to be begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, the aforeſaid Henry Percy, and the Heirs Males of the Body of the ſaid Henry lawfully begotten and to be begotten, ſhould have, hold, and enjoy, and be able to have, hold, and enjoy all and ſingular the aforeſaid Honours, Caſtles, Lordſhips, Parks, Boroughs, Meſſuages, Lands, Meadows, Leaſows, Paſtures, Rents, Reverſions, and Services, and all other and ſingular the Premiſſes above expreſſed and ſpecified, and to them by the ſame Letters-patent before granted, with their Appurtenances, according to the Tenor and Effect of their aforeſaid Letters-patent, notwithſtanding any Omiſſion and Non-recital, or ill and Miſ-recital in the ſame Letters-patent of any Grants, Demiſes or letting to Farm of any Parcel of the Premiſſes by the ſame late King and Queen, or by the Father and Brother of the ſame late Queen, or any of them, or by the aforeſaid late Earl of Northumberland, to any Perſons before then made and granted, any Statute, Act, Ordinance, Proviſion to the contrary thereof had, made, enacted, or provided in any wiſe notwithſtanding; or for that expreſs Mention of the yearly Value and Certainty of the Premiſſes, or of any of them, or of other Gifts or Grants by the aforeſaid late King and Queen Philip and Mary, or by any of the Progenitors of the aforeſaid late Queen, to the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland before that Time made, in the ſame Letters-patent is not made, any Statute, Act, Ordinance, Proviſion, or Reſtraint to the contrary thereof before then had, made, enacted, ordained, provided, or any other Thing, Cauſe, or Matter whatſoever in any wiſe notwithſtanding; as by the aforeſaid Letters-patent amongſt other Things more fully appears. By Reaſon whereof he the ſame Thomas Earl of Northumberland, the laſt Day of Auguſt in the ſaid 4th and 5th Years of the ſaid late King and Queen Philip and Mary, into the aforeſaid 10,000 Acres of the aforeſaid great Waſt-land called Derwentfels whereof, &c. entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee-tail, viz. to him and to the Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten, the Remainder thereof to the aforeſaid Henry Percy in Form aforeſaid, by the Form of the Gift aforeſaid. And the ſame Earl being ſo ſeized thereof, he the aforeſaid 8th Day of October in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified, the aforeſaid Thomas Thurland and Daniel Howſeter and other Labourers in the Mines aforeſaid as well from and in the making and continuing the Search and digging of the aforeſaid five hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore, Parcel of the aforeſaid ſix hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore, in the aforeſaid one Vein or Mine for the Ore and Metal aforeſaid within the aforeſaid waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands, as from and in the taking and carrying away of the ſame five hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore there in Form aforeſaid dug up and laid upon the Land, hindered and diſturbed, as it was and is lawful for him to do. With this that the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland will aver that the aforeſaid 10,000 Acres of the aforeſaid great Waſt-land called Derwentfels whereof, &c. and the aforeſaid Mine in the aforeſaid waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands, were Parcel of the Lands, Poſſeſſions, and Hereditaments of the aforeſaid Henry late Earl of Northumberland. And with this that the aforeſaid Earl will aver, that the aforeſaid one Vein or Mine of Ore or Metal of Copper was firſt opened after the aforeſaid 16th Day of Auguſt in the aboveſaid 4th and 5th Years of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King and Queen, viz. the firſt Day of April in the 7th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, without that that the aforeſaid Lady the Queen now the aforeſaid firſt Day of March in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified was or is ſeized of or in the aforeſaid waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified, or of any Parcel thereof, in Manner and Form as by the Information aforeſaid above is ſuppoſed; and without that that he the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland in or upon the Poſſeſſion of the ſaid Lady the Queen of the aforeſaid waſt or mountainous Lands in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified, or of any Parcel thereof, intruded in Manner and Form as by the Information aforeſaid above is ſuppoſed. All and ſingular whereof he the ſame Thomas Earl of Northumberland is ready to verify, as the Court, &c. Wherefore he prays Judgment, and that as to the Premiſſes he may be diſmiſſed from this Court. And as to the Interruption and Diſturbance as well from and in the making and continuing the Search and digging of one hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore, being the Reſidue of the aforeſaid ſix hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore, as from and in the taking and carrying away of the ſame one hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore, he the ſame Earl ſays that the ſame one hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore being the Reſidue were dug up in the Reſidue of the aforeſaid Veins or Mines for Ore and Metal within the aforeſaid waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified. And that Lord Philip and Lady Mary late King and Queen of England, long before the Interruption and Diſturbance aforeſaid, were ſeized of and in the aforeſaid Reſidue of the Veins or Mines in which the ſame one hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore being the Reſidue were dug up, in their Demeſn as of Fee, as in Right of the Crown of the ſaid Lady Queen of England. Which ſaid Reſidue of the Veins or Mines were opened the ſaid 16th Day of Auguſt in the aboveſaid 4th and 5th Years of the Reign of the ſaid late King and Queen, and long before. And the ſame late King and Queen being ſo ſeized thereof, by their Letters-patent under their Great Seal of England, bearing Date at Richmond in the County of Surry the ſame 16th Day of Auguſt in the 4th and 5th Years of their Reign, here ſhewn to the Court, gave, and of their ſpecial Grace, and certain Knowledge, and meer Motion for themſelves, the Heirs and Succeſſors of the ſaid late Queen, granted to the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland the aforeſaid Veins or Mines being the Reſidue in which, &c. amongſt other Things, by the Name of all the Honour of the ſame late King and Queen of Cockermouth, and of their Caſtle of Cockermouth and Egremond, and of their Lordſhip and Manor of Cockermouth, and of their Foreſt of Cockermouth, and of all other their Lorſhips, Manors, Lands, Tenements and Villages of five Villages, Aſpater, Newlandraw, Allardale, Sarmorthy, Lorton, Coledale, Rogerſet, Molkarkin, Braythaite, Buttermire, Derwentfels, Wigdon, Kirkland, Roſſawen otherwiſe Roſſington, Aikhead, Woodſide otherwiſe Woodſend, Dundraw, Waverton, and Weſtward, Egremond, Wilton, Drege, Carleton, Aſhdale, Waſhdale, Netherwaſhdale, Egremond, Bondage, Drege, Ravenglaſh, Keneſide, Dene, Wineſield, Birkley, Broughton parva, Broughton magna, and Calbeck Underſield, and of their Foreſts of Derwentfels, Weſtward, Aſhdale, and Waſhdale, with all their Rights, Members, and Appurtenances in their County of Cumberland, late Parcel of the Lands, Poſſeſſions, and Hereditaments of Henry late Earl of Northumberland, and by the Name of all and ſingular their Meſſuages, Mills, Lands, Tenements, Meadows, Leaſows, Paſtures, Commons, Waſts, Furzes, Heaths, Moors, Marſhes, Woods, Underwoods, Waters, Piſcaries, Rents, Reverſions, and Services, and Advowſons and Rights of Patronages of Churches whatſoever, and alſo Courts Leet, Views of Frankpledge, Turns, Hundred Courts, Chattles waived, Eſtrays, Liberties, Warrens, Parks, Chaces, Fairs, Markets, Tolls, Cuſtoms, Annuities, annual Rents, Farms, Fee-Farms, Knights-Fees, Wards, Marriages, Eſcheats, Reliefs, Heriots, Hereditaments, Fines, Amercements, Wrecks of Sea, Mines, Quarries, and all other their Rights, Privileges, Profits, Commodities, Emoluments, and Hereditaments whatſoever, ſituate, lying, and being, and iſſuing, growing, and renewing in the Towns, Fields, Pariſhes, or Hamlets of Cockermouth, five Villages, Aſpater, Newlandraw, Allardale, Sarmorthy, Lorton, Coledale, Rogerſet, Brakinthwait, Molkarkin, Braythaite, Buttermire, Derwentfels, Wigdon, Kirkland, Roſſawen, Aikhead, Woodſide, Dundraw, Waverton, Weſtward, Egremond, Wilton, Drege, Carlton, Aſhdale, Waſhdale, Eive, and Darwent, Netherwaſhdale, Egremond, Bondage, Egremont, Ballivate, Dedge, Ravenglaſh, Keneſide, Calbeck, Upton, Uldale, Bromeholme, Dene, Wineſield, Birkley, Broughton parva, Broughton magna, and Calbeck Underfield, to the ſaid Honours, Caſtles, Lordſhips, Manors, Baronies, Boroughs, Parks, and Foreſts, or to any of them in any wiſe belonging or appertaining, or as Member, Part, or Parcel of the ſame Honours, Caſtles, Lordſhips, Manors, Baronies, Boroughs, Parks, Foreſts, or any of them before then had, known, accepted, uſed, or reputed, and which were formerly Parcel of the Lands, Poſſeſſions, and Hereditaments of the ſaid Henry late Earl of Northumberland: To have, hold, and enjoy all and ſingular the Premiſſes with all their Appurtenances to the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland, and to the Heirs Males of his Body begotten and to be begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, the Remainder to Henry Percy Eſquire, Brother of the aforeſaid Earl, and to the Heirs Males of the Body of the ſaid Henry lawfully begotten and to be begotten. And further the aforeſaid late King and Queen of their more abundant ſpecial Grace willed, and of their certain Knowledge, and meer Motion granted by their aforeſaid Letters-patent for themſelves and the Heirs and Succeſſors of the aforeſaid Queen, that the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland, and the Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten and to be begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue the aforeſaid Henry Percy and the Heirs Males of the Body of the ſaid Henry lawfully begotten and to be begotten, ſhould have, hold, and enjoy, and ſhould be able to have, hold, and enjoy all and ſingular the aforeſaid Honours, Caſtles, Lordſhips, Parks, Offices, Boroughs, Meſſuages, Lands, Tenements, Meadows, Paſtures, Rents, Reverſions, and Services, and all and ſingular other the Premiſſes above expreſſed and ſpecified, and to them by the ſame Letters-patent before granted, with all their Appurtenances, according to the Tenor and Effect of the aforeſaid Letters-patent, notwithſtanding any Omiſſion and Non recital, or ill and Miſ-recital in the ſame Letters-patent of any Grants, Demiſes, and letting to Farm of any Parcel of the Premiſſes by the ſame late King and Queen, or by the Father and Brother of the ſaid late Queen, or by any of them, or by the aforeſaid late Earl of Northumberland to any Perſons before then made and granted, any Statute, Act, Ordinance, Proviſion to the contrary thereof had, made, enacted, or provided in any wiſe notwithſtanding; or for that expreſs Mention of the true yearly Value or Certainty of the Premiſſes, or of any of them, or of other Gifts or Grants before that Time made by the aforeſaid late King and Queen Philip and Mary, or by any of the Progenitors of the aforeſaid Queen to the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland, in the ſame Letters-patent is not made, any Statute, Act, Ordinance, Proviſion, or Reſtraint to the contrary thereof before then had, made, enacted, ordained, provided, or any Thing, Cauſe, or Matter whatſoever in any wiſe notwithſtanding, as by the aforeſaid Letters-patent among other Things more fully appears. By Reaſon whereof the aforeſaid Earl was of the aforeſaid Reſidue of the Veins or Mines ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee-tail, viz. to him and to the Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten, the Remainder thereof to the aforeſaid Henry Percy in Form aforeſaid, by the Form of the Gift aforeſaid. And the aforeſaid Earl being ſo ſeized thereof, he the aforeſaid 8th Day of October in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified, the aforeſaid Thomas Thurland and Daniel Howſeter, and other Labourers in the Mines aforeſaid, as well from and in the making and continuing the Search and digging of the aforeſaid one Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper-Ore, being the Reſidue of the aforeſaid ſix Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore, in the aforeſaid Reſidue of the Veins or Mines for the Ore and Metal aforeſaid in the aforeſaid waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands, as from and in the taking and carrying away of the aforeſaid one Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore, being the Reſidue of the aforeſaid ſix Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Metal of Copper called Copper Ore, there in Form aforeſaid dug up, and laid upon the Land, hindred and diſturbed, as it was and is lawful for him to do. With this that the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland will aver, that the aforeſaid Reſidue of the Veins or Mines in which, &c. were Parcel of the Poſſeſſions and Hereditaments of the aforeſaid Henry late Earl of Northumberland; all and ſingular whereof the ſame Thomas Earl of Northumberland is ready to verify, as the Court, &c. Wherefore he prays Judgment, and that as to the Premiſſes he may be diſmiſſed from this Court.

of

And upon theſe Pleas the Queen's Attorney demurred in Law.

The CASE. Mich. Term 9 & 10 Eliz. All Mines of Gold or Silver throughout the Realm, or of baſe Metal, wherein there is any Ore of Gold or Silver of however ſmall Value, belong to the King by Prerogative, with Liberty to dig, and lay the ſame upon the Land of the Subject, and carry it away from thence, by all the Judges of England except three, which three took a Diverſity as to Mines of baſe Metal, where the Gold or Silver in the ſame exceeds the Value of the baſe Metal, and where not, for in the latter Caſe as well the Gold or Silver as the baſe Metal belongs of Right to the Proprietor of the Soil, otherwiſe in the former Caſe, for there all ſhall go to the Crown by Prerogative. But foraſmuch as the Information charged that the Mines of Copper in Queſtion contained Gold or Silver, and the Defendant did not deny it, nor averred (as he ſhould have done) that the Gold or Silver contained in them was not of the greater Value, nor ſufficient to defray the Charges of getting it, therefore the ſaid three Juſtices agreed that the beſt ſhould be intended for the King, viz. that the Gold or Silver was of the greater Value, and ſo that Judgment ſhould be given againſt the Defendant. Vide 2 Inſt. 577. 3 Inſt. 132. Davis 19. a. 1 Finch 16, 146. 2 Finch 23, 132. Crompt. J. C. 111, b. 112. a. 4 Bac. Abr. 160, 162. Stat. 1 W. & M. cap. 30. 5 W. & M. cap. 6.

But ſee now 1 Vict. 1. W. & M. 30. 2. 5. W. & M. 4 & 5. Ann. c. 3.

The Caſe was recited in this Manner. The Queen's Attorney has informed the Court, that whereas the Queen by Reaſon of her Prerogative Royal is entitled to have and enjoy, and ought to have and enjoy, to her proper Uſe, all and ſingular Mines and Ores of Gold and Silver, and of all other Metals containing Gold or Silver, and all Things concerning them, which may be found in any Lands, Tenements, or Hereditaments within the Realm of England, as well in the proper Land and Soil of the ſame Queen, as in the Land and Soil of any of her Subjects; and whereas the ſaid Queen the firſt Day of March in the 8th Year of her Reign was and yet is ſeized in her Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of her Crown, of and in certain waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands in the County of Cumberland, in which are certain Veins or Mines, and Ore or Metal of Copper containing in themſelves Gold or Silver, which to the ſaid Lady the Queen belong, as in many Records, Rolls, and Remembrances of the Court of Exchequer more fully appear. And whereas alſo the ſaid Lady the Queen the ſaid firſt Day of March in the Year aforeſaid at Weſtminſter commanded and aſſigned Thomas Thurland and Daniel Howſeter to cauſe and procure certain Lands and Mines for ſuch Metal called Ore of Copper containing in itſelf Gold or Silver within the ſaid waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands, for the Uſe of the ſaid Queen, to be ſearched and dug, and ſuch ſearching and digging to be continued there during a certain Time to come, and to procure ſuch Metal from Time to Time found and dug up there to be carried away, and for the Uſe of the Queen to be melted, fined, or otherwiſe converted. By Force whereof the ſaid Thomas Thurland and Daniel cauſed the Quantity of ſix Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Ore of Copper containing in itſelf Gold or Silver to be dug up in the ſaid Lands called Newlands, and to be there laid ready to be taken and carried away from thence, intending to continue the ſame Search and digging as they were commanded by the Lady the Queen, until Thomas Earl of Northumberland the 8th Day of October laſt paſt, and divers other Times into the ſaid Lands called Newlands entered and intruded, and interrupted and diſturbed the ſaid Thomas Thurland and Daniel, and other Labourers in the ſaid Mines, as well from ſearching and digging, as from carrying away the ſaid ſix Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of the ſaid Ore of Copper dug up and put upon the Land, as is aforeſaid, to the Damage of the Lady the Queen 1000 l. Againſt which the Earl, proteſting that the Queen ought not to have or enjoy by Reaſon of her Prerogative all and ſingular Mines and Ores of Gold and Silver, and of all other Metals containing in them Gold or Silver, with all Things concerning them, in the Land or Soil of any of her Subjects, for Plea as to the Entry into the ſaid Lands called Newlands, and as to the Interruption and Diſturbance from and in the ſearching and digging of five Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Ore of Copper, Parcel of the ſaid ſix Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight, and from and in the carrying away of the ſame five Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper Ore, he ſays that the ſame five Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper Ore were dug in one Vein or Mine of the ſaid Veins or Mines for Ore within the ſaid waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands. And that the ſame Lands, in which are the Veins or Mines, are, and from Time immemorial have been, parcel of 10,000 Acres of a great Waſt called Derwentfels in the ſaid County of Cumberland. And further he ſays, that the late King and Queen Philip and Mary were ſeized of the ſaid 10,000 Acres called Derwentfels whereof, &c. in their Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of the Crown of England, and being ſo ſeized, by their Letters-patent bearing Date at Richmond the 16th Day of Auguſt in the 4th and 5th Years of their Reign, ſhewn to the Court, of their ſpecial Grace, certain Knowledge, and meer Motion granted to the ſaid Earl of Northumberland the ſaid 10,000 Acres called Derwentfels whereof, &c. amongſt other Things, by the Name of all their Honour of Cockermouth, and of their Caſtle of Cockermouth and Egremond, &c. and of all their Manors, Lands, Tenements, and Villages of five Villages, Aſpater, Newlandraw, &c. Derwenfels, &c. with their Appurtenances in the County of Cumberland, late parcel of the Poſſeſſions and Hereditaments of Henry late Earl of Northumberland; to have and to hold the ſame to the ſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland, and to his Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten, the Remainder to Henry Percy his Brother, and to the Heirs Males of his Body begotten. By Force whereof the ſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland the laſt Day of Auguſt in the ſaid 4th & 5th Years of the Reign of the ſaid King and Queen, into the ſaid 10,000 Acres called Derwentfels whereof, &c. entered, and was thereof ſeized in Tail by Force of the Gift aforeſaid. And being ſo ſeized, the ſaid 8th Day of October in the Information ſpecified he diſturbed and interrupted the ſaid Thomas Thurland and Daniel Howſeter and other Labourers in the ſaid Mines as well from and in the making and continuing the Search and digging of the ſaid five Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper Ore, parcel of the ſaid ſix Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight, in the ſaid one Vein or Mine within the ſaid Lands called Newlands, as from and in the taking and carrying away of the ſame five Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper Ore there in Form aforeſaid dug up, and laid upon the Land, as it was lawful for him to do. With this that the ſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland will aver that the ſaid 10,000 Acres called Derwentfels, &c. whereof, &c. and the ſaid Mine in the ſaid Lands called Newlands, were Parcel of the Lands, Poſſeſſions, and Hereditaments of the ſaid Henry late Earl of Northumberland. And with this that the ſaid Earl will aver, that the ſaid one Vein or Mine of Ore or Metal of Copper was firſt opened after the ſaid 16th Day of Auguſt in the ſaid 4th & 5th Years of the Reign of the ſaid late King and Queen, that is to ſay, the firſt Day of April in the 7th Year of the Reign of the Queen that now is. And he traverſes the Seizin of the Queen the ſaid firſt Day of March, and the Intruſion, &c. which Things he is ready to aver, and demands Judgment, and prays to be diſmiſſed. And as to the Interruption and Diſturbance as well from and in the making and continuing the Search and digging of one Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper Ore, being the Reſidue of the ſaid ſix Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper Ore, as from and in the taking and carrying away of the ſame one Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper Ore, the ſame Earl ſays, that the ſame one Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper Ore being the Reſidue were dug in the Reſidue of the ſaid Veins or Mines of Ore and Metal within the ſaid Lands called Newlands. And that the ſaid late King and Queen were ſeized of and in the ſaid Veins or Mines being the Reſidue, in which the ſaid one Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper Ore being the Reſidue were dug, in their Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of the Crown of England, which Veins or Mines being the Reſidue were opened the ſaid 16th Day of Auguſt in the ſaid 4th & 5th Years, and long before. And the ſame King and Queen being ſo ſeized, by the ſaid Letters-patent here ſhewn to the Court gave, and of their ſpecial Grace, certain Knowledge, and meer Motion granted to the ſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland the ſaid Veins or Mines being the Reſidue in which, &c. by the Name of all their Honour of Cockermouth, ut ſupra; and alſo by the Name of all and ſingular their Meſſuages, Mills, Lands, &c. Wrecks of Sea, Mines, Quarries, and all other their Rights, Privileges, Profits, Commodities, Emoluments, and Hereditaments whatſoever, ſituate, lying, and being in the ſaid Towns, Fields, Pariſhes, and Hamlets of Cockermouth, &c. Derwentfels, &c. to the ſaid Honours, Manors, &c. appertaining, or as Member, Part, or Parcel of the ſame Honours, Manors, &c. then before known, accepted, uſed, or reputed, and which before Time were Parcel of the Lands, Poſſeſſions, and Hereditaments of the ſaid Henry late Earl of Northumberland: To have and to hold the ſame to the ſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland, and to the Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten, the Remainder to Henry Percy his Brother, and to the Heirs Males of his Body begotten, whereby the ſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland was of the ſaid Veins or Mines being the Reſidue ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee-tail, with the ſaid Remainder over, by the Form of the Gift aforeſaid. And the ſaid Earl being ſo ſeized, he the ſaid 8th Day of October the ſaid Thomas Thurland and Daniel, and the other Labourers in the ſaid Mine interrupted and diſturbed from and in the making and continuing the Search and digging of the ſaid one Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper Ore, being the Reſidue of the ſaid ſix Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper Ore, in the ſaid Veins or Mines being the Reſidue for the Ore and Metal aforeſaid in the ſaid Lands called Newlands, lands, and alſo from and in the taking and carrying away of the ſame one Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper Ore, being the Reſidue, there in Form aforeſaid dug up, and laid upon the Land, as it was well lawful for him to do. With this that the ſaid Earl will aver that the Veins or Mines being the Reſidue in which, &c. were Parcel of the Poſſeſſions and Hereditaments of the ſaid late Henry Earl of Northumberland. All which the ſaid Thomas Earl is ready to verify &c. and demands Judgment, and prays to be diſmiſſed, &c. Upon which two Pleas the Queen's Attorney has demurred in Law.

And the Matter was argued in the Exchequer-chamber in the ſaid Term of St. Michael before all the Juſtices of England, and the Barons of the Exchequer, by Onſlow Apprentice the Queen's Sollicitor, Gerard the Queen's Attorney, and Wray and Barham Queen's Serjeants; and on the Part of the Earl, by Shirborn and Bell Apprentices, and Mead Serjeant. And the Matter was divided into three Points. The firſt was, if all Mines and Ores of Gold or Silver, which are in the Lands of Subjects, with Power to dig the Land, and carry away the Ore, and other Incidents thereto, belong of Right to the King of this Realm by Prerogative, or not, inaſmuch as this is not recited in the Treatiſe de Prerogativa Regis, and inaſmuch alſo as the digging for it in another's Land touches the Freehold and Inheritance of another. And upon this the two other Points depend, for if the King ſhall not have them, then in the two other Points the Law is againſt the Queen; and if the Law be that the King ſhall have them, from this Foundation the Counſel for the Queen ſaid it would follow that in the two other Points the Law is with the Queen. So that they took this to be the principal Point. The ſecond Point was, whether or no Mines and Ores of Copper containing in them Gold or Silver, which are in the Lands of Subjects, with Power to dig, and carry away, and other Incidents, belong alſo to the King of this Realm by Prerogative. The third was, if ſo be that Mines and Ores of Copper containing Gold or Silver belong to the King by Prerogative, nevertheleſs if the ſaid Grant of King Philip and Queen Mary of the Land in the firſt Caſe, and of all and ſingular Mines in the other Caſe, made by the ſaid Charter being de gratia ſua ſpeciali, certa ſcientia, et mero motu ſuis, be ſufficient to make the Ores and Mines paſs from them to the ſaid Earl of Northumberland, or not.

The Points of the Caſe.

Note this.

3

As to the firſt of theſe three Points, Onſlow alledged three Reaſons why the King ſhall have Mines and Ores of Gold or Silver within the Realm, in whatſoever Land they are found. The firſt was, in Reſpect of the [a] Excellency of the Thing, for of all Things which the Soil within this Realm produces or yields, Gold and Silver is the moſt excellent; and of all Perſons in the Realm, the King is in the Eye of the Law moſt excellent. And the Common Law, which is founded upon Reaſon, appropriates every Thing to the Perſons whom it beſt ſuits, as common and trivial Things to the common People, Things of more Worth to Perſons in a higher and ſuperior Claſs, and Things moſt excellent to thoſe Perſons who excell all other; and becauſe Gold and Silver are the moſt excellent Things which the Soil contains, the Law has appointed them (as in Reaſon it ought) to the Perſon who is moſt excellent, and that is, the King. And ſo does it likewiſe in Regard to the Water, as well as the Earth. For the Things of Value, which the Sea or Water yields, are the Fiſhes therein, and of Fiſhes which are in the Sea in England, that is, in the Arms of the Sea or Water within the Land, two are more excellent than others, viz. Sturgeons and Whales. [b] And in Reſpect of their Excellency the Common Law has appropriated them to the King, who is the moſt excellent Perſon in the Realm, as appears by the Treatiſe de Prerogativa Regis cap. 11. which ſays, the King ſhall have Whales and Sturgeons taken in the Sea, or elſewhere within the Realm, which is not a new Law, but a Declaration of the Common Law before. And Barham ſaid that [c] Britton, who wrote a long Time before the making of the Treatiſe de Prerogativa Regis, ſhews in his Chapter of Trovers, that in his Time the King by his Prerogative ſhould have thoſe Fiſhes by the Common Law. So that the Excellency of the King's Perſon draws to it Things of an excellent Nature. The ſecond Reaſon was, in Reſpect of the [d] Neceſſity of the Thing. For the King is the Head of the Weal-public, and the Subjects are his Members, and the [e] Office of the King, to which the Law has appointed him, is to preſerve his Subjects; and their Preſervation conſiſts in two Things, viz. in an Army to defend them againſt Hoſtilities, and in good Laws. And an Army cannot be had and maintained without Treaſure, for which Reaſon ſome Authors in their Books call Treaſure the [f] Sinews of War; ſo that the Want of Treaſure is the Want of an Army and of Force to defend us againſt Hoſtilities, from whence would enſue the Ruin of the Realm, and the Confuſion of the People. And if the Gold and Silver, whereby the Treaſure is to be made, ſhould belong to the Subject who is the Proprietor of the Land in which it is found, then ſhould it belong to another than to him whom the Law appoints to defend the People, and to prepare an Army and Force, and he who is appointed by the Law to be their Defender would be deſtitute of Power or Means to defend them, which would be very inconvenient. And therefore inaſmuch as God has created Mines within this Realm, as a natural Proviſion of Treaſure for the Defence of the Realm, it is reaſonable that he who has the Government and Care of the People, whom he cannot defend without Treaſure, ſhould have the Treaſure wherewith to defend them; ſo that the Law has for Neceſſity's Sake appropriated the Mines of Gold and Silver to the King. The third Reaſon was, in Reſpect of it's [g] Convenience to the Subjects in the Way of mutual Commerce and Traffick. For the Subjects of the Realm muſt of Neceſſity have Intercourſe or Dealing with one another, for no Individual is furniſhed with all neceſſary Commodities, but one has Need of the Things which another has, and they cannot ſell or buy together without Coin, for perhaps one who wants that which another has, has no other Commodity or Thing to give in Exchange for it, and if he has, yet perhaps the other has no Occaſion for it, and even admitting that he has Occaſion for it, it may be that the one Commodity is worth more than the other, and they have no Means to make the Price equal but by Money; ſo that the Inequality in the Value of Things, and the 1 Point. For the Queen. If the King ſhall by Prerogative have all Mines of Gold or Silver in the Lands of Subjects. S. P. 2 Inſt. 577. 3 Inſt. 132. Davis 19. a. 1 Finch 146. 2 Finch 132. 4 Bac. Abr. 160.

[a] Lane 26.

[b] Stamf. Prerog. 37. b. 38. a. 5 Co. 108. b. 7 Co. 16. a. Davis 56. a. 6 Mod. 73. 1 Finch 146.

[c] Britton 26. a.

[d] Lane 26. 4 Bac. Abr. 161.

[e] F. N. B. 232. a. 1 Mod. 129.

[f] Co. Litt. 90. b. 106. a.

[g] Lane 26.

Want of Means to reduce them to an Equality, would greatly interrupt the Courſe of Dealing between Man and Man, if God had not provided a Remedy for it, which he has done by Gold and Silver dug out of Mines. And if the Subject ſhould have it, the Law would not permit him to coin it, nor put a Print or [a] Value upon it, for it belongs to the King only to fix the Value of Coin, and to aſcertain the Price of the Quantity, and to put the Print upon it, which being done, the Coin becomes current for ſo much as the King has limited. But if the Subject ſhould have the Ore of Gold and Silver which is found in his Land, he could not convert it into Coin, nor put any Print or Value on it. [b] For if he makes Coin, it was High-Treaſon by the Common Law before the Statute of 25. Ed. 3. cap. 2. as it appears by 23 Aſs. where a Woman was burnt for forging or counterfeiting Money, and it was High-Treaſon to the King, becauſe he has the ſole Power to make Money. So that the Body of the Realm would receive no Benefit or Advantage if the Subject ſhould have the Gold and Silver found in Mines in his Land; but on the other Hand by appropriating it to the King, it tends to the univerſal Benefit of all the Subjects, in making their King able to defend them with an Army againſt all Hoſtilities, and when he has put the Print and Value upon it, and has diſperſed it among his Subjects, they are thereby enabled to carry on mutual Commerce with one another, and to buy and ſell as they have Occaſion, and to traffick at their Pleaſure. Wherefore for theſe Reaſons, viz. for the Excellency of the Thing, and for the Neceſſity of it, and the Convenience that will accrue to the Subjects, the Common Law, which is no other than pure and tried Reaſon, has appropriated the Ore of Gold and Silver to the King, in whatever Land it be found. [c] And Gerard ſaid that it would be inconvenient for a Subject to have Gold and Silver found in Mines in his Land, becauſe Mines of Gold and Silver are the Fountains out of which the Treaſure is drawn, and they ſerve to provide an Army and Force againſt foreign Hoſtilities, and to make Money and Coin for the carrying on of Commerce and Traffick among the Subjects, and if the Law ſhould ſuffer the Subject to have it, theſe Conveniences would be totally loſt, and the Public would never ſhare of them. And another Inconvenience would alſo follow, which is, [d] that thereby the Subject would ſurpaſs the King in Treaſure and Subſtance, which would make the Subject honourable and powerful, and the King contemptible, and liable to be depoſed or rebelled againſt: For a Subject who is ſuperior to the King in Subſtance and Treaſure will ſeldom obey, and for the Servant to be greater than the Maſter, or the Subject greater than the King, is very diſproportionable, and ſubverſive of all Order and Rule. And ſuch would be our Law here, if it ſhould make Subjects Poſſeſſors of Mines of Gold and Silver. But the Law of England is not ſo unreaſonable nor irregular, but it obſerves a due Proportion and Symmetry in the Members of the public Weal, and therefore it makes the King Poſſeſſor of all Mines of Gold and Silver in whatever Lands they are found within the Realm. And upon the three Reaſons above mentioned, and eſpecially upon this fourth Point concerning the Inconvenience of it, they and all the reſt of the Counſel for the Queen relied. And to prove that the Law of the Realm is and always has been accordingly, they produced divers Precedents and Matters of Record out of the Exchequer in the Times of ſeveral Kings, whereof one was in the Time of King Edward 3. and was as follows.

[a] Poph. 149. 1 H. H. P. C. 188. Davis 19. a. b.

[b] 23 Aſs. pl. 2. Fitz. Corone 188. Bro. 97. Treaſon 26. Fleta lib. 1. cap. 20, 22. 3 Inſt. 16, 17. 18. Notes on 1 Finch 82. and therefore T. 3. H. 7. 10. pl. 2, which ſays it was only Felony before the Statute of 25 Ed. 3. is not Law.

[c] Lane 26.

[d] 4 Bac. Abr. 161.

Precedents relied upon for the Queen.

Anno 32. Ed. 3. Rot. 4.

Devons: This Indenture made between our Lord the King of the one Part, and John Balancer and Walter Golbeter of the other Part, witneſſeth, that our ſaid Lord hath committed and let to the ſaid John and Walter his Mines of Gold and Silver and of Copper in the County of Devon, which may be found in Mountains, and in wild and deſart Places hereafter by two Years next to come, ſo that the ſaid John and Walter may dig to find the Mines in all Places where they ſhall ſee beſt for the Profit of our ſaid Lord the King, in the ſame Mountains, wild and deſart Places, and not in Gardens, nor under the Houſes of any, and in caſe it ſhall be neceſſary for them to fell Trees in Order to make the ſaid Mine, they ſhall preſently pay for the Trees which they ſhall ſo fell to thoſe to whom they belong, according as it ſhall be agreed. And they ſhall render for the ſame Mines to our ſaid Lord the King 20 Marks for the Year next to come, that is to ſay, 10 Marks at the Feaſt of Eaſter, and 10 Marks at the Feaſt of St. Peter in the Gule of Auguſt. And for the ſecond Year our ſaid Lord the King ſhall have the fifth Part of the Gold, and of the Silver, and of the Copper, which ſhall come from the ſame Mines. And that none ſhall meddle in the digging to find ſuch Mine, but the ſaid John and Walter and their Servants during their Term, &c. Given at London the 11*th Day of* July in the Year of the Reign of our ſaid Lord the King, of England the 32. and of France the 19. In 32. Ed. 3. Rot. 4.

By which Leaſe made of his Mines of Gold and Silver (it was ſaid) it appears that he called them his Mines of Gold and Silver which are in another's Soil, for the Words are that they might dig to find the ſaid Mines in all Places where they ſhould ſee beſt for the Profit of the King, and if in all Places without Exception, ergo it is in the Lands of Subjects; and the Words of Reſtraint, viz. and not in Gardens, nor under the Houſes of any, imply that they ſhall not be reſtrained to dig in other Places of others than in Gardens and under Houſes; and by the Limitation of the Payment for the Trees felled to them to whom they belong, it is implied that they might fell the Trees of Subjects, and they ſhall be intended Trees growing where the Mines are, and not elſewhere; for if by Force of the Leaſe they could not have felled the Trees of any others than of the King himſelf, then he would not have reſerved any Payment, or at leaſt he would have reſerved the Payment to himſelf only, and not to others. And if any one will ſay that the King demiſed the Mines of Copper alſo, which ought to be intended in his own Soil, and not in the Soil of another, and therefore that the ſame ſhall be intended of the Gold and Silver Mines, Sir, if this ſhould be granted as to the Copper Mines, yet it cannot be granted as to the Mines of Gold and Silver, for it is proved that the Leſſees have Power given them by the Leaſe to dig in the Land of another, and if they could not do ſo by Law, it cannot be ſo intended of another's Soil for Copper, ergo this Power muſt neceſſarily be referred to the digging in the Land of another for Gold and Silver. And from this Precedent it may be ſeen how the Law was taken at that Time, for it is to be preſumed that ſuch Leaſe was made by the good Advice of Sages of the Law, and that the Law was ſo, or elſe the Leaſe had not been made. Another Charter was alledged made by King Richard 2. in this Manner.

Devon. Richardus ſecundus per literas ſuas patentes apud Weſtmonaſterium 15° die Junii anno regni ſui octavo, conceſſit Nicholao Wake clerico, et licentiam dedit pro ſe et hæredibus ſuis quantum in ſe fuit, quod ipſe omnes mineras auri et argenti in comitatu Devon, ubicunque eas invenire poterit, tàm infra libertates quàm extra (habita licentia fodendi in terra illa ubi hujuſmodi mineræ fuerint) per ſe et deputatos ſuos ſcrutari, fodere, et in operationibus ponere, et metalla ibidem inventa triare et purgare poſſit, a datu præſentium uſque ad finem decem annorum proximè ſequentium et plenarie complendorum. Nolens quod idem Nicholaus ſeu deputati ſui interim amoveantur de commodo ſuo in hac parte faciendo, ſeu quod aliquis alius de hujuſmodi mineris ibidem ſe medio tempore intromittat. Ità ſemper quòd idem Nicholaus de decima parte proficui provenientis de minera prædicta ſacroſanctæ eccleſiæ fideliter reſpondeat: Et præfato regi apud Scaccarium ſuum ſingulis annis in tribus ſeptimanis ſancti Michaelis de nona parte ejuſdem proficui, poſt triationem et purgationem hujuſmodi auri et argenti in mineris illis inventorum, fidelem compotum reddat. Et pro magnis laboribus, diligentiis, et expenſis, quæ ipſum Nicholaum et dictos deputatos ſuos in hac parte neceſſario apponere oportabit, præfatus rex vult, et tenore præſentium concedit pro ſe et hæredibus ſuis, quòd prædictus Nicholaus et dicti deputati ſui reſiduum dicti proficui ultra decimam et nonam partes ad opus ſuum proprium, habeant, et inde liberè diſponere poſſent, prout pro commodo ſuo melius viderint faciendum, &c. In cujus, &c. Teſte rege apud Weſtmonaſterium 15° die Junii anno regni ſui Octavo. In 8. R. 2. Rot. 22. Anno 8. R. 2. Rot. 22.

Which Charter made to ſearch for all Mines of Gold and Silver in the ſaid County ubicunque eas invenire poterit, tam infra libertates quam extra, (it was ſaid) implies that the King took himſelf to be the Poſſeſſor of all Mines, for the Words omnes mineras admit of no Exception, whether the Mine be in the Land of a Subject or not. And the Words, habita licentia fodendi in terris illis ubi hujuſmodi mineræ fuerint, imply that the King intended Mines in the Soil of others, and not only in his own Soil, for theſe Words of Licence are to be taken to have Licence of the Subject, where the Subject is the Proprietor of the Land, and not where the King is ſeized of the Land, for there the Charter is ſufficient without ſuch Licence. And the Clauſe, nolens quod aliquis alius de hujuſmodi mineris ibidem ſe medio tempore intromittat, implies that the King underſtood that he had Power to reſtrain all Men from meddling in ſuch Mines, viz. in any Mine whatever within the ſaid County without Exception, be the ſame in the Soil of a Subject, or not. And it is to be preſumed that ſuch Charters were made by the Advice of Men learned in the Law, and agreeable to the Law rather than otherwiſe. And although the Charter contains that Licence ſhall be had of the Subject to dig where the Mine is in his Land, yet it cannot properly be intended hereby that he could not dig there without ſuch Licence, but it is rather a Matter of Curteſy in the Prince, than of Neceſſity, for if he had Licence of the Poſſeſſor of the Soil to dig, yet if he had not the King's Charter, neither he nor the Poſſeſſor of the Soil could have taken and carried away the Ore of Gold and Silver, without the King's Licence, for if he might, then the Charter and Licence was in vain, and it is not a good Expoſition nor Implication which tends to make void the whole Force of the Patent. And ſuch Expoſition cannot be maintained, for the Ore of Gold and Silver is the King's, and if it is, the Law * gives him Means to come to it, and that is, by digging; ſo that the Power of digging is incident to the Thing itſelf, and the Clauſe of Licence is but Matter of Curteſy, and ſerves only to give Notice to the Poſſeſſor of the Soil, and is not of Neceſſity to be had.

* S. P. 12 Co. 13. 1 Finch 45. 2 Finch 63. Manw. Foreſt Laws 148.

Another Charter was alledged which was made by King Henry 4. in this Form, Eſſex. Rex Henricus quartus dilecto et fideli ſuo Waltero Fitzwater ſalutem. Quia datum eſt nobis intelligi, quod diverſæ perſonæ quandam mineram auri infra regnum noſtrum Angliæ invenerunt, et mineram illam a nobis concelaverunt, et commodum ſuum inde fecerunt, et indies facere non deſiſtunt, in noſtri prejudicium, damnum non modicum, et gravamen; nos indemnitati noſtræ in hac parte proſpicere volentes, aſſignavimus vos omnes et ſingulas perſonas, quas vobis juxta ſanas diſcretiones veſtras conſtare poterit notitiam de minera hujuſmodi habere, et eam a nobis concelare, ut ſupradictum eſt, ubicunque inveniri poterint, tàm infra libertates quam extra, ad arreſtandum et capiendum, et ipſos ſtatim, cum ſic capti fuerint, coram nobis et concilio noſtro, ubicunque dictum concilium noſtrum fuerit, ſalvò et ſecurè et modo honeſto ducendum, ad informandum nos et dictum concilium ſuper præmiſſis, et ad faciendum ulterius et recipiendum quod per nos et dictum concilium noſtrum ordinari contigerit in hac parte. Et ideo vobis mandamus quòd circa præmiſſa diligentèr intendatis, &c. In cujus rei, &c. Teſte Rege apud Weſtmonaſterium 10° die Maii anno regni ſui ſecundo. In 2. H. 4. Rot. 34. Anno 2. H. 4. Rot. 34.

By which Letters-patent it appears that the King took himſelf to be the Proprietor of the Mine of Gold, in whatever Place it was found within the Realm. For the Rehearſal is general infra regnum Angliæ, without expreſſing in the Land of the King; and the not diſcloſing it was a Concealment from the King, and the Profit which the Finders had taken was to the Prejudice and Damage of the King, although it was not expreſſed that the Soil, wherein the Mine was, belonged to the King.

Further, as a great Proof of this Matter a Patent made by King Henry 6. was alledged, which was as follows, Devon. Henricus ſextus per literas patentes, datas apud Weſtmonaſterium 24° die Februarii anno regni ſui quinto, commiſit chariſſimo ſuo avunculo Johanni regenti regni ſui Franciæ, Protectori et Defenſori regni ſui Angliæ, Duci Bedfordiæ, omnes mineras auri et argenti in regno ſuo Angliæ: Habendum, &c. per ſe et deputatos ſuos per decem annos proximo futuros; ſolvendo eccleſiæ ſanctæ Dei Anno 5. H. 6. Rot. 16.

decimam partem auri et argenti ſicut creſcunt, et præfato regi quindecimam partem puri auri, et quindecimam partem puri argenti, et domino ſoli ſive terræ, in quo ſeu qua hujuſmodi aurum et argentum erunt foſſa, viceſimam partem ſicut creſcunt, et faciendo per ſe et deputatos ſuos omnimodos cuſtus et expenſas, ratione minerarum auri et argenti prædicti, per ſuperviſum et contrarotulationem eſcheatorum Devon. et Cornub. pro tempore exiſtentium. Nolens quod idem avunculus vel deputati ſui ſubtus domos, ſive in terris arabilibus vel pratis alicujus fodeant vel fodiat, abſque licentia domini hujuſmodi ſoli. Et ſi forte damnum vel malum aliquod alicui domino vel cuicunque alii, per foſſuram minerarum dictarum, aut per carriagium quod ipſis ex hac cauſa facere opportebit, inferant, emendas rationabiles damnificatis, prout per probos et legales homines pertin. fuerint adjudicat. faciant, &c. with Clauſe to make Proviſion, &c. In 5. H. 6. Rot. 16.

By which Limitation of Payment of the 20th Part to the Lord of the Soil in which ſuch Gold and Silver ſhould be dug up, (which Lord is no other than the Perſon who is ſeized of the Soil) it evidently appears that the King and the Protector alſo took it, (and it is to be preſumed that the Law was ſo, and that they were informed thereof by thoſe who knew it well) that the Mines in the Soil of another belonged to the King; and that the Duke by force of the Charter might dig in the Soil of any Subject for Gold and Silver. And this is proved by the Prohibition, viz. that the Duke ſhall not dig under Houſes, or in arable Land, or in Meadows without the Aſſent of the Proprietor of the Soil, for otherwiſe he might have digged in arable Land or in Meadows. And although the King expreſſed that the 20th Part ſhould be paid to the Owner of the Soil, and that Amends ſhould be made for the digging and Carriage of it away, this is but a Matter of Curteſy in the King, and not of Right, and therein he, of his ſpecial Grace, abates of the Rigour of his Prerogative for the Benefit of his Subjects, for the Law does not force him to make any Allowance for ſuch Things. And upon the Surrender of this Patent a like Patent was made to the ſame Protector by the ſame King on the 16th Day of Auguſt in the 11th Year of his Reign, for 12 Years thence next enſuing, of all ſuch Mines ut ſupra in the Counties of Devon and Cornwall, by which the 15th Part of pure Gold, and the 15th Part of pure Silver was reſerved to the King.

Anno 15. Ed. 4, Rot. 20. Another Charter was alledged which was made by King Edward 4. in this Form, Northumbr. Edwardus quartus per literas ſuas patentes, datas apud Weſtmonaſterium 23° die Martii anno regni ſui 15° conceſſit prædicto fratri ſuo Richardo Duci Glouceſtriæ, Henrico comiti Northumbriæ, et aliis mineram de Blanchland vocatam Shildane in comitatu Northumbriæ, mineram de Alſton-Moore vocatam Fechers, mineram de Keſwick in comitatu Cumbriæ, et mineram de Cupro juxta Richmond in comitatu Eborum: habendum et occupandum mineras illas dictis duci, comiti, et aliis prædictis per ſe et deputatos ac ſervientes ſuos ſufficientes a feſto annunciationis beatæ Mariæ virginis proximè futuro, uſque ad finem quindecim annorum proxime ſequentium et plenarie complendorum. Solvendo inde præfato regi et hæredibus ſuis octavam partem puri et mundi argenti et cupri, et dominis ſoli ſive terræ, in quo mineræ illæ fodientur, nonam partem, et curato ejuſdem loci decimam partem of the Ores prout creſcunt, ac faciendo per ſe et deputatos et ſervientes ſuos prædictos omnimodos cuſtus et expenſas circa mineras prædictas durante termino prædicto. Et quod prædictus dux, comes, et alii, &c. in omnibus locis infra partes prædictas per ſe et deputatos ac ſervientes ſuos prædictos eaſdem mineras libere ſcrutari et fodere, quotiens neceſſe fuerit, poſſint, et operare in eiſdem et earum qualibet abſque impedimento præfati regis, aut hæredum ſuorum, epiſcoporum, abbatum, priorum, comitatum, baronum, ſeu aliorum officiariorum ſeu miniſtrorum præfati regis, aut aliorum quorumcunque, ubicunque mineræ illæ infra partes prædictas inveniri poterint, with Clauſe to make Proviſion for the Overage, and to hold Plea of all Treſpaſſes, Plaints, and Contracts made in Places where the Mines are, and with Authority to make a Steward of the Court there, with mandamus univerſis et ſingulis quorum intereſt in hac parte, quod eiſdem duci, comiti, &c. intendentes ſint, &c. In 15. Ed. 4. Rot. 20.

By which Record (it was ſaid) it appears that the Mine which contained Silver, whereof the King reſerved the 8th Part, was in the Land of another, for the King limited to the Proprietor of the Soil the 9th Part of the Ores. And if ſo be that the King may not have a Mine of Copper in another's Soil, but that it ſhall be intended that the Soil, out of which the Copper was dug, belonged to the King, yet ſhall it be taken that the Soil, out of which the Silver ſhould be dug, belonged to others, for if it had belonged to the King, no Ore ſhould have been yielded of it to another; ex quo ſequitur that he who is of Opinion that the King ſhall not have a Mine of Copper in another's Land, muſt confeſs by this Precedent that the King ſhall have a Mine of Silver in another's Land, inaſmuch as the Precedent limits to the Lord of the Soil the 9th Part of the Ore, which muſt be of the Ore of Silver only by his own Confeſſion. And the Power given to ſearch and to dig in the Land of another is worthy of great Obſervation, for here the King does not expreſs that the Patentees ſhall have Licence of the Lord of the Soil to dig, as the other Precedent before expreſſes, but he gives them full Power to dig, for the Words are poſſint fodere quotiens neceſſe fuerit, ſo that the King uſes his * Prerogative fully in this Point, as the Law has given it him.

* See Manw. Foreſt Laws 148.

Anno 18. Ed. 4. Rot. 31. Another Patent of the ſame King was alſo alledged in this Manner. Northumbr. Edwardus quartus per literas ſuas patentes, datas apud Weſtmonaſterium 11° die Martii anno regni ſui 18° ſuper ſurſumredditionem prædictarum literarum patentium præfato Richardo duci Glouceſtriæ, et aliis factarum, commodum ſuum, nec non emendationem et tranquillitatem regni ſui Angliæ ſpiritualem conſiderans, de gratia ſua ſpeciali, ac de adviſamento et aſſenſu concilii ſui, conceſſit et ad firmam dimiſit Willielmo Goderſwike, et aliis mercatoribus de colonia, ac cuidam Dederico Vaverſwike de regno Angliæ auri- aurifabio, omnes et ſingulas mineras aurum, argentum, cuprum vel plumbum portantes in comitatu Northumbriæ, Cumbriæ, et Weſtmariæ, præfato regi quoviſmodo pertinentes ſive ſpectantes: Habendum, &c. mineras illas dicto Willielmo et aliis prædictis per ſe et deputatos ac ſervientes ſuos ſufficientes a feſto annunciationis beatæ Mariæ virginis proximè futuro, uſque ad finem decem annorum extunc proximè ſequentium et plenariè complendorum. Solvendo inde præfato regi et hæredibus ſuis, quindecimam partem puri et mundi auri et argenti, ac cupri, prout creſcunt, per ſuperviſum talis perſonæ aut talium perſonarum quales per præfatum regem ex parte ſua, et per ſe in ea parte ordinarentur et aſſignarentur, abſque aliquo alio compoto inde præfato regi et hæredibus ſuis in ſcaccario ſuo, vel alibi, reddendo ſive faciendo durante termino prædicto; ac faciendo per ſe et deputatos ac ſervientes et aſſignatos ſuos prædictos omnimodos cuſtus et expenſas circa mineras prædictas; necnon ſolvendo dominis ſoli ſive terræ, in quo mineræ illæ fodientur, et curato ejuſdem loci, prout cum iiſdem dominis et curato commodè concordare poterint termino prædicto durante, with like Liberties as before. In 18. Ed. 4. Rot. 31.

By which Charter it appears that the King took the Mines of Gold and Silver in the Lands of others to be his Mines, and to belong to him. And that Mines of Gold and Silver are or may be by the Intent of the King in the Soil of another, is proved by the Payment limited to the Lord of the Soil, as with him might be agreed. Which Allowance to him is but of the King's Clemency, as is ſaid before, and is not a Duty to him.

Alſo the Letters patent of King Henry 7. were alledged to the like Purpoſe, which were as follows; Anglia. Wallia. Henricus ſeptimus per literas ſuas patentes, gerentes datum apud Weſtmonaſterium 27° die Februarii anno regni ſui primo, fecit commiſſionarios ſuarum minerarum Angliæ et Walliæ tàm tinnei, plumbi, et cupri, quam auri et argenti, dilectum avunculum ſuum Jaſperum Ducem Bedfordiæ, Thomam Archiepiſcopum Eborum, et diverſos comites, dominos, milites, et alios, gubernatores ſuarum minerarum prædictarum, ad reſpondendum omnimoda proficua eidem regi concernantia; et fecit Willielmum Taylor militem contrarotulatorem minerarum ſupradictarum; habendum mineras prædictas prædicto jaſpero avunculo et aliis prediſtis per ſeipſos, deputatos ſuos, ſeu ſervientes ſufficientes, a feſto purificationis beatæ Mariæ virginis ultimo præterito, uſque finem et terminum viginti annorum extunc proxime ſequentium. Reddendo inde eidem regi et hæredibus ſuis quindecimam partem mundi auri, et argenti puri; ac etiam ſolvendo capitalibus dominis ſoli et terræ, in quibus mineræ fodientur, undecimam partem prout valent et creſcunt. Et quod prædicti commiſſionarii, gubernatores, et contrarotulatores in omnibus locis infra partes prædictas per ſe, &c. eaſdem mineras liberè ſcrutari et fodere poſſint in eiſdem, et in earum qualibet, abſque impedimento prædicti regis, aut hæredem ſuorum, aut aliorum priorum, comitum, baronum, ſeu aliorum officiariorum ſuorum, aut aliorum quorumcunque, ubicunque mineræ prædictæ infra partes prædictas inveniri poterint. Proviſo ſemper quod commiſſionarii prædicti, &c. non fodient ſubtus domus ſive caſtra alicujus ligeorum regis prædictorum, &c. cum diverſis libertatibus cur. et auctoritate providendi omnia neceſſaria mineras prædictas concernentia. In 1. H. 7. Rot. 92. Anno 1. H. 7. Rot. 92.

Which Record purſues the others. And the Clauſes of the Reſervation to the King of the 15th Part of the neat Gold and pure Silver, and to the Lord of the Soil (which is the Proprietor of the Soil in which the Mines ſhall be dug) the 11th Part, as alſo the Clauſe that the Commiſſioners may ſearch and dig for the Mines wherever they may be found, without Impediment of any, are worthy of Obſervation. And if the Mines of Gold and Silver belonged to the Proprietor of the Land, then the King did ill to take the 15th Part himſelf, or any Part of it, and to limit to the Lord of the Land the 11th Part only, for in that Caſe the Lord ſhould have had the whole, and the King nothing. But from this, as well as from the Clauſe of digging it appears that the King ſhall have the Mines of Gold or Silver in the Soil of another, and that he took himſelf to be the Poſſeſſor of them, and not the Tenant of the Soil. For the Appointment of the 11th Part to the Lord of the Soil is not as a Duty, but done out of the Kings's Benevolence to him, as it is proved by ſome of the Precedents before, where nothing is allowed to the Tenant of the Soil. And if the Law gives to the King a Mine of Gold and Silver, it is reaſonable that he ſhould have Means to come to it. And upon theſe Precedents cited, ſome by one, and ſome by another of the Counſel for the Queen, and upon divers others not here recited, as well as upon ſeveral hereafter cited under the ſecond Point, it was ſaid and relied by them on Behalf of the Queen, that Mines of Gold and Silver in the Lands of Subjects belong to the King by Prerogative, which is conſonant to Reaſon, and has been uſed from Time to Time by one King after another, which continual Uſage cannot be called wrongful, for the Law is not known but by Uſage, and it is Uſage which proves what the Law is. And it is to be preſumed that theſe Charters or Things were not made or done without the Advice of the Judges and other Sages of the Law, and they are all enrolled in the Exchequer, as Things of Effect, and as Foundations to Accounts. And as another great Proof that the Law is ſo, divers Accounts were alledged, by which it appears that the Kings of this Realm were anſwered for divers Profits and Revenues upon the ſaid Leaſes and Charters extending to Mines of Gold and Silver in the Land of another. One Account was given into the Exchequer upon the ſaid Charter firſt cited, viz. upon the Leaſe of Mines of Gold and Silver and Copper made by King Edward 3. to * John Balancer and Walter Goldbeter; by which it appears that the King was anſwered for the 20 Marks for the firſt Year, and nothing for the ſecond Year, becauſe the Leſſees died, and the King had granted the Mines to others, as by the Record of the ſaid Account (which was recited in certain) it appears. Another Account (it was ſaid) appears in the Exchequer to be made by Henry Biſhop of Wincheſter Cardinal of England, one of the Executors of the ſaid John Duke of Bedford Farmer of the ſaid Mines of Gold and Silver in the ſaid Counties of Devon and Cornwal, for the laſt of the ſaid 12 Years, whereby he rendered an Account of the 15th Part of the pure Silver reſerved upon the ſaid Grant, viz. from the 15th Day ſee Bellum's Regalia 2. upon 326. & 328. 328.

* Ante 316.

Day of December, anno 21. H. 6. unto the 16th Day of Auguſt, anno 23. H. 6. and upon this Account he paid 36 Pounds Weight and two Ounces of pure Silver ariſing from the ſame 15th Part. And by this Account it alſo appears, that former Accounts had been made thereof for the former Years. By which Accounts, and by divers others hereafter recited under the ſecond Point, as well as by others not here recited, it appears that the King has been anſwered for the Revenue of Mines of Gold and Silver, as well ſuch as were in the Lands of others as in his own Lands; which prove that the Grants were executed, and the Ores dug up in the Lands of others, becauſe the Charters, upon which the Accounts were founded, gave Power to dig for Ore of Gold and Silver as well in the Lands of others as in the Lands of the King. And the Barons of the Exchequer, who took the Accounts, would not have charged the Accountants, nor have taken the Accounts for the King of Things which belonged to others, if they had not been well aſſured that by the Law the King ought to have the Mines of Gold and Silver although they were in the Soil of another, but they would rather have made it to appear that the Ores were had out of the Land of the King only, and not out of the Land of others. So that theſe Accounts do effectually prove that Mines of Gold and Silver in the Soil of another belong to the King.

P. 36. H. 6. Rot. 28.

Another Precedent out of the Exchequer was alledged as a third Proof that the King ſhall have Mines of Gold and Silver found in the Soil of another. And this was an Information and the Anſwer to it which appear in the Remembrances of the Exchequer among the Records of Eaſter Term anno 36. H. 6. Rot. 28. in dorſo, on the Part of the Kings Remembrancer, where among other Things it is thus contained. Devon. Memorandum quod Johannes Botright clericus, præpoſitus ac gubernator minerarum domini regis de Berferrers in comitatu Devon, venit coram baronibus hujus ſcaccarii 23° die Aprilis hoc termino, et dedit curiæ intelligi, quod Robertus Glover receptor minerarum domini regis in comitatu Devon. et Cornub. 15° die Maii anno regni domini regis nunc triceſimo ſecundo, apud Berferrers prædict. 144 Bolls de glance ore domini regis valoris 15 l. 6 s. 8 d. per præceptum Rogeri Chambernoun de comitatu Devon Armigeri, cepit et aſportavit, et illud uſque quoddam molendinum juxta Bockland in dicta parochia de Berferrers cariavit, et illud ibidem liquefecit et finavit, et proficuum ſuum inde fecit, domino rege inde in aliquo minime reſponſo, ad damnum domini regis 100 l. unde petit adviſamentum curiæ in præmiſſis. And upon this Proceſs went out againſt the ſaid Glover and Chambernoun, which hung a long Time, and afterwards Chambernoun pleaded in his Diſcharge a Pardon made to him by the Name of Cambernoun of Berferrers, in the County of Devon, Eſquire, in the 36th Year of the Reign of the ſame King. And Wray cited an Office found before the Eſcheator, proving that the Manor of Berferrers at that Time belonged to a Subject, and that the Lord Brook had married the Heir of Ferrers, and was ſeized of the ſaid Manor at that Time, in which (as he took it) the Mine was. And upon this it was inferred that for Glance-ore taken in a Mine in the Land of a Subject, the King might have puniſhed any one. And for his Diſcharge he was forced to ſue to the King for Pardon, knowing by his Counſel that he could not defend the Matter by the common Law.

Result of the precedents for the Queen

Wherefore the Precedents being in three Manners, viz. ſome being Charters and Grants of Mines of Gold and Silver in the Lands of others, and ſome being Accounts of the Revenue of ſuch Mines in the Lands of others which have been paid to the King, and the third Sort ſhewing that the King has impleaded Pernors of Ore of Gold and Silver in the Lands of others, prove ſtrongly and effectually that ſuch Mines of Gold and Silver found in the Lands of Subjects belong to the King by virtue of his Prerogative. For as touching the King's Revenue, there is no Proof in Law ſo ſtrong as the Records of the Court in which the Revenue is paid. [a] For Onſlow and Gerard ſaid that the Records of every Court are the moſt effectual Proofs of the Law in Relation to the Things treated of in the ſame Court; [b] and that which is uſed in one Court is Law in all Courts, and throughout all the Realm. And therefore in Matters of the Crown, as in Appeals of Felony, and Indictments of Murder and Treaſon, and ſuch like, if a Queſtion ariſes what is the Law in ſuch Things, and what not, the Records of the King's Bench are the moſt effectual Proofs of it, and that which is uſed there ought to be taken as a Proof of the Law throughout the Realm; [c] for that Court treats of ſuch Things, and has Juriſdiction of them, and the Records there are Teſtimonies of the Law in thoſe Points. And if a Queſtion ariſes upon the Law concerning the Property of Goods or Chattles real or perſonal, or concerning Rights or Titles to Lands or Tenements, the Precedents of the Common Bench are the moſt effectual Proofs of it, [d] becauſe that Court treats of ſuch Matters, and that which is uſed and practiſed there ought to be taken for Law in the King's Bench, if the Record is removed there by Error, and throughout the whole Realm alſo. [e] And if a Queſtion ariſes touching the King's Revenue, and what Thing belongs to the King, which brings Revenue to him, and what not, and what is the Law touching the ſame, and what not, the Records of the Exchequer are the moſt effectual Proofs of the Law therein, [f] for ſuch Things are treated of in that Court, and that which is uſed in that Court is Law not only there but in every other Court, and throughout the Realm. And hereupon Onſlow ſaid, that Littleton has ſhewn us that an Action of [g] Account does not lie againſt Executors for any but the King only, and (as it ſeems to him) the King ſhall have an Action of Account, and ſo is the Law. But, Sir, where did Littleton learn this? or of whom? Certainly of the Exchequer, and no where elſe; for there ſuch Matters are treated of, and Accounts for the King's Duties are there cleared up and anſwered, and who ſhall account, and who not, appears there, and there are Records to warrant the ſame. And becauſe it is ſo, Littleton affirms

[a] Bridgm. 21. Lane. 23.

[b] L. 5. Ed. 4. 1. a. 2 Co. 16. b. 4 Co. 93. b. Hardr. 98. 2 Sid. 164. 5 Mod. 48. 12 Mod. 569.

[c] 1 Finch 213. 2 Finch 240. Crompt. J. C. 67. b. Godb. 295.

[d] 1 Finch 234. 2 Finch 240. Godb. 295.

[e] Crompt. J. C. 111. a.

[f] 1 Finch 240. 2 Finch 240. Crompt. J. C. 105. a. Godb. 295.

[g] Litt. § 125. Bro. Account 85. Prerog. 126. Dy. 23. pl. 145. 11 Co. 89. b. 1 Finch 324. 2 Finch 303. Crompt. J. C. 106. a. Comyns 437. But now by the Statute of 4 Ann. cap. 16. Action of Account is given againſt Executors in the Caſe of common Perſons.

firms the Law to be ſo, and not to be ſo in that Court only, but throughout the Realm, for the Uſage of any one Court, in a Matter whereof it has proper Conuſance, ought to be affirmed for Law in all Courts, and the Records of ſuch Court are Patterns whereby the whole Realm may know the Law in ſuch Caſes. [a] And ſo (he ſaid) in the Caſe vouched by Littleton out of 11. H. 4. where Cockain Chief Baron demanded of the Juſtices of the Common Bench, if one held of the King to find him a Man to war within the four Seas, whether or no this was Grand-Serjeanty, to which it was anſwered, that it was, and then he demanded whether or no the King ſhould have Relief according to the Value of the Land, ad quod non fuit reſponſum; for they did not need to give him any Anſwer to that Point, becauſe if it was Grand-Serjeanty, he might know by the Uſage in the Exchequer what Sum he ſhould pay, for from thence came the Knowledge of the Law in this Point to the Judges of the other Courts, and therefore their Silence to that Queſtion was more proper than an Anſwer, and by their Silence they attributed the Knowledge of it to the Exchequer. And from thence alſo Littleton obtained the Knowledge of the Law in this Point, viz. [b] that if the King's Villain purchaſes Goods, and aliens them before Seizure, yet the King may ſeize them afterwards; for ſuch was the Uſage of the Exchequer, in which Court ſuch Goods were anſwered for to the King. And there he learned [c] quod nullum tempus occurrit Regi. And upon this Gerard put a Caſe which was debated in the Exchequer in the Time of the preſent Queen, in which he himſelf argued, and it was thus: [d] Sir William Candiſh who was Treaſurer of the Chamber to King Henry 8. and to King Edward 6. and to Queen Mary, was indebted to the ſaid King Edward and Queen Mary, and being ſo indebted he purchaſed divers Lands, and alien'd them, and of Part took an Eſtate to him and to his Wife, and Part remained in the Hands of others, and he died without rendering an Account, and it was debated whether or no theſe Lands could be ſeized into the Hands of the preſent Queen, and be retained by the Courſe of the Common Law until an Account was made by Candiſh; for Candiſh was not bound to the King in any Recognizance or Obligation, but the Matter of the Seizure reſted entirely upon the Common Law: And there it was well debated at the Bar by the Counſel for the Queen, and by the Counſel for Sir William Sentlow, Captain of the Guard, and his Wife late the Wife of Sir William Candiſh, upon Demurrer in Law on this Point, and after full Argument thereof, all the Barons of the Exchequer agreed that the Seizure of the ſaid Land for the Queen was lawful. For there were almoſt an infinite Number of Writs and Proceſſes of this Sort in the Court of Exchequer, a great many whereof were alledged and ſhewn to the Court, by which it appeared, [e] that if any one is Accountant to the King, or if any Money, or Goods or Chattles perſonal of the King come to the Hands of any Subject by Matter of Record, or by Matter in fait, the Land of ſuch Subject is charged therewith, and liable to the Seizure of the King, into whatſoever Hands it comes afterwards, be it by Deſcent or Purchaſe, or otherwiſe: For the King might there have ſeized the Land in the Hands of Sir William Candiſh, and by the ſame Reaſon in the Hands of every one that came in under him, for nullum tempus occurrit Regi. [f] And the Exchequer has a Chancellor and a Seal, and the Writs uſual in the Chancery of the Exchequer to ſeize the Land in ſuch Caſe are more ancient than the Regiſter, or the Treatiſe de Prerogativa Regis: And upon this Sir William Sentlow, having Intelligence that the Law was againſt him and his Wife in the Caſe, compounded with the Queen, and after his Compoſition had a Releaſe and Pardon of the Queen for the Reſidue. And note that in this Pardon it was recited, for the Maintenance of the Prerogative, that the Law was with the Queen in the Caſe. And ſo (he ſaid) the Precedents and Records of the Exchequer were taken as a full Proof of the Law in that Caſe, and not as the Law of the Exchequer only, and in no other Courts, but as the Law throughout the whole Realm. [g] And upon the like Reaſon (he ſaid) the Caſe is ruled in 50 Aſs. where one R. had received certain Money of Sir Hugh Spencer who was attainted, whereby the Money belonged to the King, and R. who had a Leaſe jointly with his Wife died, and by the Award of all the Juſtices the Term in the Hands of the Wife [h] Survivor was charged with the Execution of the King for the Money; for the King might have had Execution of it in the Life of the Huſband, and Laches of Time in his Suit ſhall not hurt the King, but that he ſhall have the Term in the Hands of the Wife. And this agrees with the Reaſon of Candiſh's Caſe, which was warranted by many Records in the Exchequer, as is ſaid before. And, Sir, it is reaſonable that the Records of Courts ſhould be taken for the moſt ſubſtantial Proofs of the Law. For the Reports of our Law are for the moſt Part made up of the Words and Sayings of Judges, and that wherein they aſſent is taken to be Law; a fortiore then their Judgments entered of Record in Courts ought to be eſteemed of as great or greater Weight than their bare Words or Sayings. And hereupon they concluded that in the principal Caſe here, inaſmuch as the Records and Precedents of the Court of Exchequer being in three Manners, viz. ſome being Precedents of Grants of Mines of Gold and Silver in the Lands of others, and ſome of Accounts for the Revenue of ſuch Mines, and the third being Precedents of Suits for carrying away Ores of Gold or Silver out of ſuch Mines in the Lands of others, prove that the Kings of this Realm have continually from Time to Time meddled with ſuch Mines in the Lands of others, and have had the whole Profit of them, and not the Lord of the Soil, nor any other without the King's Charter, from hence they concluded that the Prerogative of the King, and the Continuance of it is fully proved, and more fully than by the Books of Reports, or the Opinions of private Perſons. [i] Nevertheleſs it was ſaid by Gerard that in the Book called Expoſitiones vocabulorum, which was put in Print 40 Years ago, it is declared that Mines of Gold and Silver, in whatever Lands they are, belong to the Kings of this Realm. So Wray ſaid that Heſket an Apprentice who was well learned in the Law, in his Reading extant upon the Statute de Charta Foreſtæ affirmed that if there were Mines of Gold or Silver in the Lands of Subjects within the Foreſt, they belong to the King. So he ſaid that he had ſeen the Laws of St. Edward the Conteſſor, in which it was contained quod Theſauri de terra pertinent domino Regi. And ſo, Barham ſaid, the Laws of William the Conqueror, which he had ſeen, had the like [a] Littlet. § 157. T. 11. H. 4. 72. pl. 9 Fitz. Bar 184. Bro. Tenures 13. Reliefs.

[b] T. 12. H. 20. b. per Keble. Litt. § 178. 2 Rol. Abr. 734. F. pl. 3. Hardr. 25. Litt. R. 91. Godb. 287. 4 Bac. Abr 201. Ante 243 (k). Poſt 322 (b).

[c] Britton 88. a.

[d] P. 2. Eliz. in Scacc. Rot. 111. Dy. 224. pl. 32. O. Bendl. 118. 3 Co. 12. b. Godb. 292, 297. Vide Crompt. J.C. 106. b. 111. a.

[e] 1 Finch 319. 2 Finch 298. Crompt. J. C. 106. a. b.

[f] 4 Inſt. 119. Crompt. J. C. 53. a. 106. b.

Nota bene

[g] 50 Aſs. pl. 5. Fitz. Execution 113. Bro. 148. Charge 74. Jointenants 30. Prerogative 54. Ante 261 (a). and ſee the Books there cited.

[h] But ſee Co. Litt. 185. a. that if one Jointenant in Fee-ſimple be indebted to the King, and dies, after his Death no Extent ſhall be made upon the Land in the Hands of the Survivor.

[i] Expoſitiones Vocabulorum 108. Bro Corone 175. Prerog. 134. Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative K. a. pl. 13.

like Words, which Laws were recited to the Conqueror by the Sages of the Realm, who were ſworn that they would truly recite before him the Laws of the Land, nihil prætermittentes. Which Words, Theſauri de terra, the ſaid Serjeants took to be Ores of Gold and Silver, and not Treaſure-trove, which, they ſaid, are called Theſauri * in terra, and not de terra. So that theſe Authorities, and the above Precedents, and the Reaſons before given at the Beginning in Regard to the Excellency of the Metal, and the Neceſſity of it, and it's Tendency to the public Utility, do all agree in one, that the King ſhall have all Mines and Ores of Gold or Silver in the Lands of Subjects.

And as to what may be ſaid, that they ſhall not belong to the King, becauſe they are not recited as Prerogatives in the Treatiſe de Prerogativa Regis, to this all of them who argued on the Part of the Queen ſaid, that almoſt all the Preroga ives there recited belonged to the King before that Treatiſe was writ en. And Barham ſaid that the greateſt Part of them is recited by Britton in his Book in the Chapters of Trovers, and of the Rights of the King, which Book was written before the Treatiſe de Prerogativa Regis; † and that Treatiſe does not contain all the Prerogatives of the King, but Part of them. For they ſaid that the Prerogatives before recited, viz. [a] that the King ſhall have an Action of Account againſt Executors, [b] and that the King ſhall have the Goods of his Villain ſold before Seizure, [c] and that the King ſhall ſeize the Land which belonged to him who ought to render an Account to him, [d] or who had received any Goods or Chattles of the King, into whatſoever Hands the ſame Land comes afterwards, are not recited in the ſaid Treatiſe de Prerogativa Regis, and yet they are Prerogatives allowed to the King by Law. [e] And ſo Onſlow ſaid that the King by his Prerogative may wave Iſſue, and demur in Law, or e contra may wave Demurrer, and plead to Iſſue, and yet this Prerogative is not recited in the ſaid Treatiſe. And ſo Gerard ſaid that the King ſhall have [f] Treaſure-trove, and Eſcheats [g] of thoſe who are attainted of Treaſon, [h] and before the Statute of 1 Edw. 3. the King ſhould have had in Fee the Land holden of him and aliened without Licenſe, and yet theſe Points are not recited in the Treatiſe de Prerogativa Regis. [i] And he alſo ſaid that in 45. Ed. 3. it appears that one attainted at the Suit of the Party in a Decies tantum came into the Bench to agree with the King and the Party, and after he had agreed with the King he delivered the Money due to the Plaintiff to the Plaintiff's Attorney, and the King's Serjeant ſhewed to the Court that the Plaintiff was indebted to the King in great Sums, and prayed that the Money might be ſtaid until he had diſcharged himſelf, et ſic fuerunt; and afterwards he went into the Chancery and diſcharged himſelf, and the Money was delivered to the Attorney back again. By the Rule of which Book it appears that the King has a Prerogative to have in Satisfaction of his Debt that which is delivered in Court in Execution to the King's Debtor, and yet ſuch Prerogative is not found amongſt the Prerogatives recited in the ſaid Treatiſe de Prerogativa Regis. [k] And ſo Wray ſaid that if the Patron does not preſent within 6 Months, and the Biſhop and after him the Metropolitan ſuffer Lapſe, or if the Biſhop, Patron, and Metropolitan ſuffer Lapſe, the King ſhall have the Preſentment by his Prerogative, as it may be collected by 27. Ed. 3. and yet this is not recited in the Treatiſe de Prerogativa Regis. So that it is no good Argument to ſay that the King has not a Prerogative, becauſe it is not recited in the Treatiſe de Prerogativa Regis, for the King has by the Common Law more Prerogatives than are there recited, and if they are proved by Uſage, or by other ſubſtantial Proof, it is ſufficient. So in our Caſe, inaſmuch as it is proved by ſufficient Matter before recited that the King has a Prerogative in ſuch Mines of Gold or Silver in the Lands of others, it ought to be received and allowed.

And as to what may be ſaid, that the digging of the Land, and carrying away the Ore which is a Part of the Soil, cannot be claimed by Prerogative, becauſe it touches the Freehold and Inheritance of the Subject; to this it was ſaid that this is no Obſtacle to the Claim of Prerogative, for every Prerogative contains in it a Preſcription, and reſts in Uſage. And as Preſcription and Uſage may give Title or Intereſt to the Subject in the Freehold or Inheritance of the King, [l] as in Common, Way, or Eſtovers claimed by Preſcription in the Land of the King, or in Waifs, Eſtrays, Wreck, or ſuch like, of Right belonging to the King and yet claimed by Preſcription by Subjects, ſo and by the ſame Reaſon (Barham ſaid) Preſcription and Uſage may give to the King a Title or Intereſt in the Freehold of a Subject. For he ſhall not be in a worſe Condition than a Subject is, and a Subject by Preſcription againſt another Subject, and againſt the King alſo, ſhall have Things which touch the Freehold or Inheritance of another Subject or of the King, and to ſay that the King cannot have the like againſt another Subject would be abſurd, eſpecially in the Caſe here where the Preſcription and Uſage ſtands with ſuch Reaſon as it does. And that the Records prove a Preſcription or Uſage in the Prerogative, none can deny. And the King had and has many Prerogatives which affect the Freehold of another. And hereupon Gerard ſaid that before the Statute of Magna Charta the King by his Prerogative might take Trees out of the Woods of others for the Repairs of his Caſtles, and by the Statute of Magna Charta cap. 21. he has reſtrained himſelf from ſo doing, for the Words of the Statute are, Neither we, nor our Bailiffs, nor others ſhall take any Man's Wood for our Caſtles, or other our Neceſſaries to be done, but by the Licenſe of him whoſe the Wood is; by which Act it is implied that before the King might have done it: And this Prerogative extended to the Freehold of another. So (he ſaid) the Statute de Charta Foreſtæ cap. 1. ordains, That all Foreſts which King Henry our Grandfather afforeſted ſhall be viewed by good and lawful Men, and if he has made Foreſt of any other Wood more than of his own Demeſn, whereby the Owner of the Wood hath Hurt, forthwith it ſhall be diſafforeſted; by which (he ſaid) it appears that the King might afforreſt the Woods of others, and thereby the Subject was reſtrained from cutting down his own Woods without Licenſe. So that the King's Prerogative may touch the Freehold of another. And from theſe Acts he took it that the Things, which the King is reſtrained by them from doing, were lawful before, and not that they were unlawful to be done before, and were reformed by thoſe Acts. [m] Alſo he put the Caſe in P. 7. H. 3. in Attachment for Waſt againſt Tenant in Dower, quere vivarium fractum eſt et ſiccatum; and the Feme ſaid

* For if it be upon the Earth, and not within the Earth, it does not belong to the King, but to the Finder, Britt. 26. b. S. P. C. 40. a. 1 Finch 146. 2 Finch 177. Cowel's Inſt. 67.

Anſ. to obj. being mard. in the Treatiſe de Prerogativa Regis

† Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative T. 2. pl. 18.

[a] Ante 320 (g). and the Books there cited.

[b] Ante 243 (k). 321 (b).

[c] Ante 321 (d). Sir William Cardiff's Caſe.

[d] Ante 261 (a). 321 (g).

[e] See Ante 85 (d) and the Books there cited.

[f] See Ante 242 (a) and the Books there cited.

[g] See Ante 212 (b) and the Books there cited.

[h] T. 9 Ed. 3. 26. a. per Trew. Bro. Alienation 34. P. 24. Ed. 3. Fitz. Quare Impedit 54. per Wilby. Stamf. Prerog. 29. a.

[i] H. 45. Ed. 3. Fitz. Decies tantum 12.

Anſ. to obj. of Diſturbance with the Subject's Freehold & Inheritance

[k] M. 27. Ed. 3. 8. pl. 25. Fitz. Quare Impedit 18. Dr. & Stud. lib. 2. cap 36. Bro. Preſent. al Egliſe 58. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 116. Poſt 408. (e). and (t).

[l] Co. Litt. 114. b.

[m] P. 7. H. 3. Fitz. Waſt 241. Quære if it lay in this Caſe, becauſe the Waſt was done by the Huſband before his Death.

ſaid that M. quondam vir ſuus per præceptum Regis fregit vivarium, et cepit totum piſcem ad opus Regis, et ipſa poſtea refecit prout potuit, and it was adjudged a good Plea: By which it appears that the King, or any other by his Command, may break a Stew, which is another's Freehold, and take the Fiſh for his Proviſion by Force of his Prerogative. * And Wray ſaid, if a Villain, who is the Freehold and Inheritance of another, comes into the King's Preſence, the Lord of the Villain cannot take him in the Preſence of the King, as it is adjudged in 27. Aſs. for the King's Preſence is a Protection to him for the Time: So that the Prerogative of the King takes away from the Lord his Uſe of and Power over his Villain, who is his Freehold and Inheritance. † And Onſlow ſaid that if the King has a Rent-charge in Fee out of any Land, he may diſtrain for it by his Prerogative in all the other Lands of him who ought to pay it, by 13. Ed. 4. So that the other Freeholds of the Party ſhall be liable to the Diſtreſs of the King by Reaſon of his Prerogative. And ſeveral other Caſes were put by the Counſel for the Queen, to prove that ſhe had as well divers other Prerogatives which are not recited in the Treatiſe de Prerogativa Regis, as Prerogatives which tend to charge the Freehold and Inheritance of another, which I have here omitted for Brevity's Sake, having mentioned the moſt material of them. And hereupon they concluded that for theſe Reaſons, Precedents, and other Things ab veſaid, all Mines of Gold and Silver in the Lands of Subjects, if they are open, and all Ores of Gold and Silver in the Lands of Subjects, altho' the Mines thereof are not open, (which Caſes are all one, and ſtand upon the ſame Reaſon with Regard to the Prerogative of the Queen) with Power to dig in the Lands of Subjects for the ſame, and to carry them away, with all other Incidents thereto, belong of Right to the Queen.

* 27 Aſs. pl. 49. Fitz. Villenage 18. Bro. 38. Dy. 60. pl. 23. 2 Rol. Abr. 737. P. pl. 1. Co. Litt. 137. b. 1 Finch 125. 2 Finch 160. Kitch. 332.

† 8 H. 13. Ed. 4. 6. pl. 1. Fitz. Prerog. 7. Bro. 68. Diſtreſs 48. 5 Co. 56. a. 3 Leon. 125. Gouldſb. 17. Godb. 295. 2 Rol. R. 300. 4 Inſt. 119. 1 P. Wms. 307. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 134. 1 Finch 100. 2 Finch 156. 4 Bac. Abr. 192, 214. Ante 243 (u).

And againſt this nothing was ſaid on the other Side, upon this Point, by any of thoſe who argued for the Earl, but by Shirborn only, who alledged the Opinions of ſome by Implication to be to the contrary. ‡ As the Opinion of Newton in 19. H. 6. where he ſays that if a Man gives Land in Fee which is not worth 40 d. per ann. and by ſome Accident, as by a Mine of Gold or Silver found in it, it becomes worth 100 l. per ann. and he is impleaded, and vouches the Feoffor to Warranty, the Feoffor may ſhew that the Land was but worth 40 d. per ann. at the Time of the Feoffment, and for ſo much he is ready to enter into the Warranty, and this Plea ſhall be good, and he ſhall not warrant more than it was worth at the Time of the Feoffment; but if he enters generally into the Warranty, he ſhall render in Value as much as it is worth now. By which Saying Newton meant that the Mine of Gold and Silver ſhould be recovered with the Land, and ſhould not belong to the King. And other Things Shirborn ſaid, which were not maintained by his Companions. For Bell ſaid that he would not ſpeak to this Point either one Way or other. And Mead expreſly affirmed that the Queen by her Prerogative ſhould have all Mines and Ores of Gold and Silver in the Lands of Subjects; and therefore I omit the reſt of Shirborn's Argument on this Point.

E contra for the Earl.

‡ M. 19. H. 6. 46. a. Fitz. Recov. in Value 17. Bro. 10. Proteſtation 30. Voucher 69. 2 Rol. Abr. 772. T. pl. 2, 3.

As to the ſecond Point, it was inferred for the Queen, that if the Queen ſhall have by her Prerogative all Ores, and alſo all Mines of Gold and Silver in the Lands of Subjects, from thence it will follow in a Manner conſequentially that ſhe ought to have theſe Ores and Mines of Copper now in Queſtion, that is, as well the five Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight contained in the firſt Plea in Bar, as the other one Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight contained in the ſecond Bar. For it is confeſſed that theſe ſix Hundred Thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper contain Gold or Silver, ſo that two Metals are mixed together, the one Copper, and the other Gold or Silver, and the Gold and Silver belongs to the Queen, and ſhe cannot draw it out without melting the Copper; for in one ſame Maſs or Parcel there may be Copper and Gold, or Copper and Silver, and in the melting of it it is diſcerned and divided, and not otherwiſe; and if the Queen cannot have the Gold and Silver which belongs to her without melting the Copper, then ſhe ought to have the Copper to melt, for elſe ſhe would loſe her own, and if ſhe ſhall have it to melt, ſhe ſhall keep it to her own Uſe, for ſhe is not bound by the Law to melt it, and to deliver the Copper to the Poſſeſſor of the Land, for the Charge of purging and melting it is greater perhaps than that of the digging. And if the Queen ſhould be at ſuch Charge, and the Law ſhould make her deliver it to the Poſſeſſor of the Soil, therein the Law would lay a heavy Burden and Expence upon her, who ought rather to abound in Riches for the Safeguard of her Subjects, than to want them. And alſo by this Means the Law would make the Queen a Servant to the Subject to melt his Copper for him, which would be a very unwiſe and unreaſonable Law. But our Law is more conſonant to Reaſon in all it's Proviſions, and therefore it ſays in this Caſe as in others, that becauſe the Gold or Silver and the Copper are together and indiviſible in the Soil, and are ſo incorporated that they are as one entire Thing, therefore the Gold and the Silver being more worthy ſhall draw to it the Copper, which is leſs worthy, for omne magis dignum trahit ad ſe minus dignum. So that the Queen being Poſſeſſor of the one ſhall be Poſſeſſor of the other. And Wray reſembled this Caſe to the Caſe of Charters of Inheritance being in a Cheſt or Box ſealed, § if the Poſſeſſor thereof dies, the Charters ſhall go to the Heir, and the Box, if it was open, to the Executors, but inaſmuch as it is ſealed, whereby the Charters and the Box are become one entire Thing, and inaſmuch as the Charters are more precious than the Box, therefore the Heir who has the Property of the Charters, ſhall have the Box alſo, and not the Executors, cauſa qua ſupra. ‖ So, he ſaid, if a Chariot which is drawn with ſix Horſes falls upon a Man, and kills him, the Horſes ſhall be forfeited to the King as a Deodand, as well as the Chariot which killed the Man, becauſe they were faſtened to the Chariot, ſo that they were altogether as one entire Thing which occaſioned his Death. ¶ And ſo, Gerard ſaid, if an Obligation is made to two,

2 Point. For the Queen.

Whether the King ſhall by Prerogative have Mines of Copper containing in them any Gold or Silver, which are in the Lands of Subjects. S. P. 1 Finch 16 2 Finch 23. Wing. Max. reg. 62. pl. 18. 4 Bac. Abr. 162. But now ſee the Statutes of 1 W. & M. cap. 30. and 5 W & M. cap 6 Poſt 339.

§ H. 41. Ed. 3. 2. a. Bro. Charter de terres 13. 36. H. 6. 27. a. per Priſot. Bro. ibid. 40. M. 3. H. 7. 15. pl. 29. Fitz. Bar 128. Bro. Charter de terres 52. Chattles 18. 1 Finch 16, 2 Finch 22. Wing. Max. reg. 62. pl. 17. Po 328 (b). See much Matter hereupon in Cowel's Inſt. 62, 63.

‖ Anno 8. Ed. 2. Fitz. Corone 388, 397. S. P. C. 20. a. 1 H. H. P. C. 420.

¶ H. 8 Ed. 4. 24. b. per Danby. M. 19. H. 6. 47. pl. 100. Fitz. Dette 38. Bro. Forfeit. 16. Jointenants 32. Prerog. 23. Hale on F. N. B. 32. g. 1 Rol. R. 7. Litt. R. 91. Gouldſb. 20. Hardr. 26, 490. T. Raym. 7, 121, 122. Crompt. Juſt. 31. a. 3 Inſt. 55. H. P. C. 29. 1 Hawk. P. C. 68, § 7. 1 Finch 145. 2 Finch 178. Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative T. 2. pl. 11. tit. Utlawry J. pl. 1. Ante 243 (f). Sed Contra Ante 259 (g).

or if two are poſſeſſed of a Horſe, and the one is attainted, the King ſhall have the Obligation and the whole Duty, or the Horſe, becauſe it is a Thing entire.

And to prove and fortify this Argument, viz. that where Gold or Silver is mixed with baſe Metal, the King ſhall have the whole Ore or Mine, a Record was alledged, which appears in the Remembrances of the Exchequer, among the Commiſſions and Letters-patent of Eaſter Term 7 Ed. 3. ex parte Rememor. which was as follows.

Anno 7. Ed. 3. Salop. Rex dilectis et fidelibus ſuis Johanni de Jugg et Henrico de Wiſhbury ſalutem. Cum ex oſtentione dilecti et fidelis noſtri Galfridi de Scropo accepimus, quod quædam minera cupri auro et plumbo mixta ſub ſolo Roberti Brown in comitatu Salop jam inveniatur, et volentes quod Theſaur. et Barones de Scaccario noſtro certiorentur ſuper modo et forma inventionis mineræ prædictæ, et per quem, vel per quos, et in quibus locis inventa fuerit, et qualiter commodum noſtrum melius inde facere poterimus, ac etiam ſi aliquid inde aſportatum ſit ſeu elongatum a prima inventione ejuſdem, necne. Et ſi ſic, tunc quantum, per quos, et qualiter, aſſignavimus vos ad ſupervidendum mineram prædictam, et ad inquirendum per ſacramentum proborum et legalium hominum de vicineto partium illarum ubi eadem minera exiſtit, ac de præmiſſis et ſingulis premiſſorum plenius veritatem. Et ideo vobis mandamus quod ad partes prædictas accedatis, et omnia et ſingula præmiſſa exequamini et compleatis in forma predicta. Et de toto veſtro facto in hac parte Theſaur. et Baronibus de dicto Scaccario noſtro apud Weſtmonaſterium, circa craſtinum Sancti Andreæ proxime futurum, vel tunc ad ultimum, diſtincte et aperte conſtare faciatis. Ita quòd tunc ulterius ordinare valeamus in hac parte, prout pro commodo noſtro melius ſore viderimus faciendum, inquiſitionem inde per vos captam ſub ſigillis veſtris et ſigillis eorum, per quos facta fuerit, tunc ibidem remittentes, et hoc breve. Mandavimus enim vicecomiti noſtro comitatus prædicti, quod ad certos dies et loca, quos eis ſcire facietis ex parte noſtra, faciat venire coram vobis tot et tales de balliva ſua de vicineto mineræ prædictæ, per quos rei veritas melius ſciri poterit et inquiri. In cujus, &c. Teſte Theſ. 30° die Octobris, &c. Per breve de privato ſigillo inter communia de anno 7.

By which Record it appears that the King took the Law to be that the Mine of Copper being intermixed with Gold and Lead, and found in the Soil of another, viz. in the Soil of Robert Brown, belonged to him, and he would be certified how he might make his Profit of it. And if it ſhould be taken to belong to another, then he could not make any Profit of it.

Anno 17. R. 2. The like Commiſſion to the like Purpoſe made by King Richard 2. was alledged as follows. Salop. Rex Richardus ſecundus dilectis et fidelibus ſuis Hugoni de Burnel militi ac vicecomiti noſtro Salop. ſalutem. Sciatis quòd cum dilectus ligeus noſter Jacobus Minor de comitatu Derby nobis dederit intelligi, quòd eſt quædam minera de cupro et argento infra dominium prioratus de Wenlock alienig. ſive ibidem circa eundem prioratum in dicto comitatu Salop. de qua quidem minera proficuum non modicum, ſi nos tales operarios ſuper eandem mineram, qui ibidem pro commodo noſtro operari valeant et ſcirent, ordinare vellemus, nobis poſſit evenire, nos indemnitati noſtræ in hac parte proſpicere volentes, ac pro eo quòd idem Jacobus ad magnum proficuum nobis in hac parte ſe obtulit faciendum, aſſignavimus vos et alterum veſtrum ad ordinandum quòd prædictus Jacobus ibidem in minera prædicta, in quantum hoc abſque prejudicio alicui contra leges regni noſtri Angliæ, et abſque abſtractione, demolitione, aut deſtructione aliquarum domorum ſivè gardinorum cujuſcunque occaſione operis predicti faciendi fieri poſſit, abſque perturbatione ſive impedimento aliquali operari poſſit, &c. In cujus, &c. Teſte Rege apud Weſtmonaſterium 4° die Junii anno regni ſui 17°. In 17. Rich. 2. Rot. 12.

Which Commiſſion giving Power to the Sheriff to cauſe the ſaid Minor to work for the King in the ſaid Mine, which conſiſted of Copper and Silver together, being in the Soil of another, viz. of the Prior of Wenlock or thereabouts, proves that the King underſtood (and it is to be preſumed that his Acts are done with good Counſel, and according to Law) that the Mine was his own, and that it did not belong to the Lord of the Soil.

Anno 7. H. 4. To the like Purpoſe a Charter made by King Henry 4. in the Form following was alledged. Devon. Rex Henricus quartus dilecto ſibi in exemplo Willielmo Charleton priori de Pylton, ſalutem. Sciatis quòd cum commiſerimus quantum in nobis eſt Henrico Darby et Johanni Darby filio ſuo Minatoribus mineras plumbi quæ portant et habent de argento in comitatu Devon. pro termino 10 annorum, reddendo inde nonam libram de puro argento inde proveniente, et ſolvendo nobis et aliis quibus convenit omnia alia proficua et denarios ad nos et alios prædictos inde pertin. per ſuperviſum et contrarotulationem veſtram, prout in literis noſtris patentibus inde confectis plenius continetur: Aſſignavimus vos ad dictas mineras in Comitatu prædicto ſupervidendas, et ad hujuſmodi nonam libram et alia proficua et denarios prædictos benè et fideliter contrarotuland. Et ideo vobis mandamus quòd circa præmiſſa diligenter intendatis, et ea faciatis et exequamini in forma prædicta. In cujus rei, &c. quam diu nobis placuerit duratur. Teſte Rege apud Weſtm. 9° die Februarii anno regni ſui 7°. In 7. H. 4. Rot. 20.

Altho' this Charter does not mention ſo expreſly as the former that the Mines were in the Lands of others, yet by the Words ſolvendo nobis et aliis quibus convenit omnia alia proficua et denarios ad nos et alios inde pertinentia per ſuperviſum et contrarotulationem veſtram, &c. it is to be intended that the Charter ſhall extend to Mines in the Lands of others, for (the others) may be the Lords of the Land, to whom the King of his Grace and not of Duty was willing that Amends ſhould be made. And ſo the Reaſon holds Place as well for Mines of Lead or other baſe Metal, as for Copper, if ſo be Gold or Silver be in it.

Anno 17. H. 6. And many Charters made by King Henry 6. were alledged to this Purpoſe, whereof one was as follows. Devon. et Cornub. Henricus ſextus per literas ſuas patentes datas apud Manerium de Shene 11° die Junii anno regni ſui 17° conceſſit Johanni Sollers omnes et ſingulas mineras auri et argenti cum omnibus eas tangentibus infra comitatus Devon. et Cornub. ubicunque inveniri contigerint, ac etiam omnes mineras plumbi quæ portant et habent de auro et argento infra comitatus prædictos ubicunque ſimiliter infra eoſdem Comitatus inveniri contingerint: Habendum et occupandum omnes et ſingulas mineras prædictas, &c. a tempore expirationis termini duodecim annorum Duci Bedfordiæ conceſſi aſque ad finem 20 annorum ex tunc proximè et plenariè complendorum. Solvendo indè præfato regi et hæredibus ſuis quindecimam partem puri auri, et quindecimam partem puri argenti, et faciendo per ſe et deputatos ſuos omnimodos cuſtus et expenſas circa mineram prædictam debite apponenda. Et quòd idem Johannes Sollers durante termino ſuo infra comitatus prædictos per ſe et deputatos ſuos ac ſervientes ſuos quoſcunque hujuſmodi mineras quærere, inveſtigare, et fodere in eiſdem mineris et inibi operare valeat, abſque impedimento præfati regis vel hæredum ſuorum, aut aliorum officiariorum, miniſtrorum, vel ligeorum ſuorum quorumcunque, ubicunque hujuſmodi mineræ inveniri contigerint; with a Clauſe that he ſhall not dig ſubtus domos ſeu caſtra aliquorum ligeorum præfati regis pro mineris prædictis, and with a Clauſe to make Proviſion for Woods and Labourers, &c. In 17. H. 6. Rot. 45.

ubicunque

By which Charter (it was ſaid) the King demiſed not only the Mines of Gold and Silver, but alſo the Mines of Lead which contained Gold or Silver, in whatever Place they ſhould be found within the ſaid Counties, in which Caſe he underſtood that he had an Intereſt in them, and a Power to demiſe them. And further the King gave him Power to ſearch and dig without Impediment of any of his Lieges, in whatever Place ſuch Mines might be found, which is as much as if he had ſaid, whether they be in the Lands of Subjects, or in our own Lands. And the Clauſe of Reſtraint from digging under the Houſes or Caſtles of the Lieges of the King implies that he might dig in other Places of the Lieges of the King, as in their Lands and Waſts.

Another Patent was alledged made by the ſame King in Form following, Devon. et Cornub. Henricus ſextus per literas ſuas patentes datas apud Weſtm. 16° die Septembris anno regni ſui 30° conſtituit dilectum capellanum ſuum Johannem Botright ſacræ Theologiæ profeſſorem contrarotulatorem omnium minerarum ſuarum auri et argenti, cupri, auricalci, et plumbi, infra comitatus Cornub. et Devon. ac omnium aliarum minerarum ſuarum in quibus aliquod metallum in quo aliquid auri vel argenti habetur, continetur, ſeu aliquo modo haberi ſeu finari poterit in comitatibus prædictis. In 30. H. 6. 20. 25. Anno 30. H. 6.

Which Patent being general (it was ſaid) ought to be taken to extend generally to all baſe Mines, in which aliquid auri vel argenti habetur. And theſe Words aliquid auri vel argenti are to be noted (as Wray ſaid) in Reſpect of the Quantity, for be the Quantity of Gold or Silver in the baſe Mine great or ſmall, it is all one, as he ſaid, and the Word (aliquid) warrants this Senſe and Acceptation.

Another Patent was alledged of the ſame King's in Form following. Cornub. et Devon. Henricus ſextus per literas ſuas patentes datas apud Weſtmonaſt. 20° die Junii anno regni ſui 31° conſtituit Johannem Botright clericum præpoſitum et gubernatorem omnium et ſingularum minerarum ſuarum, de quibus aliquid aurum vel argentum haberi ſeu finari poterit, in comitatibus Cornub. et Devon. ubicunque inveniri poterint. Ac etiam conceſſit dicto Johanni omnes mineras cupri, ſtanni, et plumbi, de quibus aliquid aurum vel argentum haberi ſeu finari contigerit, in comitatibus prædictis. Habendum et occupandum prædicto præpoſito et gubernatori ad uſum ejuſdem prædictas mineras per ſeipſum, vel per ſufficientes deputatos ſuos, pro quibus præfato regi reſpondere tenebitur, quamdiu præfatus Johannes erga eundem regem in officio præpoſituræ et gubernationis prædictæ ſe benè geſſerit. Reddendo et ſolvendo indè præfato regi et hæredibus ſuis decimam partem puri auri et puri argenti, ac etiam decimam partem cupri, ſtanni, et plumbi, de quibus aliquod aurum vel argentum inveniri ſeu finari contigerit in mineris prædictis, ſumptibus ſuis propriis perquirendis pariter et expenſis. Dedit inſuper præfato Johanni plenam poteſtatem vice et nomine præfati regis committendi et ad firmam locandi præfatas mineras, et quamlibet parcellam earundem, quibuſcunque firmariis dicti regis ad terminum duodecim annorum a datu præſentium: Reddendo et ſolvendo præfato nuper regi et hæredibus ſuis quamlibet decimam bollam of the Ore, videlicet cupri, ſtanni, et plumbi, in quibus aliquod aurum vel argentum exiſtit, ut prædictum eſt; with a Clauſe to dig, abſque impedimento præfati regis, vel hæredum ſuorum, aut aliorum officiariorum, miniſtrorum, vel ligeorum ſuorum quorumcunque, ubicunque hujuſmodi mineræ inveniri contigerint, with a Clauſe to make Proviſion for Woods and Labourers, &c. Feodo eccleſiæ duntaxat excepto. In 31. H. 6. 20. 25. Anno 31. H. 6.

By which Patent the King made the Patentee Provoſt and Governor of all his Mines, wherein any Gold or Silver might be had or found in the ſaid Counties; and it has alſo expreſs Words of all Mines of Copper, Tin, and Lead, wherein any Gold or Silver might be had, with Clauſe to dig without Interruption of any of his Lieges, in whatever Place ſuch Mines ſhould happen to be found, which Words (ubicunque, &c.) contain Liberty of digging in all Places of other Men. And the Words (de quibus aliquod aurum vel argentum habere contigerit) are to be obſerved (as it was ſaid) in Reſpect of the Quantity of the Gold or Silver in the Copper, Tin, or Lead, for they are as much as to ſay, be the Quantity of the Gold or Silver great or ſmall. And the Reſervation of the tenth Part of the Copper, Tin, and Lead, in which any Gold or Silver might be found, is to be noted, for thereby it may be ſeen that the King had not only the Gold and Silver, but alſo the baſe Metal, and the Poſſeſſor of the Soil had nothing of it, quia magis dignum trahit ad ſe minus dignum, as it is ſaid before, and the Poſſeſſor of the valuable Thing ſhall be alſo the Poſſeſſor of the baſe Thing.

And divers other Charters of the ſame King Henry 6. were alſo alledged to the ſame Purpoſe. As one which appears in 33. H. 6. Rot. 23. made to Alvared Cornborough whereby he was conſtituted Comptroller omnium minerarum ſuarum, in quibus aliquod metallum, in quo aliquid auri vel argenti habetur, continetur, ſeu aliquo modo haberi ſeu finari poterit in comitatu Cornubiæ. Anno 33. H. 6.

Anno 34. H. 6. And another was alledged which appears in 34 H. 6. Rot. 24. by which the ſame King Henry 6. commiſit et conceſſit duci Eborum omnes et ſingulas mineras auri et argenti, et quorumcunque aliorum metallorum aurum vel argentum in ſe continentium in comitatibus Devon. et Cornub. Habendum ad placitum regis pro termino viginti et unius annorum, &c. with Clauſe that he ſhall not dig ſubtus domos vel prata alicujus perſonæ, &c. and with the Clauſe quod inibi operari liberè valeat abſque impedimen'o præfati regis, &c. vel ligeorum ſuorum quorumcunque, ubi hujuſmodi mineræ infra comitatus prædictos inveniri contigerint: with the Clauſe to make Proviſion within Liberties and without, except within the Fee of holy Church, as before; with Proviſion ſi quis plus dare voluerit, that the Duke ſhall give as much.

From which Charters and others of the ſame King alledged, the Counſel for the Queen inferred as before. Another Charter made by King Edward 4. was recited, which was in Engliſh in Manner following. Somerſet and Glouceſter. Edward the fourth by his Letters patent dated at Weſtminſter the 30th Day of July in the ſecond Year of his Reign, granted unto Gallias de Luine, William Mariner, and Simon Spirt, and to every of them, full Power and Authority to ſearch, break Ground, and dig, and to make Mines within the Counties of Somerſet and Glouceſter, or in any Part of the ſaid Counties, or in what Ground, or in whoſe Ground that it be, as well within the Franchiſes as without, within the ſame Counties, where that they think that any Manner of Ore ſhould be of Lead, Tin, or Copper, that ſhould bear either Silver or Gold, or any may be had or fined out of it, for the Term of five Years next enſuing after the Date of theſe preſent Writings, unto the ſaid Term be fully accompliſhed. And the ſaid King willeth that the ſaid Gallias, William, and Simon accord and agree with the Parties that own the Soil where any ſuch Ground ſhould be broken and digged for the ſaid Mines, as Right ſhall require: Yielding unto the ſaid King and his Heirs every eighth Boll of Ore; that is to ſay, of Lead, Tin, and Copper in which any Gold or Silver is; with a Clauſe to make Proviſion, and to make their Mills to fine and to melt in as many and any Places and Place where it is or ſhall be moſt expedient for them, as the Owner of the Ground and they can agree; and with a Clauſe to all Officers and Liege-men to aſſiſt them, &c. Rotu'o Paten. 2. Ed. 4. in Turri London.

Anno 2. Ed. 4.

By which Record the King took upon him to give Power to the three to dig in any Land whatever, or to whomſoever the Land belonged (which is as much as to ſay, whether it belong to the King, or to a Subject) where they thought there was any Manner of Ore of Lead, Tin, or Copper, which contained Silver or Gold, or where any might be had out of it. Which Words (whoſe Ground ſoever it be) and the other Words afterwards, viz. that they ſhould agree with the Parties that owned the Soil which ſhould be dug up, purport that they ſhould meddle with Mines in the Lands of others. And by the Reſervation of the Lead, Tin, and Copper in which any Gold or Silver was contained, it appears that the King apprehended he ought to have the whole baſe Metal, and not the Lord of the Soil. And the Agreement which is expreſſed to be made with the Lord of the Soil is but a Matter of Curteſy in the King, and not due of Right. And the Words (where any Gold or Silver may be had out of it) imply that be the Quantity of it ever ſo ſmall, yet the King ſhall have the whole baſe Metal.

Anno 8. Ed. 4. To the like Purpoſe another Charter of the ſame King was alledged in this Manner. Anglia. Edwardus quartus per literas ſuas patentes, datas apud Weſtm. 20° die Decembris anno regni ſui 8° conceſſit Richardo comiti Warw. Johanni comiti Northumbr. et aliis, omnes mineras auri et argenti, cum omnibus rebus eaſdem tangentibus infra regnum ſuum Angliæ, a Trenta verſus partes boreales ubicunque inveniri poterint, ac etiam omnes mineras plumbi portantes, habentes, et continentes aurum vel argentum infra partes prædictas, concordantes tamen cum poſſeſſore ſoli ubicunque inveniri poterint infra partes illas: Habendum mineras prædictas per præfatos comites, et alios, et deputatos, et ſervientes ſuos, a feſto purificationis beatæ Mariæ virginis proximè futuro, uſque ad finem quadraginta annorum extunc proximè ſequentium et plenariè complendorum. Reddendo præfato Regi et hæredibus ſuis duodecimam partem puri et mundi auri et argenti, ac dominis ſoli ſive terræ, in qua mineræ illæ fodientur, decimam ſextam partem prout creſcunt; ac faciendo per ſe et deputatos ſuos omnimodos cuſtus et expenſas circa mineras prædictas durante termino prædicto ſupportanda et expendenda. Et quòd dicti comites et alii in omnibus locis infra partes prædictas per ſe, deputatos, et ſervientes ſuos eaſdem mineras liberè ſcrutari et foderè poſſint, et operari in eiſdem et earum qualibet abſque impedimento prædicti regis aut hæredum ſuorum, aut officiariorum ſeu miniſtrorum quorumcunque, ubicunque mineræ prædictæ infra partes prædictas inveniri poterint. Proviſo ſemper quòd prædicti comites, &c. non fodiant ſubtus domus ſive caſtra alicujus ligeorum præfati regis ad mineras prædictas ſcrutandas, abſque licentia domini ſoli.

Which Charter is to the like Effect with the other, viz. that the King took upon him to grant Mines of Lead containing Gold or Silver, being in the Lands of others, and limited that the Patentees ſhould agree with the Owners of the Soil, who ſhould alſo have the 16th Part of the Gold or Silver, which is not due to them of Right, but given to them out of the King's Benevolence. Which Record, as well as all the others here before alledged for the Proof of this Point (which it is to be preſumed were made according to Law, and by great Advice) continuing in Succeſſion from one King's Reign to another, corroborate and fortify the Reaſon aforeſaid, viz. quod omne magis dignum trahit ad ſe minus dignum, and that the King ſhall have all the baſe Metal, be the Quantity of Gold or Silver in it ever ſo ſmall, and conſequently that the Queen ſhall have all the Ore in the principal Caſe.

Beſides theſe Matters divers Accounts were alledged, by which the Silver and the baſe Metal remaining from it were anſwered for to the King. One Account was made by William Wimondham of the Profits of Mines in the Counties of Devon and Cornwal, from the 12th Day of Auguſt anno 22. Ed. 1. unto the 23d Day of September anno 25. Ed. 1. by which the Profits of the Silver, and of the Lead remaining from it were anſwered for. Another Account was made by William de Aulton Clerk for the Profits of Mines, viz. as well of the Lead as of the Silver therein, in the Counties of Devon and Cornwal, from the 4th Day of March anno 26. Ed. 1. unto the 18th Day of April anno 27. Ed. 1. Alſo an Account was made by Matthew Crawthorn of the Silver, and of the Lead which remained from it, out of Mines in Devon and Cornwal, between the 2d and the 15th Years of King Edward 3. And John Maneron, who ſucceeded Crawthorn, rendered the like Account of Silver, and of the Lead remaining from it, from Michaelmas anno 19. Ed. 3. unto the 2d Day of November anno 23. Ed. 3. Another Account was alledged to be made of the Profits of Mines in the Counties of Devon and Cornwal, which were demiſed after the Act of Reſumption to Adrian Sprinker by Robert Glover, which Robert rendered an Account of the Silver, and of the Lead remaining from it. And divers others of the like Sort were alledged, which (although the ſame is not fully expreſſed in the Records) ſhall be intended of Mines as well in the Soil of Subjects as of the King, for they are generally of all Mines in the ſaid Counties, in which Generality ſuch Mines in the Soil of others are comprehended, becauſe the King ſhall have them, as it is ſaid before. Upon which Reaſons, Records, and Accounts they concluded that the King ſhall have all Mines and Ores bearing Gold or Silver and baſe Metal together, which are in the Soil of Subjects; and inaſmuch as the Information here ſpecifies that theſe Mines and Ores of Copper, which are in the Soil of the Earl, contain in them Gold or Silver, and it is not denied by the Anſwer, but fully confeſſed, the Counſel for the Queen prayed Judgment againſt the Earl.

And it was ſaid by ſome of them, that all Mines of Copper in the Lands of Subjects belong to the King, becauſe there is none of them free from Gold or Silver; and this is warranted (as it ſeemed to them) by the Precedents alledged under the firſt Point, which concern as well Mines of Copper as Mines of Gold or Silver. And upon the ſame Reaſon Gerard ſaid that Mines of Tin belong of Right to the King, becauſe there is no Mine of Tin without Silver. And therefore the Power which the Subjects of the King in the Counties of Devon and Cornwal have to dig in their own Land, and in the Land of others for Tin, and to have it to their own Uſe, is derived from Charters made to them by the Kings of this Realm, whereby ſuch Liberty has been given them. And hereupon he mentioned the Charter of King Edward 1. made to his Subjects of the County of Cornwal, bearing Date the 10th Day of April in the 33d Year of his Reign, which is confirmed by the Charter of King Richard 2. bearing Date the 8th Year of his Reign. And the Charter of King Edward 1. was as follows.

Vide 12. Co. 9. the case of Stannaries.

Edwardus Dei gratia, &c. ſalutem. Sciatis quòd nos ad emendationem ſtannariarum noſtrarum in comitatu Cornubiæ, et ad tranquillitatem et utilitatem ſtannatorum noſtrorum earundem, conceſſiſſe pro nobis et hæredibus noſtris, quod omnes ſtannatores prædicti operantes in ſtannariis illis quæ ſunt dominica noſtra, dum operantur in eiſdem ſtannariis, ſint liberi et quieti de placitis nativorum, et de omnibus placitis et querelis curiam noſtram et hæredum noſtrorum quoquo modo tangentibus. Ita quod non reſpondeant coram aliquibus juſticiariis vel miniſtris noſtris ſeu hæredum noſtrorum de aliquo placito ſeu querela infra prædictas ſtannarias emergentibus, niſi coram cuſtode noſtro ſtannariarum noſtrarum prædictarum qui pro tempore fuerit, (exceptis placitis terræ, vitæ, et membrorum) nec receaant ab operationibus ſuis per ſummonitionem alicujus miniſtrorum noſtrorum ſeu hæredum noſtrorum, niſi per ſummonitionem dicti cuſtodis noſtri: Et quòd quieti ſint de omnibus tallagiis, theoloniis, ſtallagiis, auxiliis, et aliis cuſtumis quibuſcunque in villis, portubus, feriis, et mercatis infra comitatum prædictum de bonis ſuis propriis. Conceſſimus etiam eiſdem ſtannatoribus, quòd fodere poſſint ſtannum, et turbas ad ſtannum fundendum, ubique in terris, moris, et vaſtis noſtris, et aliorum quorumcunque in comitatu prædicto, et aquas et curſus aquarum ad operationes ſtannariarum prædictarum divertere, ubi et quotiens opus fuerit, et emere buſcam et functuram ſtanni, ſicut antiquitus fieri conſuevit, ſine impedimento noſtri vel hæredum noſtrorum, epiſcoporum, abbatum, priorum, comitum, baronum, ſeu aliorum quorumcunque. Et quòd cuſtos noſter prædictus, vel ejus locum tenens teneat omnia placita inter ſtannatores prædictos emergentia, et etiam inter ipſos et alios forinſecos, de omnibus tranſgreſſionibus, querelis, et contractibus factis in locis in quibus operantur infra ſtannarias prædictas ſimiliter emergentia. Et quod idem cuſtos habeat plenam poteſtatem ad ſtannarios prædictos et alios forinſecos in hujuſmodi placitis juſticiand. et partibus juſticiam faciendum, prout juſtum et hactenus in ſtannariis illis fuerit uſitatum. Et ſi qui ſtannatorum prædictorum in aliquo deliquerint, per quod incarcerari debent, per cuſtodem prædictum arreſtentur, et in priſona noſtra de Leſtwithiel et non alibi cuſtodiantur et detineantur, quouſque ſecundum legem et conſuetudinem regni noſtri deliberentur. Et ſi aliqui ſtannatorum prædictorum ſuper aliquo facto infra curiam prædictam non tangente ſtannarias prædictas ſe poſuerint in inquiſitionem patriæ, una medietas juratorum inquiſitionis hujuſmodi ſit de ſtannatoribus prædictis, et alia medietas de forenſecis; ſi de facto totaliter tangente ſtannarias prædictas, fiant inquiſitiones ſicut hactenus fieri conſueverunt. Et ſi quis eorundem ſtannatorum fugitivus fuerit, vel utlagatus, vel aliquid delictum fecerit, pro quo catalla ſua amittere debeat, catalla illa per cuſtodem prædictum et coronatorem noſtrum comitatus prædicti apprecientur, et per ipſos proximis villatis liberentur ad reſpondendum inde nobis et hæredibus noſtris, coram juſticiariis itinerantibus in comitatu prædicto. Volumus inſuper et firmiter præcipimus, quod totum ſtannum tam album quam nigrum, ubicunque inventum et operatum fuerit in comitatu prædicto, ponderetur apud Leſtwithiel, Bodminian, Liſkiriel, Threnirn, vel Heleſton per pondera noſtra ad hoc ordinata et ſignata, ſub forisfactura totius ſtanni prædicti. Et quod totum illud ſtannum coignetur in eiſdem villis ſingulis coram cuſtode prædicto ante diem ſancti Michaelis in Septembri, ſub forisfactura prædicta. Et conceſſimus pro nobis et hæredibus noſtris, quod omnes ſtannatores noſtri prædicti totum ſtannum ſuum, ſi ſit ponderatum, licitè vendere poſſint cuicunque voluerint in villis prædictis, faciendo inde nobis et hæredibus noſtris coignagium et alias conſuetudines debitas et uſitatas, niſi nos vel hæredes noſtri ſtannum illud emere voluerimus.

coram

So that the ſaid Clauſe in the above Charter, quod fodere poſſint ſtannum, et turbas ad ſtannum fundendum, ubique in terris, moris, et vaſtis noſtris, et aliorum quorumcunque in comitatu prædicto, et aquas et curſus aquarum ad operationes ſtannariarum prædictarum divertere, ubi et quotiens opus fuerit, gives them that Power which the King only had before by Prerogative, and which they had not before, viz. to dig for Tin in their own Lands, and in the Lands of others, and to dig for Turves in the Lands of others in order to melt the Tin, and to divert Water-courſes in the Lands of others. And by this Charter they might dig in the Meadows of others, and might pull down the Houſes of others, in Reſtraint whereof (he ſaid) the Act of Parliament was made in 50. Ed. 3. which recites the ſaid Charter, and explains the Words and Articles thereof, and the Senſe of them, and touching the ſaid Clauſe laſt recited Word by Word, the Words of the Act thereupon are, It ſeems neceſſary in this Caſe that their Cuſtoms and Uſages be diligently enquired, and that the Warden of the Stannery be charged that he do not ſuffer any Work-man of the ſaid Stannery to dig in Meadows, nor to abate the Woods nor Houſes of others, nor to turn the Water nor the Courſe of Water by Malice. And the like Charter was made by the ſame King Edward 1. bearing the ſame Date, to them of the County of Devon, and the like Act of Expoſition upon this Charter was alſo made the ſame anno 50 Ed. 3. which Words of the Acts reſtrained the Liberty which the Charter gave them as to thoſe Points. So that, he ſaid, by theſe Charters and Acts it is evident that their Power and Authority in Cornwal and Devonſhire to dig for and have Tin was derived from the Crown; and a certain Quantity of Tin is payable to the Crown for ſuch Liberty at this Day. And the Reaſon why the Subjects might not have the Tin before in their own Lands, was, becauſe in Tin there is Silver, which being the more worthy drew to it the leſs worthy, and ſo made the Crown which was the Proprietor of the Silver to be the Proprietor of the whole. And as the Crown has by way of Reſervation a certain Quantity and Profit of the Ore of Tin out of Cornwal and Devonſhire, as an Acknowledgment of the Benefit which they enjoy, ſo in ſome Places in the County of Derby the Crown has a certain Quantity of Lead upon Conſideration that there is Silver in it, and to abſtain from proceeding to the Rigour of the Prerogative. And he ſaid that there is a Difference in Mines of Lead, for ſome are fertile, that is, containing Gold or Silver, and ſome are barren, viz. without Gold or Silver. And Wray ſaid that in Derbyſhire and other Places where barren Mines of Lead have always been, and the Crown has never had any Profit of them, the Subjects may there preſcribe for it againſt the Crown, and the digging and taking the Lead without Payment is a Preſcription for the Country. And he ſaid that Heſket beforementioned held the Preſcription in ſuch Caſe good.

3 E contra for the Earl.

On the contrary Shirborn, Bell, and Mead argued to this ſecond Point on behalf of the Earl. And they ſaid that one Thing is affirmed by the Information, and that is, that the Ore and Mine in Queſtion is of Copper containing in it Gold or Silver, which is not denied by the Defendant, but fully confeſſed. [a] And if the Copper is of the greater Value, it ſeemed to them that the Queen ſhould have nothing, for the greater Value ſhall be preferred, and ſhall draw to it the leſſer. And hereupon they put the ſaid Caſe of a [b] Box and Charters, where the Heir ſhall have the Box ſealed along with the Charters; ſo that, they ſaid, this Caſe proves for them. And although Gold or Silver is more precious than Copper, yet if the Quantity of the Copper is ſo great that it exceeds the Value of the Gold or Silver, the Gold or Silver ſhall give Place to it; for the Thing of more Value ſhall be accounted more worthy, although the Thing of leſs Value is more precious, Quantity for Quantity. And foraſmuch as the Queen's Attorney has not ſhewn that the Gold and Silver in the Mine or in the Ores was of greater Value than the Copper, he has not ſhewn a ſufficient Title for the Queen. And Bell ſaid that at leaſt he ought to have ſhewn that the Gold or Silver was of greater Value, for, as it is, it does not appear to be of any Value above the Charge of getting it. For the Copper might contain in it Gold or Silver, and yet the Gold or Silver not counterballance the Charge of getting it, as for every 1000 l. Value of Copper, there might not be above 12 d. Value of Gold or Silver, or in 20 Yards Length in the Vein of Copper there might not be more than a Quilful of Gold or Silver, ſo that the Gold or Silver, which ſhould be had, would not pay the Charge of getting it. And if it be ſo, the Queen ought not to have it by Prerogative. And the Precedents which have been ſhewn, as well as the Law touching the Prerogative in this Point, ought to be underſtood with this reaſonable Limitation, viz. where the Gold or Silver which is in the baſe Metal exceeds the Value of the baſe Metal, or at leaſt is ſufficient to defray all the Expences of getting it. [c] For otherwiſe the Crown would have all the Mines of baſe Metal in the Realm, for (as I have been informed by thoſe who are experienced in the Art) there is no Mine of Tin, or Copper, or Lead, or Iron, but ſome Gold or Silver may be drawn out of it, the Value of which when gotten is not equal to that of the baſe Metal, or to the Expence of getting it, in which it would be very abſurd to affirm that the King

[a] Poſt 338, 339. by the Reporter.

[b] Ante 323 (c).

[c] Poſt 339. by the Reporter.

ſhall have the whole Mine. And yet the bare Words of the Information here, and of the Precedents recited, tend in ſuch Caſe to give the Mines to the Queen, for the Words are, that the baſe Metals contain in them, or bear or have in them, Gold or Silver. And ſome of the Precedents, viz. three in the Time of King Henry 6. and one in the Time of Edward 4. are of Mines of baſe Metal in which aliquid auri vel argenti habetur; ſo that it might be ſaid that an Ounce of Gold or Silver is within the Words of the Precedents. But, Sir, all Words admit of Senſe, and he that recites the Words, and knows not the Senſe, does not well underſtand the Effect of the Words, for the Life of Words conſiſts in the Senſe of them. And the Words, aliquid auri vel argenti habetur, are to be underſtood where there is ſuch a Quantity of Gold or Silver as will countervail the Charges of ſearching and digging, and all the neceſſary Expences that attend the getting of it. But if a Man ſhould be at the Charge of 5 d. to get Gold or Silver of the Value of 4 d. or if the baſe Metal which he ſhould conſume about the getting of Gold or Silver of the Value of 4 d. be worth 5 d. in theſe Caſes this aliquid is not aliquid, but this aliquid is nihil, and leſs than nihil, for ex nihilo a Man ſhall have nothing, and ſhall loſe nothing; but from this aliquid he ſhould have Loſs, which is not the Intent or Meaning of the Precedents, nor agreeable with the Reaſon of the Law in the above Maxim, quod omne magis dignum trahit ad ſe minus dignum, for this is to be underſtood where the more worthy Thing is of ſome Value, or of more Value than the Thing of leſs Worth, but it does not hold Place where the Thing is of no Value in itſelf. * And therefore where an Action of Waſt is given for Waſt done to the Diſheriſon, &c. yet it has been held that if the Waſt done is but of the Value of 2 d. the Plaintiff ſhall not have Judgment, for de minimis non curat lex, and this is not within the Words or Intent of the Act. And ſo in the ſaid Commiſſions or Leaſes of baſe Mines in which aliquid auri vel argenti habetur, the Intent of the King and of the Words are, where the Gold or Silver is worth more than the baſe Mine, or at leaſt is equivalent to the whole Charge of getting it, for otherwiſe it ſhall not deſtroy the Thing of greater Value. So that they are only to be taken in this Senſe, viz. where there is a great Plenty of Gold or Silver in the Mines. And this (he ſaid) manifeſtly appears by the ſaid Charter of King Henry 4. where upon his Demiſe made to Darby and Darby de mineris plumbi quæ portant et habent de argento, the King reſerved to himſelf nonam libram de puro argento inde proveniente, in which Caſe the King underſtood that there was a great Quantity of Silver in the Mines, inaſmuch as he did not reſerve any Part of the other Metal, and it is to be preſumed that he would make ſuch Reſervation as was moſt to his Advantage, and ſo he took the Silver to be the greater Profit. And the like Reſervation is in the ſaid Charter to John Sollers, and in the ſaid Charter made to the Earls of Warwick and Northumberland; and although ſome of the Charters reſerve the baſe Metal alſo, this is no Reaſon but that the Gold or Silver ſhall be intended of the greater Value, inaſmuch as the Gold or Silver itſelf is reſerved at the ſame time. So that the Intent of the ſaid Kings in the Words aliquid auri vel argenti, as alſo in the other Words portantes et continentes aurum vel argentum, are expounded by the other Charters. And he alledged many Caſes upon the Expoſition of the Words of Statutes, proving that the Effect of all Words reſts in a reaſonable Senſe and Conſtruction of them, and that in ſuch Senſe they ought always to be taken. And ſo (he ſaid) the Words in the ſaid Commiſſions and Demiſes made by the ſaid Kings import that the Gold or Silver in ſuch baſe Mines ſhould be of the greater Quantity, or at leaſt that it ſhould be of ſufficient Value to defray the Charges of getting it, excluſive of the baſe Metal, and that the Commiſſioners and Leſſees ought not to meddle with the baſe Mines in the Lands of Subjects, unleſs there be in them ſuch a ſuperior Quantity of Gold or Silver as is aforeſaid, but that they ſhould permit the Subjects, who were the Poſſeſſors of the Soil where ſuch Mines were, to enjoy them, and take the Ore in them as Parcel of their Soil and Freehold, and there is no Reaſon nor Precedent to the contrary.

And it is the Office of you, who are the Judges in this Caſe, to conſider where it is that the Matter reſts, which is to be known by the Information and the Anſwer. And the Information ſeems to be inſufficient, for an Information for the King is the King's Declaration, which ought to contain Certainty, ſo that the Party may perfectly know what he is to anſwer to, and the Court upon what they are to give Judgment. And by the Information and the Anſwer it is here diſcloſed and confeſſed that the Earl has taken ſix hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper-ore containing in it Gold or Silver, which was found and dug up in his own Land, that is to ſay, five hundred thouſand Pounds Weight in a Mine opened after the Earl became Lord of the Soil, and one hundred thouſand Pounds Weight in a Mine in his Soil opened before he was Lord of the Soil; and it does not appear that the Gold or Silver in ſuch Ore was of greater Value than the Copper, or at leaſt that it was of any Value above the Charge of getting it, or above the baſe Metal, that is, the Copper conſumed in the getting of it; and if it be not, then the Act of the Earl is lawful, and if it be of greater Value, then the Act of the Earl is unlawful, if the Queen has a Prerogative in the Point. And inaſmuch as it is incertain whether it is the one Way or the other, the Court does not know how to adjudge upon it; and in order to make it certain, the Queen's Attorney ought to have ſhewn the whole Matter in the Information, viz. that the Land belonged to the Earl, and that the Gold or Silver was of greater Value than the Copper, or at leaſt of greater Value than the Copper conſumed, and the Expences laid out about the getting of it, in which Caſe the Queen ſhould have had it. And inaſmuch as it is not ſo averred, no Title is ſhewn for the Queen, for which Reaſon Judgment ought to be given againſt the Queen.

And he ſaid that the Commiſſions and Precedents are not of great Eſtimation or Weight, for they were made at the Requeſt of thoſe who ſued to the Kings for them with an Intent to gain by them. And although the People ſubmitted to them, this is rather to be aſcribed to the Obe-

* H. 9. H. 6. 66. b. Per Babing. H. 38 Ed. 3. 7. b. Bro. Waſt 74. 2 Inſt. 306. 2 Finch 29. And Bracton fo. 316. § 12. ſays, Waſt is not injurious, ſi ita modicum ſit, propter quod non ſit inquiſitio facienda, as in the Caſe of Peyjure T. 15 H. 3. But many petit Waſts ſeem to come within the Intention of the Law, M. 14. H. 4. 11, 12. Fitz. Waſt 64. Bro. 70. Co. Litt. 54. a.

dience of the Subjects, than to be made Uſe of as a Teſtimony of the Law; and the more ſo, becauſe in a great Number of ſuch Commiſſions or Leaſes it was limited that an Agreement ſhould be made with the Owners of the Soil, which being done, took away from the Subjects all Occaſions of Law-ſuits, or of enquiring after the Law in ſuch Caſe, for they reaped an Advantage as well as the King and his Patentees. And he denied that the Power of having Tin, and of digging for it by them of the County of Cornwal, commenced by the Charter before recited, for they uſed that Power a long Time before, as appears by theſe Words in the Charter, ad emendationem ſtannariarum noſtrarum, et utilitatem ſtannatorum noſtrorum earundem, and by other Words therein, as well as by theſe Words in the Act, that their Cuſtoms and Uſages ſhall be enquired, and by divers other Words, which prove that there was a Uſage and Cuſtom in theſe Points before, and that the Charter was only a Confirmation of their Uſages, and a further Grant of divers Liberties and Things for their Direction. And although the King has ſome Profit of Tin or of Lead in ſome Places as a Toll-diſh of Ore, or the like, this is not in Reſpect of any Intereſt which the King had in the Thing itſelf, but it is to bear the Charge of the Officers, as Comptrollers, Triers, and ſuch like, conſtituted by him for the Direction of the Stanners and Labourers. So he has ſome Profit of Merchants upon the like Reaſon, for he appoints Officers, as Searchers, Comptrollers, and ſuch like, for their neceſſary Direction, and in Conſideration thereof he has ſome Part of their Merchandize for the ſearching, Comptrollment, weighing, &c. and not in reſpect of any Property which he has in their Merchandize. Wherefore for the Reaſons and Cauſes aforeſaid, it ſeemed to him and to the others that Judgment ſhould be given for the Earl and againſt the Queen. And many other Things were ſaid on this Part.

3 Point. For the Earl. Whether the King's Grant de gratia ſua ſpeciali, certa ſcientia, et mero motu ſuis ſhall paſs Mines wherein the King has a Prerogative.

As to the third Point, it was ſaid by the Counſel for the Earl, that ſuppoſing the Law to be that Mines of Copper in the Lands of Subjects belong to the Queen by Prerogative, yet here theſe Mines and Ores in Queſtion ſhall paſs to the Earl by the ſaid Letters-patent of King Philip and Queen Mary. For as to the firſt Plea, they took it that the Vein, out of which the ſaid five hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Copper were dug, could not be called a Mine at the Time of the Date of the Patent made to the Earl, nor ſhould paſs by the Name of Mines, becauſe then the Vein was cloſe, and not open, and therefore ſuch Vein and the Ore in it ſhall paſs by the Grant of the Soil, as a Thing Parcel of the Soil, and not by the Word (Mines.) And in the ſecond Plea, they took it that the Vein and the Ore ſhall paſs by the Words (omnes et ſingulas mineras, &c.) becauſe the Vein was open, in which Caſe it might bear the Name of a Mine. Which Words (omnes et ſingulas mineras) are to be well obſerved, for, as it ſeemed to them, they are Words of great Extent, and this Word (ſingulas) coming after (omnes) admits of no Exception, be the Mine of Gold, Silver, or mixed, for they granted all Mines, and every ſingular Mine. And therefore in both Points it cannot be ſuppoſed that the King and Queen were miſconuſant of the Veins and Ores, and eſpecially of that which was open. And if they ſhould be taken to be miſconuſant of the Vein and Ore which was cloſe, and not open, yet it cannot be taken that their Intent was to retain it, but that every Word ſhall be conſtrued favourably for the Patentee, and moſt ſtrongly againſt them, becauſe the Patent is granted by the King and Queen de gratia ſua ſpeciali, ac ex certa ſcientia, et ex mero motu ſuis. Which Words [a] (de gratia ſua ſpeciali) ſhew the great Favour and Bounty of the King and Queen to the Patentee, [b] (ex certa ſcientia) imply a full Knowledge and underſtanding of the Matter, [c] and (ex mero motu) teſtify that there was not any Suit nor Suggeſtion of the Patentee, but that the firſt Motion, and all that followed from it to the Perfection of the Patent, proceeded from the King and Queen themſelves, ſo that the Patent ſhall be extended moſt largely for the Benefit of the Patentee. And therefore if it ſhould be ſaid here on Behalf of the Queen, that when they granted the Land, they did not know that ſuch Vein of Ore was in it, or that when they granted omnes et ſingulas mineras, they did not know that Gold or Silver was in the Mines, Sir, they themſelves have teſtified the contrary, in that they have ſaid ex certa ſcientia, &c. which is as much as to ſay, they have Knowledge of every Thing material; and how have they teſtified it? Under the Great Seal of England, which is the Teſtimony of Truth, and whoſe Credit cannot be impugned. So that if any one will contradict this, and ſay that the King and Queen were ignorant that there was any Gold or Silver in the Land and Mines, what elſe does he but contradict the King and Queen in a Point of Credit? [d] And in 43. Ed. 3. Thorp ſaid that if a Manor to which an Advowſon is appendant be in the Hands of the King by Eſcheat, or Purchaſe, and the King at this Day gives the Manor to a Man as entirely as ſuch a one held it before it came into our Hands by Way of Eſcheat, or as ſuch a one held it who enfeoffed us, the Advowſon ſhall paſs without ſaying cum feodis et advocationibus, and the Reaſon is, becauſe the Law preſumes in ſuch Caſe that the King is appriſed of his Right, quod Curia ibi conceſſit. And if it ſhall be ſo ſaid in this Caſe, where it is only taken by Implication that the King is appriſed of his Right, a fortiore ſhall it be ſo taken in our Caſe, where the King ſays ſo in expreſs Words. And if any one ſhould ſay that the Words ſhall be conſtrued moſt ſtrictly againſt the Patentee, and moſt liberally for the King and Queen, Sir, this Patent was made by them de gratia ſua ſpeciali, by which Words they expreſs their Favour and Bounty to the Patentee, and ſignify that they ſhall be favourably interpreted, and taken moſt largely for his Benefit and Advantage, and moſt ſtrictly againſt themſelves. And if it ſhould be ſaid that the Patentee gave Information to the King and Queen, and made Suit to have the Grant, and therefore every word ſhall be taken moſt ſtrongly againſt him, Sir, the King and Queen have teſtified the contrary, for they have ſaid that the Grant is made ex mero motu ſuo, whereby they had a Mind that this Deed of their meer Motion ſhould have an ample Conſtruction. And to prove that Patents of the Kings of this Realm, which have the ſaid Words de gratia ſpeciali, certa ſcien-

[a] 10 Co. 113. a. 3 Leon. 249.

[b] 10 Co. 312. b. 3 Leon. 249. Poſt 502. Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative E. c. 3.

[c] 10 Co. 112. b. 3 Leon. 249.

[d] T. 43. Ed. 3. 22. Fitz. Grants 46. Bro. Patents 6. in fine.

ſcientia, et mero motu, or any of them, ſhall be taken as it is ſaid above, [a] the Opinion of Huſſey in 9. H. 7. was cited by Mead and Bell, where he ſays that if the King recites a Grant made by his Predeceſſor, and ſays ex certa ſcientia, et mero motu, and ratifies it, he ſhall be concluded to ſay that no ſuch Grant was made; for, he ſays, there is a great Difference between a Patent which is ex certa ſcientia, and recites a former Grant, and confirms it, and where the King recites that ſuch a one is ſeized ut informamur, whoſe Eſtate he confirms and ratifies, for there he ſhall not be concluded, but ſhall be received to ſay that no ſuch Grant was precedent; but where he recites a former Grant, and ſays ex certa ſcientia, and confirms it, and further ſays damus et concedimus the ſame Franchiſe, there the Patent ſhall enure as a Confirmation, for the King and the Party are concluded to ſay that ſuch former Grant was not made, and therefore the damus et concedimus are void. So that by the Opinion of Huſſey we ſee that where the King ſays ex certa ſcientia, he is concluded to deny it, and is eſtopped to plead Ignorance of it. [b] And, Shirborn ſaid, it appears in 1. H. 7. that the King ex mero motu et certa ſcientia pardonavit A. B. omnia debita et compotus, &c. by the Name of A. B. only, and the ſame A. B. as Sheriff, was then indebted to the King, and this Pardon was allowed in Diſcharge of ſuch Debt due by him as Sheriff, notwithſtanding that he was not named Sheriff, and that ſuch Debt was not mentioned in the Pardon; and the Reaſon was, becauſe the Juſtices held the Law to be, that where the King ex certa ſcientia, et mero motu, pardons any one by his proper Name for all Debts, Accounts, &c. ſuch Pardon ſhall be taken generally; but where he makes a Pardon to any upon an untrue Suggeſtion, or by Reaſon of his Office, ſuch Pardon ſhall be taken ſtrictly, and acording to the Letter only. From whence we ſee that where the King does a Thing ex certa ſcientia, he ſhall not afterwards aid himſelf by Plea of Ignorance, and where it is ex certa ſcientia et mero motu, it ſhall be taken beneficially for the Party, and ſtrongly againſt the King. [c] Alſo he cited the Caſe in 3. H. 7. where the King wrote to the Prior of Norwich to admit his Preſentee to a Corody which Gilbert Baniſter late had, and the Prior returned that the Priory was of the Foundation of the Biſhop of Norwich, and not of the Kings Progenitors, and that one R. and other Perſons had obtained a Corody at the Requeſt of divers Kings, and ſo had the ſaid Baniſter at the Requeſt of King Edward 4. and he returned the Letters patent of the ſame King Edward, reciting prout ex lamentabili inſinuatione prioris recitanda totam materiam, ut ſupra, idem rex ob devotionem quam habuit ad Sanctam Trinitatem, ac causâ præmiſſorum, ac pro quadam pecuniæ ſummâ ei ſolutâ, de gratia ſua ſpeciali, ex certa ſcientia, et mero motu ſuis relaxavit eidem priori, &c. et exoneravit de corodio, &c. And amongſt other Exceptions taken to this Return, one was, for that he had not returned all the Names of thoſe who had had Corodies, and by what Kings, but he only returned that other Perſons had obtained a Corody, ut ſupra, and inaſmuch as the Certainty is not expreſſed, and it is upon Suggeſtion, and ſo the King is not fully informed, it was ſaid that the King was deceived, and his Charter ſhould be void; [d] as if three Kings uſurp Preſentations, and the King reciting one of the Uſurpations grants and reſtores the Patronage to him upon whom the Uſurpation was made, the Charter is void, as it ſhould be upon a Petition; ſo, it was ſaid, it ſhould be in the Caſe there: But the Charter was adjudged good, and the Prior was diſcharged by Judgment, as appears in the Roll which is in [e] M. 3. H. 7. Roll 10. but ſo much does not appear in the Book itſelf, as the Counſel ſaid; and the Reaſon of the Judgment, he ſaid, was, becauſe the Charter was ex certa ſcientia, &c. in which Caſe the King ſhall not ſay that he was deceived or ignorant. And thus we ſee of what Effect ſuch Charters are, although they are made by Suggeſtion of the Party, as that was, for the Words are that the King knew ex lamentabili inſinuatione prioris; and therefore where Suggeſtion is made, and ex certa ſcientia is in the Patent, the King is nevertheleſs excluded from aiding himſelf by Ignorance or other Matter. [f] And, he ſaid, it appears in 21. Ed. 4. that King Richard 2. de gratia ſua ſpeciali had granted to the Abbot of Waltham, that he and his Succeſſors ſhould be diſcharged of the Collection of Tithe, when any Tithe ſhould be granted to the King per clerum Angliæ, and the Province of Canterbury only in their Convocation granted a Tithe to the King, and the Queſtion was, if the Succeſſor of the Abbot ſhould be diſcharged from the Collection of it, (the Grant being de gratia ſua ſpeciali, ut ſupra) inaſmuch as the Tithe was not granted by the whole Clergy, but by one Province only, which is but a Part of the Clergy, and there it ſeemed to all the Juſtices that the Charter was good, and that the Abbot ſhould be diſcharged. From whence it appears how favourably a Charter granted ex gratia ſpeciali ſhall be taken and expounded. [g] And to this Purpoſe he alledged Quatermain's Caſe in 36 & 37 H. 6. where it appears that Quatermains Sheriff of the County of Oxford had returned upon an Exigent, quarto exactus, where in Fact the Party was outlawed, as it afterwards appeared to the Court by the Certificate of the Coroners, after which the King, of his ſpecial Grace and meer Motion, pardoned him for all Miſpriſions, Offences, Contempts, and Deceits, and it was there debated whether or no this Pardon was ſufficient to diſcharge him of the Amercement for the falſe Return, inaſmuch as it is a great Offence, and the Words there are obſcure, and don't expreſs the Offence certainly; and it was held by all the Juſtices, that the Pardon was good, and ſhould diſcharge him of the Amercement. For it was there held, that in a ſpecial Pardon the Party ought to have expreſs Words, and not obſcure Words, for the King ought to be fully certified of the Matter; [h] and ſuch Pardon ſhall be conſtrued moſt to the Advantage of the King, and to the Diſadvantage of the Party, becauſe ſuch Suit comes only from the Party: But ſo was it not there, for the Charter came from the King himſelf of his own ſpecial Grace without Suit, and ex mero motu ſuo, and ſuch Pardon ſhall be taken moſt beneficially for the Party, becauſe the Law preſumes that the King is appriſed of the Matter as much as if it was by expreſs Words. And ſo is the Diverſity there taken, quod Markham et alii Juſticiarii ibi conceſſerunt. From whence it appears how greatly ſuch Words benefit the Party. [i] And he alſo alledged the Caſe in 41 Aſſ. where the King by his Charter of Licence granted de gratia ſua ſpeciali to one S. who was ſeized of a Houſe, that [a] T. 9. H. 7. 2. a. Fitz. Eſtoppel 84 Bro. Patents 80. Kitch. 303 Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative E. c. 3. pl. 2.

[b] H. 1. H. 7. 13. a. Bro. Charter de Pardon 36. Patents 42. Releaſes 40. M. 2. R. 3. 7. pl. 12. Dy. 269. pl. 19. 1 Co. 45. b. 49. a. Gouldſb. 11. Kitch. 303.

[c] P. 3. H. 7. 6. b. 1 Co. 51. b. 52. a.

[d] Bro. Petition 21.

[e] 1 Co. 52. a.

[f] M. 21. Ed. 4. 44. b. Fitz. Grants 29. Bro. Exemption 9. Patents 71. 1 Co. 4 c. a. 8 Co. 56. a. Moor 165. 3 Keb. 234.

[g] Anno 36. H. 6. 24. b. P. 37. H. 6. 21. Fitz. Charter 22. Bro. 25. Patents 24. 1 Co. 45. b. 5 Co. 43. b. 1 And. 94. 1 Finch 90. 2 Finch 101.

[h] Hardr. 186. Latch 22.

[i] 41 Aſſ. pl. 19. Fitz. Grant 2. Bro. Patents 38. Alienation 31. Dy. 269. pl. 19. 1 Co. 45. b. See Poſt 3 : 4 (k).

that he might give it in Mortmain to an Abbot, which S. accordingly did ſo, and the Houſe was held of the King in Free-burgage, and whether this Charter was ſufficient, inaſmuch as it did not recite the Tenure of the King, was the Queſtion; and becauſe the Charter was made de gratia ſpeciali of the King, it was adjudged to be ſufficient; for which Reaſon the Abbot, out of whoſe Seizin the Houſe was taken, had Reſtitution. Whereby it appears how beneficially the King's Charters ſhall be taken for the Party, where theſe Words (de gratia ſpeciali) are in them, inſomuch that in a Matter of Incertainty they ſhall operate to the Benefit of the Party, and to the Detriment of the King. And many other Caſes were put on this Point by thoſe who were of Counſel for the Earl. And Shirborn ſaid, where the King and Queen have here granted to the Earl omnes et ſingulas mineras, if he ſhall not have this Mine here, he ſhall take nothing by theſe Words, for baſe Mines he ſhall † have by the Grant of the Soil; and therefore if theſe Mines belonged to the Crown they ought to paſs, or elſe the Words will be void, which is a hard Expoſition. From whence the Counſel on this Part concluded, that inaſmuch as the King and Queen have here in the one Caſe granted to the Earl the Land in which the Ore was, and in the other Caſe the Mine, by the Name of all and ſingular Mines, and theſe Grants are de gratia ſua ſpeciali, ac certa ſcientia, et mero motu ſuis; by which Words the King and Queen took upon them the preciſe Knowledge of the Certainty and Quality of the Ore, and intended that the Charter ſhould be taken favourably for the Earl, and moſt ſtrongly againſt themſelves, for theſe Reaſons it ſeemed to them that the Ores ſhould paſs to the Earl; and eſpecially ſeeing that the Patent was made before the Statute of 4th & 5th of the Reign of the ſame King and Queen, made concerning their Letters-patent, by which all their Letters-patent are made good, notwithſtanding the Want of the true Name of the Natures, Kinds, and Sorts of the Hereditaments contained in ſuch Letters-patent. So that although the Nature of the Mine or Land is not expreſſed, viz. that it contains Ore of Copper mixt with Gold or Silver, yet this Defect is redreſſed and made good by the ſaid Act, and alſo the Act is, that the Letters-patent ſhall be expounded, conſtrued, deemed, and adjudged moſt beneficially for the Patentees, which Clauſe alſo aids the Earl; and hereupon they prayed Judgment for the Earl.

† In the Original it is (n'avera) ſhall not have; but that is evidently an Error of the Preſs. See Poſt 335 (e).

E contra for the Queen.

On the contrary it was argued by the Counſel for the Queen touching this Point, who ſaid that as to the ſeveral Grants alledged in the ſeveral Bars, they are in two Degrees, and therefore two Things are to be conſidered in them. Firſt, whether or no by the Grant of the Soil in which the Ore was, being made ex gratia ſpeciali, certa ſcientia, et mero motu, the Ore of Copper containing in it Gold or Silver (the Vein whereof was not open but cloſe) ſhall paſs to the Patentee. Secondly, whether or no by the Grant of all Mines, with the Words aboveſaid, this Mine of Copper containing Gold or Silver ſhall paſs to the Patentee.

And it ſeemed to them that they ſhall not paſs in the one Caſe or in the other. For as to the firſt, it is to be obſerved that in the Ore, which was in the Soil, there was not Copper only, for if it had been ſo, or if it had been any other baſe Metal, as Tin, Lead, or Iron free from Gold or Silver, it ſhould clearly have paſſed to the Patentee by the Grant of the Soil, inaſmuch as the Vein was cloſe and not open. But here it is Copper mixed with Gold or Silver, which Mixture of the Copper with a Thing of more Value, viz. with Gold or Silver, which are Metals royal, makes the whole Ore, being an entire Thing, to become royal, and to be the Property of him to whom the Thing of greater Value belongs, which is, to the King. And this royal Metal is given to him by Reaſon of his Dignity-royal, and is appropriated to the Crown by Prerogative, ſo that the King ſhall have it in his own Land, and in the Land of others in one ſame Degree, for he has it not in his own Land in Reſpect that he is the Poſſeſſor of the Land, but in Reſpect that he is the Poſſeſſor of the Crown, and in that Reſpect he has it alike in his own Soil, and in the Soil of others. So that his own Soil is not the Cauſe of his having ſuch Ore which is therein, but the Prerogative of his Crown; from whence it follows, that if he aliens the Soil, he does not * thereby alien this Point of the Prerogative of his Crown in his Soil, no more than in the Caſe (as Gerard put it) where Treaſure is hid in his Land, and he gives the Land to another in Fee, he does not thereby give the Treaſure hid, but when it is found, the King ſhall have it as Treaſure-trove, for this is a Point of Prerogative, which is not given in the Gift of the Land. So for the ſame Reaſon (Onſlow ſaid) Waif, Eſtray, Wreck, and the like, which belong to the Crown, ſhall not paſs by a Gift of the Land in Fee, becauſe theſe Things are collateral to the Land. [c] And upon this Ground Wray ſaid that if a Manor, which is within a Foreſt of the King, as Waltham, eſcheats to the King, who gives this Manor to another in Fee, he has not in the Gift of the Manor given him the Liberty which he had in the Manor touching the Foreſt, for nevertheleſs it is within the Foreſt, and Subject to the Paſture of Deer and Wild-beaſts of the Foreſt, and he cannot cut his Woods there without the Licence of the Juſtice of the Foreſt, for this is a Thing collateral to the Soil. So that by the Gift of the Soil, a Thing collateral to the Soil, as Matters of Prerogative or Liberties are, ſhall not paſs. And if the King's Tenant, who holds in capite, dies, having a Wife, and after Office found the Heir has Livery, in which the Clauſe (of ſaving to the Wife her Dower to be aſſigned by the King) is not contained, yet, Onſlow ſaid, the King may aſſign Dower to the Wife, for this belongs to his Prerogative; ſo that though he has diſcharged himſelf of the Land, yet he has not diſcharged himſelf of Things of Prerogative in the Land. And upon this Ground he put the Caſe in 31. Ed. 3. which was relied upon as a leading Caſe by all the other Counſel for the Queen that argued after him, and he cited it to this Effect: [d] An Advowſon deſcended to three Coparceners, whereof the youngeſt was within Age, and in Ward of the King, and the King by his Letters-patent granted to Queen Philippa his Wife the Wardſhip and Marriage of the youngeſt, and the Fees and Advowſons which belonged to the Wardſhip, and afterwards Partition was made in the Chancery, whereby the firſt Turn was

*Hill. 29. Geo. 2. B. R. Tucker v. the Duke of Beauford, Per Moreton, arguendo, where the Crown transfers its Property to a Subject, it does not at the ſame time transfer any Prerogative belonging to it, for it gives no more than the bare Eſtate it hath. So note that nothing of Prerogative can paſs without expreſs and determinate Words, with which agrees Hob. 243. Davis 57. b. Lit. R. 116. Noy 175.

[c] S. P. 43 Aſſ. pl. 10. Per Thorp C. J. Bro Extinguiſhment 32. Dy. 268. pl. 18. Bridgm. 26. Palm. 60. Manw. Foreſt Laws 156, 375.

[d] T. 31. Ed. 3. Fitz. Quare Impedit 1. 2 Rol. Abr. 344. pl. 9. Litt. R. 116. Gouldſb. 17.

was aſſigned to the eldeſt, the ſecond to the middle, and the third to the youngeſt, who was the Ward within Age, with a Saving to the King of his Prerogative, the Queen granted over to the Earl of Arundel the Ward and all that the King had granted to her, who granted it over to the eldeſt Coparcener, the Advowſon became void, and the eldeſt Coparcener preſented, and the King brought a Scire facias upon the ſaid Partition in Nature of a Quare Impedit, and by Award he had a Writ to the Biſhop: [a] For before Partition made, if the Coparceners cannot agree, the eldeſt ſhall have the Preſentment, becauſe it is a Thing entire, in which Caſe the eldeſt ſhall have the firſt Preſentment by Prerogative of her Age, and the middle the ſecond, and the third the third Preſentment: [b] But when the third is in Ward of the King, he by his Prerogative ſhall have the Preſentment which the eldeſt and the middle ought to have, becauſe it is a Thing entire, and his Prerogative ſhall take away the Prerogative of the eldeſt and of the middle Coparcener alſo; and when it comes to the third which is in Ward, he ſhall preſent in Right of the third, for this belongs to him of Right, and therefore the King needs not to have a Prerogative for the third Preſentment: And this third Preſentment the Patentee, that is to ſay, Queen Philippa, ought to have, which is all that belongs to the Ward, and all that the King had in Reſpect of the Ward: So that the Eſtate which he had in the Advowſon by the Ward paſſed by the Patent; but yet ſuch Right as he had in it under the Title of his Crown by Prerogative ſhall not paſs without expreſs Words thereof. And thus we ſee that the Eſtate which the King has in ſome Poſſeſſions, which he came to by the like Means that others come to them, is one Thing, and the Eſtate which he has in them in Right of his Crown by Prerogative is another Thing, and a Grant of the one is not a Grant of the other. So to come to our principal Caſe, where the King comes to the Land by Purchaſe or other Acquiſition, as other Men do, and beſides that has in it ſome Benefit or Commodity in Right of his Crown, as Ore of Copper containing in it Gold or Silver, there by the Grant of the Land that which he has by Prerogative ſhall not paſs from him, for they are two ſeveral Things, and in ſeveral Degrees. [c] And therefore the Patentee ought to have apt Words to make the one and the other paſs to him, for it is not included in the Grant of the Land that the King intended to paſs the Vein of Metal Royal in it, which is annexed to the Crown, and which he has not in Reſpect of the Land. [d] And true it is that where the Patent is made ex gratia ſpeciali, certa ſcientia, et mero motu, it ſhall be taken favourably for the Patentee: But, Sir, that is to be underſtood with Regard to a Thing expreſſed in the Patent, and which is ſhewn by the Words to be intended to paſs; but it ſhall not make another Thing to paſs, which is not expreſſed nor ſhewn by the Words to be intended. [e] For if the King grants and intends one Thing to paſs, theſe Words cannot make two Things to paſs, viz. that which is expreſſed, and others not expreſſed. And that is the Caſe here. [f] And upon this Wray ſaid, it appears that the Priory of Wenlock was one of the Priories of the King's Foundation, and yet we ſee that the King preſumed to meddle with a Mine of Copper mixt with Gold and Silver therein, by which it is to be intended that altho' an Anceſtor of the King had given the Land to the Prior with large and ample Words (as they uſed to do to Houſes of Religion), yet the Royal Ore in it, which was not open but cloſe, did not paſs to the Prior.

[a] M. 13. Ed. 1. B. Rot. 3. 17 Ed. 3. 30. 37. b. M. 21. Ed. 3. 37. b. 38. Bro. Preſentation 19. P. 31. H. 6. 4. b. per Priſot. Kelw. 1. a. Dy. 55. pl. 6. F. N. B. 34. u. Bro. Preſentation 53. Dr. & Stud. lib. 2. cap. 30. Expoſitiones Vocabulorum 87. Co. Litt. 166. b. 186. b. 2 Rol. Abr. 346. G. pl. 1.

[b] 2 Rol. Abr. 343. pl. 7.

[c] Hob. 243. Davis 17. a. 7. b. Litt. R. 116. 1 Co. 46. b. Jenk. 277. pl. 99.

[d] 1 Co. 46. b. 4 Co. 35. a. 6 Co. 56. a.

[e] 2 Sid. 81.

[f] Vide F. N. B. 232.

And as to the Grant ſpecified in the ſecond Plea, viz, de omnibus et ſingulis mineris, this ſhall not make the Mine here to paſs. For it is to be obſerved that there are two Kinds of Mines, viz. Mines Royal, and baſe Mines. [g] Mines Royal are thoſe which conſiſt of Gold or Silver, or of baſe Metals containing Gold or Silver alſo. Baſe Mines are thoſe which conſiſt only of baſe Metals, or baſe Subſtances, as Copper, Tin, Lead, Iron, or Coals, not having in them Gold or Silver. Then here foraſmuch as the King and Queen have granted to the Earl all and ſingular Mines which were parcel of the Poſſeſſions of Henry late Earl of Northumberland, and there are two Sorts of Mines, the one Royal, annexed to the Crown, the other baſe, not annexed to the Crown, but poſſeſſed in Reſpect of the Land, or by Grant, or by Preſcription, or by other Means out of another's Soil, [h] the baſe Mines only ſhall be comprehended and intended in the Word (Mines), and not the Royal Mines, which ſhall not be taken to be granted. For Words uſed by the King, which contain Things Royal and Things of a baſe Nature, ſhall in Favour of the King be taken in ſuch Senſe as ſerves beſt for the King, and as is agreeable with Order and Convenience, for when the Words ſtand indifferently, and may be conſtrued one Way or other, that which is moſt convenient ſhall be taken, and it is moſt convenient that Things appropriated to the Crown and to the Prerogative Royal ſhould tarry with the Crown, and not be ſevered from it without ſpecial Words, and that Words in Patents to Subjects ſhall make ſuch Things to paſs as are proper for and ſuitable to Subjects. So that Words which ſerve indifferently one Conſtruction as well as another ſhall be taken in their fitteſt Senſe; and here it is not to be preſumed that the King and Queen, who granted to the Patentee all Mines which were parcel of the Poſſeſſions of Henry late Earl of Northumberland, meant or intended that any Mine Royal, which belonged to the Crown, was parcel of his Poſſeſſions, but that ſuch Mines as were proper and uſual for Subjects to have, were parcel of his Poſſeſſions, and ſuch were intended, and no other. And therefore the Words (omnes et ſingulas mineras) ſhall convey to the Earl now Defendant baſe Mines only. And to prove that Words in the King's Patents, which comprehend Things annexed to the Crown, or to the Prerogative Royal, or Things of great Importance, and alſo Things of a baſe Nature, ſhall be taken and conſtrued to convey the baſe Things only to the Patentees, Onſlow put the Caſe in 22. Aſs. [i] where the King had granted to the Maſter of St. Leonard, omnia catalla tenentium ſuorum felonum qualitercunque damnatorum, and it was adjudged that thereby he ſhould not have the Goods of one of his Tenants who was attainted de morte Adæ Walton nuncii domini Regis miſſi in mandatum ejus exequendum, for altho' the Fact was Felony, the Offender was alſo a Traitor, which is higher than a Felon; ſo that the general Charter

[g] Vide Lit. R. 113.

[h] Litt. R. 114, 116. Palm. 60. Noy 175. 1 Co. 46. b. Jenk. 277. pl. 99. Davis 17. a. 57. b. 1 Show. 483. 4 Bac. Abr. 163, 204, 213.

[i] 22 Aſs. pl. 69. Fitz. Grants 72. Bro. Forfeit. 31. Patents 32. Noy 175. Lit. R. 114. Dy. 268. pl. 18. 2 Rol. Abr. 194. D. pl. 1. Hardr. 442.

Charter could only be intended of common Felonies, for which Reaſon he ought to have had ſpecial Words in it. [a] And there it is put, that if the King grants to a Man Return of all Manner of Writs, yet he ſhall not have Return of Summons of the Exchequer, for this touches the King himſelf, and is not between Party and Party. [b] And there it is alſo put, that if the King grants to me the Iſſues, Profits, Fines, and Amercements of my Tenants, and one who holds of me and of another is amerced, in this Caſe I ſhall not have the Amercement, becauſe he is another Perſon's Tenant as well as mine. So that the King's Charters ſhall be taken only to a common Intent, and other Things which are not within ſuch common Intent ſhall not paſs by them from the King. [c] And upon this Point he put the Caſe in 3. Ed. 3. in Itin. North. where it was preſented that a Bridge was broken down, whereby the Paſſage of the People was interrupted, and that an Abbot Lord of the Town had always uſed to repair it, upon which the Abbot being put to Anſwer ſaid, that King Henry, &c. by his Charter had granted to the Predeceſſor of the Abbot, that he and his Succeſſors ſhould be always quit of the Repairs of Bridges, Cauſways, and Walls, which ſame Charter was confirmed by King Henry the Grandfather of the King which then was, and that it was allowed in a Quo Warranto, wherein it was awarded that he ſhould go quit, and therefore he demanded Judgment, &c. And to this the Juſtices there ſaid, that this Clauſe which ſpeaks that they ſhall be quit of the Repairs of Bridges and Cauſways, &c. is a general Clauſe, which cannot acquit the Abbot but only of making Contribution to the Days-works, and would ſerve well enough where the King has granted to a Town Murage, Pannage, or Pontage; but here he is charged by a ſpecial Cauſe, wherefore it was ſaid to him that he ought to anſwer, whereupon he traverſed the Preſcription. By which notable Caſe (he ſaid) it appears that the Words in the King's Charter, that he ſhould be quit of Repairs of Bridges, would not diſcharge him from repairing the Bridge there, altho' it was within the Words of the Charter, becauſe it was not the common Intent of the Words. And thus we ſee that a ſpecial Matter appertaining to the Crown, as that was to take Care that the People have their free Paſſage, is not diſcharged by general Words, which are ſufficient [d] only to diſcharge a general Thing, but a ſpecial Matter requires ſpecial Words to diſcharge it. [e] So (he ſaid) it ſeems by 9. H. 6. that if the King grants Lands in Fee with Warranty, the Patentee ſhall not recover in Value by this Warranty, if he has not preciſe Words in the Charter expreſſing that he ſhall have in Value; for every Warranty may have two Effects, the one to rebut, which it ſhall do there, and the other to recover in Value, but that it ſhall not do in the Caſe of the King without preciſe Words. [f] And he ſaid that in the Earl of Northumberland's Caſe in 2. H. 7. it is held that if the King grants to a Man all Fines and Amercements in ſuch a County, yet if the Sheriff, Coroner, or other great Officer is amerced for a Miſdemeanor, the Patentee ſhall not have ſuch Amercements, for theſe are called Amercements Royal, and it is there ſaid that the Grant ſhall enure to the Grantee for Things of common Intendment, and the King ſhall have the Things ſpecial. [g] And he alſo alledged the Caſe in 43. Aſs. where the King had granted to his eldeſt Son the Dutchy of Cornwal, cum omnibus ad eum ſpectantibus, ſimiliter cum wardis, maritagiis, &c. et ſimiliter alibi extra Comitatum prædictum, non obſtante prærogativa Regis; and one who held of the Dutchy by Knights-ſervice, and who held alſo of one that was in Ward of the King per cauſe de gard by Knights-ſervice, died, his Heir within Age; and it was adjudged that the Prince ſhould not have the Wardſhip of him, but the King, for it is there ſaid that the Anceſtor held alſo of another, who by a Mean held of the King as of the Dutchy; and the Charter does not make Mention that in ſuch ſpecial Caſe the Prince ſhall have the Ward, and the King cannot and ought not by ſuch general Grant to be ouſted of that which belongs to him in Right of his Crown, without expreſs Mention of the King's Right be made in the Charter. [h] From which Judgment (he ſaid) and from the Reaſon there given, we ſee that general Words in the King's Charter ſhall only enure to a general Intent, and ſhall not take away from the King a ſpecial Right which belongs to his Crown, but for ſuch Matter the Patentee ought to have ſpecial Words. So if the King makes a County-palatine, and grants it to another, with jura regalia, and that all Pleas within the County ſhall be there determined, yet he himſelf ſhall ſue in his own Court here at Weſtminſter his Actions which ariſe in the County-palatine; for the general Words will not exclude the King from ſuing in his own Court, but the Patentee ought to have ſpecial Words to that Purpoſe. [i] And note that ſuch Caſe appears in 5. Ed. 2. where the King ſued a Quare Impedit in the Common Bench for an Advowſon in the County-palatine of Durham, and the Defendant pleaded to the Juriſdiction of the Court, and was put to anſwer over. So that (he ſaid) general Words ſhall enure to a general Intent, and ſhall not convey from the Crown any ſpecial Matter which belongs to the Crown by Prerogative, as that does to ſue in what Court the King pleaſes. And theſe Caſes were confirmed by the reſt of the Counſel for the Queen that argued after him. * And to the like Purpoſe Gerard cited the Caſe in 33 Ed. 3. where the King had granted to an Abbot that he might amortiſe Lands or Tenements to the Value of 100 s. and he purchaſed an Advowſon which was held of the King in capite, and yet by Ad quod damnum it was found to be held of another, and at the next Avoidance the King brought a Quare Impedit, and it was there held, that if it be holden of the King in capite, the Grant was not a ſufficient Grant to purchaſe; and therefore Iſſue was there taken, whether the Advowſon, at the Time of the Purchaſe, was held of the King in capite, or not. So that by this Licenſe Things of the Value of 100 s. which were holden of another than of the King were intended. From whence it appears that Words in the King's Grants ſhall be conſtrued to a common Intent, and ſhall not make a Thing to paſs which belongs ſpecially to the Crown, tho' it is within the Words. And Wray affirmed this Caſe, and ſaid that it differs from the Caſe in [k] 41. Aſs. cited on the other Part, for there the King's Charter named the Houſe, in which Caſe it could

[a] Bro. Patents 32.

[b] Bro. Jointenants 68. M. 2 R. 3 4. b. Bro. Grants 146. M. 2. H. 7, 7. a. Bro. Patents 109. Lit. R. 114. 2 Sid. 81. 2 Rol. Abr. 193. B. pl. 1. Jenk. 103.

[c] 3 Ed. 3. Itin. North. Fitz. Aſſize 445. 12 Co. 30. See Poſt 487 (d).

[d] Vin. Abr. tit. Grants H. 13. pl. 34.

[e] H. 9 H. 6. 56. b. Fitz. Prerog. 1. Bro. Garranty 3. Recov. in Value 22. Ante 243 (r).

[f] M. 2. H. 7. 7. a. per Fineux et Huſſey. Fitz. Grants 33. Bro. Patents 109. T. 9. H. 6. 28. Lit. R. 114. Dy. 269. pl. 18. per Saunders Ch. B. 2 Rol. Abr. 196 pl. 7. Jenk. 103. 2 Rol. R. 278. 1 Show. 482, 483.

[g] 43 Aſs. pl. 15. Bro. Gard. 83. Patents 39. Dy. 268. pl. 18. 2 Rol. Abr. 195. E. pl. 5.

[h] M. 8. H. 4. 2. a. 2 Rol. Abr. 194. C. pl. 1. Hob. 2 3. Davis 57. b. Lit. R. 116. 1 Co. 46. b.

Nota bene.

[i] H. 5. Ed. 2. Fitz. Quare Impedit 165 Bro. Cinque Ports 21.

[*] M. 33. Ed 3. Fitz. Grant 102.

[k] Ante 331 (i).

could not be taken that he was miſconuſant of the Tenure; but in this laſt Caſe the Patent is general, viz. that he might amortiſe Lands or Tenements to the Value of 100 s. without naming what Lands or Tenements, and ſo (he ſaid) is the Diverſity, and he did not aſcribe it to the Clauſe de gratia ſpeciali in the one Caſe or in the other. [a] And to the ſame Purpoſe he cited the Caſe in 19. Ed. 3. in a Quare Impedit, where the King gave Licenſe to a Prior to appropriate an Advowſon, who accordingly did ſo, and the Advowſon was held of the King, and for this Cauſe the King claimed it, and brought a Quare Impedit, and it ſeems by the Book that the Charter, which did not recite the Tenure, was not a ſufficient Warrant to appropriate the Advowſon, wherefore the Prior traverſed that it was not held of the King. So that Words in the King's Charter don't exclude the King from any ſpecial Advantage, without expreſs Mention thereof.

[a] P. 19. Ed. 3. Fitz. Grant 58. Dy. 268, 269. pl. 18. 10 Co. 110. a. 2 Rol. R. 275, 360. Litt. R. 114. Godb. 222. Lane 110. Poſt 499 (c).

Note here that in this Caſe the Advowſon was named, as the Houſe was in 41 Aſs. and quære if the Diverſity between the Caſes is not by Reaſon of the Clauſe de gratia ſpeciali, which is in the one Caſe, and not in the other.

Nota bene

[b] And to the like Effect he cited the Caſe of the Sanctuary of Culnham in 1. H. 7. where the Words in the King's Charter made to the Abbot of Abbington were, ut inhabitatores ejus nullius regis aut miniſtrorum ſuorum, epiſcopive, aut ſuorum officialium jugo inde deprimerentur, ſed in cunctis rebus, eventibus, et diſcuſſionibus cauſarum, Abbatis monaſterii prædicti decreto ſubjicerentur, which were not ſufficient to make a Sanctuary for Treaſon, but ſhould be taken to a common Intent, and not to take away from the Crown a Thing of ſo high a Nature, and which is ſo nearly annexed to the Crown, without expreſs Words thereof in the Charter. Wherefore the Counſel on this Part concluded, that from theſe Caſes it is manifeſt that Words in the King's Charters ſhall enure to a common Intent, and ſhall not deveſt out of the King Things of a high Degree, or Things which are annexed to the Crown in Point of Prerogative. From whence it follows that the Word (Mines) here will be ſufficient to convey baſe Mines, but not Mines Royal which belong to the King by Prerogative; and the Words de gratia ſpeciali, certa ſcientia, et mero motu will not make other Things to paſs, which are not comprehended in the Nature of the Words, but for ſuch Things, and no others, as are within the Meaning of them, the Words will make them to be largely and favourably conſtrued and extended to the Benefit of the Party. [c] And Gerard ſaid that about 24. H. 8. a Caſe came in Queſtion concerning the Manor of Bowerhall in Eſſex, which the King, de gratia ſpeciali, certa ſcientia, et mero motu ſuis, had given to one and to his Heirs Males; and it was the Opinion of the Juſtices, that no Eſtate of Inheritance paſſed to the Patentee by thoſe Words, for they will not make an Eſtate-tail, nor a [d] Fee-ſimple in the Caſe of the King, notwithſtanding they are ex gratia ſpeciali, certa ſcientia, &c. for his Intent was that it ſhould not go to the Heirs Females of the Patentee, and he cannot make a new Courſe of Inheritance, and (certa ſcientia) will not conclude him from ſaying that it was no ſuch Courſe of Inheritance as he intended. And as to what Shirborn [e] has ſaid, that if the Earl ſhould not have the Mines Royal, he ſhould take nothing by the Word (Mines), for that baſe Mines ſhall paſs by the Grant of the Land; Sir, what then? they are Words of Surpluſage as to Mines in the ſame Land, as the Words are of granting Wards, Marriages, and Eſcheats, which are frequently put in Patents; or elſe if they be not Words of Surpluſage, they may take Effect for Mines which Henry the late Earl had in the Lands of others. And as to the Statute of 4 & 5 Philip and Mary, Barham ſaid, true it is that the Act makes the Letters-patent good, notwithſtanding the Want of the true Name of the Natures, Kinds, and Sorts of the Hereditaments; but how ſhall they be good? Sir, the Act ſays, according to the Tenor of the ſame Letters-patent. And true it is that the Act ſays that the Letters-patent ſhall be expounded, conſtrued, deemed, and adjudged moſt beneficially for the Patentees; but, Sir, how? the Act ſays afterwards, according to the Words and Purport of the Letters-patent. So that the Tenor, Words, and Purport of the Letters-patent are the Rule and Guide to be obſerved for the Nature of the Things, and for the beneficial Conſtruction of the Patent towards the Patentee. And then, he ſaid, if in the Word (Land) in the one Caſe the Royal Ore is not granted, and in the Word (Mines) in the other Caſe the Mine Royal is not granted, but the baſe Ore and the baſe Mines are only granted, the Act does not extend but to the Nature of the baſe Ore and of the baſe Mines which are granted, and as to them it ſhall be beneficially expounded for the Advantage of the Patentee, and that is, according to the Tenor, Words, and Purport of the Letters-patent; and by this Conſtruction the Intent and Effect of the Statute is ſatisfied, but not by conſtruing the Ores and Mines Royal to paſs, for that would be contrary to the Tenor and Purport of the Patent. So that the Matter reſts upon the Expoſition of the Words, as well as if it had been before the Act, and the Words are to be conſtrued ut ſupra, whereupon he and the other Counſel on the ſame Side prayed Judgment for the Queen.

[b] P. 1 H. 7. 23. 26. Fitz. Corone 49. Bro. Sanctuary 18.

[c] M. 18. H. 8. Bro. Eſtates 84. Patents 104. B. N. C. § 5. 1 Co. 43. b. 46. a. 49. a. Davis 43. a. 2 And. 156. Moor 416. Hob. 224. 1 Bulſt. 10, 222. 1 Rol. R. 459. 1 Brownl. 45. 2 Brownl. 334. 1 Rol. Abr. 860. pl. 2. Gouldſb. 20. Lit. R. 6. Co. Litt. 27. a. 1 Finch 91. 2 Finch 101, 102. Curſon 14.

[d] E contra in Caſe of a common Perſon, 18. Aſs. pl. 5. per Thorp ſaid to be ſo adjudged in Parliament in Multon's Caſe. Bro. Eſtates 33. 8 Co. 21. b. Lit. R. 6. 1 Bulſt. 222. Crompt. J. C. 21. b.

[e] Ante 332 (b).

And in this Argument ſome of them on this Part affirmed that this Mine, being a Mine Royal, could not be granted nor ſevered from the Crown even by expreſs Words, for it is an Incident inſeparable to the Crown, as Eſcheats for Treaſon are; which the Counſel for the Earl denied. For, they ſaid, as this Mine might be leaſed or demiſed to another rendering Rent, as the Precedents ſhew us, ſo might it be demiſed or granted without Rent, becauſe it is but a Profit or Revenue of the Crown. And Things which are more nearly annexed to the Prerogative of the King, and to the Perſon of the King, than this is, may be granted to another, as Mead ſaid. [f] For if the King impeaches any one for Felony, as for Robbery, or the Death of a Man, and the Party is arraigned upon an Indictment at the King's Suit, he ſhall not wage Battle againſt the King, for in ſuch Caſes Battle ought to be waged in proper Perſon, and not by Champion, and it would be very dangerous for the King if the Law ſhould force him to wage Battle in proper [f] S. P. C. 180. b. Fleta lib. 1. cap. 34. § 25. 2 Finch 423. 2 Hawk. P. C. 427, § 5. Vin. Abr. tit. Trial K. 4. pl. 5.

† P. 20. Ed. 3. Fitz. Corone 125. M. 2. Ed. 3. Fitz. Ibid. 157. S. P. C. 180. c. 2 Hawk. P. C. 427, § 6.

Perſon with every Felon whom he impeaches and puts to anſwer, wherefore the Law does not admit it, but the King by Prerogative ſhall ouſt him of Battle, and the King may grant ſuch Prerogative to another, † as appears in 20. Ed. 3. where the King granted to the Citizens of London that none ſhould wage Battle againſt them in an Appeal, and there it ſeems that the Grant is good. So that the King may convey a Point of his Prerogative from his own Perſon to that of another. So if a Man takes the King's Goods wrongfully, the King may take or ſeize the Party's Goods until he has made Reſtitution, as it is the common Courſe in the Exchequer, * and the King may grant ſuch Power to another, as appears by 8. R. 2. where the King had granted to the Town of Lynn, that they ſhould be quit of Toll throughout the Realm, and alſo granted by the ſame Charter, that if any took Toll of them contrary to the ſame Charter, they might take Withernam for the ſame at another Time within their Juriſdiction; by Force whereof they juſtified, in Replevin, the taking in lieu of Withernam the Goods of a Merchant of Newcaſtle upon Tyne, which were brought within their Juriſdiction, for that they of Newcaſtle upon Tyne had taken Goods for Toll of divers Merchants of Lynn, and the Goods ſo taken at Lynn they detained in lieu of Witherham, becauſe they of Newcaſtle upon Tyne would not deliver the other Goods; and as it ſeems by the Book the taking is good and juſtifiable. And if the Law be ſo that the King may grant to another a Point of his Prerogative in theſe Caſes, a fortiore he might in our Caſe, where the Thing is but a Revenue or Profit.

* H. 8. R. 2. Fitz. Grant 105.

Hill. Term 10 Eliz. Curia.

And after theſe Arguments made at the Bar, all the Juſtices and Barons aſſembled ſeveral Times the ſame Term to confer together upon the Matter. And then they took Reſpite further until Hillary Term then next following, in which Term they aſſembled twice, and at laſt they gave their ſeveral Opinions, and the Cauſe thereof, at which I was not preſent, for there were none preſent but themſelves and the Counſel who had argued for the Queen. And (as I was informed by ſeveral of them who were there) their Reſolution was as follows.

3 [a] Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative K. a. pl. 15.

But ſee 2. H. 7. 19.

First, all the Juſtices and Barons agreed, [a] that by the Law all Mines of Gold and Silver within the Realm, whether they be in the Lands of the Queen, or of Subjects, belong to the Queen by Prerogative, with Liberty to dig and carry away the Ores thereof, and with other ſuch Incidents thereto as are neceſſary to be uſed for the getting of the Ore.

[b] Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative K. a. pl. 16. Crompt. J. C. 111. b. 1 Finch 146. 2 Finch 132.

[b] Alſo Harper, Southcote, and Weſton Juſtices agreed, that if Gold or Silver be in Ores or Mines of Copper, Tin, Lead, or other baſe Metal in the Soil of Subjects, as well the Gold and Silver as the baſe Metal entirely belongs of Right to the Subject who is the Proprietor of the Soil, if the Gold or Silver does not exceed the Value of the baſe Metal; but if the Value of the Gold or Silver exceeds the Value of the Copper or other baſe Metal, then it was their Opinion that the Crown ſhould have as well the baſe Metal as the Gold or Silver; and in ſuch Caſe it ſhall be called a Mine Royal, and otherwiſe not; but if the baſe Metal exceeds the Value of the Gold or Silver, then it draws the Property of the whole to the Proprietor of the Land. But they three agreed, that foraſmuch as the Information ſets forth that the Ore and Mine of Copper contained in it Gold or Silver, and the Defendant has not denied it, but has fully confeſſed it, thereby it ſhall be taken that the Gold or Silver were of the greater Value, for the beſt ſhall be intended for the Queen; and therefore they aſſented with all the other Juſtices and Barons, that Judgment ſhould be given againſt the Earl, and for the Queen. But all the other Juſtices and Barons of the Exchequer unanimouſly agreed, [c] that if the Gold or Silver in the baſe Metal in the Land of a Subject be of leſs Value than the baſe Metal is, as well the baſe Metal as the Gold or Silver in it belong by Prerogative to the Crown, with Liberty to dig for it, and to put it upon the Land of the Subject, and to carry it away from thence; and in ſuch Caſe it ſhall be called a [d] Mine Royal, for the Records don't make any Diſtinction herein, but they are general, and prove that all Ores or Mines of Copper or other baſe Metal containing or bearing Gold or Silver belong to the King. And where Weſton ſaid, that there is a Text in the Civil Law to this Effect, viz. that by the Negligence or Poverty of the Proprietor of the Soil poſſunt fodi omnia metalla in alieno ſolo, invito domino, quia utile eſt reipublicæ, et aliter non; to this Saunders Chief Baron ſaid, [e] that the ſame Law ſays, quòd optima legum interpres eſt conſuetudo, and here there is conſuetudo, for the Precedents and the Accounts prove that from Time to Time it has been a Cuſtom and Uſage, that the Kings of this Realm have had the Profit of ſuch Mines of baſe Metal containing or bearing Gold or Silver, without any Diſtinction with Regard to the Value of the Gold or Silver, be the ſame greater or leſs than the baſe Metal. Wherefore he and all the others (except the three above mentioned) took it that the whole Ore and Mine belonged to the Queen, altho' the baſe Metal be of the greater Value. And here it is confeſſed by the Defendant that the Ore and Mine of Copper contains in it Gold or Silver, ſo that it agrees with the Precedents. And therefore as well the other three as all the reſt unanimouſly agreed that Judgment ſhould be given for the Queen upon this Plea, altho' they differed in the Matter itſelf, and in the Reaſons of the Judgment, as it is ſhewn before.

[c] But ſee Poſt 338, 339, the Reporter ſeems to doubt this, and gives ſtrong Reaſons to the contrary. See 4 Bac. Abr. 162, 163.

[d] But now by the Statute of 1 W. & M. cap. 30, no ſuch Mine ſhall be called a Mine Royal.

• Kitch. 474.

[f] Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative K. a. pl. 17. See Poſt 339 (d), where the Reporter cites Authorities to prove that there is no ſuch Mine as this in the Realm, for there is naturally ſome Portion of Gold or Silver Ore in every baſe Metal, and therefore that this Point of the Reſolution is vain, and proceeds from the Want of knowing the Nature of baſe Mines.

[f] Alſo they all agreed, that if the Ore or Mine in the Soil of a Subject be of Copper, Tin, Lead, or Iron, in which there is no Gold or Silver, in this Caſe the Proprietor of the Soil ſhall have the Ore or Mine, and not the Crown by Prerogative, for in ſuch barren baſe Metal no Prerogative is given to the Crown.

3 [g] Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative K. a. pl. 18.

[g] Alſo they all agreed, that a Mine Royal, whether of baſe Metal containing Gold or Silver, or of pure Gold and Silver only, may by the Grant of the King be ſever'd from the Crown, and be granted to another, for it is not an Incident inſeparable to the Crown, but may be ſevered from it by apt and preciſe Words.

But

But all the Juſtices and Barons (except the ſaid three Juſtices, and they alſo, if ſo be theſe Ores and Mines in Queſtion ſhall be called Royal) unanimouſly agreed that the Ores in the firſt Plea ſpecified ſhall not paſs to the Earl by the Grant of the Land, nor the Mine in the ſecond Plea ſpecified, by the Grant of the Mines, although the Patent be de gratiâ ſpeciali, certa ſcientia, et mero motu, [a] but the Words (Land) and (Mines) ſhall be taken to common Intent, and ſhall not make the Ores-royal nor the Mines-royal to paſs, to convey which there ought to be in the Patent preciſe Words expreſſing them. And the Act of 4 & 5 Philip and Mary will not avail the Earl in this Caſe, becauſe the Tenor, Words, or Purport of the Charter don't extend to a Mine-royal. But the Lord Dyer Chief Juſtice of the Common Bench ſaid, [b] that if the Queen has a Mine-royal in the Soil of J. S. and ſhe ex gratia ſpeciali, certa ſcientia, et mero motu ſuis, grants to a Stranger all Mines which ſhe has in the Land of J. S. by this Grant the Mine-royal ſhall paſs, for elſe the Words would be void and without Effect, becauſe ſhe cannot have a baſe Mine in the Soil of another; and therefore when ſhe ſays ex certa ſcientia, and recites that it is in the Soil of another, ſhe ſhall not be taken to be miſconuſant of the Thing, for which Reaſon it ſhall paſs. But it is not ſo here, for the King and Queen might intend to make baſe Mines paſs, ſo that the Words may be ſatisfied in that Intent.

[a] 1 Co. 46. b. Davis 17. a. 57. b. Litt. R. 114, 116. Palm. 60. Noy 175. Jenk. 277. pl. 99. 1 Show. 483, 4 Bac. Abr. 163, 204, 213.

[b] S. P. Jenk. 277. pl. 99. Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative E. c. 3. pl. 3.

And the Lord Dyer ſaid in this Caſe, that although the Vein or Ore mentioned in the firſt Plea was not open, but cloſe, at the Time of the Date of the Patent, yet it might be termed a Mine, quia de mineris aliquæ ſunt occultæ, et aliquæ apertæ, and that which is not open may be called a Mine, in his Opinion. And Baron Frevil held, that if there is a Vein of Copper in the Mine without Mixture of Gold, and in digging further there is a Vein of Gold with little or no other Metal in it, in this Caſe it ſhall be called a Mine of Copper and Gold, and not a Mine of Copper only, although in the firſt Vein there was nothing elſe but Copper.

And Mead took Exception to the Information, becauſe it was not ſhewn in what Town or Hamlet Newlands lay; ſo that if the Defendant had pleaded not-guilty, it was uncertain from whence the Viſne ſhould come. But all the Juſtices and Barons agreed that the Information was good, becauſe it is but in Effect for a Treſpaſs, for which the Queen ſhall recover only Damages; and here there is no Iſſue to be tried, inaſmuch as there is a Demurrer in Law, [c] in which Caſe it is not ſo neceſſary as it ſhould have been if Iſſue had been joined triable per pais. But if it had been in an Action real, there it ought to have been ſhewn in what Town or Place the Land was, for otherwiſe the Sheriff could not know where to put the Party in Seizin if he recovered; whereas here there is no ſuch Cauſe, but Damages only are recoverable for the Offence, for which Reaſon the Exception was diſallowed.

[c] S. P. 3 Leon. 173.

And note that by the Queen's Command a Copy of the Patent made to the Earl was delivered to the Juſtices, in order to ſee if there was any Thing more in it than was in the Pleading, which would make the Ores and Mines paſs or not to the Earl; for ſhe was deſirous to be fully appriſed of the Intereſt in the Ores and Mines. And the Charter was in this Form; ſciatis quod nos tam pro meliore et ampliore ſuſtentatione et manutentione ſtatus, et dignitatis, et gradus, ad quem nuper vocavimus et elegimus præcharissimum conſanguineum noſtrum Thomam Percy comitem Northumbriæ, quam pro bono et ſtrenuo ſervitio, quod ſperavimus præfatus comes et poſteritas ſua nobis, hæredibus, et ſucceſſoribus noſtris facient, prout anteceſſores ſui progenitoribus noſtris regibus Angliæ antehac multipliciter fecerint, et ad humilem petitionem ejuſdem comitis, de gratia noſtra ſpeciali, ac certa ſcientia, et mero motu noſtris dedimus et conceſſimus, &c. And it was the Opinion of Catline Chief Juſtice of England, [d] that the Words (ad humilem petitionem ejuſdem comitis) diminiſh the Force of the Words (de gratia ſpeciali, ac ex certa ſcientia, et mero motu) for the Charter ſhall not be taken to proceed purely from the King's Grace, and ſo to be conſtrued moſt ſtrongly againſt the King, and moſt favourably for the Patentee, unleſs it is meerly of the King's own Motion, without Suit of the Party; whereas the Words (ad humilem petitionem ejuſdem comitis) ſhew that the Suit of the Earl was one of the Cauſes of making the Patent, in which Caſe the Patent is not ſo effectual to make the Ores and the Mine paſs as by the Pleading it is confeſſed to be. And afterwards in the ſaid Hillary Term 10 Elizabeth Judgment was given for the Queen, and againſt the Earl, as follows.

[d] Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative E. c. 3. pl. 4.

The reſt of the Record.

And becauſe the Barons here not yet, &c. Day is given here to the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland, in the ſame State in which it now is, until the Octave of St. Hillary, that the ſame Barons here in the mean time may further adviſe themſelves touching the Premiſſes, and may deliberate thereupon with the Juſtices of both Benches. And thereupon it is agreed between the Barons here as well by the Aſſent of the ſaid Attorney of the Lady the Queen, as of the ſaid Attorney of the aforeſaid Earl, and of the Counſellors learned in the Law of the ſame Earl, that ſome Perſons learned in the Law as well of the Counſel and Behalf of the ſaid Lady the Queen, as of the Counſel and Behalf of the aforeſaid Earl, be in the mean time publickly heard to argue, touching the aforeſaid Matter in Law and other the Premiſſes, in the Chamber of this Exchequer commonly called the Exchequer-Chamber before the ſame Barons aſſiſted by the ſame Juſtices of both Benches. Afterwards in the mean Time between the aforeſaid Octave of St. Michael and the aforeſaid Octave of St. Hillary viz. in the aforeſaid Term of St. Michael, as well the Serjeants of the ſaid Lady the Queen at Law, and the Attorney and Solicitor General of the ſaid Lady the Queen, on Behalf of the ſaid Lady the Queen, as three learned in the Law being of the Counſel of the aforeſaid Earl in the Premiſſes on Behalf of the aforeſaid Earl, five ſeveral Days in the ſaid Exchequer-Chamber, before the Barons of this Exchequer aſſiſted then there by the aforeſaid Juſtices of both Benches, were openly and ſeverally heard to argue at large, and ſummarily, and what they could or would ſay thereupon on both Sides concerning the aforeſaid Matter in Law and the reſt of the Premiſſes (the Record aforeſaid being then there read over and recited.) Which ſame Serjeants of the Lady the Queen at Law, and the aforeſaid Attorney and Solicitor of the ſaid Lady the Queen, in and upon certain Arguments on Behalf of the ſaid Lady the Queen to prove and maintain her Prerogative aforeſaid in the ſaid Information ſpecified, produced, laid open, and ſhewed before the aforeſaid Juſtices and Barons, among other Things, divers and many Records of Commiſſions, Accounts, Demiſes, and other Precedents of this Exchequer aforeſaid, manifeſtly and ſtrongly declaring, proving, and maintaining the Prerogative of the Lady the Queen to have ſuch Mines and Metals by Reaſon of her ſame Prerogative in Manner and Form aforeſaid. And at the aforeſaid Octave of St. Hillary the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland came here by the aforeſaid Thomas Fanſhaw his Attorney aforeſaid: And becauſe the aforeſaid Barons here will further adviſe themſelves touching the Premiſſes, that in the mean time they may deliberate further upon the Premiſſes with the aforeſaid Juſtices before they give Judgment thereon, Day is given here to the aforeſaid Thomas Earl or Northumberland, in the ſame State in which it now is, until the Octave of the Purification of the bleſſed Virgin Mary next coming. At which Day the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland came here by the aforeſaid Thomas Fanſhaw his Attorney abovenamed. And the Premiſſes being ſeen and underſtood by the Barons here, and mature Deliberation amongſt them being thereupon had, becauſe it ſeems to the ſame Barons that the aforeſaid Pleas by the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland in Manner and Form aforeſaid above pleaded, and each of them, and the Matter therein contained, as to the aforeſaid Interruption and Diſturbance of the aforeſaid Thomas Thurland and Daniel Howſeter, and other the aforeſaid Labourers in the Mines and Ores aforeſaid, as well from and in the making and continuing the Search and digging aforeſaid of the Lands and Mines for the Ore and Metal aforeſaid belonging to the ſaid Lady the Queen by Reaſon of her royal Prerogative in Manner and Form in the aforeſaid Information ſpecified, within the aforeſaid Waſt-lands called Newlands in the aforeſaid Information ſpecified, as from and in the aforeſaid taking and carrying away of the aforeſaid ſix hundred thouſand Pounds Weight of Ore and Metal of Copper aforeſaid there in Form aforeſaid dug up and laid upon the Land, are inſufficient in Law to diſcharge the ſame Earl from the aforeſaid Contempts and Treſpaſſes, or any of them, by him of for and in the ſame Interruption and Diſturbance in Form aforeſaid done and perpetrated; it is conſidered by the ſame Barons that the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland be convicted of the aforeſaid Contempts and Treſpaſſes by him of for and in the aforeſaid Interruption and Diſturbance of the aforeſaid Thomas Thurland and Daniel Howſeter and other the aforeſaid Labourers in the Ores and Mines aforeſaid in Form aboveſaid done and perpetrated; and that the ſaid Lady the Queen recover againſt the aforeſaid Earl of Northumberland her Damages by Occaſion of the aforeſaid Interruption and Diſturbance ſuſtained. But becauſe it is unknown what Damages the ſame Lady the Queen has ſuſtained by Occaſion thereof, the Sheriff of the aforeſaid County of Cumberland is commanded that by the Oath of good and lawful Men of his Bailiwick he diligently enquire what Damages the ſaid Lady the Queen has ſuſtained by Occaſion of the Interruption and Diſturbance aforeſaid: And that the Inquiſition, &c. And likewiſe it is conſidered by the ſame Barons here that the aforeſaid Thomas Earl of Northumberland, as to the aforeſaid Intruſion by him above in the Information aforeſaid ſuppoſed to be made into the aforeſaid waſt or mountainous Lands called Newlands in the ſame Information ſpecified, go at preſent without Day, ſaving always the Right of the Queen if at another Time, &c.

Judgment.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

There ſeems to me to be a Diverſity between a Mine of Copper containing in it Gold, and a Mine of Gold containing in it Copper. For when it is called a Mine of Copper containing in it Gold, it is to be intended that the Copper is the greater, and the Gold the leſs, for every Thing contained is leſs than the Thing which contains it, and that which comprehends another Thing is greater than the Thing comprehended; and foraſmuch as the Copper is the greater, the Mine takes its Name from it, and is called a Mine of Copper containing Gold. And for the ſame Reaſon if it is called a Mine of Gold containing Copper, the Gold, from whence the Mine has its Name, is the greater, and the Copper the leſs. And this is agreeable to the Notion of thoſe who have treated of Minerals, as George Agricola, and Chriſtopher Eucelius, and others. From whence it follows that the Records of the Exchequer, which prove that the King had the Mines of Copper containing or bearing Gold or Silver, prove that the King had the whole where the Gold and Silver were the leſs. But how the greater or the leſs ſhall be eſteemed ſome are in doubt, that is to ſay, whether it ſhall be taken according to the Quantity, or according to the Value. For ſome ſay it ſhall be eſteemed according to the Quantity, and therein they confeſs that true it is, as to the Quantity, the Thing which comprehends the other is greater than the Thing comprehended, as of a Hoggſhead of Wine, or a Barrel of Ale, for the Hoggſhead in Quantity is greater than the Wine, and the Barrel than the Ale, but not in Value, and yet it takes its Name from the greater, and therefore it is called a Hoggſhead of Wine; ſo that the Name proceeds from the greater. So in the Caſe of a Mine, the Mine of Copper containing Gold has its Name from the greater in Quantity, but not in Value, for it may properly enough be ſaid that of a Mine of Copper containing Gold, the Gold may be the greateſt in Value. And thus it ſeems to them that the Precedents which prove that the King ought to have Mines of Copper or Lead containing Gold or Silver prove nothing againſt the Aſſertion of the three Juſtices. But if ſo be the Mine ſhall take its Name from the greater in Value, and not from the greater in Quantity, then the Precedents prove di- rectly contrary to the Opinion of the three Judges, and confirm the Opinion of the others who were the Majority. For if it ſhall be taken that Mines of Copper containing Gold or Silver (which is to be underſtood, where the Copper is of greater Value, and the Gold or Silver of leſs) ſhall belong entirely to the King by the Precedents, ergo the Precedents prove the Law to be directly contrary to the Opinion of the three Juſtices. So that in order to underſtand the Precedents, it is to be known whether in the Words (Mines of Copper containing Gold or Silver) the Copper ſhall be taken the greater in Quantity, or the greater in Value. And it ſeems to many that the Name ſhall be taken from the Value, and not from the Quantity, for that every Thing is eſteemed according to its Value; quære de hoc.

And if ſo be that by the Precedents the Crown ſhall have the whole Mine where the Gold or Silver is of leſs Value than the baſe Metal, yet it ſeems reaſonable to have Regard to the Value of the Gold or Silver, for if there is no more than a Quilful of Gold or Silver in a great Value of Copper, as Bell ſaid, it is not reaſonable that ſo ſmall a Quantity ſhould be reſpected, but the Quantity ought to be ſuch as is of ſome Value in itſelf over and above the Charges of getting it, and above the baſe Metal conſumed therein. [a] For if the Value is not regarded, but the Gold or Silver, be it ever ſo little, ſhall entitle the Crown to the whole Mine, from thence it would follow that the Crown would have all the Mines of baſe Metal in the Realm, if that be true which thoſe who are ſkilled in re metallica have written. For (as the ancient Authors in this Art affirm) there are but ſix Kinds of Metals in the Earth, viz. Gold, Silver, Tin, Copper, Lead, and Iron, for that which is called in Latin chalibs, and in Engliſh Steel, is but the harder Part of Iron, and that which is called in Latin auricalcum, and in Engliſh Lattin, as alſo that which we call in Engliſh Braſs, are not Metals of themſelves, but are a Compoſition of Copper and other Things. For there is a Stone (whereof we have a great Number in this Realm, as I have heard) which we call the Calamine-Stone, and which, as I take it, is the ſame Stone that is called in Latin cadmia, and by ſome lapis calaminaris, ſome of which Stones have Gold in them, and others none, and this Stone is fuſile, and is uſed to be melted with Copper, and from the Copper and this Stone mixed and melted together Lattin is made, which is more valuable than the Copper alone, for the ſaid Stone being melted along with the Copper makes the Copper more flexible, and turns the Colour of it from red to yellow, like to the Colour of Gold, and becauſe the Copper melted with it is made more precious, it is of greater Price. And Braſs is made of Copper mixed and melted along with Tin or Lead, and becauſe the Copper itſelf is debaſed by ſuch a Compoſition with a more baſe Metal, it is of leſs Price. So that (as the ancient Authors have written) there are but the ſaid ſix Kinds of Metals fuſil and malleable, which in Latin they call corpora metallica, and (as [b] Eucelius ſays) conſtant ex ſulphure patre, et argento vivo, matre. For he ſays, principia generationis veluti Deus optimus maximus omnium animalium conſtituit marem et fæminam, &c. tali modo Deus in rebus etiam metallicis conſtituit generationis principia marem et fæminam, et voluit materiam eſſe omnium metallorum ſulphur, ut patrem, et argentum vivum, ut matrem, quorum nempe coitu omnia fierent metalla. And afterwards he ſays, etſi autem ex his duobus principiis, ſulphure et argento vivo, quaſi patre et matre, coeuntibus omnia metalla procreantur, quorum multæ ſunt ſpecies et diverſæ, natura tamen ſemper proponit et contendit ad perfectiſſimum metallum, ſcilicet, aurum. Accidentia vero diverſa ſupervenientia diverſa transformant metalla, et ſecundum puritatem et impuritatem ſulphuris et argenti vivi, pura et impura generantur metalla, veluti ex leproſis parentibus leproſi procreantur filii. And afterwards he ſays that Gold is to Sulphur and Quickſilver quaſi filius et perfectiſſimum metallum naturæ, et paululum immutata commixtione argenti vivi, fit argentum, quaſi filia ignobilior fratre auro.

And the other Metals, viz. Tin, Copper, Lead, and Iron, as imperfect Metals, proceed from their ſaid Father and Mother, who were by Accidents become imperfect, veluti leproſi filii ex leproſis parentibus.

And it ſeems by the Aſſertion of [c] Agricola, in his Book de re metallicâ, that there is naturally in theſe baſe Metals ſome Portion of Gold or Silver, for thus he ſays, naturaliter autem potiſſimum auri quædam portio ineſt in argento, et in ære; argenti quædam in auro, in ære, in plumbo nigro, in ferro; æris aliqua in auro, in argento, in plumbo nigro, in ferro; plumbi nigri aliqua in argento; ferri denique quædam in ære. And he goes further, and ſhews the Way by which the one Metal may be divided from the other when it is melting in the Veſſel; ſo that according to his Authority, Gold and Silver is naturally in Copper, and Silver is naturally in Iron and Lead. And it is to be obſerved that he uſes the Word (æs) for Copper, for that is the proper Engliſh for (æs), and it has no proper Signification but that, though by a Figure much uſed, Braſs and Lattin are called (æs), becauſe they conſiſt chiefly of Copper. Wherefore if no Regard ſhould be had to the Quantity of the Gold or Silver that is found in the baſe Metal (inaſmuch as there is naturally ſome in every baſe Metal), the King would have all Mines of baſe Metals in the Realm. And then the Reſolution [d] of all the Juſtices and Barons, that the Subject ſhall have ſuch Mines of baſe Metal which are void of Gold or Silver in his own Land, is vain and of no Effect, for by the ſaid Author there is no ſuch Mine in this Realm, or elſewhere: So that ſuch Reſolution is grounded upon an Ignorance of the Nature of baſe Mines. And therefore it ſeems to be reaſonable and fit to conſider the Nature of baſe Mines, and the Value of the Gold or Silver in the baſe Metal, [e] and that it ſhould be at leaſt of ſuch Value as to counterballance the Charges of getting it, or elſe in my Opinion it is not reaſonable that it ſhould draw to the Crown the Property of the baſe Metal, but the Proprietor of the Soil ought to have the Gold and Silver alſo along with the baſe Metal. But this preciſe Point was not left to the Judges to determine, for they were diſcharged of that by the Defendant's Confeſſion that the Ore contained Gold or Silver, which ſhall be intended

[a] 4 Bac. Abr. 163. Ante 328 (c). Note, the Reaſons here urged by Plowden ſeem very juſtly to impugn the Conſtruction made in this Caſe, in that Latitude wherein it is taken; and agreeable herewith ſeems to be the Conſideration of the Parliament in 1 W. & M. cap. 30. whereby it is enacted, that no Mine of Copper Tin, Iron, or Lead, ſhall be adjudged a royal Mine, although Gold or Silver may be extracted out of the ſame: Provided that the King ſhall have the Ore of ſuch Mines, paying for the ſame according to the Rates expreſſed in the explanatory act of 5 W. & M. cap. 6.

[b] Eucelius lib. 1. cap. 1.

[c] Agricola lib. 10 cap. 1. Note, he terms the Metal according to the Name of the greater Part in Quantity, as it ſeems.

[d] Ante 336 (f).

[e] Crompt. J. C. 111. b.

intended the beſt for the Queen, viz. that it was of ſufficient Value; but the Earl ought to have ſhewn
* Crompt. J. C. 111. b. 112. a. * that the Ore contained ſome Gold or Silver, but not of the greater Value, nor as much as would defray the Charges of getting it, abſque hoc, that it contained Gold or Silver in other Manner, and then by this or ſuch like Pleading the Judges would have been preſſed thereupon in Point of Judgment, which is now paſſed over by the Pleading.

And for the better Underſtanding whether any baſe Mines are void of Gold or Silver, it is good to know Authors and Experience, for the Truth of this Matter ought to direct the Judgments of the Judges.

A Report of a Judgment and of the Cauſe thereof given, after Argument, in the Common-Bench in Trinity Term in the tenth Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, in an Avowry upon Replevin brought by Thomas Brett Plaintiff againſt John Rigden Defendant; the Record whereof appears in Hillary Term 7 Elizabeth, Rot. 624. and was as follows.

Kent.

Declaration.

Same Precedent Raſt. Entr. 562. b.

JOHN Rigden was ſummoned to anſwer Thomas Brett of a Plea, wherefore the Cattle of the ſaid Thomas he took, and them unjuſtly detained againſt Gages and Pledges, &c. And whereupon the ſame Thomas by Richard Toke his Attorney complains, that the aforeſaid John the 5th Day of December in the 6th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, at Kingſnoth in a certain Place called Linnets and Colnets, took the Cattle, viz. three Cows of him the ſaid Thomas, and them unjuſtly detained againſt Gages and Pledges until, &c. Wherefore he ſays that he is prejudiced and has Damage to the Value of 10*l.* and therefore he produces the Suit, &c.

Avowry.

And the aforeſaid John by Henry Lawrence his Attorney comes and defends the Force and Injury when, &c. and well avows the taking of the Cattle aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Place where, &c. and juſtly, &c. becauſe he ſays that the ſame Place in which the taking of the Cattle aforeſaid is ſuppoſed to be done, is, and at the aforeſaid Time of the ſaid taking above ſuppoſed to be done, was, 12 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in Kingſnoth aforeſaid, and that one Giles Brett was ſeized of and in 10 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in Kingſnoth aforeſaid, called Clatches-farm, in his Demeſn as of Fee, and being ſo ſeized thereof, held the ſame 10 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances of Henry Lord Hunſdon, as of his Manor of Wye in the aforeſaid County of Kent, by Fealty only of and for all and all Manner of other Services. And afterwards and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 15th Day of June in the Year of the Lord 1556, the aforeſaid Giles Brett being then ſeized of the aforeſaid 10 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances called Clatches-farm as is aforeſaid, at Kingſnoth aforeſaid, made his laſt Will and Teſtament in Writing, and by his ſame Will bequeathed and deviſed the aforeſaid 10 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances called Clatches-farm, amongſt other Things, by the Name of all his Lands and Tenements in Kingſnoth aforeſaid or elſewhere in the County of Kent to one Henry Brett Son of John Brett Brother of the aforeſaid Giles, by the Name of Henry Brett of Callis Son of his Brother, to have and to hold to the ſame Henry and to his Heirs for ever. And afterwards and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. one Humphry Clerk was ſeized of and in the aforeſaid 12 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in Kingſnoth aforeſaid in which, &c. in his Demeſn as of Fee, and held the ſame 12 Acres of Land of the aforeſaid Lord Hunſdon, as of his aforeſaid Manor of Wye, by Fealty only of and for all other Services. And being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame Humphry afterwards and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. of the ſame 12 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in which, &c. enfeoffed the aforeſaid Giles Brett, to have to him and to his Heirs for ever. By virtue of which ſaid Feoffment the aforeſaid Giles was of the ſame 12 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in which, &c. among other Things ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſame Giles being ſo ſeized of all the aforeſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances in Kingſnoth aforeſaid, the aforeſaid Henry Brett of Callis afterwards and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. had Iſſue lawfully begotten one Thomas Brett his Son. And afterwards the ſame Henry Brett of Callis, before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. and in the Lifetime of the ſame Giles, viz. the 19th Day of April in the Year of the Lord 1559, at Wilſbored in the aforeſaid County of Kent, died, after whoſe Death the aforeſaid Giles, knowing that the aforeſaid Henry Brett of Callis was dead, and the ſame Giles ſeeing the aforeſaid Thomas Brett Son and then Heir of the aforeſaid Henry Brett, then and there ſaid and declared to the ſame Thomas Brett the Son, in the hearing and Preſence as well of the aforeſaid Thomas as of many other Perſons, that he the ſame Thomas Brett the

Son

Son ſhould be Heir to the aforeſaid Giles, and that he the ſame Thomas ſhould have all the Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments, with the Appurtenances, which the aforeſaid Henry ſhould have had by the laſt Will and Teſtament of the ſame Giles, if he had ſurvived the ſame Giles. And afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, the aforeſaid Giles being ſeized, among other Things, as well of the aforeſaid 10 Acres of Land, called Clache's-Farm, as of the aforeſaid 12 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in which, &c. the laſt Day of October in the Year of the Lord 1561, at Charte-Magna in the aforeſaid County of Kent, died thereof ſeized, without Iſſue of his Body. After the Death of which ſaid Giles, the ſame Thomas Brett the Son, as Son and Heir of the aforeſaid Henry, as well by Virtue and Authority of the aforeſaid laſt Will and Teſtament, as of the Saying and Declaration of the aforeſaid Giles, into the aforeſaid 12 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in which, &c. before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. among other Things, entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſame Thomas Brett the Son being ſo ſeized of the aforeſaid 12 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances, before the aforeſaid Time when, viz. the firſt Day of October in the 4th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, at Charte-Magna aforeſaid, demiſed the aforeſaid 12 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in which, &c. among other Things, to the ſame John Rigden, to have to him and to his Aſſigns from the ſame Day unto the End of the Term of two Years from thence next following, and fully to be compleat; by virtue of which Demiſe the ſame John Rigden was thereof at the Time when, &c. poſſeſſed. And becauſe the Cattle aforeſaid the ſame Time when, &c. were in the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. the Graſs in the ſame then growing eating up, and doing Damage there, the ſame John in his own proper Right well avows the taking of the Cattle aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. and juſtly, &c. ſo doing Damage there, &c.

And the aforeſaid Thomas by proteſting that the aforeſaid Giles, knowing that the aforeſaid Henry Brett was dead, did not ſay and declare to the aforeſaid Thomas Brett, the Son of the ſame Henry, in the hearing and Preſence as well of the aforeſaid Thomas as of many other Perſons, that the ſame Thomas Brett the Son ſhould be Heir to the ſame Giles, and that the ſame Thomas the Son ſhould have all the Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments, with the Appurtenances which the aforeſaid Henry, if he had lived, ſhould have had by the laſt Will and Teſtament of the ſame Giles, as the aforeſaid John has above alledged, for Plea the ſame Thomas ſays, that the aforeſaid Plea or Avowry of the aforeſaid John Rigden above pleaded is inſufficient in Law to maintain the aforeſaid John to avow the taking of the aforeſaid three Cows in the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. juſt, or to preclude him the ſaid Thomas from having his Action aforeſaid for the taking aforeſaid againſt the aforeſaid John, and that he has no Neceſſity, nor is by the Law of the Land bound to anſwer to the ſaid Plea in Manner and Form aforeſaid pleaded. And this he is ready to verify, wherefore for Want of a ſufficient Plea or Avowry in this Behalf, and for that the aforeſaid John the taking of the Cattle aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. above acknowledges, the ſame Thomas prays Judgment, and his Damages by Occaſion of the taking and unjuſt Detention of the Cattle aforeſaid to be adjudged to him, &c. Plaintiff demurs.

And the aforeſaid John, for that he has above alledged ſufficient Matter in Law to maintain him the ſaid John to avow the taking of the Cattle aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. juſt, and to preclude the aforeſaid Thomas from having his Action aforeſaid for the taking aforeſaid againſt him the ſaid John, which he is ready to verify, and which ſaid Matter the aforeſaid Thomas doth not deny, nor thereunto in any wiſe anſwer, but the ſaid Averment wholly refuſes to admit, prays Judgment, and a Return of the Cattle aforeſaid, together with his Damages, &c. to be adjudged to him, &c. And becauſe the Juſtices here will adviſe of and upon the Premiſſes before they give Judgment thereon, Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid here until from the Day of Eaſter in fifteen Days, to hear their Judgment thereon, becauſe the ſame Juſtices here thereof not yet, &c. Joinder in Demurrer.

THE Caſe was recited in this Manner. Thomas Brett Plaintiff in Replevin againſt John Rigden has declared that the ſaid John, the 5th Day of December in the 6th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, at Kingſnoth in a certain Place called Linnets and Colnets, took his Cattle, &c. The Defendant ſays that the Place where, &c. is 12 Acres of Land; and that one Giles Brett was ſeized of 10 Acres of Land in Kingſnoth aforeſaid called Claches-Farm in his Demeſn as of Fee, and being ſo ſeized, held the ſame 10 Acres of Henry Lord Hunſdon, as of his Manor of Wye in the County of Kent, by Fealty only. And being ſo ſeized, the 15th Day of June in the Year of our Lord 1556, he made his laſt Will in Writing, and thereby deviſed the ſaid 10 Acres called Claches-Farm, by the Name of all his Lands and Tenements in Kingſnoth or elſewhere in the ſaid County of Kent, to one Henry Brett Son of John Brett Brother of the ſaid Giles, by the Name of Henry Brett of Callis, to have and to hold to the ſaid Henry and to his Heirs for ever. And afterwards one Humphry Clerk was ſeized of the ſaid 12 Acres in which, &c. in his Demeſn as of Fee, and held them of the ſaid Lord Hunſdon, as of the ſaid Manor of Wye, by Fealty only. And being ſo ſeized, afterwards and before the Time of the taking, he enfeoffed Giles Brett of the ſaid 12 Acres, to have to him and to his Heirs for ever; by Force whereof the ſaid Giles was ſeized of the 12 Acres in which, &c. in his Demeſn as of Fee. And he being ſo ſeized of all the ſaid Acres, the ſaid Henry Brett had Iſſue one Thomas Brett his Son. And afterwards the ſaid Henry Brett in the Life of the ſaid Giles, viz. the 19th Day of April in the Year of our Lord 1559 died, after whoſe Death the ſaid Giles, knowing that the ſaid Henry Brett was dead, and ſeeing the ſaid Thomas Brett the Son and then Heir of the ſaid Henry, ſaid and declared to

The CASE.
A. deviſes Land to B. and his Heirs, B. dies in the Life of the Deviſor, C. the Heir of B. ſhall take nothing by the Will, (tho' after the Death of B. the Deviſor ſaid to C. that he ſhould be his Heir, and ſhould have all the Lands which B. ſhould have had if he had outlived the Deviſor) for the Heirs of B. were not named as immediate Purchaſers, but only to expreſs the Quantity of Eſtate that B. ſhould take. S.P. adjudged Fuller v. Fuller Cro. E. 423. Steed v. Berrier 1 Freem. 293. And ſee S. C. cited 1 Co. 105. a. 155. b. 2 Rol. R. 484. Lane 61. W. Jones 59. Cart. 4. Latch 137. Palm. 556. Jenk. 124. 2 Sid. 53. 1 Vent. 341. 10 Mod. 371, 372, 421. 11 Mod. 156. 2 Show. 64. Fitzgib. 242. 1 P. Wms. 85. Strange 26, 31. 2 Vern. 209, 468, 722. Preced. Cha. 440. Andrew's Rep. 266. 1 Eq. Abr. 215. pl. 1. 2 Danv. Abr. 538 pl. 2. 2 Bac. Abr. 86. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe W. c. pl. 9. tit. Heir M. pl. 10. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 227, 318, 319. Treat. of Wills 3. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 172. Swinb. 34, 35, 142, 560. Nelſ. Lex Teſtament. 248. Gilb. Law of Deviſes, 88, 89. See L. C. Goodright v. Wright 1 P. Wms. 397.

the ſaid Thomas Brett the Son, in the hearing and Preſence as well of the ſaid Thomas as of divers others, that he the ſame Thomas Brett the Son ſhould be Heir to the ſaid Giles, and that he the ſame Thomas ſhould have all the Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments which the ſaid Henry ſhould have had by the laſt Will and Teſtament of the ſaid Giles, if he had ſurvived the ſaid Giles. And afterwards the ſaid Giles being ſeized as well of the ſaid 10 Acres as of the ſaid 12 Acres in which, &c. the laſt Day of October in the Year of our Lord 1561, at Charte-Magna in the County of Kent, died thereof ſeized, without Iſſue, after whoſe Death the ſaid Thomas Brett the Son, as Son and Heir of the ſaid Henry, as well by Virtue and Authority of the ſaid laſt Will and Teſtament, as of the Saying and Declaration of the ſaid Giles, entered into the 12 Acres in which, &c. before the ſaid Time when, &c. and thereof was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſame Thomas the Son being ſo ſeized of the 12 Acres, he the firſt Day of October in the 4th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, at Charte-Magna aforeſaid, leaſed the ſaid 12 Acres in which, &c. to the ſaid Defendant, to have to him and to his Aſſigns from the ſame Day unto the End and Term of two Years from thence next enſuing; by Force whereof the ſaid Defendant was at the Time when, &c. poſſeſſed. And becauſe the Cattle at the Time when, &c. were in the ſaid Place in which, &c. eating up the Graſs, and doing Damage, the ſaid Defendant in his own proper Right well avows the taking of the ſaid Cattle in the ſaid Place in which, &c. and juſtly, &c. ſo doing Damage. And upon this the Plaintiff has demurred.

Trin. Term 10 Eliz.

And the laſt Term the Matter was argued by Loveleſs Serjeant on the Part of the Plaintiff, and by Manwood Serjeant on the Part of the Defendant. But I was only preſent at Part of Manwood's Argument. And now this Trinity Term in the 10th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen it was argued by all the Juſtices of the Common Bench, but I myſelf was not preſent, but that which I here report of their Arguments I relate upon the credible Information of thoſe who were preſent. And Loveleſs took Exception to the Avowry, becauſe the Defendant had not averred it. But the Exception was diſallowed by the Rule of the Court, becauſe the Defendant in his Avowry is Actor, for he ſhews his Matter, which ſhewing is like unto a Count, and is to have a Return, which is in Nature of a Recovery, and therefore he is quaſi Plaintiff, in which Caſe he ſhall not aver his Avowry, for it is not uſual for the Plaintiff to aver his Count, but the Defendant muſt; for which Reaſon the Avowry is good without ſaying, et hoc paratus eſt verificare.

Averment not neceſſary in Avowry. S. P. Ante 163. and ſee the Books there cited.

The Points of the Caſe.

As to the Matter, it was divided into three Points. The firſt was, admitting that there was a Perſon limited capable of receiving the Thing given, whether or no the 12 Acres, in which the Cattle were taken, are given by the Words and Intent of the Will of Giles Brett, inaſmuch as at the Time of making the Will he had nothing in them, but purchaſed them after the Will was made, for at the Time of the Date and Publication of the Will he was ſeized only of the other 10 Acres called Clache's-Farm, which alone (as it was ſaid) he intended to paſs by the Words (all his Lands and Tenements.) The ſecond Point was, whether or no the Son and Heir of Henry Brett ſhould take the Lands by the Deviſe, inaſmuch as they were given by the Will to Henry Brett and to his Heirs, and Henry died in the Life of the Deviſor, and afterwards the Deviſor died. The third Point was, admitting that he ſhall not take them, whether or no the Saying of the Deviſor to Thomas the Son of Henry Brett that he ſhould be his Heir, and that he ſhould have all his Lands and Tenements which his Father ſhould have had by the Deviſor's laſt Will and Teſtament, if he had ſurvived the Deviſor, ſhall be of any Avail to Thomas the Son.

And the two firſt Points were well argued in Michaelmas Term laſt paſt by the new Serjeants. (For at three Weeks of Eaſter in the 9th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, ſeven new Serjeants were made, viz. out of the Middle-Temple, Thomas Mead, who was born at Elmſden in the County of Eſſex, and now dwells at Wendenlofts in the ſame County: Out of the Inner-Temple, Thomas Gawdy, (who was born at Harleſton in the County of Norfolk, and dwells at Claxton-Hall in the ſame County) and Roger Manwood, (who was born at Sandwich in the County of Kent, and dwells at St. Stephens in Hackington Pariſh near Canterbury in the ſame County): Out of Lincoln's-Inn, Chriſtopher Wray, who was born in the Pariſh of Bedal in the County of York, and now dwells at Glenworth in the County of Lincoln: And out of Gray's-Inn, Nicholas Barham, (who was born at Wadherſt in the County of Suſſex, and dwells at Maidſtone in the County of Kent) John Jeffrey, (who was born at Chetynglith in the County of Suſſex, and now dwells there) and William Loveleſs, (who was born at Betherſden in the County of Kent, and dwells in the City of Canterbury). And the two firſt Points were inſerted in the Serjeant's Caſe and by them well argued in Michaelmas Term laſt paſt; but the Caſe was not then argued nor adjudged by the Judges. But becauſe I heard all the Arguments very attentively when this Demurrer was argued, except the Argument of Manwood, Part of which I only heard, I ſhall repeat ſome Things which were ſaid by the Serjeants Loveleſs and Manwood in their firſt Arguments.

1 Point. For the Defendant. Whether Lands purchaſed after the making of a Will ſhall paſs by the Deviſe of all his Lands. Negatur. S. P. Fitzgib. 229. Strange 26. Swinb. 141, 194. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 307, § 6. 309. Treat. of Wills 15, 28. Nelſ. Lex. Teſtam. 480. Gilb. Law of Deviſes 85, 149, 150.

And as to the firſt Point, Manwood held that by the Words in the Deviſe of all his Lands and Tenements, as well the 12 Acres as the 10 Acres ſhould paſs. For, he ſaid, it is to be preſumed that no Subject of this Realm is miſconuſant of the Law whereby he is governed. * For Ignorance of the Law excuſes none. And foraſmuch as in indifferent Matters every one ſhall be preſumed to know the Law according to his Duty, from thence it follows that in a laſt Will it ſhall be preſumed that every Man is conuſant of that which the Law has ordained touching the ſame viz. that it is of no Effect until the Death of the Teſtator, at which Time only it begins to operate, for by the Death of the Teſtator the Will is conſummate, and that which is written in his Lifetime is of no Force, but the precedent Death alone makes the Will effectual. The Words of the Will therefore are to be conſidered, and here we ought to put ſuch Conſtruction upon them as the precedent Death of the Teſtator permits and allows, for the Death of the Teſtator is precedent, and the Conſtruction of the Words of his Will is ſubſequent, which ought to be made in

* Dr. & Stud. lib. 2. cap. 46. 1 H. H. P. C. 42.

ſuch

ſuch Manner as if the Words had been ſpoken at the laſt Inſtant of his Life, and as if the Teſtator himſelf had expreſſed in what Manner they ſhould be conſtrued after his Death. And then when he gave to another all his Lands and Tenements, and well knew that the Word (all) muſt receive ſome Conſtruction and Expoſition after his Death, it ſhall be taken for "all that he had at the "laſt Inſtant of his Life," at which Time his Death commenced: (For before this laſt Inſtant the Will does not take Effect, nor ſhall the Words be adjudged to be ſpoken, and it ſhall be preſumed that he knew the Law to be ſo.) And ſo it ſhall be taken that he gave all his Lands and Tenements which he had at the Time when his Life ended and his Death commenced, and it ſhall be preſumed that his Intent was ſuch, foraſmuch as he ſhall not be deemed miſconuſant of the Time when the Law adjudges Wills to take Effect. So that the Teſtator ſhall not be intended miſconuſant of the Law in this Point, and neither the Date of the Will nor the Time of its being written is to be conſidered, inaſmuch as that Time is not material, nor gives Eſſence to the Will. [b] And therefore if a Man makes his Will the 1ſt Day of May, and thereby gives to another the Manor of Dale in Fee-ſimple, and the 10th Day of May one of the Tenancies eſcheats to the Manor, and the 20th Day of May the Deviſor dies, now the Deviſee ſhall have the Tenancy eſcheated, for the Will takes Effect at the Time of the Death, at which Time it was Parcel of the Manor; and yet if we ſhould only regard the Date of the Will, and expound it according to that Time, and not according to the Time of the Death, the Tenancy eſcheated ſhould not paſs, for then the Deviſor had no Eſtate in it: But the Date is not to be conſidered. [c] For if a Feme-ſole makes her Will the 1ſt Day of May, and gives Land thereby, and afterwards the 10th Day of May ſhe takes Huſband, who dies the 20th Day of May, and afterwards the Woman dies the 30th Day of May, the Deviſe is good, and yet if it ſhould be conſidered according to the Time of the Date, the Will would be countermanded by the Eſpowſals, but it is not ſo, for it does not take Effect until her Death, at which Time ſhe was [d] diſcovert as ſhe was at the Time of making the Will, and the Intermarriage ſhall not countermand that which was of no Effect in her Lifetime.

Another Reaſon he urged from the Generality of the Words, for by the Gift of all his Lands and Tenements no Exception was intended. So that the Latitude of the Deviſor's Intent appears from the Latitude of the Words. [e] For if a Man makes his Will the 1ſt Day of May, and thereby deviſes to another all his Plate, and he buys more Plate the 10th Day of May, and dies the 20th Day of May, the Deviſee ſhall have all his Plate which he had at the Time of his Death, for the Largeneſs of the Words declares his Intent to be that they ſhall be taken beneficially for the Deviſee. So here the Deviſe of all his Lands and Tenements implies a large and benevolent Intent towards the Deviſee, and therefore as well the 12 Acres as the 10 Acres ſhall paſs to the Deviſee. And he ſaid many other Things to enforce this Point.

[b] See Fitzgib. 231.

[c] S. P. Godolph. Orph. Leg. fo 29. §1. Treat. of Wills 10. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 31. 4 Co. 60. b. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe R. 2. pl. 1.

[d] Note, in Forſe. and Hembling's Caſe ſuch Will of a Feme-ſole, who after took Huſband, was adjudged to be countermanded, but the Reaſon given by the Book is not only becauſe ſhe afterwardsmarried, but alſo becauſe ſhe was Covert-Baron at the Time of her Death, ſo that the Reſolution there does not ſeem to impeach the Caſe here put. See the Book 4 Co. 61. b. yet it is ſaid that the Act of Marriage itſelf is a Revocation of a Woman's Will, 2 P. Wms. 624 Per Ld. C. King.

[e] S. P. adjudged M. 29. Car. 2. in Canc. Morgan v. Morgan, and a Diverſity there taken where all the Things of one Species (as in the Caſe here put) are deviſed, and where one particular Thing (as his white Horſe, or gold Cup) are deviſed. Per Ld. C. Finch. with which agrees Wentw. Off. of Exec. 23. Treat. of Wills 28. See Godolph. Orph. Leg. 272, 273, 274, 419. Cowel's Inſt. 145. much good Matter hereupon

But Loveleſs and all the Juſtices argued to the contrary. [f] For the making of a Teſtament conſiſts of three Parts, as do all other human Acts which are done with Diſcretion, viz. Inception, Progreſſion, and Conſummation. [g] Inception is the Writing of the Teſtament, and this is the firſt Part; Progreſſion is the Publication of it, in which it commences, and this is the ſecond Part; the Death of the Teſtator is the Conſummation of the Will, and this is the third Part, which being done, the Act has its Perfection. But there is one ſame Thing annexed to each of theſe Parts, and that is, the Intent of the Party, for every one who does any Act with Diſcretion, has an Intent in the Inception of it; for no Man begins a Thing but to ſome End or Purpoſe. And in the Progreſſion and Conſummation of it the ſame Intent alſo ſubſiſts, ſo that one ſame Intent runs through all the Parts, and continues in the doing of them. Then when Giles Brett wrote his Will, and thereby gave all his Lands and Tenements, and at that Time he had no more than 10 Acres, what was his Intent therein? Certainly no other but that the Deviſee ſhould have thoſe 10 Acres, and when he afterwards purchaſed 12 Acres more, it could not poſſibly be his Intent that thoſe ſhould paſs, for there is nothing in the Will that intimates ſuch Intent, and it is to be preſumed that the Teſtator apprehended he would die at the Time when the Will was written and publiſhed. So that he could not have any Intent to give that which he had not, nor was there any Preſumption that he would afterwards have them. And therefore in the [h] Commencement of the Will there does not appear to be any Kind of Intent that the 12 Acres ſhould paſs, and when he publiſhed that which was written as his Will, and that too before the Purchaſe of the 12 Acres, this Publication carries with it the ſame Intent which the Teſtator had in the Commencement of the Will, and therefore it is as void of any Intention to paſs the 12 Acres as the Commencement was, and when he died, whereby the Will became conſummate, that Conſummation was agreeable and conſonant to the firſt Intent. For if the Commencement of the Will ſhould have one Intent, and the Conſummation of it another, then would it be conſummate in that which was never intended at the Beginning, which is incoherent and incongruous in itſelf, and by no Means agreeable with Acts of Diſcretion, and therefore it ſhall not be ſo taken here. For which Reaſon the Intent of the Teſtator, which ſubſiſted in the making of the Will, and in the Publication of it, and in its Conſummation, excludes the Deviſee from having the 12 Acres. And Loveleſs ſaid that teſtamentum eſt teſtatio mentis, and of thoſe two Words it is compounded, but here there does not appear any Evidence of his Mind (which is no other than his Intent) that the 12 Acres ſhould paſs. And to prove that the [i] Commencement is to be regarded in Wills, he put this Caſe, viz. [k] if a Feme-covert makes her Will, and thereby gives Land deviſeable by the common Law, and publiſhes her Will, and afterwards her Huſband dies, and after that ſhe dies, the Deviſe ſhall be void, becauſe the Conſummation is founded upon the firſt Parts, viz. the making and publiſhing, which are void, and yet at the Time of her Death ſhe was diſcovert, but the Death

E contra for the Plaintiff.

[f] Treat. of Wills 2.

[g] 3 Co. 31. b.

[h] Strange 26. Nelſ. Lex Teſtam. 480.

[i] Strange 26.

[k] Salk. 238. 11 Mod. 123. Rep. temp. Holt 240, 244, 747. Fitzgib. 240. Swinb. 88. Treat. of Wills 15. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 31. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 29. § 1. 315, 393. § 9. 1 Finch 9. 2 Finch 12. Wing. Max. reg. 28. pl. 16. Gilb. Law of Deviſes 11, 124, 146. 2 Bac. Abr. 49. 1 Eq. Abr. 172. pl. 3. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe G. pl. 5.

Death cannot give Effect to the Will, unleſs the Commencement be good. [b] So is it of an Infant who makes a Will and publiſhes it, and dies at full Age, it is of no Effect, cauſa qua ſupra. Wherefore the Commencement and Intent is to be reſpected in all Acts. [c] And, he ſaid, if a Man be diſſeized of two Acres in Dale, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to the Diſſeizor his Right in all the Lands in Dale, and delivers the Releaſe as an Eſcrow to be delivered over to the Diſſeizor as his Deed the laſt Day of May, and before the laſt Day of May the Diſſeizor diſſeizes him of another Acre in Dale, and afterwards the Deed is delivered to the Diſſeizor the laſt Day of May, the Right of the third Acre ſhall not paſs, becauſe it was not the Intent of the Diſſeizee, who made the Releaſe, that the Right thereof ſhould paſs, and yet the Delivery of the Releaſe to the Diſſeizor was the Conſummation and chief Part of the Act. But the firſt Delivery was one Part of the Act, and that was void of any Intent to make the Right of the third Acre to paſs, and the Conſummation of it is alſo void of ſuch Intent. So, he ſaid, if one has a Reverſion in Fee of two Acres which J. S. holds for Life, and he grants to another the Reverſion of all the Lands which J. S. holds for Life, and afterwards the Grantor purchaſes the Reverſion of another Acre which J. S. holds for Life, and after that J. S. attorns to the Grantee for all the three Acres, the third Acre ſhall not paſs, for in the Grant of the Reverſion of all the Lands, &c. he intended no more than the two Acres, and although the Grant did not take Effect until Attornment was had, at which Time it firſt took Effect, yet this Attornment ſhall not make more to paſs than was contained in the Intent of the firſt Grant. So here by the Deviſe of all his Lands the Deviſor intended no more than thoſe which he had at the Time when the Will was written and publiſhed. [d] But if after the Purchaſe of the 12 Acres he had newly publiſhed the Will, there perhaps it would have been otherwiſe, for by the new Publication it ſhall be taken to be his Intent that all which the Words contain at the Time of the Publication ſhould paſs, and the Words contain that the Deviſee ſhould have all that the Deviſor then had. [e] But, he ſaid, if a Man deviſes Land in certain, as the Manor of Dale, or White-Acre, and has nothing in it at the Time of making the Will, and afterwards he purchaſes it, there it ſhall paſs to the Deviſee; for it ſhall be taken that it was his Intent to purchaſe it, and if it ſhould not paſs, the Will would be void to all Intents. But in our Caſe when the Deviſor had 10 Acres, and he gave all his Lands, the Words (all his Lands) are ſatisfied in the paſſing of the 10 Acres, and ſo they ſhall take Effect, and as to the other 12 Acres, there are no Words which ſhew his Intent to extend to them, as there are when the Thing is particularly named, as the Manor of Dale, or White-Acre; ſo that there is a plain Diverſity between the Caſes. And the Lord Dyer ſaid that by the Statute of 32 & 34. H. 8. it is intended that the Deviſor ſhould be ſeized of the Lands deviſed at the Time of making the Will, for the Words are, that every Perſon [f] having, or that after the Act ſhall have any Lands or Tenements, &c. ſhall have full and free Liberty to deviſe them by his Teſtament, &c. wherefore inaſmuch as the Deviſor had not the 12 Acres at the Time of making the Will, it is out of the Words of the Act. And he and all the other Juſtices were of Opinion that the 12 Acres ſhould not paſs.

b 1 Sid. 162. Salk. 238. 11 Mod. 123. Rep, temp. Holt 240, 249, 747. Fitzgib. 240. Godolph. Orph. Leg, fo. 23. § 1. 57. § 5. 393. § 10. Treat. of Wills 12, 15. 1 Finch 9. 2 Finch 12. Gilb. Law of Deviſes 124, 146. 2 Bac. Abr. 50. 1 Eq. Abr. 172. pl. 4. Vin. Abr. tit. Enfant D. pl. 19.

c 1 Finch 9. 2 Finch 12. Owen 69.

d Cro. E. 423. 495. 1 Freem. 292. Pollex. 548. 1 Vent. 341. Salk. 238. Rep. temp. Holt 243. Swinb. 141. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 307, § 6. Nelſ. Lex. Teſtam. 477. Gilb. Law of Deviſes 86, 87, 88. But note, ſince the Statute of Frauds this Republication muſt be in Writing, 9 Mod. 78.

e M. 39. H. 6. 18. b. Stath. Deviſe 11. Fitz. 17. Bro. 15, in fine. Swinb. 194. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 307. § 6. Treat. of Wills 28. Gilb. Law of Deviſes 86. Sed contra Bac. Max. reg. 14. And ſee Bronker v. Coke Fitz. 230. Rep. temp. Holt 247, 252. 11 Mod. 127 128. Gilb. Law of Deviſes 130. where this Caſe was denied to be Law by Holt C. J. and that the Book of 39 H. 6. here cited does not warrant this Opinion, to which Powel J. agreed. And the ſame was ſaid by Trevor C. J. in the Caſe of Arthur v. Bockenham 11 Mod. 163. Gilb. Law of Deviſes 155.

f Note the Word (having), 3 Co. 31. a. Salk. 238. Strange. 27. 2 Bac. Abr. 51. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 63. See Rep. temp. Holt 246, 248. Fitz. 232, the Opinion of Holt C. J.

2 Point.

For the Defendant.

Whether the Heir of the Deviſee ſhall take, where Lands are deviſed to one and his Heirs, and the Deviſee dies in the Life of the Deviſor. Negatur. See the Books cited Ante 341, at the Head of the Caſe.

As to the ſecond Point, Manwood ſaid that although Henry the Deviſee died in the Life of the Deviſor, yet the Deviſe ſhould not be void, but ſhould veſt in the Heir of the Deviſee, who was included in the Deviſe; for when the Deviſe was to Henry and to his Heirs, it was the Will of the Deviſor that the Heir ſhould have it. But perhaps it may be objected that it was his Intent that the Heir ſhould not have it immediately, but mediately, viz. by Deſcent; Sir, poſſibly he did intend that the Heir ſhould have it mediately, nevertheleſs his Intent was that he ſhould have it ſome Way or other, and if he cannot have it immediately, he ſhall not have it at all; and to ſay ſo, would be more contrariant to the Will of the Deviſor than to ſay that he ſhould have it immediately, for the one Way he ſhould not have it at all, and the other Way he ſhould have it, but not in the ſame Form. [g] And in Wills the Intent or Effect is more to be regarded than the Form, for the Effect is that the Heir ſhall have it, and the Form of the Limitation is that he ſhall have it by Deſcent. And ſooner than the Form and Effect ſhall periſh together, the Effect ſhall take Place, and the Form ſhall periſh, which is more agreeable to the Will of the Deviſor, and to ſound Reaſon. [h] As if a Man deviſes Lands to A. for Life, the Remainder in tail to B. and A. dies in the Life of the Deviſor, B. ſhall take it in Tail, and yet the Words and Intent of the Deviſor was, that B. ſhould not take the Land in Poſſeſſion immediately, but ſhould have the Remainder in Tail therein, and that A. ſhould have the Poſſeſſion: But inaſmuch as by the Act of God he cannot take it in that Manner, he ſhall take it as he may, viz. the Poſſeſſion immediately in Tail, ſo that the Effect ſhall be fulfilled, although the Form is not. [i] So if one deviſes Land to the Wife of J. S. J. S. dies, ſhe takes to Huſband J. D. and afterwards the Deviſor dies, ſhe ſhall take the Land, and yet ſhe is not the Wife of J. S. when the Deviſor dies, nor ſhall ſhe take it as his Wife, but the Intent was that ſhe who was the Wife of J. S. at the Time of making the Will ſhould have it; ſo that the Effect ſhall be performed, although the formal Part is not ſtrictly adhered to. [k] And if a Man deviſes Land to Alexander Nowel Dean of Paul's, and to the Chapter there, and to their Succeſſors, and Alexander Nowel dies, and a new Dean is made, and afterwards the Deviſor dies, the Land ſhall veſt in the new Dean and Chapter, and yet it does not veſt according to the Words, but according to the Intent: For the chief Intent was to convey it to the Dean and Chapter and to their Succeſſors for ever, and the ſingle Perſon of Alexander Nowel was not the principal Cauſe, though perhaps it was one of the Cauſes. So here the g Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe F. a. pl. 3. 2 P. Wms. 673. Andrew's Rep. 267.

h Dy. 122. pl. 20. 1 Rol. R. 138. 2 Bulſt. 273. Cro. E. 423. Cart 4. 8 Mod. 126. 10 Mod. 371 Perk. § 568. 2 Vern. 468, 723. 1 Eq. Abr. 216. pl. 4. 2 Bac. Abr. 87. 2 Danv. Abr. 538. pl. 2. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe W. c. pl. 2. Treat. of Wills 16, 55. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 173. Curſon 310.

i Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe T. b. pl. 2. 10 Mod. 371. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 462.

k Vin. Abr. tit. Corporation G. 6. pl. 11. tit. Deviſe W. c. pl. 4. Treat. of Wills 173.

Effect

Effect of the Gift was, that the Land ſhould continue in the Heirs of Henry Brett for ever, and not in him only, for he could not have the Land longer than for his Life. And therefore altho' he is one of the Cauſes of the Gift, yet the Continuance of the Land from Heir to Heir for ever is the principal Cauſe and Intent of the Deviſe. [a] And if a Man makes a Feoffment upon Condition to enfeoff two in Fee at ſuch a Time, and before the Time one of them dies, the Feoffment ought to be made to the Survivor only, and to his Heirs, becauſe of the Intent which appears in the Condition. And if a Man's Intent in a Condition ſhall be ſo much purſued where the Words cannot be performed, a fortiore in a Will the Intent ſhall be obſerved, where the Words cannot. [b] And in 21. R. 2. Land was deviſed to one for Life, the Remainder for Life, the Remainder to the Church of St. Andrew in Holborn, and after the Deaths of the Tenants for Life the Parſon of the Church ſued an ex gravi querela, and it was pleaded in Judgment that the Remainder did not take Effect, becauſe the Church was not perſona capax, and upon this it was demurred, and adjudged that the Deviſe was good, and that the Parſon ſhould have Execution, and yet the Parſon was not named in the Deviſe, but he was comprehended in it. So is the Heir here, for which Cauſes it ſeemed to him that the Land ſhould veſt in the Heir. And of this Opinion alſo was Walſh Juſtice as to this Point.

[a] H. 4. H. 7. 3. b. per Jay. Bro. Condition 127.

[b] P. 21. R. 2. Fitz. Deviſe 27. Bro. Corporation 77. Bellew's C. 138. Perk. § 509. O. Bendl. 179. 10 Co. 57. b. Hob. 32. 2 Sid. 26. Bridgm. 105. 4 Leon. 75. Forteſc. Rep. 24. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 356, § 8. Nelſ. Lex Teſtam. 351. Treat. of Wills 15, 31, 169, 170. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 302. Herne's pl. 1. Poſt 523.

Char. Uſes 231. Vin. Abr. tit. Charitable Uſes B.

But Loveleſs Serjeant and all the other Juſtices argued to the contrary. [c] For it is a Principle in the Law that in all Gifts, whether they be by Deviſes or otherwiſe, there ought to be a Donee in eſſe, who has Power and Capacity to take the Thing given at the Time when it ought to veſt. For if there be none ſuch in rerum naturâ when the Thing ought to veſt, the Gift ſhall be void. And here the Thing ought not to veſt in the Deviſee until the Death of the Deviſor, at which Time the Deviſee was dead, and ſo not in rerum naturâ. And as to the Heirs being named in the Gift, viz. to Henry Brett and to his Heirs, for which Reaſon it is alledged that they ſhall be contained and included in the Intent of the Deviſor, they ſaid [d] that the Heirs are not named there to take immediately, but only to expreſs the Quantity of Eſtate which Henry ſhould have. For the Deviſor could not properly make an Eſtate of Fee-ſimple in the Deviſee without mentioning his Heirs. So that Heirs are there named only to make a Fee-ſimple in Henry, and in none other, and not to the Intent to make any other than Henry take an Eſtate by them; and they are there put to make the Deviſee able as well to alien the Land to another, as to ſuffer it to deſcend to his Heir, for the Deſcent to the Heir is but a Thing ſubſequent to the Eſtate of Fee-ſimple veſted firſt in Henry Brett the Deviſee, and a Thing at the Pleaſure of the Deviſee. And it is by no Means a juſt Concluſion that becauſe the Land ſhould have deſcended to the Heir of Henry, if it had firſt veſted in Henry, that ergo the Heir of Henry ſhall take it immediately, inaſmuch as his Father died in the Life of the Deviſor; for by the ſame Way of reaſoning it might be ſaid, that if Henry had died without Heir, the Lord ſhould have had the Land by Eſcheat, and that the Wife of Henry ſhall have the third Part, becauſe ſhe ſhould have been endowed if it had veſted in Henry: And every other Concluſion might be made a Cauſe to veſt the Land in others, as well as the Deſcent to veſt the Land in the Heir. [e] And by the ſame Reaſon alſo it might be ſaid, that if a Man deviſes a Leaſe or Goods to J. S. who dies, and afterwards the Deviſor dies, the Executors of J. S. ſhall have them, which moſt certainly is not Law, for they ſhall not have them. So that theſe Things which would follow by Concluſion, if the Eſtate had firſt veſted, are not good Cauſes to make Things veſt in others than in them only to whom they are limited. For which Reaſon all the Juſtices except Walſh were of Opinion that the Land ſhould not veſt in Thomas Brett the Son.

E Contra for the Plaintiff.

[c] Dy. 304. pl. 50. Strange 31 per Parker C. J. Treat. of Wills 14. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe J. 8. pl. 3.

[d] See the Books cited Ante 341. at the Head of the Caſe. See also 1. Wms. 397. Doug. 3. ed. 339.

[e] Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe G. c. pl. 1.

And as to the third Point, all the Juſtices unanimouſly argued and agreed that the Deviſor's ſaying to Thomas Brett the Son that he ſhould be his Heir, and ſhould have all the Lands and Tenements which the ſaid Henry ſhould have had by his laſt Will, if he had ſurvived the Deviſor, was of no Effect in Law, and that no Regard ought to be given to it, inaſmuch as it was not written in his laſt Will. For the ſaid Statutes of 32 and 34 H. 8. give Liberty and Authority to every one to deviſe his Lands by his laſt Will and Teſtament in Writing. In which Caſe all that can make the Deviſe effectual ought to be in Writing. And if the reſt which is in Writing is not ſufficient to make the Land paſs without the Words ſpoken to Thomas the Son, then it follows that the ſubſtantial Matter, which ſhould make the Land paſs, is not written, but reſts in Words only, and is not within the Statute, for no Will is within the Statute but that which is in Writing, which is as much as to ſay, that all that is effectual and to the Purpoſe muſt be in Writing, without ſeeking Aid of Words not written. And herein all the Juſtices agreed. Wherefore inaſmuch as Thomas Brett the Plaintiff has ſued a Replevin of his Cattle taken, and the Defendant has not ſhewn a good Right or Title in himſelf to take them, becauſe he has not ſhewn a good Right or Title in Thomas Brett the Son, who was his Leſſor, and who is a Stranger to Thomas Brett the Plaintiff, (for if the Title of his Leſſor is not good, the Title of himſelf being Leſſee cannot be good) and inaſmuch as his Title is bad and inſufficient for the Reaſons above ſhewn, the Juſtices awarded, the ſame Trinity Term in which they argued, that the Plaintiff ſhould recover his Damages; which Judgment was as follows.

3 Point. Where the Deviſee in Fee dies in the Life of the Deviſor, if a verbal Declaration afterwards by the Deviſor to the Heir of the Deviſee that he ſhall have the Land is ſufficient to give it to him. Negatur. S. P. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 52. Gilb. Law of Deviſes 88, 89.

At which Day here came as well the aforeſaid Thomas Brett by his Attorney aforeſaid, as the aforeſaid John Rigden by his Attorney. Whereupon the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Juſtices here fully underſtood, it ſeems to the ſame Juſtices here that the aforeſaid Avowry of the aforeſaid John Rigden above pleaded is inſufficient in Law to maintain the ſaid John to avow the taking of the Cattle aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. juſt, or to preclude the ſaid Thomas Brett from having his Action aforeſaid againſt the aforeſaid John, as the aforeſaid Thomas above has alledged. Therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Thomas Brett recover againſt the aforeſaid ſaid John Rigden his Damages by Occaſion of the taking and unjuſt Detention of the Cattle aforeſaid; but becauſe it is not known what Damages the ſame Thomas has ſuſtained by Occaſion thereof, the Sheriff is commanded that by the Oath of good and lawful Men of the County aforeſaid he diligently enquire what Damages the ſame Thomas hath ſuſtained as well by Occaſion of the taking and unjuſt Detention of the Cattle aforeſaid, as for his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended; and the Inquiſition which, &c. the Sheriff make appear here under the Seal, &c. and the Seals, &c.

The reſt of the Record.

Judgment.

A Report of a Judgment given in the King's Bench in Michaelmas Term, in which the tenth Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth ended, upon a ſpecial Verdict found in a Bill of Treſpaſs exhibited by Beatrice Dalamere Plaintiff againſt Thomas Sermon, Thomas Hyet, William Pitt, and John Barnard Defendants. And the Record appears among the Records of Michaelmas Term 9 & 10 Eliz. Rot. 216. And was as follows.

Worceſt. Declaration. BE it remembered, that on Thurſday next after the Octave of St. Michael in this ſame Term before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came Beatrice Dalamere Widow by Richard Beſt her Attorney, and brought here into the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen then there her certain Bill againſt Thomas Sermon, Thomas Hyet, William Pitt, and John Barnard in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal, &c. of a Plea of Treſpaſs, and there are Pledges of proſecuting, viz. John Doe and Richard Roe. Which ſaid Bill follows in theſe Words, viz. Worceſter, viz. Beatrice Dalamere Widow complains of Thomas Sermon, Thomas Hyet, William Pitt, and John Barnard in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal of the Marſhalſea of the Lady the Queen before the Queen herſelf, for this, that they the 2d Day of October in the 8th Year of the Reign of the Lady Elizabeth now Queen of England, with Force and Arms, &c. the Houſes and Cloſes of the ſaid Beatrice at Elfield otherwiſe Elderfield in the County aforeſaid broke and entered, and her Graſs to the Value of 100 Marks there lately growing with certain Cattle, viz. Horſes, Oxen, Cows, Hogs, and Sheep, eat up, trod down, and deſtroyed, the Treſpaſs aforeſaid as to the eating up, treading down, and deſtroying the Graſs aforeſaid from the aforeſaid 2d Day of October in the 8th Year aboveſaid, until the Day of obtaining this Bill, viz. the 12th Day of November in the 9th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen that now is, at divers Days and Times continuing; and other Wrongs to her did, againſt the Peace of the ſaid Lady the Queen, and to the Damage of the ſaid Beatrice 100l. and therefore ſhe produces the Suit, &c.

Not guilty. Venire facias. The Poſtea. And the aforeſaid Thomas, Thomas, William, and John by Thomas Stranſham their Attorney come and defend the Force and Injury when, &c. and ſay that they are not guilty thereof, and of this they put themſelves upon the Country, and the aforeſaid Beatrice likewiſe, &c. Therefore let a Jury thereon come before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter on Friday next after the Octave of St, Hillary by whom, &c, and who neither, &c. to recognize, &c. becauſe as well, &c. The ſame Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid there, &c. Afterwards at the Day and Place within contained before Edward Saunders Knight Chief Baron of the Exchequer of the Lady the Queen, and Thomas Carus one of the Juſtices of the ſaid Lady the Queen aſſigned to hold Pleas before the Queen herſelf, Juſtices of the ſame Lady the Queen aſſigned to take Aſſizes in the County of Worceſter by the Form of the Statute, &c. comes as well the within named Beatrice Dalamere Widow, as the within written Thomas Sermon, Thomas Hyet, William Pitt, and John Barnard in their own proper Perſons. And the Jurors of the Jury within ſpecified being called likewiſe come.

Evidence for the Plaintiff. Whereupon the aforeſaid Beatrice ſays, and in Evidence to the Jurors aforeſaid ſhews, that the Treſpaſs within ſpecified, whereof ſhe now within complains, was done in one Meſſuage and 50 Acres Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture in Elfield within ſpecified, now in the Occupation of the aforeſaid Thomas Sermon; and in one Meſſuage and 14 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture in Elfield aforeſaid, now in the Occupation of the aforeſaid William Pitt; and in one Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture in Elfield aforeſaid, now in the Occupation of the aforeſaid John Barnard. And the aforeſaid Jurors of the Jury aforeſaid to ſay the Truth of the within contained being choſen, tried, and ſworn, ſay upon their Oath, as to the Treſpaſs aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 50 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture in the Occupation of the aforeſaid Thomas Sermon, and in the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 14 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture in the Occupation of the aforeſaid William Pitt, that the aforeſaid Thomas Sermon, Thomas Hyet, William Pitt, and John Barnard are guilty of the ſaid Treſpaſs in Manner and Form as the aforeſaid Beatrice within complains againſt them, And they aſſeſs the Damages of the ſaid Beatrice by Occaſion of the ſaid Treſpaſs (beſides her Coſts and Charges by her about her Suit in this Behalf expended) at 20 s. and for thoſe Coſts and Charges at 13 s. 4 d. And the aforeſaid Jurors, as to the Treſpaſs aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture in the Occupation of the aforeſaid John Barnard within ſuppoſed to be done, ſay upon their Oath, that long before the ſaid Treſpaſs ſuppoſed to be done, one Robert Dalamere was of the ſame Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture now in the Occupation of the aforeſaid John Barnard, among other Things, ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee, and being ſo thereof ſeized, the ſame Robert Dalamere, the 25th Day of Auguſt in the 13th Year of the Reign of Lord Henry the eighth late King of England, of the ſame Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances enfeoffed one Thomas Jennings, Thomas Lee, John Sandford Gentlemen, William Hill and Thomas Harper Chaplains: To have and to hold to the ſame Thomas Jennings, Thomas Lee, John Sandford, William Hill, and Thomas Harper, and to their Heirs for ever, to the Uſe of the aforeſaid Robert Dalamere, and of the aforeſaid Beatrice Dalamere then his Wife, and of the Heirs of the Bodies of the ſame Robert Dalamere and Beatrice between them lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue between them lawfully begotten, to the Uſe of the aforeſaid Robert Dalamere, and of the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue of the Body of the ſaid Robert lawfully begotten, then to the Uſe of Simon Dalamere, Brother of the aforeſaid Robert Dalamere, and of his Heirs for ever. By virtue of which ſaid Feoffment the aforeſaid Thomas Jennings, Thomas Lee, John Sandford, William Hill and Thomas Harper were of the ſame Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture now in the Occupation of the aforeſaid John Barnard ſeized in their Demeſn as of Fee, to the Uſe of the aforeſaid Robert Dalamere, and of the aforeſaid Beatrice, and of the Heirs of the Bodies of the ſame Robert and Beatrice between them lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to the Uſe of the aforeſaid Robert Dalamere, and of the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to the Uſe of the aforeſaid Simon Dalamere, and of his Heirs for ever, according to the Form of the Feoffment aforeſaid. And the ſaid Thomas Jennings, Thomas Lee, John Sandford, William Hill, and Thomas Harper being ſeized of the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances now in the Occupation of the aforeſaid John Barnard to the Uſes above mentioned, the aforeſaid Robert Dalamere, the 20th Day of Auguſt in the 26th Year of the Reign of Lord Henry the eighth late King of England, of the ſame Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances enfeoffed one William Dyal, to have to him and to his Heirs for ever. By virtue of which Feoffment the ſame William Dyal was of the ſame Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo thereof ſeized, the ſame William Dyal afterwards, viz. the 11th Day of September in the 27th Year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Henry the eighth, of the ſame Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances enfeoffed Richard Lyſter Knight, to have to him and to his Heirs for ever. By virtue of which ſaid Feoffment the ſame Richard Lyſter was of the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſame Richard Lyſter being ſo thereof ſeized, he the 22d Day of April in the 2d Year of the Reign of Lord Edward the ſixth late King of England, of the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances enfeoffed the aforeſaid Simon Dalamere above in Remainder of the Uſe aforeſaid laſt named, to have to him and to his Heirs for ever. By virtue of which ſaid Feoffment the ſame Simon Dalamere was of the ſame Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo thereof ſeized, the ſame Simon Dalamere afterwards, viz. the 28th Day of October in the 3d Year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Edward the ſixth, of the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances enfeoffed the aforeſaid John Barnard, to have to him and to his Heirs for ever. By Force whereof the ſame John Barnard was of the ſame Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſaid John Barnard being ſo thereof ſeized, as well the aforeſaid Robert Dalamere as the aforeſaid Thomas Lee, John Sandford, William Hill and Thomas Harper (in the aforeſaid Feoffment to the ſeveral Uſes aforeſaid together with the aforeſaid Thomas Jennings named) the 20th Day of June in the 4th Year of the Reign of the Lady Elizabeth now Queen of England, at Elfield aforeſaid, died, and the aforeſaid Thomas Jennings ſurvived them, and the ſame Thomas Jennings afterwards and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. there likewiſe died; after whoſe Death, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 20th Day of April in the 8th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, William Jennings Son and Heir of the aforeſaid Thomas Jennings, for the Revival of the Uſe aforeſaid to the aforeſaid Beatrice according to the Form of the aforeſaid firſt Feoffment, into the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow,

As to Part of the Treſpaſs aſſigned the Jury find the Defendants guilty.

Special Verdict as to the other Part.

Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances upon the Poſſeſſion of the aforeſaid John Barnard entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. By Reaſon whereof, and by Force of a Statute made in a Parliament of Lord Henry the eighth late King of England, at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex, the 4th Day of February in the 27th Year of the Reign of the ſaid late King held, concerning the transferring of Uſes into Poſſeſſion, the aforeſaid Beatrice before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. was ſeized of and in the ſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture in her Demeſn as of Fee-tail, and afterwards entered into the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances, upon the Poſſeſſion of which ſaid Beatrice thereof the aforeſaid John Barnard in his own proper Right, and the aforeſaid Thomas Sermon, Thomas Hyet, and William Pitt, as Servants of the ſaid John Barnard and by his Command, afterwards, viz. the aforeſaid Time when, &c. into the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances re-entered, and the Graſs there growing, with his Cattle aforeſaid eat up, trod down, and deſtroyed. But whether or no the Entry of the aforeſaid William Jennings, for the Revival of the Uſe aforeſaid to the aforeſaid Beatrice according to the Form of the aforeſaid firſt Feoffment, into the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances in the Occupation of the aforeſaid John Barnard upon the Poſſeſſion of the ſame John Barnard thereof in Manner and Form aforeſaid made, be or in Law ought to be adjudged (upon the whole Matter aforeſaid) a good and lawful Entry to revive the Uſe aforeſaid to the aforeſaid Beatrice, according to the Form of the aforeſaid firſt Feoffment, the ſame Jurors are wholly ignorant, and thereof they pray the Advice and Diſcretion of the Juſtices aforeſaid, and of the Court, &c. And if upon the whole Matter aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid found it ſhall ſeem to the ſame Juſtices that the aforeſaid Entry of the aforeſaid William Jennings into the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances in Elfield aforeſaid in the Occupation of the aforeſaid John Barnard, upon the Poſſeſſion of the ſame John thereof, in Form aforeſaid made, be a good and lawful Entry in Law, then the ſame Jurors ſay upon their Oath that the aforeſaid Thomas Sermon, Thomas Hyet, William Pitt, and John Barnard are guilty of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances, as the ſame Beatrice within complains againſt them, and then they aſſeſs the Damages of the ſaid Beatrice by Occaſion of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture (beſides the Damages, Coſts, and Expences aforeſaid above by them before aſſeſſed) at 2 s. And if upon the whole Matter aforeſaid it ſhall ſeem to the Juſtices aforeſaid that the ſame Entry of the aforeſaid William Jennings, for the Revival of the Uſe aforeſaid to the aforeſaid Beatrice according to the Form of the aforeſaid firſt Feoffment, into the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances in the Occupation of the aforeſaid John Barnard, upon the Poſſeſſion of the ſame John Barnard thereof, in Form aforeſaid made, be not a good and lawful Entry in Law, then the ſame Jurors ſay upon their Oath, that the ſame Thomas Sermon, Thomas Hyet, William Pitt and John Barnard are not guilty of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres of Land, Meadow, and Paſture with the Appurtenances in Elfield aforeſaid, as they have within alledged, &c.

THE CASE.

A. and B. (the Plaintiff) his Wife being Ceſtuy que Uſe in ſpecial Tail, Remainder to himſelf in general Tail, Remainder to C. in Fee, enfeoffs D. who before the Statute 27. H. 8. enfeoffs E. who enfeoffs C. the Remainder Man, in Fee of the Uſe, who enfeoffs the Defendant in Fee, upon whom, after the Death of A. the firſt Feoffor, and of the Feoffees, the Heir of the ſurviving Feoffee enters for the reviving of the Uſe to the Plaintiff the Wife of A. the firſt Feoffor: And adjudged that his Entry was lawful, for there he gained his ancient Fee-ſimple, for the Feoffment of C. the Remainder Man in Fee of the Uſe was not within the Statute of 1. R. 3. becauſe he had only a Uſe in Remainder, and that Statute is intended

IT appears by the Record that the Treſpaſs was aſſigned the 2d Day of October in the 8th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, and laid to be done in breaking and entering into the Houſes and Cloſes of the Plaintiff at Elfield in the County of Worceſter; and the Defendants pleaded, not guilty. And at Niſi prius the Plaintiff gave in Evidence to the Jury that the Treſpaſs was done in one Meſſuage and 50 Acres, &c. in the Occupation of the ſaid Sermon; and in another Meſſuage and 14 Acres, &c. in the Occupation of the ſaid Pitt; and in another Meſſuage and 48 Acres, &c. in the Occupation of the ſaid Barnard. And as to the Meſſuages and Lands in the Occupations of the ſaid Sermon and Pitt, the Jury found all the Defendants guilty, and for ſo much they aſſeſſed Damages at 20 s. and for Coſts at 13 s. 4 d. And as to the Treſpaſs aſſigned in the other Meſſuage and Lands in the Occupation of the ſaid Barnard, they gave a ſpecial Verdict, viz. that one Robert Dalamere was ſeized thereof in Fee-ſimple, and being ſo ſeized, in the 13th Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. he thereof enfeoffed Thomas Jennings and divers others in Fee-ſimple, to the Uſe of him the ſaid Robert Dalamere, and of the ſaid Plaintiff then being his Wife, and of the Heirs of their Bodies between them lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to the Uſe of the ſaid Robert Dalamere, and of his Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to the Uſe of Simon Dalamere his Brother, and of his Heirs for ever. And the Feoffees being ſeized to theſe Uſes, the ſaid Robert Dalamere the 20th Day of Auguſt in the 26th Year of the Reign of the ſaid King Henry 8. enfeoffed William Dyal in Fee of the ſame Tenements, which Dyal in September in the 27th Year of the ſame King enfeoffed Sir Richard Lyſter Knight in Fee-ſimple of the ſame Tenements, who made a Feoffment in Fee over to the ſaid Simon Dalamere in the 2d Year of the Reign of King Edward 6. which Simon in the 3d Year of the Reign of the ſaid King Edward 6. enfeoffed the ſaid John Barnard in Fee of the ſame Tenements. And afterwards, viz. in the 4th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, as well the ſaid Robert Dalamere as all the Feoffees, except the ſaid Thomas Jennings, died, and after that the ſaid Jennings the Survivor died. After whoſe Death, viz. the 20th Day of April in the 8th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, William Jennings Son and Heir of the ſaid Thomas Jennings the Survivor, for the Revival of the ſaid Uſe to the ſaid Beatrice the Plaintiff, entered upon the ſaid John Barnard, by Reaſon whereof, and by the Statute of 27. H. 8. of Uſes, the ſaid Beatrice now Plaintiff was ſeized, and afterwards ſhe entered, upon whoſe Poſſeſſion the ſaid John Barnard in his own Right, and the other Defendants as his Servants and by his Command, afterwards, viz. at of Ceſtuy que Uſe in Poſſeſſion, S. C. cited 1 Co. 128. a. 1 And 330. Gilb. Law of Uſes 29. Vide Dy. 88. b.

the

the ſaid Time when, &c. into the ſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres re-entered, and did the Treſpaſs, &c. But whether the Entry of the ſaid William Jennings, to revive the ſaid Uſe, upon the ſaid Barnard be lawful or not, they did not know, and thereof they prayed the Advice and Diſcretion of the Juſtices. And if it ſhall be adjudged lawful, then they ſaid that the Defendants are guilty of the Treſpaſs in the ſame Meſſuage and 48 Acres, as the Plaintiff has alledged, and then they aſſeſſed Damages at 2 s. over and above the former Damages. And if his Entry ſhall not be adjudged lawful, then they ſaid that the Defendants are not guilty of the Treſpaſs in the ſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres.

And upon this Verdict an Apprentice of the Middle Temple, and Thomas Bromley Recorder of London, who were of Counſel with the Plaintiff, prayed Judgment for the Plaintiff for the Treſpaſs in the ſaid Meſſuage and 48 Acres. And Fettiplace, who was of Counſel with the Defendants, prayed that they by Judgment might be diſcharged from the ſame Treſpaſs; and it ſeemed very doubtful what Judgment ſhould be given upon the Matter. And it was oftentimes debated as well in Trinity Term laſt paſt, as in this preſent Michaelmas Term, which concludes the tenth Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen. And the Doubt aroſe upon the Feoffment of Simon Dalamere; for it was agreed on all Sides that the Fee-ſimple of the Land, which Robert Dalamere had firſt given to Dyal, and Dyal to Lyſter, and Lyſter to Simon, was defeaſible after the Death of Robert by the Feoffees, who might enter to the Uſe of the Plaintiff, and thoſe Feoffments were no Obſtacle to their Entry. But when Simon made a Feoffment to Barnard, by that Feoffment he gave quite another Thing from what he had before received by the Feoffment made to him, that is to ſay, he gave thereby his Uſe of the Fee-ſimple, which he had upon a good and indefeaſible Eſtate. And in Reſpect thereof, it was ſaid on Behalf of the Defendants, that he had given to Barnard the Fee-ſimple of the Land indefeaſibly by the Statute of Rich. 3. which ordains that every Eſtate, Feoffment, and Gift of Lands and Tenements to be made by Ceſtuy que Uſe ſhall be good and effectual to him to whom they are made, againſt the Feoffor and his Heirs, and againſt all others having or claiming any Title or Intereſt in the ſame only to the Uſe of the ſame Feoffor at the Time of the Gift made. And foraſmuch as the Intereſt and Title of the Heir of the Survivor of the Feoffees of the Land was to the Uſe as well of the Fee-ſimple which Simon claimed in Remainder, as of the Tail which the Wife claimed in Poſſeſſion, he is barred from claiming the Fee-ſimple, becauſe it is lawfully given to Barnard, and if the Feoffees enter, they muſt have either their ancient Fee-ſimple, or elſe a new Fee-ſimple, and their ancient Fee-ſimple they cannot have, becauſe it is lawfully conveyed to Barnard the Feoffee, in which Caſe the Law will not ſuffer the Heir of the Survivor of the Feoffees by his Entry to take it from him. And a new Fee-ſimple he cannot have, for he has no Right to any other Fee-ſimple but to the ancient one. And it is inconſiſtent with the Law for him to have another Fee-ſimple, for then there would be two [a] Fees-ſimple of one ſame Land, which cannot be. And he cannot have any other Eſtate than a Fee-ſimple, for no other Eſtate was taken from the Feoffees by the Feoffment of Robert. So that if he is barred from that, he is barred from all the reſt of the Eſtate. And hereupon it was reſembled to the Caſe in Littleton, [b] that if a Diſſeizor makes a Leaſe for Life, and the Diſſeizee confirms the Eſtate of the Diſſeizor, he ſhall not enter upon the Tenant for Life, for his Right was to the whole Eſtate in the Land, and if he is barred of the Fee ſimple, he is barred of the Eſtate for Life, for of ſuch Eſtate he was not diſſeized, nor was ſuch Eſtate taken from him; and a new Fee ſimple he ſhall not have, for he had no Right but to the ancient Fee-ſimple, wherefore inaſmuch as he is barred of the Fee, he is barred of the whole. So here the Heir of the Survivor cannot take away the Fee-ſimple lawfully veſted in Barnard the Feoffee, any more than the Diſſeizee can in the other Caſe. And he cannot have a new Fee ſimple, or a leſſer Eſtate than a Fee-ſimple, for the Feoffees had not ſuch before, for which Reaſon the Entry of the Heir of the Survivor here is not lawful, but is a Diſſeizin, in which Caſe it does not revive the Uſe in the Feme Plaintiff, and therefore the Defendants ought to be acquitted of the Treſpaſs. And many other Things were ſaid to enforce the Reaſon aforeſaid.

Mich. Term 10 Eliz.

For the Defendants.

[a] See Ante 248 (b). and the Books there cited.

[b] Litt. § 521. Co. Litt. 298. a.

But on the other Hand it was ſaid that the Caſe here does not come to that Point. For firſt it is to be obſerved, that the Feoffees were ſeized in Fee to the Uſe of Robert and his Wife in ſpecial Tail, and afterwards to the Uſe of Robert in general Tail, and afterwards to the Uſe of Simon in Fee-ſimple, in which Caſe Simon neither by the Common Law, nor by the Statute of Rich. 3. had any Power to make a [c] Feoffment of the Land, nor to alien the Fee-ſimple of the Land, nor to [d] meddle at all with the Poſſeſſion of the Land. [e] For by the Common Law Ceſtuy que Uſe could not enter upon the Land, but if he had entered, the Feoffees might have had an Action of Treſpaſs againſt him, and have puniſhed him. For the Land as fully belonged to the Feoffees as if there had been no Uſe of it; ſo that if the Feoffees had ouſted the Ceſtuy que Uſe, or had ſued him for taking the Profits, he ſhould not have had any Anſwer or Defence at the Common Law, but was driven to ſeek his Remedy in a Court of Conſcience. And by the like Reaſon Ceſtuy que Uſe could not make a Feoffment to others, but for Remedy thereof the Satute of 1. Rich. 3. cap. 1. was made, which enacts that every Eſtate,, Feoffment, Gift, Releaſe, Grant, Leaſe and Confirmation of Lands and Tenements made, or afterwards to be made, ſhall be good and effectual to him to whom they are ſo made, had, or given, and to all others to his Uſe, againſt the Seller, Feoffor, Grantor &c. and againſt all others having or claiming any Title or Intereſt in the ſame only to the Uſe of the ſame Feoffor, Donor, or his Heirs, at the Time of the Bargain, Giſt, or Grant made. So that by this Act all Feoffments made before the Act or ſince the Act by Ceſtuy que Uſe are made good and effectual. But, Sir, by what Ceſtuy que Uſe? [f] by no Ceſtuy que Uſe but by Ceſtuy que Uſe in Poſſeſſion, for Ceſtuy que Uſe in Reverſion or Remainder is out of the Letter and Intent alſo of the Act, for no Feoffments are made good againſt the Feoffees of the Land, except they claim Title or

E contra for the Plaintiff.

[c] Gilb. Law of Uſes 26, 239.

[d] Kelw. 42. b. per Frowick, by the Courſe of the Common Law Ceſtuy que Uſe has no more to do with the Land than the meereſt Stranger in the World. S. P. Poſt Manxel's Caſe 3. Crompt. J. C. 60. a.

[e] H. 15. H. 7. 2. pl. 4. Bro. Feoffm. al Uſes 39. 1 Co. 140. a. per Anderſon C. J. 1 And. 320. Poſt Manxel's Caſe 3. Vin. Abr. tit. Uſes E. b. pl. 3.

[f] Vin. Abr. tit. Uſes W. a. pl. 1. in notis. Gilb. Law of Uſes 259.

or Intereſt therein only to the Uſe of the ſame Feoffor at the Time of the Feoffment made. [a] In which Caſe if there is Ceſtuy que Uſe for Life, the Remainder in Fee, the Feoffment of Ceſtuy que Uſe in Remainder is not made good againſt the Feoffees, for they do not claim only to his Uſe at the Time of the Feoffment, but they claim to the Uſe of Ceſtuy que Uſe for Life, and after his Deceaſe their Claim is to the Uſe of him in Remainder, but they do not preſently claim only to the Uſe of the Feoffor, which is him in Remainder. [b] But in this Caſe if Ceſtuy que Uſe for Life, where the Remainder in Fee is over to another, makes a Feoffment, this is a good Feoffment during his Life, for he had the Uſe in Poſſeſſion, and during his Life the Feoffees claim only to his Uſe, for the whole Eſtate and Poſſeſſion of the Feoffees is to the Uſe of Ceſtuy que Uſe for Life during his Life; and inaſmuch as the Confidence of the whole Eſtate, that is, of the whole Fee-ſimple, was put in Ceſtuy que Uſe for Life during his Life, for this Cauſe he may give the whole Eſtate during his Life. So that by his Feoffment more paſſes than for his Life, for a Fee-tail or the whole Fee ſimple ſhall paſs according to the Limitation of the Words of Ceſtuy que Uſe for Life expreſſed upon the Livery. And yet in this Caſe if one ſhould lay all the Streſs upon the Word (only), a Man might cavil and ſay that the Feoffees claim to the Uſe of one for Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of another in Fee, ſo that they don't claim only to the Uſe of Ceſtuy que Uſe for Life, ergo his Feoffment is not warranted by the Statute, but the firſt Feoffees may ouſt the ſecond Feoffee preſently in the Life of Ceſtuy que Uſe; Sir, by ſuch Argument all particular Ceſtuy que Uſes, as Ceſtuy que Uſes in Tail, for Life, or for Years, would be totally deveſted of any Intereſt or Concern in the Land, ſo that they could not make Leaſes or Gifts. But for Anſwer thereto, we do not rely only upon the Letter, but upon the Intent alſo. [c] For if a Feme-covert be Ceſtuy que Uſe, the Huſband may make a Feoffment, and yet the Claim of the Feoffees is not only to his Uſe, but to the Uſe of him and his Wife. But there the Intent of the Statute warrants his Feoffment during the Coverture, becauſe the Law gives to the Huſband the Direction of the Things of his Wife. And ſo if there are two joint Ceſtuy que Uſes in Fee, and one of them makes a Feoffment of the Moiety, it is a good Feoffment, and ſhall bind the Feoffees, altho' they were not ſeized only to the Uſe of him, but to the Uſe of him and his Companion, for the Intent was that he who had the Moiety of the preſent Uſe might give or leaſe the Moiety of the Land. And in theſe Caſes altho' the Letter does not warrant the Acts of the Ceſtuy que Uſe, yet they are warranted by the Intent of the Makers of the Act. And alſo in theſe Caſes the Uſe was preſent and in Poſſeſſion, and therefore it is reaſonable that he ſhould have Authority over the Poſſeſſion. But to make the Ceſtuy que Uſe in Reverſion or Remainder (who has nothing to do with the Poſſeſſion or Profits of the Land) give away the Poſſeſſion to another, is out of the Words and Intent alſo. And from thence great Confuſion would enſue, [d] for ſuppoſe a Feoffment was made to the Uſe of A. for Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of B. for Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of C. in Fee, now every one will admit that B. and C. may grant their Uſes to whomſoever they pleaſe, but they cannot meddle with the Perception of the Profits, nor with the Poſſeſſion, and therefore they cannot give any Poſſeſſion to another. For if B. might enter and make a Feoffment, or a Leaſe for Life, thereby he would take away the Poſſeſſion from the Feoffees, and thereby alſo he would take away the Uſe of A. the firſt Ceſtuy que Uſe, for after that A. could not take the Profits of the Land, nor make a Leaſe for Life or Years, for the Eſtate which B. had made would not be to the Uſe of A. but to ſuch Uſe as B. pleaſed to limit and appoint. And if it ſhould be ſaid in this Caſe, that if B. had entered upon the Feoffees, and had made a Leaſe for his own Life, the Feoffees ſhould not be bound, but might enter and be ſeized to the Uſe of A. for Life; Sir, what Eſtate ſhould the Feoffees have after their Regreſs? for before they ſhould have had a Fee-ſimple, and if by their Entry they ſhall recontinue the Fee-ſimple again, then the Eſtate which B. made is taken away: And, Sir, if a Man ſhould ſay that after their Entry they ſhall leave in the Leſſee of B. the Freehold which B. gave him, then of Neceſſity muſt they have but a particular Eſtate, viz. for the Life of A. who is the firſt Ceſtuy que Uſe; and from thence it follows that they ſhall have another Eſtate than they had before, and a particular Eſtate without a Leſſor. And then it is to be aſked, whether the Eſtate for Life which B. made ſhall be a Remainder or a Reverſion? and if he ſhall do Fealty? and to whom? and in what Degree the Uſe in Remainder in Fee is? and out of what Eſtate the Uſe in Fee iſſues? and if he who had the Uſe in Remainder in Fee may enter and make a Feoffment or Leaſe as well as the firſt Ceſtuy que Uſe in Remainder for Life? and many other perplexed Queſtions would ariſe, if the Statute ſhould be ſo expounded as to enable him in Reverſion or Remainder to make an Eſtate of the Land. But the ſaid Apprentice ſaid, [e] that if a Leaſe for Life is made to the Uſe of A. and afterwards the Reverſion is granted to another for Life to the Uſe of B. and Attornment is had, and afterwards the Reverſion is granted to another in Fee to the Uſe of C. in Fee, and Attornment is had, in this Caſe A. may give the firſt Eſtate for Life to whomſoever he pleaſes, and B. may grant the Reverſion for Life to whomſoever he pleaſes, and C. may grant the Reverſion in Fee to whomſoever he pleaſes, for there the Eſtates are ſeveral, and the Uſes go out of ſeveral Eſtates, that is to ſay, every Uſe out of a ſole and ſeveral Eſtate. But in the other Caſe all the ſeveral Uſes iſſue out of one Eſtate, viz. out of the Fee-ſimple, which is one ſame Eſtate without Diviſion, and the ſeveral Poſſeſſors of the ſeveral Uſes cannot ſever the Eſtate which is entire: So that, he ſaid, there is a Diverſity between the Caſes. [f] But he ſaid that if a Feoffment is made to the Uſe of one for Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of another in Fee, there he who has the Uſe in Fee in Remainder may make a Leaſe for Years to commence after the Death of the Ceſtuy que Uſe for Life, for by the Leaſe for Years no Poſſeſſion is taken from the Feoffees, nor is any Eſtate out of them, for a Leaſe for Years to commence at a Day to come is but a Contract executory, and ſtands well enough with the Eſtate, inaſmuch as it does not commence until the firſt Eſtate

[a] 25. H. 8. Bro. Feoffm. al Uſes 44. B. N. C. § 75. 1 Co. 87. a. Poſt Manxel's Caſe 3. Gilb. Law of Uſes 29, 239, 240.

[b] M. 4. H. 7. 18. pl. 9. Fitz. Feoffments 31. Bro. Feoffm. al Uſes 22. Gilb. Law of Uſes 28, 239, 240.

[c] P. 6. H. 7. 3. pl. 5.

[d] 25. H. 8. Bro. Feoffm. al Uſes 44.

[e] Gilb. Law of Uſes 30, 240.

[f] Gilb. Law of Uſes 30.

Eſtate is determined, when the Intereſt of the Leſſor comes into Poſſeſſion. [a] And by the ſame Reaſon he may grant a Rent-charge to commence when his Uſe ſhall be executed. But an Eſtate for Life in the Land, or a greater Eſtate, he in the Remainder cannot make without dividing the Eſtate of the Feoffees, or taking the Freehold from them, for an Eſtate for Life, in Tail, or in Fee ſhall paſs preſently, and ſhall not be executory as a Leaſe for Years is, which is limited to commence when the Leſſor ſhall have an Intereſt in the Poſſeſſion. So that, as they ſaid, the Eſtate which the Statute makes good againſt the Feoffees ought to be made by the Ceſtuy que Uſe in Poſſeſſion, and thoſe Eſtates, Releaſes, or Confirmations which he makes of another's Land, viz. of the Land of the Feoffees, are good, and ſuch Senſe is reaſonable.

[a] Gilb. Law of Uſes 30.

And if the Law be ſo that Ceſtuy que Uſe in Reverſion or Remainder cannot convey to another any Poſſeſſion from the Feoffees, this will in the End avoid the Objection which has been made in our Caſe on Behalf of the Defendants, which Caſe is now to be conſidered And firſt, when Robert Dalamere and his Wife now Plaintiff had the preſent Uſe in ſpecial Tail, the Remainder to Robert in general Tail, the Remainder to Simon in Fee, and Robert made a Feoffment, he had Power to do it, as is aforeſaid, and the Fee-ſimple of the Land paſſed fully until Regreſs made by the Feoffees after his Death, and after his Death they might enter if there was no other Obſtacle than his Feoffment, for the Feoffment is made good and effectual againſt all having or claiming any Title or Intereſt in the ſame only to the Uſe of the ſame Feoffor or his Heirs, &c. And when the Feoffor here was dead, the Feoffees did not claim to the Uſe of his Heirs, but to the Uſe of the Wife now Plaintiff, who is another than his Heirs, in which Caſe the Feoffees are not reſtrained from their Entry by the Statute, and the Common Law does not reſtrain them at all. So that notwithſtanding the Feoffment the Feoffees might enter after the Death of the Huſband; but nevertheleſs in the mean time the Fee-ſimple was taken away from the Feoffees by the Feoffment, and paſſed to Dyal the new Feoffee, from whence it follows that the Uſe in Fee was taken out of Simon, and diſcontinued until lawful Regreſs made by the Feoffees. For there is a Diverſity when the Feoffees to Uſe make a Feoffment over, and when the Ceſtuy que Uſe makes it. [b] For when the Feoffees make a Feoffment over, if the new Feoffees have Notice of the firſt Uſe, (be the Feoffment upon Conſideration or not) [c] or if they have no Notice, and the Feoffment is without Conſideration, in theſe Caſes the new Feoffees ſhall be ſeized to the firſt Uſes. So that if the Feoffees here had made the Feoffment to Dyal, and he had had Notice of the firſt Uſes, or if he had had no Notice, and the Feoffment had been without Conſideration, Dyal had been ſeized to the Uſe of Robert and Beatrice in ſpecial Tail, and afterwards to the Uſe of Robert in general Tail, and afterwards to the Uſe of Simon in Fee, according to the firſt Uſes, ſo that the Uſe of Simon had not been diſcontinued by ſuch Feoffment. [d] But when the Feoffment is made by the Ceſtuy que Uſe himſelf, who may lawfully make it, as here he has done to Dyal, all the ancient Uſes are diſcontinued, altho' the new Feoffee had Notice of the firſt Uſes, or altho' the Feoffment be made without Conſideration. For all the firſt Eſtate, out of which all the Uſes ariſe, is taken from the Feoffees, and a new Eſtate is made by the Authority of the Statute, which new Eſtate ſhall be to the Uſes newly expreſſed or intended, and ſhall never be to the firſt Uſe, but thereby all the ancient Uſes are diſcontinued. Then here by the Feoffment made by Robert to Dyal the Uſe of Simon was diſcontinued, ſo that he could not alien the Uſe, for he had but a Right of Uſe in Remainder, and no Uſe in Deed. Therefore in Reſpect of the Uſe which is diſcontinued he cannot do any Thing with the Land, nor ſhall any Thing be executed by the Statute of 27. H. 8. cap. 10. [e] For that Statute conveys no Poſſeſſion to a Right of Uſe, but only to a Uſe in eſſe. And if the Law be ſo, then when Dyal enfeoffed Lyſter, and Lyſter enfeoffed Simon, and Simon enfeoffed Barnard, this Feoffment of Simon to Barnard has no Force nor Authority given it by the Statute of Rich. 3. for two Cauſes. One is, becauſe the Uſe of Simon was diſcontinued and was not in eſſe, and the Power by the Statute of Rich. 3. is given to him who has a Uſe in eſſe, and not to him who has but a Right. The other Cauſe was, for that the Uſe which he had was in Remainder, which is not warranted by the Statute of Rich. 3. to give away the Poſſeſſion. So that the Feoffment having no Authority given to it by the Statute of Rich. 3. reſts meerly at the [f] Common Law, by which Feoffment Simon by the Common Law has given to Barnard by way of Extinguiſhment his Right of the Uſe in Fee-ſimple which he had in Remainder, in which Caſe this Feoffment made according to the Common Law, without any Warrant or Force by the Statute of Rich. 3. does not take away the Entry of William Jennings Heir to the Survivor of the Feoffees.

[b] M. 14. H. 8. 9. a. per Pollard. Dy. 8. pl. 18. Vide 5. Ed. 6. Bro. Feoffments al Uſes 57. Crompt. J. C. 53. a.

[c] Dr. & Stud. lib. cap. Perk. § 1 Co. 122. b. Gilb. Law of Uſes 181.

[d] S. P. 1 Co. 122. b. 3 Leon. 158. Vin. Abr. tit. Uſes E. pl. 8. Gilb. Law of Uſes 180.

[e] 1 Co. 126. a. Pollexf. 96, 98, 388. Gilb. Law of Uſes 27. Vin. Abr. tit. Uſes X. a. pl. 46. in notis. Hill. 33. Geo. 2. B. R. Strong & Tate, per Nolar, arguendo.

[f] Palm. 352.

But the ſaid Apprentice ſaid, that if the Matter had reſted only upon the Diſcontinuance of the Uſe, and upon the Feoffment of Simon afterwards, and the other Point of the Remainder had not been in the Caſe, but the firſt particular Eſtates before the Feoffment of Simon had been ended, then the Caſe would have been more difficult, as to the Entry of William Jennings, than it is. [g] For, he ſaid, if a Feoffment in Fee had been made to the Uſe of one in Fee, and the Feoffee had been diſſeized after the Statute of Rich. 3. and before the Statute of 27. H. 8. and the Ceſtuy que Uſe had releaſed to the Diſſeizor, the Diſſeizee ſhould not have entered, for by the Words of the Act the Releaſe is good and effectual againſt all having or claiming any Title or Intereſt to the Uſe of the Releaſor: And there the Claim and Title of Entry, which the Diſſeizee had at the Time of the Releaſe made, was to the Uſe of him who releaſed, and if the Title and Right of Entry, which the Diſſeizee had, was not to his own Uſe, but to the Uſe of Ceſtuy que Uſe, who has now by his Releaſe conveyed away his Right of the Uſe to the Diſſeizor by way of Extinguiſhment, it ſtands with good Reaſon and Conſcience that the Releaſe of the Right ſhould take away the Right of the Diſſeizee, as well as that the Feoffment of him who has a Uſe in Poſſeſſion ſhould take away from the Feoffees their Poſſeſſion of the Land, and the Makers of the Act, who had the one Intent, could not be void of the other, but the Reaſons of both are the ſame in the [g] M. 14. H. 8. 7. a. per Carel. M. 27. H. 8. 29. pl. 21. per Fitzh. Gilb. Law of Uſes 28.

Opinions

Opinions of the Makers of the Act, and of every other reasonable Creature. [a] And to this Purpose he cited the Case in 27. H. 8. where the Feoffees of Cestuy que Use were disseized, and the Disseizor enfeoffed Cestuy que Use, who enfeoffed a Stranger, and the Question there was, if by this Feoffment made by Cestuy que Use the Right of the first Feoffees was determined and extinct: And there Fitzherbert is of Opinion that by the Feoffment the Right of the first Feoffees is gone, and that it passed with the Feoffment made to the Stranger, altho' no Use was in Cestuy que Use at the Time of the Feoffment, as if the Cestuy que Use had released to the Disseizor; and of the same Opinion Shelley seems to be. From whence (he said) it follows in our Case, that inasmuch as the Right of the Use in Remainder, which Simon had, passed by Way of Extinguishment by his Feoffment to Barnard, if the other Point of the Continuance of the first Estates, and of the Use being in Remainder and not in Possession, had not made the Matter clear and beyond Doubt, in his Opinion it would have been more difficult in this Case to prove the Entry of William Jennings to be lawful after the particular Estates ended: But inasmuch as the Right of the Use was in Remainder and not in Possession, he held it to be a clear Case that the said William Jennings might enter and revive the Use in the particular Estates, viz, in the Tail to the Feme Plaintiff, and in the Remainder to the Heirs of the Body of Robert Dalamere.

[a] M. 27. H. 8. 29. pl. 21. Bro. Feoffm. al Uses 8. 1 Co. 112. a. 4 Leon. 135, 221. Godb. 314.

And at last all the Justices, after many Arguments and long Deliberation taken thereupon, (for it was debated ten Times at least at the Bar and Bench) resolved that the Entry of William Jennings was lawful, and that thereby he had revived the Use in the Feme Plaintiff, and that by the Statute of 27 H. 8. the Possession of the Land was immediately upon the Entry vested in her in Tail, for which Reason she ought to have Judgment. And they all held, that it would be dangerous to make a particular Estate of the Use, viz. an Estate-tail, or an Estate for Life, subject to the Will of him in Remainder or Reversion in Fee of the Use, for if his Release, after his own Use discontinued, or his Act should hinder the Feoffees from entering to revive the particular Uses discontinued, then the particular Uses would be oftentimes lost thro' the Obstinacy, Confederacy, or Maliciousness of them in Reversion or Remainder, which would be a great Inconvenience, and was never intended by the Makers of the Act of Rich. 3. nor was it intended that the Acts of them in Remainder or Reversion, before the particular Estates determined, should hurt the particular Uses, or the Estate of the Feoffees seized to particular Uses, but that they might enter to revive the first Uses. Wherefore each of them severally declared his Opinion to be, that the Entry of William Jennings was lawful, and that the Plaintiff should have Judgment.

And in the Argument of this Case another Point was debated at large as well at the Bench as at the Bar. And that was, when William Jennings entered, and thereby revived the Use in Tail in the Wife now Plaintiff, with the Remainder in Tail to the Heirs of the Body of the Husband begotten, in what Person the Fee-simple of the Use shall be revived, and in whom shall it be executed by the Statute of 27. H. 8. And this was debated three Ways, for some held that inasmuch as the Use of the Fee-simple was given away by Extinguishment in the Feoffment of the Land to Barnard, and thereby the Entry of William Jennings was not taken away but remained, he upon his Entry shall hold the Land to his own Use discharged of the Use in Fee, as he should do in Case of a Rent-charge which Simon had out of the Land, if he had had any before his Purchase of the Land and his Feoffment. And some others held, that inasmuch as the Use was discontinued, and not in esse, Simon, who had it not in him, could not give it by his Feoffment, and therefore after the Regress of William Jennings the Use of the Fee-simple shall be revived, and by the Statute the Fee-simple shall be executed in Simon. And the Counsel for the Plaintiff held, that by the Regress of William Jennings the Use in Fee-simple of the Land shall be executed in Barnard, for they said that inasmuch as the Feoffment made by Simon was not warranted by the Statute of Rich. 3. because his Use was in Remainder, and was also then discontinued, as is aforesaid, the Case rests meerly [b] at the Common Law, and stands in the same Manner as the Common Law was before the Statute of Rich. 3. and as if that Statute had not been made.

[b] Palm. 352.

[c] And they said that before the said Statute if Cestuy que Use had disseized his Feoffees, and afterwards had made a Feoffment in Fee, and they had re-entered upon the Feoffee, they should have been seized to the Use of the last Feoffee, for inasmuch as the Cestuy que Use has made a Feoffment, he himself has not retained any Use or Interest in the Land, for in the Gift of the Land he gave and conveyed from himself [d] all Uses and other Interests which he could demand out of the Land, or have by Reason thereof, and therefore no Use remained in him after the Feoffment. And when the Feoffees have re-entered, they cannot have it to their own Use, [e] for the Use is not like a Rent out of the Land, but it is a Thing collateral annexed to the Person touching the Land, and is no more than a Confidence for the Use of the Land, that is to say, a Confidence that the Feoffees, to whom the Land is given, shall permit the Feoffor and his Heirs, and such Persons as he shall appoint, to receive the Profits of the Land, and that the Feoffees shall make such Estates of the Land as he shall limit. So that their Estate is but upon Confidence, and there is no Act done by the Feoffor to signify that they shall have the Land to their own Use, but clearly the contrary, for it evidently appears to be his Intent, in the making of a Feoffment to another, that they who were the first Feoffees shall not have the Land. So that there is no Confidence or Equity which entitles them to have the Land to their own Use. But when the Feoffor upon Confidence enters upon the Feoffees, and gives the Land to another, in that Gift it is implied that his Intent is, that he to whom the Gift is made shall have the Land, and all Things comprehended in the Land, or dependant upon it, and then when the first Feoffees have entered, and taken the Land from the last Feoffee, yet they have not, nor can they take away the Intent which the Feoffor had in making the Gift, viz. that the Feoffeee should have the Land, and if the Feoffee cannot have the whole, yet he shall have as much as cannot be taken away by the ancient Feoffees, and that is, the Use, which was implied in the Gift of the Land. So that it stands with good Reason and Conscience that the last Feoffee before the Statute of Richard 3. should have the Use, and not the Feoffor

[c] See 2 Rol. R. 316. Gilb. Law of Uses 26, 239.

[d] 2 Rol. R. 323.

[e] 1 Co. 121. a. b. 7 Co. 13. b. Co. Litt. 272. b. 1 And. 318. Poph. 3, 71. Hardr. 491. W. Jones 116, 117. 1 Mod. 39. Pollexf. 97. Ld. Raym. 876. Hill. 33 Geo. 2. B. R. Strong v. Tate, per Nolar. arguendo.

nor

nor the firſt Feoffee. And in ſuch Degree is our Caſe here, for inaſmuch as the Feoffment of Simon was not warranted by the Statute of Rich. 3. but reſts at the Common Law, from thence it follows that William Jennings by his Entry has revived the Uſe of the Fee ſimple in Barnard, ſo that immediately thereupon the Statute of 27. H. 8. executed the Poſſeſſion according to the Uſe, that is to ſay, in Beatrice to her and to the Heirs of her Body and of her Huſband (who is dead) begotten, with the Remainder in general Tail to the Heirs of the Huſband, with the Remainder in Fee to Barnard.

But the Juſtices were not agreed in whom the Fee-ſimple ſhould be, wherefore Catline chief Juſtice ſaid, it is in vain for us to diſpute in whom the Fee-ſimple is executed, for it is not material for our Judgment, nor does it come in Queſtion in the Caſe before us. But we are all unanimouſly agreed that the Entry of William Jennings is lawful, and that neither the Feoffment of Simon made to Barnard, nor any other Thing found by the Verdict, is an Impediment or Obſtacle to his Entry, and that by his Entry he has revived the Uſe in Tail to the Wife now Plaintiff, and the Statute of 27 H. 8. executed the Poſſeſſion in Tail according to that Eſtate, for which Reaſon the Wife is Tenant in Tail, and ſo able to puniſh the Treſpaſs. So that this is ſufficient for the Judgment, but in whom the Uſe in Fee-ſimple is revived, and who ſhall have the Fee-ſimple by the Execution of the Statute, is to no Purpoſe for us to know in order to adjudge upon the preſent Caſe, for be it in the one, or in the other, or in the third, the Wife now Plaintiff ought to have Judgment. Wherefore he ordered Haywood the Prothonotary to enter the Judgment for the Plaintiff, who accordingly did ſo, and the Judgment was entered in this Form.

The reſt of the Record.

At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came the Parties aforeſaid by their Attornies aforeſaid, whereupon all and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Court of the Lady the Queen here more fully underſtood, and mature Deliberation being thereupon had, for that it ſeems to the Court of the Lady the Queen here, upon the whole Matter aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid found, that the aforeſaid Entry of the aforeſaid William Jennings into the Tenements aforeſaid in the Poſſeſſion of the aforeſaid John Barnard in Form aforeſaid made is a good and lawful Entry to revive the Uſe aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Beatrice, according to the Form of the aforeſaid firſt Feoffment; therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Beatrice recover againſt the aforeſaid Thomas Sermon, Thomas Hyet, William Pitt, and John Barnard all the Damages aforeſaid by the Jurors aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid aſſeſſed, and alſo 6*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* to the ſame Beatrice by the Court of the Lady the Queen here for her Coſts and Charges with her Aſſent of Increaſe adjudged. Which ſaid Damages in the whole amount to 8*l.* 8*s.* 8*d.* and that the aforeſaid Thomas, Thomas, William, and John be taken, &c.

1 Judgments 176, there miſprinted (172).

Judgment.

A Report of the Arguments made in a Caſe which was in the Common-Bench by Writ of Entry upon a Diſſeizin brought by John Stowel Eſquire Demandant againſt George Zouch Lord Zouch Saintmaure and Cautelupe Tenant, for the Moiety of certain Lands in Northmolton in the County of Devon. Which Arguments began in the Common-Bench in Eaſter Term in the ſixth Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, and upon the Judges there diſagreeing in Opinion, (for two of them were of one Opinion, and the other two of another Opinion) the Matter was adjourned from thence into the Exchequer-Chamber before all the Juſtices of England, and the Chief Baron, where it depended in Argument until this preſent Hillary Term in the eleventh Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, in which Term the Caſe was adjudged according to the Opinion of the greater Number of the Juſtices. And the Record thereof appears among the Records of Michaelmas Term 4 & 5 Elizabeth Rot. 1797. and was as follows.

Mich. Term 4 & 5 Eliz. Rot. 1797. Devon.

Declaration.

Same Precedent Reſt. Entr. 276 b. pl 1. See Booth 176, 177.

JOHN Stowel Eſquire by Richard Calmady his Attorney demands againſt George Zouch Lord Zouch Saintmaure and Cautelupe the Moiety of 80 Meſſuages, 500 Acres of Land, 100 Acres of Meadow, 300 Acres of Paſture, 200 Acres of Wood, 1000 Acres of Furze and Heath, 80 Acres of Elderwood, and 100 Acres of Moor with the Appurtenances in Northmolton, of which the ſame George unjuſtly and without Judgment diſſeized the aforeſaid John within 30 Years now laſt paſt, &c. And whereupon he ſays, that he himſelf was ſeized of the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in his Demeſn as of Fee and Right in Time of Peace, in the Time of the Lady the Queen now, by taking thereof Eſplees to the Value, &c. And of which, &c. And therefore he produces the Suit, &c.

Bar.

And the aforeſaid George Zouch Lord Zouch by John Heydon his Attorney comes and defends his Right when, &c. and ſays that the aforeſaid John his Action aforeſaid againſt him ought not to have, becauſe he ſays that long before the aforeſaid John had any Thing in the aforeſaid Moiety with the Appurtenances, one John Zouch Knight Lord Zouch Saintmaure and Cautelupe, Grandfather of him the ſaid George Lord Zouch, whoſe Heir he is, was ſeized of the ſame Moiety with the Appurtenances in his Demeſn as of Fee; and being ſo thereof ſeized, a certain Fine levied in the Court of Lord Henry the Eighth late King of England at Weſtminſter from the Day of Eaſter in fifteen Days, in the 30th Year of the Reign of the ſame late King, before John Baldwin, Anthony Fitzherbert, William Shelley, and Thomas Willoughby then Juſtices of the ſaid late King of the Bench at Weſtminſter, and other Lieges of the ſaid late King then there preſent, between one Francis Ainſworth Complainant, and the aforeſaid John Lord Zouch Deforceant of the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, among other Things, by the Name of the Manor of Northmolton with the Appurtenances, and of 20 Meſſuages, 12 Cottages, 10 Toſts, one Water-mill, one Windmill, 1000 Acres of Land, 500 Acres of Meadow, 1000 Acres of Paſture, 100 Acres of Wood, 100 Acres of Moor, 200 Acres of Furze and Heath, and 10*l.* Rent, and alſo of the Advowſon of the Church of Northmolton with the Appurtenances in Northmolton, whereof a Plea of Covenant was ſummoned between them in the ſame Court of the aforeſaid late King, viz. that the aforeſaid John acknowledged the aforeſaid Manor, Tenements, and Rent with the Appurtenances, and the Advowſon aforeſaid, to be the Right of the ſaid Francis, as them which the ſame Francis had of the Gift of the aforeſaid John, and them remitted and quit-claimed from himſelf and his Heirs to the aforeſaid Francis and his Heirs for ever. And further the ſame John granted for himſelf and his Heirs, that they would warrant to the aforeſaid Francis and his Heirs the aforeſaid Manor, Tenements, and Rent with the Appurtenances, and the Advowſon aforeſaid, againſt all Men for ever. And for that Acknowledgment, Remiſe, Quit-claim, Warranty, Fine and Agreement the ſame Francis granted to the aforeſaid John the aforeſaid Manor, Tenements, and Rent with the Appurtenances, and the Advowſon aforeſaid, and them to him rendered in the ſame Court, to have and to hold to the ſame John for the Term of one Month; and after that Term ended, that the aforeſaid Manor, Tenements, and Rent with the Appurtenances, and the Advowſon aforeſaid ſhould wholly remain to the ſame John and Ann his Wife (to hold of the chief Lords of the Fee by the Services which ſhould belong to the aforeſaid Manor, Tenements, Rent and Advowſon) all the Life of them the ſaid John and Ann, and of the longeſt Liver of either of them, without Impeachment of Waſt; and after the Death of the ſaid John and Ann, that the aforeſaid Manor, Tenements, and Rent with the Appurtenances and the Advowſon aforeſaid ſhould wholly remain to the right Heirs of the ſaid John, (to hold of the chief Lords of the Fee by the Services which ſhould belong to the aforeſaid Manor, Tenements, Rent, and Advowſon) for ever. Which ſaid Fine in Form aforeſaid levied was ingroſſed, and afterwards in the Court aforeſaid, according to the Form of a Statute in a Parliament of Lord Henry late King of England the ſeventh from the Conqueſt at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex in the fourth Year of his Reign thereof made and provided, was publickly and ſolemnly read and proclaimed in Form following, viz. the firſt Proclamation was made the 27th Day of May in Eaſter Term in the 30th Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King Henry the Eighth, the ſecond Proclamation was made the 29th Day of May in the ſame Term, the third Proclamation was made the 1ſt Day of June in the ſame Term, the fourth Proclamation was made the 3d Day of June in the ſame Term, the fifth Proclamation was made the 3d Day of July in the Term of the Holy Trinity in the ſame Year, the ſixth Proclamation was made the 6th Day of July in the ſame Term, the ſeventh Proclamation was made the 9th Day of July in the ſame Term, the eighth Proclamation was made the 11th Day of July in the ſame Term, the ninth Proclamation was made the 21ſt Day of November in the Term of St. Michael in the ſame Year, the tenth Proclamation was made the 23d Day of November in the ſame Term, the eleventh Proclamation was made the 26th Day of November in the ſame Term, the twelfth Proclamation was made the 28th Day of November in the ſame Term, the thirteenth Proclamation was made the ſixth Day of February in the Term of St. Hillary in the ſame Year, the fourteenth Proclamation was made the 8th Day of February in the ſame Term, the fifteenth Proclamation was made the 10th Day of February in the ſame Term, the ſixteenth Proclamation was made the 12th Day of February in the ſame Term, as by the ſaid Fine here of Record remaining fully appears. And the ſame George Lord Zouch ſays, that at the Times of the Readings and Proclamations aforeſaid made all Pleas in the ſame Court of the aforeſaid late King ceaſed, according to the Form of the Statute aforeſaid. By virtue of which ſaid Fine the aforeſaid John Lord Zouch and Ann were ſeized of the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances among other Things, that is to ſay, the aforeſaid John Lord Zouch in his Demeſn as of Fee, and the aforeſaid Ann in her Demeſn as of Freehold. And they being ſo thereof ſeized, the aforeſaid Ann at Haringworth in the County of Northampton died, and the aforeſaid John Lord Zouch ſurvived her, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſaid John Lord Zouch being ſo ſeized of the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances among other Things, the ſame John Lord Zouch afterwards, and before the Day of obtaining the Writ original of the aforeſaid John Stowel, at Haringworth aforeſaid, likewiſe died of ſuch Eſtate thereof by Proteſtation ſeized, after the Death of which ſaid John Lord Zouch the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances among other Things deſcended to one Richard Lord Zouch Saintmaure and Cautelupe, as Son and Heir of the aforeſaid John Lord Zouch, whereby the ſame Richard Lord Zouch into the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſame Richard Lord Zouch being ſo ſeized of the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, of ſuch Eſtate thereof at Stafordſdale in the County of Somerſet died by Proteſtation ſeized, after whoſe Death the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances deſcended to him the ſame George Lord Zouch as Son and Heir of the aforeſaid Richard Lord Zouch, whereby he the ſame George Lord Zouch was and yet is of the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances among other Things ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And this he is ready to verify, wherefore he prays Judgment if the aforeſaid John Stowel his Action aforeſaid, contrary to the Fine aforeſaid with the Proclamations aforeſaid levied, againſt him ought to have, &c.

Replication. And the aforeſaid John Stowel ſays, that by any Thing before alledged he ought not to be precluded from having his Action aforeſaid, becauſe he ſays that before the aforeſaid John Lord Zouch had any Thing in the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, one John Stowel the Grandfather of him the ſaid John Stowel now Demandant, whoſe Heir he is, was ſeized of the ſame Moiety with the Appurtenances in his Demeſn as of Fee, until the aforeſaid John Lord Zouch the ſaid John Stowel the Grandfather, &c. thereof unjuſtly and without Judgment diſſeized, whereby the ſame John Lord Zouch was ſeized of the ſaid Moiety with the Appurtenances in his Demeſn as of Fee by Diſſeizin, &c. And the ſaid John Lord Zouch being ſo thereof ſeized by that Diſſeizin, the aforeſaid Fine with Proclamations in Form aforeſaid was levied, as the aforeſaid ſaid George Lord Zouch above thereupon has alledged: And that the aforeſaid John Stowel the Grandfather, &c. at the aforeſaid Time of the levying the Fine aforeſaid, and of the Proclamations aforeſaid upon the ſaid Fine above ſuppoſed to be made, was ſurviving and in full Life, viz. at Cotherſton in the County of Somerſet; and afterwards, viz. the 25th Day of Auguſt in the 33d Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King Henry the Eighth, at Cotherſton aforeſaid the ſame John Stowel the Grandfather, &c. died, after whoſe Death the Right of the Moiety aforeſaid deſcended to him the ſame John Stowel now Demandant, as Couſin and Heir of the aforeſaid John Stowel the Grandfather, &c. viz. as Son and Heir of Richard Stowel, Son and Heir of the aforeſaid John Stowel the Grandfather, &c. he the ſame John Stowel now Demandant then, viz. the aforeſaid Time of the Death of the aforeſaid John Stowel his Grandfather, being within the Age of 21 Years, viz. of the Age of 6 Years, and no more: And that he the ſame John Stowel now Demandant afterwards, viz. the 25th Day of Auguſt in the 3d and 4th Years of the Reign of Lord Philip and Lady Mary late King and Queen of England, came to his full Age of 21 Years, and not before, whereby he the ſame John Stowel now Demandant afterwards, viz. the 22d Day of October in the aboveſaid 3d and 4th Years of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King and Queen, into the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances upon the Poſſeſſion thereof of the aforeſaid George Lord Zouch entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee, until the ſame George Lord Zouch him the ſaid John Stowel now Demandant thereof unjuſtly and without Judgment diſſeized, as he by his Writ and Declaration aforeſaid above has ſuppoſed. And this he is ready to verify, wherefore he prays Judgment and Seizin of the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, together with his Damages by Occaſion of the Diſſeizin aforeſaid, to be adjudged to him, &c.

Rejoinder.

And the aforeſaid George Lord Zouch, by proteſting that the aforeſaid John Lord Zouch did not diſſeize the aforeſaid John Stowel the Grandfather of the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, by proteſting alſo that he did not diſſeize the aforeſaid John Stowel now Demandant of the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, for Plea ſays that the aforeſaid Plea of the aforeſaid John Stowel now Demandant above by replying pleaded is inſufficient in Law to maintain the ſaid John Stowel now Demandant to have his Action aforeſaid againſt him the ſaid George, and that he has no Neceſſity, nor is by the Law of the Land bound to anſwer that Plea in Manner and Form aforeſaid pleaded, and this he is ready to verify; wherefore for want of a ſufficient Plea in this Behalf he prays Judgment, and that the aforeſaid John Stowel now Demandant from having his Action aforeſaid againſt him may be precluded.

Demurrer to the Replication.

Joinder in Demurrer.

And the aforeſaid John Stowel now Demandant, for that he has above by replying alledged ſufficient Matter in Law to have and maintain his Action aforeſaid againſt the aforeſaid George, which he is ready to verify, and which ſaid Matter the aforeſaid George does not deny, nor thereunto in any wiſe anſwer, but the ſaid Averment wholly refuſes to admit, as before prays Judgment and Seizin of the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, together with his Damages by Occaſion of the Diſſeizin aforeſaid, to be adjudged to him, &c. And becauſe the Juſtices here will adviſe of and upon the Premiſſes before they give Judgment thereon, Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid here until the Octave of St. Hillary to hear their Judgment thereon, becauſe the ſame Juſtices here thereof not yet, &c.

The CASE.

THE Caſe was recited in this Manner. John Stowel has demanded againſt George Zouch Lord Zouch Saintmaure and Cautelupe the Moiety of 80 Meſſuages, 500 Acres of Land, 100 Acres of Meadow, 300 Acres of Paſture, 200 Acres of Wood, 1000 Acres of Furze and Heath, 80 Acres of Elder-wood, and 100 Acres of Moor with the Appurtenances in Northmolton, of which the ſaid George had diſſeized him within 30 Years, &c. and he alledges his Seizin in the Time of the preſent Queen. Againſt which the Tenant has pleaded in Bar, that long before the Demandant had any Thing, one John Zouch Knight, the Grandfather of the ſaid George, whoſe Heir he is, was ſeized of the ſame Moiety in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo ſeized, a Fine was levied in fifteen Days of Eaſter in the 30th Year of the Reign of the late King Henry 8. between Francis Ainſworth Complainant and the ſaid John Zouch Deforceant, of the ſame Moiety among other Things, by the Name, &c. By which Fine the ſaid John acknowledged the Tenements to be the Right of the ſaid Francis, as them which he had of his Gift, &c. And the ſaid Francis rendered the ſame Tenements by the ſame Fine to the ſaid John Zouch for one Month, the Remainder over to the ſaid John and to Ann then his Wife for their Lives, the Remainder to the right Heirs of the ſaid John: Which Fine ſo levied was engroſſed, and afterwards in the ſaid Court, according to the Form of the Statute made in the 4th Year of the Reign of King Henry 7. it was openly and ſolemnly read and proclaimed in Form following, that is to ſay, four Proclamations were made the ſame Term, and four others in each of the ſaid three other ſucceeding Terms, which are expreſſed in certain, and he ſays that at the Time of the Readings and Proclamations made, all Pleas in the ſaid Court ceaſed, according to the Form of the ſaid Statute. By Force of which Fine the ſaid John Zouch and his Wife were ſeized accordingly. And they being ſo ſeized, the Wife died, and afterwards and before the Writ purchaſed the ſaid John Zouch died by Proteſtation ſeized, after whoſe Death the ſaid Moiety deſcended to Richard Lord Zouch as Son and Heir of the ſaid John; by Reaſon whereof the ſaid Richard entered, and died by Proteſtation ſeized, after whoſe Death the ſaid Moiety deſcended to the ſaid George as Son and Heir of the ſaid Richard, by Reaſon whereof he was and yet is ſeized of the ſaid Moiety in his Demeſn as of Fee. And this he is ready to verify, and he demands Judgment if the Demandant ought to maintain his Action againſt him, contrary to the Fine aforeſaid with the ſaid Proclamations levied. And the Demandant replies, that by any Thing before alledged he ought not to be barred of his Action, becauſe he ſays that before the ſaid John Zouch had any Thing in the ſaid Moiety, John Stowel the Grandfather of the ſame Demandant, whoſe Heir he is, was ſeized of Diſſeizor levies a Fine with Proclamations, Diſſeizee after 3 Years, and within 5 Years, dies, his Heir being within Age, who after the 5 Years expired becomes of full Age, and within a Year after his full Age enters, and adjudged that his Entry was not lawful, for here the 5 Years given by the Statute of 4. H. 7. firſt attached in his Anceſtor, and in ſuch Caſe being once commenced there ſhall not be any Intermiſſion or interruption of them, but the Heir, though within Age, muſt claim within thoſe five Years, or he ſhall be barred, and he ſhall not have other five Years after his full Age. S. P. Co. Litt. 246. a. 1 And. 172. Poph. 113. 2 Mod. 225. Crompt. J. C. 20. b. 96. b. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 3. b. 67. b. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 49, 71, 76, 77, 78, 104. 2 Bac. Abr. 532. Vin. Abr. tit. Fine W. 4. § 4. fo. 262.

the

the ſaid Moiety in his Demeſn as of Fee, until the ſaid John Zouch diſſeized him, whereby the ſaid John Zouch was ſeized of the ſaid Moiety in his Demeſn as of Fee by Diſſeizin. And he being ſo ſeized, the ſaid Fine with Proclamations was levied in Form aforeſaid, as the ſaid Tenant has alledged. And the ſaid John Stowel the Grandfather at the Time of the ſaid Fine levied, and of the ſaid Proclamations ſuppoſed to be made, was in full Life at Cotherſton in the County of Somerſet. And afterwards, viz. the 25th Day of Auguſt in the 33d Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid King Henry 8. the ſaid John Stowel the Grandfather died, after whoſe Death the Right of the ſaid Moiety deſcended to the Demandant as his Couſin and Heir, viz. as Son and Heir of Richard Stowel, Son and Heir of the ſaid John Stowel the Grandfather, he the ſame John Stowel the Demandant then, viz. at the Time of the Death of the ſame John Stowel the Grandfather, being within the Age of 21 Years, viz. of the Age of 6 Years, and no more, and that afterwards, viz. the 25th Day of Auguſt in the 3d and 4th Years of the Reign of King Philip and Queen Mary, he the ſaid John Stowel now Demandant came to the full Age of 21 Years, and not before, by Reaſon whereof he the ſame John Stowel now Demandant afterwards, viz. the 22d Day of October in the 3d and 4th Years of the Reign of the ſaid late King and Queen, entered into the ſame Moiety upon the Poſſeſſion of the ſaid George Lord Zouch, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee, until the ſaid George Zouch thereof diſſeized him the ſame John Stowel now Demandant, as he by his Writ and Count has alledged, and he demands Judgment, and prays Seizin. And the ſaid George, by proteſting that the ſaid John Zouch did not diſſeize the ſaid John Stowel the Grandfather of the ſaid Moiety, and alſo by proteſting that he himſelf did not diſſeize the ſaid John Stowel now Demandant, for Plea demurs upon the Replication, and the Demandant alſo joins in Demurrer.

And the Matter was argued in the Common-Bench in Eaſter Term 6 Elizabeth, by Puttrel and Carus Serjeants on the Part of the Lord Zouch the Tenant, and by Harper and Bendloe Serjeants on the Part of Stowel the Demandant. And in October afterwards it was argued by the Judges of the ſame Place, who diſagreed in Opinion, for Walſh and Brown argued that the Law was with Stowel the Demandant, and Weſton and the Lord Dyer argued to the contrary. Whereupon the Judges of the Common-Bench adjourned the Matter into the Exchequer-chamber for the further Argument of it. And there it was argued in Eaſter Term 7 Elizabeth by Puttrel and Harper, and in October following by Carus and Bendloe. And whilſt this Matter depended there in Argument, two of the Juſtices died before they had made their Arguments in the Exchequer-chamber, viz. Corbet, one of the Juſtices of the King's-Bench, in whoſe Place Carus was made Juſtice, and Anthony Brown, one of the Juſtices of the Common-Bench, (who was a Judge of profound Learning and great Eloquence, upon whoſe Death the Verſes written under the Report of this Caſe fo. 376, were juſtly made, and in the Place of the ſame Brown, Harper was made Juſtice. But he and Carus did not argue this Caſe as Juſtices, becauſe they were made Juſtices after the Argument of any of the other Judges who were their Ancients: But after they were called to the Office of Juſtices they retained their former Opinions which they had maintained when they were Serjeants. But all the other Juſtices, and Saunders Chief Baron of the Exchequer, argued in the Caſe. And that which I here report of Brown's Argument was made in the Common Bench. And Harper and Bendloe, as is aforeſaid, and Walſh in both his Arguments, and Brown, as is ſaid before, and Saunders Chief Baron of the Exchequer held that the Law was with Stowel the Demandant, and that he ought to recover.

The Point of the Caſe.

And the Point argued was but one, and that was, inaſmuch as the Statute of 4. H. 7. cap. 24. of Fines gives five Years to every Stranger, and here John Stowel the Grandfather, who was diſſeized, was a Stranger to the Fine, and had Liberty to enter or bring his Action within five Years, and he died within five Years, if the ſaid Stowel the Demandant being his Heir, and being within Age at the Time of his Death, and having ſuffered the firſt five Years to paſs during his Nonage, ſhall have other five Years after he comes of full Age, where the Reſidue of the five Years attached in his Grandfather, or if he ſhall be bound to the five Years firſt given, inaſmuch as Part of them attached in Stowel the Grandfather.

And the Act, excluſive of the Preamble, was divided by one or other of them all that argued into four Points, which were thought to contain the Subſtance of the whole Purview of the Act.

The firſt was, whether or no Stowel the Demandant ſhall be bound by the Body of the Act reſting in theſe Words, viz. the Proclamations being made, the Fine to be a final End, and ſhall conclude as well Privies as Strangers to it, adding thereto the Exception in the Act, or whether or no he ſhall be out of it by Reaſon of the Exception.

The ſecond was, admitting that Stowel the Demandant ſhall not be bound by the Body of the Act, but ſhall be out of it as being compriſed within the Exception, whether or no he has purſued the Time preſcribed afterwards by the Purview of the Act for thoſe who are excepted.

The third was, admitting that the Demandant is bound by the Body of the Act, and is not compriſed within the Exception, whether or no he ſhall be aided by the firſt Saving.

The fourth was, admitting that the Demandant is bound by the Body of the Act, in that he is neither compriſed within the Exception, nor ſhall be aided by the firſt Saving, whether or no he is within the ſecond Saving, and ſhall be aided thereby.

And the Equity of the Act was made a fifth Point of the Caſe. And ſome of thoſe who took the Law to be with the Demandant argued to ſome of the Points, and others of them to others, and ſome to all the Points. But I ſhall not recite at large the Arguments which were made on both Sides, for each of the Judges had a whole Day for his Argument in the Exchequer-chamber, and the Arguments were very long, and if I ſhould report all that was ſaid, it would make it too voluminous, which it is not my Deſign to do, but I ſhall here ſhew briefly the Reaſons and Sayings which I thought were the principal and moſt weighty.

And by thoſe who argued on Behalf of Stowel, ſome of whom inveighed againſt ſome of the Points, and others againſt others, and ſome againſt all, it was held and maintained that Stowel the Demandant was not bound by the ſaid Act, but was out of the Letter, or out of the Senſe of the Letter, of every Branch of it; and if he was within the Reſtraint of any Branch, that he was let at large by another Branch, and that he was at Liberty to enter and bring his Action as has done. And for the better underſtanding of the Act, and of the Reaſon of making it, they conſidered Fines as they ſtood at the Common Law, and the Force which the Common Law attributes to them, and the Incidents thereto, which conſiſts in three Points. Firſt, the Nature of a Fine and it's Puiſſance. Secondly, the Preſervation of ancient Rights by Claim. Thirdly, what Perſon might make Claim. For the Demandant.

And as to this, they ſaid that Fines have been of very great Antiquity at the Common Law, [a] for they have been as long as there has been any Court of Record. And by the Common Law they were the higheſt Aſſurance, and of the greateſt Force and Puiſſance. And ſo they are termed by the Statute de modo levandi fines. And the Reaſon thereof is, becauſe they make an End of the Law in bringing Quiet and Repoſe, for the Law has no other End but Repoſe, and the Law was ordained to put a Stop to Contention, and to make Peace; and this does a Fine, and from hence it has it's Name, as the Statute [b] of Fines ſhews, which ſays, foraſmuch as Fines levied in our Court ought and do make an End of Suits, and therefore they are called Fines principally, &c. And in the Beginning of the Fine it ſhews its Name and Quality, for it has theſe Words, This is the final Agreement, &c. ſo that in the Beginning and End there is Agreement and Peace. And the chief Cauſe why it makes Peace and Agreement is, [c] becauſe it binds all Strangers (except thoſe who have Defect), if they do not enter or make their Claim within the Year, and therefore it may well be called of great Puiſſance, [d] for there is no other Aſſurance of equal Puiſſance, except a Writ of Right, where the Trial is by Battle or the great Aſſize, and ſo the ſaid Statute of Fines ſays, and therefore they are called Fines principally, where after waging of Battle and the great Aſſize in their Caſes ever they hold the laſt and final Place. And Saunders ſaid [e] that a Recovery by Writ of Right, where the Trial is by Battle or the great Aſſize, was peremptory to all Strangers, if they did not enter, or bring their Action, or make their Claim within a Year after, except ſuch Strangers were within Age, or had other Defects as excuſed them from making their Claim within a Year after the Fine levied. And to this Purpoſe he cited Bracton not as an [f] Author in the Law, for he ſaid that Bracton and Glanvil were not Authors in our Law, but, he ſaid, he cited him as an Ornament to Diſcourſe where he agrees with the Law. [g] And Bracton ſays, competit exceptio ex taciturnitate, et pro defectu clamei, quando finalis concordia levata eſt, vel recuperatio in breve de recto per magnam juratam. And as a Proof that the Law was alſo ſo upon a Recovery by Default in a Writ of Right, where final Judgment is given, he cited the Saying of Herle in a Formedon in Reverter in [h] 5. Ed. 3. where he ſays, "If you diſſeize me of my Land, "and afterwards A. brings a Writ of Right againſt you, and you join the Miſe upon the meer "Right, and make Default after the Miſe joined, he ſhall recover to him and to his Heirs for "ever, quit of you and your Heirs for ever, and if I don't put in my Claim within the Year "and Day, I am barred for ever," for there he ſays, vigilantibus et non dormientibus jura ſubveniunt. So that, by Herle, Non-claim by a Year and Day upon Recovery by Default in a Writ of Right, where Judgment final is given, was a good Bar by the Common Law. But he ſaid that in theſe Caſes of a [i] Recovery in a Writ of Right, and alſo upon a [k] Fine executory levied, the Recovery and the Fine ought to be executed by Entry or Execution by Suit, for Tranſmutation of the Poſſeſſion is a Part of Notice to Strangers, and gives them an Opportunity of bringing their Action, or of making their Entry within the Year and Day afterwards, and unleſs the Recovery or Fine be executed, none ſhall be barred by Non-claim. [l] And to prove this he cited the Caſe in T. 7. Ed. 3. in a Writ of Right, where a Fine levied, and not executed, and Non-claim within the Year and Day after the Fine levied, was pleaded in Bar, and there it is debated whether or no it ſhall be a good Bar, and the Fine was ſur conuſance de droit come ceo que il avoit de ſon done, and the Land was rendered for Life to the Conuſor, and ſo it continued a Year after without any Tranſmutation of Poſſeſſion, and there it ſeems by the better Opinion that Nonclaim is no Bar, and it is there ſaid that if one recovers in a Writ of Right, according to the Opinion of ſome, a Privy and a Stranger ſhall avoid this Recovery, if Claim be not put in within the Year, but if the Tenant retains the Land all the Time, it is not neceſſary for a Man to put in his Claim. [m] And it was ſaid that one of the Cauſes why Nonclaim by a Year and a Day after a Recovery in a Writ of Right, where the Trial is by Battle or the great Aſſize, ſhould be a Bar, was, in Reſpect of the Notoriety of Battle or the great Aſſize, which is more public and notorious in the Country than Trials in other Actions. And in the other Caſe where Judgment final is given by Default, it was ſaid (but not preciſely) that in ſuch Caſe [n] Proclamation uſed to be made before Judgment, in Order that People might have greater Notice thereof. And for the Sake of this Notoriety the Statute of Fines ordains that Notes and Fines hereafter to be levied in our Court ſhall be publicly and ſolemnly read, and that in the mean time all Pleas ſhall ceaſe: And this ſhall be at two certain Days in the Week, according to the Diſcretion of the Juſtices. And this perhaps was grounded upon the Uſage (if there was any) of making Proclamations upon Default in a Writ of Right, to the Intent that the Country might have the ſpeedier Notice thereof. And Catline Chief Juſtice of England, and Dyer Chief Juſtice of the Common Bench agreed with Saunders, that by the Common Law Non-claim was peremptory to the Right of a Stranger, as well after Recovery in a Writ of Right, as in a Fine; and to that Purpoſe they cited divers Authorities out of Bracton, Hengham, and others. And Dyer ſaid, he imagined that

The Antiquity, Nature, and Puiſſance of Fines at the Common Law. See Pollexf. 158. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 104.

[a] Shep. Pract. Counſ. 47.

[b] 27 Ed. 1. cap. 1. Stat. 1.

[c] Shep. Pract. Counſ. 47.

[d] Pollexf. 158.

[e] Co. Litt. 254. b. 8 Co. 100. a. Pollexf. 158. 1 Finch 26. 2 Finch 53, 54.

[f] See Fitz. Gard 71, held by all the Court that Bracton was never taken for an Author in our Law, and accordingly Catline in citing him Poſt 358 (g), ſays he does not cite him as an Author, but only as an Ornament to his Diſcourſe. And the like was ſaid per Shower arguendo 1 Show. 121. See Forteſc. Rep. 419, 429.

[g] See Bract. fo. 435. b. Fleta lib 6. cap. 53.

[h] M. 5. Ed. 3. 50. pl. 60. Fitz. Faux. de recov. 1.

[i] S. P. 1 Co 96. b. 97. a. 8 Co. 100. a. Booth 101.

[k] S. P. 2 Vent. 335.

[l] T. 7. Ed. 3. 37. a. Fitz. Continual Claim 7. 1 Co. 96. b. 8 Co. 100. a. 2 Inſt. 517. Booth 140.

[m] 8 Co. 100. a.

[n] See Dy. 302. pl. 42.

public Proclamation was made in a Writ of Right upon Default before Judgment, but he had never ſeen an Authority thereof. And from this Uſage in a Writ of Right, he ſaid, he conjectured that the Uſe of making Proclamations in a Formedon upon Default or Reddition was firſt derived. [a] And hereupon he cited the Caſe in T. 7. H. 4. where in a Formedon againſt three they came in, and confeſſed the Action of the Demandant, wherefore Proclamation was made to any that would come and ſhew why the Demandant ought not to recover upon their Confeſſion; and thereupon one came in and ſhewed that he had enfeoffed the Tenants upon Condition of Payment of certain Money at a certain Day, which he had paid, and one of the Tenants made one of his Servants to bring this Action againſt them, in order to make him loſe his Land and his Money by Colluſion, and he prayed that no Judgment might be given, and upon this the Ter-tenants were examined, and upon the Examination the Matter was found; and Richil ſaid, "the Demandant "in this Writ ſhall not have Judgment before that Gabriel has blown his Horn." And the Tenants found Mainprize to attend the Judgment of the Court, if they could be found Maintainers of this Diſceit. And he ſaid that Fitzherbert and Statham, in their Titles of Proclamation, ſay that Proclamations ſhall be made in ſuch Caſes, and they add, "Quære by what Law." And ſo they who argued on the Part of the Demandant concluded that Fines were of the greateſt Antiquity, and next to a Recovery in a Writ of Right were of the greateſt Force and Puiſſance. And hereupon Brown ſaid, that by Reaſon of the Highneſs of a Fine, and of the Peace and Repoſe which it carries with it, it may be termed Finis legis, et Fructus legis, et Exitus legis, et Effectus legis.

[a] T. 7. H. 4. 19. b. Stath Proclamation 3. Fitz. 14. Bro. 2. M. 33. H. 6. 34. a. Booth 140.

The Preſervation of ancient Rights regarded by the Common Law, and the Time limited by it for Claim to be made.

But he and the others ſaid, that notwithſtanding it's Highneſs and Puiſſance, yet in the Conſideration of a Fine there is one Thing which is always to be obſerved and coupled with it. And that is, the former Rights which Men have to the Land, which the firſt Founders of our Law always regarded. So that notwithſtanding the Highneſs of the Fine, they made Proviſion for the Preſervation of ancient Rights, and it was never their Intent that by raiſing up the one the other ſhould be ſuppreſſed, but that both of them ſhould be guided by Reaſon, and be preſerved within the Limits thereof. And for this Cauſe they ordained a Means to preſerve the ancient Right, and that was, by Entry, Action, or Claim within a certain Time, viz. within a Year and a Day after the Fine levied, by which Entry, if it was lawful, or by Recovery by Action the Fine was utterly annulled, not only (as Saunders ſaid) againſt him who entered lawfully or recovered, but alſo againſt all thoſe who had a more ancient Right than he who entered or recovered. For, he ſaid, after a Fine levied the Poſſeſſion ought to continue a Year and Day according to the Purport of the Fine, and if it does not, but one enters or recovers, and ſo avoids the Poſſeſſion, then the Fine by the Common Law was avoided not only againſt him but againſt all others that had Right paramount, altho' they did not put in their Claim within the Year and Day after the Fine: And for Proof hereof he cited [b] 16. Ed. 2. which agrees herewith, as he ſaid. And Dyer afterwards affirmed this, and ſaid, as the Lord, who has annulled by Diſceit a Fine at the Common Law, has reſtored the Right to him who levied the Fine, ſo has he, whoſe Entry is lawful, annulled the Fine by his Entry within the Year and Day, and put at large the former Right of others, which without Claim or Action by them within the Year and Day would otherwiſe have been bound. And Saunders went further, and affirmed that if the Right paramount was actually bound, yet if the Eſtate which paſſed by the Fine be afterwards defeated, the Right paramount is reſtored. And hereupon he put this Caſe, viz. [c] he that abates after the Death of Tenant in Fee-ſimple makes a Feoffment upon Condition, and the Feoffee levies a Fine, and a Year and Day paſſes without Entry or Claim by the Heir, now the Conuſee and all who came under him were barred from pleading ſuch Fine before the Statute of Nonclaim; but if afterwards the Condition had been broken, by Reaſon whereof the Abator enters for the Condition broken, then the Heir may have an Aſſize of Mortdanceſtor againſt the Abator, and he has no Defence againſt him, for he cannot claim by the Conuſee, nor under his Eſtate, for he has defeated his Eſtate, and if he will plead in Bar of the Aſſize of Mortdanceſtor the Fine levied to the Conuſee, and ſay that he has his Eſtate, the Matter of the Avoidance of the Eſtate may be ſhewn in Avoidance of the Concluſion, for he cannot claim Privilege by an Eſtate which he himſelf has defeated. [d] And he ſaid that the Law ſince the Statute of 4. H. 7. is, that if the Eſtate contained in the Fine be defeated within the five Years, the Fine has thereby loſt it's Force, not only againſt him who defeated it, but againſt all others that had Right or Title paramount, and who did not put in their Claim within the five Years after the Proclamations, altho' it be ſo that he who defeated it brought his Action within the five Years, and had not Judgment and Execution until ſeven Years were paſſed after the Proclamations. And alſo he ſaid that continual Claim upon the Land, or amongſt the Neighbours out of the Land, where he dares not enter, ſhall diſturb the Fine if the Entry be lawful. And it was alſo ſaid on this Part, that before the Statute which ouſted Nonclaim, a Stranger who had Right might come in within the Year, and put in his Claim upon the [e] Record of the Fine, quod Catline et Dyer conceſſerunt, and they ſaid that the Entry was thus, viz. [f] Talis venit et apponit clameum ſuum ad terras infra ſcriptas, and it was written, as Dyer ſaid, in the Record of the Foot of the Fine, viz. under the Fine; and, he ſaid, he had ſeen that ſuch Entries were made in the Reigns of five Kings next before King Edward 3. And Catline alledged that he had ſeen divers Records of ſuch Entries, but he ſaid that the Day of the Entry of the Claim was not put in the Entry of ſome, ſo that it did not appear in the Records nor was it teſtified that it was entered within the Year and Day, but yet, he ſaid, it is to be intended that it was entered within the Year and Day, and it was not permitted to be entered after the Year and Day. And he cited the Words of Bracton, who writes that ſuch Claim ought to be made within the Year and Day, but he ſaid that he did not cite him as an [g] Author in our Law, but for Conſonancy and Order where [b] H. 16. Ed. 2. Fitz. Continual Claim 10. 2 Inſt. 518. Vin. Abr. tit. Fine F. a. 3. pl. 2. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 47, 99.

[c] Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 69. a. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 99. Co. Read. on Fines 13. Vin. Abr. tit. Fine F. a. 3. pl 3. Sed contra 1 Leon. 84 per Periam. J.

[d] Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 73. a. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 99.

[e] But this is no ſuch Claim as ſhall avoid the Statute of 4. H. 7. 2 Leon. 53 Brafier's Caſe. 2 Inſt. 518.

[f] See Fleta lib. 6. cap. 53. 2 Inſt. 518.

[g] Ante 357 (f).

where he agrees with better Authorities. [a] And Dyer ſaid, in 16. Ed. 2. in a Cui in vita a Fine and Nonclaim was pleaded againſt the Woman Demandant, and ſhe alledged Claim entered by her in the Foot of the Fine; and there was a Variance in her Name, for the Name which ſhe now uſed was different from the Name in the Entry of the Claim, and yet ſhe there joined Iſſue that ſhe was the ſame Perſon who made the Claim upon the Record. And Note, the Lord Dyer defined Claim in this Manner, viz. Claim is a Challenge by a Man of the Propriety or Ownerſhip of a Thing which he has not in Poſſeſſion, but which is wrongfully detained from him. Upon the whole therefore there were [b] four Claims at the Common Law to avoid Fines, that is to ſay, two by Record, and two in pais. By Record, one was, a real Action brought within the Year according to the Truth of the Caſe, the other was, Entry of Claim in the Record of the Foot of the Fine. In Pais, one was, a lawful Entry into the Land by him that had Right, and an Expulſion of the Conuſee, or Ter tenant; the other was, continual Claim. Wherefore thoſe who argued on the Part of Stowel ſaid, that notwithſtanding the Puiſſance of Fines at the Common Law, yet Reſpect was had to ancient Rights, and the Law provided theſe Claims for the Preſervation of them.

[a] H. 16. Ed. 2. Fitz. Continual Claim 10.

[b] 2 Inſt. 518. Vin. Abr. tit. Fine G. a. pl. 1. Andrews Rep. 133. Curſon 146.

As to the third Point, viz. what Perſons ought to make Claim to avoid being concluded by the Fine, they ſaid that thoſe ought to make it who were Strangers to the Fine, and had [c] preſent Right, for inaſmuch as the Time of Entry, or Action, or Claim was but within the Year, he who within the Year had Cauſe thereof ought to make it, and none other. [d] And therefore if there be Tenant for Life, the Remainder for Life, the Remainder in Fee, if the firſt Tenant for Life aliens, and the Alienee levies a Fine, he in the Remainder for Life may enter, and defeat the Fine, and not he in the Remainder in Fee, and if he enters, this ſhall give Benefit to him in the Remainder in Fee, for againſt him the Fine ſhall be ouſted; and by the ſame Reaſon if he makes continual Claim, he in the Remainder in Fee ſhall ever after take Benefit by it, and ſhall avoid the Fine, as Saunders ſaid. [e] And, it was ſaid, if the Tenant for Life would not make Claim within the Year, but ſuffered the Year to paſs, he in the Reverſion or Remainder was bound at the Common Law, for all of them, that is, the particular Tenant, and they in the Remainder or Reverſion, had but a Year after the Fine levied. And Catline afterwards in his Argument affirming this ſaid, that it was a great Miſchief that by the Latches of Tenant for Life, or Tenant of other particular Eſtate, he that had the Remainder or Reverſion in Fee ſhould be bound for ever. [f] And he ſaid that this Miſchief was one of the great Cauſes of making the Act of 34. Edw. 3. cap. 16. which ouſted Nonclaim. And Brown ſaid that the Statute of Weſtminſter 2. cap. 1. provided for the Donor in Tail in this Caſe long before the Statute of 34. Edw. 3. for the Words of the Statute are, nor ſhall it be neceſſary for ſuch Heirs, or thoſe to whom the Reverſion belongs, to put in their Claim. So that this Statute provides that it is not neceſſary for Tenant in Tail to make Claim, ex quo ſequitur that Nonclaim ſhall not prejudice him, nor him in Reverſion, and if the Tenant in Tail dies within a Year after the Fine levied, he in the Reverſion by the ſaid Act has no Neceſſity to make his Claim. And ſo this Caſe was remedied, from whence it may be collected that before he ſhould have been bound.

Who ought to make Claim.

[c] 2 Inſt. 518.

[d] 2 Inſt. 518. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 72. a. Curſon 139.

[e] 2 Inſt. 518. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 47.

[f] Co. Litt. 2 f 2. b. Poſt 360. (f), per Catline.

But Brown demanded, inaſmuch as Claim is neceſſary for the Salvation of former Rights, who ought to make Claim? And to this he ſaid, as alſo did Walſh and Saunders, and all that argued on the Part of the Demandant, that he who is of full Age ought always to make the Claim within the Year, for he has Underſtanding and Reaſon to know his Right, and to know whether his Entry be lawful, and to enter, or make continual Claim, or bring his Action according to his Right. And becauſe ſuch a one has Reaſon and Diſcretion, it is reaſonable that he ſhould be bound to a certain Time. But an Infant has no Reaſon nor Underſtanding, and therefore it would be utterly unreaſonable to bind one to a certain Time, who had not Diſcretion to know his Right, nor to underſtand what Action he ſhould bring, nor when or how he ſhould enter or make his Claim, for which Reaſon he and others that were in like Caſe were by the Common Law exempted from the Law of Non-claim. [g] And this was proved by the Implication of the ſaid Act of Weſtminſter 2. cap. 1. de donis conditionalibus, which ſays, nor ſhall it be neceſſary for ſuch Heirs, or thoſe to whom the Reverſion belongs (altho' they ſhall be of full Age, in England, and out of Priſon) to put in their Claim; by which Words (altho' they ſhall be of full Age) it is implied that if he was within Age, he was not driven by the Common Law to make his Claim. The like appears by the Statute [h] de modo levandi fines, which is as follows, viz. *And the Cauſe why ſuch Solemnity ought to be done in a Fine is, becauſe a Fine is ſo high a Bar, and of ſo great Force, and of ſo ſtrong Nature in itſelf, that it clearly concludeth not only ſuch as be Parties and Privies thereto, and their Heirs, but all other People of the World, being of full Age, out of Priſon, and of good Memory, and within the four Seas the Day of the Fine levied, * if they make not their Claim of their Action, within a Year and a Day by the Country.* And Note, where ſome Books of the ſaid Statute have the Words (que le Clerk forcloſe, &c. Catline ſaid that it ſhould be as above, que el clere forcloſe, that is, it clearly or utterly forecloſes or concludes; and he ſaid that the Words (pur le pay) are the ſame in Senſe with pur le pais, that is, that the Action ſhall be tried by the Country, viz. by 12 Men. Wherefore inaſmuch as the Statute ſays that a Fine clearly concludes all Men who are of full Age, out of Priſon, and of good Memory, and within the four Seas, therein it is implied that they who were within Age, or lay under the other Defects, were not bound to make Claim. And all this is grounded upon good Reaſon, [i] for an Infant being void of Senſe cannot know his Right, nor underſtand what Action is proper to be brought for it, nor can he make his Claim, or do other Acts which require Diſcretion. [k] And in the like Caſe is he who is of unſound Memory.

Who ought to make Claim.

[g] See Litt. § 441.

[h] Stat. 18. Ed. 1. Stat. 4.

* In the Original it is fils ne mettront lour claim de lour Action pur le pay deins lan et le jour, which Reading has been generally followed, but Mr. Cay in his Preface to the Abridgment of the Statutes propoſes another, which he ſays is a more probable Reading, thus, fils ne mettront lour claim, ou al Record l'action, ou le pais, dein lan et le jour, againſt the Conſtruction here after made by Catline upon the Words pur le pay.

[i] 8 Co. 100. a. b. Fleta lib. 6. cap. 54 § 1. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. ſo. 67. b.

[k] Fleta lib. 6. cap. 54. § 1.

[a] And he that is in Priſon at the Time of the Fine levied, who by Intendment of Law is kept cloſe, and without Conference with others, or Intelligence of Things abroad, and who has not Liberty to go at large to make Entry or Claim, or to ſeek Counſel, [b] as alſo he that is beyond Sea at the Time of the Fine levied, who is preſumed not to have Knowledge of any Thing done in England, ought not in Reaſon to be bound by their Default of Claim, for they are as void, in Intendment of Law, of any Knowledge of the Fine levied, as an Infant or Man of unſound Memory are of Senſe and Reaſon, and therefore they ſhall not be bound to make Claim. [c] But Dyer ſaid that a Feme-covert is not mentioned in any of the Acts, but ſhe ſhould be bound by Nonclaim, for ſhe had a Huſband who might make Claim. And he ſaid that in one of the Precedents which he had ſeen, a Claim was entered in the Foot of the Fine by Baron and Feme. And Saunders ſaid, that an Infant and the others who were not bound to make Claim within a Year and Day, and their Heirs, were exempted from making Claim at any Time, for the Infant was not bound to make Claim within a Year and Day after he came of full Age, nor he of unſound Memory within a Year and Day after his Memory was reſtored, nor he in Priſon or beyond Sea after he became at large or within the Realm, but they were at large for ever by the Common Law, and bound to no Time. [d] And Brown ſaid, that if a Diſſeizor had levied a Fine before the Statute of Nonclaim, the Diſſeizee then being of full Age, and the Diſſeizee had died within a Year, before Entry or Claim made, or Action brought, and the Right had deſcended to his Son and Heir within Age, he was at large, and was not bound by it's having firſt attached in his Father; for the ſame Reaſon which would have exempted him from making Claim within a Year and Day (being an Infant), if he had had the Right at the Time of the Fine levied, exempts him (being an Infant) now that he has the Right by Deſcent within the Year and Day, for no Folly ſhall be imputed to his Father for not entering or making Claim, inaſmuch as he had Time to do it during the whole Year and Day, and he could not be ſaid to have committed Folly in ſurceaſing his Time until the whole Time was elapſed, becauſe he died before it was elapſed, and when his Right deſcended to the Infant, he was not bound to Time in this Caſe any more than in the other where he had the Right at the Time of the Fine levied, ſo that the Reaſon of the Common Law is the ſame in both the Caſes. And Saunders ſaid, if there was Tenant for Life, with Remainder for Life, and the Reverſion or Remainder in Fee to an Infant, the firſt Tenant for Life aliened, and a Fine was levied, now the Tenant for Life in Remainder ought to enter or make the Claim, but if he had died within the Year and Day, the Infant was at large, and ſhould not be bound, altho' the Year and Day had been paſſed without Entry, Action, or Claim by him, cauſa apparet ex dicto Brown.

Wherefore they who held the Law to be with Stowel concluded that Fines were of the greateſt Force by the Common Law, but yet not ſo great as to deſtroy former Rights, which were much regarded, and for the Preſervation whereof a Time was given, out of which Time Infants were exempted. And afterwards, viz. by the Act of 34. Edw. 3. cap. 16. Nonclaim was ouſted. Saunders ſaid that one of the great Cauſes thereof was the troubleſome Times of War, which hindered the People in thoſe Days from taking Notice of Fines, and from making their Claims. [e] And he ſaid that by Equity thereof the Law of Nonclaim is taken away in a Writ of Right, for there was the ſame Reaſon in both the Caſes, and the Law which in Words took away the one, in Senſe took away the other. [f] Catline held that the Unreaſonableneſs of the Law, in that they in Reverſion or Remainder were bound by the Latches or Maliciouſneſs of the particular Tenants for Life, who would not enter or make Claim within the Year and Day, was one of the great Cauſes of the Repeal of the Statute of Nonclaim. The Law of Nonclaim being ouſted, they who held the Law to be with the Demandant ſaid, that in Proceſs of Time a Defect was found in the Validity of Fines, for whereas they uſed to be the ſtrongeſt Aſſurance that People could have of their Inheritances, after the Statute which ouſted Nonclaim they loſt their Force, and became very weak, and in Effect nothing more than [g] Feoffments of Record, by Reaſon whereof the Security of Men's Inheritances was taken away, and the Foundation which eſtabliſhed them was broken up, which introduced great Strife and Contention amongſt the Subjects of the Realm, and which the Makers of the Act of 4. H. 7. intended to reform, as it appears by the Preamble of the ſaid Act, whereby it ſeems they had three Things in View. The firſt was, to enhance the Reputation of Fines, and to make them of a puiſſant Nature. Secondly, to preſerve ancient Rights, ſo that they were purſued within a certain Time. Thirdly, if the ancient Right at the Time of the Fine levied, or after within the Time limited, was in an Infant, or others who had not Reaſon or Knowledge of the Fine, or wanted Liberty, to favour them until ſuch Time as the Impediments were removed, and then to give them ſufficient Time to purſue their Right. In which three Points the Makers of the Act of 4. H. 7. ſeem to have purſued the Reaſon of the ancient Common Law in Fines before the Statute of Nonclaim was ouſted. And in ſo doing they built upon a firm Foundation. And for the better apprehending the ſame, every Branch of the Act is to be conſidered by itſelf, which being done, it will appear that Stowel now Demandant is out of the Letter, or at leaſt out of the Senſe of the Letter, of every Branch, and if he is within the Letter of any Branch, he is let at large by ſome other Branch, and ſo is at Liberty.

1 Point. Whether the Demandant ſhall be bound by the Body of the Act of 4. H. 7. cap. 24.

And as to the Body of the Act, (which is the firſt of the four Diviſions) it conſiſts in theſe Words of Ordinance, viz. And the ſaid Proclamations ſo had and made, the Fine to be a final End, and conclude as well Privies as Strangers to the ſame, except Women covert, other than be Parties to the ſaid Fine, and every Perſon then being within the Age of 21 Years, in Priſon, or out of this Realm, or not of whole Mind at the Time of the ſaid Fine levied, not Parties to ſuch Fine. Which Words are to be conſidered. And here it is to be obſerved, that this Ordinance is general, viz. that the Fine ſhall

[a] Co. Litt. 259. a. Fleta lib. 6. cap. 54. § 1. Vin. Abr. tit. Impriſonment D. pl. 2. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. ſo. 68. a. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 77.

[b] Fleta lib. 6. cap. 54. § 3.

[c] Co. Litt. 262. b. 8 Co. 100. b. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 68. a. See Hob. 95.

[d] S. P. Accord Poſt 365 (a), per Brown et Saunders. Sed Contra Poſt 372 (*) per Dyer.

[e] Booth 101. Sed Contra Co. Litt. 262. a.

[f] Co. Litt. 262. b. Ante 3 9 (f), per Catline.

[g] 1 Finch 254. 2 Finch 279, 280.

ſhall be a final End, and ſhall conclude as well Privies as Strangers; [a] which Words, if the Act had ſtopped there, would have concluded all, and the Act might have been called general in Letter, but afterwards it excepts Infants, and the others contained in the Exception. In which Caſe Harper, Bendloe, Walſh, Brown and Saunders alſo ſaid, [b] it is to be known that that which is excepted out of the Act is out of the Proviſion of the Act, and there is no Ordinance made in Relation to it; but it is as fully exempted out of the Act, as if the Act had never been made. [c] As a Feoffment of a Manor, except an Acre, makes the Acre never to paſs, as Harper ſaid. [d] And a Leaſe of all my Lands in Dale, except White-Acre, is as void for White-Acre as if no Leaſe had been made. And a Gift of my Horſes, except my black Horſe, is as void for my black Horſe as if no Gift had been made; for that which is excepted out of the general Words is in the ſame Caſe as if nothing had ever been ſpoken of it. And Walſh ſaid that there is a Diverſity between an Exception and a Saving, for an Exception exempts clearly, but a Saving goes to the Matters touched, and does not exempt. And ſo this general Purview, that the Fine ſhall conclude Strangers, except Women-covert, Infants, and Perſons out of the Realm, and of unſound Memory, is made only againſt others than thoſe that are excepted, and is of the ſame Effect, as to Strangers, as if the Act had ſaid that the Fine ſhall be a final End, and ſhall conclude all Strangers being diſcovert, of full Age, not in Priſon, and of ſound Memory, and none others, and againſt ſuch as are not in ſuch Degree it is a general Act, and againſt no other Strangers. Then here Stowel the Grandfather was a Stranger to the Fine, and of full Age at the Time of the Fine levied, ergo he was bound, but Stowel the Demandant was a Stranger to the Fine, and within Age at the Time of the Fine levied, ergo he is excepted, and is in the ſame Degree as if the Act had never been made; ſo that he is at Liberty and bound to no Time within Age or at full Age, if there had been no other Words afterwards in the Act, and therefore if Stowel now Demandant had had Right at the Time of the Fine levied, he had been left at large by this Exception, and might have entered or claimed the Land 40 or 50 Years after, if there had been no further Proviſion in the Act; for which Reaſon in order to bind to a certain Time Infants and others who were excepted, the Clauſe afterwards was made, which binds them to five Years next after their Imperfections or Impediments removed, within which if they don't purſue their Actions or enter, the laſt Clauſe concludes them. So that thoſe who are let at large by the Exception are reſtrained by the laſt Clauſe made touching them, which laſt Clauſe is entirely to the Diſadvantage of thoſe who are contained in the Exception.

[a] Dy. 3 pl. 3. Poſt 369 (h).

[b] Cart. 99. Curſon 337.

[c] Bro. Reſervation 46. Co. Litt. 47. a.

[d] Cart. 99. Curſon 337.

But, they ſaid, it has been objected by ſome of thoſe who argued on the other Side, that the Infants and others contained in the Exception ought to be taken for ſuch as had Right at the Time of the Fine levied, for, it has been ſaid, why ſhould they be excepted if they had no Right? For if they have no Right, they may be barred without any Fine with Proclamations, viz. by Traverſe of their Right, and the Statute was made to conclude thoſe that had Right, and were remiſs in making their Entry, Claim, or Suit, and none others, for it is not neceſſary to make a Law to bind thoſe who have no Right, and who may be eaſily barred for Default of Right, but the Act was made to conclude thoſe of their Right who had Right, and were remiſs, as is aforeſaid, and none others, out of which general Purview made to conclude thoſe who had Right they are excepted who are named in the Exception, and who had been touched by the Generality of the Purview, if no Exception had been made, which Perſons ſo excepted were intended by the Makers of the Act to have Right at the Time of the Fine levied; and this (ſay they) is proved by the Clauſe afterwards, which binds them to a certain Time, the Words whereof are, that thoſe excepted having any Right or Title, or Cauſe of Action to any of the ſaid Lands or Hereditaments ſhall take their Actions or Entries within five Years next after they come and be of full Age of 21 Years, out of Priſon, uncovert, within this Realm, and of whole Mind; which Word (having Right or Title) (ſay they) ought to be intended having at the Time of the Fine levied, and in Senſe amounts to the ſame as if it had been expreſſed "having at the Time of the Fine levied any "Right, or Title, or Cauſe of Action to the Lands, &c." So that this Branch (ſay they) proves that the Exception was intended of ſuch Perſons, and no others, as had Right or Title at the Time of the Fine levied; and ſuch (ſay they) was not the Demandant here, for at the Time of the Fine levied, and alſo of the Proclamations made, the Right was in Stowel the Grandfather, and not in Stowel the Demandant, for the Right came to him afterwards, ſo that the Demandant is out of the Exception. In Anſwer to this Objection they urged, and eſpecially Brown ſtrongly, that the general Purview, which excludes Strangers, was not only made againſt thoſe who had Right, but againſt all others who would pretend Title, though they had no Right, for the Deſign of the Statute was to eſtabliſh general Peace and Quiet, and to bar as well a Pretence of Right, where there was no Right in Fact, as where there was one. For if one who has no Right will pretend an Action againſt the Conuſee of a Fine after the five Years, he ſhall plead the Fine with Proclamations againſt him as well as if he had had a Right, and ſhall not be driven to confeſs that there ever was a Right in him. So that the Right is never examinable where he pleads the Fine and Proclamations, but there he ſhall demand Judgment if againſt the Fine with Proclamations levied the Demandant ought to maintain his Action, and ſo he ſhall [e] rely upon the Concluſion without confeſſing any Right in the Demandant; and thus the Concluſion and Bar by the Fine is by the Intent of the Makers of the Act made univerſal, viz. as well againſt a pretended Right, where there is no Right in Fact, as where there was a Right, and it is loſt by Latches, and being ſo taken it is made more univerſal, and contributes more to the public Repoſe of the Realm. Wherefore the Purview was made againſt all Strangers generally, viz. as well Infants as Men of full Age, whether they had Right or not. And accordingly the Exception is made generally, viz. except Women-covert, and every Perſon being within the Age of 21 Years, &c. and it does not ſay "Women-covert, or Infants having Right at the Time of the Fine levied," but as general as the Purview was, ſo general is the Exception, that is to ſay, the Perſons of Infants are excepted generally, and not ſuch Infants only as have Right. And therefore Stowel now Demandant, who was a Perſon within the Age of 21 Years at the Time of the Fine levied, is abſolutely excepted out of the Purview, and conſequently out of the Body of the Act, for that which is excepted out of the Purview is not any Part of the Purview.

[e] Palm. 227.

But, they ſaid, the Counſel on the other Side, (who argued that Stowel the Demandant, who is out of the expreſs Letter, is comprehended within the Purview) have ſought Help from the Intent of the Makers of the Act, which Intent is not found in the expreſs Letter of the Purview and Exception, but is gathered from Reaſon, and for the better Illuſtration thereof they have collected a Preſumption from another Clauſe, viz. from the Clauſe made touching thoſe who are excepted, where the ſaid Words are, viz. having any Right or Title, or Cauſe of Action. Whereupon Brown ſaid to thoſe of the contrary Opinion to him, remember this, and allow us the like reaſonable Intent, and Aid of other Clauſes to prove the Intent, where the expreſs Letter fails. And as to this laſt Clauſe, he ſaid, it is firſt to be remembered that all Infants, who had Right at the Time of the Fine levied, were excepted, and alſo all Infants who had not Right at the Time of the Fine levied were excepted. And this laſt Branch enacts, that all Women-covert not Parties to the Fine, and every Perſon within Age, in Priſon, or out of the Realm, and not of whole Mind at the Time of the Fine levied and ingroſſed, and by the Act before excepted, having any Right or Title, or Cauſe of Action to the Lands, ſhall take their Actions or lawful Entry according to their Right and Title within five Years after they come and be of full Age of 21 Years, out of Priſon, diſcovert, &c. So that it does not ſay, having at the Time of the Fine, but having generally, which ſhall be intended (as Bendloe, Brown, and Saunders ſaid) having at the Time of their Entry or Suit taken within the five Years, and not having at the Time of the Fine levied only. For it might be that an Infant had Right at the Time of the Fine levied, and had not Right when he came of full Age, and in ſuch Caſe the Statute does not intend to give him Entry or Action at his full Age. And if the Word (having) ſhould be intended at the Time of the Fine levied, then by the Words he ſhall have an Action or Entry which was lawful at that Time, which cannot be ſo intended, but (having) muſt of Neceſſity be underſtood, having at the Time of the Suit or Entry taken within the five Years, whether this Right was veſted in him at the Time of the Fine levied, or afterwards came to him within Age, as in our Caſe it did in Fact. And although Infants were excepted generally, that is to ſay, as well thoſe who had Right at the Time of the Fine levied, as others who had no Right, yet it was to no Purpoſe to bind any to the Time of five Years but thoſe who had Right at their full Age, and at the Time of the Action or Entry taken within the five Years, for the former Right which was in the Perſons excepted at the Time of the Fine levied was not ſo much the Cauſe of binding them to a certain Time, as the Right which they had at the Time of the Action or Entry taken within the five Years after their full Age, or Imperfections or Impediments removed, ſo that this Right which they then had, and none other, is the effectual Cauſe of binding them to Action or Entry within five Years next after their full Age, or the other Imperfections or Impediments removed; for which Reaſon there does not appear any Kind of Intent in this laſt Clauſe that the Perſons excepted ſhould have Right at the Time of the Fine levied, but there is great Reaſon to take the Word (having) according to its literal Senſe and Meaning, viz. at the Time of the Action or Entry taken. Wherefore there is no Word in the Exception, nor in the Clauſe for the Direction of the Perſons excepted, nor in any Clauſe afterwards, which induces us to think that it was the Intent of the Makers of the Act that the Perſons excepted ſhould be ſuch only as had Right at the Time of the Fine levied. But it is within the Words and Intent alſo of the Act, that they who had not Right at the Time of the Fine levied are excepted as well as the others, and that they, if the Right comes to them during their Nonage, ſhall have five Years after their full Age, as well as the others who had Right at the Time of the Fine levied, and which continued in them until their full Age. Whereupon it follows that Stowel the Demandant, who had not Right at the Time of the Fine levied, was excepted; and for the Right which came to him during his Nonage, he had five Years after his full Age to enter or bring his Action.

And further Brown argued and ſaid, that if no Infant is excepted but ſuch as had Right at the Time of the Fine levied, from thence it follows that Stowel the Demandant was not bound by the Purview before the Exception, becauſe he had not Right at the Time of the Fine levied, for the Act excepts none but thoſe who were bound before, for it is not the Nature of an Exception to except a Thing not comprehended before, and it would be in vain and idle to except one who was not bound before. And alſo it is to be intended that the Purview was not more full againſt any Strangers than the Exception is as to Infant Strangers. So that the Latitude of the Exception is meaſured by the Latitude of the Purview, for it was the Intention of the Act to exempt out of the whole Purview Infants and the others contained in the Exception, inaſmuch as they could not know how to enter or bring their Action by Reaſon of their Want of Diſcretion, and other Defects, ex quo ſequitur that if no Infant is excepted but ſuch as had Right at the Time of the Fine levied, then the Purview, which was not larger than the Exception, was againſt none but thoſe who had Right at the Time of the Fine levied. And then inaſmuch as Stowel the Demandant was not excepted, becauſe he had no Right at the Time of the Fine levied, ergo he was not bound by the Purview, which was only againſt thoſe who had Right, and therefore Stowel now Demandant is at large. So that by neceſſary Conſequence the Argument and the Concluſion thereof is retorted upon him who alledges that Stowel the Demandant, who was a Stranger, and had not Right, was not excepted, for from thence it will follow that he was not bound by the Premiſſes of the Act. And therefore, as it ſeemed to him, quâcunque viâ data, viz. whether Stowel the Demandant is excepted or not, he is not bound. For if he was bound by the Purview, he is afterwards excepted, and if he was not bound by the Purview, there is no Neceſſity for him to be excepted, as he is left at large. So that he is out of the Body of the Act conſiſting of the Purview and the Exception, that is, he is out of the Letter and Intent thereof by both the Arguments, whether he is compriſed within the Exception or not, and ſo he is at large, and has Time to enter within five Years after his full Age.

2 Point. Admitting that the Demandant is not bound by the Body of the Act, becauſe compriſed within the Exception, whether or no he has purſued the Time preſcribed by that Branch of the Act, which binds the Perſons excepted to 5 Years after their Imperfections removed?

Then as to the ſecond Point, viz. admitting that Stowel now Demandant is compriſed within the Exception, whether or no he has purſued the Time preſcribed within the Branch afterwards made touching the Perſons excepted, which Branch binds them to take their Actions or lawful Entry according to their Right and Title within five Years next after they come and be of the Age of 21 Years, out of Priſon, uncovert, within this Realm, and of whole Mind; and if they neglect ſo to do, that they ſhall be concluded for ever by the ſaid Fine. And as to this, it appears plainly by the Pleading that he has purſued the Time limited in the ſaid Clauſe. For at the Time of the Fine levied he was of the Age of 3 Years and a few Months; at the Time of the Death of his Grandfather, which was the 25th Day of Auguſt anno 33. Hen. 8. he was of the Age of 6 Years, at which Time the Right firſt veſted in him, and he continued within Age until the 25th Day of Auguſt anno 4 Mary, when he came of full Age; and the 22d Day of October then next following, which is within 5 Years after his full Age, he entered, whereupon he has brought this Action, ſo that without Queſtion he has fully purſued the Tenor of that Branch.

3 Point. Admitting that the Demandant is bound by the Body of the Act, and not compriſed within the Exception, whether or no he ſhall be aided by the firſt Saving.

And as to the third Point, viz. admitting that the Demandant and his Grandfather alſo is bound by the Body of the Act, and that the Demandant is not compriſed within the Exception, whether or no he ſhall be aided by the firſt Saving. And as to this, Walſh, Brown, and Saunders held that Stowel the Demandant ſhall be aided by the Senſe and reaſonable Conſtruction of the Words of the firſt Saving. And firſt of all they ſaid, that Acts of Parliament are Laws poſitive which conſiſt of two Parts. [a] The firſt is, the Words of the Act, the other is the Senſe, for the Letter without the Senſe does not make the Law, but the Letter and the Senſe together, and every one that would be acquainted with the Law poſitive ought to underſtand them both. And the Way to apprehend the Senſe is to conſider the common Law, which is the Ancient of every poſitive Law (as Brown ſaid), and has a Place in the Expoſition of the Law poſitive; and thereby the Miſchiefs and Inconveniences, which are in the Letter, are to be conſidered and avoided by the Application of Reaſon, and by putting ſuch [b] Conſtruction upon the Letter of the Law poſitive as ſhall exclude all Rigours and Miſchiefs, and ſtand with Equity and good Reaſon. Then here the Words of the Act are, that the Fine ſhall conclude as well Privies as Strangers, ſuch is the Letter. But who is a Privy, and who is a Stranger, the Letter does not ſhew, as Brown ſaid, but this the common Law, which is a Maſter in Expoſition, ſhews us, viz. [c] he is a Privy who is not Party, and between whom and the Party there is Privity of Blood, as the Heir: For properly thoſe who levy the Fine are diſtant Parties, and their Heirs are Privies, and the Fine now concludes Privies, for all Privies were not concluded before, as the Heirs in Tail, but Parties were concluded by a Fine at common Law, and therefore it was not neceſſary that the Letter ſhould extend to them. [d] And Strangers are thoſe who are not Parties to the Fine, nor Privies, as Stowel the Grandfather here was, who is a mere Stranger to the Fine, and to the Blood of the Parties to the Fine, and therefore he is included and touched by the Body of the Act. Yet, Sir, there is a Saving to him and his Heirs, ſuch Right, Claim, and Intereſt as they had to or in the ſaid Lands at the Time of ſuch Fine engroſſed, ſo that they purſue their Title, Claim, or Intereſt by Way of Action or lawful Entry within five Years next after the Proclamations had or made. And therefore although the Fine is made a final Concluſion to Strangers, yet the Makers of the Act had Regard to former Rights, and ordained Remedy for the Preſervation of them, which was agreeable to the Nature and Conſideration of a Fine at the common Law before the Statute of Nonclaim, viz. in giving Time to make Claim thereto. So that it ſeems the Reaſon of the common Law is the Foundation of this Act, and therefore the Fine after the Proclamations is become of great Force and Puiſſance, but nevertheleſs the former Right is ſaved. And to ſuch Intent was the firſt Saving made, by which the Right which is confeſſed to be in Stowel the Grandfather is ſaved not only to him but to his Heirs alſo, ſo that they purſue their Title, Claim, or Intereſt by Action or lawful Entry within five Years after the Proclamations had or made. And ſo it is to be noted that Time is given to him and to his Heirs to purſue the Right within five Years. So that he and his Heirs have Election given them to commence the Purſuit of their Right at what Day they pleaſe within the five Years, and it ſhall not be accounted the Folly of him or his Heirs if they protract the Time until the laſt Year, or the laſt Day, becauſe the Act gives them Election at what Time to purſue it within the five Years, ſo that no Folly or Latches can be imputed to Stowel the Grandfather or to his Heirs, until the whole five Years are elapſed. And then when Stowel the Grandfather is dead in the mean Time by the Hand of God, and the Right is deſcended to his Heir, who is under the Age of 6 Years, it was not the Intention of the Makers of the Act that ſuch Heir ſhould be driven to make his Claim by Action or Entry, for at ſuch Age he has no Underſtanding nor Diſcretion to know his Right, nor to make Entry, or commence Suit, and ſuch Perſons were never intended by the Makers of the Act; but the Saving is general to him and to his Heirs, wherein Stowel the Demandant is included, becauſe he is Heir to him who had the Right. But there is a Condition in the Saving, viz. ſo that they purſue their Title, &c. which Word (they) is as much as that he and his Heirs ſhall purſue their Title, &c. within five Years; and there the Heirs intended are ſuch as are of full Age, of whole Mind, uncovert, at large, out of Priſon, and within the Realm, for ſuch had the full Uſe of Reaſon, and were free from any Impediments, and Folly might be imputed to them in not purſuing their Right, and the Makers of the Act never intended to bind any who had Right, but thoſe only to whom Latches of Suit or Entry might be imputed. And Latches of Suit or Entry cannot be imputed to an Infant, whom God has not endowed with Underſtanding or Reaſon, for [a] Hardr. 208. Ante 82 (d). Poſt 465 (a). 467 (f).

[b] Poſt 364 (z).

[c] O. Bendl. 177.

[d] O. Bendl. 177.

if

if he ſhould take an Action, his Right and his Action might be ſuch as a Writ of Right, and the like, which he could not proſecute, nor compel the other Party to anſwer to during his Nonage, but the Parol ſhould demur, and then it would be in vain to force one to take an Action during his Nonage, which he cannot proſecute, nor compel the other Party to anſwer to during his Nonage, and ſuch never was the Intent of the Makers of the Act: But the Heirs meant by the Act ſhall be taken in a reaſonable Senſe for ſuch as are of full Age, and void of the other Imperfections or Impediments, and this as ſtrongly as if the Words had been expreſsly thus, viz. ſo that the Parties who have Right and their Heirs of full Age, of whole Mind, and void of the other Defects or Impediments purſue their Title, &c. within five Years, &c. [a] For, as it has been ſaid before, ſuch Conſtruction ought to be made of the Words of Acts of Parliament as may beſt ſtand with Equity and Reaſon, and moſtly avoid Rigour and Miſchief. And if the Word (Heirs) ſhould be ſo expounded here as to comprehend Infants perhaps but of a Year old or under, who cannot ſpeak, and to impute Latches to them, ſo that they ſhall loſe their Right for Default of Suit or Claim during the Time that they are void of Reaſon and Underſtanding by the Inſtitution of God himſelf, would be very hard and inconvenient. And hereupon Saunders ſaid that by the Act of Weſtminſter 2. cap. 25. if one named a Diſſeizor in Aſſize vouches a Record, and fails at the Day, he ſhall be impriſoned for a Year, [b] yet if an Infant named a Diſſeizor vouches a Record and fails, he ſhall not be impriſoned, as it is adjudged in our Books, notwithſtanding he is contained in the Letter of the Statute, as Stowel the Demandant is here in the Name of Heir, but foraſmuch as he has not Diſcretion, the Expoſitors of the Law heretofore have taken it that an Infant was not intended in ſuch Caſe, although he was comprehended in the Letter as well as another, and accordingly it has been adjudged. [c] So, he ſaid, if an Infant is a Bailiff or Receiver, and he accounts before Auditors aſſigned, and is found in Arrears, the Auditors cannot commit him to the next Goal, and yet the Statute of Weſtminſter 2. cap. 11. is general in ſuch Caſe, viz. that they may commit all Bailiffs and Receivers, but an Infant who has not Diſcretion is not intended by the reaſonable Senſe of the Letter, nor is he bound by the Act. [d] So Walſh and he alſo ſaid, that if an Infant be convicted of the Raviſhment of another's Ward, he ſhall not be impriſoned for the King's Fine, and yet the Statute of Merton cap. 6. is general in this Caſe, viz. whatſoever Layman ſhall be convict thereof, he ſhall be impriſoned. And hereupon Walſh ſaid that if a Woman conſents to a Raviſher, the next of Blood to whom, &c. ſhall have Title to enter, &c. by the Statute of 6*Rich.* 2. cap. 6. yet if a Feme-infant be raviſhed, and ſhe conſents to the Raviſher before the Age of 12 Years, the Heir or next of Blood to whom the Land ought to come, &c. ſhall not enter, and yet ſhe is within the Letter, viz. if Ladies, Daughters, and other Women conſent, but ſhe being of that Age is under the Age of Conſent, becauſe ſhe is without Diſcretion; ſo that though ſhe is within the Purview of the Act by the Generality of the Words, yet ſhe is let out of it by the Help of the reaſonable Conſtruction made of them. And ſo here the Word (Heirs) ought to be intended Heirs of full Age, for if we conſider the Nature of the Act which they are to do, viz. to purſue their Action or Claim, it will ſhew us the manifeſt Neceſſity of making a reaſonable Expoſition, that is, it will inform us that where Acts of Parliament injoin the doing of any Thing which requires ſound and perfect Reaſon in the Execution of it, as the proſecuting of Suits does, the Makers of the Act did not intend it to be done by them who have not perfect Reaſon, for if ſo, their Law would be utterly againſt Reaſon, for to inſiſt that an Infant or Man of unſound Mind, who have no Reaſon, but live in Ignorance invincible (as Saunders termed it) ſhall uſe Reaſon, or elſe that they ſhall loſe their Inheritance, would be very unreaſonable, which is never to be preſumed in the Legiſlature. So that Diſcretion in the Expoſition of a Statute always mitigates the Violence of the Letter, as Walſh termed it. [e] But an Infant ſhall be bound by the Statute of Ceſſavit and of [f] Waſt, and the like, although thoſe Statutes are general, for Ceſſer is an Injury to the Lord, and Waſt is injurious to the Leſſor, and he himſelf acquired the Eſtate; and Walſh ſaid that the Law preſumes that he, who has Policy to acquire a Thing, has Reaſon to defend the ſame Thing. [g] And ſo, he ſaid, if an Infant Lord who has Title to enter for Mortmain does not enter within the Year, or does not enter into the Land of his Villain before the Villain has aliened the Land, he ſhall be bound by Latches, for there he had but a Title to a Thing which never was in him, and it is not like our Caſe here, where the Demandant had a Right by Deſcent upon a Diſſeizin and Wrong done to his Anceſtor, which Right is favoured by all Laws, and eſpecially by this Act of Fines, which provides for it in a ſpecial Manner, and does not exclude any one from the Benefit of it, unleſs there be Latches in him, which cannot be imputed to an Infant who has not Underſtanding to judge of the Time. And it was ſaid that in the Caſes upon the Statutes before recited, where Infants who were within the Generality of the Letter have been taken out of the Letter by the Senſe and Meaning thereof, the Judges who ſat upon the ſaid Caſes took the common Law for their Guide, which is a Maſter in Expoſition, the Reaſon whereof they purſued as near as they could. And hereupon a great Number of Caſes at the common Law were cited, where the Inheritances of Infants are favoured, and they ſhall not be prejudiced by Latches; [h] as Deſcents ſhall not take away their Entry, [i] nor ſhall Warranty bind them, where it may be avoided by Entry, and many other Caſes were cited which it is not my Deſign to recite. And alſo many Caſes were cited where the Latches of Infants and other Acts ſhall bind them; [k] as for Waif, Eſtray, Goods taken of them and offered to Images, or wrecked, or taken by Enemies, and not retaken before Sun-ſet, or ſold in Market-overt, or Acts done by them by reaſon of their Office, [l] as a Gift of Goods as Executor, [m] or Acts done by an Infant King, or for Neceſſity, [n] as an Obligation for Meat and Drink, and a great Number of other Caſes, between which and the Reaſon of this Caſe many Diverſities were made. But this Caſe reſts upon the Preſervation of the Inheritance of a Right deſcended, which is favoured by the ſame Statute of 4. H. 7. And therefore Latches ſhall not be imputed to an Infant, nor ſhall he be prejudiced thereby by the Intent of the Makers of the Act, which Intent they collected from Reaſon; and therefore

[a] Ante 363 (b). Per Brown

[b] M. 36. Ed. 3. Fitz. Aſſize 443. Bro. 459. Diſſeizin 97. Failer, &c. 13. T. 4. H. 7. 11. b. Per Haws. Bro. Coverture 44. Parlement 41 Abridgment of Aſſizes 146. a. Dr. & Stud. lib. 2. cap. 46. fo. 274. 2 Inſt. 414. Hob. 95. 96. 1 H. H. P. C. 20. 3 Bac. Abr. 131. Vin. Abr. tit. Diſſeizin K. 2. pl. 6. 7. tit Enfant G. pl. 13.

[c] 4 Bac. Abr. 649.

[d] 1 H. H. P. C. 21. 1 Show. 84. 3 Bac. Abr. 131.

[e] Bro. Coverture 68. Dr. & Stud. lib. 2. cap. 46. fo. 275. Dy. 104. pl. 13. Co. Litt. 380. b. 2 Inſt. 401. 8 Co. 41. b. 1 Show. 31. Vin. Abr. tit. Enfant B. 2. pl. 6. Sed contra 1 Show. 83, Per Eyre J.

[f] Godb. 365.

[g] Vin. Abr. tit. Enfant B. 2. pl. 7.

[h] 27 Aſſ. pl. 32. Bro. Deſcent 21. T. 35 H. 6. 63. a. Per Priſot. Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 17. fo. 51. Litt. § 408.

[i] T. 35. H. 6. 63. a. Per Priſot. Bro. Garranties 4. Fitz. Entry congeable 11. Co. Litt. 380. a. 1 Co. 140. a. Poph. 71. 3 Keb. 410.

[k] Vin. Abr. tit. Enfant B. 2. pl. 8.

[l] T. 25 Ed. 3. 88. pl. 21. P. 21 Ed. 4. 24. b. Per Litt. Dr. & Stud. lib. 2. cap. 28. Perk. § 14. Co. Litt. 172. a. Poph 130. Vin. Abr. tit. Enfant J. pl. 6.

[m] See Ante 213 (a), and the Books there cited.

[n] P. 18 Ed. 4. 2. a. Per Vavijor. Dr. & Stud. lib. 2. cap. 28. Perk. § 14. 2 Finch 103. Co. Litt. 172. a. 9 Co. 87. a. Poph. 151. 2 Rol. R. 45, 144, 271. Cro. E. 920. Cro. J. 494. 1 Leon. 114. Godb. 219. Cart. 215. Palm. 528. 1 Sid. 112. 1 Rol. Abr. 729. pl. 3, 4, 5, 7. 3 Bac. Abr. 133, 134. Vin. Abr. tit. Enfant C. and G. 2. Contra H. 21. H. 6. 31. b. Per Paſton.

therefore they took it that the Heirs intended in the Purſuit of the Right ſhall be Heirs of full Age. And hereupon Brown and Saunders ſaid, that in ſuch Conſtruction the Senſe of the Common Law touching Fines before the Statute which ouſted Nonclaim ſhall be followed, which was the Foundation of this Act. For at the Common Law Fines were of as great Eſtimation and Force as they are at this Day by this Act, and as at the Common Law the Preſervation of ancient Rights was conſidered, ſo that they were purſued within a certain Time, ſo are they by this new Statute. [a] And at the Common Law if he who had the former Right had been of full Age at the Time of the Fine levied, and had died within the Year, his Heir being within Age, the Heir within Age ſhould not be bound to that Year: For the Common Law will not enforce the Heir within Age to make any Suit or Claim, and without Suit or Claim it will not bind him, and therefore in ſuch Caſe he was not bound to the Time of a Year. And if it ſeemed reaſonable to the Founders of our Law that the Law ſhould be ſo in Fines at the Common Law, it is good for the Expoſitors of this Act to approach as near as they can to the Reaſon of the Common Law, which is the beſt [b] Interpreter of the Words of poſitive Laws, and eſpecially in this Caſe, where the Common Law and the Reaſon thereof touching Fines was the Foundation of this Act, which is made in a Manner to revive the Common Law. So that it ſeemed to them and to the reſt who argued on this Part, that the Word (Heirs) limited in the Statute for the Purſuit of the Right ſhall be intended Heirs of full Age, and that ſuch Senſe of the Word is moſt conſonant to Equity and good Reaſon, as well as to the Common Law before the Statute, and that by ſuch Conſtruction the Miſchief and Rigour which would otherwiſe follow will be avoided, and that they might well enough have made ſuch Conſtruction of the Word, if there had been nothing elſe in the Statute in Favour of it.

[a] S. P. Ante 360 (d). per Brown. Sed Contra Poſt 372. (*). per Dyer.

[b] Co. Litt. 272. b. 3 Co. 13. b. 77. b. 78. a. 85. b. 2 Inſt. 148. 1 Freem. 57. per Atkins J. 1 Saund. 240. 10 Mod. 245. 11 Mod. 150. 1 P. Wms. 252. 4 Bac. Abr. 647. Vin. Abr. tit. Statutes E. 6. pl. 12. Ante 10 (h).

But they ſaid further, [c] that when one Branch in an Act is obſcure, it is uſual for thoſe who expound the Act to examine the other Branches: For we may often find out the Senſe of a Clauſe by the Words or Intent of another Clauſe. And ſo here the Intent of the Legiſlature in this Point, viz. that the Heir intended by the Act for the Purſuit of the Right ſhall be of full Age, may be well perceived by other Branches. And hereupon it is to be obſerved, that out of the general Purview, which is, that the Fine ſhall be a final End, and ſhall conclude Strangers, Infants and the others compriſed in the Exception, if they have preſent Right, are excepted for their Diſabilities and Impediments, and are allowed the Time of five Years after their Diſabilities and Impediments removed. And if the Makers of the Act had ſuch Intent to except them for their Diſabilities, where their Right was preſent, does not the ſame Intent hold Place where the Right, which is not bound until five Years paſſed, comes to ſuch diſabled Perſons within the five Years? Yes certainly, for the Right within the five Years, and their Diſabilities within the five Years, is the Cauſe which moved the Makers of the Act to except them until their Diſabilities and Impediments were removed. And if they make Allowance for the Diſabilities and Impediments to thoſe who had Right at the Commencement of the five Years, they ought to make Allowance for them until the End of the five Years, for there is the ſame Reaſon in both the Caſes. And Brown ſaid, can any Man preſume that the Makers of the Act were ſo great Niggards of Time, that they would not allow until the End that which they allowed at the Beginning? No certainly, for the former Right, and the Impediments and Defects which were in them that had the Right, is the Matter which they regarded. And then inaſmuch as the Fine is no Bar until the End of the five Years, the Diſabilities and Impediments which are in them that have the Right in any Part of the five Years are as much to be reſpected as the Imperfections and Diſabilities which are in them that have the Right at the Time of the Fine engroſſed, or at the Commencement of the five Years. And the Proviſion which is made in the ſecond Saving touching the future Right for ſuch as have the ſaid Imperfections or Impediments, if the Right or Title firſt accrues to them, ſhews alſo how careful the Makers of the Act were to provide for ſuch Infants and others as had thoſe Imperfections or Impediments. And none can imagine that they who excepted Infants and the other diſabled Perſons out of the Purview at the Beginning, and provided for them in the End, viz. in the ſecond Saving, would be regardleſs of them in the middle, viz. in the firſt Saving, and therefore the Heirs there ſpoken of, who are bound to the Purſuit of the Right, are Heirs of full Age, of whole Mind, uncovert, out of Priſon, and within the Realm, and none others. And as a further Proof hereof Brown alledged another Thing which he had obſerved in the ſecond Saving touching the future Right, viz. if the Perſon to whom the Right firſt accrues be covert, within Age, in Priſon, out of the Realm, or not of whole Mind, that then their Right ſhall be ſaved to them and to their Heirs until they come of full Age, out of Priſon, within the Realm, uncovert, and of whole Mind, ſo that they and their Heirs take their Actions or lawful Entry within five Years next after they come and be of full Age, out of Priſon, within the Realm, uncovert, and of whole Mind; by which Clauſe, he ſaid, it is enacted that if one in whom the future Right firſt veſted be within Age, or has the other Impediments, and afterwards he comes of full Age, or the other Impediments are removed, and two or three Years afterwards he dies, his Heir being within Age, or having the other Impediments, ſuch Heir, after he comes of full Age, or after the other Impediments are removed, ſhall have five Years, for the Words are, ſo that they and their Heirs take their Action or Entry within five Years next after that they, &c. which is as much as to ſay, next after that he and his Heirs are of full Age, out of Priſon, within the Realm, uncovert, and of whole Mind, ſo that in ſuch Caſe the Heir ought to have five Years after he is of full Age, and free from the other Impediments, as well as his Anceſtor is to have it by the expreſs Letter of the Act. Whereupon he concluded that inaſmuch as the Makers of the Act intended in ſuch Caſe that the Heir ſhould have five Years after his full Age, where his Anceſtor was of full Age, for the Salvation of the future Right veſted in his Anceſtor, and that he ſhould not be bound to the five

[c] 4 Bac. Abr. 645. Vin. Abr. tit. Statutes E. 6. pl. 89.

Years next following the Time in which the five Years commenced in the Anceſtor, a fortiore they intended that Stowel the Demandant ſhould not be bound to the five Years next after the Time in which the five Years commenced in his Anceſtor for the preſent Right, which is of greater Value and Eſtimation than the future Right.

[a] Vin. Abr. tit. Fine W. 4. § 7. fo. 262. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 67. b. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 58, 77.

And he and Saunders alſo ſaid, that if a Stranger to the Fine who is of ſound Mind [a] becomes non ſanæ memoriæ, [b] or is impriſoned the third Year after the Proclamations made, and ſo continues until the five Years are expired, and afterwards he becomes of ſound Mind, or is out of Priſon, he ſhall not be concluded by the Fine, for Latches in proſecuting his Right cannot be imputed to him who wants Memory or Liberty, and therefore ſuch Perſon was not comprehended in the Intent of the Statute. But in this Caſe if a Stranger to the Fine in the third Year had gone [c] beyond Sea, or had taken [d] Huſband, and ſo had continued until the five Years were paſſed, there he ſhould be bound, for the going beyond Sea, or taking Huſband are voluntary Acts, but Inſanity of Mind and Impriſonment are againſt the Will of the Party. And therefore they ſaid that the Letter ought to be conſtrued in a reaſonable Senſe.

[b] Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 68. a. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 58, 77.

[c] Ibid. 58, 77, 78. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 68. a. But ſays it ſeems otherwiſe if he be ſent beyond Sea in the King's Service by his Command.

And they who argued on this Part ſaid, that if one ſhould only adhere to the Letter of this Statute, and not have Recourſe to a reaſonable Senſe or Intent beyond the expreſs Letter, we ſhould by ſuch Kind of Expoſition introduce many Abſurdities. [e] And thereupon Brown ſaid, if an Infant who has preſent Right, and who is excepted, dies within Age, his Uncle being his Heir and of full Age, by the Letter of the Statute the Uncle ſhall not have five Years, but ſhall be bound, for the Act is, that Infants and their Heirs ſhall take their Action or Entry within five Years next after that they be of the full Age of 21 Years, and the Infant himſelf never came to the Age of 21 Years, ſo that by the Letter he is out of the Clauſe, but yet he is not ſo by the Intent. [f] And in ſuch Caſe if the Infant excepted having Right had entered within Age, and by his Entry had avoided the Fine, and afterwards had come to full Age, and after his full Age had permitted the Conuſee to be five Years in Poſſeſſion without Entry or Action made or brought by him, now by the Letter of the Act he who was the Infant ſhould be barred, and the Conuſee ſhould retain the Land, for the Act ordains, that the Infant ſhall take his Action or lawful Entry within five Years after that he comes of full Age, and this he has not done, but inaſmuch as within Age he took his lawful Entry, and ſo avoided the Fine for ever, he is at Liberty 20 Years after his full Age to enter or bring his Action by the Intent of the Makers of the Act. And ſo he and Saunders ſaid that the Exception is of Perſons being within the Age of 21 Years at the Time of the Fine levied.

[d] Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo 68. a. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 58, 77.

[e] Shep. Pract. Counſ. 70.

[f] Ibid.

[g] 4 Bac. Abr. 648. Vin. Abr. tit. Fine W. 4. § 7. fo. 263. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 67. b. 69. a. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 70. 78.

[g] But if the Diſſeizee dies, his Wife enſeint with a Son, the Diſſeizor levies a Fine, and afterwards the Son is born, now he is not excepted by the Letter of the Act, for the Act excepts no Infant but ſuch as at the Time of the Fine levied were within the Age of 21 Years, and none is within the Age of 21 Years but ſuch as is in rerum natura, and in this Caſe the Son was not born, nor in rerum natura at that Time, nor can it be ſaid that he was within the Age of 21 Years at the Time of the Fine levied, for his Age is accounted from the Time of his Birth, and he was not born at that Time, ſo that he is out of the Letter, but yet he is within the Intent, and ſhall be aided by the Exception. [h] For every Thing which is within the Intent of the Makers of the Act, altho' it be not within the Letter, is as ſtrongly within the Act as that which is within the Letter and Intent alſo. [i] And of the Perſons excepted the Letter binds none to five Years after their full Age but thoſe who were within Age at the Time of the Fine levied and engroſſed, which are two ſeveral Times, for there may be ten Years and more between the levying and the engroſſing, yet he who is born after the Fine levied, and who was an Infant at the Time of the engroſſing, is not at large, but is bound to Entry or Action within five Years after his full Age, as Saunders ſaid, as well as he who was in rerum natura, and an Infant at the Time of the Fine levied and engroſſed. So that the Senſe of the Text, and the Intent of the Legiſlature avoids all Abſurdities.

[h] Godb. 308. 4 Bac. Abr 648. Vin. Abr. tit. Statutes E. 6. pl. 80.

[i] Shep. Pract. Counſ. 70, 78.

[k] Shep. Pract. Counſ. 70.

[k] And if a Diſſeizor levies a Fine which is engroſſed, and the Diſſeizee, who was at full Age at the Time of the Fine levied, dies after four Proclamations made, and before the fifth Proclamation, his Son and Heir being within Age, and continuing within Age all the five Years, now he ſhall be bound by the Letter of the Act, for the Letter does not except him becauſe he had no Right at the Time of the Fine levied: But yet it is clear (as Saunders ſaid) that inaſmuch as the five Years did not commence in his Father, nor any Part of them attached in the Father, he the Son is excepted in the Intent, for the Intent of the Exception was to except thoſe who had Right, and who were Infants at the Commencement of the five Years. [l] So is it (as he ſaid) if the Diſſeizee was of whole Mind at the Time of the Fine levied and engroſſed, and after the fourth Proclamation and before the fifth he becomes non ſanæ memoriæ, or is impriſoned, and ſo continues all the five Years, and afterwards becomes of whole Mind or out of Priſon, he ſhall have five Years after this by the Intent of the Exception and of the Clauſe afterwards touching the Perſons excepted, altho' the Text itſelf does not warrant it. And many other Caſes were put by Walſh upon this and other Acts of Parliament, chiefly to prove that the Judges have from Time to Time conſtrued Statutes in a benign Senſe in Order to ſoften the Rigour of the Text.

[l] Shep. Pract. Counſ. 70, 71, 77.

Whereupon they concluded that the firſt Saving, viz. to Strangers and their Heirs, ſo that they purſue their Title and Claim, &c. which is as much as to ſay, ſo that the Strangers and their Heirs purſue, &c. ought to be ſo underſtood that the Heirs, who are to purſue the Right, ſhall be of full Age, ſo that they may know their Right, and in what Manner they are to enter or ſue for it; and that this Conſtruction is not taken by Equity (which is a Thing out of the Letter), but is declarative of the direct Senſe of the Word (Heirs) bound to the Purſuit, which Declaration is an Expoſition of the Senſe of the Letter, and no Part of Equity; and that Stowel the Demandant being the Heir, but not of full Age, was not bound to the five Years attached in the Father, but was at large. But all of them (as I underſtood them) argued that he was bound to Time by the Intent of the Act, viz. (as Saunders ſaid) that he ſhall have five Years de novo, and that he was bound thereto by the Equity of the Purview, which binds the Perſons excepted to five Years, for the ſame Reaſon holds in both the Caſes.

was

As to the ſecond Saving, which is the fourth Point, Harper, Bendloe, Walſh, and Saunders ſaid, that admitting that Stowel the Demandant is bound by the Body of the Act, and is not aided by the Exception, nor by the firſt Saving, yet the ſecond Saving ſhall aid him, and he is within the Benefit of it. For this ſecond Saving ſaves to all other Perſons ſuch Right as ſhall firſt accrue, remain, deſcend, or come to them after the Proclamations made, by Force of any Gift in Tail, or by any other Cauſe or Matter had or done before the Fine levied, ſo that, &c. and if ſuch Perſons at the Time of ſuch Right deſcended, &c. be within Age, then the Right is reſerved until they come of full Age, ſo that they take their Entry within five Years after their full Age. Whereupon two Things are to be conſidered, firſt, if the Right here is ſuch as brings the Demandant within the Words of this Branch; ſecondly, if the Demandant is ſuch a Perſon as is intended by this Branch.

4 Point. Admitting that the Demandant is bound by the Body of the Act, and not comprised in the Exception, nor aided by the firſt Saving, whether or no he ſhall be aided by the ſecond Saving.

And the Right here is ſuch a Right as is mentioned in the Branch, for the Right came to the Demandant by Deſcent, viz. from his Grandfather to him; and it firſt deſcended to him after the Fine, for it deſcended to no other Perſon after the Proclamations made before it deſcended to Stowel the Demandant; and it deſcended by Cauſe or Matter done before the Fine levied, for the Diſſeizin was done before the Fine levied, whereby (as Walſh termed it) the Poſſeſſion and the Right were ſevered, for thereby John Zouch had taken away the Poſſeſſion from Stowel the Grandfather, which he had by Deſcent or Purchaſe, and had left the Right in him, which Right being in eſſe before the Fine levied, by Force of Matter or Cauſe before the Fine levied, is after the Proclamations firſt deſcended to the now Demandant. So that every Word of the Statute is ſatisfied, and he being an Infant ought to have five Years after his full Age by the Words of the Branch; and altho' the Right immediately after the Proclamations was in Stowel the Grandfather, who was of full Age, yet this is no Impediment to the Demandant's taking Benefit of the Clauſe, for he is the firſt to whom it deſcended, and there was no Deſcent of the Right to the Grandfather, but the Deſcent came firſt to the Demandant after the Proclamations. So that the Right is in the Demandant in other Manner than it was in his Grandfather, and therefore he is within the Words. And the full Age of his Grandfather is no Cauſe to exclude him from the Benefit which the Words in this Branch give him having the Right of the Grandfather in other Form, but he ſhall have five Years after his full Age. And hereupon Bendloe put this Caſe, viz. [a] two Jointenants are diſſeized, whereof one is within Age, the Diſſeizor levies a Fine with Proclamations, four Years paſs after the Proclamations, and afterwards the Jointenant of full Age dies before the five Years paſſed, the other being within Age, the Infant Survivor ſhall have five Years after his full Age, as well for the Moiety which was in his joint Companion, who was of full Age, as for the other Moiety, for the Right of that Moiety which was in his Companion of full Age firſt accrued to him after the Proclamations made, by Force of Cauſe or Matter, viz. the Jointenancy, made before. So that he is within the Words and Intent of the Branch, notwithſtanding that the Moiety was in his Companion before, for it is in him now in another Form. And ſo here the Right is in the Demandant in another Form than it was in his Grandfather, that is to ſay, by Deſcent, and if it is in another Form, then it is intended by this Branch. And Walſh in his laſt Argument ſaid, [b] that if a Man diſſeizes a Feme ſole, and afterwards takes her to Wife, and they have Iſſue, and the Huſband is diſſeized, the Diſſeizor levies a Fine with Proclamations, the Huſband dies four Years after the Proclamations, and before the fifth Year is paſſed, the Iſſue being of full Age, and afterwards the Mother dies, and the fifth Year paſſes, now the Iſſue is bound as Heir to his Father, for in this Reſpect he and his Father had but five Years together; but yet as Heir to his Mother he ſhall have five Years to be accounted from the Time of the Death of his Father, for notwithſtanding it is one ſame Land, yet the Heir has ſeveral Rights, one as Heir to the Father, which is the latter Right, and the other as Heir to the Mother, which is the firſt Right, and in Reſpect of theſe he has ſeveral Times. And in his firſt Argument he put this Caſe, [c] if the Huſband makes a Feoffment of the Land of his Wife upon Condition, and the Condition is broken, and afterwards the Feoffee levies a Fine with Proclamations, and the Huſband dies in the fourth Year after the Proclamations, having Iſſue by the Wife, and afterwards the Wife dies, and the fifth Year paſſes, the Heir is barred of his Entry for the Condition broken as Heir to his Father, but as Heir to his Mother he ſhall have five Years from the Death of his Father for her Right, cauſa qua ſupra. So he and the others on this Part ſaid, [d] if J. S. be Tenant pur auter vie, the Remainder to another for Life, the Remainder to the ſaid J. S. for his own Life, or in Fee, and is diſſeized, and the Diſſeizor levies a Fine with Proclamations, and the five Years paſs, now J. S. is bound for his preſent Eſtate; but if Ceſtuy que vie and he in Remainder die, he ſhall have other five Years afterwards for the other Eſtate which he had for his own Life or in Fee, for it is another Eſtate, and it firſt remained to him after the Death of him in Remainder, by Reaſon of Matter or Cauſe, viz. the Eſtate, before made. So that be the Eſtate or the Right one or divers, if it comes in another Manner, as it does here, (for it came to the Demandant by Deſcent, which is in another Manner than it was in his Anceſtor) and the Party is he to whom it comes firſt in ſuch Manner, it is ſaved by the Exception, if he be ſuch a Perſon as is intended in the ſecond Saving.

[a] Vin. Abr. tit. Enfant B. pl. 9. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 71.

[b] O. Bendl. 175. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 70. a. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 53, 56.

[c] Vin. Abr, tit. Fine F. a. 4. pl. 2. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 70. a. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 53.

[d] O Bendl. 174, Sed Contra Poſt 372 (g), per Weſton et Catline. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 69. b. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 80.

And as to this, the Words are, ſaving to all other Perſons ſuch Action, &c. Now in Order to know who is another Perſon, and who not, the Premiſſes of the Act are to be conſidered. And it is to be obſerved, that the Purview (as they who argued on the other Side ſaid) is general, viz. to all Perſons, and they alſo ſaid that the Exception of Infants is but of thoſe Infants who have Right at the Time of the Fine levied. And Stowel the Demandant was not ſuch an Infant, for then he had no Right. And his Grandfather who was of full Age was within the Purview, and the firſt Saving aided him and his Heirs, ſo that they made Purſuit within five Years, but the Heirs who are to purſue the Right are intended Heirs of full Age, and ſuch only are comprehended herein, as it has been ſaid, and Stowel the Demandant being Heir is out of it, becauſe he is within Age; ſo that he is other than is contained in the Exception, and other than is contained in the firſt Saving. And then foraſmuch as the Right is deſcended to him firſt after the Fine engroſſed and the Proclamations made, which Right deſcended or came by Cauſe of Matter had or done before the Fine, viz. the Diſſeizin, and he is another Perſon than is comprehended in the Exception, or in the firſt Saving, he muſt by the expreſs Words be aided by this ſecond Saving. And altho' the Heir within Age cannot properly be called another Perſon when he is of full Age, yet here the Matter being conſidered, he may be called another by the Intent of the Makers of the Act, inaſmuch as he has the Right of the Father in another Manner than the Father had it, that is to ſay, by Deſcent. For in the Caſes put [a] by Walſh, the Heir who is barred as to the Right of the Father may be called another Perſon as to the Right of the Mother, with Reſpect to the Intent of the Makers of the Act, for they name one ſame Perſon as another Perſon, where he has another Right or another Eſtate. [b] As if one has an Eſtate for the Life of A. Remainder to him for the Life of B. Remainder to him for the Life of C. and he is diſſeized, and the Diſſeizor levies a Fine with Proclamations, now for the preſent Right he has five Years by the firſt Saving; and if after the five Years A dies, he ſhall have other five Years for the next Remainder, by the ſecond Saving, which gives them to other Perſons who have future Right, and if after the five Years B dies, he ſhall have other five Years for the ſecond Remainder. And Brown aſſented thereto, and cited this Text of the Civil Law, viz. quando duo jura in una perſona concurrunt, æquum eſt ac ſi eſſent in diverſis; and ſo when there are three ſeveral Rights in one ſame Perſon, he ſhall have the like Benefit of them as three Perſons ſhould have, if the Rights were diſtinct in them, for the Makers of the Act conſidered the ſeveral Rights, and in Reſpect of the ſeveral Rights which are diſtinct in one ſame Perſon, the Party, as to the ſecond or third Right, may be called another Perſon; and as he is one ſame Perſon in himſelf, ſo may he be in Reſpect of the ſeveral Rights. And ſo here the others who argued on this Part ſaid, that the Heir of Stowel the Grandfather who is within Age, and to whom the Right which the Grandfather had is deſcended, by which Deſcent the Right is in another Degree than it was in the Grandfather, may be called another Perſon than the Heir of Stowel the Grandfather of full Age, and therefore he is comprehended in the ſecond Saving.

[a] Ante 367 (b) and (c).

[b] Vin. Abr. tit. Fine F. a. 4. pl. 1. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 69. b.

And hereupon they concluded, that the Purview and the Exception being added together, the Demandant is not compriſed in the Purview, but is out of it by the Exception; and that he has purſued the Time preſcribed in the Purview of the Act for the Perſons excepted; and tho' he ſhould be bound by the Body of the Act, and ſhould not be compriſed in the Exception, that yet he ſhall be aided by the firſt Saving; and if not, that he ſhall be aided by the ſecond Saving. And if he cannot be aided by any of the Clauſes, Saunders ſaid that yet he ſhall be aided by the Equity of the Act, and he put ſeveral Caſes upon the Equity of Statutes, viz. three upon the ancient Statutes, and three upon the new. And ſo they ſaid that upon the whole Matter the Demandant ſhall have Judgment.

That the Demandant ſhall be aided by the Equity of the Act.

[c] Theol. Dig. lib. 1. cap. 5. §13. 7 Co. 22. b. 23. a. Calvin's Caſe. Cart. 187. 1 Finch 54. 2 Finch 77, 78. Crompt. J. C. 65. b. 140. b. Vin. Abr. tit. Ireland D. pl. 1.

And Saunders ſaid in this Caſe, [c] that Ireland and Scotland are other Realms, but that Scotland was held of the Crown of England, and was within the Fee and Seigniory of the King of England, and that he who is in either of theſe two Realms ſhall be ſaid to be out of the Realm, and ſhall be within the Exception. And he alſo ſaid, that Ideots, Lunatics, and thoſe who have Lethargy, ſhall be comprehended in the Words of unſound Mind, as well as Madmen.

E contra for the Tenant.

And on the other Hand Puttrel and Carus Serjeants, and Southcote, Weſton, Whidon, Dyer and Catline Juſtices argued that the Demandant ſhould be barred. And they ſaid that Peace and Concord is the End of all Laws, and that the Law was ordained for the Sake of Peace. And Dyer ſaid that for Peace Chriſt deſcended from Heaven upon the Earth, and his Law, which is the New Teſtament, and the old Law, which are the divine Laws, were given only for Peace here and elſewhere. And Weſton cited St. Auguſtine, who ſays, et concordiâ ſtat et augetur reſpublica, et diſcordiâ ruit et diminuitur. And Catline ſaid that Peace is deſcribed in this Manner, Pax, mater alma opulentiæ, vehitur curru; Currus, ubi pax vehitur, dicitur unanimitas; Auriga, qui currum regit, dicitur amor; Duo equi currum trahentes ſunt concordia et utilitas; Comites pacis ſunt juſtitia, veritas, diligentia, induſtria omnium artium parendarum. Which Deſcription is made up of the Nature, Properties, and Advantages of Peace, and of the Incidents thereof, and therefore Peace which is attended with ſo many Conveniences ought to be preſerved beyond all other Things. And hereupon Dyer ſaid, that one of the Articles which the King at his Coronation ſwears to his Subjects to perform and keep, is, that he will preſerve the Peace, for a more beneficial Thing he cannot grant to them. And therefore thoſe Laws which bring the greateſt Peace are the moſt eſtimable.

And ſuch was this Law touching Fines, which ſecured and quieted the Inheritances of People, and fixed them upon a certain Foundation. And Carus ſaid that ſuch Laws were the moſt worthy, for, he ſaid, Certainty is the Mother of Repoſe, and Incertainty is the Mother of Contention. And to avoid Contention in Inheritances Fines were deviſed by the Founders of our Law at the Beginning, for there is no Part of our Law of greater Antiquity. And hereupon Glanvil was cited by Catline, [d] who (as he ſaid) was a Judge of this Realm a long Time ago, for he died in the Time of King Richard 1. at the the City of Acres in the Borders of Jury, attending upon King Richard in his Voyage to that Place; and in his 8th Book he treats of Fines, where he ſays, [e] contingit autem aliquandò loquelas motas in Curia domini Regis per amicabilem compoſitionem et finalem concordiam terminari, ſed ex licentia Regis vel ejus juſticiariorum. To the ſame Purpoſe he cited Bracton alſo, who ſays, Finis eſt extremitas uniuſcujuſque rei, hoc eſt, idem in quo unaquaque res terminatur, et ideo dicitur finalis lis concordia, quiâ imponit finem litibus. And he cited many Fines of Antiquity, viz. ſome [a] before the Conqueſt, touching the Poſſeſſions of the Abbey of Crowland, and divers ſince the Conqueſt, proving the Continuance of Fines down from the Conqueſt until the Time of Edw. 1. in whoſe Reign Statutes were made concerning Fines. And he ſaid that Glanvil ſhews the Reaſon why Fines bore their Name, for he ſays, [b] dicitur talis concordia finalis, eo quod finem imponit negotio, adèo ut neutra pars litigantium ab eo de cætero poterit recedere; which agrees with the Definition given by the Statute of Fines made a long Time afterwards, which ſays, [c] quia fines finem litibus debent imponere et imponunt, et ideo fines vocantur, maximè cum poſt duellum et magnam aſſizam in ſuo caſu ultimum locum finalem teneant imperpetuum, &c. Wherefore inaſmuch as fines finem litibus imponebant, and, as Glanvil ſays, finem imponit negotio, they were of the greateſt Highneſs, Force, and Puiſſance, as the Statute terms them, and therein they brought great Advantages to the People of this Land in ſecuring their Inheritances. And to this Purpoſe, as well as to prove that the Statute which ouſted Nonclaim, by which Fines were enfeebled, created much Diſquietude and Contention in Inheritances throughout the Realm, many Things were urged by him and the Lord Dyer, and by the others that argued on this Part. [d] For they ſaid that the Act which ouſted Nonclaim was the Cauſe of univerſal Trouble throughout the Realm, to avoid which, and to reſtore Fines to their former Puiſſance, the Statute of 4. H. 7. was made, which is to be weighed and obſerved in every Part: And upon due Conſideration had thereof it ſeemed to them that Stowel the Demandant ſhall not take Benefit of his Nonage, but that he ſhall be concluded by the Purview of the Act, and that he is not let at large by any Branch afterwards.

[d] See Pref. to 8 Co. fo. 19, &c.

[e] Glanv. lib. 8. cap. 1. fo. 61. b.

[a] That Fines were levied before the Conqueſt, ſee Pref. to 8 Co. fo. 16. 2 Inſt. 511. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. ſo. 1. a. Curſon 110, 111. Manby 7. Vin. Abr. tit. Fine A. pl. 4.

[b] Glanv. lib. 8. cap. 3. Co. Litt. 120. b. 121. a.

[c] Ante 357.

[d] 1 Leon. 84. Per Periam J. Pollexf. 499.

And for the better Apprehenſion of the Purview, the Preamble of the Act is to be conſidered, which Dyer termed a [e] Key to open the Minds of the Makers of the Act, and the Miſchiefs which they intended to redreſs. And the Preamble ſays, the King conſidering that Fines ought to be of the greateſt Strength to avoid Strifes and Debates, and to be a final End and Concluſion, and of ſuch Effect they were taken before a Statute made of Non-claim, and now it is uſed to the contrary, to the univerſal Trouble of the King's Subjects, willeth therefore that it be enacted, &c. which Preamble ſhews that it was the Opinion of the Makers of the Act, that Fines ought to be of the greateſt Force, in order to avoid Contention, and therefore the Purview ought to be moſt largely extended to fulfil that Intent. And ſuch is the Office of Expoſitors of Acts to follow the Intent of the Makers expreſſed to them in plain Terms. The Preamble alſo ſhews that of ſuch Effect they were before the Act of Nonclaim, whereby the Makers allow and approve of the ancient Fines which were peremptory to the Right of others. And further the Words declare that now it is uſed to the contrary, to the univerſal Trouble of the King's Subjects, which Words (univerſal Trouble) ſhew us that the Members of this Parliament had an earneſt Deſire to reform and remove this general Diſquietude, and this is an Authority for us to purſue this Deſire in the Conſtruction of the Purview, and to take it moſt ſtrongly againſt the Cauſes of that Trouble, and that is, againſt the former Right, and againſt thoſe who had it.

[e] Co. Litt. 79 a. 4 Inſt. 330 Godb. 338. Curſon 15. 4 Bac. Abr. 645. Vin. Abr. tit. Statutes E. 6. pl. 100. Vide W. Jones 164.

And purſuant hereto is the Purview, which ordains, the Proclamations being made, the Fine to be a final End, and to conclude Privies as well as Strangers to it, this is the Body of the Act, which Words are to be weighed and conſidered. And they are as ſtrong and effectual as any Words can be, for if the Fine ſhall be a final End, then all former Rights and Titles are gone, for it cannot be called final, if any other is at Liberty to ſet up his former Right againſt the Conuſee, and to diſpute it with him. And the other Words (that it ſhall conclude as well Privies as Strangers to it) tend to the ſame Effect, [f] for the Word (conclude) is derived (as Catline ſaid) from the Latin Word concludo, which is compounded of two Words, viz. con and claudo, which Word claudo ſignifies to encloſe, or to ſhut up, or to end, as diem clauſit extremum, he has cloſed up, ſhut up, or ended his laſt Day: And con ſignifies together, ſo that the Words (conclude Privies and Strangers) in Signification are as much as to ſay, cloſe up together, ſhut up together, or extinguiſh the Right of Privies and Strangers. So that there is full Proviſion in the Purview to take away and put an End to all former Rights, and to commence new. And Catline compared the Fine upon this Act to Janus, who, he ſaid, was Noah, but the Romans occaſionally called him Janus, and uſed to paint him with two Faces, one looking backwards, in Reſpect that he had ſeen the former World which was loſt by the Flood, and the other looking forwards, in Reſpect that he begun a new World commencing at the Flood, and proceeding from thence forwards, for which Reaſon they called him Janus bifrons. And alſo he carried a Key in his Hand, ſignifying by that Key his Power to renew the new World by his Generation. So here this Act creates as it were a Flood, by which all former Rights before the Fine ſhall be drowned by Nonclaim, for Nonclaim is the Flood, and the Fine begets a new Generation, which is the new Right, for the Fine makes a new Right, and is the Beginning of a new World, which proceeds from the Time of the Fine downwards. And Dyer and all the others who argued on this Part ſaid, [g] that the Intention of this Act was not ſo much to preſerve former Rights, as to extinguiſh them, and that the Makers of the Act were Enemies to the former Right, and Friends to the new, becauſe the ancient Right ſtirred up many Suits and Contentions. And foraſmuch as they intended to avoid univerſal Trouble (as the Preamble ſpeaks) and to make Peace, which is to be preferred before all other Things, and foraſmuch as they have made the Proviſion general, viz. that the Fine ſhall be a final End, and ſhall conclude as well Privies as Strangers, [h] if the Act had ſtopped there, it would have bound as well Infants, Feme-coverts, and the others named in the Exception, as People of full Age, and who were void of ſuch Defects. For Infants do not make the Majority of the People, [i] and that is a reaſonable Law which provides for the greater Number, although ſome particular Perſons ſuffer by it. And hereupon Catline recited this Saying of Cato, viz. vix ulla lex fieri poteſt quæ omnibus commoda ſit, ſed ſi majori parti proſpiciat, utilis eſt. And ſo by the Generality of the Purview, founded upon ſo reaſonable a Cauſe, Infants and all the others contained in the Exception had been bound, if there had been no Exception: And ſo it was taken by the [f] Co Litt. 37. a.

[g] 1 Leon. 84. 85. Comb. 79. Poſt 538 (a).

[h] Dy. 3. pl. 3. Ante 361 (a).

[i] Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 12. fo. 39. Poſt 371 (b).

the Makers of the Act, for otherwiſe the Exception would have been made in vain, as Weſton ſaid. And it was ſaid that all other Infants but thoſe contained in the Exception are bound by the Generality of the Purview. [a] And hereupon Catline ſaid that if an Infant levies a Fine, after the Proclamations paſſed he ſhall not have a Writ of Error, although he is within Age, becauſe he is not aided by the Exception, for no Infant is excepted but an Infant not Party to the Fine, and an Infant Party to the Fine is within the Purview which binds Privies, which Word (Privy) may in Senſe comprehend a Party alſo, and the Purview being general binds Infants, as it has been ſaid. But note, this Caſe was put to the contrary by Southcote, and by Walſh in his ſecond Argument, for they held that he was excepted out of the Generality of the Purview by the Intent of the Makers of the Act.

[a] Contra Co. Read. on Fines 8. Co. Litt. 131. a. 2 Sid. 94. See Shep. Pract. Counſ. 71.

And as to the Exception, all of them who argued on this Part held that the Infants and others contained therein are ſuch as have Right at the Time of the Fine levied, and no others. [b] For an Exception is always an Exemption of that which is contained before in general Words, and if it is not contained in the Generality, it cannot be excepted in the Specialty. For Weſton ſaid, if one makes a Feoffment of a Manor, except ſuch an Acre which is not Parcel of the Manor, this is a void Exception. So if one makes a Leaſe of all the Land which deſcended to him on the Part of his Father, except the Land which deſcended to him on the Part of his Mother, this is not a good Exception, becauſe the Thing excepted was not contained in the Demiſe, and ſo the Exception is not uſed in its proper Nature. So here the Purview is againſt thoſe that have Right, and to except ſuch Infants as have no Right would be an idle Exception, and a Miſtake of the proper Nature of the Word, which is a Thing of too great Indignity to be conceived of the Members of that Parliament, who were wiſe and learned Men. And therefore the Generality of the Purview explains the Thing excepted.

[b] Dy. 59. pl. 11. 2 Rol. R. 361. Godb. 425. Bridgm. 136. Weſt Symb. pt. 2. fo. 8. b.

And as to what has been ſaid on the other Side, [c] viz. that the Purview was made as well againſt thoſe who had no Right, as againſt thoſe who had, and ſo ſhall the Exception alſo be; Sir, this cannot be well affirmed that the Act was made againſt two Sorts of Perſons, viz. againſt thoſe who had Right, and againſt thoſe who had no Right, but only againſt thoſe who had Right. For every one who lays a Claim to Land, and for the Recovery thereof ſues an Action, or makes an Entry into it, affirms by ſuch Act that he has Right, and againſt him the Fine with Proclamations may be pleaded, and it is not examinable whether he has Right, or not, but if he ſays that he has Right, it is ſufficient, and then the Conuſee ſhall conclude him by Nonclaim within the Time. As if a Fine is levied to one with Proclamations, and he enjoys the Land five Years quietly without Claim, and afterwards one brings againſt the Conuſee a Writ of Entry upon a Diſſeizin in the Poſt for a Diſſeizin done to him upon Title paramount the Fine, as he pretends, where in Fact he never was diſſeized, nor had Title or Right to the Land, there the Conuſee ſhall plead the Fine with Proclamations againſt him without anſwering to his Title, or examining his Right, for whether he had Right or not, he is concluded by his Latches of Claim within the five Years. So that Right or no Right is not the Matter, but Claim of the Right or Nonclaim within the five Years is the whole Matter, where this Concluſion is pleaded: And hereupon Iſſue is to be joined, which being tried upon ſuch Iſſue one Way or other makes an End of the Matter. For if it be found for the Demandant that he made Claim within the five Years, he ſhall recover, whether he had Right or not; and if it be found againſt him, he ſhall be barred, whether he had Right or not. And where the Conuſee or his Aſſignee pleads ſuch Concluſion in Bar, this is a nient dedire of the Right of the other, but that ſuch Right is gone by Nonclaim. And ſo the Purview is made only againſt thoſe Perſons who have a former Right, and the having of a former Right is every Challenge of ſuch former Right by Action or other Claim where ſuch Concluſion is pleaded; for the Right is not denied by the Party who relies upon the Concluſion. And therefore it cannot be well ſaid that the Purview is againſt thoſe who had Right, and alſo againſt thoſe who had no Right, inaſmuch as in every Caſe where ſuch Concluſion is pleaded a Right is claimed by the one Party and not denied by the other, but the Purview is only againſt thoſe who claim a former Right. And every one is confeſſed by nient dedire to have a former Right who claims it, and againſt whom ſuch Concluſion is pleaded, and the Purview is not againſt thoſe who had nothing or claimed nothing in the Land at the Time of the Fine levied, or upon Cauſe ariſing before the Fine. And hereupon Catline ſaid, [d] that if a Tenant in ancient Demeſn levies a Fine at the common Law, and five Years paſs after the Proclamations, the Lord of ancient Demeſn ſhall have a Writ of Diſceit 20 Years afterwards, and ſhall annul the Fine, and the Tenant ſhall be reſtored to the Land, for the Purview does not extend to him, for he claims no Title or Right to the Land at the Time of the Fine levied, but to his Seigniory and Services iſſuing out of the Land, for which Reaſon he is out of the Purview. So that the Purview extends only to thoſe who claim Title or Right, or had Right in Poſſeſſion, Reverſion, or Remainder to the Thing compriſed in the Fine at the Time of the Fine levied, or afterwards upon Cauſe ariſing before: And the Exception of Infants and the other Perſons compriſed in the Exception is intended of ſuch Infants and Perſons as had Right at the Time of the Fine levied, and no others. And Stowel the Demandant, who was an Infant at the Time of the Fine levied, is not ſuch an Infant as is there intended, becauſe he had no Right at the Time of the Fine levied, but his Grandfather then had the Right, againſt whom the Purview holds Place, and not againſt the Demandant himſelf. And ſo they all held that he was out of the Benefit of the Exception, and that the Words (having any Right or Title) in the Clauſe after touching the Perſons excepted are to be intended having Right or Title at the Time of the Fine levied, as well as at the Time of the Claim by Action or Entry made. And therefore they all agreed that Stowel the Demandant is not within the Benefit of the Exception, becauſe he had no Right at the Time of the Fine levied.

[c] Ante 362.

[d] 1 And. 74. 4 Inſt. 270. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 7. a. b. 70. a. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 51, 81. And where it is ſaid to the contrary in 2 Inſt. 519 that the Lord is barred of his Writ of Diſceit, this is to be intended (according to T. Raym. 462) another Fine, and not the ſame which was firſt levied. Vin. Abr. tit. Fine W. 4. pl. 1. in notis. Y. 3. pl. 7. in notis.

And as to the firſt Saving, it is to be obſerved that the Saving is general, but it is with Condition, which Condition in Reaſon and Senſe ought to be taken as general as the Saving is. And the the Saving is, to all Perſons and their Heirs (other than are Parties to the ſaid Fine) ſuch Right, Claim, or Intereſt as they had to the ſaid Tenements at the Time of the Fine engroſſed, ſo that they purſue their Title, Claim, or Intereſt by Action or lawful Entry within five Years next after the Proclamations made, which Word (they) contains the Perſon who had Right and his Heirs (as is aforeſaid.) [a] So that we ſee the Saving is general to him and to his Heirs, which implies every Heir inheritable whatſoever, whether he be within Age, covert, out of the Realm, or of unſound Mind, or whether he be of full Age, and void of ſuch Impediments. And the (ſo that) added afterwards is a Condition, viz. ſo that they purſue, &c. which is as much as to ſay, ſo that he and his Heirs purſue, &c. And Heirs there are meant generally, that is, every Heir whatſoever inheritable, whether he be within Age, covert, out of the Realm, or of unſound Mind, or whether he be of full age, and void of ſuch Impediments. For if it ſhould ſave the Right as well to the Heir within Age, or who had the ſaid Defects, as to the Heir of full Age, who was void of ſuch Defects, ſo that the Heir of full Age or void of ſuch Defects purſued his Title within five Years, this Sentence would go lame upon one Foot, and would not be as large as the Saving is, but it would leave the Heir within Age, or who had the ſaid Defects, at large, without binding him to any Time of Purſuit: And if the Intention of the Makers of the Act had been ſuch that the Heir within Age, or who had the other Defects or Impediments, ſhould not be bound to the Purſuit within Age, or during the Time of his Defects, then they would have provided that the Heir of full Age, and who was void of ſuch Defects, ſhould be bound to the Purſuit after that he had come of full Age, or was void of ſuch Defects or Impediments, as they did with Regard to thoſe who had preſent Right at the Time of the Fine levied, or a future Right afterwards. But that was not their Intention, and the Reaſon is, becauſe they had no other Deſign but that the Heir within Age, or who had the other Defects, ſhould be bound by the Condition of the Saving, as well as he had the Benefit of the Saving. And whoſoever conſiders that this Act was made for the general Tranquillity and Quiet of Inheritances throughout the Realm, which are more to be favoured than the Nonage of an Infant in a Caſe which rarely happens, will not think this a hard or rigid Conſtruction. [b] And although ſometimes a Caſe happens for which there is no Remedy, yet that does by no Means impeach the Reaſonableneſs or Juſtice of the Law, ſeeing the greater Number of People are provided for by it. And Catline and Weſton ſaid, that if every Infant ſhould have five Years de novo after his full Age, the Matter might poſſibly be delayed many hundred Years. For if Stowel the Demandant ſhould have other five Years after he came of full Age, he might perhaps die within thoſe five Years after his full Age, his Heir being within Age, who ought to have other five Years, which Heir alſo might die within the five Years after his full Age, his Heir being within Age, and in this Manner it might be continued for many hundred Years, and then the Right would come to be tried when it was out of the Memory of any Man living, and yet in ſuch a dark Caſe a Jury would be under a Neceſſity of giving a Verdict. And ſuch Darkneſs and Ignorance would be the Means of introducing Perjury and many other Miſchiefs, which the Makers of the Act intended to prevent by removing the Cauſe of them, viz. by limiting a certain Time for the firſt Right, which they did not intend ſhould be exceeded, although ſome particular Perſons might ſuffer by it. And hereupon Catline recited the Miſchief which was in the Words of the Statute of Limitations of 32. H. 8. cap. 2. by the Words whereof [c] if the Incumbent of an Advowſon had lived 60 Years, and had died, and a Stranger had preſented, or if one had had a Seigniory by Knight's-Service, and had not been ſeized thereof for 60 Years by Reaſon that the Tenant lived ſo long, or for other Reaſon, and the Tenant had died, his Heir within Age, and another had ſeized him, and entered into Land, in the one Caſe he could not have a Quare impedit or Darrein Preſentment, and in the other Caſe he could not have a Writ of Right of Ward, or Raviſhment of Ward; and yet in theſe ſpecial Caſes the Miſchief was great by Reaſon of the Perſons living ſo long, nevertheleſs this Miſchief was not remedied by the Expoſition of the Words of the Act, nor by the Equity of the Act, until the Statute of 1 Mary cap. 5. redreſſed it. And the Reaſon was, becauſe the Act of 32. H. 8. was founded upon the like Reaſon with this Act, viz. to limit all Men to a certain Time, for the Tranquillity and Repoſe of the Publick, in which Caſe [d] no Time ſhall be gained by Expoſition or Equity beyond the expreſs Words of the Act. And if Infants had not been excepted in the ſaid Act of 32. H. 8. which ordains that Actions ſhall be brought within a certain Time before the Act takes Effect, they would have been bound by the Generality of the Purview as well as others of full Age. So here the five Years attached in Stowel the Grandfather ought to be purſued as well by his Heir, whether he be of full Age or within Age, as they ſhould have been by himſelf if he had ſurvived the five Years. And Catline alſo alledged the Miſchief which was in the Words of this very Statute of 4. H. 7. which ordains that the Proclamations ſhall be made the ſame Term that the Fine is engroſſed, and the three Terms thence next following, and if one of the ſaid three Terms had been adjourned, the Proclamations had been ineffectual in the whole, and it could not be ſupplied the laſt Term after by the Expoſition of the Words, nor by the Equity of the Statute, for Remedy whereof the Act of 1 Mary cap. 7. was made. And ſo it appears that a Time limited by an Act ought to be purſued, and being once attached in Part it ought to be continued. [e] And hereupon Dyer ſaid, that if upon the Exigent it is returned that the Party is quarto exactus, and that there is one County wanting, and upon this another Writ iſſues allocato comitatu, this fifth County ought to be that which is next after the fourth, for if it be not, but if the Day of the fifth County is the Day of the Return of the Exigent, or is paſſed before the Date of the ſecond Writ, or if upon other Accident the County at which he is outlawed be not the next after the fourth, it has been held by us in the Common-Bench to be Error, for a Time commenced ought to be continued without Intermiſſion. So the five Years commenced in Stowel the Grandfather of full Age cannot admit of any Intermiſſion, but they ſhall be accounted continually from the firſt Day of them. And he denied the Law to be [a] Vin. Abr. tit. Fine W. 4. § 3. fo. 261.

[b] Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 12. fo. 39. Ante 3[1]9 (1).

[c] Vin. Abr. tit. Limitation A. pl. 7.

See Co. Litt. 115. a.

[d] Cro. C. 83.

[e] 1 Finch 339.

as it was before affirmed by Brown, viz. * that if a Fine was levied before the Act of Nonclaim, and one of full Age had Right at the Time of the Fine levied, and he had died within the Year, and the Right had deſcended to his Heir within Age, he ſaid that he ſhould be bound to that Year commenced in his Father, and that his Nonage ſhould not avail him in that Caſe, inaſmuch as his Anceſtor was of full Age. And he ſaid that in many Caſes at the common Law Nonclaim ſhould loſe the Right. [a] As Nonclaim of a Villain by a Year and a Day who has fled into ancient Demeſn ſhall take away the Seizure of the Villain, and nativo habendo; but if the Lord makes his Claim every Year, he ſhall have a nativo habendo. [b] And Nonclaim of Liberties before Juſtices in Eyre ſhall loſe the Liberties, for it is at the King's Grace to grant Replevin of them, and not Matter of Right. And the Wood of another in the King's Foreſt, being ſeized into the Hands of the King for Nonclaim within a Year and a Day, ſhall be forfeited to the King, as appears by the Treatiſe called Ordinatio Foreſtæ. [c] And Nonclaim by the mulier upon the Baſtard, who dies ſeized, ſhall take away the Right. [d] And if an Appeal of Murder be not brought within a Year and a Day, it ſhall be loſt for ever. [e] And a Copyhold not claimed within a Year and a Day after the Death of the Anceſtor ſhall be loſt for ever by the Cuſtom of many Manors, and ſuch Cuſtom ſhall be good. And he put many other Caſes where Nonclaim ſhall be peremptory to the Right, and he ſaid, if in theſe Caſes Nonclaim within a Time limited ſhall by the common Law be peremptory, and loſe the Right, and in them the Party ſhall not be aided by Infancy, a fortiore where an Act of Parliament limits a Time, for the public Repoſe of the Realm, and in Order to avoid univerſal Trouble to the Subjects of the Realm, as the Preamble ſays, ſuch Time ought to be peremptory, and ought not either by Expoſition or Equity to be favoured and enlarged for an Infant or any other beyond the ſtrict Extent of the Words; for the public Repoſe is more to be regarded than the private Convenience of any particular Perſon, whether he be an Infant, or of unſound Mind, or in other Degree.

* Contra Ante 360 (d). 365 (a).

a P. 7. H. 6. 32. a. F. N. B. 79. a. Dy. 60. pl. 23. Co. Litt. 254. b. 5 Co. 107. b. Kitch. 112. Cowel's Inſt. 104. 1 Finch 26. 2 Finch 38.

b M. 15. Ed. 4. 6. pl. 12. Bro. QuoWarranto 11 Crompt. J. C. 144. b.

c Ante 57 (b). and the Books there cited.

d H. 2. H. 7. 10. pl. 5. Co. Litt. 254. b.

e Contra 1 Show. 86, Per Dolben J.

Wherefore he and all the others who argued on this Part agreed that the Heirs compriſed in the firſt Saving, and bound to the Purſuit of the Right, ſhall be taken as general as the Saving is, and ſhall comprehend Heirs within Age, covert, in Priſon, of unſound Mind, or beyond the Sea, as well as other Heirs void of theſe Imperfections or Impediments, and that the Demandant ſhall not have Benefit of his Nonage by this firſt Saving, but that by his Nonclaim within the five Years attached in Part in Stowel the Grandfather he ſhall be barred, if the ſecond Saving does not aid him.

[f] And the Caſe of the dying ſeized of Baſtard eigne during the Nonage of mulier puiſne was touched by many of the Juſtices in the Argument of this Caſe. And Carus and Dyer held that the Right of the mulier within Age is bound by the Deſcent, becauſe in this Caſe the Law is a binding Law, that is to ſay, it binds the Right for ever. And Southcote and Saunders held the contrary, becauſe the Right of the mulier ſhall never be bound but where there was a dying ſeized, and where the dying ſeized comes by Default of Entry and by the Latches of the mulier, which Latches is excuſed by Reaſon of the Infancy of the mulier.

f That the Right of the mulier within Age is bound, Co. Litt. 244. a. 8 Co. 101. a. 1 Rol. Abr. 625. pl. 4. That it is not, 31 Aſſ. pl. 18, 22. Bro. Age 37. Diſcent 26. Entry congeable 68. 36 Aſſ. pl. 26. Fitz. Baſtardy 17. Bro. Diſcent 29. Entry congeable 75. H. 33. Ed. 3. Fitz. Verdict 48. Bro. Diſcent 49.

As to the ſecond Saving, all of them who argued on the Part of the Lord Zouch held clearly that the Demandant is not aided thereby for divers Cauſes. One Cauſe is, for that this Saving is to other Perſons, which Word (others) is excluſive of thoſe who are compriſed in the Exception and in the firſt Saving. And ſuch is not the Demandant here, for Stowel the Grandfather and his Heirs were compriſed in the firſt Saving, becauſe Stowel the Grandfather had Right at the Time of the Fine engroſſed, which Right is ſaved to him and to his Heirs upon Condition, viz. ſo that they purſue their Right within five Years after the Proclamations made, which is not done, as is aforeſaid. Then when the ſecond Saving is to others, this is to be underſtood, to others than to thoſe who had preſent Right at the Time of the Fine engroſſed, and their Heirs. And if the Title of Stowel the Demandant is no other but as Heir to the Grandfather who had not the preſent Right at the Time of the Fine engroſſed, then is he excluded out of this ſecond Saving by the Word (others), for he is not another Perſon. And although his Perſon, viz. his Body, is diſtinct from the Perſon of his Grandfather, yet inaſmuch as the firſt Saving was to his Grandfather and to his Heirs, and he is Heir to the Grandfather by Blood, and Heir to the Right alſo, he was compriſed in the firſt Saving, and is excluded out of this ſecond Saving. And Weſton and Catline were of Opinion againſt Walſh and divers other Juſtices, as is ſaid before, in this Caſe, viz. [g] if Tenant pur auter vie, Remainder for Life over to another, Remainder in Fee to the Right Heirs of Tenant pur auter vie, be diſſeized, and the Diſſeiſor levies a Fine with Proclamations, and five Years paſs, and afterwards ceſtuy que vie dies, and afterwards he in Remainder for Life dies, Weſton and Catline held that he who was Tenant pur auter vie ſhall not have other five Years after the Death of Tenant for Life in Remainder to purſue his Right for the Fee ſimple, becauſe he is not another Perſon, but one ſame Perſon, and if he had entered or recovered the Land during his firſt Eſtate, his Remainder had been reſtored thereby, and inaſmuch as he is there bound by the Words of the Act for his ſecond Eſtate, becauſe he is not another Perſon, it ſeemed to them not conſonant to the Intent of the Makers of the Act to enlarge the Time to him for his other Eſtate, but to abbreviate it, foraſmuch as their Intent was more favourable to the new Eſtate than to the former Right. And ſo here Stowel the Demandant being compriſed in the firſt Saving is not compriſed in the ſecond Saving, but the Word (others) excludes him from the Benefit of this ſecond Saving.

g Ante 367 (d). Shep. Pract. Counſ. 80.

Alſo the Word (firſt) joined to the ſubſequent Words will exclude him from the Benefit of this Saving, which Word (firſt) ſeemed to them all to be put in the Statute to great Purpoſe. [h] And Dyer ſaid that the Statute of 1. R. 3. cap. 7. touching Fines has all the Words of the Purview and the Body of this Act of 4 H. 7. except the Word (firſt), which is added, as a Thing thought to be very neceſſary, to this Act of 1 H. 7. more than is in the ſaid Act of 1 R. 3. And this Word ought to be added to each of the four Words, accrue, remain, deſcend, or come. And the four Words h T. Jones 238.

Words are by the Letter limited after the Fine engroſſed and Proclamations made, by Force of any Gift in Tail, or by any other Cauſe or Matter had or done before the Fine levied. So that he who would take Benefit of this Saving ought to prove four Things, viz. that he is another Perſon, and that the Right firſt came to him, and that it came after the Fine engroſſed and Proclamations made, and that his Right or Title is by Cauſe or Matter before the Fine levied. So that the Foundation of his Title ought to be before the Fine, and ought firſt to come after the Proclamations. As for Example (upon the Word accrue) Weſton ſaid, [a] if the Father dies ſeized, his eldeſt Son being in Religion, and the youngeſt is diſſeized, and a Fine is levied with Proclamations, and five Years paſs, and afterwards the eldeſt is deraigned, he ſhall be aided by this ſecond Saving, cauſa qua ſupra. [b] So Dyer ſaid, if the Mortgagee is diſſeized, and a Fine is levied by the Diſſeizor, and five Years paſs after the Proclamations, and afterwards the Mortgagor pays or tenders the Money, he ſhall by this ſecond Saving have five Years after his Payment or Tender, for his Title firſt accrued to him after the Proclamations by the Payment or Tender, upon Cauſe or Matter before the Proclamations, viz. by the Condition made before the Fine. [c] And if the Huſband levies a Fine with Proclamations, and five Years paſs after the Proclamations, and afterwards the Huſband dies, the Wife by this ſecond Saving ſhall have five Years after the Death of the Huſband to purchaſe her Writ of Dower, for her Title came after the Proclamations made, viz. by the Death of her Huſband, upon Cauſe before the Fine, viz. the Intermarriage with the Huſband and his Seizin: For three Things are the Cauſe of the Wife's Dower, viz. the Intermarriage, the Seizin of the Huſband in Deed or in Law, and his Death, two of which, viz. the Intermarriage and the Seizin, were before the Fine levied, and the third, viz. the Death, was after the Proclamations.

As to the Word (accrue).

[a] Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 69. a. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 50, 74.

[b] 2 Bac. Abr. 532. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 68. b. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 74, 79.

[c] S. P. Accord Dy. 72. pl. 3. H. 4. H. 8. Roll 344. Dy. 214. pl. 28. Moor 153. pl. 154. Co. Litt. 326. a. 2 Co. 93. a. 10 Co. 49. b. 99. a. Gouldſb. 148. pl. 71.

1 Rol. R. 160. 2 Rol. R. 409. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 52, 74, 79. 2 Bac. Abr. 92, 140. Vin. Abr. tit. Fine W. 4. § 4. fo. 262.

* But Note (Reader) that in my Opinion in this laſt Caſe the Wife ſhall not be bound to five Years after the Death of the Huſband, but ſhe is at large and not touched by the Purview of the Act. For the Purview is againſt thoſe who have Right at the Time of the Fine levied, or have future Right afterwards upon Cauſe ariſing before, to which future Right Wrong was done before the Fine, or by the Fine. So that the Statute always intends that a Wrong was done to the preſent Eſtate or to the future Eſtate by the Fine levied. But here in the Caſe of Dower the Title is wholly accrued after the Fine, viz. by the Death of the Huſband, for until his Death no Title was conſummate, nor Wrong done by the Conuſee in detaining the Land from the Wife. And the other two Points are of no Moment without the third, viz. the Death of the Huſband, nor are they ſuch Cauſe or Matter as the Statute intends. So that all the three Points are but one Cauſe or Matter, and not ſeveral. And therefore the Fine does not reach to ſuch Title as is accrued after the Fine, and (as the Law ſays) upon Cauſe wholly after the Fine; and this is conſiſtent enough with the Fine. [d] As if the Tenant ceſſes one Year, Part of which was before the Fine and the Proclamations paſſed, and another Year, which ends after the Proclamations, theſe two Years are but one Cauſe or Matter which gives the Ceſſavit, and not two Matters, and therefore the Lord ſhall have his Ceſſavit 20 Years after the Proclamations, and ſhall not be bound to five Years, for the Purview was not againſt the Lord in ſuch Caſe, becauſe he had no Right to the Land at the Time of the Fine, nor was his Title to the Land in eſſe at the Time of the Fine levied, altho' the Ceſſer cemmenced before the Fine levied, but his Title ſhall be ſaid to accrue wholly after the Fine, viz. at the End of the two Years. And ſo it ſtands well with the Fine, for which Cauſe the Lord is at large, and not bound to five Years to bring his Ceſſavit. So it ſeems to me to be in the Caſe of Dower, and of the Mortgage alſo, for altho' the making of the Condition is the Cauſe of the Re-entry, yet it is not any Part of the Matter or Cauſe intended by the Statute, but ſtands well with the Fine, and the Payment makes the Title, which is after the Fine, ſo that at the Time of the Fine there was no Wrong done to the Mortgagor, nor to the Eſtate which he claimed, and therefore he ſhall be at large, and not bound to five Years.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

* Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 69. a. b. But this Opinion of the Reporter's is contradicted in the Books cited above at (c).

[d] Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 69. b. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 74.

And Dyer ſaid further, (as to the Word remain) [e] if Land is given to the Father and to the Heirs Females of his Body begotten, the Remainder to his Son in Fee, and the Father levies a Fine with Proclamations, and afterwards dies without Heir Female of his Body, there the Son has five Years to make his Claim after the Death of the Father, by this Branch: For he is another Perſon to whom the Land firſt remained after the Fine engroſſed and Proclamations made, by Force of Matter before, viz. the Eſtate, by which the Remainder was limited upon the Eſtate Tail made. [f] So, it was ſaid, if Tenant for Life, the Remainder in Fee, is diſſeized, and the Diſſeizor levies a Fine with Proclamations, and five Years paſs, and afterwards the Tenant for Life dies, he in the Remainder ſhall have other five Years to be accounted from the Death of the Tenant for Life, cauſa qua ſupra. But Catline denied the Law to be as it was put by Walſh in a Caſe upon this Matter: For Walſh had ſaid, if Tenant for Life with Remainder in Fee makes a Feoffment, and the Feoffee levies a Fine with Proclamations, and five Years paſs, now he in the Remainder is bound touching his Entry for the Forfeiture during the Life of the Tenant for Life, for his preſent Right of Entry was ſaved by the firſt Saving, ſo that he had purſued his Claim within five Years, which he has not done: But, he ſaid, [g] if the Tenant for Life dies, now he in the Remainder ſhall have other five Years for his Formedon in Remainder, for it is a new Title and Right, and he could not have his Formedon in Remainder before, and it was at his Election whether he would take Advantage of the Forfeiture or not, and becauſe a new Right is come to him by the Death of the Tenant for Life, he ſhall have other five Years by this ſecond Saving; which Catline utterly denied, and ſaid that it was no new Right which firſt accrued after the Death of the Tenant for Life, for it is one ſame Fee-ſimple to which he had Right as well before the Death of the Tenant for Life, as after his Death, and inaſmuch as it was his Time to have executed it in his Life, and he has not done it, but has ſuffered the five Years to paſs, he is concluded by the Act, and not ſaved by the ſecond Saving, for his Right did not accrue or remain firſt after the Death of the Tenant for Life,

As to the Word (remain).

[e] O. Bendl. 175. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 73, 79.

[f] Poſt 374 (a). Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 68. b. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 73, 74.

[g] S. P. reſolved Laune v. Toker 3 Co. 78. b. 79. a. Cro. E. 220, 254. Cro. C. 157. 3 Keb. 38. arguendo. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 69. b. dubitatur. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 72, 74, 79.

Liſe, inaſmuch as he might have entered before. And ſo the Word (firſt) excludes him from the Benefit of the ſecond Saving. And as the Law is in the Caſe before [a] where Tenant for Life with Remainder over was diſſeized, and a Fine levied, ut antea, ſo, it was ſaid, ſhall it be of the Reverſion, [b] if the Reverſion had continued in the Leſſor, he ſhould have five Years after the Death of the Tenant for Life. [c] But Catline ſaid, if the Reverſion or Remainder depends upon an Eſtate for Years, and not upon an Eſtate of Freehold, then he in the Reverſion or Remainder ſhall not have Aid of this ſecond Saving. [d] And he ſaid, if Tenant for Years, or Tenant by Statute-merchant or Elegit be ouſted, and afterwards a Fine is levied with Proclamations, as well the Termor, or Tenant by Statute-merchant or Elegit, as he in the Reverſion alſo ought to make their Claim within the firſt five Years, for in ſuch Caſe [e] he in the Reverſion may enter upon the Diſſeizor as well as the particular Termor, and therefore they are all compriſed in the firſt Saving, and he in the Reverſion ſhall not have five Years after the Term ended, as he ſhall have where the particular Eſtate is a Freehold, in which Caſe he in the Reverſion cannot enter during the Eſtate of Freehold. And from this Caſe of a Termor his Intent appears that a Termor for Years ſhall be bound by this Statute as well as one that has a Freehold, becauſe the Savings ſave all Intereſts, [f] which Word (Intereſt) may comprehend a Term, and ſhews that the Generality of the Purview extends to it, as it ſeemed to him.

[a] Ante 373 (f).
[b] 1 Show. 43. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 68. b. Shep. Practt. Counſ. 77, 79.
[c] 9 Co. 105. b. by the Reporter. 1 Show. 41. But ſee Whaley v. Tancred T. Ray. 219, adjudged contrary, and that there is no Difference, as to this Point, between a Leſſee for Life and a Leſſee for Years. S. C. 2 Lev. 52 3 Keb. 38.
[d] 5 Co. 124. a. 9 Co. 105. b. 2 Inſt. 517. 1 Mod. 217. 1 Show. 41. 2 Bac. Abr. 534 Shep. Practt. Counſ. 50, 75.
[e] Co. Litt. 250. b.
[f] 5 Co. 124. a 9 Co. 105. a. Co. Litt. 345. b. Cro. J. 60.

As to the Word (deſcend).

And as to the Word (deſcend), Dyer ſaid, [g] if Tenant in Tail diſcontinues, and the Diſcontinuee levies a Fine with Proclamations, and five Years paſs, and Tenant in Tail dies, the Iſſue ſhall have other five Years, for he is the firſt to whom the Land deſcended after the Proclamations, by Force of the Gift in Tail made before the Fine levied. [h] But if Tenant in Tail be diſſeized, and afterwards the Diſſeizor levies a Fine with Proclamations, and five Years paſs without Claim, and afterwards the Tenant in Tail dies, in this Caſe he and Catline alſo ſaid that the Iſſue in Tail is bound for ever, for there the Tenant in Tail had the preſent Right at the Time of the Fine levied, and the firſt Saving compriſed him and his Heirs in Tail, and inaſmuch as they did not purſue their Right within the five Years according to the Condition of the firſt Saving, the Tail is bound for ever. But Southcote and Weſton were of a contrary Opinion, for they ſaid that every Iſſue in Tail ſhall have five Years, for a new Right is come to every one of them per formam doni, which Right (as they took it) the Makers of the Act intended to preſerve, [i] and to this Purpoſe the Words (by Force of any Gift in Tail) were put in the ſecond Saving. But this Opinion of theirs was utterly diſallowed by the ſaid Chief Juſtices, who ſaid that the Word (firſt), which ought to be added to the Word (deſcend) (and then it will be (ſhall firſt deſcend), will not ſuffer every Deſcent to have five Years. [k] And Catline ſaid that a Right or Title may be ſaid to be deſcended, where he who has a Right to a Reverſion or Remainder in Tail dependant upon an Eſtate for Life dies, and this deſcends to his Iſſue, and afterwards the Tenant for Life dies, he ſhall have five Years by this ſecond Saving: And thus the Words (firſt deſcend) ſhall be fully ſatisfied. [l] And Weſton and Dyer ſaid, if a Man has Iſſue a Son and a Daughter, and the Son purchaſes Land and dies, and the Daughter enters, and is diſſeized, and the Diſſeizor levies a Fine with Proclamations, and five Years paſs without Claim, if after this the Father has another Son (as he may have ten Years afterwards or more) who is Heir to the Brother, he ſhall have other five Years by this ſecond Saving, for he is the Perſon to whom the Right firſt deſcended after the Fine engroſſed and Proclamations made. [m] So, Dyer ſaid, if a Man of unſound Mind makes a Feoffment in Fee, and the Feoffee levies a Fine with Proclamations, and he of unſound Mind dies, now his Heir ſhall have five Years from the Time of his Death, for he is the Perſon to whom the Right firſt deſcended after the Fine engroſſed and Proclamations made.

[g] P. 19. H. 8. 7. a. 1 Rol. R. 162. 3 Co. 87. a. b. Pollexf. 500. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 68. b. Shep. Practt. Counſ. 75, 79.
[h] Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 67. b. Shep. Practt. Counſ. 75, 76.
[i] T. Jones 242.
[k] Shep. Practt. Counſ. 76.
[l] Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 69. a. Shep. Practt. Counſ. 57, 76.
[m] Shep. Practt. Counſ. 57, 76.

As to the Word (come).

And as to the Word (come), Dyer ſaid, [n] if Tenant in Tail levies a Fine with Proclamations, and five Years paſs, and afterwards he dies without Iſſue, the Donor is the Perſon to whom the Right firſt came after the Fine engroſſed and Proclamations made, upon Cauſe had before the Fine, and therefore he is aided by this ſecond Saving, and may have his Formedon in Reverter within five Years after the Death of the Tenant in Tail. And in all theſe Caſes, it was ſaid, there is a new Right or Title accrued, remained, deſcended, or come after the Proclamations, which was not in any other before, upon Cauſe ariſing before the Fine. But in our Caſe altho' Stowel the Demandant is the Perſon to whom the Right firſt deſcended, yet this is not upon any Matter or Cauſe had or done before the Fine, as the Makers of the Act intended, for the Diſſeizin which was before the Fine is not the Matter or Cauſe which made Stowel to have the Right, for if there had been no Diſſeizin he would have had the Right and the Poſſeſſion, for he had it by Deſcent or Purchaſe before. But they intended ſome ſpecial Matter which ſhould be the efficient Cauſe of having the Right, and ſuch a Right too as never was in any other before it was in him; and there is none ſuch in this Caſe, for the Right was firſt in the Grandfather, and the Right deſcended, which is meant by this Branch, is a Right deſcended which was not in any other in ſuch Manner at the Time of the levied. For this Right here was ſaved in Stowel the Grandfather and in his Heirs by the firſt Saving, and if it ſhould alſo be ſaved in the Heir by the ſecond Saving, becauſe it firſt deſcended to him, then the one Saving would be ſuperfluous and in vain. And this was not the Intention of the Makers of the Act, for they never intended to aid thoſe by the ſecond Saving who were compriſed and aided by the firſt Saving, nor e contra to aid thoſe by the firſt Saving who are aided by the ſecond, but their Intention was to comprehend in one Saving thoſe who were out of the other Saving. Wherefore all of them who argued on this Part agreed that the Demandant was not aided by the ſecond Saving, for he is not another Perſon, nor is the Right which is here deſcended to him ſuch a Right as the Makers of the Act intended, nor is the Cauſe or Matter before the Fine ſuch as they intended.

[n] Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 68. b.

is

And as to the Point of Equity, all of them alſo who argued on this Part agreed that Stowel the Demandant ſhould not be aided at all by Equity, inaſmuch as the Univerſality of Mankind is more the Object of the Purview than Individuals, that is to ſay, it reſpects the Peace of all Men in general more than the Advantage of Infants or other private Perſons, and alſo inaſmuch as this Act is a poſitive Law for the Time, and therefore when it has particularly limited divers Times to Perſons in divers Degrees, to make an Alteration in that Time would be more contrariant than agreeable to the Minds and Intention of the Makers of the Act. [a] And Catline ſaid that Ariſtotle defines Equity thus, Æquitas eſt correctio juſtæ legis qua parte deficit quod generatim lata eſt. But, he ſaid, this Law here is ſpecial, and limits a Certainty of Time in every Point, and it is defective in no Part as to Time, for which Reaſon the Time limited ſhall not be altered or enlarged by Equity.

[a] Ariſt. Ethic. lib. 5. cap. 10. 2 Brownl. 306. 1 Finch 40. 2 Finch 56. 4 Bac. Abr. 649. Poſt 465.

And in this Caſe they who argued on the Part of Lord Zouch agreed [b] that if one had three or four of the Defects and Impediments, as if a Woman who has preſent Right, or when the future Right falls, is covert, and within Age, and not of whole Mind, and in Priſon, and one, or two, or three of theſe Defects or Impediments are removed, as if the Huſband dies, and ſhe is of full Age, and let out of Priſon, the five Years appointed to her by the Statute ſhall not commence until the laſt Defect or Impediment is removed, and when ſhe is void of all the Impediments or Defects, then the five Years ſhall commence. [c] And if the Perſon, whoſe Defects or Impediments are once removed, within a Month after falls into any of the Defects or Impediments again, as if he is impriſoned, or becomes of unſound Mind, and continues ſo all the five Years, or at the End of the firſt Month of the five Years dies, his Heir within Age, the five Years before commenced ſhall proceed, and Nonclaim within the ſame five Years ſhall bind the Party and his Heirs, as well as if he had been void of all the Defects or Impediments during the whole five Years.

[b] Vin. Abr. tit. Fine F. a. 5. pl. 1. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 68. a. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 76, 78. 1 Leon. 215, per Anderſon C. J.

[c] Vin. Abr. tit. Fine F. a. 5. pl. 2. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 68. a. b. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 76, 78.

And in this Caſe it was affirmed by many of the Juſtices, and denied by none of them that I heard, [d] that altho' the Perſons compriſed in the Exception were not under ſuch Defects or Impediments at the Time of the Fine levied, but became ſo againſt their Will after the Fine levied, and before the laſt Proclamation, and were in ſuch Degree at the Time of the laſt Proclamation, they ſhall not be bound to five Years next after the laſt Proclamation, but they ſhall have five Years next after their Impediments or Imperfections removed.

[d] Vin. Abr. tit. Fine F. a. 5. pl. 3.

And Bendloe ſaid in this Caſe, that the Savings in the Act extend as well to Succeſſors, altho' they are not named, as to Heirs. And divers Caſes were put touching the Succeſſors of Biſhops, Deans, and Parſons, and in the meſn Vacation touching Men of Religion, (all which I have omitted out of this Report, becauſe, as I apprehend, the Purview does not extend [e] to bind ſuch, nor ſhall their Succeſſors be intended ſuch Privies as are meant by the Statute, nor ſhall they be bound by any Fine levied by their Predeceſſors, or by the Negligence or Latches of their Predeceſſors. For none can imagine that the Makers of the Act intended by the Latches or Act of the Biſhop to bind the Succeſſion without the Aſſent of the Chapter, or of the Parſon without the Aſſent of Patron and Ordinary. For which Reaſon, it ſeems, the Omiſſion of Succeſſors out of the Act was done of Purpoſe, and not thro' Negligence or Forgetfulneſs. And if the Law ſhould be taken for certain that upon a Fine levied by the Predeceſſor of a Biſhop, Dean, Prebendary, or Parſon, and Proclamations made, or that upon a Diſſeizin done to a Biſhop, Dean, or Prebendary, and ſuch others, their Succeſſors ſhall be bound by a Feoffment of the Termors or otherwiſe, and by a Fine afterwards levied, and by Nonclaim of the Biſhop, Dean, or ſuch other for five Years, this would ſoon grow into great Practice, and thereby Holy Church would loſe more Poſſeſſions than it could gain in theſe Days.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

[e] 11 Co. 71. a. Crompt. J. C. 20. b. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 66. b. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 50, 104. Poſt 538 (c).

After theſe Arguments made, Judgment was prayed in the Common Bench for the Lord Zouch in the ſaid Term of St. Hillary in the 11th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth. And Harper then one of the Judges of the ſame Bench retained his former Opinion, viz. that the Law was with Stowel the Demandant, and of the ſame Opinion with him was Saunders only, and no others. For Walſh, mutata opinione, aſſented that Judgment ſhould be given againſt Stowel. And he ſaid to me afterwards, that upon better Conſideration it ſeemed to him that the Act, which had limited a Time for the Right, had made the Right of Stowel the Demandant ſubject to a Condition, viz. that he ſhould purſue his Claim within the five Years attached firſt in his Grandfather, from which his Nonage ſhould not diſcharge him any more than in this Caſe, viz. [f] if a Man makes a Feoffment in Fee upon Condition to be performed on the Part of the Feoffee and his Heirs, there if the Feoffee dies, his Heir within Age, he is bound to perform the Condition during his Nonage, as well as if he was of full Age. So here the time limited to the Right of the Demandant makes his Right conditional, and his Nonage ſhall not diſcharge him from it; and this was the Reaſon why he aſſented to the Judgment, as he told me. Wherefore he and all the other Judges, viz. Carus, Southcote, Weſton, Whidon, Dyer and Catline, were of Opinion that Stowel the Demandant ſhould be bound to the five Years attached in his Grandfather, and conſequently that Judgment ſhould be given againſt him. And of this Opinion I heard that Corbet Juſtice was, (who died before he had delivered his laſt Argument) as appeared by his Argument written with his own Hand, which was found after his Death in his Study, as I was informed. Wherefore the ſame Term of St. Hillary Judgment was given that Stowel the Demandant ſhould be barred, which Judgment was as follows.

Hill. Term 11 Eliz.

[f] 31 Aſs. pl. 17. Fitz. Condition 15. Bro. 114. Coverture 71. 2 Rol. R. 403. 2 Lev. 22. 1 Mod. 86, 87.

At

The reſt of the Record.

At which Day here came as well the aforeſaid John Stowel now Demandant as the aforeſaid George by their Attornies aforeſaid. Whereupon the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Juſtices here fully underſtood, it ſeems to the Juſtices here that the aforeſaid Plea of the aforeſaid John Stowel now Demandant above by replying pleaded is inſufficient in Law to maintain the aforeſaid John Stowel now Demandant to have his Action aforeſaid againſt the aforeſaid George, as the aforeſaid George above has alledged. Therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid John Stowel now Demandant take nothing by his Writ aforeſaid, but be in Mercy for his falſe Claim. And that the aforeſaid George go thereof without Day, &c.

Judgment.

And the Lord Dyer, in his laſt Argument made in this Caſe, ſpoke to the Manner of pleading the Concluſion made by the Statute, that is to ſay, whether it be neceſſary for the Tenant, who pleads the Fine in Bar, to aver that the ſaid John Zouch Knight was of full Age, of ſound Mind, out of Priſon, and within the Realm, or not. For he ſaid that in [a] 8 R. 2. the Tenant in Aſſize pleaded in Bar a Fine levied before the Statute of Nonclaim, and ſaid that the Plaintiff was a Year and a Day after the Fine levied out of Priſon, of full Age, and within the four Seas, and did not put in his Claim, &c. and the Plaintiff ſaid that he was at that Time in Scotland the whole Year and Day of which he ſpoke, without that that he was in England; and becauſe Scotland is another Land and another Realm by itſelf, the Iſſue was held ſufficient enough for this Purpoſe. [b] And, he ſaid, hereby it appears that Scotland is another Realm. [c] But, he ſaid, it ſeemed to him in the Caſe here not to be neceſſary for the Tenant, who pleads the Fine in Bar, to aver that the Party was of full Age, or out of Priſon, or within the Realm, and of ſound Mind, but this ſhall be ſhewn on the other Side, if there is any ſuch Imperfection or Impediment, becauſe the Body of the Act is general, viz. that the Fine ſhall be a final End, and ſhall conclude as well Privies as Strangers to it, and as general as the Purview is, ſo generally the Party, who is to take Advantage by the Fine, ſhall plead it. And if the other Party or his Anceſtor is one of the Perſons excepted, he ought to plead the Exception, becauſe it is for his Advantage. And he reſembled this to the Pleading of a Deviſe of Land by Force of the [d] Act, for the Deviſee ſhall plead the Deviſe generally, viz. that ſuch a one was ſeized of the Land in Fee, and held it in [e] Socage, and deviſed it to him by his laſt Will in Writing. For the Proviſion of the Act is general, viz. that every Perſon ſhall have full Authority to deviſe, &c. and yet there is a Branch in the Act afterwards, that Wills made by Femes-covert, or Perſons within Age, Ideots, or not of whole Mind, ſhall not be taken to be effectual: But inaſmuch as this is not in the Body of the Purview, but is in a Branch afterwards, the Deviſee needs not to aver that the Deviſor was of full Age and void of the other Imperfections, but the other Party who is to take Advantage of it ſhall plead it. [f] But, he ſaid, if one will plead a Feoffment or Grant of Ceſtuy que Uſe, there he ought to plead that he was of full Age, of whole Mind, and at large, and not in Dureſs, as it is held in 16. H. 7. And he ſaid that the Queſtion was moved before in 6. H. 7. whether or no the Party ought to ſhew it, but it was not there adjudged, but in 16. H. 7. the Point was reſolved by the Juſtices. And the Reaſon is, becauſe the Purview of the Act of 1 R. 3. cap. 1. is, that all Feoffments, Grants, &c. made by any Perſon being of full Age, of whole Mind, and at large, and not in Dureſs, to any Perſon ſhall be good and effectual; ſo that the Purview does not warrant any Feoffment or Grant but of ſuch Perſons as are void of ſuch Defects. And therefore he that will take Benefit by ſuch Conveyances ought to ſhew that the Perſon who made them was void of ſuch Defects, or elſe he is not authoriſed to make them. [g] But otherwiſe it is where the Purview is general, and a Reſtraint to ſome comes afterwards by Way of Exception, (as it is in this Statute of Fines) or by another Branch, as it is in the Statute of Deviſes of Land. And ſo, by him, there is a manifeſt Diverſity.

[a] M. 8. R. 2. Fitz. Continual Claim 13. Crompt. J. C. 65. b. 140. b.

[b] Ante 368 (c). Vide Dy. 304. pl. 51.

[c] S. P. cited and affirmed 1 Leon. 18, per Wray C. J. Palm. 255. 2 Mod. Entr. 325. b. pl. 4.

[d] Stat. 32. H. 8. cap. 1.

[e] If the Tenure is not ſhewn to be by Socage, Quære if the Court ſhall intend it to be ſo, Dy. 329. pl. 16.

[f] M. 16. H. 7. 2. pl. 4. Bro. Feoffm. al Uſes 65. Pleadings 171. M. 6. H. 7. 6. pl. 1. Fitz. Verdict 15. Bro. Feoffm. al Uſes 24. P. 4. H. 7. 8. b, Bro. Ibid. 42. Pleadings 124. Vin. Abr. tit. Uſes W. a. in notis. But 1 Leon. 18, this Point is denied to be Law by Wray C. J. And note, the Opinion of Wray agrees with that of Keble. M. 16 H. 7. 2. pl. 4. P. 4. H. 7. 8. b.

[g] T. Raym. 167, per Twiſden J. Ld. Raym. 421, arguendo.

Here follow the Verſes mentioned before, fo. 356.

Elizabeth nonum regni dum tranſigit annum,
Gentis et Anglorum regia ſceptra tenet,
Anthonium rapiunt Maii mala ſidera Brownum,
Legum qui vivus gloria magna fuit,
Abdita qui norat reſerare Oracula juris
Subtili ductu, et Neſtoris eloquio.
Ingenio pollens, animoque diſertus et ore,
Vix ulli poterant uberiora dari.
Is fœlix nimium, ſi tam longæva fuiſſent
Quam fuerant animi dona ſtupenda ſui.
Abreptum fato hunc Eſſexia planxit alumnum,
Legis et ereptum ſedula turba gemit:
Planxerunt illi, plangat ſimul Anglia tota,
Nempe animos triſtes perdita gemma facit.

A Report of a Judgment given by the Barons of the Exchequer in Eaſter Term in the 12*th Year of the Reign of Queen* Elizabeth upon an Exhibition to the Court of Exchequer, by Sir Henry Nevil Knight, of a Deed of Grant of the Office of Keeper of a Park, and of an annual Rent-charge for the Exerciſe of the ſame out of Land which afterwards came to the Hands of the Queen, which Grant was made to him and to his Father, who was attainted of Treaſon, for Term of their Lives, and upon a Petition to have the Arrears due thereupon paid to him. And the Record hereof was entered in the Remembrances of the Exchequer, among the Records of Michaelmas Term 3 Eliz. Roll on the Side of the Treaſurer's Remembrancer. And was as follows.

BE it remembered, that Henry Nevil Knight came here before the Barons of this Exchequer the 20th Day of October in this Term in his own proper Perſon, and exhibited to the Court here a certain Writing of one William by divine Permiſſion late Archbiſhop of Canterbury of the Office of Keeper and Guardian of the Park of Aldington otherwiſe Alington, and of the Deer in the ſame Park, in the County of Kent, and alſo of an annual Rent of three Pounds and ten Pence Sterling for the Exerciſe of the Office aforeſaid yearly to be had, levied, and perceived of the Manor of Aldington otherwiſe Alington, made to the aforeſaid Henry Nevil Knight, by the Name of Henry Nevil Eſquire, and to one Edward Nevil Knight afterwards and late attainted of High Treaſon now deceaſed, for Term of their Lives, and of the longeſt Liver of them, bearing Date the 15th Day of November in the 22d Year of the Reign of the late King Henry 8. ſealed with the Seal of the ſaid late Archbiſhop, and afterwards and before the Attainder of the ſaid Edward Nevil Knight, viz. the firſt Day of December in the ſame 22d Year of the ſaid late King Henry 8. William then Archbiſhop then ſurviving and being in full Life and Archbiſhop of Canterbury, by Thomas then Prior of Chriſt-Church in Canterbury, and by the Chapter of the ſame Place by their Writing ſealed under their common Seal at the City of Canterbury in their Chapter-houſe there ratified, approved, and confirmed. And the ſame Henry Nevil prays that that Writing may be here inrolled of Record. Which ſaid Writing the Barons here received, and commanded it to be read, and to be inrolled in the Order of the Words contained in the ſame Writing. And the Tenor of the ſame Writing follows in theſe Words. Mich. Term 3 Eliz. Exhibition.

" To all the faithful in Chriſt " to whom this preſent Writing ſhall come, William by divine Permiſſion Archbiſhop of Canter- " bury, Primate of all England, Legate of the Apoſtolic See, Greeting, in the Author of Safety. " Know ye that we for the good and acceptable Service which our beloved Edward Nevil Knight " and Henry Nevil Eſquire, one of the Sons of the aforeſaid Edward Nevil Knight, have mani- " feſtly done and ſhall daily hereafter do to us, and for other urgent Cauſes us to theſe Preſents " ſpecially moving, of our meer Motion have given and granted, and by theſe Preſents do give " and grant, to the ſame Edward Nevil Knight, and to Henry Nevil Eſquire. And to the longer " Liver of them, the Office of Keeper and Guardian of our Park of Aldington otherwiſe Aling- " ton and of our Deer there in the County of Kent, with their Appurtenances. To have, hold, " and exerciſe the Office aforeſaid by themſelves or by their ſufficient Deputy or Deputies, for " whom they will anſwer, for Term of Life of the aforeſaid Edward Nevil Knight and of Henry " Nevil Eſquire and of the longer Liver of them. And by theſe Preſents we make, conſtitute, " and ordain the ſaid Edward and Henry Nevil to be the Keepers of our Park and Deer aforeſaid. " Alſo we have granted and by theſe Preſents do grant for us and our Succeſſors to the ſame Ed- " ward Nevil Knight and Henry Nevil Eſquire, for the Exerciſe of the Office aforeſaid, and for " their other Coſts, Charges, and Expences to be had in the Premiſſes, one annual Rent of three " Pounds and ten Pence Sterling yearly. To have, levy, and perceive the aforeſaid annual Rent " of three Pounds and ten Pence every Year during the whole Lives of the ſaid Edward Nevil " Knight and Henry Nevil, and of the longer Liver of them, of our Manor of Aldington other- " wiſe Alington aforeſaid, at the Feaſts of Eaſter and of St. Michael the Archangel, by equal Por- " tions to the ſame Edward and Henry Nevil and to the longer Liver of them annually to be paid. " And if and as often as it ſhall happen that the ſaid Rent of three Pounds and ten Pence or any " Part thereof be in Arrear in Part or in all unpaid after any Term at which it ought to be paid, " that then and ſo often it ſhall be lawful for the aforeſaid Edward and Henry, and for the longer " Liver of them, and their Aſſigns, into the ſaid Manor to enter and diſtrain, and the Diſtreſs ſo " taken there to drive away from thence, and to impound and keep in their Poſſeſſion, until they " ſhall be fully ſatisfied for the annual Rent aforeſaid and the Arrears thereof. In Witneſs " whereof to theſe Preſents we have put our Seal, given the 15th Day of November in the 22d " Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. and in the 27th Year of our Tranſlation. And we Tho- " mas by divine Permiſſion Prior of Chriſt's-Church in Canterbury, and the Chapter of the ſame " Place do all and ſingular the Things above written and contained, as much as to us belongs, " by Authority of our Chapter, ratify, approve, and for Term of Life of the above written Ed- " ward Nevil Knight and Henry Nevil and the longer Liver of them, by the Tenor of theſe Pre- " ſents, confirm. In witneſs whereof our Common Seal is put to theſe Preſents: Given in our " Chapter-houſe the firſt Day of December in the 22d Year of the Reign of King Henry 8."

Which ſaid Writing being read, the aforeſaid Henry Nevil Knight ſays that he is unpaid of the aforeſaid annual Rent of three Pounds and ten Pence yearly, from the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the fifth and ſixth Years of the Reign of the late King and Queen, viz. for three whole Years ending at the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the third Year of the Reign of the Lady Elizabeth now Queen, and that the aforeſaid Manor of Aldington otherwiſe Alington with the Appurtenances has remained and been in the Hands and Poſſeſſion of the ſaid Lady the Queen now ever ſince the aforeſaid Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the ſaid fifth and ſixth

Years and now is and remains in the Hands of the ſaid Lady the Queen now. And he prays that the Writing aforeſaid by the Court here may be allowed, and that nine Pounds, two Shillings, and Sixpence of the Arrears of the aforeſaid annual Rent of three Pounds and ten Pence yearly for the aforeſaid three Years ending at the ſaid Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the aforeſaid third Year of the ſaid Lady the Queen now may be paid to the ſame Henry Nevil Knight, and alſo that the aforeſaid annual Rent of three Pounds and ten Pence yearly from the aforeſaid Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the aforeſaid third Year of the ſaid Lady the Queen now may be annually paid to the ſame Henry Nevil Knight during the Life of the ſame Henry.

Anſwer. And Gilbert Gerard Eſquire Attorney-General of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, who proſecutes for her, being preſent here in Court, and being aſked by the Barons touching the Premiſſes, for the aforeſaid Lady the Queen now ſays, that the aforeſaid Writing in Form aforeſaid recited ought not to be allowed, and that neither the aforeſaid nine Pounds, two Shillings, and Sixpence of the aforeſaid Arrears of the aforeſaid annual Rent of three Pounds and ten Pence yearly for the ſaid three Years ending at the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the aforeſaid third Year of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, nor the aforeſaid annual Rent of three Pounds and ten Pence yearly from the aforeſaid Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the aforeſaid third Year of the Demurrer. ſaid Lady the Queen now, to the aforeſaid Henry Nevil Knight in Form aforeſaid ought to be paid. Becauſe he ſays that the aforeſaid Writing above recited, and the Matter in the ſame Writing contained and ſpecified, and the aforeſaid Matter by the ſaid Henry Nevil Knight in Form aforeſaid alledged, is inſufficient in Law to charge the aforeſaid Lady the Queen now either with the Payment of the aforeſaid nine Pounds, two Shillings, and Sixpence for the aforeſaid three Years ending at the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the aforeſaid third Year, or with the aforeſaid Payment of the aforeſaid annual Rent of three Pounds and ten Pence yearly from the aforeſaid Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the ſame third Year, to the aforeſaid Henry Nevil Knight in Form aforeſaid. And therefore he prays Judgment for the ſaid Lady the Queen.

Joinder. And the aforeſaid Henry Nevil Knight ſays that the aforeſaid Writing above recited, and the Matter in the ſame Writing contained, and the aforeſaid Matter by him in Form aforeſaid alledged, is ſufficient in Law to charge the aforeſaid Lady the Queen now with the Payment of the aforeſaid nine Pounds, two Shillings, and Sixpence of the aforeſaid annual Rent of three Pounds and ten Pence for the aforeſaid three Years ending at the aforeſaid Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the aforeſaid third Year of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, and alſo with the Payment of the aforeſaid annual Rent of three Pounds and ten Pence yearly from the aforeſaid Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the ſame third Year, to the ſame Henry Nevil in Form aforeſaid. And he prays as he above prayed. And becauſe the Court will have Deliberation in the Premiſſes before further, &c. Day is given to the aforeſaid Henry Nevil in the State wherein it now is from the Day of the Holy Trinity in fifteen Days, to hear and do what, &c.

The CASE. A. grants the Office of Keeper of a Park, and a Rent of 3 l. 10 d. for the Exerciſe of it out of a Manor, to two for their Lives, one of them is attainted of Treaſon, the Manor comes into the King's Hands, the King ſhall not have the Office nor the Rent. S. C. cited 2 Rol. R. 340. Godb. 323, 418, 419. 5 Mod. 60. Crompt. J. C. 161. b. 3 Bac. Abr. 743. Vin. Abr. tit. Officers M. pl. 3.

THE Effect of the Record is as follows, viz. Sir Henry Nevil Knight comes before the Barons of the Exchequer, and exhibits to the Court a Deed bearing Date the 15th Day of November in the 22d Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. made to him and to one Sir Edward Nevil Knight afterwards and lately attainted of High-Treaſon, by William late Archbiſhop of Canterbury, of the Office of Keeper and Guardian of the Park of Aldington otherwiſe Alington, and of the Deer in the ſame Park, in the County of Kent, and of an annual Rent of 3 l. 10 d. for the Exerciſe of the ſame Office yearly to be had, levied, and perceived of the Manor of Aldington otherwiſe Alington, for the Term of their two Lives. Which Deed afterwards, and before the Attainder of the ſaid Sir Edward, viz. the 1ſt Day of December in the 22d Year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Henry 8. and in the Life of the ſaid Archbiſhop, was confirmed by the Prior of Chriſt-Church in Canterbury, and by the Chapter of the ſame Place by their Deed. Which Deed the ſaid Sir Henry Nevil prays to be inrolled of Record; and the Barons received the Deed, and read it, and commanded it to be inrolled. And the Deed was according to the Effect aforeſaid, viz. that the ſaid Archbiſhop, for the good and acceptable Service which the ſaid Sir Edward and Henry one of the Sons of the ſaid Sir Edward had diverſly done, and thereafter ſhould daily do, and for other Cauſes, granted to the ſaid Sir Edward and Henry, and to the longer Liver of them, the ſaid Office of Keeper and Guardian of the ſaid Park and of the Deer there: To have, hold, and exerciſe the ſaid Office by themſelves or by their ſufficient Deputy or Deputies, for whom they will anſwer, for Term of their two Lives, and for the Life of the Survivor of them. And further he granted to them for the Exerciſe of the ſaid Office, and for their Charges and Expences in the Premiſſes, an annual Rent of 3 l. 10 d. for the Lives of them and of the Survivor of them, payable out of the Manor at Michaelmas and at the Annunciation of our Lady by equal Portions, with Clauſe of Diſtreſs in the ſaid Manor, if the Rent ſhould be in Arrear. Under which was contained the Confirmation of the Prior and Chapter aforeſaid. Which Deed being read, the ſaid Sir Henry ſays that the ſaid Rent was in Arrear and not paid to him for three Years ending at the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the third Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen: And that the ſaid Manor was all thoſe three Years, and yet is, in the Hands of the ſame preſent Queen.. And he prays that the Court will allow the Deed, and that 9 l. 2 s. 6 d. of the Arrears of the ſaid Rent for the ſaid three Years may be paid to him the ſaid Sir Henry Nevil; and that the ſaid annual Rent of 3 l. 10 d. from the ſaid Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the 3d Year of the Reign of the ſaid preſent Queen may be paid to him the ſaid Sir Henry during his whole Life. And hereupon the Queen's Attorney ſays, that the ſaid Deed ought not to be allowed, and that neither the Arrears now demanded, nor the Rent for the Time to come, ought to be paid to Sir Henry Nevil, becauſe he ſays that the Deed and the Matters aforeſaid are not ſufficient to charge the Queen with the ſame. And upon this he has demurred in Law, and Sir Henry alſo.

And

And the Doubt conceived was upon the Attainder of Sir Edward Nevil one of the joint Grantees, viz. if the King ſhould have the Office by the Attainder, or if it is an Office of Skill or Confidence, ſo that for this Cauſe it ſhall not be forfeited, or if it ſhall not be forfeited as being an Office of Service, becauſe the King cannot be a Servant, nor do Service to any other, or admitting that the Law will give the Office to the King after the Attainder and during the Life of Sir Edward Nevil, in what Situation it ſhall ſtand after his Death.

Another point was, if the Rent-charge being a Rent de novo commencing lately by Grant, and iſſuing out of Land, ſhall be in the ſame Degree with the Office; or if it ſhall be forfeited to the King, although it be ſo that the Office ſhall not be forfeited by Law.

And the Matter was often moved on Behalf of Sir Henry Nevil by an Apprentice of the Middle-Temple, to whom it ſeemed that neither the Office nor the Rent-charge was forfeited to the King in the Lifetime of Sir Edward, nor after his Death. For, he ſaid, it is firſt of all to be obſerved that to the Office of Keeper of a Park two Things are requiſite. The firſt is, Skill, for a Keeper of wild Beaſts ought to be acquainted with their Nature, according to which he is to order and manage them, for if he does not know their Nature, he cannot tell what Sort of Food is fitteſt for them, and ſo of Shade, and Covert for their Repoſe, and other Neceſſaries; nor can he tell how to order them after they have been chaſed, or how to bring them back again into the Park after they have eſcaped or have been chaſed out, and many other Things there are belonging to them of which he would be ignorant. And alſo he ought to be ſkilled in the Method of taking them, or killing them by Nets, Arrows, Dogs, and other Engines. So that a Keeper of them ought to have Skill. [a] And beſides this it is neceſſary for him to be diligent; and it is to be preſumed that the Grantor of ſuch an Office had great Confidence in the Diligence of the Grantee, or elſe he would not have committed to his Care the wild Beaſts, which are Things that require ſtrict Diligence and Attendance. [b] For which two Cauſes the Law will not permit the Grantee of ſuch an Office to grant it over to another, for if it ſhould, then perhaps the Grantee would grant it over to ſuch a one as had neither Skill nor Diligence, which would be very prejudicial to the Grantor, and therefore the Law will not permit him ſo to do. [c] And ſo is it in other like Caſes, as of a Stewardſhip, Bailiwick of Huſbandry, and the like, which require Skill and Diligence, and which are granted in reſpect of the Fitneſs and Capacity which the Grantor has conceived in the Perſon of the Grantee to excerciſe ſuch an Office. And therefore in the Act of 5. Edw. 6. cap. 16. which inflicts a Penalty upon thoſe who buy or ſell the Offices of Confidence or Attendance there recited, which could not lawfully be bought or ſold, there is a Proviſo that the Act ſhall not extend to any Office of Parkerſhip, or Keeper of any Park, which Proviſo implies that the Makers of the Act took it, that if the Proviſo had not been made, the buying and ſelling of ſuch Office might have been taken within the Equity of the Act, although it was not within the Words, becauſe it concerns Skill and Confidence, as the Offices there recited do, and as ſuch that it might not be granted over any more than the other Offices there mentioned, and ſo might be taken by Equity within the Puniſhment of the Act, if the Proviſo had not been made. From whence it may be collected that the Makers of the Act intended that ſuch Office of Parkerſhip could not be granted over, and although it could not, yet they would not have the Penalty to extend to it. [d] But if a Man grants the Office of Keeper of a Park to another and to his Heirs in Fee-ſimple, there the Grantee may grant this over, and that this was the Intent of the Grantor may be ſo collected from the Generality of the Perſons comprehended in the Eſtate in Fee-ſimple; for as well Heirs-Females as Males, and Heirs-Ideots and Infants who ought to have Guardians are compriſed in it, and Strangers alſo. [e] For a Man ſhall be Tenant by the Curteſy, where ſuch an Office deſcends to his Wife by whom he has Iſſue, [f] and a Woman ſhall be endowed in ſuch Caſe. So that by the Generality of the Perſons comprehended in ſuch general Grant this and all other Offices of Confidence may be granted over by the reaſonable Conſtruction of the Law, and they may be [g] forfeited alſo. [h] And herein he allowed the Caſe in 1. H. 7. where the Office of Foreſter of ſuch a Place with all the Lands belonging to it was granted to one in Tail, Remainder to the King in Fee, and there the Grant and the Remainder were held good, for the Grantor was an Officer in Fee. [i] But where it is granted only for Life, there no other is comprehended in the Grant but the Grantee himſelf, ſo that he cannot make a Deputy, unleſs he has Words extending to it, much leſs can he grant it over. And if the Grantees in our Caſe cannot grant this Office over, by the ſame Reaſon they cannot [k] forfeit it by Attainder, if both of them had been attainted, [l] for if it ſhould be forfeited by Attainder, and the King ſhould have it, and he ſhould grant it to another, ſuch other might be deſtitute of Skill and Diligence, whereby the Grantor would receive as much Prejudice as he would do by a Grant made by the Grantee to another who was not fit for the Purpoſe. And therefore ſuch Offices as are granted to any one in Reſpect of Skill or Diligence are appropriated only to the Perſon of the Grantee. And herein the Law is to be commended, in that it will not veſt in another a Title to ſuch an Office without the Aſſent of the Grantor. For which Reaſon if the Grantee be attainted of Felony or Treaſon, or detained in Priſon, or gone beyond Sea, or become non ſanæ memoriæ, or be under any other like Incapacity, ſo that he cannot exerciſe the Office, no other ſhall do it without the Aſſent of the Grantor. [m] But for the Nonfeaſance thereof it ſhall be forfeited to the Grantor by a Condition annexed to it by Law. [n] So that the Grantor, or he to whom the Service ought to be done, ſhall appoint another, and no Stranger ſhall come in without his Aſſent, and therefore the Act of the Grantee, whether it be by his Grant or by his means, ſhall not put a ſtrange Officer upon the Grantor. * And if the Grantee for Life of ſuch an Office be attainted of Felony or Treaſon, and afterwards has a Charter of Pardon, he ſhall be an Officer as he was before, if ſo be that in the mean time he has not by his Abſence or Default of Attendance prejudiced the Grantor, nor thereby forfeited the Office to the Grantor.

[a] Ley 76.

[b] H. 21. Ed. 4. 20. pl. 28. Fitz. Grant 28. Bro. 108. Deputy 15. Perk § 99. Hardr. 352. 1 Finch 13. 2 Finch 17. Crompt J. C. 161. a. b.

[c] 1 Finch 13. 2 Finch 17.

[d] Davis 35. b. 9 Co. 48. b. Dy. 1. b. in Marg. 2 Finch 73. Crompt J. C. 161. a. b.

[e] Vin. Abr. tit. Curteſy E. pl. 3.

[f] Co. Litt. 32. a. Hardr. 352. Kitch 321. 2 Bac. Abr. 124.

[g] 2 Hawk. P. C. 454. § 27.

[h] T. 1. H. 7. 28. b. Crompt J. C. 161. b.

[i] Davis 35. b. Crompt J. C. 161. b.

[k] S. P. 1 Finch 12. 2 Finch 14. See 2 Hawk P. C. 454. § 27, dubitatur.

[l] Crompt J. C. 161. b.

[m] S. P. 1 Finch 86 124. 2 Finch 106, 163. Litt. § 378. But ſee Co. Litt. 233. a. Poſt 380, that there muſt be ſome ſpecial Damage occaſioned by the Non-uſer. See Vin. Abr. tit. Officers O. per totum.

[n] Crompt J. C. 161. b.

* Godb. 418.

[b] Godb. 323. 2 Rol. R. 340.

And although the Law be otherwiſe in the King's Caſe, viz. [b] that where the King grants ſuch an Office to one for Life, and the Grantee is attainted of Felony or Treaſon, the Office ſhall be forfeited to the King for ever, ſo that if he afterwards obtains a Pardon he ſhall never have the Office again, yet this is not like to the principal Caſe here. For there the King's Park is diſcharged of the Officer, and if it was any other Officer, as a Steward of his Manor, or Conſtable of his Caſtle, there the Manor and the Caſtle are diſcharged of ſuch Office, and of all Authority of the Perſon attainted. So that the Matter there tends to the Exoneration and Diſcharge of the Office, and not to the Removal of the Office from one to another, as our Caſe is. And ſo there is no Tranſmutation of the Poſſeſſion of the Office, but an Exoneration of the Poſſeſſion of it; and the King ſhall not be deprived of the Choice of his Officer, for he may make a new one. And therefore whether it be forfeited by a Condition in Law for the Non-attendance when the Grantee was attainted, or whether it be forfeited by the Attainder, and not by a Condition in Law, it all tends to one End as to the King, for he may make a new Officer, and no Stranger ſhall come in without the King's Conſent. But in the principal Caſe, if both the Grantees had been attainted, there if the Office ſhould be forfeited to the King by Law, there would be a new Officer to the Archbiſhop without his Aſſent, who would be a Stranger to the Archbiſhop, and perhaps ignorant of the Art of managing the Beaſts, and not diligent, by which the Archbiſhop would be prejudiced; ſo that it is not like the King's Caſe.

But perhaps it may be objected, that if the Officer for Life ſhould forfeit to the King, and the King ſhould grant it over, the firſt Grantor would not receive any Prejudice from it, for if the Grantee of the King be miſconuſant of the Art of ordering the Beaſts, or does not give due Attendance, for ſuch Cauſes the firſt Grantor may enter, by Reaſon of a Condition in Law annexed to the Office, ſo that the Prejudice which may poſſibly come to the firſt Grantor in ſuch Caſe is no Obſtacle to the Forfeiture of the Office by Attainder; Sir, as to this it is to be obſerved that the Grantor ſhall not avoid the Officer by Reaſon of the Condition in Law, until he has firſt received [c] Prejudice by the Non-uſer, or Miſ-uſer, or other Default of the Officer, and the Law will not force [d] him firſt to ſuſtain a Prejudice, and then to avoid the Officer, for the Avoidance of the Officer is no Amends for the Offence done. But when the Party himſelf who has the Park appoints the Officer, and no other for him, it is preſumed that he will appoint ſuch a one as will not offend, for he puts Confidence in his Art and Induſtry. And ſo he is not as likely to have Prejudice in the one Caſe as in the other; and if he ſhould have Prejudice, there is greater Reaſon why he ſhould ſuſtain it when he himſelf has choſen ſuch an Officer, than that the Grantee ſhould have full Scope and Liberty given him by Law to make ſuch Forfeiture, by Reaſon whereof a Stranger may become Officer, and prejudice the Grantor. Wherefore that Objection has no Weight in it.

[c] Co. Litt. 233. a.

[d] See Hob. 12, Holder v. Taylor.

Then here if both the Grantees ſhould not forfeit the Office to the King if both of them had been attainted, much leſs ſhall Sir Edward Nevil, who is but one of the Grantees, forfeit it to the King by his Attainder, for before the Attainder both of them might occupy the Office, and each of them by himſelf, and when one of them was attainted, the other might occupy it in his Lifetime, as well as he might before his Attainder, for his Act ſhall not prejudice his Companion, inaſmuch as the Eſtate which they had was a freehold, and Sir Henry was an Officer to the Archbiſhop before the Attainder, and ſo he was after it, and when the Father was put to Death, Sir Henry remained an Officer always as he was before, and ſo the Archbiſhop is ſerved with his Officer.

[e] Crompt J. C. 161. b.

[e] And tho' the Law be ſo that after the Attainder of Sir Edward Nevil and during his Life the Office ſhould be forfeited, ſo that during that Time the King might make an Officer, yet when Sir Edward was dead, Sir Henry ſhall have the Office again. For it is to be conſidered that the Office is a Thing entire, ſo that one Moiety of it cannot be forfeited to the King, and the other Moiety continue in Sir Henry, as it may be of Land or ſuch like which may be ſevered, but the King ſhall have the whole for the Time or nothing at all. So that there ſhall not be any Tenancy in common made here, for the Office is but one Thing to be exerciſed by the Body of a Man. And therefore if the King ſhall have any Thing by the Attainder, it ſhall be the whole for the Time, but when the Perſon attainted dies, then Sir Henry has the ſole Intereſt in the whole as Survivor, inaſmuch as the Jointure was not nor could be ſevered by any Act in the Life of his Father. And then although in Things entire the King ſhall be preferred for the Time, yet when the Perſon attainted dies, his Eſtate is ended, and conſequently the Eſtate of the King alſo, and the entire Office ſhall be in Sir Henry as Survivor, and he may occupy it without any [f] Petition or other Suit to the King, becauſe the Eſtate which the King had is abſolutely ended, and the Thing does not continue in the King, for which Reaſon none ſhall be driven to make Petition to the King for a Thing which he has not, and which does not continue in him nor in any other by his Grant or Conveyance: Wherefore the Office being entire ſhall after the Death of Sir Edward be in Sir Henry. [g] But if the King grants any Office, whatſoever it be, which requires Confidence or Diligence, to two Men, and one of them is attainted, there perhaps the whole Office is forfeited to the King. For of an entire Thing the King ſhall have the whole or nothing, for he ſhall not make one to occupy in common with the other. And inaſmuch as it comes to the Point that in the Life of the Perſon attainted the whole or nothing ſhall be forfeited, the King perhaps ſhall be ſaid to have the whole rather than nothing, and if after the Attainder he ſhall have the whole during the Life of him that is attainted, nothing ſhall ſurvive to the other when the Perſon attainted is put to Death, for nothing ſhall accrue to the other as Survivor by the Death, where nothing remained in Jointure at the Time of the Death of the Perſon attainted, for the King was entitled to the whole in his Lifetime. And the Cauſe why the King ſhall have the whole there is, becauſe the Office is a Thing executory

[f] Crompt J. C. 161. b.

[g] 3 Bac. Abr. 743.

againſt

againſt the King, and there the King ſhall not have the Office, but it ſhall ceaſe; ſo that the Forfeiture tends to the Exoneration of the King. And if the Survivor ſhould have Remedy, he muſt have it there by Petition, inaſmuch as the Thing is not in eſſe, but is ceaſed, and none has it for the Time, and in order to revive it, Petition muſt be made, which perhaps will not lie inaſmuch as the thing is entire. But in the other Caſe the Office does not ceaſe, but is always in eſſe and executory againſt the Archbiſhop, and there never was any Determination, but rather a Removal of it, and foraſmuch as it is always in eſſe, the Survivor may occupy it without Petition to revive it. So that there is a great Diverſity between the two Caſes. And therefore if it ſhould be admitted (as it cannot well) that the King ſhall have the Office after the Attainder, and during the Life of the Perſon attainted, yet after his Death Sir Henry ſhall be Officer to the Archbiſhop. And when the Manor and the Park afterwards came to the Crown, he remained Officer as before, and is now Officer to the Queen, to whoſe Hands the Manor and Park are come.

And as to the other Reaſon, viz. that the Office ſhall not come to the King by the Attainder, becauſe it is an Office of Service, and the King cannot do Service to the Archbiſhop who is a Subject, he did not rely much upon it, for the firſt Reaſon made an End of the whole. And as to this, note well the ſaid Caſe in 1. H. 7. which is verbatim as follows, viz. " a man granted the " Office of Service and Foreſterſhip of ſuch a Place, with all the Lands belonging to it, to one in Tail, " the Remainder to the King in Fee: Brian, this Office cannot paſs to the King, for he cannot be an " Officer to any Man. Et tota Curia contra eum, [a] for although he cannot have the Office ſo as to ex- " erciſe it, yet he may have it ſo as to give it to another: And the Office may be forfeited." Theſe are the very Words of the Caſe. From whence it ſeems that the ſaid other Reaſon would not have been ſufficient. And note the Words that (the Office may be forfeited), whereby note that it was an Office of Inheritance. Nota bene by the Reporter.

[a] S. P. Co. Litt. 3. b. 8 Co. 55. b. 2 Bulſt. 4. 1 Show. 279. 1 Finch 124. 2 Finch 163.

And as to the other Point, he ſaid that although the Rent-charge is a Rent de novo commencing by Grant, yet it is ſo appropriated to the Office that it ſhall not be ſevered from it as long as the Office continues; ſo that if the Office ſhall not be forfeited, the Rent which is annexed to it ſhall not be forfeited. [b] For if one grants Eſtovers to another to be burnt in ſuch a Houſe, they are appurtenant to the Houſe. And ſo if Common is granted in ſuch a Place to one for his Cattle levant and couchant in his Farm of Dale, the Common is made appurtenant to it; ſo that he who afterwards has the Houſe, by whatever Title he comes to it, ſhall have the Eſtovers, and he who afterwards comes to the Farm ſhall have the Common. [c] And the Eſtovers cannot be ſevered from the Houſe, [d] nor the Common from the Farm, but by Extinguiſhment; for if he who has the Houſe will grant the Eſtovers to another, reſerving the Houſe to himſelf, or the Houſe to another, reſerving the Eſtovers to himſelf, the Eſtovers ſhall not be ſevered from the Houſe thereby, becauſe they ſhall be ſpent in the ſame Houſe. And ſo here the Fee is granted for the Exerciſe of the Office, and in Reſpect of the Fee the Office was received, ſo that the Fee and the Office are Concomitants, and the one purſues the other. [e] And, he ſaid, he had ſeen a Report that an Annuity was granted to one learned in the Law, pro conſilio ſuo impendendo, and the Grantee was attainted of Treaſon, and afterwards had his Pardon, and the Queſtion was, whether or no the King ſhould have the Annuity, and it was held clearly that the King ſhould not have it, becauſe it was granted pro conſilio impendendo by the Perſon of him that was attainted, and his Counſel was the Cauſe of the Grant, and therefore it was annexed to the Perſon who was to give the Counſel, and no other ſhould have it. [f] And upon this Point he cited the Caſe in 5 Ed. 4. fo. ult. where the Office of King of Heralds was granted to Garter, cum feodis et proficuis ab antiquo, &c. and alſo 10 l. was granted to him pro officio illo, &c. and there was a general Reſumption anno ſecundo, and a Proviſo for Annuities and Penſions; and there the Queſtion was, if this 10 l. be a Fee of the Office, or an Annuity, and Choke ſaid, " if the Office be gone, the Annuity is ex-" pired," quod fuit affirmatum per omnes Juſticiarios: Brian there ſaid, " that the Office was at " Will, and the Annuity for Term of Life:" And Danby ſaid, " that yet it is determinable by " the Determination of the Office." And touching this Caſe of Garter he alſo cited that which is in 7 Edw. 4. 22. [g] where it appears that the King had granted to Garter to be King of Heralds, with the Fees and Wages belonging thereto, &c. and further granted to him ex uberiore gratia ſua, 10 l. for Term of his Life ratione et cauſa officii, &c. And it was moved whether or no this ſhould be an Annuity, and the Juſtices held that it was in Nature of an Annuity determinable upon the Office, &c. And there Choke ſaid, that he was once of Counſel with one J. who had an Annuity granted to him by the King in theſe Words, to J. clerico coronæ ad terminum vitæ ſuæ, and afterwards he was diſcharged from the Office, &c. And the Opinion of the Juſtices then was, that the Annuity was determined, for it ſhall be intended that the Annuity was granted by Reaſon of the Office, viz. quamdiu fuerit clericus coronæ. From which Caſes it appears that although the Fee be newly granted, yet it is annexed to the Office, notwithſtanding he has one Eſtate in the Office, and another in the Annuity; and it is determinable with the Office, and by the ſame Reaſon it continues with the Office as an Incident inſeparable. And ſo in the principal Caſe this Rent-charge which was granted for the Exerciſe of the Office ſhall continue with the Office, if the Office is not forfeited. And therefore the Arrears ought to be paid to Sir Henry Nevil.

[b] F.N.B. 181. n. Co. Litt. 121. b. 5 Co. 17. b. 24 b. 1 Rol. Abr. 60. pl. 3. 1 Finch 12. 2 Finch 15.

[c] M. 5. H. 7. 7. pl. 15. Fitz. Grants 38. Bro. 130. Chimin 14. Common 28. Perk. § 104.

[d] T. 26. H. 8. 4. pl. 15. Bro. Common 1.

[e] S. P. Dy. 1. b. 2. a, Oliver v. Empſon. 2 Leon. 122. Hardr. 352. 2 Hawk. P. C. 454. Crompt J. C. 161. b. 1 Finch 12. 2 Finch 15. Vin. Abr. tit. Forfeiture M. pl. 10. Poſt 382.

[f] H. 5. Ed. 4. 8. b. Bro. Eſtates 44. et 64. Officer 50.

[g] M. 7. Ed. 4. 22. b. Fitz. Annuity 12. Bro. Eſtates 44, in fine. Dy. 259. pl. 18. Ante 161 (a).

And the Court was long in Doubt upon this Matter, for it hung by Continuances eight or nine Years. And Saunders Chief Baron conſulted ſeveral Times with the Judges and divers others upon the Point. And a Report was ſhewn to him, which he afterwards ſhewed to me in Writing, and which was reported by Audley Lord Chancellor, teſtifying that where the King had granted to William Brereton and to John his Brother for Term of their two Lives, and for the Life of the Survivor of them, the Sheriffwick of Cheſhire, and William was attainted of High-treaſon, it was the Opinion of all the Juſtices that the whole Office was forfeited, becauſe the Patent and the Office was entire and could not be ſevered: And when William was attainted of Treaſon, the King was entitled to the whole preſently, and notwithſtanding he was afterwards executed, yet the Intereſt of the other was not revived, for it was a Forfeiture before; and yet the King cannot be an Officer, but he ſhall have it as he may, viz. to extinguiſh the Patent, and to make a new Officer. And all this was written in the Report which he ſhewed to me. And he alſo ſhewed to me in Writing another Caſe reported, viz. * that a Fee pro conſilio impenſo et impoſterum impendendo was granted to Empſon, who was one of the Counſellors of Henry 7. and to his Son, both of whom were Counſellors, for their Lives, and afterwards the Father was attainted and put to Death, and the Son brought a Writ of Annuity for the Annuity and the Arrears, and had Judgment to recover, becauſe this Annuity could not be forfeited.

* This ſeems to be the Caſe of Oliver v. Empſon Dy. 1. b, 2. a. Vin. Abr. tit. Condition B. b. fo. 186. Ante 381 (c).

Eaſter Term 12 Eliz.

And after theſe Things had been conſidered, and the Opinion of the Juſtices of the Common-Bench had been firſt had, as the Record teſtifies, the Barons in the Quinzime of this preſent Eaſter Term in the 12th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth gave Judgment that the ſaid Deed in Form aforeſaid made, recited, and inrolled, ſhould be allowed, and that the ſaid Arrears ſhould be paid to the ſaid Sir Henry at the Receipt of the Exchequer by the Hands of the Treaſurer and Chamberlains, out of the Treaſury of the ſaid Queen being in their Hands. Which Judgment was as follows.

The reſt of the Record, as to the Judgment.

At which Day Henry Nevil came here in his own proper Perſon, &c. And prays his Judgment as before. And the Premiſſes being ſeen by the Barons, and mature Deliberation being thereupon had amongſt them, and as well the Serjeants of the ſaid Lady the Queen now at Law as the Attorney and Sollicitor General of the ſame Lady the Queen being called hereupon, and the Opinions of the Juſtices of the ſaid Lady the Queen of the Common Bench being had in the Premiſſes, it is conſidered by the aforeſaid Barons that the aforeſaid Writing in Form aforeſaid made and above recited and inrolled be allowed. And that the aforeſaid 9 l. 2 s. 6 d. of the aforeſaid Arrears of the aforeſaid annual Rent of 3 l. 10 d. yearly for the aforeſaid three Years ending at the aforeſaid Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the aforeſaid 3d Year of the ſaid Lady the Queen now be paid to the aforeſaid Henry Nevil Knight at the Receipt of this Exchequer by the Hands of the Treaſurer and Chamberlains of the ſame Receipt, out of the Treaſury of the aforeſaid Lady the Queen in the Hands of the ſame Treaſurer and Chamberlains being. And alſo that the aforeſaid annual Rent of 3 l. 10 d. yearly from the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the aforeſaid 3d Year of the ſaid Lady the Queen now be annually paid to the aforeſaid Henry Nevil Knight during the Life of the ſaid Henry Nevil Knight at the aforeſaid Receipt of this Exchequer by the Hands of the Treaſurer and Chamberlains of the ſame Receipt for the Time being, out of the Treaſury of the Queen in the Hands of the ſame Treaſurer and Chamberlains from Time to Time being, at the aforeſaid Feaſts of Eaſter and of St. Michael the Archangel by equal Portions, during the Life of the ſame Henry Nevil Knight. Saving always the Right of the Queen if, &c.

Judgment.

And hereupon the ſaid Sir Henry Nevil prayed a Writ to the Treaſurer and Chamberlains of the Exchequer to execute the Judgment, which was granted, as appears by the reſt of the Record following containing the Prayer and the awarding of the Writ.

The reſt of the Record, containing the Prayer and awarding of the Writ to the Treaſurer and Chamberlains of the Exchequer to execute the Judgment.

And hereupon the aforeſaid Henry Nevil Knight prays a Writ of the ſaid Lady the Queen to the Treaſurer and Chamberlains of the Receipt aforeſaid who now are and for the Time ſhall be in the Premiſſes to be directed: Which is granted to him. And the Tenor of the ſame Writ follows in theſe Words. Elizabeth by the Grace of God of England, France, and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith; &c. To the Treaſurer and Chamberlains of the Receipt of our Exchequer at Weſtminſter who now are and for the Time ſhall be, Greeting. Whereas in the Remembrances of our Exchequer aforeſaid of the 3d Year of our Reign, viz. amongſt the Records of the Term of St. Michael Roll on the Side of the Remembrancer of our Treaſurer there it appears, That one William late Archbiſhop of Canterbury, by his certain Writing bearing Date the 15th Day of November in the 22d Year of the Reign of the late King Henry the Eighth our late dearly beloved Father, gave and granted to our beloved Servant Henry Nevil Knight, and to one Edward Nevil Knight afterwards of High-treaſon attainted now deceaſed, by the Names of Edward Nevil Knight and Henry Nevil Eſquire one of the Sons of the ſaid Edward Nevil Knight, and to the longer Liver of them, the Office of Keeper and Guardian of the Park of Aldington otherwiſe Alington and of the Deer there in our County of Kent: To have, hold, and exerciſe the Office aforeſaid by themſelves or by their ſufficient Deputy or Deputies for Term of Life of the ſame Edward and Henry and of the longer Liver of them. And that the ſaid late Archbiſhop by his Writing aforeſaid further granted to the aforeſaid Edward and Henry for the Exerciſe of the Office aforeſaid an annual Rent of 3 l. 10 d. yearly. To have, levy, and perceive the ſame annual Rent of 3 l. 10 d. every Year during the whole Lives of the ſaid Edward and Henry and of the longer Liver of them, of the Manor of Aldington otherwiſe Alington in our County aforeſaid, at the Feaſts of Eaſter and St. Michael the Archangel by equal Portions to the ſame Edward and Henry and to the longer Liver of them yearly to be paid, with Clauſe of Diſtreſs for Non-payment of the ſame annual Rent at the Terms aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Writing contained. And that the aforeſaid Writing in Form aforeſaid made, and every Thing in the ſame Writing contained afterwards, and before the Attainder of the ſaid Edward Nevil Knight, viz. the 1ſt Day of December in the aforeſaid 22d Year of the Reign of our ſaid late Father, the aforeſaid William late Archbiſhop then ſurviving and being in full Life and Archbiſhop of Canterbury, was ratified, approved, and confirmed by Thomas then Prior of Chriſt's Church in Canterbury, and by the Chapter of the ſame Place, by their Writing ſealed under their common Seal dated at the City of Canterbury in their Chapter-houſe there the aforeſaid 1ſt Day of December in the ſaid 22d Year of the Reign of our ſaid late Father. And that the aforeſaid Henry Nevil Knight in the aforeſaid Term of St. Michael in the aforeſaid 3d Year of our Reign exhibited the aforeſaid Writing to our Barons of our Exchequer aforeſaid, and by his Petition then exhibited before our ſame Barons for the Allowance of the ſame Writing, and for the Payment of the annual Rent aforeſaid, amongſt other Things alledged that the Manor aforeſaid is in our Hands and Poſſeſſion, and prayed that 9 l. 2 s. 6 d. of the Arrears of the ſaid annual Rent for three Years ending at the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the aforeſaid 3d Year might be paid to him the ſame Henry: And that the ſaid annual Rent of 3 l. 10 d. yearly from the ſame Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the aforeſaid 3d Year might be yearly paid to him the ſame Henry Nevil Knight during his Life. And that mature Deliberation being had amongſt our Barons of our Exchequer aforeſaid upon the Petition aforeſaid for the Allowance and Payment aforeſaid to the aforeſaid Henry Nevil in Form aforeſaid to be made, it was conſidered by the ſame Barons that the aforeſaid Writing ſhould be allowed, and that the aforeſaid 9 l. 2 s. 6 d. of the aforeſaid Arrears of the ſaid annual Rent due at the ſaid Feaſt of St. Michael in the aforeſaid 3d Year of our Reign, ſhould be paid to the aforeſaid Henry Nevil at our Receipt of our Exchequer aforeſaid by the Hands of the Treaſurer and Chamberlains of the ſame Receipt, out of our Treaſury in the Hands of the ſame Treaſurer and Chamberlains being: And alſo that the aforeſaid annual Rent of 3 l. 10 d. yearly from the aforeſaid Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the aforeſaid 3d Year of our Reign ſhould be yearly paid to the ſame Henry Nevil Knight at the Receipt aforeſaid by the Hands of the Treaſurer and Chamberlains there for the Time being, out of our Treaſury in the Hands of the ſame Treaſurer and Chamberlains from Time to Time being, at the Feaſts aforeſaid by equal Portions, during the Life of the aforeſaid Henry Nevil Knight; as in the Remembrances aforeſaid of the Term and Year aforeſaid amongſt other Things more fully is contained. We command you that you pay to the aforeſaid Henry Nevil or to his Aſſigns the aforeſaid 9 l. 2 s. 6 d. for the aforeſaid Arrears for the aforeſaid three Years ending at the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the aforeſaid 3d Year of our Reign in Form aforeſaid, and alſo all that which is in Arrear to him of the aforeſaid annual Rent of 3 l. 10 d. yearly from the aforeſaid Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the aforeſaid 3d Year: And that further you yearly pay the aforeſaid annual Rent of 3 l. 10 d. by the Year to the ſame Henry Nevil during his Life at the Feaſts aforeſaid by equal Portions, taking from the ſame Henry Letters of Acquittance or other Diſcharge which ſhall be ſufficient for us in this Behalf. Witneſs Edward Saunders Knight at Weſtminſter the 6th Day of May in the 12th Year of our Reign. By the Memorandum Roll of the Term and Year aforeſaid, and by the Barons.

From this Record may be ſeen the Order and Form how one who has a Rent out of Land in the King's Hand ſhall make his Petition to the Court of Exchequer to come at it, without making Petition to the King's Perſon; and alſo how he ſhall have the Judgment executed, for it is not the Courſe to command by Parol that Payment be made, but a Writ in the Form aforeſaid ſhall be awarded by the Barons. And it is a Writ judicial ſealed with the Seal of the Exchequer, which is a ſufficient Warrant to the Treaſurer and Chamberlains of the Receipt to pay the Arrears due, and which ſhall be due afterwards. And note (Reader) that in this Caſe no Queſtion was made with Regard to there being no Office or Inquiſition found to intitle the King after the Attainder of the ſaid Sir Edward, who was attainted and died before the Act of 33. H. 8. cap. 20. which gives the Things of Perſons attainted to the King without Office, for inaſmuch as Sir Henry ſhewed the Attainder of his Father in his Petition, the King ſhall take Advantage thereof by Way of Bar, and ſhall rebut him of the Things which ſuch Attainder takes from the Plaintiff without having an Inquiſition.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

A Re-

A Report of Part of the Arguments made, and of the Judgment given, in the King's-Bench in Trinity Term in the thirteenth Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth upon a Demurrer to a Plea in Bar pleaded to a Bill of Treſpaſs there exhibited by Robert Earl of Leiceſter Plaintiff againſt Sir Chriſtopher Heydon Knight Defendant. And the Record was as follows.

Eaſter Term 13 Eliz. Rot. 179.

Declaration.

Same Precedent Raſt. Entr. 643. a.

BE it remembered, that otherwiſe, viz. in the Term of St. Hillary laſt paſt before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came Robert Earl of Leiceſter by John Fue his Attorney, and brought here into the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen then there his certain Bill againſt Chriſtopher Heydon Knight in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal, &c. of a Plea of Treſpaſs. And there are Pledges of proſecuting, viz. John Doe and Richard Roe, which ſaid Bill follows in theſe Words, ſs. Norf. ſs. Robert Earl of Leiceſter complains of Chriſtopher Heydon Knight in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal of the Marſhalſea of the Lady the Queen before the Queen herſelf, for this that he the 20th Day of January in the 1ſt and 2d Years of the Reign of Lord Philip and Lady Mary late King and Queen of England, with Force and Arms, &c. the Cloſe of him the ſaid Earl at Sidiſterne in the County aforeſaid broke and entered, and the Graſs of him the ſaid Earl then and there growing to the Value of 40 l. with certain cattle, viz. Horſes, Oxen, Cows, Hogs, and Sheep eat up, trod down, and conſumed; the Treſpaſs aforeſaid, as to the eating up, treading down, and conſuming the Graſs aforeſaid, from the aforeſaid 20th Day of January in the aboveſaid 1ſt and 2d Years of the Reign of the ſaid late King and Queen Philip and Mary, until the Day of obtaining this Bill, viz. the 24th Day of January in the 13th Year of the Reign of the Lady Elizabeth now Queen of England, at divers Days and Times continuing: And other Wrongs to him did, againſt the Peace as well of the ſaid Lord Philip and Lady Mary late King and Queen of England as of the ſaid Lady the Queen now: And to the Damage of him the ſaid Earl 200 l. And therefore he produces the Suit, &c.

Bar by Feoffment upon Attainder.

And now at this Day, viz. Wedneſday next after eighteen Days of Eaſter in this ſame Term, until which Day the aforeſaid Chriſtopher had Leave to imparl to the Bill aforeſaid, and then to anſwer, before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter comes as well the aforeſaid Robert Earl of Leiceſter by his Attorney aforeſaid as the aforeſaid Chriſtopher by Richard Beſt his Attorney. And the ſame Chriſtopher defends the Force and Injury when, &c. And as to the coming with Force and Arms, or whatever is againſt the Peace of the ſaid late King and Queen Philip and Mary, and againſt the Peace of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, he ſays that he is not guilty thereof. And of this he puts himſelf upon the Country, and the aforeſaid Robert Earl of Leiceſter likewiſe, &c. And as to the Reſidue of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid above ſuppoſed to be done, the ſame Chriſtopher ſays that the aforeſaid Earl his Action aforeſaid thereof againſt him ought not to have or maintain, becauſe he ſays that the Cloſe aforeſaid, and alſo the Place in which the Treſpaſs aforeſaid is above ſuppoſed to be done, contains, and at the aforeſaid Time when, &c. contained in itſelf 40 Acres of Land, 30 Acres of Meadow, and 60 Acres of Paſture with the Appurtenances in Sidiſterne aforeſaid, of which ſaid 40 Acres of Land, 30 Acres of Meadow, and 60 Acres of Paſture with the Appurtenances the aforeſaid Earl, before the aforeſaid Time of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid above ſuppoſed to be done, was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſaid Earl being ſo thereof ſeized, long before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 19th Day of January in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of Lady Mary late Queen of England, at Norwich in the Shire-houſe there in the County of Norfolk, by a certain Inquiſition taken the ſame Day and Year before Richard Southwel Knight, the aforeſaid Chriſtopher Heydon Knight, Edmund Wyndham Knight, Thomas Gawdy Serjeant at Law, Robert Holdich, Henry Hobart, Oſbert Moundford, and Nicholas Rokewood Eſquires then Juſtices of the ſaid late Queen Mary to enquire * by the Oath of good and lawful Men of the aforeſaid County of Norfolk, and by other Ways, Methods, and Means by which it might be better known, of whatſoever Treaſons, Miſpriſions of Treaſons, Inſurrections, Rebellions, unlawful Aſſemblies, and unlawful Conventicles, ſpeaking of Words, Confederacies, falſe Allegiances, Contempts, Falſities, Negligences, Concealments, Oppreſſions, Riots, Routs, Murders, Felonies, and other Treſpaſſes and Offences whatſoever, and alſo the Acceſſaries of the ſame, within the aforeſaid County of Norfolk, by whomſoever and howſoever had, done, perpetrated or committed, and by whom, or to whom, when, how, and in what Manner, and of other Articles and Circumſtances the Premiſſes and every of them, or any of them in any wiſe concerning, more fully the Truth, and the ſame Treaſons and other the Premiſſes to hear and determine according to the Law and Cuſtom of the Realm of the ſaid late Queen Mary, by Virtue of a Commiſſion of the ſame late Queen Mary to the ſame Richard Southwel, Chriſtopher Heydon, Edmund Wyndham, Thomas Gawdy, Robert Holdich, Henry Hobart, Oſbert Moundford, and Nicholas Rokewood, and to Thomas Duke of Norfolk, Henry Earl of Suſſex, Henry Bedingfield Knight, John Shelton Knight, William Paſton Knight, William Woodhouſe Knight, and John Corbet, fourteen, thirteen, twelve, eleven, ten, nine, eight, ſeven, ſix, five, and four of them, (of whom the ſame late Queen then willed that there ſhould be ſome two of them the aforeſaid Richard Southwel, Henry Bedingfield, Thomas Gawdy, Robert Holdich, John Corbet and Oſbert Moundford,) to them thereof directed, the Preſences of the aforeſaid Duke, Earl, Henry Bedingfield, John Shelton, William Paſton, William Woodhouſe, and John Corbet being then not expected, the aforeſaid Robert Earl of Leiceſter, by the Name of Robert Dudley late of London Knight, Son of John late Duke of Northum-

If not guilty Plea of deft. Sir Christ. Heydon as to the force.

Special plea as to residue.

The plt's Lord of Leicester seized in fee of the Lands in which no trespass is supposed by the declarat. to have been committed.

So seized the 19. Jan. 1. that was indicted at

* See 2 Hawk. P. C. 20. § 22.

Norwich before for treason before 8 persons justices of the Queen to inquire by oath of lawful men of Norfolk of the treasons &c. under a commission of the Queen to them 4 7. viz. 14, 13, 12, 11, 10, 9, 7, 6, 5, & 4 of them.

Quorum.

Northumberland late of London, by the Verdict of 12 free and lawful Men of the ſaid County of Norfolk was indicted, for this, that whereas the aforeſaid John Duke of Northumberland late of London, together with William Marquis of Northampton, John Earl of Warwick, John Gate Knight, and Thomas Palmer Knight, and other falſe Traitors and Rebels againſt the moſt illuſtrious Princeſs the ſaid Mary Queen of England, not having God before their Eyes, but ſeduced by the Inſtigation of the Devil, and not regarding their due Allegiances, contriving the ſaid Lady Queen Mary of her regal State, Title, Government, and Power of this her Realm of England to depoſe and deprive, and alſo the ſaid Queen Mary to kill and wholly to deſtroy, with Force and Arms, viz. with Swords, Spears, Lances, Bows and Arrows, Coats of Mail, Shields, Iron-Helmets, and Fire-Arms, commonly called Canons, Demy-Canons, Culverines and Demy-Culverines, and alſo with armed Horſes, and other Arms offenſive and defenſive, the 16th and 17th Days of July in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady Mary by the Grace of God of England, France, and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith, and in Earth Supreme Head of the Church of England and Ireland, at the Town of Cambridge in the County of Cambridge unlawfully, falſly, and traiterouſly, with a great Number of Rebels and Enemies of the ſaid Lady the Queen, to the Number of 3000 Perſons, aſſembled and gathered themſelves together, and then and there in plain and open Field, with Force and Arms aforeſaid, falſly and traiterouſly in a warlike Manner put themſelves in Battle-Array, and a cruel War againſt the ſaid Lady Queen Mary then and there, with Standards erect and diſplayed, falſly and traiterouſly prepared and ordained, and ſo a moſt fierce War againſt the ſame Lady Queen Mary in her Realm of England then and there falſly and traiterouſly made, publiſhed, and levied, againſt their due Allegiances; the aforeſaid Robert Dudley late of London Knight, Son of the aforeſaid Duke of Northumberland, as a falſe Traitor and Rebel againſt the ſaid Lady Queen Mary his Sovereign, his due Allegiance not regarding, but contriving the Deprivation and Deſtruction of the ſaid Lady Queen Mary, the 18th Day of July in the 1ſt Year aboveſaid, with Force and Arms with a great Multitude of People, the Town of the ſaid Lady the Queen of King's-Lynn in the County of Norfolk entered, and the Poſſeſſion thereof againſt the ſaid Lady the Queen, and contrary to her Will, took, poſſeſſed, and in a warlike Manner kept, and one Jane Dudley Wife of Guilford Dudley Eſquire Brother of the aforeſaid Robert Dudley, the aforeſaid 18th Day of July in the 1ſt Year aboveſaid, falſly and traiterouſly Queen of this Realm of England, at King's-Lynn aforeſaid within written, to be publiſhed and proclaimed made, and George Rively then being Mayor of the ſame Town of Lynn, and other Subjects of the ſaid Lady the Queen, to the Number of 300 Perſons at leaſt then inhabiting and dwelling within the ſame Town of Lynn, their cordial Love and due Allegiance from the ſaid Queen to withdraw and quit, and with the aforeſaid Duke of Northumberland and the other Traitors aforeſaid a moſt cruel War againſt the ſaid Lady their Sovereign to continue, levy, and prepare, the ſame Robert Dudley the ſaid 18th Day of July in the 1ſt Year aboveſaid at King's-Lynn aforeſaid falſly and traiterouſly laboured, went about, abetted, and compaſſed, to the final Deſtruction of the ſaid Queen, againſt their due * Allegiances, and and alſo againſt her Crown and Dignity, and againſt the Form of the Statute in ſuch Caſe made and provided. † And afterwards, viz. the 19th Day of January in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady Mary late Queen of England, the ſame Lady Mary by her Letters-patent bearing Date at Weſtminſter the ſame Day and Year, commanded her beloved and faithful Thomas White Knight then Mayor of her City of London, and her moſt dear Couſin and Counſellor Edward then Earl of Derby, and her moſt dear Couſin and Counſellor Edward then Earl of Devon, and her moſt dear Couſin and Counſellor Henry then Earl of Suſſex, and alſo her beloved and faithful Counſellors Robert Rocheſter Knight, Comptroller of her Houſhold, Edward Haſtings Knight, Richard Morgan Knight her Chief Juſtice of the Bench, Edward Walgrave Knight, and her beloved and faithful David Brook Knight Chief Baron of her Exchequer, Humphry Brown Knight, Roger Cholmley Knight, Edward North Knight, Thomas Pope Knight, and Robert Brook Eſquire Recorder of the ſaid City of London, reciting by the ſame, that whereas the aforeſaid Robert Dudley late of London Knight, before Thomas Duke of Norfolk Earl Marſhal of England, Henry Earl of Suſſex, Richard Southwel Knight, Henry Bedingfield Knight, John Shelton Knight, William Paſton Knight, Chriſtopher Heydon Knight, Edmund Wyndham Knight, William Woodhouſe Knight, Thomas Gawdy Serjeant at Law, Robert Holdich, Henry Hobart, Oſbert Moundford, John Corbet, and Nicholas Rokewood Eſquires, her Juſtices lately aſſigned in the County of Norfolk amongſt other Things of all Treaſons whatſoever, Miſpriſions of Treaſons, Inſurrections, Rebellions, unlawful Aſſemblies, and unlawful Conventicles, ſpeaking of Words, Confederacies, falſe Allegiances, Contempts, Falſities, Negligences, Concealments, Oppreſſions, Riots, Routs, Murders, Felonies, and other Treſpaſſes and Offences whatſoever, and alſo the Acceſſaries of the ſame, within the aforeſaid County of Norfolk, by whomſoever and howſoever had, done, perpetrated, or committed, and by whom, or to whom, how and in what Manner, and of other Articles and Circumſtances the Premiſſes and every of them, or any of them, in any wiſe concerning, more fully the Truth, of divers High Treaſons by him committed and perpetrated then ſtood indicted, the ſame Lady the Queen, conſidering that Juſtice is an excellent Virtue and moſt pleaſing, was deſirous to exerciſe it before all Things, and therefore being very confident of their Fidelity, Induſtry and Circumſpection, ſhe appointed them, thirteen, twelve, eleven, ten, nine, eight, ſeven, ſix, five, and See 7 Co. 10. b. Calvin's Caſe Salk. 631.

† Note here a ſpecial Commiſſion iſſued to determine in foreign County an Indictment taken before Juſtices of Oyer and Terminer for an Offence committed in proper County. See 2 H. H. P. C. 21, 22, 27. 2 Hawk. P. C. 19 21. 3 Inſt. 27. 4 Inſt. 73.

Note that in this recital of this 2. commiſſion the Name of Duke & Earle of Leiceſter is ſtated to have ſtood indicted ſeverally before all of the 15 Commiſſioners in the firſt commiſſion; & that the authority in this 2. commiſſion is to try the ſaid indictment that is, the recital in the indictment whereas the indictment ſtated in the firſt pleaded commiſſion is one taken only before 10 of the 15 commiſſioners.

Quorum.

and four of them, (of whom ſhe willed that there ſhould be ſome two of them the aforeſaid Mayor, Richard Morgan, David Brook, Humphry Brown, Roger Cholmley, and Robert Brook,) for that Cauſe and Cauſes her Juſtices, giving and granting to them thirteen, twelve, eleven, ten, nine, eight, ſeven, ſix, five, or four of them (of whom ſhe willed that there ſhould be ſome two of them the aforeſaid Mayor, Richard Morgan, David Brook, Humphry Brown, Roger Cholmley, and Robert Brook) by the Tenor of the Premiſſes, full and ſufficient Authority and ſpecial Command the Indictment aforeſaid concerning the ſame Robert Dudley, with all Things touching it, from the aforeſaid Juſtices of the ſaid Lady Queen Mary before whom it was taken, and in whoſe Cuſtody it then remained, to receive, and the ſame to inſpect, and at certain Days which they ſhould appoint for that Purpoſe to meet at the Guildhall of the City of London aforeſaid, and the ſaid Robert Dudley before them to call, and him thereupon to hear and examine, and to compel him to anſwer, and at a due End to try, determine, and adjudge: And alſo ſo many and ſuch good and lawful Men of the County of Norfolk, by whom the Truth of the Matter in that Behalf might be the better known, at the Days and Place aforeſaid for the Cauſe and Cauſes aforeſaid before them to compel to appear, and the Truth thereof being found, to give Judgment thereon by them in that Behalf according to the Laws, Statutes, Cuſtoms, and Ordinances of her Realm of England, and againſt the aforeſaid Robert Dudley to proceed, give Sentence, and adjudge, and Execution thereof to command to be done, and all and ſingular other Things which in that Behalf ſhould appertain and be requiſite to do, exerciſe, and execute. And therefore the ſame Lady Queen Mary commanded them that they ſhould diligently attend about the Premiſſes, and them ſhould do and execute in Form aforeſaid. Alſo ſhe gave to all and ſingular her Officers, Miniſters, and Lieges, by the Tenor of the Premiſſes, firmly in Command that they ſhould be attendant, adviſing, aſſiſting, obedient, and aiding to them in the Execution of the Premiſſes in all Things as became them. Alſo ſhe commanded her ſame Juſtices, that the Indictment aforeſaid with all Things touching it for the Cauſe or Cauſes aforeſaid to them or ſome of them they ſhould deliver. Alſo the ſame Queen commanded the Conſtable of the Tower of London and his Lieutenant or Deputy there, that at certain Days and Places which they, thirteen, twelve, eleven, ten, nine, eight, ſeven, ſix, five, or four of them (of whom ſhe willed that there ſhould be ſome two of them the aforeſaid Mayor, Richard Morgan, David Brook, Humphry Brown, Roger Cholmley, and Robert Brook) ſhould make known to them, they ſhould cauſe the aforeſaid Robert Dudley to come before them, thirteen, twelve, eleven, ten, nine, eight, ſeven, ſix, five, or four of them, (of whom ſhe willed that there ſhould be ſome two of them the aforeſaid Mayor, Richard Morgan, David Brook, Humphry Brown, Roger Cholmley, and Robert Brook). Alſo the ſame Queen Mary commanded her Sheriff of the County of Norfolk aforeſaid, that at certain Days and Places which they, thirteen, twelve, eleven, ten, nine, eight, ſeven, ſix, five, or four of them (of whom ſhe willed that there ſhould be ſome two of them the aforeſaid Mayor, Richard Morgan, David Brook, Humphry Brown, Roger Cholmley, and Robert Brook) ſhould make known to him, he ſhould cauſe to come before them, thirteen, twelve, eleven, ten, nine, eight, ſeven, ſix, five, or four of them (of whom ſhe willed that there ſhould be ſome two of them the aforeſaid Mayor, Richard Morgan, David Brook, Humphry Brown, Roger Cholmley, and Robert Brook) ſo many and ſuch good and lawful Men of his Bailiwick, as well within Liberties as without, by whom the Truth of the Matter in the Premiſſes might be better known and enquired. And moreover the ſame Lady Mary late Queen of England, the ſaid 19th Day of January in the aboveſaid 1ſt Year of her Reign, by her certain Writ cloſe, the Teſte whereof was at Weſtminſter the ſame Day and Year, commanded her moſt dear Couſin and Counſellor Thomas then Duke of Norfolk Earl Marſhal of England, and her moſt dear Couſin and Counſellor Henry then Earl of Suſſex, and her beloved and faithful Counſellors Richard Southwel Knight, Henry Bedingfield Knight, John Shelton Knight, and alſo her beloved and faithful Chriſtopher Heydon Knight now Defendant, Edmund Wyndham Knight, William Paſton Knight, William Woodhouſe Knight, and her beloved Thomas Gawdy Serjeant at Law, Robert Holdich, Henry Hobart, Oſbert Moundford, John Corbet, and Nicholas Rokewood Eſquires, and every of them, then her Juſtices lately aſſigned of all Treaſons whatſoever, Miſpriſions of Treaſons, Inſurrections, Rebellions, unlawful Aſſemblies, and unlawful Conventicles, ſpeaking of Words, Confederacies, falſe Allegiances, Contempts, Falſities, Negligences, Concealments, Oppreſſions, Riots, Routs, Murders, Felonies, and other Treſpaſſes and Offences whatſoever, and the Acceſſaries of the ſame, in the County of Norfolk, by whomſoever and howſoever had, done, committed, and perpetrated, that all and every Indictments, Records, and Proceſſes of whatſoever Treaſons, Miſpriſions of Treaſons, or other the Premiſſes aforeſaid, whereof the aforeſaid Robert Dudley late of London Knight (by whatſoever Name he ſhould be reputed) was indicted before them in the ſaid County of Norfolk, as it is ſaid, to her beloved and faithful Thomas White Knight Mayor of her City of London, and to her moſt dear Couſin and Counſellor Edward Earl of Derby, and to her moſt dear Couſin Edward Earl of Devon, and to others her Juſtices aſſigned to hear and determine at the Guildhall of her City of London aforeſaid divers Treaſons and other the Premiſſes aforeſaid touching or concerning the aforeſaid Robert Dudley, they ſhould deliver without Delay, together with the Writ aforeſaid, that they and their Companions aforeſaid having inſpected the Indictment, Records, and Proceſſes aforeſaid might further cauſe to be done therein as of Right, and according to the Law and Cuſtom of her

Realm of England ſhould be done. And moreover the ſame Lady Queen Mary afterwards, viz. the ſame Day and Year, commanded her very beloved and faithful Counſellor John Gage Knight of the moſt noble Order of the Garter, her Lord Chamberlain, and her Conſtable of her Tower of London, or his Lieutenant or Deputy there, that he ſhould cauſe to come ſafely and ſecurely Robert Dudley late of London Knight indicted of High Treaſon by him done and perpetrated, and being in his Cuſtody, before her beloved and faithful Thomas White Knight Mayor of her City of London aforeſaid, and her moſt dear Couſin and Counſellor Edward Earl of Derby, and her moſt dear Couſin Edward Earl of Devon, and others her Juſtices aſſigned to hear and determine, at certain Days and Places which her ſame Juſtices ſhould make known to him, to anſwer upon the Premiſſes. By Virtue of which ſaid Letters-patent of Lady Mary aforeſaid to the aforeſaid Thomas White Mayor of the City of London and his Companions the Juſtices aforeſaid directed, the ſame Juſtices, viz. the 20th Day of January in the 1ſt Year aboveſaid, commanded the aforeſaid Richard Southwel Knight and his Companions the Juſtices aforeſaid in the ſaid County of Norfolk, that they or one of them ſhould ſend before the aforeſaid Thomas White Mayor of the City of London and his Companions the Juſtices aforeſaid, under the Seals of them the ſaid Richard Southwel Knight and his Companions, or of one of them, at the Guildhall of the City of London, viz. the 22d Day of January then next following, all and ſingular Indictments, Records, and Proceſſes of High Treaſons before them lately taken, whereof the aforeſaid Robert Dudley then ſtood indicted, with all Things touching them, as fully and entirely as they were taken before them and then remained in their Hands, by whatſoever Name the aforeſaid Robert was called in the ſame, that they might cauſe further to be done therein what of Right and according to the Law and Cuſtom of her Realm of England they ſhould ſee meet to be done. And alſo the aforeſaid Thomas White Mayor of the City of London and his Companions the Juſtices aforeſaid, the Day and Year aboveſaid, commanded the Conſtable of the Tower of London, or his Lieutenant or Deputy there, that he ſhould have the Body of the aforeſaid Robert Dudley, being detained in the Priſon of the Lady the Queen under his Cuſtody, together with the Cauſe of his Detainment, by whatſoever Name the aforeſaid Robert ſhould be called in the ſame, before the aforeſaid Juſtices at the Guildhall of the City of London, viz. the 22d Day of January at eight of the Clock in the Forenoon of the ſame Day, to ſubmit and receive ſuch Things as the Court of the Lady the Queen then and there ſhould happen to ordain. At which Day and Place before the aforeſaid Thomas White Mayor of the City of London, and his Companions the Juſtices aforeſaid, at their Seſſions held at the Guildhall of the City of London aforeſaid, the aforeſaid 22d Day of January in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady Queen Mary, Richard Southwel Knight and Chriſtopher Heydon Knight, two of the Juſtices aforeſaid in the ſaid County of Norfolk, by virtue of the Writ of the ſaid Lady the Queen, and of the Precept aforeſaid, to them and others directed, the Inquiſition above ſpecified touching the aforeſaid Robert Dudley Knight, as fully and entirely as it was taken before them and their Companions the Juſtices aforeſaid, before the aforeſaid Thomas White Mayor of the City of London and others his Companions the Juſtices aforeſaid, with their own proper Hands delivered, to be determined as the Writ and Precept aforeſaid therein demanded and required. And afterwards, viz. the ſaid 22d Day of January in the 1ſt Year aboveſaid, before the aforeſaid Juſtices at the Guildhall of the City of London aforeſaid came the aforeſaid Robert Dudley under the Cuſtody of the aforeſaid John Gage Knight then Conſtable of the Tower of London, into whoſe Cuſtody for the Cauſes aforeſaid and for other certain Cauſes by the Command of the ſaid Lady the Queen he was committed, and by the aforeſaid Conſtable by virtue of the Writ of the ſaid late Queen to him thereupon directed, and of the Precept aforeſaid, to the Bar there brought in his proper Perſon, * and immediately of the Treaſons aforeſaid in the Inquiſition aforeſaid ſpecified on him above charged being aſked how he would thereof acquit himſelf, he ſaid that he could not deny but that he of the Treaſons aforeſaid was guilty, and the ſaid Treaſons expreſly confeſſed, and put himſelf upon the Mercy of the ſaid late Queen. Whereupon inſtantly the Serjeants of the ſame late Queen at Law, and the Attorney of the ſame Queen, for that the aforeſaid Robert Dudley expreſly confeſſed the Treaſons aforeſaid on him above charged, according to the due Form of Law prayed againſt the ſame Robert Dudley Judgment and Execution thereupon for the ſame late Queen to be had. And thereupon all and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Court then there underſtood, † it was conſidered that the aforeſaid Robert Dudley ſhould be carried by the aforeſaid Conſtable unto the ſaid Tower of London, and from thence thro' the Middle of the City of London to the Gallows of Tyburn be drawn, and there be hanged up, and cut down alive to the Ground, and that his Entrails ſhould be taken out of his Belly, and be burnt, ‡ he living, and that his Head ſhould be cut off, and his Body be divided into four Parts, and that his Head and thoſe Quarters ſhould be put where the ſaid late Queen would appoint them. § And afterwards, viz. by a certain Act of Parliament at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex the 12th Day of November in the 1ſt and 2d Years of the Reign of Lord Philip and Lady Mary late King and Queen of England held, it was enacted, amongſt other Things, by the ſame late King and Queen, with the Aſſent and Conſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and of the Commons in the ſame Parliament aſſembled, and by the Authority of the ſame, that whereas Henry Duke of Suffolk late of Brodegate in the County

* See Geary's Caſe Salk. 630. 1 Show. 131, 132. Batſomb's Caſe 3 Mod. 265. Attainder of Treaſon reverſed for Want of this Arraignment before Judgment. See 2 H. H. P. C. 217, 218. 2 Hawk. P. C. 398, 303.

† See the ſame Form of Judgment verbatim 1 Judgments 292. Poſt 551. For the ſeveral Parts of this Judgment in High Treaſon, See 3 Inſt. 210. 2 Hawk. P. C. 443, § 3. and the Books there cited.

‡ See Walcot's Caſe Salk. 632, Judgment in Treaſon reverſed for Want of theſe Words as to burning the Bowels. Lilly's Entr. 241.

Of

§ See Poſt 551.

of Leiceſter, John Grey late of Brodegate aforeſaid Knight, Thomas Grey late of Brodegate in the ſaid County of Leiceſter Knight, Thomas Wyat late of Allington in the County of Kent Knight, otherwiſe called Thomas Wyat late of London Knight, Robert Dudley late of London Knight, James a Croftes late of London aforeſaid Knight, Peter Carew late of London Knight, Henry Iſley late of Sundrich in the County of Kent Knight, Robert Rudſton late of Boughton Monchefey in the County of Kent Eſquire, William Thomas late of London Eſquire, William Cromer late of Tuſtal in the County of Kent Eſquire, Cuthbert Vaughan late of Charte Magna in the County of Kent Eſquire, Anthony Knivet late of Chedingſton in the County of Kent Eſquire, William Knivet late of London Gentleman, Walter Mantel the elder late of Monks-Horton in the County of Kent Eſquire, Walter Mantel the younger late of Canterbury in the County of Kent Gentleman, Alexander Brett late of London Gentleman, William Pelham late of London Gentleman, Henry Fane late of Tunbridge in the ſaid County of Kent Gentleman, Thomas Culpeper late of Ailsforth in the ſaid County of Kent Eſquire, George Moor late of Pluckley in the ſaid County of Kent Gentleman, Thomas Brook late of Cobham in the ſaid County of Kent Gentleman, Leonard Diggs late of Barham in the ſaid County of Kent Eſquire, Thomas Fane late of Tunbridge in the ſaid County of Kent Gentleman, John Naylor late of Maidſtone in the ſaid County of Kent Yeoman, John Goldwel late of Charte Magna in the ſaid County of Kent Gentleman, Hugh Booth late of London Yeoman, John Wollock late of Loughborough in the ſaid County of Kent Clerk, John Bryſon late of Stawfield in the ſaid County of Kent Huſbandman, Richard Mund late of Smarden in the ſaid County of Kent Glover, Thomas Corte late of the Iſle of Grain in the ſaid County of Kent Labourer, John Vapells late of Selling in the ſaid County of Kent Labourer, John Read late of Cartham in the ſaid County of Kent Tanner, Thomas Gawdy late of Wichling in the ſaid County of Kent Clerk, Simon Fiddy late of Boxley in the ſaid County of Kent Tanner, John Fray late of Tunbridge in the ſaid County of Kent Yeoman, Richard Lewkner late of Ligh in the ſaid County of Kent Gentleman, Peter Mapleſden late of Maidſtone in the ſaid County of Kent Yeoman, William Tilden late of Maidſtone in the ſaid County of Kent Taylor, Jervaſe Mapleſden late of Maidſtone in the ſaid County of Kent Butcher, William Smith late of Maidſtone in the ſaid County of Kent Yeoman, John Warrop late of Ailsforth in the ſaid County of Kent Gentleman, Henry Springfield late of Boxley in the ſaid County of Kent Fuller, William Smothing late of Ailsforth in the ſaid County of Kent Yeoman, Alexander Fiſher late of Maidſtone in the ſaid County of Kent Gentleman, Robert Merchant late of Maidſtone in the ſaid County of Kent Smith, otherwiſe called Robert Marſhal late of Maidſtone in the ſaid County of Kent Smith, John Stanley late of Maidſtone in the ſaid County of Kent Taylor, William Packnam late of Leveham in the ſaid County of Kent Huſbandman, John Allen late of Leveham in the ſaid County of Kent Huſbandman, Roger Collier late of Leveham aforeſaid Shereman, Thomas Rayner late of Leveham aforeſaid Huſbandman, Walter Buckhurſt late of Leveham aforeſaid Shereman, Robert Skudder late of the ſame Town Huſbandman, John Hart of the ſame Town Huſbandman, Ralf Hurlock of Wichling in the ſaid County of Kent Labourer, and Robert Hilles of Leveham aforeſaid in the ſaid County of Kent Clerk,, had committed, perpetrated, and done many deteſtable and abominable Treaſons, to the great Danger of the Deſtruction of the royal Perſon of the ſame late Queen, and to the extreme Loſs, Diſheriſon, and Deſolation of her Realm of England, if God of his infinite Goodneſs had not in ſeaſonable Time laid open and made known to the ſame Lady the Queen their treaſonable Intentions, of and for which Treaſons, being manifeſtly and openly proved, the ſaid Henry Duke of Suffolk and the other Perſons aforeſaid lawfully and juſtly, according to the Laws of her Realm of England, were convicted and attainted, as by the Records of their ſeveral Attainders more fully appeared: And the ſaid Duke of Suffolk, Thomas Grey Knight, Thomas Wyat Knight, Henry Iſley Knight, Anthony Knivet, Walter Mantel the elder, William Knivet, Walter Mantel the younger, Alexander Brett, Thomas Iſley, and Henry Springfield, for their abominable and deteſtable Offences juſtly and according to their Deſerts ſuffered Puniſhment of Death. Nevertheleſs the ſaid late King and Queen, out of the excellent and accuſtomed Goodneſs of the ſaid late Queen, and for the internal Love and cordial Affection which her Majeſty always bore towards the Public-wealth of her ſaid Realm of England, and for the Preſervation of her moſt excellent Highneſs and of that of her Poſterity, and alſo of the Peace, Unity, and Quiet of all her Subjects, at the moſt humble Requeſt and Petition of her ſaid Subjects, and of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and of the Commons in the ſame Parliament aſſembled, granted and aſſented that the ſaid Convictions and Attainders of all and ſingular the ſaid Offenders ſhould be approved and confirmed by the Authority of the ſame Parliament. And further by the ſame Act it was enacted that the ſaid Duke of Suffolk, and the other attainted Perſons above named, for their ſaid abominable and deteſtable Treaſons by them and every of them traiterouſly committed and perpetrated againſt their ſaid Sovereign, her Crown and Dignity, by the Authority of the ſame Parliament ſhould be convicted and attainted of High Treaſon. And that ſo many of the ſaid attainted Perſons aforeſaid above expreſſed as at the Time of making and publiſhing the Act or Statute ſhould be alive and not pardoned at the Will and Pleaſure of the ſaid Lady the Queen ſhould ſuffer Puniſhment of Death as in Caſes of High Treaſon. And that the ſaid Henry Duke of Suffolk, and all and ſingular the other attainted Perſons before named, as well thoſe who were alive at the Time of making the Act of Parliament aforeſaid, as thoſe of whom Execution had been before before done for their ſaid Treaſons, ſhould loſe and forfeit to the ſame Lady the Queen, her Heirs and Succeſſors, all their Honours, Manors, Meſſuages, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Reverſions, Remainders, Poſſeſſions, Offices, Rights, Conditions, and all other their Hereditaments with their Appurtenances whatſoever, being of any Eſtate of Inheritance or Freehold in their Right, and alſo all their Goods and Chattles, of whatſoever Names, Natures, and Qualities they were, which they or any of them had the Day of their ſeveral Treaſons and Offences by them committed, perpetrated, and done, or at any Time afterwards. And that the ſaid Honours, Manors, Meſſuages, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Reverſions, Remainders, Poſſeſſions, Offices, Rights, Conditions, Hereditaments, Goods and Chattles by the Authority aforeſaid ſhould be reputed, veſt, and be adjudged to be in the actual and real Poſſeſſion of the ſame late Lady the Queen, without any Office or Inquiſition thereof afterwards to be taken and found; ſaving to all and all Manner of Perſon and Perſons, Bodies politic and corporate, and their Heirs, Aſſigns, and Succeſſors, and to every one of them, other than the ſaid Duke of Suffolk, and the other attainted Perſons aforeſaid, and their Heirs, and the Heirs of every one of them, and all and every other Perſon and Perſons claiming to their Uſes, or to the Uſe of any one of them, or to the Uſe of any of their ſaid Heirs, all ſuch Right, Title, Uſe, Poſſeſſion, Intereſt, Reverſion, Remainder, Entry, Conditions, Fees, Offices, Rents, Commodities, Commons, Titles of Entry for Conditions broken or to be broken given or accrued, or to be given or to accrue by Reaſon of any Condition broken before the ſaid Treaſons committed, and all other Commodities and Hereditaments whatſoever which they or any of them could, might, or ought to have if ſuch Act was not had or made. Provided always, and it is enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, that the aforeſaid Act or any Thing in the ſame contained by any Reaſon ſhould not extend to take away the Benefit or Advantage of any Pardon granted under the Great Seal of England to any of the Perſons before mentioned in the Act aforeſaid by the ſaid King and Queen, or by the Queen alone, but that they and every of them may have, enjoy, and receive Benefit and Advantage of all and every ſuch Pardon to any of them granted, as is aforeſaid, in as ample Manner as they or any of them might have done if the Act aforeſaid had never been made, any Thing in the ſame contained to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding, as by the ſame Act of Parliament amongſt other Things more fully appears. And further the ſame Chriſtopher will aver that the aforeſaid Robert Dudley Knight in the aforeſaid Indictment, and in the aforeſaid Commiſſion made to the aforeſaid Thomas White Mayor of the City aforeſaid and to the other Commiſſioners at the Guildhall of the City of London, and in the Record aforeſaid, named, and the aforeſaid Robert Dudley in the Act of Parliament aforeſaid named, and the aforeſaid Robert Earl of Leiceſter in the Declaration aforeſaid named, are one and the ſame Perſon, and not others nor divers. By Force of which ſaid Conviction and Attainder, and of the Act of Parliament aforeſaid, the aforeſaid Philip and Mary late King and Queen of England were ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid in which, &c. in their Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of their Crown of England. And being ſo ſeized thereof, by their Letters-Patent ſealed with their great Seal of England, bearing Date at Weſtminſter the 17th Day of January in the ſaid 1ſt and 2d Years of the Reign of the ſaid late King Philip and Queen Mary, (which the ſame Chriſtopher Heydon here produces in Court) gave and granted to the aforeſaid Chriſtopher Heydon, by the Name of Chriſtopher Heydon Knight, the Tenements aforeſaid in which, &c. amongſt other Things, to have to the ſame Chriſtopher Heydon, the Heirs and Aſſigns of the ſaid Chriſtopher, for ever. By virtue of which ſaid Letters-patent aforeſaid the aforeſaid Chriſtopher into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. the aforeſaid Time when, &c. entered, and the Graſs aforeſaid as the proper Graſs of him the ſaid Chriſtopher with his Cattle aforeſaid trod down and conſumed, and the ſame treading down and Conſumption of the Graſs aforeſaid during all the Time aboveſaid in the Declaration aforeſaid above ſpecified continued, as it was lawful for him to do. And this he is ready to verify, wherefore he prays Judgment if the aforeſaid Earl of Leiceſter his Action aforeſaid thereof againſt him ought to have or maintain, &c.

Replication. And the aforeſaid Robert Earl of Leiceſter ſays that he by any Thing by the aforeſaid Chriſtopher Heydon above by Pleading alledged from having his Action aforeſaid againſt the ſaid Chriſtopher ought not to be precluded, becauſe he ſays that the Plea aforeſaid by the ſaid Chriſtopher in Manner and Form aforeſaid above pleaded, and the Matter in the ſame contained, are inſufficient in Law to preclude him the ſaid Earl from having his Action aforeſaid againſt the aforeſaid Chriſtopher, to which he the ſame Earl of Leiceſter has no Neceſſity, nor is by the Law of the Land in any wiſe bound to anſwer; wherefore for Want of a ſufficient Anſwer in this Behalf he the ſame Earl of Leiceſter prays Judgment and his Damages aforeſaid by the Occaſion aforeſaid to be adjudged to him, &c.

Demurrer.

Joinder in Demurrer. And the aforeſaid Chriſtopher ſays that the Plea aforeſaid by him the ſaid Chriſtopher in Manner and Form aforeſaid above pleaded, and the Matter in the ſame contained, are good and ſufficient in Law to preclude the aforeſaid Earl of Leiceſter from having his Action aforeſaid againſt him the ſaid Chriſtopher, which ſaid Plea and the Matter in the ſame contained he the ſame Chriſtopher is ready to verify and prove as, &c. And becauſe the aforeſaid Earl of Leiceſter to that Plea does not anſwer, nor the ſame hitherto in any wiſe deny, he the ſame Chriſtopher as at firſt prays Judgment, and that the aforeſaid Earl of Leiceſter may be precluded from having his Action aforeſaid againſt him the ſaid Chriſtopher, &c. And becauſe the Court of the Lady the Queen here is not yet adviſed of giving their Judgment of and upon the Premiſſes, Day therefore is given to the Parties aforeſaid before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter until, &c. next after, &c. to hear their Judgment of and upon the Premiſſes, &c. becauſe the Court of the Lady the Queen here not yet, &c.

Continuance.

The CASE.

A Commiſſion of Oyer and Terminer is directed to divers Perſons, reciting that ſuch a Day Sir R. D. was indicted of High-treaſon before 15 Commiſſioners of Oyer & Terminer in ſuch a County, (whereas in Truth that Commiſſion was directed to ſo many, but the Indictment was taken before 8 of them only) and granting to them or any 4 of them Authority to receive the Indictment taken before 15 Commiſſioners, and to proceed thereupon as ſpecial Juſtices of Oyer and Terminer, &c. by force whereof they proceeded and gave Judgment of High-treaſon againſt Sir R. D. upon his own Confeſſion. In this Caſe the Attainder is void and coram non judice, for the latter Commiſſioners had no Power to proceed upon any Indictment but that only taken before 15. whereas there was none taken before 15 and therefore their Proceedings upon another Indictment, viz. upon that taken before 8 are void. And Sir R. D. may falſify this Attainder by Plea without being driven to his Writ of Error. S. C. cited 3 Inſt. 231. Crompt. J. C. 132. b. 2 Bulſt. 105.

The Caſe was recited in this Manner. Robert Earl of Leiceſter has here exhibited a Bill of Treſpaſs againſt Sir Chriſtopher Heydon Knight for breaking his Cloſe at Sidiſterne in the County of Norfolk the 20th Day of January in the 1ſt and 2d Years of the Reign of King Philip and Queen Mary, and deſtroying his Graſs, &c. and has alledged Continuance as to the treading down and deſtroying the Graſs until the Time of exhibiting the Bill, viz. the 24th Day of January in the 13th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen. And the Defendant ſays that the Place in which the Treſpaſs is ſuppoſed contains 40 Acres of Land, 30 Acres of Meadow, and 60 Acres of Paſture in Sidiſterne aforeſaid, of which the ſaid Earl before the Treſpaſs ſuppoſed was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And he being ſo ſeized, long before the Time of the Treſpaſs, viz. the 9th Day of January in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of Queen Mary, at Norwich in the Shirehouſe there in the County of Norfolk, by an Inquiſition then taken before Sir Richard Southwel, the ſaid Sir Criſtopher Heydon, Edmund Wyndham, Knights, Thomas Gawdy Serjeant at Law, Robert Holdich, Henry Hobart, Oſbert Moundford, and Nicholas Rokewood, Eſquires, then Juſtices of the ſaid late Queen Mary to enquire by the Oath of good and lawful Men of the ſaid County of Norfolk and otherwiſe of all Treaſons, Miſpriſions of Treaſons, Inſurrections, Rebellions, &c. within the County of Norfolk by whomſoever done, and the ſame Treaſons and other the Premiſſes to hear and determine according to the Law and Cuſtom of the Realm, by virtue of the Commiſſion of the ſame Queen to the ſame Sir Richard Southwel, Chriſtopher Heydon, and the other Perſons above named, and alſo to Thomas Duke of Norfolk, Henry Earl of Suſſex, Henry Bedingfield, John Shelton, William Paſton, William Woodhouſe Knights, and John Corbet, fourteen, thirteen, twelve, eleven, ten, nine, eight, ſeven, ſix, five, and four of them (of whom the ſame Queen willed that there ſhould be ſome two of them the aforeſaid Richard Southwel, Henry Bedingfield, Thomas Gawdy, Robert Holdich, John Corbet, and Oſbert Moundford) to them thereupon directed, the Preſences of the ſaid Duke, Earl of Suſſex, Henry Bedingfield, John Shelton, William Paſton, William Woodhouſe, and John Corbet being not then expected, the ſaid Robert Earl of Leiceſter, by the Name of Rober Dudley late of London Knight, Son of John late Duke of Northumberland, by the Verdict of 12 free and lawful Men of the ſaid County of Norfolk was indicted, for this that whereas the aforeſaid John Duke of Northumberland late of London, together with William Marquis of Northampton, John Earl of Warwick, John Gate Knight, and Thomas Palmer Knight, and many other falſe Traitors and Rebels againſt the ſaid late Queen, imagining to depoſe the ſame late Queen, and to kill her, with Force and Arms, viz. Swords, &c. the 16th and 17th Days of July in the ſaid 1ſt Year of the Reign of the ſaid Queen Mary, at the Town of Cambridge in the County of Cambridge, unlawfully, falſly, and traiterouſly with a great Multitude of Rebels and Enemies of the ſaid Queen to the Number of 3000 Perſons aſſembled together, and there in open Field traiterouſly put themſelves in Battle Array, and a cruel War falſly and traiterouſly with Banners diſplayed prepared and ordained: The ſaid Robert Dudley late of London Knight, Son of the ſaid Duke, as a falſe Traitor and Rebel againſt the ſaid Queen Mary his Sovereign, not regarding his Allegiance, but imagining the Deprivation and Deſtruction of the ſaid Queen Mary, the 18th Day of July in the ſaid 1ſt Year, with Force and Arms, and with a Multitude of People, the Town of the ſaid Queen of King's-Lynn in the County of Norfolk entered, and the Poſſeſſion thereof againſt the ſame Queen and her Will took, poſſeſſed, and in an hoſtile Manner kept, and one Jane Dudley Wife of Guilford Dudley Eſquire, Brother of the aforeſaid Robert Dudley, the ſaid 18th Day of July in the ſaid 1ſt Year, falſly and traiterouſly cauſed to be publiſhed and proclaimed Queen of this Realm of England, at King's-Lynn aforeſaid, and George Riveley then being Mayor of the ſame Town, and other Subjects of the ſaid Queen, to the Number of 300 Perſons at leaſt, then inhabiting and dwelling within the ſame Town of Lynn, their cordial Love and due Allegiance from the ſame Queen to withdraw and quit, and with the aforeſaid Duke and the ſaid other Traitors a moſt cruel War againſt the ſaid Queen their ſovereign Lady to continue, levy, and prepare, the ſame Robert Dudley the ſaid 18th Day of July in the ſaid 1ſt Year, at King's Lynn aforeſaid falſly and traiterouſly laboured, abetted, and compaſſed, to the utter Deſtruction of the ſaid Queen, againſt his Allegiance, and alſo againſt the Crown and Dignity of the ſaid Queen, and againſt the Form of the Statute in ſuch Caſe provided. And that afterwards, viz. the 19th Day of January in the ſaid 1ſt Year, Queen Mary ſent her Commiſſion to Sir Thomas White Mayor of London and to 13 others, reciting that whereas the ſaid Robert Dudley before Thomas Duke of Norfolk and the 14 others above named in the firſt Commiſſion was indicted of divers High-treaſons by him committed, ſhe aſſigned the ſame Sir Thomas White and the 13 others named in the ſaid Commiſſion, and every four of them (whereof ſhe named ſome to be of the Quorum) for this Cauſe and Cauſes her Juſtices, giving and grant-granting to the ſame 14 and to every four or more of them, (whereof ſome were of the Quorum) by the Tenor of the ſaid Commiſſion full and ſufficient Authority and ſpecial Command to receive the Indictment aforeſaid concerning the ſame Robert Dudley, with all Things touching it, from the ſaid Juſtices of the ſaid Queen Mary before whom it was taken, and in whoſe Cuſtody it then remained, and the ſame to peruſe, and at certain Days which they ſhould appoint for that Purpoſe to aſſemble together at the Guildhall of the City of London, and to call before them the ſaid Robert Dudley, and to hear and examine him thereupon, and to compel him to anſwer, and at a due End to try, determine, and adjudge; and alſo to diſtrain ſuch and ſo many good and lawful Men of the County of Norfolk, by whom the Truth in that Behalf might be the better known, to appear before them for the Cauſe and Cauſes aforeſaid at the Days and Place aforeſaid; and the Truth therein being found, to give Judgment thereupon in this Behalf according to the Laws, Statutes, and Ordinances of the Realm of England, and againſt the ſaid Robert Dudley to proceed to give Sentence, and to adjudge, and to command Execution thereof to be done. In which Commiſſion there are divers Clauſes of Mandavit, viz. one to the ſaid Juſtices that they ſhould deliver the ſaid Indictment with all Things touching it for the Cauſe and Cauſes aforeſaid to the ſaid Sir Thomas White and to his Companions, or to ſome of them; and another to the Conſtable of the Tower, to bring the Body of the ſaid Sir Robert Dudley at a Day and Place to be appointed by the Commiſſioners; and another to the Sheriff of the County of Norfolk, to return a Jury at a Day and Place, &c. And further the ſaid Queen Mary the ſaid 19th Day of January by her Writ cloſe commanded the ſaid Thomas Duke of Norfolk and the ſaid 14 others his Companions and every of them, that they ſhould deliver to the ſaid Sir Thomas White and his ſaid other Companions all and ſingular Indictments, Records, and Proceſſes of whatſoever Treaſons, Miſpriſions of Treaſons, and other the Premiſſes, whereof the ſaid Robert Dudley was indicted before them in the County of Norfolk. And further the ſame Queen Mary the ſaid Day commanded Sir John Gage Conſtable of the Tower to bring the ſaid Sir Robert Dudley, being in his Cuſtody, before the ſaid Sir Thomas White and his other ſaid Companions at a Day and Place which they ſhould appoint him. By virtue of which Letters-patent the ſaid Sir Thomas White and his Companions ſent their Precept the 20th Day of January in the ſaid 1ſt Year to the aforeſaid Sir Richard Southwel and his Companions, that they or one of them ſhould ſend to the ſaid Sir Thomas White and his Companions at the Guildhall aforeſaid the 22d Day of the ſaid January all and ſingular Indictments, Records, and Proceſſes of High-treaſons before them lately taken, of which the ſaid Robert Dudley then was indicted, with all Things touching them. And they ſent another Precept the ſame Day to the Conſtable of the Tower of London to bring the Body of the ſaid Robert Dudley before them the ſame 22d Day of January. At which 22d Day of January at the Place aforeſaid before the ſaid Sir Thomas White and his Companions at their Seſſions then held at the Guildhall aforeſaid, the ſaid Sir Richard Southwel and Sir Chriſtopher Heydon Knights with their own Hands delivered the Inquiſition before ſpecified touching the ſaid Sir Robert Dudley, to be determined as the Letter and the Precept required. At which Day and Place came the ſaid Robert Dudley under the Cuſtody of the Conſtable of the Tower, and he being arraigned upon the Indictment aforeſaid confeſſed the Treaſons aforeſaid. Whereupon Judgment was accordingly given againſt him, viz. that he ſhould be brought back by the ſaid Conſtable to the ſaid Tower, and afterwards ſhould be drawn thro' the Middle of the City of London unto the Gallows of Tyburn, and there ſhould be hung up, and be cut down alive, and his Entrails be taken out of his Belly, and be burnt, he living, and that his Head ſhould be cut off, and his Body be divided into four Parts, and that his Head and thoſe Quarters ſhould be placed where the Queen pleaſed to appoint. And afterwards by an Act of Parliament held at Weſtminſter the 12th Day of November in the 1ſt and 2d Years of the Reign of Philip and Mary, it was enacted, that whereas Henry Duke of Suffolk, John Grey late of Brodegate in the County of Leiceſter Knight, Robert Dudley late of London Knight, and divers others recited in the Act, had committed many deteſtable and abominable Treaſons to the great Danger of the Deſtruction of the royal Perſon of the Queen, and the extreme Deſolation of the Realm of England, if God of his Goodneſs had not diſcovered to the Queen their traiterous intentions, of and for which Treaſons, being openly proved, the ſaid Duke of Suffolk and the other ſaid Perſons lawfully and rightfully according to the Laws of her Realm of England were convicted and attainted, as by the Records of their ſeveral Attainders more fully appears, and the Duke and ſome others particularly named in the Act were put to Death: The King and the Lords Spiritual and Temporal and the Commons granted and aſſented that the ſaid Convictions and Attainders of all and ſingular the ſaid Offenders ſhould be approved and confirmed by the Authority of the ſaid Parliament. And further it was enacted, that the ſaid Duke of Suffolk and the other attainted Perſons above-named for their abominable and deteſtable Treaſons ſhould be convicted and attainted of High-treaſon by the Authority of the ſaid Parliament. And that as many of the ſaid attainted Perſons as at the Time of the making the ſaid Act ſhould be alive and not pardoned at the Will of the ſaid Queen ſhould ſuffer Puniſhment of Death: And that the ſaid Duke of Suffolk and all and ſingular the other attainted Perſons above named ſhould forfeit to the Queen all their Honours, Manors, Meſſuages, Lands, &c. and that their Offices, &c. ſhould be actually in the Queen: Saving to all Perſons other than the ſaid Duke and the other attainted Perſons aforeſaid, &c. their Rights, Title, &c. as by the ſaid Act amongſt other Things more fully appears.

And

And further the Defendant avers that the ſaid Robert Dudley Knight in the Indictment, and in the Commiſſion made to the Mayor of London and others his Companions, and in the Record aforeſaid, named, and the ſaid Robert Dudley in the Act of Parliament aforeſaid named, and the ſaid Robert Earl of Leiceſter in the Declaration named, are one and the ſame Perſon, and not divers. By Force of which Conviction, Attainder, and Act of Parliament the ſaid King Philip and Queen Mary were ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid in which, &c. in their Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of the Crown of England, and being ſo ſeized, they by their Letters-patent under the Great Seal, bearing Date at Weſtminſter the 17th Day of January in the ſaid 1ſt and 2d Years of the Reign of the ſaid late King and Queen, here ſhewn forth, gave and granted to the ſaid Sir Chriſtopher Heydon the Tenements aforeſaid in which, &c. amongſt other Things, to have to the ſame Chriſtopher his Heirs and Aſſigns for ever. By Force of which Letters-patent the ſaid Sir Chriſtopher into the ſaid Tenements in which, &c. the ſaid Time when, &c. entered, and did the Treſpaſs, as it was lawful for him to do, and this he is ready to verify, &c. And he demands Judgment if the Earl ought to maintain his Action againſt him. And upon this the Earl of Leiceſter has demurred in Law, and the Defendant alſo.

Eaſter Term 13 Eliz. Trin. Term, 13 Eliz. And the Matter was argued the laſt Term, viz. in Eaſter Term 13 Elizabeth, by Fleetwood Recorder of London on the Part of the Plaintiff, (the latter End of whoſe Argument I only heard) and by Anderſon on the Part of the Defendant. And now this Term, viz. Trinity 13 Elizabeth, the Matter was argued again by an Apprentice of the Middle-Temple and by Serjeant Manwood on the Part of the Plaintiff, and by Serjeant Loveleſs on the Part of the Defendant. And the Counſel for the Plaintiff who demurred took upon themſelves and endeavoured to prove that the Matter alledged was not an effectual Proof that the Earl was attainted, but that the Judgment given upon the Arraignment, and the Act of Parliament, and the Patent of the Land made to Sir Chriſtopher Heydon, were all void as to the Plaintiff, and that the Bar had not Matter of Subſtance. And the Caſe was digeſted by them into divers Points.

1 Point. For the Plaintiff. The firſt was, whether or no Sir Thomas White and the others his joint Commiſſioners could lawfully arraign the Plaintiff upon the ſaid Indictment. [a] And as to this, the Counſel for the Plaintiff argued that they could not, for the Commiſſion was made to the Duke of Norfolk and 14 others, being 15 in all, to take the Indictment, and it gave Authority to them 15 and to every four of them or more (whereof two at leaſt appointed ſhould be of the Quorum) to take the Indictment, and it appears by the Record that the Indictment was taken before 8 only, whereof there was a ſufficient Mumber of the Quorum, and ſo thoſe 8 who took the Indictment had ſufficient Power to take it, for which Reaſon the Indictment is good. But the Commiſſion made to the Mayor of London and others recites that he was indicted before the Duke of Norfolk and 14 others, and makes them Juſtices of this Cauſe and Cauſes, and gives them Authority to receive of the Juſtices before whom it was taken the Indictment aforeſaid, and to hear, examine, and compel the aforeſaid Robert Dudley to anſwer thereupon, which is, upon the Indictment taken before 15, and at a due End to try, determine, and adjudge upon ſuch Indictment, and to give Sentence and Judgment, and to command Execution to be done upon ſuch Indictment, and the Mandavit to the Duke of Norfolk and his Companions is to deliver to Sir Thomas White and his Companions the Indictment aforeſaid, which is, the Indictment taken before 15, and no other, for no other is mentioned in the Commiſſion made to Sir Thomas White and others, and the Writ cloſe directed to the Duke of Norfolk and others, for them to deliver the Indictment to the Mayor of London and others, is directed to all the 15, and commands them to deliver the Indictment by which the ſaid Robert Dudley is indicted before them, that is, before them all, viz. the 15, and no other; and it might be that there were two Indictments, viz. one taken before the 15, and another before the 8, and therefore the Power given to them upon the Indictment taken before the 15 could not extend to that taken before the 8 only. For which Reaſon they had no Authority to receive of Sir Richard Southwel and Sir Chriſtopher Heydon the ſaid Indictment taken before the 8, nor had they any Warrant to deliver it to the Mayor of London and the others, for the Precept made by the Mayor and others to Sir Richard Southwel and his Companions was void (as Manwood ſaid) for all other Indictments but for that taken before the 15. For they who made the Precept had no Power to do it for any other Indictment, and the expreſſing of the Number here, before whom the Indictment is taken, is a very material Thing, and of great Weight, for it might be that there were two Indictments, as it has been ſaid, viz. the one taken before 8, and the other before 15, and it might be that the Queen's Intent was that the Mayor and the others ſhould arraign him upon that Indictment only which was taken before the 15, and therefore the Number is material, and expreſſes Certainty, and takes away Incertainty. And to this Purpoſe Time, Place, and Number are often limited and expreſſed, as the Apprentice ſaid, [b] and if a Thing is referred to them, and miſtakes them, all ſhall be void. [c] As is the Caſe in 7 Ed. 3. concerning Time, where (as the Apprentice cited it) one brought a Writ and recited that it is contained in the Articles made in the Time of King Edward the Father of King Edward 3. that no Sheriff ſhall put in Inqueſts, &c. and he declared further according to the Statute, and the Writ was abated by Award, becauſe the Articles, viz. Articuli ſuper chartas cap. 9. were made in the Time of King Edward 1. and not in the Time of King Edward 2. who was Father of King Edward 3. So that the Reference to Time which was limited for Certainty was material, and being miſtaken abated the Suit.

[a] 1 Bulſt. 105. Inſt. 231.

[b] Vin. Abr. tit. Miſrecital A. pl. 1.

[c] T. 7. Ed. 3. 26. pl. 11. Cart. 150.

And

[a] And he cited the Caſe in 18 Ed. 3. where a Statute Merchant was made to pay Anno 16. Ed. 3. and the Party ſued Execution, and the Writ ſuppoſed the Sum to be paid anno 14. Ed. 3. and by the Suit the Feoffee was ouſted, and he ſued a Writ of Error in the King's Bench, and it was awarded that he ſhould be [b] received to the Suit; [c] for, he ſaid, if upon Suits in the Chancery according to the Order of the Common Law there is Error, this ſhall be reformed by Error in the King's Bench, becauſe it is the higher Court. And therefore, he ſaid, Time declares Certainty, for it might be that there were two Statutes payable at ſeveral Days, for which Reaſon the Time of Payment is material, and the Suit referring to Time and miſtaking it ſhall abate. [d] So, he ſaid, if a Defeaſance is made of a Statute which is recited to be made the 10th Day of May, where in Fact it bore Date the 1ſt Day of May, the Defeaſance is void for the Miſtake of the Time, for the Law ſays that inaſmuch as it might be that there were two Statutes, the one bearing Date the 1ſt Day, and the other the 10th Day, the Time of the Date is material. So that a Time certain to which Acts are referred is material. And ſo is it with Regard to Place. [e] As if a Man will plead the King's Letters-patent bearing Date at Weſtminſter, and in Fact they bear Date at another Place, it ſeems by 38. H. 6. that for the Variance of the Place he has failed, and the Plea ſhall be adjudged againſt him, for the Place is material, and it is a Circumſtance and Teſtimony of Truth and Certainty. So if the King gives Authority to a Man to arraign one upon an Indictment taken againſt him at Dale in ſuch a County, where in Truth the Indictment was taken at another Place in the ſame County, he cannot arraign him, for the Place ſhews the certain Indictment which the King meant, for it may poſſibly happen that there are two Indictments of one ſame Matter and Thing, viz. the one taken at one Town, and the other at another Town, and therefore the expreſſing of the Town ſhews certainly which Indictment was intended. So ſhall it be alſo with Reſpect to Number, for where a Thing is referred to Number, the Number is material. As in Rediſſeizin the Statute of Merton cap. 3. is, that the Sheriff, taking with him the Keepers of the Pleas of the King's Crown, and other lawful Knights, in his own proper Perſon ſhall go to the Land whereof the Plaint hath been made; [f] and in 23 Aſs. it was adjudged that the Writ ſhould abate where the Sheriff only took one Coroner with him, there being more in the County, for the Act appoints a particular Number, viz. two at leaſt, which Number ought to be complied with. [g] And ſo in a Præcipe quod reddat there ought to be two Summoners, and if there is but one, and the Tenant makes Default and loſes by Default, he ſhall have a Writ of Diſceit. [h] And he alſo cited the laſt Caſe in 8. H. 7. concerning the Court of Star-Chamber, in which the Act of 3. H. 7. cap. 1. is recited, whereby it is enacted that the Chancellor, Treaſurer, and Keeper of the Privy-Seal, or two of them, calling to them a Biſhop, and a Temporal Lord of the Council, and the two Chief Juſtices, &c. ſhall have Authority to examine Riots, &c. and there it is held that [i] none is a Judge but the Chancellor, Treaſurer, and Keeper of the Privy-Seal, or two of them, and the others are but Aſſiſtants and Aidants, and not Judges, but the Juſtices there held that it was Error if the Chancellor, Treaſurer, and Keeper of the Privy-Seal, or two of them did not call the others, for the Number limited by the Act ought to be obſerved. So the Statute of Weſtminſter 2. cap. 11. ſays, that when a Man has aſſigned Auditors to Accountants, and they are found in Arrears, their Bodies ſhall be arreſted, and by the Teſtimony of the Auditors ſhall be ſent and delivered to the next Goal of the King's in thoſe Parts, and ſhall be received by the Sheriff or Goaler, and be impriſoned in Iron under ſafe Cuſtody, and ſhall remain in the ſame Priſon at their own Coſt, until they have ſatisfied their Maſter fully of the Arrearages, &c. [k] but there if one Auditor is aſſigned, he cannot commit the Accountant to Goal, for the Statute limits ſuch Power to two at leaſt: Wherefore the Number to which the Statute has referred the Thing to be done ought to be obſerved. And as Acts referred to a greater Number cannot be executed by a leſſer Number, ſo one who has Authority given him to proceed upon Acts done before a greater Number cannot proceed upon them if they are done before a leſſer Number only, as here. For they ſhall not be intended one ſame Act, and that which is done before 15 cannot be intended the ſame that is done before 8 only, becauſe there may poſſibly be two ſeveral Things of the ſame Kind. And as a great Proof that Sir Thomas White and his Companions had no Power to proceed to the Arraignment of the Plaintiff upon the Indictment taken before the 8 only, where their Commiſſion gave them Power to proceed upon the Indictment taken before 15, the Apprentice cited the Caſe in 2 Aſs. pl. 5. [l] where in Attaint there brought the Writ ſuppoſed that the Verdict paſſed before 4 Juſtices, whereas by the Record it paſſed before 2 only, and there Herle ſaid that he had no Warrant to take the Attaint. [m] But, the Apprentice ſaid, in 31 Aſs. pl. 1. in Aſſize of Rent, the Tenant heretofore prayed in Aid of the King, and afterwards the Plaintiff put forth a Writ of Procedendo, by which Writ he ſuppoſed that the Aſſize was arraigned before Stouff and Byrton, whereas it was arraigned before them and Shard alſo, and there Judgment was demanded if upon ſuch Writ they would take the Aſſize, where Stoner ſaid, " the Writ ſuppoſes no Deceit, for if it was arraigned before " them three, ergo before two, wherefore anſwer", and he ſaid that there was a Writ of Simon omnes. From which two Caſes there appears a plain Diverſity, and that the one Part thereof is in Effect our Caſe. For as the Writ, which ſuppoſed the Verdict to paſs before four, where in Fact it paſſed but before two of them, was not a ſufficient Warrant to Herle Chief Juſtice of the Common Bench, and to his Companions, to take the Attaint, but that there they ſhould ceaſe to take it, ſo the Commiſſion here to Sir Thomas White and his Companions, which recited that the Indictment was taken before 15, was not a ſufficient Warrant to arraign him upon the Indictment taken before 8 of the 15. But in the other Caſe of 31 Aſs. the Procedendo which ſaid that it was

[a] T. 18. Ed. 3. 25. b. Fitz. Error 71. 17 Aſs. pl. 24. Bro. Error 114. Statute Merch. 21.

[b] Note the Feoffee was not Party, nor Privy to the Execution ſued, and yet the Writ of Error maintainable. Dy. 1. b. pl. 5.

[c] 29 Aſs. pl. 47. Dy. 315. pl. 100. 1 Rol. Abr. 744. H. pl. 1. 1 Rol. R. 287. pl. 5. per Coke C. J. 4 Inſt. 80. Crompt. J. C. 11. b. 78. a. 2 Finch 480. Quære if Error lies in Parliament upon a Judgment in Chancery? Vide H. 37. H. 6. 13, 14. T. 11. Ed. 4. 9. a.

[d] P. 17 Ed. 3. 24. pl. 10. Cart. 150.

[e] T. 38. H. 6. 34. b. per Choke. 36. b. per Litt. 37. per Nedham, Moile, et Priſot. 1 Bulſt. 106.

[f] 23 Aſs. pl. 7. Fitz. Rediſſeizin 2. Bro. 3. 10 Co. 103. a. 1 Bulſt. 106. Bridgm. 119.

[g] T. 50. Ed. 3. 17. a. per Fulth.

[h] P. 8. H. 7. 13. pla. ult. Fitz. Bar 282. Bro. Judgment 125. Parlement 45. Bridgm. 119. Crompt. J. C. 29. a. b. 98. a.

[i] Contra 4 Inſt. 62. and there ſaid that the Book of 8 H. 7. here cited is a ſudden Opinion, and contrary to Law and continual Experience.

[k] 2 Inſt. 380.

[l] 2 Aſs. pl. 5. P. 2. Ed. 3 8. pl. 2. Bro. Attaint 47. 1 Bulſt 105. And ſee the like Point 2 Ed. 3. 4. pl. 13. 3 Aſs. pl. 3. 2 H. H. P. C. 215. But if it had ſuppoſed the Verdict to paſs before 2, where in Fact it paſſed before 4 Juſtices, it had been good enough, for omne majus continet minus, 2 Finch 31.

[m] 31 Aſs. pl. 1. Fitz. Aſſize 373 Bro. Variance 73. 1 Bulſt. 105. Lit. R. 25.

taken before two, whereas it was taken before them two and another, was true. [a] For, as Manwood ſaid, the greater Number contains the leſſer, and if he was arraigned before three, ergo he was arraigned before two. And ſo in our Caſe if the Indictment had been taken before all the 15, and the Commiſſion to Sir Thomas White and the others had recited that the Indictment was taken before Sir Richard Southwel and the ſeven others, and had given them Authority to arraign the Plaintiff upon the ſame Indictment, they might perhaps have proceeded, for there would have been no Falſity in the Recital, becauſe the leſs is comprehended in the greater, but not e contra, for the leſs does not comprehend the greater, and that is our Caſe here. And ſo is the Diverſity, for which Reaſon the Arraignment was not duly done. And the Counſel for the Defendant did not inſiſt ſo much upon this as they did upon the other Points.

[a] See 2 Finch 21, many good Caſes to this Purpoſe.

2 Point. For the Defendant.

The ſecond Point was, admitting that the Arraignment was not duly done, whether it is abſolutely void, or only voidable by Error or otherwiſe. For Anderſon ſaid, if it ſhould be granted clearly on their Part that the Arraignment for the Cauſe ſhewn was not well and duly done, (which he would not fully confeſs) yet, he ſaid, it is not void but voidable, becauſe Sir Thomas White and his Companions had Power by their Commiſſion over the Treaſon mentioned in the Indictment, for the Queen in the Commiſſion recites that Robert Dudley was indicted of divers High Treaſons, and aſſigns the ſaid Sir Thomas White and others for that Cauſe and cauſes her Juſtices, and gives them Authority to call before them the ſaid Robert Dudley, and to hear and examine him thereupon, and to compel him to anſwer, and at a due End to try, determine, and adjudge, and to make a Jury appear before them for the Cauſe and Cauſes aforeſaid. And, he ſaid, the Cauſe is the Matter, and the Matter is the Cauſe, and the Cauſe and the Matter is nothing elſe than High Treaſon, and of this the Queen has made them Juſtices, giving them Authority to call the ſaid Robert before them, and to hear and examine him thereupon, that is, upon the Treaſon, and to make a Jury appear for that Cauſe, which Words alone, if all the reſt of them had been omitted, are ſufficient for the Commiſſioners to meddle with the Matter. For he who is made a Juſtice of Treaſon has thereby Power to proceed upon the Treaſon, and to give Judgment that the Perſon ſhall be executed or acquitted, for this is the Office of a Juſtice of Treaſon. And if they who have ſuch Authority proceed upon the Treaſon unduly, and do not make the Party to be newly indicted before them, but arraign him upon an Indictment for the ſame Matter taken before others, which is not duly brought to them, this cannot be void, but voidable by Error. For when any Court has Power over a Thing, and proceeds to give Judgment upon it, and the due Circumſtances of Law are not obſerved in all Points, the Judgment given ſhall not be void, but voidable by Error. [b] As if Judgment is given upon a Plea of Land in the Common Bench upon Plea of the Parties, where there is no Original, this is not void, but voidable by Error. [c] And a Fine levied in the Common Bench without an Original is not void, but voidable by Error. [d] And hereupon he cited the Caſe in 22 Aſs. pl. 64. where one R. entered in Court-Baron a Plaint of Treſpaſs againſt J. and counted againſt him in a Plea of Land to Damages, &c. The Defendant pleaded that no Man ought to anſwer touching his Freehold without the King's Writ, and demanded Judgment if the Court would take Conuſance of ſuch Plaint; and becauſe he would not ſay any other Thing, the Court awarded him Non-defendant, and that the Party ſhould recover againſt him Damages of eight Marks, and by the Command of the Steward the Officer took four Horſes of J. in Name of Execution, and J. brought a Bill of Treſpaſs, and there it was touched whether the Judgment given in the Court-Baron was void or voidable, and at the End it was awarded that the Plaintiff ſhould take nothing by his Writ, becauſe the Court had Juriſdiction of the Land, for it was held of the Manor, and therefore it was ſaid to the Plaintiff that his Recovery was by Writ of falſe Judgment: But there it is admitted that if the Judgment had been given upon a Covenant or Contract made out of the Juriſdiction of the Court, it had been void, but not in the other Caſe, becauſe the Court had Juriſdiction. And ſo in our Caſe Sir Thomas White and his Companions had Juriſdiction over the Treaſon by the ſaid Words of their Commiſſion, and then the Judgment is not void but voidable, and the Party is driven to a Writ of Error by the Courſe of the Common Law. But ſuch Writ is taken away by the ſaid Act of Parliament, for the Words of the Act are, that the Queen and the Lords and Commons have granted and aſſented that the ſaid Convictions and Attainders of the ſaid Offenders ſhall be approved and confirmed by the Authority of the Parliament, and that which is confirmed by Parliament is made indefeaſible, altho' it were defeaſible before. Alſo the Statute of 33. H. 8. cap. 20. enacts, that if any Perſon ſhall be attainted of High Treaſon by the Courſe of the Common Law, every ſuch Attainder by the Common Law ſhall be of as good Force, Value, and Effect, as if it had been made by the common Authority of Parliament, which Act alſo takes away all Error that was in the Attainder, if there was an Attainder. And each of the Acts veſts the Land of the Perſons attainted in the Queen actually without Office. Wherefore it ſeemed to Loveleſs and Anderſon that the Attainder of the Plaintiff is made indefeaſible, and that his Land was in the Queen without Office, and that the Patent made thereof to Sir Chriſtopher Heydon was good, and that therefore he ſhould be diſcharged of the Treſpaſs.

[b] P. 7. Ed. 4. 3. pl. 6. Bro. Error 164. M. 11. H. 7. 4. pl. 13. Bro. Utlagary 78. H. 2. M. 1. Bro. Judgment 114. in fine. 10 Co. 77. a. Sed Contra B. N. C. § 461.

[c] T. 26 H. 6. Fitz. Aſſize 13. Bro. 396. Fitz. Error 28. Bro. Judgment 130. P. 21. Ed. 4. 4. b. per Tremail. M. 21 Ed. 4. 62. a. per Brian. Bro. Fines 97. Co. Litt. 352. b. 2 Inſt. 513. 5 Co. 38. b. 2 Rol. Abr. 14. pl. 4. Kelw. 19. b. per Vaviſor, contra per Keble.

[d] 22 Aſs. pl. 64. Bro. Error 120. Faux Judgment 11. Judgment 64. Treſpaſs 238. Kitch. 284. 1 Finch 24. 2 Finch 36. Crompt. J. C. 38. a.

E contra for the Plaintiff.

But this Argument was on the other Hand impugned by the Counſel for the Plaintiff for two Cauſes, and by them it was inſiſted that the Letter and Senſe of the Commiſſion would not ſuffer ſuch Expoſition as hath been made, but that it gave Authority to the Commiſſioners to proceed only upon the Indictment ſpecified, and not upon the Treaſon generally. One Cauſe was, for that no Treaſon is particularly ſpecified in the Commiſſion made to Sir Thomas White and others, for the Commiſſion recites that whereas Robert Dudley was indicted before the Duke of Norfolk and others for divers High Treaſons by him committed, the Queen aſſigned them her Juſtices for that Cauſe and Cauſes. And if we ſhould aſk what Cauſe and Cauſes are theſe? it will be anſwered, High Treaſons? but what High Treaſons? for there are many High Treaſons, and of divers Natures; it will be anſwered, the Treaſons ſpecified in the Indictment; but in what Indictment? the Anſwer is, in the Indictment ſpecified in the Commiſſion; and what Indictment is that? it will be anſwered, the Indictment taken before the Duke of Norfolk and 14 others, to which it may be ſaid that there is none ſuch, ex quo ſequitur that they ſhall not arraign him upon any Treaſon, for if they muſt arraign him upon ſuch Treaſon as is ſpecified in ſuch Indictment, and upon no other Treaſon, and there is no ſuch Indictment, from thence it follows that there is no Treaſon ſpecified by the Relation, and ſo the Relation to that which is not makes the Thing referred void. As if one has Lands in Dale of his own Purchaſe, and he makes a Leaſe for 20 Years to another of all his Lands in Dale, if he ſtops there, the Leſſee ſhall have all his Lands in Dale,; [a] but if he carries on the Sentence further, and ſays, "which he has by Deſcent from his Mother," and he has no Lands by Deſcent from his Mother, there the Leaſe is utterly void, becauſe he has referred the Certainty to a Thing which is not, which Relation deſtroys the Thing referred, and makes it to be nothing. [b] But if the Leaſe had been of the Manor of Sale in Dale which he had by Deſcent from his Mother, whereas he had the Manor of Sale by Purchaſe, and not by Deſcent from his Mother, in ſuch Caſe the Leſſee ſhall have it, becauſe the Manor of Sale in Dale was certain enough without any further Certainty expreſſed, and the Saying, "which he had by Deſcent," was not requiſite, inaſmuch as there was ſufficient Certainty before, but it is rather Surpluſage or Superabundance of Certainty. [c] And ſo it is taken in 2 Ed. 4. for there it is held that if one releaſes all his Right in all the Lands in Dale which he has by Deſcent, he ſhall ſay that he has no Lands by Deſcent, and ſo ſhall avoid the Releaſe, altho' he has other Lands there; but if he releaſes all his Right in White-Acre in Dale which he has by Deſcent, there he ſhall not avoid the Releaſe by ſaying that he has not White-Acre by Deſcent, but by Purchaſe, for the Relation to the Deſcent was in vain, inaſmuch as Certainty appeared before. So that there is a Diverſity where a Thing incertain is referred to another Thing, and where a Thing certain is ſo referred. And in our Caſe if the Treaſon whereof the Plaintiff was indicted had been certainly expreſſed in the Commiſſion made to Sir Thomas White and others, there would have been more Colour to ſupport the Objection, but inaſmuch as no Treaſon is particularly expreſſed, but it is ſaid, of divers High Treaſons, and the Certainty of them is referred to an Indictment taken before 15, where there is no ſuch Indictment, the Thing referred and the whole Clauſe is void, and no Authority is given thereby to Sir Thomas White and the others his joint Commiſſioners.

[a] Godb. 237 per Curiam. Ante 170 (a)

[b] Litt. R. 25. Cart. 150. Kelw. 7. b.

[c] M. 2 Ed. 4. 29. b. Fitz. Releaſe 11. Bro. 49. Grants 92. Pleadings 92. Dy. 5c. pl. 7, 8. 2 Co. 33. b. 34. a. Cro. C. 548. Heath's Max. 161. Vin. Abr. tit. Releaſe Z. 3. pl. 2. X. a. pl. 6. Ante 191 (o) and (q).

The other Cauſe was, for that the Clauſe which conſtitutes them Juſtices does not ſtop there, nor is it an abſolute Sentence of itſelf, but that and the (thereupon) and all the other Clauſes are referred to the Indictment only; for immediately after the Clauſe of aſſigning them Juſtices for that Cauſe and Cauſes, it follows, giving and granting to them, thirteen, twelve, &c. and every four of them, whereof ſome to be of the Quorum, full and ſufficient Authority and ſpecial Command to receive the Indictment aforeſaid concerning the ſame Robert Dudley, with all Things touching it, from the aforeſaid Juſtices of the ſaid Lady the Queen before whom it was taken, and in whoſe Cuſtody it then remained, and the ſame to inſpect. So that the (giving and granting) being Part of the Sentence refers to the Subſtantive (Queen), which before declared how they ſhould be Juſtices, and what they ſhould do. And ſo does the reſt of the Sentence afterwards, viz. and at certain Days which they ſhall appoint for that Purpoſe to meet together at the Guildhall of the City of London aforeſaid, and to call the ſaid Robert Dudley before them, and to hear and examine him thereupon, and to compel him to anſwer, and at a due End to try, determine, and adjudge. In which Caſe the (thereupon) and all the reſt is referred to the Indictment, for the ſeveral Parts of the Sentence proceed regularly in Order, for firſt the Queen gives them Authority to ſend for the Indictment, and to receive and peruſe it, and to aſſemble themſelves together at Guildhall, and to call the ſaid Robert Dudley before them, and to hear and examine him thereupon, and to compel him to anſwer: In which Caſe the (thereupon) muſt of Neceſſity be referred to the Indictment, for they cannot compel him to anſwer, nor adjudge him before he is indicted, for the Indictment is the Thing to which he ſhall anſwer, and it is the Foundation of their Judgment, for which Cauſe the (thereupon) is referred to the Indictment. And in the Clauſe next after, viz. and alſo to diſtrain ſo many and ſuch good and lawful Men, &c. for the Cauſe and Cauſes aforeſaid to appear before them, the Words (for the Cauſe and Cauſes aforeſaid) ſhall be referred to the Indictment, and to the Matter thereof, and not to the Matter of it only without the Indictment. And to this Senſe alſo plainly tends the Mandavit afterwards to the firſt Juſtices, viz. that they ſhould deliver to them or ſome of them the Indictment aforeſaid with all Things touching it for the Cauſe and Cauſes aforeſaid, for it ſhall be delivered to them to the Intent to proceed upon it, and it would be in vain ſo to do, if Sir Thomas White and his Companions were abſolute Judges of the Treaſon, and might indict him de novo. And in the King's Commiſſions and Charters, as well as in all Deeds of Writing, all the Parts of them ought to be conſidered together, and one Part ſo conſidered will give Light to another, and it is not the Office of an Expoſitor to reſt upon one Sentence only, and to make Senſe of that at the ſame Time that he makes all the reſt to be of no Force. For if a Man makes a Deed of Feoffment, with a Letter of Attorney to enter into the Land, and thereof to take Seizin and Poſſeſſion, and afterwards to deliver Seizin to the Feoffee, there if the Attorney will enter and keep Poſſeſſion for three or four Months, and take the Profits, he does not do well, and yet the Words in the firſt Part of the Letter of Attorney are, that he ſhall enter and take Seizin and Poſſeſſion, but he ought to execute the latter Part alſo, which is, to deliver Seizin over, and that ſhall be done preſently by the Senſe of the latter Part. So that all the Parts of every Deed ought to he fulfilled. And ſo in our Caſe all the Parts being conſidered, Sir Thomas White and his Companions are Juſtices only of the Indictment ſpecified, and have Power to arraign him upon that only, and they are not abſolute Judges of the Treaſon, and therefore if they being ſpecial Juſtices of this Indictment only, which was taken before 15, exceed their Authority by arraigning the Plaintiff upon another Indictment, viz. upon one taken before 8 of the 15, the whole is void and coram non judice. And it is not like to the Caſes put, viz. [a] of a Fine levied without an Original, or to the ſaid Caſe in [b] 22 Aſs. for in thoſe Caſes they had Authority over the Thing, and the Thing was within the Juriſdiction of the Courts, but the Order was miſuſed, in which Caſe the Acts ſhall not be void but voidable. But here Sir Thomas White and his Companions were not Juſtices otherwiſe, nor for other Cauſes than thoſe aſſigned by the Queen's Commiſſion, and if they are aſſigned to do one Thing, and they do another, that other is without Authority. [c] As if one is choſen Arbitrator to make an Arbitrement upon one particular Thing, and he makes an Arbitrement upon another Thing, ſuch Arbitrement is utterly void. So here that which Sir Thomas White and his Companions did was coram non judice, and meerly void. And therefore each of the Reaſons here given anſwers and avoids the Objection which has been made on the other Side, and proves that the Plaintiff was never attainted.

firſt

[a] Ante 394 (c).
[b] Ante 394 (d).
[c] M. 9. Ed. 4. 4. a. per Choke. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 167. b.

3 Point. For the Defendant.

The third Point which was argued was upon the Act of Parliament. For Anderſon and Loveleſs ſaid that altho' the Judgment of Sir Thomas White and others was void, and the Plaintiff not attainted thereby, yet the Act and the Eſtoppel in it ſhall attaint him in Fact or by Concluſion. For the Act recites that he, amongſt others, had done abominable Treaſons, for which he, amongſt others, was attainted, and the Parliament approved and confirmed the Attainders, and further it was enacted that the ſaid Duke of Suffolk, and the attainted Perſons above named, for their abominable Treaſons ſhould be attainted of High Treaſon by the Authority of the Parliament; in which Caſe if he, viz. the Plaintiff, was not attainted before, then the Confirmation is void. But then by the ſecond Part of the Sentence he is attainted, for the Statute ſhall not be void to all Intents, but ſhall ſome where or other be of Force againſt him, and if the firſt Clauſe is without Effect, the ſecond ſhall take Effect. For the Makers of the Act had a full Intent to ordain ſomething touching the Plaintiff and his Treaſon, and to make ſuch an Expoſition of the Act as would * confound the Text is not the Office of an Expoſitor. And altho' the Act ſays, the Duke of Suffolk, and the attainted Perſons above named, and the Plaintiff was not attainted, yet he is comprehended in the Intent of the Makers of the Act, and ſhall be taken to be one of the Perſons above named who are recited to be attainted; ſo that the Word (attainted) ſhall not deſtroy the whole Matter, ſeeing his Name and Surname are well recited, for it appears preciſely to be the Intent of the Makers of the Act to attaint him, which Intent is the principal Thing that Expoſitors of Statutes ought to regard. And Anderſon ſaid, the Act of 27. H. 8. cap. 10. which enacts that Women ſhall not have Dower, where Lands were aſſured to them and their Huſbands for Jointure, has a Proviſo that if any Woman has Lands aſſured after Marriage to her for her Life, that then ſuch Woman may at her Liberty after the Death of her Huſband refuſe to have and take the Lands ſo aſſured to her for her Jointure, and demand her Dower; and foraſmuch as the Statute ſpeaks of an Aſſurance after Marriage, [d] it has been held that if the Aſſurance be made before Marriage ſhe ſhall not refuſe it, for the Judges took the Intent of the Makers of the Act to be ſo by the Implication of the Words; a multo fortiore in our Caſe by the preciſe Words of Rehearſal of his Name and Surname, and his Treaſon, and his Attainder, and by the Words further that the attainted Perſons before named ſhall be attainted by the Authority of Parliament, it ſhall be taken that they intended to attaint him, for the preciſe Words exceed all Implication.

* Mala eſt expoſitio quæ corrumpit viſcera textus. Ante 196 (*) 288 (†).

[d] Co. Litt. 36. b. 4 Co. 3. a. reſolved.

And if the latter Words of the Clauſe are not ſufficient to attaint him, if he was not attainted before, yet by the firſt Recital of the Attainder, and by the Confirmation of it, he is eſtopped to deny the Attainder, becauſe he is Party and Privy to the Act, for every Subject is Party and Privy to an Act of Parliament, and therefore this his Recital by Matter of Record of his own Attainder ſhall conclude him to deny it. [e] And hereupon Loveleſs ſaid, in 9 H. 6. a Man who had made a Defeaſance by Indenture of a Deed was thereby eſtopped to deny the Deed, and if by ſuch Recital by Indenture, which is but a Matter in Deed, he ſhall be eſtopped to deny the Thing to which the Indenture has Relation, a fortiore in our Caſe he ſhall be eſtopped to deny the Attainder to which the Act of Parliament, which is a Matter of the higheſt Record, has Relation. And he put many other Caſes of Eſtoppels by Matters in Deed, and Matters of Record, to enforce the Eſtoppel here. And therefore upon this and many other Caſes cited and Things ſaid they concluded that the Plaintiff was attainted, or at leaſt that he was eſtopped to ſay otherwiſe, and that his Land in which the Treſpaſs is aſſigned was by this Act and the ſaid Act of 33 H. 8. veſted in Queen Mary, and that her Patent to Sir Chriſtopher Heydon was good.

[e] P. 9. H. 6. 9. pl. 22. Fitz. Eſtoppel 26. Bro. 5. Et H. 9 H. 6. 60. a. per Paſton. Fitz. Eſtoppel 24. but contrary to the Opinion of Loveleſs here.

E Contra for the Plaintiff.

On the other Hand it was argued by the Counſel for the Plaintiff. And the Apprentice and Manwood ſaid that the Intent of the Makers of the Act was only to confirm the Attainder before had, if there was any ſuch, and not to attaint the Plaintiff de novo, if he was not attainted before. For the firſt Clauſe recites that he and the others were attainted before,

Where an Act of Parliament recites that A is attainted of High Treaſon, and approves and confirms the ſaid Attainder, and further enacts that he ſhall be attainted by the Authority of Parliament, both theſe Clauſes are but Clauſes of Confirmation, and not of a new Attainder, for none can be attainted twice for the ſame Offence, and therefore if in Fact A. was never attainted, this Act cannot be made Uſe of as an Attainder of him de novo.

as by the Records of their ſeveral Attainders appears, and that they of the Parliament granted and aſſented that the ſaid Attainders be approved and confirmed by the Authority of the Parliament. In which Caſe there are three Things to be obſerved, firſt, the Allegation, that they were attainted, ſecondly, the Reference to the Records of their Attainders, thirdly, the Confirmation, which Confirmation cannot be but upon Matter precedent. For a Confirmation does not create a new Thing, but gives Strength to a Thing which was before. And from theſe three Things it is manifeſt to every one that the Makers of the Act took it that they were attainted before, and that they intended to fortify that Attainder. And when they went further and ordained that the ſaid Duke of Suffolk and the attainted Perſons above named ſhould be attainted of High-treaſon by the Authority of Parliament, theſe are but Words of Confirmation alſo, and not of a new Attainder. For a Perſon attainted for an Act cannot be again attainted for the ſame Act, for an Attainder is a Conviction of any Perſon of a Crime whereof he was not convicted before, for he cannot be twice attainted, becauſe as much is done by the firſt Act as by the ſecond, for by the firſt Attainder he ſhall have Execution of Death, and ſhall be out of the Law, and ſhall forfeit as much as he ſhould do if he was attainted again, and therefore one Attainder is ſufficient, and by the Law he cannot be attainted afterwards, for it is a good Plea for one arraigned to ſay that he ſtands attainted of the ſame Offence, for the Law ſays that it ſhall be in vain to do Acts which are ineffectual. [a] But the Apprentice ſaid that a Man attainted of Felony may be arraigned for Treaſon, becauſe it is a higher Offence, and the Eſcheat for Treaſon ſhall be to the King of whomſoever the Land is holden, if the Treaſon is committed before the Felony: But where the Offences are equal, a Perſon attainted ſhall not be arraigned again. And for this Cauſe he cannot be here attainted by the Parliament, but the latter Words of Attainder in the Act ought to be taken as a Confirmation, and to be of the ſame Effect as the firſt Confirmation is, becauſe the Words cannot be a Confirmation and an Attainder alſo, and ſo there is a double Confirmation. As if the King by his Letters-patent recites that whereas he by his Letters-patent before had made J. S. who was born beyond Sea, a Denizen, he confirms the ſaid Letters-patent, and further grants to him that he ſhall be from thenceforth a Denizen, in ſuch Caſe J. S. cannot plead for his Legitimation the ſecond Letters-patent, becauſe they recite that he was a Denizen before by the firſt Letters-patent, and ſo he is not made a Denizen by the ſecond Letters-patent, but both the Clauſes ſhall be taken as a Confirmation, becauſe they cannot have two Effects, the one contrary to the other. And ſo, he ſaid, if the King by his Letters-patent reciting that whereas he by his Letters-patent bearing Date before had manumiſed A. B. his Villain, he now ratifies and confirms his ſaid Manumiſſion, and further manumiſes him, now if the King impeaches him as his Villain, he cannot plead that the King manumiſed him by the ſecond Letters-patent, becauſe they recite that he was manumiſed before; and therefore both the Clauſes in the ſecond Letters-patent ſhall enure as a Confirmation, inaſmuch as they cannot be a Confirmation and a new Manumiſſion alſo. [b] And he cited the Opinion of Huſſey in 9. H. 7. where it appears that the King had granted certain Lands to a Man by his Letters-patent, and afterwards the ſame King by his ſecond Letters-patent made by Authority of Parliament reciting his former Grant ratified and confirmed the Eſtate of the Patentee, and further ſaid, damus et concedimus the ſame Land to the ſaid Patentee, and the Patentee pleaded the ſecond Letters-patent made by Authority of Parliament by Way of Grant, and not by Way of Confirmation, and there Huſſey Chief Juſtice held clearly that he could not plead them by Way of Grant, but by Way of Confirmation, for inaſmuch as the Land paſſed by the firſt Letters-patent, it could not paſs by the ſecond Letters-patent. [c] The like Caſe, he ſaid, is in 7. H. 7. in an Action of Treſpaſs brought by the Provoſt and Scholars of Cambridge, where by Replication they pleaded that King Henry 6. at his Parliament held ſuch a Day with the Aſſent of the Lords and Commons, reciting that whereas two Years paſt he had granted the Land to the ſaid Provoſt and Scholars for ever, the King by his ſaid ſecond Letters-patent ratified and confirmed the ſaid Land to the ſaid Provoſt and Scholars for ever, and alſo by the Authority of the Parliament aforeſaid gave and granted the ſaid Land to them, by Force of which ſecond Letters-patent they entered and were ſeized, ſo that theſe ſecond Letters-patent were uſed by Way of Grant, and not of Confirmation, and by the better Opinion (as he took it) the Plea was not good, becauſe the Land could not paſs by the ſecond Letters-patent except it was ſhewn that after the firſt Letters-patent the Land came again to the King's Hands, but the ſecond Letters-patent ought to have been pleaded as a Confirmation. But, he ſaid, if the King grants to a Man Paſture for two Oxen in his Land, and afterwards the King by his ſecond Letters-patent reciting his firſt Grant confirms it, and further gives and grants to the firſt Grantee Paſture for two Oxen in the ſame Land, there theſe ſecond Letters-patent ſhall enure as a Confirmation of the firſt Grant, and alſo as a new Grant of Paſture for two other Oxen, ſo that the Grantee ſhall have Paſture for four Oxen in the whole; for in this Caſe the Thing mentioned in the Confirmation is one, and the Thing in the Grant is another, and ſo every Part has Relation to a ſeveral Thing. [d] But where the Thing mentioned in the Confirmation and in the Grant is the ſame, and is not nor can be ſeveral, as in the Caſes of Land, and of Infranchiſement of a Villain, or Naturalization of an Alien, it is otherwiſe. And ſo is it in the Caſe of an Attainder, which can but be once, for the Plaintiff could not be firſt convicted by Parliament, becauſe he was convicted before, and therefore it is impoſſible that the Makers of the Act could intend to attaint thoſe by Parliament who they ſaid were attainted before, nor will the Words ſuffer ſuch Thing.

[a] M. 1. H. 6. 5. pl. 22. Fitz. Corone 2. Bro. Treaſon 11.

[b] T. 9. H. 7. 2. Fitz. Eſtoppel 84. 8 Co. 167. a. Contra Ante 156 (l).

[c] T. 7. H. 7. 4.

[d] Vin. Abr. tit. Grants H. 13. pl. 66.

Another Cauſe to prove that it was not their Intention to attaint him by the Act, and that the Words themſelves do not import ſuch Intention, is the Word (attainted), which is placed in the Clauſe of the Attainder, and in all the Clauſes afterwards, and has Relation to the Perſons named in the Act. For the Words are that the ſaid Duke of Suffolk and the other attainted Perſons above-named be convicted and attainted of High-treaſon by the Authority of the ſame Parliament. And afterwards wards in another Clauſe it is, that the ſaid Henry Duke of Suffolk and the other attainted Perſons before-named forfeit to the Queen all their Lands, &c. which Word (attainted) ſhews (as Fleetwood ſaid) the Degree of the Perſons to whom the Clauſe is referred, viz. that they ſhall be ſuch Perſons as were before convicted of Treaſon, and put out of the Law, and no others, and their proper Names or Surnames are not expreſſed in the Clauſes, and therefore none ſhall be comprehended in the Words (attainted Perſons) but thoſe who were before attainted in Fact, ſo that if Robert Dudley (the Plaintiff) was not before attainted, he is not comprehended in the Words (attainted Perſons.) And if the King recites that A. B. C. and D. were Burgeſſes of ſuch a Town, and grants to the Burgeſſes before-named that they ſhall be diſcharged of Toll in other Places, or that they ſhall not be ſworn on Juries out of the Town, if they will plead their Exemption elſewhere it was ſaid that they ought to aver that they were Burgeſſes of the ſaid Town, for the Grant is to the Burgeſſes, and none ſhall take Benefit of it if he is not ſhewn to be a Burgeſs, for no other was comprehended in the Grant. So here none is compriſed in the Words (attainted Perſons) but he who was before attainted in Fact, for no others were comprehended in the Words of the Act, nor in the Intent of the Makers of it, for if they had intended to have attainted any others, they would have ſent for them, and have heard their Anſwer, and have examined the Matter, which they did not do, as it is well known, the Affair happening but of late Time; and this may be ſufficient to diſcover to us the Intent of the Makers of the Act. Wherefore inaſmuch as the Plaintiff was not before attainted, he is out of the Words and Intent of the ſaid Clauſe of Attainder. And if the Defendant has made Uſe of this Act to attaint him, his Plea ſhall be double, for then he has pleaded an Attainder at common Law, and alſo an Attainder by Statute, which requires two Anſwers, and therefore it is double. But in Fact it is not double, becauſe it is not any new Matter of Attainder, but a Confirmation of the firſt ſuppoſed Attainder, and the Defendant could not plead the Act without mentioning the ſaid ſuppoſed Attainder at common Law to which the Act is referred, for a Confirmation cannot be pleaded but where the Thing which is confirmed is firſt ſhewn, for which Cauſe the Plea is not double.

Where an Act of Parliament recites that A. is attainted of Treaſon, and confirms the Attainder, and in Fact A. is not attainted, this Act is no Eſtoppel to him, but he may deny the Attainder. S. C. Co. Litt. 352. b.

Further as to the Eſtoppel, the Counſel for the Plaintiff ſaid that the Recital of the Attainder by the Parliament, which is a Court, ſhall not prejudice the Party for divers Cauſes. One is (as Manwood ſaid) becauſe it is not * preciſely recited that the Plaintiff was attainted, but only by Reference to the Record of the Attainder. For the Words are that they were convicted and attainted, as by the Records of their ſeveral Attainders more fully appears, ſo that the Act refers the Attainder to the Record, which is not ſuch an abſolute Affirmation as it would be if the prout (as by &c.) had been omitted. For Recitals in Patents prout informamur is no full Affirmation that the Matter recited is true. [a] And ſo, he ſaid, the King's Licence to alien to another the Manor of Dale, which is held of the King, ut dicitur, is no Eſtoppel to him, to whom the Licence is made, to ſay that it is not held of the King, but of another, for the Tenure in capite is not preciſely affirmed, but ut dicitur, which deſtroys every abſolute Affirmation. So here when the Attainder is recited to be had, as by the Record of it appears, the Attainder is not affirmed to be otherwiſe than as it appears by the Record. And if there is no Record by which the Attainder appears, then there is no abſolute Affirmation, by the Intent of the Makers of the Act, for they thought that there was Matter of Record to warrant their Aſſertion of the Attainder, and they did not mean that their Aſſertion ſhould warrant any more than could be ſupported by the Record. So that the Reference to the Record has taken away much of the Preciſeneſs of Truth from the Thing recited.

[a] Vide 29 Aſſ. pl. 38. Bro. Eſtoppel 134. Vide 3 Inſt. 238.

And further they ſaid that if the Reference to the Record had been left out, and the Act had abſolutely recited that the Plaintiff was attainted of Treaſon, and had confirmed it, yet the Plaintiff might ſay that he never was attainted of Treaſon, and ſo avoid the Act entirely; for this Recital cannot be taken to proceed but upon Information, and the court of Parliament may be miſinformed as well as other Courts, and when they have recited a Thing which is not true, it cannot be otherwiſe taken but that they were miſ-informed, for none can imagine that they would purpoſely recite a falſe Thing to be true, [b] for it is a Court of the greateſt Honour and Juſtice, of which none can imagine a diſhonourable Thing. And foraſmuch as the Legiſlature always have Juſtice and Truth before their Eyes, and their falſe Recitals (if there are any) are made upon falſe Information, from thence it follows that they do not intend any one to be concluded by ſuch Recital grounded upon Falſhood, for he that ſays to the contrary affirms that their Intent is to oppreſs Men wrongfully, which is indecent to be ſaid of them, and he who inſiſts that ſome ſhall be concluded by ſuch Falſhood, impugns the Intent of the Makers of the Act, and in that the Act itſelf, for the Act is nothing elſe but the Intention of the Makers of it. And ſo the Recital in our Caſe, which is falſe, and founded upon a falſe Information, ſhall not conclude the Plaintiff to ſay the Truth, but he may ſay that he was not attainted, and ſo avoid the Statute of Confirmation, which has Relation to a Thing that never was. And hereupon the Apprentice put a Diverſity where Acts of Parliament are referred to a Thing which is, and has no Force, and where they are referred to a Thing which is not. For in the one Caſe where they are referred to a Thing which is, and has no Force, the Act is good and adds Force to the Thing; [c] but in the other Caſe it is meerly void. [d] And upon this he cited the Caſe in 29. Ed. 3. in a Quid juris clamat brought by the Earl of Hertford and Eſſex, which he recited in this Manner: A Man endowed his Wife of a Manor ad oſtium eccleſiæ, and died, and the Wife entered, and the Heir of the Huſband granted the Reverſion to one John Matravers in Fee, and afterwards he being beyond Sea was attainted by Parliament, and all his Lands and Reverſions were forfeited, and ſeized into the King's Hands, and afterwards the King granted the Reverſion of the ſaid Manor to one in Fee, who died, and the Reverſion deſcended to his Son and Heir being Earl of Saliſbury, and afterwards the King by his Charter reciting the ſaid Attainder of the ſaid John Matravers, and the Services which he had done when he

[b] Co. Litt. 110. a. 4 Inſt. 343. 11 Co. 14. a. Pref. to 9. Co. fo. 8. a.

[c] 1 Rol. R. 152.

[d] P. 29. Ed. 3. 24. b. Fitz. Grant 100. Bro. Parlement 82.

he was out of the Realm, and that he was out of the Realm at the Time of the Judgment given, reverſed the ſame Judgment, and awarded that the ſaid John Matravers ſhould be reſtored to all his Lands and Tenements, Manors, Reverſions, &c. and that all Gifts, Alienations, and Warranties of the ſame ſhould be null, and afterwards the ſame Thing was recited in full Parliament, and there by the Aſſent of the whole Parliament the ſame Thing was ratified and confirmed, and afterwards John Matravers granted the ſaid Reverſion by Fine to the ſaid Earl of Hertford and Eſſex in Fee, and he brought a Quid juris clamat againſt the ſaid Wife and her ſecond Huſband, and there all this Matter was diſcloſed, and it was there ſaid that the Words in the Patent are only the Words of the King, who could not of his own Head reverſe an Award made in Parliament, ſo that it is but a Charter of Pardon, and although the Thing was afterwards confirmed by Parliament, this could not be of any other Effect than the Grant precedent was, by which the Judgment could not be reverſed, and therefore no more could it by the Act of Confirmation: Againſt which it was there ſaid, that if the Words of the King compriſed in the Patent had firſt been recited in Parliament in ſuch Manner as they were by the King, then it muſt be granted that the Judgment had been clearly reverſed, and now it ſeems to be of the ſame Effect, ſince the Grant before made by the King was recited in Parliament, and there approved and ratified; and for this Reaſon the Court there awarded that they ſhould attorn. From which Caſe, he ſaid, one may ſee that where an Act of Parliament confirms a Thing which is before, as the King's Charter there was, and is void of Effect, as it there was, thereby Effect ſhall be given to the Thing, for he ſaid that nothing was done by the Parliament but an Act of Confirmation, as he took it by the Argument of the Caſe in the Book, notwithſtanding that by the Recital of the Caſe by the Serjeant before Argument it ſeems as if the Parliament had added other Words of Reſtitution above the Charter; but thoſe, he ſaid, are the Words of the Serjeant there collecting the Effect of the Matter (as he took it) rather than the true Fact of the Caſe. [a] And to the like Purpoſe he and Serjeant Manwood cited the Caſe in 38. H. 6. in a Quare impedit brought by the King againſt the Abbeſs of Sion, where it appears that King Henry 5. was ſeized of a Manor to which an Advowſon was appendant, and leaſed the ſaid Manor by his Letters-patent to Huſband and Wife for their Lives, and afterwards the ſame King by his other Letters-patent reciting that the ſaid Huſband and Wife had the Manor of him, amongſt other Things, for their Lives, granted to the Biſhop of D. and others that the ſaid Manor, amongſt other Manors, Tenements, and Poſſeſſions of the Abbey of ſuch a Place in France, which the ſaid Huſband and Wife held for their Lives, ſhould remain to the ſaid Biſhop and others after the Term of Life of the ſaid Huſband and Wife, habendum et tenendum omnia prædicta maneria, terras, et tenementa, una cum advocatione to them and their Heirs, ad effectum that they ſhould grant them to the Nuns of Sion when they were founded by the King: [b] And there it was agreed by the Court that the Advowſon did not paſs to the Tenants for Life, becauſe it was not granted by ſpecial Words; and it was alſo agreed that the Advowſon did not paſs to the Biſhop and others by the ſecond Letters patent, becauſe by the Leaſe for Life it was for the Time ſevered from the Manor, and then it could not paſs by the ſecond Letters-patent becauſe it was not ſpecified in the Premiſſes of the Deed before the habendum, for it being ſevered and diſmembered from the Manor, there ought to have been Words of Grant before the habendum to make it paſs: And the Caſe ſtanding thus, King Henry 6. reciting the firſt Grant for Life, and alſo the Grant to the Biſhop and others, by Authority of Parliament ratified the ſaid Letters-patent and Grants, and there it is touched whether this Confirmation by Parliament ſhall make the Advowſon to paſs by the firſt Letters-patent or the ſecond, and alſo it is touched whether, if the ſaid Words (ad effectum) make a Condition, this Condition is taken away by the Confirmation by Parliament, or not, and there it is agreed that the Condition is not taken away by the Confirmation, and that the Advowſon was not made to paſs by the Letters-patent, for the Letters-patent are confirmed according to their Effect and Purport, and not otherwiſe. Another Point is alſo there moved, viz. that if ſo be the Grant of King Henry 5. was void, becauſe the Grant to the Biſhop and others was that the ſaid Manor, amongſt other Manors, Tenements, and Poſſeſſions of the Abbey of ſuch a Place in France, ſhould remain, &c. and the King could not grant the Lands of others, that is to ſay, the Lands of the Abbot and Convent, in ſuch Caſe it ſeemed to them that the Act of Parliament ſhall make thoſe Lands to paſs, for it is there ſaid, if the King grants the Land of another, and it is confirmed by Parliament, the Grant is made good. And ſo from theſe Caſes it appears that where an Act of Parliament confirms a Thing which is, and wants Force, the Act ſhall give Force to it, and ſhall make it to be of Effect where it was not before: [c] But if an Act of Parliament is referred to that which is not, and confirms it, as in our Caſe, there the Act ſhall be void to all Intents. [d] And hereupon the Apprentice ſaid that if a Town has Cuſtoms which are againſt Law or Reaſon, and no other Cuſtoms, and their Cuſtoms are confirmed by Parliament, in ſuch Caſe Danby Chief Juſtice in Long 4 Ed. 4. ſays that ſuch Confirmation ſhall not extend to thoſe Cuſtoms, [e] for a Thing uſed meerly contrary to Law and Reaſon is no Cuſtom notwithſtanding the Uſage, as the Law ſays; and therefore the Act of Parliament which confirms their Cuſtoms is referred to that which is not, for they have no Cuſtoms, for which Reaſon it ſhall be void. So, he ſaid, in 27 H. 8. there was an Act of Parliament made that embezzilling or Robbery of Maſters by their Servants of Things in their Cuſtody ſhould be Felony; and afterwards in the Act of 1 Edw. 6. cap. 12. all Offences made Felony by any Act after the Commencement of the Reign of King Henry 8. and all Branches in the ſame concerning the making of any Offence Felony, ſhall be void and repealed, in which Act there is a Branch by which it is provided and ordained, that an Act made in a Parliament held at Weſtminſter upon divers Prorogations the 4th Day of February in the 27th Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. and there continued and kept until the 24th Day of April then next following, concerning the felonious taking by any Servant of the Goods and Chattles of the Maſter or Miſtreſs, and all Articles and Sentences contained in the ſame Act ſhall be in Force and

Eff ect,

[a] T. 38. H. 6. 33. Bro. Confirmation 13.

[b] Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 82. Ante 152 (e).

[c] 1 Rol. R. 152.

[d] P. Long 5 Ed. 4. 32. b. Kelw. 142. a. Per Scrope. Litt. R. 233. Hardr. 41. 2 Sid. 120. Co. Litt. 295. b. Dy. 263. pl. 37.

[e] Cowel's Inſt. 6.

Effect, this Repeal notwithſtanding. [a] And he ſaid that it was taken in the Time of King Edw. 6. ſince this Act, that the ſaid Act was repealed notwithſtanding the ſaid Branch, and therefore ſome ſaid to him that they would forbear to arraign any that were indicted upon it, becauſe the Branch miſrecites the Act of 27. H. 8. for that Seſſion commenced the 4th Day of February in the ſaid 27th Year, and continued until the 14th Day of April then next following, and then ended, and it did not continue until the 24th Day of April, as the Branch makes Mention. And ſo the Branch of the Act, which has Reference to a Statute made in a Parliament commencing ſuch a Day, and continuing until ſuch a Day, where in Truth the Parliament did not continue ſo long, is void. [b] So that the Parliament may miſtake a Thing, [c] and Statutes which miſrecite Things and are referred to them ſhall be void, and none ſhall be concluded by them. [d] So in our principal Caſe, the Statute which recites that the Plaintiff was attainted, and confirms it, where in Fact he was not attainted, ſhall be void. And by the Intent of the Makers of the Act, who would not that any Man ſhould be concluded by a Thing that is falſly recited, the Plaintiff ſhall not be eſtopped, nor ſuffer any Damage thereby, but ſhall avoid the Act by Averment that he was not attainted, or by the Record pleaded, which amounts to as much. Wherefore the Counſel for the Plaintiff prayed Judgment, and a Writ to the Sheriff to enquire of Damages. And many other Things were ſaid by the Counſel on both Sides. And afterwards the Judges having conferred amongſt themſelves, Judgment was given as here follows.

[a] Crompt J. C. 14. b. Vide Dy. 203. pl. 73.

[b] Bro. Parliament 16. Crompt J. C. 12. a. 14. b.

[c] Vin. Abr. tit. Statutes A. 2. pl. 1.

[d] Crompt J. C. 14. b.

The reſt of the Record. At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came the Parties aforeſaid by their Attornies aforeſaid. Whereupon all and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen now here more fully underſtood, and mature Deliberation being thereupon had, for that it ſeems to the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen now here that the Plea aforeſaid by the aforeſaid Chriſtopher in Manner and Form aforeſaid above pleaded, and the Matter in the ſame contained, are inſufficient in Law to preclude the ſaid Robert Earl of Leiceſter from having his Action aforeſaid againſt the aforeſaid Chriſtopher, it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Robert Earl of Leiceſter his Damages againſt the aforeſaid Chriſtopher by Occaſion of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid ought to recover, &c. But becauſe it is unknown to the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen now here what Damages the aforeſaid Robert Earl of Leiceſter has ſuſtained as well by Occaſion of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid, as for his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, therefore the Sheriff is commanded that by the Oath of good and lawful Men of his Bailiwick he diligently enquire what Damages the aforeſaid Robert Earl of Leiceſter has ſuſtained as well by Occaſion of the ſaid Treſpaſs, as for his Coſts and Charges about his Suit in this Behalf expended: And that the Inquiſition which, &c. to the ſaid Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter on Tueſday next after the Octave of St. Michael, under the Seal, &c. and the Seals, &c. he ſend, together with the royal Writ to him thereof directed. The ſame Day is given to the ſame Robert Earl of Leiceſter there, &c. At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came the aforeſaid Robert Earl of Leiceſter by his Attorney aforeſaid. And the Sheriff returned a certain Inquiſition before him taken at Norwich in the Shirehouſe in the County aforeſaid the 3d Day of October in the 13th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, by which it is found that the aforeſaid Robert Earl of Leiceſter has ſuſtained Damages by Occaſion of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid, beſides his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, to 100 Marks, and for thoſe Coſts and Charges to 40 s. Therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Robert Earl of Leiceſter recover againſt the aforeſaid Chriſtopher Heydon his Damages aforeſaid by the Inquiſition aforeſaid above found, and alſo 40 s. for his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended by the Court of the Lady the Queen here with his Aſſent of Increaſe adjudged. Which ſaid Damages in the whole amount to 70 l. 13 s. 4 d. And that the aforeſaid Chriſtopher Heydon be taken, &c.

Judgment.

Nota bene. Note, the Plaintiff's Counſel prayed that they might ſee the Judgment when it was drawn before it was entered, and the Prothonotary ſhewed it to them, and he had drawn it, that the Plea aforeſaid by the aforeſaid Chriſtopher in Manner and Form aforeſaid pleaded is inſufficient in Law, &c. And the ſaid Counſel added to it (and the Matter in the ſame contained is inſufficient, &c.) and they prayed that this might be entered, for they ſaid that they demurred upon the Matter of the Plea, and not upon the Form only, and therefore they prayed that the ſaid Words might be put in, to ſhew that the Matter and the Subſtance of it was not ſufficient to prove the Plaintiff attainted. And ſome ſaid that it was not the Form of Entries in the King's-Bench to put in the Words (and the Matter in the ſame contained) as it is in the Common-Bench, and ſome Queſtion was made hereupon amongſt the Judges, and afterwards Precedents were ſearched, and at the End the Judgment was entered as before appears with the Words (and the Matter in the ſame contained.)

* See Hob. 164.

A Re-

A Report of a Judgment given in the King's Bench in Michaelmas Term, in which the thirteenth Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth ended, upon the general Pardon by Parliament of the ſaid Queen in the ſaid thirteenth Year pleaded by Richard Cole of the City of Canterbury, upon his Arraignment of Felony for killing Elizabeth Pembroke Wife of one Richard Pembroke, whereof he was indicted in the ſaid City before Henry Prowde the Queen's Coroner in the County of the ſaid City, upon the View of the Body lying dead. And the Record appears among the Records of the ſaid Term in the Crown-Office, Rot. 12. inter Placita Reginæ.

IT was found by the ſaid Indictment that the Wound whereof the Woman died was given the 12th Day of February in the ſaid 13th Year, and that ſhe died of it the 18th Day of June in the ſame Year. And the ſaid Richard Cole upon his Arraignment pleaded in his Diſcharge the ſaid Pardon, by which all Felonies, Offences, Injuries, Miſdemeanors, and other Things, Cauſes, and Quarrels in the Act not excepted, which might be pardoned by the Queen, before and until the 14th Day of the ſaid Month of February were pardoned, releaſed, and diſcharged againſt the Queen, and he averred that neither he nor the ſaid Offence were excepted in the ſaid Pardon. And he prayed to be diſcharged.

Mich. Term 13 Eliz. A. gives B. a mortal Wound, and between the Stroke and the Death a Pardon comes of all Felonies and Miſdemeanors, afterwards the Party wounded dies, altho' this is no Felony till the Death, which is after the Pardon, yet the Felony is pardoned, becauſe the Miſdemeanor, which is the Cauſe thereof, is pardoned, and conſequently every Thing that followed from it is thereby pardoned. Vide S. P. 1 Rol. R. 139. 3 Mod. 52. 7 Mod. 158. 11 Mod. 11. 1 H. H. P. C. 426. 1 Finch 8. 2 Finch 9. Wing. Max. reg. 19. pl. 61.

And (as I was credibly informed, for I was not always preſent when the Matter was touched) it was debated whether or no the Pardon ſhould diſcharge him, inaſmuch as the Offence of the Priſoner was not [a] Felony until the Death, which happened after the Pardon, and therefore the Act could not pardon the Felony which was not then committed. [b] And hereupon the Caſe in 11. H. 4. was cited, where one who had mortally wounded another was arreſted by two Conſtables, and afterwards they ſuffered him voluntarily to eſcape, and after that the Perſon wounded died, and it was there held that this was not Felony in the Conſtables, becauſe at the Time of the Eſcape the Perſon wounded was alive, and until his Death it was not Felony in him that wounded him, and then the Eſcape which was in his Life time could not be Felony. So here this is a Felony which commenced after the Pardon, for which Cauſe it cannot be pardoned by the Act.

And the Court took Adviſe hereupon, and afterwards the Juſtices agreed that the Pardon diſcharged him, becauſe the Wound given by the Priſoner was the Cauſe of the Felony, the giving of which Wound was an Offence and Miſdemeanor againſt the Queen, and that being pardoned by the Act, all the Conſequences that followed from the ſaid Offence are alſo pardoned thereby. Wherefore the Priſoner was diſcharged by Award of the Court. And the Judgment was entered as follows.

3 Bac. Abr. 807. Vide Dy. 99. pl. 65. 263 (g) and the other Books there cited.

[a] 4 Co. 42. b.

[b] M. 11 H. 4. 12. pl. 26. Fitz. Corone 84. Bro. 28. Eſcape 8. Relation 7.

Ante 258 (a)

The Judgment. 1 Judgments 240. Free Pardon allowed.

Whereupon all and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Court here more fully underſtood, the Serjeants of the ſaid Lady the Queen at Law, and the Attorney of the ſaid Queen being hereunto called and preſent, it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Richard Cole go thereof without Day.

The END of the FIRST PART.

THE

SECOND PART

OF THE

COMMENTARIES,

OR

REPORTS

OF

EDMUND PLOWDEN,

Of the MIDDLE-TEMPLE, Esq;

An APPRENTICE of the COMMON LAW.

Originally written in FRENCH, and now faithfully translated into ENGLISH; and considerably improved by many marginal Notes and References to all the Books of the COMMON LAW, both ancient and modern.

TO WHICH ARE ADDED,

The QUÆRIES of Mr. PLOWDEN,

Now first rendered into ENGLISH at large, with References, and many useful Observations.

With two new TABLES, more compleat than any yet published; the one, of the NAMES of the CASES, the other, of the PRINCIPAL MATTERS.

Veritas sæpe agitata magis splendescit in lucem.

Ἐν τοις νόμοις ἐσὶν ἡ σωτηρία τῆς πόλεως. ARIST. Rhet.

Major hæreditas venit unicuique nostrum a jure et legibus quam a parentibus. CICERO.

LONDON:

Printed for the TRANSLATOR, and to be sold by the Booksellers in London and Westminster. MDCCLXI.

THE

SECOND PART

OF THE

COMMENTARIES,

OR

REPORTS.

A brief Report of the Opinions of the Juſtices of the Common Bench in a Caſe upon a Deviſe argued by them in the Common Bench in Michaelmas Term in the 13*th and* 14*th Years of the Reign of Queen* Elizabeth, upon an Aſſize pending in the Common Bench before them, and brought by Robert Newis and Scolaſtica his Wife Plaintiffs againſt William Lark and John Hunt, for Tenements in South-Mimmes in the County of Middleſex. And the Record was entered in Eaſter Term 12 Elizabeth, Rot. * 1773. And was as follows.

* See N. Bendl. 196. S. C. ſaid to be Roll. 758.

WHITELEY.

THE Aſſize comes to recognize if William Lark Gentleman and John Hunt unjuſtly and without Judgment have diſſeized Robert Newis and Scolaſtica his Wife of their Freehold in SouthMimmes, within 30 Years, &c. And whereupon the ſame Robert and Scolaſtica by John Kemp their Attorney complain, that the aforeſaid William and John have diſſeized them of one Meſſuage, 2 Acres of Meadow, 2 Acres of Paſture, and 2 Acres of Wood, with the Appurtenances in South-Mimmes, &c. And the aforeſaid William Lark and John Hunt being ſolemnly called have not come. And the Sheriff has now returned that they have nothing, nor either of them has any Thing in his Bailiwick, by which they or either of them may be attached, nor that they or either of them have any Bailiff or Bailiffs, nor are they or either of them found in his Bailiwick. Therefore it is conſidered that the Aſſize aforeſaid be taken againſt them by Default, &c. † The Recognitors of the Aſſize aforeſaid being called came, who to ſay the Truth in the Premiſſes were elected, tried, and ſworn, whereupon William Bendloe Serjeant at Law of Counſel with the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica, in Maintenance of the Aſſize aforeſaid, before the Juſtices of the Lady the Queen of the Bench here, in Evidence to the Recognitors of the Aſſize aforeſaid ſaid, that long before the Day of obtaining the Aſſize aforeſaid one Henry Clerk was ſeized of one Meſſuage, one Garden, 40 Acres of Land, 60 Acres of Meadow, 60 Acres of Paſture, and 30 Acres of Wood, with the Appurtenances in South-Mimmes aforeſaid, whereof the aforeſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances put in View of the Recognitors aforeſaid, and in the Plaint ſpecified, then and from Time whereof the Memory of Man is not to the contrary, were parcel, in his Demeſn as of Fee. And that the ſame Henry was likewiſe ſeized of 3 other Meſſuages, 20 Acres of Land, 10 Acres of Meadow, and 20 Acres of Paſture with the Appurtenances in Uttexeter in the County of Stafford, and of one Meſſuage in the Town of Stanmer in the County of Hertford, in his Demeſn as of Fee, and held the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances of the Biſhop of London in Socage, viz. by Fealty only for all Services. And the ſaid Henry being ſo ſeized thereof, he the ſame Henry, before the Day of obtaining the Writ of Aſſize of the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica, viz. the 14th Day of Auguſt in the 4th and 5th Years of the Reign of the Lord Philip and Lady Mary late Queen of England, at South-Mimmes aforeſaid, made his laſt Will and Teſtament in Writing amongſt other Things, Part whereof follows in theſe Words, viz. "Alſo this is the laſt Will and Teſtament of "me the ſaid Henry Clerk for and concerning the good Diſpoſition of all and ſingular my Meaſes, "Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments, Rents, Reverſions and Services, with all their Ap"purtenances whatſoever, lying and being in the Counties of Stafford and Middleſex, or elſewhere "within the Realm of England, wherein or whereof I am ſeized or ought to be ſeized, with all "my Right and Title of and in the ſame: And alſo all ſuch Evidences and Muniments as I "have or ought to have concerning the ſame, I deviſe, will, and bequeath in Manner and Form "following, that is to ſay, firſt, I will that Elizabeth my Wife ſhall have and enjoy all my "Lands, Tenements, and Meadows with their Appurtenances ſet, lying, and being in the Pa"riſhes of Oldnam-Buſh and Stanmer in the Counties of Middleſex and Hertford, to her during her "natural Life, in full Contentation of her Dowry out of my whole Lands, or elſe if ſhe be not ſo "contented, then ſhe to have the third of all my Lands whereſoever they lie during her natural "Life, according to the Cuſtom of England. Item, I will and my Mind is, that my Wife afore"ſaid ſhall have and receive the Profits and Rents of all the reſt of all my Lands for the Space "of two Years next enſuing after my Deceaſe, and that ſhe ſhall of the Profits and Rents of the "ſaid two Years give and pay to Scolace and Anne my Daughters 20 l. a-Piece towards their Mar"riages, over and beſides their Portions after the Rate and Cuſtom of the City of London to them "to be contingent. Item, I give and bequeath unto my ſaid Son Francis Clerk my Houſe cal"led the Crown, with all my Houſes and Lands in the Pariſh of Uttexeter in the County of Staf"ford in the holding and Tenure of John Taylor and others: To have and to hold the ſame un"to the ſaid Francis and the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten for ever, and for Default of "ſuch Iſſue, the Remainder to the ſaid John my Son, and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully be"gotten, and ſo from Heirs to Heirs in the Form as hereafter followeth. Item, I will and be"queath to my ſaid Son John Clerk as well all the aforeſaid Lands bequeathed to my aforeſaid "Wife after her Deceaſe, as all other my Lands, Tenements, Meaſes, and Hereditaments be-† Tri. per Pais 461.

" queathed, ſituate, lying, and being whereſoever within the Realm of England, with all my " Right, Title, and Intereſt of and in the ſame, and all ſuch Deeds, Evidences, and Muniments " as I have or ought to have concerning the ſame. To have and to hold the ſame my Lands, " Tenements, and Hereditaments, and other the Premiſſes with their Appurtenances unto the " ſaid John Clerk my eldeſt Son, and to the Heirs Males of the Body of the ſame my Son in " true Wedlock lawfully begotten, ſo that he the ſaid John Clerk my Son, or ſuch his Heirs, " whenſoever he or they ſhall or may inherit, poſſeſs, or take any Profit of the ſame my Meſ- " ſuages, Lands, Tenements, and other the Premiſſes with their Appurtenances, or any Part " thereof, do well and truly content and pay unto my Son Francis Clerk his Brother 30 l. of " lawful Money of England, within three Years next after ſuch Time of Inheritance or Entry into " the ſame Lands and Tenements, if the ſame my Son Francis be then living, in Manner and " Form following, that is to ſay, by the equal Portions of 10 l. yearly during his Life of the " ſame three Years, and accordingly make or cauſe to be made unto the ſame Francis his Bro- " ther ſuch Aſſurance for the due Payment of the ſame yearly Portion or Annuity during the ſaid " three Years out of the ſame my Lands, Tenements, and other their Appurtenances, as the " ſaid Francis or his learned Counſel ſhall deviſe or require of the ſaid John Clerk my Son, or his " ſaid Heirs, without Grudge or Denial in any wiſe. And for Default of my ſaid Son John, " and ſuch his Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten, or when ſuch Heirs are deceaſed or " be ſpent, then all and ſingular the ſame my Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments, and o- " ther the Premiſſes with their Appurtenances, ſhall remain and be to my ſaid Son Francis Clerk; " To have and to hold the ſame unto the ſaid Francis Clerk my Son, and to the Heirs Males of " his Body lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, then the ſame my Lands, Tene- " ments, and Hereditaments, with all their Appurtenances, ſhall remain and be to any other Heir " of Heirs Males of my Body lawfully begotten, from one to another ſucceſſively, and to the " Heirs Males of the Body of ſuch mine Heirs lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, " and when all ſuch Heirs ſhall be all deceaſed and ſpent, then unto my Daughter Scolace, and to " the Heirs Males of her Body lawfully in true Wedlock begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, " unto her other Siſter or Siſters if any ſhe ſhall then have of my Body lawfully begotten, orderly " from one to another, and to the Heirs Males of the Body of her Siſter and Siſters lawfully be- " gotten: And for Default of ſuch Iſſue, then I will that the ſame my Lands, Tenements, and " their Appurtenances deſcend and come unto my Godſon Henry Clerk the Son of John Clerk my " Brother of Eton: To have and to hold the ſame unto the ſaid Henry Clerk my Godſon, and " to the Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, unto his Bro- " ther Francis Clerk, and to the Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch " Iſſue, unto the next lawful Heir and Heirs Males orderly from Heir to Heir of the Body of the " ſame my Brother John Clerk lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, unto Robert Clerk, " Son of William Clerk of London Ironmonger my Brother, and to the Heirs Males of his Body " lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, unto Auguſtine Clerk Brother of the ſame Ro- " bert, and to the Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten. And for Default of ſuch Iſſue of " my Brethren and their Children, the Remainder of all and ſingular the ſame my Lands, and " Tenements, Rents, Reverſions, and Services with their Appurtenances wholly and entirely to " be and remain to the Maſter and Wardens of my Company or Occupation of Pewterers of " the City of London, (whereof I am free) and to the Succeſſors from Maſter and Wardens to " Maſter and Wardens for the Time being, to have and to hold unto the ſame Maſter and War- " dens for the Time being, to the only Uſe and Behoof of the ſaid whole Company or Occupa- " tion, and to the Benefit, and Public-weal, and Commodity of the ſame Company only and " their Heirs, Succeſſors and Aſſigns for ever, in Token of a perpetual Remembrance of me a- " mongſt them to be had. And leſt it might appear to ſome not well digeſting the whole Mean- " ing of this preſent Teſtament and laſt Will, that I have ſomewhat inconſiderately or not upon " good Reſpects entailed theſe my ſaid Lands and Tenements with their Appurtenances, I have " thought good here alſo to declare the Conſiderations me thereunto moving, of which the one " is, for that I would the ſame my Lands and Tenements ſhould as long as might be continue " and be amongſt the Name of the Clerks to the further Memorial of mine own Name. The ſe- " cond is, that I would none of the Entailees aforeſaid touching the ſame to alien, bargain, ſell, " waſt, ſeparate, or conſume the ſame or any Part of the ſame, but every one ſucceſſively, as the " Thing ſhall deſcend and happen unto him, her, or them of the ſame mine Entailees, honeſtly, " quietly, huſbandly, and in reaſonable, frugal, and profitable wiſe during his, her, or their Time, " with Thanks towards me for ſuch my gentle Remembrance of them, ſhould uſe and take the " Commodity and Profit of the ſame towards his own ſo much Advancement, and yet " alter not nor hinder my ſemblable good Meaning towards him, her, or them that ſhall ſuc- " ceed him, her, or them therein, ſince equally, freely, and at mine own Election I may mean " and procure ſeverally the Benefit and Commodity of every of them, as beſt ſeemeth me. Accor" ding

" ding to which my Deviſe and diſpoſing of ſuch my Lands and Tenements, I will and my " whole Mind is, notwithſtanding whatſoever is aforeſaid, that if any of the ſaid Perſons afore " entailed to my ſaid Lands or Tenements, or their Heirs, do unlawfully vex, diſquiet, or trouble " any other of them for the ſame my Lands or Tenements, or any Part of them, or mortgage, " bargain, ſell, or pledge the ſame my Lands or Tenements, or any Part thereof, or his Intereſt, " Poſſibility, or Title of or in the ſame, in Part or in all, or in any undue wiſe entangle or in- " cumber and hurtfully diſmember, diſſipate, or waſt the ſame or any Part thereof, otherwiſe " than I ſhall leave it unto them to be uſed and enjoyed, that then and from thenceforth all and " every ſuch Perſon and Perſons, and his or their Heirs, ſo vexing, troubling, or diſquieting the " other Perſon or Perſons ſo entailed with him touching the ſame my Lands and Tenements, in " Part or in the whole, or mortgaging, bargaining, ſelling, pledging, entailing, incumbering, hurt- " fully diſmembering, diſſipating, or waſting the ſame my Lands and Tenements, or any Part " of them, ſhall forthwith be clearly diſcharged, excluded, and diſmiſſed, as touching the ſaid " Entail of mine, and the Conveyance by Words aforegoing of the entailing of my ſaid Lands and " Tenements towards him or them to be of no Force, Benefit, or Advantage towards him or them, " but the ſame my Lands or Tenements immediately to deſcend and come unto the Party next in Tail " unto him or them, as effectually as if ſuch diſorderous Perſon or Perſons had never been minded of " in this my preſent Teſtament and laſt Will." And the ſame Serjeant at Law of Counſel with the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica ſaid further to the Recognitors of the Aſſize aforeſaid on Behalf of the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica, that the aforeſaid Henry Clerk afterwards at South-Mimmes aforeſaid died of ſuch his Eſtate thereof ſeized, and that the aforeſaid John Clerk was Son and Heir of the ſame Henry. And that after the Death of the ſame Henry the aforeſaid John Clerk into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances put in View, &c. amongſt other Things, entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee tail, viz. to him and to the Heirs Males of his Body iſſuing, by virtue of the laſt Will and Teſtament aforeſaid. And that the aforeſaid John Clerk paid to the aforeſaid Francis Clerk the aforeſaid 30 l. in the ſaid laſt Will and Teſtament ſpecified, according to the Form of the ſaid Teſtament. And the ſaid John being ſo ſeized thereof by the Form, &c. the aforeſaid Francis Clerk into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in Uttexeter aforeſaid entered, and was thereof likewiſe ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee tail, viz. to him and to the Heirs of his Body iſſuing, by virtue of the laſt Will and Teſtament aforeſaid. And that the aforeſaid John and Francis Clerk by a certain Indenture made between them the ſaid John and Francis, by the Names of John Clerk of London Goldſmith, Son and Heir of Henry Clerk of London Pewterer, and Francis Clerk Brother of the ſame John, of the one Part, and the aforeſaid William Lark, by the Name of William Lark of London Eſquire, of the other Part, (which other Part, ſealed with the Seal of the ſame William Lark, the ſame Robert and Scolaſtica bring here into Court) the Date whereof is the 22d Day of July in the 8th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, for 300 l. to the ſame John Clerk paid by the ſaid William Lark had covenanted, bargained, and granted with the aforeſaid William Lark, that he the ſame John Clerk and one Joan his Wife, before the Feaſt of St. Luke the Evangeliſt next following the Date of the ſame Indenture, ſhould levy a Fine in the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen before the Juſtices of the ſaid Lady the Queen of the Bench here, viz. at Weſtminſter, of and in all their Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments in South-Mimmes in the County of Middleſex, whereof, &c. by the Names of one Meſſuage, one Garden, 40 Acres of Land, 60 Acres of Meadow, 60 Acres of Paſture, 30 Acres of Wood with the Appurtenances in South-Mimmes in the ſaid County of Middleſex, and Common of Paſture for Cattle without Number in Enfield Chace at all Times of the Year within the ſaid County of Middleſex, to the ſame William Lark his Heirs and Aſſigns, with Proclamations therein to be made according to the Form of the Statute; by which ſaid Fine the aforeſaid John Clerk and Joan his Wife ſhould acknowledge the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances to be the Right of the ſaid William Lark, as them which the ſaid William Lark had of the Gift of the aforeſaid John Clerk, and them the aforeſaid John Clerk and his Wife ſhould remit and quit-claim from themſelves and their Heirs to the aforeſaid William Lark and his Heirs for ever, with Warranty againſt the ſaid John Clerk and his Heirs for ever. Which ſaid Fine ſo levied and had ſhould be to the Uſe of the ſaid William Lark his Heirs and Aſſigns for ever. And that after the aforeſaid Fine of the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances in Form aforeſaid levied, the aforeſaid William Lark being ſeized of the Premiſſes by the Fine aboveſaid, upon a Writ of Entry upon a Diſſeizin in the Poſt to be ſued forth by ſome Perſon or Perſons againſt the ſaid William Lark touching the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, upon ſome Voucher called a Voucher to Warranty to be made by the ſame William Lark his Heirs and Aſſigns upon the aforeſaid John Clerk, that the ſame John Clerk ſhould immediately appear and enter into the Warranty, and ſhould vouch over the aforeſaid Francis Clerk Brother of the ſame John to warrantize, and that the ſame Francis ſhould vouch over the Common Vouchee in the aforeſaid Court of the Bench to warrantize in Form aforeſaid; and thereupon amongſt them to ſuffer the ſaid Perſon or Perſons proſecuting the ſaid Writ of Entry againſt the ſaid William Lark to recover the ſame Tenements againſt the ſame William Lark according to the Form, Effect, and Courſe of common Recoveries had, uſed, and ſuffered in the aforeſaid Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen of the Bench, as in the ſame Indenture more fully appears. And further the aforeſaid Serjeant at Law on Behalf of the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica then ſhewed here in Court to the Recognitors of the Aſſize aforeſaid a certain Bill bearing Date the 28th Day of October in the Year of our Lord 1566, by which it appears that the aforeſaid Francis Clerk of Uttexeter in the aforeſaid County of Stafford Yeoman received of John Clerk of London Goldſmith Brother of the ſaid Francis, for his good Will given and granted to the aforeſaid William Lark of London Gentleman for a certain Farm called Gowningſtile in the aforeſaid Pariſh of South-Mimmes, which the ſaid John Clerk aliened to the aforeſaid William, the Sum of 40 l. of which ſaid Sum of 40 l. the ſaid Francis Clerk acquitted the ſaid John Clerk by the ſame Bill, as by the ſame Bill more fully appears, of which ſaid Farm the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances put in View, &c. are parcel. And further the ſame Serjeant at Law on Behalf of the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica ſhewed here in Court to the Recognitors of the Aſſize aforeſaid one Part of the Chirograph of a Fine of the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances in South-Mimmes aforeſaid. Which ſaid Fine was levied in the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen now in the 8th Year of her Reign before James Dyer, Anthony Brown, Richard Weſton, and John Walſh Juſtices of the ſaid Lady the Queen of the Bench, between the aforeſaid William Lark Eſquire Complainant, and the aforeſaid John Clerk and Joan his Wife Deforceants, of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances put in View, &c. amongſt other Things, by the Names of one Meſſuage, one Garden, 40 Acres of Land, 60 Acres of Meadow, 60 Acres of Paſture, and 30 Acres of Wood with the Appurtenances in South-Mimmes, and Common of Paſture for all Cattle in Enfield; by which ſaid Fine the aforeſaid John Clerk and Joan acknowledged the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances put in View, &c. amongſt other Things, to be the Right of the ſaid William Lark, as them which the ſame William had of the Gift of the aforeſaid John and Joan; and them remitted and quit-claimed from the ſaid John and Joan and their Heirs to the aforeſaid William and his Heirs for ever. And further the aforeſaid John granted for himſelf and his Heirs, that they would warrant to the aforeſaid William and his Heirs the aforeſaid Tenements and Common of Paſture with the Appurtenances, againſt the ſaid John and his Heirs for ever. Which ſaid Fine in Form aforeſaid by the aforeſaid John and Joan to the aforeſaid William Lark touching the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in South-Mimmes aforeſaid, whereof, &c. then was levied to the Uſe of the aforeſaid William Lark and his Heirs for ever. By Reaſon of which ſaid Fine the ſame William Lark was of the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſaid William being ſo ſeized thereof, one William Gray Gentleman and Robert Hart Gentleman out of the Court of Chancery of the ſaid Lady the Queen ſued forth againſt the ſaid William Lark a certain Writ of the Lady the Queen of Entry upon a Diſſeizin in the Poſt, returnable before the aforeſaid Juſtices of the ſaid Lady the Queen of the Bench at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex on the Morrow of All-Souls then next following, &c. by which ſaid Writ the aforeſaid William Gray and Robert Hart demanded againſt the aforeſaid William Lark the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. amongſt other Things, &c. by the Names of one Meſſuage, one Garden, 40 Acres of Land, 60 Acres of Meadow, 60 Acres of Paſture, and 30 Acres of Wood with the Appurtenances in South-Mimmes, and Common of Paſture for all Cattle in Enfield, as their Right and Inheritance, and into which the ſame William Lark had not Entry but after a Diſſeizin which Hugh Hunt thereof unjuſtly and without Judgment made to the aforeſaid William Gray and Robert within 30 Years then laſt paſt, &c. And whereupon they ſaid that they themſelves were ſeized of the Tenements and Common of Paſture aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in their Demeſn as of Fee and Right, in Time of Peace, in the Time of the Lady the Queen now, taking thereof Eſplees to the Value, &. and into which, &c. And therefore they produced the Suit, &c. And the aforeſaid William then in proper Perſon came and defended his Right when, &c. and vouched therein to Warranty John Clerk, who was then preſent in Court in his proper Perſon, and freely warranted to him the Tenements and Common of Paſture aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, &c. And thereupon the aforeſaid William Gray and Robert Hart then demanded againſt the ſaid John, Tenant by his Warranty, the Tenements and Common of Paſture aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in Form aforeſaid, &c. And whereupon they ſaid that they themſelves were ſeized of the Tenements and Common of Paſture aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in their Demeſn as of Fee and Right, in Time of Peace, in the Time of the Lady the Queen now, taking thereof Eſplees to the Value, &c. and into which, &c. And therefore they produced the Suit, &c. And the aforeſaid John, Tenant by his Warranty, defended his Right when, &c. and then vouched over therein to Warranty the aforeſaid Francis Clerk, who likewiſe was then preſent in Court in his proper Perſon, and freely warranted to him the Tenements and Common of Paſture aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, &c. And thereupon the aforeſaid William Gray and Robert Hart then demanded againſt the ſaid Francis, Tenant by his Warranty, the Tenements and Common of Paſture aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in Form aforeſaid, &c. And whereupon they ſaid that they themſelves were ſeized of the Tenements and Common of Paſture aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in their Demeſn as of Fee and Right, in Time of Peace, in the Time of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, taking thereof Eſplees to the Value, &c. and into which, &c. And therefore they produced the Suit, &c. And the aforeſaid Francis, Tenant by his Warranty, defended his Right when, &c. and vouched over therein to Warranty John Howel, who likewiſe was then preſent in his own proper Perſon, and freely warranted to him the Tenements and Common of Paſture aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, &c. And thereupon the aforeſaid William Gray and Robert Hart then demanded againſt the ſaid John, Tenant by his Warranty, the Tenements and Common of Paſture aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in Form aforeſaid, &c. And whereupon they ſaid that they themſelves were ſeized of the Tenements and Common of Paſture aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in their Demeſn as of Fee and Right, in Time of Peace, in the Time of the ſaid Lady the Queen, taking thereof Eſplees to the Value, &c. and into which, &c. And therefore they produced the Suit, &c. And the aforeſaid John Howel Tenant then by his Warranty defended his Right when, &c. and ſaid that the aforeſaid Hugh did not diſſeize the aforeſaid William Gray and Robert of the Tenements and Common of Paſture aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, as the ſame William and Robert then by their Writ and Declaration aforeſaid above ſuppoſed: And of this he put himſelf upon the Country, &c. And the aforeſaid William Gray and Robert prayed Leave to imparl thereon, and had it, &c. And afterwards the ſame William and Robert came again into the ſame Court by their Attorney aforeſaid. And the aforeſaid John Howel being then ſolemnly called did not come again, but departed in Contempt of the Court, and made Default; wherefore it was then conſidered that the aforeſaid William and Robert ſhould recover their Seizin againſt the aforeſaid William Lark of the Tenements and Common of Paſture aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, and that the ſame William ſhould have of the Lands of the aforeſaid John Clerk to the Value, &c. and that the ſame John ſhould have over of the Lands of the aforeſaid Francis to the Value, &c. and that the ſame Francis ſhould have over of the Lands of the aforeſaid John Howel to the Value, &c. and that the ſame John ſhould then be in Mercy, &c. And thereupon the aforeſaid William Gray and Robert prayed a Writ of the ſaid Lady the Queen now to have full Seizin to be made to them of the Tenements and Common of Paſture aforeſaid with the Appurtenances. And it was granted to them returnable here from the Day of St. Martin in 15 Days, &c. At which Day here came the aforeſaid William Gray and Robert by their Attorney. And the Sheriffs, viz. Richard Lambert and Ambroſe Nicholas then returned that they, by virtue of the Writ aforeſaid to them directed, the 12th Day of November then laſt paſt cauſed full Seizin to be given to the aforeſaid William Gray and Robert of the Tenements and Common of Paſture aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, as by that Writ they were commanded. And further the ſame Serjeant at Law gave in Evidence to the Recognitors of the Aſſize aforeſaid, that afterwards, viz. the laſt Day of September in the 11th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, the aforeſaid John Clerk at London died without Iſſue of his Body lawfully begotten, after whoſe Death, and before the Day of obtaining the Aſſize of the aforeſaid Robert Newis and Scolaſtica, the ſame Robert and Scolaſtica the 30th Day of December in the 12th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances put in View, &c. entered, claiming the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances amongſt other Things, &c. by virtue of the Teſtament and laſt Will of the aforeſaid Henry Clerk, and by Force of the Forfeitures of the aforeſaid John Clerk and Francis Clerk, and by Reaſon of the Condition and Limitation in the ſaid Teſtament and laſt Will ſpecified, by them ſeverally broken and not obſerved: Upon the Poſſeſſion thereof of which ſaid Robert Newis and Scholaſtica the aforeſaid William Lark and John Hunt into the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances put in View, &c. re-entered, and the ſame Robert Newis and Scolaſtica thereof diſſeized and expelled, as the ſame Robert and Scolaſtica by their Aſſize aforeſaid above ſuppoſe. And further the ſame Serjeant at Law on Behalf of the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica gave in Evidence to the ſame Recognitors, that the aforeſaid Scolaſtica now one of the Plaintiffs, and the aforeſaid Scolaſtica in the aforeſaid Teſtament and laſt Will named, is the ſame and one Perſon, and not others nor divers. By Reaſon whereof the ſame now Serjeant at Law demands that the ſame Recognitors of the Aſſize aforeſaid ought to try and find the Aſſize aforeſaid of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances put in View, &c. in Behalf of the ſaid Robert and Scolaſtica, &c. and ought to give their Verdict that the aforeſaid William Lark and John Hunt the ſaid Robert Newis and Scolaſtica of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances put in View, &c. diſſeized, &c.

And the aforeſaid William Lark and John Hunt in their own proper Perſons ſay, that the Evidences and Allegations aforeſaid on Behalf of the aforeſaid Robert Newis and Scolaſtica above alledged are inſufficient in Law to maintain the Aſſize aforeſaid, to which they have no Neceſſity, nor are by the Law of the Land bound to anſwer; Wherefore for Want of ſufficient Evidence in this Behalf, they pray Judgment that the Jurors aforeſaid from giving their Verdict in the Premiſſes may be diſcharged, &c. and that the aforeſaid Robert Newis and Scolaſtica from having their Aſſize aforeſaid may be precluded. Defendants demur upon the Evidence.

Joinder.

And the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica ſay that for that they have ſhewn in Evidence to the Recognitors aforeſaid ſufficient Matter in Maintenance of the Aſſize aforeſaid, which ſaid Matter the aforeſaid William Lark and John Hunt do not deny, nor thereunto in any wiſe anſwer, pray Judgment, and that the ſame Jurors thereof may be diſcharged, and that the aforeſaid William Lark and John Hunt of that Aſſize may be convicted, &c. * Whereupon it is ſaid to the Recognitors aforeſaid that they ſhould enquire what Damages the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica have ſuſtained as well by Occaſion of the Diſſeizin aforeſaid, as for their Coſts and Charges by them about their Suit in that Behalf expended, if Judgment ſhould happen to be given for the ſame Robert and Scolaſtica in the Plea aforeſaid upon the Evidence aforeſaid. Which ſaid Recognitors ſay upon their Oath that if Judgment ſhould happen to be given for the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica in the Plea aforeſaid upon the Evidence aforeſaid, the ſame Robert and Scolaſtica have ſuſtained Damages by Occaſion of the Diſſeizin aforeſaid to 13 s. 4 d. and for their Coſts and Charges to 20 d. And becauſe the Juſtices here will adviſe of and upon the Premiſſes before they give Judgment thereon, Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid here until the Morrow of the Holy Trinity, to hear their Judgment thereon, becauſe the Juſtices here thereof not yet, &c. The ſame Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid here, &c. At which Day here came as well the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica, as the aforeſaid William and John, by their Attornies aforeſaid. And becauſe the Juſtices here will further adviſe of and upon the Premiſſes before they give Judgment thereon, Day is further given to the Parties aforeſaid here until the Octave of St. Michael, to hear their Judgment thereon, becauſe the Juſtices here thereof not yet, &c. At which Day the Plaint aforeſaid was adjourned by the Writ of the Lady the Queen of common Adjournment here to this Day, viz. from the Day of St. Michael in one Month then next following. At which Day here came as well the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica, as the aforeſaid William and John, by their Attornies aforeſaid. And becauſe the Juſtices here will further adviſe of and upon the Premiſſes before they give Judgment thereon, Day is further given to the Parties aforeſaid here until on the Octave of St. Hillary, to hear their Judgment thereon, becauſe the Juſtices thereof not yet, &c. At which Day here came as well the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica, as the aforeſaid William and John, by their Attornies aforeſaid. And becauſe the Juſtices here will further adviſe of and upon the Premiſſes before they give judgment thereon, Day is further given to the Parties aforeſaid here until from the Day of Eaſter in 15 Days, to hear their Judgment thereon, becauſe the Juſtices here thereof not yet, &c. At which Day here came as well the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica, as the aforeſaid William and John, by their Attornies aforeſaid. And becauſe the Juſtices here will further adviſe of and upon the Premiſſes before they give Judgment thereon, Day is further given to the Parties aforeſaid here until the Octave of the Holy Trinity, to hear their Judgment thereon, becauſe the Juſtices here thereof not yet, &c.

* Note, though the Jurors who came to find the Iſſue were by the Demurrer diſcharged therefrom, yet the Court here put them to aſſeſs Damages conditionally, and ſee the like Sty. 22. Raſt. Entr. 148. a. pl 13. 358. b. pl. 11. But it ſeems by the Caſe of Darroſe v. Newbott Cro. C. 143. that the moſt uſual Courſe is, in a Demurrer upon Evidence, to diſcharge the Jury without further Enquiry; though it is there admitted that it may be either enquired of by the ſame Jury conditionally, or by a Writ of Enquiry of Damages when the Demurrer is determined. And ſo it was held by Ld. Ch. B. Montagu at the Aſſizes in Cambridgeſhire 1682. Tri. per Pais 461. S. P. Ld. Raym. 60. Skin. 596.

The CASE.

THE Caſe upon the foregoing Record was recited thus. Robert Newis and Scolaſtica his Wife have ſued in this Court an Aſſize of Novel-diſſeizin againſt William Lark and John Hunt, complaining that they were diſſeized of their Freehold in South-Mimmes in the County of Middleſex, and they have made their Plaint of one Meſſuage, two Acres of Meadow, two Acres of Paſture, and two Acres of Wood with their Appurtenances, &c. And the Aſſize was taken by Default, and it was given in Evidence on the Part of the Plaintiffs, to prove that they were diſſeized, that one Henry Clerk Father of the Wife of the Plaintiff was ſeized of the Tenements put in View, and of divers other Lands and Tenements in Uttexeter in the County of Stafford, and in Stanmer in the County of Hertford, in his Demeſn as of Fee, and held them of the Biſhop of London in Socage. And being ſo ſeized, in the 4th and 5th Years of the Reign of King Philip and Queen Mary he made his laſt Will and Teſtament in Writing amongſt other Things, Part whereof follows in theſe Words. "Alſo this is the laſt Will and Teſtament of me the ſaid Henry Clerk for and "concerning the good Diſpoſition of all and ſingular my Meſſuages, Lands, Tenements, and He- "reditaments in the Counties of Stafford and Middleſex, or elſewhere within the Realm of Eng- "land, &c." And by this laſt Will he gave to his Wife for her Life all his Tenements in the Pariſhes of Oldnam-Buſh and Stanmer in the Counties of Middleſex and Hertford. And he gave to Francis Clerk his Son one Meſſuage and all his Lands in the Pariſh of Uttexeter in the County of Stafford, in the Tenure of John Taylor and others, to have to the ſame Francis and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten, the Remainder to John his Son and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten, and ſo from Heirs to Heirs in Form following. Alſo he deviſed to his ſaid Son John Clerk as well all his Lands given to his ſaid Wife, after her Deceaſe, as all other his Lands and Heredi-

H. C. deviſes Land to his Son in Tail, Remainder to another of his Sons in Tail, Remainder to S. his Daughter in Tail, with divers Remainders over to others of his own Name, with this Clauſe, that if any of the Entailees alien, ſell, waſt, mortgage, or diſcontinue, &c. the ſame Eſtates, that then he or they ſhall be utterly excluded from any Benefit of the Deviſe thereof to him or them, and the Eſtate ſhall immediately come to the Party next in Tail; both the Sons commit a Forfeiture of their Eſtates, whereupon S. the Daughter (Wife of the Plaintiff) enters. And held that the ſaid Clauſe of Reſtraint in the Will is not a Condition requiring a Re-entry, but a Limitation which utterly diſſolves and determines the Eſtate, and therefore that the Plaintiffs (being next in Remainder) may well enter without being driven to their Formedon or other Suit, as they ſhould be upon a Diſcontinuance, becauſe here the Eſtate ends by collateral Limitation, ſo that the Act which ended it by the Limitation could not make a Diſcontinuance, for the doing of the Act and the End of the Eſtate come together at one and the ſame Inſtant. S. C. N. Bendl. 196. pl. 235. Swinb. 157. Nelſ. Lex. Teſtam. 423. Note, in 10 Co. 42. a. it is ſaid that in Hill. 36 Eliz. Roll 339, this ſame Matter came before the Court of K. B. and was there reſolved by the C. J. and two others of the J. contrary to the Reſolution here made. Sed quære veritatem, for no Doubt the Caſe there intended is that of Bateman v. Allen in Cro. E. 437. by the Report of which the Matter in Law never came in Queſtion, nor did the Judges give any Opinion at all upon it, for the Caſe went off upon a Defect in the ſpecial Verdict. And it appears in Moor 543. pl. 721. where this Caſe came before the Court of K. B. in Hill. 38 Eliz. Roll 602. that Judgment was given according to the Opinions of 3 of the J. againſt the C. J. agreeably with the Reſolution here reported, and no Mention is there made of any ſuch Judgment given in Hill. 36 Eliz. as the Ld. Coke ſpeaks of. Vide 2 And. 139. 4 Leon. 83. 2 Brownl. 72.

it ſee agreed acc. in Gulliver v. Astby 1. Blackst. Rep. 610. 613.

taments

taments not deviſed within the Realm of England: To have to the ſame John Clerk, and to his Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten, ſo that he pay at a certain Time to the ſaid Francis 30 l. And for Default of ſuch Iſſue, the Remainder to the ſaid Francis and to the Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, the Remainder to any other Heir or Heirs Males of his own Body lawfully begotten, from one to another ſucceſſively, and to the Heirs Males of the Body of ſuch Heirs lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, and when all ſuch Heirs are dead and ſpent, the Remainder to his Daughter Scolaſtica (who is now one of the Plaintiffs) and to the Heirs Males of her Body lawfully begotten, with divers other Remainders in Tail to divers having the Name of Clerk, and at the End the Remainder to the Maſter and Wardens of his Company of Pewterers of the City of London, (of which he was free) and to their Succeſſors for ever. And after that there is this Clauſe in his ſaid Will. "And leſt it might appear to ſome "not well digeſting the whole Meaning of this preſent Teſtament and laſt Will, that I have ſome-"what inconſiderately or not upon good Reſpects entailed theſe my ſaid Lands and Tenements "with their Appurtenances, I have thought good here alſo to declare the Conſiderations me there-"unto moving, of which the one is, for that I would the ſame my Lands and Tenements ſhould "as long as might be continue and be amongſt the Name of the Clerks, to the farther Memorial of "mine own Name. The ſecond is, that I would none of the Entailees aforeſaid touching the 3 "ſame to alien, bargain, ſell, waſt, ſeparate, or conſume the ſame or any Part of the ſame, but "every one ſucceſſively as the Thing ſhall deſcend and happen unto him, her, or them of the ſame "mine Entailees, honeſtly, quietly, huſbandly, and in reaſonable, frugal, and profitable wiſe dur-"ing his, her, or their Time, with Thanks towards me for ſuch my gentle Remembrance of them, "ſhould uſe and take the Commodity and Profit of the ſame towards his own ſo much Advance-"ment, and yet alter not nor hinder my ſemblable good Meaning towards him, her, or them "that ſhall ſucceed him, her, or them therein; ſince as equally, freely, and at mine own Election "I may mean and procure ſeverally the Benefit and Commodity of every of them, as beſt ſeemeth "me. According to which my Deviſe and Diſpoſing of ſuch my Lands and Tenements I will and "my whole Mind is, (notwithſtanding whatſoever is aforeſaid) that if any of the ſaid Perſons be-"fore entailed to my ſaid Lands or Tenements, or their Heirs, do unlawfully vex, diſquiet, or "trouble any other of them for the ſame my Lands or Tenements, or any Part of them, or mort-"gage, bargain, ſell, or pledge the ſame my Lands or Tenements, or any Part thereof, or his "Intereſt, Poſſibility, or Title of or in the ſame, in Part or in all, or in any undue wiſe entangle, "or incumber, or hurtfully diſmember, diſſipate, or waſt the ſame or any Part thereof, otherwiſe "than I ſhall leave it unto them to be uſed and enjoyed, that then and from thenceforth all and "every ſuch Perſon and Perſons, and his or their Heirs, ſo vexing, troubling, or diſquieting that "other Perſon or Perſons ſo entailed with him touching the ſame my Lands and Tenements, in "Part or in the whole, or mortgaging, ſelling, pledging, entangling, incumbering, hurtfully "diſmembering, diſſipating, or waſting the ſame my Lands and Tenements, or any Part of them, "ſhall forthwith be clearly diſcharged, excluded, and diſmiſſed as touching the ſaid Entail of mine, "and the Conveyance by Words aforegoing of the Entail of my ſaid Lands and Tenements to-"wards him or them to be of no Force, Benefit, or Advantage towards him or them, but the "ſame my Lands and Tenements immediately to deſcend and come unto the Party next in Tail "unto him or them, as effectually as if ſuch diſorderous Perſon or Perſons had never been mind-"ed of in this my preſent Teſtament and laſt Will." And afterwards the ſaid Henry Clerk died, the ſaid John Clerk being his Son and Heir, after whoſe Death the ſaid John Clerk entered into the Tenements put in View, and was thereof ſeized in Tail by virtue of the ſaid Teſtament and laſt Will, and he paid to the ſaid Francis the 30 l. according to the ſame laſt Will. And further it was given in Evidence that the ſaid John Clerk and Francis by an Indenture ſhewn forth for 300*l.* covenanted, bargained, and granted with the ſaid William Lark, that the ſaid John Clerk and Joan his Wife, before the Feaſt of St. Luke then next following, ſhould levy a Fine of the ſaid Tenements put in View to the ſaid William Lark and to his Heirs, to the Uſe of him and his Heirs, and that after the ſaid Fine levied, certain Perſons ſhould recover the ſame Tenements againſt the ſaid William Lark, in which Recovery he ſhould vouch to Warranty the ſaid John Clerk, who ſhould enter into the Warranty, and ſhould vouch over the ſaid Francis Clerk, who ſhould vouch over the common Vouchee, according to the Courſe of common Recoveries. And further a Bill was ſhewn in Evidence, by which it appeared that the ſaid Francis had received of the ſaid John his Brother 40*l.* for his good Will granted to the ſaid William Lark for the buying of the Tenements put in View and others; and alſo one Part of the Chirograph of the ſaid Fine levied to the ſaid William Lark in the 8th Year of the preſent Queen in Manner before covenanted was ſhewn in Evidence. And the ſaid William Lark being ſeized thereby, it was ſhewn that the Recovery with the Vouchers aforeſaid were had and executed againſt the ſaid William Lark by William Gray and Robert Hart. And afterwards in the 12th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen the ſaid John Clerk died without Iſſue, after whoſe Death the ſaid Plaintiffs entered into the Tenements put in View, claiming them by Force of the ſaid Teſtament and laſt Will of the ſaid Henry Clerk, and by Reaſon of the Forfeitures of the ſaid John Clerk and Francis, and by virtue of the Condition and Limitation in the ſaid Teſtament and laſt Will by them broken and not obſerved; upon the Poſſeſſion of which Plaintiffs the ſaid William Lark and John Hunt re-entered, and expelled them. And it was further given in Evidence that the ſame Scolaſtica ſpecified in the ſaid Teſtament and laſt Will, and the ſame Scolaſtica now one of the Plaintiffs, is one ſame Perſon and not divers. Upon all which Matter it was ſaid on the Part of the Plaintiffs that the Jury ought to find for the Plaintiffs. And the ſaid William Lark and John Hunt demurred in Law upon the ſaid Evidence, and the Plaintiffs joined in Demurrer. And thereupon it was ſaid to the Jury by the Court that they ought to enquire of the Damages and Coſts to be adjudged to the Plaintiffs, if it ſhould happen that Judgment ſhould be given for them, whereupon they aſſeſſed for Damages 13 s. 4 d. and 20 d. for Coſts, if ſo be that Judgment ſhould be given for the Plaintiffs.

the

Mich. Term 13 & 14 Eliz.

And the Matter was afterwards argued at the Bar, ſed non interfui. And now this preſent Michaelmas Term 13 & 14 Elizabeth it was argued by all the Juſtices of the Common-Bench, at all whoſe Arguments I was preſent, except only at Part of the Beginning of the Argument of Dyer Chief Juſtice touching the Exceptions, and therefore as to that which he ſaid before my coming, I here report it from the credible Information of others. And beſides the Matter in Law, divers Exceptions were taken at the Bar to the Manner of giving the Evidence, to which the Court argued. The Exception 1, Whether Part of a Teſtament may be given in Evidence. Tri. per Pais 463.

firſt Exception was, for that the whole laſt Will and Teſtament was not ſhewn, but Part of it only, for the ſhewing of it commences with this Word (alſo) viz. alſo this is the laſt Will and Teſtament of me the ſaid Henry for and concerning the good Diſpoſition of all and ſingular my Meſſuages, &c. which Word (alſo) purports that that which is rehearſed is but a Part, and that more went before. And the Words (Part whereof here follows) carry this Meaning too. And foraſmuch as the laſt Will is the Foundation of the Evidence, it was ſaid that the Plaintiffs ought to ſhew it fully and entirely as it is, for it may be that there is ſome other Matter of Subſtance precedent, as a Condition or other Circumſtance, limited to all that which comes after. For which Reaſon it was ſaid that the whole ought to be ſhewn.

[a] Vin. Abr. tit. Faits M. a. pl. 22. 23. 24. 25.

But all the Juſtices argued to the contrary. [a] For the Party in any Title, or Bar, or other Matter, where Land or other Thing may be gained or loſt, ſhall not be forced to ſhew more than that which ſerves his Purpoſe. As in Aſſize a Man ſhall plead in Bar a Feoffment which is upon Condition, [b] See Ante 65 (f). and 105 (a). and the Books there cited.

without making Mention of the Condition in it. And ſo if an Obligation is upon Condition, the Party ſhall declare upon it without mentioning the Condition. [b] So if there is an Act of Parliament wherein there are divers Branches, a Man may make Mention of one Branch only, if ſo be it ſerves for him. [c] But Harper Juſtice ſaid, if in the Act there is a Proviſo, or an Exception, or other Matter, which goes to every Branch, there the Party ought to plead ſuch Proviſo, or Exception, or other Matter, becauſe the ſame is Parcel of every Branch, ſo that the Branch is not perfect Law without it: [d] But in Matters of Record, where the Record in Part makes for the Party, as a Fine or Recovery of one Acre, where there are 20 Acres in the Record, there the whole Record ought to be ſhewn, becauſe the Original is entire, and ſo is the Record which is grounded upon it, and therefore it ought to be entirely ſhewn; but ſo is not the Matter here. And Weſton Juſtice ſaid, that this which is ſhewn purports that it is all of the Will which concerns the Land, for the Stile is, Alſo this is the laſt Will and Teſtament of me the ſaid Henry for and concerning the good Diſpoſition of all and ſingular my Meſſuages, Lands, &c. in the Counties of, &c. or elſewhere within the Realm of England, &c. which Words (all and ſingular) and (within the Realm of England) contain all the Land, and ſhall be intended all that concerns the Land, and that nothing is omitted as to Land, and if that which is omitted concerns Goods or Chattles, it is nothing to the Purpoſe. Wherefore the Exception was diſallowed by the Court.

[c] S. P. 10. H. 7. 9. a. 16. a. Bro. Pleadings 164. Ld. Raym. 120 Per Treby C. J. 4 Bac. Abr. 656. Vin. Abr. tit. Statutes E. 3. pl. 16.

[d] Vin. Abr. tit. Faits M. a. pl. 26. See Ante 65 (d), and the Books there cited.

Exception 2. Whether the Chirograph of a Fine may be given in Evidence, being without Seal. Tri. per Pais 463. Vin. Abr. tit. Evidence. A. b. 34. pl. 1. 2 Sid. 145. 1 Finch 185, 186. 2 Finch 400. Hardr. 119. 1 Roll. Abr. 691. Q. pl. 3. 2 Mod. Entr. 359. a. pl. 10.

Another Exception taken was, for that the Fine levied by John Clerk, which was the Cauſe of the Loſs of the Land to him, was not ſhewn under the Seal of the Court or the Great Seal, but one Part indented of the Chirograph was ſhewn forth, which the Jurors are not bound to give Credit to, becauſe it wants a Seal. But all the Juſtices argued againſt the Exception. [e] For in ſuch general Iſſue the Jurors may find the Fine of themſelves, if they know of it, although it be not ſhewn by any of the Parties. And if it be true that there is ſuch a Fine, they may find it upon the Credit of any one who has ſeen it, and the Part indented which is ſhewn forth is the uſual Evidence of the Truth of ſuch Fine, and becauſe it is only an Inducement of Truth to the Jurors, the Party cannot demur upon it, for the Subſtance of the Matter is, that there was ſuch a Fine, which reſts amongſt the Records, and that is the Subſtance of the Matter, and the Part of the Chirograph is but an Image of the Truth. So that inaſmuch as the levying of the Fine, which is the Subſtance, is not denied, but confeſſed by the Demurrer, the Jury have good Cauſe to find it, and from thence it follows that the Defendants had no Cauſe to demur upon it. Wherefore the Juſtices diſallowed the Exception.

[e] So is the Law now clearly that the Jury may find Matters of Record, though not ſhewn in Evidence, contrary to the Opinions formerly, S. P. Hob. 227. 1 Leon. 206. 2 H. H. P. C. 207. Tri. per Pais 207. 1 Finch 185. 2 Finch 399, 400. Poſt 411 (d). See Vin. Abr. tit. Trial Q. f. pl. 3. 5.

The third Exception was, for that the Recovery was not ſhewn under the Seal, or at leaſt the Roll of it ſhould have been alledged particularly, ſo that the Court might ſee it, becauſe it is reſident in this Court, and they might have informed the Jury of it after they had peruſed it: And foraſmuch as the Recovery is the Foundation of the Plaintiff's Title, (for it deſtroyed as well the Eſtate of Francis Clerk, who came in as Vouchee, as the Eſtate of John Clerk) it ought to have been ſhewn in ſuch Manner as to enforce the Jury to believe it, and becauſe it is not, the Evidence is inſufficient in this Point. And of this Opinion was Harper Juſtice.

Exception 3.

Whether a Recovery may be given in Evidence without Seal. Tri. per Pais 464. 1 Finch 185, 186. 2 Finch 400. 2 Rol. Abr. 691. Q. pl. 3. 2 Mod. Entr. 359. a. pl. 10.

But all the other Juſtices argued to the contrary. For upon the general Iſſue, as this is here, the Jury may find Things which prove or diſprove the Seizin or Diſſeizin, whether they be Matters of Record or otherwiſe, if ſo be they precede the Seizin or Diſſeizin. For ſuch Records may be the Cauſe of the Seizin or Diſſeizin, for they make and deſtroy a Right, as Fines and Recoveries and ſuch like do; and therefore if the Parties don't diſcover them in the Pleading, the Jury could not give a right Verdict if they could not find them, [a] and whatever they may take Conuſance of of themſelves may be given in Evidence by Parol, or by Copies, or by other Argument of Truth. [b] But in Pleading a Man cannot make himſelf a Title in any Caſe by a Record, without ſhewing it under the Great Seal. [c] And if a Record be pleaded in Bar, the Party ſhall have a Day to bring it in under the Great Seal, as Weſton Juſtice ſaid, and ſo he ſhall plead it without ſhewing it: But ſuch Day to bring it in ſhall not be where it is given in Evidence, but the finding by the Jury is ſufficient, and [d] they may find it of themſelves, although it is not ſhewn to them in Evidence; [e] though perhaps they ſhall not be forced upon Pain of Attaint to find it, if it is not ſhewn to them under Seal, but nevertheleſs they may find it, and it ſhall be well done if it is true. [f] And as they may find it, ſo by the ſame Reaſon they may take Inſtruction concerning it from every Circumſtance that carries an Appearance of Truth. And when the Tenants demur, thereby they confeſs that there is ſuch a Record, [g] for a Demurrer upon Evidence goes to the Law upon the Matter, and not to the Truth of the Fact, for it admits that to be true, but denies the Operation of the Law thereupon, and if the Party will not confeſs the Truth of the Matter given in Evidence, then he ought to ſay ſo, and put it upon a Jury to be tried, and if they find it to be true where it is falſe, he ſhall have an Attaint; ſo that a Demurrer upon Evidence never denies the Truth of the Fact, but confeſſes the Fact, and denies the Law to be with the Party who ſhews the Fact. So here by the Demurrer he has confeſſed the Recovery, for which Reaſon it is not neceſſary to ſhew it under the Seal, or in the Roll, for it is admitted to be as it is alledged. And Walſh Juſtice in his Argument recited the Caſe in [h] 26 Aſſ. pl. 2. which was before cited at the Bar, and was thus; A Man, ſeized of a Meſſuage in Viſe, had Iſſue a Son and two Daughters, and died ſeized, having a Wife called Amy, and Amy kept herſelf in by Free-Bench, which Cuſtom held Place in the Town of Viſe, the Son, after the Death of the Father, committed Felony, and was arraigned and attainted before the Bailiffs of Viſe, and hanged, and had no Iſſue, Amy leaſed her Eſtate to one R. and died, and R. continued in Poſſeſſion eight Years after the Death of Amy; one of the Daughters died, leaving Iſſue the other Daughter, entered upon R. without cla ming any Thing to the Uſe of the Nephew, and R. ouſted her, and ſhe alone brought an Aſſize againſt R. and others, and Jointenancy was pleaded by one named in the Aſſize, and over to the Aſſize, and all this Matter was given in Evidence, and the Sole-tenancy was found, and the whole Matter aforeſaid was alſo found: And as to the Plaintiff's entering into the whole to her own Uſe, it was held that ſhe being ouſted ſhould have an Aſſize of the whole; and as to the other Matter, ſince the Felony whereof the Jury ſpoke was not pleaded, nor ſhewn forth in Evidence ſub pede ſigilli, the Court paid no Regard at all to it; wherefore it was awarded that the Feme Plaintiff ſhould recover together with Damages, &c. And he ſaid, if it be admitted that the Law was ſo there, yet it is not like to the preſent Caſe, for there the Aſſize was charged in one Court, and the Record of the Attainder was in another Court, but here the Jury was charged in this Court, and the Record of the Recovery is reſident in the ſame Court, ſo that if the Defendants would have denied it, it might have been preſently ſeen. And ſo there is a Diverſity. But note, there is another Cauſe alſo alledged in the ſaid Book of Aſſizes, viz. for that it was not alledged that the ſaid Attainder before the Bailiffs of Viſe was in a Court of Record, and if this be not material, it ſeems to me that the ſaid Judgment was not warranted by Law; for in many Caſes in the Book of Aſſizes, and elſewhere almoſt infinitely, Juries have enquired of Matters of Record, and the Judgment has purſued it accordingly. Wherefore the whole Court (except Harper) held that the Evidence was good, notwithſtanding the ſaid third Exception.

[a] S. P. agreed Alleyn. 18. Vin. Abr. tit. Evidence T. b. 45. pl. 3.

[b] S. P. Style 22a Per Roll. J. Vin. Abr. tit. Evidence A. b. 62. pl. 1. 2. T. b. 45. pl. 3.

[c] Co. Lit. 128. b.

[d] See Ante 410 (e) and the Books there cited. Vid. Dy. 239. pl. 41.

[e] 1 Finch 186. 2 Finch 400.

[f] S. P. agreed Alleyn 18.

[g] 1 Lev. 87. 2 Sid. 147. Heath Max. 95. Tri. per Pais 461, 464.

[h] Fitz. Aſſize 233.

The fourth Exception taken to the giving of the Evidence was, for that the Remainder is only limited to the Wife of the Plaintiff upon Failure of Iſſue, or upon Forfeiture of John Clerk and Francis, and alſo upon Default of Heir Male of the Body of the Deviſor lawfully begotten; for which Reaſon the Plaintiffs in their Evidence ought to aver that Henry Clerk had no other Iſſue Male but the ſaid John and Francis, and as it is, it ſtands indifferent, and may be taken as well that he had as that he had not, and if he had any other Iſſue Male, then the Wife of the Plaintiff ſhall not take any Advantage of the Determination of the Eſtates of the ſaid John and Francis, but ſuch Iſſue Male ſhall take Advantage of them; wherefore, in order to make themſelves next to the Eſtates determined, and to enable themſelves to take Benefit of them, the Plaintiffs ought to aver that the ſaid Henry Clerk had no other Iſſue Male. As if Land is given

Nota bene by the Reporter.

Exception 4.

A Remainder in Tail is deviſed to A. upon Forfeiture of B. and C. and upon Failure of Heir Male of the Deviſor; B. and C. commit a Forfeiture of their Eſtates, the Deviſor dies; Whether or no it ſhall be neceſſary for A. who makes Title to the Remainder in Tail, in giving the ſame in Evidence to aver that the Deviſor died without Iſſue Male. Vide Godb. 36.

to a Man and to his Heirs Males of his Body begotten, the Remainder to another in Fee, if he in the Remainder brings a Formedon in the Remainder, he ought to aver in his Count, and alſo ſhew in the Writ, that all the Iſſues are dead; and ſo ought the Plaintiffs here to ſhew in their Evidence that Henry Clerk had no other Iſſue Male. And of this Opinion was Harper Juſtice.

But all the other Juſtices argued to the contrary. For they held that all which the Plaintiffs gave in Evidence was to the Intent to perſuade the Jury that the Plaintiffs had a good Title and Right of Entry. [a] And to this End all the Words of Evidences ought to be inclined, for it cannot be preſumed that a Man will ſhew a Thing which makes againſt himſelf, but which makes for him, and what he ſays ſhall be applied as he intends it, viz. to his own Advantage, or elſe it would be conſtrued contrary to his Intent; [b] but if it was in a Writ or Declaration, or other Pleading, Certainty ought to be ſhewn, for there the Party muſt anſwer to it, and the Court muſt adjudge upon it, and that which the Party ſhall be compelled to anſwer to, [c] and which is the Foundation whereupon the Court is to give Judgment, ought to be certain, or elſe the Party would be driven to anſwer to what he does not know, and the Court to give Judgment upon that which is utterly incertain. But where the Matter is ſo far gone that the Parties are at Iſſue, or that the Inqueſt is awarded by Default, ſo that the Jury is to give a Verdict one Way or other, there, if the Matter is doubtful, they may found their Verdict upon that which appears the moſt probable, and by the ſame Reaſon that which is moſt probable ſhall be good Evidence. [d] So here, inaſmuch as it is not ſhewn that Henry Clerk had any Iſſue Male beſides the ſaid John and Francis, it ſhall not be intended that he had any other, and if it was really ſo that he had any other Iſſue Male, the Defendants ſhould have diſcovered it to the Jury on their Part, and without that it ſhall not be intended. Wherefore the whole Court (except Harper) diſallowed the ſaid fourth Exception.

[a] 2 Rol. Abr. 676. pl. 18.

[b] See Ante 84. (*) and the Books there cited.

[c] 2 Rol. Abr. 676. pl. 18.

[d] Kitch. 451.

The Matter in Law.

And as to the principal Matter, firſt it was held by all the Juſtices, that where Henry Clerk by his ſaid laſt Will deviſed that if any of them, to whom he had limited his Land, entangle or incumber it otherwiſe than he had left it to them, that ſuch Perſon ſo doing ſhould be diſcharged, excluded, and diſmiſſed touching the Entail, and that the Entail as to him ſhould be of no Force, the Acts which are here done, viz. the Bargain, Fine, and Recovery are ſuch Acts as give Title and Occaſion to defeat the Eſtates-Tail limited to John and Francis Clerk: For by the Fine with Proclamations the Entail of John is barrable, and by the Recovery the Tails as well of Francis Clerk as of John Clerk, as to them and the Heirs Males of their Bodies, are defeated, and ſo within the Words and Intent of the Penalty of the ſaid laſt Will of Henry Clerk. But the great Doubt was, whether the Penalty, which Henry Clerk has added to the Act done to take away the Tail, be a Condition, or a Limitation and no Condition, and how it ſtands with Law, and who ſhall defeat the Tails, and by what Means. And as to this, all the Juſtices argued that it is no Condition, for if it ſhould be a Condition, and ſhould be broken by any in Poſſeſſion or in Remainder, then the Heir, to whom the Privity of Conditions in Inheritances deſcends, ſhould enter, and thereby defeat all the Eſtates. For if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, the Remainder in Tail, the Remainder in Tail, the Remainder in Fee, upon Condition that ſome of them in the Remainder ſhall do ſuch an Act, there, if it is not done, the Feoffor and his Heirs may enter, and thereby defeat as well the Eſtate in Poſſeſſion as all the Remainders, [e] for he that re-enters for a Condition broken is in of ſuch Eſtate as he had before the Condition made, from whence it follows that he has defeated all the Eſtates. But here it was not the Deviſor's Intent that all the Eſtates-Tail ſhould be utterly defeated, for in his Declaration and Diſcourſe made after the Limitation of the Eſtates-Tail he expreſſes that his Mind was, that the ſaid Hereditaments ſhould continue in the Name of the Clerks, to the Memorial of his own Name; and further he declares, that he would not have the Eſtates defeated, but that they ſhould endure in frugal and profitable Manner, with Thanks towards him for ſuch his gentle Remembrance of them, and not to hinder his Meaning towards the others who ſhould ſucceed; and beſides this he declares, that if any of them attempt any Act contrary to his Limitation, the Tenements ſhall come to the Party next in Tail, as if ſuch diſorderous Perſon had never been mentioned in his Will. From which Clauſes it manifeſtly appears to all to be his Intent, that the Eſtate-Tail of one ſhould not be defeated by the Act of another, and the Words of every Man expreſſed in his Will ſhall be taken and expounded according to his Intent and Meaning, from whence it follows [f] that the Penalty expreſſed ſhall not be a Condition to defeat all the other Eſtates. [g] And hereupon the Caſe in 29 Aſſ. pl. 17. was cited by Harper and Dyer, where a Man ſeized in Fee of Lands deviſeable deviſed them to one for Term of his Life, and that he ſhould be Chaplain, and ſhould ſing for his Soul all his Life, ſo that after his Death the ſaid Tenements ſhould remain to the Commonalty of the ſame Town, to find a Chaplain perpetual for the ſame Tenements, and he died, and the Deviſee being of ſufficient Age to be a Chaplain entered into the Tenements, and held them for ſix Years, but was no Chaplain, and the Heir of the Deviſor ouſted him, and the Deviſee brought an Aſſize, and the Heir pleaded to the Aſſize, and all this Matter was found by the Aſſize, and the Juſtices encouraged the Aſſize as much as they could to find for the Plaintiff, and at laſt they ſaid that the Plaintiff was ſeized and diſſeized, for there it ſeemed to the Court that the Limitation that he ſhould be Chaplain, and ſhould ſing for him, was no Condition, for the Breach whereof the Heir might enter, for if he might enter, thereby the Remainder would be defeated, and it appears that it was not the Intent of the Deviſor to defeat the Remainder, becauſe it was given to find a Chaplain perpetual, and the Chaplain could not be found perpetually if the Remainder was annulled. [a] From whence it appears that Words in a Will, which ſeemingly tend to a Condition, ſhall not in the Law be taken for a Condition, when it appears to be the Intent of the Party that the whole Eſtate ſhall not be defeated. So here the Words of the Penalty ſhall not make a Condition to defeat all the Eſtates.

[e] M. 8. H. 7. 7. b. Per Keble. Bro. Condition 134. Co. Litt. 202. a.

[f] Treat. of Wills 46.

[g] Fitz. Aſſize 281. Bro. Condition 111. Vide et Nota 10 Co. 40. a. b. 41. a. 2 And. 139. 2 Brownl. 68. Perk. § 563. Dy. 127. pl. 56.

[a] Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe E. c. pl. 2. See like Point adjudged upon this Ground, 3 Co. 21. a. Wellock v. Hammond. Pollexf. 558. 2 Brownl. 72, arguendo. Dy. 316. pl. 5. Swinb. 161. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 364. § 5. Nelſ. Lex Teſtam. 317. Treat. of Wills 47.

Another Reaſon was alſo given in Proof hereof, and that was, becauſe the Tail was firſt appointed to John Clerk, who was his eldeſt Son and Heir, and it was the Intent of the Deviſor that he ſhould be reſtrained from diſcontinuing or barring his Tail, as well as any of the others, and if it ſhould be taken to be a Condition, and that there was no other Penalty for the Breach of it but Entry only, then if the eldeſt Son himſelf, who is Donee and Heir, makes a Feoffment, thereby the Condition is extinct, for the Title of the Condition paſſes in the Land, ſo that he cannot enter for the Condition broken by himſelf contrary to his own Feoffment, and as he is at Liberty to make a Feoffment, ſo is he to ſuffer a Recovery, and thereby to bar all the Remainders, which would be contrary to the Intent of the Deviſor, who had a Mind that he ſhould be reſtrained as well as the others; and therefore, if his Intent may hold Place, it ſhall not be a Condition, but there ſhall be ſome other Penalty to the eldeſt Son, which is greater to him than a Condition carries along with it, if he breaks the Intent of the Deviſor. And ſo all the Juſtices unanimouſly agreed that it was not a Condition which implies a Re-entry.

Further it was moved, that if the Penalty ſhall not amount to a Condition containing a Re-entry, whether or no it ſhall be a Limitation in Eſtate, and if it be a Limitation, whether Entry is neceſſary before it be ended, and whether the next in Remainder be privy enough to make Entry. [b] For the Lord Dyer ſaid, if a Man makes a Gift in Tail, upon Condition that if the Donee does ſuch an Act his Eſtate ſhall ceaſe, Frowick holds in 21 H. 7. that if he does the Act, his Eſtate ſhall not ceaſe before Entry, becauſe it is an Eſtate of Inheritance, which ſhall not ceaſe by Parol without an Entry in Fact, but otherwiſe it ſhould be if the Eſtate was but for [c] Life, by the Opinion of Frowick, as he cited it, for an Eſtate for Life may paſs by Parol, as by Surrender, and ſo may be determined by Parol.

[b] H. 21. H. 7. 12. a.

[c] Vide Contra Ante 135 (e) and the Books there cited. Pollexf. 78.

And as to this all the Juſtices argued, that the Clauſe in the Will which ſaith, "That the Per-"ſon mortgaging or entangling ſhall be clearly diſcharged, excluded, and diſmiſſed touching the "Entail, and that the Conveyance of the Entail ſhall be of no Force, Benefit, or Advantage to-"wards him or them," ſhall be taken and expounded in Law as a Limitation, that is to ſay, it ſhall be taken in Senſe to be a Deviſe to him in Tail, until he mortgage, alien, pledge, entangle, incumber, or does the other Acts there expreſſed. And when he ſhall do any of theſe Acts, then the Eſtate ſhall end as fully as if he had died without Iſſue Male; ſo that after the Act done the Right of the Tail ſhall ceaſe, and the Tail is merely diſſolved. As if Land is given to a Man in Tail as long as J. S. ſhall have Iſſue of his Body, or until J. S. ſhall die without Iſſue of his Body, there if J. S. dies without Iſſue, the Land ſhall revert, and the Freehold in Law ſhall be preſently caſt upon the Donor, ſo that he has the Poſſeſſion in Law before Entry. And as fully is the Eſtate and Right of the Entail ended in this Caſe here, when he does any of the Acts, for when the Intent is ſhewn by Words, and the Words are not aptly put, then ſuch Senſe ought to be put upon the Words as is ſuitable to the Intent; and foraſmuch as in Senſe ſuch Words amount to Limitations, they ſhall be taken as a Limitation, and eſpecially when the Caſe is upon a Deviſe, where the [d] Intent only is regarded, and the Words, although they are not apt in Law for the Matter, ſhall be drawn to the Intent. [e] For, as Harper ſaid, the Deviſor ſhall be accounted inops conſilii, becauſe Men moſt commonly make their Wills when they are at the Point of Death, and have not Time to ſeek Counſel, for which Reaſon the Law ſhall be their Counſel, and ſhall interpret the Words, and direct the Operation of them according to the Intent of the Party. [f] For in a Man's laſt Will he has Power like unto an Act of Parliament, as Dyer termed it, ſo that the Law ſubmits itſelf to the Matter, Order, and Form limited in laſt Wills, and requires that the ſame ſhall be obſerved. Wherefore inaſmuch as it appears here to be the Intent of the Deviſor, that he who does any of theſe Acts ſhall loſe his Eſtate-Tail, the Law, which is deſirous that the Intent ſhould be obſerved, ſays that the Tail is limited to continue until the Act prohibited is done; and ſo it is conſonant to Law. And Dyer reſembled this to the Caſe of an Action cauſa matrimonii prælocuti, where the Eſtate ſhall be defeated by the Intent, without an expreſs Condition in Deed. [g] And ſo where Land is given to Huſband and Wife during the Coverture, or as long as ſuch a one is Abbot of ſuch a Place, theſe are Times of Limitations, and the Eſtate ſhall end if the Huſband or Wife die in the one Caſe, and if the Abbot be depoſed in the other Caſe. [h] And each of the Juſtices cited the laſt Caſe which Fitzherbert puts in the Writ of ex gravi querela in his Natura Brevium, which is thus; A Man deviſes Land in London to his Wife for Life, upon Condition that if ſhe marries the Land ſhall remain to his Son in Tail, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, the Remainder to the right Heirs of the Donor in Fee, the Wife takes Huſband, and ſhe and the Huſband occupy the Land, he in Remainder dies without Heir of his Body, the right Heir of the Donor ſhall have a ſpecial Writ of ex gravi querela, directed to the Mayor and Sheriffs of London, rehearſing this ſpecial Deviſe and the ſaid Matter, commanding them to call the Parties, and to hear them, &c. and [d] See Ante 162 (m) and there Books there cited.

[e] See Ante 162, 163. Poſt 550.

[f] Cro. E. 525. Bridgm. 135. Treat. of Wills 1. Forteſc. Rep. 21.

[g] Litt. § 380. 382. 10 Co. 41. b. 42. a. 1 Finch 86. 2 Finch 105. Ante 242 (t).

[h] F. N. B. 201. c. 10 Co. 41. a. Dy. 127. pl. 53.

and to do right: So, he ſays, it appears that he in Remainder ſhall have Advantage of the Condition if it be broken, but that ſhall be by way of ſuing this Action, and not of Entry by Force of the Condition not performed, and the ſaid Writ appears in the Regiſter: And all this appears in the ſaid Natura Brevium. And the Juſtices ſaid that the Words of the Condition there mentioned are not properly a Condition, but Words of Limitation, ſo that in Senſe the Caſe is thus; A Man deviſes Land to his Wife for Term of her Life, if ſhe ſo long continue ſole, and if ſhe marries, the Remainder in Tail, the Remainder to his own right Heirs, ſo that there the Marriage is the Limitation which determines the Eſtate, and the Remainder there commences upon the Eſtate ended. But Dyer ſaid that where it ſeemed to Fitzherbert in that Caſe that the Heir of the Donor might not enter, in his Opinion he might well enter. And ſo this is a good Precedent for our Caſe, that Words of Condition there put in a Will ſhall not be taken as a Condition, but as a Limitation, for ſo they are moſt conſonant to Law. [a] And Dyer cited a Conveyance which Fitz-James, Chief-Juſtice of the King's-Bench, cauſed to be made to his Wife in Anno 28 H. 8. which he had ſeen, whereby Elizabeth his Wife had an Eſtate for Life with Remainder over, upon Condition that if ſhe ſhould make a Diſcontinuance of other Land which was aſſured to her, that then her Eſtate ſhould ceaſe, and he in Remainder ſhould enter. And it is to be preſumed that he being Chief-Juſtice made this Eſtate with the Aſſent of the other Juſtices who were his Companions, and that they took it that the Condition there expreſſed was not a Condition, but a Limitation which ſhould end the Eſtate of his Wife, ſo that that being determined, he in Remainder ſhould enter. And if it ſhall be ſo in that Caſe where it was by Deed, a fortiore ſhall it be ſo here where it is by laſt Will, in which the Intent rules the Words, and not the Words the Intent. And Harper put many Caſes to prove that the [b] Intent in Deviſes ſhall make Eſtates to paſs contrary to the Rules of the Common Law in Deeds or other Gifs. [c] As a Deviſe to one for Life, where there is no ſuch Perſon, the Remainder in Fee, he in Remainder ſhall take the Land, although there is no Eſtate precedent. [d] And if Land is deviſed in Tail, the Remainder in Tail, and the firſt Deviſee diſagrees, he in Remainder ſhall have it. [e] And if one deviſes Land to a Man after the Death of his Wife, the Wife ſhall have an Eſtate for Life, although it be not given to her, and this is by Reaſon of the Intent. [f] And he alſo cited the Caſe in 10 H. 7. where Ceſtuy que uſe deviſed that his Wife Executrix ſhould ſell his Land, and died, and ſhe took another Huſband, and ſhe ſold the Land to her ſaid ſecond Huſband, and the Sale was adjudged good. [g] And he alſo cited the Caſe in 34 Ed. 3. where a Man had Iſſue a Son and a Daughter, and deviſed Land deviſeable to one for Life, upon Condition that if the Son diſturbed the Tenant for Life, or the Executors of their Adminiſtration, then the Land ſhould remain to the Daughter, and he died, and the Daughter, after the Death of the Tenant for Life, brought a Formedon in Remainder againſt the Son, and alledged that he had diſturbed the Tenant for Life and the Executors, and the Son traverſed it, and thereupon Iſſue was joined. So that there the Condition took away the Fee out of the Son, and put it in the Daughter by the Allowance of the Law, in order to perform the Intent of the Deviſe, although the Remainder did not veſt when the firſt Eſtate took Effect. And upon this Principle Weſton cited the Caſe which is alledged by Fitzherbert tit. Deviſe pl. 18. and is there cited to be in 28 H. 6. viz. [h] If Land is deviſed to a Man and to his Heirs Males of his Body, and he has Iſſue a Daughter, who has Iſſue a Son, this Son ſhall be inheritable, and yet of a Gift in Tail the Law is otherwiſe, and this by the Opinions of all the Juſtices in the Exchequer-Chamber. But Dyer denied the Law to be ſo, for he ſaid there does not appear to be any Intent of the Deviſor that the Son ſhould inherit, and he ſaid that the Caſe is not in the Book at large, but Fitzherbert alledged it verbatim out of Statham. And many other good Caſes were cited by Harper and the other Juſtices, which I have forebore to recite at large, becauſe it is my Deſign only to make a brief Memorandum of the Cauſe of the Reſolution of the Juſtices.

[i] And Weſton was in ſome Doubt in this Caſe, whether, if Francis Clerk had had a Son, his Son ſhould have entered and had the Land by the Intent of the Deviſor, and thereupon whether it ſhould be neceſſary for the Plaintiffs to ſhew in Evidence that Francis had no Iſſue; but Dyer ſaid that the Words of the Will are, "That ſuch Perſon and Perſons, and his and their Heirs, ſo "vexing, &c. ſhall forthwith be clearly diſcharged, excluded, &c." which Word (Heirs) manifeſts his Intent to be, that for the Offence of the Anceſtor the Heir ſhall be diſinherited: And ſo, he ſaid, we ſee that for the Tranſgreſſion of the Father God will puniſh the Children unto the third and fourth Generation, as he ſaith in the Commandments, but that is to be underſtood in this World, for, as touching the Soul, the Son ſhall not bear the Iniquity of the Father.

And all the Juſtices agreed upon the Matter in Law, viz. that the ſaid Clauſe of Reſtraint ſhall be a Limitation which ſhall determine the Eſtates, and not a Condition requiring Re-entry, and that by the ſaid Acts, viz. the Bargain, Fine, and Recovery, the Eſtates-Tail were ended, and that the Plaintiffs might enter, and ſhould not be driven to any Formedon or other Suit, as they ſhould be upon a Diſcontinuance of any other Eſtate-Tail general by Feoffment or Fine, and by dying without Iſſue after, for here the Eſtate ended by collateral Limitation, ſo that the Act which ends the Eſtate by the Limitation cannot make a Diſcontinuance, for the doing of the Act and the End of the Eſtate come together at one and the ſame Inſtant; for the Fine levied by John determined his Intereſt, and was no Diſcontinuance to Francis, becauſe the Eſtate-Tail of John was not in eſſe longer than [a] Moor 252.

[b] S. P. 2 Rol. R. 424. 1 And. 189. Rep. temp. Hardwick 29, 30. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe F. a. pl. 4. Swinb. 141. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 420. Treat of Wills 30.

[c] T. 9. H. 6. 24. b. Per Godred. Treat. of Wills 30, 31, 55. Andrew's Rep. 267. Vin. Abr. tit. Remainder C. 2. pl 1. Same Law where the particular Eſtate is deviſed to an incapable Perſon, as a Monk, Dy. 127. pl. 54. Perk. § 567. 2 Brownl. 247. Strange 332. Swinb. 182. Treat. of Wills 55.

[d] T. 37. H. 6. 36. a. Dy. 310. pl. 79. 1 Co. 101. a. Cro. E. 423. 2 Brownl. 247. 1 Eq. Abr. 216. pl 4. Vin. Abr, tit. Remainder C. 2. pl. 2. Treat of Wills 16. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 173.

[e] See Ante 158 (c) and the Books there cited.

[f] P. 10. H. 7 20. pl. 9. Bro. Executors 175. 2 Brownl. 67.

[g] H. 34. Ed. 3. Fitz. Formedon pl. ult. 4 Bac. Abr. 322. Vin. Abr. tit. Remainder H. 2. pl. 1. Ante 27 (d).

[h] S. P. accord. M. 11. H. 6. 12. b. 13. a. Bro Deviſe 32. 30 H. 8. Bro. Ibid 29. Cowel's Inſt. 114. Nelſ. Lex Teſt. 305, 533. Sed Contra Co. Litt. 25. a. Hob. 32, 33. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 332, § 3. 336, 357, § 11. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 417. 420. Treat. of Wills 37. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 69, 70. where the Caſe of 28 H. 6. here cited is denied to be Law.

[i] Godb. 102.

than the Fine took Effect, and it being determined could not be diſcontinued as to him, or the other, or him in Remainder, and the Recovery determined the Eſtate of Francis which preceded, and ſo there is no Diſcontinuance to retard the Entry of the Plaintiffs.

And afterwards Judgment was prayed for the Plaintiffs, and the Court ſaid that they ſhould have Judgment, and they were of Opinion to give Judgment for them. And then it was ſhewn that there was a Fault in the original Writ, for the Writ was, And ſummon you them by good Summoners, that they may be then before our aforeſaid Juſtices at Weſtminſter, &c. and in the Writ there was no Mention before made of the Juſtices, ſo that (aforeſaid) was ſuperfluous, * and it was ſaid that it made the Writ abatable. And this Exception only delayed the Judgment, but did not diminiſh the Credit of the Opinions of the Juſtices touching the principal Matter. Which Writ, with the Return thereof and the Panel, here follows.

* See Hob. 282. 4 Mod. 160, Booth 266. Heath's Max. 163. See Ante 150, at the Top.

Elizabeth by the Grace of God of England, France, and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith, &c. To the Sheriff of Middleſex greeting. Robert Newis and Scolaſtica his Wife have complained to us, that William Lark Gentleman and John Hunt unjuſtly and without Judgment have diſſeized them of their Freehold in South-Mimmes within 30 Years now laſt paſt: And therefore we command you that if the aforeſaid Robert and Scolaſtica ſhall make you ſecure of proſecuting their Claim, then that you cauſe that Tenement to be reſeized of the Chattles which within it were taken, and it with the Chattles to be in Peace until Wedneſday next after one Month of Eaſter next to come. And in the mean time that you cauſe 12 free and lawful Men of that Neighbourhood to ſee the ſaid Tenement, and their Names to be impannelled; and ſummon you them by good Summoners that they may be then before our (aforeſaid) Juſtices at Weſtminſter, ready therein to make Recognition. And put by Gages and ſafe Pledges the aforeſaid William and John, or their Bailiffs, if they cannot be found, that they may be then there to hear that Recognition. And have you there the Summoners, the Names of the Pledges, and this Writ. Witneſs ourſelf at Weſtminſter the 23d Day of March in the 12th Year of our Reign.

Lutwych.

By R. Rede, becauſe it is affirmed that the Tenements within ſpecified do not exceed the Value of 40 s. by the Year.

Pledges of proſecuting { John Doe. / Richard Roe.

The within named William Lark and John Hunt have nothing, nor either of them has any Thing in my Bailiwick, by which they or either of them may be attached, nor have they or either of them any Bailiff or Bailiffs, nor are they or either of them found in my ſame Bailiwick. The Reſidue of the Execution of this Writ appears in a certain Panel to the Writ annexed.

The Anſwer of { Henry Becher / William Dan } Sheriffs.

The Names of the Recognitors of the Aſſize of Novel Diſſeizin between Robert Newis and Scolaſtica his Wife Plaintiffs, and William Lark Gentleman and John Hunt Defendants, for Tenements in South-Mimmes.

Summoners of the Jurors { John Doe. / Richard Roe.

Manucaptors of the Jurors { John Ben. / Richard Fen. / William Pye, and / Hugh Fly.

The Endorſement on the Back of the Names of the Jury.

Let the Aſſize be taken by Default, &c.

Adjourned until Wedneſday next after the Feaſt of the Apoſtles Philip and James, and further adjourned until Friday next after the Feaſt of the Aſcenſion of our Lord.

A Report of a Judgment given, and of the Cauſes thereof, in the King's Bench in Trinity Term in the 14*th Year of the Reign of Queen* Elizabeth, upon a ſpecial Verdict found in a Bill of Ejectione firmæ there brought by Anticle Bracebridge Plaintiff againſt Richard Cook otherwiſe Smith Defendant, upon an Ejectment of a Houſe and 30 Acres of Land, 20 Acres of Meadow, and 40 Acres of Paſture with the Appurtenances in Kinſbury in the County of Warwick. And the Record is entered in Michaelmas Term 13 & 14 Elizabeth, Rot, 325, and was as follows.

Warwick. Same Precedent Raſt. Entr. 256. pl. 13.

BE it remembered, that otherwiſe, viz. in the Term of St. Michael laſt paſt, before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came Anticle Bracebridge Gentleman by Richard Beſt his Attorney, and produced here in the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen then there his certain Bill againſt Richard Cook otherwiſe Smith in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal, &c. of a Plea of Treſpaſs and Ejectment of a Farm; and there are Pledges of proſecuting, viz. John Doe and Richard Roe. Which ſaid Bill follows in theſe Words, ſs. Warwick ſs. Anticle Bracebridge Gentleman complains of Richard Cook otherwiſe Smith in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal of the Marſhalſea of the Lady the Queen before the Queen herſelf, for this, viz. whereas one Thomas Bracebridge of Kinſbury in the County aforeſaid Eſquire was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee of and in one Meſſuage with the Appurtenances in Kinſbury aforeſaid, and of and in 30 Acres of Land, 20 Acres of Meadow, and 40 Acres of Paſture with the Appurtenances in Kinſbury aforeſaid, late in the Tenure or Occupation of Thomas Smith; and being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame Thomas Bracebridge the 26th Day of Auguſt in the 4th Year of the Reign of Lord Edward 6. late King of England, at Kinſbury aforeſaid, by his certain Indenture ſealed with the Seal of him the ſaid Thomas, bearing Date the ſame Day and Year, demiſed, granted, and to Farm let the Meſſuage aforeſaid and other the Premiſſes with the Appurtenances to George Griffith of Wichenore in the County of Stafford Knight, by the Name of one Meſſuage or Tenement called the Cliff in Kinſbury aforeſaid then in the Tenure of the ſaid Thomas Smith: To have and to hold the aforeſaid Meſſuage and other the Premiſſes with the Appurtenances to the aforeſaid George Griffith Knight, his Executors and Aſſigns, from the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel next following the Date of the ſaid Indenture, unto the End and Term of 70 Years from thence next following and fully to be compleat. By virtue of which ſaid Demiſe the ſame George into the Meſſuage aforeſaid and other the Premiſſes with the Appurtenances, after the aforeſaid Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel, entered, and was thereof poſſeſſed; and being ſo thereof poſſeſſed, the ſame George afterwards, viz. the 14th Day of November in the aboveſaid 4th Year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Edward 6. at Kinſbury aforeſaid, by his certain Indenture ſealed with the Seal of him the ſaid George Griffith, bearing Date the ſame Day and Year, demiſed, granted, and to Farm let the Meſſuage aforeſaid and other the Premiſſes with the Appurtenances, by the Name of his ſaid late Meſſuage or Tenement with the Appurtenances called the Cliff in Kinſbury aforeſaid, to the aforeſaid Anticle Bracebridge: To have and to hold the aforeſaid Meſſuage and other the Premiſſes with the Appurtenances to the aforeſaid Anticle Bracebridge, his Executors and Aſſigns, from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Virgin Mary next following the Date of the ſaid Indenture for and during the whole Term aforeſaid of the ſaid George then to come of and in the Premiſſes. By virtue of which ſaid Demiſe and Grant the ſame Anticle Bracebridge into the Meſſuage aforeſaid and other the Premiſſes with the Appurtenances, after the aforeſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Virgin Mary, entered, and was thereof poſſeſſed, until the aforeſaid Richard Cook otherwiſe Smith afterwards, viz. the 26th Day of November in the 12th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, with Force and Arms, &c. into the Meſſuage aforeſaid and other the Premiſſes with the Appurtenances upon the Poſſeſſion of the ſaid Anticle thereof entered, and the ſaid Anticle from his Farm aforeſaid, his Term aforeſaid therein not yet ended, ejected, expelled, and amoved, and the ſaid Anticle from the Poſſeſſion thereof held out, and yet holds out, and other Wrongs to him did, againſt the Peace of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, and to the Damage of the ſaid Anticle 60 l. and therefore he brings Suit, &c.

And now this Day, viz. Tueſday next after the Octave of St. Michael in this ſame Term, until which Day the aforeſaid Richard Cook had Leave to imparl to the Bill aforeſaid, and then to anſwer, &c. before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came as well the aforeſaid Anticle by his Attorney aforeſaid as the aforeſaid Richard Cook otherwiſe Smith by Michael Lowe his Attorney. And the ſame Richard Cook otherwiſe Smith defends the Force and Injury when, &c. and ſays that he is not guilty thereof, and of this he puts himſelf upon the Country, and the aforeſaid Anticle likewiſe, &c. Therefore let a Jury come thereon before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter on Wedneſday next after the Octave of St. Hillary, and who neither, &c. to recognize, &c. becauſe as well, &c. The ſame Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid there, &c. Afterwards at the Day and Place within contained before James Dyer Knight Chief Juſtice of the Lady the Queen of the Bench, and Nicholas Barham one of the Serjeants of the ſaid Lady the Queen at Law, Juſtices of the Lady the Queen aſſigned to take Aſſizes in the County of Warwick, by the Iſſue on Not Guilty.

Poſtea.

Form

Form of the Statute &c. came as well the within named Anticle Bracebridge by Thomas Foſter his Attorney, as the within written Richard Cook by Thomas Callow his Attorney. And the Jurors of the Jury whereof Mention is within made being called likewiſe came. Who to ſay the Truth of the within contained being choſen, tried, and ſworn, ſay upon their Oath that the within named Thomas Bracebridge was ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid within ſpecified with the Appurtenances in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo thereof ſeized, the ſame Thomas Bracebridge within ſpecified, the 26th Day of Auguſt in the 4th Year of the Reign of the within named late King Edward 6. within ſpecified, demiſed to the within named George Griffith the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances: To have and to occupy to the ſame George Griffith and his Aſſigns from the within ſpecified Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel then next following until the End and Term of 60 Years from thence next following and fully to be compleat. By virtue of which Demiſe the ſame George Griffith was of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances poſſeſſed; and being ſo thereof poſſeſſed, and the aforeſaid Thomas Bracebridge being ſeized of the Reverſion of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in his Demeſn as of Fee and Right, the ſame George the within written 14th Day of November in the aboveſaid 4th Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King Edward 6. granted all his Eſtate, Intereſt, and Term of Years, which he then had to come of and in the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, to the aforeſaid Anticle Bracebridge, and to one Joice then Wife of the aforeſaid Thomas Bracebridge. By virtue of which Grant the aforeſaid Thomas Bracebridge and Joice in Right of the ſame Joice, and the ſame Article in his own proper Right, were of the Premiſſes aforeſaid poſſeſſed. And they being ſo thereof poſſeſſed, the aforeſaid Joice afterwards died, after whoſe Death the aforeſaid Thomas Bracebridge likewiſe died, after whoſe Deaths the aforeſaid Anticle Bracebridge, claiming the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances by Reaſon of the Grant aforeſaid by the aforeſaid George Griffith to the ſame Anticle and to the aforeſaid Joice in Form aforeſaid made, into the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances entered, and was thereof poſſeſſed, until the aforeſaid Richard Cook, the within written 26th Day of November in the within written 12th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances upon the Poſſeſſion of the aforeſaid Anticle thereof re-entered, and the ſaid Anticle from his Farm thereof ejected. But whether the Entry and Ejectment of the aforeſaid Anticle be an Ejectment of the whole Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, or of a Moiety of the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances, or not, the ſame Jurors are wholly ignorant, and therein they pray the Advice and Diſcretion of the Juſtices aforeſaid and of the Court, &c. And if upon the whole Matter aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid found it ſhall ſeem to the ſame Juſtices that the ſame Ejectment of the aforeſaid Anticle is an Ejectment of the ſame Anticle out of the whole Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, then the ſame Jurors ſay upon their Oath that the aforeſaid Richard Cook is guilty of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment within ſpecified in the whole Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, as the ſame Anticle within complains againſt him, and then they aſſeſs the Damages of the ſaid Anticle by Occaſion of the ſaid Treſpaſs and Ejectment, beſides his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, to 6 l. and for thoſe Coſts and Charges to 20 s. And if upon the whole Matter aforeſaid it ſhall ſeem to the Juſtices aforeſaid that the ſame Ejectment of the aforeſaid Anticle is an Ejectment of the ſame Anticle out of the Moiety only of the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances, then the ſame Jurors ſay upon their Oath that the aforeſaid Richard Cook is guilty of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment within written of and in the Moiety of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, as the ſame Anticle within complains againſt him, and then they aſſeſs the Damages of the ſaid Anticle by Occaſion of the ſaid Treſpaſs and Ejectment thereof, beſides his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, to 60 s. and for thoſe Coſts and Charges to 20 s. &c. and then the ſame Jurors further ſay that the aforeſaid Richard Cook is not guilty of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment within ſpecified of and in the other Moiety of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, as the ſame Richard within has alledged, &c.

Special Verdict.

THE CASE.

IT appears by the Record that the Plaintiff has declared upon a Leaſe for 70 Years made by Thomas Bracebridge to Sir George Griffith Knight the 26th Day of Auguſt Anno 4. Edw. 6. to have and to hold from the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel then next following; by Reaſon whereof Sir George, after the ſaid Feaſt of St. Michael, entered, and was poſſeſſed. And being ſo poſſeſſed, he the 14th Day of November in the ſaid 4th Year of the Reign of King Edw. 6. demiſed and granted the ſaid Tenements to the ſaid Plaintiff, to have and to hold from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady then next following during all the ſaid Term then to come; by Reaſon whereof the Plaintiff after the ſame Feaſt entered, and was poſſeſſed until the Defendant the 26th Day of November in the 12th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen ouſted him. The Defendant pleaded, not guilty, and the Matter was tried by Niſi Prius in the County of Warwick, where the Jury gave a ſpecial Verdict, and found that the ſaid Thomas Bracebridge was ſeized in Fee, and made the Leaſe to the ſaid Sir George Griffith, as it was alledged in the Declaration; but they found Husband makes a Leaſe for Years, the Leſſee grants the Term to the Wife of the Leſſor and to a Stranger, the Husband and Wife die, the Stranger ſurvives, adjudged that he ſhall have the whole by Survivorſhip, for the immediate Eſtate of Inheritance in the Husband did not merge the Wife's and ſo the Stranger has Title to the whole by Survivorſhip. S. C. Vin. Abr. tit. Merger G. pl. 6.

Moiety of the Term, and ſo diſſolve the Jointenancy between the Wife and the Stranger, but the ſame continued notwithſtanding the Coverture, further, that the ſaid Sir George made the Grant the ſaid 14th Day of November to the ſaid Plaintiff and to Joice then Wife of the ſaid Thomas Bracebridge the Leſſor, by Reaſon whereof the ſaid Thomas Bracebridge and Joice in Right of the ſaid Joice, and the Plaintiff in his own proper Right, were poſſeſſed of the Premiſſes, and afterwards the ſaid Joice died, and after that the ſaid Thomas Bracebridge died, whereby the ſaid Plaintiff claiming the whole continued in Poſſeſſion until the Defendant the ſaid 26th Day of November ouſted him. But whether this Ouſter ſhall be ſaid an Ejectment of the Plaintiff out of all the Tenements, or only out of the Moiety of them, or not, the Jurors were ignorant, and they prayed the Advice and Diſcretion of the Juſtices, and if it ſhould ſeem to the Juſtices that the ſaid Ejectment ſhall be ſaid an Ejectment of the Plaintiff out of all the Tenements, then they ſaid that the Defendant was guilty of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment within ſpecified, as the Plaintiff has alledged, and then they aſſeſſed Damages to 6 l. and Coſts to 20 s. And if it ſhould ſeem to the Juſtices that the ſaid Ejectment ſhall be ſaid an Ejectment of the Plaintiff out of the Moiety of the Tenements only, then they ſaid that the Defendant was guilty of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment for the Moiety, and then they aſſeſſed Damages to 3 l. and Coſts to 20 s. and then they ſaid that he was not guilty of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment within ſpecified of and in the other Moiety of the ſaid Tenements.

And whether the Plaintiff ſhould have Judgment upon this Verdict for the Moiety only, or for the whole, was often debated the laſt Eaſter Term, and this Term alſo. And for the one Moiety the Title of the Plaintiff was held to be good without Queſtion, but the Doubt lay upon the other Moiety which the Wife had, viz. whether the Title of the Plaintiff ſhould be good as to that, or not, for if the Plaintiff has not a good Term in that Moiety, then he cannot have Judgment to recover the ſame Moiety. And as to the Right and Title thereof the Matter was divided into two diſtinct Points.

The Points of the Caſe.

The firſt was, when Sir George Griffith had a Leaſe for Years of the whole, and granted over his Eſtate to a Feme-covert and another, (admitting that the Huſband had not the Reverſion thereof) whether or no thereby the Term remained in Jointure, or if the Jointure was diſſolved by the Intereſt of the Huſband.

The ſecond was, (admitting that it continued in Jointure in ſuch Caſe) whether or no the immediate Freehold and Inheritance which the Huſband had ſhall merge the Term which the Wife had in the Moiety, and ſo diſſolve the Jointure between the Wife and Anticle the Plaintiff.

[a] 1 Finch 30. 2 Finch 42. 1 Bac. Abr. 287. Vin. Abr. tit. Jointenants E. pl. 18.

[b] Co. Litt. 185. b. Plowd. Quær. § 265.

[c] Ante 191 (g).

[d] 1 Finch 30. 2 Finch 42. Vide Co. Litt. 46. b. 3 Bulſt. 164.

[e] Co. Litt. 351. a. 1 Rol. Abr. 344. pl. 4. Cro. C. 344. 1 Finch 30. 2 Finch 43. Godolph. Orph. Leg. fo. 31. § 4. Swinb. 188. Off. of Exec. 196, 425. 1 Bac. Abr. 287. againſt the Opinion of Hankf. P. 2. H. 4. 19. b.

[f] M. 7. H. 6. 1, 2. pl. 6. Fitz. Charge 1. Bro. 41. M. 9. H. 6. 52. Fitz. Ibid. 2. Bro. 1. Co. Litt. 184. b. 351. a. 1 Rol. Abr. 344. pl. 5. 346. J. pl. 2. 1 Finch 30. 2 Finch 43. 1 Vern. 396. 1 Bac. Abr. 287.

[g] M. 21. H. 7. 29. pl. 4. per Fineux. Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 7 fo. 23. Dy. 7. pl. 5. Co. Litt. 185. b. 300. a. 351. b. 2 Brownl. 91. 1 Finch 29, 30. 2 Finch 42, 43. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 30. 1 Bac. Abr. 289. Cowel's Inſt. 26.

[h] 1 Finch 30. 2 Finch 43.

[i] That the Inheritance in the Huſband does not extinguiſh the Term for Years in the Caſe here, See Co. Litt. 338. b. 1 Rol. Abr. 934. pl. 11, 12. 2 Rol. R. 472. Cro. J. 275. 3 Bac. Abr. 455, 456. Godb. 2, per Manwood. 4 Leon. 38, per Idem. Jenk. 73. Hetl. 36.

[k] Vin. Abr. tit. Merger G. pl. 6.

And as to the firſt Point, the Court held the Law to be, [a] that if a Man who has a Leaſe for Years grants his Term to a Feme-covert and another, [b] or if a Feme-ſole and another are Jointenants for Years, and ſhe takes Huſband, the Jointure is not diſſolved, but continues, and the Survivor of the Wife or of the Stranger ſhall have the whole Term in that Caſe, becauſe a Term for Years is a Chattle real, in which Caſe the Marriage of the Wife ſhall not [c] deveſt the Term out of the Wife, but ſhe has an Eſtate in it as ſhe had before, ſo that if a Stranger ouſts them, [d] the Wife ought to join with the Huſband in bringing an Ejectione firmæ, and the Wife ſhall have Judgment as well as the Huſband: [e] And if a Woman who has a Term for Years takes Huſband, the Huſband cannot deviſe the Term to another by his Teſtament, for the Wife at the Time of his Death, and before his Death, had an Eſtate in her, which ſhall prevent the Deviſe and fruſtrate it; [f] and if the Huſband in his Life time had granted a Rent-charge out of the Term, the Wife Survivor ſhould avoid the Charge and all other Incumbrances, for ſhe being the Survivor is remitted to the Term, which the Coverture does not deveſt out of her. [g] But otherwiſe it is of Chattles perſonal, for if a Woman who has perſonal Goods takes Huſband, the Law deveſts the Property out of the Wife, and veſts it in the Huſband only. [h] And ſo is it if a Stranger gives perſonal Goods to a Feme-covert and to another, the Jointure is preſently ſevered by the Law, ſo that the whole ſhall not go to the Survivor of the Wife or the other, but the Huſband and the other are Tenants in Common preſently, and the Title of ſuch of them as firſt dies ſhall go to the Executors: For Chattles perſonal are eſteemed in Law of leſs Value, and are of a baſer Degree than Chattles real, and ſo there is a Diverſity between them. Wherefore here inaſmuch as this is a Chattle real, the Coverture of the Wife makes no Severance of the Jointure, nor is it any Impediment to the Plaintiff's having the whole as Survivor, if ſo be the other Point does not hurt him.

And as to this, it was ſaid that the Caſe is no other than this, viz. [i] if the Leſſor, who has the Fee-ſimple, marries with a Woman his Leſſee for Years, or if the Huſband makes a Leaſe for Years, and the Leſſee grants his Eſtate to the Wife of the Leſſor, whether this ſhall extinguiſh the Leaſe for Years, or not, for if it ſhall, the Moiety of the Leaſe in our Caſe is extinguiſhed and merged by the immediate Inheritance which the Huſband had in the Land. And the Court held the Law to be, [k] that the immediate Eſtate of Inheritance which the Huſband here had ſhall not merge or extinguiſh the Moiety of the Term which the Wife had, any more than in the other Caſes aboveſaid, becauſe he had the Inheritance in his own Right, and the Term in Right of his Wife, in which Caſe the Freehold and Inheritance of the Huſband, wherein the Wife has nothing, ſhall not merge the Term of the Wife. For the Law which carries in itſelf Reaſon and Equity will not do Prejudice to another, and here the Wife is other than the Perſon who has the Inheritance, and the Marriage of Huſband and Wife is a laudable Thing, for which Reaſon the Law will not prejudice the Wife in her Chattles real, which are Things of Continuance, and of more Value and Worth than Things perſonal. [a] Nevertheleſs the Huſband himſelf might have given away the Wife's Term by an expreſs Act, as if he had made a Feoffment of the Land, or a new Leaſe, or the like, [b] but foraſmuch as he has not done this nor any Thing elſe with the Land, and has made no Diſpoſition at all of it, but has left it to the Judgment of the Law, the Law will preſerve the Eſtate of the Wife, which Eſtate, as to her, is disjoined from the Freehold and the Fee ſimple.

the

[a] That the Huſband may during his Life diſpoſe of the Chattles real of his Wife, Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 7. Co. Litt. 46. b. 300. a. 351. a. Cro. C. 344. 1 Finch 29, 30 2 Finch 43. 1 Rol. Abr. 343. F. pl. 2. 1 Bac. Abr. 286.

[b] 1 Bac. Abr. 287.

And yet it was objected on the Part of the Defendant, that during the Coverture the Term which the Wife had in the Moiety was ſuſpended, ſo that upon the Ouſter Anticle the Plaintiff alone ought to have an Ejectione firmæ for the Moiety, and the Huſband and Wife could not join in the Suit, but the Huſband ſhould be driven to his Action real upon the Ouſter, and could have no Action in Reſpect of the Term, becauſe the Term was ſuſpended for the Moiety: And foraſmuch as during the Coverture the Term was ſuſpended for the Moiety, the Huſband (it was ſaid) might have had an Action of Debt againſt Anticle, or might have diſtrained him for the Moiety of the Rent reſerved, if any Rent was reſerved, for that which is ſuſpended is not in Eſſe for the Time, and if the one Moiety of the Term was not in Eſſe during the Time of the Coverture, from thence it follows that for the Time there was a Severance of the Jointenancy of the Term, and if ſo, then Anticle the Plaintiff, during the Coverture, ought to have paid the Moiety of the Rent reſerved for that Moiety which was in Eſſe, and from thence the Counſel for the Defendant inferred, that if, during the Coverture, there was a Severance of the Jointure, becauſe the one Moiety was in Eſſe, and the other was ſuſpended, then Anticle the Survivor ſhall not have the whole by Survivorſhip, [c] for no Jointenant ſhall have the Part of the other as Survivor, except the Thing be in Jointure at the Inſtant of the Death of him that dies firſt: [d] As if a Man has a Rent in Fee out of Land, and grants it to the Tenant of the Land and to another in Fee, if the Tenant of the Land dies, the other ſhall not have the whole as Survivor, becauſe the Rent as to the Moiety merged in the Land, and for the other Moiety was in Eſſe; and foraſmuch as it was not in Jointure at the Time of the Death of him that died firſt, the Survivor ſhall have only the Moiety of the Rent which he had before; ſo here, (it was ſaid by them) if the Moiety of the Wife was ſuſpended, and not in Jointure with the other Moiety at the Time of the Death of the Wife, then Anticle the Survivor cannot have the Moiety which the Wife had.

[c] S. P. Co. Litt. 188. a.

[d] S. P. 1 Rol. Abr. 924. pl. 6. L. P. Co. Litt. 188. a. Davis 5. a.

But this Objection and the Reaſoning thereof was not allowed, becauſe the Term here cannot be reſembled to the Caſe of a Rent. For when a Rent is granted to the Tenant of the Land and to another, the Rent for the Moiety is merely extinct for ever, if the Tenant has as great an Eſtate in the Land as he has in the Rent, and if ſo be he has a leſſer Eſtate, then the Moiety of the Rent is ſuſpended for the Time, and that which is ſuſpended is not in Eſſe for the Time, and that which is not in Eſſe cannot be in Jointure for the Time of its Non-exiſtence. But here the Land was in Jointure, and was always in Eſſe, and could not be in Suſpenſe, or want Exiſtence, but here there were divers Times in the Land, for Anticle and the Wife had one Time in the Land, viz. a Leaſe for 70 Years, and the Huſband after that had another Time in the Land, viz. a Time infinite, which was a Fee-ſimple, [e] which Time infinite ſhould merge any other leſſer Time which the Huſband had ſingly in the Land in his own Right, as a Time for Years or for Life; but here the leſſer Time was not in him ſingly, but it was in his Wife and Anticle, and he had nothing in that leſſer Time but by Reaſon of his Wife, and then his greater Time, which is infinite, ſhall not merge the leſſer Time which his Wife and Anticle had, but it ſhall continue for the Benefit of the Wife, and for the Preſervation of her Intereſt: So that there is no Suſpenſion of the Time, but there is firſt one Time, viz. 70 Years in the Wife and Anticle, and afterwards another diſtinct Time in the Huſband, viz. a Time infinite commencing after the firſt Time, which ſhall not drown the firſt Time, but the ſame ſhall continue by good Reaſon for the Benefit of the Wife and Anticle, inaſmuch as the ſeveral Times are to ſeveral Purpoſes, and tend to ſeveral Benefits.

[e] Davis 4. b.

But as to the Caſe put of having the Moiety only of the Rent, during the Coverture, which Thomas Bracebridge reſerved, that is upon another Reaſon, viz. foraſmuch as Thomas Bracebridge, the Huſband, had the Occupation of the Land per my et per tout for the one Moiety, and Anticle had the like for the other Moiety, it was reaſonable that Anticle ſhould pay the Moiety of the Rent for the Moiety of the Profits of the Land which he had, and that the Huſband ſhould loſe the other Moiety of the Rent, becauſe he had the Moiety of the Profits of the Land, ſo that the Reaſon thereof ſtands upon Apportionment, which is another Ground of Law than the Suſpenſion or Extinguiſhment of the Land.

And although it ſhould be admitted, that upon an Ejectment, during the Coverture, the Huſband and Wife ſhould not join with Anticle in an Ejectione firmæ, that is upon another Ground of Law alſo, for inaſmuch as the Ejectment is a Diſſeizin to the Huſband of the whole Land, he ſhall have an Aſſize or a Writ of Entry upon a Diſſeizin for the whole Land, and ſhall take from the Diſſeizor all that he had gained by the Diſſeizin, viz. the Fee-ſimple, which Suit being of a higher Nature, the Law adjudges it more fit for the Huſband to take it, than the other Suit of Ejectione firmæ, by which he could but recover Part of the Eſtate taken from him, and Anticle might have an Ejectione firmæ for his Moiety, and recover his Damages for the ſame; ſo that the Severance in the Action reſts upon another Conſideration. [f] And note that if two, who have Land to them and to the Heirs of one of them, lose by Default, the one shall have a Quod ei deforceat, and the other a Writ of Right.

[f] M. 46. Ed. 3. 21. b. Per Finchden. H. 34. H. 6. 31. b. Per Danvers. M. 3 Ed. 4. 10. a. Dy. 9. pl. 23. Co. Litt. 188. a. 5 Co. 40. b. Bac. Max. reg. 18.

[a] Vin. Abr. tit. Merger A. 2. pl. 3.

[a] * And it was said at the Bar, if Parson, Patron, and Ordinary make a Lease for Years of the Glebe-land of the Parsonage, and afterwards the Parson dies, and the Lessee for Years is made Parson, and afterwards he dies, his Executors shall not have the Residue of the said Term which is to come, because the Term was [a] extinct by the Freehold of the Land which the Parson had in him, which Catline Chief Justice denied, for he said that he had the Term in his own Right, and in the Capacity of his natural Body, and the Inheritance he had as Parson, which is in another Capacity, and therefore the Land shall not be extinct; but some at the Bar said that he had both in his own Right, and to his own Use, and therefore they said it is reasonable that it should be extinct, notwithstanding that he has them in several Capacities, and it is not like to the Case where the [b] Lessor has a Term for Years as Executor of the Lessee, [c] for there, if he dies, the Term shall be revived.

[a] That the Term is extinguished in this Case, 1 Rol. R. 247. 2 Rol. R. 472. 3 Leon. 111. Winch. 120. cites Rudd's Case. Hutt. 105. Jenk. 200. 3 Bac. Abr. 455. And Co. Litt. 338. b. L. P. agrees with the Reason hereof.

And the Court were of Opinion that Anticle the Plaintiff, being the Survivor, should have the whole Term, as is said above, and therefore they gave Judgment that he should recover as well the Moiety which the Wife had, as the other Moiety. Which Judgment was as follows.

That it is not extinguished, Lane 101, Per Bromley J. 1 Leon. 334. arg. 2 Rol. R. 10, 472. arg.

[b] For there the Term is not extinguished, S. P. Bro. Surrender 52. Co. Litt. 338. b. 3 Bac. Abr. 456. But Note, if the Executor of Lessee for Years purchases the Inheritance, this merges the Term, for the Purchase is his own express Act, and Baron Clerk even held 3 Leon. 112. that though in such Case the Inheritance descended on the Executor, this would likewise merge the Term. Sed quære de hoc.

[c] S. P. 2 Rol. R. 472. 3 Leon. 111. Note, though the Term is not extinguished in this Case, yet hereby it seems to be insinuated that the Term is suspended during the Life of the Lessor, in that it is here said to be revived after his Death.

The rest of the Record.

And because the Court of the Lady the Queen here is not yet advised of giving their Judgment of and upon the Premisses, Day therefore is given to the Parties aforesaid before the Lady the Queen at Westminster until Friday next after the Morrow of the Holy Trinity, to hear their Judgment thereon, because the Court of the said Lady the Queen here thereof not yet, &c. At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Westminster came the Parties aforesaid by their Atornies aforesaid, whereupon all and singular the Premisses being seen, and by the Court of the Lady the Queen here more fully understood, and mature Deliberation being thereupon had, for that it seems to the Court of the Lady the Queen here, upon the whole Matter aforesaid in Form aforesaid found, that the aforesaid Ejectment of the aforesaid Anticle is an Ejectment of the whole Tenements aforesaid with the Appurtenances, therefore it is considered that the aforesaid Anticle recover against the aforesaid Richard Cook his Term aforesaid yet to come of and in the said Tenements wholly with the Appurtenances, and the aforesaid first Damages by the Jurors aforesaid in Form aforesaid assessed, and also 9 l. for his Costs and Charges aforesaid to the same Anticle by the Court of the Lady the Queen here with his Assent of Increase adjudged. Which said Damages in the whole amount to 15 l. And the aforesaid Richard Cook be taken, &c.

Judgment.

A. leases Land for 40 Years if Lessee lives so long, and afterwards leases the same to another without Deed for 70 Years, this is a good Lease for as many of the Years as shall remain after the first Term ended either by Efflux-ion of Time or by the Death of the first Lessee, and shall then commence notwithstanding it is made without Deed, but till the first Term ended it is but executory and not executed. S. P. 3 Bac. Abr. 439. Vide Post 432. (d). Bro. Leases 35, 48. Vin. Abr. tit. Estate B. b. 10. per totum. Dy. 58. pl. 3. 350. pl. 18. 2 Rol. Abr. 121. pl. 7.

AFTER this Judgment was given and executed, the Matter was revived again upon other Points: For one Henry Clowse had ousted Anticle Bracebridge of 40 Acres of Pasture Parcel of the Premisses, for which Anticle brought a new Ejectione firmæ in the King's Bench against him for the 40 Acres of Pasture, as appears by the Record thereof in Trinity Term 17 Elizabeth, Roll 205. And he declared that Thomas Bracebridge and Jane his Wife, the 12th Day of May in the 32d Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. at Kinsbury leased the said 40 Acres of Pasture to Robert Perrot and Joan his Wife from the Feast of the Purification of our Lady then next following unto the End of 40 Years then next to come, if the said Robert and Joan or one of them should so long live, by Force whereof they after the said Feast of the Purification entred, and were thereof possessed. And they being so possessed, and the said Thomas Bracebridge being seized of the Reversion, the same Thomas Bracebridge the 26th Day of August in the 4th Year of the Reign of King Edward 6. leased the same Tenements to George Griffith Knight, to have and to hold to the same George Griffith from the Feast of St. Michael the Archangel then next following unto the End and Term of 70 Years from thence next to come, whereby the said Sir George was possessed of such Interest of the Term depending upon the Estate of the said Robert Perrot and Joan. And afterwards the said Sir George, the 14th Day of November in the said 4th Year of the Reign of King Edward 6. granted all his Term and Interest of and in the said Tenements to one John Bracebridge, to have from the Feast of the Annunciation of our Lady then next following during the said Term granted to the said Sir George in Form aforesaid; which John Bracebridge the 6th Day of April in the 12th Year of the Reign of the present Queen Elizabeth granted all his said Estate and Interest to Anticle the Plaintiff. And afterwards the 20th Day of January in the 15th Year of the present Queen Perrot and his Wife died, and the said Anticle entered and was possessed until the said Henry Clowse the 10th Day of April in the 17th Year of the present Queen entred into the Tenements, and ejected the said Anticle. To this the Defendant pleaded, not guilty, and at Nisi prius in the County of Warwick the Jurors found the Defendant guilty of the Trespass and Ejectment for the Moiety of the said Tenements, and for so much they assessed Damages. And as to the other Moiety they gave a special Verdict, and found that the said Thomas Bracebridge was seized in Fee of the Manor of Kinsbury whereof the 40 Acres were Parcel, and being so seized, he and the said Jane made the said Lease to Perrot and his Wife, as in the Count is declared, and afterwards Jane died, and the said Thomas Bracebridge took to Wife Joice. And the said Thomas Bracebridge being so seized of the Manor and of the Reversion Reverſion made the Leaſe in the ſaid 4th Year of the Reign of King Edward 6. to the ſaid Sir George Griffith for 70 Years, as it is alledged in the Count; and Sir George the ſaid 14th Day of November in the ſaid 4th Year of the Reign of King Edward 6. granted his Term and Intereſt in the ſaid 40 Acres of Paſture to the ſaid John Bracebridge and Joice then Wife of the ſaid Thomas Bracebridge, to have and to hold to them from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady then next following for and during the whole Term granted to the ſaid Sir George. And the ſaid Perrot and his Wife being poſſeſſed of the ſaid 40 Acres, as is aforeſaid, and the ſaid Thomas Bracebridge being ſeized of the Manor, and of the Reverſion of the 40 Acres as Parcel of the ſaid Manor, the ſame Thomas Bracebridge the 16th Day of Auguſt in the 5th Year of the Reign of King Edward 6. by his Deed indented tripartite gave and granted to the ſaid Sir George Griffith and others the ſaid Manor and all his Lands, Tenements, Reverſions, and other his Hereditaments whatſoever in Kinſbury aforeſaid and elſewhere in the County of Warwick, to have and to hold to them and to their Heirs to their own proper Uſe for ever, upon Condition that they ſhould pay to the ſaid Thomas Bracebridge within 15 Days then next following for the ſaid Tenements and Hereditaments 10,000 l. and if they ſhould fail of Payment, that then after the 15 Days the Feoffees and their Heirs and Aſſigns ſhould ſtand ſeized of the ſaid Manor, Lands, Tenements, Reverſions and Hereditaments to the Uſe of the ſaid Thomas Bracebridge for Term of his Life, without Impeachment of Waſt, and after his Death to the Uſe of Thomas Bracebridge his Son, and to the Heirs Males of his Body begotten, with Remainder over to John Bracebridge his Son, and to the Heirs Males of his Body, and ſo to Anticle another of his Sons, with Remainder in Fee to the right Heirs of Thomas Bracebridge the Father, to which Feoffment Perrot and his Wife attorned, and the ſaid Sum of 10,000 l. was not paid within the 15 Days according to the Condition, by Reaſon whereof, and by a Statute made the 4th Day of February in the 27th Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. the ſaid Thomas Bracebridge the Father was ſeized of the ſaid Manor, Lands, and Tenements for his Life, the Remainder to the ſaid Thomas the Son, and to his Heirs Males of his Body, with the other Remainders over. And afterwards Robert Perrot died, and Thomas Bracebridge and Joice his Wife died, and the ſaid John Bracebridge ſurvived the ſaid Joice, and afterwards the ſaid Thomas Bracebridge the Son, after the Death of his Father, entered into the ſaid Manor, Lands, and Tenements to him entailed as before, and was thereof ſeized in Tail. And afterwards the ſaid Joan Perrot being poſſeſſed of the 40 Acres, the ſaid John Bracebridge afterwards, viz. the 6th Day of April in the 11th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen Elizabeth, gave and granted to the ſaid Anticle all his Right, Intereſt, and Term of and in the ſaid other Moiety of the ſaid 40 Acres. And further they ſaid that the ſaid Thomas Bracebridge the Son, the 25th Day of January in the 13th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth leaſed the ſaid other Moiety of the ſaid 40 Acres to one Edward Buckingham, to have and to hold from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady then next to come unto the End and Term of 5 Years from thence next following. And afterwards, viz. the 20th Day of January in the 15th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, the ſaid Joan Perrot died, after whoſe Death the ſaid Anticle now Plaintiff entered into the ſaid 40 Acres of Paſture, claiming the other Moiety thereof, upon whoſe Poſſeſſion the ſaid Henry Clowſe, as Servant to the ſaid Edward Buckingham and by his Command, at the ſame Time when, &c. entered into the ſaid 40 Acres, claiming the other Moiety thereof in the Right of the ſaid Edward, and thereout ejected the ſaid Anticle. And if it ſhould ſeem to the Court that the Entry of Clowſe was not lawful for the ſaid other Moiety, then they ſaid that he was guilty, and they divided Damages for the ſeveral Moieties, and concluded upon the Matter, referring it to the Judgment of the Court.

And Judgment was prayed for the Plaintiff for the whole, for as to the one Moiety, viz. that which John Bracebridge had, there was no Queſtion at all made, but the whole Doubt lay upon the other Moiety which Joice had, and which John claimed as Survivor, and thereupon the Counſel for the Plaintiff prayed their Judgment for the ſaid other Moiety. For firſt of all it was affirmed by the Counſel for the Plaintiff, and admitted by the Counſel for the Defendant, and alſo by the whole Court, [a] that the Leaſe made for 70 Years by Thomas Bracebridge to Sir George Griffith of the 40 Acres which Perrot and his Wife then held was good for all of the 70 Years that ſhould remain after the firſt Term ended, notwithſtanding that the Leaſe for 70 Years was made without Deed. For Thomas Bracebridge, who made the Leaſe for 70 Years, had in him at the Time of making it the Reverſion of the 40 Acres in Fee-ſimple, and in Reſpect thereof he had Power to contract with another for any Eſtate to be derived out of that Reverſion. Then when he demiſed the Land to Sir George, to have for 70 Years from the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel then next following, this would have been a good Leaſe for the whole Term if the former Leaſe made to Perrot and his Wife had not ſtood in the Way, and that can ſtand in the Way no longer than it continues, and during its Continuance the ſecond Leaſe ſhall not take Effect in Poſſeſſion, but ſhall be void as to the Leſſor and the ſecond Leſſee alſo. For if the Leſſor would ſue the ſecond Leſſee for the Rent reſerved, he ſhould not have it during the firſt Leaſe, for during that Time the Contract does not take Effect, for the Leſſor had no Power over the Land during that Time, and therefore the Leſſee ſhould avoid the Demand, and ſay that the Leaſe which he claims is executory after the firſt Leaſe determined, and is not now executed, and in the mean Time he ſhall not have the Rent. [b] But otherwiſe it ſhould be if the ſecond Leaſe had been by Indenture, for then as well the Leſſee as the Leſſor is eſtopped to ſay but that the Leaſe commenced at the Day limited, becauſe the Words of the Indenture touching the Commencement of the Leaſe are are ſo. [a] But if the ſecond Leaſe had been made by Deed-Poll, and the firſt Leſſee had attorned to the ſecond Leſſee, the Reverſion of the Land ſhould have paſſed to the ſecond Leſſee together with the firſt Rent, [b] for the Demiſe of the Land is ſufficient to convey the Reverſion where there is a Deed and Attornment alſo. But here the ſecond Leaſe is made without any Indenture or Deed-Poll, in which Caſe the firſt Term ſhall conſume as many of the Years of the ſecond Term as ſhall incur during the firſt Term, and the ſecond Term is but executory for the Years only that ſhall remain after the firſt Term ended, and for them it ſhall be good, whether the firſt Term be ended by Efflux-ion of Time, or by the Death of Perrot and his Wife, which is a Condition Parcel of the Limitation that ſhall end their Leaſe. [c] As if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, and afterwards makes a Leaſe to another for 21 Years to begin preſently, there if the firſt Tenant for Life dies or [d] ſurrenders, the ſecond Leaſe ſhall begin preſently both in the one Caſe and in the other, for at the Time of the Contract there was a Poſſibility for the Leaſe to begin to be executed before the Death of the Tenant for Life, viz. by his Surrender, or Forfeiture, or the like.

[a] S. P. 3 Bac. Abr. 439. Poſt 432 (d).

[b] Litt. R. 281. Skin. 261. 3 Bac. Abr. 439. Poſt. 474 (b). Vide Carth. 248.

[a] Hutt. 105. 3 Bac. Abr. 439. Poſt 433 (f).

[b] Vin. Abr. tit. Reverſion I. pl. 2. Vide Ante 155 (b).

[c] P. 37. H. 8. Bro. Leaſes 48. 1 Co. 155. a. Moor 344. Cro. E. 160. Off. of Exec. 230, 231. Poſt 433. Vide 1 Saund. 151. Hardr. 412. Contra Plowd. Quær. 122, 161.

[d] Quære hereof, for this ſeems not Law, unleſs it be taken that the ſecond Leaſe was by Indenture, in which Caſe, by Reaſon of the Eſtoppel, it took effect between the Parties preſently, and therefore ſhall come in Poſſeſſion whenever the firſt Leaſe is out of the Way quocunque modo, but if the ſecond Leaſe was only by Deed-Poll without the Attornment of the firſt Leſſee, or by Parol, then it can only take Effect in Poſſeſſion upon the Determination of the firſt Leaſe by the Death of the Leſſee, according to the expreſs Limitation, and not upon any ſooner or other Determination by Surrender, Forfeiture, or otherwiſe. Vide Poſt 433 (e). 3 Bac. Abr. 440.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

[e] S. P. Hutt. 105. Moor 344. Litt. R. 281. Hardr. 411. Dy. 35. pl. 29. in Margine. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 71. 3 Bac. Abr. 438, 439. Vin. Abr. tit. Eſtate B. b. 10. pl. 9. Poſt 432 (a), 521 (b).

[e] It ſeems to me (Reader) that if one makes a Leaſe the 1ſt Day of May for 21 Years enſuing from the 1ſt Day of June, which is defeaſible on Condition to be performed on the Part of the Leſſor, and the 2d Day of May he makes another Leaſe without Deed for 21 Years enſuing from the ſaid 1ſt Day of June, there although the Condition is performed, and thereby the firſt Leaſe is avoided, or although the firſt Leſſee ſurrenders his Term, yet the ſecond Leſſee ſhall never have the Land by Force of the ſecond Leaſe, becauſe the Leſſor had no Power to contract with the ſecond Leſſee at the Time the ſecond Leaſe was made, for during the ſecond Leaſe another had the Land and the Poſſeſſion, and the Contract could not be good upon the Poſſibility of the Condition being performed, or the firſt Leaſe ſurrendered, whereby the ſame would be avoided. But in the Caſe at Bar the Leaſe to Perrot and his Wife was for 40 Years, if they or one of them ſhould ſo long live, which Words (if one of them ſhould ſo long live) are not perhaps a collateral Condition, but rather Parcel of the Limitation of the Time of the Term, in which Caſe the Term of 70 Years ſhall commence immediately after that Limitation is determined; ſo that the Plaintiff has Part of the 70 Years (as he has by his own ſhewing in his Declaration) if the Leaſe had commenced at ſuch Term, whereupon he may well found his Ejectione firmæ. And ſo perhaps there is a Diverſity between the Condition aforeſaid added to the Limitation, and a Condition dehors, or a Surrender, which determines the Term; for if the firſt Term of Perrot and his Wife had been ſo ended, viz. by collateral Condition, it ſeems that the 70 Years ſhould never have commenced.

And ſo (as it is ſaid before) it was agreed on all Sides that the ſecond Leaſe was good for as many of the Years as remained after the Death of Perrot and his Wife, and that the Term was commenced, notwithſtanding the 40 Years are not ended by Effluxion of Time, but by Death, and although the ſecond Leaſe was not made by any Writing or Deed. And ſo note that the Reſidue of the ſaid 70 Years which had not incurred ſhall commence preſently upon the Death of the ſaid Joan Perrot Survivor to her Huſband.

But the other Matters upon which the Parties chiefly reſted were two. The firſt was, when Sir George Griffith had granted over his Term of 70 Years to John Bracebridge and to Joice the Wife of Thomas Bracebridge the Father, and afterwards Thomas the Father made a Feoffment in Fee of the Manor, if by ſuch Feoffment the Moiety of the Term of 70 Years, which he had in Right of Joice his Wife, ſhould paſs to the Feoffees included in the Land by way of Extinguiſhment, and if ſo, then the Jointenancy between Joice and John Bracebridge would be ſevered, and then the Leaſe made by Thomas Bracebridge the Son to Buckingham is good, and the Land is diſcharged of the former Leaſe of 70 Years for the other Moiety. The ſecond was, admitting that by the Feoffment and Livery of the Manor the Term or Intereſt for Years ſhall not paſs, yet if it ſhall paſs by the other Words in the Deed, viz. by the Grant of all his Lands and Tenements in Kinſbury.

For the Plaintiff.

A. leaſes 40 Acres Parcel of a Manor to B. for 40 Years, and afterwards leaſes the ſame to C. for 70 Years, C. grants over his Eſtate to the Wife of A. the Leſſor and to a Stranger, A. makes a Feoffment in Fee of the Manor to others, B. attorns, if by this Feoffment the Moiety of the Term of 70 Years, which A. had in Right of his Wife, ſhall paſs to the Feoffees included in the Land by Way of Extinguiſhment.

And as to the firſt Point, it was ſaid on Behalf of the Plaintiff, that although the 40 Acres were Parcel of the Manor, yet when the Leaſe was made of them to Perrot and his Wife for 40 Years, [f] by that Leaſe the Poſſeſſion was ſevered from the Manor, and was not Parcel of the Manor, although the [g] Reverſion continued Parcel of the Manor, ſo that the Term hath diſmembered the Land in Poſſeſſion from the Manor; for if Perrot and his Wife and Thomas Bracebridge would have joined in a Leaſe of the Manor and of all the Lands and Tenements Parcel of the Manor to another for 50 Years, nothing of the 40 Acres which Perrot and his Wife had ſhould paſs from Perrot during the Term of 40 Years, becauſe during his Leaſe the Land was not Parcel of the Manor. [h] So Littleton ſhews us that if one makes a Gift in Tail, or a Leaſe for Life of Parcel of a Manor, during thoſe Eſtates the Land is not Parcel of the Manor. And as the Land is ſevered from the Manor during the Leaſe to Perrot and his Wife, ſo likewiſe ſhall it be during the ſecond Leaſe for 70 Years made to Sir George Griffith: And when Sir George granted over his Eſtate to Joice and to John Bracebridge, the Eſtate remained ſevered from the Manor in their Hands, as it was in the Hands of Sir George himſelf, and eſpecially when the Freehold which Thomas Bracebridge had could not merge the Moiety of the Term, as it is before [i] adjudged; from whence it conſequently follows that the Feoffment of the Manor did not give nor convey to the Feoffees by Way of Extinguiſhment or otherwiſe the Term of 70 Years, becauſe it was not Parcel of the Manor. And from hence it alſo conſequently follows, that if it ſhall not paſs, then John the Survivor of Joice ſhall have the Term by the Death of Joice, and then his Grant to Anticle the Plaintiff is good, and ſo the Suit of Ejectione firmæ is maintainable.

[f] S. P. 5 Mod. 246 Per Curiam.

[g] Cro. E. 522. 324. b. 325. a. Ante 103 (f). Vide Dy. 350. pl. 18. 5 Mod. 246. Vin. Abr. tit. Manor C. pl. 5. Q. pl. 1. Q. 2. pl. 2.

[h] Littlet. § 591. Bro. Compriſe 27. 36 H. 6. 20. Bro. Ibid. 9. M. 7. H. 7, 8. a. Bro. Ibid. 19. Co. Litt.

[i] Bracebridge v. Cook Ante 417, 418, 419.

And

And as to the ſecond Point, it was ſaid by them that the Grant of Thomas Bracebridge the Father of all his Lands and Tenements ſhall not make the Term to paſs. [a] And to prove this the Caſe of 7 Edw. 6. was alledged, which is cited in the Abridgment of the Lord Robert Brook late Chief Juſtice of the Common-Bench Tit. Grant pl. 155. where it is thus written, "A Man grants "omnia terras et tenementa ſua in D. a Leaſe for Years ſhall not paſs, otherwiſe if he grants [b] om- "nes firmas ſuas, thereby a Leaſe for Years ſhall paſs, for an Ejectione firmæ lies thereof, by which "he may recover the Term, and therefore it is a good Word of Grant." Thus ſays the Book. Alſo the Grant here is to the Feoffees and their Heirs, [c] which Word (Heirs) implies that the Feoffor intended to paſs Things of Inheritance only. Wherefore if the Term of 70 Years ſhall not paſs by the Words in the Deed of Grant of all his Lands and Tenements, nor by the Feoffment of the Manor, then the Title of Anticle the Plaintiff, who claims from John Bracebridge, who had the Reſidue of the Term of 70 Years as Survivor to Joice, is good. And therefore they prayed Judgment for the Plaintiff for the ſaid other Moiety.

[a] S.P. Per Brook Bro. Grants 87. 37 H. 8. Bro. Done 41. B. N. C. § 301, 438. 1 Bulſt. 100. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 348. § 4. Sed Contra Poſt 424.

[b] Show.P.C.206

[c] S.P.Moor 832 Edwards v. Denton.

On the other Hand it was argued by the Counſel for the Defendant. And as to the firſt Point, it was admitted that when the Leaſe for Years was made to Perrot and his Wife, who entered, thereby the Land leaſed was become no Parcel of the Manor, but was diſmembered from it as to the Poſſeſſion, during the Leaſe, but the Reverſion thereof and the Freehold continued Parcel of the Manor, and the Reaſon thereof is, [d] becauſe the Leſſees have entered into the Land, whereby they have the Poſſeſſion, and ſo there is a Poſſeſſion and a Reverſion, which are diſtinct Things. And as the Eſtates are ſeveral, ſo are they in ſeveral Perſons, for he that has the Leaſe has nothing in the Reverſion, and he that has the Reverſion has nothing in the Leaſe. But if a Man ſeized of Land makes a Leaſe for Years to commence preſently or at a Day to come, there before the Leſſee has entered, or the Leſſor has waived the Poſſeſſion, the Leſſee has but an Intereſſe termini, which is an Agreement executory to have the Land, and he has not the Poſſeſſion of the Land, but that continues always in the Leſſor until Entry is made, ſo that the Entry makes the Poſſeſſion and Reverſion. [e] For Littleton in his Book cap. Releaſes ſays that if one leaſes Land to another for Term of Years, and the Leſſor releaſes to the Leſſee all his Right before the Leſſee has entered into the ſame Land by Force of the Leaſe, ſuch Releaſe is void, becauſe the Leſſee had no Poſſeſſion of the Land at the Time of the Releaſe made, but only a Right to have the ſame Land by Force of the ſame Leaſe. Such are the Words of Littleton. And, Sir, if the Leſſee has but a Right, ergo he has no Poſſeſſion, nevertheleſs it is ſuch a Contract and Right as may be [f] granted over to another, and be forfeited, but yet it is not executed, but only executory as to the Poſſeſſion. [g] For, it was ſaid, in the Time of the preſent Queen the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury brought in this Court a Bill of Debt againſt their Leſſee for Years for Rent in Arrear for divers Years, and counted that they made the Leaſe by Deed to commence at the Feaſt of St. Michael next after the Date of the Deed, and it was held here that the Suit was not maintainable, becauſe the Leſſee had not entered, nor the Leſſors * waived the Poſſeſſion, until which Entry or Waiver made they ſhall be adjudged Occupiers, in which Caſe they ſhall not have any Rent. Then here in the principal Caſe the Leſſee for 70 Years had not entered before the Feoffment, nor could he have any Entry, becauſe the former Leaſe made to Perrot and his Wife had then Continuance, in which Caſe Thomas Bracebridge the Leſſor had no [h] Reverſion depending upon the Leaſe for 70 Years, but only upon the Leaſe for 40 Years, for the Leſſees for 40 Years had entered, and ſo had an Eſtate diſtinct from the Reverſion, but the Leſſee for 70 Years had not entered, nor could enter, but his Leaſe was executory by Entry after the Determination of the Eſtate of Perrot and his Wife, and not before, in which Caſe when Sir George Griffith had before the Feoffment granted his Intereſt to Joice and to John Bracebridge, which Intereſt was executory by Entry, and the Huſband of Joice made a Feoffment of the Manor whereof the Reverſion of theſe 40 Acres then were Parcel, and Perrot and his Wife attorned, by that Feoffment the Moiety which Joice might have claimed ſhall paſs in the Reverſion, and Thomas Bracebridge and his Wife ſhall never claim it againſt the Feoffment. For if Joice before the Coverture had had a Rent-charge for Years granted out of the Land of Thomas Bracebridge, to commence at a Day to come, and after the Coverture Thomas Bracebridge had made a Feoffment of the Land, and had died, Joice ſhould never have had the Rent afterwards. And the principal Caſe is no other in Effect than if Thomas Bracebridge, being ſeized of the Manor, had made a Leaſe of Parcel of it to Sir George Griffith for 70 Years to commence at the Feaſt of St. Michael then next following, and before Michaelmas Sir George Griffith had granted over his Eſtate to Joice only, and before Michaelmas her Huſband the Leſſor had made a Feoffment of the Manor, and after Michaelmas had died, there Joice ſhould never have had her Leaſe, becauſe it paſſed drowned in the Feoffment; but if in this laſt Caſe Sir George had entered after Michaelmas, and had granted his Eſtate to the ſaid Joice, and afterwards the Huſband had made a Feoffment of the Manor, and Livery of Seizin in another Part of the Manor, then perhaps the Wife ſurviving her Huſband ſhould have had the Land during the Term leaſed, becauſe the Land was not Parcel of the Manor during the Leaſe, for that it was executed; but in the principal Caſe the Leaſe was not executed by Entry, for which Reaſon the Manor is given diſcharged of the Leaſe for Joice's Moiety, and therefore as to that the Plaintiff ſhall be barred. And ſo was the Opinion of the whole Court.

E contra for the Defendant.

[d] 4 Bac. Abr. 277

[e] M. 22 Ed. 4. 37. a. Per Neal J. Bro. Releaſes 59. Litt. § 459. Co. Litt. 46. b. 270 a. 5 Co. 124. b. 2 Rol. R. 407. Perk. § 603. 4 Bac. Abr. 277. Vin. Abr. tit. Releaſe B. a. pl. 6. Plowd. Quær. § 311.

[f] Plowd. Quær. § 95, 311. Ante 142 (k), and the Books there cited.

[g] S. P. 2 Brownl. 159. 2 Rol. R. 174, 407. Palm. 117. Vin. Abr. tit. Reverſion B. pl. 3.

* But if the Leſſor waives the Poſſeſſion, tho' the Leſſee never enters into the Land, yet an Action of Debt for the Rent lies upon the Contract, Dy. 4. b. pl. 3. 1 Rol. Abr. 605. pl. 6.

[h] S. P. Dy. 111. pl. 44. Co. Litt. 46. b. Lutw. 444. Vin. Abr. tit. Reverſion A. pl. 2. B. pl. 3. in Margine.

And as to the ſecond Point it was ſaid, [i] that the Grant of all his Lands and Tenements ſhall make the Intereſt for Years to paſs, becauſe it is his Land for the Time, and that the Caſe cited out of Brook was not Law, becauſe the Words of the Grant would be made void by ſuch Expoſition of them, inaſmuch as it is not ſhewn in that Caſe that the Words might be otherwiſe ſupplied, and ſuch Expoſition the Law will not ſuffer. And here when Thomas Bracebridge the Father gave and granted the Manor and all his other Lands and Tenements, if this ſhould not make the Land leaſed to paſs (admitting that the ſame was not Parcel of the Manor) the Words would be void, for it is not found that he had any other Land which was not Parcel of the Manor, and therefore the Words would be void and to no Purpoſe if ſo be they could not make the Intereſt of the Term to paſs. But they did not reſt ſo much upon this Point as upon the former, which made the Matter ſufficiently clear. Wherefore in Eaſter Term 18 Elizabeth Judgment was given that the Plaintiff ſhould be barred for the ſaid other Moiety, which Judgment here follows.

[i] Vide Moor 832. pl. 1119. Skin. 539, 540. Kitch. 63.

The Judgment. At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came the Parties aforeſaid by their Attornies aforeſaid. And becauſe the Court of the Lady the Queen here is not yet adviſed of giving their Judgment of and upon the Premiſſes, Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter until Wedneſday next after 15 Days of Eaſter to hear their Judgment thereon, becauſe the Court of the Lady the Queen here thereof not yet, &c. At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came the Parties aforeſaid by their Attornies aforeſaid, whereupon all and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Court of the Lady the Queen here more fully underſtood, and mature Deliberation being had thereupon, for that it ſeems to the Court of the Lady the Queen here, upon the whole Matter aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid found, that the aforeſaid Entry of the aforeſaid Henry Clowſe into the aforeſaid 40 Acres of Paſture is a good and lawful Entry in Law of and for the aforeſaid Moiety of the ſame 40 Acres of Paſture, whereupon the aforeſaid Matter in Law by the Jurors aforeſaid is found, it is conſidered that the ſame Anticle take nothing by his Bill aforeſaid, as to the ſame Moiety of the aforeſaid 40 Acres of Paſture with the Appurtenances, but that he be in Mercy for his falſe Claim therein, and that the aforeſaid Henry go thereof without Day. And further it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Anticle recover againſt the aforeſaid Henry Clowſe his Term aforeſaid yet to come of and in the aforeſaid other Moiety of the ſame 40 Acres of Paſture with the Appurtenances, whereupon it is found by the Jurors aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid that the ſame Henry is guilty of the Treſpas and Ejectment aforeſaid thereof, and his Damages aforeſaid by the Jurors aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid aſſeſſed, and alſo 9 l. 10 s. for his Coſts and Charges aforeſaid to the ſame Anticle by the Court of the Lady the Queen here with his Aſſent of Increaſe adjudged: Which ſaid Damages in the whole amount to 10 l. and 20 d. And that the aforeſaid Henry be taken, &c

Nota. And after this Judgment was given, one who was of Counſel with the Defendant thought himſelf greatly blameable for that he had forgotten to ſpeak to another Point, which was, that the Plaintiff ought not to have had Judgment for the other Moiety, but the Judgment ought to have been that he ſhould take nothing by his Writ, [a] becauſe the Plaintiff had brought his Suit for the entire Thing, viz. for the 40 Acres, and now it is found that he had but Title to a Moiety thereof, in which Caſe he ought to have brought his Suit for the Moiety only. For there is a Difference in the Regiſter as to the Demand of Particulars in a Writ, for firſt the whole is put, and afterwards the Moiety, or third Part, or other Quantity which is not ſeveral. And if a Man demands the whole Portion by his Writ, he ſhall not thereby recover any Parcel which is not entire or ſeveral, becauſe he might have had another Form of Writ. For if he brings a Writ of Entry upon a Diſſeizin for one Acre, and the Tenant pleads ne diſſeiſa pas, and the Jury find that he had Right to the Moiety, and of that was diſſeized, and of no more, becauſe the Tenant had a good Title to the other Moiety, there he ſhall recover nothing, becauſe he might have had another Form of Writ for the Moiety; but if they find that he was diſſeized de dimidio dictæ acræ, and of no more, there he ſhall have Judgment for it, becauſe this is ſeveral, for there is a Diverſity between medietatem acræ terræ, and dimidium acræ terræ, for the one Portion is ſeveral and divided, and the other is in Common, or in Jointure, or in Parcenary, and undivided. And alſo he took it that the Suit ſhould have abated for the whole in this Caſe upon Bill, as it ſhould have done upon Writ original, if Exception had been taken to it. Quære tamen inde.

[a] S. P. 1 Rol. R. 385, 386. by the Reporter. SedContra 2 Rol. Abr. 719. pl. 19. Godb. 128. 3 Bulſt. 185. And ſee Hob. 282, 283.

A Re-

A Report of a Judgment given by the Juſtices of the Common-Bench in Michaelmas Term in the 14*th &* 15*th Years of the Reign of Queen* Elizabeth, upon a Challenge taken by Henry Vernon Eſquire Demandant in a Formedon in Remainder brought againſt William Madder for a Houſe and Land in Wirkſworth in the County of Derby, wherein the Tenant vouched to Warranty Thomas Stanley Knight and Margaret his Wife and John Manners Eſquire and Dorothy his Wife, who appeared and traverſed the Point of the Writ, and thereupon they were at Iſſue. And the Jury appeared in the Common-Bench the ſaid Term of the Record, which is entered amongſt the Records of Hillary Term 12 Elizabeth, Rot. 1509. And the Challenge was taken as follows.

AT which Day the Jury between the Parties aforeſaid touching the Plea aforeſaid was put between them in Reſpite here until this Day, viz. the Morrow of All Souls then next following. And now here at this Day came as well the aforeſaid Henry Vernon now Demandant, as the aforeſaid Thomas Stanley and Margaret, John Manners and Dorothy, by their Attornies aforeſaid, and the Jurors therein impannelled being called likewiſe came. And thereupon the ſame Henry Vernon challenges the Array of the Panel aforeſaid, becauſe he ſays that that Panel was arrayed by one John Zouch Knight, now, and at the Time of the Array aforeſaid made, Sheriff of the aforeſaid County of Derby, which ſaid Sheriff is Couſin of the aforeſaid John Manners, that is to ſay, Son of George Zouch Eſquire, Son of John Zouch Knight, Son of John Zouch Eſquire, Son of John Zouch Eſquire, Son of William Lord Zouch, Son of Alan Lord Zouch, Son of William Lord Zouch, Son of Elizabeth Daughter of William Lord Roos, Father of William Lord Roos, Father of Thomas Lord Roos, Father of Thomas Lord Roos, Father of Elianor Mother of George Manners Knight, Father of Thomas Earl of Rutland, Father of the aforeſaid John Manners.

And Exception was taken to this Challenge by the Counſel of the Vouchees, for that it was inſufficient in Matter, becauſe the Blood between the ſaid Sir John Zouch the Sheriff and the ſaid John Manners is ſo far diſtant. For Sir John Zouch is in the ninth Deſcent from William Lord Roos the Anceſtor Paramount from whom the Blood is derived, and John Manners is in the ſeventh Deſcent from the ſaid William Lord Roos, and ſo Sir John Zouch Knight, Grandfather to Sir John Zouch the Sheriff who has made the Return, and the ſaid John Manners were in the ſeventh Degree one to the other, and the ſaid Zouch the Sheriff is two Degrees further, ſo that the one is in the ſeventh Degree of Blood, and the other in the ninth, in which Degrees, by Reaſon of their great Diſtance, there can be no Preſumption of Partiality, for the further removed Blood is, the more cool it is, and the leſs Favour it bears to thoſe of the ſame Stock. And therefore the Law which follows Nature, and conſiders its Operations and Effects, judges that thoſe who are ſo remote in Blood are as remote in Affection alſo, for elſe there would be no Bounds put to Challenges, for the whole World is of one Blood, and all the Inhabitants of the Earth are deſcended from Adam and Eve, and ſo are Couſins to one another, but yet every ſuch Couſinage is no Cauſe of Challenge, unleſs it be in a reaſonable Proximity. And it was touched that the Degrees of Marriage are good Limits for Challenges of Blood.

If Huſband and Wife are vouched, (for the Warranty of the Lands of the Wife) and the Sheriff who returns the Jury is Couſin in the ninth Degree to the Huſband, this is a good principal Challenge to the Array, for Couſinage is a good Cauſe of Challenge, let it be ever ſo many Degrees diſtant, and the Law preſumes that the Sheriff being of the ſame Lineage will bear Affection to the other, and tho' in this Caſe the one cannot be Heir to the other of the Land in Diſpute, yet the one may be Heir to the other of other Land. S. C. Dy. 319. pl. 13. 2 Rol. Abr. 637. H. pl. 2. S. P. O Bendl. 96. 1 Finch 187. 2 Finch 401. Tri. per pais 144, 145.

Another Reaſon was alledged againſt the Challenge (by Thomas Bromley the Queen's Sollicitor, who was of Counſel for the Vouchees, and admitted to ſpeak within the Bar) becauſe the Land here, to which the Warranty was annexed, came from the Wives of the Vouchees, or from their Anceſtors, for they are here vouched with their Huſbands, which ſhall be intended in Reſpect of the Warranty made by the Wives or their Anceſtors, and the Land which ſhall be rendered in Value ſhall be the Land of the Wives, and no other, and Sir John Zouch the Sheriff is not of their Blood, nor is he inheritable to their Land, and the Reaſon why Challenges for Couſinage are allowed in Law, is, in Reſpect that the Sheriff who makes the Panel, or the Juror who is challenged, may inherit by Deſcent the Land of one of the Parties. And hereupon he cited the Caſe of * 40 Aſſ. pl. 20. which reaches to both the Cauſes here alledged, where it appears that Bernard Brocas ſued an Attaint upon a Verdict of an Aſſize which paſſed againſt him, where ſome were challenged becauſe they were of Affinity and Alliance to the Plaintiff, and foraſmuch as they were many Degrees diſtant, and alſo the Alliance was by Couſinage on the Part of the Mother of the Plaintiff, ſo that the Land could never come into the Blood of the Mother, the Challenge was diſallowed. The ſame Reaſon (he ſaid) was in the principal Caſe here, for the Land which ſhall be rendered in Value ſhall be the Land of the Wives, to which Land the Sheriff cannot be inheritable, inaſmuch as he is not alledged to be of the Blood of the Wives, for which Reaſon the Law cannot preſume that the Sheriff returned the Jury favourably to ſave the Land which ſhould be rendered in Value, to which he cannot by any Poſſibility be inheritable; and alſo the ſaid Caſe proves that Couſinage, which is a long Degree diſtant, is no Cauſe of Challenge.

* Dy. 319. pl. 13.

In Anſwer to theſe Objections it was ſaid, that, as to the firſt Point, Couſinage ſhall be a good Challenge, what Degree ſoever it be diſtant. † And hereupon the Caſe in 21 Edw. 4. was cited, where in an Aſſize brought by the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln againſt Pratt, Choke ſaid, if the Juror be Couſin to the Party in the ninth Degree, it is a good Challenge, if he can ſhew how, quod omnes conceſſerunt. From whence it appears that Proximity of Blood is not requiſite in a Challenge, but if he is of Blood it is ſufficient.

E contra, in Support of the Challenge.

† M. 21. Ed. 4. 63. b. Bro. Challenge 180. Dy. 319. pl. 13. Co. Litt. 157. a. 1 Finch 187. 2 Finch 401.

And as to the other Reaſon given by the Counſel of the other Side, it was ſaid that the Reaſon why Couſinage is a good Cauſe of Challenge is not becauſe the Land in Diſpute, or the Land which ſhall be rendered in Value, may deſcend to the Sheriff who made the Panel, or to the Juror who is challenged, but the Reaſon is, [a] becauſe the one may be Heir to the other of other Land which they have, if they have any, and alſo it is in Reſpect of the Affection which the Law preſumes one of the ſame Lineage bears to another; [b] and for this Cauſe it ſhall be a good Challenge in perſonal Suits. Wherefore the Counſel for the Demandant ſaid to the Counſel of the other Side, "if you take the Challenge to be ineffectual, demur in Law upon it if you will, for we will not "relinquiſh it." But the Counſel for the Vouchees thought it better to deny the Couſinage than to demur upon it, for by the Demurrer the Couſinage would be confeſſed, which they did not take to be true, and if it ſhould be tried againſt them, yet they might afterwards have Benefit of the Matter in Law, for although the Couſinage was tried and found to be true, yet if the Matter was not ſufficient in Law, the Juſtices ought not to quaſh the Array; wherefore they denied the Challenge. And thereupon Triers were aſſigned, to whom Evidence was given by the Heralds of Arms, and Teſtimony out of their Books was ſhewn to prove that the Couſinage was true; wherefore the Triers found the Couſinage. And after it was found, the Court took the Challenge to be good in Law, and quaſhed the Array. And it was entered of Record as follows.

[a] 1 Finch 187. 2 Finch 401.

[b] 1 Finch 187. 2 Finch 401.

Herald's Books admitted good Evidence to Triers of a Challenge to prove Couſinage in the Sheriff. Vide T. Jones 224. Comb. 63. Salk. 281. pl. 9. Vin. Abr. tit. Evidence A. b. 39. per totum.

Which ſaid Challenge by the aforeſaid Thomas Stanley and Margaret, John Manners and Dorothy denied, by Nicholas Sturley of Beachiff Eſquire and Robert Fitzherbert of Tiſſington Eſquire, Triers thereunto elected and ſworn, is found to be true. Therefore let the Panel aforeſaid be quaſhed and withdrawn, &c. And thereupon the aforeſaid Henry Vernon now Demandant prays the Writ of the Lady the Queen to make to come here a new 12, &c. to the Coroner of the County aforeſaid to be directed. And it is granted to him, &c. Therefore the Coroner is commanded that he cauſe to come here from the Day of Eaſter in 15 Days, 12, &c. by whom, &c. and who neither, &c. to recognize, &c. becauſe as well, &c.

A Report of a Judgment given in the King's-Bench, entered of Record in Eaſter Term in the 15th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, and of Part of the Arguments, upon a Demurrer in Replevin ſued by Robert Smith againſt Thomas Stapleton and John Heycock. And the Record was as follows.

Eaſter Term 20 Eliz. Rot. 247. Rooper et Heywood. Eſſex.

Declaration.

Same Precedent Raſt. Entr. 563. b. pl. 3.

Thomas Stapleton and John Heycock were ſummoned to anſwer Robert Smith of a Plea, wherefore they took the Cattle of the ſaid Robert, and them unjuſtly detained againſt Gages and Pledges, &c. And whereupon the ſame Robert by Francis Sandbach his Attorney complains, that the aforeſaid Thomas and John the 27th Day of November in the 10th Year of the Reign of the Lady Elizabeth now Queen of England, at Goldhanger in the County aforeſaid in a certain Place there called Faity in the Land Ground in Goldhanger, took the Cattle, viz. 6 Cows of the ſaid Robert, and them unjuſtly detained againſt Gages and Pledges, until, &c. and whereupon he ſays that he is damnified and has Damage to the Value of 10 l. And therefore he produces the Suit, &c.

Avowry.

And the aforeſaid Thomas Stapleton and John Heycock by Richard Haywood their Attorney come and defend the Force and Injury when, &c. all the taking and whatſoever, &c. And as Bailiffs of John Reynolds well acknowledge the taking of the Cattle aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. and juſtly, &c. becauſe they ſay that the ſame Place, in which the taking of the Cattle aforeſaid is ſuppoſed to be done, is, and at the aforeſaid Time of the taking of the ſaid Cattle above ſuppoſed to be done, was, Acres with the Appurtenances in Goldhanger aforeſaid, whereof, long before the taking of the ſaid Cattle above ſuppoſed to be done, one Charles late Duke of Suffolk was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame late Duke of Suffolk, before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 20th Day of March in the 30th Year of the Reign of Lord Henry the Eighth late King of England, at Goldhanger aforeſaid, gave, granted, and confirmed to one Robert Trapps of London Goldſmith and to Joan then his Wife the aforeſaid Place with the Appurtenances in which, &c. amongſt other Things, to have and to hold to the ſame Robert and Joan for Term of their Lives and of the longer Liver of them, without Impeachment of any Waſt, the Remainder thereof, after the Death of the aforeſaid Robert Trapps and Joan, to Nicholas Trapps one of the Sons of the ſaid Robert Trapps, and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten, and for Default of

ſuch

ſuch Iſſue, the Remainder thereof to one Francis Trapps another of the Sons of the ſaid Robert Trapps, and to his Heirs and Aſſigns for ever. By virtue of which ſaid Gift, Grant, and Confirmation the aforeſaid Robert Trapps and Joan his Wife of the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. were ſeized in their Demeſn as of Freehold for Term of their Lives, the Remainder thereof to the aforeſaid Nicholas Trapps and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten, the Remainder thereof in Form aforeſaid. And the aforeſaid Robert and Joan being ſo ſeized thereof, and the aforeſaid Nicholas being ſo ſeized of the Remainder thereof, the aforeſaid Nicholas Trapps afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 7th Day of May in the 36th Year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Henry 8. at London aforeſaid of ſuch his Eſtate thereof died ſeized, after whoſe Death the aforeſaid Remainder of the aforeſaid Place in which, &c, amongſt other Things deſcended to one Mary Wife of one Lord Giles Paulet, and to Alice Wife of one Henry Brown, as Daughters and Heirs of the ſame Nicholas of his Body lawfully begotten, whereby the ſame Lord Giles and Mary, Henry Brown and Alice his Wife, in Right of the ſame Mary and Alice, were of the ſaid Remainder of the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. amongſt other Things ſeized as of Fee and Right, viz. to the aforeſaid Mary and Alice, and to the Heirs of their Bodies lawfully begotten, by the Form of the Gift aforeſaid. And afterwards the aforeſaid Robert Trapps and Joan being ſo ſeized, as is aforeſaid, of the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. the aforeſaid Robert Trapps, the 12th Day of December in the 3d Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, at London in the Pariſh of St. Vedaſt, died: And the aforeſaid Joan ſurvived him, and held herſelf in the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. by Right of Survivorſhip, and was thereof ſole ſeized in her Demeſn as of Freehold. And ſhe being ſo thereof ſeized, at London aforeſaid the 16th Day of January in the 6th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, of ſuch Eſtate thereof died ſeized; after whoſe Death the aforeſaid Lord Giles and Mary his Wife, and the aforeſaid Henry Brown and Alice his Wife, in Right of the ſame Mary and Alice, into the aforeſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances in which, &c. amongſt other Things, as in the Remainder of the ſaid Mary and Alice, entered, and were thereof, amongſt other Things, ſeized in their Demeſn as of Fee-tail, by the Form of the Gift aforeſaid, in Right of the ſame Mary and Alice. And the ſaid Lord Giles and Mary, Henry and Alice, being ſo thereof ſeized, before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 10th Day of July in the 7th Year of the Reign of the Lady Elizabeth now Queen of England, at Goldhanger aforeſaid, Partition of the Place aforeſaid in which, &c. and of other Tenements which deſcended to the aforeſaid Mary and Alice as Daughters and Heirs of the aforeſaid Nicholas in the ſaid County of Eſſex, was made between the aforeſaid Lord Giles Paulet and Mary, and the aforeſaid Henry Brown and Alice, by which ſaid Partition the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. amongſt other Things was allotted and aſſigned to the aforeſaid Lord Giles and Mary in Recompence and Allowance of the whole Purparty of the aforeſaid Mary falling to the ſaid Mary out of all the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances which were the aforeſaid Nicholas's her Father. By virtue of which ſaid Partition the ſame Lord Giles Paulet and Mary, as in Right of the ſame Mary, were of the aforeſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances in which, &c. amongſt other Things, ſeized in their Demeſn as of Fee-tail, viz. to the aforeſaid Mary and to the Heirs of her Body lawfully begotten, according to the Form of the Gift aforeſaid. And the ſame Lord Giles and Mary being ſo ſeized thereof, before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 25th Day of March in the 9th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, at Goldhanger aforeſaid, demiſed the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. amongſt other Things, to the aforeſaid John Reynolds, to have and to hold to the aforeſaid John Reynolds from the ſame 25th Day of March unto the End of the Term of 21 Years from thence next following and fully to be compleat. By virtue of which ſaid Demiſe the ſame John Reynolds, the 26th Day of March in the 9th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, into the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. entered, and was thereof poſſeſſed. And becauſe the aforeſaid Cattle the aforeſaid Time when, &c. were in the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. eating up the Graſs then and there growing, and doing Damage there, the ſame Thomas Stapleton and John Heycock as Bailiffs of the ſame John Reynolds well acknowledge the taking of the Cattle aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. and juſtly, &c. for the Damage then there ſo by them done. And this they are ready to verify, wherefore they pray Judgment and a Return of the Cattle aforeſaid, together with their Damages, Coſts, and Charges by them about their Suit in this Behalf expended, according to the Form of the Statute in ſuch Caſe lately made and provided, to be adjudged to them, &c.

And the aforeſaid Robert Smith ſays that by any Thing by the aforeſaid Thomas Stapleton and John Heycock above by pleading alledged, the ſame Thomas and John the taking of the Cattle aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. juſt, ought not to acknowledge, becauſe he ſays that well and true it is that the aforeſaid Charles Duke of Suffolk was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee of Bar.

and in the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. And being ſo ſeized thereof, he the ſaid 20th Day of March in the 30th Year of the Reign of Lord Henry the eighth late King of England, at Goldhanger aforeſaid, gave, granted, and confirmed to the ſaid Robert Trapps and Joan his Wife the aforeſaid Place with the Appurtenances in which, &c. to have and to hold to the ſame Robert and Joan for Term of their Lives and of the longer Liver of them, without Impeachment of any Waſt, the Remainder thereof, after the Death of the aforeſaid Robert and Joan, to Nicholas Trapps one of the Sons of the ſaid Robert Trapps, and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, the Remainder thereof to the aforeſaid Francis Trapps another of the Sons of the ſaid Robert Trapps, and to his Heirs and Aſſigns for ever; and that the aforeſaid Robert Trapps and Joan his Wife by virtue of the Gift, Grant, and Confirmation aforeſaid were ſeized in their Demeſn as of Freehold for Term of their Lives, the Remainder thereof to the aforeſaid Nicholas Trapps and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten, the Remainder thereof in Form aforeſaid. But further the aforeſaid Robert Smith ſays, that the aforeſaid Robert Trapps and Joan his Wife being ſo ſeized of the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. the Remainder to the ſaid Nicholas Trapps, as is aforeſaid, on the Octave of St. Hillary in the 35th Year of the Reign of Lord Henry the eighth late King of England, in the Court of the ſame late King at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex, before John Baldwin, William Shelley, Thomas Willoughby, and Humphry Brown Juſtices, * a certain final Concord was made, and afterwards from the Day of Eaſter in 15 Days in the 36th Year of the Reign of the ſame King Henry the eighth there granted and recorded before the ſame Juſtices and other faithful Men of the ſaid late King Henry the eighth there preſent, between the ſaid Nicholas Trapps Complainant and one Stephen Beckingham Deforceant, of the Place aforeſaid in which, &c. amongſt other Things, by the Name of one Meſſuage, one Garden, 60 Acres of Land, 6 Acres of Meadow, 100 Acres of Paſture, 20 Acres of Wood, and 300 Acres of Marſh with the Appurtenances in Goldhanger, whereof a Plea of Covenant was ſummoned between them in the ſame Court: By which ſaid Fine the ſame Stephen acknowledged the ſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances to be the Right of the ſaid Nicholas, as them which the ſame Nicholas had of the Gift of the ſame Stephen, and them remitted and quit-claimed from himſelf and his Heirs to the ſame Nicholas and his Heirs for ever; for which ſaid Acknowledgment, Remiſe, and Quit-claim, Fine, and Agreement the ſame Nicholas granted to the ſame Stephen the ſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances, and them to him rendered in the ſame Court; To have and to hold to the ſame Stephen from the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel then next to come unto the End of the Term of 54 Years from thence next following, and fully to be compleat, yielding therefore yearly during the whole Term to the ſame Nicholas his Heirs and Aſſigns 6 l. 7 s. 8 d. payable at the Feaſts of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary, and of St. Michael the Archangel by equal Portions. Upon which ſaid Fine Proclamations were made according to the Form of the Statute in ſuch Caſe made and provided, that is to ſay, the firſt Proclamation thereupon was made the 17th Day of May in the Term of Eaſter in the 36th Year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Henry the eighth, the ſecond Proclamation was made the 20th Day of May in the ſame Term, the third Proclamation was made the 23d Day of May in the ſame Term, the fourth Proclamation was made the 26th Day of May in the ſame Term, the fifth Proclamation was made the 25th Day of June in the Term of the Holy Trinity in the 36th Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King, the ſixth Proclamation was made the 27th Day of June in the ſame Term, the ſeventh Proclamation was made the 30th Day of June in the ſame Term, the eighth Proclamation was made the 2d Day of July in the ſame Term, the ninth Proclamation was made the 21ſt Day of November in the Term of St. Michael in the ſaid 36th Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King, the tenth Proclamation was made the 24th Day of November in the ſame Term, the eleventh Proclamation was made the 26th Day of November in the ſame Term, the twelfth Proclamation was made the 28th Day of November in the ſame Term, the thirteenth Proclamation was made the 5th Day of February in the Term of St. Hillary in the 36th Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King Henry the eighth, the fourteenth Proclamation was made the 7th Day of February in the ſame Term, the fifteenth Proclamation was made the 10th Day of February in the ſame Term, the ſixteenth Proclamation was made the 12th Day of February in the ſame Term, by virtue of which Fine with Proclamations aforeſaid Stephen Beckingham was poſſeſſed of the Intereſt of the Term aforeſaid. And further the ſame Robert Smith ſays, that the 7th Day of May in the 36th Year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Henry the eighth the aforeſaid Nicholas Trapps at Goldhanger aforeſaid died, and afterwards the aforeſaid Stephen Beckingham being poſſeſſed of the ſaid Intereſt of and in the Tenements aforeſaid, as is aforeſaid, at London in the Pariſh of the bleſſed Mary of the Arches in the Ward of Cheap made his Teſtament and laſt Will, and therein conſtituted Joan Beckingham his Wife ſole Executrix, and afterwards, viz. the 9th Day of December in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now at London in the Pariſh and Ward aforeſaid died. And the aforeſaid Joan Beckingham afterwards, viz. the 15th Day of December in the 1ſt Year aboveſaid took upon herſelf the Burthen of the Teſtament aforeſaid, and according to the eccleſiaſtical Law the ſame lawfully at the City of London, viz. in the Pariſh of the bleſſed Mary of the Arches in the Ward of Cheap, proved before Nicholas Wotton Doctor of both Laws, Dean of the Church of Chriſt in Canterbury, and the Chapter of the ſame Place, to whom all and all Manner of Juriſdiction ſpiritual and eccleſiaſtical, which to the Archbiſhop of Canterbury in full See appertained, that See being vacant, is notoriouſly known to belong. By virtue whereof the aforeſaid Joan Beckingham, as Executrix of the Teſtament aforeſaid, was of the Intereſt of the Term aforeſaid poſſeſſed. And the aforeſaid Joan Beckingham being ſo poſſeſſed, afterwards, viz. the 17th Day of December in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, at London in the Pariſh and Ward aforeſaid made her Teſtament and laſt Will, and therein made and conſtituted one George Keynſham and Richard Buckland Executors, and afterwards, viz. the 17th Day of December in the 1ſt Year aboveſaid, at London aforeſaid in the Pariſh and Ward aforeſaid, died. Which ſaid George Keynſham and Richard Buckland took upon themſelves the Burthen of the Teſtament of the aforeſaid Joan Beckingham, and the ſame Teſtament lawfully and according to the eccleſiaſtical Law proved at the City of London aforeſaid, viz. in the Pariſh and Ward aforeſaid, before the aforeſaid Nicholas Wotton Doctor of both Laws, Dean of the Church of Chriſt in Canterbury, and the Chapter of the ſame Place, to whom all and all Manner of Juriſdiction ſpiritual and eccleſiaſtical, which to the Archbiſhop of Canterbury in full See appertained, that See being vacant, is notoriouſly known to belong. By virtue whereof the aforeſaid George Keynſham and Richard Buckland as Executors of that Teſtament were poſſeſſed of the Intereſt of the Term aforeſaid, and afterwards the aforeſaid Robert Trapps and Joan his Wife died, after the Deaths of which Robert and Joan, the aforeſaid George Keynſham and Richard Buckland, before any Entry into the aforeſaid Place with the Appurtenances in which, &c. by the aforeſaid Lord Giles and Lady Mary, and by the aforeſaid Henry Brown and Alice his Wife, or any of them, the 20th Day of January in the 6th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, as Executors of the Teſtament of the aforeſaid Joan Beckingham Executrix of the Teſtament of the aforeſaid Stephen Beckingham, claiming their Term aforeſaid, into the aforeſaid Place with the Appurtenances in which, &c. entered, and were of the ſame as Executors of the Teſtament aforeſaid poſſeſſed for the Term aforeſaid, after that Partition of the Place aforeſaid in which, &c. was had, as the ſame Thomas Stapleton and John Heycock by Pleading have alledged. And the aforeſaid George Keynſham and Richard Buckland being ſo thereof poſſeſſed, as is aforeſaid, before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 20th Day of September in the 6th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, at Goldhanger aforeſaid, demiſed the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. to the aforeſaid Robert Smith, to have and to hold to the ſame Robert Smith his Executors and Aſſigns from the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel then next following unto the End of the Term and for the Term of 7 Years from thence next following, and fully to be compleat. By virtue whereof the ſame Robert Smith into the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. entered, and was of the ſame poſſeſſed until the aforeſaid Thomas and John took his Cattle aforeſaid in the ſame, in Manner and Form as in his Declaration aforeſaid he hath alledged. And this he is ready to verify, wherefore for that the aforeſaid Thomas Stapleton and John Heycock the taking of the Cattle aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Place in which, &c. acknowledge, the ſame Robert Smith prays Judgment, and his Damages aforeſaid by Occaſion of the taking and unjuſt Detention of the Cattle aforeſaid to be adjudged to him, &c.

and

* Vide 1 Leon. 76.

And the aforeſaid Thomas Stapleton and John Heycock ſay that the Plea aforeſaid by the ſaid Robert Smith in Manner and Form aforeſaid above by Pleading in Bar to the Cogniſance aforeſaid pleaded, and the Matter in the ſame contained, are inſufficient in Law to preclude them the ſaid Thomas and John from having their Cognizance aforeſaid, to which ſaid Plea they the ſame Thomas and John have no Neceſſity, nor are by the Law of the Land bound in anywiſe to anſwer; wherefore for Want of a ſufficient Anſwer in Bar to the Cognizance aforeſaid in this Behalf, the ſame Thomas and John as before pray Judgment, and a Return of the Cattle aforeſaid together with their Damages, Coſts, and Expences by them about their Suit in this Behalf expended, according to the Form of the Statute in ſuch Caſe made and provided, to be adjudged to them, &c. Defendants demur.

And the aforeſaid Robert Smith ſays that the Plea aforeſaid by him the ſaid Robert Smith in Manner and Form aforeſaid by Pleading in Bar to the Cognizance aforeſaid pleaded, and the Matter in the ſame contained, are good and ſufficient in Law to preclude the aforeſaid Thomas Stapleton and John Heycock from having their Cognizance aforeſaid, which ſaid Plea and the Matter in the ſame contained the ſame Robert Smith is ready to verify and prove as the Court, &c. And becauſe the aforeſaid Thomas Stapleton and John Heycock to that Plea do not anſwer, nor the ſame hitherto in any wiſe deny, the ſame Robert Smith as before prays Judgment, and his Damages aforeſaid by the Occaſion Joinder in Demurrer.

Occasion aforesaid to be adjudged to him, &c. And because the Court of the said Lady the Queen here is not yet advised of giving their Judgment of and upon the Premisses, Day therefore is given to the Parties aforesaid before the Lady the Queen at Westminster until next after to hear their Judgment of and upon the Premisses, &c. because the Court of the Lady the Queen here thereof not yet, &c.

THE CASE. A Stranger levies a Fine to Tenant in Tail in Remainder expectant on two Estates for Life, sur Conusance de droit come ceo que il ad de son done, and the Conusee by the same Fine renders to the Conusor for 54 Years to commence at Michaelmas ensuing, and dies, and all the Proclamations are made after his Death: The Tenants for Life, (after the Time in which the Lease is limited to commence) die: Adjudged, that the Term was good against the Issue in Tail, for the Fine was not avoided by the Descent of the Remainder. S.C. cited Moor 630. Sav. 106. 2 Bulst. 43. 1 Show. 378. West's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 10. b. Shep. Pract. Couns. 27, 65, 68. 2 Bac. Abr. 530. Vin. Abr. tit. Fine O. 4. pl. 5. S. 2. pl. 1.

THE Case was recited in this Manner. Charles Duke of Suffolk was seized in his Demesn as of Fee of and in Acres in Goldhanger in the County of Essex, and being so seized, the 20th Day of March in the 30th Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. he gave the said Lands to Robert Trapps and to Joan his Wife for their Lives, the Remainder to Nicholas Trapps one of their Sons, and to the Heirs of his Body begotten, the Remainder to Francis Trapps another of their Sons, and to his Heirs for ever; by Force whereof the Husband and Wife were seized accordingly, the Remainders over in Form aforesaid. And they being so seized, on the Octave of St. Hillary in the 35th Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. in the Common Bench a final Concord was made, and afterwards on the Quinzime of Easter in the 36th Year of the Reign of the same King granted and recorded before the Justices of the same Bench, between the said Nicholas Trapps Complainant, and one Stephen Beckingham Deforceant, of the said Tenements; by which Fine the said Stephen acknowledged the Tenements to be the Right of the said Nicholas, as them which the said Nicholas had of his Gift, for which Fine the said Nicholas Trapps granted and rendered the same Tenements to the same Stephen Beckingham, to have and to hold to the same Stephen from the Feast of St. Michael then next following unto the End and Term of 54 Years from thence next ensuing, and fully to be compleat: Yielding therefore yearly during the said Term to the said Nicholas his Heirs and Assigns 6 l. 7 s. 8 d. at the Feasts of the Annunciation of our Lady and of St. Michael the Archangel by equal Portions. And afterwards, viz. the 7th Day of May in the 36th Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. the said Nicholas died, leaving Issue two Daughters, viz. Mary the Wife of Lord Giles Paulet, and Alice the Wife of Henry Brown, after whose Death Proclamations were made upon the said Fine, that is to say, the first Proclamation was made the 17th Day of May in the 36th Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. and three other Proclamations were made the same Term, and four Proclamations in each of the three Terms following. And afterwards, viz. in the 1st Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth the said Stephen Beckingham made Joan his Wife his Executrix, and died, who proved the Testament, and made George Keynsham and Richard Buckland her Executors, and died in the said 1st Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth. And afterwards, viz. in the 3d Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth the said Robert Trapps died, and afterwards in the 6th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth the said Joan Wife of the said Robert Trapps died. After whose Death, and before any Entry made by the Daughters of the said Nicholas Trapps, or their Husbands, the said Keynsham and Buckland Executors of the said Joan Beckingham entered into the said Tenements, claiming their said Term of 54 Years. And afterwards, viz. the 20th Day of September in the said 6th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth they leased the said Tenements to the said Robert Smith the Plaintiff for 7 Years next following the Feast of St. Michael the Archangel then next ensuing, by Force whereof Smith entered and was possessed. And afterwards the said two Husbands and their Wives entered, and the 10th Day of July in the 7th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth made Partition of the Hereditaments descended to them from the said Nicholas Trapps, by which Partition the said Tenements in Goldhanger were allotted to the said Lord Giles Paulet and to Mary his Wife, as Part of their Purparty. Whereupon they the 25th Day of March in the 9th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth made a Lease of the said Tenements to one John Reynolds for 21 Years next ensuing the said 25th Day of March, by Force whereof on the Morrow afterwards the said Reynolds entered, and the said Robert Smith the Plaintiff put in his Cattle, viz. six Cows, and the said Thomas Stapleton and John Heycock as Bailiffs of the said John Reynolds, the 27th Day of November in the 10th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, distrained them, whereupon he sued a Replevin against them, which was removed into the King's Bench. And they as Bailiffs of the said John Reynolds make Cognizance for Damage-feasant, and shew the said Conveyance made by the Duke, and the Descent and the Partition, and the Lease to Reynolds. And the Plaintiff by Way of Bar to the Cognizance shews the Fine and the Proclamations, and the rest of the said Matter, and so the whole Matter before shewn was disclosed. And thereupon Stapleton and Heycock have demurred in Law.

And the Matter was argued at the Bar in the King's Bench in October in the 10th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth by Thornton and Manwood on the Part of the Defendants, and by Thomas Bromley and an Apprentice of the Middle-Temple on the Part of the Plaintiff. And Exceptions taken to the Pleadings.

Bromley took Exception to the Plea of Cognizance made by the Defendants, for that they have made Cognizance for Damage-feasant in the Land of their Master, and his Title is shewn to be by Force Force of a Leaſe made by the Lord Giles Paulet and his Wife for 21 Years, which Leaſe is not ſhewn to be by Deed, in which Caſe it is not the Leaſe of the Wife, but of the Huſband only, and therefore they ought to have ſhewn that the Huſband and Wife were in full Life at the Time of the Diſtreſs taken, for if the Huſband is dead, the Leaſe is abſolutely determined, as againſt the Wife, becauſe it was made without Deed, and if the Wife is dead, then the Eſtate of the Huſband who made the Leaſe is ended, if it be not ſhewn that he was Tenant by the Curteſy, and then the Leaſe for Years is alſo ended. Wherefore the Defendants, in order to enable themſelves to puniſh the Plaintiff by Diſtreſs for his Wrong to Reynolds, ought to aver the Lives of the Huſband and Wife, which they have not done, and for this Reaſon their Plea is bad.

Exception 1. Whether it be neceſſary for him that derives Title to Land by a Leaſe for Years made by Huſband and Wife Tenants in Tail in Right of the Wife, to alledge the ſame to be made by Deed, or to aver the Lives of the Huſband and Wife, S. P. Sav. 111. Vide Dy. 91. pl. 13. 146. pl. 70. 2 Co. 61. a. b. 1 Leon. 192, 204. Cro. E. 438, 481, 656, 708. Cro. C. 527. Hutt. 55. 102. Winch 34. 1 Rol. R. 402. 3 Bac. Abr. 306.

In Anſwer to which it was ſaid, that it is ſhewn that the Wife had an Eſtate of Inheritance in the Land, viz. a Fee-tail, and ſo had the Huſband in her Right, and when a Leaſe is derived from one who has an Inheritance, whether he be an Abbot, Biſhop, Dean, Tenant in Tail, or the like, the Inheritance ſhall be intended to [a] continue in him, and he in the Inheritance, until the contrary is ſhewn; otherwiſe it is of a particular Eſtate, as for Life. [b] And alſo the Poſſeſſion continuing in the Leſſee ſhall enable him to diſtrain Damage-feaſant the Cattle of a Stranger that has no Title, although his Eſtate in Right is ended. But if the Huſband had granted a Rent-charge to a Stranger, and he had diſtrained for it, there would have been greater Reaſon to aver the Life of the Huſband, but here this Diſtreſs for Damage-feaſant is in Reſpect of the Poſſeſſion rather than of a good Title, which Poſſeſſion is not ſhewn to be removed. [c] And alſo it is pleaded by Way of Bar, for although he that makes Cognizance makes Title to have a Return, yet it is alſo a Bar to the Plaintiff, for it excuſes the Defendants of the Wrong, [d] and a Bar ſhall be good to a common Intent. And at the End this Exception was diſallowed by the Rule of the Court.

[a] See Ante 193 (c). and the Books there cited.

[b] S. P. 2 Rol. Sav. 111.

[c] S. P. Litt. R. 71. Palm. 483.

[d] See Ante 26 (b); and the Books there cited.

Abr. 676. pl. 19. Sav. 111. Vide 5 Co. 85. a. Vin. Abr. tit. Poſſeſſion G. per totum. See poſt 546 (c).

Another Exception was taken to the Pleading of the Partition in the Defendant's Plea of Cognizance, for that it is pleaded that the Place where, &c. amongſt other Things, was allotted and aſſigned to Lord Giles and his Wife in Recompence of her Purparty, and they have not ſhewn in particular all that was allotted to them, but have only ſaid that the Place where, &c. amongſt other Things, was allotted to them, and have not ſhewn the Certainty of the Land allotted to the other Coparcener.

Exception 2. Whether Partition pleaded inter alia be good.

To which it was ſaid, that the Pleading is good enough, and in the uſual Form, and the Plaintiff in his Bar to the Cognizance has in preciſe Words confeſſed the ſaid Partition according as it was alledged, wherefore this Exception was diſallowed by the Court.

Another Exception was taken by Thornton and Manwood to the Pleading of the Fine in the Plaintiff's Bar to the Cognizance, for that he has pleaded "that a final Concord was made," and has not pleaded "that a Fine was levied," as the uſual Form is, and although the Fine here was not engroſſed until Eaſter Term, yet it may be ſaid that the Fine was levied in Hillary Term, for in that Term the Writ of Covenant was returned, with the Dedimus poteſtatem, and the Concord and the King's Silver was entered the ſame Term, and the Note is made that Term in which the Writ is returned, which makes it a Fine, ſo that it might well be ſaid that the Fine was levied in Hillary Term, although it was not engroſſed until Eaſter Term. [e] And upon this the Caſe in 22 H. 6. was cited, where Bremingham brought a Scire facias upon a Fine levied in Eaſter Term anno 18. Edw. 3. and it was recorded and engroſſed in Trinity Term the ſame Year, and Exception was taken becauſe the Mittimus did not make Mention that the Fine was engroſſed, but cum quidam finis levavit only: But it is there ſaid that although a Fine is levied and not engroſſed, yet it is a Fine, and remains of Record, to the Intent to be executed afterwards, as ſtrongly as if it had been engroſſed, and there are divers Fines executed in this Place which never were engroſſed; [f] and before the engroſſing of it a Man ſhall have a Quid juris clamat to compel the Tenant to attorn, [g] for without Attornment the Waſt would be diſpuniſhable, which was there affirmed by the whole Court, but after the Fine is engroſſed he ſhall not ſue a Quid juris clamat, nor make Avowry, nor puniſh the Waſt without Attornment, and neither in the Certiorare, which iſſues out of the Chancery to the Chamberlains to remove a Fine levied in one Term, and engroſſed in another Term, nor in the Mittimus, is there any Mention made of the engroſſing: Wherefore the Tenant was there driven to anſwer over. From whence (it was ſaid) it appears in our Caſe that the Plaintiff might have ſaid that the Fine was levied in Hillary Term, although it was not engroſſed until Eaſter Term, and therefore inaſmuch as he has not purſued the uſual Form of Pleading, the Bar to the Cognizance is not good. And alſo it is not ſhewn that it was levied in the Common-Bench.

Exception 3. Whether it be a good Form of pleading a Fine to ſay that a final Concord was made, &c. And if it be neceſſary to ſhew that it was levied in the Common Bench. Vide 2 Mod. Entr. 325. b. pl. 5.

[e] M. 22. H. 6. 13. b. Fitz. Scire facias 31. Bro. 115. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 41.

[f] F. N. B. 147. a. 5 Co. 39. b. Poph. 63. Strange 109. Curſon 131, 142. Manby 158. Booth 249, 250. Weſt Symb. Pt. 2. fo. 47.

[g] Curſon 131. Manby 158. Booth 249. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 47. a.

In anſwer to which it was ſaid, that the Matter and the Subſtance of the Fine is here ſhewn by this Form of Pleading as fully as by the other, ſo that there is no Variance in Subſtance, and in ſuch Caſe a Man is not tied up to one particular Form of Pleading, but if he ſhews the Matter effectually it is ſufficient. And as to its not being ſaid that it was levied in the Common-Bench, to this it was anſwered that the uſual Form is to ſay that the Fine was levied in the Court of the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter, as it is before pleaded, and not to ſay that it was levied in the Common Bench. And Precedents hereof were cited in the * Book of Entries Tit. Formedon fo. 350. and in divers other Places. Wherefore theſe Exceptions were diſallowed by the Rule of the Court.

* Raſt. Entr. laſt Edition fo. 374. a.

The Matter in Law,

As to the Matter in Law, the main Point of it was, whether or no the Leaſe for Years made by the Fine be defeated. And in order to underſtand this (it was ſaid) it is firſt to be conſidered how and in what Degree the Leaſe at firſt paſſed by the Fine; and then whether or no by the Death of Nicholas Trapps, and the Deſcent of the Remainder in Tail to his Daughters, thoſe Daughters were remitted to the Remainder in Tail in ſuch Manner that the Leaſe ſhall be adjudged in Law to be utterly defeated by the Deſcent of the Remainder; and laſtly, what was the Force of the Proclamations upon the Fine made after the Death of the ſaid Nicholas Trapps.

And as to the firſt Point, viz. in what Degree the Leaſe at firſt paſſed from Nicholas Trapps, it was ſaid, it is to be obſerved that Robert Trapps and his Wife were Tenants for Life of the Land, the Remainder to Nicholas in Tail, in which Caſe when Beckingham acknowledged the Tenements to be the Right of Nicholas, as them which he had of his Gift, his Eſtate in rei veritate was not altered, for Beckingham had no Right nor Eſtate in the Land, ſo that in Fact nothing paſſed from Beckingham to Nicholas, although during the Life of Nicholas he ſhould be concluded by Eſtoppel to ſay otherwiſe but that he received a Fee-ſimple from Beckingham.

Foraſmuch then as nothing is in Fact done by the Acknowledgment of Beckingham to Nicholas, the Render of Nicholas to Beckingham is to be conſidered, which was for 54 Years to commence at the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel then next coming, at which Time Nicholas had but a Remainder in Tail depending upon an Eſtate for the Lives of Huſband and Wife, and the Huſband and Wife were alive at the Time when the Leaſe for Years took its Commencement. And for the better underſtanding this Matter, it was ſaid, it is to be divided into divers Parts. Firſt, it is to be conſidered what would have been the Operation of the Law if the Leaſe had been made by Parol without Deed, and then what would have been its Operation if it had been made by Deed Poll without Eſtoppel, and laſtly, what ſhall be the Operation of the Law if it is made by Deed indented or by Fine, which are Eſtoppels in themſelves.

[a] S. P. Dy. 35. pl. 29 in margine. Moor 344. Litt. R. 281. Hutt. 105. Hardr. 411. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 71. 3 Bac. Abr. 438, 439. Ante 422 (e). Poſt 521 (b).

And as to theſe the Apprentice ſaid, [a] if a Man is ſeized of Land in Fee-ſimple, and makes a Leaſe for 21 Years to commence preſently, rendering Rent, and afterwards the ſame Day makes a new Leaſe by * Parol to another for the ſame Term, or for a leſſer Term, this ſecond Leaſe is utterly void to all Intents and Purpoſes, ſo that although the firſt Leſſee ſurrenders his Term to the Leſſor, or loſes his Term by Reaſon of a Condition broken, or forfeits it by a Feoffment made, and by Entry of the Leſſor, yet the ſecond Leſſee ſhall never have his Term, becauſe his Leaſe was void at the Beginning. For when the Leſſor had made the firſt Leaſe, he had then nothing in him but the Reverſion, and the Leſſee had the Land and the Poſſeſſion of it during the 21 Years, ſo that for that Time the Leſſor had no Intereſt in him to meddle with the Poſſeſſion, nor Authority to contract for it, for it was the Leſſee's Land for that Time, and he only had the Poſſeſſion of it during his Term, and therefore the Leſſor had no Power to contract for that which was not his own, but another's; [b] for it is requiſite that he, who by his Contract makes another the Poſſeſſor of any Thing, be the Proprietor of the ſame Thing, or elſe it is reaſonable that his Contract ſhould be void. [c] For if I am poſſeſſed of a Horſe, and I ſell the Horſe to another upon Condition that he pay me 40 s. for him at Chriſtmas, and before Chriſtmas I ſell the Horſe to another, and afterwards the firſt Vendee fails of Payment at Chriſtmas, ſo that I re-ſeize the Horſe, the ſecond Vendee ſhall never have him, for at the Time of the ſecond Contract I had no Intereſt in, nor Property, nor Poſſeſſion of the Horſe, nor any Thing but a Condition, which is not ſufficient to enable me to contract for the Property and Poſſeſſion, and therefore the ſecond Contract is meerly void. So ſhall the ſecond Leaſe be in the ſaid Caſe. But if the Leſſor after the Leaſe made for 21 Years grants the Reverſion by Deed for 21 Years immediately, there this Grant is good with Attornment, and the Grantee, if he obtains Attornment, ſhall have the Reverſion for 21 Years, which is as long as the firſt Leaſe continues, and he ſhall have the Rent reſerved upon the firſt Leaſe as incident to it; for there the Grant is not of the ſame Thing which the firſt Leſſee hath, for he hath the Land in Poſſeſſion, and the ſecond Grantee has but the Reverſion of it, which is quite a different Thing, and of a different Nature, for Poſſeſſion and Reverſion are ſeveral Things, and meerly contrary to each other. * And ſo the Leſſor, who has made a Leaſe for 21 Years, may by Parol make a Leaſe for Years to commence after the Determination of the firſt Leaſe, for this ſecond Leaſe is of another Thing, for the ſecond Leſſee is to have the Poſſeſſion after the firſt Poſſeſſion and Intereſt is expired, ſo that it is of another Thing than that which the firſt Leſſee has. [d] But if the Leſſor, who has made a Leaſe for 21 Years to commence preſently, makes another Leaſe by Parol for 31 Years to commence preſently alſo, there this ſecond Leaſe is good for the laſt 10 Years only, and for no Part of the firſt 21 Years of the ſecond Term, although the firſt Leaſe ends within the Time by Forfeiture or otherwiſe. For as to thoſe 21 Years the Leſſor had no Power to contract, becauſe the firſt Term of 21 Years ſtood in the Way, as it is ſaid before, but as to the laſt 10 Years the Caſe is juſt the ſame as if he had made a Leaſe for 10 Years to commence

* Note, at this Day by the Statute of 29 Car. 2. cap. 3. of Frauds and Perjuries, no Parol Leaſe for above three Years is to have any other Effect than only as a Leaſe at Will, ſo that ſuch Parol Leaſes now for 10 or 20 Years are out of Doors.

[b] Dy. 26. pl. 168.

[c] Vin. Abr. tit. Contract C. pl. 10.

* S. P. Plowd. Quær. § 122. 157, admitted,

[d] S. P. 26. H. 8. Bro. Leaſe 48. Cro. E. 160 Per Gawdy. 3 Bac. Abr. 439. Plowd. Quær. § 122. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 231.

mence from ſuch a Day which is the firſt Day after the Determination of the firſt Term of 21 Years by Effluxion of Time; for if it be ended by Surrender or other Abbreviation, yet the 10 Years ſhall not commence until the Time of 21 Years is expired and paſt, for the Leaſe for 31 Years made by Parol, as to the firſt 21 Years of it, was void as well againſt the Leſſor, for the Rent and all other Purpoſes, as againſt the Leſſee, and then the laſt 10 Years ſhall commence not after the Surrender of the firſt Leaſe, but after the Number of 21 Years are expired, at which Time they ſhall commence. For although the Contract for 31 Years is void in Part, viz. for the firſt 21 Years, yet it ſhall be good for the Reſidue, for in the Demiſe or Contract for 31 Years the Term is executory for every Year, and as to the Matter of the Execution it is the ſame as if there had been ſeveral [a] Contracts, one for one Year, and another for another Year, and ſo for every Year and every Day ſeverally, and then although it is void for the firſt 21 Years, yet it is good for the other 10 Years remaining, as if ſeveral Contracts had been made for them; [b] ſo that one and the ſame Contract may be void in Part and good in Part. [c] As if a Man who is ſeized in Fee makes a Leaſe for 21 Years to commence 10 Years afterwards, and the ſame Day makes a ſecond Leaſe by Parol to a Stranger for 31 Years to commence preſently, rendering Rent, there the ſecond Leaſe is good only for the firſt 10 Years, and void for the laſt 21 Years, as well againſt the Leſſor as againſt the Leſſee, ſo that the Leſſor ſhall not have any Rent for the laſt 21 Years, nor ſhall the ſecond Leſſee have the Land after the firſt 10 Years ended, although the firſt Leſſee, before the Commencement of his Term, re-grants his Term to the firſt Leſſor, becauſe the ſecond Leaſe for the laſt 21 Years was void to all Intents and Purpoſes, for the Leſſor had no Authority nor Power to contract with the ſecond Leſſee for ſuch Time, inaſmuch as he had before leaſed the Land to the firſt Leſſee for that Time, whereby he had diſcharged himſelf of the Land, and of all Power to contract for it, as to that Time. [d] But if a Man who is ſeized in Fee makes a Leaſe for Life, and afterwards makes a Leaſe to another by Parol for 40 Years to commence preſently, and within a Year afterwards the Leſſee for Life dies, there the Leſſee for 40 Years may enter, and ſhall have the Land for as many of the 40 Years as are then to come, for the firſt Eſtate for Life had no Certainty of Continuance, becauſe nothing is more incertain than the Life of Man, and although it was ſo far certain that the Leſſee for Life ſhould have the Land as long as he ſhould live, yet how long he ſhould live was utterly incertain; and therefore this cannot be reſembled to the ſaid Caſe of a Leaſe for 21 Years where the ſecond Leaſe is for 31 Years, for there it is certain that the firſt Leaſe will continue for 21 Years, and neither more nor leſs, ſo that upon ſuch Certainty the Law can ſay that the ſecond Leaſe is void for the firſt 21 Years, becauſe another has the Land for that Time, in which Caſe the Leſſor had no Power nor Intereſt to contract for the Land with another for that Time, but yet the ſecond Leaſe is good for the Reſidue of the 31 Years, viz. for the laſt 10 Years. So here the Leſſor had no Power to contract for the Poſſeſſion during the Life of the Tenant for Life, and therefore if the Leſſee for Life [e] ſurrenders, yet the Leſſee for 40 Years ſhall not have the Land during his Life, though after his Life he ſhall have it for as many of the 40 Years as are then to come, becauſe in a Contract for a Leaſe for Years, which is but an Agreement for the Land for the Time, every Year and Day and other Part of the Time which is to come is executory as to the Leſſee, and he ſhall have it if there be no Impediment to the contrary, and when the Eſtate for Life is ended, then the Contract which is executory for the Time to come ſhall be executed, and the Impediment, viz. the Eſtate for Life, which made the Contract void as long as the Life continued, is now removed, ſo that nothing ſtands in the Way of the Contract from thenceforwards, and ſo the Leſſee ſhall have the Reſidue of the 40 Years which are to come after the Death of the firſt Leſſee for Life. And thus he took the Law to be touching a preſent Contract for Land by Parol.

[f] But if a Man makes a Leaſe for 21 Years to commence preſently, and the Leſſee enters, and afterwards the ſame Day the Leſſor makes a new Leaſe by Deed-poll to a Stranger for the ſame Years, or for a leſſer Time, there if the firſt Leſſee attorns, the ſecond Leſſee ſhall have the Reverſion, and the Rent reſerved upon the firſt Leaſe, [g] for in the Demiſe of the Land the Reverſion ſhall paſs with Attornment, if the Poſſeſſion cannot. For if a Man by Deed inrolled bargains and ſells an Acre of Land, and he has but a Reverſion in it depending upon an Eſtate for Life, the Reverſion ſhall paſs; and every Man may uſe his Deed as he himſelf pleaſes. And therefore although the Deed-poll ſpeaks of a preſent Leaſe for Years of the Land, yet the Party may uſe it as a Grant of the Reverſion, but ſo he cannot uſe a Demiſe which is by Parol without Deed, [h] for a Reverſion for Years cannot be granted by Parol without Writing. But if the Leſſee will uſe the Leaſe by Deed-poll as a preſent Leaſe for Years, or if he does not obtain Attornment of the firſt Leſſee, then ſuch Leaſe by Deed-poll is abſolutely void, as much as if it was without Deed, ſo that if the firſt Leaſe is forfeited or defeated by Condition broken, the ſecond Leſſee by Deed-poll cannot enter, although the Time of his Years is not elapſed, nor can the Leſſor have an Action of Debt for the Rent reſerved, [i] becauſe a Contract by Deed-poll cannot make that to paſs which another then enjoyed, but it is void.

But

[a] See Litt. R. 280.

[b] Vin. Abr. tit. Contra&E. pl. 12.

[c] Vin. Abr. tit. Eſtate B. b. 10. pl. 6.

[d] P. 37. H. 8. Bro. Leaſe 48. 1 Co. 155. a. Moor 341. 3 Bac. Abr. 400. Cro. E. 160 Per Gawdy. Ante 422 (c). Vin. Abr. tit. Eſtate B. b. 10. pl. 7. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 230, 231. Contra Plowd. Quær. § 122, 161.

[e] S. P. 3 Bac. Abr. 440. Sed Ante 422 (d).

[f] Hutt. 105. 3 Bac. Abr. 439. Vin. Abr. tit. Eſtate B. b. 10. pl. 8. Ante 422 (a).

[g] See Ante 155 (b). and the Books there cited.

[h] Cro. C. 143. pl. 20. 3 Lev. 155.

[i] Vin. Abr. tit. Faits G. a. pl. 7.

[a] 1 Co. 155. a. Dy. 112. pl. 49. Skin. 261. 3 Bac. Abr. 440. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 71.

[b] Co. Litt. 47. b. 1 Finch 89, 162. 2 Finch 109. 3 Bac. Abr. 441. W. Jones 459. See Ante 421(b).

[c] See the Books next before cited. Clayt. 32. Plowd. Quær. § 124.

[d] Litt. § 58.

[a] But if the ſecond Leaſe was by Deed indented, or by Fine, (as our Caſe is) then if the firſt Leaſe is ſurrendered, or defeated by Forfeiture or Condition broken, or otherwiſe ended, the ſecond Leſſee may enter and hold it againſt the Leſſor, [b] for inaſmuch as the Leaſe is by Indenture or by Fine, both Parties are concluded to ſay the contrary but that the Leſſor had the Land in Poſſeſſion to paſs, and that it paſſed in Poſſeſſion according to the Tenor of the Leaſe; [c] for if the Leſſor had nothing in the Land, but purchaſed it after ſuch Leaſe, or if the Land deſcended to him afterwards, the Leſſee might enter upon him by Reaſon of the Concluſion, and alſo the Leſſee by Eſtoppel ſhould be compelled to pay the Rent. [d] For Littleton in his Chapter of Tenant for Years ſays, "if a Man brings an Action of Debt for Rent reſerved "upon a Leaſe for Years, it is a good Plea for the Leſſee to ſay that the Leſſor had nothing in "the Tenements at the Time of the Leaſe made, except the Leaſe be by Deed indented, in "which Caſe ſuch Plea does not lie for the Leſſee to plead." And thus, he ſaid, ſtands the Law with Regard to a preſent Leaſe for Years made by Parol, by Deed-poll, and by Indenture or other Matter of Eſtoppel, where the Land is as long in Leaſe before.

In our Caſe then Nicholas Trapps, who made the Leaſe by Fine to commence immediately after the Feaſt of St. Michael then next following, had nothing in the Land but a Remainder in Tail, and both at that Time, and at the Day when the Leaſe ought to commence, his Father and Mother held the Land for Term of their Lives, in which Caſe the Leaſe is not meerly void, for if it had been made by Parol, and the Leſſees for Life had died during the Life of Nicholas Trapps, Beckingham the Leſſee might have entered and have held the Land againſt Nicholas. And inaſmuch as the Leaſe is made by Fine, which carries an Eſtoppel to every Party, the Leaſe ſhall be ſtronger thereby, and ſo the Leaſe in the Life of Nicholas Trapps ſhall not be ſaid to be void, but ſhall be good in Eſtate to have the Reſidue of the Years which are not incurred in the Life of the Tenants for Life, and by Eſtoppel the Leaſe is a good Leaſe in Poſſeſſion for all the 54 Years.

But the great Matter is, when Nicholas Trapps died before the Commencement of the Leaſe, and the Remainder in Tail deſcended to his two Daughters, and the Proclamations upon the Fine were all made after the Death of the Tenant in Tail, whether or no they ſhall bind the Tail, and make the Leaſe for 54 Years good againſt the Iſſues in Tail. And hereupon the Statutes of 4 H. 7. cap. 24. and of 32 H. 8. cap. 36. and the Branches and the Meanings of them, were conſidered. And whereas the ſaid Statute of 32 H. 8. ordains that all Fines levied with Proclamations of any Lands entailed to the Perſon levying the Fine, or to any of his Anceſtors, ſhall, after the Fine engroſſed and Proclamations made, be adjudged and accepted a ſufficient Bar and Diſcharge for ever againſt the ſaid Perſon and Perſons, and their Heirs claiming only by Force of any ſuch Entail, it was objected by the Counſel for the Defendants, and alſo affirmed by the ſaid Apprentice, [e] that if the Eſtate given, upon which the Fine was levied by the Tenant in Tail, be abſolutely defeated before the laſt Proclamation made, then notwithſtanding all the Proclamations afterwards paſs and are made, the Eſtate-tail ſhall not be barred. [f] As if Tenant in Tail is diſſeized, and afterwards he levies a Fine to the Diſſeizor ſur conuſance de droit, or upon Releaſe, and dies, and the Iſſue in Tail enters before all the Proclamations made, and afterwards all the Proclamations are made, the Tail is not barred, but the Iſſue is remitted, and is in as Tenant in Tail; for although the Statute of 32 H. 8. ſays, that the Fine after the Proclamations made ſhall be a Bar to the Tail, yet theſe Words are ſo to be underſtood that if the Fine remains in Force until the Proclamations are made, then after the Proclamations are made, it ſhall be a Bar to the Tail, but when the Iſſue in Tail, before all the Proclamations made, enters, where his Entry is lawful, there by ſuch Entry he has annulled the Eſtate which the Parties to the Fine had, and thereby he has annulled the Fine, and is remitted to the Eſtate-tail, and then the Proclamations, which proceed afterwards and are conſummated, are of no Force, inaſmuch as the Fine is of no Force, for the Fine which is the Principal being annulled, the Proclamations which are only acceſſary to the Fine muſt alſo be annulled: And ſo the general Words of the Statute, which are that the Fine after the Proclamations made ſhall be a Bar to the Tail, are to be conſtrued in this reaſonable Senſe, for elſe it is idle to ſay that it ſhall be a Bar after the Proclamations, if nothing can be done before the Proclamations. And the Proclamations were ordained to the Intent that thoſe who have Right or Title ſhould have Notice of the Fine, which Notice is to give them who have Right or Title an Opportunity of defeating the Fine before the laſt Proclamation by Entry, Claim, or Action, and to no other Purpoſe is it, by which it is to be underſtood that the Entry or other lawful deveſting of the Poſſeſſion by him that has Right, before the laſt Proclamation made, ſhall aid him that has Right, or elſe the Proclamations would but be ſuperfluous, for to give Notice by the Proclamations to thoſe that have Right, and when they have Notice, not to permit them to take the proper Methods of preventing and oppoſing the Force of the Proclamations, would be to a very idle and frivolous Purpoſe. Wherefore it appears to be the Intent of the Makers of the Act that thoſe who have Right may avoid the Fine and the Force of the Proclamations by Entry or other lawful deveſting of the Eſtate and Poſſeſſion of the Land before the laſt Proclamation.

[e] 1 Co. 96. b. 2 And. 177. Kelw. 205. b.

[f] 1 Co. 96. b. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 65. See 3 Co. 90. a.

Alſo

[a] Alſo it was ſaid that if Tenant in Tail of a Rent, or of an Advowſon, or of Tithes, or ſuch like, levies a Fine thereof to a Stranger come ceo que il ad de ſon done, and dies before all the Proclamations are paſt, if the Iſſue ſuffers the Poſſeſſion to continue according to the Fine until the Proclamations are paſt, the Tail is barred for ever, but if he gets Seizin of the Rent, or of the Tithes, or of the Preſentment to the Advowſon before the Proclamations, the whole Force of the Fine and of the Proclamations are defeated, cauſâ qua ſupra. And it was ſaid, if ſo be the Iſſue cannot get Seizin of the Rent, or of the Tithes, or of the Preſentment to the Advowſon before the laſt Proclamation is paſt, (as perhaps he cannot, becauſe it may happen that no Day of Payment is incurred, and that no Tithes, or Avoidance of the Advowſon has fallen after the Acknowledgment of the Fine and before the laſt Proclamation) yet if the Iſſue comes to the Land before the laſt Proclamation is made, and claims the Rent or the Tithes, or to the Church, and claims the Advowſon, this is ſufficient to defeat the Fine and the Proclamations, and to ſave the Tail; [b] for as ſuch Claim is ſufficient for the Lord of a Villain to remove out of the Villain ſuch Things purchaſed by him, and to veſt them in the Lord, as Littleton ſays, ſo by the ſame Reaſon in this Caſe ſuch Claim ſhall be ſufficient for the Iſſue in Tail to deveſt ſuch Things out of the Conuſee, and to reveſt them in the Iſſue in Tail, which the Law of itſelf would not otherwiſe do, altho' the Things are in Tail, and altho' the Fine makes no [c] Diſcontinuance. [d] But if Tenant in Tail of Land levies a Fine of it to a Stranger ſur conuſance de droit come ceo que il ad de ſon done, and dies, and before all the Proclamations are paſt the Iſſue brings a Formedon in Deſcender againſt the Conuſee, and pending the Action all the Proclamations paſs, there (it was ſaid) the Iſſue ſhall be barred, and the Diſcontinuee may plead in Bar of the Tail for ever this Fine with Proclamations made pending the Writ which was well brought, and the Reaſon is, becauſe the Fine is not annulled before the Proclamations are conſummate, and the Statute of 32. H. 8. ſays that the Fine after the Proclamations made ſhall be accepted to all Intents and Purpoſes a ſufficient Bar to the Heirs in Tail, and ſo this Bar made pending the Writ is ſtrong and ſufficient enough to bar the Heir by the Letrer of the Act and by the Intent of the Makers of it, for their Intent was moſt ſtrong againſt Eſtates Tail, and this Act does not allow to the Heir in Tail, who is Privy, any Benefit by bringing of Action before the Proclamations incurred, as the Statute of 4 H. 7. does to Strangers within five Years. [e] And Thornton ſaid that if a Stranger levies a Fine to the Tenant in Tail come ceo que il ad de ſon done, and he renders to him a Rent in Fee, and the Proclamations upon the Fine incur, and the Tenant in Tail dies, the Iſſue ſhall avoid the Rent, for he is remitted to the Land, and the Fine ſhall not bind him for the Rent, becauſe his Anceſtor was not Tenant in Tail of the Rent, but of the Land, ſo that the Rent is another Thing than that which was entailed, and therefore the Fine is not levied of any Thing entailed, and conſequently the Rent is out of the Proviſion of the Act of 32 H. 8. [f] So is it (he ſaid) where Tenant in Tail of an Advowſon renders or grants to one by Fine the Nomination of a Clerk to the Advowſon. [g] And (he ſaid) if Tenant in Tail of a Rent diſſeizes the Tenant of the Land, and levies a Fine with Proclamations of the Land to a Stranger, and the Proclamations paſs, the Heir in Tail ſhall not be bound for the Rent, becauſe the Fine was not levied of it, but of the Land, which is another Thing, quod fuit conceſſum. But it was ſaid that in the principal Caſe the Render of the Tenant in Tail was of the Land which was entailed, ſo that it was of the Thing itſelf entailed, and therefore if the Leaſe was not defeated before the laſt Proclamation made, the Proclamations ſhall bind the Tail here, as to the Leaſe, as much as they ſhould do in a Freehold or Inheritance. And therefore whether or no the Leaſe was defeated before the Proclamations paſt, was made the principal Point of the Caſe.

[a] Poph. 63. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 65.

[b] Litt. § 177.

[c] Litt. § 618. Co. Litt. 327. b. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 65.

[d] 3 Co. 90. b. 2 Bac. Abr. 530. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 65.

[e] S. P. accord, Dy. 213. pl. 41. 3 Co. 90. a. 1 And. 6. pl. 11. Cro. J. 699. 2 Rol. R. 500. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 62, 63, 65. Winch 110. Jenk. 275. pl. 96. 2 Bac. Abr. 531. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 66. a.

[f] Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 66. b. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 62. Sed Contra Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 79, becauſe the Preſentation and Nomination is in Effect the ſame Thing, and the Fruit and full Profit of the Patronage, the Thing entailed, Poſt 529 (b). But if Tenant in Tail of an Advowſon grants by Fine the Nomination of a Clerk to one and to his Heirs, ſo that when the Church becomes void, the Grantee and his Heirs may nominate a Clerk to the Tenant in Tail and his Heirs, and that he or they ſhall preſent the Clerk ſo nominated to the Ordinary, and the Tenant in Tail dies, ſuch Fine ſhall not bind the Iſſue in Tail, becauſe there the Nomination and the Preſentation are diſtinguiſhed, ſo that the Fine is not levied of the Thing entailed. Dodder. Compl. Parſ. 36. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 79, 85.

[g] The Authority of the Caſe here put is greatly impeached by the Opinions of Hobart and Harvey J. in the Caſe of Heliot v. Saunders, where they held that if Tenant in Tail of a Rent-charge iſſuing out of a Manor levies a Fine of the Manor, this is a Bar of the Rent, becauſe the Fine being levied of the Land incluſively gives the Rent, and they ſtrongly denied this Caſe put by Thornton to be Law. Cro. J. 700. 2 Rol. R. 500. Winch 110, 121, 123. Jenk. 275. pl. 96. Tamen quære that Caſe, for there appears to be no Fine levied of the Rent, which being the Thing entailed, and not the Land, ſhould, it ſeems, deſcend to the Iſſue till the Intail thereof be barred by a Fine. And with the Opinion of Thornton here agrees that of Winch J. 2 Brownl. 155. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 62, 63, 65. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 66. b. S. P. Dy. 213. pl. 41.

For the Defendants.

And as to this, it was ſaid on the Part of the Defendants, that it is to be conſidered that Nicholas Trapps who made the Leaſe was but Tenant in Tail in Remainder depending upon an Eſtate for two Lives, and the Leaſe made to commence immediately after the Feaſt of St. Michael then next following after the Fine levied could not take Effect nor be executed until after the Death of the Tenants for Life, and it might ſo happen that it never could be executed, for if either of the Tenants for Life ſhould outlive the Term of 54 Years, then the Leaſe for Years could never commence or take Effect in Deed. And the Iſſue in Tail, who does not come in by the Donee in Tail only, but by the Donor, ſhall not be eſtopped to ſhew the Eſtates of the Tenants for Life which diſturbed the Commencement of the Leaſe at the Day limited in the Fine, but he may ſhew the Truth of the Matter well enough. And it is confeſſed on all Sides that the Survivor of the Tenants for Life died in the 6th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, ſo that the Truth being confeſſed, all Eſtoppel is taken away. [h] And altho' by the Statute the Iſſue in Tail ſhall not aver Continuance ance of the Poſſeſſion againſt the Fine of his Anceſtor come ceo que il ad de ſon done, yet upon other Fines as this is here he ſhall not be eſtopped. And inaſmuch as the Tenants for Life were alive at the Time of the Leaſe made, they might poſſibly have outlived the Term of 54 Years, and if they had done ſo, then the Leaſe would never have taken Effect, and if they died within the 54 Years, the Leaſe might take Effect, ſo that it reſted upon a Contingency whether it ſhould ever be a Leaſe or not, which Contingency being incertain made it alſo incertain whether the Leaſe ſhould ever take Effect or not, and therefore it could not be preciſely called a Leaſe, but a Title to or Poſſibility of a Leaſe. And then when Nicholas the Leſſor died before the Time limited for the Commencement of the Leaſe, the Remainder in Tail by his Death deſcended to his two Daughters and Heirs, which Remainder was in them without any Entry or Claim as fully as it was in his Father, for the Continuance of the Eſtate of the Tenants for Life made the Remainder to be in the Daughters of Nicholas as actually and fully as a Remainder can be in any one, and the Deſcent of the Remainder to them and their Seizin of it wrought in them a Remitter to the Remainder, which Remitter purged and diſcharged the Remainder from the ſaid Title to or Poſ-

[h] Same Diverſity 3 Co. 89. b. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 70. b. See Sav. 106, it is ſaid that this Difference is not clear. See Dy. 334. a.

[a] Poſt 437 (c). ſibility of the Leaſe. [a] For if Nicholas who had the Remainder in Tail had granted a Rent-charge out of it to a Stranger, and had died, and the Remainder had deſcended to his Daughters, they ſhould have held it diſcharged of the Rent. And if they had granted the Remainder by Fine to a Stranger, and afterwards the Tenants for Life had died, the Stranger ſhould have held the Land diſcharged of the Rent, becauſe the Deſcent of the Remainder remitted the Daughters, and purged the Remainder of all Incumbrances as fully as the Deſcent of the Poſſeſſion in Tail purges the Poſſeſſion of all Incumbrances. And if Nicholas had made a Leaſe for 40 Years, to commence after the Death of the Tenants for Life, the Deſcent to the Daughters ſhould have avoided ſuch Leaſe which has a certain Commencement and a certain End, a fortiore then it ſhall avoid this Leaſe, which cannot well be called a Leaſe, but rather a Poſſibility of or Title to a Leaſe, for the Daughters cannot make Claim to avoid the Leaſe, becauſe they themſelves have the Remainder of the Land, and they cannot make Claim in their own Land, as they may to have a Thing out of the Land of another, as in the Caſe put of a Rent, and ſuch like, but the Operation of Law without Claim gives to them by the Deſcent and Remitter the like Advantage by Way of Diſcharge as they ſhould have by Claim in the Land of another: And then if the Deſcent and Remitter hath avoided the Leaſe, thereby it hath defeated the Fine as fully as the Entry of the Iſſue in Tail ſhould do in the Caſes before ſpecified where the Iſſue in Tail after the Diſſeizin of his Father enters upon the Conuſee, or obtains Seizin of the Rent before the Proclamations paſt. And then the Proclamations which were all made after the Deſcent and Remitter are of no Force, but are as abſolutely void as the Fine itſelf is. And ſo the Leaſe for 54 Years, and alſo the Eſtate of the ſaid Robert Smith the Plaintiff, are void, and therefore he ſhall be barred.

E Contra for the Plaintiff. On the other Side it was argued that the Leaſe for 54 Years was good againſt Nicholas Trapps himſelf upon this Contingency that the Tenants for Life had died before him, for the Cauſes before ſhewn, and that too altho' the Leaſe had not been by Fine, but by Parol or Deed Poll, in which there is no Eſtoppel. And when Nicholas died, and the Remainder in Tail deſcended to his Daughters, the Leaſe ſhall not be adjudged in Law to be preſently void as to the Daughters, becauſe there is a Rent reſerved upon it, ſo that there is a Recompence for the Land, which may be as advantageous to the Iſſue as it would be to have the Leaſe void, at leaſt it will be of no Damage to him, [b] and the Iſſue in Tail ſhall never avoid Things done by his Anceſtor but where they are or may be to his Diſadvantage. [c] For in the Caſe of Octavian Lumbard in 44 Ed. 3. where Tenant in Tail upon defeaſible Title granted a Rent-charge of 20 l. to him that had Right for a Releaſe of his Right, the Court was of Opinion that the Rent-charge ſhould be levied upon the Iſſue of the Tenant in Tail, becauſe the Grant of the Rent was for the Releaſe of the Right, ſo that the Iſſue had Benefit thereby, for which Reaſon he ſhould not avoid the Grant. [d] So it ſeems by 46 Ed. 3. that if Land is given in Tail, ſo that the Donee may alien for the Profit of his Iſſues, this is a good Condition or Power limited to him. [e] And if the Tenant in Tail ſuffers a common Recovery in which he vouches and has Recompence, the Iſſue ſhall be bound, becauſe he is not damnified thereby; [f] and ſo if he aliens with Warranty, and leaves Aſſets to his Iſſue, the Iſſue ſhall not avoid the Alienation, becauſe it is not to his Diſadvantage. [g] So here inaſmuch as a Rent is reſerved upon the Leaſe, it may be that this Rent is equivalent to or more than the Value of the Land, and alſo it may be that the Land lies at a great Diſtance from the Daughters, ſo that it may be more advantageous for them to have it in Leaſe and to receive the Value of it in Rent, than to manure and cultivate it themſelves; and therefore it does not appear that this Leaſe is to their Diſadvantage. And put the Caſe that the Tenants for Life happen to die, and that the Leſſee enters, and at the Day of Payment pays the Rent to the Daughters, and they accept it, by that Acceptance they have affirmed the Leaſe, and they ſhall not avoid it afterwards during their Lives, which could not be ſo if the Law was to adjudge the Leaſe void upon the Deſcent of the [b] 1 Lev. 168. Poſt Manxel's Caſe 14. Pig. on Recov. 24.

[c] T. 44 Ed. 3. 21. pl. 24. Fitz. Charge 7. Bro. 4. Tail 6. Co. Litt. 343. b. 1 Co. 94. b. 96. b. 10 Co. 37. b. 1 Rol. Abr. 842. G. pl. 1. 2 Bulſt. 43. 2 Brownl. 67. Hardr. 209, 384. 3 Keb. 287. 1 And. 288. T. Raym. 349. 1 Show. 374. 1 Chan. Caſ. 171. Kitch. 312. 2 Bac. Abr. 266. Poſt 466. Manxel's Caſe 15. Pig. on Recov. 11 Curſon 241.
[d] H. 46. Ed. 3. 4. pl. 11. 2 Bulſt. 43.
[e] See Poſt Manxel's Caſe 14 (g). and the Books there cited.
[f] 10 Co. 37. b. Curſon 241. See Ante 127 (b).
[g] See 1 Show. 373.

the Remainder in Tail. And here the Daughters might have had an Action of Debt for all the Arrears incurred after the Death of their Father, and in the Life of the Tenants for Life or of the Survivor of them, for on this Part there is an Eſtoppel, that is to ſay, Beckingham the Leſſee and his Executors and their Executors are eſtopped by the Fine to ſay otherwiſe but that the Leaſe took Effect immediately after the Feaſt of St. Michael next after the Fine, and that they ought to pay the Arrears, unleſs they could alledge an Entry in Fact and an Expulſion by the Tenants for Life claiming by Title paramount the Leaſe for Life; and this Benefit would be loſt to them if the Law ſhould adjudge the Leaſe void by the Deſcent. [a] And if Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe for 40 Years to commence 10 Years after, rendering Rent, and dies the Day after, the Iſſue in Tail enters, and makes a Feoffment before the ten Years are elapſed, here it cannot be preſently affirmed that the Entry of the Iſſue has avoided the Leaſe which was executory and not executed, for if the Feoffee waives the Poſſeſſion of the Land at the End of 10 Years, and the Leſſee enters, and occupies the Land, and at the next Day of Payment pays the Rent to the Feoffee, who accepts it, the Leaſe is thereby made good, and the Election for the Allowance of the Leaſe remains to the Feoffee as well as to the Iſſue, and ſo peradventure for the [b] Diſallowance of it, for perhaps he might have had an Action of Treſpaſs againſt the Leſſee for entering. And then if the Law be ſo that the Entry of the Iſſue into the Land before the Leaſe commenced ſhall not be adjudged an Avoidance of the Leaſe for Years executory, a fortiore in our Caſe the Deſcent of the Remainder, where there is no Entry, ſhall not avoid the Leaſe which is executory. [c] But in the Caſe put of the Grant of a Rent-charge out of the Remainder by Nicholas Trapps, this, if he had made any, ſhould have been diſcharged by the Deſcent of the Remainder to the Daughters, for it cannot be preſumed to be for the Benefit of them who are his Iſſues, but to their Diſadvantage, becauſe there is not quid pro quo, but it is a meer Charge and nothing elſe, for which Reaſon the Law does not ſuſpend his Gift of it as a Thing indifferent, but ſays that it is a Charge to the Iſſue, and cannot be for his Benefit, and therefore it adjudges it to be void. [d] And hereupon the Apprentice ſaid that he well allowed the Judgment in Cauxton's Caſe in 14 Aſs. where Tenant in Tail granted a Rent-charge, and died, the Iſſue entered, and made a Feoffment, and took back an Eſtate, and an Aſſize was brought for the Rent, and there it was adjudged that the Land was diſcharged, foraſmuch as the Iſſue in Tail had entered after the Death of his Anceſtor who charged it. But both he and Bromley diſallowed the Judgment in the Caſe of 19 Ed. 3. [e] where it is adjudged that if Tenant in Tail is bound in a Statute-merchant, and dies, and the Iſſue enters into the Land entailed, and aliens, the Land ſhall be bound, which, they ſaid, is not ſo, for the Remitter diſcharges the Execution here, as well as it does the Rent-charge in the Caſe before. [f] And ſo, it was ſaid, if Tenant in Tail aliens the Trees, and dies before they are cut, and the Iſſue enters, the Vendee ſhall not have the Trees, as it is put in 18 Ed. 4. ſo that, they ſaid, there is a Diverſity when the Thing may be to the Benefit of the Iſſue in Tail, and when to his Charge. Wherefore the Demiſe and the Contract by Fine in our Caſe is not defeated by the Deſcent of the Remainder, but ſhall be ſaid to continue, and then the Proclamations coming afterwards fortify the Leaſe, and take from the Heirs all Election of Diſallowance of it, for inaſmuch as the Leaſe had Continuance when the Proclamations were made (whether it be a Leaſe upon a Contingency or otherwiſe) the Words of the Act make the Fine to be for ever a ſufficient Bar for the Term againſt the Tail. [g] But the Apprentice ſaid that if there be Tenant in Tail, and a Stranger by Fine acknowledges the Tenements to be the Right of the Tenant in Tail come ceo que il ad de ſon done, and the Tenant in Tail grants and renders the Land to him again for Life, in Tail, or in Fee, and dies before all the Proclamations are made, and before the Conuſee has entered, and the Iſſue enters, and afterwards all the Proclamations paſs, in this Caſe the Conuſee, to whom the Land was rendered, ſhall never have a Scire facias to execute the Fine, nor can he enter, [h] for when the Tenant in Tail had rendered the Land, yet the Land was not out of him until the Conuſee had executed the Fine by Entry or Writ of Execution, and therefore when the Tenant in Tail died before Execution, the Land deſcended to his Iſſue, and when he entered he was remitted, and thereby he utterly avoided the Fine and the Eſtate rendered by it, and then every Proclamation made afterwards was void, and if the Conuſee brings a Scire facias againſt the Iſſue to have Execution, he ſhall plead in Bar his Remitter, and ſo ſhall exclude him of Execution and Entry alſo. But in our Caſe there was no ſuch Avoidance of the Fine, for inaſmuch as the Leaſe for 54 Years might be to the Benefit of the Iſſues in Tail, the Law will not ſay that the Deſcent hath avoided it, but that it continued until the Proclamations were paſſed, and when they were paſſed, the Leaſe became indefeaſible. Whereupon they prayed Judgment for the Plaintiff. And many other Things were ſaid on both Sides, which I have here omitted, it being my Deſign to make a brief Report of this Caſe, and therefore I have only given conciſely the Reaſons and Caſes above written, which were the moſt weighty and material in my Apprehenſion.

And after theſe Arguments the Juſtices took Advice, and in Hillary Term in the 11th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth they commanded the Prothonotary to enter Judgment for the Plaintiff,

[a] Co. Litt. 46. b. 1 Rol. Abr. 831. pl. 2. 842. H. pl. 4. Dy. 51. pl. 17. in Margine. 3 Bac. Abr. 312. 12 Mod. 361. Carth. 260. per Holt C. J. but the other three doubted. See 1 Sid. 261, Opee v. Thomaſius L. P. held by all the Judges except Twiſden.

[b] See 1 Show. 38.

[c] See Dy. 51. pl. 17. 1 Keb. 910. T. Raym. 133. 1 Co. 48. b. Cro. E. 593.

[d] 14 Aſs. pl. 3. Bro. Charge 20. Execution 76. H. 14 Ed. 3. Fitz. Charge 10. Bridgm. 65, 99.

[e] H. 19 Ed. 3. Fitz. Reſceit 112. 14 Aſs. pl. 3. Sed Contra 17 Aſs. pl. 21. Bro. Statute Merchant 20. P. 11. H. 6. 26. b. per Paſton. Bro. Execution 76. Statute-merchant 19. Bridgm. 99.

[f] P. 18 Ed. 4. 6. a. per Litt. Ante 259 (c) and the other Books there cited.

[g] 1 Co. 96. b. 3 Co. 89. b.

[h] 3 Co. 89. b.

Plaintiff, becauſe they took the Law to be that the Leaſe was good, and that the Fine with Proclamations was a ſufficient Bar for the Term againſt the Eſtate-tail. But the Judgment was not then entered, becauſe the Plaintiff neglected to come to the Prothonotary to require it, and to pay for it And the Judgment remained unentered until Eaſter Term in the 15th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, and then the Plaintiff came to the Bar by his Counſel, and ſhewed how that the Judgment was not entered thro' his Default, and prayed that it might be now entered. And the Court adviſed thereupon until another Day, at which Day upon the Plaintiff's Prayer they ordered the Judgment to be entered, which was done accordingly, and was as follows.

The reſt of the Record.

Whereupon all and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen and by the Court of the Lady the Queen here more fully underſtood, and mature Deliberation being thereupon had, for that it ſeems to the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen here that the Plea aforeſaid by the aforeſaid John Smith in Manner and Form aforeſaid above pleaded in Bar to the Cognizance aforeſaid, and the Matter in th eſame contained, are good and ſufficient in Law to preclude the ſaid Thomas Stapleton and John Heycock from having their Cognizance aforeſaid: Therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Robert Smith his Damages as well by Occaſion of the taking aforeſaid, &c. as for his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, ought to recover, &c. But becauſe it is not known to the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen now here what Damages the aforeſaid Robert Smith has ſuſtained as well by Occaſion of the taking aforeſaid, &c. as for his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, therefore the Sheriff is commanded that by the Oath of good and lawful Men of his Bailiwick he diligently enquire what Damages the aforeſaid Robert Smith has ſuſtained as well by the Occaſion aforeſaid as for his Coſts and Charges aforeſaid, and the Inquiſition which he ſhall take thereupon he ſend to the Lady the Queen on the Octave of the Holy Trinity, whereſoever, &c. under the Seal, &c. and the Seals, &c. together with the Royal Writ to him thereof directed, &c. The ſame Day is given to the aforeſaid Robert Smith, &c.

Judgment.

A Report of a Judgment given in the Common Bench in Eaſter Term in the 15*th Year of the Reign of Queen* Elizabeth, and of Execution thereupon, in an Action of Debt brought by John Davy againſt Fermer Pepys Son and Heir of Thomas Pepys upon an Obligation of 80 l. made by the ſaid Thomas Pepys to the ſaid John Davy. And the Record was as follows.

LONE.

Eaſter Term 15 Eliz. Rot. 1254. London.
Declaration.
Same Precedent Raſt. Entr. 172. b. pl. 5.
If in Debt againſt an Heir upon the Obligation of his Anceſtor, the Defendant confeſſes the Action, and ſhews the Certainty of Aſſets which he has by Deſcent, Judgment ſhall be ſpecially to recover the Debt of the Lands deſcended, S. C. cited Dy. 149. pl. 80. S. P. Dy. 373. pl. 14.

Fermer Pepys late of South-Creak in the County of Norfolk Gentleman, Son and Heir of Thomas Pepys Gentleman late called Thomas Pepys of South-Creak in the County aforeſaid Gentleman, was ſummoned to anſwer John Davy Gentleman, otherwiſe called John Davy of Monge otherwiſe called Mountjoy in the County aforeſaid Gentleman, of a Plea that he render to him 80 l. which he owes him, and unjuſtly detains, &c. And whereupon the ſame John by Chriſtopher Crow his Attorney ſays, that whereas the aforeſaid Thomas in his Lifetime, whoſe Son and Heir the aforeſaid Fermer is, the 11th Day of January in the 10th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, at London in the Pariſh of the bleſſed Mary of the Arches in the Ward of Cheap, by his certain Writing obligatory granted himſelf to be bound to the ſame John in the aforeſaid 80 l. to be paid to the ſame John at the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel which ſhould then be in the Year of our Lord 1571. and to the ſame Payment well and faithfully to be made the aforeſaid Thomas bound himſelf and his Heirs by the ſame Writing: Nevertheleſs the aforeſaid Thomas in his Life time, and the aforeſaid Fermer, Son and Heir of the ſaid Thomas, after the Death of the ſame Thomas, altho' often requeſted, the aforeſaid 80 l. to the ſame John have not yet rendered, but the ſame to him hitherto to render have refuſed, and the aforeſaid Fermer the ſame to the ſame John to render yet doth refuſe; Wherefore he ſays that he is damnified and has Damage to the Value of 10 l. and therefore he brings the Suit, &c. And he produces here in Court the Writing aforeſaid, which teſtifies the Debt aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid, the Date whereof is the Day and Year aboveſaid, &c.

Defendant confeſſes the Action.

And the aforeſaid Fermer by Thomas Might his Attorney comes and defends the Force and Injury when, &c. And ſays that he cannot deny the Action aforeſaid of the aforeſaid John, nor but that the Writing aforeſaid is the Deed of the aforeſaid Thomas his Father, nor but that he owes to the aforeſaid John the aforeſaid 80 l. in Form as the ſame John above againſt him has declared. Yet the ſame Fermer ſays that he has not any Lands or Tenements in Fee ſimple by hereditary Deſcent from the aforeſaid Thomas his Father, nor had the Day of obtaining the Writ Original of the aforeſaid John, nor ever afterwards, beſides the Rectory of South-Creak with the Appurtenances, and 16 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in South Creak, Sidiſtern, and Scoulthorp in the aforeſaid County of Norfolk, of the yearly yearly Value of . And this he is ready to verify, wherefore he prays Judgment if he, as Son and Heir of the aforeſaid Thomas, of the Debt aforeſaid, except in the aforeſaid Rectory and 16 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in South-Creak, Sidiſtern, and Scoulthorp aforeſaid, by Virtue of the Writing aforeſaid, ought to be charged, &c. Therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid John do recover againſt the aforeſaid Fermer his Debt aforeſaid to be levied of the aforeſaid Rectory and 16 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in South-Creak, Sidiſtern, and Scoulthorp aforeſaid, and his Damages by Occaſion of the Detention of that Debt to 60*s.* to the ſame John with his Aſſent by the Court here adjudged: And the aforeſaid Fermer in Mercy, &c. But becauſe it is not known how much that Rectory and thoſe 16 Acres of Land are worth by the Year in all Iſſues beſides Repriſes, the Sheriff is commanded that by the Oath of good and lawful Men of his Bailiwick he diligently enquire how much the Rectory and 16 Acres of Land aforeſaid with the Appurtenances are worth by the Year in all Iſſues beſides Repriſes, and that Inquiſition by him thereupon being diligently made, that he deliver the ſame Rectory and 16 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances, according to the true Value of the ſame, to the ſame John without Delay, to hold to the ſame John until the Debt and Damages aforeſaid thereof he ſhall have levied. And how, &c. the Sheriff make appear here from the Day of the Holy Trinity in 15 Days, &c. Judgment.

Shews the Certainty of Aſſets by Deſcent.

Upon this Judgment given the Plaintiff prayed a Writ to have Execution according to the Judgment, whereupon he had a Writ which was not ſerved, and afterwards he prayed another, and had it as follows.

" Elizabeth by the Grace of God of England, France, and Ireland Queen, Defender of the " Faith, &c. To the Sheriff of Norfolk Greeting. Whereas John Davy Gentleman,' otherwiſe " called John Davy of Monge otherwiſe called Mountjoy in the County aforeſaid Gentleman, in our " Court before our Juſtices at Weſtminſter by the Conſideration of the ſame Court hath recovered " againſt Fermer Pepys late of South-Creak in your County Gentleman, Son and Heir of Thomas " Pepys Gentleman late called Thomas Pepys of South-Creak in the County aforeſaid Gentleman, " as well a certain Debt of 80 l. as 60*s.* which to the ſame John in our ſame Court were adjudged " for his Damages which he had by Occaſion of the Detention of that Debt, whereof he is con- " victed, to be levied of the Rectory of South-Creak with the Appurtenances, and of 16 Acres " of Land with the Appurtenances in South-Creak, Sidiſtern, and Scoulthorp in your County, which " to the aforeſaid Fermer deſcended in Fee-ſimple from the aforeſaid Thomas his Father, as by the " Record reſident in our Court before our Juſtices at Weſtminſter manifeſtly appears. But becauſe it " is not known how much the aforeſaid Rectory and 16 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances are " worth by the Year in all Iſſues beſides Repriſes, we command you, as we have otherwiſe com- " manded you, that by the Oath of good and lawful Men of your Bailiwick you diligently enquire " how much that Rectory and thoſe 16 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances are worth by the " Year in all Iſſues beſides Repriſes, and that Inquiſition by you being diligently made, that you " deliver the ſame Rectory and 16 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances, according to the true " Value of the ſame, to the ſame John without Delay, to hold to the ſame John until the Debt and " Damages aforeſaid thereof he ſhall have levied. And how you ſhall have executed this our Pre- " cept do you make appear to our Juſtices at Weſtminſter from the Day of St. Michael in one Month. " And have you there the Names of them by whoſe Oath you ſhall make that Inquiſition, and this " Writ. Witneſs James Dyer at Weſtminſter the 3d Day of June in the 15th Year of our Reign." Alias Writ of Execution upon the foregoing Judgment.

UPON this Record divers Things are obſervable. Firſt, [a] that when a Man binds himſelf and his Heirs by Obligation to pay a certain Sum at a Day, and dies, it is at the Election of the Obligee to ſue the Heir or the Executors or [b] Adminiſtrators of the Obligor, [c] and if ſo be that the Executors have Aſſets in their Hands, yet the Obligee may ſue the Heir, if he will, becauſe the Obligor has bound as well his Heir as himſelf; and ſo if the Executors have Aſſets, and the Heir alſo has Aſſets, it is at the Election of the Obligee to have his Debt of either the one or the other, as he pleaſes, [d] but he ſhall not charge them both, for if he is ſatisfied by the one, the other ſhall be diſcharged by Audita Querela. [e] And in the Suit againſt the Heir the Plaintiff ſhall not ſurmiſe that the Executors have not Aſſets in their Hands, [f] but if the Heir would take Benefit thereof, formerly he ought to have pleaded it, as we find it done in ſome ancient Books, but at this Day it is no [g] Plea, for in M. 10. H. 7, 8. b. in Debt againſt the Heir, he pleaded Aſſets in the Hands of the Executors the Day of the Writ purchaſed, and there Vaviſor ſaid that ſuch Plea was not good, wherefore the Defendant pleaded nothing by Deſcent. [h] But until the Statute of 33 H. 8. the King could not touch the Land or the Heir of his Debtor for his Debt, if the Goods of the Debtor had been ſufficient to ſatisfy the Debt, and this was by Reaſon of the Statute of * Magna Charta cap 8. the Words whereof are, we or our Bailiffs ſhall not ſeize any Land or Rent for any Debt,

The following ſeem to be the Obſervations of the Reporter upon the foregoing Record.

1 Point. The Election which the Obligee has to ſue the Heir or Executor or Adminiſtrator of the Obligor, but not both.

[a] M. 4. Ed. 4. 25. a. Per Pigot et Danby. M. 22 H. 6. 4. a. b. Per Aſhton. 1 And. 7. pl. 13. 3 Lev. 304. 3 Bac. Abr. 25.

Vide Dy. 208. pl. 15. [b] S. P. 3 Lev. 189 Davies v. Churchman adjudged. [c] S. P. 1 And. 7. pl. 13. 3 Lev. 304. Contra Plowd. Quær. § 186. But anciently from the 18 Ed. 2. till 7 H. 4. if an Executor had Aſſets, the Heir was not chargeable, but in 7 H. 4. the Law changed in this Point, for now it is accounted his own Debt, Poph. 155. Per Dodderidge J. O. Bendl. 162. [d] S. P. 3 Lev. 304. 1 Mod. Entr. 83. pl. 3. [e] S. P. Ante 193 (h). [f] See what is ſaid above at (c). See H. 5 H. 5, 8. pl. 18. Bro. Debt 76. M. 18 Ed. 4. 20. a. where in Debt againſt an Abbot and Commoigne upon the Contract of the Commoigne before his Entry into Religion, the Abbot pleaded that the Commoigne had made his Executors, who had Aſſets, and held a good Plea. [g] Bro. Debt 238. And herewith agrees T. 27 Ed. 3. 6. pl. 23. T. 7 Ed. 4. 13. a. Per Bryan. Dy. 204. pl. 2. 3 Lev. 189. Davies v. Churchman adjudged. Ibid. 304, 305. [h] 2 Bac. Abr. 39. * But note, before this Statute it ſeems that the King's Prerogative extended to the Lands of the Debtor, and that this was an Act of Grace and Reſtraint, 2 Inſt. 19. 3 Co. 12. b. 7 Co. 21. b. Hob. 60. Godb. 290. Per Dodder. J. Cro. J. 450. Comyns 437.

as long as the preſent Goods and Chattles of the Debtor do ſuffice to pay the Debt, and the Debtor himſelf be ready to ſatisfy therefore. But other Perſons were left at large.

2 Point. Where the Judgment to recover the Debt againſt the Heir ſhall be generally of all his Lands, and where ſpecially of the Lands deſcended only, according as he behaves himſelf in Pleading.

Another Thing obſervable upon the Record is, [b] that if the Heir confeſſes the Action, and ſhews the Certainty of Aſſets which he has by Deſcent, neither his Body, nor any of his Goods, nor any of his other Lands ſhall be chargeable with the Debt, but only the Land which he has by Deſcent. For the Judgment above is, therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid John do recover againſt the aforeſaid Fermer his Debt aforeſaid, to be levied of the aforeſaid Rectory and 16 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances. So that the Judgment is, that the Debt ſhall be levied of the Land, wherein it is contained that no other ſhall be ſubject to the Execution. [c] But if the Heir does not confeſs the Action, and ſhew the Certainty ut ſupra, but pleads [d] nothing by Deſcent, or Judgment is given by [e] Default, or by nient dedire, or by [f] Confeſſion, or upon any other Matter or Ground whatſoever, without confeſſing and ſhewing the Certainty of Aſſets, there the Plaintiff ſhall have Execution of his other Land, or of his Goods, or of his Body by Capias ad ſatisfaciendum, as he ſhould have for the Debt of the Heir himſelf, if he had made the Obligation. [g] And hereupon the Caſe in H. 21 Ed. 3. 9. b. is to be conſidered, where in Debt againſt the Heir an Obligation of his Anceſtor was put forth, and the Defendant ſaid that nothing deſcended to him from the ſame Anceſtor, and it was found by Verdict that Lands deſcended to him after the Death of his Anceſtor, whereby the Plaintiff recovered, and prayed Execution of all the Lands of the Defendant, as well of his own Purchaſe as of the Tenements deſcended to him: And there Green ſaid, "He ſhall not have it, "for in a Formedon in Deſcender [h] if the Tenant pleads in Bar Warranty with Aſſets, and the "Demandant ſays that he has nothing by Deſcent, and it is found that he has Tenements by De- "ſcent, yet he ſhall not be barred of any more than of that Value which deſcended to him, ſo "here we ſhall not be charged but of that which deſcended to us." Wilby, "In the Caſe of a "Formedon which you have put, he ſhall be barred of [i] all that he has demanded by his Writ, "becauſe the Iſſue which he offered is found to be falſe; but if ſo be that the Demandant has Land "by Deſcent, but not to the Value of that which is pleaded in Bar againſt him, there if he pleads, "he ought to confeſs that which is deſcended to him, and demand Judgment if he ought to be "barred of more than of the Value thereof, ſo that he ought to plead in Law, and not join a "falſe Iſſue, and ſo ſhould the Defendant have pleaded in this Caſe." To which Hill and Shard there agreed, and afterwards it was awarded that the Plaintiff ſhould have an Elegit of the Moiety of all the Lands of the Defendant, as well of the Lands purchaſed as of thoſe deſcended to him. [k] And in M. 2 & 3 Eliz. Roll. 106 in C. B. John Killigrew ſued an Action of Debt in London againſt Martin Trewiniard Son and Heir of William Trewiniard, and declared upon an Obligation of 250 l. made by the ſaid William: And the Record ſays, the aforeſaid Martin by John Garnhouſe his Attorney comes and defends the Force and Injury when, &c. and ſays nothing in Bar or Preclusion of the Action aforeſaid of the aforeſaid John, whereby the ſame John remains againſt the aforeſaid Martin therein undefended. Therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid John do recover againſt the aforeſaid Martin his Debt aforeſaid, and his Damages by Occaſion of the Detention of that Debt to 33 s. 4 d. to the ſame John with his Aſſent by the Court here adjudged. And afterwards the Plaintiff had a Capias ad ſatisfaciendum againſt the ſaid Martin Trewiniard, and his Body was taken by it, and detained in Execution. And I was lately of Counſel in the King's-Bench with David Greenſmith againſt one Thomas Brockhole Son and Heir of Thomas Brockhole, in an Action upon an Obligation of 100 l. made by his Father, where upon Demurrer Judgment was given againſt the Defendant, and the Plaintiff had a Capias ad ſatisfaciendum, and the Defendant's Body was taken in Execution, whereupon he paid the Debt; and the Record of the Capias is in Mich. 15 & 16 Eliz. the Form whereof I have ſet down at the End of this Caſe. [l] So that if the Heir is condemned upon any Plea whatſoever, or by Default, or without Plea upon any Cauſe whatſoever, it is the Practice for the Plaintiff to have Execution of the Body of the Heir or of his Goods, or to have an Elegit of his Lands whatſoever, unleſs he confeſſes the Debt, and ſhews the Certainty of the Land deſcended, as in the foregoing Caſe of Fermer Pepys.

[m] And there ſeems to be a Diverſity between the Caſe of the Executor and of the Heir. For in Debt againſt the Executor, if he pleads [n] nothing in his Hands, or [o] not the Deed of the Teſtator, or the like, and it is found againſt him, there nothing ſhall be put in Execution but the Goods of the deceaſed. And the Reaſon is, becauſe the Debt is not the Debt of the Executor, but of the Teſtator, ſo that he is charged in another's Right, and has the Goods in another's Right. But when the Heir denies Aſſets, and it is found againſt him, or when he does not deny Aſſets, but pleads other Matter which implies that he has Aſſets, the Debt of his Anceſtor is become his own Debt, in reſpect of the Aſſets which he has in his own Right, and ſo the Property of the Land which he b 2 Rol. Abr. 70. C. pl. 1. Dy. 373. pl. 14. Poph. 154 Per Jones J. 3 Bac. Abr. 30.

c Cro. E. 692 Per Gawdy J. Ld. Raym. 786 Per Holt C. J. and the Books next before cited.

d 3 M. 1. Bro. Aſſets per deſcent 5. 2 Rol. Abr. 70. C. pl. 2. N. Bendl. 46. pl. 82. 6 Co 47. a. W. Jones 87. 3 Bulſt. 320. 1 Keb. 157. Sty. 288. Per Roll C. J. 1 Vent. 95. Ld. Raym. 786 Per Holt C. J. 3 Bac. Abr. 30. 1 Finch 235, 236 But now ſee the Statute of 3 W. & M. cap. 14. that upon this Plea found for the Plaintiff, the Jury ſhall inquire of the Value of the Aſſets deſcended; by which Statute, it ſeems, the Plaintiff ſhall only recover pro tanto with reſpect to the Value of ſuch Aſſets, and ſhall not have a general Judgment againſt the Heir as at common Law upon this falſe Plea, Carth. 354.

e Ld. Raym. 786 Per Holt C. J. 3 Bac. Abr. 30.

f Dy. 344. b. pl. 1. 2 Rol. Abr. 70. C. pl. 3. Cro. E. 692 Per Gawdy J. 1 Vent. 95. Ld. Raym. 786 Per Holt C. J. 3 Bac. Abr. 30. Sed Contra 1 Finch 236. 2 Finch 384. Dy. 81. pl. 63.

g Bro. Aſſets per deſcent 15.

h Herewith agrees M. 22 Ed. 3. 16. pl. 55. Fitz. Judgment 186. 8 Co. 52. b. Vin. Abr. tit. Heir. C. pl. 10.

i Bro. Bar 19. With this Opinion agrees 1 Finch 236. 2 Finch. 384, 385.

k S. C. cited Dy. 225. pl. 34. And that the Law is agreeable with this Reſolution upon a Nihil dicit, See Dy. 344. pl. 1. 2 Rol. Abr. 70. C. pl. 5. Cro. E. 263, Per Periam J. 692. pl. 1. Moor 522. pl. 688. 1 Vent. 95. 1 Keb. 157, in Margine. 1 Show. 79. Ld. Raym. 786. 3 Bac. Abr. 30. But ſee the contrary Dy. 81. pl. 62. Poph. 155, Per Jones J. et Crew C. J. W. Jones 88. 1 Finch 236. 2 Finch 384.

l Vin. Abr. tit. Heir C. pl. 11.

m S. P. Vin. Abr. tit. Heir C. pl. 12.

n 1 Finch 236. 2 Finch 384.

o M. 6 Ed. 4. 1. pl. 1. Fitz. Judgment 48. Bro. Executors 109. M. 34 H. 6. 22. pl. 42. Bro. Executors 22. 1 Show. 78 Per Dolben J. 1 Finch 236. 2 Finch 384. Sed Contra P. 7 Ed. 4. 9. 2. b. Per Choke. Vide Kelw. 61. pl. 5.

has in his own Right makes the Debt to be his own proper Debt, for which Reaſon the Writ ſhall be in the [p] debet et detinet. So that there is a Diverſity between the Caſe of the Executor and the Caſe of the Heir.

[p] M. 10 H. 7. 8. pl. 17. Bro. Debt 238. 5 Co. 36. a. 3 Bac. Abr. 25.

Cro. E. 350, 712. W. Jones 87. 2 Leon. 11. Poph. 155. 1 Sid. 342. 1 Vent. 95. O. Bendl. 162. 1 Lev. 130. 1 Finch 100, 320. 2 Finch 119, 296.

Another Matter obſervable upon the foregoing Record is the Manner of the Execution here given. For the Writ to deliver all the Lands deſcended to the Heir in Execution to the Debtee, who has recovered, is grounded upon the Common Law, and not upon any Statute. But by the Statute of Weſtminſter 2 cap. 18. he that recovers Debt or Damages may have an Elegit, whereby he ſhall have the Moiety of the Defendant's Land delivered to him, but not the whole. [q] And at the Common Law the Writ of Levari facias might be ſued directed to the Sheriff, commanding that the aforeſaid Money of the Lands and Chattles of the aforeſaid (Defendant) you cauſe to be levied, ſo that you may have it in, &c. ſuch a Day, to the aforeſaid (Plaintiff) to be delivered. By which Writ, expreſſing that the Sheriff ſhould levy the Money of the Lands and Chattles, it ſeems that he might take the [r] Rents payable by the Tenants in Execution for the Debt, and bring them into Court, but he could not ſeize the Land and deliver it to the Party by this or any other Writ at the Common Law, unleſs in this ſpecial Caſe of Debt recovered againſt the Heir. And ſuch Writ as this is here in the Caſe of Fermer Pepys is rarely to be found, and yet ſometimes it is touched in our Books that upon Recovery in Debt againſt the Heir nothing ſhall be put in Execution but the Land deſcended, for ſo ſays Wichingham in 40 Ed. 3.

3 Point. If in Debt againſt the Heir upon the Obligation of his Anceſtor the Defendant confeſſes the Action, and ſhews the Certainty of Aſſets which he has by Deſcent, and Judgment is given to recover the Debt to be levied of the Lands deſcended, the Plaintiff may have a Writ of Execution to have all the Lands deſcended to the Heir delivered to him, which Writ is grounded upon the common Law, and not only to have a Moiety of the Lands of the Heir upon an Elegit, according to the Statute of Weſtm. 2. cap. 18. S. P. Dy. 149. pl. 80. 373. pl. 14. 2 Rol. Abr. 71. D. pl. 2. 3 Bac. Abr. 31. But until that Statute, Land was not liable at the common Law to the Execution of a private Perſon for Debt, in any other Suit but this againſt the Heir, S. P. 3 Co. 11. b. 12. a. 2 Inſt. 394. Cro. J. 450. Godb. 290, Per Dodder. J. 2 Bac. Abr. 328, 329. 3 Bac. Abr. 25.

[q] F. N. B. 265. f. 2 Inſt. 394, 395. 3 Co. 12. a. 2 Bulſt. 63. Godb. 290.

[r] 1 Finch 302. 2 Finch 471, 472.

[s] P. 40 Ed. 3. 15. a. Bro. Aſſets per Deſcent 13. Dy. 149. pl. 80.

See the Book of Entries [t] Tit. Debt, fol. 171. where an Action of Debt was brought againſt the Executors of the Heir upon an Obligation made by the Father of the Heir, by which it ſeems that the Heir of the Heir [w] ſhall not be charged, although the Land continues in Deſcent, becauſe he is not immediate Heir to the Obligor, for the laſt Heir is in as Heir to him only who was laſt ſeized, and not as Heir to the Obligor, and therefore the Action of Debt lies againſt the Executors of the firſt Heir, becauſe the Aſſets which deſcended to him make the Debt to be as a Duty due by the Heir. Tamen quære de hoc.

[u] Whether an Action of Debt lies againſt the Heir of the Heir upon an Obligation made by the Father of the Heir.

[t] Raſt. Entr. laſt Edit. fo. 172. b. pl. 4. Dy. 344. b, 151 Jenk's Caſe.

pl. 1. [u] 2 Leon. 11 Per Dyer. Vide 3 Bac. Abr. 28. [w] Contra Hale on F. N. B. 120. b. Poph. 155. Dy. 368. pl. 46. Cro. C. 1 Vern. 400. 2 Chan. Caſ. 175. Hill. 2 Car. C. B. Roll. 2445, Den v. Bell.

Here follows the Form of the Capias ad ſatisfaciendum againſt Brockhole before-mentioned, fo. 440.

Midd. The Sheriff is commanded that he take Thomas Brockhole Son and Heir of Thomas Brockhole of the Pariſh of Cobham in the County of Surry Yeoman deceaſed, if, &c. and ſafely, &c. ſo that he may have his Body before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter on Thurſday next after the Morrow of St. Martin, to ſatisfy David Greenſmith Gentleman, natural and lawful Son of Gilbert Greenſmith late of the Pariſh of Hampton upon Thames in the County aforeſaid, of 100*l.* of Debt, and alſo 6*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* for his Damages which he has ſuſtained as well by Occaſion of the Detention of the ſame Debt, as for his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, whereof he is convicted. And have you then there this Precept, &c. Rooper and Rooper.

The Return of the ſame Precept thereon indorſed,

By Virtue of this Writ to me directed, I have taken the Body of the within-named Thomas Brockhole, whoſe Body at the Day and Place within contained I have ready.

The Anſwer of { James Harvey and Thomas Pulliſon } Sheriffs.

The Words following are alſo noted under the Writ, by the Secondary's own Hand.

Pence paid to the Party.

By R. Beſt, with his own Hand.

A Report

A Report of a Judgment given in the Common Bench the laſt Day of Eaſter Term in the 15*th Year of the Reign of Queen* Elizabeth, in an Action of Waſt brought by Edward Clere Eſquire againſt Henry Brook otherwiſe Cobham Eſquire and Anne his Wife late the Wife of Walter Hadden. And the Record is entered amongſt the Records of Michaelmas Term 14 & 15 Elizabeth, Rot. 2015. and was as follows.

WHITELEY.

Norf. Declaration.

HENRY BROOK otherwiſe Cobham Eſquire and Anne his Wife were ſummoned to anſwer Edward Clere Eſquire of a Plea, wherefore whereas by the common Council of the Realm of the Lady the Queen of England it is provided that it ſhall not be lawful for any one to make Waſt, Sale, or Deſtruction in any Lands, Houſes, Woods, or Gardens, to them demiſed for Term of Life or Years, the ſame Anne, while ſhe was ſingle, in Lands, Houſes, Woods, and Gardens in Wimondham, which the ſame Henry and Anne hold for the Life of the ſaid Anne, of which Walter Hadden Eſquire was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee, and being ſo ſeized thereof, the 20th Day of January in the 13th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, in Conſideration of a Marriage ſolemnized between the aforeſaid Walter and the aforeſaid Anne, and in Conſideration of the paternal Affection which the aforeſaid Walter bore towards Clere Hadden Son and Heir apparent of the aforeſaid Walter, he granted and agreed for himſelf and his Heirs with one Thomas Wilbraham Eſquire and Peter Oſborn Eſquire and their Heirs, that he the aforeſaid Walter Hadden and his Heirs ſhould ſtand and be ſeized from thenceforth for ever of and in the aforeſaid Lands, Houſes, Woods, and Gardens to the Uſe of the aforeſaid Walter and of the aforeſaid Anne for Term of their Lives and of the longer Liver of them, and after the Death of them the ſaid Walter and Anne, to the Uſe of the aforeſaid Clere Hadden his Heirs and Aſſigns for ever. By Virtue whereof, and by Force of a certain Statute for the transferring of Uſes into Poſſeſſion held, made, and provided in a Seſſion of Parliament of Lord Henry the eighth late King of England, Father of the Lady the Queen now, begun the 4th Day of February in the 27th Year of his Reign, at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex, and continued to and until the 14th Day of April then next following, the ſame Walter and Anne were thereof ſeized in their Demeſn as of Freehold for Term of their Lives, and for Term of Life of the longer Liver of them, Remainder thereof to the aforeſaid Clere Hadden his Heirs and Aſſigns in Form aforeſaid. And they being ſo ſeized thereof, the aforeſaid Walter died, and the aforeſaid Anne ſurvived him, and kept herſelf in, and was thereof ſole ſeized in her Demeſn as of Freehold for Term of her Life. And ſhe being ſo ſeized thereof, the aforeſaid Clere Hadden died without Heirs of his Body iſſuing, after whoſe Death the Remainder thereof deſcended to the aforeſaid Edward as Couſin and Heir of the ſaid Clere Hadden, whereby the ſame Edward was and yet is thereof ſeized as of Fee. And he being ſo ſeized thereof, the aforeſaid Anne, while ſhe was ſingle, made Waſt, Sale, and Deſtruction to the diſinheriting of him the ſaid Edward Clere, and againſt the Form of the Proviſion aforeſaid, &c. And whereupon the ſame Edward by Auguſtin Sotherton his Attorney ſays that whereas the aforeſaid Walter Hadden was ſeized of and in the Houſe or Scite of the late diſſolved Priory and Monaſtery of Wimondham in the County aforeſaid, and of 40 Acres of Land called Bellaminis, 30 Acres of Meadow, 20 Acres of Paſture, and 30 Acres of Wood called Bixland-Wood, with the Appurtenances in Wimondham aforeſaid, in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame Walter after the aforeſaid 4th Day of February in the 27th Year aboveſaid, viz. the 20th Day of January in the 13th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, in Conſideration of the Marriage aforeſaid ſolemnized between the aforeſaid Walter and the aforeſaid Anne, and in Conſideration of the paternal Affection which the aforeſaid Walter bore towards the aforeſaid Clere Hadden Son and Heir apparent of the ſame Walter, by a certain Indenture made at London in the Pariſh of Chriſt in the Ward of Farringdon within, between the aforeſaid Walter in his Life-time of the one Part, and the aforeſaid Thomas Wilbraham and Peter Oſborn of the other Part, (which other Part ſealed with the Seals of the aforeſaid Thomas and Peter the ſame Edward brings here into Court, the Date whereof is the ſame Day and Year) amongſt other Things granted and agreed for himſelf and his Heirs with the aforeſaid Thomas Wilbraham and Peter Oſborn and their Heirs, that he the aforeſaid Walter Hadden and his Heirs ſhould ſtand and be ſeized from thenceforth for ever of and in the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances to the Uſe of the ſaid Walter and the aforeſaid Anne then his Wife for Term of their Lives, and for Term of Life of the longer Liver of them, and after the Death of the ſaid Walter and Anne, to the Uſe of the aforeſaid Clere Hadden and his Heirs for ever. By Virtue whereof, and by Force of the aforeſaid Statute for the transferring of Uſes into Poſſeſſion in a Seſſion of the Parliament of the aforeſaid late King Henry the eighth thereupon, the aforeſaid 4th Day of February in the 27th Year of his Reign aboveſaid, held, made, and provided, the aforeſaid Walter and Anne were ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in their Demeſn as of Freehold for Term of their Lives, and for Term of Life of the longer Liver of them, the Remainder thereof, after the Death of the aforeſaid Walter and Anne, to the aforeſaid Clere Hadden his Heirs and Aſſigns in Form aforeſaid belonging. And they being ſo ſeized thereof, the aforeſaid Walter at London in the Pariſh and Ward aforeſaid afterwards died, and the aforeſaid Anne ſurvived him, and held herſelf in the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, and was thereof ſole ſeized in her Demeſn as of Freehold for Term of her Life by Right of Survivorſhip, the Remainder thereof to the aforeſaid Clere Hadden and his Heirs belonging. And ſhe being ſo ſeized thereof, the aforeſaid Clere Hadden at the Town of Cambridge in the County of Cambridge afterwards died thereof ſeized, without Heirs of his Body iſſuing, after whoſe Death the Remainder aforeſaid deſcended to the ſame Edward as Couſin and Heir of the aforeſaid Clere Hadden, viz. as Son and Heir of John Clere Knight, Father of Margaret, Mother of the aforeſaid Clere Hadden, whereby the ſame Edward was and yet is ſeized of that Remainder as of Fee. And he being ſo ſeized thereof, and the aforeſaid Anne being ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in Form aforeſaid, the ſame Anne, while ſhe was ſingle, made Waſt, Sale, and Deſtruction in the Tenements aforeſaid, in Lands, viz. by digging in 18 Acres of Land thereof, and by taking and ſelling 100 Cart-loads of Clay, every Cart-load thereof of the Price of 4 d. and in Houſes, viz. by throwing down one Hall or great Chamber lying near to the Church of Wimondham aforeſaid, of the Price of 10 l. one Chamber called a Vault, of the Price of 100 s. and two Chambers in the Gate-houſe there, both of them of the Price of 60 s. by ſuffering alſo two other Chambers, both of them of the Price of 60 s. one Granary of the Price of 80 s. and one Houſe called a Whiting-houſe of the Price of 60 s. Parcel of the Premiſſes, to ſtand and be uncovered for Want of Tiles and Thatch, whereby the Timber of the Chambers, Granary, and Houſe called the Whiting houſe by the Rains falling upon them became rotten and corrupt, ſo that the Chambers, Granary, and the Houſe called the Whiting-houſe by reaſon of that Rottenneſs entirely fell down, and came to the Ground; and in Woods, viz. by cutting down and ſelling 200 Oaks, every of them of the Price of 10 s. 20 Aſhes, every of them of the Price of 10 s. and 4 Elms, every of them of the Price of 10 s. in a certain Wood called Bixland, likewiſe Parcel of the Premiſſes, in the ſame Wood lately diſperſedly growing, by cutting down alſo and ſelling 40 Oaks, every of them of the Price of 10 s. 14 Aſhes, every of them of the Price of 10 s. and two Elms, each of them of the Price of 10 s. in four Cloſes in the aforeſaid Wood called Bixland near adjoining, containing 40 Acres of Land, likewiſe Parcel of the Premiſſes, lately diſperſedly growing in the ſame four Cloſes; and by ſuffering one Stone Wall about the Scite and Precinct of the ſame late Priory to the Value of 40 l. to ſtand uncovered, whereby the Wall for Want of Covering decays and threatens Ruin; and in Gardens aforeſaid, viz. by cutting down and burning three Pear-trees, every of them of the Price of 6 s. 8 d. and five Apple-trees, every of them of the Price of 6 s. 8 d. in thoſe Gardens lately diſperſedly growing; and in Meadows, viz. by ſuffering an Inundation of Waters to continue in and upon the Meadows aforeſaid, whereby the ſame are the worſe, and the Banks of them are deſtroyed, to the diſinheriting of him the ſaid Edward, and againſt the Form of the Proviſion aforeſaid. Wherefore he ſays that he is damnified and has Damage to the Value of 200 l. and therefore he brings the Suit, &c.

And the aforeſaid Henry and Anne by John Philips their Attorney come and defend the Force and Injury, when, &c. And ſay that the aforeſaid Edward his Action aforeſaid againſt them ought not to have, becauſe * by proteſting not acknowledging any Waſt to be done in the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, for Plea they ſay that after the Death of the aforeſaid Clere Hadden without Heirs of his Body iſſuing, the Remainder aforeſaid deſcended to one Edward Young as Couſin and Heir of the aforeſaid Clere Hadden, viz. as Son and Heir of Humphry Young, Son and Heir of John Young, Father of Dorothy, Mother of the aforeſaid Walter Hadden, Father of the aforeſaid Clere Hadden, whereby the ſame Edward was of that Remainder ſeized as of Fee; with this, that the ſame Henry and Anne will aver that the aforeſaid Edward Young is yet ſurviving and alive, viz. at London in the Pariſh and Ward aforeſaid. And this they are ready to verify, wherefore they pray Judgment if the aforeſaid Edward Clere his Action aforeſaid againſt them ought to have, &c.

* See Heath's Max. 26.

And the aforeſaid Edward Clere ſays that the aforeſaid Plea of the aforeſaid Henry and Anne in Manner and Form aforeſaid above in Bar of his Action aforeſaid pleaded, and the Matter in the ſame Plea contained, are inſufficient in Law to preclude him the ſaid Edward Clere from having his Action aforeſaid againſt the ſame Henry and Anne, and that he to that Plea in Manner and Form aforeſaid pleaded has no Neceſſity, nor is by the Law of the Land bound to anſwer. Wherefore for Want of a ſufficient Anſwer in this Behalf he prays Judgment, and the Places waſted together with his Damages according to the Form of the Statute aforeſaid to be adjudged to him, &c. Demurrer.

And the aforeſaid Henry and Anne, for that they have above alledged ſufficient Matter in Law to preclude the aforeſaid Clere from having his Action aforeſaid, which they are ready to verify, which ſaid Matter the aforeſaid Edward Clere does not deny, nor thereunto in any wiſe anſwer, but that Averment wholly refuſes to admit, pray Judgment, and that the aforeſaid Edward Clere may be precluded from having his Action againſt the ſame Henry and Anne, &c. And becauſe the Juſtices here will adviſe of and upon the Premiſſes before they give Judgment thereon, Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid here until the Octave of St. Hillary to hear their Judgment thereon, becauſe the Juſtices here thereof not yet, &c. Joinder.

The CASE.

A purchaſer of Land in Fee dies without Iſſue, his Mother has a Brother, and alſo his Grandmother, viz. his Father's Mother, has a Brother, in this Caſe his Grandmother's Brother and his Iſſue ſhall be his Heir, and not his Mother's Brother: For tho' the Blood which was between the Purchaſer and either of theſe Brothers originally accrued and came by a Female, yet the Blood of the Grandmother's Brother was derived to the Purchaſer by a Male, viz. by his Father, whereas the Blood of the other came immediately to the Purchaſer by his Mother, without any intermediate Conveyance thro' a Male, and therefore by as much as the Blood of a Male is more worthy than that of a Female, by ſo much the Blood of the Grandmother's Brother is more precious with reſpect to the Purchaſer, having male Blood in it, than that of the Mother's Brother, in the Conveyance whereof to the Purchaſer there is no male Blood: And alſo in Caſe of a Purchaſe, both the Bloods of the Purchaſer's Father, viz. the Blood of his Father and the Blood of his Mother, ſhall always be ſpent before ever the Blood of the Purchaſer's own Mother (which has nothing of the Blood of the Purchaſer's Father in it) ſhall inherit. And tho' here the Mother's Brother is nearer in Blood to the Purchaſer than the Grandmother's Brother is, yet the latter is more worthy, and Proximity of Blood is never regarded but where the Parties are equally worthy in Blood. S. C. Dy. 314. pl. 95. Vin. Abr. tit. Deſcent. F. 2. pl. 1. tit. Heir E. 4. pl. 2. S. P. Hale's Hiſt. Com. Law 241, 243. And ſee S. P. in Effect. Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 7. fo. 22, 23. 2 Bac. Abr. 29.

UPON this Record the Caſe appears to be thus. Edward Clere has brought an Action of Waſt againſt Henry Brook otherwiſe Cobham and Anne his Wife for Waſt done by the ſaid Anne, when ſhe was ſingle, in Lands, Houſes, Woods, and Gardens, in Wimondham, which they hold for Term of Life of the ſame Anne, whereof he has declared that Walter Hadden was ſeized in Fee, and being ſo ſeized, the 20th Day of January in the 13th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, by an Indenture bearing the ſame Date, in conſideration of a Marriage ſolemnized between the ſaid Walter and the ſaid Anne, and in Conſideration of the paternal Affection which the ſaid Walter bore towards Clere Hadden his Son and Heir apparent, the ſame Walter Hadden granted and agreed for himſelf and his Heirs with Thomas Wilbraham and Peter Oſborn and their Heirs, that he the ſaid Walter Hadden and his Heirs ſhould ſtand and be ſeized from thenceforth for ever of the ſaid Tenements to the Uſe of the ſaid Walter and Anne for Term of their Lives, and after their Deaths, to the Uſe of the ſaid Clere Hadden and his Heirs for ever. By virtue whereof, and by Force of the Statute of Uſes made the 4th Day of February in the 27th Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. the ſaid Walter and Anne were ſeized of the ſaid Tenements for Term of their Lives, the Remainder thereof to the ſaid Clere Hadden and his Heirs. And afterwards the ſaid Walter died, and the ſaid Anne ſurvived him, and kept herſelf in, and was ſole ſeized in her Demeſn as of Freehold, the Remainder to the ſaid Clere in Fee. And afterwards the ſaid Clere Hadden died without Iſſue of his Body, after whoſe Death the ſaid Remainder deſcended to the ſaid Edward as Couſin and Heir of the ſaid Clere, that is to ſay, as Son and Heir of John Clere Knight, Father of Margaret, Mother of the ſaid Clere Hadden, whereby the ſaid Edward was and yet is ſeized of the ſaid Remainder. And he being ſo ſeized, and the ſaid Anne being ſeized as before, ſhe, when ſhe was ſingle, made Waſt, Sale, and Deſtruction in the ſaid Tenements, viz. in digging, &c. and ſo he ſhews the whole in certain, to the diſinheriting of the ſaid Edward, and againſt the Form of the Statute, whereby he has Damage to the Value of 200 l. And the ſaid Henry and Anne, by proteſting that no Waſt was done, for Plea ſay that after the Death of the ſaid Clere Hadden without Heir of his Body, the ſaid Remainder deſcended to one Edward Young as Couſin and Heir of the ſaid Clere Hadden, that is to ſay, as Son and Heir of Humphry Young, Son and Heir of John Young, Father of Dorothy, Mother of the ſaid Walter Hadden, Father of the ſaid Clere Hadden, whereby the ſaid Edward Young was ſeized of the ſaid Remainder as of Fee; with this, that the ſaid Henry and Anne will aver that the ſaid Edward Young is yet alive, viz. at London in Chriſt's Pariſh in the Ward of Farringdon within: And ſo they demand Judgment ſi actio, &c. And upon this the Plaintiff demurs.

And the Matter was argued in the ſaid Eaſter Term 15 Elizabeth by Gawdy and Bendloe Serjeants on the Part of the Plaintiff, and by Loveleſs and Barham Serjeants on the Part of the Defendants. And I only heard Part of Gawdy's Argument, and the whole of Loveleſs's, and therefore what I here report of the Arguments of the ſaid other Serjeants is upon credible Information; and I heard the Juſtices ſpeak to the Matter. And the Point argued was but one, and that was, if, upon the Death of Clere Hadden without Iſſue, the Remainder which he had by Purchaſe ſhould deſcend to the Heir of the Grandmother of Clere Hadden on the Part of his Father, (inaſmuch as he had no other Heir on the Part of his Father, nor on the Part of his Grandfather on his Father's Side) or if it ſhould deſcend to the Heir on the Part of his Mother, for the Plaintiff was his Uncle and next Heir on the Part of his Mother.

1 Point.

If for Default of Iſſue of the Body of the Purchaſer, the Land deſcends to the collateral Heirs on the Part of the Father, the Heirs of the Blood of the male Line on the Part of the Father aſcending ſhall be preferred in the Succeſſion before the Heirs of the Blood of the female Line on the Part of the Father aſcending: As the Brother or Siſter of the Grandfather of the Purchaſer on the Part of the Father, and their Iſſues, ſhall be there. Blackſtone Contra Bac. Max. reg. 1.

And divers Things were agreed by the Counſel on both Sides, and by the Court alſo. One was, that in the collateral Deſcent from any one who purchaſes Lands, and dies without Iſſue, the Heirs on the Part of the Father, who are of the Blood of the male Anceſtors in the lineal Aſcent by the Father, ſhall be preferred in the Deſcent before the Heirs who are of the Blood of the Females in the lineal Aſcent by the Father, in one and the ſame Degree. As for Example, the Brother of the Grandfather on the Part of the Father, and his Iſſues, be they Males or Females, ſhall be preferred before the Brother of the Grandmother on the Part of the Father, and his Iſſues: And ſo the Brother of the Great-grandfather on the Part of the Father, that is to ſay, the Brother of the Purchaſer's Father's Father's Father, and his Iſſues, be they Males or Females, ſhall be preferred before the Brother of the Great-grandmother on the Part of the Father, that is to ſay, before the Brother of the Purchaſer's Father's Father's Mother, and his Iſſues. For the Males are more worthy than the Females, Man being the moſt precious Creature that God made upon Earth, and far exceeding Woman. For Adam was firſt made as the Superior, and afterwards Eve as the Inferior, and Adam being the Head was her Protector and Governor, and Eve, as a weaker Creature, was given to him as a Companion in an inferior Degree, and to be protected and governed by him, and in them was the firſt Marriage, as Loveleſs ſaid, and from them it was derived to all others, ſo that there never was any People in the World amongſt whom there was not Marpreferred before the Brother of the Grandmother of the Purchaſer on the Part of the Father. S. P. Hale's Hiſt. Com. Law 243, 244, the 3d Rule of Deſcents 58, the 7th Rule there. Co. Litt. 12. b. in the Caſe of Fairfield there put. 2 Bac. Abr. 29. Vin. Abr. tit. Heir E. 4. pl. 2. in margine.

riage.

riage. For which Reaſon, he ſaid, Marriage may be ſaid to proceed de jure gentium. [a] And to this Purpoſe he cited Bracton in his firſt Book de rerum diviſione, cap. 5. wherein he ſays, a jure enim gentium deſcendit maris et fœminæ conjunctio, et fit per mutuam utriuſque voluntatem, quæ matrimonium appellatur, nec proprie dici poterit jus, cum ipſum ſit corporale et videatur, jura autem omnia ſunt incorporalia, et videri non poſſunt, quæ deſcendunt et introducta ſunt ex jure gentium, ab eo tamen jure deſcendit liberorum procreatio et educatio, id eſt, nutrimentum. And it is not only ex jure gentium, but it is alſo approved by the ſacred Laws of God, [b] ſo that without Matrimony no lawful and laudable Iſſue can be begotten amongſt Men. And then inaſmuch as Man proceeds from Matrimony, which is between a Man and a Woman, ſo that every Man has a Father and Mother, and is deſcended from two [c] Branches, viz. from Male and Female, and one of them is more worthy than the other, it is conſonant to Nature that if he purchaſes Land, and dies without Iſſue to inherit it, it ſhall go to that Line from whence he deſcended, and foraſmuch as he deſcended from two Lines, viz. from Male and Female, and the one is more worthy than the other, it ſhall go to the more worthy, for the more worthy the Line is to which a Man's Land goes, the greater Pleaſure it gives to him that purchaſed it, for every Man naturally deſires that all his Poſſeſſions in general, and his Inheritance particularly, ſhould after his Death go to the moſt worthy Perſon. And therefore the Law, which in all its Operations ſtudies the Diſpoſitions of Mankind, has ordained that Inheritances ſhall deſcend to the Race that is more worthy, rather than to that which is leſs worthy, and to the Line which is more precious, rather than to that which is more baſe. For which Reaſon the Brother of the Grandfather on the Part of the Father ſhall have the Land, rather than the Brother of the Grandmother on the Part of the Father, for the Brother of the Grandfather is Son to the Great-grandfather, and ſo comes from the more worthy Race. And if the Grandfather has no Brother, but a Siſter, it ſhall deſcend to that Siſter, and to her Line, rather than to the Brother of the Purchaſer's Father's Mother; for the Siſter of the Grandfather is Daughter to the Great-grandfather, and ſo comes from the Race of Males, from whom the Purchaſer came, and conſequently from the Race more worthy. And what is here ſaid touching the Brother of the Grandfather on the Part of the Father, and the Brother of the Grandmother on the Part of the Father, and their Iſſues, holds alſo with Regard to the Brother of the Great-grandfather or Great-Great-grandfather on the Part of the Father and their Iſſues, and the Brother of the Great-grandmother or Great-Great-grandmother on the Part of the Father, and their Iſſues; and ſo of every other in the Lines aſcending *. And ſo was it reſolved and agreed by the Counſel on both Sides, and by the Court alſo.

Further they agreed, that if the Purchaſer dies without Iſſue, and has no Heir on the Part of the Father, the Land ſhall deſcend to the next Heir on the Part of the Mother, which is to be intended to the Heirs of the Race of Males from whom the Mother is deſcended, rather than to others. As, for Example, the Grandfather of the Mother of the Purchaſer, that is to ſay, the Father of the Purchaſer's Mother's Father, has a Brother, and the Grandmother of the Mother of the Purchaſer, that is to ſay, the Mother of the Purchaſer's Mother's Father, has another Brother, there if the Purchaſer dies without Iſſue, having no Heir on the Part of his Father, the Brother of the Grandfather of the Purchaſer's Mother, viz. the Brother of the Father of the Purchaſer's Mother's Father, ſhall have the Land by Deſcent, and not the Brother of the Grandmother of the Purchaſer's Mother, viz. the Brother of the Mother of the Purchaſer's Mother's Father, for ſuch Brother of the Grandfather of the Purchaſer's Mother is of the more worthy Race, for he is Son to the Great-Grandfather of the Purchaſer's Mother, who ſhall be preferred before the Brother of the Grandmother of the Purchaſer's Mother, for he is Son to the Great-Grandfather of the Purchaſer's Mother in another Race, viz. in the Race which was conjoined with the Race of the Males, from which the Purchaſer's Mother deſcended, by the Marriage of the Woman viz. by the Marriage of the Grandmother of the Purchaſer's Mother to the Grandfather of the Purchaſer's Mother; and therefore the Brother of the Grandfather of the Purchaſer's Mother on the Part of her Father, and his Iſſues, ſhall be Heirs to the Purchaſer, and not the Brother of the Grandmother of the Purchaſer's Mother, nor his Iſſues, for the Brother of the Grandmother of the Purchaſer's Mother cannot be Heir to the Purchaſer as long as the Grandfather of the Purchaſer's Mother on the Part of the Father has a Brother, cauſa qua ſupra. [d] And to prove that the Heir of the Part of the Mother ſhall inherit where the Purchaſer dies without Heir of the Part of the Father, Littleton cap. 1. was cited, where he ſays that if a Man purchaſes Land, and dies without Iſſue, and has no Heir on the Part of his Father, then the Land ſhall deſcend to the Heirs on the Part of the Mother. [e] And to the ſame Purpoſe Loveleſs cited the Caſe in 49 Ed. 3. in Aſſize, where the Caſe was, that the Purchaſer of Land died without Iſſue, having no Heir on the Part of the Father, and the Heir on the Part of the Mother entered, and the Lord entered claiming it by Eſcheat, and the Heir on the Part of the Mother brought an Aſſize, and upon the general Iſſue pleaded all this Matter was found by Verdict, and it was there adjudged that the Plaintiff ſhould recover, becauſe when the Inheritance never came in Deſcent, nor in the Degrees, but the Purchaſer was the firſt that had it, there although there is a Failure of one Branch of Heirs, viz. of thoſe on the Part of the Father, it is reaſonable that the Heirs on the Part of the Mother ſhould have it, rather than that it ſhould eſcheat to the Lord. [f] And if he has no Heir on the Part of the Father, the Heir on the Part of the Mother ſhall be vouched, and ſhall be barred of his Action by ſuch Warranty. And if the King grants to a Man a Franchiſe-royal, viz. that he and his Heirs ſhall be quit of Toll, or the like, and he dies without Heir on the Part of the Father, the Heir on the Part of the Mother ſhall have Benefit of this Dif-

[a] Bract. 4. a. 37. a. Cowel's Inſt. 3.
[b] Ante 303 (b).
[c] S. P. Co. Litt. 12. a.
* Note, the Male Line of the Part of the Father aſcending ſhall in infinitum exclude the Female Line of the Part of the Father aſcending, ſo that the Brother or Siſter of the Purchaſer's Great-Grandfather or Great-Great-Grandfather on the Part of the Father, and ſo on in infinitum, ſhall be preferred before the Brother of the Purchaſer's Grandmother on the Part of the Father, notwithſtanding the former is more remote, which goes a Step further than the Point here agreed, which only touches the Heirs of the Male and Female Line on the Part of the Father ſo far as they are in one ſame Degree. See Co. Litt. 12. b. Hale's Hiſt. Com. Law 243, 244. Poſt 452 (c) Per Manwood J.

2 Point.

If for Default of Heirs of the Purchaſer on the Part of the Father, the Land deſcends to the Line of the Mother (as it may do) the Heirs of the Blood of the Male Line on the Part of the Mother aſcending ſhall be preferred in the Succeſſion before the Heirs of the Blood of the Female Line on the Part of the Mother aſcending: As the Brother of her Grandfather on the Part of her Father ſhall be preferred before the Brother of her Grandmother on the Part of her Father.

[d] Litt. § 4. See S. P. admitted Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 7. fo. 22, 23. Hale's Hiſt. Com. Law 239, 243. 2 Finch 116. Cowel's Inſt. 159 2 Bac. Abr. 29.
[e] P. 49 Ed. 3. 11. pl. 5. Fitz. Diſcent 7. Bro. 7. 49 Aſſ. pl. 4. 2 Finch 116. Vin. Abr. tit. Heir W. pl. 3.
[f] S. P. 2 Rol. Abr. 746. pl. 11. Hob. 25. Co. Litt. 376. b.

Discharge; all which Matters are put in the said Case of 49 Ed. 3. [a] And he also cited the Case in 12 Ed. 4. where it was held by all the Justices of the Common-Bench, that if a Man purchases Lands, and dies without Issue, and without Heir on the Part of the Father, his next Heir on the Part of the Mother shall have the Land. And so in the principal Case if Clere Hadden had not had any Heir on the Part of his Father, they held clearly that Edward Clere his Uncle and Heir on the Part of his Mother should have been inheritable to the said Clere Hadden, and should not have been excluded by Law from being his Heir.

[a] M. 12 Ed. 4. 14. pl. 12. Fitz. Discent 2. Bro. 38.

3 Point.

If the Father purchases Land, and it descends to the Son, who enters and dies without Issue, and without Heirs of the Male or Female Line of the Part of the Father, viz. of the Father's Father or Mother, it shall never go at all to the Line of the Son's Mother, but shall rather escheat to the Lord: For when once Land comes in Descent, it shall go only to the Heirs on that Part from whence it descends, and shall always taste of the Blood of the first Purchaser: And tho' here the Heir of the Part of the Son's Mother is of the Blood of the Son who was last seized, yet such Heir is an entire Stranger to the Blood of the Father, who was the first Purchaser; and, if after the Purchaser's Death the Son does not enter, then the Heir of the Part of the Son's Mother cannot have the Land, because he is not of the Blood of him that was last seized. S. P. Litt. § 4. Co. Litt. 12. a. in the Case of Knightly there put. Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 7. fo. 22. 2 Finch 117. Hale's Hist. Com. Law 239, 240. Noy 159. Blackstone of Descents 34, 38, 39, 2 Bac. Abr. 33. Vin. Abr. tit. Heir E. 4. pl. 1. W. pl. 3.

Also it was agreed by them, that if a Purchaser of Land has Issue a Son, and dies, and the Son enters, and dies without Issue, and without any Heir on the Part of his Father's Father, the Heir on the Part of his Father's Mother shall have the Land by Descent: And so Loveless said it was held in the said Book of 12 Ed. 4. but in such Case the Heir on the Part of the Mother of such Issue shall never inherit. [b] And to this Purpose he cited the Case in 39. Ed. 3. in Assize brought by John Osborn, and the Saying of Justice Finchden there at large: And the Case was in Effect thus, viz. a Bastard purchased Land in Fee, and died having Issue one Cicily, who entered, and died without Issue, and whether or no the Land should escheat, or the Heir on the Part of the Mother of Cicily should have it, was the Question; and there Justice Finchden said as follows, "I hold that there is a great Diversity where one purchases Land, and dies without Heir on the "Part of his Father, and where he has the Land by Descent on the Part of his Father. For where "he has Land by Descent, the Purchase first commenced in his Ancestor, and the Land ought "to descend lawfully in the Blood of the first Purchaser, for if Land descends to the Heir on "the Part of the Father, and he dies without Heir, the Land cannot descend to the Blood of the "Mother, because it first commenced in the Father, and the Heir on the Part of the Mother is "not of the Blood of the Father who was the first Purchaser. But when he himself purchases "the Land, and dies without Heir on the Part of the Father, and has an Heir on the Part of the "Mother, this Heir is inheritable to the Land for Default of Heir on the Part of the Father, for "the Heir on the Part of the Mother is his Heir as well as the Heir on the Part of the Father; "but if he has an Heir on the Part of the Father, and also an Heir on the Part of the Mother, there "forasmuch as the Blood on the Part of the Father is more worthy, as well the Land of his own "Purchase as that which he has by Descent on the Part of the Father shall descend to such Blood; "but if he has no Heir on the Part of the Father, seeing that the Land is his own Purchase, "which first commenced in himself, and also seeing that the Heir on the Part of the Mother may "be Heir to him, and is of his Blood, the Inheritance shall descend to such Heir rather than it "shall escheat. But in this Case the Title of the Purchase first commenced in the Father of Ci-"cily, and he that is Heir on the Part of the Mother of Cicily is not of the Blood of her Father, "for which Reason he is not inheritable to this Tenancy, but it shall revert to the Lord as his "Escheat." Wherefore (as it appears in the Book of Assizes where the same Case is reported pla. 7.) the Assize was adjourned into the Common-Bench, where the Opinion went against the Plaintiff who brought the Assize against the Lord by Escheat; and therefore he was nonsuited. Which Opinion, Loveless said, was agreeable to that in 12 Ed. 4. in all Points. And to this Purpose he also cited the Case of [c] John Carell v. Richard Cuddington and Elizabeth his Wife, in the Commentaries of Mr. Plowden lately printed, where the Case was, that Thomas Buckenham and the said Elizabeth then his Wife had Issue a Son and one Dorothy their Daughter, and the said Thomas Buckenham died seized of Lands holden in Socage, and the Son died without Issue, and the said Dorothy entered, and took to Husband Thomas Carel, and she and the said Thomas Carell levied a Fine of the Land to one Noy in Fee, sur conusance de droit come ceo que il ad de lour done, and took back an Estate by Grant and Render to them and to the Heirs Males of the Body of the said Thomas Carell by him upon the Body of the said Dorothy begotten, the Remainder to the right Heirs of the said Dorothy in Fee, and afterwards they had Issue John Carell, and the said Thomas and Dorothy died, the said John being within the Age of 14 Years, and there the Point of the Case was, whether John Carell Attorney of the Dutchy Court of Lancaster, who was Father of the said Thomas, and Grandfather of the Infant on the Part of his Father, or the said Elizabeth Grandmother of the said Infant on the Part of his Mother, and Richard Cuddington her second Husband, should be Guardian in Socage to the Infant. And it was there clearly agreed that if the Infant should die without Issue, none of the Blood of Carell the Grandfather could have the Land by Descent from the Infant, because the Land moved from the Mother of the Infant, and whosoever should have had it from the Mother, if she had died without Issue, shall have it by Descent from the Son, if he should die without Issue, and forasmuch as the Blood of Carell is a Stranger to the Purchaser of the Fee-simple, viz. to Dorothy, from thence it follows that the Land could never descend to the Brother of Carell the Grandfather, nor to any other on that Side, nor from them to the said Carell the Grandfather, and therefore Carell the Grandfather could by no Possibility have the Land, if the Infant should die without Issue: But if the Blood of the Father of Dorothy, viz. of Thomas Buckenham, should fail, then it was held that the Land might descend to the Blood of the said Elizabeth, who was the Mother of the Purchaser, and from them possibly to Elizabeth herself, so that she is nearer to the Possibility of having the Land, if the Infant should die without Issue, than the Grandfather on the Part of the Father is, and therefore it was adjudged that the said John Carell the Grandfather should be Guardian in Socage, and not the Grandmother on the Part of the Mother of the Infant. From whence, he said, it appears that if Clere Hadden had taken a Wife, and had had Issue, and had died, and the Issue had entered, and died without Issue, the Heir of the Father of Clere Hadden, if he had had any such Heir, should have had the Land by Descent, and if he had had no such Heir, then the Heir of the Mother of

[b] M. 39. Ed. 3. 29. Bro. Discent 15. Vin. Abr. tit. Heir W. pl. 1.

[c] Ante 295.

Clere Hadden ſhould have had the Land by Deſcent, if he had had any ſuch Heir, and if he had had no ſuch Heir, the Heir of the Mother of ſuch Iſſue ſhould never have had the Land by Deſcent, for the Mother of the Iſſue is an entire Stranger in Blood to the firſt Purchaſer, viz. to Clere Hadden, and as long as the Land continues in Deſcent, it ſhall always taſte * of the firſt Purchaſer, and to his Blood only it ſhall have Reſpect, and not to any new Blood. For if Clere had had Iſſue, who had had the Land from him by Deſcent, and the Land had deſcended from that Iſſue to his Iſſue, and ſo on from Iſſue to Iſſue until four or five Deſcents, and the laſt Iſſue had died without Iſſue, there upon Failure of Heirs on the Part of the Father of Clere and of the Mother of Clere, no Heir on the Part of any Wife that any of the Iſſues had taken ſhould have had the Land by Deſcent, but it ſhould rather have eſcheated, for all Wives taken by any Iſſue after the Purchaſe of Clere Hadden are Strangers to the Blood of the Purchaſer, and therefore their Lineage ſhall be Strangers to the Land; for when the Land is in Deſcent it ſhall taſte of the firſt Purchaſer, and of the Blood of him in whom it firſt attached, and it ſhall always deſcend to the Blood of the firſt Purchaſer only, and not to the Blood of any Women who are afterwards married into that Race, for they are but allied to the firſt Purchaſer, and are not of his Blood, and the Land ſhall deſcend to the Blood, and not to the Alliance without Blood; † ſo that in Point of Deſcent no Marriage is to be reſpected but the Marriage of the Father and Mother of the Purchaſer, which precedes the Purchaſer, for no Marriage afterwards ſhall enable any to inherit the Land ſo purchaſed. And foraſmuch as the Marriage of the Father and Mother of Clere Hadden preceded the Exiſtence of Clere Hadden, the Blood of the Male accoupled in this Marriage, if there is any of that Blood, and if not, the Blood of the Female accoupled in this Marriage, if there is any of that Blood, are only inheritable. And ſo the Plaintiff here being Uncle on the Part of the Mother of Clere Hadden ſhall inherit, if there is no Heir on the Part of the Father of Clere Hadden, whom the Law prefers. And all this was agreed on both Sides, and by the Court alſo.

* This a Maxim in Law, Co. Litt. 12. a. And therefore to go one Step further than the Point here agreed, upon the ſame Ground it is, that if the Grandfather purchaſes Land in Fee, and it deſcends from him to the Father, and from him to the Son, if the Son enters, and dies without Iſſue, his Father's Brothers or Siſters, or their Deſcendants, or for Want of them, his Grandfather's Brothers or Siſters, or their Deſcendants, or for Want of them, his Great-grandfather's Brothers or Siſters, or their Siſters, or their the Mother, or the Grandfather.

Deſcendants, or for Want of them, any of the Conſanguinity of the Great-grandfather, or for Want of them, his Great-grandmother's Brothers or Deſcendants, ſhall inherit, for the Conſanguinity of the Great-grandmother was the Conſanguinity of the Grandfather; but none of the Line of of the Grandmother, viz. the Grandfather's Wife, ſhall inherit, becauſe not of the Blood, either by Father or Mother, of the firſt Purchaſer, viz. Hale's Hiſt. Com. Law, 240. 2 Bac. Abr. 34. † Vin. Abr. tit. Heir E. 4. pl. 5.

For the Plaintiff, upon the principal Matter.

But as to this Matter, whether or no there is any ſuch Heir on the Part of the Father of Clere Hadden, viz. on the Part of Walter Hadden, whom the Law prefers in the Deſcent, was the great Doubt, and the only Point of the Caſe. And it was ſaid on Behalf of the Plaintiff, (to prove that the Land ſhould not deſcend to Edward Young, as the Defendants ſuppoſed) that the ſaid Edward Young was not as near in Blood to Clere Hadden as the Plaintiff was. For the Plaintiff is his Uncle on the Part of his Mother, and the ſaid Edward Young is Couſin german to Walter Hadden Father of the ſaid Clere Hadden, and ſo they are Couſins in the ſecond Degree, and Clere Hadden is one Degree further on his Part, ſo that Edward Young is in the ſecond Degree to Clere Hadden, and Clere Hadden is in the third Degree with reſpect to John Young the Anceſtor paramount, which Degree is more remote than the Degree between Clere Hadden and the Plaintiff. ‡ And Littleton ſays in his Book that if the Purchaſer dies without Iſſue, every one who is his next Couſin collateral of the whole Blood, how far ſoever he be from him in Degree, may inherit and have the Land as Heir to him. So that Proximity of Blood is conſiderable in every Deſcent, and this Proximity is in the Plaintiff here, and Edward Young is more remote in Blood.

‡ Lit. § 2.

And as to the other Point which is made the principal Matter, viz. whether or no Edward Young is deſcended from the Blood on the Part of the Father of Clere Hadden the Purchaſer, viz. on the Part of Walter Hadden, ſo as to be preferred in the Deſcent of the Land, as the Defendants ſuppoſed, the Counſel for the Plaintiff ſaid that true it is that he is deſcended from the Blood on the Part of the Father of the Purchaſer, but this is on the Part of a Female, viz. from Dorothy, who was Grandmother to the Purchaſer, which Female was a Stranger to the Blood of the Haddens at the Time when ſhe married with Hadden who was Grandfather to the Purchaſer, and equally as great a Stranger as Margaret Clere, who married with Walter Hadden, was to the Blood of the Haddens before her Marriage with the ſaid Walter. And then foraſmuch as the Blood of the one Female and of the other was a Stranger to the Blood of the Haddens until their Marriages, and after their Marriages their Blood was a Stranger to the Anceſtors of their Huſbands paramount their Huſbands, but not to their Iſſues begotten by the Haddens, (for the Iſſues of every Woman are alike deſcended from the Blood of the Woman as from the Blood of the Huſband, and the Blood of the Branch of the Mother is equally and in like Degree united to the Iſſues, and to the Race which deſcends from them, as the Blood of the Branch of the Father is) it ſeemed to them to be highly reaſonable that the Uncle here on the Part of the Mother of the Purchaſer ſhould be preferred in the Deſcent, becauſe he is neareſt. So that altho' the Caſe was equal in other Reſpects, it is not ſo as to the Point of Proximity. But if any one had come and claimed the Land as Couſin to the Purchaſer, for that he was deſcended from the Male Line of the Haddens aſcending, as if he had been deſcended from the Brother or Siſter of the Grandfather, Great-grandfather, or Great-great-grandfather of the Purchaſer on the Part of the Males from whom the Purchaſer was deſcended, there ſuch Perſon ſhould be preferred as Heir on the Part of the Father, for he is of the Branch more worthy, viz. of the ſame Race of Males from whom the Purchaſer iſſued, and he and the Purchaſer had one common Anceſtor paramount, from whoſe Loins they are equally ſprung, and therefore it is reaſonable that ſuch Perſon ſhould be Heir to the Purchaſer, whether he be Male or Female. But here there is no ſuch Perſon, for Edward Young, whom the Defendants would make to inherit the Land, is of the Blood of the Mother of the Purchaſer's Father, and might indeed be Heir to the Purchaſer, if he was nearer than the Plaintiff is, but the Plaintiff is nearer than him, and altho' they are in like Degree as to the Point of Deſcent from the Branch of a Female, yet inaſmuch as they differ in Point of Proximity, Edward Clere the Plaintiff, being the neareſt, ſhall be adjudged Heir.

And further they ſaid, that if the neareſt ſhould not be preferred, it would create great Confuſion, and ſet up many Competitors for one and the ſame Inheritance, for perhaps one would lay Claim to the Land as Heir to the Purchaſer, viz. as Heir to the Brother of the Purchaſer's Grandfather in the male Line aſcending, and another as Heir to the Brother of the Purchaſer's Great-grandfather in the like male Line aſcending, and a third as Brother of the Purchaſer's Great-great-grandfather in the like lineal Aſcent of male Anceſtors, to avoid which Plurality of Claims the Law gives the Preference to Proximity of Blood. And ſo the Plaintiff here being neareſt ſhall be preferred.

E contra for the Defendants; upon the principal Matter.

On the other Hand Loveleſs and Barham Serjeants argued for the Defendants, and ſaid that the Plaintiff, who is Uncle to Clere Hadden the Purchaſer on the Part of his Mother, and Edward Young, who is Heir to the Great-uncle of the Purchaſer by his Grandmother, who was his Father's Mother, are not in one Degree of Blood to the Purchaſer, and therefore the Proximity of Blood in the Plaintiff is not to be regarded here. For the Blood which was between the Plaintiff and Clere Hadden came to Clere Hadden by a Female only, viz. by his Mother immediately, but the Blood which was between Clere Hadden and Edward Young, altho' it originally came from a Female, yet it was derived to the ſaid Clere Hadden by a Male, viz. by Walter Hadden his Father, (which Male is a Creature more worthy than a Female) and not by a Female immediately, as it was between him and the Plaintiff. For no Man can be born without a Father and Mother, and ſo Clere Hadden had a Father and Mother, who were the Cauſe of his Being, and the Father (as it is confeſſed) is more worthy than the Mother, and alſo the Father of Clere Hadden, viz. Walter Hadden, had a Father and Mother, of whoſe Seed the ſaid Walter was begotten, and inaſmuch as Walter the Father of Clere was a Male, and ſuch Male could not be without the Seed of Male and Female, and the Male, viz. Walter, was more worthy than Margaret his Wife, from thence it follows that the Blood of Dorothy, who was the Cauſe of the Being of Walter, who is the principal and more worthy Branch of Clere Hadden, is more worthy than the Blood of Margaret; and as ſhe was leſs worthy than Walter, ſo is her Blood leſs worthy than the Blood of Walter, with Reſpect to Clere Hadden, and ſo the Blood of Dorothy, by the Deſcent by a Male to the ſaid Clere Hadden, is more precious than the Blood of a Woman, viz of his Mother, which is not derived to Clere Hadden by any Male, but came to him immediately by a Female. And therefore Edward Young is, for the Dignity of his Blood, to be preferred in the Deſcent, and ſhall be adjudged Heir to Clere Hadden on the Part of the Father, and the Blood of Margaret the Mother of Clere Hadden, by whom the Blood between Clere and the Plaintiff immediately came, without any Deſcent by a Male, ſhall, for the Baſeneſs of the Degree of the Female, be rejected. [a] And this, they ſaid, is warranted by Littleton, who ſays that if the Son purchaſes Land in Fee-ſimple, and dies without Iſſue, thoſe of the Blood on the Part of his Father ſhall inherit as Heirs to him before any of the Blood on the Part of his Mother, but if he has no Heir on the Part of his Father, then the Land ſhall deſcend to the Heirs on the Part of his Mother. In which Sentence theſe Words are obſervable, viz. thoſe of the Blood on the Part of his Father ſhall inherit as Heirs to him before any of the Blood on the Part of his Mother, for here Edward Young is one of the Blood of the Father of Clere Hadden the Purchaſer, ergo he ſhall inherit before any of the Blood of the Mother, ſo that the Letter and Senſe of Littleton excludes Edward Clere from inheriting in this Caſe. And Loveleſs further cited diverſe Things in Bracton in the ſecond Book de acquirendo rerum dominio, cap. 29, 30, 31. touching Deſcents, and the Quality, Proximity, Pedigrees, Degrees, and Dignities of Heirs, and the Order of Succeſſion, and at the End he cited the Opinion of Bracton in the principal Point, where he ſays, [b] Deſcendit jus quaſi ponderoſum quid cadens deorſum rectâ lineâ vel tranſverſali, et nunquam reaſcendit eâ viâ quâ deſcendit poſt mortem anteceſſorum, a latere tamen aſcendit alicui propter defectum heredum inferius provenientium. Alſo Bracton ſays, [c] Item eorum qui ſunt naturales legitimi et hæredes, quidam ſunt propinqui, quidam propinquiores, quidam remoti, et quidam remotiores, et omnes, quotquot ſunt, ſunt hæredes recti et juſti, quotquot deſcendunt gradatim a communi ſtipite, primò per lineam directam deſcendentem in infinitum, et poſtea per lineam tranſverſalem deſcendendo in infinitum, illis deficientibus qui ſunt in linea recta. Et ultimò cùm illi defecerint qui ſunt in linea tranſverſali deſcendendo, vocantur illi qui ſunt in linea tranſverſali aſcendendo tantum, quià per lineam rectam aſcendendo, per quam jus deſcendit propter mortem anteceſſorum, jus illud nunquam per eandem lineam reaſcendit. Et quamvis omnes ſic in infinitum aſcendendo et deſcendendo recti ſunt hæredes et juſti, tamen non omnes ſimul vocantur ad ſucceſſionem, quia propinquior excludit propinquum, propinquus remotum, remotus remotiorem.

[a] Litt. § 4.

[b] Bract. 62. b. See Blackſtone of Deſcents, 18, 19.

[c] Bract. 64. a.

rem. And further Bracton ſays, * Et ſciendum quod cognationum ſive parentelarum aliæ ſunt ſupra, aliæ infra, aliæ a tranſverſo ſive a latere. Parentes, qui ſunt ſupra, dici poterunt anteceſſores et parentes: Illi verò, qui ſunt infra rectam lineam vel tranſverſalem, dici poterunt rectè cognati et hæredes: Illi verò, qui ſunt ſupra in linea tranſverſali, dici poterunt rectè parentes, et hæredes, deficientibus illis qui ſunt inferius. And afterwards Bracton ſays, Superior autem cognatio parentum ſive anteceſſorum qui mortui ſunt in linea recta aſcendente, eſt et incipit a primo gradu, viz. a patre vel matre aſcendente uſque ad avum, a ſecundo gradu, ſcilicet ab avo uſque ad proavum, a tertio gradu, ſcilicet a proavo uſque ad abavum, et ſic a quarto gradu, ſcilicet ab abavo uſque ad atavum, ſic a quinto gradu, ab atavo uſque ad tritavum, qui obtinet in computatione ſextum gradum, ulterius autem non fit computatio aſcenſus, quia talis computatio excederet memoriam hominum, et ſic reſolvendo a tritavo computato pro patre, vel tritavia pro matre, fieri poterit deſcenſus jure uſque ad trinepotem et trineptem. And in another Place he ſays, [a] in primo vero gradu ſedent pater et mater, qui facient ſtipi em communem, in ſecundo vero gradu in linea deſcendente ſunt filius et filia, in tertio, nepos et neptis. And in another Place he ſhews how thoſe are called who are in the direct Line paravail the Nephew, viz. Pronepos, Abnepos, Atnepos, Trinepos. And further he ſhews how the others in the collateral Lines deſcending and aſcending are called, and how they are inheritable as Heirs, for his Words are, [b] Item frater patris et ſoror dicuntur patruus et amita, et ſi ex amita procedat filius vel filia, dici poterunt, quantum ad nepotem, proprior amitivus et proprior amitiva, et ſic eorum filii et filiæ, nepos et neptis, et ulterius deſcendendo in infinitum. Illi vero qui ex patruo procedunt, filius vel filia, patrueles nuncupantur, et ſic deinceps eorum filius et filia in infinitum deſcendendo. Item in linea recta deſcendente vel tranſverſali ex parte filiæ alicujus, ſoror filiæ vel frater de uno eodemque patre et diverſa matre conſobrina dici poterit, et frater ex talibus conſobrinis, et eorum filius et filia, nepos et neptis, et ſic deinceps. Item ſoror filiæ vel frater de una eademque matre, ſed diverſo patre, ſoror uterina, frater ulterinus, dici poterunt, et ſic eorum filius et filia, et ſic deinceps ut ſupra. Item ſoror patris dicitur amita, et ſoror matris dicitur matertera, et eorum filius et filia, et ſic in infinitum. Et iſtis omnibus deficientibus, ad ſuperiores fiet deſcenſus, ſicut ad fratrem avi vel aviæ, vel ad ſororem in linea tranſverſali, ſicut ad patruum magnum, vel amitam magnam, et ad eorum hæredes, filium vel filiam, et ſic deinceps. Et illis omnibus deficientibus, tunc ad fratrem proavi ex parte patris, qui dicitur propatruus magnus, vel ejus ſororem, quæ dicitur proamita magna, et ſic deinceps ad filios et filias, eorum nepotes et neptes. Illis autem deficientibus ex parte patris, tunc vocentur fratres abavi et abaviæ, qui dicuntur abpatruus magnus, et abavita magna, et eorum hæredes in infinitum. Et iſtis deficientibus ex parte patris, frater atavi vel ataviæ, qui dicuntur atpatruus magnus et atavia magna, et eorum hæredes in infinitum. Quibus deficientibus vocantur ex parte patris frater et ſoror triavi et triaviæ, qui dicuntur tripatruus magnus, et tritavia magna, et eorum hæredes in infinitum. Et ex alia parte tranſverſali a parte matris, ut ſi avunculus vel matertera et omnes alii hæredes defecerint, tunc vocantur fratres et ſorores avi vel aviæ ex parte matris, et vocantur avunculus magnus et matertera magna, et eorum hæredes in infinitum. Et illis deficientibus, tunc vocantur ex parte matris frater proavi et proaviæ, vel ſoror, qui dicuntur proavunculus magnus et Promatertera magna, et eorum hæredes in infinitum; et ſic gradatim vocandi ſunt abavunculus magnus et abmatertera magna, et atavunculus magnus et atmatertera magna, ex parte matris in linea tranſverſali, triavunculus magnus et trimatertera magna aſcendendo, et eorum hæredes in infinitum. So that (Loveleſs ſaid) Bracton has here ſhewn how the Law was taken in his Time touching the Courſe of Deſcents, viz. that an Inheritance in Land, as a Thing ponderous, deſcends downwards in the direct Line paravail the Purchaſer, and if there is none in that Line, then in the collateral or tranſverſal Line (as he terms it) paravail, and if there is none ſuch paravail, then it ſhall go to the Heirs in the collateral or tranſverſal Line aſcending paramount, wherein he prefers the Deſcendants of the male Line of the Father, Grandfather, Great-grandfather, and Great-great-grandfather of the Purchaſer's Father, and if there is none ſuch, then he prefers the Heirs on the Part of the Mother of the Purchaſer's Father, and ſo the Heirs of other Females paramount accoupled to the male Line aſcending, and if there is none ſuch, then the Heirs on the Part of the Purchaſer's Mother ſhall inherit; for when he ſays, et ex alia parte tranſverſali a parte matris, this is to be intended for Default of other Heirs a parte patris, for he puts it after the others; ſo that he makes the Brother of the Mother of the Purchaſer's Father, and his Iſſues, to be Heir to the Purchaſer before the Brother of the Purchaſer's Mother, which is our very Caſe here, and ſo he diſables the Plaintiff from being Heir to Clere Hadden. And he ſaid that Bracton in his ſaid ſecond Book cap. 30. ſays, [c] Maſculus ſexus ſemper in ſucceſſione preferri debet ſexui fœmineæ, nunquam enim ad ſucceſſionem vocatur fœmina, quamdiu aliquis hæres ſuperfuerit ex maſculis: And therefore, he ſaid, a Son ſhall be preferred before a Daughter. And to this Purpoſe Loveleſs cited diverſe Sentences out of Britton in the Chapters of [d] Proximity, and of [e] Succeſſion, which Book follows Bracton very much in the ſaid Points of Deſcents to the Heirs lineal paravail, and to the Heirs tranſverſal (as the Manuſcript Copies of Britton term them, but as Loveleſs cited it, and as it is in the printed Book of Britton, Heirs traverſal, that is, as well to them in the Line paravail, as to them in the Line aſcending) in which Chapter of Succeſſion Britton treats of the Perſons to whom Land ſhall deſcend, and for the better underſtanding thereof, he tells us that he had made and drawn out in his Book a Figure reſembling a Leaf, one Side whereof

* Bract. 67. a.

[a] Bract. 68. a.

[b] Bract. 68. b.

[c] Bract. 65. a.

[d] Britt. 268 b.

[e] Ibid. 269. a.

whereof represents the Issue of the male Ancestors, and the other Side the Issue of the female Ancestors, but the Figure is not printed in the Book, however it is to be taken that the Issues of the female Ancestors, which he meant, are the Issues of those Ancestors who come from Females coupled in Marriage with male Ancestors, as the Grandmother, or Great-grandmother, or the like, coupled in Marriage with the male Ancestors on the Part of the Purchaser's Father, who, as he intends, are to be preferred before the Heirs on the Part of the Purchaser's Mother. And Loveless said that if Clere Hadden here had made a Waraanty upon any Feoffment, and had died without Issue, the Warranty should have descended upon Edward Young, and not upon the the Plaintiff. Which Dyer Chief Justice affirmed after the Argument of Loveless.

Where several are equally worthy in Blood, as if all are of the male Line on the Part of the Father ascending, or of the female Line on the Part of the Father, the neareſt ſhall be preferred in the Succeſſion; but if one is more worthy in Blood than another, as if one is Heir of the male Line on the Part of the Father aſcending, and the other is Heir of the female Line on the Part of the Father, there Proximity is not regarded, but the more worthy, viz. the Heir of the male Line, tho' more remote, ſhall be preferred.

And as to the Objection which has been made, viz. that if Proximity of Blood ſhould not be preferred in Deſcents, it would create infinite Confuſion, and would perhaps ſet up many Competitors for one and the ſame Inheritance, to this Manwood Juſtice anſwered, that there never will be any ſuch Confuſion, if the more worthy in Blood is preferred, but if they are equally worthy in Blood, then the neareſt ſhall be preferred. [a] As if the Purchaſer dies without Iſſue, and the Brother of the Purchaſer's Father claims the Land, and the Brother of the Purchaſer's Grandfather, that is to ſay, the Brother of the Father of the Purchaſer's Father, alſo claims the Land, and the Brother of the Purchaſer's Great-grandfather, that is to ſay, on the Part of the Father in the lineal Aſcent of Males, alſo claims the Land, there the Brother of the Purchaſer's Father ſhall be preferred as Heir, for he is the neareſt of the Blood of the Purchaſer's Father, and they are all equally worthy in Blood, for they are all of the Blood of Males, which is the more worthy Sex, and therefore the neareſt ſhall be preferred as Heir; and if there is no ſuch Brother of the Purchaſer's Father, nor any Iſſue of ſuch Brother, nor any Siſter of the Purchaſer's Father, nor any Iſſue of her, (for the Siſter ſhall be in the ſame Degree as the Brother ſhould, where there is no Brother) then the Brother of the Purchaſer's Grandfather, or his Iſſue, or the Siſter of the Purchaſer's Grandfather, or her Iſſue, ſhall be preferred before the Brother or Siſter of the Purchaſer's Great-grandfather, and their Iſſues, and ſo on from them in infinitum. [b] And ſo the Brother or Siſter of the Purchaſer's Grandmother, viz. the Mother of the Purchaſer's Father, ſhall be preferred before the Brother or Siſter of the Purchaſer's Great-grandmother, viz. the Mother of the Purchaſer's Father's Father, becauſe they are equally worthy in Blood, (for ſuch Heirs come from the Blood of the female Sex, from which the Purchaſer's Father iſſued) and where they are all equally worthy, the next of Blood ſhall always be preferred as Heir. [c] But on the other Hand, if the Purchaſer dies without Iſſue, and the Brother of the Purchaſer's Grandmother on the Part of the Father, that is to ſay, the Brother of the Mother of the Purchaſer's Father, claims the Land as Heir to the Purchaſer, and the Brother or Siſter of the Purchaſer's Great-grandfather, that is to ſay, the Brother or Siſter of the Father of the Purchaſer's Father's Father, alſo claims the Land as Heir to the Purchaſer, there the Brother or Siſter of the Purchaſer's Great-grandfather ſhall be preferred as Heir before the other, and yet the other is nearer in Blood, but he is leſs worthy in Blood. For altho' he is of the Blood on the Part of the Purchaſer's Father, yet that Blood is accrued by a Female, but the Blood of the Brother or Siſter of the Purchaſer's Great-grandfather is accrued by male Blood throughout, for ſuch Brother or Siſter was Son or Daughter to the Purchaſer's Great-great grandfather, and therefore an Heir of them ſhall exceed the Heir of the other in Dignity of Blood. So here in the principal Caſe the Heir on the Part of the Mother of Walter Hadden the Father of Clere Hadden the Purchaſer, whoſe Blood is conveyed to the Purchaſer by a Male, viz. by his Father, is to be preferred before the Heir of the Purchaſer's Mother, altho' he is nearer in Blood, for as he is nearer in Blood to Clere Hadden, ſo is he leſs worthy in Blood, becauſe his Blood accrues immediately by a Female only, and therefore the Plaintiff here ſhall not be Heir to Clere Hadden. And of this Opinion was the whole Court. Wherefore the laſt Day of Eaſter Term 15 Elizabeth the Court gave Judgment againſt the Plaintiff, which Judgment was as follows.

[a] S. P. Hale's Hiſt. Com. Law 242, 243.

[b] S. P. Hale's Hiſt. Com. Law 244, the 4th Rule there. See Infra at the Reporter's Note, where upon ſome Doubt being conceived of this Matter, he put the Queſtion to all the Juſtices of the Common Pleas, who concurred with this Opinion. Yet Quære, if this Poſition ſhould be allowed, whether it would not tend to overturn one of the main Foundations of the principal Caſe here adjudged.

For one of the great Reaſons which induced the Court to give the Preference to the Brother of the Grandmother, before the Brother of the Mother, of the Purchaſer, was, becauſe the Blood of the former was conveyed to the Purchaſer by a Male, which the Blood of the latter was not: And tho' here the Caſe put by Manwood ſo far differs in terminis from the principal Caſe, that the Blood of the one Competitor and of the other, viz. of the Grandmother's and the Great-grandmother's Brother, is conveyed to the Purchaſer by Males, more or leſs, yet in Fact the true Deciſion of both Caſes ſtands pretty much upon the ſame legal Reaſon, viz. the Preference of the male Blood, and therefore it ſeems more regular, and agreeable to the great Principle in the Law of Deſcents, to decide in Favour of the Brother of the Great-grandmother here, in whom there is more male Blood than there is in the Brother of the Grandmother. And by ſuch Conſtruction the Uniformity of the Courſe of Deſcents will be preſerved, and the Authority of the Judgment in the principal Caſe unimpeached. So that it does not ſeem to hold univerſally true, that Proximity of Blood is the Pole-ſtar by which we are to direct the Succeſſion in Caſes where all the Claimants are equally worthy in Blood. See Law of Inheritances 30, 38, 61, 62, 66. Blackſtone of Deſcents 64, 65, where this Doctrine is clearly and ingeniouſly diſcuſſed, and moſt weighty Reaſons given againſt the Poſition here laid down by Manwood.

[c] S. P. Hales Hiſt. Com. Law 243, 244, the 3d Rule there. See Ante 445, the 1 Point there agreed, and the Note in the Margin at (*).

The reſt of the Record.

At which Day here came as well the aforeſaid Edward Clere as the aforeſaid Henry and Anne by their Attornies aforeſaid. And thereupon the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Juſtices here more fully underſtood, it ſeems to the ſame Juſtices here that the Plea of the aforeſaid Henry and Anne above in Bar pleaded, and the Matter in the ſame Plea contained, is lawful and ſufficient in Law to preclude the aforeſaid Edward Clere from having his Action aforeſaid againſt the aforeſaid Henry and Anne. Therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Edward Clere take nothing by his Writ aforeſaid, but be in Mercy for his falſe Claim therein: And that the aforeſaid Henry and Anne go thereof without Day, &c.

Judgment.

Note,

Note, in the Caſe before put, where the Purchaſer in Fee dies without Iſſue, and the Brother of the Grandmother on the Part of the Father claims the Land as Heir, and the Brother of the Great-Grandmother on the Part of the Father alſo claims the Land as Heir, many were of Opinion that, becauſe there was no nearer Heir of the male Line, the Brother of the Grandmother ſhould not be preferred, (as Juſtice Manwood had ſaid) but that the Brother of the Great-Grandmother ſhould be adjudged Heir, for his Blood is derived to the Purchaſer by two Males, viz. by his Father and Grandfather, whereas the Blood of the Brother of the Grandmother is derived to the Purchaſer but by one Male, and the Grandfather was not of the Blood of the Brother of the Grandmother, but he was of the Blood of the Brother of the Great-Grandmother, and therefore ſuch Blood is more worthy. And upon this I put the Queſtion again to Manwood in the Preſence of Harper another of the Juſtices of the Common Bench, both of whom held clearly that the Brother of the Grandmother ſhould be Heir to the Purchaſer, and not the Brother of the Great Grandmother, becauſe the former is nearer in Blood to the Purchaſer on the Part of his Father, which Proximity holds Place on the Part of Females conjoined by Marriage to Males, where ſuch Blood is once derived by a Male to the firſt Purchaſer. And at another Day I put the ſame Queſtion to Mounſon puiſne Juſtice of the ſame Bench, and he was of the ſame Opinion with the other Juſtices, for the ſame Cauſe. And at another Time afterwards I put the ſame Queſtion to the Lord Dyer, who was of the ſame Opinion alſo. So that all the Juſtices of the Common Bench unanimouſly agreed in the ſaid Caſe, that the Brother of the Purchaſer's Grandmother on the Part of the Father ſhould be prefer'd before the Brother of the Purchaſer's Great-Grandmother on the Part of the Father.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

And note that Bracton and Britton alſo make Mention that they had drawn out in their Books a Tree of Parentage, by which it would plainly appear how the Degrees of Conſanguinity are to be accounted. For Bracton ſays, * Et qualiter gradus cognationis computentur, et quo gradu, et quis diſtat ab alio in linea deſcendente vel aſcendente, in figura ſuperiùs in arbore ante principium libri pictâ manifeſtiùs quaſi ad oculum apparebit, which Figure or Tree is not printed in either of their Books, and therefore I have here drawn it out in the Line direct deſcending and aſcending, according to the Notion of Bracton (as far as I was able to collect from his Book), which is agreeable with the Civil Law.

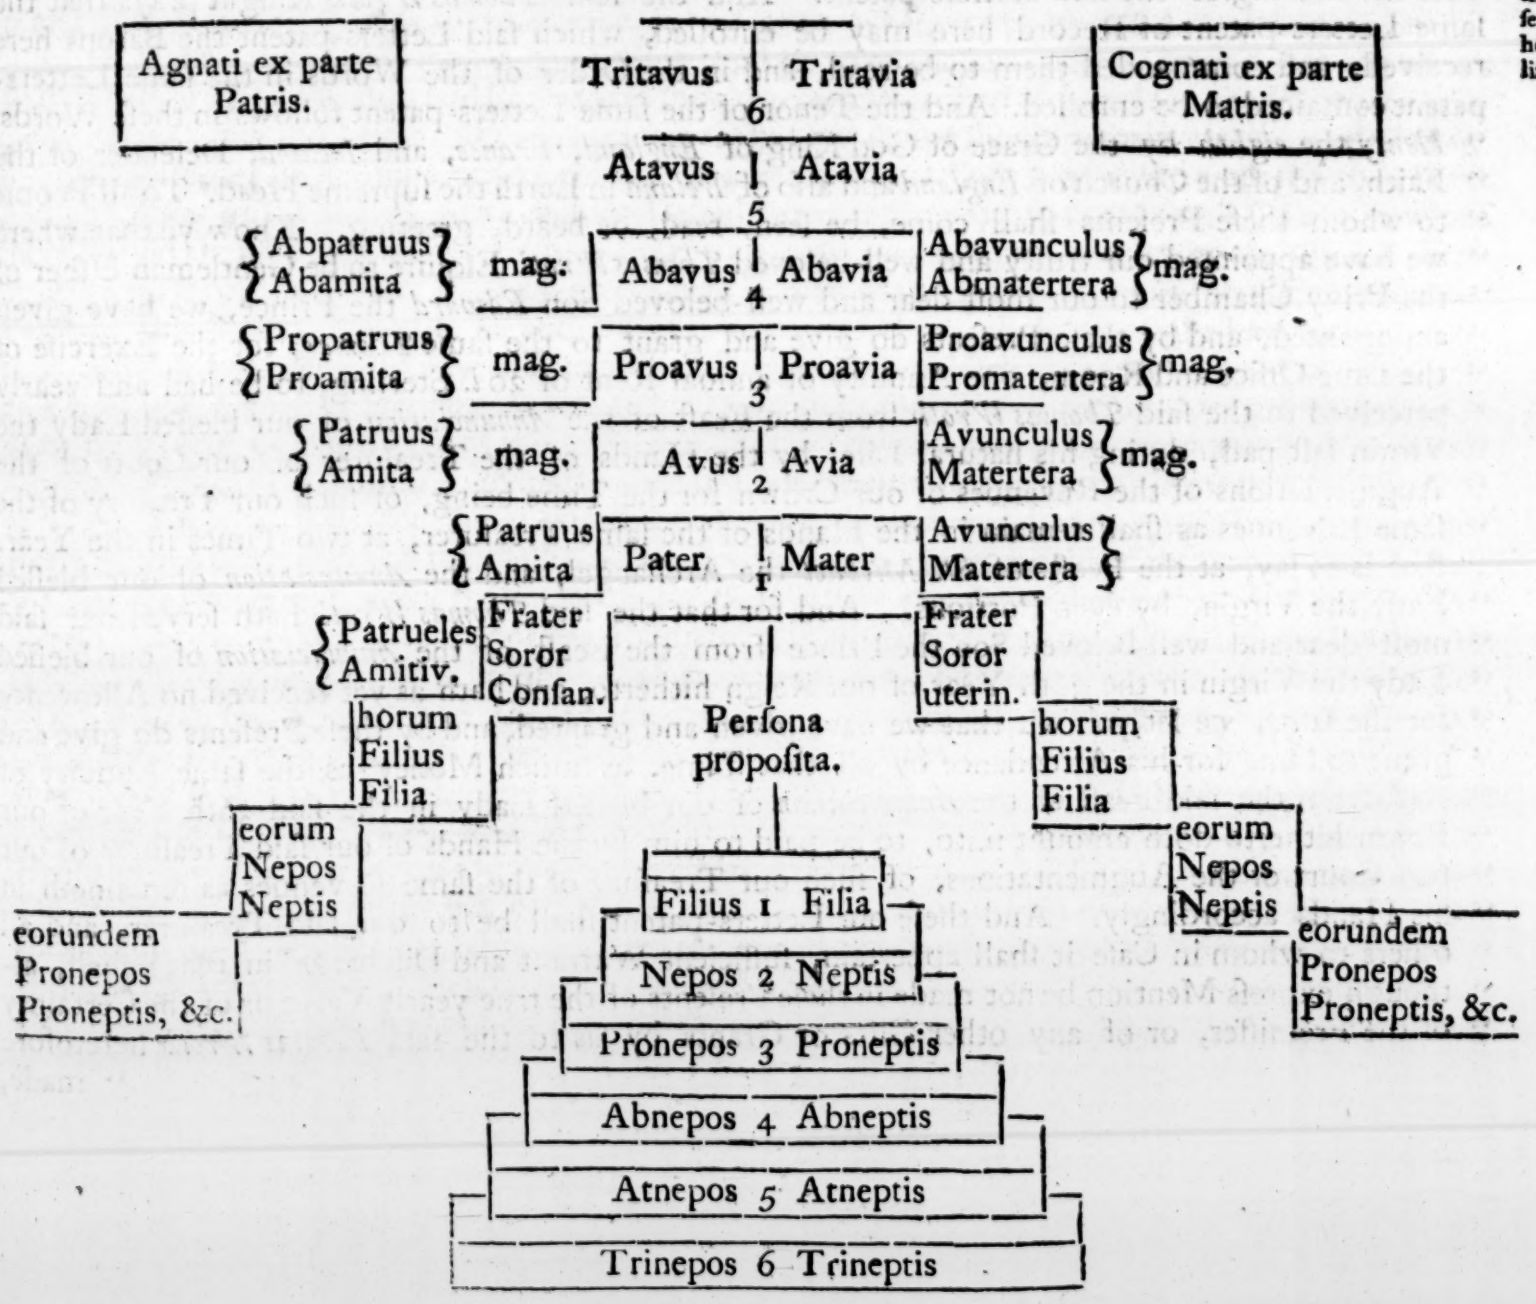
* Bract. 68. b.

A

FIGURE or TREE of CONSANGUINITY,

As it is laid down by BRACTON.

See this Tree delineated in Hale's Hiſt. Com. L. 248. And ſee the Names of the ſeveral Branches hereof in Engliſh, Ibid. 234.



A Report of a Judgment given by the Barons of the Exchequer in Trinity Term in the 15*th Year of the Reign of Queen* Elizabeth, upon a Petition made to the Court of Exchequer by Sir Thomas Wroth Knight to be paid the Arrears of an Annuity of 20 l. per Ann. granted to him for his Life by King Henry 8. by Patent bearing Date the 13*th Day of* October in the 38*th Year of his Reign, for the Exerciſe of the Office of Uſher of the Privy-Chamber to Prince* Edward his Son, to which Office the King had appointed him, and the Petition was for the Payment of all the Arrears due to him ſince the Date of the Patent. And the Record was entered in the Remembrances of the Exchequer amongſt the Records of Eaſter Term 14 Elizabeth, Roll on the Side of the Treaſurer's Remembrancer. And was as follows.

England. BE it remembered, that Thomas Wroth Knight came here before the Barons of this Exchequer the 14th Day of May in this Term in his own proper Perſon, and exhibited to the Court here certain Letters-patent of Lord Henry the eighth late King of England, bearing Date at Weſtminſter the 13th Day of October in the 38th Year of the Reign of the ſame late King, made to the ſame Thomas Wroth, by the Name of Thomas Wroth Eſquire Gentleman-Uſher of the Privy-Chamber to Edward then Prince the moſt dear and well-beloved Son of the ſame late King Henry the eighth, for the giving and granting an Annuity or annual Rent of 20 l. Sterling for the Exerciſe of the ſame Office and Place, to have and annually to perceive to the aforeſaid Thomas Wroth, from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary then laſt paſt before the making of the ſaid Letters-patent, during the natural Life of the ſaid Thomas, by the Hands of the Treaſurer of the Court of the aforeſaid late King Henry the eighth of Augmentations of the Revenues of the Crown of the ſame late King for the Time being, out of ſuch Treaſury of the ſaid late King of the ſame Revenues as ſhould remain in the Hands of the ſame Treaſurer, at two Terms of the Year, viz. at the Feaſts of St Michael the Archangel and of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Virgin Mary, by equal Portions, and alſo for the Payment of ſo much Money, by the Hands of the Treaſurer aforeſaid, out of the Treaſury aforeſaid, as the aforeſaid Annuity or annual Rent of 20 l. ſhould amount unto from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary in the 36th Year of the ſaid late King unto the making of the ſaid Letters-patent. And the ſame Thomas Wroth Knight prays that the ſame Letters-patent of Record here may be enrolled, which ſaid Letters-patent the Barons here received, and commanded them to be read, and in the Order of the Words in the ſame Letters-patent contained to be enrolled. And the Tenor of the ſame Letters-patent follows in theſe Words.

" Henry the eighth by the Grace of God King of England, France, and Ireland, Defender of the " Faith, and of the Church of England and alſo of Ireland in Earth the ſupreme Head. To all People " to whom theſe Preſents ſhall come, be ſeen, read, or heard, greeting. Know ye that where " we have appointed our truſty and well-beloved Thomas Wroth Eſquire to be Gentleman Uſher of " the Privy Chamber to our moſt dear and well-beloved Son Edward the Prince, we have given " and granted, and by theſe Preſents do give and grant to the ſame Thomas, for the Exerciſe of " the ſame Office and Room, one Annuity or annual Rent of 20 l. Sterling, to be had and yearly " perceived to the ſaid Thomas Wroth from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our bleſſed Lady the " Virgin laſt paſt, during his natural Life, by the Hands of the Treaſurer of our Court of the " Augmentations of the Revenues of our Crown for the Time being, of ſuch our Treaſury of the " ſame Revenues as ſhall remain in the Hands of the ſame Treaſurer, at two Times in the Year, " that is to ſay, at the Feaſts of St. Michael the Archangel, and the Annunciation of our bleſſed " Lady the Virgin, by even Portions. And for that the ſaid Thomas Wroth hath ſerved our ſaid " moſt dear and well-beloved Son the Prince from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our bleſſed " Lady the Virgin in the 36th Year of our Reign hitherto, and hath as yet received no Allowance " for the ſame, we let you wit that we have given and granted, and by theſe Preſents do give and " grant to him, for his Attendance by all that Time, as much Money as the ſame Annuity of " 20 l. from the ſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of our bleſſed Lady in the ſaid 36th Year of our " Reign hitherto doth amount unto, to be paid to him by the Hands of our ſaid Treaſurer of our " ſaid Court of the Augmentations, of ſuch our Treaſury of the ſame Revenues as remaineth in " his Hands accordingly. And theſe our Letters-patent ſhall be to our ſaid Treaſurer, and all " others to whom in Caſe it ſhall appertain, ſufficient Warrant and Diſcharge in that Behalf, al- " though expreſs Mention be not made in theſe Preſents of the true yearly Value or of the Certainty " of the Premiſſes, or of any other Gifts or Grants by us to the ſaid Thomas Wroth heretofore " made,

" made, or any Statute, Act, Ordinance, Proviſion, or Reſtraint to the contrary thereof hereto-
" fore had, made, ſet forth, ordained, or provided, or any other Thing, Cauſe, or Matter what" ſoever to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding. In Witneſs whereof we have cauſed theſe our " Letters to be made patent, and ſealed with the Great Seal of our ſaid Court of the Augmenta-
" tions. Given at Weſtminſter the 13th Day of October in the 38th Year of our Reign."

Which ſaid Letters-patent being read, the aforeſaid Thomas Wroth Knight ſays that afterwards the aforeſaid late King Henry the eighth, the 28th Day of January in the 38th Year of his Reign, died. And that he the ſame Thomas Wroth, after the aforeſaid making of the ſaid Letters-patent to him in Form aforeſaid made, the Office and Place aforeſaid to the aforeſaid Edward the ſixth King of England, during the Life of the ſaid King Edward the ſixth, exerciſed. And that afterwards, he the ſame Thomas Wroth the Office and Place aforeſaid ſo exerciſing, the aforeſaid King Edward the ſixth, the 7th Day of July in the 7th Year of his Reign, died. And the aforeſaid Thomas Wroth Knight further ſays, that afterwards by a certain Act made in the ſecond and laſt Seſſion of a Parliament holden by Prorogation at Weſtminſter the 24th Day of October in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of the late Queen Mary, and there continued and held until the Diſſolution of the ſame happening the 6th Day of December then next following, touching the Alteration, Change, Union, Tranſpoſition, Diſſolution, or Determination of all or any Court commonly called the Court of Augmentations of the Revenues of the Crown, the Court of Firſt-Fruits and Tenths, the Court of the King's Wards, the Court of general Surveyors of the King's Lands, and the Court of the Dutchy of Lancaſter, it was publiſhed, provided, and enacted by the Authority of the ſame Parliament, amongſt other Things, that that Act or any Thing in the ſame Act contained ſhould not in any wiſe extend or be conſtrued to take away, extinguiſh, or determine from any Perſon or Perſons, their Heirs, Succeſſors, or Aſſigns, or from any of them, any Fees, Annuities, Penſions, Stipends, or annual Payments of any Sums of Money, which they or any of them of Right might or ought lawfully to have by any Letters-patent or any ſufficient Writing under the Seal of the ſaid late Court of Augmentations of the Revenues of the King's Crown, before the 7th Day of July then laſt paſt before the making of the Act aforeſaid made, but that all and ſingular Perſon and Perſons, their Heirs, Succeſſors, Executors, and Aſſigns, and every of them, who at the ſaid Time of making the Act aforeſaid of Right had or ought to have, or thence afterwards ſhould have, any Fee, Annuity, Stipend, Penſion, or annual Payment of any Sum or Sums of Money under the ſaid Seal of the ſaid late Court of Augmentations, or in the ſame Court being lawfully allowed and paid, the ſame ſhould and might perceive, accept, and receive, according to the Tenor of the ſame Grant, and annually thereof ſhould be paid out of the Treaſury of the aforeſaid late Queen her Heirs and Succeſſors, at the Days and Times in ſuch Letters-patent or other Writing contained, in any ſuch Court or Courts to which the ſame Court, wherein the aforeſaid Annuities or annual Sums of Money were paid, ſhould be ſo united and annexed, or in any ſuch Court or Courts which by the Authority of the aforeſaid Parliament ſhould be newly erected and made in the Place of any of the aforeſaid Courts ſo being diſſolved, as long as the ſame Court ſhould remain and have any Being, and afterwards in ſuch Court or Courts as it ſhould pleaſe the Queen newly to erect, by the Hands of ſuch Officer of the ſame Court, and for Default thereof, in any of the Queen's Courts in which there ſhould be ſufficient Revenue to anſwer the ſame, out of the Treaſury of the Queen there, by the Hands of the Officer of the ſame Court, in ſuch Manner and Form as the ſame Perſon and Perſons, their Heirs, Executors, and Aſſigns, or any of them, could or might have done or have been paid in any other Place or Court, if the aforeſaid Act of Parliament had never been made nor enacted; any Thing in the ſame Act contained, or any other Thing from thence afterwards to be done by Colour or Authority of the ſame Act, to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding, as by the aforeſaid Act of Parliament, amongſt other Things, more fully appears. And the aforeſaid Thomas Wroth further ſays, that he of the aforeſaid Annuity or annual Rent of 20*l.* from the aforeſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin in the aforeſaid 36th Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King Henry the eighth, unto the Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin laſt paſt in the 14th Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid Lady the Queen now, and for the ſame Feaſt, is unpaid. And he prays that the aforeſaid Letters-patent of the aforeſaid late King Henry the eighth, according to the Tenor and Effect of the Act of Parliament aforeſaid, and of the aforeſaid Proviſion of the ſame Act above recited, by the Court here may be allowed. And that all and ſingular Sums of Money of the aforeſaid Annuity or annual Rent of 20*l.* from the aforeſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin in the aforeſaid 36th Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King Henry the eighth, unto the aforeſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin laſt paſt in the aforeſaid 14th Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid Lady the Queen now, and for the ſame Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary in the ſame 14th Year, being in Arrear and unpaid, to him the ſame Thomas Wroth may be paid; and alſo that the aforeſaid Annuity or annual Rent of 20*l.* from the aforeſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed

Mary in the aforeſaid 14th Year of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, to him the ſame Thomas Wroth Knight, at the aforeſaid Feaſts in the aforeſaid Letters-patent above ſpecified, during the Life of him the ſaid Thomas annually may be paid.

The CASE.

King Henry 8. grants to one an Annuity for the Exerciſe of the Office of Uſher of the Privy Chamber to Prince Edward his Son, in this Caſe if the Service is not done, the Annuity ſhall ceaſe as well as it ſhould if the Service was to be done to King Henry 8. himſelf, and though by the Death of King Henry 8. and the Prince's Acceſſion to the Crown, the Patentee was diſcharged by Law from doing the Service any longer to Edward when King, and by the Death of King Edward he was diſcharged by Law from doing the Service at all after his Death, yet he ſhall have the Annuity, not only during the Life of King Edward, but after his Death, as long as he (the Patentee) himſelf lives, and this notwithſtanding King Henry 8. did not expreſly bind his Heirs or Succeſſors in the Grant of the Annuity, but wholly omitted to mention them in the Patent. See touching this Caſe 5 Mod. 47, 50, 53.

The Effect of this Record is as follows. Sir Thomas Wroth Knight came before the Barons of the Exchequer, and exhibited to the Court the Letters-patent of King Henry 8. bearing Date the 13th Day of October in the 38th Year of his Reign; the Subſtance of which was, that whereas the ſaid King had appointed the ſaid Sir Thomas (who was then Eſquire) to be Gentleman Uſher of the Privy-Chamber to his Son Prince Edward, he had given and granted, and by the ſaid Letters-patent gave and granted to the ſaid Thomas, for the Exerciſe of the ſame Office and Place, an Annuity or annual Rent of 20 l. Sterling, to be had and annually perceived to the ſaid Thomas, from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady then laſt paſt, during his natural Life, by the Hands of the Treaſurer of his Court of Augmentations of the Revenues of the Crown for the Time being, out of ſuch his Treaſury of the ſame Revenues as ſhould remain in the Hands of the Treaſurer, at two Times of the Year, viz. at the Feaſts of St. Michael the Archangel and of the Annunciation of our Lady, by equal Portions; and becauſe the ſaid Thomas Wroth had ſerved his ſaid Son the Prince from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady in the 36th Year of his Reign until the making of the Patent, and had not then received any Allowance for it, he gave and granted to him for his Attendance all that Time as much Money as the Annuity of 20 l. amounted unto from the ſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation in the ſaid 36th Year of his Reign until the making of the Patent, to be paid to him by the ſaid Treaſurer, out of the ſaid Treaſury of the ſame Revenues which remained in his Hands, as by the ſame Letters-patent appears. And the ſaid Sir Thomas Wroth prayed that the ſaid Letters-patent might be there enrolled of Record, which Letters-patent the Barons received, and cauſed them to be read, and to be enrolled according to the Tenor aforeſaid. And the ſaid Sir Thomas Wroth further ſaid, that the ſaid King Henry 8. died the 28th Day of January in the 38th Year of his Reign. And that he the ſame Sir Thomas Wroth, after the making of the ſaid Letters-patent, exerciſed the Office and Place aforeſaid to the ſaid King Edward 6. during the Life of the ſame King Edward 6. and that he ſo exerciſing it, the ſaid King Edward 6. died the 7th Day of July in the 7th Year of his Reign. And further he ſaid, that in the Act made in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of Queen Mary touching the Alteration, Union, and Determination of the ſaid Court of Augmentations, there is a Proviſion that the ſaid Act ſhould not extend to extinguiſh or to take from any Perſons any Annuity or annual Payment of any Sum which they ought to have, but that it ſhould be paid of the Revenues of the Court to which it ſhould be annexed. And further he ſaid, that the ſaid Annuity of 20 l. was in Arrear, and he not ſatisfied thereof, from the ſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady in the ſaid 36th Year of Henry 8. until the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady in the 14th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, and alſo at the ſame Feaſt. And he prayed that the ſaid Letters-patent made to him might be allowed, and that all the ſaid Sums of the ſaid Annuity of 20 l. being in Arrear might be paid to him, and that the ſaid Annuity of 20 l. from the ſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady in the ſaid 14th Year might be paid to him the ſaid Sir Thomas Wroth during his Life. And upon this the Queen's Attorney demurred in Law, and Sir Thomas Wroth alſo.

A Recital of a Matter of Fact in the King's Grant is not material, as if he, reciting that I had done him ſuch Service at ſuch a Time, grants to me an Annuity for it, here tho' in Fact I never did him any ſuch Service, yet the Grant is good, and therefore upon Petition for the Annuity I need not aver that I did him the Service, for it is a Thing paſſed and executed. S. P. Lane 12, 14, 76, 109. 2 Co. 54. b. See like Point contra 6 Ed. 2, 7. Bro. Charter de pardon 74. Vide 1 Co. 42. b. 43. a.

And hereupon divers Points aroſe to be conſidered. The firſt was, whether or no the Record is a ſufficient Warrant to give Judgment for Sir Thomas Wroth for the Arrears due from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady Anno 36 H. 8. until the Date of the Patent. For Sir Thomas Wroth in his Petition has not averred that he had ſerved the Prince from the ſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady Anno 36 H. 8. until the Date of the Patent, (but has only averred that he ſerved him from the making of the Patent during the Life of King Edward) and his Service for that Time was the Conſideration of the Grant of the ſaid 20 l. per Ann. for that Time. For the Patent expreſſes, that whereas the ſaid Sir Thomas Wroth had ſerved the ſaid Son the Prince from the Feaſt of the Annunciation Anno 36 H. 8. until the Date of the Patent, and had not then received any Allowance for it, the King gave and granted to him for his Attendance all that Time ſo much Money as the Annuity of 20 l. amounted to from the ſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation Anno 36 H. 8. until the Date of the Patent, to be paid to him by the ſaid Treaſurer. So that the Service before was the Conſideration of the Grant of this Sum, as the Words of the Patent purport, and now Sir Thomas Wroth has not averred that he did the Service for that Time, and inaſmuch as he has not averred it, it ſhall be taken that he did not do it, for his Petition ſhall be taken moſt ſtrongly againſt himſelf, ſo that if the Non-feaſance of the Service be material, then his Petition is inſufficient, as to this Part, for Want of an Averment.

But the Court gave Judgment that he ſhould have the ſaid Sum, notwithſtanding he omitted to aver that he did the Service before the Date of the Patent, for ſuch Service is a Thing paſſed and executed, and not executory, ſo that the King ſhall not avail himſelf of that which is paſſed, and therefore ſuch Recital is not material, whether it be true or not. [a] And to this Purpoſe is the Caſe in 21 Ed. 4. where the King had granted to an Abbot, that becauſe the Abbey was the King's free-Chapel, he ſhould not be Collector when any Tithe ſhould be granted by the Clergy of England, and afterwards a Tithe was granted, and the Abbot was appointed Collector, and in Diſcharge thereof he pleaded in the Exchequer the ſaid Grant, and he did not aver that it was the King's free-Chapel, and yet, notwithſtanding the Omiſſion of the Averment, the Plea was held good enough, for it is there ſaid by Huſſey, [b] that if the King grants to me a Manor for my good Service done to him, I ſhall not be compelled to aver that I have done him good Service; [c] but if the Grant is pro eo quod relaxabit, &c. there I ought to aver that I have made the Releaſe, becauſe the King is to have Benefit by the Thing rehearſed in the Patent, and ſo is the Diverſity. [d] And of the like Opinion was Fitzherbert in 26. H. 8. where he ſays that the Recital of a Matter of Fact in the King's Grant is not material, as if the King, reciting the good Service which I had done him in his Wars beyond Sea, grants to me Land or other Thing, altho' I never did him any Service, yet the Grant is good *. So here notwithſtanding Sir Thomas Wroth never did the Prince any Service before the Date of the Patent, yet the Grant is good; and therefore the Omiſſion of an Averment of that which is not material ſhall not vitiate the Petition, for which Reaſon it was adjudged ut ſupra.

[a] M. 21. Ed. 4. 49. a. Fitz. Grants 29. Bro. Patents 71. Lane 12, 77. Hob. 231. Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative R. b. 2. pl. 1.
[b] Vin. Abr. ubi ſupra pl. 6.
[c] S. P. Lane 76, 78. Hob. 231. Vin. Abr. ubi ſupra pl. 5.
[d] P. 26. H. 8. 1. pl. 4. Bro. Patents 1. 2 Co. 54. b. Lane 109.
* But ſee Bro. Bro. Charter de pardon 74, where the King pardoned a Man pro ſervitio ſuo in G. impenſo, and it was detained until it was certified whether or no he did the Service, 6 Ed. 2. 7. Itin. Kanc.

But the Matters upon which the Court chiefly reſted, and to which an Apprentice of the Middle Temple, who was of Counſel with the ſaid Sir Thomas Wroth, ſpoke many Times, were theſe. The Points of the Caſe.
Firſt, if the Annuity, which is granted for Service to be done to the Prince after the Date of the Patent, is determinable by the Non-feaſance of it to the Prince, as well as it ſhould be by the Non-feaſance of it to the King, if it had been appointed to be done to the King. Secondly, foraſmuch as the Service was appointed to be done to the Prince by Sir Thomas Wroth, and when King Henry 8. died, the Prince became King, if the Service which Sir Thomas Wroth was appointed to do to Prince Edward may be done by him to Edward being King, or if he is diſcharged from doing it by the Act of the Law. Thirdly, if ſo be that he is diſcharged by the Act of the Law from doing the Service to Edward after the Time that he becomes King, then if he ought to have the Annuity paid him during that Time, or not. Fourthly, when the ſaid King Edward died, and thereby all the Service appointed to be done by Sir Thomas Wroth ceaſed by the Death of the Perſon to whom it ought to be done, if nevertheleſs Sir Thomas Wroth ſhall have the Annuity from thenceforth for his Life, or not. Laſtly, if none of theſe Cauſes are ſufficient to determine the Annuity at any Time after the Death of King Henry 8. yet if the Grant ſhall be void by the Death of King Henry 8. becauſe his Heirs or Succeſſors were not mentioned in the Grant of the Annuity, but were wholly left out of the Patent.

And as to the firſt Point, the whole Court agreed (as Saunders Chief Baron ſaid to me, upon whoſe Report alone in this and the following Points I have written the Reſolutions hereafter ſhewn, for they were not reſolved in open Court, but agreed by the Barons upon Conference among themſelves) that the Annuity which is granted by the King for Service to be done to the Prince ſhall be determined by Non-feaſance of the Service to the Prince, as well as it ſhould be by Non-feaſance of the Service to the King himſelf, if the Annuity had been appointed for Service to be done to the King. For the Prince was the King's Iſſue, and Nature urges the King to take Care of his Education, and to provide him with Things that are ſuitable to his Honour and Eſtate, and the Service here appointed is a neceſſary Service, and a Thing which concerns the King in that it concerns his Iſſue, and the Service is the Cauſe of the Grant, and it is executory as the Annuity is, and the King is to have Benefit for the Annuity, viz. Service done to his Son, which is the ſame in a Manner as if done to himſelf, and if the Service was not done to his Iſſue, but to another, the Annuity ſhould ceaſe for the Non-feaſance of it. As if the King grants an Annuity to a Phyſician for his Life, for his Counſel in Phyſic to be given to a Stranger, there if he refuſes to give him Counſel, the Annuity ſhall ceaſe. So if the King grants an Annuity for Life to a Schoolmaſter to inſtruct Scholars, it is determinable by the Non-feaſance of it, for Annuities which the King grants out of his own Liberality and free Will, for Benefit to be done to another, import the King's Intent to be, that if the Thing which is the Cauſe of his Grant is not done to the Perſon to whom it is appointed to be done, the Grantee ſhall not have the Thing granted. A fortiore then, when the Prince, who is the King's natural Son, is the Perſon to whom the Service is to be done, if the ſaid Sir Thomas Wroth had withdrawn the Service from the Prince as long as he was Prince, the Annuity ſhould have ceaſed by the Non-feaſance of it. And ſo all the Barons agreed.

1 Point. King H. 8. grants an Annuity to one for Service to be done to Prince Edward his Son, if the Service is not done, the Annuity ſhall ceaſe, as well as if it was granted for Service to be done to King H. 8. himſelf.

As to the ſecond Point, inaſmuch as it appears by the Averment of Sir Thomas Wroth that he did the Service to Prince Edward from the Time of the Date of the Patent until the Death of King

2 Point. King H. 8. grants to one the Office of Uſher of the Privy Chamber to Edward when now to be done to Prince Edward his Son, and dies, whereby the Prince becomes King, now the Patentee is diſcharged by Law from exerciſing the Office any longer King; for by the Acceſſion of the Eſtate royal to the Prince, the Office is changed in Point of Dignity from what it was before, and the Service is to the King, as King, and ſo the ſame Patent which ſerved before will not ſerve now.

Henry 8. (for that Time is comprehended in the Averment, which reaches to the whole Time from the Date of the Patent until the Death of King Edward 6.) which is confeſſed by the Demurrer, and ſo there was no Cauſe to ſtop the Annuity during the Life of King Henry 8. it is to be ſeen whether or no, when King Henry 8. died, and thereby Prince Edward became King, the Service which was appointed to be done to him being Prince might be done to him when he was King. For if the Law diſcharged Sir Thomas Wroth of the Service all the Time that Prince Edward was King, then the Averment that he did the Service all that Time, altho' it is confeſſed by the Demurrer, is of no Effect. And as to this, the whole Court was of Opinion that he was by Law diſcharged from the Service after the Death of King Henry 8. For by the Death of King Henry 8. the Eſtate-royal deſcended to the Prince, which raiſed his Perſon to a higher Eſtate and Dignity, in which Caſe his royal Perſon requires higher Officers and Miniſters; for the royal Majeſty requires Officers of Honour, who underſtand the honourable Service that is due to Majeſty, and ſuch ought to be Men not only of accompliſhed Carriage and Deportment, but alſo of great Skill, Underſtanding, and Experience. So that in Judgment of Law ſuch Miniſters as were ſuitable enough for him when he was Prince, are not ſo when he is King. But if the Service was ſuch as touched the natural Body only, and that as well when he was King as when he was Prince, then it ſhould be otherwiſe. As if King Henry 8. had granted an Annuity of 20 l. per annum to a Phyſician or Surgeon for his Counſel and Service to the Prince, and the King dies, and the Prince becomes King, there the Service is not diſcharged, but for the Non-feaſance of it the Annuity ſhall ceaſe, for the Service is to be done in Reſpect of the natural Body, which has Need of Phyſic and Surgery, and is ſubject to Infirmities and Accidents as well after the Acceſſion of the Eſtate-royal to it as before, ſo that the royal Majeſty cauſes no Alteration as to the Service in this Caſe. And ſo is it in other like Caſes, as to teach the Prince Grammar, Muſic, &c. where the Service to be done has Reſpect meerly to the Body natural, and not to the Majeſty of the Body politic. But here the Service appointed to be done by Sir Thomas Wroth was to be done to Edward when he was King, as King, and with Reſpect to his Body politic, which includes the Body natural, ſo that by the Acceſſion of the Eſtate-royal to the Prince the Office and Service received an Alteration, and became more honourable than it was before, for which Reaſon Sir Thomas Wroth was immediately upon the Death of King Henry 8. diſcharged by Law from his Service, in which Caſe the Averment that he did the Service to King Edward 6. all the Time that he was King, is of no Signification, for it is an Averment that he did that which the Law did not require him to do. And therefore the Opinion of all the Barons was, that he was diſcharged by Law from the Service as well all the Time when Prince Edward was King, as ever ſince the Death of the ſame King Edward.

3 Point. King H. 8. grants an Annuity to one for Life, for the Exerciſe of the Office of Uſher of the Privy Chamber to Prince Edward his Son, tho' by the Death of King H. 8. and by the Prince's Acceſſion to the Crown, the Patentee is diſcharged by Law from doing the Service to Edward when King, and by the Death of King Edward, from doing the Service at all after his Death, yet the Patentee ſhall have the Annuity not only during the Life of King Edward, but after his Death as long as the Patentee himſelf liver, for the Cauſe of the Non-performance of the Service came by the Act of God, viz. by the Death of King H. 8. and the Prince's Acceſſion to the Crown, and his

As to the third Point, viz. whether Sir Thomas Wroth ſhall have the Annuity paid him all the Time after the Death of King Henry 8. and of King Edward 6. all the Barons were of Opinion, that notwithſtanding the Service ought not to be done after the Death of King Henry 8. but that Sir Thomas Wroth was diſcharged from it as well when King Edward 6. was King, as after his Death, yet Sir Thomas Wroth ſhall have the Annuity always during his Life. For ſuch Diſcharge came by the Act of God, and not by Default of the Party, for the Death of King Henry 8. and the Deſcent of the Eſtate-royal to the Prince, and alſo the Death of King Edward 6. came by the Act of God, which Deaths were the Cauſe why Sir Thomas Wroth could not do the Service, and ſuch Act of God ſhall never hurt the Party. [a] For they held that if an Annuity be granted to a Counſellor or Phyſician for their Lives, pro conſilio ſuo impendendo to the Grantor, and the Grantor dies, the Annuity ſhall not ceaſe, but the Grantee ſhall hold it for Term of his Life, and yet it was granted and was executory for the Counſel, but no Counſel could be given to the Grantor when he was dead, and therefore the Grantee is by the Act of God diſcharged from giving the Counſel. So here by the Death of King Edward 6. Sir Thomas Wroth was diſcharged from his Service to be done to him from thenceforth, if there had been no other Matter to diſcharge him, but by the Deſcent of the Crown to him before, by which he was raiſed in Dignity and Eſtate, Sir Thomas Wroth, who was appointed to ſerve him when he was in a lower Eſtate, was from thenceforth diſcharged from his Service during his Life, which Diſcharge accrued by the Act of God, viz. by the Death of King Henry 8. and by the Deſcent of the Crown to the Prince. [b] But if there had been any Default in Sir Thomas Wroth, as if he had withdrawn himſelf from his Service of the Prince, when he was Prince, or if, in the other Caſes before, the Counſellor or Phyſician Grantee of an Annuity had refuſed to give Counſel when he was required, there the Annuity ſhould ceaſe by the Refuſal, becauſe the Non-performance of the Service comes by the Default of the Grantee, and the Grantor has no Means to compel him by Law to do the Service or to give the Counſel, and therefore the Annuity ſhall ceaſe in Judgment of Law. And ſo is the Diverſity. Wherefore the Opinion of the Court was, that Sir Thomas Wroth ſhould have the Annuity for his Life from the Time that the Prince became King, notwithſtanding that he is diſcharged by Act of Law from doing the Service, if ſo be the other Point which remains to be diſcuſſed does not make againſt him.

Death, which Act of God ſhall not prejudice the Patentee without any Default in himſelf.

[a] S. P. Noy 70 Warnford & Gilet. 2 Danv. Abr. 59. pl. 9. in Margine. Vin. Abr. tit. Condition B. b. pl. 11. II.

[b] S. P. Ante 134 (g) and ſee the Books there cited.

And as to this Point, viz. whether the Grant of the Annuity ſhall be void by the Death of King Henry 8. becauſe his Heirs or Succeſſors were not mentioned in the Grant, all the Barons were of Opinion that the Grant ſhall bind the Heirs and Succeſſors of the King, notwithſtanding they were omitted out of the Patent, becauſe he granted the Annuity as King, and the Body politic of the King is charged, which Body politic is perpetual, and has perpetual Continuance, and never dies, altho' the Body natural, in which the Body politic is repoſed, dies, as other Bodies natural do; for the Body politic is a Body immortal, and not ſubject to Death, and therefore if he that is King dies, [a] ſuch Death is not called in Law the Death of the King, but the Demiſe of the King, not ſignifying by the Word (Demiſe) that the Body politic of the King is dead, (for Death extinguiſhes Life in every Thing it comes to, which it does not with Regard to the Body politic of the King) but that there is a Separation of the two Bodies, and that the Body politic has left the Body natural now dead or now removed from the Dignity-royal, and is conveyed over to, and repoſed in, another Body natural. And then if the Body, which granted the Annuity here to Sir Thomas Wroth, is not dead nor extinguiſhed, but continues unchangeably all the Life of Sir Thomas Wroth, (as it does here, for the Body politic was the Body that granted the Annuity) there is no Manner of Cauſe to determine the Annuity. [b] And if an Abbot with the Aſſent of the Convent, by Deed under their Common Seal, grants an Annuity to another in Fee, and does not ſay that he grants it for him and his Succeſſors, and the Abbot dies, and a new Succeſſor is choſen, he ſhall be charged with the Annuity, for the Grant of the Abbot with the Aſſent of the whole Convent charges all the Corporation, which has perpetual Continuance, and therefore the Annuity ſhall have Continuance. So an Obligation made by the Predeceſſor with the Aſſent of the Convent, without Recompence or other Cauſe, ſhall bind the Succeſſors, tho' they be not named, cauſa qua ſupra. [c] But no Man's Heir ſhall be charged by the Obligation, or Grant of an Annuity, or Warranty of his Anceſtor, unleſs the Heir is expreſly mentioned in the Obligation, Grant, or Warranty, becauſe the Obligation, &c. came from the Body natural, which Body natural being diſſolved by Death, the Charge ſhall alſo be diſſolved, and even if the Heirs are mentioned in the Obligation, &c. yet they ſhall not be charged without Aſſets from the ſame Anceſtor. But this Reaſon does not hold Place where the Body that makes the Grant or Lien has perpetual Continuance, as it has in our Caſe, and alſo Aſſets cannot be ſaid to be wanting in the Crown, (if it was neceſſary to have Aſſets, as it is not in our Caſe). [d] And Note, if the King grants to an Abbot a Licenſe to purchaſe in Mortmain, and dies, this Licenſe ſhall ſerve him to purchaſe in the Time of another King, as it appears in the Regiſter in the Writ of Ad quod damnum, where there is a ſpecial Writ in ſuch Caſe, which Writ F. N. B. recites in the Writ of Ad quod damnum, and there makes an Obſervation that a Licenſe made to an Abbot in the Time of one King is good to enable him to purchaſe Lands in the Time of another King; and this ſeems to be very reaſonable, altho' the Grant was not for the King and his Heirs, becauſe the Body politic of the King granted it, and it is more than a Licenſe, for it is a Licenſe and alſo an Intereſt to purchaſe an Inheritance to the Houſe. [e] But in 2 Ed. 3. in a Writ of Covenant to levy a Fine of a Manor which was held of the King in capite, the Defendant ſhewed a Charter of Licenſe granted by King Edward 2. the Father of King Edward 3. and there Scrope ſaid, "You are Tenant of this Manor to the King who now is, wherefore without his Licenſe we will "not receive the Fine." Where it is to be obſerved, that the Licenſe was only to his Tenant to alien, but in the other Caſe of Mortmain it is a Licenſe and an [f] Intereſt alſo to acquire an Inheritance. [g] And the Caſe in 2 H. 7. was often cited upon Motions made in this Caſe, where it appears that King Edward 4. had granted to the Earl of Northumberland the County of Northumberland for Term of his Life, to have, occupy, and exerciſe that Office, and all other Offices belonging to the Sheriff in the County aforeſaid, rendering for the ſame to the King and to his Heirs annually 100 l. without any other Account thereof to be rendered or made to the King, and there it is ſaid that the Earl ſhould render an Account to the King of common Right, becauſe the Grant, by which he was diſcharged from the Account, was not binding any longer than for the Life of the King who made it, for the Words are, without any Account (to us) to be rendered, and it does not ſay, to us and to our Heirs, and this is the King's Inheritance, which cannot paſs without Words of Inheritance; [h] as if the King grants a Manor to a Man and to his Heirs, and further ſays that he and his Heirs ſhall have Conuſance of all Manner of Pleas within the Precinct of his ſaid Manor, out of the King's Courts, and does not make any Mention of his Heirs or Succeſſors, the Grantee ſhall only have Conuſance during the Life of the King; and all this is ſo reported in the ſaid Book of 2 H. 7. And it was ſaid that that Caſe is founded upon good Reaſon, for where a Thing is of meer Right to be done to the Crown, as it was for the Earl to render an Account to the King, there if the King ſays, without Account (to us) to be rendered, or if the Words of Diſcharge be (againſt us), it is not reaſonable that it ſhould extend further than the ſame King, for the Thing is perceptible by the Crown, and executory to the Crown, and therefore there ought to be as preciſe Words to diſcharge the Thing againſt the Succeſſor, as againſt the preſent King himſelf. But it is not ſo with Regard to a Thing newly granted, which is preſently executed altho' the Thing is executory, as it is here, for if the King grants to a Man a Fair, Market, Warren, or the like, and does not ſay for himſelf and his Heirs, yet the Grantee ſhall have it againſt the Heir of the King, and ſhall juſtify in a Quo Warranto, for the Thing paſſes preſently, and the Grant is executed immediately againſt the Crown, altho' the Thing is executory as to the Perception. So here this Grant to Sir Thomas

4 Point. King H. 8. grants an Annuity to one for Life, for the Exerciſe of the Office of Uſher of the Privy Chamber to Prince Edward his Son, this Annuity is not determined by the Death of King H. 8. but ſhall bind his Succeſſors, altho' no Mention was made of them in the Patent, for it was granted in the politic Capacity of the King, which never dies. S. P. Jenk. 209. pl. 41. Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative Z. d. pl. 5. in Margine. See Dy. 92. pl. 19.

[a] See Ante 177 (c) and the Books there cited.

[b] Vin. Abr. tit. Annuity B. pl. 3. in notis.

[c] Bract. 37. b. Britt. 64. b. M. 2. H. 4. 13. pl. 54. Bro. Annuity 13. H. 21 H. 7. 1. b. Bro. Charge 54. H. 21 H. 7 4. a. per Frowick C. J. Bro. Eſtates 65. Dy. 14. pl. 69. 23. pl. 142. 344. b. pl. 2. 1 Rol. Abr. 226. B. pl. 1. Co. Litt. 144. b. 386. a. Poph. 87, 154. 1 Finch 100. 2 Finch 119. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 201. § 9. Cowel's Inſt. 171.

[d] Bro. Prerogative 106. F. N. B. 223. g. Co. Litt. 52. b. 1 Rol. Abr. 332. pl. 6. Lane 74. 102. Palm. 72. Hardr. 444. 1 Freem. 89. 1 Bac. Abr. 204. Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative J. c. 3. pl. 5.

[e] P. 2 Ed. 3. Fitz. Office del Court 29. See T. 3. Ed. 3 29. pl. 35. where ſuch Fine was received upon a Writ-Cloſe of King Ed. 3. to allow the former Letters-patent. See S. P. that a Licenſe to the Tenant to alien is good only againſt the King that gave it, Bro. Prerogative 106. Palm. 72. Hardr. 444. Lane 74. 3 Keb. 80.

[f] See Yelv. 15.

[g] M 2 H. 7. 6. b. Fitz. Grants 33. Bro. Patents 45.

[h] See Bro. Confirmation 28. Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative J. c. 3. pl. 2.

Wroth

Wroth was executed preſently by the Grant againſt the Crown, and ſhall bind the Heirs and Succeſſors of the King, altho' as to the a prender the Thing is executory. And ſo was the Opinion of the Court.

And Saunders Chief Baron ſaid to me, that a Caſe came lately before him and his Companions in the Exchequer, which was thus, viz. King Edward 6 granted by Patent a Penſion to a Clerk upon the Suppreſſion of a College whereof he was Member, with a Proviſo, " that if afterwards he ſhall " be promoted per nos to any Benefice of as great Value, then the Penſion ſhall ceaſe," and the ſaid King died, and Queen Mary promoted him to a Benefice of as great Value as the Penſion was, and whether or no the Penſion ſhould ceaſe, was the Queſtion; and it was his Opinion that the Penſion ſhould ceaſe, * becauſe the Words (if he ſhall be promoted per nos) are ſpoken by him in his politic Capacity, which contains the Heirs and Succeſſors, and conſequently comprehends Queen Mary who was his Heir, altho' there was no preciſe Mention made of his Heirs in the Patent; and he ſaid that this Matter yet hung in Debate, and waited for the Judgment of the Court.

* Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative Z. d. pl. 3. See S. P. Ante 176 (b), that where an Act ſays, the King, or ſays, we, it is always ſpoken in the Perſon of him, as King, and in his Dignity-royal, and therefore it includes all his Succeſſors.

And afterwards the laſt Day of Trinity Term in the 15th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, Judgment was given that the Letters-patent ſhould be allowed, and that all the Arrears from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady in the 36th Year of Henry 8. until the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady in the 14th Year of Queen Elizabeth, and that which was alſo due at the ſame Feaſt, ſhould be paid to him, and that the ſaid Annuity ſhould be paid to him afterwards during his Life, at the Feaſts contained in the Patent. And the Judgment (as the Record mentions) was given by the Aſſent of the Juſtices of the Common Bench. In which Judgment it is alſo expreſſed that there are Precedents of Patents in like Caſes, which don't make any expreſs Mention of the Heirs or Succeſſors of the King. And the Judgment was entered as follows.

The reſt of the Record.

And the Premiſſes being ſeen by the Barons, and mature Deliberation being had amongſt them, and as well the Serjeants of the ſaid Lady the Queen at Law, as the Attorney and Sollicitor-general of the ſame Lady the Queen, being hereunto called, and the Opinions of the Juſtices of the ſaid Lady the Queen of the Common Bench being had in the Premiſſes, and for that Judgments and like Allowances of like Letters-patent without expreſs Words for the King, the Heirs and Succeſſors of the Kings by whom they were made, not only in the Time of the late Queen Mary, but alſo in the Time of the ſaid Queen now, without any other Letters-patent in the ſame Caſes obtained, have been given and allowed; it is conſidered by the aforeſaid Barons that the aforeſaid Letters-patent of the aforeſaid late King Henry the eighth, according to the Tenor and Effect of the Act of Parliament aforeſaid, and of the aforeſaid Proviſion of the ſame Act above recited, be allowed, and that all and ſingular Sums of Money of the aforeſaid Annuity or annual Rent of 20 l. from the aforeſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin in the aforeſaid 36th Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King Henry the eighth, unto the aforeſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin laſt paſt in the aforeſaid 14th Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid Lady the Queen now, and for the ſame Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary in the ſame 14th Year, being in Arrear and unpaid, to the aforeſaid Thomas Wroth, at the Receipt of this Exchequer by the Hands of the Treaſurer and Chamberlain of the ſame Receipt, out of the Treaſury of the aforeſaid Lady the Queen in the Hands of the ſame Treaſurer and Chamberlain being, be paid; and alſo that the aforeſaid Annuity or annual Rent of 20 l. from the aforeſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin in the aforeſaid 14th Year of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, to the aforeſaid Thomas Wroth Knight, at the aforeſaid Feaſts in the aforeſaid Letters-patent above ſpecified, at the aforeſaid Receipt of this Exchequer by the Hands of the Treaſurer and Chamberlain of the ſame Receipt for the Time being, out of the Treaſury of the Queen in the Hands of the ſame Treaſurer and Chamberlain from Time to Time being, at the aforeſaid Feaſts in the aforeſaid Letters-patent above ſpecified, during the Life of the ſame Thomas, annually be paid, ſaving always the Right of the Queen, if, &c.

Judgment.

The Writ of Execution.

And after this Judgment the ſaid Sir Thomas Wroth prayed a Writ of Execution common in ſuch Caſe, viz. " The Writ of the Lady the Queen now to the Treaſurer and Chamberlains of the afore- " ſaid Receipt of the Exchequer aforeſaid who now are and who from henceforth ſhall be, for the " Payments aforeſaid to him in Form aforeſaid to be made; and it is granted him; and the Tenor " of the ſame Writ follows in theſe Words, Elizabeth by the Grace of God, &c." And the Writ is recited in the Record Word for Word, and it is directed to the Treaſurer and Chamberlains of the ſaid Receipt of the Exchequer at Weſtminſter, " who now are, and who from henceforth for " the Time ſhall be," and it recites the Petition, and the Judgment thereupon, and at the End of the Writ there are theſe Words, " We command you that all and ſingular Sums of Money " of the aforeſaid Annuity or annual Rent of 20 l. from the aforeſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation " of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin in the ſaid 36th Year of the Reign of our ſaid late " Father, unto the aforeſaid Feaſt of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin in the aforeſaid 14th " Year of our Reign, and for the ſame Feaſt, being behind and unpaid, to the aforeſaid " Thomas Wroth Knight, out of our Treaſury in the Hands of you or any of you being, " you pay, and alſo that the aforeſaid Annuity or annual Rent of 20 l. from the aforeſaid " Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin in the aforeſaid 14th Year of our

" our Reign, to the aforeſaid Thomas Wroth Knight, out of our Treaſury in the Hands of " you or any of you from Time to Time being, at the aforeſaid Feaſts in the aforeſaid Letters- " patent ſpecified, during the Life of the ſame Thomas annually you pay, taking from the ſame " Thomas Wroth Knight Letters of Acquittance, or other Diſcharge which ſhall be ſufficient for " us in this Behalf."

And afterwards Payment was made according to the Effect of the Writ.

Note (Reader) after this Report was drawn out, and before I had cauſed it to be written in my Commentary, I delivered it to Saunders Chief Baron of the Exchequer in order to be peruſed and corrected by him, if in any Part I had miſtaken the true Cauſe of the Judgment, which I had upon his Relation, for the Cauſes of the Judgment were not pronounced in open Court. And he peruſed it, and conſidered it well, and put it to the other Barons his Companions, and afterwards it was delivered to me again by the Chief Baron, corrected and reformed with his own Hand in ſome little Points, and allowed by him to be a good and true Report. And at the End the Chief Baron had added with his own Hand this following Note. Nota bene by the Reporter.

" Note, that Saunders Chief Baron put the other Barons in mind of the great Aſſembly of all " the Juſtices the 28th Day of April in the firſt Year of the Reign of Queen Mary, of which " Aſſembly the ſaid Chief Baron was one, together with Hare Maſter of the Rolls, Baker Under- " treaſurer of the Exchequer, Griffin Attorney General, and Cordel then Sollicitor General, where " it was reſolved * that Patents without the Words pro nobis, hæredibus, et ſucceſſoribus noſtris, " being granted for the corporal Exerciſe of an Office or Service, are good. Which Reſolution " gave the Barons good Ground to approve of and allow the above Report, and the Cauſes of " the Judgment here written." This was added by the Chief Baron's own Hand-writing.

* Dy. 92. pl. 20. Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative J. c. 3. pl. 8. in margine. Z. d. pl. 2.

A Report of a Judgment given in the Common-Bench in Eaſter Term in the 16*th Year of the Reign of Queen* Elizabeth, upon a ſpecial Verdict given in an Ejectione firmæ brought by Thomas Eyſton Plaintiff againſt Richard Studd Defendant. And the Record was as follows.

Whiteley.

Eaſter Term 16 Eliz. Rot. 1011 Suff.

OTHERWISE, as appears in the Term of the Holy Trinity in the 15th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, Roll 106. it is contained thus, Suff. viz. Richard Studd late of Ipſwich in the County aforeſaid Cooper was attached to anſwer Thomas Eyſton of a Plea, wherefore with Force and Arms the Moiety of one Meſſuage with the Appurtenances in Ipſwich, which John Latton Gentleman to the aforeſaid Thomas demiſed for a Term which is not yet paſſed, he entered, and him from his Farm aforeſaid ejected, and other Wrongs to him did, to the great Damage of the ſaid Thomas, and againſt the Peace of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, &c. And whereupon the ſame Thomas by William Nelſon his Attorney complains, that whereas the aforeſaid John the 6th Day of May in the 14th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, at Ipſwich demiſed to the aforeſaid Thomas the aforeſaid Moiety with the Appurtenances, to have and to hold the ſame Moiety with the Appurtenances to the aforeſaid Thomas Eyſton and his Aſſigns from the 3d Day of May in the Year aboveſaid, unto the End and Term of 21 Years then next following, and fully to be compleat and ended. By Virtue of which ſaid Demiſe the ſame Thomas Eyſton was of the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances poſſeſſed, and he being ſo thereof poſſeſſed, the aforeſaid Richard, the 8th Day of May in the 14th Year aboveſaid, with Force and Arms, &c. the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, which the aforeſaid John Latton to the aforeſaid Thomas Eyſton in Form aforeſaid demiſed for a Term which is not yet paſſed, entered, and him from his Farm aforeſaid ejected, and other Wrongs, &c. to the great Damage, &c. and againſt the Peace, &c. Wherefore he ſays that he is damnified and has Damage to the Value of 20 l. and therefore he produces the Suit, &c.

Declaration. Same Precedent Raſt. Entr. 256. b pl. 14.

Not guilty. And the aforeſaid Richard by Thomas Whetcroft his Attorney comes and defends the Force and Injury when, &c. and ſays that he is not guilty of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment aforeſaid; as the aforeſaid Thomas above againſt him complains. And of this he puts himſelf upon the Country, Venire facias. and the aforeſaid Thomas likewiſe. Therefore the Sheriff is commanded that he cauſe to come here from the Day of the Holy Trinity in three Weeks, twelve, &c. by whom, &c. and who neither, &c. to recognize, &c. becauſe as well, &c. At which Day here came the Parties, &c.

Alias Venire facias. And the Sheriff hath not ſent the Writ, therefore the Sheriff is commanded as before that he cauſe to come here on the Octave of St. Michael, twelve, &c. to recognize in Form aforeſaid, &c.

The Jury continued. Afterwards the Proceſs between the Parties aforeſaid in the Plea aforeſaid being continued by the Jury thereof between them being reſpited until this Day, viz. from the Day of Eaſter in one Month then next following, and now here at this Day came as well the aforeſaid Thomas Eyſton as the aforeſaid Richard by their Attornies aforeſaid, and the Jurors thereupon impanneled being

Special Verdict. called likewiſe came: Who to ſay the Truth in the Premiſſes being choſen, tried, and ſworn, ſay upon their Oaths, that before the aforeſaid Time of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment aforeſaid above ſuppoſed to be done, one William Latton Gentleman and Margaret his Wife were ſeized of the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, among other Things, in their Demeſn as of Fee-tail, viz. to the aforeſaid Margaret and to the Heirs of her Body lawfully begotten, in Right of the aforeſaid Margaret. And they being ſo ſeized thereof, a certain Fine levied in the Court of Lord Edward the ſixth late King of England on the Octave of St. Hillary in the ſecond Year of his Reign, before Edward Mountague, Humphry Brown, and John Hinde, Juſtices of the ſaid late King, and afterwards from the Day of Eaſter in 15 Days in the 3d Year of the Reign of the ſame late King Edward the ſixth there granted and recorded before the ſame Juſtices and other faithful Men of the ſame late King then there preſent, between one Richard Alexander Complainant and the aforeſaid William Latton and Margaret Deforceants, of the aforeſaid Moiety with the Appurtenances, among other Things, whereof a Plea of Covenant was ſummoned between them in the ſame Court, viz. that the aforeſaid William and Margaret acknowledged the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, among other Things, to be the Right of the ſaid Richard, as them which the ſame Richard had of the Gift of the aforeſaid William and Margaret, and them remitted and quit-claimed from them the ſaid William and Margaret and the Heirs of the ſaid Margaret to the aforeſaid Richard and his Heirs for ever: And further they the ſame William and Margaret granted for themſelves and the Heirs of the ſaid Margaret, that they would warrant to the aforeſaid Richard and to his Heirs the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, among other Things, againſt all Men for ever. And for that Acknowledgment, Remiſe, Quit-claim, Warranty, Fine and Agreement, the aforeſaid Richard granted to the aforeſaid William and Margaret the aforeſaid Moiety with the Appurtenances, among other Things, and the ſame to them rendered in the ſame Court, to have and to hold to the ſame William and Margaret, and to the Heirs of the Bodies of the ſaid William and Margaret between them lawfully begotten, to hold of the chief Lords of the Fee by the Services which to the aforeſaid Moiety, among other Things, in Form aforeſaid granted belong for ever. And if it ſhould happen that the ſame William and Margaret ſhould die without Heirs of their Bodies between them lawfully begotten, then after the Death of the ſaid William and Margaret the aforeſaid Moiety with the Appurtenances, among other Things, ſhould wholly remain to the right Heirs of the ſaid Margaret; to hold of the chief Lords of the Fee by the Services which to the aforeſaid Moiety with the Appurtenances, among other Things, belong for ever. By virtue of which ſaid Fine in Form aforeſaid levied, the ſame William and Margaret were of the Moiety aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, among other Things, ſeized in their Demeſn as of Fee-tail, viz. to them and to the Heirs of their Bodies lawfully begotten, the Remainder thereof in Form aforeſaid belonging. And they being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame William and Margaret had Iſſue between them lawfully begotten one John Latton. And the aforeſaid William afterwards at Upton in the County of Berks died, and the aforeſaid Margaret ſurvived him, and held herſelf in the aforeſaid Moiety of the Meſſuage aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, among other Things, and was thereof ſole ſeized in her Demeſn as of Fee-tail by Right of Survivorſhip, &c. And ſhe being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame Margaret afterwards, at Rickmerſworth in the County of Hertford, took to Huſband the aforeſaid Richard Alexander, by Reaſon whereof the ſame Richard and Margaret were of the aforeſaid Moiety of the Meſſuage aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, among other Things, ſeized in their Demeſn as of Fee-tail, in Right of the aforeſaid Margaret, in Manner and Form aforeſaid. And they being ſo ſeized, by a certain Indenture bearing Date the 21ſt Day of May in the 7th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, made at London in the Pariſh Pariſh of St. Dunſtan in the Weſt in the Ward of Fleetſtreet Without, between the aforeſaid Richard Alexander and Margaret his Wife of the one Part, and one John Kettle and John Walker of the other Part, it was covenanted, concluded and agreed between the ſame Richard and Margaret and the aforeſaid John and John in Manner and Form following, that is to ſay, the ſaid Richard and Margaret covenanted and granted to and with the ſaid John Kettle and John Walker, that they the ſaid Richard and Margaret and their Heirs, before the Feaſt of All Saints then next following after the Date of the ſaid Indenture, before the Juſtices of the Lady the Queen of Common Pleas at Weſtminſter, ſhould levy a Fine with Proclamations in due Order and Form of Law, of and in all and ſingular their Manors, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Reverſions, Services, and other their Hereditaments whatſoever with the Appurtenances freely held within the County of Suffolk, whereof the aforeſaid Moiety of the Meſſuage aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in the Declaration aforeſaid above ſpecified is, and at the aforeſaid Time of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment aforeſaid above ſuppoſed to be done was, Parcel, that is to ſay, of and in the Moiety of the Manors of Piſtres, Oſmonds, Rendliſham, Ipſwich, Alverds, otherwiſe St. Peters, and Stafferton-Hall, and alſo of the Moiety of 100 Meſſuages, 30 Cottages, 20 Tofts, 800 Acres of Land, 200 Acres of Meadow, 1000 Acres of Paſture, 20 Acres of Wood, 200 Acres of Furze and Heath, 100 Acres of Marſh, and of 4 l. 6 s. Rent, with their Appurtenances in Ipſwich, Sutton, Chatteſham, Ramſholt, Helmingham, Oatley, Ayſh, Rendliſham, Eyke, Blaxale, Ufford, Bromeſwold, Lowdham, Balinghoe, Butley, Orford, Wanſden, Melton, Woodbridge, Woodbridge-haſten, Haſketon, Herkſtead, Holbrooke, Stoke near Ipſwich, Weſterfield, Raydon, Groundſborough, Delitch, Clopton, Williſham, Capell, Arwarton, Brawnford, Sprowton, Trimley, Nacton, and Stoneham, to the ſaid John Kettle and John Walker, and to the Heirs of the ſaid John Kettle for ever, only to ſuch Uſe and Uſes as in the ſame Indenture ſhall be limited, expreſſed, and declared, that is to ſay, firſt the ſaid John Kettle and John Walker and the Heirs of the ſaid John Kettle ſhould ſtand and be ſeized, and the ſaid Fine ſhould be adjudged, accepted, and deemed to be, to the proper Uſe and Behoof of the ſaid Richard and Margaret for and during the Term of their natural Lives, and of the longer Liver of them, without Impeachment of any Waſt; and after the Death of the ſaid Richard and Margaret, then to the Uſe of the ſaid Richard, his Executors and Aſſigns, for and during the Term of 60 Years then next following, and fully to be compleat, without Impeachment of Waſt: And after the End of the Term of the ſaid 60 Years, then the ſaid John Kettle and John Walker and the Heirs of the ſaid John Kettle ſhould ſtand and be ſeized, and the ſaid Fine ſhould be adjudged and accepted, of, for, and concerning all the ſaid Moiety of the ſaid Manor called Ipſwich, Alverds, otherwiſe St. Peter's, with the Appurtenances, whereof the Moiety of the aforeſaid Meſſuage with the Appurtenances was Parcel, and of all and ſingular the ſaid Meſſuages, Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments with their Appurtenances ſituate, lying, and being within the Towns, Pariſhes and Hamlets of Herkſtead, Holbrooke, Ipſwich, Stoke near Ipſwich, Weſterfield, Raydon, Groundſborough, Delitch, Clopton, Williſham, Capell, Arwarton, Brawnford, Sprowton, Trimley, Nacton, Stoneham, Oatley, and Helmingham, to the Uſe and Behoof of Paul Alexander eldeſt Son of the ſaid Richard and Margaret, and of the Heirs of the Body of the ſaid Paul lawfully begotten: And if the ſaid Paul ſhould happen to die without ſuch Iſſue of his Body, that then the ſaid John Kettle and John Walker and the Heirs of the ſaid John Kettle ſhould ſtand and be ſeized of the laſt recited Premiſſes, and the ſaid Fine thereof ſhould be adjudged and accepted to be, to the Uſe and Behoof of Henry Alexander younger Son of the ſaid Richard and Margaret, and of the Heirs of the ſaid Henry lawfully begotten: And if the ſaid Henry ſhould happen to die without ſuch Heir, then to the Uſe of Auguſtin Alexander another Son of the ſaid Richard and Margaret, and of the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten: And if the ſaid Auguſtin ſhould happen to die without ſuch Iſſue, then to the Uſe of the aforeſaid John Latton Son and Heir of the aforeſaid William Latton deceaſed of the Body of the ſaid Margaret begotten, and of the Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten: And if the ſaid John ſhould happen to die without ſuch Iſſue, then to the Uſe and Behoof of the ſaid Richard and Margaret, and of the Heirs Males of the Bodies of the ſaid Richard and Margaret lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, then to the only Uſe and Behoof of the right Heirs of the ſaid Margaret for ever. And that for all the Reſidue of all and ſingular the ſaid Manors, Lands, Tenements, Hereditaments, and Premiſſes above ſpecified, the ſaid John Kettle and John Walker, and the Heirs of the ſaid John Kettle, ſhould ſtand and be ſeized, and the ſaid Fine thereof ſhould be adjudged and accepted, after the Death of the ſaid Richard and Margaret, and after the End and Expiration of the ſaid 60 Years, to the proper Uſe and Behoof of the ſaid Auguſtin Alexander, and of the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten; and if the ſaid Auguſtin ſhould happen to die without ſuch Heir, then to the Uſe of the ſaid Henry Alexander, and of the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten; and if the ſaid Henry ſhould die without ſuch Heir, then to the Uſe of the ſaid Paul Alexander, and of the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten, and if the ſaid Paul Alexander ſhould happen to die without ſuch Iſſue, then to the Uſe of the ſaid John Latton Son and Heir of the ſaid William Latton of the Body of the ſaid Margaret begotten, and of the Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten; and if the ſaid John ſhould happen to die without ſuch Iſſue, then to the Uſe and Behoof of the ſaid Richard and Margaret, and of the Heirs Males of the Bodies of the ſaid Richard and Margaret lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, then to the only Uſe and Behoof of the right Heirs of the ſaid Margaret for ever, as by the ſame Indenture more fully appears. And afterwards in Performance, Execution, and Accompliſhment of the Covenants aforeſaid in the aforeſaid Indenture above ſpecified, a certain Fine was levied in the Court of the Lady the Queen now at Weſtminſter on the Morrow of the holy Trinity in the 7th Year of her Reign aboveſaid, before James Dyer, Anthony Brown, Richard Weſton, and John Walſh Juſtices of the ſaid Lady the Queen, and afterwards on the Octave of St. Michael then next following there granted and recorded before the ſame Juſtices and other Liegers of the ſaid Lady the Queen then there preſent, between the aforeſaid John Kettle and John Walker Complainants and the aforeſaid Richard Alexander and Margaret Deforceants, of the aforeſaid Moiety with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. among other Things, whereof a Plea of Covenant was ſummoned between them in the ſame Court, viz. that the aforeſaid Richard and Margaret acknowledged the aforeſaid Moiety with the Appurtenances to be the Right of the ſaid John Kettle, as that which the ſame John and John had of the Gift of the aforeſaid Richard and Margaret, and the ſame remitted and quit-claimed from them the ſaid Richard and Margaret and their Heirs to the aforeſaid John and John and to the Heirs of the ſaid John Kettle, for ever. And further the ſame Richard and Margaret granted for themſelves and the Heirs of the ſaid Margaret, that they would warrant to the aforeſaid John and John, and to the Heirs of the ſaid John Kettle, the aforeſaid Moieties with the Appurtenances againſt all Men for ever. Which ſaid Fine in Manner and Form aforeſaid levied by the aforeſaid Richard and Margaret of all the Premiſſes in the ſame Fine contained, was to the Uſe and Behoof and to the Uſes in the aforeſaid Indenture above recited, ſpecified and contained, and to no other Uſes or Intentions. By Reaſon whereof, and by Force of a certain Act in a Parliament of Lord Henry the Eighth late King of England holden at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex the 4th Day of February in the 27th Year of his Reign, concerning the transferring of Uſes into Poſſeſſion made and provided, the aforeſaid Richard and Margaret were ſeized of the Moieties aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. in their Demeſn as of Freehold for Term of their Lives, and of the longer Liver of them, without Impeachment of Waſt, the Remainders thereof in Form aforeſaid belonging. And the ſaid Richard and Margaret being ſo ſeized of the Moieties aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, the Remainders thereof in Form aforeſaid belonging, the ſame Richard and Margaret before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 26th Day of September in the 13th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, at Ipſwich aforeſaid, demiſed to the aforeſaid Richard Studd the aforeſaid Moiety of the Meſſuage aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, to have to him from the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel from thence next following for the Term of ſix Years from thence next following, by virtue whereof the ſame Richard Studd was thereof poſſeſſed. And he being ſo thereof poſſeſſed, the aforeſaid John Latton, ſuppoſing that the aforeſaid Richard and Margaret, by the Acknowledgment and levying of the Fine aforeſaid by them in Form aforeſaid acknowledged and levied, had forfeited their Eſtates of and in the Moieties aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. by virtue of a certain Statute made in the 11th Year of Lord Henry the ſeventh late King of England concerning the Diſcontinuance of Right and Eſtate, into the aforeſaid Moiety with the Appurtenances in the Declaration aforeſaid above ſpecified, as Son and Heir of the Bodies of the aforeſaid William and Margaret between them lawfully begotten, entered, and the ſame Moiety to the aforeſaid Thomas Eyſton in Form aforeſaid demiſed, by virtue whereof the ſame Thomas was thereof poſſeſſed, upon the Poſſeſſion of which ſaid Thomas the aforeſaid Richard Studd re-entered, and him thereout ejected. And whether the ſame levying of the Fine aforeſaid to the Uſes aforeſaid be a Cauſe of Forfeiture of the Eſtates of the ſame Richard and Margaret of and in the Moieties aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. or not, upon the whole Matter aforeſaid, the ſame Jurors are wholly ignorant, and they pray the Advice and Diſcretion of the Court here, &c. And if upon the whole Matter aforeſaid it ſhall ſeem to the Juſtices here that the aforeſaid Richard and Margaret their Eſtates of and in the Moieties aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. had forfeited, then the ſame Jurors ſay that the aforeſaid Richard Studd is guilty of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment aforeſaid, as the aforeſaid Thomas Eyſton above complains againſt him, and then they aſſeſs Damages of the ſaid Thomas by Occaſion of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment aforeſaid, beſides his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, to 26*s.* 8*d. d.* and for thoſe Coſts and Charges to 20*s.* And if upon the whole Matter aforeſaid it ſhall ſeem to the ſame Juſtices here that the aforeſaid Richard and Margaret their Eſtates therein had not forfeited, then the ſame Jurors ſay that the aforeſaid Richard Studd is not guilty of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment aforeſaid, as the aforeſaid Thomas above complains againſt him. And becauſe the Juſtices here will adviſe themſelves of and upon the Premiſſes before they give Judgment thereon, Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid here untill the Morrow of the holy Trinity to hear their Judgment thereon, becauſe the Juſtices here thereof not yet, &c.

ſhould

THE Caſe appears by the Record to be thus. Thomas Eyſton has brought a Writ of Ejectione firmæ againſt Richard Studd, for entring into and ejecting him out of one Moiety of a Meſſuage with the Appurtenances in Ipſwich the 8th Day of May in the 14th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, which one John Latton leaſed to the ſaid Thomas Eyſton the 6th Day of May in the ſame 14th Year for the Term of 21 Years next enſuing. And the Defendant pleaded not guilty. And the Jury found a ſpecial Verdict as follows, viz. that before the Ejectment William Latton and Margaret his Wife were ſeized of the ſaid Moiety of the ſaid Meſſuage with the Appurtenances in their Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of the ſaid Margaret. And they being ſo ſeized, a Fine was levied on the Octave of St. Hillary in the 2d Year of the Reign of King Edward 6. between Richard Alexander Complainant and the ſaid William Latton and Margaret his Wife Deforceants, of the ſaid Moiety, by which the ſaid William and Margaret acknowledged the ſaid Moiety to be the Right of the ſaid Richard Alexander, as that which he had of their Gift, with Warranty of them and the Heirs of the ſaid Margaret againſt all Men. And the ſaid Richard Alexander granted and rendered the ſaid Moiety to the ſaid William Latton and Margaret his Wife, and to the Heirs of their Bodies begotten, the Remainder to the right Heirs of the ſaid Margaret, whereby they were ſeized in Tail, with the Remainder over to the right Heirs of the ſaid Margaret. And they being ſo ſeized had Iſſue John Latton, and William Latton died, and his Wife held herſelf in, and afterwards took to Huſband the ſaid Richard Alexander, whereby they were ſeized in Fee-Tail in Right of the ſaid Margaret in Form aforeſaid. And they being ſo ſeized, by a Fine levied on the Morrow of the Holy Trinity in the 7th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen they acknowledged the ſaid Moiety to be the Right of one John Kettle, as that which the ſaid John Kettle and one John Walker had of the Gift of the ſaid Richard Alexander and Margaret, with Warranty of them and of the Heirs of the ſaid Margaret. Which Fine was to the Uſe of the ſaid Richard Alexander and Margaret for Term of their two Lives, without Impeachment of Waſt, and after their Deaths, to the Uſe of the Executors and Aſſigns of the ſaid Richard for the Term of 60 Years, without Impeachment of Waſt, and after the Expiration of thoſe 60 Years, to the Uſe of Paul Alexander, Son of the ſaid Richard Alexander and Margaret, in Tail, the Remainder in Tail to another Son, the Remainder in Tail to a third Son, the Remainder to the right Heirs of the ſaid Margaret in Fee. By Reaſon whereof, and by Force of the Statute of 27 H. 8. of Uſes, the ſaid Richard Alexander and Margaret were ſeized of the ſaid Moiety in their Demeſn as of Freehold for Term of their Lives, the Remainders over in Manner and Form aforeſaid. And they, being ſo ſeized, the 26th Day of September in the 13th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, leaſed the ſaid Moiety to the ſaid Richard Studd, to have and to hold from the Feaſt of St. Michael then next following unto the End of 6 Years from thence next enſuing, by Reaſon whereof the ſaid Richard was poſſeſſed of the ſaid Moiety. And he being ſo poſſeſſed, the ſaid John Latton, ſuppoſing that the ſaid Richard Alexander and Margaret, by the ſaid Fine by them levied in Manner and Form aforeſaid, had forfeited their Eſtate in the ſaid Moiety, by Force of the Statute made in the 11th Year of the Reign of King Henry 7. entered into the ſaid Moiety, as Son and Heir of the Body of the ſaid William Latton and the ſaid Margaret between them begotten, and the ſame Moiety demiſed to the ſaid Thomas Eyſton in Manner and Form aforeſaid; by Reaſon whereof the ſaid Thomas Eyſton was poſſeſſed, upon whoſe Poſſeſſion the ſaid Richard Studd re-entered and ejected him. And whether or no, upon the whole Matter aforeſaid, the ſaid Fine levied to the Uſes aforeſaid be a Cauſe of Forfeiture of the Eſtate of the ſaid Richard Alexander and Margaret, the ſaid Jurors ſaid that they did not know, and thereof they prayed the Advice and Diſcretion of the Court. And if upon the whole Matter aforeſaid it ſhould appear to the Court that the ſaid Richard Alexander and Margaret have forfeited their Eſtate in the ſaid Moiety, then the Jurors ſaid that the ſaid Richard Studd was guilty, and then they aſſeſſed Damages: And if the Court ſhould adjudge otherwiſe, then they ſaid that the Defendant was not guilty.

The CASE. Huſband and Wife ſeized in Fee in Right of the Wife levy a Fine comeceo, &c. and the Conuſee grants and renders the Land back again to the Huſband and Wife in ſpecial Tail, Remainder to the right Heirs of the Wife, they have Iſſue a Son; and the Huſband dies, and the Wife takes a ſecond Huſband, and they two levy a Fine in Fee to a Stranger, and take back, &c. and then the Son of the firſt Marriage enters as for a Forfeiture by the Statute of 11 H. 7. cap. 20. and adjudged that his Entry is not lawful, and that it is no Forfeiture within that Statute; for in this Caſe the Eſtate of the Land originally moved from the Wife, and the Jointure was made by the Wife to the Huſband, and not by the Huſband to the Wife, and therefore to reſtrain her from diſpoſing of her own Inheritance after his Death would be contrary to Reaſon, and is quite foreign to the Intent of the Act, and tho' it be the Purchaſe of the firſt Huſband by the firſt Fine within the Letter of the Act, yet not being within the Purview, it ſhall not be taken within the Meaning of the Act. S. C. Kelw. 214. pl. 25. N. Bendl. 238. pl. 266. Co. Litt. 366. a. 2 Danv. Abr. 579. 2 Bac. Abr. 92. Vin. Abr. tit. Jointure J. pl. 4. See S. P. Dy. 354. pl. 34 Per Plowden. 4 Leon. 90. 3 Mod. 33. Vide Cro. E. 2. pl. 4.

And this Matter was debated at the Bar, but I was not preſent, and therefore what I here report is upon the credible Relation of others. And it was held by the Counſel for the Plaintiff that the Eſtate of the ſaid Alexander and his Wife was forfeited by the Act of 11 H. 7. cap. 20. and that the Eſtate-Tail of William Latton and Margaret his Wife, which was taken from Alexander by the firſt Fine, was and ought to be conſidered as the Purchaſe of the Huſband. For although before the firſt Fine William Latton and his Wife were ſeized in Fee-ſimple in Right of the Wife, ſo that it ſhall be adjudged the Land of the Wife, and not the Purchaſe of the Huſband, yet when they acknowledged the Land to be the Right of Richard Alexander the Conuſee in the Fine, thereby the Land was out of the Wife, and it became the Land of the Conuſee, and he was the Purchaſer of it, and it was his own to all Intents, ſo that it ſhould be ſubject to ſuch Statutes-Merchant or Staple or to ſuch Recognizances as he had before made, and to all other Purpoſes it ſhould be adjudged the Land of the Conuſee, and the Eſtate which the Wife had before was gone out of her, and veſted in the Purchaſer, viz. the Conuſee. And when the Conuſee granted and rendered the Land, which was abſolutely his own, to the Huſband and Wife in Tail, now this is a joint Eſtate in them by Purchaſe. And whoſe Purchaſe is it? Sir, it is the Purchaſe of the Huſband. But perhaps it will be objected that it is the Purchaſe of the Wife as well as of the Huſband, moſt certainly it is ſo, for it is the Purchaſe of them both, but nevertheleſs it is the Purchaſe of the Huſband, for that which is the Purchaſe of the Huſband and Wife may be called the Purchaſe of the Huſband. And ſuch Purchaſe is intended by the Act, for the Act ſays, if any Woman, who has any Eſtate in Tail jointly with her Huſband in any Land of the Purchaſe or Inheritance of her Huſband, diſcontinues, &c. So that the Act calls the joint Eſtate, which the Huſband and Wife have in Tail, the Purchaſe of the Huſband, for the Words, (of the Purchaſe of the Huſband) are not to be intended of Land which he had purchaſed before the Jointure made, for the Word (Inheritance) may contain it, (for, as Littleton ſays, [a] the Land purchaſed by the Huſband may be called the Inheritance of the Huſband, as well as the Land which he has by Deſcent) and becauſe ſuch Purchaſe is included in the Word (Inheritance), and the Act is in the Disjunctive, viz. the Inheritance or Purchaſe, the Purchaſe here ſhall be intended that which firſt veſted in the Huſband and Wife, and was not in the Huſband before. And ſo it muſt of Neceſſity be taken, for a joint Eſtate which the Huſband and Wife have in Tail cannot come to them by Deſcent, but only by Acquiſition, and every Acquiſition whatſoever may be termed a Purchaſe. So here the Eſtate-Tail which Richard Alexander gave to the Huſband and Wife is an Eſtate by Purchaſe, and the Purchaſe of the Huſband, as if a Stranger for Money given to him by the Huſband gives Land to Huſband and Wife in Tail, this ſhall be ſaid a joint Eſtate-Tail in them in the Land of the Purchaſe of the Huſband, and ſhall be within the Danger of the Statute. So is it here. And this Act, which was made to preſerve the Right to the Heirs of the Huſband, ſhall be conſtrued moſt favourably and beneficially for the Heir, and moſt ſtrongly againſt the Women, as appears by the Caſe of [b] Wimbiſh v. Tailbois, where the Huſband made a Feoffment to the Uſe of himſelf and of his Wife in Tail, and died, having Iſſue by the Wife, and the Wife ſurviving him took another Huſband, and they ſuffered a feint Recovery, and there it was the clear Opinion of the Court that the Iſſue ſhould enter, and yet the Jointure of the Wife was not fully within the expreſs Letter of the Act, for the Wife had no joint Eſtate-Tail with her Huſband in any Land which was the Inheritance or Purchaſe of her Huſband, but the Huſband had an Eſtate-Tail jointly with his Wife in Uſe, which aroſe out of Land which was once the Inheritance of her Huſband. So that there the Judges extended the Words of the Act, and took the Intent of the Makers of the Act moſt ſtrongly in both the ſaid Caſes againſt the Women and their Eſtates, and moſt favourably for the Preſervation of the Eſtate of the Heirs of their Huſbands. And ſo here the Words of the Act ſhall be taken moſt ſtrongly againſt the Wife, and in Reſtraint of her Liberty. So that the Eſtate-tail here taken by the Render ſhall be called a joint Eſtate-Tail in the Land of the Purchaſe of the Huſband, and therefore the ſecond Fine levied by the Wife and her ſecond Huſband ſhall be adjudged a Forfeiture of their Eſtate by the Act, ſo that it ſhall be lawful for John Latton the Leſſor, being Heir in Tail to the ſaid William Latton and Margaret his Wife, to enter and ouſt the Wife and her ſecond Huſband, from whence it follows that his Leaſe is lawful, and the Entry and Ejectment of the Defendant is unlawful, for which Reaſon Judgment ought to be given for the Plaintiff.

For the Plaintiff.

[a] Litt. § 9. See Ante 47, 53.

[b] Ante 42.

E contra for the Defendant.

But the Counſel for the Defendant and the whole Court were of Opinion to the contrary. For they took it that the [c] Intent of Statutes is more to be regarded and purſued than the preciſe Letter of them, for oftentimes Things, which are within the Words of Statutes, are out of the Purview of them, which Purview extends no further than the Intent of the Makers of the Act, and the beſt Way to conſtrue an Act of Parliament is according to the Intent rather than according to the Words. And the Intent of the Statute of 11 H. 7. was to reſtrain Women, who had Jointures which proceeded originally from their Huſbands or from the Anceſtors of their Huſbands, from diſinheriting or doing other Injury to the Heirs of their Huſbands. But in the principal Caſe there was no Jointure made to the Wife by William Latton, or by any of his Anceſtors, of any of their Land, but on the contrary the Wife here has made a Jointure to her Huſband of the Land of the Wife which was her Inheritance, and to this Purpoſe William Latton and his Wife levied the Fine to Richard Alexander, who granted and rendered the Land back again to them in Tail, with the Remainder in Fee to the Wife, ſo that the Foundation of this Matter originally proceeded from the Wife, and it was to make a Jointure to her Huſband, and to advance him, and not to be advanced by him. And then to bar her, after the Death of her Huſband, from diſpoſing of her Inheritance, would be contrary to all Reaſon, and it has no Affinity nor Connection with the Matter or Intent of the Statute of 11 H. 7. Wherefore a Man ought not to reſt upon the Letter of an Act, nor think that when he has the Letter on his Side, he has the Law on his Side in all Caſes. [d] For if a Woman is ſeized of Land in Fee-ſimple, and ſhe intends to marry, and before the Marriage ſhe infeoffs the Father of him whom ſhe intends to marry, to the Intent that after the Marriage he ſhall give the Land back again to her and to him whom ſhe intends to marry, with Remainder over in Tail, and afterwards they intermarry, and then the Father gives the Land to his ſaid Son and to his Wife according to the Intent, and they have Iſſue, and the Huſband dies, and ſhe levies a Fine to other Uſes, now the Wife is within the Words of the Statute of 11 H. 7. for the Land was given to her and to her Huſband in Tail by the Anceſtor of the Huſband, and after the Death of the Huſband ſhe has levied a Fine to bar the Iſſue, but notwithſtanding that ſhe is within the Words of the Act, yet ſhe is out of the Intent of the Act, and therefore the Iſſue ſhall not enter; for the Eſtate-Tail was made by the Wife by Circumſtance, and is derived from her, and the Father of the Huſband had the Land to no other Intent but to make the Eſtate, and to that End and Purpoſe he was made made Uſe of as an Inſtrument, ſo that the Effect of the whole Matter was to make a Jointure to the Huſband out of the Land of the Wife, which although within the Letter of the Act of 11 H. 7. yet it is out of the Intent of it, and conſequently out of the Purview. And ſo ſhall it alſo be in the principal Caſe. Wherefore the Court awarded that the Plaintiff ſhould take nothing by his Writ. Which Judgment was as follows.

[c] See Ante 205 (g) and the Books there cited.

[d] S. P. Moor 508. Palm. 215. Vin. Abr. tit. Jointure J. pl. 4. in Margine. See Pig. on Recov. 79, 80.

At which Day here came as well the aforeſaid Thomas Eyſton as the aforeſaid Richard Studd by their Attornies aforeſaid. Whereupon the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Juſtices here more fully underſtood, it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Thomas Eyſton take nothing by his Writ aforeſaid, but be in Mercy for his falſe Claim therein, and that the aforeſaid Richard Studd go thereof without Day, &c. The reſt of the Record. Judgment.

From this Judgment and the Cauſe of it the Reader may obſerve [a] that it is not the Words of the Law but the internal Senſe of it that makes the Law, and our Law (like all others) conſiſts of two Parts, viz. of Body and Soul, the Letter of the Law is the Body of the Law, and the Senſe and Reaſon of the Law is the Soul of the Law, quiâ ratio legis eſt anima legis. And the Law may be reſembled to a Nut, which has a Shell and a Kernel within, the Letter of the Law repreſents the Shell, and the Senſe of it the Kernel, and as you will be no better for the Nut if you make Uſe only of the Shell, ſo you will receive no Benefit by the Law, if you rely only upon the Letter, and as the Fruit and Profit of the Nut lies in the Kernel, and not in the Shell, ſo the Fruit and Profit of the Law conſiſts in the Senſe more than in the Letter. And it often happens that when you know the Letter, you know not the Senſe, for ſometimes the Senſe is more confined and contracted than the Letter, and ſometimes it is more large and extenſive. And Equity, which in Latin is called Equitas, enlarges or diminiſhes the Letter according to its Diſcretion, which Equity is in two Ways: [b] The one Ariſtotle defines thus, (which is touched by Catline Chief-Juſtice in Stowell's Caſe) Equitas eſt correctio legis generatim latæ quâ parte deficit, or as the Paſſage is explained by Perionius, Equitas eſt correctio quædam legi adhibita, quia ab ea abeſt aliquid propter generalem ſine exceptione comprehenſionem, both which Definitions come to one and the ſame Thing. And this Correction of the general Words is much uſed in the Law of England; [c] as when an Act of Parliament ordains that whoever does ſuch an Act ſhall be a Felon, and ſhall ſuffer Death, yet if a Man of unſound Mind, or an Infant of tender Age who has no Diſcretion, does the Act, they ſhall not be Felons, nor ſhall they be put to Death. [d] And if a Statute be made that all Perſons who ſhall receive or give Meat or Drink or other Aid to him that ſhall do ſuch an Act (knowing the ſame to be done) ſhall be Acceſſaries to the Offence, and ſhall be put to Death, yet if a Man commits the Act, and comes to his own Wife, who knowing the ſame receives him, and gives him Meat and Drink, ſhe ſhall not be Acceſſary to his Offence, nor a Felon, for one that is of unſound Mind, an Infant, or a Wife, were not intended to be included in the general Words of the Law. So that in theſe Caſes the general Words of the Law are corrected and abridged by Equity. So the Statute [e] of Champerty prohibits Men generally from receiving Lands or Tenements whilſt the Thing is in Plea, [f] yet in M. 19 R. 2. it was ſaid by the whole Court in a Writ of Champerty, that if a Man bargains Land before a Writ brought againſt him, and after the Writ purchaſed he delivers Seizin, the Writ of Champerty does not lie, becauſe it ſhall not be intended that the Bargain was made for ſuch Purpoſe; and therefore although it is within the Words of the Act, it is out of the Purview of the Act, and that by Equity, which is called by ſome [g] Epichaia, which often puts an Exception to the Generality of the Text for ſome reaſonable Cauſe, as that was in the Caſe laſt mentioned, for when he had bargained and promiſed the Land for a juſt Conſideration before the Action brought againſt him, it was his Duty to perform it notwithſtanding the Action. And the Statute of 23 H. 6. cap. 10. which was made to prevent Extortion in Sheriffs, Goalers, and their Miniſters, ordains that none of them by Colour of their Office ſhall take any Thing, Profit, or Reward of any Perſon for a Fine, Fee, or Eaſe of the Perſon, except for the Sheriff 20d. the Bailiff who makes the Arreſt 4 d. and the Goaler (if the Priſoner be committed to his Cuſtody) 4 d. [h] And in 21 H. 7. Coſt the King's Promoter ſued an Action of Extortion grounded upon this Statute, againſt an Under-Sheriff, ſuppoſing that he had taken 20d. above the Sum limited by the Statute, of one who was in his Cuſtody; and on Demurrer upon Evidence it appeared to the Court that all Under-Sheriffs of the ſame County had uſed from Time immemorial to have of every Priſoner in their Cuſtody upon Suſpicion of Felony, when they were acquitted, 20d. called a Bar-fee, and that the 20d. ſuppoſed to be taken was taken of the Perſon named in the Count, being acquitted of Felony, as a Bar-fee; and there it was ſaid that notwithſtanding the Party was acquitted, yet he remained a Priſoner, for the Judgment is, that the Court diſcharges him, paying his Fees, and therefore he is a Priſoner until he has paid his Fees, and the ſaid Statute takes away all Preſcription for any other Fees than thoſe which are limited in the ſame Statute, ſo that this taking of the 20d. is within the Words of the Act, and conſequently the Under-Sheriff ought to have the Puniſhment inflicted by the Act: But the whole Court was of Opinion to the contrary, for they ſaid that this Caſe was out of the Statute, notwithſtanding it was within the Words of the Statute, for this Sum for a Bar-fee was originally granted to the Sheriff by the Order and Diſcretion of the Court, in reſpect of the Labour and Charge he had undergone about the Priſoners, and of the Attendance of himſelf and his Officers upon them when they were brought to their Delivery, ſo that the Payment of this Fee ſtands with Reaſon and good Conſcience, and it was not the Intent of the Makers of the Act to take it away. From which Caſe it appears that Equity or Epichaia puts an Exception to the Generality of the Text of the Statute Law. And the Statute of Weſtminſter 1 cap. 4. touching Wreck of the Sea, ordains "that where a Man, Dog, or Cat eſcape "alive out of the Ship, ſuch Ship or any Thing within it ſhall not be adjudged Wreck, but the Goods ſhall "be ſaved and kept by View of the Sheriff, Coroner, or King's Bailiff, and delivered into the Hands of

Nota bene by the Reporter.

[a] Hardr. 208. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 176. a. b. Ante 82 (d) per Saunders. 363(a). Poſt 467 (f).

[b] Ariſt. Ethic. lib. 5. cap. 10. 2 Brownl. 306. 1 Finch 40. 2 Finch 56. 4 Bac. Abr. 649. Ante 375 (a).

[c] See Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 174. b. Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 16.

[d] Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 176. a. 4 Bac. Abr. 649. See Ante 19 (f) and (g)

[e] Stat. Weſtm. 2. cap. 49. Artic. ſup. Chart. cap. 11.

[f] M. 19. R. 2. Fitz. Champerty 15. H. 9. H. 7. 18. pl. 12. Bro. Champerty 9. F. N. B. 172. d. O. Bendl. 101. 2 Inſt. 563.

[g] Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 16.

[h] H. 21. H. 7. 16, 17. Bro. Fees del Court 6.

" such as are of the Town where the Goods were found, so that if any sues for the Goods, and can prove " that they were his within a Year and a Day, they shall be restored to him without Delay, and if not, " they shall remain to the King, and shall be seized by the Sheriffs, Coroners, &c. and be delivered to " them of the Town, who shall answer before the Justices for the Wreck which belongs to the King, and " where Wreck belongs to another than to the King, he shall have it in like Manner, and he that does " otherwise, and thereof is attainted, shall be awarded to Prison, and make Fine at the King's Will,
[a] 2 Inst. 168. 1 Freem. 185. 3 Keb. 381. " and shall yield Damages also:" Now put the Case that the Goods in such Ship are fresh Victuals, as Flesh, fresh Fish, or Apples, or Oranges, or such perishable Goods as cannot be kept for a Year, and the Sheriff sells them, and delivers the Money arising from the Sale of them to the Town to answer for it, in this Case he has broken the Words of the Act, and therefore if we should adjudge according to the Words, the Sheriff should be sent to Prison, and be fined at the Will of the King, and should pay Damages; but on the other Hand if we follow the Sense and Meaning of the Act, he has done well, and shall not be punished, for the Meaning of the Act is, that such Things as could be kept for a Year without Spoil or Damage should be kept so long, but if the Things are so perishable that they cannot be preserved a whole Year, nor perhaps two Days, then it was not the Intent of the Makers of the Act that the Sheriff should let them fall to Decay, but rather that he should immediately make the most of them he could: So that although the Sheriff has done contrary to the Words of the Law by selling the Goods within a Year, yet he has not broken the Law, but has punctually observed it, inasmuch as he has observed the Intent and Meaning of the Makers of the Law. And I greatly commend the Opinion and Discretion of
[b] T. 44. Ed. 3. 21. pl. 24. Fitz. Charge 7. Bro. 4. Tail. 6. Ante 436 (c). the Judges in [b] Octavian Lumbard's Case in 44 Ed. 3. where the said Octavian sued a Replevin against one John, who had taken his Cattle by Way of Distress for Rent of 20l. granted to him by one Nicholas, who was surmised to be Tenant in Tail at the Time of the Grant, and was dead, and the Wife of Octavian was his Sister and Heir in Tail, and wanted to avoid the Rent granted by her Brother Tenant in Tail, as is aforesaid, and the Case was that John, to whom the Rent was granted, having an indefeasible Right to the Land, and having put the Inheritance in Dispute, an Agreement was afterwards made between John and Nicholas, that John should release his Right to Nicholas, and that Nicholas for that Release should grant to him an annual Rent of 20l. to be taken of the same Tenements with Distress, which was accordingly done, and for this Rent in Arrear John avowed, and there it was the Opinion of the whole Court, that although Nicholas, who charged the Land with the said Rent, had only an Estate-Tail in it at that Time, whereupon John who was the right Heir might have entered, yet the Rent being granted by the said Agreement in Consideration of a Release of the other's Right, it was for the Benefit of the Issue in Tail, and therefore the Rent charge should be levied against the Issue, and against every other Man: So that although the Statute de donis conditionalibus was made to restrain the Power of Tenant in Tail as to Alienations or other Charges, and ordains " that the Will of the Giver " from henceforth shall be observed, so that they to whom the Land was so given upon Condition shall " not have Power to alien the Land so given, but that after their Death it shall remain to the Issue of " them to whom the Land was so given, or shall revert to the Giver or to his Heir, if Issue fail, &c." and although by the Intent of these Words Charges and other Acts of the Tenant in Tail are restrained as well as Alienations of the Land itself, yet in that Case the Judges took it that it was not the Intent of the Makers of the Act to restrain the Tenant in Tail, because the Act which he did was for the Benefit of the Estate-tail, for whereas it was defeasible before, now by Means of the Grant of the Rent it became defeasible. From whence it appears that Acts which injure the Estate-Tail are restrained by the Statute, but not Acts which tend to the Benefit or Advantage of the Estate, as Equity or Epichaia shews
[c] Palm. 125. us. [c] And the Act of 1 Edw. 6. cap. 14. which gives Chauntries and Colleges to the King, gives also to him all Lands and Tenements by any Assurance, Conveyance, or otherwise given, assigned, or limited for the finding of any Priest to have Continuance for ever, or with which any Priest hath been found within five Years before the Act, now if the Act be taken according to the Generality of the Letter, it gives to the King all the Houses and Glebe-lands of all Parsons and Vicars, and all their Parsonages and Vicarages, which was not the Intent of the Makers of the Act, and therefore Equity or Epichaia makes an Exception of Parsonages and Vicarages from the general Words of the Text, which Exception is as strong as if it had been expresly put in the Act; so that the Sages of our Law, who have had the Exposition of our Acts of Parliament, have in these and many other Cases almost infinite restrained the Generality of the Letter of the Law by Equity, which seems to be a necessary [d] Ingredient in the Exposition of all Laws. For (as Aristotle says) cum de toto genere lex dicit, atque aliquid iis in rebus contra generalem legis comprehensionem exiſtit, tum percommodè accidit ut quâ parte scriptor legis aliquid prætermiserit ac peccaverit omnino, ac semel locutus, id quod prætermissum sit corrigatur, quod etiam legislator, si adesset, admoneret, etiamsi jam legem tulisset. And Experience shews us that no
[d] Hardr. 208. [e] Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 16. fo. 48. Law-makers can [e] foresee all things which may happen, and therefore it is fit that if there is any Defect in the Law, it should be reformed by Equity, which is no Part of the Law, but a [f] moral Virtue which corrects the Law. Nam dirigens et directum sunt diversa, et sic Equitas sive Epichaia non jus legitimum est, sed juris legitimi emendatio, et Justitiæ directio. And Geraldus a Odo, who wrote a Commentary upon Aristotle, puts this Case: [g] Lex est in quadam civitate quòd peregrini muros civitatis ascendentes capite puniantur, contingit autem quòd peregrini innocenter transeuntes per illam civitatem audiverunt clamorem quòd hostes contra civitatem repente irruerunt, qui peregrini promptiores quam cives muros ascenderunt, et urbem defendentes salvaverunt; nunc ergo quid juris? utrum mori debeant sicut lex dicit? respondit Epichaia quòd non, quia contra jus naturale est reddere malum pro bono, nec legislator, si præsens fuisset, reos dixisset. From whence the Reader may observe how convenient a Thing this Equity is, and the wise Judges of our Law deserve great Commendation for having made Uſe of it where the Words of the Law are rigorous, for thereby they have ſoftened the Severity of the Text, and have made the Law tolerable.
[f] 1 Finch 40. 2 Finch 56. Preced. Cha. 244.
[g] See this Case put with some little Variation Ante 18 (e). Like Case Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 16. fo. 49.

[a] The other Kind of Equity differs much from the former, and is in a Manner of a quite contrary Effect, and may well be thus defined, Equitas eſt verborum legis directio efficacius, cum una res ſolummodò legis cavetur verbis, ut omnis alia in æquali genere eiſdem caveatur verbis. And this Definition ſeems agreeable to that of Bracton, which is thus, [b] Equitas eſt rerum convenientia quæ in paribus cauſis paria deſiderat jura, et omnia bene coæquiparet, et dicitur equitas quaſi æqualitas. So that when the Words of a Statute enact one Thing, they enact all other Things which are in the like Degree. [c] As the Statute which ordains that in an Action of Debt againſt Executors he who comes firſt by Diſtreſs ſhall anſwer, is extended by Equity to Adminiſtrators, and ſuch of them as comes firſt by Diſtreſs ſhall anſwer by the Equity of the ſaid Statute, quia ſunt in æquali genere. And the Act of 4 H. 4. cap. 8. gives a ſpecial Aſſize to him who is diſſeized and ouſted of his Land by Force againſt the Diſſeizor, and enacts that he ſhall recover againſt him double Damages; and in the Book of Entries [d] ſo. 406. it appears that the Plaintiff recovered by Judgment double Damages in an Aſſize of Nuſance for turning a Water-courſe with Force, to the Nuſance of his Mills, wherein it was found for the Plaintiff, and yet there he was not ouſted of his Land, nor did he ſuffer any Diſſeizin, but only a Nuſance to the Damage of his Freehold, viz. of his Mills, whereof he continued ſeized: So that by the Equity of the ſaid Statute the Plaintiff recovered his double Damages for the Nuſance, becauſe it is in like Degree with a Diſſeizin of Land. [e] And the Statute of Glouceſter gives an Action of Waſt and the Puniſhment therein againſt him that holds for Life or for Years, and by the Equity thereof a Man ſhall have an Action of Waſt againſt him who holds but for a Year, or for 20 Weeks, and yet this is out of the Words of the Act, for he that holds but for one Year does not hold for Years, but it is within the Intent of the Act, and the Words which enact the one do by Equity enact the other. And ſo there are an infinite Number of Caſes in our Law which are in equal Degree with others provided for by Statutes, and are taken by Equity within the Meaning of thoſe Statutes. And from hence it appears that there is a great Diverſity between theſe two Equities, for the one abridges the Letter, the other enlarges it, the one diminiſhes it, the other amplifies it, the one takes from the Letter, the other adds to it. So that a Man ought not to reſt upon the Letter only, nam qui hæret in litera, hæret in cortice, but he ought to rely upon the Senſe, which is temperated and guided by Equity, and therein he reaps the Fruit of the Law, for as a Nut conſiſts of a Shell and a Kernel, ſo every Statute conſiſts [f] of the Letter and the Senſe, and as the Kernel is the Fruit of the Nut, ſo the Senſe is the Fruit of the Statute. [g] And in order to form a right Judgment when the Letter of a Statute is reſtrained, and when enlarged, by Equity, it is a good Way, when you peruſe a Statute, to ſuppoſe that the Law-maker is preſent, and that you have aſked him the Queſtion you want to know touching the Equity, then you muſt give yourſelf ſuch an Anſwer as you imagine he would have done, if he had been preſent. As for Example, in the Caſe before mentioned where the Strangers ſcale the Walls, and defend the City, ſuppoſe the Law-maker to be preſent with you, and in your own Mind put this Queſtion to him, ſhall the Strangers be put to Death? then give yourſelf the ſame Anſwer which you imagine he, being an upright and reaſonable Man, would have given, and you will find that he would have ſaid, "they ſhall not be put to Death." So in the Caſe of the Glebe-lands of Parſons, if the Law-makers had been aſked whether they intended that the King ſhould have all Parſonages and Vicarages, and their Glebe lands, they would certainly have ſaid, "God forbid." And ſo if the Queſtion had been put to them in the other Caſe, whether one of the Adminiſtrators ſhould anſwer at the grand Diſtreſs, they would have anſwered, "Yes, for in this Reſpect they are to be looked upon as Executors." And therefore when ſuch Caſes happen which are within the Letter, or out of the Letter, of a Statute, and yet don't directly fall within the plain and natural Purport of the Letter, but are in ſome Meaſure to be conceived in a different Idea from that which the Text ſeems to expreſs, it is a good Way to put Queſtions and give Anſwers to yourſelf thereupon, in the ſame Manner as if you were actually converſing with the Maker of ſuch Laws, and by this Means you will eaſily find out what is the Equity in thoſe Caſes. And if the Law-maker would have followed the Equity, notwithſtanding the Words of the Law, (as Ariſtotle ſays he would, for he ſays, quod etiam legiſlator, ſi adeſſet, admoneret, etiamſi jam legem tuliſſet) you may ſafely do the like, for while you do no more than the Law-maker would have done, you do not act contrary to the Law, but in Conformity to it. And ſo the Judges did in the principal Caſe here by following Epichaia. And where the Statute of 37 H. 8. cap. 8. took away Clergy from him that ſtole any Horſe, and the Statute of 1 Edw. 6. cap. 12. enacted that thoſe who were attainted of ſtealing Horſes ſhould not have their Clergy, but that in all other Caſes of Felony Perſons attainted ſhould have their Clergy, I by no Means commend the Scrupuloſity of the Judges in thoſe Times, who took the Law to be thereupon, [h] that he who ſtole one Horſe only ſhould have his Clergy, and therefore procured the Act of 2 Edw. 6. cap. 33. to be made, which ouſted him of his Clergy who ſtole one Horſe only, for where the Statute ſpeaks of ſtealing Horſes, altho' it ſpeaks in the plural Number, yet by Equity (which conſiders the Intent of the Legiſlature) it ought alſo to comprehend one ſingular Horſe only, and that as fully as if it had ſaid (Horſes or Horſe) and the Clauſe in the Act, which ſays that in all other Caſes of Felony Perſons attainted thereof ſhall have their Clergy, is to be interpreted and intended of others than thoſe who ſteal Horſes or a Horſe; for as the Statute of Glouceſter, which gives an Action of Waſt againſt him that holds for Years, in the plural Number, may be taken to comprehend him who holds but for one Year, ſo may the ſaid Statute which ſpeaks of Horſes in the plural Number, be interpreted to comprehend one Horſe in the ſingular Number. And

[a] Co. Litt. 24. b. 4 Bac. Abr. 649.

[b] Bract. fo. 3. a. § 5. Co. Litt. 24. b. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 176. b. 2 Brownl. 306.

[c] Stat. 9 Ed. 3. cap. 3. See the Books cited Ante 36 (h) 178 (h).

[d] Raſt. Entr. laſt. Edit. 442. a.

[e] Stat. Glouceſter cap. 5. See Ante 178 (a), and the Books there cited.

[f] See Ante 465 (a). and the Books there cited.

[g] Hardr. 208. 3 Keb. 381. 4 Bac. Abr. 649.

[h] See 2 H. H. P. C. 365. 2 Hawk. P. C. 345. § 39.

if it be ſaid that the Law is penal in this Caſe, to this it may be anſwered that ſo it is alſo in the other Caſe, but Equity knows no Difference * between penal Laws and others, for the Intent, (which is the only Thing regarded by Equity, as may appear to every one who purſues the Method of Enquiry by Way of Queſtion and Anſwer in the Manner before intimated) ought to be followed and taken for Law, as well in penal Laws as in others. And this King of Learning is largely treated of in the Caſe of Stradling v. Morgan before reported, where the Reader will find much Matter upon this Head. And my Advice to the Student is, that when he conceives any Doubt upon a Statute, he will have theſe two Equities ready in his Mind, and purſue the Inſtructions before given, and he will perceive great Light and Aſſiſtance from them, as I have done heretofore.

* Hardr. 208. Ante 46 (l). per Whiddon.

† Ante 201. &c.

A Report of a Judgment given in the King's Bench in Hillary Term in the ſeventeenth Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, in a Bill of Attachment upon a Prohibition ſued by William Soby for himſelf and the Queen againſt John Molins Parſon of the Church of Thaidon-Garnon in the County of Eſſex, for ſuing him in Court-chriſtian for the Tithes of the Branches above 20 Years old growing upon great Trees called Horn-beams of the Age of 20 Years and more. And the Record was entered in Hillary Term 16 Elizabeth, Rot. 354. and was as follows.

Eſſex. Declaration. Same Precedent Raſt. Entr. 489. b. 490.

BE it remembered that otherwiſe, viz, in the Term of St. Michael in the 14th and 15th Years of the Reign of the Lady Elizabeth now Queen of England, before the ſame Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came William Soby of Thaidon-Garnon otherwiſe Garniſh in the County of Eſſex, who as well for the Lady the Queen as for himſelf proſecutes, by Richard Beſt his Attorney, and brought here into the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen then there his certain Bill againſt John Molins, Rector of the Parochial-church of Thaidon-Garnon otherwiſe Garniſh aforeſaid, in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal, &c. of a Plea of Treſpaſs and Contempt againſt thoſe who proſecute in the Court Chriſtian contrary to the royal Prohibition to the contrary thereof to them firſt directed and delivered. And there are Pledges of proſecuting, viz. John Doe and Richard Roe. Which ſaid Bill follows in theſe Words, viz. Eſſex, viz. William Soby of Thaidon-Garnon otherwiſe Garniſh in the County of Eſſex, who proſecutes as well for the Lady the Queen as for himſelf, complains of John Molins, Rector of the Parochial-church of Thaidon-Garnon otherwiſe Garniſh aforeſaid, in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal of the Marſhalſea of the Lady the Queen before the Queen herſelf, for this, to wit, whereas in a Statute made in a Parliament of Lord Edward late King of England the third from the Conqueſt in the 45th Year of his Reign held, among other Things it was ordained that Tithes ſhall not be given of great Trees of the Growth of 20 Years and more, nevertheleſs the aforeſaid John, not ignorant of the Premiſſes, but contriving him the aforeſaid William, contrary to the due Form of the Law of the Realm of England, and contrary to the Tenor and Effect of the Statute aforeſaid, unduly to aggrieve, oppreſs, and fatigue, him the ſaid William in the Court-Chriſtian, before the reverend and excellent Man John Hammond Doctor of Laws, of the Conſiſtory Court of the Biſhop of London Official lawfully conſtituted, the 20th Day of April in the 14th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, at Thaidon Garnon otherwiſe Garniſh aforeſaid, of and for the withdrawing of Tithes of the Branches called Loppings of certain great Trees in a certain Place called Gine's-park within the Pariſh of Thaidon-Garnon otherwiſe Garniſh aforeſaid, and the Bounds, Limits, and Places titheable of the ſame Pariſh, lately growing, and by him the ſaid William lately cut and felled down, hath drawn in Plea, craftily and ſubtilely libelling againſt the ſame William in the Court-Chriſtian aforeſaid for the withdrawing of the Tithes of 100 Cart-loads of combuſtible Wood, called the Loppings of Trees, in and of a certain Wood called Gine's-park growing, ariſing, and happening, within the aforeſaid Pariſh of Thaidon-Garnon otherwiſe Garniſh, where in Truth the aforeſaid Trees by the aforeſaid William cut down, from which the Branches aforeſaid came, and the Branches aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid cut off, were of the Growth of 20 Years and more. And the ſame John him the ſaid William by the Officer of the Court-Chriſtian aforeſaid on that Occaſion to be cited, and before the aforeſaid Judge Spiritual in the ſaid Court-Chriſtian to appear, and to the ſame John of and for the withdrawing of the Tithes aforeſaid of the Branches of great Trees aforeſaid to anſwer hath unjuſtly compelled, and that Plea in the ſame Court-Chriſtian then and there hath proſecuted, and him the ſaid William to make Payment to the ſame John for the Tithes of the Branches of the ſaid great Trees by the definitive Sentence of the ſaid Court-Chriſtian with all his Might hath endeavoured and contrived, in Contempt of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, againſt the Form of the Statute aforeſaid, and to the Damage of him the ſaid William Soby 100 l. And therefore as well for the Lady the Queen as for himſelf he produces the Suit, &c.

as

And now at this Day, viz. Saturday next after the Octave of St. Hillary in this ſame Term, until which Day the aforeſaid John had Leave to imparl to the Bill aforeſaid, and then to anſwer, &c. before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came as well the aforeſaid William by his Attorney aforeſaid, as the aforeſaid John by William Stamp his Attorney. And the ſame John defends the Force and Injury when, &c. all Contempt and whatever, &c. and ſays that he hath not proſecuted in the Court-Chriſtian aforeſaid after the royal Prohibition to him therein directed, in Manner and Form as the aforeſaid William Soby above againſt him complains: And of this he puts himſelf upon the Country, and the aforeſaid William likewiſe. But for obtaining the Writ of the Lady the Queen of Conſultation in this Behalf, the ſame John ſays that the Branches called Loppings of Trees, for the Tithes of which Branches he the ſame John the ſaid William in the Court Chriſtian aforeſaid drew in Plea, were the Branches of Trees called Hornbeam-pollenger-Trees, growing in the aforeſaid Place called Gine's-Park, within the Pariſh of Thaidon-Garnon otherwiſe Garniſh aforeſaid; and that the aforeſaid Trees, upon which the Branches aforeſaid grew, were topped and lopped before any of the Branches aforeſaid, for the Tithes of which he the ſame John Molins drew in Plea the ſaid William Soby, of the Trees aforeſaid grew. And becauſe the aforeſaid William Soby the ſame Tithes of the Branches aforeſaid withdrew, he the ſame John, then being Rector of the parochial Church aforeſaid, the ſaid William in the Court-Chriſtian aforeſaid, before the Prohibition aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid thereof directed and delivered, for the withdrawing of the Tithes of the ſaid Branches drew in Plea, as it was well lawful for him to do. And this he is ready to verify, wherefore he prays Judgment, and the Writ of the Lady the Queen of Conſultation in this Behalf to be granted to him, &c. Plea. See Dy. 171. pl. 5.

And the aforeſaid William Soby ſays, that, by any Thing by the aforeſaid John Molins above by pleading alledged, the ſame John the Writ of the Lady the Queen of Conſultation by no Means ought to have, becauſe he ſays that the Plea aforeſaid by the ſaid John in Manner and Form aforeſaid above by pleading pleaded, and the Matter in the ſame contained, are inſufficient in Law to obtain the Writ of the ſaid Lady the Queen of Conſultation, to which he the ſame William has no Neceſſity, nor is by the Law of the Land in anywiſe bound to anſwer, wherefore for Want of a ſufficient Anſwer in this Behalf he the ſame William Soby prays Judgment, and his Damages aforeſaid by the Occaſion aforeſaid to be adjudged to him, &c. Plaintiff demurs.

And the aforeſaid John Molins ſays, that the Plea aforeſaid by him the ſaid John in Manner and Form aforeſaid above by pleading pleaded, and the Matter in the ſame contained, are good and ſufficient in Law to obtain the aforeſaid Writ of the ſaid Lady the Queen of Conſultation, which ſaid Plea, and the Matter in the ſame contained, he the ſame John is ready to verify and prove as the Court, &c. And becauſe the aforeſaid William Soby to that Plea hath not anſwered, nor the ſame hitherto in any wiſe denied, he the ſame John as before prays Judgment, and the Writ of the ſaid Lady the Queen of Conſultation to be granted to him, &c. And becauſe the Court of the Lady the Queen here is not yet adviſed of giving their Judgment of and upon the Premiſſes, Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter until Wedneſday next Joinder in Demurrer. Continuance.

next after eighteen Days of Easter, to hear their Judgment of and upon the Premiſſes, becauſe the Court of the Lady the Queen here thereof not yet, &c.

And ſo there were further Continuances, becauſe the Court would adviſe, until Hillary Term 17 Eliz.

THE CASE.

Hill. Term 17 Eliz. Hornbeam Pollengers, tho' of the Age of 20 Years and more, are not ſuch great Wood as is intended by the Statute of 45 Ed. 3. cap. 3. for they are not Timber, nor ſerviceable in Building, but only fit for Fuel, and therefore if they are cut down at that or any greater Age whatever, Tithe ſhall be paid for them, and by the ſame Reaſon Tithe ſhall alſo be paid for the Branches and Loppings of them, tho' they are of the Age of 20 Years and more. S. P. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 558. But ſee the contrary Degge 242. 2 P. Wms. 606 per Ld. C. King. 2 Inſt. 643, where it is ſaid that this Caſe was denied to be Law, Paſch. 2 Jac. 1. in the Caſe of Hall and Fittiplace. See 1 Lev. 189, Windham.

IT appears by the Record that the Plaintiff complains againſt the Defendant, for that whereas by the Statute of 45 Ed. 3. cap. 3. it is ordained that no Tithes ſhall be given of great Trees of the Growth of 20 Years and more, yet the Defendant hath drawn him into the Court-Chriſtian, the 20 Day of April in the 14th Year of the preſent Queen, for withdrawing the Tithes of Branches called Loppings of certain great Trees growing in a Place called Gine's-park within the Pariſh of Thaidon-Garnon, and cut down by the Plaintiff, where in Fact the ſaid Trees, and alſo the Branches cut down, were of the Growth of 20 Years and more. And to this the Defendant has pleaded in Bar, that the Branches called Loppings of Trees, for the Tithe whereof he ſued, were Branches of Trees called Hornbeam-pollengers growing in the ſaid Place called Gine's-park, within the ſaid Pariſh, and that the ſaid Trees, upon which the ſaid Branches grew, were topped and lopped before any of the Branches, for which the Tithes were demanded, grew, and therefore that he (the Defendant) being Parſon at the Time of cutting them down, drew the Plaintiff into Suit for the Tithes, as it was lawful for him to do. And upon this they demurred in Law.

And the Matter was argued at large at the Bar by Atkinſon on the one Side, and by Anderſon on the other Side. And Bell an Apprentice was alſo of Counſel in the Caſe. And he ſpoke to the Matter the ſame Day with the other Counſel, after their Arguments on both Sides. And it was ſaid againſt the Defendant, that he ought not to have Tithes here, becauſe the Trees are old Trees above the Age of 20 Years, in which Caſe they are an Inheritance, and for cutting down Trees above the Age of 20 Years a Man ſhall have an Action of Waſt, and ſhall ſay therein that the Termor has cut them down to his Diſheriſon. And if a Man has an Inheritance in the Trees, and they themſelves are an Inheritance, from thence it follows that no Tithe ſhall be paid of them, for Tithes are payable of the Increaſe of the Inheritance, as of Hay, Apples, and ſuch like, which are Chattles, but not of that which is an Inheritance in itſelf, as Trees above the Age of 20 Years are. And this is proved by the ſaid Statute of 45 Ed. 3. cap. 3. which ordains that touching Tithes of great Wood of the Age of 20 Years, or of greater Age, a Prohibition in ſuch Caſe ſhall be granted upon Attachment, as hath been uſed before this Time; which Words (as hath been uſed before this Time) ſhew us what the Common Law was, and that at the Common Law Tithes were not payable for great Wood before the ſaid Statute, ſo that the Statute is made in [a] Confirmation of the Common Law. [b] And to this Purpoſe was cited the Opinion of Belknap in 50 Ed. 3. in the Caſe of an Attachment upon a Prohibition for a Suit in the Spiritual Court for the Tithes of great Trees, where he ſays, "it never was ſeen that Tithes were demanded of great Trees, nor of Timber," which Saying of his was within five Years of the making of the ſaid Statute of 45 Ed. 3. So that he, who lived in the Time before the Act was made, teſtifies that there never was an Inſtance before the Act where Tithes had been paid of ſuch great Trees, and the Reaſon thereof is, becauſe they were an Inheritance of themſelves. And as Tithes ſhall not be paid of the Trees themſelves, ſo ſhall not they be paid of the Branches which come of the Loppings and Toppings of the great Trees, for if the Tree itſelf, which is the principal, be excuſed from paying Tithe, ſo ſhall the Branches thereof, which follow the Degree of the Principal, be alſo excuſed, and eſpecially in this Caſe, becauſe the Branches are of the Age of 20 Years and more, which Age makes them to be accounted great Trees themſelves. And for theſe Reaſons it was prayed that the Defendant might be convicted of the Contempt.

[a] 2 Inſt. 642, 643. Degge 240.

[b] H. 50 Ed. 3. 10. b. Fitz. Attachment ſur Prohibition 7. Bro. 5. 11 Co. 48. b.

Curia. And the Juſtices did not argue the Matter openly, but at laſt they agreed among themſelves that Tithes were due to the Defendant in this Caſe, and they granted him a Conſultation. And becauſe they did not openly declare the Reaſons of their Judgment, I afterwards enquired them of Wray Chief Juſtice of England, who told me that the Reaſon, upon which he and his Companions gave the Judgment, was, becauſe the Trees are of a baſe Nature, and are not Timber, nor can be of any Service in Building, for they cannot in their Nature endure long, but they are only fit for Fuel, and other trifling Uſes. And therefore if the Hornbeams themſelves had been cut down, Tithes ſhould have been paid for them, and by the ſame Reaſon they ſhall be paid for the Bows and Branches of them; for the Branches, which are of the Age of 20 Years and more, ſhall be of the ſame Nature with the Trees out of which they ſpring and grow, and of no other Nature. [c] For if the Tree itſelf is priviledged from Tithes, ſo ſhall the Germins above 20 Years of Age which grow from it be priviledged, as the Germins of that Age of Oak and Aſh, and ſuch like, ſhall be exempt from the Payment of Tithes as well as the Oak or Aſh itſelf ſhall, for he ſaid that a Branch above 20 Years of Age of an Oak, or Aſh, or the like, may be of Service in Building, and therefore it ſhall be exempt from Tithe, as well as the principal Tree ſhall. But Hornbeams ſhall pay Tithes, tho' they are of the Age of 40 or 50 Years, as Haſels, or Sallows, and the like, ſhall do, and the great Wood ſpecified in the ſaid Statute is to be intended of Wood which conſiſts of Trees of Value, [d] as of Oaks and Aſhes, and Elms, and ſuch like, but not of [e] Hornbeams, [f] Sallows, Haſels, Maples, and the like, which in all Ages ought to pay Tithes, and ſo ſhall the Branches which ſprout from them, of what Age ſoever the ſame be. And all this he ſaid to me, and for this Reaſon they granted the Conſultation, as he ſaid. And the Judgment and Conſultation, after divers Continuances, were as follows.

[c] See 2 Inſt. 643. 11 Co. 48. b. 1 Rol. Abr. 640. pl. 3, 4. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 558. 2 Finch 23.

[d] 2 Inſt. 643. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 557. Degge 242. 2 Danv. Abr. 589. pl. 5. in notis.

[e] See the Books above citedat the Head of the Caſe.

[f] S. P. reſolved M. 5. Jac. 1. C. B. 1 Rol. Abr. 640. pl. 6. Cro. J. 199 pl. 29. But Watſ. Compl. Incumb. ſays that peradventure the Scarcity of other Timber, and the Cuſtom of the Country to put theſe Sort of Trees to the Uſes of good Timber, may free them, being 20 Years Growth or more,

At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came the Parties aforeſaid by their Attornies aforeſaid, whereupon all and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen and by the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen here more fully underſtood, and mature Deliberation being thereupon had, for that it ſeems to the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen here that the Plea of the aforeſaid John Molins above by pleading pleaded, and the Matter in the ſame contained, are good and ſufficient in Law to preclude the ſaid William Soby from having his Action aforeſaid againſt the ſame John, and to obtain the Writ of the Lady the Queen of Conſultation to the ſame John, it is conſidered * that the aforeſaid William take nothing by his Bill aforeſaid, but for his falſe Claim therein be in Mercy, &c. And the Writ of the Lady the Queen of Conſultation to the ſame John in this Behalf is granted, &c. The Judgment. * 1 Judgments 317.

And the Writ of Conſultation was thus. The Writ of Conſultation.

" Elizabeth by the Grace of God of England, &c. To the reverend and excellent Man John " Hammond Doctor of Laws, Official of the Conſiſtory Court of the Biſhop of London lawfully con- " ſtituted, Greeting. Hath ſhewn unto us John Molins Rector of the parochial Church of Thai- " don-Garnon otherwiſe Garniſh in the County of Eſſex, that whereas he in the Court chriſtian be- " fore you had impleaded William Soby of Thaidon-Garnon otherwiſe Garniſh aforeſaid, of this that " the ſame William the Tithes of 100 Cart-Loads of combuſtible Wood, called Loppings of Trees, " in and of a certain Wood called Gines-park growing, ariſing, and happening, within the aforeſaid " Pariſh of Thaidon-Garnon otherwiſe Garniſh, and to him the ſaid John Molins in Right of the " Rectory aforeſaid belonging, to the ſame John Molins had refuſed to pay, the aforeſaid William " Soby late in our Court before us ſuggeſted, that whereas in a Statute made in a Parliament of " Lord Edward late King of England the third after the Conqueſt in the 45th Year of his Reign " held, among other Things it was ordained, that of great Trees of the Growth of 20 Years and " more Tithes ſhould not be given, and thereupon a certain Prohibition at the Petition of the afore- " ſaid William to the ſame William we granted, and the ſame to you cauſed to be directed, by Rea- " ſon whereof you have delayed and yet do delay to proceed in that Cauſe; and becauſe upon " Examination of the Suggeſtion aforeſaid it manifeſtly appears to us that the Suggeſtion of the " aforeſaid William in our Court before us, as aforeſaid, is wholly contrary to Truth, we there- " fore being willing that what Juſtice adviſes in the Premiſſes be done to the Parties aforeſaid, ſig- " nify to you that in the Cauſe aforeſaid, as far as concerning the Tithes of the combuſtible Wood " aforeſaid called Loppings of Trees before you is only litigated, our royal Dignity, and the Laws " and Statutes of our Realm of England in that Behalf wholly unhurt, you may lawfully proceed, " and further do what to the Juriſdiction eccleſiaſtical you ſhall know to appertain, our ſaid Pro- " hibition to you before directed to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding. Witneſs, &c."

From this Record, which is agreeable with the common Practice at this Day, the Reader may obſerve the Method of Proceeding now made Uſe of to attain a Conſultation in theſe Caſes, which differs much from the ancient Method, as I take it; and as it differs much therefrom, ſo it ſeems to me to be the worſe Order and Form of Proceeding in theſe Suits. For at this Day upon a Surmiſe to have a Prohibition, it is uſual for him who makes the Surmiſe to be bound in an Obligation or Recognizance to exhibit a Bill of Attachment againſt the Party who ſues in the Court chriſtian, and againſt whom the Prohibition was awarded, if he againſt whom the Prohibition was awarded requires it; which is done to the End that the Party who ſues in the Court chriſtian may be brought into Court, and anſwer to the Effect of the Surmiſe, which is contained in the Body of the Bill of Attachment, and avoid it, if he can, either for Falſity or for any other Matter, and thereupon the Parties may join Iſſue or demur in Law, and if upon Trial or Demurrer the Matter paſſes for the Defendant (who ſued in the Court chriſtian), then he ſhall have a Conſultation directed to the ſpiritual Judge to proceed, which Grant of a Conſultation ſeems to me to be very ſtrange. For in ſuch Attachment upon a Prohibition the Defendant is not Actor in the King's Court againſt the Plaintiff, but is merely a Defendant, as other Defendants are in perſonal Actions, or in Suits founded upon other Contempts, and the Attachment is ſued againſt him as againſt an Offender who has proceeded in the ſpiritual Court contrary to a Prohibition, in which Caſe if it is found or confeſſed that he has done ſo, he ought to be convicted of the Contempt, and be impriſoned and fined; and if it be found that he has not proceeded in the ſpiritual Court contrary to the Prohibition, then he ought to have Judgment to go without Day. But to plead upon the Attachment touching the Right of the Tithes, and, if it is found for the Defendant, to grant him a Conſultation, as the Effect of the Judgment, is not (as I apprehend) conſonant to the ancient Form and Courſe of Law; and to make Uſe of ſuch a Circumſtance as to have him, at whoſe Suit the Prohibition was granted, bound to exhibit an Attachment without any Proceſs awarded, and ſo to bring him in voluntarily, where in Appearance he is compelled involuntarily to anſwer, ſeems rather to be a Confederacy than a due and fair Suit; and alſo to ſurmiſe that he has proceeded contrary to the Prohibition, where in Fact he has not, is a Falſhood and a Lie. And if he who is bound to exhibit his Bill upon an Attachment will not do it when he is required, but will forfeit his Bond, then the King ſhall have the Forfeiture, inaſmuch as the Bond is uſually made to him, and not to the Party; and then the Party has no Way to bring him, who had the Prohibition, into Court to plead with him, which would be a great Defect in the Law, if there was no other Means to bring the Party into Court, and to proceed to Trial upon the Matter. But there is in the Regiſter a Writ which is called a Scire facias quare Conſultatio non debeat concedi poſt prohibitionem, which Writ the Party who ſued in the ſpiritual Court, and was delayed by the Prohibition, ſhall have againſt him who obtained the Prohibition; Regiſt. 71.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

That the modern Form of proceeding to attain a Conſultation by Way of a Bill of Attachment upon a Prohibition is not ſo regular and good as the ancient Method upon a Writ of Scire facias quare conſultatio non debeat oncedi poſt Prohibitionem.

and this Writ recites the Surmiſe and the Prohibition granted thereupon, which is to the Hurt or Diſheriſon of him againſt whom the Prohibition was granted, and it requires the Sheriff to warn the Party to ſhew " if he have or know any thing to ſay for himſelf why our ſaid Writ of Prohibition ought " not to be revoked, and our other Writ of Conſultation be awarded to the aforeſaid Official or " other Judge ſpiritual, &c. to proceed in the Cauſe aforeſaid, and to do further and receive " what our Court hath conſidered in this Behalf." And as it may not be improper to recite the Writ, it here follows Word for Word.

" The King to the Sheriff of Eſſex Greeting. Whereas we lately, at the Proſecution of Thomas " and Roger ſuggeſting to us that the Chappel of Roger is ſituate within the Manor of the ſaid " Thomas, that the ſaid Roger holds the Chappel aforeſaid of the Advowſon of the aforeſaid Tho- " mas, and that the ſaid Roger and all his Predeceſſors Parſons of the Chappel aforeſaid all Tithes " as well greater as leſſer ariſing from the Demeſn-Lands of the ſaid Thomas of the aforeſaid Manor, " and of certain his Tenants of the ſaid Manor, of the Gift of the Anceſtors of the aforeſaid Thomas " ſometime Lords of the ſame Manor, from Time immemorial had perceived and had, and that " L. Spark Parſon of the Church of Roger claiming thoſe Tithes to belong to his Church afore- " ſaid, the ſaid Thomas and Roger thereof had drawn in Plea before the Official of the Biſhop of " Lincoln in the Court-chriſtian, and for that the Plea aforeſaid, as it was ſaid, touched us and " our Crown and Dignity, becauſe the Advowſon of the Chappel aforeſaid to us might devolve by " Reaſon of Wardſhip or Eſcheat, becauſe alſo the like Tithes in certain our Demeſnes we have " beſtowed, and hitherto have uſed to beſtow, and alſo many great Men of our Realm of Eng- " land ſuch Tithes in their Demeſnes have likewiſe uſed to beſtow, we prohibited the ſame Official " that he ſhould not hold that Plea in the Court-chriſtian, nor any Thing which might turn out " to the Derogation of our royal Dignity in this Behalf attempt, by Reaſon of which Prohibition " the ſame Official, as we have heard, hath delayed and yet doth delay to proceed in that Cauſe, " to the no ſmall Loſs and Grievance of the ſaid L. and to the manifeſt Danger of the Diſheriſon " of his Church aforeſaid: And now on the Behalf of the ſaid L. it is humbly prayed unto us, " that whereas in the Articles to the Prelacy and Clergy of our Realm of England lately granted it " is contained, that in Tithes, Oblations, Obventions, and Mortuaries (when they are propounded " under theſe Names) our royal Prohibition ſhall hold no Place, we would be willing to order our " ſaid Writ of Prohibition to be revoked, and to award our Writ of Conſultation to the aforeſaid " Official to proceed in the Cauſe in this Behalf, we being willing that what ſhall be juſt be done " to the Parties aforeſaid in the Premiſſes, command you that you make known to the aforeſaid " Thomas and Roger that they be in our Chancery on the Morrow of the Epiphany of our Lord next " coming, whereſoever it ſhall then be, to ſhew if they have or know any thing to ſay for them- " ſelves why our ſaid Writ of Prohibition ought not to be revoked, and our other Writ of Con- " ſultation to be awarded to the aforeſaid Official to proceed in the Cauſe aforeſaid, and to do fur- " ther and receive what our Court ſhall conſider in this Behalf. And have you there the Names " of thoſe by whom you ſhall make this known to him, and this Writ. Witneſs, &c. the " Year, &c."

F. N. B. 54. c. This Writ Fitzherbert makes Mention of in his Natura Brevium at the End of the Writ of Conſultation, and he ſeems to allow of it. And as the Writ above was returned into the Chancery, ſo one may have the like Writ in every other Court which grants Writs of Prohibition, returnable before the Judges of the ſame Court, and upon every Cauſe ſufficient to annul the Prohibition. And when the Defendant appears upon the Writ, he may anſwer to the Matter contained in the Scire facias (for it compriſes the Subſtance of the Matter), or if it is neceſſary to make a Declaration, the Plaintiff may declare upon the Writ, and the Defendant may anſwer to the Matter which the Plaintiff in the Scire facias has objected againſt the Surmiſe upon which the Prohibition was founded, and thereupon they may proceed in Plea, and by that Means the Right and Title of the Tithes may be tried; and if it is found for the Plaintiff in the Scire facias, then he ſhall have Judgment to have a Conſultation according to the Requeſt of his Writ of Scire facias, and if it is found againſt the Plaintiff, then the Prohibition ſhall ſtand in Force, and he ſhall be barred from having a Conſultation. And this Method of Proceeding ſeems to me to be more agreeable with the Law than the other, and therefore I would adviſe the Student to put in Practice this Writ, and to leave the other Form.

A Report

A Report made in Hillary Term in the eighteenth Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth of of the Opinions of Dyer Chief Juſtice of the Common Bench, and of Barham one of the Queen's Serjeants, Juſtices of Aſſize and Goal-delivery in the County of Warwick, in certain Caſes of Felony which came before them at their Seſſions of Goal-delivery held at Warwick on Friday in the third Week of Lent in the fifteenth Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, the Record whereof here follows.

THE Delivery of the Goal of the Lady the Queen of the County of Warwick before James Dyer Knight her Chief Juſtice of the Bench, and Nicholas Barham one of her Serjeants at Law, Juſtices of the ſaid Lady the Queen to deliver the Goal of the Priſoners therein being aſſigned, at Warwick on Friday in the third Week of Lent in the 15th Year of the Reign of the Lady Elizabeth by the Grace of God of England, France, and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith, &c. Warw.

John Saunders late of Greneborough in the County aforeſaid Huſbandman, and Alexander Archer late of Framton in the County aforeſaid Yeoman, being taken for this that they were indicted before the Juſtices of the Peace and alſo of general Goal-delivery of the County aforeſaid, of this that the aforeſaid John Saunders, the 20th Day of September in the 14th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, with Force and Arms, &c. at Greneborough in the County aforeſaid, being ſeduced by the Inſtigation of the Devil, two Pieces of a roaſted Apple mixed with Poiſon called Arſenick and Roſeacre to one Eleanor Saunders Daughter of the ſame John feloniouſly gave and miniſtred, with an Intention that the aforeſaid Eleanor might die by the Operation of the Poiſon aforeſaid called Arſenick and Roſeacre, which ſaid Eleanor, after the Receipt of the ſame Pieces of Apple aforeſaid ſo mixed with the Poiſon aforeſaid into her Body, of the Poiſon and the Operation of the ſame from the aforeſaid 20th Day of September in the 14th Year aboveſaid unto the 22d Day of September then next following languiſhed, on which ſaid 22d Day of September the aforeſaid Eleanor of the Poiſon aforeſaid died, and ſo the aforeſaid John Saunders the aforeſaid Eleanor the Day and Year aforeſaid at Greneborough aforeſaid in the County aforeſaid voluntarily and feloniouſly killed and murdered, againſt the Peace of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, &c. And that the aforeſaid Alexander Archer, before the Murder aforeſaid by the aforeſaid John Saunders in Form aforeſaid done and perpetrated, viz. the 16th Day of September in the 14th Year aboveſaid, at Greneborough aforeſaid in the County aforeſaid, the aforeſaid John to do and perpetrate the Murder aforeſaid feloniouſly procured and adviſed, againſt the Peace of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, &c. come before the Juſtices here by the Sheriff brought to the Bar, and being ſeparately aſked, as well the aforeſaid John Saunders as to the principal Fact of the Felony and Murder aforeſaid, as the aforeſaid Alexander Archer of the Acceſſary of the ſaid Felony and Murder, how they will acquit themſelves thereof, they ſay ſeparately that they are not, nor either of them is, guilty thereof, and of this of the good and ill they ſeparately put themſelves upon the Country; therefore let a Jury come thereon: The Jurors being called come, who to ſay the Truth in the Premiſſes being choſen, tried and ſworn, ſay upon their Oath that the aforeſaid John Saunders is guilty of the principal Fact of the Felony and Murder aforeſaid. And the Jurors aforeſaid further ſay upon their Oath, that the aforeſaid Alexander Archer is guilty of the Acceſſary of the Felony and Murder aforeſaid; the Goods or Chattles, Lands or Tenements of the ſaid John and Alexander, or of either of them, none, &c. Therefore let the aforeſaid John Saunders be hanged until, &c. And becauſe the aforeſaid Juſtices here will adviſe themſelves of and upon the Premiſſes before they give Judgment thereon againſt the aforeſaid Alexander, Day is given to the aforeſaid Alexander here until next, &c. And in the mean Time he is ſent back to the Goal aforeſaid in the Cuſtody of the Sheriff of the County aforeſaid, there to tarry and ſafely to be kept until next, &c. on the Peril that falls thereon.

IT appears by the Record that John Saunders late of Greneborough in the County of Warwick Huſbandman, and Alexander Archer late of Framton in the ſaid County Yeoman, were arraigned before the Juſtices upon an Indictment, for that the aforeſaid John Saunders, the 20th Day of September in the 14th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, with Force and Arms, &c. at Greneborough in the County aforeſaid, being ſeduced by the Inſtigation of the Devil, feloniouſly gave and miniſter'd to one Eleanor Saunders his Daughter two Pieces of a roaſted Apple mixed with Poiſon called Arſenick and Roſeacre, with an Intent that ſhe might die by the Operation of the ſame Poiſon; which ſaid Eleanor, after the Receipt of the ſame Pieces of Apple ſo mixed with Poiſon aforeſaid into her Body, languiſhed of the Poiſon and the Operation thereof from the aforeſaid 20th Day of September in the ſaid 14th Year unto the 22d Day of September then next following, on The CASE.

If A. intending to kill his Wife gives her a poiſoned Apple, and ſhe being ignorant or it gives it to a Child againſt whom A. never meant any Harm, and againſt his Will and Perſuaſion, and the Child eats it and dies, this is Murder in A. and a poiſoning by him, but the Wife, becauſe ignorant, is not guilty. S. P. Crompt. Juſt. 23. pl. 24. Lamb. Juſt. lib. 2. cap. 7. fo. 242. Dalt. Juſt. cap. 145. § 8. 3 Inſt. 51. H. P. C. 50. 1 H. H. P. C. 431. 1 Hawk. P. C. 79 § 7. 84, § 42. 2 Hawk. P. C. 316, § 18. Lane 47. Jenk. 290. pl. 29. Bac. Max. reg. 15. 1 Finch 63. 2 Finch 215. 3 Bac. Abr. 663, 670. See like Caſe 9 Co. 81, Agnes Gore's Caſe.

which

which ſaid 22d Day of September ſhe died of the Poiſon aforeſaid: And that the aforeſaid Alexander Archer before the Murder aforeſaid by the ſaid John Saunders in Form aforeſaid perpetrated, viz. the 16th Day of September in the ſaid 14th Year, at Greneborough aforeſaid, felonioufly procured and adviſed the ſaid John Saunders to do and perpetrate the Murder aforeſaid, againſt the Peace, &c. And upon their Arraignment they pleaded, not guilty, and a Jury was empanneled to try them. And upon their Examinations and the Evidence given (as I was credibly informed, for I was not preſent, and therefore what I here report is upon the Relation of the ſaid Juſtices of Aſſize, and of the Clerk of Aſſize) the Truth of the Matter appeared to the Juſtices to be thus. The ſaid John Saunders had a Wife whom he intended to kill, in order that he might marry another Woman with whom he was in Love, and he opened his Deſign to the ſaid Alexander Archer, and deſired his Aſſiſtance and Advice in the Execution of it, who adviſed him to put an End to her Life by Poiſon. With this Intent the ſaid Archer bought the Poiſon, viz. Arſenick and Roſeacre, and delivered it to the ſaid John Saunders to give it to his Wife, who accordingly gave it to her, being ſick, in a roaſted Apple, and ſhe eat a ſmall Part of it, and gave the reſt to the ſaid Eleanor Saunders an Infant about three Years of Age, who was the Daughter of her and the ſaid John Saunders her Huſband. And the ſaid John Saunders ſeeing it blamed his Wife for it, and ſaid that Apples were not good for ſuch Infants, to which his Wife replied that they were better for ſuch Infants than for herſelf; and the Daughter eat the poiſoned Apple, and the ſaid John Saunders her Father ſaw her eat it, and did not offer to take it from her, leſt he ſhould be ſuſpected, and afterwards the Wife recovered, and the Daughter died of the ſaid Poiſon.

And whether or no this was Murder in John Saunders the Father was ſomewhat doubted, for he had no Intent to poiſon his Daughter, nor had he any Malice againſt her, but on the contrary he had a great Affection for her, and he did not give her the Poiſon, but his Wife ignorantly gave it her, and although he might have taken it from the Daughter, and ſo have preſerved her Life, yet the not taking it from her did not make it Felony, for it was all one whether he had been preſent or abſent, as to this Point, inaſmuch as he had no Malice againſt the Daughter, nor any Inclination to do her any Harm. But at laſt the ſaid Juſtices, upon Conſideration of the Matter, and with the Aſſent of Saunders Chief Baron, who had the Examination of the ſaid John Saunders before, and who had ſignified his Opinion to the ſaid Juſtices (as he afterwards ſaid to me) were of Opinion that the ſaid Offence was Murder in the ſaid John Saunders. And the Reaſon thereof (as the ſaid Juſtices and the Chief Baron told me) was, becauſe the ſaid John Saunders gave the Poiſon with an Intent to kill a Perſon, and in the giving of it he intended that Death ſhould follow. And when Death followed from his Act, although it happened in another Perſon than her whoſe Death he directly meditated, yet it ſhall be Murder in him, for he was the original Cauſe of the Death, and if ſuch Death ſhould not be puniſhed in him, it would go unpuniſhed; for here the Wife, who gave the poiſoned Apple to her Daughter, cannot be guilty of any Offence, becauſe ſhe was * ignorant of any Poiſon contained in it, and ſhe innocently gave it to the Infant by Way of neceſſary Food, and therefore it is reaſonable to adjudge her innocent in this Caſe, and to charge the Death of the Infant, by which the Queen has loſt a Subject, upon him who was the Cauſe of it, and who intended Death in the Act which occaſioned the Death here. [a] But if a Man prepares Poiſon, and lays it in ſeveral Parts of his Houſe, with an Intent to kill Rats and ſuch Sort of Vermine, and a Perſon comes and eats it, and dies of it, this is not Felony in him who prepared and laid it there, becauſe he had no Intent to kill any reaſonable Creature. [b] But when he lays the Poiſon with an Intent to kill ſome reaſonable Creature, and another reaſonable Creature, whom he does not intend to kill, is poiſoned by it, ſuch Death ſhall not be diſpuniſhable, but he who prepared the Poiſon ſhall be puniſhed for it, becauſe his Intent was evil. And therefore it is every Man's Buſineſs to foreſee what Wrong or Miſchief may happen from that which he does with an ill Intention, and it ſhall be no Excuſe for him to ſay that he intended to kill another, and not the Perſon killed. [c] For if a Man of Malice prepence ſhoots an Arrow at another with an Intent to kill him, and a Perſon to whom he bore no Malice is killed by it, this ſhall be Murder in him, for when he ſhot the Arrow he intended to kill, and inaſmuch as he directed his Inſtrument of Death at one, and thereby has killed another, it ſhall be the ſame Offence in him as if he had killed the Perſon he aimed at, for the End of the Act ſhall be conſtrued by the Beginning of it, and the laſt Part ſhall taſte of the firſt, and as the Beginning of the Act had Malice prepenſe in it, and conſequently imported Murder, ſo the End of the Act, viz. the killing of another, ſhall be in the ſame Degree, and therefore it ſhall be Murder, and not Homicide only. [d] For if one lies in wait in a certain Place to kill a Perſon, and another comes by the Place, and he who lies in wait kills him out of Miſtake, thinking that he is the very Perſon whom he waited for, this Offence is Murder in him, and not Homicide only, for the killing was founded upon Malice prepenſe. So in the principal Caſe, when John Saunders of Malice prepenſe gave to his Wife the Inſtrument of Death, viz. the poiſoned Apple, and this upon a ſubſequent Accident killed his Daughter, whom he had no Intention to kill, this is the ſame Offence in him as if his Act had met with the intended Effect, and his Intention in doing the Act was to commit Murder, wherefore the Event of it ſhall be Murder. And ſo the Juſtices declared their Opinions to the Jurors, whereupon they found both the Priſoners guilty, and John Saunders had his Judgment, and was hanged.

* And therefore for the ſame Reaſon it is, that if A. gives Poiſon to B. to give to C. and B. not knowing it to be Poiſon gives it to C. who dies of it, this is no Offence in B. tho' it is a Murder in A. Kely. 53. H. P. C. 218.

[a] 9 Co. 81. b. Jenk. 290. pl. 29. Crompt. Juſt. 23. pl. 24. H. P. C. 50. 1 H. H. P. C. 431. 1 Hawk. P. C. 84, § 43. Dalt. Juſt. cap. 145, § 8.

[b] See the Books cited Ante 273 at the Head of the Caſe.

[c] Lamb. Juſt. lib. 2. cap. 7. fo. 242. Dalt. Juſt. cap. 145, § 9. Crompt. Juſt. 23. pl. 21. H. P. C. 50. 1 H. H. P. C. 466. 1 Hawk. P. C. 83, § 41. 3 Bac. Abr. 670. And with this agrees Bracton, fo. 155. a. Si quis unum percuſſerit et occiderit, cum alium percutere vellet, in felonia tenetur.

[d] Crompt. Juſt. 23. pl. 25. Lamb. Juſt. lib. 2. cap. 7. fo. 243. Dalt. Juſt. cap. 145, § 9.

But the moſt difficult Point in this Caſe, and upon which the Juſtices conceived greater Doubt than upon the Offence of the Principal, was, whether or no Archer ſhould be adjudged Acceſſary to the Murder. For the Offence which Archer committed was the Aid and Advice which he gave to Saunders, and that was only to kill his Wife, and no other, for there was no parol Communication between them concerning the Daughter, and altho' by the Conſequences which followed from the giving of the Poiſon by Saunders the Principal it ſo happened that the Daughter was killed, yet Archer did not preciſely procure her Death, nor adviſe him to kill her, and therefore whether or no he ſhould be Acceſſary to this Murder which happened by a Thing conſequential to the firſt Act, ſeemed to them to be doubtful. For which Reaſon they thought proper to adviſe and conſider of it until the next Goal Delivery, and in the mean time to conſult with the Juſtices in the Term. Any thereupon it was entered thus in the Record, viz. And becauſe the aforeſaid Juſtices here will adviſe themſelves of and upon the Premiſſes, before they give Judgment thereon againſt the aforeſaid Alexander, Day is given to the aforeſaid Alexander here until next, &c. And in the mean time he is ſent back to the Goal aforeſaid, in the Cuſtody of the Sheriff of the County aforeſaid, there to tarry and be ſafely kept until next, &c. on the Peril that ſhall fall thereon, &c. And at the next Goal Delivery the Matter was reſpited until the next afterwards, and ſo from Seſſion to Seſſion until this preſent Term of St. Hillary anno 1575, at which Time, upon Conference before had with the Juſtices of both Benches, they were agreed that they ought not to give Judgment againſt the the ſaid Alexander Archer, becauſe they took the Law to be that he could not be adjudged Acceſſary to the ſaid Offence of Murder, for that he did not aſſent that the Daughter ſhould be poiſoned, but only that the Wife ſhould be poiſoned, which Aſſent cannot be drawn further than he gave it, for the poiſoning of the Daughter is a diſtinct Thing from that to which he was privy, and therefore he ſhall not be adjudged Acceſſary to it; and ſo they were reſolved before this Time. And altho' they were ſo agreed, yet, rather than make a Precedent of it, they reprieved him from one Seſſion to another for divers Seſſions, to the Intent that he might purchaſe his Pardon, and by that Means be ſet at Liberty. And this the Lord Dyer told me, to whom I ſhewed this Report this preſent Hillary Term anno 18 Eliz. and he approved of it, as did alſo Serjeant Barham, to whom I ſhewed it.

If A. perſuades B. to poiſon C. and B. accordingly gives Poiſon to C. who eats Part of it, and gives the reſt to D. who is killed by it, A. is not Acceſſary to the Murder of D. becauſe it was not the direct and immediate Effect of the Act done in Purſuance of A's Command, but happened accidentally thro' the Act of C. to which A. was no way Privy, and his Command ſhall not be carried over to any other than to the Perſon intended by him. S. P. Crompt. Juſt. 42. pl. 10. Lamb. Juſt. lib. 2. cap. 7. fo. 288. H. P. C. 217. 1 H. H. P. C. 436, 617. 2 Hawk. P. C. 316, § 18. Bac. Max. reg. 16. Dalt. Juſt. cap. 161, § 5.

Note, it ſeems to me reaſonable that he who adviſes or commands an unlawful Thing to be done ſhall be adjudged Acceſſary to all [a] that follows from that ſame Thing, but not from any other diſtinct Thing. [b] As if I command a Man to rob ſuch a one, and he attempts to rob him, and the other defends himſelf, and a Combat enſues between them, and the Perſon attempted to be robbed is killed, I ſhall be Acceſſary to this [c] Murder, becauſe when he attempted to rob him, he purſued my Command, and then when he purſued my Command, and in the Execution thereof another Thing happened, I ought in Reaſon to be deemed a Party therein, becauſe my Command was the Cauſe of it. [d] So if I command one to beat another, and he beats him ſo that he dies thereof, I ſhall be Acceſſary to this Murder, for it is a Conſequence of my Command, which was the original Foundation thereof, and which naturally tended to endanger the Life of the other. [e] So if I command one to burn the Houſe of J. S. felonioufly in the Night, and he does ſo, and the Fire thereof burns another Houſe, I ſhall be Acceſſary to the burning of the other Houſe, ſo that altho' I am afterwards pardoned for being Acceſſary to the burning of the Houſe of J. S. yet I ſhall be hanged for the burning of the other Houſe, for inaſmuch as the burning of the ſecond Houſe followed from my Command, and I am clearly Acceſſary to the burning of the firſt Houſe, I ought alſo in Reaſon to be adjudged Acceſſary to all that followed from the burning of the firſt Houſe. But if I command him to burn the Houſe of ſuch a one, whom he well [f] knows, and he burns the Houſe of another, there I ſhall not be Acceſſary to this, becauſe it is another diſtinct Thing, to which I gave no Aſſent nor Command, but wholly different from my Command. [g] As if I command one to ſteal a Horſe, and he ſteals an Ox, or if I command him to ſteal a white Horſe, and he ſteals a yellow Horſe, this differs directly from my Command, and my Conſent cannot be carried over to it, for there is not the leaſt Connection or Affinity between this Act and my Command. [h] And ſo if I command a Perſon to rob ſuch a Goldſmith of his Plate in ſuch a Place as he is going to Sturbridge-fair, and he breaks open his Houſe in Cheapſide, and ſteals his Plate from thence, I ſhall not be Acceſſary to this [i] Burglary, becauſe it is a Felony of another [k] Kind from that which I commanded. [l] But if I command one to kill another by Poiſon, and he kills him with a Sword, or if I command one to kill another in the Fields, and he kills him in the City

Nota bene by the Reporter.

[a] 3 Inſt. 51, Dalt. Juſt. cap. 161, § 5. See 1 Hawk. P. C. 316, § 19.

[b] Lamb. Juſt. lib. 2. cap. 7. fo. 286. Crompt. Juſt. 43. pl. 34. H. P. C. 217. 1 H. H. P. C. 617. 2 Hawk. P. C. 315, § 18. Dalt. Juſt. cap. 161, § 5. Note, as this Caſe is here put, it ſeems to make the Commander Acceſſary to the Murder, altho' the Perſon aſſaulted and killed was not robbed purſuant to the Command.

[c] Hereby note that this Offence is Murder in him that killed him, Crompt. Juſt. 22. pl. 13.

[d] S. P. C. 41. d. H. P. C. 217. 1 H. H. P. C. 435, 617. 2 Hawk. P. C. 315, § 18. 3 Inſt. 51. Crompt. Juſt. 22. pl. 12. 43. pl. 35. Lamb. Juſt. lib. 2. cap. 7. fo. 286. Dalt. Juſt. cap. 161, § 5. But if I command B. to beat C. with a ſmall Wand or Rod, which could not in all human Reaſon cauſe Death, and B. beats C. with a great Club, or wounds him with a Sword, whereof he dies, it ſeems that I am not Acceſſary, becauſe there was no Command of any Thing that could probably cauſe Death, and B. has varied from my Command in Subſtance, and not in Circumſtance, 1 H. H. P. C. 436.

[e] Lamb. Juſt. lib. 2. cap. 7. fo. 287. Crompt. Juſt. 43. pl. 36. 2 Hawk. P. C. 315, § 18. Collige ex hoc, that if one malicioufly intends to burn the Houſe of A. only, and not the Houſe of B. and yet in burning the Houſe of A. the Houſe of B. happens to be burnt, in this Caſe the burning of the Houſe of B. is Felony, and the Party may be indicted as having malicioufly burnt it, 3 Inſt. 67. H. P. C. 85. 1 H. H. P. C. 569. 1 Hawk. P. C. 106, § 5.

[f] Note well the Words here made Uſe of by Plowden, (which he well knows) whereby Serjeant Hawkins ſeems to think it is implied, that it is a neceſſary Ingredient in this Caſe, to make the Commander no Acceſſary, that the Perſon knew the Houſe which he was commanded to burn; for if he did not know it, but miſtook another for it, and intending only to burn the Houſe which he was commanded to burn, happen by ſuch Miſtake to burn the other, it may probably be argued that the Commander ought to be eſteemed an Acceſſary to ſuch Burning, becauſe it was the direct and immediate Effect of an Act wholly influenced by his Command, and intended to have purſued it, 2 Hawk. P. C. 316, § 22. But this Caſe is put at large without theſe Words in Crompt. Juſt. 42. pl. 11. Lamb. Juſt. lib. 2. cap. 7. fo. 287. Dalt. Juſt. cap. 161, § 5.

[g] Crompt. Juſt. 42. pl. 12. 1 H. H. P. C 617. 2 Hawk. P. C. 316, § 21. Lamb. Juſt. lib. 2. cap. 7. fo. 287. Dalt. Juſt. cap. 161, § 5.

[h] Crompt. Juſt. 42. pl. 12. Lamb. Juſt. lib. 2. cap. 7. fo. 287. Dalt. Juſt. cap. 161, § 5. 3 Inſt. 51. H. P. C. 217. 1 H. H. P. C. 617. 2 Hawk. P. C. 316, § 21. Bac. Max. reg. 16. But put the Caſe that A. commands B. to ſteal ſuch Things out of a Houſe ſometime when he is got into it, and expreſly reſtrains him from breaking into the Houſe, and yet B. breaks into it, the Lord Bacon ſays that A. is Acceſſary to this Burglary, for here the Facts are of a Kind, and differ only in Degree, and therefore the Variance is not of Subſtance, Bac. Max. reg. 16.

[i] Nevertheleſs I am Acceſſary to the Theft, tho' not to the Burglary, 1 H. H. P. C. 617.

[k] Therefore if A. commands B. to burn the Houſe of C. and B. kills, robs, or ſteals from C. A. is not Acceſſary, for it is an Offence of another Kind, 1 H. H. P. C. 617.

[l] Crompt. Juſt. 42. pl. 14. 3 Inſt. 51. 1 H. H. P. C. 617. 2 Hawk. P. C. 316, § 20. Bac. Max. reg. 16. Lamb. Juſt. lib. 2. cap. 7. fo. 287. Dalt. Juſt. cap. 161, § 5.

or Church, or if I command him to kill him ſuch a Day, and he kills him at another Day, there I ſhall be Acceſſary to ſuch Murder, becauſe the Death is the principal Matter, which has followed from my Command, and the Place, Inſtrument, Time, and the like, are but the Manner and Form how the Death of the Party ſhall be effected, and not the Subſtance of the Matter, and a Variance in the formal Part of the Execution of the Command ſhall not diſcharge a Man from being Acceſſary. But yet in ſome Caſes the Time may be material; [a] for if I command one to kill J. S. and before the Fact done I go to him and tell him that I have repented, and expreſly charge him not to kill J. S. and he afterwards kills him, there I ſhall not be Acceſſary to this Murder, becauſe I have countermanded my firſt Command, which in all Reaſon ſhall diſcharge me, for the malicious Mind of the Acceſſary ought to continue to do ill until the Time of the Act done, or elſe he ſhall not be charged; but if he had killed J. S. before the Time of my Diſcharge or Countermand given, I ſhould have been Acceſſary to the Death, notwithſtanding my private Repentance. And in an Appeal lately brought by the Wife of Cholmley againſt one Nicholas who had aſſaulted her Huſband in the County of Wilts, with an Intent to rob him, and had killed him with a Gun, and afterwards obtained the Queen's Charter of Pardon, this Queſtion was put by an Apprentice of the Middle Temple to Catline Chief Juſtice of England, and to his Companions in the King's Bench, whether or no thoſe who had received Nicholas, and had given him Meat and Drink, after the Charter of Pardon, knowing of the Murder and the Pardon, ſhould be accounted Acceſſaries, with reſpect to the Appeal brought by the Wife: To which Catline anſwered that they ſhould, for altho' the Queen had granted her Pardon to Nicholas, whereby he was in Fact diſcharged of the Felony againſt the Queen, yet he remained a Felon as to the Wife, and by the ſame Reaſon thoſe who received him ſhall be Acceſſaries as to the Wife, for the Pardon could not diſcharge the Acceſſaries any more than the Principal, againſt the Wife: But Popham was of the contrary Opinion, and ſaid that this could not be, becauſe there can be no Acceſſary without an Offence to the Crown; [b] for an Appeal as well as an Indictment ſays, that they received him "againſt the Crown and Dignity of the Lady the Queen." And then if there was no Offence to the Crown at the Time of the Receipt, the Receipt cannot be Felony, but as to the principal Fact, it was an Offence as well to the Crown as to the Wife at the Time of the Act perpetrated, and therefore altho' the Queen has pardoned the principal Felon, yet the Wife may truly ſay, as to him, that the Act was againſt the Queen's Crown and Dignity, but not as to thoſe who received the Principal afterwards, becauſe at the Time of the Receipt there was no Offence continuing in the Principal againſt the Crown; ad quod non fuit reſponſum. But the Receipt of the Felon before the Pardon was Felony. So that in Caſes of Acceſſary the Time is to be conſidered, if ſo be that any Thing material happens intermediately, but otherwiſe the Day or Time when the Acceſſary commits the Offence is not more material than the Place where, or the Inſtrument with which, it is done.

But I greatly approve of the ſaid Opinions of the Juſtices concerning the Acceſſary in the Caſe before reported, becauſe the poiſoning of the Daughter was a diſtinct Fact, to which Archer gave no Advice nor Counſel, and whoſe Death he did not procure.

[c] And in the ſaid Caſe of the Appeal by Cholmley, it ſeems to me that if the Goaler after the Pardon had voluntarily let Nicholas go at large and eſcape, he would have committed Felony, for if Nicholas was detained in Priſon at the Suit of the Wife Appellant, then he was in for Felony, ergo the Goaler ſuffered a Felon to eſcape, altho' he was not a Felon as to the Queen.

[a] 3 Inſt. 51. Crompt. Juſt. 42. pl. 16. H.P.C.217,218. 1 H. H. P. C. 436, 618. 2 Hawk. P. C. 315, §16. Lamb. Juſt. lib. 2. cap. 7. fo. 289. Dalt. Juſt. cap. 161, § 5.

Whether the Receipt of a Felon who is pardoned by the King, but ſtill liable to an Appeal, ſhall make the Receiver an Acceſſary. S. P. 2 Hawk. P. C. 319, § 31. Dalt. Juſt. cap. 161, § 7.

[b] See Notes on 1 Finch 215.

[c] S. P. 1 H. H. P. C. 593. But there it ſeems that this is only Felony in the Goaler primâ facie, and not abſolutely ſo, for if the Wife bring not her Appeal within the Year, according to the Statute of 3 H. 7. cap. 1. or bringing her Appeal N. is acquitted, then the Goaler ought to be diſcharged.

A brief

A brief Report of a Caſe argued in the Common Bench in Michaelmas Term in the ſeventeenth and eighteenth Years of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, and in other Terms before and after, and adjudged in Hillary Term then next following, in an Action of Treſpaſs brought by Humphry Nichols Plaintiff againſt John Nichols Defendant. And the Record appears among the Records of Eaſter Term 16 Elizabeth, Rot. 349. and was as follows.

Salop. Declaration. Same Precedent N. Bendl. 245. pl. 268. Raſt. Entr. 633. a.

John Nichols late of Bendley in the County aforeſaid Yeoman was attached to anſwer Humphry Nichols of a Plea, wherefore with Force and Arms the Cloſe of the ſaid Humphry at Alveley he broke, and his Graſs to the Value of 40 s. there lately growing with certain Cattle eat up, trod down, and conſumed, and other Wrongs to him did, to the great Damage of the ſaid Humphry, and againſt the Peace of the Lady the Queen now. And whereupon the ſame Humphry by William Pitt his Attorney complains, that the aforeſaid John, the 20th Day of December in the 15th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, with Force and Arms the Cloſe of him the ſaid Humphry at Alveley broke, and his Graſs to the Value, &c. there lately growing with certain Cattle, viz. Horſes, Oxen, Cows, Hogs and Sheep eat up, trod down, and conſumed, and other Wrongs, &c. to the great Dnmage, &c. and againſt the Peace, &c. Wherefore he ſays that he is damnified and has Damage to the Value of 40 l. and therefore he produces the Suit, &c.

Bar.

And the aforeſaid John by William Nelſon his Attorney comes and defends the Force and Injury when, &c. and as to the coming with Force and Arms, &c. he ſays that he is not guilty thereof, and of this he puts himſelf upon the Country, and the aforeſaid Humphry likewiſe. And as to the Reſidue of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid above ſuppoſed to be done, the ſame John ſays that the aforeſaid Humphry his Action aforeſaid againſt him ought not to have, becauſe he ſays that the Cloſe aforeſaid and alſo the Places in which the Treſpaſs aforeſaid is ſuppoſed to be done, are, and at the aforeſaid Time when the Treſpaſs aforeſaid is ſuppoſed to be done, were, five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in Alveley aforeſaid, parcel of a certain Grange or Farm called Bowel's, of which ſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances one Francis Lovel Knight Lord Lovel, long before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame Francis afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 20th Day of January in the 18th Year of the Reign of Lord Edward late King of England the fourth, by a certain Deed, the Date whereof is the ſame Day and Year, by the Name of Francis Lovel Knight, Lord Lovel, Holland, Burnel, Dancort, and Grey, demiſed the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things to one Thomas Wright, by the Name of one Meſſuage otherwiſe called his Farm called Bowel's, lying and being in the Pariſh of Alveley in the County of Salop, with all Lands arable, Cloſes, Meadows, Leaſows and Paſtures to the ſame Meſſuage or Farm with the Appurtenances in any wiſe appertaining or belonging: To have and to hold the Meſſuage aforeſaid and other the Premiſſes with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. to the aforeſaid Thomas for Term of his Life; and if the ſaid Francis ſhould happen to die without Heirs of his Body begotten, then the aforeſaid Francis by the ſame Deed further granted the aforeſaid Meſſuage or Farm with all its Appurtenances aforeſaid whereof, &c. to the aforeſaid Thomas Wright and to his Heirs for ever. By virtue of which ſaid Demiſe the aforeſaid Thomas Wright was of the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things ſeized in his Demeſn as of Freehold for Term of his Life, the Reverſion thereof to the aforeſaid Francis Lord Lovel and to his Heirs in Form aforeſaid belonging. And the ſaid Thomas being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame Francis afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 1ſt Day of May in the 2d Year of the Reign of Lord Henry late King of England the ſeventh, at London in the Pariſh of the bleſſed Mary of the Arches in the Ward of Cheap, died without Heirs of his Body begotten, in the Life of the ſaid Thomas Wright. By Reaſon whereof the aforeſaid Thomas Wright, after the Death of the aforeſaid Francis Lord Lovel, was ſeized of the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſame Thomas being ſo ſeized thereof, afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. of the ſame five Acres of Land with the Apurtenances among other Things enfeoffed one Thomas Wildicot; * by virtue whereof the ſame Thomas was ſeized of the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſame Thomas being ſo ſeized thereof, afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. of the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things enfeoffed one William Nichols, to have and to hold to the ſame William and to his Heirs for ever.

* Note the Manner of pleading the Feoffment here, without ſhewing any Uſe or Conſideration, and it ſhall be intended to the Uſe of the Feoffee, O. Bendl. 183. Rep. temp. Holt. 737. Ld. Raym. 801. Strange 107.

By virtue of which Feoffment the ſame William was ſeized of the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſaid William being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame William afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. of the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things enfeoffed one William Whorewood Eſquire, to have and to hold to the ſame William Whorewood and to his Heirs for ever. By virtue of which ſaid Feoffment the ſame William Whorewood was ſeized of the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſaid William Whorewood being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame William afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. demiſed the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things to the aforeſaid William Nichols and to his Aſſigns during the Life of the ſaid William, the Remainder thereof after his Death to one Peter Nichols for and during four Years then next following, and fully to be compleat, the Remainder thereof after the End of the aforeſaid four Years to one James Nichols and to his Heirs for ever. By virtue of which Demiſe the ſame William was of the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things ſeized in his Demeſn as of Freehold for Term of his Life, the Remainder thereof after his Death in Form aforeſaid belonging. And the ſaid William Nichols being ſo ſeized thereof, afterwards at London aforeſaid in the Pariſh and Ward aforeſaid the ſame William of ſuch his Eſtate died thereof ſeized, after whoſe Death, and after the End of the aforeſaid four Years next following after the Death of the ſaid William Nichols, the aforeſaid James Nichols into the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things as in his Remainder entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſaid James being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame James afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. at London in the Pariſh and Ward aforeſaid of ſuch his Eſtate died thereof ſeized, after whoſe Death the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things deſcended to the aforeſaid John Nichols, as Son and Heir of the aforeſaid James Nichols, whereby the ſame John, before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. into the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things entered, and was thereof poſſeſſed in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the Colour. aforeſaid Humphry, claiming the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances by Colour of a certain Deed of Demiſe to him thereof made by the aforeſaid James Nichols for Term of his Life, long before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. (where nothing of the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances into the Poſſeſſion of the ſaid Humphry by that Deed ever paſſed) into the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances upon the Poſſeſſion of him the ſaid John Nichols, before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. entered, upon the Poſſeſſion thereof of which ſaid Humphry he the ſame John Nichols afterwards, viz. the aforeſaid Time when, &c. into the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances re-entered, and the Cloſe aforeſaid broke, and the Graſs aforeſaid in the aforeſaid five Acres of Land growing with the Cattle aforeſaid eat up, trod down, and conſumed, as it was well lawful for him to do. And this he is ready to verify; wherefore he prays Judgment if the aforeſaid Humphry his Action aforeſaid againſt him ought to have, &c.

Replication. And the aforeſaid Humphry ſays that he by any Thing before alledged ought not to be precluded from having his Action aforeſaid, becauſe he ſays that well and true it is, that the aforeſaid Francis Lord Lovel before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. was ſeized of the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in his Demeſn as of Fee, and being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame Francis before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the aforeſaid 20th Day of January in the aboveſaid 18th Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King Edward the fourth, by his Deed aforeſaid demiſed the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things to the aforeſaid Thomas Wright, in Manner and Form as the aforeſaid John Nichols above has alledged. But the ſame Humphry further ſays, that the aforeſaid Thomas Wright of the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in his Demeſn as of Freehold for Term of his Life in Form aforeſaid being ſeized, and the aforeſaid Francis Lord Lovel of the Reverſion of the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances as of Fee and Right in Form aforeſaid being ſeized, by a certain Act made in a Parliament of Lord Henry late King of England the ſeventh after the Conqueſt, at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex the ſeventh Day of November in the firſt Year of his Reign held, among other Things it was enacted, eſtabliſhed, and ordained by the Authority of the ſame Parliament, that the aforeſaid Francis Lord Lovel, for divers High Treaſons by him againſt the aforeſaid late King Henry the ſeventh traiterouſly committed and perpetrated, ſhould ſtand and be convicted and attainted of High Treaſon, and abjured of all and every his Honour, Eſtate, and Dignity, and of the Names of the ſame, and ſhould forfeit to the ſame late King and to his Heirs all Caſtles, Manors, Lordſhips, Hundreds, Franchiſes, Liberties, Privileges, Advowſons, Nominations, Preſentations, Lands, Rents, Services, Reverſions, Portions, Annuities, Penſions, Rights, Hereditaments, Goods and Chattles, and Credits of which the ſaid Francis Lord Lovel, or any other to his Uſe, was ſeized or poſſeſſed the 21ſt Day of Auguſt in the aforeſaid firſt Year of the Reign of the ſame late King Henry the Seventh, or at any other Time from thence forwards within the Realm of England, Ireland, Wales, or Calais, or in the Marches of the ſame, in Fee-ſimple, Fee tail, or for Term of Life or Lives, as by the ſame Act among other Things more fully appears. By Virtue of which ſaid Act of Parliament the ſame late King Henry the Seventh was ſeized of the Reverſion of the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things as of Fee and Right, in Right of his Crown of England. And he being ſo ſeized thereof, of ſuch his Eſtate died thereof ſeized; after whoſe Death the Reverſion of the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things deſcended to Lord Henry late King of England the Eighth, as Son and Heir of the aforeſaid late King Henry the Seventh, whereby the ſame late King Henry the Eighth was ſeized of the Reverſion of the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances as of Fee and Right. And the ſaid late King Henry the Eighth being ſo ſeized thereof, and the aforeſaid Thomas Wright of the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in his Demeſn as of Freehold in Form aforeſaid being ſeized, the ſame Thomas Wright afterwards at Alveley aforeſaid died. And the ſame Humphry further ſays, that afterwards by a certain Inquiſition indented, taken at Harley in the aforeſaid County of Salop, the 13th Day of June in the 11th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, before Richard Prince Eſquire, then Feodary of the ſame Lady the Queen in the ſame County of Salop, Richard Dickens, William Wall, and William Langley Gentlemen, by Virtue of a Writ of the ſaid Lady the Queen of Commiſſion to the ſame Richard Prince, Richard Dickens, William Wall, and William Langley Gentleman, and to one Richard Newton Knight, William Gatacre Eſquire, William Onſlow Eſquire, Francis Gatacre Eſquire, Adam Lutley Eſquire, Roger Harris Gentleman, Richard Harris Gentleman, and John Hammond Gentleman, and eleven, ten, nine, eight, ſeven, ſix, five, four, or three of them directed, by the Oath of Richard Harnage Gentleman, Thomas Corbet Gentleman, Edward Farmer Yeoman, John Hammonds Yeoman, Thomas Boocher Yeoman, John Weſtwood Yeoman, Thomas Fewtrel Yeoman, Henry Howel Yeoman, Thomas Martin Yeoman, John Cook Yeoman, Thomas Head Yeoman, John Foxhole Yeoman, and John Fletcher Yeoman, good and lawful Men of the County aforeſaid, it was found among other Things, that the aforeſaid late King Henry the Eighth, by Reaſon of the Conviction, Attainder, Act, and Deſcent aforeſaid, was ſeized of the aforeſaid Meſſuage or Farm and other the Premiſſes aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, whereof the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances are, and at the aforeſaid Time when, &c. were Parcel, in his Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of his Crown of England. And being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame late King Henry the Eighth of ſuch his Eſtate thereof died ſeized, after whoſe Death the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. deſcended to Lord Edward late King of England the Sixth, as Son and Heir of the aforeſaid late King Henry the Eighth; whereby the ſame late King Edward the Sixth was ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame late King Edward the Sixth of ſuch his Eſtate died thereof ſeized, without Iſſue of his Body begotten, after whoſe Death the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. deſcended to Lady Mary late Queen of England, as Siſter and Heir of the aforeſaid late King Edward the Sixth, whereby the ſame late Queen was ſeized of the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. in her Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame late Queen of ſuch her Eſtate thereof died ſeized, without Iſſue of her Body begotten, after whoſe Death the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. deſcended to the Lady the Queen now, as Siſter and Heir of the aforeſaid late Queen, as by the Inquiſition aforeſaid among other Things more fully appears. And the ſame Humphry further ſays, that the ſame Lady the Queen now, by Reaſon of the Premiſes aforeſaid, was ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. in her Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of her Crown of England. And being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame Lady the Queen now, before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 4th Day of February in the 12th Year of her Reign, by her Letters-Patent (which he the ſame Humphry here produces in Court) ſealed with her Great Seal of England, the Date whereof is at Weſtminſter the ſame Day and Year, gave and granted to one Hugh Counſel Gentleman, and Robert Piſtor Gentleman, the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. to have and to hold the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. to the ſame Hugh and Robert and to their Heirs for ever. By Reaſon of which ſaid Letters-Patent the ſame Hugh and Robert were of the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. ſeized in their Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame Hugh and Robert before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. of the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. enfeoffed him the ſaid Humphry Nichols, to have to him and his Heirs for ever. By Virtue of which he the ſame Humphry was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee, until the aforeſaid John Nichols the aforeſaid 20th Day of December in the 15th Year aboveſaid, with Force and Arms the Cloſe of him the ſaid Humphry at Alveley broke, and the Graſs aforeſaid to the Value, &c. there lately growing with the Cattle aforeſaid eat up, trod down, and conſumed, as he above complains againſt him. And this he is ready to verify, wherefore for that the aforeſaid John Nichols the Treſpaſs aforeſaid in the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances above acknowledges, he the ſame Humphry prays Judgment and his Damages by Occaſion of the ſaid Treſpaſs to be adjudged to him, &c.

And the aforeſaid John Nichols, by proteſting that the aforeſaid Henry late King of England the Seventh was not ſeized of the Reverſion of the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurte- Rejoinder.

nances as of Fee and Right by Virtue of the Act aforeſaid, nor died ſo thereof ſeized, by proteſting alſo that the aforeſaid Henry late King of England the Eighth by Reaſon of the Conviction, Attainder, Act, and Deſcent aforeſaid was not ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. in his Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of his Crown of England, nor of ſuch his Eſtate thereof died ſeized, by proteſting alſo that the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. did not deſcend to Lord Edward late King of England the Sixth, as Son and Heir of the ſaid late King Henry the Eighth, nor that the ſame late King Edward the Sixth was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee, nor of ſuch his Eſtate thereof died ſeized, by proteſting alſo that the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. did not deſcend to Lady Mary late Queen of England, as Siſter and Heir of the ſaid late King Edward the Sixth, nor that the ſame late Queen was thereof ſeized in her Demeſn as of Fee, nor of ſuch her Eſtate thereof died ſeized, by proteſting alſo that the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. did not deſcend to the Lady the Queen now, as Siſter and Heir of the ſaid late Queen Mary, nor that the ſame Lady the Queen now was thereof ſeized in her Demeſn as of Fee, as the ſame Humphry Nichols above has alledged, for Plea ſays that well and true it is, that the aforeſaid Thomas Wright of the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in his Demeſn as of Freehold for Term of his Life in Form aforeſaid being ſeized, and the aforeſaid Francis Lord Lovel of the Reverſion of the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances as of Fee and Right in Form aforeſaid being ſeized, by the aforeſaid Act made in a Parliament of the ſaid Lord Henry late King of England the Seventh, the ſaid ſeventh Day of November in the firſt Year of his Reign held, among other Things it was enacted, eſtabliſhed, and ordained by the authority of the ſame Parliament, that the aforeſaid Francis Lord Lovel, for divers High Treaſons by him againſt the aforeſaid late King Henry the Seventh traiterouſly committed and perpetrated, ſhould ſtand and be convicted of High Treaſon, and abjured of all Honour, Eſtate, and Dignity, and of the Names of the ſame, and ſhould forfeit to the ſame late King and to his Heirs all Caſtles, Manors, Lordſhips, Hundreds, Franchiſes, Liberties, Privileges, Advowſons, Nominations, Preſentations, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Services, Reverſions, Portions, Annuities, Penſions, Rights, Hereditaments, Goods and Chattles, and Debts, of which the ſame Francis Lord Lovel, or any other to his Uſe, was ſeized or poſſeſſed the 21ſt Day of Auguſt in the aboveſaid firſt Year of the Reign of the ſame late King Henry the Seventh, or at any Time from thence forwards within the Realm of England, Ireland, Wales, or Calais, or in the Marches of the ſame, in Fee-ſimple, Fee-tail, or for Term of Life or Lives, as in the ſame Act among other Things more fully is contained, as the aforeſaid Humphry above hath alledged. But the ſame John Nichols further ſays, that in the Statute aforeſaid it is contained further in Manner and Form following, viz. ſaving to every Perſon and Perſons and their Heirs, other than ſuch as by the ſame Act were attainted, and their Heirs, or any of them, of or in any of the Premiſſes, ſuch Right, Title, Action, or Intereſt in or of the Premiſſes, as they ought to have had, if the Act aforeſaid had never been made. By Reaſon whereof the Right, Title, Action, and Intereſt of the aforeſaid Thomas Wright of and in the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things were ſaved. And afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. the aforeſaid Francis at London in the Pariſh and Ward aforeſaid died, without Heirs of his Body begotten. By Reaſon whereof, and by Virtue of the aforeſaid Saving in the Statute aforeſaid contained, the aforeſaid Thomas Wright after the Death of the aforeſaid Francis was ſeized of the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſaid Thomas being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame Thomas afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. of the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things enfeoffed the aforeſaid Thomas Wildicot, to have and to hold to the ſame Thomas and to his Heirs for ever. By Virtue of which ſaid Feoffment the ſame Thomas was of the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſaid Thomas being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame Thomas afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. of the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things enfeoffed the aforeſaid William Nichols, to have and to hold to the ſame William and to his Heirs for ever. By Virtue of which ſaid Feoffment the ſame William was of the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſaid William being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame William afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. of the ſame five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things enfeoffed the aforeſaid William Whorewood Eſquire, to have and to hold to the ſame William and to his Heirs for ever. By Virtue of which ſaid Feoffment the ſame William was of the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſaid William being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame William afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. demiſed the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things to the aforeſaid William Nichols, to have and to hold to the ſame William and to his Aſſigns during the Life of the ſaid William, the Remainder thereof after his Deceaſe to the aforeſaid Peter Nichols, for and during the aforeſaid four Years then next following, and fully to be compleat, the Remainder thereof after the End of the aforeſaid four Years to the aforeſaid James Nichols and to his Heirs for ever. By Virtue of which ſaid Demiſe the ſame William Nichols was of the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things ſeized in his Demeſn as of Freehold for Term of his Life. And the ſaid William Nichols being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame William afterwards, and before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. at London in the Pariſh and Ward aforeſaid, of ſuch his Eſtate died thereof ſeized, after whoſe Death, and after the End of the aforeſaid four Years next after the Deceaſe of the ſaid William Nichols, the aforeſaid James Nichols into the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things as in his Remainder entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And he being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame James before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. at London in the Pariſh and Ward aforeſaid of ſuch his Eſtate died thereof by proteſting ſeized, after whoſe Death the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things deſcended to the aforeſaid John Nichols, as Son and Heir of the aforeſaid James Nichols, whereby he the ſame John into the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances among other Things entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo ſeized thereof, he the ſame John afterwards, viz. at the aforeſaid Time when, &c. the Cloſe aforeſaid in the aforeſaid five Acres of Land with the Appurtenances broke, and the Graſs aforeſaid to the Value, &c. in the aforeſaid five Acres of Land growing with the Cattle aforeſaid eat up, trod down, and conſumed, as it was lawful for him to do. And this he is ready to verify, wherefore he prays Judgment, and that the aforeſaid Humphry from his Action aforeſaid may be precluded.

was

Upon this Rejoinder the Plaintiff demur'd in Law.

IT appears by the Record, that the Plaintiff has declared of his Cloſe broken at Alveley in the County of Salop the 20th Day of December in the 15th Year of the preſent Queen. And the Defendant has pleaded in Bar, that the Place where, &c. is five Acres of Land Parcel of a Grange or Farm called Bowel's, whereof Francis Lovel Knight Lord Lovel was ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo ſeized, he the 20th Day of January in the 18th Year of the Reign of King Edward 4. by his Deed bearing the ſame Date leaſed the ſame five Acres among other Things to one Thomas Wright for Term of his Life, and if the ſaid Francis ſhou'd happen to die without Heir of his Body, then that the ſaid Thomas Wright ſhou'd hold the ſame Farm whereof, &c. to him and to his Heirs for ever. By Virtue whereof the ſaid Thomas Wright was ſeized of the ſaid five Acres in his Demeſn as of Freehold, the Reverſion thereof belonging to the ſaid Sir Francis Lovel and to his Heirs in Form aforeſaid. And he being ſo ſeized, the ſaid Sir Francis the firſt Day of May in the 2d Year of the Reign of King Henry 7. died without Heir of his Body, living the ſaid Thomas Wright, whereby the ſaid Thomas Wright after the Death of the ſaid Sir Francis was ſeized of the ſaid five Acres of Land in his Demeſn as of Fee. And he being ſo ſeized, thereof enfeoffed one Thomas Wildicot in Fee, who enfeoffed William Nichols in Fee, who enfeoffed William Whorewood in Fee, who leaſed the ſaid five Acres to the ſaid William Nichols for his Life, with Remainder to one Peter Nichols for four Years, Remainder to one James Nichols in Fee. And afterwards the ſaid William Nichols being ſo ſeized died, after whoſe Death, and the Expiration of the four Years, the ſaid James Nichols entered into the ſaid five Acres as in his Remainder, and was thereof ſeized in Fee. And being ſo ſeized, he died thereof ſeized, after whoſe Death the the ſaid five Acres deſcended to John Nichols (the Defendant) as Son and Heir of the ſaid James, by Reaſon whereof he entered, and was thereof ſeized in Fee; and ſo he gives Colour to the Plaintiff, and juſtifies. And the Plaintiff by his Replication confeſſing that the ſaid Sir Francis Lovel was ſeized in Fee of the ſaid five Acres, and leaſed them to the ſaid Thomas Wright in Form aforeſaid, ſays further, that the ſaid Thomas Wright being ſo ſeized, and the ſaid Sir Francis being ſeized of the Reverſion of the ſaid five Acres as of Fee in Form aforeſaid, the ſaid Sir Francis was by Act of Parliament in the firſt Year of King Henry 7. convicted and attainted of High-Treaſon, and thereby it was enacted that he ſhou'd forfeit to the ſaid King and to his Heirs all Caſtles, Manors, Lands, Reverſions, and Hereditaments, &c. whereof the ſaid Sir Francis Lovel, or any other to his Uſe, was ſeized or poſſeſſed the 21ſt Day of Auguſt in the firſt Year of the Reign of the ſaid King, or at any other Time afterwards, in Fee-ſimple, Fee-tail, or for Life, as by the ſame Act more fully appears. By which Act the ſaid King Henry 7. was ſeized of the Reverſion of the ſaid five Acres as of Fee. And afterwards the ſaid Thomas Wright, being ſeized of the ſaid five Acres in his Demeſn as of Freehold, died thereof ſeized. And further the Plaintiff ſays, that by an Inquiſition indented taken at Harley in the County of Salop the 13th Day of June in the eleventh Year of the preſent Queen Elizabeth, before Richard Prince and three others, by Virtue of the Queen's Commiſſion to them and eight others, and to any four of them directed, it was found among other Things by the Oath of 12 Men, that King Henry 8. by Reaſon of the ſaid Conviction, Attainder, Act, and Deſcent from King Henry 7. to himſelf, was ſeized of the ſaid Farm and other the Premiſes, whereof the ſaid five Acres are, and at the ſaid Time were, Parcel, in his Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of his Crown, and that he died ſeized thereof, and that the Premiſes deſcended from him to King Edward 6. and from him to Queen Mary, and from her to the preſent Queen Elizabeth, as by the ſaid Inquiſition appears. And the Plaintiff alledges further, that the preſent Queen Elizabeth, by her Letters-Patent bearing Date the 4th Day of February in the 12th Year of her Reign, here ſhewn forth to the Court, granted

The CASE:
A Leaſe for Life is made upon Condition that if the Leſſor dies without Iſſue, then the Leſſee to have Fee, the Leſſor is attainted of Treaſon by Act of Parliament in 1 H. 7. and thereby all his Lands forfeited, and afterwards he dies without Iſſue, adjudged that the Leſſee ſhall have the Fee, for his Title ſhall not be prejudiced or defeated by any Act which the Leſſor does after the Condition made, but when it is performed, he ſhall have the Fee diſcharged of all Incumbrances made by the Leſſor ſubſequent to the Condition, whether created by the Grant of the Leſſor or by any Act of Treaſon or Felony committed by him. And altho' it was ordained by the Act of Attainder, that the Leſſor ſhou'd forfeit all his Lands, Reverſions, &c. yet before the Statute of 33. H. 8. cap. 20. that was not ſufficient to veſt any Freehold in Deed or in Law in the King, until an Office finding the Certainty of the Lands whereof the Party attainted was ſeized, (and an Averment thereof was not ſufficient) which was not done here, and therefore the Reverſion was not veſted in the King at the Time when the Condition was performed. But if it had been actually veſted in the King, then whether the Leſſee ſhou'd have been put to his Petition, or Monſtrans de droit, &c. or whether the Fee-ſimple ſhou'd have been immediately deveſted out of the King, by Operation of Law, upon the Performance of the Condition, the Court was divided in Opinion. S. C. N. Bendl. 245. pl. 268. Vin. Abr. tit. Condition T. pl. 26.

the ſaid Tenements to Hugh Counſel and Robert Piſtor in Fee, who enfeoffed the Plaintiff in Fee, whereby he was ſeized in Fee until the Defendant did the Treſpaſs. And the Defendant by his Rejoinder proteſting that King Henry 7. was not ſeized of the Reverſion of the ſaid Tenements, nor that King Henry 8. nor King Edward 6. nor Queen Mary were ſeized of the ſaid Tenements, nor that any of them died ſeized, for Plea ſays that in the ſaid Act there is contained a Saving to every Perſon and Perſons, and to their Heirs, other than ſuch as by the ſame Act were attainted, and their Heirs, or any of them, of or in any of the Premiſes, ſuch Right, Title, Action, or Intereſt of or in the Premiſes, as they ought to have had if the Act aforeſaid had never been made. And afterwards the ſaid Sir Francis Lovel died without Heirs of his Body, whereby and by Force of the Saving in the ſaid Act the ſaid Thomas Wright, after the Death of the ſaid Sir Francis Lovel, was ſeized of the ſaid five Acres in his Demeſn as of Fee. And ſo the Defendant conveys them to himſelf in the ſame Manner as is pleaded in the Bar. Whereupon the Plaintiff has demur'd in Law.

And divers Matters were moved and argued in this Caſe by Mead, Bendloe, and Jefferey Serjeants, who were of Counſel for the Plaintiff, and by Loveleſs and Barham Serjeants, who were of Counſel for the Defendant. And I heard all their Arguments, as alſo the Arguments of Harper Juſtice, and of the Lord Dyer, but I did not hear Mounſon and Manwood Juſtices argue, and therefore what I here report as ſaid by them, I deliver only upon the Relation of others.

A makes a Leaſe for Life to B. upon Condition that if A. dies without Iſſue, then B. to have Fee, in this Caſe the Fee does not remove out of A. until the Inſtant that he dies without Iſſue, for the Condition is precedent, and muſt firſt be performed before the Fee ſhall be removed out of A. S. P. Co. Litt. 217. b. Plowd. Quær. § 202. Ante 25, 26.

And the firſt Thing moved was, when Sir Francis Lovel made the Leaſe for Life, with Condition that if he died without Iſſue, then the Leſſee ſhould have the Land in Fee (which Words were ſufficient to make the Leſſee have the Fee-ſimple upon the Condition being performed) whether or no in this Caſe the Fee was out of Sir Francis Lovel preſently before the Condition was performed. And as to this, it was agreed by all, viz. by the Counſel on both Sides, and by all the Juſtices except the Lord Dyer (who argued that the Fee-ſimple paſſed out of Sir Francis Lovel preſently, and was in Abeyance and Conſideration of Law, ſo that it was not in Sir Francis at the Time of the Act of Attainder, and that it firſt veſted in the Leſſee when Sir Francis died without Iſſue, and not before) that the Fee-ſimple was not out of Sir Francis Lovel until the Condition was performed, that is, until the Inſtant when he died without Iſſue: For the Performance of the Condition preceded the Removal of the Fee-ſimple out of Sir Francis Lovel, for if he died without Iſſue, then he granted the Fee, which Word (then) is an Adverb of Time, and that Time ought to come before the Leſſee ſhou'd have the Fee. As if a Man contracts with another, that if he pays him 10*l.* then he ſhall have ſuch a Farm for Years, there (as it appears in [a] Wheeler's Caſe in 14 H. 8.) the Leaſe ſhall not commence until the Payment is made, becauſe the Payment precedes the Eſtate, and upon the Payment it ſhall commence. [b] And to this Purpoſe Mead cited the Caſe in 10 Aſſ. pl. 15. where a Man made a Leaſe for 11 Years, and executed a Deed to the Leſſee upon Condition that if he was diſturbed of his Term, then he ſhould hold the Tenements in Fee, and Livery was made according to the Condition, and afterwards the Leſſee was diſturbed, and thereupon he brought an Aſſize, and it was adjudged that he ſhou'd have the Fee, and he recovered by Award, for he might be diſturbed and ouſted, and when he was diſturbed, then the Fee veſted in him, and not before. [c] And to the like Effect he alſo cited Pleſington's Caſe in 6 R. 2. where a Leaſe for Years was made to two, upon Condition that if the Leſſor died within the Term, or granted the Reverſion over, then the Termors ſhou'd have a Freehold, and there it was held that inaſmuch as the Condition preceded the Freehold, the Freehold was not out of the Leſſor preſently; and thereupon one of the Leſſees for Years attorned as Termor for Years, ſaving his Advantage. [d] And upon the ſame Principle Barham alſo cited a Caſe which he ſaid was in 12 Ed. 2. where a Man made a Leaſe for Years, upon Condition that if the Leſſee did ſuch an Act, he ſhou'd have the Fee, and a Stranger brought a Præcipe quod reddat againſt both the Leſſor and the Leſſee, and it was adjudged to be maintenable, and not to abate by Reaſon of any Doubt whether the Condition was performed or not, for if the Condition was performed, then from the Time of the Performance of it the Freehold ſhou'd be in the Leſſee, and out of the Leſſor, which wou'd have abated the Writ if it had been brought againſt the Leſſor only, and if the Fee was out of the Leſſor before the Performance of the Condition, then the Præcipe quod reddat might have been brought againſt the Leſſee only, but this the Book does not warrant to be done, and therefore it is to be taken that the Party was forced to bring the Præcipe againſt them both. So that when the Condition precedes the Eſtate, the Condition ought to be performed before the Eſtate ſhall veſt. But the Lord Dyer cited a Caſe which he ſaid was in Frowick's Reading, and was thus: [e] A Man makes a Leaſe for Years of Land to an Alien, upon Condition that if the Alien pays to the Leſſor ſuch a Sum of Money during the Leaſe, then he ſhall have the Fee, and afterwards the King makes him a Denizen, and after that he pays the Money, and all this Matter is afterwards found by Office, in this Caſe he ſaid that Frowick was of Opinion that the King ſhou'd have the Fee.

[f] But (with Submiſſion) it ſeems to me that the Law is not ſo. For when the Condition was, that upon the Payment he ſhou'd have the Fee, the Fee ſhall not veſt until the Payment, for alho' the Condition ſhall have Relation to the Livery for the avoiding of Incumbrances, yet, as to the veſting of the Fee, it ſhall only have Relation to the Time of the Payment, for the Condition was, that if he paid the Money, then he ſhou'd have the Fee, and he cou'd not have the Fee before; and then when the Fee veſted in him, he was a natural Subject, and had Capacity to take as a Subject. So that the Time when the Condition was made is not ſo much to be regarded as the Time when the Fee veſts, and when it veſted in that Caſe, the Leſſee was capable as a Subject. And a H. 14 H. 8. 17. pl. 6. Bro. Condition 67. Ante 30.

b T. 10 Ed. 3. 39. pl. 33. Fitz. Aſſize 161. Bro. Conditions 101. Co. Litt. 217. a.

c 6. R. 2. Fitz. Quid juris clamat 20. Ante 26(a). And ſee the other Books there cited.

d P. 12 Ed. 2. Fitz. Voucher 265. Vin. Abr. tit. Præcipe quod reddat E. pl. 2.

e Vin. Abr. tit. Alien A. pl. 15. tit. Relation A. pl. 4. See L. P. Plowd. Quær. § 283.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

f With this Opinion of Plowden agrees 2 Leon. 139 Per Drew, arguendo. Plowd. Quær. § 371.

[a] And if a Feoffment is made with Warranty to a Man and a Feme-ſole, who intermarry, and afterwards they vouch, and recover in Value, there are no Moieties between them, for although they were ſingle when the Warranty was made, yet when they recovered and had Execution, they were Huſband and Wife, at which Time they [b] cannot take by Moieties. [c] And if a Reverſion is granted to a Man and a Feme-ſole, and afterwards they inter-marry, and then Attornment is had, they have no diſtinct Moieties, for although they were ſingle when the Grant was made, yet when the Reverſion ſettled in them, they were Huſband and Wife, between whom there are no Moieties. Wherefore the Time in which a Thing veſts ought to be regarded. And ſo in the ſaid Caſe put by the Lord Dyer, inaſmuch as the Leſſee was a Denizen at the Time when the Fee veſted, in my Opinion he ſhall take it to his own Uſe. But the greater Queſtion in that Caſe ſeems to be, whether or no the veſting of the Fee ſhall be diſturbed by the Relation of the King's Title to the Time of making the Term for Years, for the King was entitled [d] to the Term before the Performance of the Condition, and if the King's Title takes away the Term from the Time of the firſt making the Term, then the Condition which is annexed to it ſhall be alſo taken away from the Time of the firſt making the Term, and ſo it was gone before the Performance of the Condition. But it ſeems to me that it ſhall not be ſo, but that the Fee ſhall veſt in the Leſſee, and that he ſhall have it to his own Uſe, becauſe it was in him before the Office found.

[a] Plowd. Quær. § 183. Co. Litt. 187. b. Dy. 149. pl. 82. in Margine. Wing. Max. reg. 211. pl. 8. Vin. Abr. tit. Baron and Feme S. a. pl. 13.

[b] See Ante 58 (m).

[c] Co. Litt. 187. b. 310. a. 2 Co. 68. a. Wing. Max. reg. 211. pl. 3. Vin. Abr. tit. Baron and Feme S. a. pl. 16. Contra Plowd. Quær. § 180, 183.

[d] Becauſe an Alien cannot purchaſe a Leaſe for Years of Land, but for the King. Co. Litt. 2. b. Plowd. Quær. § 371.

And many other Caſes (which I have here omitted, becauſe it is ſo common a Learning) were put upon this Ground, that where there is a Condition precedent, the Eſtate ſhall not be removed out of the Perſon who had it until the Condition is firſt performed. And ſo in the principal Caſe, inaſmuch as Sir Francis Lovel limited the Condition to precede the Removal of the Fee out of himſelf who had it, viz. that he himſelf ſhould firſt die without Iſſue, this Condition ought to be performed, and before it was performed the Fee did not veſt in Wright the Leſſee, but continued in Sir Francis Lovel.

And further they held that, after the Condition was performed, Wright the Leſſee ſhould have the Fee-ſimple, if the other Points hereafter moved did not make againſt him. But how he ſhould have the Fee-ſimple, viz. whether as a Grant of the Reverſion, (for the Words are, that if Sir Francis ſhould die without Iſſue, then he granted the Tenements to Wright and to his Heirs) or by Way of Remainder, or how otherwiſe, was touched not only at the Bar, but alſo at the Bench. And (as ſome of them ſaid) Wright cannot have it as a Grant of the Reverſion, becauſe a Grant of a Reverſion [e] cannot be made to veſt at a Day to come, nor can he have it as a Remainder, becauſe that cannot properly be called a Remainder which in its veſting merges the firſt Eſtate, and therefore the Fee-ſimple ſhall neceſſarily enure to Wright by way of Enlargement of his Eſtate upon the Performance of the Condition; and ſo he ſhall take the Fee-ſimple upon the Performance of the Condition, if the Matters hereafter moved are no Impediment thereto.

A. leaſes for Life to B. upon Condition to have Fee, here the Fee enures to B. by Way of Enlargement of his Eſtate upon the Performance of the Condition, and not as a Reverſion or Remainder.

[e] See Ante 155 (i) and the Books there cited.

For the Plaintiff.

And as to this, it was objected that there are divers Cauſes why the Fee-ſimple ſhall never paſs to Wright. One is, the Clauſe in the Act of Attainder, that Sir Francis Lovel ſhould forfeit to the King and to his Heirs all Reverſions whereof he was ſeized the 21ſt Day of Auguſt. Which Word (forfeit), it was ſaid, veſts the Fee-ſimple in the King without any Office, and is as much as to ſay, that the King ſhall have it by Forfeiture. For the Statute is ſufficient to veſt the Reverſion in the King without Office, and if an Office was neceſſary to veſt the Eſtate of Sir Francis Lovel in the King, then the Words of the Statute, which ſay that he ſhall forfeit the Reverſion to the King, are not ſatisfied, for if he ſhall forfeit it by the Act and by Office alſo, then he ſhall not forfeit it by the Act, for if two Things are neceſſary to make the Forfeiture, then the one without the other is not ſufficient. And the Act ſays nothing of any Office or Inquiſition, but only ſays that he ſhall forfeit, which is as much as to ſay, that he ſhall forfeit by the Act only without other Circumſtance, wherein it is implied that the King ſhall be in Poſſeſſion by the Forfeiture by Force of the Act, in which Caſe it lies in Averment that Sir Francis Lovel had the Reverſion at the Time of the Act, and then the Act conveys it to the King, and there is no Neceſſity for an Office unleſs to charge the Officers with the true Value of the Reverſion to be anſwered for in the Exchequer, and the Revenue of it may be anſwered to the King by Survey or otherwiſe without Office; ſo that the Act, with the Averment that Sir Francis Lovel was ſeized of the Reverſion at the Time of the Act, is ſufficient to remove the Eſtate out of Sir Francis Lovel, and to veſt it entirely in the King.

Then if the Reverſion is veſted in the King, there are four Cauſes why it ſhall not veſt in Wright upon the Performance of the Condition. One is, becauſe there is no Privity between the Leſſee for Life and the King. For when Sir Francis Lovel granted to Wright the Leſſee that his Eſtate ſhould be enlarged, this Agreement was a Thing which reſted in Privity between the Leſſee of the one Part, and the Leſſor and his Heirs of the other Part, and if this Privity is broken on either Side, then the Contract is diſſolved. For if the Leſſee had granted his Eſtate to another, and afterwards Sir Francis Lovel had died without Iſſue, the Fee-ſimple ſhould never have veſted in the Leſſee nor in his Aſſignee, for his Aſſignee is not privy to the Agreement real, and therefore his Eſtate ſhall not be enlarged. And although Wright the Leſſee was privy to the Agreement real, yet when he has granted his Eſtate to another, he has thereby made himſelf a Stranger to the Reverſion, for when his Eſtate is gone over to another, then there is no Privity between him and the Perſon in Reverſion, becauſe without an Eſtate there can be no Privity, and therefore the Privity which exiſted before is by the Grant of his Eſtate diſſolved, in which Caſe Wright ſhall never have the Fee upon the Performance of the Condition, for the Fee was appointed to ſettle in Wright by Where an Eſtate is to encreaſe by Force of a Condition, the particular Eſtate muſt continue in the Leſſee or Grantee till the Encreaſe happens. S. P. 8 Co. 75. a. Vin. Abr. tit. Condition T. d. pl. 4.

Way of Enlargement of his Eſtate, and now he has no Eſtate to be enlarged, and the Privity went out of him along with the Eſtate, and the Grantee of the Eſtate is not privy to the Condition, ſo that Privity is wanting on every Side, and therefore the ſaid Condition which is an Agreement real is diſſolved. And as it may be diſſolved by Failure of Privity on the Part of the Leſſee, ſo, it was ſaid, it may be diſſolved by Failure of Privity on the Part of the [a] Leſſor. For if before the Performance of the Condition he had granted the Reverſion in Fee to another, and Attornment had been had, or if he had died without Heir, and the Reverſion had eſcheated, or if there had been any other Removal of the Reverſion to a Stranger by the Act of him who had the Reverſion, or by the Act of the Law, the Performance of the Condition ſhould not have taken away the Reverſion from him to whom it was ſo transferred. And this was reſembled to the Caſes of Privity or Confidence, and many Caſes were put upon theſe Grounds. As the Caſe of a Feoffee to Uſe who is diſſeized, and other like Caſes. And ſo here inaſmuch as by the Word (forfeit) in the Act the Reverſion was out of Sir Francis Lovel, and veſted in the King, who is a Stranger, and not in the ſame Privity as Sir Francis Lovel and his Heirs were before the Performance of the Condition, the ſaid Agreement real is diſſolved, ſo that the Reverſion ſhall by no Means be removed or deveſted out of the King.

[a] Contra 8 Co. 76. a. that the Privity of the Eſtate on the Part of the Leſſor needs not be continued; with which agrees the Rule in the preſent Caſe, Poſt 486. Plowd. Quær. § 305, in fine.

But admitting that the Failure of Privity is no Cauſe to break the ſaid Agreement real, but that the King ſhall be bound by the Condition as well as Sir Francis Lovel or his Heirs, yet, it was ſaid, there is another Cauſe which overthrows Wright's Claim to the Fee-ſimple, and that is, becauſe it is not ſaved to him by ſufficient Words in the Saving of the Act of Attainder. For the Saving to Strangers is but of four Things, which are therein comprehended in four Words. [b] The firſt is, Right, and that is, where A. has got Poſſeſſion of a Thing which was wrongfully taken from B. as by Diſſeizin, Ejectment, and the like, this Claim which B. has to the Thing is termed a Right; and this was not the Caſe of Wright the Leſſee here, for nothing was wrongfully taken from him. [c] The next Word is, Title, and that is properly where A. has a lawful Cauſe to have a Thing which B. has, and he has no Action to recover it, as a Title of Entry for Mortmain, or for the Breach of a Condition; and in our Caſe Wright the Leſſee had no Cauſe to have the Reverſion at the Time of making the Act of Attainder, but he had only a Condition, which might be termed a Poſſibility to have the Reverſion, ſo that he had no Title in Fact. [d] The third Word is, Action, which is no more than a Suit given by the Law, and in our Caſe there was no Suit given to Wright the Leſſee to recover the Reverſion. [e] The fourth Word is, Intereſt, which Bendloe ſaid was Part of an Eſtate in the Land, as a Leaſe for Years, or an Eſtate which a Man has by Execution upon a Recognizance, or the like, and ſuch had not Wright the Leſſee here in the Reverſion. So that theſe different Words ſhew that it was the Intent of the Makers of the Act to ſave all Things that were comprehended in the Words, and none other, and in our Caſe the Condition is another which does not fall within the Words, and therefore it is not ſaved; ſo that Wright the Leſſee is excluded for ever from this Condition, and if the Condition is gone, then the Fee ſhall never come to him, for it is the Condition that muſt bring it, which Condition is taken away by the Act.

[b] See Co. Litt. 345. a. 2 Rol. R. 501.

[c] See Co. Litt. 345. b. 347. b. 8 Co. 153. b. 3 Keb. 244. 1 Mod. 99.

[d] See Bract. fo. 98. b.

[e] See Co. Litt. 345. b. Poſt 487.

But admitting that the Condition is ſaved by the Word (Intereſt) or by any of the ſaid other Words in the Act of Attainder, yet the Defendant has not ſhewn that Wright the Leſſee was ſuch a Perſon as could take Advantage of the Saving. For there is an Exception in the Saving, viz. ſaving to every Perſon and Perſons, and to his or their Heirs, other than ſuch Perſons as by the ſaid Act are attainted, and their Heirs, &c. So that the Saving is not abſolute, but excepts the Perſons attainted and their Heirs, and therefore if the Party would enable himſelf to take Benefit of the Saving, he ought to aver that he was not any of the Perſons attainted, nor Heir to any of them, for the Word (Perſons) in the plural Number ſhews that there were others attainted beſides Sir Francis Lovel, and Wright the Leſſee might be one of them, or Heir to one of them, for which Reaſon the Defendant ought to have averred that Wright was none of them, and ſince he has not done ſo, he has not ſhewn that he was fully able to take Benefit of the Saving. [f] And to prove this, the Caſe in 8 Ed. 4. was cited, where it was agreed by the Juſtices in the Exchequer-Chamber, that upon a general Pardon granted to all except thoſe who were adherent to M. and her Son, if a Man pleads ſuch Pardon he ought to ſhew and ſurmiſe in his Plea that he is none of the Perſons excepted, and that he was not adherent to M. and her Son, and ſo of all other Points excepted in the Pardon, for the Party ought to prove [g] that he is ſuch a Perſon as can enjoy the Benefit of the Pardon. And ſo ought it to be done in the principal Caſe. Wherefore inaſmuch as the Defendant has not averred that Wright was not any of the Perſons attainted, nor Heir to any of them, he has not ſhewn him to be able to take Benefit of the Saving.

[f] M. 8. Ed. 4. 7. pl. 1. Fitz. Pardon 3. Bro. Charter de &c. 46. Pleading 124. Ante 103 (b). and ſee the other Books there cited.

[g] Carth. 132 Per Curiam.

But admitting that the Condition was ſaved by the ſaid Saving in the Act of Attainder, and that Wright had been ſhewn to be a Perſon able to take Benefit of the Saving, yet there is another Cauſe why the Fee-ſimple could not veſt in Wright preſently by the Death of Sir Francis Lovel without Iſſue, (if ſo be it be granted that the Word (forfeit) in the Act transferred the Reverſion of the Land to the King's Poſſeſſion) and that is, becauſe the Fee-ſimple which was veſted in the King could not be deveſted out of him, and placed in Wright the Leſſee, without Monſtrans de droit, or Petition, as the Caſe happens. [h] For as the King's Prerogative requires Matter of Record to bring Land to his Hands, ſo it requires Matter of Record to remove or take it out of him. And upon upon the Monſtrans de droit, or Petition of Right, the Party ſhall have an Amoveas manum directed to the Eſcheator, which is in Lieu of an Habere facias ſeizinam upon a Recovery, and until this the Fee ought to remain in the King. Then in the principal Caſe when Sir Francis Lovel died without Iſſue, the Fee-ſimple was in the King, being conveyed to him by the Word (forfeit) in the Act of Attainder, as is ſaid before, which cannot be deveſted without the ſaid Circumſtance. And from thence it follows, that if the Fee-ſimple could not veſt in Wright the Leſſee when the Condition was performed, viz. at the very Inſtant when Sir Francis Lovel died without Iſſue, it ſhall never veſt in him, for the Words of the Condition are, that if Sir Francis Lovel ſhould happen to die without Iſſue, then he granted the Tenements to Wright in Fee, which Word (then) is an Adverb of Time, and the Fee ought to veſt at the ſame Inſtant in which it was appointed, or it ſhall never veſt. As if a Leaſe is made for Life, and if the Tenant for Life dies, that then the Land ſhall remain to the right Heirs of J. S. in this Caſe if J. S. is living, his right Heir ſhall never have it, becauſe it cannot veſt when the particular Eſtate is determined, at which Time it ſhall either veſt or never. [a] So if a Man deviſes Land, and is diſſeized, and dies, the Deviſee ſhall never have it, becauſe it could not veſt in him at the Time of the Death of the Deviſor. So here inaſmuch as the Fee-ſimple could not remove out of the King, and veſt in Wright the Leſſee at the ſame Inſtant when the Condition was performed, he ſhall never have it, for afterwards he could not have a Petition nor Monſtrans de droit, becauſe he had no Right, for the Right which by Poſſibility he might have had was utterly deſtroyed by Reaſon of the King's Seizin, which would not ſuffer the Fee to veſt in Wright when it ſhould have done, and thereby the Poſſibility which Wright had to the Fee-ſimple was utterly deſtroyed. And thus the Caſe would have ſtood, although the Office had not been found in the 11th Year of the preſent Queen. But that Office, which has Relation to the Time of the Title given to the King, fortifies the Seizin of the King, and tends to deſtroy more effectually the Title or Poſſibility which Wright had to the Fee-ſimple. And therefore the Plaintiff, who derives his Title from the preſent Queen, ought to have Judgment to recover. And of this Opinion was Manwood Juſtice, who argued that the Word (forfeit) in the Act of Attainder veſted the Fee in the King, and that the Condition was not ſaved by the Saving in the ſaid Act.

[h] Ante 213 (i) and See the Books there cited.

When an Eſtate is to encreaſe by Force of a Condition, the Encreaſe muſt veſt at the ſame Inſtant when the Condition is performed, or it ſhall never veſt. S. P. 8 Co. 75. a. Poſt 489 (d).

[a] M. 39 H. 6. 18. pl. 23. Per Yelv. et Markh. Bro. Deviſe 15.

But all the other Juſtices argued to the contrary. And they took the Caſe in the ſame Light as if no Office had been found, becauſe the Office found in the 11th Year of the preſent Queen was utterly void for two Cauſes. The one was (which Harper Juſtice greatly relied upon) becauſe it is not ſhewn in the Replication that the ſaid Richard Prince and the others, before whom the Office was found, had Authority by the Commiſſion to enquire of the Matter which was enquired by them. For their Power ought to have been ſhewn in the Plea, as, that it was enquired before them by the Queen's Commiſſion to them directed to enquire what Lands or Tenements Sir Francis Lovel, who was attainted by Parliament ſuch a Day for Treaſon by him committed, had the Day of the Treaſon committed, or afterwards, and before the Act of Attainder, or, that the Commiſſion authorized them to enquire of all Lands concealed to which the Queen had Right or Title, or in ſome other Manner their Authority ought to have been ſhewn, as alſo it ſhould have been ſhewn that the Inquiſition was purſuant and agreeable to the Authority given by the Commiſſion. As if a Man would plead that ſuch a one was indicted of Treaſon before ſuch Perſons, he ought to ſhew that the Commiſſioners had Authority by the Commiſſion to enquire of Treaſons. So if a Man would plead that ſuch a one was indicted and arraigned before Juſtices of Peace, he ought to ſay that they were aſſigned to enquire, hear, and determine Felonies and other Miſdemeanors in the ſame County, for Perſons appointed by Commiſſion have no Power but that which is limited to them by the Commiſſion. But if an Inquiſition is pleaded to be taken before the Eſcheator by Virtue of his Office, or before the Sheriff, or before the Steward of a Leet, touching any thing whereof they have Authority by the Common Law or Statutes, there the Party ſhall not ſurmiſe that they had Authority over the Thing, becauſe they are Officers at the Common Law, ſo that the Authority which they have by the Law is known to the Juſtices, and appears to the Court judicially, but not in the other Caſe, and ſo is the Diverſity. Wherefore inaſmuch as it is not ſhewn by the Plea that the Commiſſioners had Authority by the Commiſſion to enquire of the Thing here enquired of, the Inquiſition is void.

E contra for the Defendant.

Where an Inquiſition is pleaded to be taken by Virtue of a Commiſſion, the Party ought to ſhew that the Commiſſioners had Authority by the Commiſſion to enquire into the Matter; but where it is pleaded to be taken before the Eſcheator virtute officii, or before the Sheriff, touching a Matter which they are empowered by the Common Law or Statutes to enquire into, their Authority needs not be ſhewn, becauſe it appears to the Court judicially. Same Diverſity 2 Mod. Entr. 336. pl. 29.

The other Cauſe why the Inquiſition is void, is, becauſe the Commiſſioners have not enquired whether Sir Francis Lovel was ſeized of the Reverſion of the five Acres the ſaid 21ſt Day of Auguſt, Anno 1 H. 7. or afterwards, and before the 7th Day of November then next following, at which Day the Act of Attainder was made, for to that Time the Forfeiture only extends. And ſo inaſmuch as the Jury was ſtraitned to that Time, and have not found the Seizin within that Time, the Inquiſition is void, for they have found nothing more than that King Henry 8. by Reaſon of the Conviction, Attainder, Act, and Deſcent aforeſaid was ſeized of the ſaid Tenements in his Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of his Crown. Whereas neither the Act nor all that preceded it could make Henry 8. to be ſeized, unleſs Sir Francis Lovel was ſeized within the Time aforeſaid, which ought to have been found ſpecially and preciſely, and ſeeing it is not, the Inquiſition is void. And ſuch was the Opinion of the Court. So that the Caſe now ſtands as if no Office had ever been found, and the other Points are only to be taken into Conſideration.

Where a Perſon is attainted of Treaſon by Act of Parliament, and all his Lands thereby forfeited from ſuch a Day before the making of the Act, upon an Office to entitle the King the Certainty of the Lands, whereof the Perſon attainted was ſeized within the Time limited, ought to be preciſely found, or elſe the Office is void. in Margine.

And as to theſe, and firſt as to the Word (forfeit) in the Act of Attainder, all the Juſtices except Manwood argued, that the Word (forfeit) did not veſt the Reverſion in the King, and that Vide 3 Co. 2. a. Dy. 208. b.

it

Before the Statute of 33 H. 8. cap. 20. if a Man was attainted of High Treaſon by Act of Parliament, and it was thereby enacted that he ſhould forfeit all his Lands, yet that was not ſufficient to veſt any Freehold in Deed or in Law in the King until an Office found, for the Words (ſhall forfeit) were only ſufficient to veſt a Right or Title in the King. S. P. 29 H. 8. Bro. Charter de pardon 52. Dy. 325. pl. 38. 1 Co. 42. a. 3 Co. 10. a. 2 Rol. R. 339, 375. 2 And 33. Godb. 312. 2 Leon. 126. Hob. 231. Crompt. J. C. 15. b. Vin. Abr. tit. Statutes E. 7. pl. 4.

it is not a ſufficient Word to veſt in the King any Freehold in Deed or in Law, but is only effectual to veſt a Right or Title in the King, as an Attainder of Treaſon at the Common Law does. And here the Word (forfeit) does no more than if it had been totally left out of the Act, (unleſs in the Point of Relation, for the Act ſays that he ſhall forfeit to the King all his Lands which he had the 21ſt Day of Auguſt laſt paſt, or at any Time afterwards, in which Point of Time the Word has Effect) for, without the Word (forfeit) in the Act, he ſhould have forfeited all his Lands to the King by the Common Law, becauſe he was attainted of Treaſon, for be the Attainder by Statute or by the Common Law, the Forfeiture to the King follows it as the Shadow does the Body (as Dyer termed it).

But although the Act ſays that he ſhall forfeit all his Lands, yet it does not appear what Lands or Tenements he had, and that ought to appear by Record, and is not Matter of Averment, which is not ſufficient, for Words without a Record are not allowable to entitle the King, but his Title in Caſes of Treaſon ought always to appear by Record, and where it does not appear by Record what certain Land the Party attainted had, the common Law will never adjudge the Freehold in Deed or in Law of any Land to be in the King until Office found. And for Remedy hereof the Branch of the Act of 33 H. 8. cap. 20. was made, by which it is enacted, that the King ſhall be adjudged in the actual or real Poſſeſſion of Lands or Tenements of Perſons attainted of Treaſon, without any Office or Inquiſition to be found; by which Act this Point is remedied in all Caſes of Treaſon which happen after the ſaid Act of 33 H. 8. but not in thoſe which happened before it, as our Caſe did; and if the Forfeiture only had veſted the Poſſeſſion in the King, this Act would have been in vain. [a] And in the Lord Hungerford's Caſe in 4 Ed. 4. where he was attainted of High-Treaſon by Act of Parliament, and by the ſame Act it was ordained that all Lands which he had ſuch a Day before the Act ſhould be forfeited to the King, it was there ſaid that the King might enter without Office or Inquiſition found, but Markham Chief-Juſtice of the King's Bench ſaid, "we will by no "Means grant that," and ſo ſaid other Juſtices. From whence it appears that the Word (forfeit) did not veſt the Poſſeſſion in the King, nor give him Entry without Office firſt found. And to this Purpoſe Harper Juſtice cited the Caſe in 27 H. 8. Bro. tit. Office devant Eſcheator, pl. 17. which is there put thus. "Note by them of the Exchequer, that where a Man is attainted by Parlia- "ment, and it is thereby ordained that all his Lands ſhall be forfeited, and it is not ſaid that they "ſhall be in the King without Office, there they ſhall not be in the Seizin of the King to grant "over without Office, for it does not appear of Record what Lands they are." Theſe are the Words of the Book, which, he ſaid, ſtrongly enforced and confirmed his Opinion, that the Word (forfeit) in the Act of Attainder here did not veſt the Reverſion in the King without Office found.

[a] M. 4. Ed. 4. 22. pl. 1. Fitz. Traverſe 5. Bro. 32.

By the Common Law after an Attainder of High-Treaſon, and until Office found, the Freehold ſhall continue in the Perſon attainted as long as he lives, ſo that he ſhall be Tenant to every Præcipe; and when he dies, if the Land is held of a common Perſon, the Freehold in Law ſhall be in the Lord of the Fee, before Entry, until Office found for the King, and if the Land is held of the King, then it ſhall be in the King in the Nature of a common Eſcheat, until Office found. S. P. 2 Leon. 126. 5 Co. 52. b. Strange 349.

And it was moved in this Caſe, that if the Poſſeſſion in Deed or in Law of the Lands of a Perſon attainted of Treaſon ſhall not be in the King before Office found, in whom ſhall it be by the Courſe of the common Law in the Life of the Perſon attainted, and in whom after his Death? And Barham Serjeant and the Lord Dyer held, that after the Attainder, and until Office found, the Freehold and the Fee-ſimple ſhould be in Fact in the Perſon attainted as long as he ſhould live. For as he hath Capacity to take in Deed Lands by a new Purchaſe, ſo hath he Power to retain his antient Poſſeſſions, and he ſhall be Tenant to every Præcipe. But when he dies, the Land cannot deſcend to his Heir, becauſe the Blood between him and his Heir is corrupted, and it cannot be in the King, becauſe no Office is found; and therefore Barham ſaid, if the Land is held of a common Perſon, [b] it ſhall eſcheat to ſuch common Perſon, and he ſhall be Tenant in Law before Entry to every Præcipe, until Office is found for the King: But if the Land is held of the King himſelf, then after the Death of ſuch Perſon attainted of Treaſon, the Freehold in Law ſhall be in the King until Office is found, in the Nature of a common Eſcheat, and not in the Nature of an Eſcheat for Treaſon. From whence it follows, that the Reverſion in Fee in the principal Caſe remained in Sir Francil Lovel all his Lifetime after the making the Act of Attainder, and when he died without Iſſue, then the Fee veſted in Wright the Leſſee, or elſe it went to the Lord by Eſcheat (as Barham ſaid), in either of which Caſes it follows, that the other Points which have been moved, viz. whether the Agreement real is diſſolved, and whether the Saving in the Act of Attainder has ſaved the Condition, and whether Wright was ſuch a Perſon as could take Benefit of the Saving, are not material, nor at all neceſſary to be conſidered in the Caſe: And from hence it alſo follows, that the Matter of the Bar is not confeſſed and avoided, nor traverſed, and therefore, it was ſaid, Judgment is to be given for the Defendant, and againſt the Plaintiff.

[b] See this Point denied 3 Co. 10. b. Per Curiam.

Where an Eſtate is to encreaſe by Force of a Condition, it is not neceſſary for the Privity of the Eſtate on the Part of the Leſſor to continue at the Time when the Encreaſe happens, ſo that although the Reverſion is removed out of the Leſſor, and out of his Blood, by his Grant, Eſcheat, &c. yet the Condition remains, and the Encreaſe ſhall veſt in the Leſſee upon the Performance of the Condition, diſcharged of all Incumbrances ſubſequent to the Condition. S. P. 8 Co. 76. a. Plowd Quær. § 305, in fine. Vin. Abr. tit. Condition T. pl. 26 in Margine. T. d. pl. 4. in Margine.

Nevertheleſs the Juſtices argued to the other Matters which were moved. And as to the Condition, they held that tho' the Reverſion was removed out of the Perſon of the Leſſor, and out of his Blood, by his Grant, or by Eſcheat, or by other Cauſe whatever, yet this ſhall not hurt the Leſſee when the Condition is performed, for the Act of the Leſſor cannot do any Prejudice to the Leſſee, but when the Condition is performed, the Fee ſhall veſt in him, and ſhall be diſcharged of all Rents, Recognizances, Conveyances, or other Incumbrances made by the Leſſor after the Condition was firſt made, or coming under the Leſſor, or under the Condition, or under Felony or Treaſon, or other Matter done by him. So that there is no Privity requiſite in the Caſe on the Part of the Leſſor or his Heirs, but the Condition is an Agreement real with which the Land is charged, into whatſoever Hands it comes. [a] And to prove this, Pleſington's Caſe in 6 R. 2. was cited, where a Leaſe was made for Years, ſo that upon certain Conditions the Leſſees might have a Freehold, and the Reverſion was granted by Fine, and a Quid juris clamat was ſued againſt the Leſſees, and there it fully appears by the Book that the Leſſees ſhould be allowed the Benefit of ſuch Conditions as would bring the Fee to them, and which were not repugnant to Law, ſo that upon the Performance of ſuch Conditions the Freehold ſhould accrue to them, and ſhould be removed out of the Grantee of the Reverſion, as well as it ſhould have been out of the Leſſor and his Heirs, if it had remained in the Leſſor. But the Lord Dyer ſaid that one of the Leſſees in that Caſe claimed the Fee by a Condition which was [b] repugnant to the Fine, and therefore he could not have the Fee. And note that Belknap Chief Juſtice there put this Caſe; [c] if a Leaſe is made for Term of Years, upon Condition that if the Leſſee pays a certain Sum of Money within the Term, then he ſhall have the Fee, and he accordingly pays the Money, there he ſhall have the Fee by the Condition, but yet if before the Day of Payment the Leſſor levies a Fine to another, the Termor ſhall attorn by Proteſtation, and if he pays the Money at the Day limited, the Conuſee ſhall have it, and he who was the Termor ſhall have the Freehold. From which Caſe it appears that by the Condition the Fee ſhall be transferred as well from the Grantee of the Reverſion, who is a Stranger, as from the Leſſor and his Heirs. And ſo all the Juſtices except Manwood held, that the real Agreement, viz. the ſaid Condition, bound all that ſhould come to the Reverſion after the Condition was made, whether they were Strangers or Privies in Blood.

whatſoever

[a] 6 R. 2. Fitz. Quid juris clamat 20. 1 And. 316.

[b] See the Reaſon of the Repugnancy agreeable to Dyer's Opinion, Dy. 209 pl. 21. Co. Litt. 378. b. 1 Co. 84. b. Perk. § 729. Ante 34 at the Bottom.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

[c] S. P. Co. Litt. 217. a.

And alſo the ſaid Juſtices argued to the Matter of the Saving in the Act of Attainder. But Harper Juſtice was of Opinion, that tho' it ſhould be confeſſed that the Word (forfeit) veſted the Reverſion in the King, yet it was not neceſſary to have any Saving in the Act. For, he ſaid, when the Makers of the Act inſerted the Words, that Sir Francis Lovel ſhould forfeit all the Lands and Tenements whereof he was ſeized ſuch a Day, it was not their Intent to make any other forfeit or loſe any Thing but Sir Francis Lovel only, who had offended, for it would have been a very unjuſt Thing in them to have inflicted a Puniſhment by the Act upon another who had committed no Offence, which cannot be preſumed to have been the Meaning of the Legiſlature, but their Intent was only to transfer the Poſſeſſions of Sir Francis Lovel, who had been guilty of an Offence, to the King, againſt whom the Offence was committed. So that the Act is no more than an Inſtrument of Conveyance, whereby the Poſſeſſions of one Man are transferred over to another, and it is the Office of Judges to expound the Words of an Act of Parliament ſo as that they may agree with Equity and good Conſcience, and do no Wrong or Injury to a third Perſon. And ſuch Conſtruction agrees with the Reaſon of the Common Law, which, altho' it allows many Prerogatives to the King, yet will never ſuffer them to hurt others. [d] And therefore, he ſaid, if a Bridge is repairable by a Subject, and it falls to Decay, and the King pardons him from repairing it, yet this ſhall not excuſe him, but he ſhall repair it notwithſtanding, becauſe others, viz. all the Subjects of the Realm, have an Intereſt in it. [e] So, he ſaid, if a Man has a Jewel in Pledge for 10 l. and he that pledged it is attainted, the King ſhall not have the Jewel unleſs he pays the 10 l. for his Prerogative [f] ſhall never prejudice another. [g] And, he ſaid, in 13 R. 2. the Earl of Kent had a Return of certain Cattle in Replevin, and the Owner of the Cattle was attainted, and there it was held that the Earl ſhould retain the Cattle againſt the King until he had received Satisfaction for the Thing diſtrained for, and the King's Prerogative could not diſcharge the Cattle from the Return, becauſe it could not prejudice another. And upon this Principle we ought to preſume that the Makers of the Act of Attainder did not intend to do any Prejudice to other Perſons, and therefore that the Condition here ſhould have been ſaved, if there had been no expreſs Saving put in the Act. So that in his Opinion it was ſuperfluous and unneceſſary to conſider the Words of the Saving. But if the Act had veſted the Reverſion in the King by the Word (forfeit), then (it was ſaid) none of the Words in the Saving would have ſaved the Condition here but the Word (Intereſt), and that would have ſaved it, as the Lord Dyer ſaid, for it ſeemed to him to be an Intereſt, and an Intereſt of and in the Land. But Harper ſaid that a Right and an Intereſt extend to the Thing itſelf, and here Wright the Leſſee had no Right to nor Intereſt in the Thing itſelf, viz. the Reverſion, for all that he had was an Agreement or a Contract real to have the Reverſion, which is no Intereſt of or in the Thing, and therefore in his Opinion it was not ſaved by the Words of the Saving, if ſo be that the Reverſion had been veſted in the King.

That where an Act of Parliament attaints a Perſon of High Treaſon, and that he ſhall forfeit all his Lands, it is unneceſſary to put in a Saving of the Rights of Strangers, which are always ſaved in ſuch Caſe by the Intent of the Legiſlature, for the Law will never puniſh thoſe who are innocent. See Godb. 324. 2 Rol. R. 340, 341.

[d] 5 Ed. 3. Itiñ. North. Fitz. Aſſize 445 M. 37 H. 6. 4. b. 12 Co. 30. 3 Inſt. 237. 2 Rol. R. 4. Noy 177. 2 Keb. 792. 3 Keb. 145. Vaugh. 333. 8 Mod. 17. 2 Hawk. P. C. 391. § 33. 1 Finch 45. 2 Finch 63. 3 Bac. Abr. 802. Ante 334 (t).

[e] S. P. Dy. 160. pl. 44. in Margine. 13 R. 2. 13 Bro. Pledges 31. in fine. Bellew's C. 263. Like Point H. 3 H. 6. per Babing. et Martin, Fitz. Dette 171.

[f] See Ante 246 (l) Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative T. 2. pl. 1. Stath. Diſtreſs 3.

[g] 13 R. 2. 13. Bro. Pledges 31. Bellew's C. tit. Diſtreſs fo. 149. T. 12 R. 2.

But it ſeems to me that altho' it ſhould be admitted that the Word (forfeit) veſted the Reverſion in the King, yet the Word (Right) was ſufficient to ſave the Condition. For (Right) is a general Word, which may be largely extended, for there is [h] jus recuperandi, jus intrandi, jus habendi, jus retinendi, jus percipiendi, and jus poſſidendi, and the Word (Right) being joined to (of and in the aforeſaid Tenements) may in a Saving include every one of the aforeſaid Rights, and many others, for he who has Eſtovers in the Tenements has a Right to have them, and he who has Common or a Way has a Right to have it; ſo that the Word (Right) being put in a Saving may be largely taken, becauſe to ſave the Right of a Stranger, who has committed no Offence, ſtands with Reaſon and Juſtice, and to take it away is contrary to Reaſon and Juſtice, for which Cauſe every reaſonable Man will extend the Word (Right) to ſave every Thing which one has or may have of, in, or out of Land. And if this Queſtion had been put to the Makers of the Act of Attainder, Did you intend to ſave the Condition of Wright the Leſſee, who was innocent of the Crime of Treaſon, or to take it away? they would certainly have anſwered, Nota bene by the Reporter. Whether a Condition to enlarge an Eſtate may in the Saving of an Act of Parliament be comprehended under the Words (Right) or (Intereſt).

[h] See Co. Litt. 345. b. 8 Co. 151. b. 2 Rol. R. 322. 401. Godb. 313. Vin. Abr. tit. Right A. pl. 1.

ſwered, God forbid that we ſhould take it away. And if it had been further aſked of them, Did you intend that it ſhould be ſaved in the Word (Right)? they would have anſwered, Yes. Wherefore to reſt upon the ſtrict Definition of the Word, and to refer it to a Right left upon a Diſſeizin or other Wrong, ſeems to me to be manifeſtly injurious, nam qui hæret in litera, hæret in cortice, he that ſticks to the Letter, ſticks to the Outſide of the Law, and cannot enter into the inward Senſe and Spirit of it, for Want of the Application of Reaſon, and ſuch Perſon is pretty much in the ſame Situation with him who is commanded to enter into a Houſe, and is obliged to ſtand without, knocking at the Door, and can't enter in, becauſe he has not the Key to open the Lock of the Houſe-door, for Reaſon is the Key which pierces and opens the Senſe of obſcure Words. So that it ſeems to me (and under Correction be it ſpoken) that the Word (Right), which is a general Word, and the Word (Intereſt) which is alſo a general Word, may in a Saving be extended to all Conditions, Rents, Profits, and other Things to, in, or out of Land.

Where a Man will take Benefit of an Act of Pardon with Exceptions, he muſt aver that he is not a Perſon excepted; but where he claims no Benefit by the Act, but only to keep an Eſtate which he had before the Act, in ſuch Caſe he need not make ſuch Averment. S. P. 2 Mod. Entr. 336. pl. 30. Vin. Abr. tit. Statutes E. 3. pl. 17.

And as to the Matter of the Averment, Harper ſaid that there was no Neceſſity for ſuch Averment that Wright the Leſſee was none of the Perſons attainted, nor Heir to any of them, for it is not expreſly ſhewn in the Pleading that any other Perſon than Sir Francis Lovel was attainted by the Act; and altho' from the Words of the Saving, which are, to all others than to the Perſons attainted, and their Heirs, it may be collected that others were thereby attainted beſides Sir Francis Lovel, yet it is not neceſſary to make ſuch Averment, becauſe Wright the Leſſee was not to take any Thing by the Act, but to retain that which he had before. And he ſaid that there was a Difference between the Caſe of [a] 8 Ed. 4. before cited and this Caſe here. For when a Man pleads a Pardon, he is to take Benefit by it, becauſe the Treſpaſs, Intruſion, or other Wrong which he has done is pardoned, and if he will have ſuch Benefit, he ought to make himſelf able to take it, for his Ability precedes the Benefit; but here Wright the Leſſee claimed nothing by the Act, but claimed to retain that which he had before the Act, in which Caſe if the Act does any Thing, it prejudices him, and defeats his Condition rather than gives him any Benefit, and therefore the Defendant, who derives his Title under that of Wright, ſhall not ſhew that which hurts himſelf, but the other Side ought to ſhew it, as to ſay that Wright was one of the Perſons attainted, for the Party himſelf ſhall not be forced to ſhew that which defeats his own Eſtate; and it ſhall not be intended that Wright was one of the Perſons excepted out of the Saving, unleſs it be preciſely alledged, which Allegation ought to come on the Part of him who is to have Benefit by the Act, and not on the Part of the other. Wherefore Wright the Leſſee ſhall be intended ſuch a one to whom the Benefit of the Act extends, and ſo the Lord Dyer held.

[a] M. 8 Ed. 4. 7. pl. 1. Ante 484.

Whether an Eſtate veſted in the King ſhall be deveſted out of him by Operation of Law by Force of a Condition, without Monſtrans de droit, or other Matter of Record, or not. Affirmatur Co. Lit. 354. b. 2 Co. 53 a. 8 Co. 76. b. Cro. E. 640. Pig. on Recov. 86. 1 Rol. R. 214. 2 And. 114. Poſt 553 (h).

Further, admitting that the Word (forfeit) in the Act of Attainder veſted the Reverſion in the King, and that the Condition was ſaved to Wright the Leſſee by the Saving in the Act, or even allowing this not to be ſo, and that the Office was good, then it was debated how Wright ſhould come to the Reverſion, viz. if he ſhould be put to his Petition, or Monſtrans de droit, or how otherwiſe he ſhould come to the Fee-ſimple. And as to this, if ſo be it is admitted that the Word (forfeit) veſted the Reverſion in Deed in the King, then the King's Poſſeſſion was full and perfect before the Condition performed and the Saving in the Act, and afterwards came the Saving, which would remove the Fee-ſimple out of the Perſon of the King, and convey it to Wright the Leſſee, ſo that Wright would have the Fee-ſimple by Means of the Saving, for it was in the King when the Condition was performed, and it muſt go out of him to Wright by the Condition and by the Saving. But in ſuch Caſe (it was ſaid by the greater Part of thoſe who ſpoke to this Matter) Wright ought to be put to his Petition, or Monſtrans de droit, or Amoveas manum, and ſo the King's Poſſeſſion ſhould be removed by Record. And the Earl of Northumberland's Caſe in 3 Ed. 4. was cited, wherein this Caſe is put: [b] If a Diſſeizor of Land held of the King commits Felony, and is attainted, and afterwards the Diſſeizee enters, and then Office is found, which finds the Attainder, and the Seizin of the Perſon attainted at the Time of the Attainder, there it was agreed by thoſe who argued on both Sides, that the Diſſeizee ſhall be put to his Petition, and that he cannot retain the Land, for the Office is true, and the Foundation of the King's Title is Matter of Record, in which Caſe the Diſſeizee ſhall be put to his Petition, and he cannot continue to hold the Land by his Remitter, becauſe the King ſhall be adjudged to be ſeized from the Time of the Attainder, ſo that the Seizin of the King was prior to the Re-entry of the Diſſeizee, and therefore his Seizin ought to be removed by Matter of Record. So in the principal Caſe if the Word (forfeit) had been ſufficient to have conveyed the Reverſion to the King, Wright the Leſſee, in order to come to the Fee-ſimple, ſhould have been put to his Petition, or Monſtrans de droit, and by that Means have diſcharged the Hands of the King, becauſe the King's Poſſeſſion was more ancient than the Poſſeſſion of Wright. But in the ſaid Caſe in 3 Ed. 4. it is held by the better Opinion, that if the Diſſeizee, after the Felony done, and before the Attainder, had entered, and ſo had been remitted, in ſuch Caſe the Office afterwards found, which found nothing but the Seizin of him who was attainted after the Felony done, and not at the Time of the Attainder, ſhould not have driven the Diſſeizee to his Petition, for the Diſſeizee had re-entered and was remitted before the Attainder by which the King was entitled, [c] and the Office ſhall not have Relation for the Profits beyond the Time of the Attainder, altho' for the avoiding of Incumbrances made by the Party attainted it ſhall have Relation to the Time of the Treaſon committed, committed, but not for any Profits, and therefore it ſeems that in that Caſe he ſhould not have been driven to his Petition, or Monſtrans de droit, but ſhould have avoided all Objections and Claims by Anſwer. And this is not like to a Caſe put by Serjeant Loveleſs, which was thus: [d] The King's Tenant in capite makes a Leaſe for Life, rendring Rent, and for Default of Payment, a Re-entry, and dies, and the Rent is in Arrear, and the Heir enters for Non payment, and afterwards an Office finds the dying ſeized, and the Tenure in capite, and that the Heir was within Age, in this Caſe Loveleſs ſaid that the Entry for the Condition broken was avoided. And there ſeems to be a good Reaſon why it ſhould be ſo, becauſe after the Office found the Rent ſhall be adjudged to have been always due to the King, and not to the Heir, and therefore the Entry of the Heir for a Thing which was not due to him ſhall, by the Relation of the Office, be adjudged tortious. [a] For in an Action of Treſpaſs brought in 19 Ed. 4. for entering into a Cloſe, and taking the Graſs, the Defendant pleaded that it was found by Office that the Tenements eſcheated to the King before the Day of the Treſpaſs, and there it ſeems that, as to ſuch Things as ariſe from the Land, as the Graſs, and the like, the Action which was well given to the Plaintiff was taken away by the Office found afterwards, which by it's Relation entitled the King thereto, but as to the Entry into the Land, or breaking of Fences, which don't ariſe from the Land, nor are any Part of the annual Encreaſe of it, the Action was not taken away by the Office. So that the Caſe put by Loveleſs differs from the Caſe where the Diſſeizee enters before the Attainder, becauſe there the King ſhall have none of the Profits.

[b] M. 3 Ed. 4. 25. a. Fitz. Office 1. Hob. 347. 2 Rol. R. 342, 497. Godb. 326. Hardr. 25.

[c] Co. Litt. 390. b. 8 Co. 170. a. Moor 630. 2 Rol. R. 421. W. Jones 78. 3 Keb. 653. 2 Hawk. P. C. 454, § 30, 32. 1 H. H. P. C. 360. 3 Bac. Abr. 87. Vin. Abr. tit. Office or Inquiſition K. pl. 5.

[d] Godb. 325, 326. 2 Rol. R. 342.

[a] M. 19 Ed. 4. 2. pl. 5. Poſt 546.

[b] But ſome were of Opinion that the Fee-ſimple, which was veſted in Wright the Leſſee by a Relation higher than the Relation of the Office, ſhould not be taken out of Wright. For altho' it ſhould be adjudged to be in the King, by the Relation of the Office, from the firſt Day of the Parliament which attainted Sir Francis Lovel, or altho' the Word (forfeit) in the Act of Attainder ſhould be adjudged ſufficient to veſt it in the King the firſt Day of the Parliament, ſo that at the Time of the Death of Sir Francis Lovel without Iſſue, which was the Time when the Condition was performed, the King ſhould be adjudged to be ſeized of the Fee-ſimple, chargeable with the ſaid Condition by the Saving in the Act, yet it ſeemed to them that when the Condition was performed, the Fee-ſimple ſhould be immediately [c] deveſted out of the King, without Petition, or Monſtrans de droit, or other Circumſtance. For if Wright the Leſſee ought to wait in order to have Recourſe to ſuch Circumſtances, then the Fee would not veſt preſently, and if it could not veſt in Wright preſently, then it ſhould never veſt in him, [d] for if Wright's Eſtate could not be enlarged at the Time when the Enlargement was appointed to take Place, it ſhould never be enlarged. [e] As if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, upon Condition that if the Leſſor dies without Iſſue, the Leſſee ſhall have Fee, and the Leſſee enters into Religion, and afterwards the Leſſor dies without Iſſue, and then the Leſſee is deraigned, in this Caſe he ſhall never have the Fee, becauſe it could not veſt in him at the Time when the Condition was performed. And the Law is the ſame if he was diſſeized at the Time. Wherefore to avoid the Inconvenience which would attend the bringing of a Petition, or Monſtrans de droit, or ſuch other Circumſtances, it ſhall be adjudged that the Fee-ſimple paſſed out of the King, and veſted in Wright the Leſſee at the Inſtant when the Condition was performed. [f] And Land ſhall frequently be deveſted out of the King by the Operation of the Law or of former Agreements, without Monſtrans de droit, or ſuch Circumſtances. [g] As if Tenant in Tail diſcontinues in Fee, and the Diſcontinuee enfeoffs the King by Deed inrolled, and the King leaſes the Land to the Tenant in Tail for Life, the Remainder to his Iſſue for Life, and the firſt Tenant for Life dies, the Iſſue is remitted by the Remainder falling upon him, and the Fee-ſimple is deveſted out of the King, and veſted in the Donor, without Monſtrans de droit, or other Circumſtance. So in the principal Caſe the Fee ſhall be deveſted out of the King by the Condition, becauſe of the Inconvenience which would otherwiſe ariſe. And if the Law be ſo where the Fee was veſted in Deed in the King, a fortiore it ſhall be ſo in the principal Caſe, where the King was not actually [h] ſeized of the Fee at the Time of the Performance of the Condition, but his Seizin was by the Relation of a ſubſequent Matter to that Time; ſo that in the principal Caſe there was an abſolute Neceſſity for it to be adjudged that the Fee ſimple was out of the King, which there was not in the ſaid Caſe put in 3 Ed. 4. before cited, where the Diſſeizee entered before Office found: So that, by the Opinion of ſome, there is a Diverſity between the Caſes.

[b] 2 Rol. R. 326.

[c] Herewith agree Co. Litt. 354. b. 2 Co. 53. a. 8 Co. 76. 1 Rol. R. 214. 2 And. 114. Cro. E. 640. Pig. on Recov. 86.

[d] S. P. 8 Co. 75. a. Ante 485.

[e] Kitch. 305.

[f] See the Books cited ſupra (c).

[g] 12 Co. 6. Hob. 348. Poſt. 553 (g). And ſee the ſame Point, viz. that an Eſtate may be deveſted out of the King by a Remitter, which is an Act in Law, 1 Rol. R. 214. Godb. 312. Cro. E. 640. 2 Co. 53. a. Pig. on Recov. 86.

[h] Vide Dy. 325. b. pl. 38. in fine Caſus.

And afterwards, becauſe the Condition to enlarge the Eſtate of Wright the Leſſee was good, and when Sir Francis Lovel died without Iſſue, the Fee veſted in Wright preſently, and there was no Matter of Subſtance to the contrary, the Court gave Judgment for the Defendant, which was entered as follows.

The reſt of the Record.

At which Day here came as well the aforeſaid Humphry as the aforeſaid John by their Attornies aforeſaid. Whereupon the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Juſtices here more fully underſtood, it ſeems to the ſame Juſtices here that the aforeſaid Plea of the aforeſaid John Nichols, by rejoining in Manner and Form aforeſaid pleaded, is good and ſufficient in Law to preclude the aforeſaid Humphry from having his Action aforeſaid againſt the aforeſaid John. Therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Humphry take nothing by his Writ aforeſaid, but be in Mercy for his falſe Claim thereof, and that the aforeſaid John go thereof without Day, &c.

Judgment.

A Report

A Report of a Judgment given in the King's Bench by the Juſtices of the ſame Court with the Aſſent of the Juſtices of the Common Bench, in Michaelmas Term in the 18*th and* 19*th Years of the Reign of Queen* Elizabeth, upon a ſpecial Verdict found in a Bill of Treſpaſs exhibited in the King's Bench by Henry Ludford Plaintiff againſt Thomas Gretton Defendant, for a Treſpaſs done in Land and a Houſe at Poleſworth in the County of Warwick. And the Record thereof is entered among the Records of Michaelmas Term 17 and 18 Elizabeth, Rot. 188. and was as follows.

Warwick. Declaration. Same Precedent Raſt. Entr. 678. b.

HEnry Ludford complains of Thomas Gretton in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal, &c. of this that he the 28th Day of March in the 17th Year of the Reign of the Lady Elizabeth now Queen of England, with Force and Arms, &c. the Cloſe and Houſe of him the ſaid Henry, viz. one Cloſe bordering upon a certain Lane called Hulls-Lane on the Part of the Weſt, and upon another Lane leading from Tamworth towards Atherſton on the Part of the Eaſt, and upon a Cloſe called Brodleys-Croft on the Part of the South, and upon the Queen's Highway leading towards a certain River called the Anker on the Part of the North, and a certain Meſſuage upon the ſame Cloſe firſt recited built, at Poleſworth in the County aforeſaid broke and entered, and the Graſs of him the ſaid Henry in the Cloſe aforeſaid lately growing to the Value of 20 s. with his Feet by walking trod down and conſumed: And other Wrongs to him did, againſt the Peace of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, and to the Damage of him the ſaid Henry 20 l. and therefore he produces the Suit, &c.

To this the Defendant pleaded, not guilty, and the Jury charged upon the Iſſue gave a ſpecial Verdict, as follows.

Special Verdict. Who to ſay the Truth of the within contained being choſen, tried, and ſworn, ſay upon their Oath, that long before the Time within written when the Treſpaſs within ſpecified is ſuppoſed to be done, Lord Henry late King of England the eighth was ſeized of the Tenements within written with the Appurtenances in which, &c. in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo ſeized thereof, he by his certain Letters-patent ſealed under his Great Seal of England, bearing Date the 14th Day of February in the 36th Year of his Reign, and to the ſame Jurors ſhewn in Evidence, gave and granted to one Richard Taverner, Roger Taverner, and Robert Taverner the Tenements within written with the Appurtenances in which, &c. among other Things; to have and to hold the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances among other Things to the ſame Richard, Roger, and Robert, their Heirs and Aſſigns for ever, as by the ſame Letters-patent among other Things more fully appears, the Eſtate and Title of which ſaid Richard, Roger, and Robert of and in the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances the aforeſaid Henry Ludford now has, and at the within written Time when, &c. had in the ſame. And further the ſame Jurors ſay upon their Oath, that by a certain Act made in a Parliament of Lord Henry ſometime King of England the ſixth in the 18th Year of his Reign held, it was enacted by the Authority of the ſame Parliament, that whatſoever Warrant from thence afterwards by the ſame then King Henry the ſixth or his Heirs to the Chancellor of England for the Time being ſhould be directed, the Day of Delivery thereof to the Chancellor ſhould be entered of Record in the Chancery, and that the Chancellor ſhould make Letters-patent upon the ſame Warrant, bearing Date the Day of the Delivery of the ſame into the Chancery, and not before in any Manner, and that if any Letters-patent from thence afterwards ſhould be made to the contrary, then the ſame ſhould be null, void, and of no Effect, as by the ſame Act more fully appears. And the ſame Jurors ſay upon their Oath, that before the making of the aforeſaid Letters-patent of the aforeſaid late King Henry the eighth to the aforeſaid Richard Taverner, Roger Taverner, and Robert Taverner in Form aforeſaid made, the ſame late King Henry the eighth directed his certain Warrant to one Thomas Wroteſley Knight, then Chancellor of England, for the making of thoſe Letters-patent to the ſame Richard, Roger, and Robert to be done, which ſaid Warrant to the ſame then Chancellor, before the making of the aforeſaid Letters-patent, to the aforeſaid then Chancellor was delivered; and that the Day of the Delivery of the ſame Warrant to the ſame then Chancellor was not entered of Record in the Court of Chancery of the ſaid late King Henry the eighth, according to the Form of the Statute aforeſaid. And if upon the whole Matter aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid found it ſhall ſeem to the Court here that the aforeſaid Letters-patent of the aforeſaid late King Henry the eighth to the aforeſaid Richard Taverner, Roger Taverner, and Robert Taverner in Form aforeſaid made, are good and valid in Law, then the ſame Jurors ſay upon their Oath, that the aforeſaid Thomas Gretton is guilty of the Treſpaſs within written, as the aforeſaid Henry Ludford within againſt him complains, and then they aſſeſs the Damages of the ſaid Henry Ludford by Occaſion of that Treſpaſs, beſides his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, to 30 s. and for thoſe Coſts and Charges to 40 s. And if upon the whole Matter aforeſaid in in Form aforeſaid found it ſhall ſeem to the Court here that the aforeſaid Letters-Patent of the aforeſaid late King Henry the Eighth to the aforeſaid Richard Taverner, Roger Taverner, and Robert Taverner in Form aforeſaid made are void in Law and of no Effect, then the ſame Jurors ſay upon their Oath that the aforeſaid Thomas Gretton is not guilty of the Treſpaſs within written, as he ſame Thomas Gretton within hath alledged. And thereof they pray the Advice and Diſcretion of the Court here in the Premiſſes, &c.

The CASE.

IT appears by the Record, that the Plaintiff has declared of his Cloſe and Houſe broken at Poleſworth in the County of Warwick the 20th Day of March in the 17th Year of the preſent Queen Elizabeth. To this the Defendant pleaded not guilty. And the Jurors charged upon the Iſſue gave a ſpecial Verdict, viz. That King Henry 8. was ſeized in Fee of the Tenements in which, &c. and being ſo ſeized, by his Letters-patent under the Great Seal, bearing Date the 14th Day of February in the 36th Year of his Reign, and to the Jurors ſhewn forth in Evidence, gave and granted to Richard Taverner, Roger Taverner, and Robert Taverner, and to their Heirs, the ſaid Tenements in which, &c, whoſe Eſtate the Plaintiff had at the Time of the Treſpaſs done. And further they found, that by a Statute made in 18 H. 6. it was enacted, that of every Warrant thereafter to the Chancellor of England directed, the Day of the Delivery of the ſame to the Chancellor ſhou'd be entered of Record in the Chancery, and that the Chancellor ſhou'd make Letters-patent upon the ſame Warrants, bearing Date the Day of the Delivery of them into the Chancery, and not before in any Manner; and if any Letters-patent ſhou'd be thereafter made to the contrary, that they ſhould be null, void, and of no effect. And the Jurors found, that before the making of the ſaid Letters-patent, the ſaid King Henry 8. directed his Warrant to the Chancellor of England for the making of the ſaid Letters patent to the ſaid Richard, Roger, and Robert, which Warrant was delivered to the ſaid Chancellor before the making of the ſaid Letters-patent, and that the Day of the delivery of the ſame Warrant to the Chancellor was not entered of Record in the Court of Chancery of the ſame King, according to the Form of the ſaid Statute. And if upon the whole Matter aforeſaid found it ſhould ſeem to the Court that the ſaid Letters-patent of the ſaid King made to the ſaid Taverners in Form aforeſaid were good and effectual in Law, then the ſaid Jurors ſaid that the Defendant was guilty of the Treſpaſs, as the Plaintiff had complained againſt him, and then they aſſeſſed Damages, beſides the Coſts, at 30*s.* and for the Coſts at 40*s.* And if it ſhould ſeem to the Court that the ſaid Letters-patent were void, then the Jurors ſaid that the Defendant was not guilty of the Treſpaſs, as he himſelf had alledged, and thereof they prayed the Advice and Diſeretion of the Court.

Letters-patent are good and out of the Act of 18 H. 6. cap. 1. although the Day of the Delivery of the Warrant to the Chancellor, whereupon they are made, is never entered of Record in the Chancery: But ſuch Non-entry is a Contempt in the Chancellor, for which he is puniſhable, as being contrary to the expreſs Direction of the Act. S. P. 2 Leon. 90, 91. Limited.

And upon this Matter the Court took Advice, and conferred with the Juſtices of the Common Bench, and the laſt Day of Michaelmas Term, in which the 18th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen ended, (Wray Chief Juſtice being abſent) the other Juſtices declared openly (as I was afterwards informed by thoſe who were of Counſel in the Caſe, and by others, for I went out of Court before this Matter came on) that it was the Opinions of them, and of the Lord Chief Juſtice who was abſent, and of their Companions in the Common Bench, with whom they had conferred, that the Letters-patent were good, notwithſtanding the Day of the delivery of the Warrant was never entered of Record. For the Act makes void no Letters-patent but thoſe only which vary from the Entry of the Day of the Delivery of the Warrant. For the Miſchief at the Common Law was in antedating the Patent, that is, in dating it before the Time when the Warrant came to the Chancellor to make the Letters-patent, as appears by the Preamble of the Act. As if the King had granted any Thing by his Letters-patent the 10th Day of May, and afterwards another Perſon had made Suit to him to have the ſame Thing, and had got a Patent of it made to him the 20th Day of May, and ſealed the ſame Day, but had cauſed it to bear Date the 1ſt Day of May, by this Patent falſely dated the firſt Patent, which was duly made, would have been avoided, [a] becauſe every Grant by Record hath Relation to the Day of the Date ſpecified in the Record, and not to the Time of the Delivery. And herein there is a Diverſity between a Deed and a Record, for a Deed of the [b] Subject has Relation only to the Time of the Delivery, and not to the Time of the Date, but on the contrary the King's Charter has Relation to the Time of the Date, and not to the Time of the Delivery, becauſe all Matters of Record, in Reſpect of their Highneſs, are [c] preſumed in Law to carry in themſelves abſolute Truth. And therefore none can ſay that the King's Charter was made or delivered at another Time than when it bears Date, no more than a Man may ſay that a Recognizance, or Statute-merchant, or Staple was acknowledged, or any Writ purchaſed, at another Time than when it bears Date. For to aver that it was antedated, or that it was delivered or acknowledged after the Date, tends to the Diſcredit of the Great Seal, or of Juſtice, or of the Officer of Record who recorded the Recognizance, or the Statute-merchant, and the like. But the Deeds of Subjects ſhall take Effect by the Delivery, and as the Party ought to prove the Delivery, ſo there he ought to prove the Time of the Delivery, and the Date is no Concluſion therein as it is in a Record. And becauſe

The Deed of a Subject takes Effect from the Time of the Delivery, and not from the Time of the Date; vice verſa of the Charter of the King. See ſame Diverſity P. 37 H. 6. 21. b. Per Curiam. Bro. Relation 13. 1 Leon. 183. 4 Bac. Abr. 197. Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative O. c. 2. pl. 5. 4 Co. 71. a. b.

[a] Dy. 355. a. Lane 40. Vin. Abr. tit. Faits P. 2. pl. 3. 1 Leon. 183. Rep. temp. Hardwick 184. 1 Finch 161, 162.

[b] S. P. 2 Co. 5. a. Salk. 76.

[c] Co. Litt. 117. b. 260. a.

the King's Charter takes Effect from the Date, therefore in order to avoid the Inconvenience which might happen if the Patent was antedated, viz. if it bore Date before the Day of the Delivery of the Warrant, and that it might not be ſo for the future, the Statute of 18 H. 6. cap. 1. was made, which remedies the ſaid Miſchief by making the Patent void which varies from the Day of the Entry of the Warrant received. But in the principal Caſe there is no Variance, becauſe there is no Entry made of the Day of the Delivery of the Warrant. But the Juſtices ſaid that the Non-entry of the Day of the Delivery of the Warrant was a Contempt in the Chancellor, and puniſhable in him, becauſe the Act ordains that the Day of the Delivery of the Warrant to the Chancellor ſhall be entered of Record in the Chancery, which the Chancellor ought to ſee done. And in ſuch Manner this Offence ſhall be puniſhed, but nevertheleſs the Patent is not void, becauſe there is no Variance between the Date of the Patent and the Day of the Delivery of the Warrant, as it is ſaid before.

Letters-patent are good and out of the Act of 18 H. 6. cap. 1. altho' no Warrant at all is ſent to the Chancellor. S. P. ſeems to be intimated Ante 232, at the Top, by the Words (where there is a Warrant).

And the Juſtices ſaid that they had reſolved upon two other Points touching this Act. The firſt was, that the Patent would have been good, although no Warrant had been made or ſent. For the Great Seal without any other Circumſtance is ſufficient for the Party to whom the Patent is made, and the Warrant is the Chancellor's Diſcharge, for thereby he knows the Will of the King. [a] But a Patent under the Great Seal is good enough by the Common Law, and it is the ſureſt Way for the Party to have the Patent without any Warrant, as they ſaid.

[a] Crompt. J. C. 108. b.

Letters-patent are good and out of the Act of 18 H. 6. cap. 1. which bear Date after the Day of Entry of the Delivery of the Warrant to the Chancellor. S. P. 2 Leon. 91.

The other Point was, that if a Patent bears Date after the Day of the Entry of the Delivery of the Warrant, in ſuch Caſe it ſhall be good, becauſe it is out of the Intent of the Makers of the Act, for at the Common Law there was no Miſchief in ſuch Caſe either as to the King or to any other which needed to be reformed, but the Miſchief lay in dating the Patent before the Time of the Delivery of the Warrant, as it is ſhewn before. And the Act ſeems to ſay as much, for it ordains that the Chancellor ſhall make Letters-patent upon the ſame Warrants, bearing Date the Day of the Delivery of them into the Chancery, and not before in any Manner; which Words (and not before) are obſervable, for they ſhew that the Miſchief at the Common Law was in dating the Patents before the Day of Delivery of the Warrant, and not after. And the Act ſays that if any Letters-patent are thereafter made to the contrary, they ſhall be void, which Words (to the contrary) are to be underſtood contrary to the ſaid Purview, viz. where they bear Date before the Day of the Entry of the Delivery of the Warrant, and not after.

[b] Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative G. b. 3. pl. 6. Note, There is another Point obſervable upon this Act, which was agreed by the Court in the Caſe of Willion v. Berkley, that where there is a Warrant, and the Day of the Delivery of it is entered, and the Patent has no Day of Date, it is good, and is out of the Words and Intent of the Act, and remains at Common Law. Ante 231, 232. And ſee Dy. 133. pl. 3. where the Warrant iſſued to the Chancellor bearing Date the 31ſt Day of October, Anno 37 H. 8. and there was a Defect or Miſpriſion in the Entry of the Day of the Delivery of it, for it was endorſed to be delivered the 1ſt Day of December, Anno Regni Regis H. 8. omitting the Year of his Reign, and the Warrant was filed among the Warrants of 37 H. 8. and the Letters-patent made thereupon bore Date the 1ſt Day of December, Anno 37 H. 8. in which Caſe (tho' it does not appear by the Book what became of it) it ſeems reaſonable that the Letters-patent ſhould be good, notwithſtanding the Defect in the Entry of the Day of Delivery of the Warrant, which (admitting it not to be aided by the filing of the Warrant) can at moſt be taken as a Non-entry, and ſo it brings it to the Caſe above adjudged. Quære.

[b] And ſo the Juſtices reſolved that Letters-patent ſhould be good in theſe three Caſes, viz. where there is no Warrant at all made, and where a Warrant is made and delivered, and the Day of Delivery is not entered, and where the Day is entered, and the Letters-patent bear Date after the Day entered. Wherefore here inaſmuch as there was no Entry made of the Day of the Delivery of the Warrant, in which Caſe there was no Variance in the Date of the Letters-patent within the Intention of the Statute, the Patent is good, and conſequently the Eſtate of the Plaintiff is alſo good, and the Defendant is a Treſpaſſer. And therefore the Court gave Judgment for the Plaintiff, which was as follows.

The reſt of the Record.

At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came the Parties aforeſaid by their Attornies aforeſaid. Whereupon all and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen here more fully underſtood, and mature Deliberation being thereupon had, it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Henry Ludford recover againſt the aforeſaid Thomas Gretton his Damages aforeſaid by the Jurors aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid aſſeſſed, and alſo 7 l. for his Coſts and Charges aforeſaid to the ſame Henry Ludford by the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen here with his Aſſent of Increaſe adjudged. Which ſaid Damages in the whole amount to 10 l. 10 s. And the aforeſaid Thomas Gretton be taken, &c.

A brief

A brief Report of the Opinions of the Judges of the Common Bench upon divers Points of Law ariſing in a Quare Impedit brought there by Roger Grendon Plaintiff againſt the Biſhop of Lincoln, and the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral-Church of Chriſt and St. Mary the Virgin in Worceſter, Defendants, which were there argued in Michaelmas Term in the eighteenth and nineteenth Years of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, and Judgment was given in Eaſter Term in the nineteenth Year of Queen Elizabeth. And the Record thereof was entered in Hillary Term 17 Eliz. Rot. 952, and was as follows.

LONE.

THOMAS Biſhop of Lincoln, and the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral Church of Chriſt and the bleſſed Mary the Virgin in Worceſter, were ſummoned to anſwer Roger Grendon Gentleman of a Plea, that they may permit him to preſent a fit Perſon to the Church of Dean, which is vacant and belongs to his Donation, &c. And whereupon the ſame Roger by Roger Giſſe his Attorney ſays, that whereas Lord Edward late King of England the Sixth was ſeized of the Advowſon of the Church aforeſaid as of a Groſs by itſelf, as of Fee and Right, in Right of his Crown of England, and he being ſo thereof ſeized, to the ſame Church, being vacant, preſented one William Chamberlain his Clerk, who on the Preſentation of him the ſaid late King was admitted, inſtituted, and inducted into the ſame, in the Time of Peace, in the Time of him the ſaid late King. And he the ſame late King being ſo ſeized of the Advowſon aforeſaid, died of ſuch his Eſtate thereof ſeized, without Heirs of his Body iſſuing, after whoſe Death the Advowſon aforeſaid deſcended to Lady Mary late Queen of England, as Siſter and Heir of the ſaid late King, whereby the ſame late Queen was ſeized of the Advowſon aforeſaid as of a Groſs by itſelf, as of Fee and Right, in Right of her Crown of England. And ſhe being ſo thereof ſeized, ſhe the ſame late Queen the 30th Day of June in the 1ſt Year of her Reign, at the Caſtle of Farnham in the County of Surry, by her Letters-patent (which the ſame Roger Grendon here produces in Court, ſealed under the Great Seal of the ſame late Queen of England, the Date whereof is at the aforeſaid Caſtle of Farnham the ſame Day and Year) gave and granted to one George Rotherham of Farley in the Pariſh of Luton in the County of Bedford Gentleman, and to Roger Barber of the ſame Town and County Yeoman, the Advowſon aforeſaid, by the Name of the Advowſon, Donation, free Diſpoſition, and Right of Patronage and Preſentation of the Rectory and parochial Church of Dean aforeſaid; to have, hold, and enjoy the aforeſaid Advowſon, Donation, free Diſpoſition, Right of Patronage and Preſentation of the ſaid Rectory and parochial Church of Dean aforeſaid to the aforeſaid George and Roger Barber, their Heirs and Aſſigns for ever. By Reaſon of which ſaid Letters-patent they the ſame George and Roger Barber were ſeized of the Advowſon of the Church aforeſaid as of a Groſs by itſelf, as of Fee and Right. And the ſaid George and Roger Barber being ſo ſeized thereof, they the ſame George and Roger Barber the 28th Day of September in the firſt and ſecond Years of the Reign of Lord Philip and the ſaid Lady Mary late King and Queen of England, at Dean in the ſaid County of Bedford, by their certain Writing (which the ſame Roger Grendon here produces in Court, ſealed with the Seals of the aforeſaid George and Roger Barber, the Date whereof is the ſame Day and Year) granted to one Thomas Grendon the aforeſaid Advowſon of the Church aforeſaid, by the Name of all the Advowſon of their Rectory of Dean aforeſaid, and the Advowſon, free Diſpoſition, Right of Patronage and Preſentation of the ſaid parochial Church of Dean aforeſaid, with its Rights and Liberties whatſoever; to have, hold, and enjoy the aforeſaid Advowſon, Donation, free Diſpoſition, Right of Patronage and Preſentation of the ſaid Rectory and Church aforeſaid, to the ſame Thomas Grendon, his Heirs and Aſſigns for ever, to the proper Uſe and Behoof of the ſaid Thomas, his Heirs and Aſſigns for ever. By Reaſon of which ſaid Grant the aforeſaid Thomas was ſeized of the aforeſaid Advowſon of the Church aforeſaid as of a Groſs by itſelf, as of Fee and Right, and he being ſo thereof ſeized, he the ſame Thomas at Shefford in the County of Bedford aforeſaid died of ſuch his Eſtate thereof ſeized, after whoſe Death the aforeſaid Advowſon of the Church aforeſaid deſcended to the ſame Roger Grendon, as Son and Heir of the aforeſaid Thomas, whereby he the ſame Roger Grendon was ſeized of the aforeſaid Advowſon of the Church aforeſaid as of a Groſs by itſelf, as of Fee and Right, and afterwards the Church aforeſaid became vacant by the Deprivation of the aforeſaid William Chamberlain, and yet is vacant, and on that Account to him the ſaid Roger Grendon it at preſent belongs to preſent a fit Perſon to the Church aforeſaid; and the aforeſaid Biſhop and Dean and Bedf. Same Precedent Raſt. Ent. 497. b. N. Bendl. 293.

Chapter him the ſaid Roger do unjuſtly hinder. Wherefore he ſays that he is damnified and has Damage to the Value of 100*l.* and therefore he produces the Suit, &c.

And the aforeſaid Biſhop, Dean and Chapter by William Paine their Attorney come and defend the Force and Injury when, &c. And the ſame Biſhop ſays that he has not nor claims to have any Thing in the Church aforeſaid, nor in the Advowſon of the ſame, unleſs Admiſſion, Inſtitution, and Deſtitution of Perſons to the ſame Church, as Ordinary of the ſaid Church; and this he is ready to verify, wherefore he prays Judgment if the aforeſaid Roger Grendon, without a ſpecial Hindrance in the Perſon of him the ſaid Biſhop in this Behalf to be aſſigned, his Action aforeſaid againſt him ought to have, &c. And the aforeſaid Dean and Chapter ſay that the aforeſaid Roger Grendon his Action aforeſaid againſt them ought not to have, becauſe they ſay that long before the aforeſaid late King Edward the Sixth had any Thing in the Advowſon aforeſaid, Lord Henry late King of England the Eighth was ſeized of the ſame Advowſon as of a Groſs by itſelf, as of Fee and Right, in Right of his Crown of England. And he being ſo ſeized thereof, to the Church aforeſaid, being vacant, preſented one Edmund Haltman his Clerk, who on the Preſentation of him the ſaid late King Henry the Eighth was admitted, inſtituted, and inducted into the ſame in the Time of Peace, in the Time of the ſame late King Henry the Eighth. And he the ſame late King being ſo ſeized of the Advowſon aforeſaid, died of ſuch his Eſtate thereof ſeized, after whoſe Death the Advowſon aforeſaid deſcended to the aforeſaid late King Edward the Sixth, as Son and Heir of the ſame late King Henry the Eighth, whereby the ſame late King Edward the Sixth was ſeized of the Advowſon aforeſaid as of a Groſs by itſelf, as of Fee and Right, in Right of his Crown of England. And being ſo thereof ſeized, he the ſame late King Edward the Sixth the 22d Day of May in the 1ſt Year of his Reign, at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex, by his Letters-patent (which they the ſame Dean and Chapter produce here in Court, ſealed under the Great Seal of the ſame late King Edward the Sixth, the Date whereof is at Weſtminſter aforeſaid the ſame Day and Year) of his certain Knowledge and meer Motion gave and granted to the ſame Dean and Chapter the Advowſon aforeſaid, by the Name of the Advowſon, Donation, Right of Patronage and Preſentation of the aforeſaid Church and Rectory of Dean in the County of Bedford, among other Things; to have, hold, and enjoy the Advowſon aforeſaid to the ſame Dean and Chapter and to their Succeſſors for ever. And further the ſame late King Edward the Sixth by his ſame Letters-patent of his ſpecial Grace, and certain Knowledge, and meer Motion, and by his Royal Authority ſupreme and eccleſiaſtical which he then enjoyed, for himſelf his Heirs and Succeſſors granted and gave Licenſe to the ſame Dean and Chapter, and to their Succeſſors, that they the ſame Dean and Chapter, and their Succeſſors, the Rectory of the Church aforeſaid, whenſoever by Death, Reſignation, or Deprivation, or in any other Manner whatever it ſhould happen to be vacant, immediately to their own proper Uſes ſhould and might hold to them and to their Succeſſors for ever, without Moleſtation or Hindrance of the ſame late King, his Heirs or Succeſſors, and this without any Preſentation, Induction, or Admiſſion of any Incumbent to the ſame Rectory from thence forwards to be made. And further the ſame late King by his ſame Letters-patent willed, and of his certain Knowledge and meer Motion, and by his Authority aforeſaid which he then enjoyed, for himſelf, his Heirs and Succeſſors, the aforeſaid Rectory and Church of Dean aforeſaid, as from thenceforth it ſhould happen to be vacant, as it is ſaid above, and all and ſingular Manors, Meſſuages, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Reverſions, Services, Glebes, Tithes, Oblations, Penſions, Portions, Fruits, Profits, Commodities, Emoluments, Poſſeſſions, and Hereditaments whatſoever, with all their Appurtenances, as well Spiritual as Temporal, to the ſame Rectory and Church, ſo as is aforeſaid being vacant, in any wiſe belonging or appertaining, to the ſame Dean and Chapter and their Succeſſors, and to their ſaid Cathedral Church appropriated, conſolidated, united, and incorporated: To have, hold, enjoy, and convert the ſame Rectory and Church of Dean aforeſaid, and all and ſingular the Premiſſes to the ſame Rectory and Church belonging and appertaining, to the ſame Dean and Chapter and their Succeſſors (as is aforeſaid) to their own proper Uſes, without any Preſentation, Nomination, Induction, or Admiſſion of any Incumbent or Incumbents to the ſame Church from thence forwards to be made, as by the ſame Letters-patent among other Things more fully appears. By Reaſon of which ſaid Letters-patent they the ſame Dean and Chapter were ſeized of the Advowſon aforeſaid as of a Groſs by itſelf, as of Fee and Right, in Right of their Cathedral Church aforeſaid. And they the ſaid Dean and Chapter being ſo ſeized thereof, the aforeſaid Edmund Haltman the ſixth Day of November in the fourth Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid King Edward the Sixth at Dean aforeſaid died, after whoſe Death the Church aforeſaid became vacant, whereby they the ſame Dean and Chapter immediately after the Death of the ſame Edmund Haltman became Parſons of the ſame Church, and the aforeſaid Rectory and Church of Dean aforeſaid to their own proper Uſes held and yet hold, and thereof then immediately and always afterwards have been and yet are ſeized in their Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of their Cathedral Church aforeſaid. And after the Death of the aforeſaid Edmund, the aforeſaid late King Edward the ſixth preſented the aforeſaid William Chamberlain as his Clerk to the Church aforeſaid. Which ſaid Preſentation, Admiſſion, and Inſtitution of the ſame William to the ſame in the Declaration aforeſaid above ſpecified were void and of no Effect in Law, becauſe the aforeſaid Church then was full of them the aforeſaid Dean and Chapter. And this they are ready to verify, wherefore they pray Judgment if the aforeſaid Roger Grendon his Action aforeſaid againſt them ought to have, &c. Vide Hob. 167.

And the aforeſaid Roger as to the aforeſaid Plea of the aforeſaid Biſhop above pleaded, for that the ſame Biſhop claims nothing in the Church aforeſaid, nor in the Advowſon of the ſame, unleſs Admiſſion, Inſtitution, and Deſtitution of Perſons to the ſame Church, as Ordinary thereof, prays Judgment, and a Writ to the Biſhop, &c. Therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Roger recover his Preſentation againſt the aforeſaid Biſhop to the Church aforeſaid, and have a Writ to the ſame Biſhop, that notwithſtanding the Claim of the ſaid Biſhop, he admit a fit Perſon to the Church aforeſaid on the Preſentation of the ſaid Roger, &c. And nothing of Mercy of the ſaid Biſhop, becauſe he excuſes himſelf of Hindrance, &c. But let Execution thereof ceaſe until the aforeſaid Plea between the ſame Roger and the aforeſaid Dean and Chapter be determined, &c. And as to the aforeſaid Plea of the aforeſaid Dean and Chapter above in Bar pleaded, he the ſame Roger ſays that that Plea is inſufficient in Law to preclude him the ſaid Roger from having his Action aforeſaid againſt the ſame Dean and Chapter, and that he to that Plea in Manner and Form aforeſaid pleaded has no Neceſſity, nor is by the Law of the Land bound to anſwer. And this he is ready to verify, wherefore for Want of a ſufficient Plea in this Behalf made, he the ſame Roger prays Judgment, and a Writ to the Biſhop.

And the aforeſaid Dean and Chapter, for that they have above alledged ſufficient Matter in Law to preclude the aforeſaid Roger from having his Action aforeſaid againſt them, which they are ready to verify, which ſaid Matter the aforeſaid Roger does not deny, nor thereunto in any wiſe anſwer, but that Averment wholly refuſes, they the ſame Dean and Chapter pray Judgment, and that the aforeſaid Roger may be precluded from having his Action aforeſaid againſt them, &c. And becauſe the Juſtices here will adviſe themſelves of and upon the Premiſſes before they give Judgment thereon, Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid here until from the Day of Eaſter in fifteen Days, to hear their Judgment thereon, becauſe the ſame Juſtices here thereof not yet, &c.

The CASE.

IT appears by the Record, that the Plaintiff has declared that King Edward 6. was ſeized of the Advowſon of the Church of Dean as of a Groſs by itſelf, as of Fee and Right, in Right of his Crown, and the ſame being vacant, he preſented to it one William Chamberlain his Clerk, who was admitted, inſtituted, and inducted. And the King died, and the Advowſon deſcended to Queen Mary, who in the firſt Year of her Reign granted it to George Rotherham and Roger Barber, and to their Heirs, who granted it over by Deed in the firſt and ſecond Years of Philip and Mary to Thomas Grendon and to his Heirs, who died thereof ſeized, and the Advowſon deſcended to Roger Grendon the Plaintiff, as his Son and Heir; and afterwards the Church became vacant by the Deprivation of the ſaid Chamberlain, whereby it belonged to the Plaintiff to preſent, and the Defendants diſturbed him. To this the Biſhop pleaded that he claimed nothing but as Ordinary. And the Dean and Chapter ſaid, that long before the ſaid King Edward 6. had any Thing in the Advowſon, King Henry 8. was ſeized of the ſaid Advowſon as of a Groſs by itſelf, as of Fee in Right of his Crown, and being ſo ſeized he preſented one Edmund Haltman his Clerk, who on his Preſentation was admitted, inſtituted, and inducted; and the King died ſeized, and the Advowſon deſcended to the ſaid King Edward 6. and he being ſeized thereof, the 22d Day of May in the firſt Year of his Reign, by his Letters-patent ſhewn forth, of his certain Knowledge and mere Motion gave and granted the ſaid Advowſon to the ſaid Dean and Chapter, to have and to hold to them and to their Succeſſors for ever. And further the ſame King of his ſpecial Grace, certain Knowledge, and meer Motion, and by his royal Authority ſupreme and eccleſiaſtical which he then had, for himſelf and his Succeſſors granted and gave Licenſe to the ſame Dean and Chapter and to their Succeſſors, that whenſoever by Death, Reſignation, Deprivation, or in other Manner the ſaid Church ſhould be vacant, the ſame Dean and Chapter and their Succeſſors might immediately hold the Parſonage of the ſaid Church to their own proper Uſe to them and to their Succeſſors for ever, without Moleſtation or Hindrance of the ſame King, his Heirs and Succeſſors, and that without any Preſentation, Induction, or Admiſſion of any Incumbent to the ſame Parſonage from thenceforth. And further the ſame King willed and granted of his certain Knowledge and mere Motion, and by his Authority aforeſaid which he then had, for himſelf his Heirs and Succeſſors to the ſame Dean and Chapter and to their Succeſſors, and to the ſaid Cathedral Church appropriated, conſolidated, united, and incorporated the aforeſaid Parſonage and Church of Dean, as it ſhould afterwards happen to be void, as is aforeſaid, and all Meſſuages, Lands, Tenements, Glebes, Tithes, and Hereditaments whatſoever, as well ſpiritual as temporal, to the ſame Parſonage and Church,

The King being ſeized of an Advowſon in Right of his Crown grants it by his Letters-patent to Dean and Chapter, when the Church is full, and that they may hold the Rectory of the ſaid Church, immediately after it becomes void, to their proper Uſe, to them and their Succeſſors for ever, without Preſentation, &c. of any Incumbent to the ſame Rectory at any Time after, and appropriates, conſolidates, unites, and incorporates the ſame Rectory and Church, and all, &c. belonging to it, to them and their Succeſſors, to hold to their proper Uſe; if this is a good Appropriation. S. C. N. Bendl. 293. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 193. See Aleyn v. Tothill from Coltheu. MSS. Spec. Cas. in 2. Gwill. on Tithes 436.

Church, ſo as is aforeſaid being vacant, in any Manner appertaining; to have, hold, enjoy, and convert the ſame Parſonage and Church of Dean, and all other the Premiſſes, to the ſaid Dean and Chapter and to their Succeſſors, as is aforeſaid, to their own proper Uſe, without any Preſentation, Nomination, Induction, or Admiſſion of any Incumbent to the ſame Church from thenceforth, as by the ſame Letters-patent among other Things appears. By Force of which Letters-patent the ſaid Dean and Chapter were ſeized of the ſaid Advowſon as of a Groſs by itſelf, as of Fee, in Right of their Cathedral Church. And they being ſo ſeized, the ſaid Haltman died the 6th Day of November in the 4th Year of the Reign of the ſaid King Edward 6. by whoſe Death the Church became void, whereby the ſaid Dean and Chapter immediately after the Death of the ſaid Haltman became Parſons of the ſaid Church, and the ſaid Parſonage and Church of Dean to their own proper Uſe held and yet hold, and thereof then immediately and ever ſince have been and yet are ſeized in their Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of their Cathedral Church. And after the Death of the ſaid Edmund Haltman the ſaid King Edward 6. preſented to the ſaid Church the ſaid Chamberlain as his Clerk, which Preſentation, Admiſſion, and Inſtitution of the ſaid Chamberlain thereto ſpecified in the Count was void and of no Effect in Law, becauſe the ſaid Church was then full of the ſaid Dean and Chapter. And thereupon they demanded Judgment. And the Plaintiff, as to the Biſhop's Plea, prayed Judgment, and had it, but Execution thereof to ceaſe until the Plea between the Plaintiff and the Defendants was determined. And as to the Plea of the Dean and Chapter, he demurred in Law.

And the Matter was argued at the Bar and alſo at the Bench in Michaelmas Term in which the 18th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth ended, and the 19th Year of her Reign began. And I heard the whole Argument of Dyer Chief Juſtice, and a great Part of the Arguments of each of the other Juſtices. And Exception was taken to the Bar, becauſe the Plaintiff after the Preſentation of King Edward 6. has alledged a dying ſeized in the ſame King, and a Deſcent to Queen Mary, which, altho' it was a Thing material, is not traverſed by the Plea in Bar, nor fully anſwered, but only by a Matter which amounts to no more than an argumentative Anſwer, viz. by the Grant of King Edward 6. and the Appropriation, which is an affirmative Plea, and does not confeſs and avoid the dying ſeized, nor traverſe it, but is only an Argument that King Edward 6. did not die ſeized, for which Reaſon the Plea in Bar is not ſufficient.

Where a Thing is materially alledged in the Count, and the Defendant in his Bar ſhews Matter of Law, which, when it ſhall be determined by the Court, will prove the Allegation in the Count to be true or falſe, in ſuch Caſe the Defendant ſhall never traverſe the Matter ſo alledged. S. P. H. 5. H. 7. 14. Per Huſſey. Litt. R. 15.

But the whole Court was of Opinion againſt this Exception. For whether upon the Matter diſcloſed King Edward 6. died ſeized, or not, is Matter of Law. For if his Preſentation of William Chamberlain was no Uſurpation, nor gained any Patronage to him, from thence it follows that he did not die ſeized, and if on the other Hand it did gain him any Patronage, then it follows from thence that he did die ſeized. So that this is Matter which is properly to be cleared up by the Court. And if the Defendants had taken a Traverſe in their Plea in Bar, they would have brought the Trial of this Matter to a Jury, who are to try Matters of Fact, and not Matters of Law, as this is here, for that which would come before a Jury to prove the Deſcent in this Caſe is Matter of Law, which is more proper to be tried by the Court than by a Jury. For which Reaſon the Plea in Bar is good. And ſo in all Caſes where a Thing is materially alledged, and the other Party comes in, and ſhews Matter of Law, which, when the Law ſhall come to be known, proves that the Matter before alledged is true or falſe, a Traverſe ſhall never be taken for the Reaſon above given. Wherefore the whole Court held that the Bar was good as to this Point.

The Diviſion of the Matter.

And as to the Matter in Law, it was digeſted into divers Points. Firſt, what Perſon is capable of an Appropriation; ſecondly, what Perſons may make an Appropriation, and how many ought to aſſent to it; thirdly, at what Time an Appropriation may be made, viz. if it may be made as well when the Church is full as when it is void; fourthly, if an Uſurpation may be had upon a Parſon Imparſonee, and if by the Uſurpation of a Stranger the Church may be diſappropriated; and laſtly, if all the Things requiſite concur in the Appropriation here pleaded.

1 Point.

By the common Law none but a ſpiritual Body politic or corporate is capable of an Appropriation, and not a natural Perſon, nor a Lay-man. 1 Finch 420.

And as to the firſt Point, the Juſtices were of Opinion that none but a ſpiritual Body politic or corporate, which hath Succeſſion, is capable of an Appropriation. For the Effect of an Appropriation, as to its original Inſtitution, was to make ſomebody perpetual Incumbent, and as ſuch to have the Rectory, and the Houſes, Glebe, and Tithes which are Parcel thereof. And in that he is made Parſon, he has the Cure of the Souls of the Pariſhioners, in which Caſe he ought to be [a] a ſpiritual Perſon: For as a Patron ought to preſent to a Church a ſpiritual and not a temporal Perſon, ſo for the ſame Reaſon an Appropriation ought to be made to a ſpiritual and not to a temporal Perſon, [b] for the one has Cure of Souls as well as the other, and there is no Difference between them but that the one is Parſon for Life, and the other and his Succeſſors are Parſons for ever. And therefore Appropriations were originally made to Abbots, Priors, Deans, Prebendaries, and ſuch others who could miniſter the Sacraments and perform divine Service, and to none elſe. And upon this Principle it was originally taken, that ſuch Parſons Imparſonees could not grant over their Eſtates to any other, for at this Day an Incumbent of a Parſonage preſentable cannot grant over his Incumbency to another, although he may make a Leaſe of the Glebe and Tithes,

[a] W. Jones 184.

[b] 2 Rol. Abr. 341. S. pl. 3. At firſt Appropriations were made to ſole Corporations ſpiritual, who could adminiſter the Sacraments, and perform divine Service, as Abbots, Priors, Deans, Prebendaries, &c. S. P. 1 Rol. R. 475. at the Bottom. 2 Rol. Abr. 348. L. pl. 1.

but

but he ought to [a] reſign, and then the Patron and Biſhop may make a new Incumbent, ſo that the Incumbency, which is a ſpiritual Office, cannot be granted over to another; and by the ſame Reaſon a perpetual Incumbent could not originally grant over to another his Eſtate, which contains the Incumbency and the Rectory itſelf, which was the Revenue of the Incumbent. [b] And upon this Ground is the Saying of Herle in 3 Ed. 3. where a Quare Imp. dit was brought againſt the Prior of St. John's Jeruſalem in England, (to whom the Poſſeſſions of the diſſolved Order of Templars, who had certain Parſonages appropriated to them, were conveyed) upon a Diſturbance to preſent to a Church which was appropriated by the Earl of Richmond to the ſaid Templars, and there Herle ſaid, if the Templars after the Appropriation had granted over their Eſtate of the Appropriation to Hoſpitalers, the Hoſpitalers ſhould not thereby have had the Appropriation, for it was granted only to the Templars, who could not by their Deed make an Appropriation to others; and he ſaid further, that that which was appropriated to the Templars was become diſappropriate by the [c] Diſſolution of their Order; wherefore it was thereupon ſaid to the Court, that the ſame Eſtate which the Templars had was conveyed to the Prior of St. John's by the Grant of the Pope, and of the King, and by Parliament. So that by the Opinion of Herle an Appropriation could not be transferred from one to another. And not without great Reaſon, for it contains a perpetual Incumbency (which is a ſpiritual Function) appropriated to a certain ſpiritual Perſon, which could not by Law be removed from them to whom the Church was firſt appropriated, by any Grant afterwards to be made by them.

Appropriations not grantable over. S. P. Hob. 307. Watſ. Compl Incumb. 191, 202.

a See Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 28.

b P. 3. Ed. 3. 11. b. pl. 1. Fitz. Grant 70. 7 Co. 13. a.

c S. P. Poſt 501 (d) and ſee the Books there cited.

And although originally Appropriations were only made to ſuch ſpiritual Perſons as could miniſter the Sacraments, and perform divine Service, as Abbots, Priors, Deans, and ſuch like, yet in Proceſs of Time they began by Degrees to ſhake of that Reſtraint, and were afterwards made to others, as to Dean and Chapter, (which is a Body corporate conſiſting of many Perſons, which Body together cannot ſay divine Service) and to Nuns, (who were Prioreſſes of any Nunnery, and could not miniſter the Sacraments, nor ſay divine Service to the Pariſhioners) which was grande nefas, as Dyer termed it; and this was done under the Pretence of maintaining Hoſpitality. And in order to ſupply theſe Defects in the Perſons to whom ſuch Appropriations were made, who could not themſelves perform Divine Service, a [d] Vicar was afterwards deviſed, who was deputed to Priors, or to Dean and Chapter, and at laſt to Abbots themſelves, and to others, to ſay divine Service for them, and he had but a ſmall Portion allotted him, and they to whom the Appropriations were made retained the great Revenue, and did nothing for it, and as the Revenue decayed, ſo did Preaching and Hoſpitality in the Parſonage, and other good Works, which was a great Miſuſe, as it ſeemed to the Judges. And all this was done under Pretence of Hoſpitality, which in Fact was the Ruin of Hoſpitality, and eſpecially in the Pariſh, where it ſhould chiefly be kept up. But yet ſuch Appropriations were never made but to a ſpiritual Body, and which had Succeſſors and not Heirs, in which Succeſſion the Patronage, Incumbency, and the Fruits of the Benefice might for ever remain, and a Marriage was made between them (as the Lord Dyer termed it), ſo that the one ſhould not be divorced or ſeparated from the other at any Time. * And in order to perfect ſuch Marriage, it was requiſite that the Patronage, which is another Thing than a ſpiritual Body, ſhould be in ſuch ſpiritual Body politic or corporate which ſhould be perpetual Incumbent, for the Patronage is a Thing temporal, to which the Incumbency which is a Thing ſpiritual ought to be conjoined, and that cannot be if they are in ſeveral Hands, for Separation and Conjunction are directly oppoſite and contrary to each other. Wherefore a ſpiritual Body politic or corporate, being the Patron, is only capable of an Appropriation.

Afterwards Appropriations were made to ſpiritual Corporations aggregate, who cannot all together ſay divine Service, as to Dean and Chapter, and at laſt to Nuns. S. P. 1 Rol. R. 455, at the Bottom. 2 Rol. Abr. 348. pl. 3.

d 2 Rol. R. 98. Palm. 113. 2 Rol. Abr. 348. pl. 3. 1 Mod. 12. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 195.

* Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 191.

As to the ſecond Point, viz. what Perſons may make an Appropriation, and how many in Number ought to aſſent to it; all the Juſtices unanimouſly agreed that the Ordinary, the Patron, and the King ought to agree to it, and theſe are Actores fabulæ, as Dyer termed them. And firſt the Ordinary inferior or ſupreme ought to agree to it, becauſe he is the principal Agent in it, for he has the ſpiritual Juriſdiction, and the Act of Appropriation is a ſpiritual Thing, and the Ordinary ſays, appropriamus, conſolidamus, et unimus, as principal Actor in the Cauſe (as Manwood Juſtice ſaid), becauſe the Cure of the Church principally concerns the Souls of the Pariſhioners, of whom [e] the Biſhop hath the Charge within his Dioceſe, for which Reaſon the Law has attributed to him the principal Part in the Appropriation. [f] And, it was ſaid, it appears in a Caſe in 6 H. 7. (which then commenced, but was not adjudged until 11 H. 7.) that a Union and an Appropriation belong to the Biſhop to do, and where a Union was there made of a Chappel in one Dioceſe to a College in another Dioceſe, the Aſſent of both [g] the Biſhops was pleaded, and a great Number of Caſes and Precedents in the Book of Entries were cited, where the Biſhop of the Dioceſe had made Appropriations, (which Caſes I will not here recite, my Intent being only to make a brief Report of the Matter, ſed ſumma ſequor faſtigia rerum).

2 Point.

Appropriations ought to be with the Aſſent of the Ordinary, the Patron, and the King. S. P. 1 Rol. R. 461. Cro. J. 517. 1 Finch 419, 420.

1ſt of the Ordinary. 1 Rol. Abr. 238. pl. 4. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 191.

e 1 Mod. 12.

f H. 6. H. 7. 13, 14. 11 H. 7. 8, 26. pl. 10.

g Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 185.

And that which the Ordinary of the Dioceſe might do, the ſame was uſed to be done within the Realm by the Pope, as ſupreme Ordinary, who claimed to himſelf a ſupreme Juriſdiction above all Ordinaries, and was long ſuffered to be done by him, ſo that he uſed to make Viſitations, Corrections, Diſpenſations, and Tolerations within every Dioceſe of this Realm, as the Ordinaries uſe to do (as Mounſon ſaid) and he took from the Biſhops of this Realm whatever and as much as he

The Pope uſed to be looked upon as ſupreme Ordinary, and made Appropriations without the Biſhop, who was only deemed inferior Ordinary. Vide Cro. J. 517. 1 Danv. Abr. 510. pl. 4. in Margine. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 191.

pleaſed.

pleaſed. In Conſequence of this Cuſtom he uſed to make Appropriations without the Biſhop, which were taken to be good, and the Biſhop, who was only looked upon as inferior Ordinary, never contradicted or oppoſed this Practice, but it was ſubmitted to and accepted as good; for (as Manwood ſaid) in preſentia majoris ceſſat potentia minoris. And ſo an Appropriation made by the Pope alone, without the Ordinary, was taken to be good. [a] And hereupon Manwood cited the Caſe in 29 Ed. 3. in a Quare Impedit brought by the Earl of Saliſbury againſt the Prior of Mountague, where an Appropriation was pleaded to be made by the Apoſtle, with the Aſſent of the King, without Mention of the Ordinary, which Appropriation was allowed to be good, and he ſaid that the Pope was called by the Name of Apoſtle. And many other Caſes were cited to the ſame Purpoſe. And the Pope uſed to make Proviſions until he was reſtrained by the Statute of 25 Ed. 3. which Proviſion was a Deſignation of the Perſon who ſhould be Incumbent, and an Admiſſion, Inſtitution, and Induction of him without going to the Biſhop. So that his Authority was looked upon as abſolute, and bound the Biſhop as his inferior in all his Acts. And ſo it was agreed by the whole Court.

[a] H. 29. Ed. 3. 7. b. Fitz. Quare Impedit 190.

The Authority which the Pope exerciſed in this Realm being acknowledged by Parliament to be in the King, conſequently he, as ſupreme Ordinary, may make an Appropriation of his own Authority without the Biſhop, where he himſelf is Patron.

And ſuch Authority and Juriſdiction as the Pope uſed to exerciſe within this Realm was acknowledged by the Parliament in 25 H. 8. and in other Statutes to be in the ſaid King Henry 8. So that he might lawfully exerciſe ſuch Juriſdiction as the Pope uſed or was accuſtomed to exerciſe within this Realm. And from him this Authority deſcended to King Edward 6. who made the Appropriation here, ſo that he being ſupreme Ordinary might make an Appropriation of his own Authority and Juriſdiction without the Biſhop, for which Purpoſe he inſerted in his Charter theſe Words, by our royal Authority ſupreme and eccleſiaſtical which we enjoy. And other like Acts of Juriſdiction and Authority he might do, which the Biſhop of Rome was uſed to do in this Realm. And hereupon Dyer ſaid, that in a late Caſe in the Common Bench between [b] Sir John Pollard and Walrond, he and all his Companions declared the Law to be, that a Reſignation which the Dean of Wells had made to the King was good and effectual, inaſmuch as the King was Head of the Church of England, and that it was as good as if it had been made to the Biſhop, and thereby the Deanery became void. Wherefore all the Juſtices agreed that an Appropriation made by the King alone without the Biſhop is as good as if the Biſhop had made it, or as it was taken in ancient Time to be when the Pope made it.

S. P. Poph. 145. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 192.

[b] Mich. 12 & 13 Eliz. Dy. 293. pl. 4. 1 Rol. R. 457. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 29. 1 Finch 401. Vin. Abr. tit. Preſentation F. b. pl. 2. in notis.

2dly of the Patron.

But although the Ordinary, inferior or ſuperior, is the Perſon who ought to make the Appropriation, yet he cannot do this without the Will of the Patron. For the Patron has a temporal Inheritance in the Advowſon, viz. a Fee-ſimple, which neither the Ordinary, nor in ancient Time the Pope, could take away from the Patron, nor alter without his Will and Aſſent. And therefore in all Appropriations the Patron is a Party, for he ought to accept it; and the Ordinary is the Agent, and the Patron is the Patient, and his Aſſent in ſubmitting himſelf to the Will of the Ordinary, and in accepting his Order, and in executing that which he ordains, is a Declaration of his Will, and the whole ſhall be intended to be done at his Requeſt, for the Benefice is his own. So that the Ordinary and the Patron are two Actors in this Drama.

S. P. 29 Ed. 3. 10. a. Per Skipw. 1 Rol. Abr. 238. pl. 2. Moor 900. Davis 74. b. 1 Finch 401. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 191, 192. For by the Appropriation the Patronage is extinct, Kelw. 48. b. Per Frowick. 2 Leon 80. Sav. 20.

3dly of the King.

But beſides theſe there is a third who has a Part to act herein, and that is, the King, as King, for he might be hurt by this Marriage or Appropriation, becauſe the Advowſon is held of him mediately or immediately. And if it is held of him immediately, then all Poſſibility of having any Advantage of Wardſhip, Relief, or the like, accruing from the Tenure, is taken away by this Conjunction, for then it cannot be expected that the Patronage will ever come again into Lay-hands, or that the King, who had the Patronage, if he was the Founder of the Abbey, Priory, or other ſpiritual Place, ſhall in any mean Vacation have the Preſentment. And if the Advowſon is held immediately of a Subject, yet it is held mediately of the King, [c] for all Lands within this Realm are held either mediately or immediately of the King, and before the Church was built the Land upon which it ſtands was held of the King, and ſo ſhall the Advowſon be held of him, which is [d] repoſed in the Patron in Lieu of the Land upon which the Church is built, and this Patronage may poſſibly come to the King by Eſcheat or otherwiſe, and if it does not, yet the King may have the Benefit of it by Lapſe. [e] For if the Patron does not preſent within ſix Months, then the Ordinary may preſent within the next ſix Months, becauſe it is his Duty to ſee that the Pariſhioners have divine Service performed, and if he does not preſent within theſe ſix Months, then the Metropolitan may preſent within ſix Months next after, in Reſpect that it lies upon him to ſee that the Pariſhioners have divine Service, if the Ordinary is remiſs in providing it, and if the Metropolitan does not preſent within theſe ſix Months, then the King may preſent when he pleaſes, for in Reſpect that the Land is held of him, the Preſentment accrues to him by Lapſe, for Default of the other three, as [f] ſupreme Patron (as Dyer called him, and Harper and the other Juſtices called him ſupreme Patron as King, and not in Reſpect of the ſupreme Juriſdiction which the Realm had acknowledged in him by the Statute, with Reference to that which was before exerciſed by the Pope). And all this Benefit which might accrue to the King from the Advowſon is loſt by the Appropriation, becauſe it will never come out of the Hands of the Incumbent again, ſo that the King can never have any Hopes of preſenting an Incumbent by Lapſe or otherwiſe. And therefore in Reſpect of the Loſs which the King ſuſtains by an Appropriation, the Law has given him a Prerogative that he ſhall be privy and ſhall give his Conſent to every Appropriation, as well where the Church

S. P. Poph. 145. 11 Co. 11. a. 1 Danv. Abr. 511. pl. 8. Davis 73. a. Style 156. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 192.

[c] H. 48 Ed. 3. 9. b. Per Finch. 50 Aſſ. pl. 1. Per Bel. Co. Litt. 1. a. 2 Inſt. 501. 4 Inſt. 192. 1 Finch 55, 112. 2 Finch 83, 132. Poſt Manxel's Caſe 13 (a).

[d] See 1 Nelſ. Abr. 184.

[e] See Ante 322 (k). and the Books there cited.

[f] Dyer 294. pl. 6. in margine. 1 Rol. R. 457, 460. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 116. See Ante 322 (k).

is of the Patronage of another, as where it is of his own Patronage. So that the King is the third Actor in this Drama.

But Quære, if the Appropriation be made without the King's Aſſent, what Damage the Parſon Imparſonee ſhall ſuſtain by it. [a] For the Appropriation is not Mortmain, as it appears in 21 Ed. 3. 5. in a Quare Impedit, where the Lord of whom an Advowſon was held brought a Quare Impedit upon an Avoidance, and took his Title upon an Entry for an Appropriation as for Mortmain, and there it was ſaid againſt him, that the Lord had no Damage by the Appropriation, for the Advowſon was held of him afterwards as well as before, and the Appropriator purchaſed no Lay-fee nor Thing temporal, but Tithes, and Oblations, and Things ſpiritual, ſo that the Caſe was not within the Statute of Mortmain; and there the Juſtices were of Opinion to give Judgment againſt the Plaintiff, for which Reaſon he was nonſuited. So that it appears from this Caſe that an Appropriation is not Mortmain. [b] But in P. 19 Ed. 3. the King brought a Quare Impedit againſt the Prior of Bentſey, and counted that the Prior held the Advowſon of the King as of his Crown, and preſented, and afterwards without his Licenſe appropriated it, whereby the Right of the Advowſon by the Law of the Land accrued to the King: And the Prior pleaded that the King by his Charter there ſhewn forth gave him Licenſe to appropriate it, and he ſaid that the Advowſon was held of one W. And it was there held by Stone, that if the Advowſon was held of the King as of his Crown, or as an Eſcheat, the Charter which did not make Mention [c] of the Tenure ſhould be void, and that the King ſhould not be foreclоſed of his Preſentment: And afterwards they were at Iſſue, whether the Advowſon was held of the King, or not. By the Purport of which Caſe, and by the ſaid Words (that the Right of the Advowſon by the Law of the Land accrued to the King), and alſo by the Words of Stone (that the King ſhould not be foreclоſed of his Preſentment), it ſeems that they took the Law to be, that for ſuch Offence, viz. for an Appropriation without the King's Licenſe, the King ſhould preſent. But what Eſtate the King ſhall have in the Advowſon is not there expreſſed. And inaſmuch as it is not Mortmain, I don't ſee that the King can have any Eſtate of Inheritance or Freehold, or that he can have more when it is held of him immediately, than when it is held of a Subject, for the Advowſon remains as it was before, and there is no Tranſmutation of the Poſſeſſion, nor any Subtraction of the Services of the Tenure, nor any Damage in the one Caſe more than in the other, but the King ſhall have as great an Eſtate in the one Caſe as he ſhall have in the other, and the Offence to the Prerogative is the ſame in the one Caſe as it is in the other. And it ſeems to me that the Advowſon ſhall not be forfeited to the King either in the one Caſe or in the other, but I am of Opinion with Shard in the Caſe of 21 Ed. 3. above cited, where, upon Wilby's ſaying that if the Advowſon had been held of the King, and it had been appropriated without his Licenſe, although another had been the Founder, the King might have ſeized the Advowſon, and yet it was a Damage to none, to that Shard replied, "What you ſay is the King's Prerogative, and has always been adjudged "as well touching Advowſons which are not held of him, as touching thoſe which are held of him, for "he who appropriates a Church ought to have the King's Licenſe; but if the King in ſuch Caſe ſeizes "the Advowſon, it is not forfeited, but he ſhall preſent to the Avoidances in the name of Diſtreſs, until "a Fine be made to him for making the Appropriation without Licenſe." Theſe are the Words of Shard, which I thought proper to cite at large, and the more ſo becauſe I did not hear the Judges ſpeak to this Matter.

Nota bene by the Reporter: Where an Advowſon (whether held of the King or of a common Perſon) is appropriated without the King's Licenſe; the Advowſon is not thereby forfeited, but the King may ſeize it, and preſent to the Avoidances in the Name of Diſtreſs until a Fine is made to him; and he ſhall not have an Eſtate of Inheritance or Freehold in the Advowſon, for the Appropriation without Licenſe is not Mortmain. S. P. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 107, 108, 192. 1 Finch 420.

[a] H. 21 Ed. 3. 5, 6. Fitz. Mortmain 11. Bro. Appropriation 6.

[b] P. 19 Ed. 3. Fitz. Grant 58.

[c] S. P. Ante 335 (a), and See the Books there cited.

And ſo all the Juſtices unanimouſly agreed, that the Ordinary inferior or ſuperior, the Patron, and the King, ought to aſſent to every Appropriation.

3 Point. The moſt proper Time for making an Appropriation is when the Church is void, yet it may be made when the Church is full, by ſuch apt Words as will ſerve to appropriate it when it becomes void. S. P. 50 Ed. 3. 27. a. Per Fulik. Bro. Appropriation 2. Hob. 150. 11 Co. 11. a. 1 Rol. Abr. 239. D. pl. 1, 2, 3. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 185, 192, 193. Vin. Abr. tit. Appropriation D. pl. 2. in Margine.

As to the third Point, viz. at what Time an Appropriation may be made, that is, if it may be made when the Church is full: As to this, all the Juſtices unanimouſly agreed that an Appropriation may be made by apt Words when a Church is full, that is to ſay, by Words which ſerve to appropriate it afterwards when it ſhall be void. For the moſt proper Time to make an Appropriation is, when the Church is void, becauſe then the Appropriation may be executed preſently. But if the Church is full, then if proper Words are uſed, as that the Patron, who is a ſpiritual Perſon, after the Church ſhall be void, ſhall be Parſon, and may retain the Glebe and the Fruits to his own proper Uſe, this ſhall make a good Appropriation when the preſent Incumbent is dead, or an Avoidance happens. [d] So that the Effect of the Words ſhall be there executed afterwards when the Church is void. And the Reaſon whereupon ſome have heretofore doubted of this, is, becauſe the preſent Incumbent has a Fee-ſimple in the Manſion, and in the Glebe, and in the Tithes, and there is no Reverſion or Intereſt in any other beſides the Incumbent, when there is an Incumbent. In which Caſe it has been ſaid that the Ordinary, and the Patron, and the King cannot grant to a Stranger that he ſhall retain in Time to come the Glebe and Tithes, in which they have then no Eſtate or Intereſt, but which another is ſeized of in Fee, and that they cannot unite, annex, or conſolidate to the Patron and his Succeſſors the Rectory in which they have no Eſtate; but as to this, true it is that neither the Patron, nor the Ordinary, nor the King have any Eſtate in the Parſonage, but the whole Eſtate and Inheritance thereof is in the Incumbent, and therefore neither the Patron, nor the Ordinary, nor the King have any Thing to do with it in the Life of the Incumbent: But the Matter reſts upon another Point, for although they have nothing to do with the Parſonage, yet the Ordinary, inferior or ſuperior, may with the Aſſent of the Patron and of the King aſſign the Patron, being a ſpiritual Body, to be Incumbent when the preſent Incumbent ſhall be dead, or an Avoidance happens. And in this Caſe there is a Diverſity between the Preſentation of an Incumbent by the Patron, and this Aſſignation of an Incumbent by the Ordinary. [a] For when the Church is full, the Patron cannot preſent one to the Biſhop to be [d] Vin. Abr. tit. Appropriation D. pl. 6.

Diverſity between an Appointment of a perpetual Incumbent (by Way of Appropriation) by the Ordinary with the Aſſent of the Patron and of the King, when the Church is full, and the Preſentation of an Incumbent by the Patron when the Church is full.

[a] Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 217.

Incumbent after the Church ſhall be void, but he ought to wait until the Church is void, and before the Avoidance happens, he has no Title to preſent, nor is the Ordinary bound to accept the Perſon preſented to be Parſon at a Time to come, but ſuch Preſentation ſhall be void. But the Ordinary with the Aſſent of the Patron and of the King may aſſign the Patron, being a ſpiritual Body, to be Incumbent when the preſent Incumbent ſhall die, or an Avoidance happen, for this is prejudicial to none, and the Perſon aſſigned may be ſo fit for it that it may be beneficial to the Church and to Religion. [b] And upon this Reaſon the Pope, before he was prohibited by the Act of 25 Ed. 3. uſed to make Proviſions to the Benefices of other Patrons, and eſpecially to the Benefices which the Clergy had, which although injurious to the Patrons, yet ſuch Proviſion as to Incumbents was undoubtedly allowed in the Law as good, and ſuch Proviſion was nothing more than a Deſignation of one to be an Incumbent after the preſent Incumbent ſhould be dead, or an Avoidance ſhould happen, and that ſuch Perſon aſſigned might [c] enter into the Rectory, and retain the Profits during his Life without Admiſſion, Inſtitution, and Induction. And if the Pope could do ſo in ſuch Caſe where it was injurious to the Patron, and the Clerk ſo appointed was, after the Death of the Incumbent, adjudged in Law a ſufficient Incumbent, without Admiſſion, Inſtitution, or Induction, a fortiore he might have done this to the Patron himſelf, in which Caſe no Injury would have been done to the Patron, and ſuch Patron ſhould have been adjudged Incumbent without any other Admiſſion or Inſtitution, and might have entered without Induction. And if the Pope uſed to do this, then the King, in whom ſuch Power as the Pope exerciſed is acknowledged by Parliament to be, may do it, and then if the ſpiritual Body ſo aſſigned ſhall be adjudged Incumbent without other Admiſſion or Inſtitution, and ſhall thereby have the ſpiritual Function, and be Parſon in deed, then he may enter into the Rectory, becauſe the King, who has ſufficient Authority to enable him ſo to do, has [d] diſpenſed with the Induction. So that when he is appointed to have the ſpiritual Function, and to be Parſon, he is thereby made Owner of the Poſſeſſions of the Parſon, for as he who is made Abbot has thereby the Poſſeſſions of the Abbey, ſo he who is duly made Parſon is implicatively made Poſſeſſor of the Parſonage, for the ſpiritual Office draws with it the Right to have the Poſſeſſions belonging to the Office. Wherefore the making of a ſpiritual Body to be perpetual Parſon when the Church is full is not preciſely a Grant of the Glebe and Tithes, but in that ſuch Body is made Parſon, he may, after the Death of the preſent Incumbent, or when an Avoidance happens, meddle with the Glebe and Tithes as Things annexed to his Office of Parſon. So that the Reaſon before-mentioned, which has inclined ſome to think that an Appropriation cannot be made when the Church is full, is of no Weight, but falls to the Ground. And all the Juſtices agreed that an Appropriation may be made in the Life of the Incumbent, with apt Words which will ſerve to appropriate it at the Time when an Avoidance happens, at which Time it will be a good Appropriation. [e] And Manwood Juſtice ſaid that in 6 H. 7. Keble, who argued that an Appropriation could not be made in the Life of a preſent Incumbent, admitted that an Appropriation might be made after his Death, as well as a Union, but then there muſt be other Words; which Words intended by him (Manwood ſaid) are Words [f] in futuro, viz. that he ſhall be Parſon from the Time of the Death or Avoidance of the preſent Incumbent.

b Moor 905.

c Davis 82. a.

An Appropriation made when the Church is full is not preciſely a Grant of the Glebe and Tithes, but an Appointment of a ſpiritual Body to be Incumbent when the preſent Incumbent ſhall die, or an Avoidance happen, and in ſuch Caſe the ſpiritual Body being appointed to the Function, and made Parſon, has thereby in him the Right of the Poſſeſſions, and may enter into the Parſonage, after the Death of the preſent Incumbent, or at an Avoidance, without Admiſſion, Inſtitution, or Induction. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 193.

d Davis 81. b.

e H. 6 H. 7. 13. b. 14. a.

f 1 Rol. Abr. 239. D. pl. 3. Hob. 150. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 193. 11 Co. 11. a.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

* S. P. held Dy. 244. pl. 60. Co. Litt. 352. b. 1 Co. 155. a. 10 Co. 48. a. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 424.

* It ſeems to me in this Caſe, that if the Dean and Chapter, after the Letters-patent made, and in the Life of Haltman, had made a Leaſe for Years of the Rectory, the Leaſe ſhould have been void, becauſe in the Life of Haltman they had nothing in the Rectory, and the Appropriation was not executed until after the Avoidance, at which Time by their Entry they had an Eſtate in the Rectory, and not before.

4 Point.

No Diſappropriation of a Church by Uſurpation upon the Parſon Imparſonee. S. P. 1 Rol. Abr. 240. G. pl. 2. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 122, 200.

As to the fourth Point, viz. whether a Uſurpation may be made upon a Parſon Imparſonee, all the Juſtices unanimouſly agreed that it cannot, becauſe the Church has an Incumbent, and is full, for he to whom the Appropriation is made is Incumbent, and as compleat a one as any other Incumbent ſhould be, who came in by Preſentment, Inſtitution, and Induction, and then there cannot be two Incumbents of one and the ſame Church at one and the ſame Time, for to be Incumbent is the Office of one Body, and if there is one Incumbent, and another is preſented, admitted, inſtituted, and inducted, all this is void. [g] As if A. is an Officer of an Office for Life, as Steward of a Manor, or the like, a Patent made to B. of the ſame Office during the Life of A. is void, and if B. is admitted, inſtituted, and inducted, A. ſhall have an Action of Treſpaſs againſt him. So if a Parſon Imparſonee has a Church appropriated to him, and another is preſented, inſtituted, and inducted into the ſame Church, he ſhall have an Action of Treſpaſs againſt him, if he meddles with the Glebe and Tithes, as it is agreed by all the Juſtices in [h] 38 H. 6. And the like Caſe was cited in 39 H. 6. [i] where a Prior was Parſon Imparſonee, and a Stranger preſented his Clerk, who was admitted, inſtituted, and inducted, and in by ſix Months, and made a Leaſe of the Parſonage, and the Leſſee ouſted the Prior, and the Prior brought an Action of Treſpaſs, and the Matter was there well debated, and it was the Opinion of the whole Court that the Action of the Prior was maintenable, [k] for when the Church was full of the Prior, the Preſentation, Inſtitution, and Induction of the other did not ouſt the Prior, but was void, becauſe the Prior ſhall be adjudged always in Poſſeſſion, and therefore he could not have had a [l] Writ of Right of Advowſon, for none ſhall have that Writ but he who is out of Poſſeſſion, for which g Hardr. 12.

h H. 38 H. 6. 1 b. Fitz. Conſultation 1.

i M. 39 H. 6. 20, 21. F. N. B. 35. f.

k Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 247.

l P. 21. Ed. 4. 1. a. Per Collow. H. 38. H. 6. 20. a. Per Danby. Sed Contra 2 Rol. Abr. 383. L.

Reaſon

Reaſon his Action of Treſpaſs or Aſſize ſhould lie. [a] But a Parſon Imparſonee cannot, in a Quare Impedit brought againſt him, plead Plenarty (as Manwood ſaid), becauſe the Statute of Weſtminſter 2. cap. 5. gives ſuch Plea to the Patron, viz. that the Church is full of his own Preſentation by ſix Months before the Writ purchaſed, which a Parſon Imparſonee cannot ſay; and that Statute deſtroys the Pleading of Plenarty at the Common Law, which was, [b] that the Church was full the Day of the Writ purchaſed, as it is ſaid in the ſaid Caſe of 38 H. 6. Wherefore a Uſurpation cannot be made upon a Parſon Imparſonee, nor can the Church be diſappropriated by ſuch Means.

[a] 1 Finch 412. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 283.

[b] 1 Finch 411. 2 Inſt. 360.

[c] But if a Parſon Imparſonee preſents another, thereby he has diſappropriated the Advowſon, and made it preſentable ever after, as Manwood ſaid; for, he ſaid, volenti non fit injuria, but againſt his Will no one can tortiouſly diſappropriate it. [d] And if a Corporation, to which a Church is appropriated, is diſſolved, the Church is thereby diſappropriated, (as the Lord Dyer ſaid) and the Lord of whom the Advowſon is held may preſent to it.

[c] S. P. 1 Rol. Abr. 240. F. pl. 1. F. N. B. 35. f. Hob. 152. Sav. 21. 2 Leon. 80. 1 Keb. 96. Per Windham. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 199.

[d] P. 3. Ed. 3. 11. Per Herle. H. 21. H. 7. 4. b. Per Frowick C. J. F. N. B. 33. k. 2 Co. 47. b. Hob. 307. Sav. 21. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 201. 1 Finch. 11. 2 Finch 14. Ante 497 (c).

[e] Quære if Dean and Chapter, or other ſpiritual Corporation, is ſeized of a Manor to which an Advowſon is appendant, and the Church is appropriated to them, and afterwards they make a Feoffment or a Leaſe of the Manor cum pertinentiis, ſhall this diſappropriate the Church? For it ſeems to ſome, that by the Courſe of the Common Law the Advowſon ſhall paſs as appendant to the Manor, but now by the Statutes, which have made the King and Lay-perſons capable of Parſonages appropriate, the Advowſon is in ſuch Caſe ſevered from the Manor by the Intent of the Acts, and in the Grant of the Parſonage appropriate, which may now be granted and transferred to common Perſons, the Advowſon ſhall paſs.

Quære by the Reporter.

[e] Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 201.

So it was held by all the Juſtices that no Uſurpation can be made upon a Parſon Imparſonee, as it is ſaid before.

And as to the laſt Point, viz. if there are all the neceſſary Ingredients in the Appropriation here pleaded. And the three puiſne Judges, viz. Mounſon, Manwood, and Harper, held that there were, and that the Words of the Charter of King Edward 6. are ſufficient to convey the Advowſon to the Dean and Chapter, and to make the Appropriation, and that the ſaid King's Charter ſerves for three Purpoſes, viz. to convey the Advowſon to the Dean and Chapter, and to make the Appropriation as ſupreme Ordinary with his eccleſiaſtical Juriſdiction, and alſo to give his Aſſent as King of this Realm, and that the Church was full of the Dean and Chapter immediately after the Death of Haltman, and that the Preſentation, Inſtitution, and Induction of Chamberlain was void, and that upon the whole Matter the Plaintiff ought to be barred. But as to the Lord Dyer, altho' he agreed with them in the firſt four Points, yet in this laſt he varied from them, and he took four Exceptions to the Matter and the Form contained in the Bar.

5 Point. If there is every Thing requiſite to make the Appropriation here good.

* The firſt was, becauſe in the Grant of the Advowſon to the Dean and Chapter, and to their Succeſſors, there is not the Clauſe of non obſtante the Statutes of Mortmain. For the King's Grant ought not to be taken to two [f] Intents, viz. to convey the Advowſon to the Corporation, and alſo to diſpenſe with the Statutes of Mortmain. [g] And hereupon he cited the Caſe in 9 Ed. 4. in an Aſſize between Bagot and Swiringdon, where the King granted an Office for Life to an Alien, and it was there taken that the Grant was not good, becauſe no Mention was made in the Charter that the Grantee was an Alien, and foraſmuch as the Grant could not enure to two Intents, viz. to make him a Denizen, and alſo to convey to him the Office, the Charter was held to be void; wherefore the Party, in order to enable himſelf to have the Office, ſhewed the Letters of Naturalization.

Exceptions taken by Dyer C. J. to the Matter of the Bar.

* See T. 17 Ed. 3. 39. pl. 12. cited 5 Co. 56. a. 7 Co. 4. b. a. good Caſe upon this Ground.

[f] 1 Co. 52. a. 2 Sid. 81, 142. 1 Finch 90. 2 Finch 101.

Vin. Abr. tit. Prerogative G. c. [g] H. 7 Ed. 4. 30. P. 9 Ed. 4. 11. Bro. Patents 62. 1 Co. 52. a. 5 Co. 56. a. 3 Leon. 243. 1 Finch 90. 2 Finch 101.

The ſecond Exception was, that the Charter is not ſufficient to make an Appropriation, becauſe it has not made the Dean and Chapter Parſons of the Church. And the Charter ought to have granted, that after the Avoidance of the preſent Incumbent they ſhould be Parſons, for the Words of uniting and incorporating the Parſonage to them and to their Succeſſors, and of enabling them to enter into the Parſonage, extend only to the Rectory in which the King and Patron had nothing, and therefore he had no Authority over it, and conſequently the Grant is void for that Reaſon. [h] But the effectual Words to make the Appropriation in this Caſe are Words which conſtitute them Parſons after the Avoidance of the preſent Incumbent, which Words are omitted. For if a Writ of Annuity had been brought by the Dean and Chapter, after the Death of the then preſent Incumbent, for an Annuity due in Reſpect of the Parſonage, or if a Writ of Annuity had been brought againſt them for an Annuity which was payable for the Parſonage, in both theſe Caſes they ought to have been named Parſons. [i] And this appears in the firſt Caſe in 21 H. 7. as well as in divers other Books which he cited. [k] And he alſo cited the Caſe in 12 H. 4. in an Aſſize, where the Prior of Burton brought an Aſſize for certain Wheat taken, &c. and the Tenant pleaded out of his Fee, &c. and the Plaintiff ſaid that he and all his Predeceſſors Parſons of the Church of Pederton had been ſeized from Time immemorial, &c. and it was the Opinion of the Juſtices that the Writ ſhould abate, becauſe he was Parſon, and claimed as Parſon, and was not named Parſon. And he cited divers other Caſes to the ſame Effect. So that, he ſaid, to be Parſon is the chief Point of an Appropriation, and therefore the Want of Words to make them ſo here renders the Appropriation inſufficient.

Exception 2.

[h] Hob. 148.

[i] H. 21. H. 7. 1.

[k] P. 12. H. 4. 20. pl. 6. Fitz. Aſſize 49. Bro. Brief 128. Noſme 13.

The third Exception was, for that the Defendants have not alledged that they entered after the Death of Haltman. For the Words of the Charter are, that after the Avoidance they ſhould and might might hold, &c. in which Caſe Power and Liberty is given them to hold, and they have not ſhewn that they did enter or hold, for in Things of Election the Party ought to ſhew that he has done it. And becauſe the Defendants have not alledged an Entry, the Appropriation is not ſhewn to be executed, and therefore the Plea in Bar is inſufficient.

Exception 3.

Exception 4. The fourth Exception was, for that the Defendants have pleaded that after the Death of Haltman they were Parſons, and held and yet do hold the aforeſaid Rectory and Church to their own proper Uſes, and thereof then and always afterwards have been ſeized in Right of their Cathedral Church aforeſaid, whereas they ought to have ſaid, in Right of the Church of Dean, for they hold the Parſonage in Right of the Church of Dean, and not in Right of the Cathedral Church of Worceſter, as it is ſhewn before, ſo that this is not well pleaded, but vitiates the Plea.

* See 1 Bulſt. 81. * But the Lord Dyer was the laſt who argued, and there was none to reply to him as to theſe Exceptions, and therefore one of the Defendant's Counſel, who heard the Exceptions, put in Writing ſuch Anſwer to them as occured to him, and delivered it to the Lord Dyer, which was alſo ſeen by the other Juſtices. And the Anſwer was thus, viz. as to the firſt Exception, touching a non obſtante the Statutes of Mortmain, [a] the Grant is good notwithſtanding there is not any Licenſe to alien in Mortmain, nor any Clauſe of non obſtante in the Patent, and that as well in the Caſe of a Grant by the King as by a common Perſon, and it ſhall veſt in the Grantees, or elſe it would not be Mortmain. [b] But the Penalty is, that the Lord immediate may enter within the Year, and the other Lords within half a Year after the Time devolves to them, and (if the Thing does not lie in Tenure) the King ſhall have it after Office found, and until Office is found it is in the Corporation. And ſo in this Caſe if the Clauſe of non obſtante was neceſſary, the King might have a Scire facias after Office found, and by that Means he might reſeize the Advowſon. But the Grant was a Grant and paſſed at one Time, ſo that the Patent is not void. And if in fact the Dean and Chapter had a ſealed Licenſe of the King to purchaſe this Advowſon of the King, this Licenſe and the Grant afterwards by another Charter were good, notwithſtanding there was no Clauſe of non obſtante in the Charter of the Grant of the Advowſon; and there might be ſuch Licenſe in this Caſe, and it is not neceſſary to plead the Licenſe upon the Grant, but when the Party is impleaded by Scire facias after Office finding the Mortmain, then is the Time to ſhew it. And in Fitzherbert Tit. Fines we may frequently ſee Fines levied to Corporations without ſhewing any Licenſe; but if after the Fine the Corporation is impeached for the Mortmain, then it is the Time to ſhew the Licenſe, and not in pleading or in ſetting forth the Title. And in rei veritate there is a Clauſe of non obſtante in the Patent here, although it is not pleaded.

Anſwer to the firſt Exception taken by Dyer C. J.

[a] See S. P. viz. that the King may diſpenſe with the Statutes of Mortmain without any Clauſe of non obſtante, Co. Litt. 99. a. 2 Hawk. P. C. 391, § 30.

[b] Co. Litt. 2. b.

And it ſeems that though the Dean and Chapter had not had any Licenſe to purchaſe this in Mortmain, nor any Clauſe of non obſtante in the Patent, yet the Patent ſhould have been good,

[c] Co. Litt. 99. a. [c] for it cannot be preſumed that the King is ignorant of his Law, becauſe he is the Head of it, and therefore when he granted the Advowſon here, and ſaid, of his certain Knowledge, &c. it is to be ſuppoſed that he was deſirous that the Defendants ſhould have the Advowſon, notwithſtanding his Statute of Mortmain, whereof it is to be intended that he takes Cogniſance by the Words, of his certain Knowledge, &c, ſo that the Grant countervails in itſelf a Grant and a Clauſe of non obſtante.

And where it is ſaid by the Lord Dyer, that the King's Grant cannot enure to two Intents, true

[d] 1 Co. 52. a. 5 Co. 56. a. 2 Sid. 81. Gouldſb. 20. 1 Finch 90. 2 Finch 101. it is, where the one Intent is to be taken of a foreign Matter, [d] as if the King grants Land to A. and his Heirs, and A. is his Villain, this Grant ſhall not enure to give the Land to the Villain, and alſo to manumiſe him, becauſe his being the King's Villain was a foreign Matter, and in fact not apparent to the King; but yet the Patent is good to the Villain, and the Land is veſted in him, though upon an Office finding that he is a Villain, the King may enter into the Land as well as if

[e] Ante 501 (8). any other had given it to his Villain, and in this Caſe the Land paſſed from the King, although the Patent did not manumiſe the Villain. But in the principal Caſe there is no ſuch foreign Matter in [f] M. 2. H. 7. 6. b. Bro. Patents 109. 7 Co. 14. a, Calvin's Caſe. 12 Co. 18. 2 Hawk P. C. 390. 1 Finch 59. 2 Finch 235. Deed not apparent to the King, which the King might be ſaid not to have Cogniſance of, for the King was well appriſed that the Dean and Chapter were a Corporation, and that his Statute of Mortmain extended to them, which Statute he could not be ignorant of, but on the contrary he had Knowledge of it, as his Words, of his certain Knowledge, teſtify. So that here there is no Ignorance in Fact, as in the Caſes of a Villain, and of an [e] Alien, but if there is any Ignorance at all, it is an Ignorance in Law, which cannot be allowed in the King in this Caſe.

Yet in ſome Caſes it is neceſſary to have the Clauſe of non obſtante in the King's Grants. [f] As in the Caſe of 2 H. 7. Fitz. Tit. Grant pl. 33. it was ordained by Statute that the Grant of the King to any one to be Sheriff of any County for a greater Time than one Year ſhould be void, notwithſtanding the Clauſe of non obſtante ſhould be in the Patent, and there it was taken that the Grant of the King made to the Earl of Northumberland to be Sheriff during his Life ought to have a Clauſe of non obſtante, &c. becauſe the Statute is ſtrictly penned ut ſupra, and the Patent made to the Earl in that Caſe was good with the Clauſe of non obſtante, &c. So if the King will grant to one to be Eſcheator for Life, there ought to be the Clauſe of non obſtante, becauſe the Statute has preciſe Words to make void ſuch Grants. [g] And in a Pardon of Murder, if the King expreſſes that the Party ſhall not find Surety for his good Behaviour, as the Statute of 10 Ed. 3. requires, there ought to be a Clauſe of non obſtante, &c. in the Charter, becauſe the Statute expreſsly makes ſuch Pardon void, if ſuch Surety is not found afterwards. So that to avoid the preciſe Words of the Act, it is neceſſary to have the Clauſe of non obſtante, &c. But in the Statute of Mortmain there are no preciſe Words to make the Grant void, but the Act gives an Entry or Seizure, as the Caſe requires, always admitting the Grant to be good. And here it appears appears to be the Intent of the King that the Dean and Chapter ſhould enjoy this without Seizure, as it is ſaid before; and the Words, of his certain Knowledge, ſhew that he took upon himſelf Cogniſance of all Things requiſite, and conſequently of the Statute of Mortmain.

[g] See 1 Sid. 41. Carth. 121. 2 Hawk. P. C. 398, § 70. But the Statute of 10 Ed. 3. is repealed by that of 5 & 6 W. & M. cap. 13. And Note that the diſpenſing Power is now taken away by the Statute of 1 W. & M. Seſs. 2. cap. 2. whereby no non obſtante of any Statute ſhall be allowed, without a Diſpenſation in ſuch Statute.

As to the ſecond Exception, viz. that the Charter has not expreſly made them Parſons; to this the ſaid Counſel wrote in Anſwer, that the Words which enable the Dean and Chapter to [a] hold to their own proper Uſe, without Preſentation, Admiſſion, or Induction, and the Words of the Grant by which the King appropriates, conſolidates, unites, and incorporates the Church and the Rectory to the Dean and Chapter and to their Succeſſors, import that they ſhall be perpetual Parſons, and in a Manner make them Parſons, and are equivalent to Words which make them Parſons, and are uſual in Appropriations without other Words to make them Parſons, as appeared by the Precedents ſhewn to the Lord Dyer with that which is here written. And theſe Words together with the Words, of his ſpecial Grace, and meer Motion, &c. are to be ſo applied that ſomething ſhall be made of them rather than they ſhall be void. And the King's Intent ought not to be utterly ſubverted.

Anſwer to the 2d Exception.

[a] See Hob. 307, that theſe Words by Periphraſis amount to the ſame as if they were expreſly made Parſons.

As to the third Exception, viz. that the Defendants have not ſhewn that they entered after the Death of the Incumbent; to this the ſaid Counſel wrote in Anſwer, that the Patent made the Dean and Chapter Parſons immediately after the Death of Haltman, without Preſentation, Admiſſion, and Inſtitution, and then if the Words ſhall take ſuch Effect, the Grant is as fully executed as if all theſe three Things were executed in a common Incumbent, and eſpecially as to the Admiſſion and Inſtitution, by which Words they were made fully Parſons, and had the Spiritual Function at the Inſtant of the Incumbent's Death, and the Cure of Souls, and as to the Induction which gives Seizin of the Poſſeſſions, that was diſpenſed with by the Patent, wherefore the Dean and Chapter are in the ſame Caſe as they ſhould be by Admiſſion, Inſtitution, and Induction. And tho' it ſhould be admitted that the Words of diſpenſing with Induction are not equivalent to an Induction which gains the Seizin, yet the Words of the Plea in Bar are, that after the Death of the Incumbent the aforeſaid Dean and Chapter were Parſons of the ſame Church, and the aforeſaid Rectory and Church to their own proper Uſes held and yet hold, and thereof then immediately and always afterwards have been and yet are ſeized in their Demeſn as of Fee; which Words (that they were ſeized) imply an Entry, for without Entry they could not be ſeized, and it is not the Practice in the Common Bench in like Caſes of Poſſeſſions executory to alledge an Entry. [b] For upon a Fine ſur grant et render the Pleading is, by Force whereof he (the Party to whom the Render was made) was ſeized, without ſaying that he entered and was ſeized. And in an Ejectione firmæ the Plaintiff uſually ſhews the Leaſe made, and ſays, by Force whereof he was poſſeſſed, and does not ſhew any Entry, and it is good, becauſe a Man cannot be ſeized or poſſeſſed of Land unleſs he firſt enters, and therefore when he ſhews the Seizin, it is as much as if he had ſaid, that he entered and was poſſeſſed or ſeized. And ſo it ſhall be in the principal Caſe here.

Anſwer to the 3d Exception.

[b] S. P. Cro. E. 917. pl. 9. per Curiam. 2 Mod. Entr. 325. b. pl. 6. Vin. Abr. tit. Fine L. b. 4. pl. 7. Vide Co. Litt. 201. a.

As to the fourth Exception, viz. that the Defendants have ſaid that they were ſeized in Right of their Cathedral Church; to this the ſaid Counſel wrote in Anſwer, that the Plea is, that after the Death of Haltman they were ſeized of the Rectory and Church of Dean in their Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of their Cathedral Church aforeſaid, &c. which is true, and well pleaded. [c] For there is a Difference when the Plea is of the whole, and when of Parcel. For if they were diſſeized of an Acre parcel of the Parſonage, there if they ſaid that they entered and were thereof ſeized, they ought to ſay, in Right of their Church of Dean. [d] And ſo in the Regiſter in a Juris utrum brought by L. Biſhop of Lincoln Parſon of the Church of E. the Words of the Writ are, whether 20 Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in E. are Frank-almoign belonging to the Church of the ſaid L. or Lay fee, &c. [e] So in 49 H. 6. 16, where the Abbot of Colcheſter Parſon of a Church claimed an Annuity which was belonging to the ſaid Rectory, it was taken that he ought to preſcribe in Right of the Rectory, and not that he and his Predeceſſors Abbots have had it from Time immemorial, for of Parcels and Things belonging to the Rectory they ought to be claimed in Right of the Rectory. But here the Parſonage and Church of Dean is an entire Thing, of which entirely the Dean and Chapter have alledged that they were ſeized in Right of their Cathedral Church, and ſo in Truth they are, and it would be very abſurd for them to ſay that they were ſeized of the Church of Dean in Right of the Church of Dean, or of the Rectory and Church of Dean in Right of the Church of Dean. Wherefore there is an apparent Diverſity between the Caſes.

Anſwer to the 4th Exception.

[c] 2 Danv. Abr. 219. pl. 2. in notis. Vin. Abr. tit. Corporations C. a. pl. 37. tit. Seizin K. pl. 22.

[d] Regiſt. F. N. B. 49. n.

[e] M. 49 H. 6. 16. b. Fitz. Fauxer de recov. 18.

Beſides, if the Words in Right of their Cathedral Church aforeſaid, &c. had been totally omitted, the Plea would not have been bad, [f] and then the Miſ-recital of that which might have been wholly omitted cannot vitiate the Plea.

[f] S. P. 6 Mod. 41. 8 Mod. 377 Turner v. Moſs. 4 Bac. Abr. 94. Ante 30 (c) per Harris. 32 (m) per Hinde J. 81 (b) per Whidon.

* And afterwards Judgment was given for the Defendants, and againſt the Plaintiff; which Judgment here follows.

* See N. Bendl. 296. S. C. ſays that no Judgment was here given, but that the Parties compromiſed the Matter upon the Payment of a Sum of Money awarded to the Plaintiff.

The reſt of the Record.

At which Day here came as well the aforeſaid Roger as the aforeſaid Dean and Chapter by their Attornies aforeſaid. And thereupon the Plea aforeſaid of the aforeſaid Dean and Chapter above in Bar pleaded being ſeen and by the Juſtices here more fully underſtood, it ſeems to the ſame Juſtices here that the ſaid Plea is ſufficient to preclude the aforeſaid Roger from having his Action aforeſaid againſt the aforeſaid Dean and Chapter. Therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Roger take nothing by his Writ aforeſaid, but be in Mercy for his falſe Claim, and that the aforeſaid Dean and Chapter go thereof without Day, &c.

Judgment.

A brief Report of a Judgment given in the King's Bench in Hillary Term in the 20th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, upon a ſpecial Verdict found in the County of Somerſet upon the general Iſſue in a Bill of Ejectione firmæ brought by Nicholas Eare (Leſſee for Years of Hugh Trevilian, Son of Thomas Trevilian youngeſt Son of John Trevilian, Son and Heir of Sir John Trevilian Knight, of Tenements in Lucomb, Minhead, Dunſter, and Timberſcomb in the County of Somerſet) againſt Nicholas Snow and two others, who ejected the Leſſee as Servants and by the Command of John Trevilian, Son and Heir of John Trevilian, eldeſt Son and Heir of the ſaid John Trevilian, Son and Heir of the ſaid Sir John Trevilian Knight. And the ſaid Leaſe was made the 8th Day of May in the 18th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, and the Ejectment was done the 12th Day of the ſame Month in the ſame Year. And the Record thereof is entered among the Records of Trinity Term 18 Elizabeth, Rot. 495, and was as follows.

Somerſet. Declaration. Same Precedent Raſt. Entr. 258. a. pl. 15.

BE it remembered, that otherwiſe, viz. in the Term of Eaſter laſt paſt, before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came Nicholas Eare by Thomas Stranſham his Attorney, and brought here into the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen then there his certain Bill againſt Nicholas Snow otherwiſe Jacob, Agnes Elſworthy Widow, and Thomas Elſworthy, in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal &c. of a Plea of Treſpaſs and Ejectment of a Farm. And there are Pledges of proſecuting, viz. John Doe and Richard Roe. Which ſaid Bill follows in theſe Words, viz. Somers. viz. Nicholas Eare complains of Nicholas Snow otherwiſe Jacob, Agnes Elſworthy Widow, and Thomas Elſworthy, in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal of the Marſhalſea of the Lady the Queen before the Queen herſelf, for this, viz. that whereas Hugh Trevilian Gentleman the 8th Day of May in the 18th Year of the Reign of the Lady Elizabeth now Queen of England, at Lucomb in the County aforeſaid, demiſed, granted, and to Farm let to the aforeſaid Nicholas Eare 4 Meſſuages, 200 Acres of Land, 30 Acres of Meadow, 100 Acres of Paſture, 20 Acres of Wood, and 60 Acres of Furze and Heath with the Appurtenances, ſituate, lying, and being in Lucomb, Minhead, Dunſter, and Timberſcomb in the County aforeſaid; to have and to hold the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances to the aforeſaid Nicholas Eare from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin then laſt paſt, for and during the full End and Term of ſeven Years from thence next following, and fully to be compleat and ended. By virtue of which ſaid Demiſe he the ſame Nicholas Eare into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and was thereof poſſeſſed, until the aforeſaid Nicholas Snow, Agnes, and Thomas afterwards, viz. the 12th Day of May in the Year aforeſaid, with Force and Arms, &c. into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and him the ſaid Nicholas Eare from his Farm aforeſaid thereof, his Term aforeſaid not yet ended, ejected, expelled, and amoved, and him the ſaid Nicholas Eare from his Poſſeſſion thereof held out, and yet hold out, and other Wrongs to him did, to the Damage of him the ſaid Nicholas Eare 20 l. and againſt the Peace of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, &c. And therefore he produces the Suit, &c.

And now at this Day, viz. Friday next after the Morrow of the Holy Trinity in this ſame Term, until which Day the aforeſaid Nicholas Snow, Agnes, and Thomas had Leave to imparl to the Bill aforeſaid, and then to anſwer, &c. before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came as well the aforeſaid Nicholas Eare by his Attorney aforeſaid, as the aforeſaid Nicholas Snow, Agnes, and Thomas by William Pordage their Attorney. And they the ſame Nicholas Snow, Agnes, and Thomas defend the Force and Injury when, &c. and ſay that they are not guilty thereof, and of this they put themſelves upon the Country, and the aforeſaid Nicholas Eare likewiſe, &c. Therefore let Jurors come thereon before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter on Tueſday next after 18 Days of the Holy Trinity, and who neither, &c. to recognize, &c. becauſe as well, &c. The ſame Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid there, &c. Afterwards the Proceſs thereof between the Parties aforeſaid in the Plea aforeſaid being continued by the Jury thereof between them being reſpited before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter until Tueſday next after the Octave of St. Michael then next following, unleſs the Juſtices of the Lady the Queen aſſigned to take Aſſizes in the County aforeſaid ſhould firſt come on Wedneſday the 5th Day of September at Chard in the County aforeſaid by the Form of the Statute, &c. for Default of Jurors, &c. Before which Day the Plaint aforeſaid by the Writ of the ſaid Lady the Queen of common Adjournment was adjourned before the ſaid Lady the Queen until from the Day of St. Michael in one Month then next following, whereſoever, &c. At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came the Parties aforeſaid by their Attornies aforeſaid. And the aforeſaid Juſtices before whom &c. have ſent here their Record before them had in theſe Words: Afterwards the Day and Place within contained, before Roger Manwood one of the Juſtices of the ſaid Lady the Queen of the Bench, and John Jefferey one of the Juſtices of the ſaid Lady the Queen aſſigned to hold Pleas before the Queen herſelf, Juſtices of the ſame Lady the Queen aſſigned to take Aſſizes in the County of Somerſet, by the Form of the Statute, &c. came as well the within named Nicholas Eare as the within written Nicholas Snow otherwiſe Jacob, Agnes Elſworthy Widow, and Thomas Elſworthy in their proper Perſons. And the Jurors of the Jury within ſpecified being called, ſome of them came, and ſome of them did not come, as appears in the Panel, &c. Therefore the Jury aforeſaid is further reſpited before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter until Tueſday next after 18 Days of St. Hillary, for Default of Jurors, &c. Therefore let the Sheriff have the Bodies, &c. And that he put ten ſuch, &c. The ſame Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid there, &c. Afterwards the Proceſs thereof between the Parties aforeſaid in the Plea aforeſaid being continued by the Jury thereof between them being reſpited before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter until Monday next after one Month of Eaſter then next following, for Default of Jurors, &c. At which ſaid Monday before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came as well the aforeſaid Nicholas Eare as the aforeſaid Nicholas Snow, Agnes, and Thomas by their Attornies aforeſaid. And the Jurors of the Jury aforeſaid being called likewiſe came. Who to ſay the Truth of the Premiſſes being choſen, tried, and ſworn, ſay upon their Oath, that long before the aforeſaid Time of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment aforeſaid above ſuppoſed to be done, one William Butler Serjeant at Arms, and John Cavel were of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. among other Things ſeized in their Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſaid William Butler and John Cavel being ſo ſeized thereof, before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 16th Day of April in the 21ſt Year of the Reign of Lord Henry late King of England the eighth, by their certain Writing indented, ſealed with the Seals of them the ſaid William Butler and John Cavel, bearing Date the ſame 16th Day of April in the 21ſt Year aboveſaid, demiſed, delivered, granted, and confirmed to John Trevilian Eſquire, Son and Heir of John Trevilian Knight, the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. among other Things, by the Names of the Manor of Oldknoll with its Appurtenances, and of all the Meſſuages, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Reverſions, and Hereditaments, with their Appurtenances whatſoever, which the aforeſaid William Butler and John Cavel together with one George Trevilian Clerk deceaſed lately had to them, their Heirs and Aſſigns, of the Gift and Feoffment

Imparlance.

Not guilty.

Venire awarded.

The Jury continued to the Aſſizes.

Poſtea.

Jury reſpited.

Habeas corpora.
Decem tales.

Jury further continued.

Special Verdict.

Feoffment of the aforeſaid John Trevilian Knight, in Oldknoll, Slocomb, Cobridge, Timberſcomb, Weſtharewood, Elliſworth, Overholt, Lynch, Vaneford, Tortiſlinch, Mean, Woodcockſlegh otherwiſe Legh, Raduiſh, Lucomb, Dunſter, Stintwell, and Carhampton in the aforeſaid County of Somerſet; to have and to hold the Manor and Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. to the aforeſaid John Trevilian the Son, and to his Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten; and if the aforeſaid John Trevilian the Son ſhould happen to die without Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten, the Remainder thereof to Humphry Trevilian Brother of the aforeſaid John Trevilian Knight, and to the Heirs of the Body of the ſaid Humphry lawfully begotten for ever; and if the aforeſaid Humphry Trevilian ſhould happen to die without Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten, the Remainder thereof to the right Heirs of the aforeſaid John Trevilian Knight for ever. By virtue whereof the aforeſaid John Trevilian the Son into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee-tail. And he being ſo ſeized thereof, one Anthony Pollard Eſquire, Alexander Wood, John Pollard of Plymouth, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander Wollacomb, the Day of in the 23d Year of the Reign of the ſaid late King of England Henry the eighth, out of the Court of Chancery of the ſame late King, the ſame Chancery then being at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex, ſued forth a certain Writ of the ſame late King of Entry upon a Diſſeizin in the Poſt, againſt the aforeſaid John Trevilian the Son, and Avice then his Wife, concerning the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. among other Things, by the Names of the Manor of Knoll with the Appurtenances, and of 30 Meſſuages, 4 Burgages, 2 Mills, 1000 Acres of Land, 200 Acres of Meadow, 600 Acres of Paſture, 60 Acres of Wood, 2000 Acres of Furze and Heath, and 1d. Rent with the Appurtenances in Oldknoll, Slocomb, Cobridge, Timbercomb, Weſtharewood, Elliſworth, Overholt, Vaneford, Tortiſlinch, Mean, Woodcockſlegh otherwiſe Legh, Raduiſh, Lucomb, Dunſter, Stintwell, and Carhampton, to the then Sheriff of the aforeſaid County of Somerſet directed. By which ſaid Writ the aforeſaid late King commanded the ſame then Sheriff, that the ſame then Sheriff ſhould command the aforeſaid John Trevilian and Avice, that juſtly and without Delay they ſhould render to the aforeſaid Anthony, Alexander Wood, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander Wollacomb the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, which they then claimed to be their Right and Inheritance, and into which the ſame John Trevilian and Avice had not Entry but after the Diſſeizin which Hugh Hunt thereof unjuſtly and without Judgment then had done to the aforeſaid Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander, after the firſt Voyage of Lord Henry the Son of King John into Gaſcoign, as they then ſaid; and unleſs they ſhould ſo do, and the aforeſaid Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander ſhould make him the then Sheriff ſecure of proſecuting their Claim, then that the ſame then Sheriff ſhould ſummon by good Summoners the aforeſaid John Trevilian and Avice that they might be at Weſtminſter aforeſaid on then next following, to ſhew why they had not done it; and that the ſame then Sheriff ſhould have then the ſaid Summoners and that Writ. At which ſaid at Weſtminſter aforeſaid, before Robert Norwich Knight and his Companions Juſtices of the aforeſaid late King of the Bench, came as well the aforeſaid Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander by Richard Buckland their Attorney, as the aforeſaid John Trevilian and Avice by John Roſs then their Attorney. And the Sheriff of the County aforeſaid, viz. then ſent the Writ aforeſaid in all Things ſerved and executed, viz. that the aforeſaid Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander had ſound to the ſame then Sheriff Pledges of proſecuting the Writ aforeſaid, viz. John Den and Richard Fen, and that the aforeſaid John Trevilian and Avice had been ſummoned by John Doe and Richard Roe. Whereupon the aforeſaid Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander, by declaring upon their Writ aforeſaid by their Attorney aforeſaid, demanded againſt the aforeſaid John Trevilian and Avice the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, as their Right and Inheritance, and into which the ſame John Trevilian and Avice had not Entry but after the Diſſeizin which the aforeſaid Hugh Hunt thereof unjuſtly and without Judgment did to the aforeſaid Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander after the firſt, &c. and whereupon they then ſaid that they themſelves were ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in their Demeſn as of Fee and Right, in Time of Peace, in the Time of the aforeſaid late King, by taking thereof Explees to the Value, &c. and into which, &c. And therefore they then produced the Suit, &c. And the aforeſaid John Trevilian and Avice by the aforeſaid John Roſs then their Attorney defended their Right when, &c. and they then vouched thereof to Warranty Thomas Chapman who was then preſent in the ſame Court in his proper Perſon, and freely the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances then to them warranted, &c. And thereupon the aforeſaid Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander then demanded againſt him the ſaid Thomas Chapman then Tenant by his Warranty the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in Form aforeſaid, &c. And whereupon they ſaid that they themſelves were ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in their Demeſn as of Fee and Right, in Time of Peace, in the Time of the aforeſaid late King, by taking thereof Explees to the Value, &c. and into which, &c. And therefore they then produced the Suit, &c. And the aforeſaid Thomas Chapman then Tenant by his Warranty aforeſaid defended his Right when, &c. and then ſaid that the aforeſaid Hugh did not diſſeize the aforeſaid Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander, of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, as they the ſame Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander by their Writ and Declaration aforeſaid above ſuppoſed, and thereof he put himſelf upon the Country. And the aforeſaid Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander then prayed Leave to imparl thereon, &c. and they had, &c. And afterwards the ſame Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander then came again into the aforeſaid Court that ſame Term by their Attorney aforeſaid. And the aforeſaid Thomas although then ſolemnly called did not come, but in Contempt of the Court departed and made Default. Therefore it was then conſidered, that the aforeſaid Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander ſhould recover their Seizin againſt the aforeſaid John Trevilian and Avice of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, and that the ſame John Trevilian and Avice ſhould then have of the Land of the aforeſaid Thomas Chapman to the Value, &c. and that the ſame Thomas Chapman then ſhould be in Mercy, &c. By Virtue of which ſaid Recovery in Form aforeſaid had, the aforeſaid Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and were thereof ſeized in their Demeſn as of Fee. Which ſaid Recovery in Form aforeſaid had and executed was to the Uſe of the aforeſaid John Trevilian and his Heirs for ever, and to fulfil the laſt Will of the ſame John Trevilian. And the ſaid Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander being ſo ſeized thereof to the ſaid Uſe, the aforeſaid John Trevilian, before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 21ſt Day of December in the aboveſaid 23d Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King Henry the eighth, at Yarnſcomb in the County of Devon, made his Teſtament and laſt Will in Writing in theſe Words.

" In the Name of God, Amen. Whereas nothing is more certain than Death, nor any Thing " more incertain than the Hour of Death, therefore the 21ſt Day of December in the Year of our " Lord God 1531, and the 23d Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. I John Trevilian Eſquire " Son and Heir of Sir John Trevilian Knight deceaſed, of whole Mind and perfect Remembrance, " (Thanks be unto Almighty God) ordain and make this my laſt Will concerning the Diſpoſition " of all my Manors, Lands, Tenements, and other Hereditaments, as hereafter enſueth. That " is to ſay, where Anthony Pollard of Horewood, by the Name of Anthony Pollard Eſquire, Alex- " ander Wood, John Pollard of Plymouth, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alex- " ander Wollacomb have recovered before the Juſtices of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King of his " Common Pleas at Weſtminſter 21 Meſſuages, 2000 Acres of Land, 80 Acres of Meadow, 500 " Acres of Paſture, 100 Acres of Wood, and 500 Acres of Furze and Heath, with their Ap- " purtenances in Woodby, Checkſton, and Berinarver, in the County of Devon, againſt me the afore- " ſaid John Trevilian Eſquire and Avice my Wife, by a Writ of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King " of Entry upon Diſſeizin in the Poſt, as by Record made in the Term of St. Michael in the 23d " Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. in the Number-Roll thereof 528 plainly doth appear. " And alſo where the ſaid Anthony Pollard, Alexander Wood, John Pollard of Plymouth, John " Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander Wollacomb have alſo recovered before the " ſaid Juſtices of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King aforeſaid at Weſtminſter aforeſpecified, 13 " Meſſuages, 1 Mill, 600 Acres of Land, 60 Acres of Meadow, 300 Acres of Paſture, 120 " Acres of Wood, and 200 Acres of Furze and Heath with their Appurtenances in Wolmerſheys, " and Champerneheys in the County of Dorſet againſt me the ſaid John Trevilian and Avice my Wife, " by another Writ of our Sovereign Lord the King of Entry upon Diſſeizin in the Poſt, as by " Record alſo made in the ſaid Term of St. Michael in the 23d Year of the Reign of our Sove- " reign Lord the King Henry 8. in the Roll of the Number there 446 alſo more at large appear- " eth. And alſo where the ſaid Anthony Pollard, Alexander Wood, John Pollard of Plymouth, " John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander Wollacomb have alſo recovered before " the ſaid Juſtices of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King aforeſaid at Weſtminſter afore rehearſed, the " Manor of Knoll with the Appurtenances, and 30 Meſſuages, 4 Burgages, 2 Mills, 1000 Acres of Land, " 200 Acres of Meadow, 600 Acres of Paſture, 60 Acres of Wood, 2000 Acres of Furze and Heath, " and one Penny of Rent with their Appurtenances in Oldknoll, Slocomb, Cobridge, Timberſcomb,

" Weſtharewood, Elliſworth, Overholt, Lynch, Vaneford, Tortiſlinch, Mean, Woodcockslegh other-
" wiſe Legh, Raduiſh, Lucomb, Dunſter, Stintwell, and Carhampton in the County of Somerſet,
" againſt me alſo the aforeſaid John Trevilian Eſquire, and the ſaid Avice my Wife, by another
" Writ of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King of Entry upon Diſſeizin in the Poſt, as by another " Record alſo made in the ſaid Term of St. Michael in the ſaid 23d Year of the Reign of our So" vereign Lord King Henry 8. in the Roll of Number there 529 more apparently doth appear.
" And whereas I the ſaid John Trevilian Eſquire, by the Name of John Trevilian Eſquire, Son
" and Heir of John Trevilian Knight deceaſed, by my Deed of four Parts indented, bearing Date
" the 10th Day of December in the ſaid 23d Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. have enfeoffed
" Edmund Bray Knight Lord Bray, Edward Bray Knight, John Chamond Knight, Anthony Pol- " lard of Horewood, Alexander Wood Eſquire, John Moleſworth Clerk, John Barry, John Bedewell,
" John Pollard of Plymouth, Edward Siddenham of Culmſtock, and John Siddenham his Son and " Heir, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Humphry Cleverden, of and in all my " Manors, Meaſes, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Reverſions, and Services, with all the Ad-
" vowſances of Churches, Chauntries, and Chappels, and all other Hereditaments mine whatſo-
" ever they be, with all their Appurtenances, that late were the aforeſaid John Trevilian Knight,
" in the County of Cornwal. And alſo by the ſame my Deed of four Parts indented have enfeoffed
" the ſaid Edmund Bray Knight Lord Bray, Edward Bray Knight, John Chamond Knight, An- " thony Pollard, and the others abovenamed, of and in my Manors of Nettlecomb, Rowdon,
" Woodavenant, together and with the Advowſances of Churches and Chauntries of Nettlecomb
" aforeſaid, and all other Hereditaments mine whatſoever they be, with all their Appurtenances,
" that late were the aforeſaid John Trevilian Knight in the County of Somerſet, (except the afore-
" ſaid Manor of Knoll, with its Appurtenances, and alſo except all thoſe Meaſes, Burgages, " Mills, Lands, Meadow, Paſture, Wood, Furze and Heath, and a Penny of Rent, with all
" the Appurtenances, in Oldknoll, Slocomb, Cobridge, Timberſcomb, Weſtharewood, Elliſworth, " Overholt, Lynch, Vaneford, Tortiſlinch, Mean, Woodcockslegh, otherwiſe Legh, Raduiſh, Lu-
" comb, Dunſter, Stintwell, and Carhampton in the aforeſaid County of Somerſet) to the Perform" ance following, and fulfilling my laſt Will in Manner and Form as in Writing or otherwiſe be" fore faithful People thereof and upon I ſhall make and declare, at ſuch Time as it ſhall ſeem me
" neceſſary and behovable. I the ſaid John Trevilian Eſquire, Son and Heir of the ſaid John
" Trevilian Knight, therefore declare by this my Writing my laſt Will and full whole Will of and " upon all and ſingular of every of the Premiſſes afore ſpecified, in Manner and Form following.
" That is to ſay, firſt, I the ſaid John Trevilian the Son will that the ſaid Anthony Pollard, and all " the other aforenamed in the ſaid ſeveral Recoveries, that now be ſeized of all the ſaid Manors,
" Meaſes, Lands, and Tenements, and other the Premiſſes compriſed in the ſaid ſeveral Reco" veries, and in every of them, their Heirs and Aſſigns, and alſo the ſaid Edmund Bray Knight
" Lord Bray, and other his Co-Feoffees named in the ſaid Feoffment, their Heirs and Aſſigns,
" of all and every of the ſaid Manors, Meaſes, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Reverſions, and " Services, with all the Advowſances of Churches, and all other Hereditaments whatſoever they
" be, with their Appurtenances in the County of Cornwal, and alſo of all and every of the ſaid
" Manors, Meaſes, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Reverſions, and Services of and in Nettlecomb,
" Rowdon, Woodavenant, with the Advowſances of Churches and Chauntries of Nettlecomb afore-
" ſaid, and all other Hereditaments whatſoever they be, with their Appurtenances, in the ſaid
" County of Somerſet, and of every Parcel of all and ſingular the Premiſſes compriſed and ſpeci-
" fied in the ſaid my Deed of Feoffment, ſhall ſtand and be ſeized thereof to the Uſe of me the ſaid
" John Trevilian the Son of the ſaid John Trevilian Knight, for Term of my Life, without any " Impeachment of Waſt, and to ſuffer me the ſaid John Trevilian and my Aſſigns to take thereof
" and of every Parcel of all and ſingular the Premiſſes all the Rents, Revenues, Caſualties, Iſſues and " Profits, as well of Wood-Sales as of all other Things, during my Life, without Let, Trouble, or In" terruption of my ſaid Recoverees and Feoffees, or of any of them their Heirs or Aſſigns, or of " any other Manner of Perſon or Perſons in their Name, or in the Names of any of them, or by " the Commandment or Procurement of any of them. Alſo I will that all ſuch Leaſes and Eſtates
" as have been made, or that at any Time hereafter ſhall be made by me the ſaid John, or by any of " my Officers or Aſſigns, of the Premiſſes, or of any Parcel thereof, to any Manner of Perſon or Per-
" ſons, by Deed, Deeds, Copy of Court-Roll, or otherwiſe, for Term of Life or Lives, Years,
" or at Will, whereupon the moſt uſual and accuſtomable old ancient Rents and Services or more
" be and ſhall be reſerved and yielded to me the ſaid John Trevilian the Son, my Heirs, Reco-
" verees, Feoffees, their Heirs or Aſſigns, the which before this Time have been uſed to be re-
" ſerved and paid out of the Premiſſes, or more, and alſo all Wood-ſales and Bargains for Wood

" by

" by me or by mine Officers made or to be made and bargained, ſtanding, growing, or lying " upon the Premiſſes, or upon any Part thereof, and all Grants of Advowſances, and Benefices, " Churches, Chauntries, and free Chappels, whatſoever they be, made or to be made by me the " ſaid John Trevilian the Son at any Time by my Lifetime, ſhall be good and effectual to all ſuch " Leſſees and Grantees, and to every of them, againſt me, my Heirs, Aſſigns, Recoverees, and " Feoffees, their Heirs and Aſſigns, and every of them, according to the Purport, Tenor, and " Effect of the ſame Leaſes and Grants thereof or of any Parcel thereof by me, mine Officers or " Aſſigns, made or to be made in Form aforeſaid, any Clauſe, Article, or other Thing in this " preſent laſt Will of and in the Premiſſes rehearſed or ſpecified or to be rehearſed to the contrary " in any wiſe notwithſtanding. And after my Deceaſe, I the ſaid John Trevilian the Son will that " the ſaid John Chamond Knight, John Barry, John Cavel, and Conand Engliſh, or one of them " between them agreed, appointed, and aſſigned, or their ſufficient Bailiff by them appointed and " aſſigned, ſhall yearly receive, perceive, levy, and take all the Rents, Revenues, Iſſues, and " Profits yearly growing and coming of and in the aforeſaid Manor of Knoll with the Appurte- " nances, and of the ſaid Meaſes, Burgages, Mills, Lands, Meadow, Paſture, Wood, Furze " and Heath, and the ſaid Rent, with the Appurtenances in Oldknoll, Slocomb, Cobridge, Timber- " ſcomb, Weſtharewood, Elliſworth, Overholt, Lynch, Vaneford, Tortiſlinch, Mean, Woodcockſlegh " otherwiſe Legh, Raduiſh, Lucomb, Dunſter, Stintwell, and Carhampton in the ſaid County of " Somerſet, and alſo the Rents, Iſſues, and Profits yearly growing and coming of and in the aforeſaid " Meaſes, Lands, Meadow, Paſture, Wood, Furze and Heath, with the Appurtenances, in Woodby, " Checkſtone, and Berinarver in the aforeſaid County of Devon, and all the Rents, Iſſues, and " Profits yearly growing and coming of and in the aforeſaid Meaſes, Mills, Lands, Meadow, " Paſture, Wood, Furze and Heath, with their Appurtenances, in Wolmerſheys, and Champerne- " heys in the ſaid County of Dorſet, and of all the Reſidue of my Manors, Lands, and Tene- " ments in the ſaid Recoveries and Feoffment mine ſpecified, in the aforeſaid Counties of Somer- " ſet, Dorſet, Devon, and Cornwal, (except the aforeſaid Manors of Nettlecomb, Rowdon, and " Woodavenant) and therewith to content and pay all ſuch Charges and Funerals as ſhall be ſpent, " beſtowed, and laid out in and about the Burial and Interment of my Body after it is dead, my " Month's Mind, and Twelvemonth's Mind. And alſo with the Iſſues and Profits coming of the " Premiſſes in the ſaid Counties of Somerſet and Dorſet (except before excepted) to content and " pay all ſuch Manner of Perſon or Perſons all ſuch Debts as ſhall fortune me the ſaid John Tre- " vilian the Son to owe or to be indebted unto at the Time of my Deceaſe, the ſame Debts duly " proved by Specialties or otherwiſe before my ſaid Recoverees or Feoffees, or before two of them, " and the aforeſaid John Cavel and Conand Engliſh, with the ſaid John Chamond and John Barry. " Alſo truſting that Avice my Wife will live ſole and chaſte, and not marry, and alſo be loving " and kind to our Children, and to ſee them brought up in Virtue, and after the ſaid my Debts " and other the ſaid Premiſſes contented and paid, then I will, as long as ſhe liveth unmarried, " that ſhe ſhall have all the Rents, Iſſues, and Profits yearly growing and coming of all the ſaid " Manors, Meaſes, Lands, and Rents, and other the Premiſſes ſpecified in the ſaid ſeveral Re- " coveries, and of every Parcel thereof, with the Appurtenances, in the aforeſaid Counties of So- " merſet, Dorſet, and Devon. And if ſhe marry or die, then I will that my Son George Tre- " vilian have all the Meaſes, Lands, Meadow, Paſture, Wood, Furze and Heath, with all their " Appurtenances, in Woodby, Checkſtone, and Berinarver in the County of Devon aforeſaid, and alſo " all the ſaid Meaſes, Mills, Lands, Meadow, Paſture, Wood, Furze and Heath, with the " Appurtenances, in Wolmerſheys, and Champerneheys in the County of Dorſet aforeſaid, and to " the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to remain to Thomas " Trevilian my Son, and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch " Iſſue, to remain to Hugh Trevilian my Son, and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten; and for " Default of ſuch Iſſue, to remain to John Trevilian the younger my Son, and to the Heirs of his Body " lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to remain to John Trevilian the elder my Son, and " to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to remain to my Daugh- " ters Johan, Iſabel, and Dorothy, and to the Heirs of their Bodies lawfully begotten, equally to " be divided; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue of any of my ſaid Daughters, to remain to the Over- " livers or Overliver of the ſaid Daughters, and to every of them one after another, of like Eſtate " as is before limited to them of the Premiſſes, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to remain to me the " ſaid John Trevilian Eſquire, and to the Heirs of my Body lawfully begotten; and for Default " of ſuch Iſſue, to remain to Humphry Trevilian my Uncle, and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully " begotten; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to remain to the right Heirs of me the ſaid John Tre- " vilian, Son to the ſaid John Trevilian Knight, for ever. And over this, my ſaid Son Thomas " Trevilian to have all the aforeſaid Manor of Knoll with the Appurtenances, and alſo all the ſaid " Meaſes,

" Meaſes, Burgages, Mills, Lands, Meadow, Paſture, Wood, Furze, Heath, and Rent, with " all the Appurtenances, in Oldknoll, Slocomb, Cobridge, Timberſtomb, Weſtharewood, Elliſworth, " Overholt, Lynch, Vaneford, Tortiſlinch, Mean, Woodcockſlegh otherwiſe Legh, Raduiſh, Lucomb, " Dunſter, Stintwell, and Carhampton aforeſaid in the aforeſaid County of Somerſet, and to the " Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to remain to the aforeſaid " Hugh Trevilian my Son, and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten; and for Default of " ſuch Iſſue, to remain to John Trevilian the younger my Son, and to the Heirs of his Body law- " fully begotten; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to remain to the ſaid George Trevilian my Son, " and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to remain to the " aforeſaid John Trevilian the elder, and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten; and for De- " fault of ſuch Iſſue, to remain to the aforeſaid Johan, Iſabel, and Dorothy my Daughters, and to " the Heirs of their Bodies lawfully begotten, equally to be divided; and for Default of ſuch " Iſſue of any of the ſaid Daughters, to remain to the Overlivers or Overliver of the ſaid Daugh- " ters, and every of them one after another, of like Eſtate as is afore limited to them of the Pre- " miſſes; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to remain to me the ſaid John Trevilian Eſquire, and to " the Heirs of my Body lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to remain to Humphry " Trevilian my Uncle, and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten; and for Default of ſuch " Iſſue, to remain to the right Heirs of me the ſaid John Trevilian Eſquire, Son of the ſaid John " Trevilian Knight, for ever. Item, I will that the aforeſaid Avice my Wife have my Manors of " Nettlecomb and Woodavenant in the County of Somerſet aforeſaid, and all my Meaſes, Lands and " Tenements in the Pariſh of Nettlecomb and Woodavenant aforeſaid, with all Advowſances of " Churches, Chauntries, and Free Chappels in the County of Somerſet, Devon, and Cornwal, " with all their Appurtenances in the aforeſaid Feoffment compriſed, during her Life, upon Con- " dition that ſhe ſuffer all ſuch Perſon or Perſons as be ſeized or poſſeſſed or have any Eſtate in " any Parcel of the ſaid Manors of Nettlecomb and Woodavenant aforeſaid for Term of Life, Lives, " Years, or at Will, of my Demiſe or Leaſe, or of the Demiſe of my Father or any of his Aſſigns, " peaceably to enjoy the ſame, and alſo peaceably to ſuffer all ſuch Perſon and Perſons as now " have or hereafter ſhall have of the Demiſe and Leaſe of me the ſaid John Trevilian Eſquire, or " of me and Avice my Wife, or of my Officers for the Time being, having Authority of me the " ſaid John Trevilian Eſquire to make Leaſes in Form aforeſaid, any Intereſt, Title, or Poſſeſſion " of and in any Meaſes, Lands, Tenements, Reverſions, and Services, with their Appurtenances, " or any Part or Parcel of the Inheritance of the ſaid Avice to her deſcended, coming, or growing " by Courſe of Deſcent, Remainder, Reverter, or otherwiſe, or that hereafter ſhall deſcend, re- " main, revert, eſcheat, or otherwiſe come to the ſaid Avice as Heir from any of her Anceſtors or " otherwiſe, peaceably to have, hold, and enjoy all ſuch Meaſes, Lands, and Tenements ſo to " them or any of them let or demiſed, or to be ſet, let, and demiſed by me the ſaid John and the " ſaid Avice, or my Officers by mine Aſſent and Agreement, for Term of Life, Lives, Years, or " at Will, ſo that the ſame Leſſees and every of them to occupy, have, hold, and enjoy the ſame, " according to the Purport, Tenor, and Effect of the ſame Demiſes and Leaſes, ſo that the old " and moſt accuſtomable Rents and Services or more be thereupon reſerved and yearly yielded to " be paid during the Term and Terms, without any Vexation, Trouble, Let, Compulſion, " or Suit of the ſaid Avice or any other in her Name, for her, or by her Commandment, by Rea- " ſon of any Title, Right, Entry, or Action to her given from any of her Anceſtors upon or im- " mediate after my Deceaſe; and alſo upon Condition that the ſaid Avice after my Deceaſe ſhall not " claim, demand, challenge, nor have any Dower of any other Parcel of the Inheritance of me the ſaid " John Trevilian Eſquire, by Reaſon of the Eſpowſals and Marriage between me and the ſaid Avice " had. And if the ſaid Avice interrupt or let the Tenants holding, having, or that hereafter ſhall " hold and have, any Parcel of the Premiſſes, or any Parcel of the Inheritance of my Wife's, of " my Demiſe made or to be made in Form aforeſaid, or if the ſaid Avice after my Deceaſe, claim, " demand, challenge, or have any Dower of any other Parcel or Part of mine Inheritance, " or if ſhe deceaſe or die, then I will that my ſaid Feoffees, their Heirs and Aſſigns, and all my " ſaid Recoverors, their Heirs and Aſſigns aforeſaid, peaceably permit and ſuffer the aforeſaid " John Chamond Knight, John Barry, John Cavel, and Conand Engliſh, or one of them between " them and by them appointed, or their ſufficient Bailiff by them deputed and appointed, to per- " ceive, levy, receive, and take all the Rents, Iſſues, Revenues, and Profits yearly coming and " growing of all the ſaid Manors of Nettlecomb, Rowdon, and Woodavenant, and alſo of all the " Reſidue of my Manors, Meaſes, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Reverſions, and Services, with " the Appurtenances, in the Counties of Cornwal, Devon, Somerſet, and Dorſet, compriſed in the " ſaid Recoveries and Feoffment, not yet diſpoſed or appointed in this Will, and therewith to pay " my Debts, Funerals, Charges, and Expences, and alſo to find my Sons and Daughters, or cauſe " them to be found, and virtuouſly to be brought up, (except my Son and Heir apparent,

" and ſuch other of my Sons that ſhall have ſufficient and convenient Lands and Tenements to" wards their living immediately after my Deceaſe) both Meat, Drink, and Apparel, Scholing,
" Learning, and all other Things neceſſary and convenient for them and every of them, accord" ing to their Eſtate, Degree, and Capacities, and Qualities, as by two of my ſaid Feoffees, and
" of John Chamond, John Barry, John Cavel, and Conand Engliſh ſhall be thought good and expe" dient for them; and alſo therewith to content and pay or cauſe to be contented and paid to " my aforeſaid Daughters, that is to ſay, to every of them towards their Marriages, not advan" ced or preferred in my Lifetime to Marriage, 300 Marks Sterling, ſo that my Daughters
" be ordered and married by the Advice or Conſent of the aforeſaid Avice my Wife;
" and ſhe of my Daughters that will not be ſo ordered and ruled by the Advice or Conſent in " Form aforeſaid, ſhall not have nor take any Benefit or Profit of 100 Marks parcel of the ſaid
" 300 Marks to her before given by this my preſent laſt Will, ſo refuſing to be ordered. Alſo
" I will that if it happen hereafter my ſaid Daughters to be mine Heirs for lack of Iſſue Male,
" that then they nor any of them to have nor take any Manner of Profit or Avail of the ſaid Le" gacy of 900 Marks, nor any Parcel thereof to them ſeverally given by this my Will in Form
" aforeſaid; or if it happen any of my ſaid Daughters to be preferred or advanced to Marriage
" in my Life time, then ſuch or they of my Daughters that ſo ſhall be preferred in my Life time
" ſhall not have any Avail or Profit by the ſaid Legacies of 300 Marks to them or to every of " them ſeverally given in Form aforeſaid, or if any of them my ſaid Daughters die before Marriage
" had (as God defend), then I will that all ſuch Sum or Sums of Money as then ſhall be receiv" ed to her Uſe ſo deceaſed ſhall equally be divided among the other of my Daughters her over-
" living towards their Marriage, if they be not then preferred in Marriage, or if two of my ſaid
" Daughters fortune to deceaſe before Marriage had, then I will that ſuch that do overlive ſhall
" have 600 Marks of the Rents, Revenues, Iſſues, and Profits received of and in the ſaid Reſidue
" and other the Premiſſes, to the Uſe of the ſaid Daughters only to her Marriage, and the other 300
" Marks Reſidue of the ſaid 900 Marks to be levied and paid to ſome other Uſes as I ſhall
" more plainly declare and expreſs in my Teſtament. And if all my Daughters fortune to de-
" ceaſe before Marriage, or be married in my Life time, then I will that all ſuch Money as then
" is and ſhall be received to their Uſe, ſhall be equally divided and diſtributed to my younger
" Sons not advanced or preferred in my Life time towards their Marriages, and Augmentation of " their living. Alſo I will that the ſaid John Chamond, John Barry, John Cavel, and Conand Engliſh
" do and ſhall yearly make Accompt before the Prior of the Monaſtery of Friedſtock at Friedſtock in " the County of Devonſhire for the Time being, and before one Auditor to be appointed and e" lected by the aforeſaid Avice my Wife, and in Default of her Appointment the ſaid Auditor
" to be appointed by two of my aforeſaid Recoverors, or two other of my ſaid Feoffees, of the " Iſſues and Profits of the aforeſaid Manors, Meaſes, Lands, Tenements, and other the Premiſ-
" ſes, or of any parcel thereof aforeſaid; and all ſuch Sums of Money as ſhall appear by the " ſaid Accompt to be in the Hands of John Chamond, John Barry, John Cavel, and Conand Eng-
" liſh, or their Bailies, to be put in a Cheſt faſt locked underneath five Locks, in ſure and ſafe
" Keeping in the ſame Monaſtery, of the which Cheſt ſo locked the ſame John Chamond, John
" Barry, John Cavel, and Conand Engliſh ſhall have every one of them one Key, and one of my " other ſaid Feoffees another, to the Performance of this my laſt Will; and that the ſaid John
" Chamond, John Barry, John Cavel, and Conand Engliſh, or which of them that ſhall ſuſtain any " Labour or Pain in and about the Performance of this my Will ſhall have for his Labour,
" Coſts and Charges yearly 6 s. 8 d. and the Prior yearly for his Labour, Coſts and Charges,
" and hearing of the ſame Accompt, 13 s. 4 d. upon the ſame Accompt; and the ſaid Auditor
" yearly for hearing and making of the ſame Accompt and his Coſts and Charges 6 s. 8 d. Item
" I will after all this done, fulfilled, and performed in every Article according to the true Mean" ing, Declaration, and the full Intent of the ſame, that then my Feoffees aforeſaid, their Heirs
" and Aſſigns, ſtand and be ſeized of the ſaid Manor of Nettlecomb in Nettlecomb aforeſaid, to the " Uſe of John my Son and Heir apparent, and of the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten, upon
" the Condition that he make, grant, confirm, demiſe, let, and ſeal with me by " my Lifetime by his Writing ſufficient in the Law to every of my Sons and to all Manner of " Perſons to whom I have made, or that hereafter ſhall make, any Manner of States of any Lands
" or Tenements by Deed, Deeds, Copy of Court-roll, or otherwiſe, in Fee-tail, for Term of " Life, Lives, Years, or at Will after the Cuſtom of the Manor. And alſo the ſaid Son and " Heir apparent, and the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten, permit and ſuffer all Manner of " Perſon or Perſons that have or hereafter ſhall have any Eſtate, Poſſeſſion, Title or Intereſt,
" or Uſe of and in any Part or parcel of my Hereditaments, or of the Inheritances of the ſaid
" Avice my Wife of my Demiſe, Grant, Gift, or Leaſe, or of the Demiſe, Gift, Grant, or Leaſe
" of me and of the ſaid Avice my Wife, by Deed, Deeds, or Copy of Court-roll or otherwiſe,

" in Fee-tail, for Term of Life, Lives, Years, or at Will after the Cuſtom of the Manor, where" upon the old and moſt accuſtomable Rents and Services be reſerved, or more, that hath been
" uſed to be reſerved or otherwiſe, peaceably to have, hold, occupy, and enjoy their Meaſes,
" Lands, Tenements, Rents, Reverſions, and Services to them letten, granted, given, demiſed,
" or leaſed, according to the Purport, Tenor, and Effect of the ſame Leaſes, Grants, Gifts, and " Demiſes, without any Manner of Pleading, Suit, Let, Expulſion, Vexation, Trouble, or Interrup" tion of my ſaid Son and Heir Apparent, or of his Heirs aforeſaid, and of all other Manner of " Perſon and Perſons by his or their Procurement, Commandment, or Sufferance, by Reaſon of " any Title, Right of Entry, or Title of Action to him or them given after my Deceaſe or be" fore; and upon Condition that the ſaid John my Son and Heir Apparent at this Side the Feaſt
" of the Converſion of St. Paul next coming after the Date of this my preſent Will, do deliver " or cauſe to be delivered into the Hands and Poſſeſſion of me the ſaid John Trevilian Son of the " ſaid John Trevilian Knight, mine Executors or Aſſigns, one Obligation cancelled, wherein I
" the ſaid John Trevilian Son of the ſaid John Trevilian Knight ſtand bound to Giles Hill in the " Sum of 500 Marks; and upon Condition that the ſaid John my Son and Heir Apparent and " his Heirs aforeſaid do permit and ſuffer, and cauſe to be permitted and ſuffered peaceably the " ſaid John Chamond, John Barry, John Cavel, and Conand Engliſh, and every of them, to per" form, fulfil, and execute my ſaid Will in every Article according to the Truſt that I have put " in them, without any Manner of Let, Trouble, Vexation, Suit, Expulſion, or Interruption
" of the ſaid John Trevilian my Son and Heir Apparent, and his Heirs aforeſaid, or any other
" Perſon or Perſons by his or their Procurement, Commandment, or Sufferance; and upon " Condition that the ſaid John my Son and Heir Apparent do not diſturb, interrupt, let, vex,
" or trouble any Perſon or Perſons that hath or ſhall have any meddling or doing about the " Execution or Performance of this my Will, or any Parcel thereof, or do any other Act or " Acts whereby this my preſent laſt Will, or any Parcel thereof, may not have and take his full " Effect and Power in every Article and Clauſe in the ſame contained, according to the true
" Meaning and Conſtruction of the ſame, according to my Mind and Will, and upon Condition
" that the ſaid John my Son and Heir Apparent, and his Heirs, nor any other Manner of Perſon
" or Perſons to his Uſe, nor in his Name, nor for him, by him, or by his Procurement or Suf" ferance ſhall not vex, trouble, nor ſue, nor cauſe to be vexed, troubled, nor ſued, any Man" ner of Perſon or Perſons that ſhall have, or hath the Cuſtody, Keeping, and Poſſeſſion of any " Evidences, Charters, Exemplifications, Fines, Eſcripts, Court-rolls, Books of Accompt,
" Muniments, and other Manner of Writings concerning any Manors, Lands, Tenements, He-" ditaments, and other Poſſeſſions and Inheritances mine, or of Avice my Wife, by my Deli" verance, Sufferance, or Appointment of or for the having and Deliverance of any ſuch Evi" dence, Charters, Exemplifications, Fines, Eſcripts, Court-rolls, Books of Accompt, Muni-
" ments, and other Writings, nor any of them concerning the Premiſſes or any Parcel thereof;
" And if my ſaid Son and Heir Apparent do not perform and ſuffer to be performed all and every of " the ſame Conditions of his Part in Form aforeſaid expreſſed, but fail in Performance of the ſame, or of " any parcel thereof, that then I the ſaid John Trevilian Eſquire, Son of the ſaid John Trevilian Knight,
" will that the ſame John Chamond, John Barry, John Cavel, and Conand Engliſh ſhall after my Will " performed in Form aforeſaid, bargain and ſell the ſaid Manors of Nettleton and Rowdon, with " their Appurtenances to any Perſon or Perſons, and to their Heirs that will give for the ſame
" after the Rate of twenty Years Purchaſe, and the Money for the ſame received, I will that the " ſame John Chamond, John Barry, John Cavel, and Conand Engliſh, and every of them ſhall re-
" compence, ſatisfy, content, and pay every ſuch Leſſee for Term of Life, Lives, Years, or at Will,
" holding any Part or Parcel of the Premiſſes ſo thereof, or of any Parcel thereof, expulſed, vexed,
" troubled, or otherwiſe incumbred or hurted; and the Reſidue of the Money thereof received,
" (if any fortune to remain) to diſtribute it in Deeds of Charity after the Diſcretion of the ſaid
" John Chamond, John Barry, John Cavel, and Conand Engliſh. Item, I will that after my De-
" ceaſe and Avice my Wife, that the ſaid John Chamond preſent to every of the Advowſances, " Chauntries, and free Chapels, as often as the ſame ſpiritual Promotions ſhall become void by " Death, Reſignation, or otherwiſe. And after the Death of the ſaid John Chamond, the ſaid
" John Barry, John Cavel, and Conand Engliſh, and every other of my Feoffees before named,
" (except the ſaid Lord Bray and Edward Bray) as they be named in the ſaid Feoffment one after " another, ſhall preſent to every of the ſaid Advowſons, Chauntries, and Free-Chapels, in like " Manner as the ſaid John Chamond did, or to him was limited to do, or ſhall do. Item, I will
" that every of my Sons to whom any of my Manors, Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments
" be diſpoſed unto, (except my Son and Heir) have all Manner of Evidences, Exemplifications, " Fines, and other Manner of Muniments and Writings concerning and belonging to their Por" tions, and that they be delivered to them after my Deceaſe and Avice my Wife, when they " ſhall be of the Age of 21 Years, and in the mean Time the ſaid Evidences and all other Writ" ings

" ings aforeſpecified to remain and be in the keeping of Avice my Wife during her Life, and af" ter her Deceaſe to remain and be in the Cuſtody and Keeping of the aforeſaid John Chamond,
" and the other his Co-feoffees one after another as they be named in the ſaid Feoffment (except " the ſaid Lord Bray and Sir Edward Bray). Item, I will that my Executors, Recoverors, and
" Feoffees have the ſure Cuſtody, Keeping, and Poſſeſſion of other my Evidences, Eſcripts, Char" ters, Muniments, and all other Manner of Writings concerning any of my Manors, Lands,
" and Tenements, Hereditaments, and other Poſſeſſions mine, lying and being within the Coun" ties aforeſaid, and not to deliver the ſame nor any of them to my ſaid Son and Heir Appa" rent. Item, I will that my Son and Heir Apparent and Maud his Wife ſhall have, after my " Deceaſe, 13 l. 6 s. 8 d. to them and to the Heirs of the Body of the ſaid John Trevilian the " elder my Son and Heir Apparent lawfully begotten, of and in my Manor of Whaliſſbrow in " the County of Cornwal, according to the Indentures of Covenants between Giles Hill and me
" the ſaid John Trevilian Eſquire. Provided always that it ſhall be lawful to me the ſaid John
" Trevilian Eſquire, Son of the ſaid John Trevilian Knight, always during my Life to change,
" add, or diminiſh this my Will, any Thing in the ſame notwithſtanding. In Witneſs whereof
" I the ſaid John Trevilian Eſquire, Son and Heir of the ſaid John Trevilian Knight, to this my " preſent Will have ſet to my Seal, and ſubſcribed my Name the Day and Year aboveſaid, in the " Preſence of John Siddenham of Legh Eſquire, William Cavel Parſon of Nettlecomb Clerk, Ed-
" mund Winter Gentleman, Conand Engliſh, John Baker, George Tedd Clerk, John Evan, William
" Martin, Alice Kympt, James Morris, Conand Silk, John Engliſh, and many others.

By me, John Trevilian."

And the aforeſaid Anthony, Alexander, John Pollard, John Blackdon, John Davy, John Loveland, and Alexander being ſo ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in their Demeſn as of Fee, to the Uſe of the aforeſaid John Trevilian and his Heirs, their Seizin of and in the Tenements aforeſaid continued unto the 4th Day of February in the 27th Year of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King Henry 8. on which Day, by virtue of a certain Act of Parliament of the ſame late King then held at Weſtminſter aforeſaid, concerning the transferring of Uſes into Poſſeſſion made, the aforeſaid John Trevilian was ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the ſame Jurors further ſay upon their Oath, that the ſaid laſt Will is a good and true Will of the ſaid John Trevilian the Son. And afterwards, viz. the 10th Day of January in the 30th Year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Henry the eighth, the aforeſaid John Trevilian, at Yarnſcomb aforeſaid, ſo thereof being ſeized died. And further the Jurors aforeſaid ſay, that the aforeſaid Avice at the aforeſaid Time of the Recovery aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid had, or ever afterwards, was not ſeized of any Eſtate of Freehold, nor had any Thing of and in the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. And that one John Trevilian Son and Heir of the aforeſaid John Trevilian Eſquire into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And afterwards the aforeſaid Avice and the aforeſaid Thomas Trevilian at Yarnſcomb aforeſaid died. And that afterwards the aforeſaid John Trevilian Son and Heir of the aforeſaid John Trevilian Eſquire being ſo ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. died thereof ſeized, after whoſe Death the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances deſcended to one John Trevilian as Son and Heir of the ſaid John Trevilian, Son and Heir of the ſaid John Trevilian Eſquire, Hugh Trevilian Son and Heir of the aforeſaid Thomas Trevilian then being within the Age of twenty-one Years. By virtue whereof the ſame John Trevilian Son of the aforeſaid John Son of the aforeſaid John Trevilian Eſquire was of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And he being ſo ſeized thereof, the aforeſaid Hugh afterwards, viz. the 8th Day of May in the 18th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, into the Lands and Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. entered, and was thereof ſeized. And being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame Hugh the aforeſaid 8th Day of May in the 18th Year aboveſaid demiſed, granted, and to Farm let the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. to the aforeſaid Nicholas Eare, in Manner and Form as the ſame Nicholas Eare above in his Declaration hath alledged. By virtue of which ſaid Demiſe the ſame Nicholas Eare into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. entered, and was thereof poſſeſſed, until the aforeſaid Nicholas Snow, Agnes, and Thomas Elſworthy at the aforeſaid Time when, &c. by the Command and in Right of the aforeſaid John Trevilian Son and Heir of John, Son and Heir of the aforeſaid John Trevilian the Teſtator, into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. entered, and the ſaid Nicholas Eare from his Farm aforeſaid thereof (his Farm aforeſaid not yet ended) ejected, expelled, and amoved, and the ſaid Nicholas Eare from his Poſſeſſion thereof held out, and yet hold out, in Manner and Form as the aforeſaid Nicholas Eare above complains. And they pray thereof the Advice and Diſcretion of the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen before the Queen herſelf. And if upon the whole Matter aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid found it ſhall ſeem to the ſaid Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen here, that the Entry of the aforeſaid Nicholas Snow, Agnes, and Thomas Elſworthy in Form aforeſaid made is not a lawful Entry upon the Poſſeſſion of the aforeſaid Nicholas Eare, then the ſame Jurors ſay upon their Oath that the aforeſaid Nicholas, Agnes, and Thomas Elſworthy are guilty of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment aforeſaid, in Manner and Form as the aforeſaid Nicholas Eare above againſt them hath declared; and then they aſſeſs Damages of the ſaid Nicholas Eare by Occaſion of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment aforeſaid, beſides his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, to 10 s. and for thoſe Coſts and Charges to 20 s. And if upon the whole Matter aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid found, it ſhall ſeem to the ſaid Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen here that the Entry of the aforeſaid Nicholas Snow, Agnes, and Thomas Elſworthy in Form aforeſaid made is a lawful Entry, then the ſame Jurors ſay upon their Oath that the aforeſaid Nicholas Snow, Agnes, and Thomas Elſworthy are not guilty of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment aforeſaid, as they the ſame Nicholas Snow, Agnes, and Thomas Elſworthy above in Pleading have alledged, &c.

THE CASE. Huſband is Tenant in Tail, and a Recovery is had againſt him and his Wife, and they vouch over the common Vouchee, and the Wife has no Eſtate in the Lands, but only a Chance of Dower in Caſe ſhe ſurvives her Huſband; this Recovery ſhall bar the Tail, and it ſhall be taken that the Wife was named for no other Purpoſe than to bar her of Dower. S. C. Vin. Abr. tit. Recovery common O. pl. 6. And ſee the Books there cited touching this Caſe.

THE Caſe upon the ſpecial Verdict is thus. John Trevilian Son of Sir John Trevilian was Tenant in Tail of the Tenements in Queſtion, and being ſole ſeized of ſuch Eſtate, in the 23d Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. a common Recovery was had againſt him and Avice his Wife, who vouched over according to the common Courſe of common Recoveries. And it was found that the Wife had nothing in the Tenements, and that the Recovery was to the Uſe of the Huſband and his Heirs. And the Recoverors entered, and they being ſo ſeized, and the ſaid John Trevilian being Ceſtuy que Uſe, he by his Will made and publiſhed in the 23d Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. gave the ſaid Tenements to Thomas Trevilian his youngeſt Son, and to the Heirs of his Body begotten. And afterwards the Statute of 27 H. 8. of Uſes was made, after which he publiſhed his ſaid Will again, and died in the 37th Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. and Avice ſurvived him. And John Trevilian the Son of the Teſtator entered into the Tenements, and Avice and Thomas died, and afterwards John the Son of the Teſtator died ſeized, whereby the Tenements deſcended to his Son John Trevilian; and at the Time of the Deſcent, Hugh Trevilian the Son of the ſaid Thomas Trevilian was within Age, and afterwards entered, and made the Leaſe to the Plaintiff, and the Defendants as Servants to the ſaid John Trevilian the Grandſon of the Teſtator ouſted the Plaintiff.

For the Defendants.

And the whole Queſtion in this Caſe was, whether or no the Eſtate-tail, which John Trevilian the Teſtator had at the Time of the Recovery, was barred by it, for if it was not barred by the Recovery, then the dying ſeized of his Son John Trevilian remitted John Trevilian the Grandſon of the Teſtator to the firſt Tail, and if it was barred, then the Eſtate and Right of Hugh Trevilian the Son and Heir of Thomas Trevilian the youngeſt Son of the Teſtator is good, and conſequently his Leaſe is of Force. And it was objected that the Recovery was not effectual to bar the Eſtate-tail, becauſe Avice the Wife was named in the Præcipe as Jointenant with her Huſband, and as Jointenant ſhe appeared and vouched, and the Vouchee entered into the Warranty admitting that he ought to warrant to them, whereby he alſo admitted that the Wife had an Eſtate in the Tenancy, and had Cauſe to vouch, for if it was otherwiſe, it might deprive them of the Benefit of the Warranty. And if it ſhall not be taken that the Wife had a joint Eſtate with her Huſband, then it ſhall be taken that it was the Land of the Wife only, and that the Huſband was ſeized in Right of the Wife, and ſo had nothing but by the Coverture, in which Caſe it is worſe for the Plaintiff. But whether it be taken the one Way or the other, the Eſtate-tail ſhall not be barred but in Reſpect of the Recovery over in Value, and whether it be taken the one Way or the other, the Wife ſurviving ſhall have the Recompence in Value by Concluſion, and then there is no Cauſe why the Iſſue in Tail ſhould be barred, for the Reaſon * why an Eſtate-tail is permitted to be barred by a common Recovery is, in reſpect of the Recompence in Value which is or by Poſſibility may be rendered for the Eſtate loſt, and if the Wife ſhall have the Recompence in Value, and not the Iſſue in Tail, then there is no Reaſon why the Iſſue ſhould be barred, or hindered from being remitted.

* Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 26. fo. 81. 2 Lev. 30, per Hale C. J. Bac. Law Tracts 149. Pig. on Recov. 12, 15, 22.

Curia.

And upon this Objection the Matter was oftentimes debated as well at the Bar as at the Bench, but I did not hear any of the Arguments in this Caſe either of the Counſel or of the Juſtices, but what I here report is upon the credible Information of thoſe who were of Counſel in the Caſe, and of others. And at laſt all the Juſtices unanimouſly declared their Opinions to be, that the Eſtate-tail was barred by the Recovery. For it is expreſly found by the Verdict, that the Wife had nothing in the Tenements at the Time of the Recovery, but that the Huſband was ſole ſeized in Tail; and he alone loſt the Tenancy, [a] and the Recovery in Value ſhall go to him who hath loſt the Tenancy, and ſhall be of the like Eſtate which he loſt; and here the Huſband only loſt the

[a] S. P. Co. Litt. 13. a. 376. b. Vin. Abr. tit. Voucher R. b. 3. pl. 8.

Tenancy, and loſt only an Eſtate-tail in it, and not a Fee-ſimple, and ſuch Perſon as hath the Loſs ſhall have the Recompence, and therein ſhall have ſuch Eſtate as he hath loſt, and that ought to be an Eſtate-tail here, to which the Wife is a Stranger. And if the Wife ought to ſue the Execution, what Eſtate ſhould ſhe then have? None can ſay whether ſhe ſhould have an Eſtate for Life, or whether ſhe ſhould have an Eſtate in Fee-ſimple, becauſe ſhe had no Eſtate at all, and what Eſtate the Concluſion would gain, ſhe herſelf did not know, nor did ſhe know what Eſtate to claim in the Land, if ſhe was ouſted thereof, nor did ſhe know whether ſhe ſhould have a Quod ei deforceat or a Writ of Right, if the Land was recovered againſt her by Default. So that foraſmuch as the Truth now appears by the Verdict, the Court ought to adjudge that ſhe, who had no Eſtate in the Land recovered, ſhall have no Eſtate in the Land recovered in Value, nor was able to ſue Execution of the Land recovered in Value, but that ſhe was named in the Præcipe only to be barred of her [b] Dower, to which Purpoſe Women are commonly named in common Recoveries had againſt their Huſbands; [c] and the common Uſage in this Caſe is to be regarded, for in ſuch Caſes it has always been the Intent of the Parties before this Time, that the Wife ſhall be barred of her Dower, and that the Eſtate-tail ſhall be barred alſo.

[b] S. P. 2 Co. 74. a. 77. b. 78. a. Pig. on Recov. 66. 70. 2 Bac. Abr. 140. Vin. Abr. tit. Dower Q. 2. pl. 3.

And Southcote and Gawdy Juſtices ſaid, that if it ſhould be admitted that the Wife might ſue Execution of the Lands recovered in Value againſt the Vouchee by Concluſion, yet the Iſſue in Tail might ouſt the Wife thereof, becauſe the Land ought to be his [d] in reſpect of his Loſs, and he is able to ſay againſt the Wife that ſhe had loſt nothing, and therefore that ſhe ſhould hold nothing. And tho' it ſhould be argued that the Wife might have Execution of the Value againſt the Vouchee by Eſtoppel, [e] yet the Son being Iſſue in Tail ſhall not be bound by any Eſtoppel which his Father admitted by joining in Voucher with the Wife, any more for the Recompence in Value, than he ſhould be by an Eſtoppel made by his Father for the old Entail, which is recovered againſt his Father, and ſo not ſubject to any Eſtoppel.

[c] 2 Co. 74. a. 5 Co. 41. a.

[d] Co. Litt. 376. b.

[e] 2 Leon. 57. Pig. on Recov. 196.

And becauſe I did not hear any of the Arguments in this Caſe, I delivered the above Report to Sir Chriſtopher Wray Chief Juſtice, to know if it contained the true Cauſe of the Judgment of the Court. And when he had peruſed it, he delivered it back to me, with his Approbation of it, and told me that he had ſpoken with the Lord Dyer, and with Manwood Juſtice (who at the Time when this Caſe was printed was Chief Baron of the Exchequer) both of whom agreed in Opinion with him and his Companions. And afterwards Judgment was given accordingly, which here follows.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

The reſt of the Record.

At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came the Parties aforeſaid by their Attornies aforeſaid; whereupon all and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen here more fully underſtood, and mature Deliberation being thereupon had, it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Nicholas Eare recover againſt the aforeſaid Nicholas Snow, Agnes, and Thomas Elſworthy his Term aforeſaid of and in the Premiſſes yet to come, and his Damages aforeſaid by the Jurors aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid aſſeſſed, and alſo 12 l. 6 s. 8 d. to the ſame Nicholas Eare for his Coſts and Charges by the Court of the Lady the Queen here with his Aſſent of Increaſe adjudged; which ſaid Damages in the whole amount to 13 l. 16 s. 8 d. And the aforeſaid Nicholas Snow, Agnes, and Thomas Elſworthy be taken, &c.

Judgment.

A Report of a Caſe argued in the Common Bench by the Serjeants in Hillary Term in the twentieth Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, and by the Juſtices in Eaſter Term in the ſame Year, in which Term Judgment was given, upon a ſpecial Verdict found in an Action of Treſpaſs brought by William Welcden Plaintiff againſt Thomas Elkington Defendant. And the Record is entered among the Records of Eaſter Term 19 Elizabeth, Rot. 1226, and was as follows.

Glouceſter. Declaration. Same Precedent N. Bendl. 308. Raſt. Entr. 679. a. pl. 9.

THomas Elkington late of Minchinhampton in the County aforeſaid Clothier was attached to anſwer William Welcden of a Plea, wherefore with Force and Arms the Cloſe and Houſe of the ſaid William at Minchinhampton he broke, and his Graſs to the Value of 40 l. there lately growing with certain Cattle eat up, trod down, and conſumed, and other Wrongs to him did, to the great Damage of the ſaid William, and againſt the Peace of the Lady the Queen now, &c. And whereupon the ſame William by Richard Pitt his Attorney complains that the aforeſaid Thomas, the 21ſt Day of October in the 10th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, with Force and Arms, &c. the Cloſe and Houſe of him the ſaid William at Minchinhampton broke, and his Graſs to the Value, &c. there then growing with certain Cattle, viz. Horſes, Oxen, Cows, Hogs, and Sheep, eat up, trod down, and conſumed, the Treſpaſs aforeſaid as to the eating up, treading down, and conſuming of the Graſs aforeſaid from the aforeſaid 21ſt Day of October in the 10th Year aboveſaid unto the 9th Day of December in the 15th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now at divers Days and Times continuing; and other Wrongs, &c. to the great Damage &c. and againſt the Peace, &c. Whereupon he ſays that he is prejudiced and has Damage to the Value of 100 l. and therefore he produces the Suit, &c.

Not guilty.

And the aforeſaid Thomas by John Kirle his Attorney comes and defends the Force and Injury when, &c. and ſays that he is not guilty of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid, as the aforeſaid William above againſt him complains, and of this he puts himſelf upon the Country, and the aforeſaid William likewiſe.

Venire facias.

Therefore the Sheriff is commanded that he cauſe to come here from the Day of the Holy Trinity in three Weeks 12, &c. by whom, &c. And who neither, &c. to recognize, &c. becauſe as well, &c. At which Day here came the Parties, &c. And the Sheriff hath not ſent the Writ.

Venire Facias ſicut alias.

Therefore as before the Sheriff is commanded that he cauſe to come here on the Octave of St. Michael 12, &c. to recognize in Form aforeſaid, &c.

Jury continued.

Afterwards the Proceſs between the Parties aforeſaid in the Plea aforeſaid being continued by the Jury thereof between them being reſpited here until this Day, viz. from the Day of Eaſter in 15 Days in the 18th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, unleſs the Juſtices of the Lady the Queen aſſigned to take Aſſizes in the County aforeſaid by the Form of the Statute, &c. on Monday the 19th Day of March next paſt at Glouceſter in the County aforeſaid had firſt come. And now here at this Day came as well the aforeſaid William Welcden as the aforeſaid Thomas Elkington by their Attornies aforeſaid.

Poſtea.

And the aforeſaid Juſtices aſſigned to take Aſſizes before whom, &c. have ſent here their Record in theſe Words. Afterwards at the Day and Place within contained, before Edward Saunders Knight Chief Baron of the Exchequer of the Lady the Queen, and William Loveleſs Serjeant at Law, Juſtices of the ſaid Lady the Queen aſſigned to take Aſſizes in the County of Glouceſter by the Form of the Statute, &c. came as well the within named William Welcden as the within written Thomas Elkington in their proper Perſons. And the Jurors thereof impannelled being called, ſome of them came, and ſome of them did not come, as appears by the Panel to this Record affixed.

Jury further continued.

Therefore the Jury aforeſaid is further reſpited here until from the Day of the Holy Trinity in 15 Days for Want of Jurors. Therefore let the Sheriff have the Bodies, &c.

Habeas corpora.

Afterwards the Proceſs between the Parties aforeſaid in the Plea aforeſaid being continued by the Jury thereof between them being reſpited here until this Day, viz. from the Day of Eaſter in one Month in the 19th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, and now here at this Day came as well the aforeſaid William Welcden as the aforeſaid Thomas Elkington by their Attornies aforeſaid. And the Jurors thereof impanneled being called, ſome of them, viz. Francis Wye Eſquire, William Chandler, Henry Winchcomb, William Houſe, William Faukes, John Mucklow Gentleman, John Freeman of Burton, Auncel Saundford, John Ailway of Tainton, Edward Tomlinſon, Richard Arun-

Special Verdict.

del, and John Hilip came. Who to ſay the Truth of the Premiſſes being choſen, tried, and ſworn, ſay upon their Oath that long before the aforeſaid Time of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid above ſuppoſed to be done, one William Windeſore Knight late Lord Windeſore now deceaſed was ſeized of one Meſſuage, one Water-mill called Longfcrths, and three Parcels of Meadow called Doddings, Hentals, and Cleycomb-mead in Minchinhampton aforeſaid, in which the Treſpaſs aforeſaid is ſuppoſed to be done, in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo ſeized thereof, the ſame William late Lord Windeſore the 16th Day of March in the 35th Year of the Reign of Lord Henry late King of England the eighth, demiſed the ſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances to one Thomas Davis, to have and to hold the ſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances to the ſame Thomas Davis his Executors and Aſſigns from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin then next following, unto the End and Term of 60 Years from thence next following, fully to be compleat. By virtue of which Demiſe the aforeſaid Thomas Davis, after the aforeſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin, into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and was thereof poſſeſſed. And being ſo thereof poſſeſſed, the ſame Thomas Davis afterwards, viz. the 22d Day of Auguſt in the 37th Year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Henry the eighth, made and declared his laſt Will and Teſtament in Writing, and by the ſame Teſtament gave and bequeathed the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in Manner and Form underwritten in theſe Words.

" Item, I will that Johan Davis my Wife ſhall have and occupy all ſuch Meſſuages and " Lands with the Appurtenances as are contained in my Leaſe of Longforths, Doddings, Hentals, " and Cleycomb-mead, with all the Appurtenances contained in the ſaid Leaſe, for ſo many Years " as the ſaid Johan ſhall fortune to live. And after her Deceaſe I give and bequeath the Reſidue " of the Years of the ſaid Leaſe then not expired unto Francis Davis my younger Son, and to " his Aſſigns."

And further the aforeſaid Thomas Davis by his ſame Teſtament conſtituted and ordained the aforeſaid Johan his ſole Executrix of his Teſtament aforeſaid, as by the ſaid Teſtament to the Jurors aforeſaid in Evidence ſhewn more fully appears. And the aforeſaid Thomas Davis of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in Form aforeſaid being poſſeſſed, afterwards, viz. the 20th Day of September in the 37th Year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Henry the eighth, died thereof in Form aforeſaid poſſeſſed, having whilſt he lived, and at the Time of his Death, Goods and Chattles ſufficient to pay and ſatisfy all his Debts and Legacies, beſides the ſaid Demiſe. After the Death of which ſaid Thomas Davis, the aforeſaid Johan, the 10th Day of November in the Year of the Lord 1545, proved and inſinuated the Teſtament aforeſaid of the aforeſaid Thomas Davis in the Prerogative Court of Thomas late Archbiſhop of Canterbury, of all England Primate and Metropolitan, becauſe the ſame Thomas Davis whilſt he lived, and at the Time of his Death, had Goods, Rights, or Credits in divers Dioceſes or peculiar Juriſdictions within this Realm of England, and the Adminiſtration of all and ſingular the Goods, Rights, and Credits of the ſaid Thomas Davis, and his Teſtament in any wiſe concerning, to the aforeſaid Johan, Executrix in the Teſtament named for the well and faithfully adminiſtring of the ſame, by the ſame late Archbiſhop was committed. And afterwards, viz. the 10th Day of December then next following, the ſame Johan into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and claimed to have and occupy the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances for Term of her Life, the Remainder thereof to the ſaid Francis, according to the Form and Effect of the Legacy aforeſaid. By Reaſon whereof the ſame Johan was of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances poſſeſſed. And the aforeſaid Johan of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in Form aforeſaid being poſſeſſed, before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the Day of in the 6th Year of the Reign of Lord Edward late King of England the ſixth, took to Huſband one Richard Herbert Eſquire. And afterwards, viz. the 24th Day of Auguſt in the 4th and 5th Years of the Reign of Lord Philip and Lady Mary late King and Queen of England, the aforeſaid Francis Davis died inteſtate, after whoſe Death the aforeſaid Richard Herbert and Johan his Wife, by the Names of Richard Herbert Eſquire and Johan his Wife ſole Executrix of the laſt Will and Teſtament of the aforeſaid Thomas Davis, the 1ſt Day of December in the 4th and 5th Years of the Reign of the ſaid late King and Queen Philip and Mary, by their certain Writing ſealed with their Seals, and to the ſame Jurors in Evidence ſhewn, bearing Date the ſame Day and Year, bargained, ſold, gave, granted, and aſſigned to one Thomas Carpenter and Richard Hoſkins all their Intereſt, Right, Title, and Term of Years then to come and not expired of and in the ſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances in which, &c. and all the Eſtate of the ſaid Richard and Johan in the ſame; to have, hold, and enjoy the ſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances, and the ſaid Intereſt and Term of Years aboveſaid of and in the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, to the ſaid Thomas Carpenter and Richard Hoſkins, and to their Aſſigns, and to their ſole Uſe and Behoof, unto the full End and Term of the ſaid 60 Years. And afterwards, viz. the 13th Day of January then next following, the aforeſaid Thomas Carpenter and Richard Hoſkins, by their certain Writing ſealed with their Seals, and to the Jurors aforeſaid in Evidence ſhewn, bargained, ſold, gave, granted, and aſſigned to the aforeſaid Richard Herbert and Johan all their Intereſt, Right, Title, and Term of Years then to come and not expired of and in the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances; to have, hold, and enjoy the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, and the ſaid Intereſt and Term of Years of and in the ſame, to the ſaid Richard Herbert and Johan his Wife, and to their Aſſigns, to their ſole Uſe and Behoof, during the ſaid Term of 60 Years. And afterwards, viz. the 10th Day of February in the Year of the Lord 1564, the Adminiſtration of all and ſingular the Goods, Rights, and Credits which belonged to the aforeſaid Francis Davis at the Time of his Death, by Matthew by divine Permiſſion then Archbiſhop of Canterbury, of all England Primate and Metropolitan, was committed committed to one Mary Welcden Wife of the aforeſaid William Welcden. And afterwards, viz. the 14th Day of June in the 9th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, the aforeſaid Richard Herbert, by the Name of Richard Herbert of Minchinhampton in the County of Glouceſter Eſquire, by his certain Writing ſealed with his Seal, and to the Jurors aforeſaid in Evidence ſhewn, gave, granted, and aſſigned to one Charles Somerſet Eſquire, Thomas Herbert Eſquire, Brother of him the ſaid Richard, and John Waters, all his Intereſt, Right, Title, and Term of Years then to come and not expired of and in the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, and alſo all the Eſtate of him the ſaid Richard Herbert in the ſame; to have, hold and enjoy the ſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances, among other Things, and the ſaid Intereſt and Term of Years of and in the ſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances, to the aforeſaid Charles Somerſet, Thomas Herbert, and John Waters, and to their Aſſigns, to their ſole Uſe and Behoof, unto the full End and Term of the ſaid 60 Years. And afterwards, viz. the 28th Day of April in the 10th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, the aforeſaid Charles Somerſet, Thomas Herbert, John Waters, and Richard Herbert, by a certain Indenture made between the ſame Richard Herbert, Charles Somerſet, Thomas Herbert, and John Waters of the one Part, and one John Scudamore Eſquire and George Vaughan Gentleman of the other Part, (which other Part ſealed with the Seals of the aforeſaid Richard Herbert, Charles Somerſet, Thomas Herbert, and John Waters, to the Jurors aforeſaid in Evidence was ſhewn) for and in Conſideration of a Marriage to be had and ſolemnized between one Charles Herbert Gentleman, Son and Heir Apparent of the ſaid Richard Herbert, and Johan Aglum Widow, then late Wife of Walter Aglum Gentleman deceaſed, gave, granted, and aſſigned to the aforeſaid John Scudamore and George Vaughan as well the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. as alſo all their Right, Title, and Intereſt of and in the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances, and alſo all the Term of Years in the ſame then to come and not expired; to have and to hold the ſame to the ſame John Scudamore and George Vaughan, their Executors and Aſſigns, during all the Reſidue of the ſaid Term of 60 Years. And afterwards, viz. the 20th Day of May in the aboveſaid 10th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, the aforeſaid Johan the Wife of the aforeſaid Richard Herbert, Executrix of the Teſtament of the aforeſaid Thomas Davis, died, after whoſe Death the aforeſaid William Welcden now Plaintiff, before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. viz. the 21ſt Day of October in the 10th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, by virtue and by Reaſon of the aforeſaid Letters of Adminiſtration to the aforeſaid Mary the Wife of the aforeſaid William Welcden yet living by the aforeſaid Matthew late Archbiſhop of Canterbury in Form aforeſaid committed, into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and was thereof poſſeſſed: Upon the Poſſeſſion of which ſaid William Welcden thereof the aforeſaid Thomas Elkington afterwards, viz. the aforeſaid Time when, &c. into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, as Servant of the aforeſaid John Scudamore and George Vaughan, and by their Command, entered, and the Cloſe and Houſe aforeſaid in the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances broke, and the Graſs aforeſaid there then growing with the Cattle aforeſaid by the Time aforeſaid eat up, trod down, and conſumed, as the aforeſaid William Welcden above againſt him complains. But whether upon the whole Matter aforeſaid by them above in Form aforeſaid found, the Entry of the aforeſaid Thomas Elkington into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances upon the Poſſeſſion of the ſaid William Welcden is lawful, or not, the Jurors aforeſaid are wholly ignorant, and thereof they pray the Advice of the Juſtices and of the Court here, &c. And if upon the whole Matter aforeſaid it ſhall ſeem to the Court of the Lady the Queen here that the ſaid Entry of the aforeſaid Thomas Elkington into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances upon the Poſſeſſion of the aforeſaid William Welcden is not lawful, then the Jurors aforeſaid ſay upon their Oath that the aforeſaid Thomas Elkington is guilty of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid, as the aforeſaid William Welcden above againſt him complains; and then they aſſeſs the Damages of the ſaid William Welcden by Occaſion of the ſaid Treſpaſs, beſides his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, to 8 l. and for thoſe Coſts and Charges to 40 s. And if it ſhall ſeem to the Court of the Lady the Queen that the aforeſaid Entry of the aforeſaid Thomas Elkington into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances upon the Poſſeſſion of the aforeſaid William Welcden is lawful, then the ſame Jurors ſay upon their Oath aforeſaid that the ſame Thomas Elkington is not guilty of the Treſpaſs aforeſaid, as he the ſame Thomas Elkington above has alledged.

And for that a certain Box of preſerved Barberies, and Sugar called Sugar-candy, and ſweet Roots called Liquoriſh, were found with the aforeſaid John Mucklow, one of the Jurors aforeſaid, after he had departed from the Bar here to adviſe together with the other Jurors aforeſaid of ſaying their Verdict in the Premiſſes, therefore the ſame * John Mucklow is committed to the Priſon of the Lady the Queen of the Fleet, until he ſhall have made a Fine with the Lady the Queen on that Account, &c. And afterwards, viz. the 10th Day of May in this ſame Term comes the aforeſaid John Mucklow by the Keeper of the Perſon aforeſaid to the Bar here brought, and prays that he may be admitted to make a Fine with the Lady the Queen by Occaſion of the Premiſſes, and he is admitted &c. by Pledges. Which ſaid Fine is affeered by the Juſtices here at 20 s. Therefore the ſame John Mucklow go thereof quietly, &c.

* Note, he only was puniſhed, and not the other Jurors who had not offended. Vide 11 Co. 42. b. 43. a. 1 Rol. R. 73.

And

And becauſe the Juſtices here will adviſe themſelves of and upon the Premiſſes before they give Judgment thereon, Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid here until on the Morrow of the Holy Trinity, to hear their Judgment thereon, becauſe the ſame Juſtices hereof not yet, &c.

THE CASE. Leſſee for Years deviſes the Occupation of his Land to his Wife for as many of the Years as ſhe ſhall live, and after her Death, the Remainder of the Years unexpired to his Son and his Aſſigns, and makes her ſole Executrix, and dies, the Widow enters and agrees to the Legacy, the Son dies, and then the Widow dies before the Leaſe is expired; it was adjudged, that this is a good Limitation of a Remainder, and that the Deviſe of the Occupation of the Land is in Effect a Deviſe of the Land itſelf to the Wife, ſo that the Execution of the Legacy to her is an Execution of the Remainder to the Son alſo, both their Intereſts being one and the ſame Thing, viz. in the Land itſelf, and that this is not a Deviſe of the whole Term to the Wife abſolutely, but ſub modo, and upon a Contingency, viz. if ſhe lives ſo long, and her Intereſt is determined on her Death, ſo that ſhe has no Power to diſpoſe of the Term againſt the Son, any more than if the Deviſes had been tranſpoſed in the Will, and the Teſtator had firſt bequeathed the whole Term to the Son, and afterwards had bequeathed the Occupation and Uſe of it to the Wife during her Life, in which Manner the Deviſes here ſhall be conſtrued and tranſpoſed, in order to make good both the Eſtates according to the Intent of the Deviſor. And Note, it ſeems to be taken in this Caſe that the Deviſe to the Wife did not amount to an expreſs Eſtate for Life, but upon a Limitation only, viz. if ſhe lived ſo long, for if it had amounted to an Eſtate for Life, (as it was objected) it would have ſwallowed up the whole Term, an Eſtate for Life being in Judgment of Law greater than for Years, in which Caſe no Remainder could be appointed over. S. C. Dy. 358. pl. 50. N. Bendl. 308. Crompt. J. C. 64. b. Swinb. 197, 198. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 361, 362. Nelſ. Lex Teſtam. 156, 290, 554. Law of Teſtaments &c. 91. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe K. pl. 14. L. pl. 10. D. a. pl. 10. For the Point of Remainder See 10 Co. 47. a. 1 Rol. R. 357. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 227. Vide Cro. J. 461. Crompt. J. C. 53. a. And touching the Power of diſpoſing of the Term by the firſt Deviſee, See Wentw. Off. of Exec. 238.

IT appears by the Record, that William Welcden has brought an Action of Treſpaſs in the Common Bench againſt Thomas Elkington for breaking his Cloſe and Houſe at Minchinhampton in the County of Glouceſter the 21ſt Day of October in the 10th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth. And the Defendant pleaded, not guilty. And the Jury found that William Lord Windeſore was ſeized in Fee of the Tenements in which the Treſpaſs is ſuppoſed to be done, and leaſed them the 16th Day of March in the 35th Year of King Henry 8. to one Thomas Davis for 60 Years from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady then next following, fully to be compleat. After which Feaſt Thomas Davis entered, and was poſſeſſed, and being ſo poſſeſſed, he in the 37th Year of King Henry 8. made his laſt Will in Writing, and thereby gave and deviſed the ſaid Tenements in Form following, viz. he deviſed that Johan Davis his Wife ſhould have and occupy all the Tenements for ſo many of the Years as ſhe ſhould happen to live, and after her Death he gave and deviſed the Reſidue of the Years of the ſaid Leaſe not expired to Francis Davis his younger Son, and to his Aſſigns. And he made his ſaid Wife his Executrix, and died in the ſame 37th Year of King Henry 8. being poſſeſſed in Form aforeſaid, and having whilſt he lived, and at the Time of his Death, Goods and Chattles (beſides the ſaid Leaſe) ſufficient to pay and ſatisfy all his Debts and Legacies. And after his Death, and in the Year of our Lord 1545, the ſaid Johan proved the Will in the Prerogative Court, becauſe the Teſtator at the Time of his Death had Goods and Debts in divers Dioceſes or peculiar Juriſdictions within this Realm of England. And afterwards ſhe entered into the Tenements, claiming to have and occupy them for Term of her Life, the Remainder thereof to the ſaid Francis, according to the Form and Effect of the ſaid Legacy, whereby the ſaid Johan was poſſeſſed of the ſaid Tenements. And ſhe being ſo poſſeſſed took to Huſband one Richard Herbert. And afterwards in the 5th Year of Queen Mary the ſaid Francis the Son died inteſtate. And afterwards in the ſame 5th Year of Queen Mary the ſaid Richard Herbert and his Wife by Deed gave and granted to two others all their Intereſt, Right, Title, and Term of Years then to come and not expired of and in the ſaid Tenements; to have and to hold the ſaid Tenements, and the ſaid Intereſt and Term of Years aforeſaid in the ſaid Tenements, to the ſaid two Perſons and to their Uſe unto the End of the ſaid 60 Years. And afterwards the ſaid two Perſons gave back to the ſaid Richard Herbert and his Wife their ſaid Intereſt, Right, and Term of Years of and in the ſaid Tenements; to have and to hold the ſaid Tenements and Intereſt of Years to them during the ſaid Term of 60 Years. And afterwards, viz. the 10th Day of February in the Year of our Lord 1564, the Adminiſtration of the Goods of the ſaid Francis the Son was committed to Mary Welcden the Wife of the Plaintiff. And afterwards, viz. in the 9th Year of Queen Elizabeth, the ſaid Richard Herbert granted all his Intereſt and Term of and in the ſaid Tenements to Charles Somerſet, Thomas Herbert, and John Waters, who granted it over to John Scudamore and George Vaughan. And afterwards, viz. the 20th Day of May in the 10th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, the ſaid Johan the Wife of the Teſtator died, after whoſe Death the Plaintiff, by Reaſon of the ſaid Letters of Adminiſtration granted to his Wife now living, entered into the ſaid Tenements, upon the Poſſeſſion of whom the Defendant at the Time of the Treſpaſs alledged, as Servant to the ſaid Scudamore and Vaughan, and by their Command, entered, and broke the ſaid Cloſe and Houſe, and did the Treſpaſs, &c. But whether the Entry of the Defendant was lawful or not, the Jury did not not know, and thereof they prayed the Advice of the Juſtices. And if upon the whole Matter it ſhould ſeem to the Court that the Entry of the Defendant upon the Plaintiff was not lawful, then they ſaid that the Defendant was guilty of the Treſpaſs, and then they aſſeſſed Damages, &c. And if the Entry of the Defendant was lawful, then they ſaid that the Defendant was not guilty.

And becauſe a Box of preſerved Barberies, and Sugar-candy, and Liquoriſh were found with John Mucklow, one of the Jury, after he was departed from the Bar, the ſaid Mucklow was committed to the Fleet, until he had made a Fine to the Queen, and afterwards in the ſame Term the ſaid Mucklow, being brought to the Bar by the Keeper of the Priſon, prayed that he might be admitted to make a Fine to the Queen; and he was admitted by Pledges, which Fine was aſſeſſed by the Juſtices at 20 s. and the ſaid Mucklow was diſcharged.

And upon this Verdict Judgment was prayed for the Plaintiff by Baber and Anderſon Serjeants. And it was objected by Popham and Windham Serjeants on the Part of the Defendant that the Plaintiff ſhould be barred, becauſe the Jury have found againſt him, as they took it. For they have found that Thomas Davis the Teſtator, being poſſeſſed of the Term, deviſed that Johan his Wife ſhould have and occupy all the Tenements for ſo many of the Years as he ſhould live, and that after her Death he deviſed the Reſidue of the Years unexpired to Francis Davis his Son, and to his Aſſigns, and that he made his ſaid Wife his Executrix, and died, and that the Wife proved the Teſtament, and took a ſecond Huſband, and that ſhe and her Huſband granted the Term to Strangers. In which Caſe divers Things are conſiderable. Firſt, whether or no by this Deviſe the Teſtator gave to the Wife as Legatory the whole Term, or only Part of it. Secondly, if he did not give the whole, but Part, then whether or no this Eſtate or Intereſt which the Wife hath, is, by her Entry, an Execution of the Legacy and of the whole Eſtate as well to Francis as to herſelf. Thirdly, admitting that it is or is not an Execution thereof, whether or no the Intereſt intended to Francis is utterly excluded by the Grant of the Term made by the Wife and her ſecond Huſband to the two Strangers.

For the Defendant. 1 Point. [a] Godolph. Orph. Leg. 442, 476. § 118. [b] Ibid. [c] Poſt 543 (c). [d] 3 Bulſt. 8. [e] Swinb. 90. [f] Dy. 277. pl. 59. 10 Co. 47. b. 2 Bac. Abr. 435. 3 Bac. Abr. 488. [g] 2 Brownl. 173, arguendo. Vin. Abr. tit. Executors N. a. pl. 3. [h] 1 Leon. 216 per Anderſon et Periam. Poſt 543 (b). For if the Executor, being Legatory alſo, enters generally without Claim or Demonſtration of his Election, it is ſaid that he ſhall have it as Executor, and not as Legatory, Dy. 277. pl. 59. 10 Co. 47. b. 1 Rol. Abr. 619. D. pl. 1. Cro. E. 348. pl. 19. 2 Bac. Abr. 435. 3 Bac. Abr. 488. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 138, § 3. 442. 476, § 118. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 222. 1 Chan. Caſ. 310. Sed Contra Cro. E. 223. pl. 3. Poſt 543, per Curiam. Vide Swinb. 91, 92. 1 Show. P. C. 203. Skin. 536. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 227. [k] Show. P. C. 203. [l] 7 Ed. 6. Bro. Grants 154. Leaſe 66. B. N. C. § 437. 1 Co. 155. a. Moor 479, 480. 1 Bulſt. 191. Godb. 25. 3 Leon. 86. 2 And. 12. 1 Rol. Abr. 848. pl. 4. Show. P. C. 203. 1 Lev. 45 Copenhurſt v. Copenhurſt, per Curiam. Sed Contra 1 Rol. Abr. 848. pl. 1. [m] See the Caſe here intended H. 10 Eliz. Dy. 272. pl. 30, Lilley v. Whitney. And S. P. Hob. 171. 1 Bulſt, 191, 192. See Skin. 535. [n] M. 9 H. 5. 8. pl. 1.

And upon theſe Points the Matter was debated by the Serjeants the laſt Hillary Term, and by the Juſtices this preſent Eaſter Term 20 Eliz. But I did not hear the Argument of Baber Serjeant, nor of Mead and Mounſon Juſtices, and only Part of Popham's Argument. And as to the firſt Point, it was ſaid that when the Teſtator died, and the Wife entered into the Land, ſhe had two Titles, the one as Executrix, the other as Legatory, and ſhe [a] might chuſe which ſhe would ſtand to. [b] For if ſhe choſe the Intereſt which the Law firſt veſted in her as Executrix, then by that Election ſhe waived the other Intereſt as Legatory, (which ſhe might well do, [c] for no Legatory is compellible to take the Legacy againſt his Will) and if ſhe choſe the Intereſt veſted in her as Legatory, then ſhe did not hold as Executrix, [d] for that which ſhe held as Executrix ſhe held to another's Uſe, [e] and that which ſhe held as Legatory, ſhe held to her own Uſe; ſo that by the Election of the one the other Intereſt was deſtroyed and confounded. And when ſhe entered, her firſt [f] Title was as Executrix, for as Executrix ſhe had the Term in a Manner before Entry, and as Executrix ſhe might have [g] aliened the Term before Entry, wherefore in Order to make her Election, [h] ſome Circumſtance was neceſſary to be uſed, to ſhew whether ſhe would aſſent to the Legacy or refuſe it. And then when ſhe entered, claiming to have and occupy the Tenements for Term of her Life, with the Remainder over, according to the Legacy (as the Jury have found), admitting for Argument's Sake that this was an Execution of the Legacy, yet ſhe had in her the whole Term and the whole Intereſt, for the Words of the Teſtament are, that ſhe ſhould have and occupy all the Tenements for as many of the Years as ſhe ſhould live, that is, for as long Time as ſhe ſhould live, and it is as much as if the Teſtator had ſaid, that ſhe ſhould have the Term during her Life. In which Caſe he could not limit or appoint a Remainder over, [i] for a Time for Life is in Judgment of Law larger than a Time for Years. [k] And if one who has a Term for Years grants it to another during his Life, it is as much as if he had granted it during all the Years, for the Limitation for Life is as great as a Limitation for all the Years, and comprehends in Judgment of Law all the Years, for inaſmuch as a Time for Life is greater than a Time for Years, therefore the leſſer is included in the greater. And ſo the whole Term and Eſtate was given to the Wife here, from whence it follows that the Remainder is void. And hereupon Popham ſaid it had been held, [l] that if one has a Leaſe for Years of Land, and grants to another all his Term which ſhould be to come at the Time of his Death, this Grant is void, for in that he will hold the Term during his own Life, thereby he holds it for a Time which is as long as he has an Intereſt in the Land, ſo that there is no Certainty that the Term will ever commence; and therefore the Grant ſo made is void. And the Lord Dyer in his Argument afterwards affirmed that ſuch Grant could not be good to commence after the Death of him who had the Term, but he ſaid that in a Caſe which lately came before the Juſtices of the King's Bench upon a Poſtea, [m] where Leſſee for Years granted by Deed all his Term to another, habendum to the Grantee from the Time of the Death of the Grantor, it was adjudged that the habendum was void, and that the Term paſſed preſently, becauſe the Premiſſes of the Deed and the habendum could not ſtand together; for by the Premiſſes of the Deed the Term was granted preſently, and then the habendum, which would make the Term commence after Death, was inconſiſtent with the Premiſſes, and could not make any Intereſt to paſs, becauſe the Time when it ſhould paſs was thereby made incertain, for by the habendum the Grantor intended to reſerve to himſelf the Eſtate or Intereſt as long as he ſhould live, and that the Years which were to come after his Death ſhould paſs, which could not be, becauſe when he reſerved it for his Life, therein he reſerved it for all the Term which he had, for a Time for Life is greater than a Time for Years; and therefore inaſmuch as the habendum and the Premiſſes could not ſtand together, the Court adjudged that the Term paſſed by the Premiſſes of the Deed, rather than the habendum ſhould deſtroy the whole. But in the other Caſe where Leſſee for Years, without any habendum, grants to another all his Term which ſhall be to come at the Time of his Death, the whole ſhall be totally void, becauſe it is but one entire Sentence. And ſo the Serjeants ſaid that in the principal Caſe the Wife, to whom the Term was given, had the whole Term during her Life, and the Limitation of the Reſidue of the Term which was to come at the Time of her Death was void. [n] And hereupon Windham cited the Caſe in 9 H. 5. where a Man was ſeized in Fee, and made a Leaſe for 10 Years, and afterwards he made another Leaſe for 6 Years, to commence the ſame Day on which the firſt Leaſe commenced, and afterwards the Leſſee for 6 Years made a Leaſe to another for 4 Years, rendering 6 l. per ann. and afterwards, and during the 4 Years, the Leſſee for 10 Years ſurrendered his Term to the firſt Leſſor, and afterwards the Leſſee for 6 Years brought an Action of Debt againſt the Leſſee for 4 Years, for 24 l. being the Rent in Ar-rear for the 4 Years at the ſaid Rate of 6 l. per ann. and it was the Opinion of Martin Juſtice, that the Action of Debt did not lie, wherefore the Plaintiff there traverſed the Leaſe for 10 Years, becauſe if the Leaſe for 10 Years was made, the Leaſe for 6 Years was void, [b] for when the Leſſor had made a Leaſe for 10 Years, during that Term he could not contract with another for a Leaſe to take Effect within that Time, for which Reaſon his Leaſe for 6 Years afterwards made to commence the ſame Day with the former Leaſe was abſolutely null and void: And altho' the Leſſee for 10 Years afterwards ſurrendered his Eſtate, yet the Leaſe for 6 Years could not take Effect, becauſe it was void at the Beginning, the greater Term of 10 Years having made the Contract for the leſſer Term void, for the Leſſee for 10 Years had the Land for all the 6 Years and more, ſo that the Intereſt for 6 Years was utterly void. And ſo in the principal Caſe here the Wife had the Land for the whole Term, and then the Teſtator could not limit it or any Part of it to another during the Time that the Wife had it. From whence it follows that the Plaintiff, who claims by the Remainder which was void, ſhall be barred.

[b] S. P. Ante 422 (e). 432 (a).

But admitting that the Wife had not the whole Eſtate in the Term given to her by the expreſs Words of the Will, but that the Words (that the Wife ſhould have and occupy all the Tenements for as many of the Years as ſhe ſhould live) ſhall be interpreted not to give her the Term itſelf, but only the Occupation thereof, yet the other Words, by which the Teſtator gave the Reſidue of the Years unexpired, after the Death of the Wife, to Francis his Son, imply that the Wife ſhould have the Term during her Life, and by Implication they amount to a Gift of the Term to the Wife for her Life. [c] And hereupon Popham cited the Caſe in 13 H. 7. where a Man deviſed all his Goods to his Wife, and that after the Death of the Wife, his Son and Heir ſhould have the Houſe, there notwithſtanding the Houſe was not expreſly deviſed to the Wife, yet foraſmuch as it was the Intent of the Deviſor that the Son ſhould not have the Houſe during the Life of his Mother, therefore by Implication ſhe ſhould take an Eſtate for Life in the Houſe, to which all the Juſtices in that Caſe agreed. So in the principal Caſe (it was ſaid) altho' it ſhould be taken that the Words of the Will did not expreſly give the Term to the Wife during her Life, but only the Occupation of the Land, yet foraſmuch as the Teſtator gave the Term to Francis his Son after the Death of the Wife, therein it appears to be his Intent that the Wife ſhould have it during her Life, and therefore the Term was by Implication preſently given to the Wife, and ſhe had it as fully as if it had been given to her by expreſs Words. So that whether ſhe had it the one Way or the other, no Remainder could be limited to Francis the Son, and conſequently the Plaintiff has no Title or Intereſt by Reaſon of the Letters of Adminiſtration of the Goods of Francis, but ſhall be barred.

[c] H. 13 H. 7. 17. pl. 22. Bro. Deviſe 52.

2 Point.

As to the ſecond Point, viz. if the Entry of the Wife was an Execution of the whole Eſtate as well to Francis the Son as to herſelf, it was ſaid that the Plaintiff in Right of his Wife the Adminiſtratrix of Francis cannot enter, unleſs the Remainder or Intereſt which he claims was executed in the Life of the Wife of the Teſtator, for there was no ſufficient Aſſent had after the Death of the Wife of the Teſtator. And if ſo be that the Eſtate is given only to Francis the Son, and nothing to the Wife but the Occupation or Uſe, or the Profits thereof, (as ſome of the Counſel on the other Side have collected from the Senſe of the Words, according to their own Expoſition of them) then there was no Execution of the Term in the Son, for the Eſtate or Term is one Thing, and the Occupation thereof is another Thing, for the Occupation or taking of the Iſſues is nothing but a Profit a prender, and is a diſtinct Thing from the Eſtate. And therefore her Entry and Claim of her own Intereſt, which was but a Profit, could not be an Execution of the Eſtate itſelf, which is another Thing. [d] As if a Man has a Leaſe for Years, and deviſes out of it a Rent or Common to A, and deviſes the Leaſe itſelf to B. and dies, and his Executors pay the Rent, or aſſent that A. the Deviſee of the Common ſhall put in his Cattle, and uſe the Common, this is no Aſſent that B. the Deviſee of the Term ſhall have the Term, nor is it an Execution of the Term, for the Term is one Thing, and the Profit out of it is another Thing. [e] But if a Man has a Term for 20 Years, and deviſes 4 Years to one, and the Remainder or Remnant of the Term to another, there if the Executors aſſent that the Deviſee for 4 Years ſhall enter, and he does ſo, this Aſſent goes to him in Remainder, and is an Execution of the whole Term as well to him in Remainder as to the Deviſee for 4 Years, for the firſt Eſtate and the Remainder is all of one ſame Thing, ſo that the Aſſent to the one is an Aſſent to the other. But the Occupation of the Land is a different Thing from the Eſtate in the Land itſelf. And to prove that the Execution of the Occupation of a Thing is not an Execution of the Thing itſelf, Popham cited the Caſe in 37 H. 6. [f] where A. being poſſeſſed of a Book called a Grail, deviſed it to B. one of his Executors, to have and uſe for Term of his Life, and after his Death, the Remainder to C. in the ſame Manner for Term of his Life, and after his Death, the Remainder to the Pariſhioners of a Church for ever, and died, and B. the Executor took the ſaid Book, and held it by Force of the ſaid Deviſe, and afterwards B. died, and C. to whom the Remainder was appointed took the Book, and in an Action of Treſpaſs brought againſt him for the Book, he would have juſtified upon this Matter, and could not, becauſe the Deviſe proves in itſelf that the Property of the Book was always in the Executors to the Uſe of the Teſtator, and not in the Deviſees, for they had but the Occupation and Uſe of it for their Lives, ſo that they had no Property in it, but the Property continued in the Executors, who were to deliver it to the Pariſhioners [d] S. P. 1 Rol. R. 248 per Dodder. J. 3 Bulſt. 122, per Idem. Bridgm. 55. Swinb. 27. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 234. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 235. Poſt 541. But it ſeems that an Aſſent to the Deviſe of the Term is an Aſſent to the Rent or Common, 1 Rol. Abr. 620. pl. 3. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 360.

[e] S. P. 1 Finch 151. 2 Finch 172. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 148, 244.

[f] T. 37 H. 6. 30. Fitz. Deviſe 6. Bro. 13. Lane 60, 61. 1 P. Wms. 3. 1 Finch 151. 2 Finch 172. Poſt 542.

ners after the Death of B. and C. From which Caſe (it was ſaid) it appears that the Execution of him who has but the Occupation of a Thing is no Execution to another who has the Occupation after him, for their Occupations are ſeveral and diſtinct from each other, nor is it any Execution to him to whom the Property is given. So in the principal Caſe, if it ſhall be taken that nothing is deviſed to the Wife but the Occupation of the Term, and that the Property of it is deviſed to the Son, the Execution of the Occupation is no Execution of the Property.

And Windham ſaid that no Aſſent could be given to Francis until it was known whether he ſhould have any Thing or not, or if the Wife had ſurvived the Term, he ſhould have had nothing, and therefore an Aſſent in the Life of the Wife is void. And he alſo ſaid, that if the Wife ſhall be adjudged to have nothing by the Deviſe but the Occupation of the Term, ſuch Occupation, which is but a Profit out of the Land, ſhall be merged in the Land being in the Hands of the Wife, for ſhe hath the Property of the Term in her before it ſhall be in the Son, and the Thing itſelf extinguiſhes the Profit ariſing out of it.

3 Point. As to the third Point, viz. if Francis was excluded of the Intereſt intended him by the Grant made by the Wife and her ſecond Huſband, Popham ſaid that he was utterly excluded. For when the Teſtator deviſed that his Wife ſhould have and occupy all the Tenements during her Life, and after her Death that his Son ſhould have them, if this ſhall not be adjudged an abſolute Deviſe to the Wife, yet at leaſt ſhe thereby had the whole entire Intereſt upon Condition or upon Determination, viz. that if ſhe died, then her Eſtate ſhould be void. For to give all his Term to his Wife during her Life, and to give all his Term to his Wife if ſhe ſhall ſo long live, ſeems to be all of one Effect. For when he ſays, "during her Life," he ſhews his Intent to be that her Eſtate ſhall end with her Life, for if he meant that her Eſtate ſhould continue longer than for her Life, it was idle to put in the Words, "during her Life," or "for as many Years as ſhe ſhall live." So that to give the Term during her Life, or for as many Years as ſhe ſhall live, or if ſhe ſhall ſo long live, or provided that if ſhe dies, the Deviſe ſhall be void, ſeems to be all of one Effect, if ſo be that the Mention of her Life has any Effect or Operation at all. And if ſo be that the Words (during her Life) are Words of Limitation or Condition, then the Executors ſhall take Advantage thereof, and not Francis the Son, who is a Stranger; for ſuch Condition, or ſuch Expectation to have the Term upon her Death, is nothing but a Poſſibility, and whether it be called a Poſſibility or a Condition, or any Thing elſe, it cannot be granted or limited to any other who is a Stranger. For it is a Thing which goes in Privity, as Conditions, and ſuch like, do, which are given by Law to Privies only, and cannot be limited or granted to others who are Strangers, as the Son is here, but the Executors ought to take Benefit of ſuch Things of Privity. And here inaſmuch as the Wife herſelf was Executrix, and ſhe and her ſecond Huſband granted the Term over to two others, thereby they granted this Poſſibility or Condition by Way of Extinguiſhment, and therefore there is no Perſon that ſhall take Benefit of any Determination by the Death of the Wife. So that whether the Wife had an abſolute Eſtate in the Term without Remainder, or whether ſhe had an Eſtate upon Condition or Determination by her Death, the Grant of her and of her Huſband took away and extinguiſhed ſuch Condition or Determination, and made the Eſtate of the Grantees of the Term good and abſolute and indefeaſible; for which Reaſon nothing accrued to the Adminiſtratrix of Francis, and ſo the Plaintiff ought to be barred.

E Contra for the Plaintiff. But the Serjeants of Counſel for the Plaintiff, and all the Juſtices, argued to the contrary. For when the Teſtator deviſed that Johan his Wife ſhould have and occupy all the Tenements for as many of the Years as ſhe ſhould happen to live, therein he expreſſed his Intent to be, that ſhe ſhould have the Tenements during her Life, [a] for "as many of the Years as ſhe ſhould live," and "during her Life" is all one. [b] For if I demiſe Land, to have and to hold from Hour to Hour, or from Month to Month, or from Year to Year, during 40 Years, it is a good Leaſe for 40 Years. And ſo if I leaſe Land, to have from Day to Day, or from Week to Week, or from Month to Month, or from Year to Year during the Life of the Leſſee, and I make Livery, this is a good Leaſe for Life. And ſo ſuch Grant of a Rent or of a Reverſion ſhould be a good Grant for Life, for ſuch Form of Speech is but a Circumlocution of Life, for to have from Month to Month during Life, or from Year to Year during Life, and to have during Life, is all one, becauſe he that has a Thing for Life, has it from Day to Day, or from Month to Month during his Life. For an Hour, Day, Month, and Year are but particular Parts of Time, which run into, and are contained in, a greater Time. And ſo here the Teſtator by Circumlocution hath given the Leaſe to his Wife during her Life, ſo that it is evident to every Man that it was his Intent that his Wife ſhould have the Leaſe during her Life. And (during her Life) is a Limitation here, and is as much as to ſay, that ſhe ſhall have the Land during the Leaſe, if ſhe lives ſo long, and ſuch is the Senſe of the Words (during her Life). And if ſhe ſhould happen to die during the Leaſe, then it is alſo evident to every Man that it was the Teſtator's Intent, by his Gift to the Son, that the Son ſhould have the Leaſe during the Reſidue of the Years which ſhould be then to come.

[a] 8 Co. 95. b.

[b] See Ante 273 (b).

And inaſmuch as the Intent of the Teſtator is evident by theſe Words, it is the Office of the Court, as Anderſon and Manwood ſaid (and as Mounſon Juſtice alſo afterwards ſaid to me) ſo to marſhal and conſtrue the Words that the [c] Intent may take Place, and the Thing be effected, and not deſtroyed, if any Senſe at all can be made of them by Law.

[c] See Ante 162 (m), and the Books there cited.

Then here it appears to the Court that the Leaſe was made for 60 Years from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady in Anno 35 H. 8. ſo that the Leaſe would end in the Year of our Lord 1604. And it was the Will of the Teſtator that his Wife ſhould have the Land for as many of the Years as ſhe ſhould live, and no longer, and that his Son ſhould have the Reſidue. Then in order to ſet the Eſtates deviſed in a clear Light, and to make them ſtand with the Law, ſuppoſe that the Eſtate limited to the Son had been firſt expreſſed, and the Wife's Eſtate laſt, as if he had deviſed that the Son ſhould have the Land from the Death of his Wife unto the End of the Term, or unto the Annunciation of our Lady in the Year of our Lord 1604, and ſuppoſe further that he had deviſed the Land to his Wife during her Life, would not this Form of Words have ſerved the Turn of both the Wife and the Son? and would not the Law have warranted every Part of this Deviſe? Moſt certainly it would. And, Sir, ſo much is done in the preſent Deviſe of the Teſtator, for his Deviſe is in Subſtance to that Purpoſe, and his Words amount to as much. And it is the Office of the Court to adjudge what Part of the Sentence precedes, and what follows, and they ought ſo to place them that the one Part may not deſtroy the other, but that each may ſtand together. And hereupon Manwood put this Caſe. [a] If A. is ſeized in Fee of Land, and deviſes it to B. and to his Heirs, and afterwards in the latter Part of his Will he deviſes a Rent of 40 s. out of the Land to C. with Clauſe of Diſtreſs, this is a good Deviſe of the Rent to C. and a good Deviſe of the Land to B. and yet the Land was firſt deviſed, ſo that the ſubſequent Deviſe of the Rent out of it may ſeem to ſome who are ignorant of the Matter to be repugnant; but it is the Office of the Court ſo to marſhal the Words which are ſpoken at one Time, that the one Part may be conſiſtent with the other, and therefore the Deviſe of the Rent ſhall be conſtrued to precede the Deviſe of the Land, by which Means all Repugnancy will be avoided. And ſo, he ſaid, there was a like Caſe in the King's Bench, [b] where Leſſee for Years deviſed his Leaſe to his Son during the whole Term, and nevertheleſs it was his Will that his Wife ſhould have the Land during her Life, and this was there taken to be a good Deviſe of the Term to the Wife as long as ſhe lived, yet there the whole Term was firſt given to the Son, but the Court ſo expounded the Words that the Intent of the Teſtator might be obſerved, which was, that the Wife ſhould firſt have the Term during her Life, and the Son afterwards: So that the Words, by which the Term was firſt deviſed to the Son, were in Senſe placed laſt, and the Deviſe to the Wife, which was ſubſequent, was in Conſtruction made precedent. And this Sort of Expoſition will by no Means ſeem ſtrange to us, if we do but caſt our Eyes back, and conſider in what Manner the Judges in former Times have expounded the Words of Wills. [c] For, Anderſon ſaid, it appears in 21 R. 2. that a Man deviſed certain Tenements to one for Life, the Remainder for Life, the Remainder over to the Church of St. Andrew in Holborn, and upon this Deviſe the Parſon of the Church, after the Death of the Tenants for Life, ſued an Ex gravi querela to have Execution, and the Deviſe was adjudged good, and it was awarded that the Plaintiff ſhould have Execution, and yet the Church was not Perſona capax, but the Juſtices conſidered the Intent of the Teſtator, which was, that the Parſon ſhould have it, and not the Church, and therefore they conſtrued the Words ſo as to preſerve the Intent, and not to deſtroy it. [d] So, he ſaid, it was lately adjudged in Lingen's Caſe, that where a Man, after the Statute of 27 H. 8. of Uſes, deviſed that his Feoffees ſhould be ſeized to the Uſe of A. in Fee, this was a good Deviſe of the Land to A. and yet at the Time of the Deviſe the Deviſor had not nor could he have any Feoffees ſeized to his Uſe, but his Intent was that A. ſhould have the Land, and agreeably to that Intent the Court conſtrued the Will. [e] And upon this Ground is the Caſe adjudged in 38 Aſſ. where a Man deviſed Land to be ſold by his Executor, and to make Diſtribution of the Money for his Soul, and he was offered Money for the Land, but not to the Value, for which Reaſon he held the Land in his Hands for two Years, and took the Profits to his own Uſe, without doing any Thing for the Soul of the Teſtator, and it was adjudged that the Heir might enter upon him, becauſe he had broken the Intent of the Teſtator, inaſmuch as he had not aliened the Land, nor converted the Profits of it to the Uſe of the Soul of the Teſtator: So that without any Words of Condition the Judges expounded the Will to create a Condition, becauſe that appeared to them to be the Intent of the Teſtator. Wherefore inaſmuch as the [f] Intent is the principal Point to be conſidered in Wills, and the Words ought to be conſtrued and applied ſo as to perform that Intent, it is reaſonable and the Office of the Judges to make ſuch Expoſition of the Words in the preſent Caſe, as is agreeable to the Intent of the Teſtator, and conſiſtent with the Law of the Realm, and that is, to conſtrue the latter Deviſe to the Son to precede the former Deviſe to the Wife, which Expoſition is conſonant to Law and Equity.

And as to what has been ſaid, that there was an Incertainty in the Eſtate limited to the Son, for it might have happened that the Wife had outlived the Years, and then nothing would have accrued to the Son, by Reaſon of which Incertainty the Eſtate limited to the Son ſhall be void; as to this, although there was an Incertainty when the Term would commence in the Son, [g] yet in Contracts if there is a Certainty upon an Incertainty, the Law allows ſuch to be good. [h] As if I make a Leaſe to A. habendum from the Time of the Death of I. S. unto the Feaſt of St. Michael which ſhall be in the Year of our Lord 1600, there I. S. may poſſibly outlive the Feaſt, which if he does, the Leaſe ſhall be void; and ſo on the other Hand he may poſſibly die before the ſaid Feaſt, and then the Leaſe ſhall be good. So that although there is an incertain Commencement founded upon a Contingency, yet upon that Contingency there is a certain End; and ſuch conditional Leaſes are good, as Anderſon and Manwood ſaid. [i] And Anderſon ſaid, if a Man deviſes ſo many of the Years of his Term as J. S. ſhall name, and J. S. afterwards names a certain Leſſee for Years deviſes the Occupation of his Land to his Wife for as many of the Years as ſhe ſhall live, and after her Death, the Remainder of the Years unexpired to his Son, this ſhall be conſtrued firſt a Deviſe of the Term to the Son after the Death of the Wife, and afterwards a Deviſe of the Occupation of it to the Wife for her Life, in order that both may ſtand. See the like Conſtruction Poſt 540, and many Caſes there cited upon the ſame Ground.

[a] S. P. Lane 118 Per Tanfield. 1 Bulſt. 192. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 306, § 3. 327. Poſt 451 (c). 2 Rol. R. 424. at the Bottom. 1 Finch 49. 2 Finch 69. Treat. of Wills 30. So if there is firſt a Deviſe of Land to A. in Fee, and afterwards a Deviſe of the ſame Land to B. for Life, both Parts of the Will ſhall ſtand, and in Conſtruction of the Law the Deviſe to B. ſhall be firſt, ſo that it ſhall be an Eſtate for Life, the Remainder in Fee, Cro. E. 9. pl. 2. 2 Rol. R. 424. And ſee where Sentences and Eſtates have been tranſpoſed to preſerve the Intent of a Will, Hob. 75. pl. 93. 2 Chan. Caſ. 10. 1 Salk 234. Poſt 540.

[b] Crompt. J. C. 64. b. See the like Caſe Poſt 540 Paramour v. Yardley.

[c] P. 21. R. 2. Fitz. Deviſe 27. Bro. Corporation 77. Ante 345 (b).

[d] S. C. Paſch. 15 Eliz. Dy. 323. pl. 29 1 Leon. 313. 2 Leon. 43. 3 Leon. 167, 262. 4 Leon. 75. Poph. 188. 2 Brownl. 52. 1 Rol. Abr. 611. pl. 11. See like Point Bro. Deviſe 48. B. N. C. § 316. 1 Rol. Abr. 611. pl. 10.

[e] 38 Aſs. pl. 3. Bro. Condition 215. Deviſe 19. Fitz. Entry congeable 46. Bro. 124. Litt. § 383. Dy. 127. pl. 52. 2 Leon. 43. 4 Leon. 75. 1 Bulſt. 192.

[f] See Ante 162 (m).

[g] Ante 273 (b).

[h] Vin. Abr. tit. Eſtate Y. a. pl. 17.

[i] Swinb. 200. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 349, §. 6. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe D. pl. 4.

Number of Years, the Deviſe is good, but if he does not name any, the Deviſe is void. So, he ſaid, if Leſſee for Years grants to A. that if J. S. dies, A. ſhall have his Term, this is a good Grant conditionally. And ſo, he ſaid, if one grants to another that if he can obtain the good Will of the Leſſor, he ſhall have his Term, there if he performs the Condition, he ſhall have the Term, or otherwiſe not. [b] And upon this Ground Manwood cited a Caſe which is put by Strange in 9 H. 6. in Maintenance, viz. if I grant to A. that if my Tenant for Life dies during my Life, then A. ſhall have the Land for the Term of 10 Years, and afterwards my Tenant for Life is impleaded, A. may lawfully maintain him, and yet it is doubtful whether he ſhall have the Term or not. From which Caſe, he ſaid, it appears that a Leaſe for Years may be made upon an Incertainty, and although it is doubtful whether the Leaſe ſhall ever commence, or not, yet upon that Incertainty the Leſſee may maintain the Tenant of the Land, which he could not do, if he had no Intereſt in him in the Judgment of the Law. So in the principal Caſe here although the Commencement of the Eſtate limited to the Son was incertain, yet it might be certain upon a Contingency, viz. upon the Death of the Wife, which was then to come, whereby the Incertainty would be removed, and be reduced to a Certainty. And by her Death the Eſtate limited to the Son, which his Adminiſtratrix now hath, was made good, and ſo the Eſtate limited to the Wife and to the Son ſtand well together.

[b] H. 9. H. 6. 64. a. b. Bro. Maintenance 3. Wing. Max. reg. 113. pl. 10. Ante 83 (e).

A Deviſe of the Occupation of Land is in Effect a Deviſe of the Land itſelf, ſo that if the Occupation is deviſed to the Executor for a Time, and afterwards the Land itſelf to another, the Executor's Execution of the Legacy to himſelf is an Execution of the Legacy to the other, both their Intereſts being the ſame. S. P. adjudged Poſt 541 Paramour v. Yardley. And See Owen 6, 7. 2 Leon. 92. 3 Bulſt. 105. 1 Brownl. 79. Swinb. 141. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 349, § 6. 400, § 34. Co. Litt. 4. b.

And as to what has been ſaid, that that which the Wife had by the Deviſe was but the Occupation of the Land, and no Part of the Term or Intereſt itſelf, and therefore that the Occupation of the Wife was no Execution of the Term, which is a diſtinct Thing; to this Manwood and the Lord Dyer ſaid that it is not ſo, for the Intereſt limited to the Wife, and the Intereſt limited to the Son, is of one ſame Thing, and not of diſtinct Things. For, they ſaid, that which is limited as well to the one as to the other is the Land itſelf, for the Deviſe that the Wife ſhould have and occupy the Land was a Gift of the Land itſelf to the Wife, and ſhe had [c] jus poſſeſſionis, as Dyer termed it, although ſhe had not jus proprietatis. [d] But, he ſaid, an Action of Waſt might and ought to have been brought againſt the Wife, for ſhe was Tenant to the Leſſor. [e] And therefore the Execution of the Legacy in the Wife was an Execution to the Son alſo, for it was one ſame Term which was in them both, and one ſame Thing, and not ſeveral, and the Wife might have been ſaid to have the whole Term, [f] ſed ſub modo (as Dyer ſaid), and not abſolutely but determinably, and her Claim as Legatory ought to be adjudged a good Execution of the Term as well to the Son as to herſelf, for no other Aſſent could be had to the Eſtate of the Son in the Life of the Wife.

[c] Dy. 358. pl. 51. 1 Rol. R. 180.

[d] Vide 10 Co. 47. a.

[e] Godolph. Orph. Leg. 148, 245. Bridgm 55. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe D. a. pl. 10.

[f] See 10 Co. 47. a.

And, Manwood ſaid, it is not ſtrange in our Law to ſee two Perſons have ſeveral Intereſts in one ſame Land, and two Properties therein. [g] For, he ſaid, if Leſſee for Years by Deed indented grants over his Term to another, rendring Rent, and for Default of Payment that he ſhall re-enter and hold the Land until the Grantee hath paid him the Rent, there if he re-enters for Default of Payment, and holds the Land, he has one Property, (which is an incertain one, for it is determined upon the Payment of the Arrears by the Grantee) and the Grantee alſo has another Property, for all his Intereſt is not gone, but he has a Property ſuch as it is, and he may have the whole Property upon Payment of the Arrears. [h] So is it, he ſaid, if one has a Term for Years, and is bound in a Recognizance, or Statute-ſtaple, and Execution for Non-payment is ſued againſt him, and the Term is [i] extended, and delivered to the Conuſee at a certain annual Value, (as it well may be, [k] for it may be abſolutely ſold, or be extended at the annual Value, as Freehold may, at the Election of the Sheriff) there the Conuſee to whom the Term is delivered has one Property (which is an incertain one, for how long he ſhall hold it he does not know), and the Leſſee himſelf has another Property, for upon the Payment of the Debt, or upon its being received by the Conuſee out of the Revenue and Income of the Land, the Leſſee ſhall have the Term again: So that two Perſons have ſeveral Properties in one ſame Term. [l] And he cited a Caſe which happened in Kent, where a Woman made a Leaſe for Years of Mills are Kent, with an Exception that ſhe ſhould have the Profits for Term of her Life, and it was greatly debated whether or no this Exception was good, inaſmuch as the Profits of the Mills are the whole Benefit, and in Effect the Mills themſelves, and at laſt the Exception was adjudged to be good in Law, and the Woman had the Profits; and there if ſhe entered to take the Profits, ſhe had thereby one Property, (which was incertain how many Years it might continue) and the Leſſee had another Property. And he ſaid that in Chattles merely perſonal, as in Caſe of Sheep leaſed for a Time to compeſter the Land, or of a Chain pledged, as the Caſe was in [m] 5 H. 7. the Owner has one Property, and he to whom the Sheep are leaſed, or the Chain is pledged, has another; a fortiore then two Properties may be in a Leaſe, which is a Chattle real, and has a long certain Continuance. And therefore the Deviſe here is good to the Wife, and to the Son alſo, and the Entry of the Wife, with her Claim of the Land as a Legacy, is an Execution for both the Eſtates, [n] and the Intereſt of the Wife is not a collateral Occupation, as it was objected, but it is of the ſame Thing which was limited to the Son, and the Limitation to the Son is not a [o] Poſſibility, as Popham termed it, but a Deviſe of the Land itſelf. So that the whole Court was of Opinion, that upon the whole Matter the Adminiſtratrix of the Son ſhould have the Land after the Death of the Wife, and conſequently that the Action is maintenable.

[g] Vin. Abr. tit. Property K. pl. 1.

[h] Vin. Abr. tit. Property K. pl. 2.

[i] M. 7 H. 6. 2. a. b. Per Strange.

[k] Palm. 274.

[l] Vin. Abr. tit. Condition A. a. pl. 2. in Margine. tit. Property K. pl. 3. 3 Leon. 111, S. P. in a Queſtion put by Manwood Ch. B. Crompt. J. C. 64. b. See Dy. 264. b. T. 7 H. 6. 43. b.

And Manwood ſaid in his Argument, [p] that if Tenant for Years of Land grants a Rent-charge out of it to another for the Life of the Grantee, the Grantee ſhall not have an Eſtate of Freehold in [m] This ſeems to be M. 5 H. 7. 1. a.

[n] Godolph. Orph. Leg. 362.

[o] Godolph. Orph. Leg. 245, 362. But whether it is a Poſſibility, as it is called in Lampet's Caſe 10 Co. 47. and in Wentw. Off. of Exec. 237. or a preſent Intereſt, as it is called in 2 Bulſt. 130. it ſeems it is ſuch as may be releaſed, 10 Co. 47, &c. adjudged. Strange 132, by the Maſter of the Rolls. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 237. Contra 4 Leon. 135.

[p] 3 Bulſt. 125. 1 Rol. R. 248, at the bottom. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 55.

the Rent, becauſe he cannot have an Eſtate of Freehold derived out of a Chattle-real, but he ſaid that he ſhall have the Rent during all the Years; as if the Leſſee hath 40 Years in the Land, the Grantee ſhall have 40 Years in the Rent, and ſo he may make his Title, for the Limitation of the Time for Life is greater than the Years, and in the Limitation of the greater, the leſſer Time, viz. all the Years, ſhall be comprehended and included, ſo that he ſhall only have a Chattle in the Rent. But he did not ſay whether the Rent ſhould be determined by the Death of the Grantee, or not, * but it ſeems reaſonable to take it ſo, viz. that the Grantee ſhall have the Rent for all the Years which the Leſſee hath in the Land, if he ſhall live ſo long, and no longer.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

And afterwards Judgment was given in the principal Caſe for the Plaintiff, which was as follows.

* Herewith agrees 1 Rol. R. 370, Per Dodderidge J.

Note, that no Notice was taken in this Caſe of the Death of him in Remainder before the firſt Deviſee for Life, in which Caſe ſome have thought that ſince the Intereſt of the Remainder-man is but a meer poſſibility, becauſe the whole Term may poſſibly be ſpent in the Life of the firſt Deviſee, therefore if it does not take Effect and become an Eſtate in the Life of him to whom it is limited, it ſhall never ſettle in his Executor or Adminiſtrator, to which purpoſe they vouch the Rector of Chedington's Caſe 1 Co. 155. and more ſtrongly Price and Atmore's Caſe 4 Leon. 246. But the Law ſeems clearly to be, that the Death of him in Remainder ſhall be no Impediment to its ſettling in his Executors or Adminiſtrators, as well as it ſhould have done in himſelf, if he had out-lived the firſt Deviſee for Life; and ſo are the Books 10 Co. 51. b. Cro. J. 509, 510. 3 Leon. 195. 4 Leon. 192. 2 Bulſt. 130, Per Coke C. J. W. Jones 59. Strange 132. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 239. And ſo it is to be preſumed the Counſel for the Defendant here underſtood the Law to be, for that they never brought this Point into Queſtion.

At which Day here came as well the aforeſaid William Welcden as the aforeſaid Thomas Elkington by their Attornies aforeſaid. And thereupon the Premiſes being ſeen, and by the Juſtices here more fully underſtood, it ſeems to the ſame Juſtices here that the aforeſaid Entry of the aforeſaid Thomas Elkington into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances upon the Poſſeſſion of the aforeſaid William Welcden was not lawful; therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid William Welcden recover againſt the aforeſaid Thomas Elkington his Damages aforeſaid to 10 l. by the Jurors aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid aſſeſſed, and alſo 66 l. to the ſame William Welcden at his Requeſt for his Coſts and Charges aforeſaid by the Court here of Increaſe adjudged. Which ſaid Damages in the whole amount to 76*l.* And nothing of Fine of the aforeſaid Thomas Elkington, becauſe he is pardoned, &c.

The reſt of the Record.

Judgment.

A Report of the Opinions of all the Juſtices of the King's-Bench, in Eaſter Term in the 20th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, upon a Point ariſing in an Ejectione firmæ brought there by Robert Bransby againſt Vincent Grantham upon a Leaſe of Tenements in Bracebridge in the County of the City of Lincoln, which Leaſe was made to him by Edward Sapcots the 13th Day of April in the 17th Year of the preſent Queen for five Years next following from the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel then laſt paſt. And the Record was entered among the Records of Trinity Term 19 Eliz. Rot. 741.

THE Defendant entitled himſelf by a former Leaſe made to his Grand-father by Thomas Bracebridge, who was then ſeized in Fee of the Tenements. And his Grand-father made his Teſtament, and ordained his Son Thomas Grantham his Executor, and died. And Thomas as Executor to the Grand-father entered, and made his Teſtament, whereby he deviſed the ſaid Term and Intereſt to the Defendant his Son, and made four others his Executors and died. And the Defendant by the Aſſent and Conſent of the Executors entered, and was poſſeſſed. And the ſaid Thomas Bracebridge entered, and ejected him, and made a mean Conveyance, whereby the Land at the laſt came to Sapcots the Leſſor of the Plaintiff. And the Defendant re-entered, claiming his former Leaſe, and ejected the Plaintiff.

The CASE.

An Executor cannot deviſe the Goods which he has as Executor. S. P. 1 Rol. R. 140, 143. 3 Leon. 209. 3 Bulſt. 7. Crompt. J. C. 118. b. 1 Finch 149. 2 Finch 168. Swinb. 90, 189. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 30, § 3. 110, § 5. 137, 138, § 3. 296, § 6. 307. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 17. Treat. of Wills 25, 138, 139. Nelſ. Lex. Teſtam. 90. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 35. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe A. pl. 23. J. 3. pl. 5. tit. Executors N. a. pl. 6. O. a. 2. pl. 4. X. b. pl. 6.

And it was the Opinion of all the Juſtices (as I was credibly informed, for I was not preſent when they declared their Opinions, though I was of Counſel in the Caſe) that the Bar was not good, becauſe the Deviſe to the Defendant was void. For the Deviſor had the Term as Executor to the Grand-father, and that which a Man has as Executor, he cannot deviſe to another. [a] For as ſoon as he is dead, the Thing goes to the Uſe of the firſt Teſtator, and his Executors ſhall have it as Executors to the firſt Teſtator, and to his Uſe, and not as Executors to the laſt Teſtator, nor to his Uſe. [b] For the Goods which were the firſt Teſtator's ſhall not be put in Execution for the Debt of the laſt Teſtator, and the laſt Executors have them by Relation as immediate [c] Executors to the firſt Teſtator. So that the Property which the laſt Teſtator had in them is taken away by the Relation, and the Goods are in ſuch Plight as if they had never been in him. And yet in his Life-time he had the Diſpoſal of them, for then he had Authority over them, and had the whole Property as Executor, but by his Death that Authority ceaſes, and is transferred to others, viz. to his Executors, who ſhall be Executors to the firſt Teſtator, and as Executors to the firſt Teſtator only they ſhall hold the Goods, for they cannot have them as Executors to both the Teſtators. So that

[a] Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe I. 3. pl. 5.

[b] Swinb. 413. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 138, § 4. 184, § 7. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 86. Vin. Abr. tit. Executors O. a. 2. pl. 3.

[c] S. P. Ante 290 (c) and (z).

that inaſmuch as the Property which the laſt Teſtator had was in Reſpect of the Executorſhip, which is an Office that ceaſes by his Death, and is then inſtantly transferred, together with the Things which he had, to another, his Deviſe of them is abſolutely void. [a] For no Man can deviſe any Thing but what he has to his own Uſe. And although the Defendant has ſaid that he entered by the Aſſent and Conſent of the laſt Executors, this cannot be taken as a Grant of the Term by the laſt Executors, but only as an Aſſent that he ſhould have that which the Teſtator had given him: [b] And if the Deviſe is void in Law, their Aſſent alſo is void. Wherefore it was the Opinion of all the Juſtices that the Deviſe and the Aſſent was void. And Wray Chief Juſtice ſaid that he had ſpoken with ſeveral of the Juſtices of the Common Bench concerning this Matter, and they were of the ſame Opinion with him and his Companions, that the Deviſe was void.

And the Judgment was, that the Plaintiff ſhould recover the Term, but that was upon another Point of the Caſe not here mentioned. Which Judgment here follows.

[a] 3 Bulſt. 7. Dr. & Stud. lib. 2. cap. 55. fo. 326. Swinb. 90, 188, 194. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 296, § 5. For which Reaſon a Term in Right of the Wife is not deviſeable by the Huſband, Ante 418 (e).

[b] An Aſſent to a void Legacy is alſo void, Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe E. a. 2. pl. 2. Nelſ. Lex. Teſtam. 90. So an Attornment to a void Grant is void, and ſhall not bind the Tenant; as if the Lord grants the Rent of his Tenant with Clauſe of Diſtreſs, ſaving to himſelf the Fealty, this Clauſe of Diſtreſs is void in Law, and therefore although the Tenant attorns, the Grantee ſhall not diſtrain, H. 7 Ed. 3. 2. b. 3. a. adjudged. Co. Litt. 150. b.

The Judgment. At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came the Parties aforeſaid by their Attornies aforeſaid; whereupon all and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen here more fully underſtood, and mature Deliberation being thereupon had, it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Robert Branſby recover againſt the aforeſaid Vincent Grantham his Term aforeſaid yet to come of and in the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances, and his Damages as well by Occaſion of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment aforeſaid, as for his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended. But becauſe it is unknown to the Court of the Lady the Queen here what Damages the ſame Robert in this Behalf hath ſuſtained, therefore the Sheriff is commanded that by the Oath of 12 good, &c. of the City aforeſaid he diligently enquire what Damages the ſame Robert hath ſuſtained as well by Occaſion of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment aforeſaid, as for his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended. And the Inquiſition which, &c. to the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter on Wedneſday next after 18 Days of Eaſter, under the Seals, &c. and the Seals, &c. they ſend, together with the Royal Writ to them thereof directed, &c. The ſame Day is given to the aforeſaid Robert Branſby there, &c.

A Report of the Opinions of the Juſtices of the Common Bench in a Caſe argued by them in Trinity Term in the 20th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, upon a Demurrer in a Writ of Annuity brought by Edmund Hare againſt Thomas Bickley, Prebendary of the Prebend of Alderwas in the cathedral Church of Litchfield, Succeſſor to one Alban Langdale who granted the ſaid Annuity. And the Record thereof is entered among the Records of Hillary Term 20 Eliz. Rot. 244. and was as follows.

LONE.

Midd: THOMAS BICKLEY, late of the City of Litchfield in the County of the City of Litchfield Clerk, Prebendary of the Prebend of Alderwas in the Cathedral Church of Litchfield, was ſummoned to anſwer Edmund Hare other called Edmund Hare Scholar in Peterhouſe within the Univerſity of Cambridge, of a Plea that he render to him 87 l. 10 s. which to him are Arrear of an annual Rent of 100 s. which he owes him, &c. And whereupon the ſame Edmund by Apollo Plain his Attorney ſays, that whereas one Alban Langdale Clerk, late Prebendary of the Prebend of Alderwas in the Cathedral Church of Litchfield in the County of Stafford, Predeceſſor of the aforeſaid Thomas Bickley, the 30th Day of January in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, at Holborn in the aforeſaid County of Middleſex, by his certain Writing bearing Date the 20th Day of January in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, and firſt delivered to the ſame Edmund the aforeſaid 30th Day of the ſame Month of January in the 1ſt Year aboveſaid, (which the ſame Edmund here produces in Court, ſealed with the Seal of the aforeſaid Alban) by the Name of Alban Langdale Clerk, Doctor of Divinity, and Prebendary of the Prebend called Alderwas in the Cathedral Church of Litchfield in the County of Stafford, for divers many good and reaſonable Conſiderations him ſpecially moving, had given, granted, and by the ſame Writing gave and granted for himſelf and his Succeſſors to the ſame Edmund, by the Name of Edmund Hare Scholar in Peterhouſe within the Univerſity of Cambridge, the annual Rent aforeſaid, by the Name of a certain Annuity or annual Rent of 5 l. of good and lawful Money of England, iſſuing out of all and ſingular the Manors, Meſſuages, Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments belonging or in any wiſe appertaining to the Prebend aforeſaid, or being Part, Parcel, or Member of the ſame Prebend: To have, perceive, and enjoy the aforeſaid Annuity or annual Rent to the ſame Edmund and to his Aſſigns for for and during the natural Life of the ſaid Edmund; to be paid annually at the ſtone Font in the Cathedral Church of St. Paul in the City of London, at two Times of the Year by equal Portions, viz. on the 7th Day of April, and the 12th Day of October, between the Hours of One and Three in the Afternoon of each Day of thoſe ſeveral Days of April and October, the firſt Payment thereof to begin the 12th Day of October then next following the Date of the ſame Writing, as by the ſame Writing more fully appears. ‡ And afterwards, viz. the laſt Day of January in the aboveſaid 1ſt Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, one Ralph then Biſhop of Coventry and Litchfield, and true and undoubted Patron of the Prebend aforeſaid in Right of his Church, at Holborn aforeſaid in the aforeſaid County of Middleſex, by his certain Writing of Confirmation bearing Date the 22d Day of January in the Year of the Lord 1558, and firſt delivered to the ſame Edmund the aforeſaid laſt Day of January in the 1ſt Year aboveſaid, (which the ſame Edmund here produces into Court, ſealed with the Seal of the ſaid Biſhop) the aforeſaid Gift and Grant of the aforeſaid Annuity or annual Rent to the ſame Edmund, by the aforeſaid Alban by the Writing aforeſaid in form aforeſaid granted, and all and ſingular Things in the ſame Writing contained and ſpecified, accepted, approved, ratified, and by his Authority pontifical and ordinary, as much as in him was, by his ſame Writing confirmed, as by his ſame Writing likewiſe more fully appears. And afterwards, viz. the 3d Day of February in the Year of the Lord 1558 aforeſaid, John Ramridge Clerk, Dean of the aforeſaid Cathedral Church of Litchfield, and the Chapter of the ſame Place, at the City of Litchfield aforeſaid, by their certain Writing of Confirmation, (which the ſame Edmund here likewiſe produces into Court, ſealed with the common Seal of the ſaid Dean and Chapter, the Date whereof is at Litchfield aforeſaid in the Chapter-Houſe of the ſame Dean and Chapter the ſame 3d Day of February in the Year of the Lord 1558 aboveſaid) the aforeſaid Giſt and Grant of the aforeſaid Annuity or annual Rent, and all and ſingular Things in the aforeſaid Writing of the aforeſaid Alban ſpecified, as much as to them the ſaid Dean and Chapter belonged, accepted, approved, and by their ſame Writing ratified, and by the ſame Tenor of the ſame Writing of the ſame Dean and Chapter, by their capitular Authority, confirmed, as by the ſame Writing likewiſe more fully appears. And afterwards the aforeſaid Alban from the Prebend aforeſaid for certain Cauſes lawfully was deprived. After which ſaid Deprivation one Thomas Drentham, then Biſhop of Coventry and Litchfield, that Prebend conferred to the aforeſaid Thomas Bickley, and him cauſed to be inſtituted and inducted, and to be put into the corporal Poſſeſſion of the ſame Prebend; and the ſame Thomas Bickley the aforeſaid annual Rent by Seventeen Years and the Half of one Year next before the Day of obtaining the Writ original of him the ſaid Edmund, viz. the 3d Day of January in the 19th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, from the ſame Edmund withdrew, and the ſame to him hitherto to render hath refuſed, and yet doth refuſe. Wherefore he ſays that he is damnified, and hath Damage to the Value of 40 l. And therefore he produces the Suit, &c.

‡ See 3 Bac. Abr. 376, as to the Neceſſity of the Confirmation of the Biſhop.

And the aforeſaid Thomas by Chriſtopher Crow his Attorney, comes and defends the Force and Injury, when, &c. And ſays that the aforeſaid Edmund his Action aforeſaid againſt him ought not to have, becauſe he ſays that before the making of the aforeſaid Writing of the Grant of the annual Rent aforeſaid, viz. the 20th Day of November in the aboveſaid 1ſt Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, the Prebend aforeſaid became vacant by the Death of one Adam Pye Clerk, whereby the aforeſaid Ralph, then Biſhop of Coventry and Litchfield, Ordinary of the ſame Place, and true and undoubted Patron of that Prebend, in Right of his Biſhopric, the 19th Day of January in the 1ſt Year aboveſaid, conferred the aforeſaid Prebend to the aforeſaid Alban, and him cauſed to be inſtituted into the ſame, and afterwards, viz. the 3d Day of February in the 1ſt Year aboveſaid, the aforeſaid Alban into the aforeſaid Prebend lawfully was inſtalled and inducted, and not before. So that he the ſame Thomas Bickley ſaith, that the aforeſaid Grant of the annual Rent aforeſaid was meſne between the aforeſaid Collation and Inſtitution of the aforeſaid Alban to the Prebend aforeſaid, and the Inſtallation and Induction of the ſame Alban into the ſame. And this he is ready to verify, wherefore he prays Judgment if the aforeſaid Edmund his Action aforeſaid againſt him ought to have, &c. Plea.

And the aforeſaid Edmund ſays, that the aforeſaid Plea of the aforeſaid Thomas above in Bar of the Action aforeſaid pleaded is inſufficient in Law to preclude him the ſaid Edmund from having his Action aforeſaid againſt the aforeſaid Thomas, and that he to that Plea in Manner and Form aforeſaid pleaded has no Neceſſity, nor is by the Law of the Land bound to anſwer. And this he is ready to verify, wherefore for Want of a ſufficient Anſwer in this Behalf, he the ſame Edmund prays Judgment, and the annual Rent aforeſaid, together with the Arrearages of the ſame, and his Damages by Occaſion of the withdrawing of the ſaid annual Rent, to be adjudged to him, &c. Plaintiff demurs.

And the aforeſaid Thomas for that he hath above alledged ſufficient Matter in Law in Bar of the Action of the aforeſaid Edmund, which he is ready to verify, which ſaid Matter the aforeſaid Edmund doth not deny, nor thereunto in any wiſe anſwer, but that Averment wholly refuſes to admit, as before prays Judgment, and that the ſame Edmund from having his Action aforeſaid Joinder in Demurrer.

againſt him may be precluded, &c. And becauſe the Juſtices here will adviſe themſelves of and upon the Premiſſes before they give Judgment thereon, Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid here until from the Day of Eaſter in 15 Days to hear their Judgment thereon, becauſe the ſame Juſtices here thereof not yet, &c.

The CASE. An Annuity granted by a Prebendary after Admiſſion and Inſtitution, and beforeInduction, is not good to charge the Prebend, S. P. 1 Finch 412. 2 Finch 89, 90. Kitch. 121. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 424. Vin. Abr. tit. Confirmation E. pl. 10. And S.P. held by three Juſtices againſt one, Paſch. 5 Eliz. Dy. 221. pl. 18, which Caſe is almoſt the ſame in terminis with the preſent.

IT appears by the Record, that the Plaintiff has brought a Writ of Annuity againſt Thomas Bickley Prebendary, upon a Grant of an Annuity of 5 l. out of the Prebend made to him by Deed by one Langdale the Defendant's Predeceſſor, after the Biſhop had conferred the Prebend on him, and had inſtituted him, and before he was inſtalled and inducted; which Grant the Biſhop confirmed before Induction, and the Dean and Chapter confirmed it the ſame Day on which the Inſtallation and Induction was. And for the Arrears for 17 Years and a Half the Plaintiff brought his Writ againſt Bickley the Succeſſor. And upon this Matter the Parties demurred in Judgment.

And it was argued as well at the Bench as at the Bar. (But I did not hear Mead Juſtice argue, though I heard the Arguments of the other three.) And all the Juſtices unanimouſly agreed that the Grant was not good to bind the Succeſſor, becauſe it was made before Induction, at which Time it was not a good Grant, for the Succeſſor ſhall not be bound but in Reſpect that the Grant was good to charge the Prebend. And the Prebendary could not charge it before he was inducted, [a] becauſe the Induction makes him to have the actual Poſſeſſion of the Prebend, and to have the Freehold in Deed of the Poſſeſſions thereof, for before Induction he has not the Freehold either in Deed or in Law. [b] But the Collation and Induction makes him, as well as it makes a Parſon or Vicar, to have the Cure of Souls, and it enables them to adminiſter the Sacraments to the Pariſhioners, and to perform all divine Service. So that he is a Prebendary or Parſon to ſuch Purpoſe, [c] but yet a Prebendary cannot lawfully have Seizin of the Houſe, Glebe, or Tithes, in our Law, before his Inſtallation, nor the Parſon before his Induction, [d] and the Inſtallation is to be done to the Prebendary by the Dean and Chapter, and the Induction to the Parſon or Vicar by the Archdeacon. And although a common Perſon may have a Quare Impedit, and declare that his Clerk was preſented, admitted, and inſtituted, [e] yet he ſhall never have a Writ of Right of Advowſon in our Law, unleſs his Clerk was inducted: For in a Writ of Right of Advowſon he ought to alledge Eſplees in his Clerk, as in taking the great Tithes, and that he cannot do without Induction. And before Induction no Parſon, Vicar, or Prebendary ſhall have [f] Spoliation, or Action of Treſpaſs, or Aſſize, for the Induction gives the temporal Poſſeſſion. And if he will pray in Aid of the Patron or Ordinary in a Writ of Annuity, he ought to ſay (as Mounſon ſaid) that he is Parſon of the aforeſaid Church imperſonated in the ſame on the Preſentation of A. B. Patron of the ſame Church, and that he found his Church diſcharged of the Annuity, and that he cannot charge the ſame Church without the Patron and Ordinary, and ſo he ſhall demand Aid of them, but he cannot ſay [g] that he is Parſon Imparſonee, if he has not Induction. [h] And Manwood cited the Caſe in 38 Ed. 3. where the Chancellor of England, whoſe Office it is to preſent to all the King's Churches under the annual Value of 20 Marks, being appriſed that an Advowſon of the King of the Value of 40 s. was void, preſented to it, and his Clerk was admitted and inſtituted, and the Biſhop ſent his Mandate to his Archdeacon to induct him, and before he was inducted the King being appriſed that the Advowſon was of the Value of 40 l. ſent an Inhibition to the Biſhop, and preſented his Clerk to him, and a Month after the Delivery of the Inhibition the Chancellor's Clerk was inducted, and thereupon the King brought a Quare Impedit againſt the Biſhop, upon which Matter it was demurred in Law, and Judgment was given for the King, and a Writ was awarded for him to the Biſhop: For the Chancellor's Clerk was not a full Parſon before Induction, for it is there held [i] that if the Biſhop makes Admiſſion and Inſtitution to his own Clerk, and by the Death of the Biſhop the Temporalties come into the King's Hands before Induction, the King ſhall have the Preſentation: And alſo it is there put, [k] that if one who holds of the King preſents to a Church, and his Preſentee is admitted and inſtituted, and before Induction the Patron dies, and the Church comes into the King's Hands, the King ſhall preſent to this Avoidance. Whereby it appears that without Induction, which is a corporal Poſſeſſion, he who is admitted and inſtituted is not Parſon; and it is there ſaid, that the Biſhop might have countermanded his Mandate to his Archdeacon, who is but his * Miniſter, and becauſe he did not, he was a Diſturber, ſo that a Writ was there awarded againſt him for the King. From which Caſe one may ſee that [l] without Induction the Party has not corporal Seizin, nor is a full Incumbent. [m] And to this Purpoſe Manwood alſo cited the Caſe in 11 H. 4. where the King brought a Quare Impedit againſt the Biſhop of Coventry and Litchfield, and the Incumbent of a Prebend, the Incumbent pleaded Collation by the Biſhop, and that he was inducted, and that the King had by his Letters-Patent ratified and confirmed to him his Eſtate for Term of his Life, to which the King replied that he was not inducted at the Time of the Confirmation, and this Matter being well debated, Iſſue was afterwards joined thereupon. So that from hence it is to be obſerved, that no Poſſeſſion can be had before Induction, a T. 33. H. 6. 24. pl. 3. Dy. 1. pl. 8. 221. pl. 18. 2 Rol. Abr. 357. pl. 4. Moor 443. 3 Keb. 821. 1 Vent. 15. 1 Finch 412. 2 Finch 89. Kitch 121. Infra (l.)

b H. 38. Ed. 3. 4. a. Per Kirt. T. 33. H. 6. 24. pl. 3. Moor 443. 2 Rol. Abr. 349. Q. pl. 1.

c 1 Finch 412. 2 Finch 89. Poſt 529 (g.) Co. Compl. Copyh. fo. 71.

d Vin. Abr. tit. Preſentation C. b. pl. 6. in Notis. 1 Vent. 319. Poſt 529 (h).

e T. 26. H. 8. 3. pl. 7. Per Knightly et Shelley. Bro. Droit 1. P. 38 Ed. 3. 9. a. Per Thorp. Dy. 221. pl. 19. 2 Rol. Abr. 383. O. pl. 1. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 137, 138. Vin. Abr. tit. Preſentation D. b. 2 pl. 1, 2.

f T. 33. H. 6. 24. pl. 3. in fine Caſus. Bro. Spoliation 7.

g Dy. 221. pl. 19. in fine.

h 38 Ed. 3. 3. b. 9. a. Fitz. Quare Impedit 125. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 223, 224.

i H. 38 Ed. 3. 4. a. Per Knivet. H. 44 Ed. 3. 3. pl. 14. Fitz. Quare Impedit 136. Bro. Preſentment al Egliſe 4. M. 11. H. 4. 7. b Bro. Plenarty 3. Moor 4. 3. 2 Lev. 199. 3 Keb. 821.

k P. 38. Ed. 3. 9. a. Per Thorp. P. 21. Ed. 4. 34. b. Per Keble. Hob. 319. 1 Finch 411.

l Supra (a).

m M. 11 H. 4. 7. pl. 20. 9. a. Fitz. Confirmation 5. Bro. 7. 1 Rol. Abr. 483. Z. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 246.

* See

and

and without Poſſeſſion Confirmation is worth nothing. [a] And to the like Effect he alſo cited the Caſe in 1 H. 5. in a Quare Impedit, where one had in Tail the Nomination of a Clerk to an Abbot and to his Succeſſors, who were to preſent the Clerk nominated to the Biſhop, and the Iſſue in Tail brought a Quare Impedit againſt the Abbot, (for it is there held that he who has the Nomination is able to bring a Quare Impedit, becauſe the Nomination is the [b] Effect of the Advowſon, and he that has the Nomination is the Patron, and the other, who is to preſent him, is a Subject and Servant to execute the Preſentment) and there the Abbot pleaded that his Predeceſſor preſented J. S. to the Advowſon, without the Nomination of him who claimed the Nomination, which J. S. was received, inſtituted, and inducted; and alſo he pleaded the Releaſe of the collateral Anceſtor of the Tenant in Tail with Warranty, which deſcended after the ſaid Uſurpation: And the Plaintiff traverſed the Induction, for Hankford ſaid that if the Incumbent was inducted upon the Preſentation of the Abbot, without any Nomination of the Plaintiff Tenant in Tail, then was the Tenant in Tail [c] out of Poſſeſſion, in which Caſe the Releaſe and Warranty might take Effect, but otherwiſe not. So that it ſeems by the Book, that the Iſſue ſhould be taken upon the Induction, for the Induction of the Incumbent veſted the Poſſeſſion of the Patronage in him who preſented him, and put him that had Right out of Poſſeſſion, ſo that he had no Poſſeſſion left in him, but a Right only, which ſhould be bound by the collateral Warranty. [d] Alſo he ſaid that there is a Caſe in 21 Ed. 4. in a Scire facias which is twice argued there, and is thus: The Dean and Chapter of Litchfield ſued a Writ of Annuity againſt one J. who was Vicar of the Church of Winwick in the County of Lancaſter, and alledged Seizin in the County of Stafford, where the Writ was brought; the Defendant prayed in Aid of Patron and Ordinary, and the Ordinary joined, and the Patron being warned made Default, and the Defendant traverſed the Title, which was found againſt him, whereby the Plaintiff had Judgment to recover; and a Scire facias was ſued in the County of Stafford againſt the Succeſſor of the Vicar, to have Execution of the Arrears incurred ſince that Time, and he prayed in Aid of the Patron and Ordinary, and the Ordinary made Default, and the Patron appeared and joined with the Defendant, and they pleaded that the Church of Winwick, and the whole Pariſh of Winwick, were within the County of Lancaſter, and that the ſaid J. againſt whom the firſt Writ of Annuity was brought, was not Vicar of Winwick aforeſaid the Day of the firſt Writ purchaſed, nor at any Time pending that Writ, nor at any Time afterwards, ſo that the Recovery was void; and the Plaintiff maintained the contrary, wherefore they were at Iſſue thereupon: And whether it ſhould be tried in the County of Lancaſter, or in the County of Stafford, was much debated, and at laſt it was the better Opinion that it ſhould be tried in the County of Lancaſter where the Church was, for that none can be Parſon without Induction, and the Induction is triable per Pais, and not by the Biſhop, becauſe it is a temporal Poſſeſſion, and that cannot be done but where the Church is, and it is to be preſumed that in that County it is beſt known whether he was Vicar, and where the Seizin was. From which Caſes (he ſaid) it appears that the Induction is the principal Thing which makes the Prebendary to be a Prebendary, and to have corporal Seizin, and to be able to charge the Poſſeſſions of the Prebend, which he cannot do before Induction. And, he ſaid, as a [e] Woman who hath recovered Dower cannot enter, but ought to have Seizin delivered to her by the Sheriff, and as a [f] Copyholder, to whom a Copyhold Tenement is deſcended, ought to be admitted by the Lord before he ſhall have Seizin in the Judgment of Law, [g] ſo he who is admitted or inſtituted to a Prebend, Parſonage, or Vicarage cannot have Seizin, nor be a full Incumbent, until the Archdeacon has inducted him, or if he be a Prebendary, until the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral Church where the Prebend is have inſtalled him. [h] And the Lord Dyer ſaid that the Archdeacon cannot induct any Prebendary, but the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral Church of which he is a Prebendary ought to inſtall and induct him. And many other Things were ſaid touching this Point, which I have not here recited, my Intent being briefly to ſhew the Reaſons and Cauſes of the Judgment. Wherefore it was the Opinion of all the Juſtices, that the Grant of the Annuity made by the Prebendary before his Inſtallation and Induction was not good to charge the Prebend, and conſequently that the Action did not lie.

[a] H. 1 H. 5. 1. pl. 2. Fitz. Quare Impedit 110. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 79.

[b] Lane 72. Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 72, 85. Ante 157 (p). Poſt 542 (d).

[c] See Watſ. Compl. Incumb. 123.

[d] 21 Ed. 4. 7. b. 33. b. Fitz. Trial 28. Bro. Viſne 88.

[e] Co. Litt. 34. b. 37. a. b. 1 Rol. Abr. 681. S. pl. 1. 2 Bac. Abr. 134.

[f] See 4 Co. 22. b. Kitch. 121. Co. Compl. Copyh. fo. 71.

[g] Ante 528 (c) and (d).

[h] See Ante 528 (d), and the Books there cited.

And the Lord Dyer took three Exceptions to the Declaration. The firſt was, for that it is therein contained that Langdale the Prebendary of the Prebend of Alderwas in the Cathedral Church of Litchfield made the Grant, and the Name of the Saint who was Patron of the ſaid Church is not mentioned, whereas it ought to have been ſaid, in the Cathedral Church of St. Chad in Litchfield, for every Cathedral Church has a Saint, which is named as Patron.

Exceptions to the Declaration.

The ſecond was, for that the Writ was brought in the County of Middleſex, [i] whereas it ought to have been brought in the County where the Cathedral Church was in which the Prebend is. For although the Grant of the Annuity was in the County of Middleſex, yet the Charge is impoſed upon the Prebend, and in Reſpect thereof the Prebendary is charged, ſo that the Cauſe of Action aroſe where the Body of the Prebend is, and the Action ought to have been brought in that County, and not in Middleſex.

[i] 1 Dy. 194. pl. 33.

The third was, for that the Confirmation of the Biſhop is pleaded, and he is called Patron, and it is not ſaid that he was the Ordinary of the Place, for he may be Patron and not Ordinary, becauſe another may be Ordinary.

But

Note, Theſe ſeem to be the Obſervations of the Reporter.

But theſe Exceptions did not ſeem to be the Cauſe of the Judgment; for as to the firſt, it does not appear to the Court that the Cathedral Church had any Saint as Patron of the ſame Church, and a Cathedral Church may be without any ſuch Patron. And as to the ſecond, there are two Cauſes which charge the Succeſſor here, the one is the Grant, which is in Middleſex, the other is the Prebend, which is in another County, * and foraſmuch as two Things in ſeveral Counties are the Cauſe of the Action, it is ſufficient to bring the Action in one of the Counties, ſeeing it cannot be brought in both. And as to the third Exception, it appears upon Record by the Count that the Biſhop of Litchfield was Patron † and Ordinary of the Prebend, for the Count is, that the Biſhop by his Authority pontifical and ordinary confirmed, &c. and ſo he ſhall be taken to continue. And afterwards Judgment was given that the Plea in Bar was ſufficient, wherein it is implied that the Count was good; which Judgment here follows.

• Vide 7 Co. 1. b.

† See Dy. 61. pl. 30. 1 Rol. Abr. 481. pl. 3. 3 Bac. Abr. 376. that the Biſhop is Patron and Ordinary of every Prebend.

The Reſt of the Record.

At which Day here came as well the aforeſaid Edmund Hare as the aforeſaid Thomas Bickley by their Attornies aforeſaid. Whereupon the aforeſaid Plea of the aforeſaid Thomas above in Bar of the Action aforeſaid pleaded being ſeen, and by the Juſtices here more fully underſtood, it ſeems to the ſame Juſtices here that the ſaid Plea is ſufficient in Law to preclude the aforeſaid Edmund from having his Action aforeſaid againſt the aforeſaid Thomas. Therefore it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Edmund take nothing by his Writ aforeſaid, but be in Mercy for his falſe Claim: And that the aforeſaid Thomas go thereof without Day, &c.

Judgment.

A brief Report of a Judgment, and of the Cauſes thereof, given in the King's Bench by the Juſtices there in Trinity Term in the 20th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, upon a Special Verdict found on the General Iſſue in an Ejectione firmæ brought by Edmund Croft againſt Henry Howel, upon a Leaſe for Years of Tenements in Marſh in the County of Buckingham made to the Plaintiff the 13th Day of September in the 18th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen by William Feriman and Robert Sadler, the Maſters or Governors and the Commonalty of the Myſtery of Cooks in London. And the Record is entered among the Records of Eaſter Term 19 Elizabeth, Roll and was as follows.

Declaration. Same Precedent Raſt. Entr. 259. b. pl. 16.

OTHERWISE, as it appears in the Term of St. Hillary, in the 19th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, Roll it is contained thus. Bucks. viz. Be it remembered that otherwiſe, viz. in the Term of St. Michael laſt paſt, before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came Edmund Croft by George Colborn his Attorney, and brought here into the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen then there his certain Bill againſt Henry Howel in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal, &c. of a Plea of Treſpaſs and Ejectment of a Farm. And there are Pledges of proſecuting, viz. John Doe and Richard Roe; which ſaid Bill follows in theſe Words, viz. Bucks, viz. Edmund Croft complains of Henry Howel in the Cuſtody of the Marſhal of the Marſhalſea of the Lady the Queen before the Queen herſelf, for this, viz. that whereas one William Feriman and Robert Sadler, Maſters or Governors and the Commonalty of the Myſtery of Cooks in London, otherwiſe called William Feriman and Robert Sadler, Citizens and Cooks in London, Maſters or Governors of the Myſtery of Cooks in London, and the Commonalty of the ſame Myſtery, the 13th Day of September in the 18th Year of the Reign of the Lady Elizabeth now Queen of England, at Marſh in the County aforeſaid, by their certain Indenture ſealed with their common Seal, and here into Court produced, bearing Date the Day and Year aboveſaid, had delivered, granted, and to Farm let to the aforeſaid Edmund Croft one Meſſuage with the Appurtenances in Marſh aforeſaid, and alſo 40 Acres of Land, 20 Acres of Meadow, and 30 Acres of Paſture with the Appurtenances in Marſh aforeſaid in the aforeſaid County of Bucks; to have and to hold the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances to the aforeſaid Edmund and to his Aſſigns, from the Feaſt of Eaſter then laſt paſt, unto the End and Term of 5 Years from thence next following, following and fully to be compleat. By virtue whereof he the ſame Edmund into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and was thereof poſſeſſed until the aforeſaid Henry Howel afterwards, viz. the 14th Day of the ſaid Month of September in the aboveſaid 18th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, with Force and Arms, &c. into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and him the ſaid Edmund from his Farm aforeſaid thereof (his Term aforeſaid not yet ended) ejected, expelled, and amoved, and him the ſaid Edmund from his Poſſeſſion thereof held out and yet doth hold out; and other Wrongs to him did, againſt the Peace of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, to the Damage of him the ſaid Edmund 40 l. and therefore he produces the Suit, &c.

And now here at this Day, viz. Wedneſday next after the Octave of St. Hillary in this ſame Term, until which Day the aforeſaid Henry Howel had Leave to imparl to the Bill aforeſaid, and then to anſwer, &c. before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came as well the aforeſaid Edmund by his Attorney aforeſaid, as the aforeſaid Henry by Roger Norton his Attorney. And the ſame Henry defends the Force and Injury when, &c. and ſays that he is not guilty thereof, and of this he puts himſelf upon the Country, and the aforeſaid Edmund Croft likewiſe, &c. Therefore the Jurors thereon came before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter on Wedneſday next after the Morrow of the Purification of the bleſſed Mary; and who neither, &c. to recognize, &c. becauſe as well, &c. The ſame Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid there, &c. At which Day the Jurors between the Parties aforeſaid in the Plea aforeſaid thereof between them is reſpited before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter until Wedneſday next after 15 Days of Eaſter then next following, unleſs the Juſtices of the Lady the Queen aſſigned to take Aſſizes in the County of Bucks ſhall firſt come on Monday in the third Week of Lent at Ailſbury in the County aforeſaid by the Form of the Statute, &c. for Want of Jurors, &c. Therefore let the Sheriff have the Bodies, &c. The ſame Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid there, &c. And now at this Day, viz. the aforeſaid Wedneſday, before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter comes the aforeſaid Edmund Croft by his Attorney aforeſaid, and the aforeſaid Juſtices before whom, &c. have ſent here their Record in theſe Words. Afterwards at the Day and Place within contained before Chriſtopher Wray Knight, Chief Juſtice of the Lady the Queen aſſigned to hold Pleas before the Queen herſelf, and Gilbert Gerard Attorney-general of the ſaid Lady the Queen, Juſtices of the ſaid Lady the Queen aſſigned to take Aſſizes in the County of Bucks, by the Form of the Statute, &c. came as well the within named Edmund Croft by Richard Grey his Attorney as the within written Henry Howel by his Attorney within contained. And the Jurors of the Jury whereof Mention is within made being called, ſome of them came, and ſome of them did not come, as appears in the Panel. And one of the ſame Jurors now appearing, viz. William Edmunds, becauſe he is found ſuſpected between the Parties aforeſaid, from that Panel is wholly withdrawn. And certain of the ſame Jurors now likewiſe appearing, viz. Edward Betham Gentleman, John Moor Gentleman, Edmund Paxton, William Coleman, John Sheppard of Ovinge, Richard Meridal, John Coker, and Clemens Chilton came, and upon that Jury are ſworn. And becauſe the Reſidue of the Jurors of the ſame Jury have not appeared, therefore others of the By-ſtanders, by the Sheriff of the County aforeſaid thereunto choſen, at the Requeſt of the aforeſaid Edmund Croft, and by the Command of the Juſtices aforeſaid are added anew, whoſe Names to the Panel aforeſaid are put, according to the Form of the Statute in ſuch Caſe lately made and provided. Which ſaid Jurors ſo added anew now appearing, viz. Ralph Redman Gentleman, Richard Hatch, Benedict Holland, and John Wade come. Who to ſay the Truth of the within contained together with the other Jurors aforeſaid firſt impanneled and ſworn being elected, tried, and ſworn, ſay upon their Oath that long before the within written Time of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment within ſpecified within ſuppoſed to be done, Lord Edward late King of England the fourth incorporated the free-Men of the Myſtery of Cooks in London by his Letters patent in theſe Words. " Edward by the Grace of God King " of England and France, and Lord of Ireland, to all to whom the preſent Letters ſhall come, " Greeting. Know ye that we conſidering how that our beloved good and free-Men of the My- " ſtery of Cooks of our City of London great and many Attendances and Labours as well at our " great Feaſt of St. George as at others on our Command for a long Time withou: the City afore- " ſaid perſonally have ſuſtained and ſupported, and daily to ſuſtain and ſupport do not ceaſe; and " whilſt they have ſo perſonally attended upon our Buſineſs, they have many Times been impan- " neled and ſummoned upon Aſſizes of Jurors and other Inqueſts within the ſame City, and by " Reaſon of ſuch their perſonal Attendances they could not appear, whereby they have before " theſe Times had and ſuſtained many Hardſhips and Loſſes in the loſing of great Iſſues and A- " mercements; we being deſirous that ſuch Loſſes ſhould be now removed from the ſaid good " and free Men of the Myſtery aforeſaid, for the Cauſes aforeſaid, and for other Conſiderations

Imparlance.

Not guilty.

Venire.

Jury continued to the Aſſizes.

Poſtea.

Tales de circumſtantibus.

Special Verdict.

" Us ſpecially moving, at the Supplication of the ſame, have granted to them that that Myſtery " and all Men of the ſame Myſtery of the City aforeſaid be in Subſtance and Name one Body and " one Commonalty perpetual. And that two Principals of the ſame Commonalty, by the unani- " mous Aſſent of 12 or 8 Perſons at leaſt of that Commonalty in the Myſtery aforeſaid moſtly
* Vide 10 Co. 31. a. " expert, every Year may * elect and make out of that Commonalty two Maſters or Governors " in the ſame Myſtery moſtly expert, to ſuperviſe, direct, and govern the Myſtery and Commo- " nalty aforeſaid, and all Men of the ſame Myſtery, and the Buſineſs of the ſame for ever. " And that the ſame Maſters or Governors and Commonalty may have perpetual Succeſſion, and " a common Seal to ſerve the Buſineſs of the ſaid Commonalty. And that they and their Suc- " ceſſors for ever be Perſons fit and capable to purchaſe and poſſeſs in Fee and Perpetuity Lands, " Tenements, Rents, and other Poſſeſſions whatſoever. And that they by the Names of Maſ- " ters or Governors and Commonalty of the Myſtery of Cooks in London may implead and be " impleaded before whatever Judges, in Courts and Actions whatever. And that the aforeſaid " Maſters or Governors and Commonalty and their Succeſſors may lawfully and ſafely make law- " ful and honeſt Aſſemblies of themſelves, and Statutes and Ordinances for the wholeſome Go- " vernment, Superintendency, and Correction of the Myſtery aforeſaid, according to Neceſſities " and Exigence, as often as and when it ſhall be needful, without Let or Hinderance of Us, our " Heirs or Succeſſors, Juſtices, Eſcheators, Sheriffs, Coroners, or other Bailiffs or Miniſters of " Us, our Heirs or Succeſſors whatſoever; ſo that their Statutes and Ordinances are in no wiſe " contrary to the Laws and Cuſtoms of our Realm of England. Further we will and grant for " Us, our Heirs and Succeſſors, as much as in Us is, that the Maſters or Governors of the afore- " ſaid Commonalty for the Time being, and their Succeſſors for ever, may have the Overlook- " ing, Search, Correction, and Government of all and ſingular Men of the ſaid Commonalty of " Cooks uſing the Myſtery of Cooks in the ſame City and in the Suburbs thereof, and the Pu- " niſhment of the ſame for their Offences, and for the not perfectly executing, doing, and uſing " their Myſtery, ſo that ſuch Puniſhment follow by reaſonable and fit Ways. Alſo we will and " grant for Us, our Heirs and Succeſſors, as much as in Us is, that the ſaid Maſters or Gover- " nors and Commonalty of the ſaid Myſtery of Cooks, or their Succeſſors, or any of them in " any wiſe for the future, within the City aforeſaid and the Suburbs of the ſame, ſhall not be ſum- " moned or put, nor ſhall any of them be ſummoned or put, in any Aſſizes, Juries, Inqueſts, " Inquiſitions, Attaints, or other Recognitions within the ſaid City and the Suburbs of the ſame " for the Time to come, before the Mayor and Sheriff or the Coroner of the ſaid City for the " Time being to be taken, or by any their Officer or Miniſter, or Officers or Miniſters to be " ſummoned, altho' the ſame Jurors were ſummoned to the Inquiſitions or Recognitions upon " our Writ or Writs of Right, or of our Heirs: But that the ſaid Maſters or Governors and " Commonalty of the Myſtery aforeſaid, and their Succeſſors, and every of them, againſt Us, " our Heirs and Succeſſors, and againſt the Mayor and Sheriffs of our City aforeſaid for the " Time being, and their Officers and Miniſters whatſoever, be thereof quit and wholly diſchar- " ged for ever by theſe Preſents. And further We, in Conſideration of the Premiſſes, of our " ſpecial Grace have granted for Us, our Heirs and Succeſſors, to the aforeſaid Maſters or Go- " vernors and Commonalty of the ſaid Myſtery of Cooks, and to their Succeſſors, this Liberty, " viz. that in all Times to come they may admit and receive into the ſame Myſtery of Cooks to " have and enjoy the Liberties of the ſaid City, according to the Cuſtom of the ſaid City, fit and " ſufficient Perſons, ſkilled and informed in the ſaid Myſtery of Cooks, approved by the Maſters " or Governors of the ſaid Myſtery for the Time being, and preſented to the Mayor of the " City aforeſaid for the Time being, and no other Perſons whatſoever, nor in any other Manner, " any Command or Requeſt of Us, our Heirs or Succeſſors, by the Letters within written or " otherwiſe howſoever to the contrary made or to be made notwithſtanding. And altho' the " ſame Maſters or Governors and Commonalty and their Succeſſors ſhall for the future continu- " ally uſe this Liberty, againſt any Command or Requeſt of Us, our Heirs, or Succeſſors, or " of any others whatſoever in Form aforeſaid to be made, nevertheleſs they nor any of them ſhall " in no wiſe incur any Fine, Contempt, or Loſs towards Us, our Heirs or Succeſſors, or any " Damage or Ill in their Goods or Bodies towards other Perſons whatſoever by that Occaſion, " any Statute, Ordinance, or Act to the contrary before this Time enacted, made, ordained, or " provided notwithſtanding. In Witneſs whereof we have cauſed theſe our Letters to be made " patent. Witneſs Ourſelf at Weſtminſter the 11th Day of July in the 22d Year of Our Reign."

By virtue of which ſaid Letters-patent the Freemen of the Myſtery of Cooks in London were incorporated by the Name of Maſters or Governors and Commonalty of the Myſtery of Cooks in London. And that after the making of the Letters-patent aforeſaid, the Maſters or Governors and and the Commonalty of the Myſtery aforeſaid were ſeized of the Tenements within written with the Appurtenances, in which the Treſpaſs and Ejectment within ſpecified is ſuppoſed to be done, in their Demeſn as of Fee, in * Right of their Corporation aforeſaid. And they being ſo ſeized thereof, one John Johnſon the younger, Matthew Robinſon, John Birch, and Ralph Iſwel Maſter and Wardens of the Art or Myſtery of Cooks of London, and the Commonalty of the ſame Art or Myſtery, and alſo John Lawrence Citizen and Cook of London, before the aforeſaid Time of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment aforeſaid within ſuppoſed to be done, viz. the laſt Day of November in the 21ſt Year of the Reign of Lord Henry late King of England the eighth, the Father of the Lady the Queen now, by a certain Indenture made between the ſame John Johnſon the younger, Matthew Robinſon, John Birch, and Ralph Iſwel Maſter and Wardens of the Myſtery of Cooks of London, and the Commonalty of the ſame Myſtery, and John Lawrence, by the Names of John Johnſon the younger, Matthew Robinſon, John Birch, and Ralph Iſwel Maſter and Wardens of the Art or Myſtery of Cooks of London, and of the Commonalty of the ſame Art or Myſtery, and alſo of John Lawrence Citizen and Cook of London, of the one Part, and one Robert Dormer Eſquire, by the Name of Robert Dormer Eſquire, of the other Part, which other Part ſealed with the Seal of the aforeſaid Robert Dormer to the Jurors aforeſaid was ſhewn in Evidence, (the Tenor of which ſaid Indenture follows in theſe Words: "This Indenture made the laſt Day of Novem- " ber in the one and twentieth Year of the Reign of King Henry the eighth, between John John- " ſon the younger, Matthew Robinſon, John Birch, and Ralph Iſwel Maſter and Wardens of the " Craft or Myſtery of the Cooks of London, and the Commonalty of the ſame Craft or Myſtery, " and alſo John Lawrence Citizen and Cook of London, of the one Part, and Robert Dormer Eſquire " of the other Part, witneſſeth that the ſaid Maſter, Wardens, Commonalty, and John Lawrence " have bargained and ſold, and by theſe Preſents clearly bargain and ſell, to the ſaid Robert Dor- " mer the Manor of Weſtbury with the Appurtenances in Marſh in the County of Buckingham, " and all Lands, and Tenements, Rents, Reverſions, Services, and other Hereditaments which " they the ſaid Maſter, Wardens, and Commonalty have, or that any other Perſon or Perſons to " their Uſe or to the Uſe of any of them have, in Marſh aforeſaid, or elſewhere within the ſaid " County; and alſo all Evidences, Charters, Muniments, and Writings concerning the Premiſſes " or any Parcel thereof. And the ſaid Maſter, Wardens, Commonalty, and John Lawrence cove- " nant and grant further by theſe Preſents to the ſaid Robert, that they the ſaid Maſter, Wardens, " Commonalty, and John Lawrence, or their Succeſſors, before the Feaſt of the Purification of " our Lady next enſuing the Date hereof, ſhall deliver or cauſe to be delivered to the ſaid Ro- " bert, his Executors or Aſſigns, all the ſaid Evidences, Muniments, and Writings concerning " the Premiſſes or any parcel thereof. And the ſaid Maſter, Wardens, Commonalty, and John " Lawrence covenant and grant further by theſe Preſents to the ſaid Robert, that they the ſaid " Maſter, Wardens, Commonalty, and John Lawrence, or their Succeſſors, before the ſaid Feaſt " of the Purification of our Lady next coming, ſhall make or cauſe to be made to the ſaid Robert " and his Heirs, and to ſuch other Perſon and Perſons and their Heirs as the ſaid Robert his Heirs " or Aſſigns ſhall name and appoint, and to the Uſe of the ſaid Robert Dormer and of his Heirs, " a good, ſure, ſufficient, lawful, and indefeaſible Eſtate in the Law in Fee-ſimple of and in the " ſaid Manor, Lands, Tenements, and other the Premiſſes and every parcel thereof, at the Coſts " and Charges in the Law of the ſaid Robert Dormer and his Heirs. And over that the ſaid " Maſter, Wardens, Commonalty, and John Lawrence covenant and grant by theſe Preſents to " the ſaid Robert Dormer, that they the ſaid Maſter, Wardens, Commonalty, and John Lawrence, " and their Succeſſors, ſhall at all Time and Times hereafter do, ſuffer, and cauſe to be done and " ſuffered, all and every ſuch Thing and Things, be it by Fine, Feoffment, Recovery, Releaſe, " Warranty of the ſaid Maſter, Wardens, Commonalty, and John Lawrence, and their Succeſ- " ſors or Aſſigns, againſt all Perſons, or otherwiſe, as by the Counſel learned of the ſaid Robert " his Heirs and Aſſigns ſhall be adviſed, at the Coſts and Charges in the Law of the ſaid Robert " Dormer and of his Heirs. And moreover the ſaid Maſter, Wardens, Commonalty, and John " Lawrence covenant and grant by theſe Preſents to the ſaid Robert, that they have good and " juſt Title, and lawful Authority and Power, to bargain and ſell the ſaid Manor and other the " Premiſſes to the ſaid Robert Dormer in Manner and Form aboveſaid: And that the ſaid Manor " and other the Premiſſes are of the clear yearly Value of five Marks, over and above all " yearly Charges and Repriſes: And alſo that the ſaid Manor and other the Premiſſes, at the " Sealing of theſe Preſents, are diſcharged of all former Bargains, Sales, Jointures, Dowers, Uſes, " Wills, Statutes-merchant, Statutes of the Staple, and of all other Incumbrances and Charges " had, made, or done before the Date of theſe Preſents, except Rent-ſervice of old Time due " and accuſtomed. For the which Bargain and Sale, Covenants, Grants, and Agreements well " and truly to be obſerved, performed, fulfilled, and kept on the Behalf of the ſaid Maſter,

* See 10 Co. 34. a.

" Wardens, Commonalty, and John Lawrence, their Succeſſors and Aſſigns, the ſaid Robert hath " contented and paid to the ſaid Maſter, Wardens, Commonalty, and John Lawrence, at the " Sealing of theſe Preſents, 60 l. Sterling, whereof the ſaid Maſter, Wardens, Commonalty, and " John Lawrence acknowledge themſelves truly contented and paid by theſe Preſents. In Witneſs " whereof as well the Seals of the ſaid Maſter, Wardens, and Commonalty, and the Seal of the " ſaid John Lawrence, as the Seal of the ſaid Robert Dormer to theſe Indentures interchangeably " be ſet. Given the Day and Year aboveſaid.") bargained and ſold the Tenements within written with the Appurtenances in which, &c. among other Things, to the aforeſaid Robert Dormer. And that the aforeſaid Robert Dormer by virtue of that Bargain and Sale into thoſe Tenements with the Appurtenances entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And he being ſo thereof ſeized, a certain Fine with Proclamations thereon was levied in the Court of the ſaid Lord Henry late King of England the eighth at Weſtminſter from the Day of Eaſter in 15 Days in the 22d Year of his Reign, before Robert Brudnel, Anthony Fitzherbert, Thomas Engleſield, and William Shelley Juſtices, and other faithful Men of the ſaid late King then there preſent, between the aforeſaid Robert and one John Baldwin Eſquire, John Goodwin Gentleman, Peter Dormer Gentleman, and Henry Cooper Complainants, and one Thomas Smith Brother and Heir of John Smith, and William Smith Son and Heir Apparent of the ſaid Thomas, Deforceants, of the Tenements within written with the Appurtenances in which, &c. among other Things, in theſe Words: This is the final Agreement made in the Court of the Lord the King at Weſtminſter from the Day of Eaſter in 15 Days in the 22d Year of the Reign of Henry the eighth from the Conqueſt by the Grace of God of England, France, King, Defender of the Faith, and Lord of Ireland, before Robert Brudnel, Anthony Fitzherbert, Thomas Engleſield, and William Shelley Juſtices, and other faithful Men of the Lord the King then there preſent, between Robert Dormer Eſquire, John Baldwin Eſquire, John Goodwin Gentleman, Peter Dormer Gentleman, and Henry Cooper Complainants, and Thomas Smith Brother and Heir of John Smith, and William Smith Son and Heir Apparent of the ſaid Thomas, Deforceants, of the Manor of Weſtbury in the Marſh with the Appurtenances, and of 100 Acres of Land, 40 Acres of Meadow, and 20 Acres of Paſture with the Appurtenances in Marſh, whereof a Plea of Covenant was ſummoned between them in the ſame Court, viz. that the aforeſaid Thomas and William have acknowledged the aforeſaid Manor and Tenements with the Appurtenances to be the Right of the ſaid Robert, as thoſe which the ſame Robert, John, John, Peter, and Henry have of the Gift of the aforeſaid Thomas and William, and them have remitted and quit-claimed from them the ſaid Thomas and William, and the Heirs of the ſaid Thomas, to the aforeſaid Robert, John, John, Peter, and Henry, and to the Heirs of the ſaid Robert for ever. And further the ſame Thomas and William have granted for themſelves and the Heirs of the ſaid Thomas, that they will warrant to the aforeſaid Robert, John, John, Peter, and Henry, and to the Heirs of the ſaid Robert, the aforeſaid Manor and Tenements with the Appurtenances againſt all Men for ever. And for this Acknowledgment, Remiſe, Quit-claim, Warranty, Fine, and Agreement, they the ſame Robert, John, John, Peter, and Henry have given to the aforeſaid Thomas and William 60 l. Sterling. Buck. according to the Form of the Statute, the firſt Proclamation was made the 23d Day of May in the Term of Eaſter in the 22d Year of the King within written, the ſecond Proclamation the 25th Day of May in the ſame Term, the third Proclamation the 28th Day of May in the ſame Term, the fourth Proclamation the 30th Day of May in the ſame Term, the fifth Proclamation was made the 4th Day of July in the Term of the Holy Trinity in the 22d Year of the King within written, the ſixth Proclamation the 6th Day of July in the ſame Term, the ſeventh Proclamation the 8th Day of July in the ſame Term, the eighth Proclamation the 11th Day of July in the ſame Term, the ninth Proclamation was made the 22d Day of November in the Term of St. Michael in the 22d Year of the King within written, the tenth Proclamation the 24th Day of November in the ſame Term, the eleventh Proclamation the 26th Day of November in the ſame Term, the twelfth Proclamation the 28th Day of November in the ſame Term, the thirteenth Proclamation was made the 6th Day of February in the Term of St. Hillary in the 22d Year of the King within written, the fourteenth Proclamation the 8th Day of February in the ſame Term, the fifteenth Proclamation the 10th Day of February in the ſame Term, the ſixteenth Proclamation the 13th Day of February in the ſame Term. Which ſaid Fine in Form aforeſaid was levied to the Uſe of the aforeſaid Robert Domer, and of his Heirs, whereby the ſame Robert was ſeized of the Tenements within written with the Appurtenances in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo thereof ſeized, he the ſame Robert Dormer his Eſtate thereof continued five Years next following after the Proclamations in Form aforeſaid made, without any Entry, Claim, or Occupation upon him or againſt him made or obtained by the aforeſaid Maſters or Governors and Commonalty of the Myſtery aforeſaid, or by any Perſon or Perſons whatſoever. And afterwards, and before the within written Time of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment within

within ſpecified within ſuppoſed to be done, the aforeſaid Robert Dormer of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in Form aforeſaid being ſeized, of the ſame Tenements with the Appurtenances enfeoffed one William Howel, to have and to hold the ſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances to the aforeſaid William Howel and to his Heirs for ever. By Virtue of which Feoffment the aforeſaid William Howel was ſeized of the ſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances in his Demeſn as of Fee. And being ſo thereof ſeized, the ſame William Howel afterwards, and before the within written Time of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment within ſpecified within ſuppoſed to be done, viz. the laſt Day of November in the Year of the Lord 1557, made and declared his Teſtament and laſt Will in Writing, and by his ſame laſt Will gave and bequeathed the Tenements within written with the Appurtenances, by the Name of all his Lands and Tenements in the Pariſh of Marſh, to one John Howel his eldeſt Son, and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, the Remainder thereof to the aforeſaid Henry Howel now Defendant, by the Name of Henry Howel his Son, and to the Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten. And afterwards, and before the within written Time of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment within ſpecified within ſuppoſed to be done, the aforeſaid William Howel at Weſtbury aforeſaid died of the Tenements aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid ſeized, after whoſe Death John Howel into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee-Tail. And being ſo thereof ſeized, the ſame John Howel afterwards, and before the within written Time of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment within ſpecified within ſuppoſed to be done, of ſuch his Eſtate at Weſtbury aforeſaid died thereof ſeized, without Heirs of his Body iſſuing; after whoſe Death the aforeſaid William Feriman and Robert Sadler, Maſters or Governors and the Commonalty of the Myſtery aforeſaid, the 10th Day of September in the 18th Year of the Reign of the Lady the Queen now, made their certain Writing ſealed with their common Seal, in theſe Words: "To all the faithful in Chriſt to whom this preſent Writing ſhall come, William Feriman and Robert Sadler Maſters or Governors and the Commonalty of the Myſtery of Cooks of London, otherwiſe called William Feriman and Robert Sadler Citizens and Cooks of London, Maſters or Governors of the Myſtery of Cooks of London, and the Commonalty of the ſame Myſtery, greeting in the Lord eternal. Know ye that we the aforeſaid Maſters or Governors and the Commonalty of the ſaid Myſtery have ordained, conſtituted, authorized, and deputed by theſe Preſents our beloved in Chriſt Richard Hodges our true and lawful Attorney to enter in our Right, Stead, Title, and Names into one Meſſuage with the Appurtenances in Marſh in the County of Bucks, late in the Occupation of one Edmund Croft Gentleman, and into all the Lands, Meadows, Leaſows, and Paſtures with the ſame Meſſuage occupied in Marſh aforeſaid, and the ſaid Meſſuage and other the Premiſſes with the Appurtenances to our Uſe to claim, and the Poſſeſſion thereof to our Uſe to take, and having had Poſſeſſion thereof or of any Parcel thereof, then to ſeal upon the Premiſſes or upon any Parcel of the ſame, and in our Stead, Right, and Names, as our Deed, to deliver to the ſame Edmund Croft a certain Writing containing the Form and Words of a Demiſe of the Premiſſes for the Term of five Years, to begin from the Feaſt of Eaſter laſt paſt to the aforeſaid Edmund Croft in our Names made. And we the aforeſaid Maſters or Governors and the Commonalty of the Myſtery aforeſaid ſhall ratify and approve all Things which our aforeſaid Attorney ſhall do in the Premiſſes. In Witneſs whereof to this preſent Writing we have put our common Seal. Given the 10th Day of September in the 18th Year of the Reign of our Lady Elizabeth by the Grace of God of England, France, and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith, &c." And the Jurors aforeſaid further ſay upon their Oath aforeſaid, that the Meſſuage and Tenements aforeſaid in the Declaration within written ſpecified, and the Meſſuages and Tenements in the aforeſaid Writing to the aforeſaid Richard Hodges as is aforeſaid made, are one and the ſame, and not others nor divers. And that by Virtue of the ſame Writing, the aforeſaid Richard Hodges in that Writing named, the within written 13th Day of September in the 18th Year aboveſaid, at Marſh aforeſaid, into the Meſſuage within written and other the Premiſſes with the Appurtenances entered, and them to the Uſe of the ſame Maſters or Governors and Commonalty claimed, and the Poſſeſſion thereof to their Uſe took, and the Writing aforeſaid with the common Seal of the ſaid Maſters or Governors and Commonalty of the Myſtery aforeſaid, containing in itſelf the Form and Words of a Demiſe of the Tenements within ſpecified for the aforeſaid Term of five Years to begin from the Feaſt of Eaſter then laſt paſt, ſealed, and as the Deed of the ſame Maſters or Governors and Commonalty of the Myſtery aforeſaid then and there to the ſame Edmund Croft delivered, which ſaid Writing follows in theſe Words: "This Indenture made the 13th Day of September in the 18th Year of the Reign of the moſt excellent Princeſs our Lady Elizabeth, by the Grace of God of England, France, and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith, &c. between William Feriman and Robert Sadler, Maſters or Governors and the Commonalty of the Myſtery of Cooks of London, otherwiſe called William Feriman and Robert Sadler Citizens and Cooks of London, Maſters or Governors of the Myſtery of Cooks of London, and the Commonalty of the ſame Myſtery, of the one Part, and Edmund Croft of Marſh in the County of Bucks of the other Part, witneſſeth, that the aforeſaid Maſters or Governors and the Commonalty of the Myſtery aforeſaid have delivered, granted, and to farm let, and by theſe Preſents do deliver, grant, and to farm let to the afore-

" ſaid Edmund Croft one Meſſuage with the Appurtenances in Marſh aforeſaid, late in the Occu" pation of the aforeſaid Edmund, and all the Lands, Meadows, Leaſows, and Paſtures with " the ſame Meſſuage occupied in Marſh aforeſaid. To have and to hold the Meſſuage aforeſaid
" and all other the Premiſſes with the Appurtenances to the aforeſaid Edmund and to his Aſſigns
" from the Feaſt of Eaſter laſt paſt unto the End of five Years from thence next following.
" Yielding therefore yearly to the aforeſaid Maſters or Governors and the Commonalty of the " Myſtery aforeſaid, and to their Succeſſors, 10l. at the Feaſts of the Nativity of St. John
" Baptiſt and of All Saints, by equal Portions, and the beſt Beaſt of the aforeſaid Edmund at " his Death, in the Name of a Heriot, if he ſhall die within the Term aforeſaid. In Witneſs
" whereof to one Part of this preſent Writing indented with the aforeſaid Edmund remaining
" the aforeſaid Maſters or Governors and the Commonalty of the Myſtery aforeſaid have put " their common Seal aforeſaid, and to the other Part with the aforeſaid Maſters or Governors
" and the Commonalty aforeſaid remaining the aforeſaid Edmund hath put his Seal; Given the Day
" and Year firſt aboveſaid." By Virtue of which ſaid Indenture and Demiſe the aforeſaid Edmund Croft into the Tenements within written with the Appurtenances entered, and was thereof poſſeſſed until the within written Henry Howel the aforeſaid 14th Day of September in the 18th Year aboveſaid into the ſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances entered, and the ſaid Edmund from his Farm aforeſaid thereof (his Term aforeſaid then not ended) ejected, expelled, and amoved, and the ſaid Edmund from his Poſſeſſion thereof held out and yet doth hold out, as the aforeſaid Edmund within againſt him complains. But whether upon the whole Matter aforeſaid the Demiſe aforeſaid by the aforeſaid William Feriman and Robert Sadler Maſters or Governors and the Commonalty of the Myſtery aforeſaid to the aforeſaid Edmund Croft of the Tenements within written with the Appurtenances in Form aforeſaid made be good, ſufficient, and valid in Law, or not, the Jurors aforeſaid are wholly ignorant, and they pray thereof the Advice of the Juſtices and of the Court, &c. And if it ſhall ſeem to the Court of the Lady the Queen that that Demiſe is good, ſufficient, and valid in Law, then the Jurors aforeſaid ſay upon their Oath, that the aforeſaid Henry Howel is guilty of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment within ſpecified, as the aforeſaid Edmund within hath alledged, and then they aſſeſs the Damages of the ſaid Edmund by Occaſion of that Treſpaſs and Ejectment (beſides his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended) at 10 s. and for thoſe Coſts and Charges at 40 s. But if it ſhall ſeem to the Court of the Lady the Queen that the Demiſe aforeſaid by the aforeſaid William Feriman and Robert Sadler to the aforeſaid Edmund of the Tenements within written in Form aforeſaid made is not good, ſufficient, and valid in Law, then the ſame Jurors ſay upon their Oath aforeſaid, that the aforeſaid Henry Howel is not guilty of the Treſpaſs and Ejectment within ſpecified, as the ſame Henry Howel within hath alledged. But becauſe the Court of the Lady the Queen here is not yet adviſed of giving their Judgment thereon, Day is given to the Parties aforeſaid before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter until Friday next after the Morrow of the Holy Trinity to hear their Judgment thereon, becauſe the Court of the Lady the Queen here thereof not yet, &c.

Continuance.

The CASE.

The Cooks of London were incorporated by King Edw. 4. by the Name of two Maſters or Governors and Commonalty of the Myſtery of Cooks of London, and they bargained and ſold Land by the Name of A. B. C. and D. Maſter and Wardens of the Craft or Myſtery of the Cooks of London, to R. D. and adjudged that the Corporation was miſnamed in the Indenture, and that the Bargain and Sale was void by Reaſon thereof, and therefore that the Bargainee by his Entry was a Diſſeizor. S. C. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 103.

THE Caſe as it was found by the Jury was thus. King Edward 4. by his Letters Patent, bearing Date the 11th Day of June in the 22d Year of his Reign, granted to the good and free Men of the Myſtery of Cooks of the City of London, that that Myſtery and all Men of the ſame Myſtery of the City aforeſaid ſhould be in Reality and in Name one Body and one Commonalty perpetual. And that two Principals of the ſame Commonalty, with the unanimous Aſſent of 12 or 8 Perſons at leaſt of that Commonalty moſt experienced in the Myſtery aforeſaid, might every Year elect and make out of that Commonalty two Maſters or Governors moſt experienced in the ſame Myſtery, to overlook, direct, and govern the Myſtery and Commonalty aforeſaid, and all Men of the ſame Myſtery, and the Buſineſs of the ſame for ever. And that the ſame Maſters or Governors and Commonalty ſhould have perpetual Succeſſion, and a common Seal to ſerve the Buſineſs of the ſaid Commonalty. And that they and their Succeſſors for ever ſhould be Perſons fit and capable to purchaſe and poſſeſs in Fee and Perpetuity, Lands, Tenements, Rents, and other Poſſeſſions whatſoever. And that they, by the Names of Maſters or Governors and Commonalty of the Myſtery of Cooks of London, might implead and be impleaded before any Judges whatſoever, in any Courts and Actions whatſoever, &c. By Virtue of which Letters Patent the free Men of the Myſtery of Cooks of London were incorporated by the Name of Maſters or Governors and Commonalty of the Myſtery of Cooks of London. And afterwards they were ſeized of the Tenements, in which the Treſpaſs and Ejectment is ſuppoſed to be done, in their Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of their Corporation. And they being ſo ſeized, John Johnſon, Matthew Robinſon, John Birch, and Ralph Iſwel, Maſter and Wardens of the Craft or Myſtery of Cooks of London, and the Commonalty of the ſame Craft or Myſtery, and one John Lawrence, the laſt Day of November in the 21ſt Year of the Reign of King Henry 8, by an Indenture (ſhewn forth) made between them, by the Name of John Johnſon the youn-

Vin. Abr. tit. Corporations G. 4. pl. 7. Vide Lane 18. Dy. 150. pl. 84.

Note, (Reader) that Suits to avoid Grants upon the Account of Miſnomer are odious Suits, and a ſhameful Thing it is that when Grantees or Leſſees, who for the moſt Part are illiterate Perſons, have paid great Fines, Corporations, who are preſumed beſt to know their Name of Foundation, ſhould go about to avoid their own Grants under their common Seal upon ſuch a ſlight Miſtake. And therefore the Judges ought in theſe Caſes (as generally they do) to make ſuch Conſtructions, if they may, that the Grants may ſtand good, Gouldſh. 122, Gawdy. However it ſeems that in ſuch Caſe Remedy may be had in the Court of Chancery, for the Lord Chancellor ſaid it was fit to help ſuch Leaſes there, if for reaſonable Time, and made upon good Conſideration, otherwiſe not. 1. Jac. 1, Cary 44. 32 & 33 Eliz. Lord Audley v. Sydenham, Tothil 228, pl. 100.

ger,

ger, Matthew Robinſon, John Birch, Ralph Iſwel, Maſter and Wardens of the Craft or Myſtery of the Cooks of London, and by the Name of the Commonalty of the ſame Craft or Myſtery, and by the Name of John Lawrence, of the one Part, and Robert Dormer of the other Part, bargained and ſold the Tenements aforeſaid to the ſaid Robert Dormer. By Virtue of which Bargain and Sale the ſaid Robert Dormer into the ſaid Tenements entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And he being ſo ſeized, a Fine was levied in Eaſter Term in the 22d Year of King Henry 8, between the ſaid Robert Dormer and four others Complainants, and Thomas Smith and his Son Deforceants; by which Fine Smith and his Son acknowledged the ſaid Tenements to be the Right of the ſaid Dormer, as thoſe which he and the four others had of their Gift; and Proclamations were thereupon accordingly made, which Fine was to the Uſe of the ſaid Dormer and his Heirs, whereby the ſaid Dormer was ſeized of the ſaid Tenements in his Demeſn as of Fee, and continued his Eſtate five Years next after the ſaid Proclamations, without any Entry, Claim, or Action upon or againſt him made by the ſaid Maſters or Governors and Commonalty of the Myſtery aforeſaid, or by any other. And afterwards, viz. the 10th Day of September in the 18th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, the ſaid Maſters or Governors and Commonalty made a Letter of Attorney to one Richard Hodges to enter into the ſaid Tenements, and to deliver to the Plaintiff upon the Land the Deed of Leaſe ſpecified in the Count, as their Deed, who accordingly did ſo. And the Defendant having an Eſtate by Conveyance under the Eſtate of the ſaid Dormer, (which was ſhewn in Certainty) ouſted the Plaintiff. Upon which the Jurors prayed the Diſcretion of the Juſtices.

And the Matter was argued many Times at the Bar, ſed non interfui. And at laſt the Juſtices unanimouſly agreed upon two Points. The firſt was, that when Dormer entered after the Bargain and Sale made to him, he was a * Diſſeizor to the Corporation, becauſe the Corporation was miſnamed in the Indenture of Bargain and Sale, whereby the Bargain and Sale and the Indenture were void. For the Grant of King Edward 4. to the Cooks was, that two Principals of the Commonalty, with the Aſſent of 12 or of 8 at leaſt of the ſame Commonalty, might annually elect and make out of the ſaid Commonalty two Maſters or Governors in the ſame Myſtery; and that the ſame Maſters or Governors and Commonalty ſhould have perpetual Succeſſion; and that they and their Succeſſors ſhould be able and capable to purchaſe and poſſeſs in Fee and Perpetuity, Lands and Tenements; and that they might implead and be impleaded by the Name of Maſters or Governors and Commonalty. So that by this Grant there ought to be two Maſters or Governors. And the Indenture of Bargain and Sale to Dormer was made between John Johnſon, Matthew Robinſon, John Birch, and Ralph Iſwel, Maſter and Wardens of the Craft or Myſtery, &c. So that there are four named by their proper Names, and Maſter is added at the End in the ſingular Number, which cannot be referred to them all, nor to two of them, for Maſter and Maſters [a] is not the ſame. And if Maſter ſhould be referred to all four (which it cannot poſſibly be) then there would be four Maſters, whereas the Charter warrants only two, ſo that the Number would be greater than is warranted by the Charter. And if Maſter ſhould be referred to the laſt Perſon named, viz. to Iſwel (as of Neceſſity it muſt,) then there are not Maſters, and the plural Number is material in the Caſe, becauſe two will govern better than one. So that for Want of the plural Number, the Name of the Corporation given in the Indenture, viz. Maſter, is not warranted by the Charter.

* Rol. R. 160. Cro. C. 396.

[a] 10 Co. 103. a.

Alſo in the Indenture they are called Maſter and Wardens, whereas Warden is not in the Charter. And if ſo be that Governors had been put inſtead of Wardens, in order to purſue the Charter, yet they ought to have been called Maſters or Governors, ſo that the Word (or) ſhould have been put inſtead of (and).

[b] But as to the Words (of the Craft or Myſtery of the Cooks of London), which are put in the Indenture before the Words (and the Commonalty), and as to the Word (Craft), which is put as well before the Word (Commonalty) as after it, they ſeemed to the Juſtices to be Surpluſage, which ſhould not hurt the Bargain and Sale, nor make the Indenture void. For (Craft) and (Myſtery) are Words of the [c] ſame Senſe, and the putting them before the Word (Commonalty) is but to ſhew of what Myſtery they are Maſters or Governors, which is more than neceſſary, for if they had been called Maſters or Governors and Commonalty of the Myſtery of Cooks of London, thereby it would have been known of what Myſtery they were Maſters or Governors, for the Word (Myſtery) there put would have ſhewn certainly that the Myſtery to which they were Maſters or Governors, and the Myſtery whereof the Commonalty conſiſted, was of the Cooks of London. So that the Words (Craft or Myſtery) being put before the Word (Commonalty) are but Words of Abundance, which do not deſtroy the Name given to the Corporation. But that which hurts and vitiates the Name given to them in the Indenture is the other Matter abovementioned, which makes the Bargain and Sale and the Indenture void. From whence it follows that when Dormer entered, he was a Diſſeizor to the Corporation, inaſmuch as he claimed an Eſtate or Intereſt which was not given to him by the Indenture, for which Reaſon he ſhall not be adjudged a Tenant at Will or at Sufferance, but a Diſſeizor.

[b] S. P. Moor 233. Lane 15. 1 And. 208. 1 Leon. 20, 159, 160.

[c] 1 And. 208. 1 Leon. 20, 160. Cart. 115, 120.

As to the ſecond Point, the Court were of Opinion that the Fine levied to Dormer (who had an Eſtate of Freehold and Fee) and to the others, and the Continuance of the Poſſeſſion in Dor-

A Fine with Proclamations, and five years Non-claim, is, by the Equity of the Statute of 4 H. 7. cap. 24. a Bar to ſuch Corporations as have an abſolute Eſtate and Authority in their Poſſeſſions, and may maintain a Writ of Right thereof, as Mayor and Commonalty, Dean and Chapter, Colleges, &c. but not to ſuch Corporations as have no abſolute Eſtate in their Poſſeſſions, and cannot charge or incumber them without the Aſſent of others, nor maintain a Writ of Right of them, but a Juris Utrum, as Biſhops, Deans, Parſons, Vicars, Prebendaries, &c. S. P. 11 Co. 69. b. 71. a. 1 Rol. R. 153, 160, 172. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 66. b. Crompt. J. C. 20. b. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 50, 74, 76, 103, 104. Weſt. Compl. Incumb. 437. Vin. Abr. tit. Corporations K. 3. pl. 6. tit. Fine U. pl. 3, 4, 6.

mer

mer for five years after the Fine, barred the Corporation by Reaſon of their Non-claim within the five Years. For they had an abſolute Eſtate in Fee Simple, and might have given the Land to another without the Aſſent or Agreement of any other, and might have had a Writ of Right, for which Reaſon their Non-claim ſhall bind them. And the Statute of 4 H. 7. of Fines was made for the public good, and to ſettle and quiet the Inheritances of the Subjects of the Realm. And therefore the Senſe of it ought to be largely extended to the Benefit of thoſe who are in Poſſeſſion of Land, and to the Deſtruction of the Right of thoſe who have Right, and are remiſs in making their Claim. [a] For the Intent of the Act was to favour thoſe who had Eſtates by Fine, and to hurt thoſe who had Right, and neglected to purſue it within five Years. [b] And therefore although the Words of the Act ſeem to bar only natural Perſons and their Heirs, becauſe they do not ſave any Right but to Men and their Heirs, and no Mention is made of any Corporation, or of Succeſſors, yet it was the Intent of the Makers of the Act that it ſhould be extended to Corporations and to their Succeſſors, if they are ſuch Corporations as have of themſelves abſolute Eſtate and Authority, as Mayor and Commonalty, Dean and Chapter, Colleges, and ſuch like. For as they have Power to take Lands and Tenements, ſo ought they to have Care to defend them, and they and their Succeſſors ought to make their Entries and Claims to avoid Fines, as other Men and their Heirs ought. And if Corporations ſhould not be included in the Statute of 4 H. 7. many Troubles and Miſchiefs would happen in their Poſſeſſions, which would be left without Remedy or Reformation, and an Act of Parliament which reforms a common Miſchief ought to be extended ſo as to extinguiſh the whole Miſchief. So here the Act of 4 H. 7. which is an Act of Convenience in that it brings public Repoſe to Inheritances, ought to be extended to bind Corporations which neglect to make their Entries or Claims or to bring their Actions within the Time limited by the Act, viz. within five Years.

[a] 2 Rol. R. 252. 1 Leon. 84 Per Periam J. Comb. 73. Ante 369 (g).

[b] 1 Leon. 84.

[c] But if a Biſhop, Dean, Parſon, Vicar, or Prebendary, or ſuch like, do not make their Entry or Claim, nor bring their Action to avoid a Fine within five Years, but are remiſs and negligent for all that Time, yet their Succeſſors ſhall not be bound for ever, becauſe they have no abſolute Eſtate or Authority in their Poſſeſſions. For the Biſhop and Dean cannot do Things to bind their Poſſeſſions without having the Aſſent of the Dean and Chapter: And the Parſon, Vicar, and others, who may have a Juris Utrum, and cannot have a Writ of Right, ought to have the Aſſent of the Patron and Ordinary, who have ſome Intereſt or Part in the Matter, in order to bind their Succeſſors. And forasſmuch as theſe have no abſolute Authority over their Poſſeſſions, but are dependant upon others, and cannot charge or incumber their Poſſeſſions of themſelves without the Aſſiſtance of others, therefore it is reaſonable to be preſumed that it was the Intent of the Makers of the Act of 4 H. 7. that their Latches and Non-claim within five Years ſhould bind their Succeſſors for ever.

[c] 11 Co. 71. a. Crompt. J. C. 20. b. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 50, 104. Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fo. 66. b. Ante 375 (e), by the Reporter.

Nevertheleſs it was held by ſome of the Juſtices, that although every Succeſſor ſhall have five Years to make his Claim or Entry, [d] yet every one that ſuffers the five Years to paſs ſhall be bound during his own Time. But although he is bound, yet his Succeſſor ſhall have other five Years to make his Entry or Claim, or to bring his Action, by the Saving and Proviſo in the Act. And ſo, it was ſaid, if a Man has an Office for Life, to which Land or a Houſe is appurtenant, as a Parker, Foreſter, Keeper of a Goal, and the like, whoſe Offices are uſed to be given for Life, and he is diſſeized of the Land or Houſe which is appurtenant to his Office, and the Diſſeizor levies a Fine with Proclamations, every Officer one after another ſhall have five Years, but he that ſuffers the five Years to paſs is bound for the Time that he is Officer.

[d] 1 Rol. R. 160, 172. Vin. Abr. tit. Corporations K. 3. pl. 6. tit. Fine U. pl. 6. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 50.

And becauſe in the principal Caſe the Letter of Attorney made to Hodges to enter into the Premiſſes, and to deliver the Leaſe to the Plaintiff, was void, for that the Corporation was bound by the Fine and five Years Non-claim, and ſo had no Right, Intereſt, or Power in the Land at the Time when they gave the Authority to the Attorney, and conſequently the Leaſe claimed by the Plaintiff was void, Judgment was afterwards given againſt the Plaintiff, which was as follows.

The Reſt of the Record.

At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came the Parties aforeſaid by their Attornies aforeſaid. Whereupon all and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen now here more fully underſtood, and mature Deliberation being thereupon had, for that it ſeems to the Court of the Lady the Queen now here that the Demiſe aforeſaid by the aforeſaid William Feriman and Robert Sadler Maſters or Governors and the Commonalty of the Myſtery aforeſaid to the aforeſaid Edmund Croft of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in Form aforeſaid made, is not good, ſufficient, nor valid in Law, it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Edmund take nothing by his Bill aforeſaid, but for his falſe Claim thereof be in Mercy; and that the aforeſaid Henry Howel go thereof without Day, &c.

Judgment.

In the Argument of this Caſe two other Points were moved, the firſt of which was, if by the Bargain and Sale by the Corporation they might be ſeized to the Uſe of Dormer the Bargainee. [e] For it was ſaid that no Corporation can be ſeized to Uſe, for none can have Confidence committed to him but a Body natural, who hath Reaſon, and is capable of Confidence, and may be compelled by Impriſonment, by the Order of the Chancellor of England, to perform the Confidence, for that is the Way which the Party ſhall take to have it performed, [f] and no Corporation which conſiſts of many can be impriſoned, and their natural Body ſhall not be impriſoned for the Offence of their Body corporate, which is another Body.

[e] S.P. Ante 102, 103.

[f] Cowel's Inſt. 235, § 5. Shep. Pract. Counſ. 104.

[a] The other Point moved was, whether Dormer the Bargainee ſhould have a Fee-ſimple in the Uſe, or but for Life only, becauſe the Bargain and Sale was made to him, and no Mention was made of his Heirs. [a] Shep. Pract. Counſ. 104. Vide Dy. 169. pl. 22.

But the Judges made no Reſolution upon theſe Points, becauſe if the Bargain and Sale was void by the Miſnomer of the Corporation, and Dormer was a Diſſeizor by his Entry, then theſe Points cannot come in Queſtion, nor does the Record miniſter any Cauſe to diſpute them.

And Note, as touching Fines levied at the Common Law by a Prior or Parſon, and how far they were effectual to bind their Succeſſors, theſe Caſes were conſidered, viz. M. 38 Ed. 3. 33. a. Bro. Fines 45. T. 11 H. 4. 68. b. Bro. Fines 38. 12 H. 4. 11. pl. 1. 21. pl. 13. Bro. Fines 40.

A brief Report of a Judgment, and of the Cauſes thereof, given in the King's-Bench in Hillary Term in the 21ſt Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, upon a ſpecial Verdict found in a Bill of Treſpaſs brought by Richard Paramour againſt Raphael Yardley and George Smart, for breaking his Houſe and Cloſe called the Manor-Houſe and Park of Drayton-Baſſet at Drayton-Baſſet in the County of Stafford. And the Record appears among the Records of Michaelmas Term 19 & 20 Eliz. Rot. 194.

THE Treſpaſs was aſſigned to be done the 19th Day of December in the 19th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, with Continuance until the 15th Day of May next following. And the Defendants pleaded not guilty. And the Jury found that one William Robinſon was poſſeſſed of the Places, in which the Treſpaſs was ſuppoſed to be done, by Force of a Leaſe for 77 Years, which commenced at the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel in the Year of our Lord 1560. And by his Teſtament in Writing, made the 15th Day of September in the 4th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, he gave all his Leaſes to Thomas Robinſon his eldeſt Son, to have and to hold to the ſaid Thomas during all the Term which he had to come therein, if the ſaid Thomas ſhould ſo long live; and if he ſhould die before he had Iſſue of his Body, then he deviſed all the ſaid Leaſes to * John Robinſon his youngeſt Son, and to his Aſſigns, during all the Years then to come, if he ſhould ſo long live, and have Iſſue of his body. And he limited Remainders over. And further he ſaid that it was his Will and Intent that Grace his Wife ſhould have the Occupation and Profits of all his Lands and Leaſes until the ſaid Thomas ſhould come to his full Age of 21 Years; and if the ſaid Thomas ſhould die before he came to ſuch Age, then until the ſaid John Robinſon ſhould come to the Age of 21 Years, to the Intent that ſhe, with the Profits of his Lands and Leaſes, might educate his Iſſues, and ſee his laſt Will performed in all Points. And he deviſed further to Dorothy his Daughter 600 l. to be paid at the Day of her Marriage, and divers other Sums he deviſed to divers others. And he made the ſaid Grace his Wife his ſole Executrix, and died poſſeſſed of the ſaid Leaſe, the Reverſion of the Tenements belonging to the Queen and to her Heirs.

Leſſee for Years deviſes his Term to his Son, and further ſays that his Will is, that his Wife ſhall have the Occupation and Profits of the Leaſe during the Minority of his Son, to the Intent that with the Profits ſhe may educate his Children, and ſee his laſt Will performed, and he makes her his Executrix, and dies; afterwards ſhe proves the Will, and ſells the Term to a Creditor of her Huſband's before all the Debts are paid, having other Goods in her Hands ſufficient to pay the Debts and funeral Expences: She educates the Iſſues after her Huſband's Death until her own Death: The Son comes to his full Age, and enters into the Premiſſes, and his Entry adjudged lawful. S. C. Crompt. J. C. 64. a. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe L. pl. 11. And ſee S. P. Mich. 15 & 16 Eliz. Dy. 328. pl. 11. * 1 Rol. R. 321, this Deviſe to John is ſaid by Coke to be a Poſſibility upon a Poſſibility, and yet good.

And they found further that the ſaid Grace, having taken upon her the Burden of the Teſtament, entered into the ſaid Houſe and Park, and was thereof poſſeſſed. And ſhe being ſo poſſeſſed, the 12th Day of May in the 6th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, by her Deed granted to one Wilgfort Tanfield her Siſter all the ſaid Term, and all her Intereſt, Right, and Title in the Premiſes, to have and to hold to her during all the Years in the Leaſe then to come. And they found that the ſaid Grace, at the Time of the ſaid Grant, had Goods and Chattles of the ſaid William Robinſon in her Hands ſufficient to pay all the Debts and funeral Expences of the ſaid William Robinſon, beſides the ſaid Leaſe. But they found that a Debt of 100 l. due by the ſaid William Robinſon was payable and not paid at the Time of the Grant made to the ſaid Wilgfort. And further they found that the ſaid Grace had educated and maintained the Iſſues of her ſaid Huſband all the Time after the Death of the ſaid Teſtator, and during her Widowhood; and that afterwards the ſaid Grace took to Huſband Simon Harcourt, and died. And afterwards the ſaid Thomas Robinſon entered into the ſaid Houſe and Park, and was thereof poſſeſſed. And being ſo poſſeſſed, he the 3d Day of March in the 17th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, (then being of the Age of 23 Years) granted the ſaid Houſe and Park, and all his Intereſt and Term of Years in them, to Richard Paramour the Plaintiff, by Virtue whereof he entered, and was poſſeſſed until the Defendants, as Servants to the ſaid Thomas Robinſon, and by his Command, entered and did the Treſpaſs. And upon this Matter the Jurors prayed the Advice of the Court, and if the Court ſhould adjudge that the Defendants were guilty, then they aſſeſſed Damages to the Plaintiff for the Treſpaſs at 20 l. and for his Coſts 20 s. and if otherwiſe, then they ſaid that the Defendants were not guilty.

Hill. Term 21 Eliz.

And whether Judgment ſhould be given for the Plaintiff, or not, was debated in the King's Bench laſt Trinity Term by Brograve on the Part of the Plaintiff, and by Beaumond the elder on the Part of the Defendants. And now this preſent Hillary Term in the 21ſt Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, it was argued by an Apprentice of the Middle Temple on the Part of the Plaintiff, and by Tanfield on the Part of the Defendants.

1 Point.

For the Defendants.

Leſſee for Years deviſes all his Term to his Son, and afterwards in another Clauſe deviſes to his Wife the Occupation and Profits of the Leaſe during the Minority of his Son, theſe Deviſes ſhall be tranſpoſed, and it ſhall be conſtrued firſt a Deviſe to the Wife, and afterwards to the Son, in order that both may ſtand. S. P. Crompt. J. C. 64. a. Swinb. 198. Nelſ. Lex Teſtam. 291, 554. 1 Finch 49. 2 Finch 69. And ſee the like Conſtruction made Ante 523, Welcden v. Elkington, and many Caſes there put upon this Ground.

And in order to overthrow the Plaintiff's Title, and to maintain that the Term was never executed in Thomas Robinſon as a Legacy, it was objected that the Limitation or Gift to Grace the Wife during the Minority of Thomas Robinſon the Infant was void, becauſe in the Premiſes of the Will the Teſtator had given to Thomas all his Leaſes, to have and to hold to him during the whole Term which he had to come, by which Words the whole Eſtate and Term paſſed to Thomas, ſo that the ſubſequent Words, by which he gave to Grace the Occupation and Profits of all his Leaſes during the Minority of Thomas, were repugnant to the firſt Words whereby the Leaſe was deviſed to Thomas; for if Thomas ſhould have the Leaſe, therein he ſhould have the Occupation and Profits preſently, and then the Deviſe thereof to the Wife was contrariant and repugnant, for which Contrariety the latter Deviſe ſhall be void, and then the Wife ſhall have nothing by Force of the Deviſe, but only as Executrix, in which Caſe her Occupation as Executrix cannot be any Execution of the Legacy to Thomas; from whence it follows that the Grant of the Term by the Executrix to Wilgfort ſhall bind Thomas, and conſequently the Title of the Plaintiff, who claims under Thomas, is not good.

Econtra for the Plaintiff.

[a] Forteſc. Rep. 25. 2 P. Wms. 282. Swinb. 10. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe F. a. pl. 5. Ante 162 (m). 413 (d). 523 (a). and the Books there cited.

Againſt which it was ſaid on Behalf of the Plaintiff, that [a] Words in Wills ought to be ſo favourably expounded that the Intent of the Teſtator appearing in the Will may be performed in every Point, and not a Jot be confounded. To which End it is the Office of Judges to marſhal the Words of Wills, and the more ſo if it be conſidered that Wills are for the moſt Part made in the Party's laſt Moments, when he has not Time to apply to or adviſe with Counſel in the Law, and that Teſtators themſelves in general are unacquainted with the Law, and know not how to put their Words in their proper Order, for which Reaſon their Ignorance and Simplicity demands a favourable Interpretation of their Words.

Then to apply this Doctrine to our own Caſe, it appears to be the Intent of the Teſtator that his Wife ſhould have the Occupation and Profits of the Premiſſes during the Minority of Thomas his Son, and that afterwards Thomas ſhould have the Leaſe. And in order to make this Intent take Effect, it is the Office of the Court to take that Part firſt which comes laſt, and that laſt which comes firſt in the Will; as if the Teſtator had ſaid that his Wife ſhould have the Occupation and Profits of the Land in Leaſe during the Minority of Thomas, and that Thomas at his full Age ſhould have the Leaſe. And the Words being ſo placed will anſwer the Intent of the Teſtator, and agree with the Law.

And this is nothing more than is frequently done by the Common Law in Deeds and ſuch other Acts, for when divers Things are appointed at one ſame Inſtant, and the one cannot take Effect without the other, the Common Law will adjudge that to precede, and that to follow, which properly ought to precede and follow, in order to make the Intent of the Parties take Effect. [b] As if a Diſſeizor makes a Leaſe for Years, and afterwards he and the Diſſeizee releaſe by one Deed to the Tenant for Years, there the Law will adjudge the Releaſe of the Diſſeizor firſt to take Effect, and afterwards the Releaſe of the Diſſeizee to take Effect, for there is no Privity nor [c] Eſtate in the Leſſee upon which the Releaſe of the Diſſeizee may enure, unleſs it be taken that the Releaſe of the Diſſeizor firſt enured, and afterwards the Releaſe of the Diſſeizee. So that when there is Matter ſufficient, the Law adjudges what Thing ſhall precede, and what ſhall follow. [d] And ſo if Tenant for Life makes a Leaſe for Years, and the Tenant for Life and the Reverſioner in Fee confirm the Eſtate of the Tenant for Years, to have the Land to him and to his Heirs, there he ſhall have the Fee, becauſe the Law will adjudge the Eſtate of the Tenant for Life to paſs firſt, and afterwards the Eſtate of him that had the Fee, ſo that the Leſſee may have Privity, whereupon the Releaſe of the Reverſioner in Fee may enure and enlarge his Eſtate. [a] And ſo if Tenant for 30 Years makes a Leaſe for 10 Years, and both of them ſurrender to him in the Reverſion in Fee, the Surrender is good for both the Eſtates, as it ſeems by 14 H. 7. and yet the Leſſee for 10 Years could not ſurrender by himſelf for Want of Privity, but when the other joined with him, his Surrender ſhall be taken in Law to precede, and the Surrender of the Leſſee for 10 Years to follow, ſo that the ſame ſhall be good. And ſo in the principal Caſe the Deviſe ſhall be ſaid in the Law to be firſt made to the Wife, and afterwards to the Son, and the Generality of the Deviſe to the Son, which was firſt placed in the Will, ſhall be reſtrained by the Deviſe afterwards made to the Wife. [b] As if a Man by Deed makes a Feoffment to one, to have and to hold to him and to his Heirs, and if it happen that the Feoffee dies without Heir of his Body, that then the Land ſhall revert, the Generality of the Gift to him and to his Heirs ſhall be corrected by the Clauſe afterwards, as it ſeems by 13 R. 2. ſo that the Donee ſhall only have a Fee tail. And if the Law ſhall be ſo expounded in Deeds, and ſhall marſhal the Words of them ſo as to make one Thing precede another, contrary to the Order in which they are placed in the Deed, a fortiore it ſhall do ſo in the Wills of Lay-men. [c] And therefore it was ſaid to be a common Caſe, that if A. by his Will deviſes Land to B. and to his Heirs, and afterwards in another Clauſe he deviſes a Rent-charge out of the Land to C. and to his Heirs, this ſhall be a good Deviſe of the Rent to C. and of the Land to B. and the Rent ſhall in Conſtruction of Law be taken to be firſt deviſed, although it is placed laſt in the Will. So in the principal Caſe the Deviſe to the Wife ſhall be adjudged in Law to precede the Deviſe to the Son, although it it is ſubſequent in Words; and ſo both Parts of the Will ſhall ſtand together, and good Senſe ſhall be made of them, and the Teſtator's Intent ſhall be obſerved throughout.

[b] S. P. 1 Leon. 255, at the Bottom. 2 Bulſt. 125. Vin. Abr. tit. Releaſe K. 2. pl. 6.

[c] S. P. Co. Litt. 266. a.

[d] Vin. Abr. tit. Grants G. a. 2. pl. 16.

And it was ſaid that if there had been any Repugnancy in the Will, the laſt Part ſhould have deſtroyed the firſt. [d] As if in the Premiſſes of the Will A. deviſes his Land to B. in Fee, and in the End of the Will he deviſes it to C. in Fee, the laſt Part ſhall deſtroy the firſt, becauſe it was his laſt Intent to give it to C. For as the laſt Will repeals the firſt Will, ſo by the ſame Reaſon the laſt Part of the Will ſhall repeal the firſt Part of the Will, when they are contrary to each other. But in the principal Caſe there is no Contrariety, but both the Parts may ſtand together. Wherefore it is a good Deviſe to the Wife, and alſo to the Son after he comes of full Age. And to this the whole Court agreed.

[a] M. 14 H. 7. 3. Vin. Abr. tit. Grants G. a. 2. pl. 17.

[b] T. 13 R. 2. in Formedon. Dal. 9. pl. 5. 2 Rol. Abr. 68. pl. 28. 1 Rol. R. 375, 384. Litt. R. 258. 1 P. Wms. 72. Ld. Raym. 623, 1146 Ante 53 (c), and ſee the other Books there cited.

[c] S. P. Lane 118. 1 Rol. R. 320. 2 Rol. R. 424, at the Bottom. 1 Bulſt. 192. 3 Bulſt. 105. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 306, § 3. 327, 461. 1 Finch 49. 2 Finch 67. Treat. of Wills 30. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe M. b. pl. 5. Ante 523 (a).

[d] Herewith agrees Co. Litt. 112. b. 2 Rol. R. 423, arguendo. Owen 84. Per Anderſon J. Swinb. 552, 553. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 461. But by the greater Opinions it ſeems that B. and C. ſhall be Join-tenants, as appears 3 Leon. 11. pl. 27, Per Dyer et Brown J. 3 Bulſt. 105, Per Dodder. J. 1 Rol. R. 320, Per Idem. Yelv. 210, Per Williams J. Lane 118, Per Tanfield Ch. B. Cro. E. 9. pl. 2. Per Anderſon et Mead J. Cro. J. 49. Jenk. 256. pl. 50. 10 Mod. 522. 1 Vern. 30. Treat. of Wills 129, 130. Pickering's Caſe. Mich. Term 33 Geo. 2.

2 Point.

For the Defendants.

A Deviſe of the Occupation and Profits of Land is a Deviſe of the Land itſelf, ſo that if the Occupation is deviſed to the Executor for a Time, and afterwards the Land itſelf to another, the Executor's Execution of the Legacy to himſelf is an Execution of the Legacy to the other, both their Intereſts being the ſame in Subſtance. S. P. adjudged Ante 524, Welden v. Elkington. And ſee 2 Leon. 92. 3 Bulſt. 105. Owen 6, 7. 1 Brownl. 79. Swinb. 141. Godolph. Orph.

Further, it was debated in what Manner the Deviſe ſhould enure to the Wife, and what it was that was deviſed to her. For it was ſaid in Behalf of the Defendants that the Deviſe to the Wife of the Occupation and Profits of the Land was not a Deviſe of the Land itſelf, but of a Profit or Intereſt to be taken out of the Land, whereas by the Deviſe of all his Leaſes to Thomas the Land itſelf during the Term paſſed, for a Gift of a Leaſe which a Man has contains two Things, viz. the Land itſelf, and the Time which he has in it. And when the Teſtator afterwards ſaid that it was his Intent that his Wife ſhould have the Occupation and Profits of all his Leaſes, this is a Deviſe to her of another Thing than of the Leaſe itſelf, viz. of a Profit or Commodity out of it, as Herbage, and other like Things, which may be taken by Occupation or Perception; in which Caſe if the Wife took the ſame according to the Deviſe, it could not be an Execution of the Leaſe deviſed to the Son, which was another diſtinct Thing. [e] As if A. has a Leaſe for Years, and he deviſes out of it a Rent or Common for certain Years to B. and deviſes the Leaſe itſelf to C. there although the Executor aſſents that the Deviſee of the Common ſhall put in his Cattle, or although he pays the Rent to the Deviſee of the Rent, yet this is no Aſſent that the Deviſee of the Term ſhall have it, nor is it an Execution of the Term in the Deviſee thereof, becauſe the Rent and Common are Profits out of the Land, and diſtinct from the Land, for which Reaſon the Executor's Aſſent to the Deviſe of them is no Aſſent to the Deviſe of the Term itſelf, which is of another Nature. So here the Wife had not the Eſtate of the Leaſe by the Deviſe to her, but only the Occupation and Profits thereof, and the Leaſe itſelf was in her as Executrix until ſhe ſhould aſſent to the Deviſe of it to the Son, and before any ſuch Aſſent given by her, ſhe granted the Leaſe to her Siſter, whereby the Eſtate of the Son was defeated, and his Entry afterwards into the Land not lawful, and conſequently the Title of the Plaintiff, who claims under him, falls to the Ground.

Leg. 349, § 6. 400, § 34. Co. Litt. 4. b. Cart. 26, 27.

[e] S. P. Ante 521 (d), and ſee the Books there cited.

E contra for the Plaintiff.

Againſt which it was ſaid by the Counſel for the Plaintiff, that the Deviſe to the Wife of the Occupation and Profits of all his Leaſes, until the Son ſhould come to his full Age, was a Deviſe of the Houſe and Park themſelves until that Time. For the Word (Leaſe) comprehends the Land leaſed, and then if ſhe ſhall have the Occupation and Profits of the Houſe and Park, this amounts to a Deviſe of the Houſe and Park themſelves, for to have Land for Years is nothing more than to occupy it, and to take the Profits of it for Years. So that by Circumlocution it is a Deviſe of the Land itſelf, for he who has the Occupation and Profits of Land may plough and ſow the Land, which is more than the [f] King ſhall have of the Tenant in Fee-ſimple upon his Outlawry in a perſonal Action, for there the King ſhall only have the Profits as they ariſe of themſelves without manuring the Land; but he who has the Occupation and Profits of Land may manure the Land, and cut cut down the Copſes upon the Land, which is a Point of Profit. So that a Grant of the Occupation and Profits amounts to a perfect Leaſe of the Land for the Time. [a] And hereupon it was ſaid that in 5 H. 7. it is taken that if a Man will plead in an Action of Treſpaſs that the Plaintiff licenſed him to enter and occupy the Land for the Space of a Month, this Plea is not good, but he ought to ſay that the Plaintiff leaſed the Land to him for that Time, and not that he licenſed him to enter, for the Matter purſuant does not prove a Licenſe but a Leaſe, to which the Court there agreed. And if the Law be ſo where there is but one Word. viz. a Licenſe to occupy, a fortiore it ſhall be ſo where there are Words to have the Occupation and Profits. And in the principal Caſe in 5 H. 7. above cited it was taken, that if A. pledges a Chain of Gold to B. for Money delivered at the ſame Time, and afterwards A. brings an Action of Treſpaſs againſt B. for the Chain, B. cannot plead that A. licenſed him to take the Chain, and to retain it until he had repayed him the Money, but he ought to ſay that A. pledged the Chain to him, for the Matter amounts to as much; but the Doubt which aroſe in that Caſe was, becauſe the Money was not delivered at the ſame Time, for the Plaintiff licenſed the Defendant to take and retain the Chain. [b] So, it was ſaid, if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, and that after the Death of the Leſſee the Land ſhall return or ſhall deſcend to a Stranger and to his Heirs, this ſhall be pleaded as a Remainder. [c] And in a Formedon in Remainder the Party ſhall ſay that the Land ſhall remain to him after the Death of the Leſſee for Life, for the Words have the Subſtance of a Remainder. [d] And ſo a Grant of the Nomination of an Advowſon is in Subſtance a Grant of the Advowſon, for the Profit and Effect of the Advowſon conſiſts only in the Nomination. So that Words which are equivalent to Words commonly uſed ſhall be of the ſame Force with uſual Words. And ſo in our principal Caſe the Deviſe of the Occupation and Profits of the Leaſe is a Deviſe of the Leaſe itſelf for the Time.

[f] See H. 21 H. 7. 7. a. Bro. Forfeiture 30. T. 9 H. 6. 2c. b. 2 Rol. Abr. 808. pl. 2. 1 Lev. 33. Hardr. 106, 176. 1 Finch 234. 2 Finch 351.

[a] M. 5 H. 7. 1. Bro. Leaſe 30. Licenſe 19. Ante 154 (c). and ſee the other Books there cited.

[b] S. P. Ante 29 (a). and 170 (r). and ſee the Books there cited.

[c] See Ante 159.

[d] See Ante 157 (p). 529 (b).

A Legatee has no Remedy at the Common Law for any Legacy of Goods or a Profit a prendre bequeathed to him, but only in the Spiritual Court, and if he is alſo Executor, then in neither Place Poſt 543.

Another Cauſe was alledged why the Deviſe to the Wife ought to be taken as a Deviſe of the Thing itſelf, and not of the Profits only, and that was, becauſe if it ſhould be a Deviſe of the Profits, as of a Profit a prendre, then the Wife ſhould not have any Action or Remedy at the Common Law to obtain the Occupation and Profits, if they were kept from her, or if ſhe was ouſted of them; for ſhe could not have an Aſſize for ſuch Profits, becauſe ſhe had no Eſtate of Freehold in them, nor could ſhe have an Action of [e] Account, becauſe her Deforceor took the Profits to his own Uſe, and no Action of Debt or other Remedy could ſhe have at the Common Law. [f] And Note, ſhe could not have any Remedy in the Spiritual Court as for a Legacy, becauſe ſhe was Executrix herſelf, againſt whom the Suit ought to be brought to execute the Legacy. And it cannot be preſumed that it was the Intent of the Deviſor to make a Deviſe of a Thing for which the Deviſee could have no Remedy, eſpecially if the Purpoſes for which the Deviſe was here made are conſidered. For the Words of the Will are, that it was the Deviſor's Intent that his Wife, with the Profits of his Lands and Leaſes, might educate his Iſſues, and ſee his laſt Will performed in all Points. Which Clauſe contains Matter of great Importance, and ſhews how dear his Iſſues were to him, and how deſirous he was that they ſhould be nouriſhed and educated, and that his laſt Will ſhould be performed, which are ſtrong Arguments that he meant that his Deviſe ſhould be of ſuch Effect that his Wife might have Remedy for the Things deviſed, which ſhe could not have, if ſhe was ejected out of them, unleſs the Deviſe be taken to enure as a Gift to her of an Eſtate and Intereſt in the Land. Wherefore if it ſhould be expounded a Deviſe of the Profits only, the Effect would be that he gave to his Wife a Thing which ſhe could never have nor take by his Will, which cannot reaſonably be preſumed to be his Intention.

Nota bene.

[e] For againſt a Diſſeizor, or other wrong Doer no Account lies, Co. Litt. 172. a.

[f] S. P. Poſt 543 (f).

Where the Poſſeſſion and Eſtate of the Land comes to him who has the Profits thereof, it merges the Profits a prendre for the Time.

And further it is to be obſerved, that it could not be the Intent of the Deviſor that the Wife ſhould only have a Profit a prendre out of the Land until the Son came to his full Age, for in whom muſt the Poſſeſſion and Eſtate of the Term be until the full Age of the Son? Certainly it ought to be in the Wife as Executrix, for the Son ought not to have it delivered to him until his full Age, and then if this be ſo, the Profit a prendre out of the Land was merged by the Poſſeſſion and Eſtate of the Land itſelf which the Wife had in the mean Time.

Diverſity between the Deviſe of the Uſe or Occupation of a perſonal Chattle, and the Deviſe of the Occupation and Profits of Land or a Chattle real. See 1 Finch 151. 2 Finch 172.

[g] But the Caſe in 37 H. 6. differs much from this Caſe: For there the Caſe was, that A. being poſſeſſed of a Book called the Grail, deviſed it to B. one of his Executors, to have the Occupation of it during his Life, and that after his Death C. ſhould have it in the ſame Manner for his Life, and that after his Death it ſhould be diſpoſed of by his Executors to the Uſe of a Church, and died, and B. took the ſaid Book, and kept it by Force of the Deviſe, and delivered it to the Wardens of the ſaid Church, and died, and C. took the Book, and the Church-Wardens brought an Action of Treſpaſs againſt him; and it was the clear Opinion of the Court that the Action was maintenable, becauſe the Book was never delivered to C. by the Executors, and the Occupation or Poſſeſſion of B. was no Execution of the Legacy to C. becauſe nothing was deviſed to B. but the Occupation, and the like to C. for the Deviſe proves in itſelf that the Property of the Book was always in the Executors to the Uſe of the Teſtator, to the Intent that they ſhould diſpoſe of it to the Uſe of the Church, and the Occupation is a diſtinct Thing from the Property, and the Occupation of one is not the Occupation of another, for their Occupations differ from each other, and are ſeveral Things derived out of the Principal, for which Reaſon the Occupation of B. was no Execution of the Occupation of C. For, the Apprentice ſaid, in ſome Things the Occupation, Profit, or Uſe is a diſtinct Thing from the Property. As one may have the Occupation or Uſe of a Glaſs to look at himſelf in it, and another may have the Property of it. So one may have the Uſe of a Map or of a Globe, and another the Property. And ſo one may have the Uſe of a Fire, and another the Property. And ſo alſo of a Book, one may have the Occupation or Uſe of it to read in it, and the Property may be in another. So that in Things of this Kind the Uſe, Occupation, or Function is diſtinct from from the Property. But otherwiſe in the Caſe of Land, for there he who has the Occupation and Uſe of it has the Property of it for the Time. And ſo here the Wife who had the Occupation and Profits of the Land had the Property thereof for the Time. Wherefore they concluded that for theſe Cauſes the Deviſe to the Wife of the Occupation and Profits of the Houſe and Park during the Nonage of the Son was a Deviſe of the Thing itſelf for that Time, and not of any diſtinct Profit a prendre out of it. And of this Opinion was the whole Court.

[g] T. 37 H. 6. 30. Fitz. Deviſe 6. Bro. 13. Lane 60, 61. 1 P. Wms. 3. 1 Finch 151. 2 Finch 172. Ante 521 (f). Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe E. a. pl. 6.

And as to the Execution of the Legacy in the Wife, it was objected on the Part of the Defendants that the Legacy ought not to be taken to be executed in her any more than in the Son, for it is to be conſidered that ſhe was Executrix, and if the Term had been deviſed to another, it ſhould firſt have been in her as Executrix, for ſhe ſhould have had Poſſeſſion in Deed before any Entry by him or any other, And by the ſame Reaſon when ſhe is Executrix and Legatory it ſhall be firſt in her as [a] Executrix, and if ſhe will have it as Legatory, [b] then ſhe ought to claim it, or to do ſome other Act which may prove that ſhe will accept it as a Legacy, (for the Leaſe ſhall not be in her [c] againſt her Will, but ſhe may diſagree to the Deviſe, and claim it as Executrix), and if ſhe does not claim it as Legatory, but does ſome Act afterwards as Executrix, ſuch Act will manifeſt her Intent, and ſhall be a Diſagreement to the Legacy from the Beginning. And here ſhe hath done ſuch Act which argues her Diſagreement to it from the Beginning, for ſhe has granted the whole Term to her Siſter, to have and to hold during all the Years in the Leaſe which were to come. By which Grant of all the Years to come, ſhe aſſumed upon herſelf to have all the Years in the Leaſe which were to come, and that ſhe could not have as Legatory, but as Executrix ſhe had them. So that ſuch Grant is a Diſagreement to the Legacy, and a Claim to have the Leaſe as Executrix.

Another Reaſon they alledged why ſhe ſhould not be ſaid to have any Part of the Term as Legatory, viz. becauſe it is found that 100 l. owing by the Teſtator was unpaid, for the Payment of which ſhe might alien the Term, for ſhe might apply what Part of the Teſtator's Effects ſhe pleaſed to the Payment of it. Alſo it appears by the Will, which is found by the Jury verbatim, that the Teſtator gave 600 l. to his Daughter, and deviſed divers other Sums to other Perſons, and it is not found that any of theſe were paid, and therefore it ſhall be intended that they were not paid, in which Caſe the Executrix might alien the whole Term in order to raiſe Money for the Payment of ſuch Legacies. So that in the mean time the Law cannot adjudge the Part of the Leaſe given to the Wife to be executed as a Legacy in herſelf, and the Remainder in Thomas the Son, for then perhaps none of the other Legacies would be paid. And this is another Cauſe to delay the Execution of the Legacy.

A third Reaſon alledged by them againſt the Execution of the Legacy was, becauſe the Occupation and Profits were deviſed to the Wife, to the Intent that ſhe therewith might educate his Iſſues, and ſee his laſt Will performed in all Points. And the Education of his Iſſues can but be looked upon as a Legacy to the Iſſues, and then the main Intent of the Teſtator in the Deviſe to the Wife was, to ſee his laſt Will performed, which Purpoſe is not ſufficient to make it a good Legacy or Deviſe to the Wife. [d] For if I give all my Goods to my Executor to perform my Will, this is no Deviſe at all, nor ſhall he have any Thing more from it than he ſhould have had without it, for if I had ſaid nothing, the Law would have given him my Goods to perform my Will, ſo that I have done no more than the Law itſelf would have done without ſuch Saying, and therefore the Deviſe is void.

For which Cauſes, they ſaid, there is no Execution here of any Deviſe to the Wife, and by the ſame Reaſon no Execution of the Leaſe to the Son in Remainder, and then the Grant which the Wife made to Wilgfort is good for all the Years, and the Title of Thomas the Son is void, and conſequently that of the Plaintiff, who claims under him, falls to the Ground.

On the other Hand it was ſaid by the Counſel for the Plaintiff, that the Term here given to the Wife during the Minority of the Son ought to be adjudged executed in the Wife, and the Remainder executed in the Son. [e] For if a Leſſee for Years deviſes his Term to a Stranger, the Stranger may ſue the Executor of the Teſtator in the Spiritual Court to execute the Legacy, [f] but if the Deviſe is made to the Executor himſelf, he cannot ſue himſelf for it, and becauſe he cannot do ſo, the Operation of the Law ſhall be of the ſame Effect to him as Suit and Execution ſhould be to a Stranger, ſo that the Thing, if it is certain, ſhall be thereby adjudged in the Executor, and the Property of it ſhall be altered and transferred from the Teſtator to the Executor. As if a Man has Right to Land by Force of an Entail, or otherwiſe, and the Land deſcends to him, or eſcheats to him, or is caſt upon him by Remainder, or other ſuch Means, he ſhall be remitted by the Law, altho' his Entry was taken away before, becauſe there is none againſt whom he may bring his Action, for which Reaſon the Law gives him the like Advantage as if he had brought his Action againſt a Stranger, and had recovered, and had Execution: So that the Operation of the Law is equivalent to a Recovery, and as beneficial to him as a Recovery ſhould have been. [g] And ſo if A. is indebted in 20 l. to B. and he makes B. his Executor, and dies poſſeſſed of Goods to the Value of 20 l. the Property of theſe Goods is preſently changed, and they are become the proper Goods of B. becauſe he could not ſue himſelf, for which Reaſon the Law gives him the like Advantage as he ſhould have had by Suit. So in the principal Caſe inaſmuch as it was better for the Wife to have the Leaſe during the Son's Minority to her own Uſe than to the Uſe of the Teſtator, the Law ſays that the Leaſe was her's, and that it was executed in her as a Legacy.

3 Point. For the Defendants. Where an Executor is alſo Legatee, the Property of the Legacy is immediately upon the Death of the Teſtator altered and transferred to the Executor by Operation of Law, and he ſhall be adjudged to have it as a Legacy before any Act done by him one Way or other, with this Condition that he may afterwards diſagree to it, if he will: for his Title as Legatee is more beneficial to him than as Executor. S. P. held Cro. E. 223, Truſloe v. Ewer. 2 Brownl. 173, arguendo. But ſee to the contrary many Authorities cited Ante 520 (h) in the Margin. Vide Swinb. 91, 92. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 31, § 3.

[a] See the Books cited Ante 520 (f).

[b] Ante 520 (h).

[c] Ante 520 (c).

[d] Godolph. Orph. Leg. 461. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 253. Poſt 543 (e). L. P. Dy. 331. pl. 21.

E contra for the Plaintiff.

[e] Swinb. 19, 22. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe W. d. pl. 3.

[f] Ante 542 (f) by the Reporter.

[g] S. P. adjudged Ante 185, Woodward v. Darcy.

And for the clearer Apprehenſion of this Matter, it is to be conſidered what the Wife has done. And, Sir, it is found that ſhe (having taken upon her the Burden of the Teſtament) entered into the Houſe and Park. By which Acceptance of the Charge of the Teſtament it is to be underſtood that all particular Things requiſite to the Performance thereof were accepted and done. And then the Wife thereby aſſumed upon herſelf and bound herſelf to perform all the Legacies of the Teſtator according to his Intent. And it is to be underſtood alſo that ſhe proved the Will, whereby it is included that ſhe took an [a] Oath to perform it, becauſe it is uſual for Executors ſo to do. And if ſhe bound herſelf to perform the Will, and was ſworn thereunto, and one Part of the Will is that all Legacies ſhall be performed, and the Part of the Term given to her is a Legacy, therein (as the Law ſaith) ſhe accepted the Term deviſed to her as a Legacy executed: So that by the Acceptance of the Executorſhip ſhe performed this one Legacy. Wherefore the Law, before any Thing done one Way or other, gives it's Judgment that ſhe had the Term deviſed to her executed as a Legacy, and not to the Uſe of the Teſtator. Nevertheleſs it ſhall be adjudged executed in her as a Legacy knit with a Condition, viz. that ſhe may diſagree to it afterwards if ſhe pleaſes, for the Law will not compel any Man againſt his Will to accept of a Thing which another gives or limits to him, but until her Diſagreement is ſhewn by Words or Act, the Legacy ſhall be adjudged in Law to be executed.

[a] S. P. 1 Finch 409. 2 Finch 171. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 51.

If a Legacy is bequeathed to an Executor for the Education of the Teſtator's Children, and he accordingly educates them, this makes an Election to have the Thing as Legatee and not as Executor. S. P. Moor 493. 2 Brownl. 173. Swinb. 25. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 148. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 224. Vin. Abr. tit. Deviſe D. a. pl. 11. tit. Executors L. b. pl. 1.

Then it remains to be conſidered whether or no the Wife firſt diſagreed to the Legacy, (as the Counſel on the other Side would infer that ſhe did by her Grant to her Siſter) or if there is any Matter found to prove her Agreement to the Legacy before the ſaid Grant to her Siſter. And as to this, the Leaſe was deviſed to the Wife during the Minority of the Son, to the Intent that ſhe with the Profits thereof might educate the Iſſues of the Teſtator; and the Jury have found that all the Time after the Death of the Teſtator, and before the Grant to Wilgfort, ſhe had educated the Iſſues; ſo that ſhe had performed the Charge annexed to the Legacy, and that in Reſpect of the Legacy, and it was an Aſſent to the Legacy, ſeeing it was done in Execution of the Intent which the Teſtator had in the Legacy. [b] As if a Leſſee for Years deviſes his Leaſe to his Executor, upon Condition that he ſhall pay 10 l. to a Stranger, which he pays accordingly, this Payment is an Election in him, and an Aſſent to take the Leaſe as a Legacy, and it is in Law an Execution of the Legacy for ever. For he who performs the Charge of a Thing, thereby claims the Benefit annexed to the Charge. As if a Man has an Office of Charge and a Benefit for it, as a Stewardſhip, and a Fee for the Exerciſe of it, there if another keeps the Courts, it is a Diſſeizin of the Fee, for the doing of the Things of Labour is a Claim of the Benefit for the Labour. So here the Education and Nouriſhment of the Iſſues is an Argument and Proof that the Wife aſſented to take the Leaſe appointed for that Purpoſe as a Legacy, and it is the End of her Election, and her Grant to her Siſter afterwards is an Argument of her Inconſtancy, but does not invalidate her Election firſt made. Wherefore we ſee that the Execution of the Legacy, (which the Law firſt adjudged by her intermeddling with the Charge of the Adminiſtration of the Will, and by her Oath to perform it) is now confirmed by her Act in the Education of the Iſſues.

[b] S. P. held to be a ſufficient Aſſent, upon Evidence at Niſi prius, Strange 70, Young v. Holmes.

Leſſee for Years is indebted in 100 l. and deviſes his Term to his Executor, and dies, leaving Aſſets of other Goods to pay the 100 l. and his funeral Expences, this Debt being unpaid ſhall be no Cauſe to hinder the Term from being immediately executed in the Executor as a Legacy, becauſe the Term cannot be ſold for the Payment of the Debt.

And as to what has been ſaid againſt the Execution of the Legacy, that 100 l. due by the Teſtator was not paid at the Time of the Grant made to Wilgfort, for the Payment whereof (it has been ſaid) the Leaſe might be ſold; Sir, the Jury have found that at the Time when the Wife made the Grant to Wilgfort, ſhe had in her Hands ſufficient Goods and Chattles of the Teſtator, beſides the ſaid Leaſe, to pay all the Debts and funeral Expences of the Teſtator, in which Caſe the ſaid other Goods and Chattles ſhall be chargeable to the Payment of the 100 l. in Judgment of Law, and not this Leaſe, nor could this Leaſe have been ſold for the Payment of it. For if this Leaſe might have been ſold for the Payment of the 100 l. then this Legacy of the Leaſe, which is a Legacy certain, could not have been performed, and ſo the whole Will would never have been performed; whereas as well the Legacies as the Debts ought to be paid, and the Executrix ought to pay the Debts and funeral Expences with the other Goods which are ſufficient, and not with this Leaſe, for the Sale of the Leaſe to others would be a Breach of the Will, and the Wife by ſuch Sale would violate her Duty as well as her Oath in not performing this Legacy, and ſo would commit Perjury. But for the clearer Apprehenſion of this Matter, let us ſuppoſe that ſome other had been Legatory, and not the Executrix, and put the Caſe thus, [c] a Man is indebted in 100 l. and has a Leaſe for Years, and makes his Teſtament, and gives the Leaſe to his Son, and has Goods to the Value of 100 l. over and above paying his funeral Expences, and he makes his Wife his Executrix, and dies, and the Wife proves the Will, and takes an Oath to perform it, now the Wife has Aſſets to perform the whole Teſtament, for ſhe has 100 l. wherewith to pay the Debts over and above the Legacy of the Leaſe, and therefore if ſhe will alien the Leaſe to pay the 100 l. thereby ſhe violates the Will of the Teſtator in taking the Legacy from him who ought to have it, and is not that a Breach of her own Duty as well as of her Oath? Certainly it is, and ſhe deſerves to be puniſhed for it. So that there the Law will not account the Leaſe to be chargeable with the Payment of the Debt. And ſo here when the Executrix is Legatory, the Law will not ſet up the Debt as an Impediment to the Execution of the Leaſe deviſed to her, becauſe the Debt cannot well be paid by the Sale of the Leaſe. And if the Wife would in Fact have diſagreed to the Deviſe of the Leaſe to her during the Minority of her Son, then the Son ſhould have had the Leaſe preſently, and her Diſagreement could not have defeated the Deviſe of it to the Son. [d] But if the Deviſe had not been of a Thing certain, as if the Teſtator had deviſed to his Wife Executrix 20 l. and was indebted to another 40 l. and died, having having Horſes to the Value of 20 l. and Oxen to the Value of 20 l. and Plate to the Value of 20 l. there the Law could not ſay of what Thing the Property was altered before the 40 l. was paid, for the Wife might alien which of them ſhe pleaſed to pay the 40 l. and before that was done the Law could not appoint the certain Property of any of the Goods to the Wife. But otherwiſe it is where the Legacy is of a Thing certain, as it is here, and ſo is the Diverſity. Wherefore the Non-payment of the Debt of 100 l. could not delay the Execution of the Deviſe of the Leaſe here.

[c] See Godolph. Orph. Leg. 146, § 6. 352.

[d] See Wentw. Off. of Exec. 32, 89.

Leſſee for Years deviſes his Term to his Executor, and alſo divers pecuniary Legacies to others, and dies, the Deviſe to the Executor ſhall be adjudged executed in him preſently, notwithſtanding the other Legacies remain unpaid, and there are not Aſſets to pay them, for all are but Legacies, in which Caſe the Executor ſhall have the Preference before others. But Nota bene, if it had been a pecuniary Legacy which was deviſed to the Executor, and not a ſpecifick Legacy, it ſeems that he could not have paid himſelf before the others, becauſe in ſuch Caſe all the Legatees ſhall be paid in Proportion, where there is a Deficiency of Aſſets, 3 Chan. Rep. 54. 1 Vern. 31. 1 P. Wms. 422, 495, 679, 680. Yet it is clear that the Court had no ſuch Diſtinction in View here, but meant to give the Executor a Preference to other Legatees in all Legacies bequeathed to him.

And as to what has been ſaid, that the Teſtator deviſed 600 l. to his Daughter, and divers other Sums to other Perſons, which are contained in the Will found by the Jury verbatim, and it is not found that they were paid at the Time when the Wife made the Grant to her Siſter, nor that ſhe had Aſſets in her Hands to pay them, but it is only found that ſhe had Aſſets in her Hands to pay the Debts and funeral Expences, without any Mention of Aſſets to pay the pecuniary Legacies alſo; as to this, it may be that theſe Legacies were paid, inaſmuch as it is not found that they were not paid; but admitting it ſhould be taken that they were not paid, but remained payable, yet this ſhall be no Cauſe to delay the Execution of the Deviſe of the Leaſe; nor will the Law ſuffer the Leaſe to be ſold for the Payment of them, for ſuch Sums are but Legacies, and the Leaſe deviſed to the Executrix is a Legacy alſo, and then in Legacies it is reaſonable that the Executors ſhould be preferred before others. And the Law itſelf gives them the Preference to any others, [a] for if a Man deviſes to A. 20 l. and to B. 20 l. and to C. 20 l. and makes his Executor, and dies, leaving Goods but to the Value of 20 l. now the Executor has Election to which of theſe three he will pay the 20 l. and to which ever he pays it, the other three can ſay nothing againſt it, nor have they any [b] Remedy for their Legacies; and by the ſame Reaſon if one of theſe three was made Executor to the Teſtator, [c] the Law would certainly allow him to retain the 20 l. in Satisfaction of his own Legacy, for it is but reaſonable that he ſhould be neareſt to himſelf, and have Regard to himſelf before others, according to the old Saying, Charity begins at home. [d] And this is the Reaſon of the Caſe in 12 H. 4. where in Debt upon an Obligation againſt the Heir, he pleaded that the Plaintiff was Executor to his Anceſtor, whoſe Deed he ſhewed forth, and that he adminiſtred certain Goods and Chattles to the Value of the Debt, and more, and retained that Sum to himſelf in the Name of Payment, and he demanded Judgment ſi actio, and there Hull ſaid, if he did not retain to himſelf, but might have retained, and did not, he ſhall be barred, for a Man is bound to be neareſt to himſelf, et hæc fuit opinio quorundam, wherefore he there pleaded that he adminiſtred no Goods after the Death of the Teſtator, whereupon Iſſue was taken. And for the ſame Reaſon the Law adjudges in our Caſe that the Execution of the Deviſe of the Term ſhall not be delayed for the Non-payment of the Legacies to others.

And as to what has been ſaid that the Deviſe to the Wife ſhall be void, becauſe it was made to the Intent that ſhe with the Profits of the Leaſe might educate his Iſſues, and ſee his laſt Will performed, which latter Point is no more than the Executor ſhould have done, if no Deviſe had been made; Sir, true it is that [e] if a Man gives his Executor all his Goods, to the Intent that he may perform his Will with them, this is no Deviſe at all, for the Executor ſhould have had them to ſuch Purpoſe without ſuch Gift, and when a Thing is given to one by Words which he ſhould have had to the ſame Purpoſe without ſuch Words, the Gift is void. [f] As if a Man deviſes his Land to his Son and Heir in Fee-ſimple, and dies, the Deviſe is void, for if no ſuch Deviſe had been made, the Son ſhould have had the Land at the ſame Inſtant that the Deviſe would take Effect. And ſo a Man cannot preſcribe to diſtrain for Rent-ſervice, or to drive his Cattle, for which he has Common appendant, out of the Land, wherein he has Common, to his own Houſe, for he may do it without Preſcription. But that is not the Point here, for there is another Cauſe of the Deviſe, viz. the Education of his Iſſues, which is not a Thing teſtamentary, nor a [g] Legacy to the Iſſues, but it is an Intent annexed to the Deviſe made to the Wife. And alſo the Teſtator has not here deviſed to the Wife the whole Eſtate which he had in the Leaſe, but only Part of it, viz. during the Minority of the Son, and the Reſidue to the Son, ſo that it is a different Eſtate from that which the Law would have given her without the Deviſe. [h] For if a Man deviſes his Land to his Son and Heir, to have to him and to his Heirs of his Body, this is a good Deviſe, becauſe it is another Eſtate than he ſhould have had by Deſcent. So is it in the principal Caſe. Wherefore none of the Exceptions moved on the other Side are ſufficient to delay the Execution of the Deviſe to the Wife, but when ſhe entered, ſhe had the Eſtate deviſed to her as Legatory.

[a] Swinb. 227. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 434.

[b] Quære, for by the common Juſtice of the Court of Chancery the Legatee who is paid ſhall be made to refund, 1 Vern. 31, 94. 1 P. Wms. 495. 2 P. Wms. 447. 2 Vent. 358, 360. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 251.

[c] See the contrary 3 Chan. Rep. 54, cauſa qua ſupra. [d] P. 12 H. 4. 21. pl. 11. Fitz. Bar 188. Bro. Debt 68. Executors 59. Ante 185 (g). [e] Ante 543 (d). [f] S. P. Hob. 30. 1 Rol. Abr. 626. J. pl. 1. Cro. E. 833. pl. 2. Style 148, 149. Godb. 412. Vaugh. 271. Gouldſb. 141. pl. 53. 2 Sid. 53, 80. Crompt. J. C. 116. a. Salk. 241, 242. Bac. Max. reg. 21. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 311. 476, § 119. Nelſ. Lex. Teſtam. 483. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 149. Gilb. Law of Deviſes 110. 2 Bac. Abr. 79. Mich. 33 Geo. 2. B. R. Hurſt v. the Earl of Winchelſea, this agreed to be a poſitive Rule of Law; and the Reaſon hereof (as Norton arguendo ſaid) is not in Favour of the Heir, that he may be in of his better Title, but in Favour of third Perſons, viz. of the Lord, for the Preſervation of the Tenure, (which was a valuable Thing before the Statute of Marlbridge) and of Creditors, for the Preſervation of their Debts; which was granted by Lord Mansfield C. J. who alſo ſaid that the great Principle, upon which the Law is grounded in this Point, is that which is laid down by Baldwin C. J. in Dy. 12. pl 54. where he ſays that a Man cannot give another what he has already, for when he does ſo, nihil operatur. As if the Tenant in Tail enfeoffs the Donor, it is no Diſcontinuance. [g] Godolph. Orph. Leg. 352. [h] S. P. Gouldſb. 88. pl. 14, per Anderſon. Crompt. J. C. 116. a. Hob. 29, Counden v. Clerk. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 461. 2 Bac. Abr. 80. So if a Man deviſes his Land in Fee to his two Daughters, being his Heirs, the Deviſe is good, becauſe it gives the Land to them in another Degree than the Common Law would have given it them, for by the Common Law they ſhould take as Coparceners, but by the Deviſe they ſhall take as Jointenants, Cro. E. 431. pl. 36. Gouldſb. 88. pl. 14. 141. pl. 53. Bac. Max. reg. 21. 2 Bac. Abr. 80 2 Sid. 79. 3 Lev. 127, 128.

4 Point.

Leſſee for Years deviſes the Occupation and Profits of his

And further it was ſaid, that the Execution of the Legacy to the Wife was alſo an Execution of the Remainder to the Son, inaſmuch as it was one Deviſe, altho' the Eſtates were ſeveral. [i] As if a Reverſion is granted for Life, the Remainder in Fee, and the particular Tenant attorns to Leaſe to A. for Part of the Term, the Remainder of the Term to B. the Executor's Aſſent to the firſt Deviſee is an Aſſent to him in Remainder alſo. S. P. Wentw. Off. of Exec, 234. 1 Finch 151. 2 Finch 172. Swinb. 25. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 149. [i] Temp. Ed. 1. Fitz. Attornment 22. P. 9 Ed. 2. Fitz. Ibid. 18. Co. Litt. 310. a. 312. b. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 234.

the

the Grantee for Life, this ſhall enure to him in Remainder. So if Tenant in Fee-ſimple makes a Leaſe for Life, the Remainder in Fee, and the Tenant for Life gives Notice to the Lord, this ſhall ſerve for him in Remainder, ſo that the Lord ſhall be compelled to avow upon him in Remainder, if the Tenant for Life dies. And ſo if an Infant makes a Leaſe for Years, the Remainder for Years to a Stranger, rendering Rent, and at his full Age he accepts the Rent of the firſt Tenant for Years, this is an Aſſent to the Remainder, and he ſhall never ouſt him afterwards. So here the Eſtate deviſed to the Wife and to the Son in Remainder is but one Legacy, altho' it is diſtinct in Parts, and the Execution of it in the Wife is of the ſame Effect as if her Eſtate had been deviſed to another, with the Remainder over to the Son, and as if ſhe had given her Aſſent to the firſt Deviſee to enter. Wherefore the Entry of the Son after the Death of the Wife, and his Grant to the Plaintiff at his Age of 23 Years, was good. And of this Opinion was the whole Court.

Nota bene by the Reporter. And Note, the finding that the Reverſion was in the Queen was (as it ſeems) at the Requeſt of the Defendants, to the Intent that if the Plaintiff's Title had not been good, the Poſſeſſion which he had might not be ſufficient to maintain the Action of Treſpaſs. And as to this, it ſeems to me that if the King is ſeized in Fee of Land, and a Stranger enters claiming it as his own, and continues in Poſſeſſion a Year and a Day, and another does a Treſpaſs upon the Land, [a] the Stranger ſhall not puniſh ſuch Treſpaſſor in an Action of Treſpaſs, for if he ſhould puniſh him, then the Treſpaſſor would be doubly puniſhed, for the King would alſo puniſh him, and an Intruder cannot gain ſuch Poſſeſſion againſt the King upon which he may have an Action of Treſpaſs. [b] And in 19 Ed. 4. in Treſpaſs for entering into his Cloſe and taking the Graſs, the Defendant pleaded that it was found by Office that the Land was eſcheated to the King, and there Choke ſaid that as to ſuch Things as ariſe out of the Land the Action is gone, becauſe the King ſhall be anſwered for them. [c] But in our Caſe inaſmuch as there is a Leaſe in eſſe, altho' the Plaintiff had not the true Intereſt thereof, yet ſuch Poſſeſſion as the Plaintiff had ſeems ſufficient to maintain an Action of Treſpaſs againſt a Stranger. For the Leſſee ſhall puniſh the Plaintiff by Action of Treſpaſs with continuando, whereby he is anſwerable to him who is the true Proprietor of the Leaſe for all the Profits, and therefore it ſeems that he ſhall puniſh a Stranger, altho' he cannot by his Entry gain any [d] Eſtate in reſpect of the Freehold which irremovably reſts in the Crown. [e] And in no Caſe can the King in Intruſion alledge Continuance abſolutely, for that ſhall be ſuppoſed againſt none but him who can gain an Eſtate by Wrong, yet the King may alledge Continuance diverſis diebus et vicibus, but not otherwiſe. But here inaſmuch as the Plaintiff's Title was good, this other Matter was out of Queſtion.

[a] Hardr. 422. Plowd. Quær. § 373.

[b] M. 19 Ed. 4. 2. pl. 5. Ante 489 (a).

[c] See Ante 431 (b).

[d] Plowd. Quær. § 373.

[e] 1 Finch 241. Plowd. Quær. § 373.

And after theſe Arguments, in the End of this preſent Hillary Term in the 21ſt Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, the Apprentice demanded Judgment for the Plaintiff. And Wray Chief Juſtice ſaid, I and my Companions have conferred together upon this Matter, and we take it that notwithſtanding the whole Term was firſt deviſed to the Son, the Deviſe afterwards to the Wife is good, and in Senſe and Intent ſhall precede the Deviſe to the Son, and that the Deviſe to the Wife of the Occupation and Profits is in Subſtance a Deviſe of the Houſe and Park itſelf, and that the Occupation of the Wife, and her Education of the Iſſues all the Time after the Death of the Teſtator until the Grant made by her to her Siſter, was an Execution as well of the Eſtate given to her as of the Remainder given to the Son, and that the Entry and Grant of the Son to the Plaintiff after his full Age is good. For which Reaſon you ſhall have Judgment. And he commanded Judgment to be entered for the Plaintiff, which was accordingly done, and it was as follows.

The Judgment. At which Day before the Lady the Queen at Weſtminſter came as well the aforeſaid Richard Paramour in his own proper Perſon, as the aforeſaid Raphael and George by their Attorney aforeſaid, whereupon all and ſingular the Premiſſes being ſeen, and by the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen now here more fully underſtood, and mature Deliberation being thereupon had, it is conſidered that the aforeſaid Richard Paramour recover againſt the aforeſaid Raphael Yardley and George Smart his Damages aforeſaid by the Jurors aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid aſſeſſed, and alſo 13 l. for his Coſts and Charges by him about his Suit in this Behalf expended, to the ſame Richard Paramour by the Court of the ſaid Lady the Queen now here with his Aſſent of Increaſe adjudged. Which ſaid Damages in the whole amount to 34 l. And the aforeſaid Raphael Yardley and George Smart be taken, &c.

A brief

A brief Report of the Arguments made in the Exchequer, and of the Reſolution of the Barons, and of the Judgment afterwards given thereupon, in Hillary Term in the 15*th Year of the Reign of Queen* Elizabeth, in a Caſe upon a Bill of Intruſion exhibited in Hillary Term in the 11*th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Queen by the Queen's Attorney, againſt* Thomas Walſingham Eſquire, and John Gillibrand, for an Intruſion ſuppoſed to be made by them the firſt Day of the Reign of the ſaid Queen into one Meſſuage and certain Parcels of Land, Parcel of the Manor of Eaſt-Peckham in the County of Kent, late Parcel of the Poſſeſſions of Sir Thomas Wyat Knight, who was lately attainted of High Treaſon. Which Judgment was given againſt the ſaid Defendants, who thereupon afterwards brought a Writ of Error in the Exchequer-Chamber, where the Judgment was affirmed, in Eaſter Term in the 21*ſt Year of the Reign of Queen* Elizabeth, by Sir Thomas Bromley Knight, Chancellor of England, and Sir William Cecil Knight, Lord Burleigh, and Lord Treaſurer of England, the Report of which Judgment in the Exchequer-Chamber follows after the Report of the Arguments made before the firſt Judgment, which were digeſted and written, after the ſame was given, in the ſame Manner as they were then collected and taken. And the Record appears among the Records of Hillary Term 11 Eliz. Rot. 212. and was as follows.

Kent. BE it remembered, that Gilbert Gerard Eſquire, Attorney-General of the Lady the Queen now, who proſecutes for the ſame Lady the Queen, being preſent here in Court the 20th Day of January in this ſame Term in his proper Perſon, for the ſame Lady the Queen gave the Court here to underſtand and be informed, that whereas one Meſſuage or Tenement called the Curtelage of Eaſt-Peckham otherwiſe called Great-Peckham, 120 Acres of Land, 16 Acres of Meadow, 30 Acres of Wood with the Appurtenances in Eaſt-Peckham aforeſaid, late in the ſeveral Occupations of Anthony Weldon Eſquire, Thomas Cocks, and others, and one Meadow called Multon-Mead in Eaſt-Peckham aforeſaid, late Parcel of the Lands and Poſſeſſions of Thomas Wyat Knight, late of High Treaſon attainted, the 17th Day of November in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, and long before, and always afterwards in the Hands and Poſſeſſion of the ſaid Lady the Queen now were, and of Right ought to be, by Reaſon of the Attainder aforeſaid, in Right of her Crown of England, as in many Records, Rolls, and Remembrances of this Exchequer more fully appears of Record: Nevertheleſs one Thomas Walſingham Eſquire and John Gillibrand, the Laws of the ſaid Lady the Queen now not fearing, but intending and contriving the Diſinheritance of the ſame Lady the Queen, with Force and Arms, &c. in and upon the Poſſeſſion of the ſaid Lady the Queen of the Premiſſes entered, intruded, and made Ingreſs, and the Iſſues and Profits thereof ariſing to their own proper Uſes perceived and had, and yet do perceive and have; that Treſpaſs from the ſame 17th Day of November hitherto and yet continuing, in Contempt of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, and againſt her Laws. Wherefore the aforeſaid Attorney of the Lady the Queen for the ſame Lady the Queen prays the Advice of the Court in the Premiſſes, and that the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand may come here to anſwer to the ſaid Lady the Queen in the Premiſſes.

Plea. And now, viz. came here the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand, viz. the ſaid Thomas Walſingham by John Marwood his Attorney thereunto by the Grace of the Court ſpecially admitted, and the aforeſaid John Gillibrand in his proper perſon. And they pray Oyer of the Information aforeſaid, and it is read to them. Which being heard and underſtood, they complain that they by Colour of the Premiſſes in the ſaid Information ſpecified ſhall be grievouſly vexed and diſquieted, and that by no Means juſtly, becauſe by proteſting that the Information aforeſaid is inſufficient in Law, to which they have no Neceſſity, nor are by the Law of the Land bound to anſwer, for Plea nevertheleſs as to the coming with Force and Arms, or whatſoever that is againſt the Peace, or in Contempt of the ſaid Lady the Queen, and alſo of the whole further Treſpaſs and Contempt by them above ſuppoſed to be done, they the ſame Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand ſay that they are not guilty thereof, nor is either of them guilty thereof, and of this they the ſame Thomas and John put, and each of them puts, himſelf upon the Country, and the aforeſaid Attorney, &c. likewiſe, &c. And as to the Entry, Intruſion, and Ingreſs into the aforeſaid one Tenement and all and ſingular other the Premiſſes within the Manor of Peckham otherwiſe Eaſt-Peckham in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified, they the ſame Thomas and John ſay, that long before the aforeſaid 17th Day of November in the ſaid Information ſpecified, and before the aforeſaid Lady the Queen or any of her Progenitors had any Thing of or in the aforeſaid Meſſuage and other the Premiſſes, and long before the Treaſon by the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat Knight in the Information aforeſaid named, committed or perpetrated, one George Moulton Eſquire was ſeized of and in the aforeſaid Meſſuage and other the Premiſſes in Peckham aforeſaid otherwiſe Eaſt-Peckham in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the aforeſaid George being ſo thereof ſeized, he enfeoffed thereof one Edmund Walſingham Knight, to have and to hold the aforeſaid Meſſuage, and all and ſingular other the Premiſſes in Peckham otherwiſe Eaſt-Peckham aforeſaid in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified, to him, his Heirs and Aſſigns for ever. By Virtue of which ſaid Feoffment the aforeſaid Edmund Walſingham Knight into the aforeſaid Meſſuage and other the Premiſſes in Peckham otherwiſe Eaſt-Peckham aforeſaid in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the aforeſaid Edmund being ſo thereof ſeized, he the 9th Day of February in the 4th Year of the Reign of Lord Edward late King of England the Sixth of ſuch his Eſtate died thereof ſeized, after the Death of which ſaid Edmund the Tenement aforeſaid and all and ſingular other the Premiſſes in Peckham otherwiſe Eaſt-Peckham aforeſaid in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified deſcended to the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham Eſquire, as Son and Heir of the aforeſaid Edmund. By Reaſon whereof he the ſame Thomas Walſingham, long before the aforeſaid Time when, &c. into the aforeſaid Tenement and other the Premiſſes entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee. And the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham in his own proper Right, and the aforeſaid John Gillibrand as Servant of the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham and by his command, the Iſſues and Profits of all and ſingular the Premiſſes in the aforeſaid Information ſpecified perceived and had, and yet perceive and have, as it was and is lawful for them; without that that they the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand in and upon the Poſſeſſion of the ſaid Lady the Queen of the Tenements aforeſaid and other the Premiſſes in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified, or of any Parcel thereof, intruded, or either of them intruded, in Manner and Form as by the Information aforeſaid above is ſuppoſed; and without that that the aforeſaid Tenement and other the Premiſſes in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified, the ſaid 17th Day of November in the ſame Information ſpecified, or ever before or after, were in the Hands and Poſſeſſion of the ſaid Lady the Queen, in Manner and Form as by the Information aforeſaid above is ſuppoſed· * With this that they the ſame Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand will aver and ſay, that George Wyat the Son of the ſaid Thomas Wyat of High Treaſon attainted is alive, viz. at Oxford in the County of Oxford. All and ſingular which they the ſame Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand are ready to verify as the Court, &c. Wherefore they pray Judgment, and that they as to the Premiſſes from this Court may be diſmiſſed, and either of them be diſmiſſed.

* See Heath's Max. 163. Poſt 564.

Replication. And the aforeſaid Attorney-General of the Lady the Queen now, who proſecutes for the ſame Lady the Queen in this Behalf, by proteſting not acknowledging any Thing by the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand above alledged to be true, for Plea for the ſame Lady the Queen ſays, that the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified are, and at the aforeſaid Time of the Entry and Intruſion aforeſaid made, and alſo from Time whereof the Memory of Man is not to the contrary, were, Parcel of the Manor of Peckham otherwiſe Eaſt-Peckham in the aforeſaid County of Kent. And that long before the aforeſaid George Moulton had any Thing in the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified, Lord Henry late King of England the Eighth, the Father of the ſaid Lady the Queen now, was ſeized of and in the aforeſaid Manor of Peckham otherwiſe Eaſt-Peckham with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. in his Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of his Crown of England. And the ſame late King being ſo thereof ſeized, he by his Letters-Patent ſealed under his great Seal of England, bearing Date at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex the 20th Day of November in the 31ſt Year of his Reign, in Conſideration of the good, true, and faithful Service which one Thomas Wyat Knight to the ſame late King before then had done and performed, of his ſpecial Grace, and of his certain Knowledge, and meer Motion had given and granted, and by the ſame Letters-Patent gave and granted, to the ſame Thomas Wyat the Manor aforeſaid with the Appurtenances among other Things, by the Name of his Manor of Eaſt-Peckham, with its Rights, Members, Appurtenances, and other Commodities whatſoever in his County of Kent; to have and to hold the Manor aforeſaid with the Appurtenances among other Things to the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat, and to his Heirs Males of his Body lawfully begotten, to their proper Uſe, to hold of the ſaid late King, his Heirs and Succeſſors, in chief, by the Service of the twentieth Part of a Knight's Fee, as by the ſame Letters-Patent more fully appears. By reaſon of which ſaid Letters-Patent the ſame Thomas Wyat into the Manor aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. amongſt other Things, entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee-Tail, by the Form of the Gift aforeſaid. And the ſame Thomas Wyat being ſo thereof ſeized, of ſuch his Eſtate thereof died ſeized, after whoſe Death the Manor aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. amongſt other Things deſcended to the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat Knight, as Son and Heir Male of the Body of the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat the Father lawfully begotten, whereby the ſame Thomas Wyat the Son into

into the Manor aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. entered, and was thereof ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee-Tail, by the Form of the Gift aforeſaid, &c. the Reverſion thereof belonging to the aforeſaid late King Henry the eighth, his Heirs and Succeſſors. And the ſaid Thomas Wyat the Son of the Manor aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. being ſo ſeized, the Reverſion thereof in form aforeſaid belonging to the ſaid late King Henry the eighth, his Heirs and Succeſſors, the ſame late King Henry the eighth of ſuch his Eſtate thereof died ſeized, after whoſe Death the Reverſion of the Manor aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. deſcended to Lord Edward the ſixth late King of England, as Son and Heir of the ſaid late King Henry the eighth, whereby the ſame late King Edward the ſixth was of the Reverſion of the Manor aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. ſeized as of Fee and Right, in Right of his Crown of England. And the ſame late King Edward the ſixth of the Reverſion aforeſaid in Form aforeſaid being ſeized, and the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat the Son of the Manor aforeſaid with the Appurtenances whereof, &c. in Form aforeſaid being ſeized, the ſame Thomas Wyat the Son gave the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in which, &c. to the aforeſaid George Moulton, to have and to hold to the ſame George and to his Heirs for ever. By Virtue of which Gift the ſame George Moulton was of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances ſeized to him and to his Heirs, according to the Force and Effect of the Feoffment aforeſaid, the Reverſion thereof, for Default of Heirs Males of the Body of the ſaid Thomas Wyat the Son, to the aforeſaid late King Edward the ſixth, his Heirs and Succeſſors, in Form aforeſaid belonging. And the ſame George being ſo thereof ſeized, gave the ſaid Tenements with the Appurtenances to the aforeſaid Edmund Walſingham Knight, to have to him and to his Heirs for ever. By virtue of which Gift the ſame Edmund was thereof ſeized of ſuch Eſtate as by the Gift aforeſaid to the aforeſaid George made to the ſame George paſſed, the Reverſion thereof in Form aforeſaid belonging. And the ſame Edmund being ſo thereof ſeized, of ſuch his Eſtate died ſeized, having Iſſue the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham, who was his Heir; after the Death of which ſaid Edmund, the ſame Thomas Walſingham into the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, and was thereof ſeized of ſuch Eſtate as by the Gift aforeſaid to the aforeſaid George made to the ſame George paſſed, the Reverſion thereof in Form aforeſaid belonging. And the ſame Thomas Walſingham being ſo thereof ſeized, the Reverſion thereof, for Default of Heirs Males of the Body of the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat the Son, to the ſaid late King Edward the ſixth in Form aforeſaid belonging, the ſame late King Edward the ſixth of ſuch his Eſtate thereof died ſeized, after whoſe Death the Reverſion in Fee-Simple of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances amongſt other Things deſcended to Lady Mary late Queen of England, as Siſter and Heir of the aforeſaid late King Edward the ſixth; whereby the ſame late Queen was ſeized of the Reverſion of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances as of Fee and Right, in Right of her Crown of England. And the ſame late Queen being ſo thereof ſeized, and the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in Form aforeſaid being ſeized, the Reverſion thereof, for Default of Heirs Males of the Body of the ſame Thomas Wyat the Son, to the ſaid late Queen Mary in Form aforeſaid belonging, by a certain Inquiſition taken at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex the 13th Day of February in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of the ſaid Lady late Queen Mary before William Peter Knight, one of the chief Secretaries of the ſaid late Queen, and Thomas Bromley Knight, Chief Juſtice of the ſaid late Queen aſſigned to hold Pleas before the ſaid late Queen herſelf, and his Companions, by Virtue of the Letters-Patent of the ſaid late Queen to them thereupon directed, to enquire by the Oath of good and lawful Men of the County of Middleſex, as well within Liberties as without, by whom the Truth of the Matter might be better known, of whatſoever Treaſons, Miſpriſions of Treaſons, Inſurrections, Rebellions, unlawful Aſſemblies, unlawful Conventicles, ſpeaking of Words, Confederacies, falſe Allegiances, Contempts, Falſities, Negligences, Concealments, Oppreſſions, Riots, Routs, Murders, Felonies, and other Offences whatſoever, and alſo the Acceſſaries of the ſame, in the ſame County perpetrated and committed, and the ſame Treaſons and other the Premiſſes according to the Law and Cuſtom of the Realm of England to hear and determine aſſigned, by the Oath, &c. it was found that the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat the Son, by the Name of Thomas Wyat of Allington in the County of Kent Knight, and other falſe Traitors and Rebels againſt the ſaid late Queen, not having God before their Eyes, nor conſidering their due Allegiances, but ſeduced by the Inſtigation of the Devil, imagining, endeavouring, and compaſſing to deprive the ſaid late Queen their Sovereign of the regal Eſtate, Title, Government and Power of her Realm of England, and to change and alter the Government of the ſame Realm after their own Will and Pleaſure, with Force and Arms, viz. with Standards diſplayed, Swords, Spears, Lances, Bows, Arrows, Coats of Mail, Shields, Iron Helmets, Engines or Fire-Arms commonly called Sawker and Hand-guns, and with other Arms as well defenſive as offenſive in warlike Manner armed and arrayed, the 7th Day of February in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of the ſaid late Queen, at the Town of Brandford in the County of Middleſex, to execute and perform their moſt wicked Intention aforeſaid, falſly, rebelliouſly, and traiterouſly, with a great Multitude of Rebels and public Enemies of the ſaid late Queen and of her Realm of England, to the Number of 3000 Men, aroſe, met, aſſembled, and joined themſelves together, and a moſt cruel War againſt the ſaid late Lady the Queen at Brandford aforeſaid then falſly, hoſtilely, rebelliouſly, and traiterouſly prepared and levied, and being ſo armed and arrayed, going, riding, and marching from Brandford aforeſaid towards the City of London (the ſaid late Queen then being and reſiding at her Palace in the City of Weſtminſter in the aforeſaid County of Middleſex) a moſt fierce and terrible War, at Charing Croſs within the Pariſh of St. Martin's in the Fields in the City of Weſtminſter in the ſaid County of Middleſex, againſt the ſaid late Queen then and there falſlely, hoſtilely, rebelliouſly, and moſt traiterouſly made, ſtruck, and perpetrated, againſt their due Allegiances, to the great Danger of the royal Perſon of the ſaid late Queen, and of the Subverſion of her Realm of England, and againſt the Peace of the ſaid late Queen, her Crown and Dignity, and alſo againſt the Form of divers Statutes in ſuch Caſe made and provided, &c. And afterwards, viz. on Thurſday the 15th Day of March in the 1ſt Year aboveſaid, before William Marquiſs of Wincheſter Treaſurer of England, Henry Earl of Arundel Lord Steward of the Houſhold of the ſaid late Queen, and his Companions, Juſtices of the ſaid late Queen aſſigned by the Letters-Patent of the ſame late Queen to them directed, reciting that whereas Thomas Wyat late of Allington in the County of Kent Knight, otherwiſe called Thomas Wyat late of London Knight, together with others, before William Peter Knight, Thomas Bromley Knight, Richard Morgan Knight, John Baker Knight, William Portman Knight, Edward Saunders one of the Juſtices of the ſaid late Queen of the Bench, Juſtices of the ſaid late Queen lately aſſigned to enquire in the County of Middleſex, amongſt other Things, of whatſoever Treaſons, Miſpriſions of Treaſons, Rebellions, unlawful Aſſemblies, unlawful Conventicles, ſpeaking of Words, Confederacies, falſe Allegiances, Contempts, Falſities, Negligences, Concealments, Oppreſſions, Riots, Routs, Murders, Felonies, Treſpaſſes, or other Offences whatſoever, and the Acceſſaries of the ſame, within the County of Middleſex aforeſaid, by whomſoever and howſoever had, done, perpetrated, or commited, and by whom or to whom, when, how, and in what Manner, and of other Articles and Circumſtances the Premiſſes and every of them, or any of them, or otherwiſe howſoever concerning, more fully the Truth, of divers High Treaſons by him committed and perpetrated had ſtood indicted for the ſame, and the ſame late Queen the ſame Marquiſs, Earl, and their Companions Commiſſioners before named, and four of them in that Behalf aſſigned, and by the ſame Letters-Patent among other Things to the ſame Marquiſs and Earl and the other Commiſſioners aforeſaid, or four of them, full and ſufficient Power and Authority and ſpecial Command gave and granted, the Indictment aforeſaid concerning the ſame Thomas Wyat, whereby the ſame Thomas Wyat alone or together with others of any Treaſons within the County of Middleſex aforeſaid ſtood indicted, with all Things touching it, from the aforeſaid William Peter Knight, Thomas Bromley Knight, and the other Commiſſioners before named, or from any of them before whom it was taken, and in whoſe Cuſtody it then remained, to receive, and it to inſpect, and at certain Days and Places which they ſhould appoint for that Purpoſe to meet at Weſtminſter or elſewhere in the ſaid County of Middleſex, in a convenient Place, and the ſaid Thomas to call before them, and him thereupon to hear and examine, and to compel him to anſwer, and at a due End to try and adjudge, and alſo ſo many and ſuch good and lawful Men of the County of Middleſex aforeſaid, by whom the Truth of the Matter in that Behalf might be better known, at the Days and Places aforeſaid for the Cauſe and Cauſes aforeſaid before them to compel to appear, and the Truth thereof being found, to give Judgment thereupon by them in that Behalf according to the Laws and Statutes and Cuſtoms of the Realm of England, and againſt the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat to proceed, give Sentence, and adjudge, and Execution thereof to command to be done, and all and ſingular other Things which in that Behalf ſhould appertain and be requiſite to do, exerciſe, and execute.

* Here is a Chaſm in the Record.

* At Weſtminſter aforeſaid came the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat the Son by John Gage Knight of the moſt noble Order of the Garter, Conſtable of the ſaid late Queen of her Tower of London, by Virtue of the Writ of the aforeſaid late Queen, and of the Precept of the Juſtices aforeſaid to the Bar there brought; and the ſame Thomas Wyat the Son of the High Treaſons aforeſaid on him above charged being then and there aſked how he would thereof acquit himſelf, ſaid that he could not deny, nor but that he of the Treaſons aforeſaid was guilty, and then there expreſly confeſſed the Treaſons aforeſaid on him above charged, and put himſelf thereof into the Hands of the ſaid late Queen. Whereupon then and there the Serjeant of the ſaid late Queen, and the Attorney of the ſaid late Queen, for that the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat the Treaſons aforeſaid on him in Form aforeſaid charged expreſly confeſſed, according to the due Form of Law prayed againſt the ſaid Thomas Wyat the Son Judgment and Execution thereupon for the ſaid late Queen to be had. Whereupon Judgment thereof then and there by the aforeſaid Marqueſs and Earl and their Companions was given, viz. * that the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat ſhould be carried by the aforeſaid Conſtable to the aforeſaid Tower of London, and from thence ſhould be drawn thro' the middle of the City of London unto the Gallows of Tyburn, and there be hanged up, and cut down alive to the Ground, and that his Entrails ſhould be taken out of his Belly, and be burnt, he living, and that his Head ſhould be cut off, and his Body be divided into four Parts, and that the Head and thoſe Quarters ſhould be put where the ſaid late Queen would appoint. And afterwards the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat the Son was put to Death, according to the Judgment aforeſaid, at Eaſt-Smithfield in the County of Middleſex. † And afterwards, viz. at a Parliament of the Lord Philip and Lady Mary late King and Queen of England holden at Weſtminſter in the County of Middleſex the 12th Day of November the 1ſt and 2d Years of the Reign of the aforeſaid late King and Queen, amongſt other Things it was enacted in Manner and Form following, viz. that whereas Henry Duke of Suffolk late of Brodegate in the County of Leiceſter, John Grey of Brodegate Knight, Thomas Grey late of Brodegate in the County of Leiceſter Knight, and Thomas Wyat late of Allington in the County of Kent Knight, together with others in the ſame Statute named, had committed, perpetrated, and done many deteſtable and abominable Treaſons, to the moſt fearful Danger of the Deſtruction of the royal Perſon of the ſaid late Queen, and to the very great Loſs, Diſheriſon, and Deſolation of the Realm of the Lady the late Queen of England, if God of his infinite Goodneſs in ſeaſonable Time had not revealed to the ſaid late Queen the treaſonable Minds and Intentions of the ſame, for which Treaſons it plainly and manifeſtly appeared that the aforeſaid Duke and the other Perſons aforeſaid lawfully and juſtly, according to the due Form of Law, had been convicted and attainted, as by the Records thereof more fully appeared; that the ſaid Convictions and Attainders of the Offenders aforeſaid and of every of them ſhould be approved and confirmed by the Authority of the Parliament aforeſaid; and that the aforeſaid Duke, John Grey, Thomas Grey, and Thomas Wyat, and the others of the Treaſons aforeſaid ſo attainted, ſhould loſe and forfeit to the ſaid late Queen, her Heirs and Succeſſors, all their Honours, Manors, Meſſuages, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Reverſions, Remainders, Poſſeſſions, Offices, Rights, Conditions, Hereditaments, Goods and Chattles, of whatſoever Names, Natures, or Qualities they were, which they or any of them had the ſaid Day of their ſeveral Treaſons by them committed, or at any Time afterwards; and that all thoſe their Honours, Manors, Meſſuages, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Reverſions, Remainders, Poſſeſſions, Offices, Rights, Conditions, Hereditaments, Goods, and Chattles by Authority of the ſame Parliament ſhould be veſted and adjudged in the actual and real Poſſeſſion of the ſaid late Queen, without any other Office or Inquiſition thereof from thenceforth to be taken or found: Saving to all and all Manner of Perſons, and Bodies politic and corporate, and to their Heirs, Aſſigns, and Succeſſors, and to every of them, others than the aforeſaid Duke and the other Perſons attainted, and their Heirs, and the Heirs of every of them, and of every Perſon and Perſons claiming to the Uſe or Uſes of them or of any of them, or to the Uſe of any Heir of the ſame, all ſuch Right, Title, Uſe, Poſſeſſion, Intereſt, Reverſion, Remainder, Entry, Condition, Fee, Office, Rent, Commodities, Commons, Titles, Entries for Conditions then broken or from thenceforth to be broken, given or grown, or from thenceforth to be given or to grow by Reaſon of any Condition made before the Treaſons aforeſaid committed, and all other Commodities and Hereditaments whatſoever, which they or any of them might or ought to have had, if the aforeſaid Act of Parliament had never been had or made, any Thing in the ſame Act ſpecified to the contrary notwithſtanding. And further the ſame Attorney of the Lady the Queen ſays, that the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat in the Indictment aforeſaid named, and the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat in the Act aforeſaid named, and the aforeſaid Thomas Wyat the Son in the Information aforeſaid ſpecified are one and the ſame Perſon, and not others nor divers. By Reaſon of which ſaid Attainder and Act the ſaid late King and Queen Philip and Mary were ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in their Demeſn as of Fee, in Right of the ſaid late Queen. And they being ſo thereof ſeized, the ſame late Queen of ſuch her Eſtate thereof died ſeized, after whoſe Death the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances among other Things deſcended to the ſaid Lady the Queen now, as Siſter and Heir of the ſaid late Queen Mary; whereby the ſame Lady the Queen now was and yet is ſeized of the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances in her Demeſn as of Fee, until the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand the aforeſaid 17th Day of November in the 1ſt Year aboveſaid, with Force and Arms, &c. in and upon the Poſſeſſion of the ſaid Lady the Queen now of and in the Tenements aforeſaid with the Appurtenances entered, intruded, and made Ingreſs, in Manner and Form as by the Information aforeſaid for the ſaid Lady the Queen is ſuppoſed. And this the ſame Attorney for the ſame Lady the Queen is ready to verify as the Court, &c. Wherefore he prays Judgment, and that the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand of the Intruſion aforeſaid may be convicted, &c.

* See Ante 387.

† See Ante 387, 388.

Demurrer to the Replication.

And the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand for Replication ſay, and each of them for himſelf ſaith, that the Replication aforeſaid, and the Matter in the ſame contained are inſufficient in Law to charge them the ſame Thomas and John or either of them of or with the Intruſion and Contempt aforeſaid; wherefore for the Inſufficiency of the ſame Replication they the ſame Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand pray Judgment as before, &c.

Joinder.

And the Queen's Attorney rejoined to the Demurrer, &c.

THE CASE.

Tenant in Tail of the Gift of the Crown makes a Feoffment in Fee, the Reverſion being ſtill in the Crown, and afterwards is attainted of High Treaſon, the Right of the Intail is forfeited to the Crown; for no more paſſes by the Feoffment than for the Life of the Tenant in Tail, ſo that there remains in him a Right of the Intail to be forfeited; and tho' the Tenant in Tail himſelf againſt his own Feoffment can claim no Right at the Time of the Treaſon, but as any Benefit which he himſelf can claim from it, the Intail is put in Abeyance, during his Life, by ſuch for the Benefit of

THE Caſe was thus. King Henry 8. in the 31ſt Year of his Reign gave the Manor of Eaſtpeckham, whereof the Premiſſes are parcel, to Sir Thomas Wyat Knight, and to his Heirs Males of his Body begotten, who died ſeized, leaving Iſſue Sir Thomas Wyat Knight, who entered, and in the Time of King Edward 6. made a Feoffment of the ſaid Manor to one George Moulton and to his Heirs, who made a Feoffment thereof to Sir Edmund Walſingham Knight and to his Heirs, who died thereof ſeized in the 4th Year of the Reign of King Edward 6. leaving Iſſue Thomas Walſingham the Defendant, who entered into the Premiſſes. And afterwards in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of Queen Mary the ſaid Sir Thomas Wyat the Son was attainted by his own Confeſſion of High-treaſon done in the ſaid 1ſt Year of her Reign, and was put to Death. And afterwards by an Act of Parliament made in the 1ſt and 2d Years of the Reign of King Philip and Queen Mary the ſaid Attainder was confirmed, and further it was enacted that the ſaid Sir Thomas Wyat the Son ſhould forfeit to the ſaid Queen, and to her Heirs and Succeſſors, all his Manors, Lands, Tenements, Reverſions, Remainders, Poſſeſſions, Rights, Conditions, and Hereditaments, of whatſoever Name, Nature, or Quality they were, which he had the Day of the Treaſons committed, or at any Time afterwards; and that all thoſe Manors, &c. by the Authority of the ſaid Parliament ſhould be veſted and adjudged in the actual and real Poſſeſſion of the ſaid late Queen, without any Office or Inquiſition thereof afterwards to be found: Saving to all Perſons and their Heirs, others than the ſaid Sir Thomas Wyat and his Heirs, all ſuch Right, Title, Uſe, Poſſeſſion, and Intereſt which they had or ſhould have had if the Act had not been made. And the Queen's Attorney ſued forth a Bill of Intruſion againſt the ſaid Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand his Servant: And all the above Matter was pleaded, and it was averred by the Defendants that the ſaid Sir Thomas Wyat who was attainted had Iſſue alive one George Wyat his Son. And on the Part of the Queen it was ſhewn that the Reverſion in Fee-ſimple continued always in the Crown. And upon this Matter the Defendants and the Queen's Attorney demurred in Law.

Feoffment, yet ſince it would have continued ſtill in him for the Benefit of the Heir, if he had not been attainted, it ſhall likewiſe continue in him the King. S. P. adjudged Cro. C. 427 Stone v. Newman. 1 H. H. P. C. 242, 243. 2 Hawk. P. C. 453, § 24. 2 Bac. Abr. 580. Sed vide Hob. 341.

Mich. Term 13 & 14 Eliz.

And the Matter was argued at large in Michaelmas Term in the 13th and 14th Years of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth by Bullock and Serjeant Manwood on the Part of Walſingham, and by an Apprentice of the Middle-Temple and Barham Queen's Serjeant on the Part of the Queen. And the principal Point argued was, what Eſtate, Right, or Intereſt of the Land was in Sir Thomas Wyat the Son at the Time of the Treaſon committed or afterwards. For the Statute of 26 H. 8. cap. 13. ordains that thoſe who are attainted of Treaſon ſhall forfeit to the King all Lands, Tenements, or Hereditaments which they have of any Eſtate of Inheritance in Uſe or Poſſeſſion by any Right, Title, or Means. And the Statute of 33 H. 8. cap. 20. ordains that the King ſhall have as great Benefit and Advantage by Attainder of Treaſon as well of Uſes, Rights, Entries, and Conditions, as of Poſſeſſions, Reverſions, Remainders, and all other Things, as if it had been made and declared by Authority of Parliament. And this private Act which confirms the Attainder of Sir Thomas Wyat ordains that he ſhall forfeit to the Queen all his Manors, Lands, Tenements, Reverſions, Remainders, Poſſeſſions, Rights, and Hereditaments which he had the Day of the Treaſon committed or afterwards. In each of which Acts there is a Saving of the Rights and Intereſts of Strangers. So that if Sir Thomas Wyat at the Time of the Treaſon committed or at any Time afterwards had nothing in the Land in Poſſeſſion or in Reverſion, nor any Right or Title to it, then he could not forfeit any Thing by the Common Law, nor by the Words or Intent of any of the Statutes. But Thomas Walſingham the Defendant who came to the Land by Deſcent, whoſe Father came in by Moulton, who came in by the Feoffment of Sir Thomas Wyat, has his Right and Poſſeſſion ſaved to him by the Saving of each of the Statutes, and therefore he ought to retain the Land. So that it is to be conſidered what Eſtate and Right Sir Thomas Wyat had after the Feoffment, and at the Time of the Treaſon committed, or at any Time afterwards.

Tenant in Tail, the Reverſion in the King, makes a Feoffment, this does not diſcontinue nor deveſt the Reverſion out of the King. Vide Godb. 314. Poſt 562 agreed.

And as to this, firſt it was confeſſed by the Counſel who argued on both Sides, that by the Feoffment which Sir Thomas Wyat made to Moulton the Reverſion in Fee-ſimple which the King had was not diſcontinued nor touched. [a] For the King is a Body politic of himſelf, of all others moſt high and worthy, to whom no Freehold nor Eſtate of Inheritance can be given or conveyed by Matter in Deed, or otherwiſe, but by Matter of Record, and by the ſame Reaſon no Eſtate of Freehold or Inheritance can be taken or deveſted out of him by Matter in Deed, or otherwiſe, wiſe, but by Record only. And therefore no Freehold or Inheritance can be taken from him by Diſſeizin, which is Matter in Deed, no more can it by Feoffment, which is alſo Matter in Deed, for which Reaſon the Feoffment of Sir Thomas Wyat, who was Tenant in Tail, did not take away nor deveſt the Reverſion in Fee-ſimple out of the King, becauſe the Feoffment was but Matter in Deed. [b] And by the Common Law a common Recovery againſt the King's Tenant in Tail was not ſufficient to take the Reverſion out of the King, altho' the [c] Iſſue in Tail was bound, and he ſhall not falſify by Reaſon of a Recovery in Value, for he who has no Right cannot take an Eſtate out of the King without his Will. [d] And hereupon the Caſe in 25 Ed. 3. was cited, where upon Default of Tenant for Life, the King who was in the Reverſion prayed to be received by his Attorney and his Serjeants, and ſent his Writ to the Juſtices for that Purpoſe, and he could not be received; for if he ſhould be received, the Demandant ſhould count againſt the King as Tenant, which he cannot do, [e] for the Subject is driven to his Petition againſt the King, and ſhall not implead him nor count againſt him as Tenant in any Caſe. So that altho' the King was not there received, yet he was at no Prejudice, for if the Demandant's Title is faint, he ſhall not gain the Reverſion againſt the King by ſuch Recovery, [f] but if the Demandant's Title is good, it ſeems that by his Recovery againſt the Tenant for Life he ſhall deveſt the Fee-ſimple out of the King who is in Reverſion or Remainder, as well where the Tenant for Life does not pray in Aid of the King, and Procedendo is not granted, as where he does pray in Aid of the King, and Procedendo is granted in Loquela and Ad judicium. So that the Reverſion or Remainder ſhall not be taken out of the King by Matter in Deed without good Title, nor by Matter of Record without making him Privy.

[a] See Ante 213 (i) and the Books there cited.

2

b S. P. 32 H. 8. Bro. Diſcontinuance de Poſſeſſion 32. 33 H 8. Bro. Recovery in Value 31. Tayle 41. Aſſurance 6. B. N. C. § 145. 177, 224. Dy. 32. pl. 1. Co. Litt. 335. a. 372. b. Cro. Car. 430. Pig. on Recov. 85, 86, 87.

c 11 Co. 39. b. Poſt 554 (1) T. Raym. 347, 348. But now by the Statute of 34 & 35 H. 8. cap. 20. ſuch Recovery ſhall not bind the Iſſue in Tail.

d M. 25 Ed. 3. 48. Fitz. Reſceipt 28. Ante 241 (f) and (h).

e See Ante 241 (g) and the Books there cited.

f S. P. Co. Litt. 241. a. 354. b. 2 Co. 53. a. 1 Rol. R. 214. Pig. on Recov. 87. As if a Diſſeizor makes a Leaſe for Life, the Remainder to the King, and the Diſſeiſee recovers againſt the Tenant for Life, the King's Remainder ſhall be thereby deveſted.

But the Apprentice ſaid that ſometimes the Reverſion ſhall be deveſted out of the King by Matter in Deed and in Law together, without making him Privy. [g] As if Tenant in Tail of the Gift of a common Perſon makes a Feoffment in Fee, the Feoffee gives the Land in Fee-ſimple to the King by Deed enrolled, the King gives the Land by his Letters patent to the firſt Donee in Tail, to have and to hold to him and to his Heirs of his Body begotten, and he has Iſſue, and dies, the Iſſue enters, now he is remitted to the firſt Tail, and thereby the Reverſion in Fee-ſimple is deveſted out of the King, and reſtored to the firſt Donor, for here there is a former Right, and the former Right, and Matter in Deed, and Matter in Law all concur together. [h] So perhaps, he ſaid, ſhould it be if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, upon Condition that if the Tenant for Life does ſuch an Act, he ſhall have the Fee, and the Leſſor grants the Reverſion by Deed enrolled to the King, there if the Tenant for Life afterwards performs the Condition, he ſhall have the Fee thereby, and ſhall deveſt the Reverſion out of the King, for the Reverſion was bound with the Condition, and foraſmuch as the Condition is older than the Title of the King, this elder Title, and the Matter in Deed, and the Operation of the Law thereupon ſhall take the Reverſion out of the King without Suit or other Circumſtance, for the Fee-ſimple ought to veſt in the Tenant for Life at the ſame Inſtant that he performs the Condition or never. [i] But no tortious Act can take the Reverſion out of the King.

Where the Reverſion in the Crown may be deveſted by Matter in Deed and in Law together, without making the King Privy.

g See the like Point upon the ſame Ground Ante 489 (g).

h See like Point Nichols v. Nichols Ante 489, where A. made a Leaſe for Life to B. upon Condition that if the Leſſor died without Iſſue, the Leſſee ſhould have Fee, and the Leſſor was attainted of Treaſon, and died without Iſſue, and there it was held by ſome of the Judges, that admitting that the Reverſion was actually veſted in the King by the Attainder, yet when the Leſſor died without Iſſue, at which Time the Condition was performed, the Leſſee ſhould have the Fee, and the Reverſion ſhould be deveſted out of the King by Operation of Law by Force of the Condition, without Monſtrans de droit, or other Matter of Record.

i Co. Litt. 354. b.

[k] And as to the Caſe in 45 Aſs. pl. 6. (which had been cited) where by an Office returned into the Chancery it was found that King Henry 3. gave a Manor to the Earl of Cornwal and to his Heirs of his Body iſſuing, and that the Earl was dead without Heir of his Body in the Time of King Edward 1. and one M. came and pleaded that the Earl by his Charter ſhewn forth gave the Manor in Fee with Clauſe of Warranty to one W. by whom the ſame M. claimed, in Exchange for another Manor, and he ſaid that the Earl was Anceſtor to King Edward 1. and that Aſſets deſcended to the ſaid King Edward 1. viz. the Manors of A. B. and C. and upon Search it was found true that the Aſſets were deſcended to him, and it was there adjudged that the ſaid M. ſhould have Reſtitution; from whence (it had been ſaid) it ſeems that the Gift of the Earl deveſted the Reverſion out of the King; to this it was anſwered, that the Caſe does not prove that the Gift of the Earl deveſted the Reverſion out of the King, but it ought to be underſtood there that the Gift of the Earl to W. was before the Statute de donis conditionalibus, at which Time there was no Reverſion, but the Earl had a Fee-ſimple conditional, ſo that what the Reporter of the Caſe calls a Reverſion could not be a Reverſion, but it was a [a] Poſſibility of a Reverſion; for the Caſe is there reported, that King Henry the Great-grandfather of King Edward 3. gave the Manor to the Earl of Cornwal, and to the Heirs of his Body iſſuing, ſaving the Reverſion to him and to his Heirs for Default of Iſſue, in which Caſe the Reporter miſtakes the Law where he terms it a Reverſion, for at that Time there was no Reverſion of an Eſtate-tail, but the whole was a Fee-ſimple conditional, for the Eſtate of the Fee-ſimple was not divided from the Eſtate-tail until the 13th Year of the Reign of King Edward 1. at which Time the Statute de donis con- k 45 Aſs. pl. 6. Fitz. Garranty 68. Bro. 52. Aſſets per Deſcent 31. Prerogative 52. Tayle 34. Ante 234 (f).

a Pig. on Recov. 85.

ditionalibus

ditionalibus was made, which firſt divided the Fee-ſimple from the Eſtate-tail, ſo that the Report, as it is made, does not ſtand with the Law, and in order to make the Caſe agree with the Law, it ſhall be intended that the Earl of Cornwal aliened the Manor with Warranty before the Statute de donis conditionalibus, in which Caſe the King had no Reverſion, and the Warranty was collateral, [b] ſo that there was no Need then to have Aſſets, altho' the Aſſets might better ſatisfy the King in Reaſon. Wherefore that Caſe does not prove that the Feoffment of Tenant in Tail of the Gift of the King (which is but Matter in Deed) can deveſt the Reverſion out of the King. And ſo in the principal Caſe it was agreed by the Counſel on both Sides, that the Feoffment of Sir Thomas Wyat did not take away nor deveſt the Reverſion out of the King, but that the Reverſion continued in the King after the Feoffment as it was before.

[b] Vide Co. Litt. 374. b.

For the Defendants.

Nevertheleſs Bullock and Manwood ſaid, that by the Feoffment in Fee with Livery of Seizin made by Sir Thomas Wyat to George Moulton the whole Eſtate and Intereſt which Wyat had paſſed, and nothing was left in Wyat to be afterwards forfeited by him. For when a Man gives Land to one and to his Heirs, and makes Livery, all that he has in the Land ſhall paſs, whether it be a Right, Rent, Common, or other Intereſt, and to ſuch Purpoſe is the Livery made, which is a Ceremony made Uſe of to ſhew the voluntary Demiſe of all that the Party has in the Thing delivered by him, and the Receipt of the Livery is a Teſtimony of the other's voluntary Acceptance of all that is demiſed to him, and the Law ratifies the Intention which the Parties had in the Act, and gives it's Judgment that the Act ſhall be taken moſt ſtrongly againſt him that does it, and moſt beneficially for him to whom it is done. From whence it follows that nothing remained in Sir Thomas Wyat after the Livery, viz. neither an Eſtate nor Right, [c] for there cannot be a Right in any one (as Manwood ſaid) but where a Wrong was done before, and no Wrong was done here, for the Tenant in Tail might give the Land to another during his own Life without Prejudice to any, for the Reverſion was not touched by the Feoffment of Wyat, but it remained as it was before, and no Wrong was done to the Iſſue by the Feoffment, for he might have entered, and no Wrong was done to Wyat himſelf, for he voluntarily parted with the Eſtate which paſſed. So that there was no Eſtate nor Right in Wyat when he committed Treaſon, and conſequently the Statutes, which provide that Wyat who was attainted ſhould forfeit all his Hereditaments and Rights, do not affect Wyat as to the Land in Queſtion, becauſe he had no Inheritance nor Right in it.

[c] 2 Finch 106.

But perhaps it may be objected that the Eſtate-tail which Wyat had in the Land did not paſs to Moulton by his Feoffment, and therefore that it continued in Wyat; to this it may be ſaid, true it is that the Eſtate-tail did not paſs to Moulton, nevertheleſs the Eſtate-tail did not remain in Wyat, for he gave the Land to Moulton and to his Heirs, and contrary to that Gift he did not nor could retain his Eſtate-tail in the Land, nor could Moulton take an Eſtate-tail. [d] From whence it follows that if Wyat himſelf after his Feoffment had not the Eſtate-tail, nor any other Perſon had it, then the Eſtate-tail muſt be in Abeyance during the Life of Wyat. And it ſeems by Littleton that an Eſtate-tail once made may be in Abeyance, [e] for, he ſays, if Tenant in Tail grants all his Eſtate to another, the Reverſion in Tail is not in the Tenant in Tail, nor ſhall he have an Action of [f] Waſt, becauſe he has not the Reverſion in him, as Littleton ſays; and if he has not the Reverſion there, a fortiore he has it not here where he gave the Land to one and to his Heirs; but (Littleton ſays) the Tail ſhall be in Abeyance. [g] As if Land is given to one for Life, the Remainder to the right Heirs of the Body of J. S. who is alive, there the Tail is in Abeyance during the Life of J. S. and after his Deceaſe it ſhall veſt in his Iſſue. So here the Eſtate-tail was in Abeyance during the Life of Wyat, for he could not retain it againſt his own Feoffment in Fee.

[d] Vide 2 Rol. R. 322 Poſt 563.

[e] Lit. § 650. 3 Co. 84. b. Lit. R. 122, 322. Cart. 210. See Poſt 556 (b), 561 (c).

[f] See Poſt 556 (f).

[g] Ante 25 (o), and See the Books there cited.

And perhaps it may be aſked what Eſtate paſſed to George Moulton if the Eſtate-tail did not paſs to him; to this it may be anſwered that the Land was given to him and to his Heirs, in which Limitation the Tail could not be given, and a greater Eſtate than for Life was given, and ſuch an Eſtate was given as ſhould deſcend to the Heir of Moulton, which muſt be an Eſtate of Inheritance; from whence it ſeems that the Eſtate given was a Fee-ſimple, that is, a Fee-ſimple determinable upon the Eſtate-tail, or a Fee-ſimple until the Iſſue of Wyat had avoided his Eſtate, which he might well enough avoid by Entry or Formedon. [h] For before the Act of 26 H. 8. Tenant in Tail ſhould not forfeit his Eſtate by Attainder of Treaſon, for the Statute de donis conditionalibus preſerved the Eſtate-tail to the Iſſue until the Statute of 26 H. 8. was made, by which it is ordained that he who is attainted of Treaſon ſhall forfeit to the King all his Hereditaments, and the ſpecial Act of Confirmation of the Attainder of Wyat adds further, that he ſhall forfeit all his Rights, and if Wyat after the Feoffment had no Inheritance nor Right in the Land, he could not forfeit it, and then there was no Obſtacle to the Iſſue of Wyat but that he might enter upon Moulton or his Aſſigns after the Death of Wyat who was attainted, and in the mean Time Moulton and his Aſſigns had a Fee-ſimple, (but that was determinable or defeaſible as is ſaid before) and the King had another Fee-ſimple, that is, he retained his ancient Fee-ſimple which he had before the Feoffment made by Wyat, ſo that there were two Fees-Simple of one and the ſame Land at one and the ſame Time, as there ſhall be in many Caſes. [i] For Manwood ſaid, if before the Statute of 34 & 35 H. 8. Tenant in Tail of the Gift of the King had ſuffered a common Recovery, the Iſſue in Tail ſhould have been bound for ever by Reaſon of the Recom-

[h] Ante 237 (b), and ſee the Books there cited.

Where there may be two Fees-Simple of the ſame Land in ſeveral Perſons at one and the ſame Time.

[i] Ante 553 (b). and (c) and the Books there cited.

Recompence in value, [b] and in that Caſe the Recoveror ſhould have had a Fees Simple determinable upon the Eſtate-Tail, and the King ſhould have had his ancient Fee-Simple alſo. [c] And he ſaid further, if one makes a Gift in Tail, the Remainder in Tail to J. S. and afterwards J. S. levies a Fine in Fee-Simple of his Remainder with Proclamations, and dies leaving Iſſues, and afterwards the firſt Tenant in Tail dies without Iſſue, now he to whom the Fine was levied ſhall have a Fee-Simple determinable upon the Death of all the Iſſues of J. S. and the Donor has another Fee-Simple, ſo that there are two Fees-Simple of one and the ſame Land, as Manwood ſaid. [d] And, it was ſaid, if A. is ſeized in Fee, and makes a Gift in Tail at this Day to B. to the Uſe of C. in Fee, now the Ceſtuy que Uſe who has the Land by the Statute of 27 H. 8. has one Fee-Simple in the Land determinable upon the Eſtate-Tail, and the Donor has another. [e] But note (Reader) that a Uſe cannot be limited upon an Eſtate-Tail, as it was adjudged in 24 H. 8. in the Title of Feoffments to Uſes in the Abridgment of the Lord Brook which is now in Print. [f] And ſo Bullock cited the Caſe in 15 Ed. 4. where a Man granted a Rent charge in Tail out of his Land, and the Tenant in Tail ſuffered a common Recovery with Voucher, there the Recoveror had a Fee-Simple determinable, and yet he had no Fee-Simple of the Thing. [g] So if the Lord of a Villain enters into the entailed Lands of his Villain, he has one Fee-Simple, which is determinable upon the Eſtate-Tail, and the Donor has another Fee-Simple. And ſo in many other Caſes there may be two Fees-Simple of one and the ſame Land at one and the ſame Time. So here in the principal Caſe the King had one Fee-Simple which continued in the Crown, and by the Feoffment Moulton had an Eſtate which was deſcendible to his Heirs, which is and may be called a Fee-Simple, which Eſtate he gave to Edmund Walſingham, who died ſeized, and the Land deſcended to Thomas Walſingham the Defendant, after which Time Wyat committed Treaſon, and was attainted and executed, and nothing can come to the Crown by his Attainder but that which was in him, and he had not in him any Eſtate of Freehold or Inheritance, nor any Right or Title to the Land contained in the Information, for which Reaſon the Queen cannot impeach the Defendants of the Intruſion. And many other Things were ſaid by them to enforce this Opinion.

b Cro. C. 430. Poſt 558 (f).
c Poſt 558 (g).
d S. P. Bacon's Read. on Statute of Uſes 347. Nota bene by the Reporter.
e 24 H. 8. Bro. Feoffments al Uſes 40. B. N. C. § 60. Co. Litt. 19. b. 2 Co. 78. a. 2 Rol. Abr. 780. C. pl. 2, 3. 2 And. 87, 136. 1 Rol. R. 333, 385. 3 Bulſt. 184, 186. 3 Leon. 190. Jenk. Cent. 195. pl. 1. Gilb. Law of Uſes 11, 205, 206. Vin. Abr. tit. Uſes C. pl. 2, 3, in Margine.
f M. 15 Ed. 4. 8. Contra Poſt 557 (d).
g Co. Litt. 18. a. 1 Keb. 407, 408. Cro. Car. 430. Ld. Raym. 773. Vide 2 Rol. Abr. 735. H. pl. 2. Poſt 557 (b).

On the other Hand it was argued for the Queen, that by the Feoffment of Sir Thomas Wyat to Moulton no other Eſtate than for the Life of Wyat only paſſed. And here it is not ſo much to be conſidered what Eſtate Wyat limited by Words upon his Feoffment to Moulton, as what Eſtate the Law will ſuffer to paſs, and inaſmuch as it is confeſſed that by the Feoffment the Fee-Simple was not diveſted out of the King, from thence it follows in a Manner conſequentially that no Fee-Simple paſſed to Moulton, for none can give to another that which he himſelf has not nor can have, and in every Gift there ought to be a Donor and Donee, and a Thing which may be given, and although in the principal Caſe there was a Donor and Donee, yet there was no Fee-Simple in Wyat which he could give, for the Fee-Simple reſted irremoveably in the Crown; yet Wyat had the Land, but the Land itſelf is one Thing, and the Eſtate in the Land is another Thing, for an Eſtate in the Land is a Time in the Land, or Land for a Time, and there are Diverſities of Eſtates, which are no more than Diverſities of Time, for he who has a Fee-Simple in Land has a Time in the Land without End, or the Land for Time without End, and he who has Land in Tail has a Time in the Land or the Land for Time as long as he has Iſſues of his Body, and he who has an Eſtate in Land for Life has no Time in it longer than for his own Life, and ſo of him who has an Eſtate in Land for the Life of another, or for Years. Then when Wyat had but an Eſtate in the Land for a Time as long as there was any Iſſue of the Body of his Father, and after the Failure of ſuch Iſſue the King had a Time in the Land without End, or the Land for Time without End, which is termed a Fee-Simple, the Words of Wyat upon his Livery could not take that away from the Crown, nor give it to Moulton, and the Law does not meaſure the Gift of Wyat according to his Words, but according to his Ability, and here he was diſabled to give the Land for a greater Time than he had, for which Reaſon no Fee Simple could paſs.

E contra for the Queen.

Tenant in Tail makes a Feoffment in Fee, no more paſſes than for the Life of the Tenant in Tail. Poſt 561 (d), per Curiam. 562, arguendo.

And the Eſtate-Tail could not paſs to Moulton, for none can poſſibly be Tenant in Tail but he only who is comprehended in the Intent of the Donor, and who is within his Limitation. For Eſtates-Tail are made by the Act of Weſtminſter 2. and the effectual Words of the Statute, upon which Eſtates-Tail are founded, are theſe, The Lord the King hath ordained that the Will of the Giver, according to the Form in the Deed of his Gift manifeſtly expreſſed, from henceforth ſhall be obſerved; and it was the Will of the King, who gave the Eſtate-Tail here, that Sir Thomas Wyat the Father and the Heirs Males of his Body begotten ſhould have the Land, and no other; and therefore Moulton, who was of another Blood, was not comprehended in his Will, nor expreſſed in the Form of the Gift, for which Reaſon it is impoſſible that Moulton could be Tenant in Tail, or that the Eſtate-Tail which was in Wyat could be transferred to him.

That by ſuch Feoffment the Eſtate Tail cannot paſs, becauſe the Feoffee is not comprehended in the Intent of the Donor. Poſt 561 (b), per Curiam. 562, agreed.

Further, an Eſtate for Term of the Life of Moulton could not paſs to Moulton by the ſaid Feoffment, becauſe Wyat had no Power to give the Land to him for ſo long, for he had but to do with the Land during his own Life only, and if he might convey the Land to Moulton for his Life, then might he diſcontinue the Reverſion in Fee, and diveſt it out of the King, and as he could not make a Feoffment in Fee of the Land to Moulton, ſo for the ſame Reaſon he could not make an Eſtate to him for the Term of his Life, for thereby the Fee-Simple which was in the Crown would be touched as well as by a Feoffment, for which Reaſon Wyat was diſabled to make the one Eſtate as well as the other, and therefore the Feoffment could not give an Eſtate to Moulton for his Life. And if neither a Fee-Simple, nor an Eſtate-Tail, nor an Eſtate for the Life of Moulton could paſs, then ſuch Eſtate as Wyat was able to give paſſed, and that was only an

That by ſuch Feoffment an Eſtate for the Life of the Feoffee cannot paſs. Poſt 562 (c).

Eſtate for the Life of Wyat, for ſuch Eſtate he might lawfully give, but no greater Freehold. And then when Wyat was put to Death, the Eſtate of Thomas Walſingham the Defendant was determined, and he by his Occupation afterwards became an Intruder, and ſo puniſhable.

Where Tenant in Tail makes a Feoffment in Fee, the Eſtate-Tail is not in Abeyance during the Life of the Tenant in Tail, (againſt the Opinion of Littleton) but it remains in the Tenant in Tail. Poſt 561 (e), per Curiam. 563, arguendo.

And where it was ſaid on the other Side that a greater Eſtate than for Life paſſed by the Feoffment to Moulton, for that the Eſtate-Tail was in Abeyance, to prove which [a] Littleton was cited, the Apprentice and Barham [b] denied the Law to be ſo in the ſaid Caſe in Littleton where Tenant in Tail grants his Eſtate, for, they ſaid, Tenant in Tail cannot by any Means give the Eſtate-Tail to another, becauſe none but he who is comprehended in the Intent of the Donor ſhall be Tenant in Tail, and if by the Grant of Tenant in Tail of all his Eſtate no other could ever have his Eſtate, to what Purpoſe ſhould the Eſtate be in Abeyance? For Things ſhall be in Abeyance to the Intent that another may have them afterwards, and not immediately, but in Time to come, and they ſhall be in Abeyance until they can veſt in the other. [c] As in the Caſe of a Leaſe for Life, the Remainder to the right Heirs of the Body of J. S. who is alive, there the Tail ſhall be in Abeyance until the Death of J. S. and then it ſhall veſt in his Iſſue, becauſe it could not veſt before, and to this Purpoſe of veſting afterwards it was in Abeyance. But in the principal Caſe the Eſtate-Tail ſhall never veſt in any Stranger, and therefore to make that to paſs out of one which ſhall never veſt in another is idle and to no Purpoſe, and quite foreign to the Intent and Conſideration of the Law in allowing Things to be in Abeyance. Wherefore Littleton has miſtaken the Law in this Point, and he has put in his Book divers Caſes which impugn his Opinion in the other Caſe. [d] For he ſays that if Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe for Years, and afterwards releaſes to the Leſſee all the Right which he has in the Land, to have and to hold to the Leſſee and to his Heirs for ever, by Force of this Releaſe nothing paſſes but for the Term of Life of the Tenant in Tail. [e] So he ſays that if Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe for his own Life, and afterwards releaſes to the Leſſee and to his Heirs all the Right which he has in the Land, the Eſtate of the Leſſee is not enlarged by Force of ſuch Releaſe, becauſe when the Leſſee had an Eſtate in the Land for the Term of Life of the Tenant in Tail, then he had all the Right which the Tenant in Tail could lawfully grant or releaſe, ſo that by ſuch Releaſe no Right paſſes, inaſmuch as his Right was gone before. Theſe are the Words of Littleton, in which Caſes every one ought to take it that the Releaſe of all the Right is of as much Effect as a Grant of all his Eſtate, and therefore theſe Caſes impugn the Reaſon of the other Caſe abovementioned.

a Litt. § 650.

b So is it alſo denied Poſt 561 (c) per Curiam. 563 (e) arguendo. See the ſame impeached Hob. 339. Hetl. 156. 2 Rol. R. 506.

c See ante 25 (o), and the Books there cited.

d Litt. § 606. Bro. Releaſes 82. 3 Co. 84. b. Ante 161 (g).

e Litt. § 612. Cart. 210.

The Reaſon why Tenant in Tail ſhall not have an Action of Waſt againſt the Grantee of his Eſtate. Vide 3 Co. 84. b.

And as to what is ſaid in Littleton, [f] that the Tenant in Tail ſhall not have an Action of Waſt againſt the Grantee of his Eſtate, they agreed that the Law was ſo, but the Reaſon thereof is not becauſe he has a greater Eſtate than for the Life of the Tenant in Tail, but becauſe the Eſtate of the Tenant in Tail was diſpuniſhable of Waſt, and he might lawfully do Waſt, and therefore when he granted over his Eſtate to another, therein he granted his Privilege to do Waſt, which was annexed to his Eſtate, and it was as much as if he had made a Leaſe for his own Life without Impeachment of Waſt. [g] And the Apprentice reſembled this to the Caſe in 42 Ed. 3. where a Man releaſed for himſelf and his Heirs to his Leſſee for Life all the Right which he had in the ſame Lands, and alſo that he and his Heirs ſhould not demand any Right, Claim, or Challenge for the Term of Life of the Tenant, and in an Action of Waſt brought by the Son of him who releaſed, the Leſſee pleaded the ſaid Deed, and there it ſeems to be the better Opinion that the Waſt was diſpuniſhable, for the Clauſe in the Deed was equivalent to a Clauſe of Diſpuniſhment of Waſt. And ſo the Grant of the whole Eſtate of the Tenant in Tail is equivalent to Words of Diſpuniſhment of Waſt, which is a Privilege contained in the Eſtate of the Tenant in Tail. But that Caſe in Littleton does not prove that the Tail is out of the Tenant in Tail, or that the other has a greater Eſtate than for the Life of the Tenant in Tail.

f Litt. § 650. Ante 554 (f).

g M. 42 Ed. 3. 23. pl. 7. Fitz. Waſt 73.

An Eſtate to a Man and his Heirs during the Life of J. S. is not an Inheritance, but a deſcendible Freehold during the Life of Ceſtuy que vie, and (Heirs) in that Caſe are added to prevent an Occupancy. S. P. Co. Litt. 239. a. 1 Co. 140. b. 10 Co. 98. a. 1 Bulſt. 135. 1 Finch 102. Poſt 562.

And as to what has been ſaid on the other Side, that the Eſtate given to Moulton was ſuch as ſhould deſcend, to this it was agreed that ſo it ſhould, becauſe the Land was given to Moulton and to his Heirs, in which Caſe the Words (his Heirs) ſhall make the Eſtate (although it be but for the Life of the Tenant in Tail) deſcendible during the Life of the Ceſtuy que vie, viz. of Wyat. [h] For Littleton ſays in his Chapter of Warranty that if one leaſes Land to a Man and to his Heirs during the Life of another, and the Leſſee dies, living Ceſtuy que vie, and a Stranger enters, the Heir of the Leſſee may ouſt him, and that by Reaſon of the Limitation of the Leſſor; ſo that the Eſtate there is deſcendible, and yet it is not an Eſtate of Inheritance, but only of Freehold, [i] for the Heir ſhall not have an Aſſize of Mortdanceſtor there, [k] nor ſhall the Wife of the Father be endowed, [l] and if the Heir commits Waſt, he ſhall be puniſhed in an Action of Waſt. So that although by the Limitation it is made deſcendible, yet it is only a Freehold, and the Reverſion remains in the Leſſor. [m] And hereupon the Apprentice cited the Caſe in 27 Aſſ. pl. 31. where the Iſſue of Tenant by the Curteſy brought an Aſſize, and the Tenant ſaid that the Tenant by the Curteſy, who is yet alive, leaſed his Eſtate to the Anceſtor of the Tenant, who died ſeized of his Eſtate, after whoſe Death he (the Tenant) was in as Son and Heir, and he demanded Judgment if the Demandant might have the Aſſize, and it was held a good Bar, for the Reverſion was confeſſed to be in the Demandant, in which Caſe inaſmuch as the Tenant ſaid that he was in as Son and Heir, it is to be underſtood that the Grant was made to his Anceſtor and to his Heirs. And it is to be obſerved that the Reaſon why the Bar was held good was, for that the Reverſion was confeſſed to be in the Demandant, ſo that the Reverſion was always in him who had it, notwithſtanding ſuch Deſcent and Entry, and ſuch is but in effect an Occupant. And he alſo ſaid that in 17 Ed. 3. a Woman who was endowed of an Advowſon granted it to one and to his Heirs during her own Life, and there he in the Reverſion made Title to it by the Preſentation of the Heir of the Grantee as Tenant for Life to him, as a Thing done duly h Litt. § 739.

i 1 Bulſt. 136.

k M. 22 Ed. 3. 19. b. Per Shard. 1 Bulſt. 135, 136. 2 Bac. Abr. 125.

l Co. Litt. 41. b. 54. a. 6 Co. 37. b. 10 Co. 98. a. 2 Inſt. 301. 2 Rol. Abr. 826. pl. 3.

m 27 Aſſ. pl. 31. Fitz. Bar 303. Bro Aſſize 272.

duly by his particular Tenant, and yet in Effect he was but an Occupant. [a] And he alſo cited the Caſe of Stowel in 11 H. 4. in a Formedon, where Lands were leaſed by Fine to divers Perſons and to their Heirs during the Life of the Lady Hillary, the Remainder in Fee to others, and it ſeems by the Book that upon Default of the Leſſees they in Remainder ſhould be received, for the Limitation to the Heirs of the Leſſees during the Life of the Lady did not give an Eſtate in Fee, but thereby the Heirs might have the Land during the Life of the Lady. So here although the Eſtate which Wyat gave to Moulton and to his Heirs was deſcendible during the Life of Wyat by Reaſon of the Limitation to the Heirs, yet this is no Proof that a greater Eſtate than for the Life of Wyat paſſed out of Wyat, and the Eſtate Tail remained always in Wyat. [b] And ſo is it, he ſaid, in the Caſe which has been put on the other Side where the Lord enters upon his Villain being Tenant in Tail, for the Lord ſhall not have the Eſtate-Tail, nor a Fee-Simple determinable, nor any other Eſtate but only for the Life of his Villain, for when the Law authorizes the Lord of the Villain to enter, it does not authorize him to take the Reverſion out of the Donor, for if ſo, it would do Wrong, and the Lord of the Villain cannot be Tenant in Tail; from whence it follows that if he ſhall not have a Fee-Simple, nor a Fee-Tail, he ſhall only have an Eſtate for the Life of the Villain, [c] for if after his Entry he will manumiſe the Villain, and afterwards the Villain hath Iſſue, and dies, the Iſſue ſhall be free, and is inheritable to the Tail, and may ouſt the Lord. [d] And ſo in the Caſe of 15 Ed. 4. before cited, if the Recoveror will avow for the Rent, he ought to aver the Life of the Tenant in Tail, for he cannot have a greater Eſtate in the Rent, in which he had no Fee-Simple, than for the Life of the Tenant in Tail. So that in all theſe Caſes neither the Recoveror, nor the Lord of the Villain, nor the Heirs who have the Freehold which is deſcended to them, nor Moulton in the principal Caſe, have any Fee Simple, for their Eſtates cannot be termed a Fee-Simple, inaſmuch as they have no Inheritance of Continuance.

[a] H. 11 H. 4. 42. Fitz. Counterplea de Reſceit 3. Bro. Reſceit 38.

[b] Vide Ante 555 (g).

[c] 2 Rol. Abr. 735. H. pl. 2.

[d] M. 15 Ed. 4. 8. Ante 553 (f).

Neverthleſs the Apprentice ſaid that he would confeſs there are three ſeveral Eſtates of Inheritance which may be called Eſtates in Fee. [e] The firſt is, a Fee-Simple, and that is, where Lands are given to a Man and to his Heirs abſolutely without any End or Limitation put to the Eſtate, for (Fee) is an Inheritance, as Littleton ſays, and (ſimple) is that which is pure and perpetual, ſo that inaſmuch as he has an abſolute Eſtate of Perpetuity in the Land, ſuch Eſtate is properly termed a Fee-Simple.

Three Sorts of Eſtates in Fee. Vide Co. Litt. 1. b. 1 P. Wms. 74, 75. Ld. Raymond 1148. 1ſt Fee-Simple abſolute.

[e] Litt. § 1.

Another Fee there is, which may be called a Fee-Simple determinable, [f] as if Land is given to a Man and to his Heirs as long as J. S. ſhall have Heirs of his Body, there he to whom the Land is given has a Fee-Simple, but his Eſtate is determinable upon the Death of J. S. without Iſſue, for then the Fee is ended, and the Feoffor ſhall have the Land again. So if Land is given to a Man and to his Heirs as long as he ſhall pay 20s. annually to A. or as long as the [g] Church of St. Paul ſhall ſtand, his Eſtate is a Fee-Simple determinable, in which Caſe he has the whole Eſtate in him; and ſuch Perpetuity of an Eſtate which may continue for ever, though at the ſame Time there is a Contingency which when it happens will determine the Eſtate (which Contingency cannot properly be called a Condition, but a Limitation) may be termed a Fee-Simple determinable.

2dly, Fee-Simple determinable.

[f] Ld. Raym. 1148. 1 P. Wms. 74, 75. But ſee Co. Litt. 19 a.

[g] Ld. Raym. 1148. So if it be limited as long as ſuch a Tree ſhall grow, M. 27 H. 8. 29. pl. 20. 11 Co. 49. a. 1 Rol R. 101. Hardr. 149.

The third Eſtate in Fee may be called a baſe Fee, and that is, where A. has a good and abſolute Eſtate of Fee-Simple in Land, and B. has another Eſtate of Fee in the ſame Land, which ſhall deſcend from Heir to Heir, but which is baſe in reſpect of the Fee of A. as being younger than the Fee of A. and not of abſolute Perpetuity as the Fee of A. is; [h] as if a Man at this Day makes a Gift in Tail, and the Donee is attainted of Treaſon, the Queen and her Heirs ſhall have the Land as long as there are any Heirs of the Body of the Donee, and in that Caſe there are two Fees, for the Donor has his ancient Fee, which is a Fee-Simple, and the Queen has another Fee in the ſame Land, which is ſuch a Fee as ſhall deſcend, and ſuch as the Queen may grant to another in Fee, and ſuch whereof the Wife of the Grantee ſhall be [i] endowed, and if it deſcends to his Heir, it ſhall be Aſſets to the Heir in Debt, or to render in Value for the Warranty of his Father, but yet it is but a baſe Fee, for it is younger in Time than the Fee of the Donor, and it ſhall not endure longer than there continue to be Heirs of the Body of the Donee, and if ſuch Heirs fail, this Fee is gone, whereas the Fee of the Donor ſhall never periſh, ſo that the one is pure and perpetual, and the other is but baſe and temporary, and nothing more than an Inheritance upon the Caſe. [k] So if at this Day Tenant in Tail by Indenture enrolled bargains and ſells the Land to another and to his Heirs, the Bargainee has a Fee in the Land as he had in the Uſe, for the Uſe is a new Thing which may be derived in Fee, as a Rent-Charge may out of Land in Tail, and by the Words of the Act which conveys the Land to the Uſe, and makes the Bargainee to have a Fee in the Land as he had in the Uſe, he has a Fee in the Land, but that is only a baſe Fee, and the Donor has the pure Fee, viz. the Fee-Simple, for the Cauſes aforeſaid. [l] And in 40 Aſſ. pl. 36. it is put that if there is Tenant in Tail, and the Land in Tail is recovered in Value, and put in Execution by Reaſon of a Warranty in Fee which the Tenant in Tail made of other Land, he who has recovered in Value ſhall have a Fee-Simple in this Land, and the Donor ſhall retain his Fee-Simple: Which Caſe was put by Barham. [m] And ſo is it, the Apprentice ſaid, in the Caſe of 29 Aſſ. pl. 61. where Tenant in Tail was bound in a Statute-Merchant, and had Iſſue, and the Iſſue was outlawed for Felony, and obtained a Charter of Pardon in the Life of the Father, the Father died, the Iſſue entered, and the Conuſee ſued Execution of the Land, and the Heir brought an Aſſize, and whether or no the Aſſize was maintenable was there debated, and the principal Point argued was, what Eſtate the Iſſue had, for if he had an Eſtate-Tail, then the Aſſize was maintenable, for then he was remitted to his Eſtate-Tail, in which Caſe Execution could not be ſued againſt him, and if the Iſſue had a Fee-Simple, or any other Eſtate than an Eſtate-Tail, then the Aſſize was not maintenable; and there it appears 3dly, Baſe-Fee.

[h] Cro. C. 430.

[i] 2 Bac. Abr. 125.

[k] S. P. 10. Co. 96. a. Seymour's Caſe.

[l] 40 Aſſ. pl. 36. Poſt 559 (b).

[m] 29 Aſſ. pl. 61. Bridgm. 27. Strange 337.

that the Outlawry for Felony ſo diſabled him in Blood that he could not take by Deſcent the Land in Tail any more than Land in Fee-Simple, notwithſtanding the Charter of Pardon, which could not [a] reſtore his Blood to its former Purity, from whence it follows that when the Father died, the Land could not [b] revert to the Donor, becauſe the Donee had Iſſue, and the Iſſue could not take by [c] Deſcent by Reaſon of his Diſability, ſo that upon the Death of the Father the Freehold in Deed or in Law was in none, but in nubibus, as it is where [d] Tenant pur auter vie dies in the Life of Ceſtuy que vie, and none enters, in which Caſe every Man in the World has an equal Title to the Land, and therefore when the Iſſue in Tail entered, he was but an [e] Occupant, for in ſuch Caſe the Land conceditur occupanti, and he could not be an Occupant of an Eſtate-Tail, for none ſhall have the Eſtate-Tail but the Iſſues of the Donee who ſhall take by Deſcent, and ſuch an Occupant ought to have a greater Eſtate than an Occupant of a Freehold, for it ſhall deſcend to his Heir, for which Reaſon it ſeems that in that Caſe the Iſſue had a baſe Fee, and the Donor had his Fee, viz. the Fee-Simple, and ſo there were two Fees of one and the ſame Land at one and the ſame Time; and becauſe the Eſtate of the Iſſue was ſubject to the Execution, the Iſſue was nonſuited in the Aſſize. So that, he ſaid, there may be two Fees of one and the ſame Land at one and the ſame Time. But it ſeemed to ſome that in that Caſe the Iſſue ſhould only have an Eſtate for his own Life as Occupant. And he ſaid that there ſhall be a baſe Fee in the Caſes which have been put, [f] where a Recovery was had againſt the King's Donee in Tail before the Statute of 34 H. 8. and where [g] Tenant in Tail in Remainder levies a Fine with Proclamations, in which Caſes there are two Fees, as before has been ſaid.

[a] Co. Litt. 391. b.
[b] 3 Bac. Abr. 19.
[c] Ibid.
[d] Co. Litt. 41. b.
[e] Litt. R. 322. 3 Bac. Abr. 19. Vide Comy. 220. Strange 362.
[f] Ante 555 b.
[g] Ante 555 (c).

That where Tenant in Tail makes a Feoffment in Fee, no Fee paſſes, but only an Eſtate for the Life of Tenant in Tail, and the Reverſion of the Tail remains in him. Poſt 561 (a), per Curiam.

Wherefore it appears from theſe Caſes that there are three Eſtates in Fee, viz. Fee-Simple-abſolute, Fee-Simple determinable, and a baſe Fee, the laſt of which is, where a Man has Land to him and to his Heirs during the Inheritance which another had. But in the principal Caſe Moulton had no Fee by the Feoffment, viz. neither a Fee-Simple abſolute, nor a Fee-Simple determinable, nor a baſe Fee, for a baſe Fee is where a Man has Land to him and to his Heirs during an Eſtate of Inheritance which another had. But the Eſtate of Moulton was only an Eſtate for the Life of Wyat, ſo that the Reverſion of the Tail remained in Wyat. [h] And to prove this the Caſe in 18 Ed. 3. was cited, where the King gave Land to the Earl Marſhal and to his Heirs of his Body begotten, ſaving the Reverſion to himſelf, and the Earl by the King's Licenſe leaſed the Land to one Adam Brown for his Life, ſaving the Reverſion to the Earl and to his Heirs of his Body begotten, and for Default of Iſſue, to the King, the Earl died, having Iſſue two Daughters, one of which was within Age, the Tenant for Life being impleaded made Default after Default, and the Daughters and their Huſbands prayed to be received, and becauſe one of the Daughters was within Age they prayed that the Parol might demur, and there it was touched whether the Reverſion upon the Leaſe for Life could be reſerved in Tail, and whether the Daughters ſhould be received, inaſmuch as the Tenant was their Deforceor; and afterwards they were received by the Award of the Court, and the Parol was put without Day for the Nonage of the one. From which Caſe it appears that they were received in reſpect of the Tail which was in them, and that the Parol demurred in reſpect that that Eſtate was deſcended to them, for the Earl could not gain a Fee-Simple by the Leaſe, becauſe the Fee-Simple remained in the King, which could not be diveſted by the Leaſe for Life, nor could he gain a Fee-Simple determinable, nor a baſe Fee by the Leaſe, for ſuch Eſtates are not to be gained but by other Acts, and if the Eſtate-Tail ſhould be there retained, ſo ſhall it alſo be here upon the Feoffment of Wyat to Moulton, for a greater Eſtate than a Freehold could not paſs by the Feoffment. But it ſeemed to ſome in the ſaid Caſe of 18 Ed. 3. that if the Land could not paſs to Adam for his own Life, but for the Life of the Earl Marſhal, then by the Death of the Earl the Eſtate of Adam was ended, and he became Tenant at Sufferance, or rather he was in as an Intruder, and ſo it was admitted by the Action brought againſt him by the Demandant, whereby the Demandant made him Tenant of the Freehold, and if he was ſo, it is all one as to that Point, for an Intruder or Diſſeizor in ſuch Caſe could but have an Eſtate for the Lives of the two Daughters in Tail, ſo that the Reverſion in Tail was in them by Deſcent, by Reaſon whereof they were receivable, and the Parol ſhould demur for the Nonage of the one: And there Shard and Wilby ſaid, "heretofore the Heir was "receivable by Reaſon of a Reverſion as well of Fee-Tail as of Fee-Simple," from whence, it ſeems, they took it that the Reverſion was in Tail.

[h] P. 18 Ed. 3. 12. pl. 2.

When Tenant in Tail, the Reverſion in the Crown, makes a Feoffment, though the Intail be in Abeyance as to any Benefit, which the Tenant in Tail himſelf can claim from it againſt his own Feoffment, yet for the Benefit of the Crown the Intail ſhall be ſaid to continue in him, as the Reverſion continues in the Crown. S. P. Poſt 564, arguendo.

But, it was ſaid, howſoever the Law be as to the Tenant in Tail himſelf, viz. as to Wyat, and though it ſhould be admitted that he ſhall not ſay, againſt his own Feoffment, that the Eſtate-Tail continued in him, yet Queen Mary might ſay that as to her the Eſtate-Tail continued in Wyat, for if the Feoffment could not diveſt the Reverſion in Fee out of the Crown, by the ſame Reaſon no Act in Deed which Wyat could do ſhould take away the Benefit which the Crown ſhould have by the Reverſion; and if there are any Advantages incident to the Reverſion in reſpect of the Eſſence or Continuance of the Eſtate-Tail in the Line of the Tail, the Crown cannot be deprived of them, and in Reſpect of them the King ſhall ſay that, as to him, the Eſtate-Tail continues, as the Reverſion in Fee continues in him; and as the King ſhall ſay that, notwithſtanding any Feoffment of the Tenant in Tail, he ſhall have againſt the Iſſues in Tail his Services reſerved, Homage, Fealty, Rent, Aid to marry his Daughter, and Aid to make his Son a Knight, and the Wardſhip of the Bodies of the Iſſues, by the ſame Reaſon he ſhall have all the Commodities of the Land itſelf which the Continuance of the Tail will bring to the Crown. And for the having of theſe the Eſtate-Tail and the Poſſeſſion ſhall be adjudged in Law to continue in the Line of the Tail, as to the King, for it was the King's Intent in the original Creation and Gift of the Eſtate-Tail that the Land ſhould continue in the Line, and that he ſhould have all the Benefits incident to the Reverſion, and therefore all Feoffments made by the Tenant in Tail are nul and void againſt the King. [i] And in Proof of this Matter the Caſe in 21 Aſſ. pl. 15. was cited, where it was found by Office that the Father Tenant of the King had aliened the Land by Licenſe to two

[i] 21 Aſſ. pl. 15. 1 Co. 44. a.

two Chaplains in Fee, and took back an Eſtate by Fine to himſelf for Life, the Remainder to his Son and Heir who was within Age, and to his Wife, and to the Heirs of the Son, and that the Father was dead, and upon this Office the Son and his Wife had Livery, and afterwards an ancient Fine was found in the Treaſury, by which the Father had but a Fee-tail, and the Tranſcript was ſent by Writ which iſſued out of the Chancery, and out of that iſſued a Scire facias againſt the Son and his Wife to know why the Land ſhould not be re-ſeized into the King's Hands according to the Statute of Lincoln, which wills that if after Livery it be found by Record that the King hath Right to ſeize, then the Party ſhall be warned to know if he can ſay any Thing why the Land ſhould not be re-ſeized, and they came and ſaid that they had their Warranty againſt the Chaplains, which they ſhould loſe if that Suit was maintenable, and there it was ſaid that the King was not appriſed of his Eſtate, ſo that he was deceived in the Grant of the Licenſe, and as to the Warranty, the King ſhall but have the Land for a Time, viz. during the Non-age of the Infant, ſo that the Warranty ſhall not be totally loſt, wherefore the Court awarded that the Land ſhould be re-ſeized into the King's Hands, and that at the full Age of the Infant he who had the Right thereof ſhould ſue for it againſt the King. In which Caſe it is to be underſtood by certain Words therein that the Fee-ſimple was in the King, whereupon it appears that the Alienation did not take away the Reverſion out of the King, and that the Tail was in eſſe as to the King, and that by the Feoffment he ſhould not be deprived of any Benefit or Profit of the Land. [a] And to the like Purpoſe the Caſe in 40 Aſs. pl. 36. was cited, which was thus, the Lord Clifford Tenant in Tail of the Gift of the King purchaſed a Licenſe to enfeoff certain Chaplains of the ſame Land, and to take back an Eſtate to him and to his Wife in Tail, the Remainder to his own right Heirs, and he died, and his Wife took another Huſband, againſt whom a Scire facias iſſued to know if he could ſay any Thing why he ſhould not make Reſtitution of the Iſſues of the Land for the Time that he occupied the ſame Land in the Life of his Wife during the Non-age of the Lord Clifford then being within Age, who came and ſaid that the Chaplains were enfeoffed by the firſt Huſband, by Force whereof the Wife was warranted, and that the Iſſue had Aſſets by Deſcent, in which Caſe he was diſinherited by Reaſon of the Warranty: And the King's Serjeants ſaid that the Licenſe was purchaſed in Deceit of the King, who did not perceive his Right, which could not diſcontinue the Reverſion of the King, and conſequently he had Cauſe to have the Wardſhip, and ſo to be anſwered for the Iſſues: [b] And it was there ſaid by Fitz-John, that if the Lands in Tail had been rendered in Value by Reaſon of a Warranty made by Tenant in Tail, he who recovered them in Value ſhould have had a Fee-ſimple in them, and yet the Reverſion was in the King, but for the Life of the Iſſues the King ſhould have had no Advantage thereof; to which Ludd. there ſaid that the King ſhould have the Wardſhip of the Iſſues in Tail in that Caſe: And afterwards it was awarded by the Advice of all the Juſtices, that he ſhould be charged in Right of two Parts of the Land for the Time that he occupied them, and that he ſhould be diſcharged in Right of the third Part whereof the Wife had Cauſe to have Dower. From which Judgment it appears that by the Feoffment of the Land the Reverſion was not taken out of the King, and that ſuch Feoffment was no Obſtacle to the King but that he might enter into the Land, and have the meſne Profits, for if nothing paſſed by the Feoffment but an Eſtate for the Life of the Lord Clifford who made the Feoffment, then the Eſtate given by the Feoffment, and the Eſtate taken back, was determined by the Death of the Lord Clifford the Feoffor, and the Wife at beſt could but be Tenant at Sufferance, and ſuch ſhe could not be, for if the King had entered, the Poſſeſſion of the Wife afterwards ſhould have been an Intruſion, and his Latches of Entry made no Difference in that Reſpect, for Latches of Entry ſhall not hurt the King, quia nullum tempus occurrit regi, ſo that his Non-entry is equivalent to an Entry, and therefore every one that meddles with the Land after the King's Title is an Intruder, and ſhall anſwer for the Iſſues of the Land to the King. And as it was in that Caſe, ſo ſhall it alſo be here as to the Eſcheat of the Eſtate-tail, for after the Attainder and Death of Sir Thomas Wyat, Thomas Walſingham the Defendant (notwithſtanding the Feoffment and Deſcent to him) could not have as good an Eſtate as Tenant at Sufferance, for his Eſtate is of ſuch Sort as if an Entry in Deed had been made by the Queen, and he had afterwards intruded upon her, (inaſmuch as no Office is requiſite in this Caſe of Attainder of Treaſon by Reaſon of the Statutes aforeſaid) and therefore he ſhall be adjudged an Intruder, and the Eſtate-tail which Sir Thomas Wyat had is merely extinct.

[a] 40 Aſs. pl. 36. Bro. Alienation 13. Diſcontinuance de Poſſeſſion 16. Tayle 41.

[b] Ante 557 (l).

No Tenant at Sufferante of the King's Land. S. P. Hardr. 25.

And this laſt Matter was made a diſtinct Point by the Apprentice, viz. whether the Tail ſhould be ſaid to be extinct, and the Queen ſhould have the Land by Way of Reverter, or by Way of Forfeiture. And he ſaid that the Queen ſhall have it by Way of Reverter, and to all Purpoſes as if all the Iſſues begotten of the Body of Sir Thomas Wyat the firſt Donee had been dead. And ſuch is the Intent of the Statute of 26 H. 8. cap. 13. which enacts that all Perſons attainted of Treaſon ſhall loſe and forfeit to the King, his Heirs and Succeſſors, all Lands and Tenements which ſuch Offender ſhall have of any Eſtate of Inheritance at the Time of the Treaſon committed, or at any Time afterwards, ſaving to all others and their Heirs (others than the Offenders in Treaſon, their Heirs and Succeſſors) all their Rights, and Poſſeſſions, Leaſes, and other Profits which they had the Day of the Treaſon, or afterwards. [c] By which general Words (that they ſhall loſe and forfeit all Lands and Tenements which they had of any Eſtate of Inheritance), and by the Excluſion of the Heir in the Saving, Lands in Tail ſhall be forfeited; and how ſhall they be forfeited to the King and to his Heirs, where he had the Fee-ſimple before? [d] For he cannot have the Land to him and to his Heirs by the Forfeiture, where he had the Fee-ſimple of it to him and to his Heirs before, for if he ſhould have another Fee-ſimple determinable upon the Eſtate-tail, then he would have two Fees-ſimple in one and the ſame Land at one and the ſame Time. And then if the King ſhould make a Leaſe for 50 Years, and afterwards the Iſſues of the Tenant in Tail attainted ſhould die, ſo that there were none remaining to inherit the Tail, if it had not been forfeited, what would become of the Leaſe? Should it be good or not? And ſhould the Leaſe be derived out of the one Fee-ſimple or out of both?

Where Tenant in Tail, the Reverſion in the King, commits Treaſon, the King ſhall have the Land in Nature of a Reverter, and not by Way of Forfeiture, as he ſhall have it where the Reverſion is in a common Perſon. Vide 2 Rol. R. 322. 3 Bac. Abr. 316. Hob. 345, 346.

[c] Vide Godb. 324.

[d] Co. Litt. 18. a.

And is the one Fee ſimple a Reverſion to the other? And how can that be? And can there be two Fees in one and the ſame Perſon at one and the ſame Time, as there may be an Eſtate-tail in one, and a Fee-ſimple expectant upon it in the ſame Perſon? [a] No, Sir, it would be inconvenient to have two Eſtates in Fee in one and the ſame Perſon at one and the ſame Time, although there may be two Fees in ſeveral Perſons at one and the ſame Time, and to expound it ſo as to make two Fees in one and the ſame Perſon at one and the ſame Time would beget Confuſion, and would be inconſiſtent with the Rules of our Law. [b] And it is held in 9 Ed. 4. that if Tenant in Tail enfeoffs the Donor in Fee, this is no Diſcontinuance, but the Iſſue in Tail may well enter, [c] for it is not a Diſcontinuance but where the Reverſion is diſcontinued, and there the Alienation is made to him who had the Fee; and alſo by this Feoffment made to the Donor and to his Heirs the Donor ſhall not have a Fee, for then he would have two Fees-ſimple in one Land, which cannot be, for the Fee which he had before continues always in him, for which Reaſon he cannot have a new Fee, ſo that this Eſtate in him is but for the Term of Life of the Tenant in Tail; and it was there ſaid that this Caſe had been ſo adjudged. From which Caſe here recited verbatim it appears that one and the ſame Perſon cannot have two Fees in the ſame Land at the ſame Time. And it was the Intent of the Legiſlature, when they enacted that Eſtates-Tail ſhould be forfeited to the King and to his Heirs, that if the King had the Fee-ſimple before, he ſhould retain the ſame Fee-ſimple, and that the Eſtate-tail ſhould be extinct and determined in the ancient Fee-ſimple, inaſmuch as it excludes the Heirs in Tail, ſo that he ſhall retain his ancient Fee-ſimple diſcharged of the Eſtate-tail, for inaſmuch as the King Donor ſhall have the Land again, and not the Iſſues, it is all one in Subſtance as if the Iſſues had been dead, for the Title and Right of the Iſſues is taken away by the Act, which, in the Intent of the Legiſlature, is equivalent to a total Failure of Iſſue, ſo that it ſhall come to the King by Way of Reverter. And therefore all Leaſes which ſuch Tenant in Tail makes, although they be according to the Act of 32 H. 8. and all Grants of Rents made by the Tenant in Tail ſhall be void, as to the King, after the Attainder which makes the Reverter, for his ancient Fee-ſimple which he ſhall retain is diſcharged of them. And if the King ſhould hold the Lands charged with Rents-charge or with Leaſes granted or made by the Tenant in Tail, which might be made for a great Number of Years, without any Reſervation, then no Benefit would accrue to the King by ſuch Reverter, which could never be the Intention of the Legiſlature; for inaſmuch as the Reverſion of the King was void of ſuch Charges, and the King, after the Attainder, ſhall have the Land as Land reverting to the Fee-ſimple, and ſhall enjoy it in Reſpect of his ancient Fee-ſimple, it is reaſonable that the King ſhould hold the Land diſcharged of ſuch Incumbrances. But if the Reverſion had been to a common Perſon in Fee, then the King has the Land only by Way of Forfeiture, and he ſhall hold it charged with all the ſaid Incumbrances, but otherwiſe it is where the King himſelf had the Reverſion in Fee before. And to prove this a Caſe was cited which was adjudged in the Exchequer in the Time of Queen Mary upon a Bill of Intruſion againſt William Auſtin, which Caſe is entered in Mich. 1 & 2 Philip and Mary, Roll 147, on the Side of the Queen's Remembrancer there, and was as follows. [d] Sir Thomas Wyat the Father being Tenant in Tail to him and to his Heirs Males of his Body begotten, of the capital Meſſuage of the Manor of Eaſtſarleigh, and of the Lands belonging to it, in the County of Kent, by the Gift of King Henry 8. made to him by his Letters-patent bearing Date the 20th Day of November in the 31ſt Year of his Reign, leaſed the ſame by Indenture the 6th Day of December in the 33d Year of the Reign of the ſame King, to William Auſtin and to Stephen Auſtin his Father for 36 Years next following the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel then laſt paſt, rendring a certain Rent, the Leſſees entered, and afterwards Sir Thomas Wyat the Father died, and afterwards Stephen Auſtin died, and afterwards Sir Thomas Wyat the Son accepted the Rent incurred after the Death of his Father by the Hands of the ſaid William Auſtin, and afterwards the ſaid Sir Thomas Wyat the Son committed Treaſon, and was attainted, and put to Death, leaving a Son named Arthur Wyat alive, and all this Matter was diſcloſed in Pleading, and the Reverſion in Fee was confeſſed to continue always in the Crown, and thereupon the Attorney of the King and Queen demurred in Law: And the Matter was well debated at the Bar, and afterwards it was argued by all the Barons of the Exchequer, and at laſt it was adjudged that Auſtin was an Intruder, becauſe his Leaſe, which was made good againſt Sir Thomas Wyat the Son by his Acceptance of the Rent, was determined by the Attainder as fully as if the Tail had been ended for Want of Iſſues; [e] and the Saving of Leaſes in the Acts of Parliament was taken to be of other Leaſes than of thoſe which are contrary to the Reverter, for if the Eſtate-tail is ended, the Leaſe derived out of it is alſo ended. And a Copy of the Record of the ſaid Caſe was ſhewn to the Court, and the Matter itſelf was alſo well remembered by them. And ſo, it was ſaid, in the principal Caſe the Queen ſhall have the Land in Nature of a Reverter, diſcharged of all Incumbrances made by any Iſſue in Tail, which Incumbrances, if they were contrary to the Point of Reverter, were not ſaved by the Saving in the Acts. But Manwood ſaid that there is a Diverſity between Auſtin's Caſe and the principal Caſe, for in Auſtin's Caſe the Freehold came to the King, and therefore it was reaſonable that the Freehold ſhould be diſcharged of the Leaſe as an Incumbrance, but in the principal Caſe, he ſaid, the Freehold ſhall not come to the King, and ſo there is a Diverſity between the Caſes. But this Difference was not allowed.

Mich. Term 14 & 15 Eliz. Curia.

And after theſe Arguments the Court took Advice for the Space of a Year, and the laſt Day of Michaelmas Term in the 14th and 15th Years of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, the Counſel of both the Parties being at the Bar, and Baron Frevil being abſent, Saunders Chief Baron ſaid, I and my Companions have often conferred together upon this Matter, and we are all unanimouſly of Opinion that Judgment ought to be given for the Queen. And I ſhall briefly ſhew the Reaſon of our Opinion, and that which I now ſpeak is agreed by us all, and therefore though it is ſpoken by me alone, accept it as if ſpoken by all of us. Then he made a Diſcourſe upon the Matter, in which [a] Ante 248 (b), and ſee the Books there cited.

[b] T. 9 Ed. 4. 24. b. Per Littleton. Fitz. Diſcontinuance 28. Bro. 24. Litt. § 625. Dy. 10. pl. 32. 12. pl. 54. Plowd. Quær. § 342. Mich. 33 Geo. 2. B. R. Hurſt v. the Earl of Winchelſea, per Lord Mansfield C. J.

[c] Poſt 562 (b).

Tenant in Tail, the Reverſion in the King, makes a Leaſe according to the Act of 32 H. 8. or grants a Rent-charge, and afterwards is attainted of Treaſon, the King ſhall avoid the Leaſe or Rent. S. P. Godb. 311. 1 H. H. P. C. 254. Salk. 338. 3 Bac. Abr. 316. Vide Dy. 107. pl. 6. Plowd. Quær. § 353.

[d] See this Caſe Dy. 115. pl. 65. S. C. cited Hob. 324. Godb. 324. 346. Bridgm. 27. 3 Bac. Abr. 316. 2 Rol. R. 491. Plowd. Quær. § 353.

[e] Poſt 565.

which he ſaid that they took the Law to be, [a] that the Intail and the Right thereof remained in Sir Thomas Wyat notwithſtanding his Feoffment to Moulton, [b] and that the Intail was not given to Moulton by that Feoffment, nor could it be given to any other, for Sir Thomas Wyat had no Power to give it away at all, becauſe none could have it but he who was comprehended in the Intent of the Donor, and therefore the Eſtate-tail was not out of Sir Thomas Wyat. And, he ſaid, they were all unanimouſly agreed that the Diverſity of [c] Littleton is not Law, for when Tenant in Tail grants over all his Eſtate to another, and when he makes a Leaſe for his own Life, it is one and the ſame Thing, for the Leſſee has but the Land for the [d] Life of the Tenant in Tail, and the Intail is not out of the Tenant in Tail in the one Caſe more than in the other, but it remains in him equally in both the Caſes; and there is no ancient Book which warrants the ſaid Opinion of Littleton, viz. that the Intail ſhall be in Abeyance by the Grant of his Eſtate, nor is there any Reaſon why it ſhould be in [e] Abeyance in that Caſe any more than where the Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe for his own Life, and afterwards releaſes all his Right to the Leſſee. And that the Right of the Intail is not given out of the Tenant in Tail by his Feoffment, he ſaid, it is proved by the common Declaration in a Formedon in Deſcender, which is, [f] that the Right deſcended to the Demandant from the Feoffor by the Form of the Gift aforeſaid, and if the Right deſcended from him, conſequently it was in him at his Death. [g] And he cited Trebony's Caſe in 48 Ed. 3. that notwithſtanding the Feoffment of Tenant in Tail, the Donor ſhall avow upon him for Homage, Fealty, and Rent due to him, becauſe he is in Right his Tenant as to the Avowry: And in ſuch Caſe if the Iſſue in Tail be Plaintiff in Replevin againſt the Donor, he ſhall compel him to avow upon him for the Services reſerved, and he ſhall abate the Avowry made upon the Feoffee, which proves that the Right of the Intail remains in him as to himſelf and as to the Donor. And he ſaid that the Caſes before cited of 18 Ed. 3. and 21 Aſſ. and 40 Aſſ. prove ſtrongly in this Caſe that the Reverſion in the Crown was not touched by the Feoffment of Wyat, and that no Prejudice came to the Crown by ſuch Feoffment, but that the Queen ſhall have all Advantages as fully as if the Feoffment had not been made, and therefore he ſaid that the Eſtate tail was extinct in the Fee-ſimple which Queen Mary had in her, in the ſame Manner as an Office, which is granted to one in Fee, who is afterwards attainted, ſhall be extinguiſhed in the Crown. And he ſaid that the Record before mentioned againſt Auſtin well warranted them to maintain the Judgment here given, for in that Caſe Queen Mary had the Land in Nature of a Reverter, whereby all Eſtates and Incumbrances made after the Tail by the Iſſues in Tail were diſcharged and avoided. And in his Diſcourſe he approved of the ſaid Term and Difinition of a baſe Fee. And for theſe Cauſes, he ſaid, it ſeemed to them that the Eſtate-tail was ended in Nature of a Reverter, and therefore that the Defendants ſhould be adjudged Intruders. And at the End he ſaid that although they were all of Opinion againſt Walſingham upon the Matter in Law, and that his Perception of the Profits was an Injury to the Crown, yet they would defer their Judgment until the next Term, and then they would give Judgment according to their Opinion aforeſaid.

[a] Ante 558, arguendo.

[b] Ante 555, arguendo. Poſt 562, agreed.

[c] Litt. § 650: See Ante 556(b), arguendo. Poſt 564(e) arguendo.

[d] Ante 555, arguendo. Poſt 562, arguendo.

[e] Ante 556, 563, arguendo.

[f] S. P. Hob. 337. 2 Rol. R. 322. Cro. C. 428. 2 Hawk. P. C. 453, § 24.

[g] H. 48 Ed. 3. 8. b. Fitz Avowry 83. Bro. 31. 2 Rol. R. 336, 337. Hob. 337. Cro. C. 428.

And Note, in the ſaid Caſe of Auſtin after Judgment given againſt him, Proceſs was awarded againſt him to make a Fine. And it further appears in the Record there as follows, viz. " And the aforeſaid William Auſtin here in Court at the ſaid Octave of St. Michael being found, and of the Premiſſes by the Barons here aſked, of the Treſpaſs and Contempt aforeſaid whereof, &c. is committed to the ſaid Priſon of the Fleet, there to tarry until, &c. And becauſe it is given to the Court here to underſtand, that the ſaid William Auſtin from the Poſſeſſion of the ſaid Site of the Manor aforeſaid and other the Premiſſes according to the Tenor of the Judgment aforeſaid himſelf hath not amoved, but the Poſſeſſion thereof yet hath and keeps, contrary to the Tenor of the Judgment aforeſaid, it is agreed that the Sheriff of the ſaid County of Kent be commanded, that the ſaid William Auſtin and his Aſſigns from the Poſſeſſion of the ſaid Site of the Manor aforeſaid and other the Premiſſes and of every Parcel thereof he amove and cauſe to be amoved, according to the Tenor of the Judgment aforeſaid, and the ſaid Site of the Manor aforeſaid and other the Premiſſes into the Hands of the ſaid Lord the King and Lady the Queen take, and ſafely, &c. ſo that of the ſame Site and other the Premiſſes to the ſame Lord the King and Lady the Queen he may anſwer, at the Will of the ſaid King and Queen, &c." By which it appears to be the Practice of the Exchequer, that when a Man is convicted in the Exchequer of an Intruſion into any Lands of the Crown, upon a Bill of Intruſion there exhibited, where the Title of the Crown appears to be good, and the Title of the Party to be inſufficient, although ſuch Suit is but a perſonal Suit, and in Effect nothing more than Treſpaſs, yet the Party ſhall be removed and put out of Poſſeſſion by a Writ formed in the Caſe.

Nota bene by the Reporter.

When a Perſon is convicted in the Exchequer of an Intruſion into the Lands of the Crown, upon a Bill of Intruſion there brought, the Practice is to put him out of Poſſeſſion by a ſpecial Writ of Amoveri facias. S. P. 1 Finch 241.

Bill of Intruſion but a perſonal Suit, and in Effect no more than Treſpaſs. S. P. 1 Finch 241.

And afterwards in the ſaid next Term, viz. in Hillary Term in the 15th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, Judgment was given by the Barons for the Queen and againſt the Defendant. Which Judgment was as follows.

Hill. Term 15 Eliz.

At which Day they the ſame Thomas and John came here as at firſt. And the aforeſaid Attorney General of the Lady the Queen now, who proſecutes for the ſame Lady the Queen, being preſent here in Court at the ſame Day in his proper Perſon, for the ſame Lady the Queen prays Judgment as at firſt. And the Premiſſes being ſeen by the Barons, and mature Deliberation being thereupon had amongſt them, becauſe it ſeems to them that the aforeſaid Plea of the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand by them in Manner and Form above pleaded is inſufficient in Law to diſcharge the aforeſaid Thomas and John from the Intruſion, Treſpaſs, and Contempt aforeſaid, it is conſidered by the ſame Barons that the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand of the Intruſion, Treſpaſs, and Contempt aforeſaid be convicted. And the Sheriff is commanded that the ſaid Thomas and John he attach, &c.

The Reſt of the Record.

NOTE,

NOTE, upon this Judgment the Defendants afterwards brought a Writ of Error in the Exchequer Chamber, to which they were moved by Reaſon of a Judgment upon Demurrer which was given in the Common Pleas to the contrary of the foregoing Judgment. And the Caſe there adjudged was thus: * The ſaid George Moulton, the ſame Day that the ſaid Sir Thomas Wyat the Son had enfeoffed him of the ſaid Tenements in Eaſtpeckham, which was in 35 Hen. 8. enfeoffed the ſaid Sir Thomas Wyat the Son of the Manor of Hunton in the County of Kent in Fee, upon Condition that if the Tenements in Eaſtpeckham or any Parcel thereof ſhould be evicted or taken from the ſaid Moulton, his Heirs or Aſſigns, then it ſhould be lawful for the ſaid Moulton and his Heirs to re-enter into the ſaid Manor of Hunton. Which Manor of Hunton came by the Attainder of Wyat to Queen Mary, who gave it in Fee to Sir John Baker Knight, from whom it came by Deſcent to Richard Baker his Son and Heir, who made a Leaſe of Part of it to Roger Coveney, upon whom the ſaid George Moulton entered, ſuppoſing that the Condition was broken, becauſe the ſaid Tenements in Eaſtpeckham were lawfully taken by the Queen from Walſingham his Aſſignee, according to the Judgment of the Barons of the Exchequer, and Coveney ouſted him, whereupon Moulton brought an Action of Treſpaſs in the Common Bench, and all the above Matter was diſcloſed in Pleading, and the Parties demurred thereupon. And the Caſe was argued both at the Bar and at the Bench. And all the Juſtices agreed that the Tenements in Eaſtpeckham were not lawfully evicted from Walſingham the Aſſignee of Moulton by the Attainder of Wyat and the Entry of the Queen, and therefore they awarded that the ſaid Moulton ſhould take nothing by his Writ, as it appears by the Record of the Caſe which is entered in Michaelmas Term 16 & 17 Elizabeth, Roll † 816.

* See the Caſe N. Bendl. 260. pl. 272.

† In N. Bendl. 260 (where S. C. is reported) it is ſaid to be Roll 840.

Which Judgment was in the Point contrary to the foregoing Judgment in the Exchequer, by Reaſon whereof the ſaid Sir Thomas Walſingham now Knight, and the ſaid Gillibrand brought a Writ of Error in the Exchequer Chamber before Sir Nicholas Bacon Knight Keeper of the Great-Seal, and before William Cecil Knight Lord Burghley Lord Treaſurer of the Exchequer, who called to their Aſſiſtance all the four Juſtices of the King's Bench, before all whom the foregoing Judgment in the Exchequer was canvaſſed, and it's Validity or Infirmity laid open, in Trinity Term in the 20th Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, by Henry Beaumond the younger on the Part of Walſingham and Gillibrand Plaintiffs in Error, and by Flowredew Apprentice on the Part of the Queen Defendant in Error; and in Hillary Term in the 21ſt Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth by Gawdy Serjeant on the Part of the ſaid Plaintiffs in Error, and by an Apprentice of the Middle Temple on the Part of the Queen.

Trin. Term 20 Eliz.

Hill. Term 21 Eliz.

Before the Statute de donis Conditionalibus there was but one Eſtate of Inheritance, viz. Fee-ſimple. S. P. Ante 235 (d), and ſee the Books there cited.

And the Counſel who argued on both Sides agreed in three Points. Firſt, that before the Statute de donis conditionalibus there was no other Eſtate of Inheritance but a Fee-ſimple, which was of two Sorts, viz. conditional and abſolute, and what the conditional was, appears by the ſame Act de donis conditionalibus. And by that Act there was another Eſtate made which was not at the Common Law, viz. a Fee-tail, which is leſs than the Fee-ſimple before was, and the Fee ſimple remains and continues in the Donor. So that ſince the ſaid Act there are two Eſtates, a greater and a leſs, where before there was but one, and the Alienation before the Act of him who had an Eſtate of Inheritance, and the Alienation, after the Act, of him who has an Eſtate tail, is all of the ſame Force and Effect, from whence it follows that inaſmuch as there are two Eſtates of Inheritance ſince the Act, Wyat the Tenant in Tail here had the one, and the King the other.

Tenant in Tail makes a Feoffment, the Eſtate-tail does not paſs. Ante 555, arguendo, 561 (b), per Curiam.

The ſecond Point was, that the Eſtate of Inheritance, which Sir Thomas Wyat had at the Time of the Feoffment, was not given to Moulton by the Feoffment, nor was he Tenant in Tail by ſuch Feoffment, for none ſhall be Tenant in Tail but he who is comprehended in the Limitation of the Gift by the Donor, the Donor's Will being the Warrant of Eſtates-tail, and ſuch was not Moulton here.

Tenant in Tail, the Reverſion in the King, makes a Feoffment, this does not diſcontinue the Eſtate-tail, becauſe it cannot diſcontinue the Reverſion in the King. Ante 553.

The third Point agreed was, that the Eſtate-tail was not diſcontinued nor confounded by the Feoffment to Moulton, becauſe the Fee-ſimple in the King could not be taken or deveſted out of the King by the Feoffment. [a] For the King is a body politic of all others moſt high and worthy, out of whoſe Perſon no Eſtate of Inheritance or Freehold can paſs or be removed without Matter of Record. And the Feoffment of Wyat to Moulton was but Matter in Deed, which was not ſufficient to take the Reverſion out of the King. [b] And if the Reverſion in Fee is not taken away or diſcontinued, the Eſtate-tail cannot be diſcontinued, as it appears in Littleton and alſo in 9 Ed. 4.

[a] Ante 213 (i). [b] Litt. § 625. T. 9 Ed. 4. 24. b. Ante 560 (c).

For the Queen, Defendant in Error.

Tenant in Tail makes a Feoffment in Fee, no more paſſes than for the Life of the Tenant in Tail. Ante 555 arguendo. 561 (d) per Curiam.

And then (it was ſaid on the Part of the Queen) if the Eſtate-tail, which Wyat had at the Time when he made the Feoffment to Moulton, was not given to Moulton, nor diſcontinued, ergo neither a Fee-ſimple nor an Eſtate for the Life of Moulton paſſed to Moulton, [c] for an Eſtate for the Life of Moulton could not paſs to him without diſcontinuing the Reverſion, and alſo ergo no other Eſtate could paſs to Moulton but an Eſtate for the Life of Wyat, and ſuch an Eſtate muſt paſs, becauſe Livery of Seizin was made. And herein, the Apprentice ſaid, he would purſue the Method of Argument which Littleton [d] makes in his Chapter of Eſtates upon Condition, where he ſpeaks of a Gift of Lands to Huſband and Wife during the Coverture, for, he ſaid, there are but four Eſtates of Freehold, viz. Fee-ſimple, Fee tail, for Term of one's own Life, and for Term of another Man's Life, and here the Eſtate which Wyat gave to Moulton was not an Eſtate in Fee-ſimple, nor an Eſtate in Tail, nor an Eſtate for Moulton's own Life, ergo it was an Eſtate for another Man's Life, viz. for the Life of Wyat; and in this Argument the Major is true, and ſo is the Minor, and conſequently the Concluſion alſo is true.

[c] Ante 555, arguendo.

[d] Litt. § 380, 381.

But

But although no Eſtate paſſed to Moulton than for the Life of Wyat only, yet that Eſtate was deſcendible during the Life of Wyat, becauſe the Eſtate which paſſed was given to Moulton and to his Heirs, which Words made the Eſtate deſcendible, although in Subſtance it was but an Eſtate for another Man's Life. * And the like Matter appears in Littleton in his Chapter of Warranty.

An Eſtate to a Man and to his Heirs during the Life of J. S. is a Freehold diſcendible during the Life of Ceſtuy que vie.

* Litt. § 739. Ante 556, arguendo,

And if no Eſtate paſſed to Moulton but for the Life of Wyat, then the Eſtate-tail did not paſs out of Wyat, but continued in him, and he had it at the Time of the Attainder. And if ſo be the Attainder before the Death of Wyat had not ended the Eſtate (as it ſhall do by the Rule of Auſtin's Caſe), yet by the Death of Wyat the Eſtate given to Moulton was determined, for an Eſtate for another Man's Life cannot endure longer than the Life of Ceſtuy que vie; and ſo the Queen ſhall have the Land by Way of Reverter, or at leaſt by Way of Forfeiture.

But it was ſaid on Behalf of the Plaintiffs in Error, that altho' it be admitted that nothing paſſed to Moulton but for the Life of Wyat, yet the Eſtate-tail did not continue in Wyat, nor could it be in him againſt his own Feoffment, but it was in Abeyance according to the Opinion of [a] Littleton. And then if the Eſtate-tail was not in Wyat at the Time of the Attainder or afterwards, it ſhall not be forfeited, nor ſhall the Land revert to the King. And upon this Argument the Counſel on this Side much inſiſted.

E contra for the Plaintiffs in Error.

That upon the Feoffment of Tenant in Tail, the Eſtate tail is in Abeyance. Vide Ante 554.

[a] Litt. § 650.

Againſt which it was ſtrongly argued on the other Side by the Apprentice, who ſaid that this Caſe was not within the Intent or Conſideration of the Law in Caſes of Abeyance. For no Gifts ſhall make Things to be in Abeyance but ſuch as are to the Advantage of Strangers, and not ſuch as are to the Advantage of the Donors themſelves or their Heirs. As if a Man has a prodigal Son, who, he believes, will conſume all his Inheritance, if he lets it deſcend to him, there if the Father makes a Feoffment, and takes back an Eſtate for Life, the Remainder to divers of his Friends during the Life of his Son, the Remainder to the right Heirs of the Son, in that Caſe, for the Benefit of the right Heirs of the Son, the Remainder ſhall be in Abeyance, ſo that there are two Things obſervable herein, viz. the Intent of the Donor, and the Benefit of a Stranger, and the Law deſerves greatly to be commended for having deviſed ſuch a Way to preſerve the Inheritance. So if a Man give Land to his Son for Life who is unmarried, the Remainder for Life to her who ſhall be his Wife at the Time of his Death, now for the Benefit of the Wife the Law preſerves the Eſtate, altho' ſhe is not yet known, and in ſo doing it is greatly to be commended, for it ſatisfies the Intent of the Donor, and brings Benefit to a Stranger, and preſerves the Eſtate until it can veſt. So that in this Reſpect the Law is to be approved of, and to be deemed a good Law, for it is injurious to none, and beneficial to ſome. But in our Caſe if the Eſtate-tail ſhould go out of Wyat, and remain in Abeyance or in nubibus, then it would be out of him, and could never by any Poſſibility veſt in a Stranger, but it ſhould return to his Heir in Tail, and by ſuch Deceit he who was Tenant in Tail would avoid all Forfeitures for Treaſon which he might afterwards commit, or which he intended to commit, and in all Probability he might make the Feoffment for ſuch Purpoſe, ſo that by ſuch Contrivance the King, to whom Lands in Tail ought to come by Forfeiture for Treaſon at this Day, would be prejudiced, and other Miſchiefs would enſue from it.

E contra for the Queen.

That the Eſtate-tail is not in Abeyance in ſuch Caſe. Ante 556, arguendo. 561 (e) per Curiam.

1ſt, Becauſe Things are in Abeyance for the Benefit of Strangers, and not of the Donor or his Heirs, which would be the reverſe here.

And if the Eſtate-tail ſhould be ſuffered to be in Abeyance, a Principle of the Law would be broken thereby, for in every Gift which a Man makes of Land or Goods there ought to be a Donor, a Donee, and a Thing given. And here there is a Donor 'tis true, viz. Wyat, and there is alſo a Thing given, viz. the Land, but point to me out, if you can, a Donee, or tell me who it is to whom he has given the Eſtate-tail which he had? Moſt certainly there is no ſuch Perſon. [b] But where Land is given to one for Life, the Remainder in Fee to the right Heirs of J. S. who is alive, in that Caſe there is a Donee of the Fee, viz. the right Heir when he ſhall be known, and when he has ſurvived his Anceſtor, which may poſſibly be; ſo that there is a Donee mediate, altho' there is not an immediate Donee who can take the Eſtate at the ſame Inſtant that it was given, but foraſmuch as he may afterwards take it, therefore in Conſideration of Law he ſtands for a Donee, and ſo the Principle of the Law is preſerved and performed.

2dly, Becauſe it would violate a Principle of the Law.

[b] Ante 25 (o), and ſee the Books there cited.

But in the principal Caſe there is no Donee who can take the Eſtate-tail preſently or in Time to come, but (ſay the other Side) for that Reaſon the Eſtate-tail ſhall be in Abeyance for the Life of Wyat, and after his Death it ſhall return to the Heirs of the Body of Wyat again; then, I ſay, Wyat would thereby avoid his Forfeiture of the Land for Treaſon, and his Son would be ſure to have the Land after his Death; and if ſuch Doctrine was allowed, then a Man might prevent all Forfeitures to the Crown for Treaſon. For if he is Tenant in Tail of the Gift of the King, he may make a Feoffment of it, and afterwards commit Treaſon with Security, for he knows that his Son ſhall have the Land. And if he is Tenant in Tail of the Gift of a common Perſon, there the Caſe is the ſame, for then he may grant over all his Eſtate to another before the Treaſon committed, ſo that the Treaſon committed afterwards, and his Attainder thereupon, ſhall not hurt the Iſſue in Tail, but he ſhall have the Eſtate-tail, and may enter immediately after the Death of his Father. And if he is Tenant in Fee-ſimple, and grants over all his Eſtate to another, and afterwards commits Treaſon, and is attainted, in that Caſe alſo the King ſhall not have the Eſcheat, if the Law be ſo as Littleton and the Counſel on the other Side take it, for [c] Littleton puts the Caſe that Tenant in Tail grants all his Eſtate to another, in which Caſe, he ſays, the Tail ſhall be in Abeyance, and he does not put the Caſe that he grants his Eſtate to another and to his Heirs, but he leaves the Word (Heirs) out of the Grant, which he did not do thro' Careleſſneſs, (for he was a very circumſpect Man, and was not apt to make ſuch Miſtakes) but he omitted it as a Word not material, and then when Tenant in Fee-ſimple grants all his Eſtate 3dly, Becauſe it would tend to prevent all Forfeitures for Treaſon from coming to the Crown.

[c] Litt. § 650.

to another, the Grantee ſhall not have a Fee-ſimple for Want of the Word (Heirs), but he ſhall only have an Eſtate for Life (tho' his Eſtate ſhall be without Impeachment of Waſt in that Caſe, as well as the Eſtate of the Grantee [d] of Tenant in Tail ſhall be), and the Fee-ſimple ſhall be in nubibus or in Abeyance as well as the Eſtate-tail ſhall be, and then if he commits Treaſon, and dies, the Fee-ſimple ſhall eſcheat to the common Lord of whom the Land is held, becauſe the Blood is corrupted between him and his Heir, ſo that his Heir cannot have it by Deſcent, and the King ſhall not have it as a Forfeiture for the Treaſon, becauſe he who committed the Treaſon had not the Fee at the Time of the Treaſon or afterwards. So that it is evident if ſuch Doctrine was allowed as is maintained by the Counſel on the other Side, it would tend to prevent all Eſcheats for Treaſon from coming to the Crown, the Inconvenience of which is an Argument that the Law is [e] not ſo as Littleton holds, and as the Counſel on the other Side affirm.

[d] Ante 556.

[e] See Ante 556 (b). 561 (c) per Curiam.

The Property of Goods and Chattles cannot paſs in Abeyance.

And if the Law will allow the Proprietor of an Inheritance in Land to convey his Inheritance in Abeyance, and by that Means to avoid any Forfeiture thereof, why does it not alſo allow the Proprietor of Goods or Chattles real and perſonal to deveſt the Property out of himſelf, and to convey them in Abeyance, ſo as to avoid all Executions and Forfeitures which may be had againſt him? For my own Part I can ſee no Difference between the Caſes, but there is as much Reaſon to allow the one as the other, and if the Law ſhould approve of either of them, it would be a very abſurd and unwiſe Law, and productive of much Miſchief and of no good. And, he ſaid, tho' in ſome Caſes the Law ſuffers a Fee-ſimple or Fee-tail to be in nubibus, (which, he ſaid, is only for the Benefit of Strangers) yet to ſuffer it in the preſent Caſe would be ſtraining the Law contrary to it's original Intent and Inſtitution.

And afterwards Authorities were cited as well on the one Side as on the other to prove the Effect and Operation of a Releaſe by Tenant in Tail of all his Right, or of his Eſtate. But the Counſel for the Queen ſaid that thoſe Caſes only and principally are material which concern the Acts of Tenant in Tail where the Reverſion is in the Crown, and to this the Caſe of [a] 18 Ed. 3. of Receipt was cited.

[a] P. 18 Ed. 3. 12. pl. 2.

Where Tenant in Tail, the Reverſion in the Crown, makes a Feoffment, tho' the Intail be in Abeyance as to any Benefit which the Tenant in Tail himſelf can claim from it againſt his own Feoffment, yet for the Benefit of the Crown the Intail ſhall be ſaid to continue in him, as the Reverſion continues in the Crown. S. P. Ante 558, arguendo.

Where a Matter is pleaded not in due Time, it ſhall be taken for nothing. S. P. 1 Finch 49. 2 Finch 68. Heath's Max. 169.

But it was ſaid on Behalf of the Queen, that whatſoever the Tenant in Tail himſelf may ſay after ſuch Acts done by him, yet the King ſhall ſay that the Reverſion is in him, and he ſhall have all the Benefits of the Poſſeſſion which the Reverſion draws to it or ought to have, and no Matter in Deed which the Tenant in Tail does or can do ſhall deprive him of ſuch Advantages. So that the Caſe is different between the Tenant in Tail himſelf who does the Act and the King who does no Act. For altho' the Tenant in Tail, where he has granted all his Eſtate to another, ſhall not have an Action of Waſt, or altho' it be admitted that he ſhall not be received upon Default of the Grantee, yet this does not prove but that the King ſhall ſay that the Eſtate-tail always continued in him, as to the King, and as to all Profits or Advantages which accrue to the King by Way of Reverter, or Forfeiture, or Wardſhip, or Aid to marry his Daughter, or otherwiſe. And upon this Difference between the King and the Tenant in Tail himſelf the Apprentice relied ſtrongly. And Caſes were cited to prove the ſeveral Points before touched, which Caſes I do not intend to recite here, becauſe they appear before in the Report of the Arguments in the firſt Suit upon which Judgment was given in the 15th Year of the preſent Queen.

And at the End the Apprentice ſaid that there was a Defect in the Pleading, which would prevent the Reverſal of the Judgment, let the Matter in Law turn out how it might, and the Defect was, that it is not effectually ſhewn that Wyat had Iſſue alive, for if he had not (as it ſhall be intended that he had not, if it is not ſhewn to the contrary) then without Queſtion the King ſhall be in as in his Reverter. And, Sir, the Information impeaches the preſent Plaintiffs in Error (who were the Defendants in the firſt Suit) of an Intruſion into the Lands in Queſtion lately parcel of the Lands and Poſſeſſions of Sir Thomas Wyat Knight late attainted of High Treaſon, and the Defendants pleaded in Bar that George Moulton was ſeized in Fee, and enfeoffed Edmund Walſingham in Fee, who died ſeized, and the Tenements deſcended to the ſaid Thomas Walſingham the Defendant below and now Plaintiff in Error, and ſo he and Gillibrand as his Servant juſtified, and traverſed the Intruſion, and averred that George Wyat the Son of the ſaid Sir Thomas Wyat, who was attainted, was alive. Now for any Thing that is yet ſhewn it is not material whether he had a Son alive or not, for it may be and ſhall be intended, for any Thing that is hitherto ſhewn, that Sir Thomas Wyat was ſeized in Fee, and therefore the Averment that he had Iſſue is vain and idle. But when the Queen's Attorney came and replied that Sir Thomas Wyat was ſeized in Tail of the Gift of the King, and that the Reverſion was in the Crown, then was the proper Time for the Defendants to ſhew by Way of Rejoinder that the Iſſue inheritable to the Tail was alive, to the Intent to inform the Court that the Land was not reverted to the Crown for Want of Iſſue, but as it is averred here it is in vain and immaterial, and juſt the ſame as if it had not been ſhewn at all. [b] As if a Man brings an Action of Debt upon an Obligation, and ſays that the Defendant was of full Age and made the Deed, the Defendant may ſay that he was within Age, without anſwering to the full Age, becauſe it is not effectually ſhewn, and therefore the Plaintiff may reply and ſay that the Defendant was of full Age, and not within Age, and ſo the Negative which ſerves for a Traverſe ſhall come in that Way. [c] So in Aſſize if the Tenant pleads a Feoffment of the Father of the Plaintiff without Condition, the Plaintiff may ſay that the Feoffment was upon Codition, for the Breach whereof he being Heir entered, and he ſhall not traverſe the Simpleneſs of the Feoffment without Condition alledged by the Tenant. So in the principal Caſe the Information and the Bar don't miniſter any Cauſe upon which the Averment ought to be taken, and therefore it is as if it had not been ſhewn, in which Caſe the Crown ſhall be adjudged in in by Reverter for Default of Iſſue, and then there is no Error in the former Judgment, nor does the Matter in Law aforeſaid come in Queſtion. But he ſaid that he relied not only upon this Point, but upon the Matter before, which proves that the Crown ſhall be in by way of [a] Reverter, as in [b] Auſtin's Caſe.

[b] S. P. 1 Finch 49. 2 Finch 69. Heath's Max. 169.

[c] Heath's Max. 169.

[a] See Ante 559.
[b] See Ante 560 (d).

And he ſaid that in Auſtin's Caſe the Saving of all Leaſes to Strangers, which is as well in the private Act of Attainder of Wyat as in the Act of 33 H. 8. cap. 20. and of 26 H. 8. cap. 13. by which Tenant in Tail ſhall forfeit for Treaſon the Lands entailed, could not preſerve the Leaſe of Auſtin, as it was there held, becauſe the Eſtate-tail, out of which the Leaſe was made, was determined by Reverter, and when the principal Eſtate is ended, all particular Eſtates derived out of it are ended together with it, for when the Eſtate itſelf is no more, nothing can be ſaved out of it, becauſe there is nothing exiſting out of which any Thing ſhould be ſaved, for out of nothing nothing can be ſaved, and therefore ſuch Savings ought to be intended of other Leaſes than of thoſe which are derived out of the Eſtates determined. [c] And he reſembled theſe Sort of Savings to a Saving or Proviſo which is in the Act of 1 Mary, which declares that the pretended Act of Attainder of Thomas Duke of Norfolk, made in 38 H. 8. for certain Cauſes ſhewn in the ſaid Act of 1 Mary was no Act, but utterly void, in which Act of 1 Mary there is a Proviſo that the ſaid Act ſhall not extend to take from the Patentees of King Hen. 8. and of Edw. 6. any Lands or Tenements which thoſe Kings had by the Attainder of the ſaid Duke, and which they had granted to others, but that the Eſtate and Right of ſuch Patentees ſhall be ſaved, as if the ſame Act of 1 Mary had not been made. Which Proviſo and Saving ſerved to [d] pleaſe many of the ignorant Patentees who were Members of that Parliament, but in Fact it was utterly void, for if the ſuppoſed Act of Attainder was void, as the ſaid explanatory Act of 1 Mary declared it to be, then the Crown never had any of the Lands of the Duke by any Attainder of him, in which Caſe all Patents of ſuch Lands made by the ſaid Kings were void, and therefore the Proviſo or Saving was void, becauſe it could not ſave to them that which they had not, and he ſaid it was a [e] flattering Proviſo, which ſerved to make Fools merry. [f] And to the like Purpoſe he cited a Caſe between Unton and Hyde, which was in the King's Bench upon a Writ of Error in the Time of the preſent Queen, in which he himſelf argued, where in the Statute of 34 H. 8. cap. 5. of Explanation of laſt Wills of Land (in which it is declared that by the Act of 32 H. 8. of Wills, a Will ſhall be taken to be good for two Parts of the Land held by Knight's ſervice, altho' it be made of the whole) there is a Proviſo that the ſame Act of 34 H. 8. ſhall not extend to the Will of Thomas Unton, which was made after the firſt Act of 32 H. 8. and before the explanatory Act of 34 H. 8. and Hyde claiming the two Parts by the Will obtained Judgment in the Common Pleas in a Writ of Partition for the two Parts, whereupon Sir Edward Unton Knight being Heir to Thomas Unton, apprehending that the Will was void, becauſe it was made of the whole Land, and that he was at Liberty by the ſaid Proviſo to ſay ſo, brought a Writ of Error, and it was adjudged that it was not Error, and therefore that Error was marked in the Roll as of no Weight, (but other Errors delayed the Affirmance of the Judgment) for when the Act of 34 H. 8. explained and declared that Wills made of the whole Land after the Act of 32 H. 8. and after the ſame explanatory Act alſo ſhould be good for two Parts, the Judges could not ſay otherwiſe; from whence it follows that the Proviſo touching the Will of Thomas Unton could not be of any Avail to Sir Edward, nor gave him any Power to diſpute the Validity of the Will as to the two Parts, for to have diſputed that would have been flying directly in the Face of the Act. So by the ſame Reaſon in Auſtin's Caſe the Act which hath made the Reverter hath deſtroyed the Force of the Saving. Wherefore it was prayed that the Judgment might be affirmed.

Tenant in Tail, the Reverſion in the Crown, makes a Leaſe for Years within the Statute of 32 H. 8. to A. and commits Treaſon, and is attainted, and his Land is given to the Crown by Act of Parliament, ſaving all Leaſes of Strangers, the Leaſe of A. cannot be ſaved; for the Eſtate-tail, out of which it is derived, is ipſo facto determined by the Attainder, and conſequently the Leaſe is determined, and the Saving ſhall be intended of other Leaſes than of ſuch as are derived out of the Eſtate determined. S. P. Litt. R. 44. Moor 309. Ante 560 (e).

[c] See 1 Co. 47. a. Moor 309. W. Jones 236. Ex hoc nota that a Saving in an Act of Parliament, which is repugnant to the Body of the Act, is void. Vide Kelw. 174. pl. 4.

[d] See 1 Co. 24. b. Palm. 125. Poph. 8. Hardr. 306, 434.

[e] Davis 2. a. 3 Keb. 236.

[f] See the Caſe here cited Bro. Teſtament 26. B. N. C. § 486. Dy. 150. pl. 89. N. Bendl. 69 pl. 88. 1 And. 3. pl. 6. 3 Leon. 29. S. P. Moor 309.

And after theſe Arguments Day was given until the ſecond Saturday in Eaſter Term next following, and in the mean time the Lord Treaſurer deſired the Juſtices to take the Matter and the Arguments into Conſideration. And in the Vacation next following this Term, viz. on Thurſday the 19th Day of February in the 21ſt Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, died Sir Nicholas Bacon Knight, of the County of Suffolk, and of the Society of Grays-Inn, a Man of great Eloquence, Gravity, and Wiſdom, who then was, and during all the Reign of the ſaid Queen Elizabeth had been, Lord Keeper of the Great-Seal, and before that was Attorney of the Court of Wards. In whoſe Place Thomas Bromley Eſquire, born in the County of Salop, Apprentice of the Inner-Temple, and Sollicitor General to Queen Elizabeth, was ſurrogated, and made Knight, and Lord Chancellor of England. And he, and the Lord Treaſurer, and all the Barons of the Exchequer, and all the ſaid Juſtices of the King's Bench, the 19th Day of May in Eaſter Term in the 21ſt Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, aſſembled together in the Exchequer Chamber for the Cauſe aforeſaid, upon Account of a new Writ of Error then brought before the ſaid Lord Chancellor and the Lord Treaſurer upon the ſaid Matter: (For the firſt Writ of Error abated by the Death of the ſaid Sir Nicholas Bacon Lord Keeper of the Great Seal, for in the Writ of Error he was named by his Chriſtian Name and Surname, and alſo by the Name of Lord Keeper of the Great-Seal, and therefore by his Death the Writ was abated, and this new Writ purchaſed.) And Error was aſſigned in the Matter, to which the Queen's Attorney rejoined, in nullo eſt erratum. Which new Writ of Error, Aſſignment of Error, and Rejoinder here follow.

Writ of Error in the Exchequer Chamber abated by the Death of the Lord Keeper.

" Elizabeth by the Grace of God of England, France, and Ireland Queen, Defender of the " Faith, &c. To her very beloved and faithful Counſellors Thomas Bromley Knight Lord Chan" cellor of England, and William Lord Burghley Treaſurer of England, Greeting. Becauſe in the " Record and Proceſs, and alſo in giving Judgment of the Plaint of a certain Information which " was in our Court before the Barons of our Exchequer, againſt Thomas Walſingham Knight, by

New Writ of Error.

" the

" the Name of Thomas Walsingham Esquire, and John Gillibrand, in the Term of St. Hillary in " the 11th Year of our Reign by Gilbert Gerard Esquire our Attorney-General for us in the " same Court exhibited, by which he gave the Court there to understand and be informed, that " whereas one Messuage or Tenement called the Curtelage of Eastpeckham otherwise called Great- " Peckham, 120 Acres of Land, 16 Acres of Meadow, 30 Acres of Wood with the Appurte- " nances in Eastpeckham aforesaid in the County of Kent, late in the several Occupations of An- " thony Weldon Esquire, Thomas Cocks, and others, and one Meadow called Multon-mead in East- " peckham aforesaid, late parcel of the Lands and Possessions of Thomas Wyat Knight of High- " Treason attainted, the 17th Day of November in the 1st Year of our Reign, and long before, " and always afterwards in our Hands and Possession were, and of Right ought to be, by Rea- " son of the Attainder aforesaid, in Right of our Crown of England, as in many Records, Rolls, " and Remembrances of the said Exchequer more fully appeared of Record, nevertheless the said " Thomas Walsingham and John Gillibrand our Laws not fearing, but our Disinheritance intending " and contriving, with Force and Arms, &c. in and upon our Possession of the Premisses en- " tered, intruded, and made Ingress, and the Issues and Profits thereof arising to their own pro- " per Uses perceived and had, that Trespass from the same 17th Day of November unto the ex- " hibiting the Information aforesaid and afterwards continuing, in Contempt of Us, and against " our Laws, wherefore our Attorney aforesaid for Us prayed the Advice of our Court of Exche- " quer aforesaid in the Premisses, and that the aforesaid Thomas Walsingham and John Gillibrand " might come to our Court of Exchequer aforesaid to answer Us in the Premisses, as it is said, " Error manifest hath intervened, to the great Damage of the said Thomas Walsingham and John " Gillibrand, as by their Complaint we are informed: And whereas in a Statute made in a Par- " liament of Lord Edward late King of England the third our Progenitor at Westminster in the " 31st Year of his Reign held, among other Things it was agreed and established, that in all " Cases touching the King or other Persons, where a Man complains of Error done in the Ex- " chequer, the Chancellor and Treasurer shall cause to come before them in any Chamber of " Council nigh the Exchequer the Record of the Process out of the Exchequer, taking to them " the Justices and other sage Persons, such as to them seemeth to be taken, and shall also call " before them the Barons of the Exchequer aforesaid to hear their Informations, and the Causes " of their Judgments, and thereupon shall duly examine the Business, and if any Error be found " they shall correct the same, and amend the Rolls, and afterwards send them back into the " said Exchequer, that Execution thereof may be done as appertaineth, as in the Statute " aforesaid more fully is contained: We therefore being willing that the Error, if there be any, " should be corrected according to the Form of the Statute aforesaid, and that full and speedy " Justice be done to the Parties aforesaid in the Premisses, command You, that if Judgment " be thereupon given, then the Record and Process aforesaid, with all Things concerning them, " before You the foresaid Chancellor and Treasurer in the Chamber of Council nigh the Ex- " chequer aforesaid, called the Council-chamber, on Tuesday the 19th Day of this Instant Month " of May, you cause to come, to the End that you the aforesaid Chancellor and Treasurer hav- " ing seen and examined the Record and the Process aforesaid, and having heard the Informa- " tions of our aforesaid Barons of our Exchequer aforesaid, further in that Behalf, by the Advice " of the Justices and such other sage Persons, you may cause to be done what of Right, and ac- " cording to the Form of the Statute aforesaid ought to be done. Witness ourself at Westminster " the 1st Day of May in the 21st Year of our Reign."

Assignment of Error. " At which said 19th Day of May before the aforesaid Chancellor and Treasurer in the Cham- " ber, &c. came the aforesaid Thomas Walsingham and John Gillibrand in their proper Persons, " and immediately say, that in the Record and Process aforesaid, and in giving the Judgment a- " foresaid, it is manifestly erred in this, viz. that whereas they the aforesaid Thomas Walsingham and " John Gillibrand in the same Court pleaded a sufficient Plea in Bar of the Information aforesaid, " as in the aforesaid Record appears, to which said Bar the aforesaid Attorney of the said Lady " the Queen for the same Lady the Queen in the same Court insufficiently replied, in Manner " and Form as also above in the same Record is mentioned, upon which said Replication they " the aforesaid Thomas Walsingham and John Gillibrand demurred in Law, and that notwithstand- " ing, it was adjudged by the Barons aforesaid that they the said Thomas Walsingham and John " Gillibrand of the Intrusion, Trespass, and Contempt in the Information aforesaid should be " convicted. By Reason whereof and of other Errors in the Record aforesaid appearing, they the " same Thomas Walsingham and John Gillibrand pray that the Judgment aforesaid may be reversed " and wholly annulled." GAWDY.

Rejoinder in nullo est erratum. " And the aforesaid Attorney of the said Lady the Queen says, that in the Record and Process " aforesaid, and in giving the Judgment aforesaid it is in nothing erred. And he prays for the " same Lady the Queen that the Court of the Lady the Queen here may proceed to the Exami- " nation as well of the Record and Process as of the Matter aforesaid above assigned for Errors, " and that the aforesaid Judgment in all Things may be affirmed." G. GERARD.

Easter Term 21 Eliz. And it was prayed on Behalf of the Plaintiffs in Error that the first Record might be amended in the Averment that Wyat had Issue, and that the Queen's Attorney might confess it by the Replication, so that by that Means it might be effectually shewn that Wyat had Issue alive. And thereupon a Day was given over until the last Saturday in Easter Term in the 21st Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth. At which Day Answer was given by the Queen's Attorney that he would not amend the Record, but that it should stand as it was.

And then the ſaid Lord Chancellor ſaid, we have taken the Record into Conſideration, and have conferred with all the Juſtices of the King's Bench, and with Sir Roger Manwood now Lord Chief Baron, who knows the Opinions of his Companions, and we are all agreed to affirm the Judgment below. And therefore he ordered Fanſhaw the Queen's Remembrancer to enter the Judgment accordingly. And the Apprentice deſired of the Lord Chancellor and of the Lord Treaſurer to know the Cauſe of their Judgment, viz. whether it was upon the Matter in Law, or for the Inſufficiency of the Averment that Wyat had Iſſue, or for both, but they would not ſhew the Reaſons thereof; and the Lord Treaſurer ſaid that they themſelves knew the Cauſe thereof well enough, but that it was not neceſſary for them to ſhew it openly. Wherefore Judgment was given, which was entered as follows. Judgment affirmed.

At which Day in the aforeſaid Council-chamber at Weſtminſter came the aforeſaid Lord Chancellor and Lord Treaſurer, &c. And as well the aforeſaid Gilbert Gerard Attorney General, &c. as the aforeſaid Thomas Walſingham and John Gillibrand before the ſame Chancellor and Treaſurer in their proper Perſons likewiſe came. Whereupon the aforeſaid Chancellor and Treaſurer having ſeen and diligently examined and more fully underſtood as well the Record and Proceſs aforeſaid as the Matter aforeſaid above aſſigned for Error, and having heard the Informations of the aforeſaid Barons of the Lady the Queen of her Exchequer aforeſaid, and having taken to their Counſel in this Behalf the Juſtices and other ſage Perſons, and having had mature Deliberation thereon, for that it ſeems to the ſame Chancellor and Treaſurer that in the ſaid Record and Proceſs and in giving the Judgment aforeſaid it is in nothing erred, it is conſidered that the Judgment aforeſaid in all Things be affirmed, and ſtand in all it's Force and Effect, the ſaid Cauſe or Matter above aſſigned for Error in any wiſe notwithſtanding, &c. The reſt of the Record. Judgment.

And afterwards I heard that the Lord Chancellor, and the Lord Treaſurer, and the Juſtices of the King's Bench, and the Barons unanimouſly agreed that the Averment in the Bar that Wyat who was attainted had Iſſue alive was not effectually ſhewn, and that it was of no more Weight than if it had not been ſhewn at all. * But it is ſaid that they did not all unanimouſly agree in their Opinions upon the Matter in Law. Nota bene. * See Hob. 304.

F I N I S.

A Report made by an uncertain Author of Part of an Argument of Edmund Plowden Apprentice of the Middle Temple, which was made by him at Serjeant's Inn in Fleet-Street, on Thurſday the 19*th Day of* October in the 6*th Year of the Reign of Queen* Elizabeth, before Sir Robert Catline Knight Chief Juſtice of England, and Sir James Dyer Knight Chief Juſtice of the Common Bench, in a Caſe depending by Bill in the Chancery between William Baſſet and William Morgan and their Wives, Daughters to Sir Rice Manxel Knight and Anne his Wife, Plaintiffs, and Edward Manxel Defendant, the Matters in Law ariſing whereupon were abbreviated, and by the Order of Sir Nicholas Bacon Knight, then Keeper of the Great Seal, made by the Aſſent of the ſaid Parties the 30*th Day of* June 1563 in Trinity Term in the 5*th Year of the Reign of the ſaid Queen (as appears there in the Book of Regiſter of Orders of the ſame Term fo.* 74*) were referred to be argued before the ſaid Chief Juſtices, for their Opinions therein. And the Caſe was abbreviated, and the Points in Law divided as hereafter follows.*

And Note that this Report is no Part of Mr. Plowden's Commentaries, nor printed by his Command, but at the Requeſt of certain Students, who thought it to contain Matter of much Uſe, and worthy to be made public, although no Report could be obtained of the whole Argument, nor of the Arguments of others upon the ſame Matter, nor of the Reſolution of the ſaid Juſtices thereupon.

SIR Rice Manxel was ſeized to him and to his Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten of and in the Manors of Oxwich, Portineon, Penrice, Horton, and Nicholaſton in the County of Glamorgan, and being ſo ſeized thereof, he enfeoffed William Baſſet and Thomas David ap Hoel, which William Baſſet and Thomas David ap Hoel together with the ſaid Sir Rice Manxel, the 1ſt Day of July in the 9th Year of the Reign of King Henry 8. made a Feoffment of the Premiſſes (except certain Parcels thereof) to John Bridges and Henry Bridges and others in Fee, to the Uſe of the ſaid Sir Rice Manxel and Anne his Wife, Siſter to the ſaid John Bridges, and of the Heirs of their two Bodies begotten. Which Anne died, having Iſſue by the ſaid Sir Rice Manxel one Son, who afterwards died in the Life of the ſaid Sir Rice, and two Daughters the Wives of the Plaintiffs, after whoſe Death, viz. in the 26th Year of King Henry 8. the ſaid Sir Rice entered into the Premiſſes upon the ſaid John Bridges and his other Co-Feoffees, and thereof enfeoffed Philip Manxel and John Cradock in Fee, againſt whom one John Turbervill within ſix Weeks after brought a Writ of Entry in the Poſt in the Court-Marcher within which the Manors lay, who vouched to Warranty the ſaid Sir Rice Manxel, who entered, and vouched over the common Vouchee, who entered, and loſt according to the common Form of common Recoveries, and the Tenant and the Vouchee had Judgment to recover in Value, which Recovery of the Demandant was executed accordingly, and the Recovery was to the Uſe of Sir Rice Manxel and his Heirs. And afterwards the Statute of 27 H. 8. was made, which transferred Uſes into Poſſeſſeſſion, by Force of which Statute the ſaid Sir Rice entered and was ſeized in Fee. And being ſo ſeized, the ſaid John Bridges, being then Survivor of the Feoffees to the ſaid Uſe in Tail, by his Deed in the 1ſt Year of the Reign of Queen Mary releaſed to the ſaid Sir Rice in theſe Words, for me and my Heirs all Actions, Quarrels, and Demands which I have againſt the aforeſaid Rice. And afterwards the ſaid Sir Rice Manxel by his Teſtament in Writing gave the Manor of Penrice to one Mary Manxel now living for her Life, and the Reſidue of the Premiſſes deſcended to Edward Manxel the Defendant his Son by a ſecond Wife. And afterwards Edward Bridges Knight who now is Lord Chandois, being Son and Heir to the ſaid John Bridges the Survivor of the Feoffees, entered into the Premiſſes to the Uſe of the ſaid two Daughters the Wives of the Plaintiffs, and Iſſues in Tail of the ſaid Sir Rice and Anne his Wife; and afterwards the ſaid two Daughters and their Huſbands now Plaintiffs entered, upon whom the ſaid Edward Manxel and Mary Manxel entered. And if their Entry be lawful or not, is the Queſtion.

And this Caſe was divided into ſeven Points. Firſt, whether or no the ancient Tail be barred by the Recovery in which Sir Rice Manxel came in as Vouchee. 1 Point.

Secondly, whether or no the Uſe in Tail, by which the Plaintiffs claim, is bound by the ſame Recovery. 2 Point.

Thirdly, whereas it was alledged that the Recovery was executed in Lands which one Philip Bennet held for Life at the Time of the Recovery and Execution, and in which the Tenants in the Præcipe had no Eſtate but in Reverſion in Fee-Simple depending upon the ſaid Eſtate for Life, whether or no the Eſtate-Tail be barred, inaſmuch as the Execution deveſted the Eſtate in Fee-Simple out of the Tenants: And if it ſhall not be accounted any Execution againſt the Tenants for the ſame Land nor for the Reſidue, yet foraſmuch as the Vouchee, who was Tenant in Tail, had Judgment to recover over in Value, whether or no the ſaid Edward Manxel, who has the Land by Deſcent, ſhall be remitted to the Tail, or whether the Tail be barred by the Judgment without any Execution, and if it be, then there is no Remitter. 3 Point.

Fourthly, whereas it is alledged, to prove that the ſaid Philip Bennet had an Eſtate for Life, that he was Tenant at Will, and that the Words (demiſe and to farm let to him for Life) whi.h 4 Point. Vide D. 269. pl. 20.

were

were contained in a Deed made to him by the ſaid Sir Rice Manxel, ſhall enure as a Confirmation to him for Life, whether or no the Words are ſufficient in Law ſo to do.

5 Point. Fifthly, foraſmuch as the ſaid Philip Bennet was but Tenant at Sufferance to the ſaid John Bridges and his other Co-Feoffees at the Time of making the ſaid Deed, whether or no ſuch Deed made to the ſaid Philip Bennet by the ſaid Sir Rice Manxel, who was but Ceſtuy que Uſe, ſhall enure to enlarge his Eſtate, or if it ſhall be void for Want of Privity.

6 Point. Sixthly, whether or no the Releaſe which was made by John Bridges the Survivor of the Feoffees to Sir Rice Manxel of all Actions, Suits, and Demands which he had againſt the ſaid Rice, extinguiſhed the Right and Title of Entry of the ſaid Feoffees, which accrued after the Death of the ſaid Sir Rice.

7 Point. Seventhly, whether or no the dying ſeized of Sir Rice Manxel, and the Deſcent to Edward his Heir, ſhall take away the Entry of the ſaid Lord Chandois, the Heir to the Survivor of the Feoffees, to revive the firſt Uſe.

And theſe Matters ſo divided were argued before the ſaid Chief Juſtices at Serjeant's Inn in Fleet-Street, in Trinity Term in the 6th Year of the Reign of the preſent Queen, by Bell Utter-Barriſter on the Part of the Plaintiffs, and by Thomas Bromley Utter-Barriſter on the Part of the Defendants. And on Thurſday the 19th Day of October they were argued by Plowden Apprentice on the Part of the Plaintiffs, and by Wray Apprentice on the Part of the Defendants.

To the 1ſt Point. An Eſtate-Tail may be barred by a common Recovery. S. P. Dr. & Stud. lib. 1. cap. 26. 1 Finch 28. 2 Finch 40. 10 Co. 37. b. 2 Rol. Abr. 396. E. pl. 1.

And as to the firſt three Points, Plowden ſaid as follows. Foraſmuch as the firſt Point comprehends this Queſtion, viz. whether or no the Right of the old Tail, which was in Sir Rice Manxel, was bound by the Recovery in which the ſaid Sir Rice Manxel being vouched entered into the Warranty, and vouched over, I will not argue it as a principal Point by itſelf, becauſe by the univerſal Conſent of all Men learned in the Law it is received as a firm Bar to the Tail, and a great Part of the Inheritances of the Realm depend upon it, ſo that it would be very improper to call it in Queſtion now, or to diſpute it as a doubtful Matter, and therefore I ſhall paſs over this Point, and proceed to the ſecond, in the Diſcuſſion of which I ſhall ſhew fully the Reaſons and Cauſes why the Tail is bound in the firſt Point.

To the 2d Point. 4 Petty Points. And as to the ſecond Point, viz. if the Right of the Tail in Uſe, and the Eſtate of the Feoffees to the Uſe, be bound by the Recovery, divers Things are to be conſidered herein. Firſt, if the Uſe ſhall be adjudged an Eſtate-Tail by the Statute of Weſtminſter 2. And if it ſhall, then, ſecondly, if the Recovery ſhall bind the Tail in Uſe by the common Law. And if it ſhall not, then, thirdly, if any of the Statutes concerning the Pernors of Profits will make the Recovery good to bind the Tail. And if none of them can do it, then, fourthly, if the Statute of 1 Rich 3. cap. 1. will make the Recovery of Force to bind the Tail in Uſe.

1 Petty Point. A Uſe in Tail is an Eſtate-Tail within the Equity of the Statute de donis. S. P. Co. Litt. 20. a. Crompt. J. C. 60. a. Plowd. Quær. § 185. And it ſeems to me that neither the common Law nor any of the Acts extend to bar the Right of the Uſe in Tail. And as to the firſt of the ſaid Points, it ſeems clearly that upon the ſaid Feoffment made to John Bridges and others the Uſe limited to Sir Rice and his Wife, and to the Heirs of their two Bodies begotten, ſhall be an Eſtate-Tail within the Equity of the Statute of Weſtminſter 2. cap. 1. For it does not ſeem to be within the Words of the Act, which are, of Tenements which are oftentimes given upon Condition, &c. and the Examples of Eſtates put in the Statute are of Lands only, and neither the Tenements here, viz. the Manors, nor any Lands are given in Tail, but in Fee-Simple to the Uſe of Sir Rice and his Wife in Tail, and foraſmuch as neither Land nor Tenement is given in Tail, but the Lands and Tenements are given in Fee-Simple, and the Uſe thereupon is limited in Tail, it is out of the Words of the Statute. Yet nevertheleſs foraſmuch as the Uſe is created out of the Land, and is taken in the Law to enſue the Nature and Quality of the Land, and as ſuch it is merely real, and alſo foraſmuch as the ſaid Statute is largely and extenſively expounded for the entailing of Things, it ſhall be taken to be an Eſtate-Tail by the Equity of the Statute rather than by the Words. [a] As if a Man makes a Gift in Tail with Warranty accordingly, this Warranty is in Tail, ſo that although the Donee releaſes it, [b] ſuch Releaſe ſhall not bar the Iſſue, but he may well enough vouch by Reaſon thereof, cauſâ qua ſupra. [c] So if a Man makes a Gift in Tail by Deed, foraſmuch as this Deed concerns the Inheritance of the Land in Tail, it is within the Statute, ſo that although the Donee gives the Deed to another, [d] yet the Iſſue in Tail ſhall have a Writ of Detinue, as it ſeems by the better Opinions of the Juſtices in 4 H. 7. [e] So if Copyhold-Land is granted by Copy to one and to his Heirs of his Body, this is within the Equity of the Statute de donis conditionalibus, as Littleton holds in the Chapter of Tenant at Will according to the Cuſtom, where he ſhews that the Iſſue ſhall have a Plaint in Nature of a Formedon in deſcender. [f] So if a Man grants to A. and to his Heirs of his Body the Office of Receiver of his Manor, or of Bailiff of his Manor, with a Fee, this Office ſhall be in Tail by the Equity of the ſaid Statute, and the Donee cannot by his Grant thereof bar his Iſſue, becauſe it is exerciſeable in Land. [g] But if a Man will grant to A. and to his Heirs of his Body the Office of Maſter of his Hawks, or of Maſter of his Horſes, with a Fee, this is not within the Equity of the ſaid Statute, but the Surrender or other Act of the Donee may bar the Iſſue, becauſe the Exerciſe of the Charge does not concern Land,

[a] Co. Litt. 392. b. Plowd. Quær. § 321 Per Plowden, alii contra.
[b] Co. Litt. 20. a. 392. b. Sed contra Plowd. Quær. § 185.
[c] Co. Litt. 20. a. 2 Rol. R. 340. 2 Bac. Abr. 258. Plowd. Quær. § 321.
[d] T. 4 H. 7. 10. a. Fitz. Detinue, 31. Bro. Charters de terre 53. H. 9. Ed. 4. 52. pl. 15. per Curiam. Fitz. Detinue 28. Co. Litt. 393. a.
[e] Plowd. Quær. § 185. Vide Litt. § 76. Co. Compl. Copyh. 58. § 47, 48. This has been multum vexata Quæſtio, ſee Cro. C. 43, &c. Godb. 367. O. Bendl. 187, &c. 1 Rol. Abr. 838. pl. 8. Gilb. Treat. of Ten. 3 Lev. 327. Quære if the Law is yet ſettled herein. Vin. Abr. tit. Copyhold F. e. per totum.
[f] Co. Litt. 20. a. O. Bendl. 190. 7 Co. 33. b. 1 Rol. Abr. 838. pl. 5, 7. 1 Finch 123, 124. 2 Bac. Abr. 258.
[g] Co. Litt. 20. a. 7 Co. 33 b. 1 Rol. Abr. 837. S. pl. 2. 1 Finch 126. Curſon 23. 2 Bac. Abr. 259.

but

but Chattles, and does not ſavour of the Realty: [a] So if a Man for himſelf and his Heirs grants an Annuity to A. and to his Heirs of his Body, the Releaſe of the Grantee ſhall extinguiſh the Annuity, becauſe the Body of the Grantor only is chargeable to the Body of the Grantee, and no Land is charged with the Annuity, ſo that it does not ſavour of the Realty, and ſo is the Diverſity. And ſo here foraſmuch as the Uſe is a Confidence put in a Man touching Land, and is created out of Land, and the Land is the Foundation of it, ſo that it ſavours of the Realty, it is contained within the Equity of the Statute de donis conditionalibus; and ſo it is taken by the greater Part of the Juſtices in [b] 19 H. 8. and accordingly it has been taken ever ſince.

[a] Plowd. Quær. § 185 Co. Litt. 20. a. 7 Co. 33. b. 1 Rol. Abr. 837. S. pl. 3. W. Jones 214. Curſon 23. 2 Bac. Abr. 259. Toth. 69, Wiard v. Moſs.

[b] T. 19. H. 8. 13. Co. Litt. 20. a.

Further, as to the Point whether or no by the common Law the Recovery here ſhall be a Bar to the Iſſue in Tail, or to the Feoffees, it ſeems to me that it ſhall not. And in order to make this more intelligible, I will ſuppoſe the Caſe to be that the Recovery had been againſt Sir Rice immediately, for when he came in as Vouchee, it could not be ſtronger, as to this Purpoſe, than it ſhould have been if the Præcipe had been brought againſt Sir Rice being Ceſtuy que Uſe in Tail in Poſſeſſion. And as to this, it is to be obſerved that [c] by the common Law Ceſtuy que Uſe had nothing to do with the Land, and could not meddle with it, [d] and if he had entered and occupied the Land, the Feoffees might have had an Action of Treſpaſs or Aſſize againſt him, as it is held in 5 H. 7. For the Land belonged to the Feoffees, and they were ſeized thereof, and the Ceſtuy que Uſe had nothing to do with it, but he repoſed a Confidence in the Feoffees that they would permit him to take the Profits of the Land, and if they would not, he had no Remedy in the Courts of the common Law, becauſe he had no Eſtate or Intereſt in the Land by the Judgment of the common Law. And if the Feoffees ſuffered him to enter and take the Profits of the Land to his own Uſe, yet he was but Tenant at Sufferance to them, and not able to anſwer to any Præcipe quod reddat, for he had no Eſtate of Freehold, but every Præcipe quod reddat ought to be brought againſt the Feoffees, for the Land was their's, and their Land could not be recovered againſt the Ceſtuy que Uſe, nor could his Uſe be demanded by a Præcipe. And if one had recovered the Land againſt the Ceſtuy que Uſe, and had entered, or had obtained Execution by Habere facias ſeizinam, and the Feoffees had been ouſted thereby, they ſhould have had an Aſſize; and although the Ceſtuy que Uſe was eſtopped to claim any Uſe againſt the Recoveror, becauſe he had anſwered and loſt as Tenant of the Land, yet when the Feoffees had re-entered, or had recovered againſt the Recoveror, they were ſeized to the Uſe of the firſt Ceſtuy que Uſe, for they could not ſay but that the Recovery was null and void, and they did not claim under it, but above it, from whence it follows that they could not ſay otherwiſe but that they had the Land to the Uſe of the Ceſtuy que Uſe, as they had it before the Recovery. Wherefore it is evident that by the common Law neither the Land nor the Uſe could be demanded nor recovered againſt the Ceſtuy que Uſe by a Præcipe quod reddat, and if it could, then were the Acts concerning the Pernors of Profits made in vain.

[c] Kelw. 42. b. per Frowick, by the Courſe of the common Law Ceſtuy que Uſe has no more to do with the Land than the meereſt Stranger in the World. S. P. Crompt. J. C. 60. a. Ante 349 (d).

[d] M. 5 H. 7, 5. b. Bro. Feoffment al Uſe 23. H. 15 H. 7, 2. pl. 4. Bro. Ibid. 39. 1 Co. 140. a. Per Anderſon C. J. 1 And. 320. Vin. Abr. tit. Uſes E. b. pl. 3. Ante 349 (e).

And as to thoſe Acts they were made in order to make that good which the common Law could not do, viz. to make Recoveries of Land againſt the Ceſtuy que Uſe good and effectual againſt the Ceſtuy que Uſe himſelf, and againſt the Ter-Tenants alſo; but none of the ſaid Acts makes any Recovery againſt Ceſtuy que Uſe good, but only ſuch Recoveries as are had upon good Title paramount the Right of the Feoffees. [e] For the firſt of the Acts is that of 1 Rich. 2. cap. 9. which recites in the Preamble that many People having Right and juſt Title to Lands and Tenements are wrongfully delayed of their Rights and Actions by Gifts and Feoffments made, &c. and alſo it recites that many diſſeize others, and make Feoffments to Perſons unknown, &c. and it ordains and enacts that the Diſſeizees ſhall have their Recoveries againſt the Diſſeizors who take the Profits, which is as much as to ſay, who are Ceſtuys que Uſe, ſo that they commence their Suit within the Year after the Diſſeizin done. So that the Preamble declares that the Miſchief which the Makers of the Act intended to remedy was to thoſe who had Right and juſt Title, or were diſſeized, and the Purview gives the Remedy only to the Diſſeizees, ſo that there ought to be a Diſſeizin in Deed, and after that a Uſe made, in which Caſe Remedy is given to ſuch Diſſeizee againſt the Ceſtuy que Uſe, and a Recovery againſt him ſhall bind him and the Feoffees, and ſo this Act makes no other but the Ceſtuy que Uſe able to loſe the Land of the Feoffees in a juſt Action brought by the Diſſeizee, and it does not make him able to loſe the Land of the Feoffees in a faint Action brought againſt him. The next Statute which was made touching the Pernors of Profits was that of 4 H. 4. cap. 7. which enacts that the Diſſeizee ſhall have his Action againſt the firſt Diſſeizor, during the Life of the ſame Diſſeizor, ſo that the ſame Diſſeizor takes the Profits at the Time of the Suit commenced, and as to other Writs, that the Demandant ſhall commence his Suit within the Year againſt him who is Tenant of the Freehold at the Time of the Action accrued, ſo that ſuch Tenant takes the Profits at the Time of the Suit commenced. Which Act alſo gives the Action to the Diſſeizee, or to any other to whom an Action is accrued, againſt ſuch Ceſtuys que Uſe ſpoken of in the Act, and it gives it to no others. In like Manner the Act of 11 H. 6. cap. 3. enlarges the Recovery of the Diſſeizees, and enacts that the Diſſeizees ſhall have all Manner of Writs grounded upon Diſſeizin againſt the Diſſeizors and their Feoffees, ſo that ſuch Diſſeizors and Feoffees, againſt whom the Writs ſhall be brought, take the Profits at the Time of the Writs purchaſed. All which three Statutes are made for the Benefit of Diſſeizees who have good and lawful Cauſe of Action, in order to raiſe up to them a certain Tenant who ſhall be able to anſwer their Demand, ſo that their Recovery ſhall not be defeated by Non-Tenancy in him againſt whom the Recovery was. But Ceſtuy que Uſe is not enabled by theſe Acts to loſe the Land of the Feoffees at the Suit of one who never was diſſeized, and never had Right or Title, but whoſe Suit was merely faint, for if the Right of him who recovers be not above the Right of the Feoffees, the Feoffees ſhall falſify his Recovery, and ſay that as the Ceſtuy que Uſe cannot give the Land of the Feoffees to another, no more can he bind them by a faint Recovery againſt him, which is no other than his own Act, inaſmuch as the Recoveror has no Right; and the Acts were not made for the Benefit of the Ceſtuy que Uſe, nor to give him Power to do what he would with the Land, but only for the Benefit of him who had Right and Title to the Land above the Uſe and Eſtate of the Feoffees, and not under it. So that faint Recoveries are out of the Purview of theſe Statutes, and remain at the common Law, for which Reaſon they ſhall be merely void. And ſuch is the principal Caſe here, for John Turbervill had no Right to the Land, but his Recovery was upon faint Title, and ſo it ſhall be intended by the Caſe, for which Reaſon theſe Acts concerning the Pernors of Profits will not enable Sir Rice Manxel, ſuppoſing that the Præcipe had been brought immediately againſt himſelf, to bind himſelf or the Feoffees by ſuch faint Recovery. And ſo the Law ſtood until the Statute of : Rich. 3. cap. 1. was made.

[e] 3 Petty Point. The Statutes touching the Pernors of Profits do not enable Ceſtuy que Uſe to bar the Tail in Uſe by a common Recovery, for thoſe Statutes only enable him to loſe the Land in a juſt Action brought againſt him by a Diſſeizee, and not in a faint Action at the Suit of one who never was diſſeized, nor had any Right or Title to the Land paramount the Uſe.

[e] Vin. Abr. tit. Feoffment B. 3. pl. 1.

4 Petty Point. The Statute of 1 R. 3. cap. 1. does not enable Ceſtuy que Uſe in Tail to bar the Eſtate-Tail in Uſe by a common Recovery, where the Heirs to the ſame claim as Heirs to the Ceſtuy que Uſe and his Wife in Tail by the Form of the Gift; for by that Statute they ought to claim only as Heirs to the Grantor.

And as to that Act, it gives greater Power to the Ceſtuy que Uſe than he had before by the common Law, or by the other Statutes. For beſides that all his Feoffments, Gifts, Releaſes, Grants, Leaſes, &c. are by that Act made firm and ſtable, it ordains that all Recoveries had againſt Ceſtuy que Uſe ſhall be good and effectual, &c. [a] which Word (all) being general admits of no Exception, but comprehends faint Recoveries as well as Recoveries upon good Title, for a faint Recovery is a Recovery, and in the Words (all Recoveries) every particular Recovery is contained, for in the univerſal every ſingular is comprehended. So that this Act enlarges the Ability of the Ceſtuy que Uſe, and amplifies and extends his Power, by making as well faint as lawful Recoveries had againſt him to be good and effectual.

[a] Vin. Ab. tit. Uſes. W. a. pl. 1. in Notis.

But although the Act makes ſuch faint Recoveries to be good and effectual, yet it may be aſked, againſt whom ſhall they be good and effectual? To this I anſwer, that the Act itſelf ſhews this under the Word (againſt), which is there repeated in two ſeveral Places. The firſt (againſt) is thus, viz. againſt the Seller, Feoffor, Donor, or Grantor, and his and their Heirs claiming the ſame only as Heir or Heirs to the ſame Seller, Feoffor, Donor, or Grantor, and every of them. And although it is made good againſt the Seller, Feoffor, Donor, or Grantor, and here there is no Seller, Feoffor, Donor, or Grantor but the Ceſtuy que Uſe, who is in the Place of Tenant, yet he is taken within the Equity of the Act, foraſmuch as the Act before makes good all Recoveries had againſt him, ſo that if the Ceſtuy que Uſe, againſt whom the Recovery is had, ſhould not be contained in the Word (againſt), then the Sentence thereof would not be as full as the Sentence of the other Words, viz. the Seller, Feoffor, &c. but it would be imperfect, which ſhall never be preſumed to be the Intent of the Makers of the Act, but they intended that Recoveries ſhould be good againſt Ceſtuy que Uſe, as well as his Feoffment ſhould be good againſt him.

[b] Ibid.

[b] But this (againſt) makes the Recovery good againſt no Heirs but ſuch as claim the ſame only as Heir or Heirs to the ſame Seller, Feoffor, &c. And the Heirs in Tail here, viz. the two Daughters who are the Wives of the Plaintiffs, don't claim only as Heir to Sir Rice, but as Heirs of the Body of Sir Rice and his Wife by the Form of the Gift, and ſo the Gift is the principal Part of the Title of every Heir in Tail. For in a Quare Impedit the Plaintiff ought to allege Preſentment in him from whom he claims, and if the Iſſue in Tail brings a Quare Impedit, it is not a ſufficient Title for him to alledge Preſentment in the Donee, but he ought to alledge Preſentment in the Donor alſo, for from him he derives his Title, and he does not claim only as Heir, for none does ſo but the Heir in Fee-Simple, but he claims as Heir of the Body by the Form of the Gift, and the Gift and the Deſcent together make his Title. [c] So if the Iſſue in Tail brings a Formedon, and the Tenant vouches, and the Demandant will counterplead it, he ought to ſay that neither the Vouchee nor any of his Anceſtors, whoſe Heir he is, ever had any Thing after the Gift, and it is not ſufficient to ſay, after the Time of him of whoſe Seizin he demands, as it is adjudged in 2 R. 3. and 21 Ed. 4. for the Gift is the Demandant's Title, and he ought to counterplead the Eſtate of the Vouchee and of his Anceſtors after it. And if the Father is Ceſtuy que Uſe for Life, the Remainder to the Son and Heir apparent in Fee, a Recovery againſt the Father ſhall not bind the Son, for he claims the Uſe by the Remainder, and not only as Heir. So if I ſell Land, and all Evidences concerning the ſame Land only, the Vendee ſhall not have Evidences which concern the ſame Land and other Land alſo. [d] So if the Father in Conſideration of Money paid to him, and of the Marriage of his Son, covenants by Deed that from thenceforth he will ſtand ſeized of his Land to the Uſe of himſelf for Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of his Son, and the Heirs of his Body, and the Deed is not enrolled, the Uſe and Poſſeſſion of the Land is changed thereby, and yet the Statute of 27 H. 8. of Inrollments enacts that no Land ſhall paſs, alter, or change from one to another, where any Eſtate of Freehold ſhall be made, or any Uſe thereof, by Reaſon only of any Bargain and Sale, unleſs the ſame Bargain and Sale be inrolled within ſix Months, &c. but here the Uſe is not made by Reaſon only of a Bargain and Sale, but by Reaſon of a Marriage alſo. So the Statute of 32 H. 8. cap. 37. enacts that Executors may diſtrain in the Land for the Arrearages of Rent, as long as the ſame Land ſhall continue in the Poſſeſſion of him who ought to pay the ſame Rent, or of any other Perſon claiming it only by or from the ſame Tenant by Deſcent, [e] yet if Tenant in Tail with Remainder over dies, the Rent being in Arrear, and the Iſſue in Tail enters, he ſhall not be diſtrained for the Rent, for he does not claim the Land only from his Father by Deſcent, but by the Deſcent and by the Gift alſo, and ſo not only by the Deſcent, for [c] H. 2 R. 3. Fitz. Counterplea de Voucher 8. H. 21 Ed. 4. 20. pl. 24. Fitz. Counterplea de Voucher 7. Bro. 45.

[d] Crompt. J. C. 60. a.

[e] Contra 4 Co. 50. b.

for the Word (only) is excluſive of every Plural. So in the principal Caſe the Wives of the Plaintiffs don't claim only as Heirs to Sir Rice, but as Heirs to Sir Rice and his Wife by the Form of the Gift, which Gift is the principal Part of the Title, and therefore they are not in the Number of thoſe who are comprehended under the firſt (againſt).

And as to the ſecond (againſt), the Words thereof are, againſt all others having or claiming any Title or Intereſt in the ſame only to the Uſe of the ſame Seller, Feoffor, &c. or his or their ſaid Heirs, at the Time of the Bargain, Sale, Covenant, Gift, or Grant made. Which Words in ſome Meaſure ſtand in Need of an Expoſition, for where it is ſaid, to the Uſe of the Seller, &c. or his or their Heirs, by the Letter it ought to be to the Uſe of him only, or to the Uſe of his Heirs only, ſo that if it be to the Uſe of him and his Heirs, it is out of the Words, but yet it is within the Intent of the Act. For if the Act ſhould be taken literally, it would have no Senſe in it as to the Heirs, for the Feoffees cannot be ſeized to the Uſe of the Heirs of the Seller at the Time of the Sale, becauſe the Seller can have no * Heir as long as he himſelf lives, for the Name of Heir is given to a Man in reſpect that his Anceſtor is dead; and therefore if we would make Senſe of it, it ought to be taken to the Uſe of him, or to the Uſe of him and his Heirs, at the Time of the Sale. And every other Eſtate, as an Eſtate for another's Life, and the like, are taken within the Equity of the Act.

* Nemo eſt hæres viventis.

But the Heirs limited in this ſecond (againſt) are the like Heirs as are contained in the firſt (againſt), for the Words are, to the Uſe of the Seller, &c. or his or their ſaid Heirs, which Word (ſaid) being a Relative has Relation to the Heirs mentioned in the firſt (againſt), and thoſe are, Heirs in Fee-ſimple, as is ſhewn before. For if I give Black-Acre to A. for Life, the Remainder to B. for Life, the Remainder to the Heirs Females of the Body of A. and by the ſame Deed I give White-Acre to the ſame A. for Life, the Remainder to C. for Life, the Remainder to the ſaid Heirs of A. this ſhall be to the Heirs Females of his Body, by the Relation of the Word (ſaid). So here the (ſaid Heirs) ſhall be Heirs in Fee-ſimple, for the Heirs in Tail does not claim only as Heir, as it has been ſaid. [a] And if the Feoffees were ſeized to the Uſe of A. for Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of B. and his Heirs in Fee-ſimple, and B. enters and makes a Feoffment in the Life of A. the Ceſtuy que Uſe for Life, this Feoffment does not bind the Feoffees, becauſe they had not nor claimed the Land only to the Uſe of the ſame Feoffor at the Time of the Feoffment, but to the Uſe of another for Life firſt, and afterwards to the Uſe of the Feoffor. And ſo in the principal Caſe, after the Death of Sir Rice Manxel the Feoffees do not claim only to the Uſe of the Heirs of him againſt whom the Recovery was had; but to the Uſe of the Heirs in Tail, who are other Heirs, and therefore after the Death of the ſaid Sir Rice the Heir of the Survivor of the Feoffees may enter to revive the Uſe in Tail, becauſe he is not bound to claim the Land to the Uſe of ſuch Heir; and then if he is out of the Words of the Act, he is out of the Intent of it, for the Word (only) was put in vain, if by the Equity of the Statute he ſhould be included, and in 19 H. 8. and alſo in 4 H. 7. it is the better Opinion that the Heir in Tail neither by the Letter nor by the Equity of the Act ſhall be bound by a Recovery or Feoffment made by his Anceſtor, and as he ſhall not be bound, no more ſhall the Feoffees, but they may well enter after the Death of the Tenant in Tail to revive the Uſe in Tail in the Iſſue.

[a] 25 H. 8. Bro. Feoffments al Uſes 44. B.N.C. § 75. 1 Co. 87. a. Gilb. Law of Uſes 29, 239, 240. Ante 350(a).

And thus far I have argued (for the clearer Apprehenſion of the Matter) upon a Suppoſition and by Way of Admittance that the Præcipe had been brought immediately againſt Sir Rice Manxel himſelf, and that he had not come in as Vouchee, but had been Tenant in Uſe in the Action. Now I ſhall examine whether or no there is any Diverſity, as to the Recovery, when Sir Rice, who was Ceſtuy que Uſe in Tail, came in as Vouchee, and when the Præcipe was brought immediately againſt him, being Ceſtuy que Uſe. And as to this, it ſeems to me that if the Law be ſo as I have endeavoured to ſhew before, ſuppoſing that the Recovery had been had againſt Sir Rice being Ceſtuy que Uſe in Tail in Poſſeſſion, ſo and in the ſame Manner ſhall the Law be to all Purpoſes, and not a Jot more ſtrongly, when he came in as Vouchee, for when he came in as Vouchee, he came in upon the ſame Poſſeſſion which he had before, and upon no other, and to warrant that Poſſeſſion, and no other, and upon ſuch Poſſeſſion he vouched over. For when a Man is vouched to Warranty, and comes in, and enters into the Warranty, the Law preſumes that he parted with his firſt Poſſeſſion with Warranty, and comes in now to warrant the ſame Poſſeſſion, or elſe that he would not enter into the Warranty, but would counterplead it; [b] for he might demand a lien if he would, and if the Tenant ſhews a lien, he may counterplead it if it is not true, and if he did not make it; but if without demanding a lien he enters into the Warranty, who can ſay that there was no Warranty? Certainly none can ſay ſo, for the Tenant who has vouched him to Warranty cannot ſay but that there was a Warranty, the Vouchee cannot ſay but that there was a Warranty, inaſmuch as he hath entered into the Warranty to warrant the Land, the Heir of the Vouchee, for the Salvation of the Land which ſhall be rendered in Value, cannot deny the Warranty, for no Land ſhall deſcend to the Heir without Render in Value but Land in Fee-ſimple, and as the Anceſtor may alien the Land in Fee-ſimple, and by that Means defeat the Heir of it, ſo may he do any other Act which ſhall take it from the Heir, ſo that there is none, who is Privy to the Record, who hath Cauſe to deny the Warranty. Alſo no Stranger ſhall deny it, becauſe the Law always preſumes, when any one enters into the Warranty, that there was a Warranty in Deed, and that it was made upon a Feoffment or Grant of ſuch Eſtate as the Vouchee had before, and therefore no Stranger ſhall deny it.

[b] Vide Dy. 367. pl. 41.

If Vouchee enters into Warranty without demanding a lien, none ſhall be received to ſay that there was no Warranty in Fact, becauſe the Law preſumes to the contrary.

But perhaps it may be objected, that altho' the Law will preſume ſo when the Matter ſtands indifferent, yet here the Caſe is put that Sir Rice made a Feoffment, and it is not expreſſed that it it was by Deed, for which Reaſon it ſhall be taken to be without Deed, and ſo it ſhall be preciſely taken that there was no Warranty, and then to ſay that the Law will have it that there was a Warranty, and that Sir Rice came in as Ceſtuy que Uſe, and that he vouched over of ſuch Eſtate, and no other, when in Fact the Caſe is put otherwiſe, ſeems very unreaſonable; Sir, to this I anſwer, that whether Sir Rice made a Feoffment without Warranty to the two who were the Tenants in the Præcipe, or whether they diſſeized him, and no Warranty was ever made, and be the Caſe preciſely ſo put, nevertheleſs when Sir Rice entered into the Warranty, the Law would not ſuffer any Man, whether a Privy or a Stranger, to ſay otherwiſe but that there was a Warranty in Deed, and that it was annexed to a Feoffment or other Eſtate of Freehold, and that Sir Rice the Vouchee came in in ſuch Sort, and that he was in in the like Degree to all Purpoſes as he was before the Warranty made. And herein the Law is grounded upon a very reaſonable Preſumption, for when a Man is vouched, and enters into the Warranty, no reaſonable Perſon can adjudge otherwiſe but that he has juſt Cauſe ſo to do, for by ſuch Act the Vouchee binds himſelf to warrant the Land, and to render as much in Value as the Land in Demand is, if he cannot bar the Demandant. And becauſe ſuch Act tends meerly to the Vouchee's own Diſadvantage, and it is to be preſumed that no Man will prejudice himſelf without Cauſe, therefore the Law gives Credit to his Act, and believes that there is a Warranty, inſomuch that it will not ſuffer any one to ſay to the contrary. And there are many other Caſes in our Law, which are founded upon the like Preſumption. [a] As if a Præcipe quod reddat be brought againſt one for 20 Acres, and he comes in, and pleads Jointenancy with another by Deed ſhewn, altho' the Deed and the Plea be falſe, yet the Demandant cannot give any Anſwer to it, becauſe when the Demandant by his Writ admits him to be Tenant of the whole, and he ſays that he is Jointenant with another, that other (if it be falſe) may eſtop the Tenant by this Record from ſaying contrary to his Affirmation, and thereby he ſhall gain the Moiety of the Land againſt him who pleaded the Jointenancy, and therefore foraſmuch as Men are not uſed to lie to their own Diſadvantage, and this Plea, if it was not true, was meerly to the Tenant's own Prejudice, the Law, upon a Preſumption that it was true, would not admit the Demandant to anſwer and deny it, but the Writ ſhould have abated preſently by the Common Law, but now by the Statute de conjunctim feoffatis this Matter is remedied; [b] but Jointenancy by Fine remains not yet remedied, as it is taken in 29 Ed. 3. where in a Formedon the Tenant alledged Jointenancy with his Wife by Fine, and the Demandant ſaid that the Tenements were not compriſed in the Fine, and the Writ abated by Award, becauſe no Anſwer is to be received againſt the Plea, in reſpect of the Credit which the Law gives to it for the Reaſon aforeſaid. [c] So in Replevin if the Lord avows upon the Plaintiff as upon his very Tenant, and the Plaintiff diſclaims to hold of him, the Lord ſhall not be received to give any Anſwer to this, but ſhall be condemned preſently, whether it be true or not, and the Plaintiff ſhall recover his Damages againſt him, for the Law gives Credit to the Diſclaimer, inſomuch that if it is not true, the Lord ſhall recover the Land by Writ of Right upon Diſclaimer, and therefore the Law ſays that the Tenant will not tell a Lie upon the Price. [d] So in a Præcipe quod reddat if the Tenant ſays that he is Villain to J. S. and holds the Land of him in Villenage, the Writ ſhall abate preſently, and the Demandant ſhall not be received to give any Anſwer to it, altho' it be falſe, becauſe by the Plea the Tenant has bound [e] himſelf and his Blood to perpetual Bondage, which the Law preſumes he would not do if it was not true, and when there is ſuch manifeſt Argument of Truth, the Common Law ſays that is needleſs to bring it to a Trial, for which Reaſon it gives Credit to it as to the Goſpel: But now this Caſe is remedied by the Statute of 37 Ed. 3. cap. 17. by which an Averment is given to the Demandant againſt ſuch Exception. So if a Man becomes an Approver, and appeals others, the Law takes it as an Indictment, and gives as great Credit to it as if it had been found by a Jury of 12 Men, becauſe he cannot appeal others unleſs he firſt confeſs that he himſelf did the Felony with them, for which he ſhall be hanged, and the Law preſumes that no Man would make ſuch Confeſſion if it was not true; in reſpect of which Preſumption the Law looks upon ſuch Appeal to be as true as an Indictment. From which Caſes we ſee that the Common Law accepts divers Aſſertions and Allegations as a poſitive Proof, which, tho' not proved, none ſhall impugn, and this it does in reſpect of the Loſs which the Party, who aſſerts the ſame, ſhall ſuſtain if they be not true; and becauſe it is the natural Principle of Mankind to act and ſpeak according as it ſuits beſt with their own Intereſt and Advantage, and not otherwiſe, and as the common Proverb is, If a Man will gabber, he will gabber for Gain, for this Reaſon in all theſe Caſes the Law judges it to be needleſs and ſuperfluous to bring to Trial ſuch Acts or Allegations which are done or affirmed by him who will receive Prejudice thereby, for the Diſadvantage which he will ſuffer from them is the Reaſon why the Law gives ſuch Credit to his Words and Acts. So here when the Vouchee enters into the Warranty, and thereby hath bound himſelf to render in Value if he cannot bar the Demandant, the Cauſe of the Warranty is not examinable by a Privy or a Stranger, becauſe the Law believes that he has juſt Cauſe for entering into the ſame, and preſumes that otherwiſe he would not have run ſuch a Riſque as he has done. And therefore if one enfeoffs me with Warranty, and I am diſſeized, and the Diſſeizor being impleaded vouches me, and I enter into the Warranty as if the Warranty had been between him and me, I may vouch my Feoffor, and bind him to warrant to me againſt his Will, for it is no Plea for him to ſay that there is no Warranty between the Tenant in the Præcipe and me. So if in ſuch Caſe I had been Tenant in Tail at the Time of the Diſſeizin, I might have vouched my Donor; for every one who comes in to Warrant, and enters into the Warranty, ſhall be adjudged in of his firſt Poſſeſſion, and in whatſoever Degree

The Law gives Credit to every Man where he acts or ſpeaks to his own Diſadvantage. S. P. 1 Finch 25. 2 Finch 37.

[a] 1 Finch 25. Vin. Abr. tit. Intendment A. pl. 5.

[b] H. 29 Ed. 3. 18. a. Fitz. Maintenance de Brief 62. Kelw. 66. a. per Kingſmil.

[c] T. 13 H. 7. 27. b. per Keble. 1 Finch 26.

[d] 1 Finch 25. Vin. Abr. tit. Intendment A. pl. 5. See the like Caſe in Aſſize, 8 Aſſ. pl. 14. Bro. Villenage 32.

[e] H 41 Ed. 3. Fitz. Villenage 6. Co. Litt. 122. b.

he was in before, in the ſame Degree he, being Tenant by the Warranty, is in, and in no other. And therefore if the Intereſt or Eſtate which Sir Rice Manxel had before was as Ceſtuy que Uſe, he, being Tenant by the Warranty, was in in the ſame Intereſt and Eſtate, and was to all Intents in the ſame Degree as if the Præcipe had been brought immediately againſt him then being Ceſtuy que Uſe, and if the Recovery immediately againſt himſelf, being in of ſuch Eſtate, ſhould not have been any Bar, no more ſhall it now, and if it ſhould have been a Bar againſt him, being in of ſuch Eſtate, ſo ſhall it be now, for after that he is entered into the Warranty, he is in to all Reſpects of his firſt Eſtate. And to prove that every Tenant by the Warranty is in of his firſt Eſtate, I ſhall recite divers Caſes directly tending to this Point, whereof one is in [a] 8 Aſs. pl. 36. and ends in 9 Aſs. pl. 3. where it appears that in an Aſſize of Mortdanceſtor brought againſt Huſband and Wife for certain Land, the Huſband made Default, upon whoſe Default the Wife was received, and vouched to Warranty a Vicar, who entered into the Warranty, and ſaid that he was Vicar of the Church of S. and found his Church ſeized of the Tenements as parcel of his Vicarage, and he prayed in Aid of the Parſon, Patron, and Ordinary, to which it was ſaid that he himſelf confeſſed that he was not ſuch againſt whom a Writ would lie to demand the Tenements, and he entered into the Warranty by his own Deed, whereby he had made Diſheriſon to the Parſon; but at laſt the Aid was granted, whereby it is to be obſerved, that altho' he came in by his own Warranty, and upon an Eſtate made by him in [b] Fee (for any Thing which appears in the Caſe to the contrary), yet when he entered into the Warranty, he was in the ſame Plight as he was before the Warranty made, and if he had vouched over, the Land recovered in Value ſhould without Doubt have come in Succeſſion to his Succeſſors Vicars of the ſame Place. [c] So in 41 Ed. 3. there is a Caſe where Tenant by the Curteſy granted over his Eſtate with Warranty, and an Aſſize of Mortdanceſtor was brought againſt the Grantee, who vouched the Tenant by the Curteſy, who came in, and entered into the Warranty, and prayed in Aid of his Iſſue, and becauſe he was within Age, he prayed that the Parol might demur, and there it was debated whether he ſhould have Aid of the Iſſue or not, and it was the clear Opinion in a Manner that he ſhould have Aid, wherefore the Demandants counterpleaded it; in which Caſe it is worthy of Obſervation that the Tenant by the Curteſy had Aid, where he was not Tenant for Life, nor had any Thing in the Land, but his Eſtate was granted over, and yet he had Aid as if his Eſtate had continued in him, but the only Reaſon thereof was, for that he came in as Vouchee, in which Caſe he ſhall be in to all Purpoſes as he was when he had the Land, for when he is Tenant by the Warranty, he is in the like Plight as if he had held his firſt Eſtate, and as if the Præcipe had been brought immediately againſt him having the ſame Eſtate, in which Caſe he ſhould have had Aid, and ſo ſhall he now. [d] Alſo in 43 Ed. 3. there is this Caſe, viz. two Coparceners made Partition, and afterwards one of them enfeoffed her Son and Heir apparent of her Part, and died, the Son enfeoffed a Stranger with Warranty, and died, having a Son, the Stranger was impleaded in a Præcipe quod reddat, and vouched the Son of him who made the Warranty to him, who came, and was bound to Warranty by the Deed of his Father, and he entered into the Warranty, and prayed in Aid of the Heir of the other Coparcener, and becauſe he was within Age he prayed that the Parol might demur, and it was there debated whether he ſhould have Aid, or not, and the Feoffment which the Grandmother made to the Father was objected as an Impediment thereto, but notwithſtanding that or any other Matter, it was the Opinion of the Court that he ſhould have Aid, and the Court ſaid to the Demandant that if he would not ſay any Thing elſe, he ſhould have the Aid preſently: In which Caſe there are two Things very obſervable, firſt, the Reaſon why the Feoffment of the Grandmother made to the Father did not take away the Privity of the Partition, which is the Salvation of the Warranty paramount, for if a Man has an Eſtate in Fee with Warranty, and enfeoffs a Stranger with Warranty, and dies, and the Feoffee vouches his Heir, the Heir ſhall deraign the firſt Warranty, [e] but when he enfeoffs his own Son with Warranty, and dies, this Warranty which the Father made to the Son is periſhed and gone, becauſe it deſcended upon himſelf, and he cannot vouch himſelf by Reaſon of a Warranty of Fee-ſimple, and inaſmuch as he cannot do that, he ſhall vouch in reſpect of the firſt Warranty; and if the Law was otherwiſe, it would be very unreaſonable, for if the Law ſhould ſuffer him to vouch himſelf in reſpect of the Warranty of the Father, then when he came in as Vouchee, he might deraign the Warranty paramount as well as he might if a Stranger had vouched him, and the Law, which will not ſuffer him ſo to do for the Sake of avoiding Circuity of Voucher, ought in Reaſon to give him ſome other Means to deraign the Warranty paramount, or elſe the Warranty paramount would be gone, and ſo the Inheritance would be loſt thro' the Defect of the Law, which would be very unreaſonable; and the other Means which the Law gives him is to deraign the Warranty paramount immediately, which is the Method ordained by the Law for the deraigning of the Warranty paramount, and this is the Reaſon of Finchden Chief Juſtice, in the ſaid Caſe, which is agreeable with other Books in this Point: So that in that Caſe the Feoffment was no Impediment to his having Aid of the other Coparcener to deraign the Warranty paramount. The other Thing obſervable in the ſaid Caſe, and which comes nearer to our own Purpoſe, is, that the Vouchee had Aid of the Coparcener for the Land which his Father had aliened to a Stranger in Fee-ſimple, and in which he had nothing, but the Cauſe thereof was the Warranty, which made him, being vouched, to be in the ſame Degree as his Father was before the Feoffment, and to recover in Value againſt the other Coparcener in the ſame Manner

When the Vouchee enters into the Warranty, he is in of the ſame Eſtate and Intereſt as he was before, to all Intents and Purpoſes. S. P. Pig. on Recov. 23. 3 Co. 6. b.

[a] 8 Aſſ. pl. 36. 9 Aſſ. pl. 3. Fitz. Ayd 157. Bro. 108.

[b] But ſee S. C. Mich. 9 Ed. 3. 30. pl. 20. where it appears that the Eſtate made to the Huſband and Wife was but for the Life of the Vicar, and that he had not made a Feoffment in Fee to them; but this does not appear in 8 Aſs. pl. 36.

[c] H. 41. Ed. 3. 7. b. Fitz. Counterplea de Aid 1.

[d] T. 43. Ed. 3. 23. b. Fitz. Counterplea de Aid 20. Bro. 5. Aid 27. Co. Litt. 174. a. b.

[e] S. P. 1 Finch 38. 2 Finch 55. Wing. Max. reg. 179. pl. 2.

ner as if he had been Tenant immediately. [a] So in the Caſe of 11 H. 4. in a Cui in vita, the one Coparcener of Gavelkind-land, after Partition, made a Feoffment, and took back an Eſtate in Fee, and was impleaded, and by the better Opinion he could not have Aid of his Coparcener, becauſe he was out of the Courſe of Coparcenary; but if he had taken back but an Eſtate for Life, and had prayed in Aid of the Feoffee, and the Feoffee had vouched him to Warranty, then he ſhould have had Aid of his Coparcener, as it is there put: And ſo if the Feoffee had retained the Land, and had been impleaded, and had vouched the Coparcener who enfeoffed him, there he, as Vouchee, ſhould have had Aid of the other Coparcener, as it is there put, notwithſtanding that he hath nothing in the Land, becauſe he, being Vouchee, is in his former Degree, as it is ſaid before. And as in theſe Caſes it is evident that the Vouchee ſhall be adjudged in of his former Poſſeſſion, and as immediate Tenant thereof, ſo ſhall Sir Rice Manxel the Vouchee be adjudged in here as Ceſtuy que Uſe in ſuch Form as he was before the Feoffment. And if a common Recovery with Voucher had immediately againſt him ſhould not have been a Bar to his Iſſues in Tail, nor to the Feoffees after his Death, no more ſhall this Recovery, in which he was vouched, be a Bar to them. And by the Caſes above recited the Reaſon is made manifeſt in the common Caſe, viz. [b] if Tenant in Tail of Land makes a Feoffment, and a common Recovery is had againſt the Feoffee, who vouches the Tenant in Tail, who vouches over, the Tail ſhall be barred, becauſe when he comes in as Vouchee, he ſhall be in the Degree of Tenant in Tail, and the Recompence in Value which he hath or may have ſhall go in Tail, and therefore ſuch Manner of Recovery is the moſt ſure Way to bar the Tail. [c] For if a Præcipe quod reddat is brought immediately againſt him to whom the Land is entailed, who vouches, and the Vouchee makes Default, and ſo a Recovery is had according to the common Courſe, there if the Tenant in Tail at the Time of the Recovery is not ſeized of the ſame Tail, but of another Tail, or of a Fee, or other Eſtate, the Tail whereof he is not ſeized at the Time of the Recovery is not barred, as it is held by the better Opinion in 12 Ed. 4. and adjudged in 13 Ed. 4. in the firſt Caſe of that Year, becauſe the Recovery in Value goes according to ſuch Eſtate whereof he is ſeized, and not in Recompence of the Eſtate whereof he is not then ſeized. For as in the above Caſe of Cui in vita the Coparcener who had made a Feoffment, and took back an Eſtate in Fee, was out of the Courſe of Coparcenary, and therefore could not have any Recovery in Value againſt the other Coparcener in Reſpect of the Coparcenary, no more can he who has a Right to an Intail, and is ſeized of another Eſtate at the Time of the Recovery had againſt him, have Recompence in Conſideration of that Intail, for the Recompence in Value goes only in Satisfaction of the Eſtate which the Tenant had in Poſſeſſion at the Time of the Recovery. But when he is vouched, he does not come in in reſpect of any Eſtate which he then hath, but only in reſpect of an Eſtate which he had before, and in Recompence of ſuch Eſtate which he had before the Recovery in Value ſhall go, and therefore ſuch Eſtate-tail as he had before, in Lieu of which a new Recompence ſhall come, ſhall be barred, and ſo is the Diverſity.

[a] M. 11 H. 4. 22. b. Fitz. Counterplea de Aid 14. Bro, 21.

[b] Vin. Abr. tit. Recovery common O. pl. 5.

[c] M. 12 Ed. 4. 19. M. 13 Ed. 4. 1. pl. 1. Fitz. Fauxer de recov. 20, 21. Bro. 30. Kelw. 136. pl. 122. 3 Co. 5. b. 2 Rol. R. 320. Pig. on Recov. 22, 23.

Wherefore I conclude as a Conſequent of my Argument, that the Right of the Tail in Uſe which Sir Rice Manxel had is not barred by the Recovery aforeſaid, becauſe if the Recovery had been had immediately againſt Sir Rice being Ceſtuy que Uſe in Poſſeſſion, the Tail ſhould not have been barred by ſuch Recovery; for that (as I have endeavoured to maintain) Sir Rice being Vouchee was in his firſt Degree of the Uſe, and in ſuch Degree for the Uſe as if the Feoffment had not been made.

But perhaps ſome one will ſay, that then the ancient Eſtate-tail which Sir Rice had before the Uſe created is not barred, for if Sir Rice being Vouchee came in as Ceſtuy que Uſe, and the Recovery in Value ſhall go in Lieu of the Uſe in Tail, then he did not come in as Tenant of the firſt Tail, and then the Recompence in Value ſhall not go in Lieu of that Tail, and then that Tail is not bound, and then Edward Manxel the Defendant, to whom the Land is deſcended, is remitted to that Tail; Sir, to this Objection and the Concluſions drawn from it I anſwer, that the firſt Tail is alſo bound. And to make my Argument the more clear, I will put this Caſe, viz. [d] J. S. hath a Wife, and Land is given to him and to his Heirs Males begotten by him on the Body of his ſaid Wife, and he has Iſſue a Son by the Wife, and afterwards the Wife dies, and he takes another Wife, and has Iſſue by her a Son and a Daughter, and he diſcontinues the Land, and takes back an Eſtate to him and to his Heirs Males by him on the Body of his ſecond Wife begotten, and afterwards he diſcontinues the Land, and takes an Eſtate back again to him and to his Heirs Females of his Body begotten, and afterwards he makes a Feoffment without Warranty to A. B. or is diſſeized by A. B. and afterwards a ſaint Præcipe quod reddat is brought againſt A. B. who vouches to Warranty the ſaid J. S. who enters into the Warranty, and vouches over one who is not Donor of any of the Intails, but the common Vouchee, who loſes by Default according to the common Courſe, whereby a Recovery is had in the uſual Form, and afterwards the ſaid J. S. dies, and his three Iſſues bring three ſeveral Formedons in the Deſcender, viz. each of them one againſt the Recoveror, and make ſeveral Declarations upon the ſeveral Gifts to which they are ſeverally inheritable, the Recoveror may bar each of them by the ſaid Recovery, for altho' no Warranty was made, ſo that there was no Lien in fact, yet inaſmuch as a Lien was not demanded, that is not material, for the Reaſon before ſhewn: And then when the Vouchee does not demand any Lien, but enters generally into the Warranty, from thence there ariſes an Incertainty whether the Warranty, which ſhall be intended to have been made, was made upon the Diſcontinuance of the firſt Tail, or of the ſecond Tail, or of the third Tail, by Reaſon of which Incertainty there is no Default in the Demandant who has recovered, for he could not counterplead the Warranty, becauſe none can do that but the Vouchee, and although the Demandant might have counterpleaded the Seizin of the Vouchee, yet the Truth would not permit him to do ſo here, but the Incertainty is occaſioned by the Vouchee who has not demanded any Lien, for which Reaſon it ſhall be taken moſt ſtrongly againſt him and thoſe who claim under him, and moſt largely and beneficially for the Recoveror againſt the Vouchee and his Heirs; and therefore if the Recoveror pleads the Recovery in Bar againſt the firſt Eſtate-Tail, the Iſſue who claims that Eſtate cannot ſay that the Warranty was made upon the Grant or Diſcontinuance of another of the Eſtates-Tail, for perhaps there was no Warranty in fact, but the Warranty is admitted by Eſtoppel, and if he had made a Warranty in Fact upon the Diſcontinuance of the Eſtate-Tail which was to the Heirs Females of his Body, and the Tenant had actually vouched upon this Warranty, yet inaſmuch as the Lien was not demanded, nor entered of Record, nor the Donor of that Tail vouched, the Iſſue of the firſt Tail cannot ſhew this, viz. that the Voucher was upon ſuch Lien, and that the Recompence ſhall go to the Iſſue Female, for this Averment is out of the Record, and the Record will not ſuffer ſuch Averment to annihilate the Force of the Record againſt him, for which Reaſon the Iſſue cannot plead it: And as the Recoveror may plead the Recovery againſt the Iſſue of the firſt Tail, ſo may he againſt the Iſſue of the ſecond Tail, and againſt the Iſſue or the third Tail alſo, and all this is by Reaſon of the Incertainty of the Lien. But if the Vouchee, when he came in, had demanded what he had to bind him to the Warranty, and the Tenant had ſhewn his Deed of Warranty made upon the Diſcontinuance in Fee of the Eſtate-Tail to the Heirs Females, and the Deed had been entered of Record at the Prayer of the Vouchee, and thereupon he had entered into the Warranty, and vouched over, there I would admit that neither the Iſſue of the firſt Tail, nor the Iſſue of the ſecond Tail ſhould have been barred, for in that Caſe the Certainty of the Warranty appears, and the Iſſue Female only ſhall have the Recompence in Value, and that ſhall be an Eſtate-Tail to the Heirs Females, for if Tenant in Tail with Warranty makes a Feoffment in Fee with Warranty, although he ſhall render a Fee-Simple to the Diſcontinuee by Reaſon of his Warranty, yet the Eſtate which he ſhall recover in Value ſhall not be greater or other than his Eſtate was before his Warranty made, for although the Eſtate given, and the Warranty thereupon, is the Cauſe why he is vouched, yet when he comes and enters into the Warranty, he is in of the Eſtate which was eigne to the ſame Eſtate given, for he is in of the Eſtate which he had before the Warranty made, and before the Eſtate made to which the Warranty was annexed, viz. the Eſtate-Tail to the Heirs Females, for which Cauſe the Daughter ſhall have an Habere facias ad valentiam for the Lands recovered in Value, and her Averment that her Father had an Eſtate-Tail to the Heirs Females at the Time of the Warranty made to the Diſcontinuee ſtands with the Record, in which the Deed of the Diſcontinuance and of the Warranty is entered, and therefore the other Iſſues ſhall not be barred for their Intails, for they may ſhew that the Aſſets ſhall go to the Siſter, and ſuch ſhewing ſtands well with the Record, becauſe the Lien appears, as it is ſaid before. And therefore if Tenant in Tail with Remainder over be impleaded, and vouches, and the Vouchee enters into the Warranty without demanding a Lien, and cannot bar the Demandant, the Recovery in Value ſhall be in Tail with Remainder over as the other Land was, and for this Cauſe the Remainder is bound, for when a Lien is not ſhewn, it ſhall be intended that the Vouchee was the Donor, and that the Warranty was annexed to the whole Eſtate given, viz. to the Eſtate-Tail and Remainder, and ſo that the Warranty and the Eſtate commenced together: But if the Vouchee demands a Lien, and he ſhews a Confirmation of the Eſtate of the Donee made by the Vouchee after the Gift, and a Warranty to the Tenant and to the Heirs of his Body begotten only, and the Deed of the Lien is entered of Record, then the Remainder ſhall not be bound, becauſe the Warranty appears, and, as before, it extends only to convey the Land recovered in Value to the Eſtate-Tail, and no further, and therefore becauſe the Recompence in Value ſhall not go to him in Remainder, the Remainder ſhall not be bound. So that there is a Diverſity where the Certainty of the Warranty appears, and where it does not, for if it does not appear the Law will intend that there is a Warranty, and that the Recompence in Value goes in ſuch Manner as ſhall be moſt for the Benefit and Advantage of the Recoveror, and if it does appear, then the Law will not intend it to go further than the expreſs Words allow. So here in the Caſe which I have before put, inaſmuch as it does not appear what Eſtate-Tail the ſaid J. S. had at the Time of the Feoffment and Warranty made, nor to what Eſtate in certain the Recompence in Value ſhall go, this one Recompence ſhall be objected as a Bar againſt each of the three Intails, as one Recompence was a Bar to three Eſtates-Tail in the Caſe of * 1 Ed. 3. where a Heir in Tail, who had a Carve of Land by Deſcent in Fee-Simple from his Father, demanded by three ſeveral Formedons in Deſcender againſt three ſeveral Perſons three ſeveral Carves of Land entailed to his Father, and one of the Tenants pleaded the Warranty of the Father in Bar, with the ſaid Carve in Fee-Simple deſcended to the Demandant as Aſſets, and the ſecond Tenant likewiſe pleaded the Warranty of the Father in Bar, with the ſaid Carve in Fee-Simple deſcended as Aſſets, and ſo alſo did the third Tenant, and there it was demanded, if the ſaid one Carve of Land ſhould be Aſſets and a Bar for the three ſeveral Carves of Land in Tail, and Shard anſwered (as a Chancellor of Equity) and ſaid that the Demandant ſhall tell his Caſe to the Court, and by the Equity of the Law this Recompenſation ſhall be made, ſo that he ſhall be barred againſt each for the third Part of the Demand againſt him, by the third Part of that which he holds by Deſcent: But Ingham ſeemed of the contrary Opinion, and that this could not be by the Rigour of the Law, for, for, he ſaid, every one of them hath his Plea againſt the Demandant, and he hath as much as he demands againſt each of them, and the one Tenant has nothing to do with the Præcipe brought againſt the other Tenant, wherefore it ſeemed to him that each of them ſhould bar the Demandant, which latter Opinion ſeems to me to be the better, and to be more conſonant to the common Law than the Opinion of Shard. So that as in that Caſe by the better Opinion one and the ſame Aſſets was a Bar to three ſeveral Tails for three Times as much as the Aſſets was, ſo in the other Caſe one and the ſame Aſſets ſhall be a Bar to three ſeveral Tails.

[d] S. P. cited and affirmed to be good Law, 3 Co. 6. b. 2 Rol. R. 320. Hob. 338. Hetl. 156.

* P. 1 Ed. 3. 8. pl. 11.

But perhaps ſome one, in order to be more fully ſatisfied of this Matter, will aſk this Queſtion, viz. if the ſaid J. S. the Vouchee, having three ſeveral Rights in Tail, had ſued Execution, and Land had been delivered to him in Execution, what Eſtate ſhould he have had therein? Should he have had it according to the firſt Tail, or according to the ſecond Tail, or according to the third Tail? And to which of the three Iſſues ſhould this have deſcended? Or if the Father had aliened it, which of them ſhould have had a Formedon of it? or if the Father had not ſued Execution, which of the three Iſſues ſhould have ſued Execution thereof? To theſe Queſtions, which are full of Difficulty, I give this Anſwer, firſt, that if the Father himſelf had ſued Execution, it does not appear what Eſtate he ſhould have had by the Execution, for the Writ to the Sheriff is, to deliver ſo much of the Land, without expreſſing any Eſtate, and foraſmuch as no Eſtate appears by the ſuing of the Execution, there ought to be ſome other Way by which it may be made to appear. And, Sir, if he whom J. S. vouches over, viz. the laſt Vouchee, be the Donor of any of the Eſtates-Tail, and a Lien made upon the Gift be ſhewn, and entered of Record, then the Land recovered of him ſhall be according to the Eſtate-Tail before made by him, and ſuch Iſſue as ſhould have inherited the Land before given by him, ſhall inherit the Land which is newly recovered of the ſame Donor in Lieu of the other Tail, for the Record ſhews that he was the Donor, and that he was vouched in Reſpect of the firſt Gift, and by that Means the Certainty of the Eſtate will appear. And if the Law be ſo in that Caſe, it ſeems that the other Iſſues ſhall not be barred of their Eſtates-Tail, but that their Formedons ſhall be maintenable, for there appears ſufficient Certainty that the Vouchee was the Donor. But if the laſt Vouchee be a Stranger, and not the Donor, (as it ſhall be intended in our Caſe here) or if he be the Donor, and no Lien is ſhewn, then I ſay that it is in the Election of the ſaid J. S. who recovers in Value to declare which of the three Eſtates he will have therein. As for Example, he is impleaded, and makes his Title, and ſhews the ſecond Eſtate-Tail, and the Recovery in Value in Reſpect of that Eſtate, this is an Election and a Claim of ſuch Eſtate; or if he loſes, and brings a Quod ei deforceat, and claims an Eſtate-Tail to him and to his Heirs Males by him on the Body of his ſecond Wife begotten, this ſhall bind the Iſſues, and the Iſſue of the ſecond Tail ſhall have the Land, for in Caſes of Election if he to whom the Election is once given determines his Choice, it ſhall bind all others, and therefore the other Iſſues ſhall be there barred of their Eſtates-Tail. And if the Father had ſued Execution, and had died before any Election made by him, ſuch of the three Iſſues as firſt entered ſhould have held the Land, for the others could not make to themſelves a better Title than he had who entered, and inaſmuch as the Right of his Tail was bound, now upon this Recovery in Value ſuch Iſſue ſhall have the Land ſo recovered, againſt all Stranger, in the ſame Eſtate-Tail as the other Tail was to which he was inheritable, and nevertheleſs the other Iſſues ſhall be barred for the firſt Land in Tail.

But, Sir, (to the ſecond Queſtion) in this Caſe when the Father dies, the Land ſhall deſcend to none, nor ſhall any of the Iſſues have the Freehold in Law before Entry, in Reſpect of the Incertainty to which of them it ſhall deſcend, but the Entry of ſuch Iſſue as firſt enters is an Election by him, and makes him to have the Freehold in Deed and the Eſtate-Tail alſo, although it ſhould not have deſcended to him.

And (to the third Queſtion) if the Father of the Iſſues had ſued Execution of the Aſſets, and had made a Feoffment, and had died, and the three Iſſues had brought three ſeveral Formedons againſt the Feoffee, he whoſe Writ had been firſt returned ſhould have had the Land, for thereby he had firſt attached the Poſſeſſion in the Hands of the Tenant, and the others, whoſe Writs had been returned afterwards, could not have made a better Title. But if all the three Writs had been returned at one and the ſame Day, they ſhould all have abated, becauſe it would have been incertain to the Court, if the Tenant had confeſſed the Actions, to which of them they ſhould have awarded Seizin, inaſmuch as all their Titles were alike, and all of them returned at one and the ſame Day, for in that Caſe the Date does not ſeem to be material, becauſe they are not of Record before the Return, and therefore in Reſpect of the Incertainty all the Writs ſhould have abated. * As in the Caſe of 21 R. 2. in Replevin againſt two, one of them avowed for Damage-feaſant, becauſe he was ſeized of the Land, and took the Cattle there Damage-feaſant, and the other avowed becauſe he had Common in the Land, and took the Cattle as Commoner Damage-feaſant, and there both the Avowries abated by the Award of the Court, and the Plaintiff recovered his Damages againſt them, becauſe each of them could not have a Return, and which ſhould be preferred, and which rejected, was incertain to the Court, and therefore becauſe the Court did not know what to do, they abated both the Avowries. And ſo for the ſame Reaſon all the Writs returnable at one and the ſame Day ſhall abate in the other Caſe.

And (as to the laſt Queſtion) if the Father had died before Execution ſued, and each of the Iſſues had brought a Scire facias againſt the laſt Vouchee to have the Land in Value, he whoſe Writ had been firſt returned ſhould have been preferred, upon the Reaſon above ſhewn; but if all the Writs had been returned at one and the ſame Day, they ſhould all have abated, causâ qua ſupra.

Where two ſeveral Writs, for the ſame Thing, and againſt the ſame Perſon, are returned at the ſame Day, both ſhall abate. S. P. Plowd. Quær. § 190. 1 Finch 36. 2 Finch 49. Hob. 128. pl. 161. 1 Rol. Abr. 353. pl. 5. 1 Freem. 401. pl. 526. Vin. Abr. tit. Abatement C. pl. 2. * P. 21 R. 2. Fitz. Avowry 262. Bellew's C. 58. P. 3 H. 6. 44. b. Per Martin. Bro. Avowry 6. in fine. 5 Co. 19. a. 38. b. Plowd. Quær. § 190, 210.

I have

I have been more particular in the Diſcuſſion of this Caſe, in order that thereby I might convey a clearer Knowledge and Underſtanding of the principal Caſe before us, there being a good Deal of Reſemblance and Similarity between them, for as in the Caſe above put the Vouchee had a Right to three Eſtates-Tail, ſo in the principal Caſe Sir Rice the Vouchee had a Right to two Eſtates-Tail, ſo that the Reſolution of the one Caſe will decide the other.

Wherefore I ſum up my Argument and conclude that inaſmuch as Sir Rice Manxel the Vouchee did not demand a Lien upon the Voucher, but entered generally into the Warranty, and vouched over a Stranger, he ſhall be adjudged to come in as Tenant of the firſt Tail, and the Recovery againſt him ſhall be of the ſame Effect as if he had been immediate Tenant to the Præcipe, and ſeized of ſuch Intail. And alſo he ſhall be adjudged to come in as Ceſtuy que Uſe, and the Recovery againſt him ſhall be of the ſame Effect as if he had been immediate Tenant to the Præcipe as Ceſtuy que Uſe, the Conſequences from both which Premiſſes are, that the firſt Tail is barred, but not the Tail in Uſe. And if there is any Cauſe why the firſt Tail is not barred, it is but for that Part whereof Philip Bennet was Tenant for Life, which is the third Point to be conſidered, and the Matter of it is in Effect this, viz. that the Tenant in the Præcipe was not Tenant.

To the 3d Point. A Recovery with Voucher is had of Lands in Tail, where of Part of the Tenements (in which Part the Recovery is executed) the Tenants to the Præcipe are not immediate Tenants, but have only a Reverſion expectant upon an Eſtate for Life in them, and of the Reſidue they are immediate Tenants, this Recovery ſhall bar the Eſtate-Tail, and the Iſſue in Tail ſhall never falſify it.

And as to this, for the clearer Apprehenſion hereof, I will ſuppoſe that the Tenants had nothing in Poſſeſſion, Reverſion, or Remainder of any Part of the Land. And admitting the Caſe to be ſo, yet it ſeems to me that the Eſtate Tail of him who is vouched is as fully bound as if they had been actually Tenants. Now the Objection againſt this, which is urged by thoſe who maintain that the Tenancy in the Tenant is material, lies here, viz. it is ſaid [a] that the Eſtate-Tail of the Vouchee ſhall be bound only in Reſpect of the Aſſets recovered, or which by Poſſibility may be recovered, in Value, and until the Demandant has ſued Execution againſt the Tenant, the Tenant, it is ſaid, cannot ſue Execution againſt the Vouchee, nor the Vouchee againſt his Vouchee, and if the Tenant in the Præcipe has nothing in the Land, then, it is ſaid, there is no Poſſibility that Execution of that Land can ever be ſued againſt him, and if Execution cannot be ſued againſt him, then, it is ſaid, he ſhall never have Execution againſt the Vouchee, and if Execution could never be ſued againſt Sir Rice Manxel the Vouchee here, from thence, it is ſaid, it follows that he ſhould never have had Execution againſt his Vouchee, and then if Rice could never have had Execution by Law againſt his Vouchee, from thence, it is ſaid, it follows that the Intail, which ſhould have been barred by Aſſets had or which poſſibly might be had, ſhall never be barred here, the Conſequence of which is, that Edward Manxel the Defendant is remitted to the ſaid ancient Intail. Sir, as to this Objection, it can only affect that Part whereof Philip Bennet was Tenant for Life, for of the Reſidue the ſaid Philip Manxel and John Cradock were perfect Tenants, ſo that for the Reſidue there is a Poſſibility of Execution. But I will beg Leave to examine this Objection, and the ſeveral Concluſions drawn from it, each of them by themſelves. But before I enter into it I will admit that the Vouchee ſhall not have Execution in Value until Execution be ſued againſt him. [b] For in 41 Ed. 3. in a Formedon, Moris ſaid that if the Tenant ſues Execution againſt the Vouchee, where Execution is not ſued againſt the Tenant himſelf, and he hath not loſt any Thing, the Vouchee ſhall have an Aſſize. And in H. 17. Ed. 2. which is abridged by Fitz. tit. Recovery in Value pl. 33. it appears that A. brought a Scire facias to have Execution in Value of Tenements recovered, and the Tenant ſaid that the Demandant in the Scire facias was ſeized of the Tenements ſuppoſed to be recovered againſt him, to which the Demandant ſaid that the Judgment was executed, ſo that he (the Demandant) was now put out by Execution by Virtue of the Judgment, whereupon Iſſue was there taken, which Iſſue declares that the firſt Judgment ought to be executed before the Recovery in Value ſhall be executed: [c] And this alſo appears in 1 Ed. 3. in Sir John Stoner's Caſe in a Warrantia Chartæ, that if a Man has Judgment, he ſhall not have Execution until he himſelf has ſuſtained Loſs by Execution ſued againſt him. So that it ſeems to be true that if Execution is not ſued againſt the Tenant, he ſhall not have Execution of the Recompence in Value. And therefore if there is no Poſſibility of Execution againſt the Tenant, there is no Poſſibility of Execution of the Aſſets againſt the Vouchee, nor for the firſt Vouchee againſt the other Vouchee.

[a] Weſt's Symb. pt. 2. fol. 771. a. Pig. on Recov. 31.

In common Recoveries the Tenant to the Præcipe ſhall never ſue Execution of the Value againſt the Vouchee, until the Demandant has ſued Execution againſt him; and ſo of the firſt Vouchee againſt the ſecond Vouchee. S. P. Co. Litt. 376. b. 1 Co. 96. a. Pig. on Recov. 31. Plowd. Quær. § 330.

[b] P. 41 Ed. 3. 11. a.

[c] P. 1 Ed. 3. 10. pl. 20.

But I will try whether or no there was not a Poſſibility of Execution againſt the Tenant to the Præcipe in the principal Caſe, and I will ſee who it is that can ſay that Execution could not be ſued againſt him. And, Sir, none can deny but that Execution was ſueable againſt the laſt Vouchee, as well as if the Tenant in the Præcipe had been Tenant in Deed. For, firſt, the Demandant himſelf brought his Writ of Entry in the Poſt againſt the ſaid Philip Manxel and John Cradock as againſt Tenants, and he appeared and counted againſt them as againſt Tenants, in which Caſe he was eſtopped, without more done, to ſay otherwiſe but that they were Tenants. [d] And therefore in 21 Ed. 3. in a Præcipe quod reddat againſt two, one of them diſclaimed, and the other took the entire Tenancy upon him, and vouched him that had diſclaimed, and the Demandant counterpleaded that neither he nor any of his Anceſtors ever had any Thing, &c. and the Writ was abated by Award, becauſe when he brought his Writ againſt him, he affirmed him to be one of the Tenants, and when he afterwards ſaid that he never had any Thing, this was contrary to his former Affirmation. So in a Præcipe againſt two, if the one takes the entire Tenancy upon him, and pleads in Bar, and the other does the like, the Demandant ought to maintain his Writ; ſo that what he has affirmed by his Writ he cannot diſaffirm. [e] So Littleton ſays that if the Tenant aliens, pending the Writ, and nevertheleſs the Demandant releaſes to him, this Releaſe is good, becauſe the Demandant is eſtopped to ſay that the Tenant is not Tenant, for, notwithſtanding his Alienation, he remains Tenant againſt him pending the Suit. So that the bringing of the Writ, and the Appearance of the Demandant, and his Count, ſhall eſtop him to ſay otherwiſe but that the Tenant is Tenant. But in our Caſe the Demandant has gone further,

Where a common Recovery is had of Lands in Tail, and the Tenants to the Præcipe are not Tenants of the Land, nor have any Thing in it, and the Vouchee enters into the Warranty without counterpleading the Non-tenancy, the Tail is as fully bound by this Recovery as if the Tenants to the Præcipe had been actually Tenants of the Land, and the Iſſue in Tail ſhall not falſify this Recovery for ſuch Non-tenancy.

[d] M. 21 Ed. 3. 33. pl. 19.

[e] Litt. § 490.

for he has alſo recovered, and then to ſay that the Tenant is not Tenant, and to falſify his own Recovery, does not lie in his Mouth, but he is eſtopped to ſay ſo.

And as to the ſaid Philip Manxel and John Cradock, they appeared to the Writ, and took upon them the Tenancy, and as Tenants vouched, and as Tenants recovered in Value againſt the Vouchee, in which Caſe they ſhall not ſay [f] contrary to their own Acts that they were not Tenants, but they are fully eſtopped.

[f] W. Jones 459.

Where the Tenant in a Præcipe vouches, and may abate the Writ for Non-tenure or other Matter, and will not, but perſiſts to charge the Vouchee, the Vouchee is not compellible to enter into Warranty, but may plead that the Tenant is not Tenant, and thereby diſcharge himſelf from the Warranty; but if he does not plead this, but enters into the Warranty, by which he affirms him to be Tenant, he is eſtopped to plead ſuch Plea afterwards. S. P. Pig. on Recov. 29.

And as to Sir Rice Manxel the Vouchee, he is alſo eſtopped to ſay that the ſaid Philip Manxel and John Cradock were not Tenants, for he came in to warrant the Land to them as Tenants, and if they were not Tenants, Sir Rice ſhould not have been compelled to warrant it to them, for if the Tenants may abate the Writ by Non-Tenure or otherwiſe, and will not, the Vouchee, foraſmuch as he cannot have the ſame Plea, ſhall object this Matter againſt the Tenants, and thereby ſhall diſcharge himſelf from warranting the Land, for Voucher and Recovery in Value is given to the Tenant as his laſt Safeguard, and if he can aid himſelf by Abatement of the Writ, and will not, but will voluntarily charge the Vouchee where he has no Occaſion to do it, the Law will not compel the Vouchee to enter into the Warranty. [a] And ſo it is held in 9 Ed. 4. in the Caſe of a Recovery falſified by Executors, and there it is reſembled to the Caſe of Conſpiracy, [b] in which the Defendant may ſay that the Indictment was not good, and that the Plaintiff upon his Arraignment might have abated it by Exception, in which Caſe inaſmuch as he might have abated the Writ, and did not, but pleaded to it where he did not need to have done ſo, the Conſpirator ſhall object this Matter againſt him, and thereby he ſhall excuſe himſelf of Damages. [c] So in 21 H. 6. in a Præcipe quod reddat, upon Default of the Huſband the Wife was received, and ſaid that the Demandant had entered into the Land pending the Writ, and there it was debated whether ſhe ſhould ſay, after the laſt Continuance, or generally pending the Writ, and it was the Opinion of the whole Court that ſhe ſhould have the Plea generally, viz. that he had entered pending the Writ, and the Reaſon thereof is, for the Salvation of her Warranty, for otherwiſe, if ſhe would vouch, it would be a good Counterplea to ſhew that ſhe was not Tenant, and ſo could not ſuſtain any Loſs, which was not there denied, but granted by Priſot, Ardern, and all the others: And there it was held to be a good Counterplea to ſhew that the Writ of the Demandant is falſe, as for Miſnomer of the Tenant, or for that the Demandant (being a Woman) has taken Huſband pending the Writ, or for Jointenancy, or ſuch other Pleas as go in Abatement of the Writ. [d] So it ſeems by 29 Ed. 3. in a Dum fuit infra ætatem, that the Vouchee ſhall ſay that the Tenements are in another Town, and if the Tenant accepts the Writ to be good, it ſhall deprive him of the Benefit of the Warranty. [e] So in 45 Ed. 3. in a Writ of Eſcheat the Tenant vouched, and the Vouchee came and ſaid that the Tenant had nothing in the ſame Tenements the Day of the Writ purchaſed, nor ever after, and the Tenant pleaded againſt him the Eſtoppel (as if the Plea were good), and would have eſtopped him from pleading the above Matter, becauſe the Vouchee had firſt demanded what the Tenant had to bind him to the Warranty, after which he could not deny him to be Tenant; which Plea of Eſtoppel is an Argument that the Plea of the Vouchee was good, and afterwards the Tenant there waived the Eſtoppel, and pleaded that he was Tenant the Day of the Writ purchaſed, whereupon Iſſue was taken. * From whence it appears that it would have been a good Plea for Sir Rice Manxel the Vouchee in the principal Caſe to have pleaded in Diſcharge of himſelf, that the ſaid Philip Manxel and John Cradock were not Tenants. But inaſmuch as he did not plead ſuch Plea, but entered into the Warranty, whereby he affirmed them to be Tenants, he could never afterwards plead that they were not Tenants, nor can his Heirs plead ſuch Matter, for the Preſervation of the Aſſets in Fee-Simple which ſhould be rendered in Value to the Tenants, nor for any other Cauſe, ſo that there is a firm Eſtoppel againſt Sir Rice and his Heirs.

[a] T. 9 Ed. 4. 12. b. Per Littleton.

[b] Bro. Conſpiracy 23. 4 Co. 45. a. Bridgm. 132.

[c] T. 21 H. 6. 48. Fitz. Reſceit 65. Bro. 62.

[d] P. 29 Ed. 3. 30. b. Fitz. Brief 906.

[e] H. 45 Ed. 3. 2 pl. 3. Fitz. Eſtoppel 193.

* See a good Caſe M. 10 Ed. 3. 55. a. b. where the Vouchee pleaded in Abatement of the Writ, and it was allowed, and the Writ abated. So in H. 22 Ed. 3. 1. pl. 7. Fitz. Voucher 131, the Vouchee in a Writ of Entry out of the Degrees was admitted to plead in Abatement of the Writ, giving a good Writ within the Degrees. But ſee T. 22. Ed. 3. 8. pl. 14. Fitz. Voucher 137, where the Vouchee pleaded Miſnomer of the Town, and was ouſted thereof, becauſe the Writ was affirmed to be good by the Tenant.

And as to the common Vouchee whom Sir Rice vouched to Warranty, he could not ſay but that the ſaid Philip Manxel and John Cradock were Tenants, for as Sir Rice might have objected againſt them who vouched him that they were not Tenants, and ſo have diſcharged himſelf of the Warranty, in the ſame Manner the laſt Vouchee might have objected and ſaid to Sir Rice, "You "were not compellible to warrant, for you might have pleaded that they who vouched you were "not Tenants, and becauſe you did not do ſo, I by Law am under no Neceſſity of warranting to "you, and therefore will not." And as a Proof that he might have ſaid ſo, there is a Caſe in 10 Ed. 3. [f] in a Writ of Dower, where the Tenant vouched, and the Vouchee came and vouched over, and the laſt Vouchee ſaid that the Tenant, who firſt vouched, was not Tenant the Day of the firſt Writ purchaſed, nor ever after. Wherefore inaſmuch as the laſt Vouchee in the principal Caſe might have pleaded the Non-tenancy in the Tenants, and did not plead it, but entered into the Warranty, whereby he admitted the Tenancy in the Tenants, he could not afterwards deny the ſame Tenancy in the Tenants, ſo that he alſo was eſtopped.

[f] P. 10 Ed. 3. 21. pl. 31. Fitz. Counterplea de Garranty 14.

But if there is any Cauſe why the Heir in Tail ſhall falſify the Recovery here for the Non-Tenancy in the Tenants, it is becauſe the Sheriff (as it is objected) could not make Execution by Habere facias ſeizinam againſt the Tenant, nor come upon the Land to know the Value thereof, ſo as to be able to give as much in Value to the Vouchee, for if he ſhould come upon the Land, he would be a Diſſeizor to him who was ſeized of the Land, and becauſe he was a Stranger to the Record, he ſhould not be eſtopped, but for his own Indemnity he might refuſe to execute the Judgment: Sir, as to this Objection, I would aſk what would the Perſon who makes it ſay, if the Demandant had entered without ſuing an Habere facias ſeizinam to the Sheriff? Probably he might ſay that by ſuch Entry the Demandant would have been a Diſſeizor to him who was ſeized in Fee. But what then? neither the Tenant nor the Vouchee could ſay but that it was a lawful Execution, for they were eſtopped to ſay otherwiſe but that the Tenants in the Præcipe were Tenants in Deed, as it is ſhewn before, and then they were alſo eſtopped to ſay otherwiſe but that it was a good Entry and Execution, and then the Tenant and the Vouchee ſhould have had Execution cution in Value. So that this is one Way for the Demandant to execute the Recovery, which being ſo done, conſequently the Tenant might have had a Scire facias againſt the Vouchee to have in Value, and the firſt Vouchee might have had another Scire facias againſt the ſecond Vouchee to have in Value alſo, againſt which there is no Objection.

And as to the other Way, if the Demandant had ſued an Habere facias ſeizinam directed to the Sheriff, it had been his Duty to execute the Writ, although in Fact a Stranger was ſeized of the Land, and none of the Parties to the Writ was ever ſeized of it, and ſuch Stranger ſhould not have puniſhed the Sheriff for executing the King's Command given by his Writ. [a] For all the Lands in the Realm are held either mediately or immediately of the King, and are defended by the Laws of the King, and in all Quarrels and Complaints as well concerning Land as otherwiſe Recourſe is to be had to the King, who as Head of the Law has an Intereſt to examine ſuch Quarrels and Complaints, and as King ought ex officio ſo to do, and all the Lands in the Realm are ſubject to his Cenſure and Examination in ſuch Caſes, from whence it conſequently follows, that when a Complaint concerning Land is made to the King, and his Miniſters thereupon enter into the Land or meddle with it for the Purpoſes of examining and inquiring into the Titles of the Parties complaining, or in order to make Execution of ſuch Rights as are tried and adjudged, they ſhall be diſpuniſhable. And this Liberty of examining and trying the Intereſts of the Subjects is annexed to the Crown as a ſpecial Prerogative, for the Benefit of the People, [b] and all Lands are charged with it as with a Condition in Law. So that if I am ſeized of Land in Fee upon a good and indefeaſible Title, and a Stranger demands this Land by a Præcipe againſt another Stranger, and thereupon the Sheriff, by Force of the Præcipe, comes upon the Land with Summoners, and ſummons him againſt whom the Præcipe is brought, and afterwards the Demandant recovers againſt him by Default or by Iſſue tried upon a certain Point, and by Force of an Habere facias ſeizinam the Sheriff comes again and puts him who has recovered in Seizin of the Land, and then goes away from thence, I cannot puniſh the Sheriff either for the firſt or ſecond coming upon the Land, becauſe the Sheriff did nothing but in Execution of the King's Command in ſuch Manner as he was charged to do, and my Poſſeſſion is ſubject by Law to this Juriſdiction of the King and his Miniſters: But after the Sheriff is gone from the Land, I may ouſt him who was the Demandant, for his Recovery againſt a Stranger gave him no Title againſt me, but the Sheriff and thoſe who came with him are diſpuniſhable for coming upon the Land in order to execute the Proceſs, for the Poſſeſſion of every Man is charged by Law with ſuch a Liberty, as to an Entry upon it. [c] For we ſee that the Law gives Liberty to him in Reverſion, who is a Subject, to come upon the Land and meddle with the Poſſeſſion of the particular Tenant, as the Tenant for Life or for Years, for certain Purpoſes, as to ſee if Waſt be done. [d] So Littleton in the Chapter of Villenage ſays that if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, and a Villain purchaſes the Reverſion, it ſeems that the Lord of the Villain may preſently come to the Land, and claim the ſame Reverſion, and by ſuch Claim the Reverſion is preſently in him. And if Littleton's Opinion be true, that the Lord may come to the Land and claim it, then by ſuch coming to the Land he is not a Treſpaſſer, for when it is ſaid that a Man may do ſuch an Act, in this Word (may) it is implied that he may lawfully do it. [e] So, Littleton ſays in the ſame Chapter, if a Villain purchaſes an Advowſon full of an Incumbent, the Lord of the Villain may come to the Church, and claim the ſaid Advowſon; by which Caſe ſo put by him he means that the Incumbent cannot puniſh him for ſuch coming to the Church, for if he could, then Littleton did not well ſay that he might come to the Church. [f] So in 9 H. 6. a Man being ſeized of the Reverſion of a Houſe deviſeable deviſed that his Executor ſhould ſell it, and died, the Executor came and found the Houſe open, and entered into it to ſee whether it was in good Repair or not, in order that he might know the true Value of the Reverſion which he was to ſell, and the particular Tenant brought an Action of Treſpaſs againſt the Executor, who pleaded the above Matter, and it was taken to be a good Plea, wherefore the Plaintiff there charged him that he claimed a Fee and Freehold, and broke the Windows and Doors, &c. and the Executor traverſed the ſame. By which Plea it appears that the Law gives Liberty to him, whom the Reverſioner has appointed to ſell the Reverſion, to enter into the Land upon the particular Tenant, in order to ſee the Condition and Goodneſs of the Houſe. And if the Law gives ſuch Privilege to him in the Reverſion, of whom the particular Tenant holds the Land, that he may enter for his own private Benefit into the Land of his particular Tenant, a fortiore the Law gives Prerogative to the King, who is the ſovereign Head of the whole Realm, and of whom all hold their Lands either mediately or immediately, to enter by his Miniſters into the Land of the Subject, in order to examine the Titles and Intereſts of his People, which is a Thing of public Utility. For which Reaſon the Sheriff ſhall not be adjudged a Treſpaſſer to the Ter-tenant for ſuch Entry into the Land in order to make Summons or to execute Recoveries, although none of thoſe who are Parties to the Suit hath or had nothing in the Land. And therefore it is frequently ſeen in our Books, that the Tenants in a Præcipe quod reddat have pleaded Non tenure, but it never was ſeen in ſuch Caſe that he who was Tenant in Deed had an Action againſt the Sheriff for coming upon the Land to ſummon him againſt whom the Writ was brought.

The Sheriff is not puniſhable as a Treſpaſſer for entering into Land to execute the Proceſs of Law, tho' the Parties to the Suit are mere Strangers to the Land, and never had any Thing in it.

[a] H. 48 Ed. 3. 9. b. Per Finch. 50 Aſs. pl. 1. Per Bell. Co. Litt. 1. a. 2 Inſt. 501. 4 Inſt. 192. 1 Finch 55, 112. 2 Finch 83, 132. Ante 498 (c.

[b] Palm. 53, Per Dodder. J.

[c] S. P. adjudged 2 Rol. R. 21, Hunt v. Daddvers, in an Action on the Caſe by the Leſſor againſt the Leſſee for not ſuffering him to enter to ſee whether Waſt was done or not, and the Action adjudged to be maintainable, and that the Plaintiff need not alledge that Waſt was done before he entered. S. C. Cro. J. 478. 1 Rol. Abr. 108. pl. 32. S. P. 2 Rol. R. 311. Per Chamberlain J. 2 Rol. Abr. 568. pl. 1. Plowd. Quær. § 159.

[d] Litt. § 179.

[e] Litt. § 180.

[f] T. 9 H. 6. 29. b. Bro. Treſpaſs 16. 11 Co. 52. a.

And if the Sheriff, by executing upon the Land the Summons of a Stranger, or by delivering Seizin upon a Writ of Habere facias ſeizinam, ſhould be adjudged a Treſpaſſer to him who is ſeized in Deed of the Land, from thence it would follow that the Sheriff, in order to avoid any Damage to himſelf, might return that another was Tenant, and that for that Reaſon he could not enter to execute the Writ, and in ſuch Caſe this Return ought in Reaſon to be allowed by the Court. But, Sir, although ſuch Return has been often made, yet it never was allowed in the Law. [a] And accordingly in 17 Ed. 3. it appears that where a Writ of Seizin upon a Judgment was ſent to the Sheriff, who returned that he ſent to the Bailiff of the Liberty, who anſwered him that the Perſon, againſt whom the Recovery was, had nothing nor was Tenant,

The Sheriff cannot return Non-tenancy to a Writ of Seizin or Summons. S. P. T. Raym. 105.

[a] M. 17 Ed. 3. 66. pl. 82. Fitz. Return de Vicount 91.

a Non

a Non omittas was awarded; whereupon the Book makes this Obſervation, ſo Note that ſuch Anſwer of Non-tenure does not lie in the Mouth of the Sheriff or of the Bailiff: And the Reaſon why the Return was not good is, becauſe the Law gave him Liberty to execute the Writ without any Damage to himſelf. [b] And in 8 Ed. 3. in a Writ of Execution to deliver Seizin upon a Judgment in a Writ of Entry, the Sheriff returned that pending the ſame Writ of Entry one had recovered the ſame Tenements by Aſſize againſt the Tenant, by Reaſon whereof he could not make Execution, and there it was touched whether or no the Return ſhould be good, but it was not there adjudged; [c] but in the ſame Year of 8 Ed. 3. a Man ſued a Writ of Execution to the Sheriff to deliver to him Seizin of Lands rendered to him by W. by Fine, and the Sheriff did nothing, whereupon he ſued a ſicut alias, vel cauſam nobis ſignifices, to which the Sheriff returned, that he had ſent to the Bailiff of Richmond, &c. who anſwered him that he had not made Execution, becauſe the Writ of Covenant, upon which the Fine was levied, did not come to him to make the Summons, and alſo becauſe the ſame W. who ought to have rendered the Tenements had nothing in them, but one John Marmion both before the Fine, and at the Time of the Fine levied, and afterwards was Tenant of the Tenements, whoſe Villain W. is, whereupon the Plaintiff prayed a Non omittas propter aliquam libertatem, and had it. So that inaſmuch as one of the Cauſes was there allowed, it is evident as well from that Caſe as from the others before cited, that it is no Anſwer for the Sheriff, in Writs of Seizin or Summons, to ſhew Non-tenancy in him whom the Writ or Record ſuppoſes to be Tenant. But if the Law was ſo that the Sheriff in ſuch Caſe could not lawfully make the Summons or deliver Seizin, but ſhould be puniſhable for ſo doing, then the Return of the Sheriff ſhewing ſuch Cauſe for not executing the Writ ſhould be allowed: And foraſmuch as it is not allowed, from thence it follows that he may lawfully, without Offence to any, execute ſuch Proceſs of Law, by Force of a Liberty or Condition in Law with which the Poſſeſſion of every Subject is charged. And from thence it alſo follows that it is a weak and ill grounded Objection to ſay that there was no Poſſibility or lawful Means for Sir Rice Manxel the Vouchee to have Execution in Value of Aſſets to the Land in Tail by Reaſon of the Non-tenancy in Philip Manxel and John Cradock.

[b] H. 8 Ed. 3. 9. pl. 26. Fitz. Garranty de Attorney 18.

[c] H. 8 Ed. 3. 12. pl. 36. Fitz. Execution 95.

And all this I have ſaid by Way of Admittance and upon a Suppoſition that Philip Manxel and John Cradock had nothing in any Part of the Land. But it is confeſſed that they had the Reverſion immediately expectant upon an Eſtate for the Life of the ſaid Philip Bennet, which Reverſion was touched by the Entry of the Recoveror or by Execution, and in which Caſe Execution might be well enough made after the Death of Bennet. And as to the Reſt of the Manors, the ſaid Philip Manxel and John Cradock were immediate Tenants of the Freehold thereof, in which Caſe it is clear that the Tail is barred for the ſame. For the Tail of the Vouchee is not barred in Conſideration of the Aſſets which are already had, but in Conſideration of the Aſſets which may poſſibly be had. And as to the Reſt of the Manors there was a Poſſibility of Aſſets, for the Demandant was at Liberty to ſue Execution of the ſame againſt the Tenants, and they over againſt Sir Rice, and he againſt his Vouchee; and in this there is no Sort of Doubt or Queſtion, and it is not in the ſame Degree with the Matter of my Argument above, where I admitted that the Tenants in the Præcipe had nothing in Poſſeſſion, Reverſion, or Remainder in any Part of the Land. And then inaſmuch as Sir Rice the Vouchee had a Poſſibility of Aſſets both as to the one Part and the other, this Poſſibility is equivalent in Law to Aſſets in Deed, and hath ſuch Operation that the Iſſue in Tail ſhall never falſify the Recovery nor ever be remitted. For there is a Diverſity in the Law when the Iſſue in Tail ſhall falſify a Recovery, and when not. [d] For if a faint Præcipe is brought againſt Tenant in Tail, who ſuffers a Recovery by Default or by Reddition, and dies before Execution, there the Iſſue ſhall be remitted, and ſhall falſify the Recovery; [e] for if the Recoveror enters, the Iſſue ſhall have an Aſſize, as it is held in 7 H. 4. and if he pleads the Recovery, the Iſſue ſhall falſify it, [f] and if the Recoveror brings a Scire facias againſt the Iſſue to have Execution upon the Recovery, the Iſſue ſhall falſify the Recovery, as Littleton ſays in his Chapter of Remitter, and if the Recoveror had ſued Execution in the Life of the Tenant in Tail, the Iſſue ſhould have had a Formedon againſt him, and therein he ſhould have falſified the Recovery. [g] But if a Stranger brings a faint Præcipe quod reddat againſt Tenant in Tail, and he vouches to Warranty, and by the Default of the Vouchee or by his Confeſſion the Demandant recovers againſt the Tenant in Tail, and he over in Value againſt the Vouchee, and before Execution the Tenant in Tail dies, and the Land [h] deſcends to his Iſſue, yet the Demandant may enter, or ſue Execution againſt the Iſſue, and the Iſſue ſhall never falſify the Recovery in that Caſe, becauſe he has or may have Aſſets; [i] and if he might falſify the Recovery, then ſhould he retain the Land, and have Execution of the Aſſets alſo, for he who renders owes the Aſſets, and cannot diſcharge himſelf of them, and foraſmuch as the barring of the Intail is no Prejudice to the Iſſue, who ſhall have as much in Value, there is Reaſon to ſay that no Miſchief is done by the Eſtate tail being barred, and therefore that the Iſſue ſhall not falſify the Recovery, nor avoid the Execution. And ſo it was taken in the Star-chamber by the Lord Montagu and other Juſtices, in a Caſe there in the Time of King Edward 6. And there ſeems to be a good Reaſon for this, [k] for the Iſſue in Tail ſhall never defeat any Act done by his Anceſtor, but ſuch as is to his Diſadvantage, as it is proved by Octavian Lumbard's Caſe in [a] 44 Ed. 3. where Tenant in Tail upon defeaſible Title granted a Rent-charge to him that had Right, for a Releaſe of his Right, and the Tenant in Tail died, and it was the Opinion of the Court that the Heirs in Tail and every other Tenant afterwards ſhould hold the Land charged with the Rent-charge. So that if the Iſſue in Tail hath Aſſets in Value, he ſuffers no Damage, for which Reaſon he ſhall not falſify the Recovery, but the Recoveror may Diverſity when the Iſſue in Tail ſhall falſify a Recovery, and when not.

[d] S. P. Co. Litt. 361. b. 1 Co. 97. a. Kitch. 312. Pig. on Recov. 23. Ante 55 (l).

[e] T. 7 H. 4. 17. pl. 13. Bro. Fauxifier de Recov. 10. Remitter 9.

[f] Litt. § 690.

[g] S. P. Co. Litt. 361. b. 1 Co. 94. a. b. 106. a. 10 Co. 38. a. Dy. 374. pl. 15. 376. pl. 26.

[h] Rol. R. 502. Pig. on Recov. 23, 24. Ante 436 (e).

[i] W. Jones 10.

[k] 1 Lev. 168. Pig. on Recov. 24 Ante 436 (b).

[a] T. 44 Ed. 3. 21. pl. 24. Fitz. Charge 7. Bro. 4. Tayl. 6. Ante 436 (c), 466 (b), and the other Books there cited.

enter upon him, although in the mean Time the [b] Iſſue ſhall be Tenant in Tail, for no other Eſtate can deſcend to the Iſſue but that whereof the Anceſtor died ſeized, and becauſe he hath an Eſtate-tail, in the mean Time it ſhall deſcend to his Iſſue; but when he who had Right to the Tail was out of Poſſeſſion of the Tail, as Sir Rice Manxel was here and as Vouchee had Judgment to recover in Value, there although he afterwards comes to the Land, and dies ſeized, he ſhall hold the Eſtate whereof his Anceſtor died ſeized, and ſhall not be remitted to the Eſtate-tail, for that was bound, and he was out of Poſſeſſion thereof, and therefore no Matter ex poſt facto ſhall cauſe him to be remitted to it. So that there is a Diverſity when he who had Right to the Eſtate-tail is in Poſſeſſion thereof, and when he is out of Poſſeſſion of it. And although the Vouchee has no Land to render in Value, this is not material in any Caſe, for if he afterwards comes to Land, it may be rendered in Value, and therefore becauſe of the Poſſibility of Aſſets the Tail is bound as well as it is with preſent Aſſets, and this is clear and without Queſtion.

[b] W. Jones 10.

Wherefore upon the whole Matter it ſeems to me that the ancient Tail is bound in the whole, viz. as well of that Part which Philip Bennet held for Life, as for the Reſidue, and that Edward Manxel the Defendant ſhall never be remitted to ſuch Part any more than to the Reſidue, and that the other Tail in Uſe is not bound, nor the Feoffees thereof, for the Cauſes before ſhewn.

Note that afterwards, viz. the 5th Day of February in the Term of St. Hillary in the 7th Year of the Reign of our ſaid Lady the Queen, the ſaid Complainants prayed in the Chancery to be diſmiſſed at the Common Law, as appears by an Order entered in the Book called the Regiſter of Orders and Decrees made in the Chancery, which Prayer of the Complainants ſeemed to that Court to be reaſonable, but becauſe the Defendant was then abſent, the Court gave him a Day until the firſt Day in Eaſter Term then next following, to ſhew Cauſe why the Complainants ſhould not be diſmiſſed according to their Prayer, and it was thereupon further ordered that if the Defendant then failed, the Complainants ſhould be diſmiſſed, and that in the mean Time it ſhould be lawful for the Complainants to enter or commence any Suit or Action at the Common Law againſt the Defendan's for or concerning the Matter in Queſtion, if the Grand Seſſions ſhould be held in the mean Time before the Juſtices of Aſſize in the County of Glamorgan. From whence it may be collected, that although the Matter was not certainly adjudged for the Complainants, yet, as it ſeems, both the Court and the Complainants had a great Opinion that they could be aided by the Common Law. But inquire the Arguments of others made in this Matter, and what was the End and Succeſs thereof, for it is very uſeful and neceſſary to be known.

Nota bene.

THE

QUÆRIES

OF

EDMUND PLOWDEN,

Of the MIDDLE-TEMPLE, Eſq;

An APPRENTICE of the COMMON LAW.

Now firſt rendered into ENGLISH at large, with many References, and uſeful Obſervations.

Quid enim laboro, niſi ut veritas in omni quæſtione explicetur ; verum dicentibus facile cedam.

TUL. TUSC. QUÆST. lib. 3.

LONDON:

Printed for the TRANSLATOR, and to be ſold by the Bookſellers in London and Weſtminſter. MDCCLXI.

PLOWDEN'S QUÆRIES.

1. FEOFFMENT upon Condition that the Feoffee ſhall re-infeoff the Feoffor and his Wife, the Feoffee charges the Land, and afterwards the Grantee brings Annuity, and recovers, and the Feoffor enters, and the Feoffee brings Aſſize. Vide P. 44. Ed. 3. 9. b. Parſhay.

2. Land is given to Huſband and Wife, and to the Heir of the Huſband lawfully begotten on the Body of the Wife, and if the Huſband dies without Iſſue by the Wife, that then the Land ſhall remain to J. S. in Fee, the Huſband and Wife die without Iſſue, J. S. enters, upon whom the Feoffor enters, and J. S. brings Aſſize; it ſeems that it is not maintenable. Vide 14 H. 6. 25. a. ſuch a Limitation good.

3. A. leaſes for Years, and dies, having Iſſue a Daughter, his Wife priviment enſeint with a Son, the Daughter confirms the Eſtate of the Leſſee, to have and to hold to him for life, with Warranty, the Son is born, and dies without Iſſue, the Daughter ouſts the Leſſee, and upon his re-entry ſhe brings Aſſize; it ſeems to be maintenable. But if the Son had ouſted him, it ſeems that an Ejectione firmæ had lain.

4. A. leaſes for Years, and afterwards the Leſſee being received by the Statute of Glouceſter, a Stranger recovers againſt him in a Præcipe quod reddat, and the Stranger confirms the Eſtate of the Leſſee, habendum the Land to him for Life, and afterwards the Leſſor annuls the Recovery by Writ of Error, and enters upon the Leſſee, and he brings Ejectione firmæ; it ſeems to be maintenable.

5. A Recovery is had againſt Leſſee for Years in a Præcipe quod reddat, and afterwards the Leſſee brings Error or Attaint, and reverſes the Judgment, and the Leſſor enters upon the Leſſee, and he brings an Action of Treſpaſs; it ſeems to be maintenable. M. 8 Ed. 4. 19. b.

6. Lord, Meſne, and Tenant, the Tenant holds in Socage, and the Meſne in Chivalry, the Tenant makes a Gift in Frank-marriage, and the Meſne releaſes to the Donor all his Right in the Tenancy, and afterwards the four Degrees paſs, and the Donor ſeizes the Wardſhip of the Iſſue, and enters into the Land, and he brings a Writ of Treſpaſs; it ſeems that it is not maintenable.

7. A. gives Land to Huſband and Wife in ſpecial Tail, reſerving Rent, the Wife of the Donor brings Dower againſt the Heir of the Huſband for the third Part of the Rent, pending which Writ one of the Donees dies without Iſſue, it ſeems that the Wife ſhall not be barred, &c.

8. A. dies, having Iſſue two Daughters, Land is given by Deed in Tail to the youngeſt and to the Heirs of the Body of her Father begotten, and ſhe has Iſſue, and dies, the Iſſue brings a Formedon againſt his Aunt, viz. the eldeſt Daughter.

9. Meſnalty deſcends to the Tenant, and the Lord avows for Relief upon the Tenant being within Age, &c.

10. A. having a Wife makes a Feoffment upon Condition, and dies, and his Wife is endowed by the Feoffee, and afterwards grants her Eſtate to the Feoffee, reſerving Rent by Deed indented, and the Heir enters for the Condition broken, it ſeems that he ſhall hold the Land diſcharged of the Rent. Note, his Title to the Land is eigne to the Condition, puiſne to the Rent.

11. Land is given to Huſband and Wife and to a third Perſon, the third releaſes all his Right to the Wife, and the Huſband and Wife make a Leaſe for Years of the whole, and bring a Writ of Waſt againſt the Leſſee.

12. Land is leaſed for Life, the remainder to the right Heirs of J. S. Tenant for Life makes a Feoffment, and afterwards J. S. dies, his Heir enters, and the Feoffee brings Aſſize; it is not maintenable. Quære if he has any other Remedy.

13. A Man makes a Leaſe for Life, and dies, his Wife enſeint with a Son, and the Tenant for Life makes a Feoffment, and afterwards the Son is born, if he ſhall enter for the Forfeiture, Quære.

14. A. dies having Iſſue a Daughter, his Wife enſeint with a Son, and the Daughter diſclaims, and the Lord recovers in Right of Diſclaimer, and afterwards the Son is born, and the Lord dies, ſo that the Land deſcends to the Son, the Wife of the Lord brings Dower againſt him.

15. Leſſee for 40 Years leaſes for 10 Years, rendring Rent, and afterwards the firſt Leſſee ſurrenders, and the Leſſor brings an Action of Debt againſt the ſecond Leſſee.

16. Leſſee for Life leaſes for 40 Years, rendring Rent, the Leſſor confirms the Eſtate of the ſecond Leſſee, and afterwards Tenant for Life dies within the Term, the Leſſor diſtrains and avows for the Rent, it is not maintenable.

17. The

17. The Tenant holds two Manors of the Meſne, and he holds over the one Manor of A. and the other Manor of B. and A. diſtrains the Tenant, and he forejudges the Meſne, and the Meſne diſtrains and avows for the Moiety of the Meſnalty.

18. A Man being ſeized of two Acres, having Iſſue a Son and a Daughter by one Venter, and a Daughter by another Venter, grants a Rent out of one of the Acres to the Son, who dies, and afterwards the Father dies, and the Daughters make Partition, ſo that the Land charged is allotted to the youngeſt Daughter, ſhe ſhall hold it charged with the whole to the eldeſt Daughter. 34 Aſſ. pl. 15. Finch.

19. Lord and Tenant by Homage, Fealty, and Rent, the Lord grants his Homage upon Condition, reſerving the Rent, and afterwards the Condition is broken, he has no Remedy for the Arrears of the Rent due before.

20. A. grants a Rent-charge for Life, provided that the Grantee ſhall not charge the Perſon of the Grantor, and afterwards the Grantee dies, and his Executors bring Debt againſt the Grantor for the Arrears incur'd in the Life of the Grantee.

21. Two Jointenants in Fee, the one within Age, the other of full Age, make a Leaſe for Life, and afterwards the Jointenant of full Age dies, and the other recovers the Moiety in a Dum fuit infra ætatem, and the Tenant for Life dies, and the Heir of the other Jointenant enters, and the Infant ouſts him, and he brings an Aſſize; maintenable, Quære.

22. Tenant in Tail diſcontinues in Fee, and takes back an Eſtate in Fee, and grants a Rent-charge in Fee, and dies, and the Lord ſeizes his Ward, and the Grantee diſtrains for the Rent-charge, and the Lord makes Reſcous, and the Grantee brings Aſſize, it is maintenable.

23. Grandfather, Father, and Son, the Grandfather makes a Leaſe for Life of an Acre, and dies, the Father being Tenant in Tail of an Acre diſcontinues it with Warranty in Fee, and dies, and the Tenant for Life dies, and the Son enters into the Acre after his Death, and brings a Formedon, it ſeems that the Warranty of the Father with this Aſſets is no Bar.

24. A. dies without Iſſue, being ſeized of an Acre in Borough-engliſh, and having two Uncles, the youngeſt, who enters into the Acre by reaſon of Poſſeſſion, is vouched with the eldeſt by Reaſon of a Warranty made by the Nephew, and loſes, the Tenant who vouches them and recovers dies, having two Sons, the eldeſt ſues Execution, and the youngeſt ouſts him. See M. 11 H. 7. 12. a. for the Reaſon of ſuing Execution.

25. Leſſee for Life leaſes for 10 Years, rendring Rent, Leſſee for Years makes a Feoffment, and afterwards the Leſſor enters, it ſeems that he ſhall hold the Land diſcharged of the Rent, altho' it binds the Leſſee for Life, for the Rent cannot endure longer than the Reverſion, and altho' he had granted the Rent to a Stranger, yet had it been gone, ſo that it differs from the other which is not in reſpect of the Reverſion. And if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, rendring Rent to the Uſe of J. S. and the Tenant for Life ſurrenders, the Rent is gone. 1 Aſſ. pl. 10. the Meſne grants the Rent of the Tenant, the Tenancy eſcheats, the Rent is gone.

26. Lord and Tenant of 12 Acres by 12 d. the Tenant makes a Leaſe for Years of one of the Acres, the Leſſee for Years thereof enfeoffs the Lord, it ſeems that he may avow for 11 d. For he ſhall not be ſaid a Diſſeizor to this Purpoſe, but a Purchaſor, for altho' he is a Diſſeizor by the Statute, ſo that an Aſſize lies againſt him, yet to another Intent he is in by Feoffment, for if Leſſee for Years enfeoffs two, a Releaſe to the one ſhall enure to both.

27. Tenant in Tail diſcontinues the Tail, and the Diſcontinuee makes a Feoffment in Fee upon Condition, and a Warranty collateral to the Iſſue is made to the Feoffee of the Diſcontinuee, and the Iſſue is barred by the Warranty by the Feoffee, and the Diſcontinuee enters for the Condition broken, the Iſſue has no Remedy againſt him.

28. A. leaſes for Life, and grants a Rent-charge out of the Reverſion, and the Grantee purchaſes the Eſtate of the Tenant for Life, who dies, and the Leſſor enters; the Queſtion is, if the Grantee may diſtrain for all the Arrears from the Time of the Grant.

29. A. grants a Rent-charge in Fee out of his Land, to commence after the Death of the Grantee, and the Grantee dies, it ſeems that the Wife of the Grantee ſhall not be endowed of this Rent, and yet the Heir ſhall have it as Heir, but it was not in the Father, and it ſhall not be Aſſets in the Heir, as it ſeems. * But if the Rent had been granted to one upon Condition that if the Grantee or his Heirs die, their Iſſue being within Age, then the Rent ſhall ceaſe until the Heir comes to his full Age, in that Caſe if the Grantee dies, his Iſſue being within Age, the Wife ſhall be endowed, but Execution ſhall ceaſe until the Heir comes to his full Age. As if the Tenant be in Ward to the Lord, and the Lord takes a Wife, and dies poſſeſſed of the Ward, his Wife ſhall be endowed of the Seigniory which was in Suſpence, becauſe the Freehold was in the Huſband. And ſo in the laſt Caſe before, in 24 Ed. 3, the Wife of the Father brought a Writ of Dower againſt the Heir within Age, and recovered, but Execution ceaſed until, &c. And there you may ſee that the Freehold is in him, inaſmuch as he is Tenant to the Præcipe of his Mother.

* P. 5. Ed. 2. Maynard 161, 162. Fitz. Dower 143. P. 12 Ed. 3. Fitz. Condition 11. M. 22 Ed. 3. 19 pl. 56. Fitz. Ibid. 12. H. 10 H. 7. 13. b. Per Keble. Plow. 156. Perk. § 327. 1 Co. 87. a. 1 Leon. 330. 4 Leon 83. Goeb. 103. Jenk. 4. pl. 6. 2 Sid. 117. 1 Vent. 96. 10 Mod. 367. 2 Bac. Abr. 127. Vin. Abr. tit. Dower H. pl. 9. Poſt § 358.

30. If a collateral Warranty deſcends within the Year upon him who has Cauſe to enter for Mortmain, it ſeems that he ſhall not enter afterwards, for if he himſelf had releaſed, he ſhould not have entered after, and a Warranty ſhall bind him as well as his Releaſe. But Quære if a collateral Warranty extends to a Title of Entry.

31. The Father dies ſeized of a Remainder, having Iſſue two Sons by two Venters, the firſt Son being Tenant in Tail of the particular Eſtate grants a Rent-charge in Fee, and dies without Iſſue, the ſecond Son enters, and Avowry is made upon him for the Charge. If a Man has two Daughters by divers Venters or by one Venter, and dies, and the eldeſt grants a Rent-charge, and dies before any Entry into the Land, ſhall the youngeſt Daughter hold the whole Moiety charged? It ſeems that ſhe ſhall: As if one Jointenant grants a Rent-charge and dies, the Survivor ſhall hold the Land diſcharged.

32. A. gives in Tail one Acre which he holds in Socage, and another Acre which he holds in Chivalry, ſaying nothing, it ſeems that the Donor ſhall have ſeveral Services, and make ſeveral Avowries, notwithſtanding he hath an entire Reverſion; for the Law makes the Avowry in Reſpect of the Tenure over, and he holds the Reverſion of the one Acre of one, and of the other Acre of another, and they ſhall eſcheat ſeverally; wherefore, &c.

33. The youngeſt Son of an Abator has the Land by Deſcent by the Cuſtom of Borough Engliſh, or by Reaſon of an Intail afterwards to his Father and the ſecond Wife, in a Mortdanceſtor brought againſt him he ſhall have the Voucher, notwithſtanding the Counterplea given by the Statute of &c. for that Statute extends only to the Heir by the Common Law. And therefore it ſeems that if an Abator has Iſſue two Daughters, and makes a Feoffment, and dies, and the one takes a Feoffment, and an Aſſize of Mortdanceſtor is brought againſt her, ſhe ſhall have the Voucher, for ſhe is not ſole Heir, but if ſhe had been the ſole Heir, then it ſeems clearly that ſhe ſhould not have had the Voucher, notwithſtanding ſhe did not come to it as Heir. And if an Abator and another, being Tenants in Mortdanceſtor, vouch, they ſhall have the Voucher.

*Paſch. 5. Eliz. a great Caſe was argued in the Exchequer: There were three Brothers, the ſecond Brother purchaſed Land, and deviſed it to his Son in Tail, and if he died without Iſſue, that then it ſhould remain to the next of the Kindred of the Lineage of the Father, the eldeſt Son was then dead, having a Son, it was adjudged that the Son of the eldeſt ſhould have the Land, becauſe he is next of the Lineage; for Lineage ſhall be taken in a lineal Deſcent, which is the moſt worthy Line. And ſee Dy. 333. pl. 29. a Deviſe to the next of Blood, the Son of the eldeſt Brother ſhall have it before the younger Brother. Plowd. Quær. abridg'd in Engl. 86.

34. Two Jointenants by 12 d. the one grants all that which belongs to him to a Stranger upon Condition, the Lord grants the Services of the one, and Attornment is had, and afterwards the Feoffor enters for the Condition broken, it ſeems that he ſhall hold by 12 d. and the other by 12 d. alſo, for by the Feoffment, &c. no Apportionment is made, and then by the Grant 12 d. paſſed, and 12 d. remains.

35. A Woman has Iſſue a Son, and by another Huſband has Iſſue another Son, and the ſecond Huſband deviſes Land to the Wife for Life, Remainder to the next of the Blood of the Wife, it ſeems that the youngeſt Son ſhall have the Land in Remainder: For altho' the one is not nearer of the Blood of the Mother than the other, and altho' the eldeſt is more worthy in Blood, but not nearer, ſo that by the Words it is uncertain which of them ſhall have it, yet by the Intent of the Deviſor, which is always to be purſued in Deviſes, it ſhall be taken that the youngeſt ſhall have it, becauſe he is the Iſſue of the Deviſor *.

36. If a Woman Leſſee for Life takes Huſband, and ſhe and the Huſband make a Leaſe for Life, rendring Rent, and the Wife avows for the Rent after the Death of the Huſband, now the firſt Leſſor may enter, and the Wife has no Remedy, for by her Avowry ſhe has agreed by Matter of Record: And if ſhe had entered by force of a Condition made by her and her Huſband, it had been all one.

37. Land is given to A. habendum the one Moiety to the Feoffee and his Heirs, and the other Moiety to him and his Heirs of his Body, Remainder to his right Heirs, which Land is held by 2 d. the Feoffee dies without Iſſue, and his Brother enters, it ſeems that ſeveral Avowries ſhall be made upon him, one for 1 d. and another for another 1 d. But if Land be given to A. the one Moiety in Fee, the other Moiety in Tail, one Avowry ſhall be made, for this enures as a joint Gift, but in the firſt Caſe it enures ſeverally at the beginning, and that for the benefit of the Tenant, and then it ſhall be alſo ſeverally in the Hands of the Heir. As if there are three Jointenants, and one of them releaſes to one of the others, and he to whom the Releaſe is made has the Moiety of his Companion by Survivorſhip, yet for the third Part one Avowry ſhall be made upon him. Quære in the principal Caſe, for the Fee-ſimple was never ſevered, if it had, then it ſeems that the Donee ſhould hold the one Moiety by 2 d. and the other Moiety by 2 d. and Avowry ſhould be made upon the collateral Heir for 2 d. in the one Moiety. Quære de hoc.

[a] Co. Litt. 99. b. 213. b. Poſt § 107.

[b] Litt. § 734. Poſt § 304.

38. If Land be deviſed upon Condition, or reſerving Rent, it is void, for the Reſervation of Rent or Re-entry cannot be good but in Reſpect that the Reſervor may by poſſibility take Advantage of it, and the Heir cannot have that which his Anceſtor himſelf could never have. [a] For if a Man leaſes for Life, rendring Rent with Re-entry to his Heir, it is void, cauſa qua ſupra. [b] And if a Man deviſes Land with Warranty, this Warranty is void, becauſe the Father was not bound, Littlet. But others think there is a Diverſity between the Caſes, for in this laſt Caſe there is a Charge to the Heir, and he ſhall never be charged but where his Father was charged, for if a Man binds his Heir, it is void, but in the other Caſes it is for the Advantage of the Heir.

[c] S. P. Plowd. 171 (e), and ſee the Books there cited in the Margin. Poſt § 131.

[d] S. P. Plowd. 171 (f), and ſee the Books there cited in the Margin. Poſt § 131.

[e] S. P. Dy. 42. pl. 13.

[f] S. P. Dy. 42. pl. 12. in Margine.

39. [c] Per Dyer, if a Man makes a Leaſe, rendring Rent to the Leſſor, he ſhall only have it during his Life, becauſe he does not reſerve it longer, for if he had reſerved it during 40 Years, he ſhould not have had it any longer. [d] But if he makes a Leaſe, reſerving Rent, and does not ſay to whom, it ſhall be to the Leſſor and to his Heirs, becauſe there it is left to the Conſtruction of the Law. [e] As if a Man makes a Feoffment to A. and to his Heirs, and binds him and his Heirs to Warranty to the Feoffee, this does but extend to the Feoffee himſelf, [f] but if he had warranted the Land againſt all Men in forma prædicta, or in ſuch Words, it ſhould be to the Feoffee and his Heirs, which ſee [g] H. 14 H. 4. 13. a. And at the ſame Time it was ſaid [h] that if Land be leaſed to A. for Life, Remainder to B. in Tail, Remainder to C. in forma prædicta, this ſhall be for Life only, for it cannot be an Eſtate of Inheritance, becauſe it is uncertain to which of the foregoing Eſtates the Word (prædicta) ſhall be refer'd: [i] But if the Remainder had been in forma eadem, then it ſhould have been an Eſtate-tail, for (eadem) refertur proximo antecedenti, ſed (prædicta) omnibus ut ſuperiori. If a Man makes a Feoffment, upon Condition that he ſhall enter for Condition broken, Quære if his Heir ſhall re-enter. If Leſſee for 20 Years leaſes for 10 Years, rendring Rent to him, his Executors ſhall have it, for they repreſent the Perſon of their Teſtator.

[g] Fitz. Garranty 8. Bro. 23, 66. Expoſition 29.

[h] Herewith agrees Dy. 15. pl. 81. But ſee Co. Litt. 20. b.

[i] 1 Vent. 368. Cart. 104. 3 Danv. Abr. 188. pl. 8. where it is ſaid that the remainder to C. is void for Uncertainty.

40. If Land is given to two, and to the Heirs of the Body of one of them, and he who has the Tail makes a Feoffment, and both die, it ſeems not to be any Diſcontinuance for any Part, for he was not ſeized of the Tail in Poſſeſſion at the Time of the Feoffment. And if Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe for Life, Remainder for Life, and afterwards releaſes to him in Remainder and to his Heirs, this is a Diſcontinuance if the firſt Tenant for Life dies in the Life of Tenant in Tail, otherwiſe it ſeems to be no Diſcontinuance. If Tenant in Tail makes a Gift in Tail to J. S. and afterwards releaſes to him and to his Heirs, and dies, and afterwards J. S. dies without Iſſue, it ſeems that the Iſſue in Tail may enter upon the collateral Heir of J. S. becauſe the Fee was not executed in the Life of the Tenant in Tail, altho' it paſſed out of him. Quære of all theſe Matters.

See 1 Rol. Abr. 839. pl. 2.

[i] S. P. accord Co. Litt. 20. b. 3 Danv. Abr. 88. pl. 8.

41. Grandfather, Father and Son, the Grandfather Tenant in Tail gives to Huſband and Wife in Tail, the Huſband dies without Iſſue, the Grandfather dies, the Father releaſes to the Wife being Tenant after poſſibility and to her Heirs, and dies, the Wife dies, the Iſſue cannot enter upon the Heir of the Wife, for altho' it is no Diſcontinuance, yet when the Wife came to the Fee-ſimple, the Fee was executed, and then ſhe died ſeized in Fee, which Deſcent took away the Entry of the Iſſue; but if the Wife had been Tenant in Tail, and then had died without Iſſue, it had been otherwiſe; for then at the Time of her Death ſhe had only had the Tail in Poſſeſſion and the Fee in Reverſion, which would not have taken away the Entry of the Iſſue.

42. If I ſell for a certain Sum of Money in Market-overt my Goods which were ſtolen, the Vendor has no Remedy for the Money, if he has it not in Hand, becauſe the Contract was void; for if one buys Goods in Market-overt knowing them to be ſtolen, the Property is not changed, no more is it here, inaſmuch as the Vendor knew that they were ſtolen of him.

43. If the Diſſeizee enters upon the Heir of the Diſſeizor, and grants a Rent-charge, and dies, the Iſſue ſhall hold the Land diſcharged, for altho' he hath his Right from the ſame Anceſtor that charged the Land, yet he is remitted to another Poſſeſſion than that which deſcended to him: And if the Heir of the Diſſeizee enters upon the Diſſeizor, and grants a Rent-charge, and afterwards the Diſſeizee dies, now becauſe a new Right is come to him, he is remitted, and it ſeems that he ſhall hold the Land diſcharged. But if the Son diſſeizes the Father, and charges the Land, and afterwards the Land deſcends to him by the Death of the Father, the Son ſhall not hold it diſcharged, for he is not remitted, becauſe the Right deſcended to him from the ſame Perſon to whom he did the Wrong, and he ſhall be diſabled to claim any Right from him whom he diſſeized, but in the other Caſe he claims the Right from another. As if the Father diſſeizes the Grandfather, and dies after he has granted a Rent-charge, and afterwards the Grandfather dies, the Son ſhall hold the Land diſcharged, for he claims the Right from the Grandfather, and ſo from another Perſon: Quære, for there the Entry of the Grandfather was taken away, and then when the Right of one, who cannot enter, deſcends to the Tenant, he is remitted. Quære. But if there be Lord, Meſne, and Tenant, and the Tenant aliens in Mortmain, and the Lord Paramount enters, and charges the Land, and afterwards his Title is come, viz. the Year is paſſed, and the Meſne has not entered, there the Lord ſhall hold it diſcharged, and his Iſſues too, as it ſeems, for he ſhall not be remitted for a Title, as he ſhall for a Right, accrued. But yet it ſeems that he may bar him upon whom he enters, if he brings Aſſize, and that well enough by this Title.

44. A. having three Daughters deviſes £. 100 to each of them for her Marriage, and if any of them die before her Marriage, that then the others ſhall have her Portion by Survivorſhip, and one of them dies in the Life of the Father, it ſeems that the others ſhall have £. 300 after the Death of the Father, and yet nothing ſurvived, for ſhe who died had nothing in Poſſeſſion or in Action, becauſe the Deviſe did not take Effect until after the Death of the Deviſor, but they ſhall have it by the Intent of the Deviſor *, which appears to be that any of them ſhall have £. 300 conditionally if ſhe ſurvives.

* For when he ſays that if any of them die before their Marriage, then the other ſhall have her Portion, this makes it in Nature of a Remainder, in which Caſe tho' the firſt Deviſee dies in the Life of the Teſtator, yet he in remainder ſhall take the Eſtate, per Manwood. As a Deviſe to a Monk, the Remainder to another, the remainder is good. Plowd. Quær. abridg'd in Engl. 83.

45. If a Woman has Title to have Dower of three Acres, and afterwards the Heir ſows the three Acres with Corn, and ſhe has one of them aſſigned to her by the Sheriff for her Dower, where ſhe never required Dower of the Heir, Quære who ſhall have the Emblements? For no Folly can be imputed to the Heir, becauſe the Poſſeſſion was caſt upon him by the Law, and when he ſowed the Land, it was uncertain whether ſhe would ever claim her Dower, in Reſpect of which [a] Uncertainty the Heir ſhall be aided, [b] as if a Condition on the Part of the Mortgagor be performed, the Mortgagee ſhall have the Emblements. Alſo the Sheriff cannot aſſign Goods to the Widow, and by the ſame Reaſon he cannot aſſign the Emblements, which are but Chattles.

[a] See Litt. §68, and the Commentary thereupon.

[b] So if Tenant by Statute-merchant ſows the ground, and then by a ſudden and caſual Profit is ſatisfied, he ſhall have the Emblements. Co. Litt. 55. b.

46. [c] A Woman is entitled to have Dower of a Marſh, the Heir by his Induſtry makes it good Meadow, ſhe recovers it and ſhall be endowed of the third Part as it now is, becauſe her Title is to the Quantity of the Land, not the Value; [d] but if the Heir improves the Land by Building or the like collateral Improvement, it ſhall be otherwiſe. Quære [e] if the Heir ſuffers the Houſes upon the Land to decay, ſhall the Wife be endowed of the Land according to its Value when it was in the Poſſeſſion of her Huſband, or ſhall ſhe have the third Part as it now is, and be allowed in Damages for the impairing? And it ſeems that Damages ſhall not be recouped in Aſſize for the Improvement of ſuch Marſh.

[c] S. P. accord Co. Litt. 32. a.

[d] S. P. accord M. 17 H. 3. Fitz. Dower 192. Perk. § 328. Sed contra Co. Litt. 32. a.

47. If Tenant in Tail holds by Rent, and the Donor grants the Services of the Donee, it ſeems that nothing paſſes, altho' Attornment be made, for the Rent cannot paſs unleſs it paſſes as a Rent-ſervice. For if there be Lord and Tenant by Fealty and Rent, and the Lord grants the Services of the Tenant, ſaving the Fealty, nothing paſſes thereby, for the Rent cannot paſs but as a Rent-ſervice, inaſmuch as it is granted by the Name of a Service, for neither a Rent-ſeck nor a Rent-charge can paſs by that Word, (quære if the Saving is not void for Repugnancy) and as a Rent-ſervice it cannot paſs, for then the Donee ſhould pay one Fealty to the Grantee, and another to the Donor for the Reverſion, and ſo the Donor would charge him with two Fealties, which he cannot do, any more than the Lord can grant the Moiety. But Quære if his Attornment ſhall not prejudice him, but it ſeems that it ſhall not, becauſe the Law will not ſuffer one Man to hold the ſame of two ſeveral Perſons.

[e] In this Caſe Co. Litt. 32. a. ſays that ſhe ſhall be endowed according to its Value at the Time of the Aſſignment, and not according to it's Value in the Poſſeſſion of her Huſband. See Perk. § 329.

48. Tenant

48. Tenant for Life grants a Rent-charge in Fee, and afterwards he and the Leſſor make a Feoffment of all their Lands and Tenements in ſuch a Town where the Land lies, and make a Letter of Attorney to make Livery, it ſeems that the Rent-charge ſhall not endure longer than for the Life of the Tenant for Life, becauſe it is but a Grant of the Eſtate of the Tenant for Life, and of the Reverſion of the Leſſor alſo, and this by the ſaid Words. But if they had made a Feoffment of that Land only, then the Rent-charge ſhould endure for ever, becauſe it is the Feoffment of the Tenant for Life, and the Confirmation of the Leſſor. Quære, for it ſeems that if the Deed is firſt delivered, and afterwards Livery is made, the Reverſion paſſes by the Delivery of the Deed, for it is an Attornment alſo of the Tenant for Life by the Delivery of the Deed.

49. If there is Lord, Meſne, and Tenant, and the Tenant holds by 4*d.* and the Meſne by 12*d.* and the Tenant makes a Gift in Tail ſaying nothing, and after that the Reverſion eſcheats, ſome think that the Donee ſhall hold by 12 d. ſo if the Meſnalty deſcends to the Donor, the Donee ſhall hold by 12 d. and if the Meſne had releaſed to the Donor, the Donee ſhould hold by 12 d. As if the Tenant had made a Gift in Tail, the Remainder in Fee, and the Remainder had eſcheated, it ſeems that the Donee ſhould have held by 12 d. for the firſt Services which he ſhall pay, and the firſt Tenure, is extinct by the Unity of the Remainder to the Seigniory, ſo that it is clear that the Meſnalty, viz. the 4*d.* is extinct, and then the Donee ſhall hold by 12*d.* and it is all one as if the Meſne had releaſed to him in Remainder. And the Reaſon in the principal Caſe why the Tenure of the Donee ſhall be charged, is, becauſe the Law makes the Tenure of the Donor in reſpect of the Meſnalty, and when the Meſnalty is extinct, the Tenure between the Donor and the Donee ſhall be alſo extinct, and then by the ſame Reaſon that the Donee ſhould take Advantage, if the Donor by Deſcent or Releaſe had held by leſſer Service, by the ſame Reaſon he ſhall be prejudiced when he holds by greater Service. And it ſeems that if the Wife of the Donee in Tail, whereof the Law makes the Tenure, is endowed, and afterwards the Tail is extinct, ſhe ſhall hold but by Fealty only, otherwiſe it is if the Tenure had been reſerved by expreſs Words; and if the Wife of the Tenant is endowed, and afterwards the Reverſion eſcheats, the Wife ſhall hold by Fealty only. If the Tenant who holds by 4*d.* makes a Gift in Frank-Marriage, and afterwards the Donor dies without Heir, ſo that the Reverſion is held by 12*d.* quære how the Donees ſhall hold? whether by ſuch Service as the Donor held by when the Gift was made, or by ſuch Service as the Reverſion is now held by. If a Gift is made in Frank Marriage, after the fourth Degree the Donees ſhall hold as the Donor holds over. So if a Man makes a Gift in Tail, reſerving 2 d. for the Life of the Father of the Donee, during his Life the Iſſue ſhall hold by the Reſervation of the Party, and after his Death his Iſſue ſhall hold by the Reſervation of the Law. As if a Man makes a Feoffment upon Condition, and that for the Breach thereof he ſhall enter, during his Life he enters by the expreſs Reſervation, and after his Death his Heir enters by the Reſervation of the Law. Note, if an Incroachment of Services be made upon the Huſband, the Wife being endowed ſhall not be contributory to it, and yet the Heir ſhall not avoid it.

50. A. having two Sons makes a Gift in Tail to the eldeſt, Remainder in Fee to the youngeſt, upon Condition that the eldeſt ſhall not make a Feoffment with Warranty to the Intent to bar him in Remainder, and if he does, that then the youngeſt and his Heirs ſhall enter. The eldeſt makes a Feoffment with Warranty, the Father dies, the eldeſt dies without Iſſue, it is clear that the youngeſt may enter, for the Entry given to the youngeſt is void, and then the Feoffor and his Heirs may enter, and then the Father having Cauſe to enter, and he being dead, the Condition is in Suſpence in the eldeſt, and revived by his Death, (as the Condition is revived by the Death of Tenant in Tail in 41 Ed. 3. 21.) and given to the youngeſt; for the eldeſt did not give away the Condition incluſively extinct by the Feoffment, as it might be, and a Warranty does not bind Titles of Entry, as for Mortmain or Raviſhment. But if the Feoffment with Warranty had been after the Death of the Father, then the Condition had been extinct.

51. There are three Jointenants, the one gives his Part with his Daughter in Frank-Marriage to one of his Companions, and further by the ſame Deed releaſes to them in Frank-Marriage, and makes Livery, ſome think that this ſhall be a good Gift in Frank-Marriage for this Reaſon, viz. altho' one Jointenant cannot enfeoff his Companion, yet he may enfeoff his Companion and another, and the Livery made to the other ſhall veſt the Land in both, and this is for the Advantage of the third, as in Gaſcoign's Caſe 7 H. 6. 3, it was not a Surrender, for the Advantage of the third, nor in 21 H. 7. 41, for the Advantage of the Huſband, ſo it ſhall not be void here, for the Advantage of the third. But others think this Reaſon is not good, for the Huſband cannot take it immediately from his Companion, and for him it is void, and good for his Wife. As if a Man makes a Feoffment to a Stranger and to his own Wife, it is void for the Wife, and good for the Stranger, notwithſtanding Livery be made to the Stranger in the Name of both. So here it is good for the Wife, and the other Part of the Deed, viz. the Releaſe, is good for the Huſband *. So both the Things make the Frank-Marriage good, inaſmuch as it may be made at an Inſtant, for the Land and the Deed may be put together, and both be delivered at an Inſtant.

52. If a Man makes Livery of an Acre in the Name of that and of another Acre which he has for Life, in Tail, in Right of his Wife, or of his Parſonage or Biſhopric, nothing paſſes, but if it be in Name of an Acre which he has for Years, or as Guardian, or by Reaſon of an Execution, it is otherwiſe.

53. A. is ſeized of a Houſe on the Part of his Mother, and Eſtovers are granted to him in Fee to be burnt in it, and he dies without Iſſue, are the Eſtovers extinct? If two Diſſeizors of a Houſe have Eſtovers granted to them to be ſpent in the ſame Houſe, and one of them accepts a Releaſe of the Diſſeizee, it ſeems that the Eſtovers remain for Part, for a Releaſe to ſuch Stranger does

* Further, if one Jointenant cannot enfeoff his Companion, as it is held 10 Ed. 4. then it will enure ſeverally, viz. to his Companion as a Releaſe, and to his Wife for Life, for if it be no good Frank-marriage, then 'tis an Eſtate for Life, and ſo it was reſolved between Webb and Porter, 24 Eliz. and then they take in common, and ſeverally, and no Frank-marriage. Plowd. Quær. abridg'd in Engl. 139.

does not countervail an Entry and Feoffment, as if the Diſſeizor takes a Confirmation of the Lord to hold by leſſer Services, and afterwards accepts a Releaſe of the Diſſeizee, yet he ſhall take Advantage of the Confirmation. If the Son of the Diſſeizor endows his Wife ex aſſenſu patris, and afterwards the Diſſeizee releaſes to the Diſſeizor, is the Dower of the Wife avoided, or not? A Warranty made to the Diſſeizor is not gone by the Releaſe of the Diſſeizee.

54. The Tenant ceſſes for two Years, and afterwards takes a Wife, and the Lord recovers in a Ceſſavit, and the Tenant dies, his Wife ſhall be endowed againſt the Lord clearly, as it ſeems; for if a Man ceſſes for 20 Years, a Ceſſavit ſhall not be maintained for the Ceſſer the firſt two Years of the 20, but for the Ceſſer the two Years next before the Writ purchaſed, and ſo is the Count in a Ceſſavit. Then here no Ceſſavit could be maintained for the Ceſſer before the Coverture, and ſo the Title of Action ſhall not have Relation, &c. but it is founded upon the Ceſſer two Years next before the Writ purchaſed, Part of which was during the Coverture, for it could not poſſibly be otherwiſe, and then the Ceſſer of the Huſband during the Coverture ſhall not take away the Dower of the Wife *. So Note this for a good Reaſon. But a Man may have a Ceſſavit in the Per for a Ceſſer before the Feoffment.

* But Quære if the Caſe be not falſly put here, for it ſhould rather have been that the Huſband ceſſes one year before the Coverture, and another year after, and then the Ceſſavit is brought. Plowd. Quær. abridg'd in Engl. 6.

55. Grandfather, Father, and Son, the Father diſſeizes the Grandfather, and dies, and the Son endows the Wife of the Father, and the Grandfather dies, it ſeems that the Son may ouſt the Tenant in Dower, for he has a new Right deſcended from the Grandfather, and as the Entry of the Grandfather was lawful upon the Tenant in Dower, ſo ſhall the Entry of his Heirs, viz. the Son, be lawful. † But it ſeems that if the Son had there granted a Rent-charge, and afterwards the Grandfather had died, the Son ſhould have held the Land charged, and ſhould not have been remitted, for the Entry of the Grandfather was not lawful upon him, and when the Right of the Grandfather deſcends upon him, he ſhall not be remitted. But if there are Great-Grandfather, Father, and Son, and the Grandfather diſſeizes the Great-Grandfather, and dies, and the Father dies, and the Son endows the Wife of the Father, and the Great-Grandfather dies, it ſeems that the Son cannot ouſt the Tenant in Dower, for the Great-Grandfather could not enter upon her in that Caſe, no more can his Heir. It ſeems that if the Son diſſeizes the Father, and grants a Rent-charge, and afterwards the Father grants a Rent-charge, the Land ſhall be charged in perpetuum: But if the Son had been dead firſt, it had been otherwiſe, and his Son ſhould have held it diſcharged.

† Contra Poſt § 62.

56. The Tenant holds 10 Acres by 10*d.* and makes a Feoffment of one of the Acres, and the Lord grants the Rent, reſerving the Fealty, and the Tenant attorns, and afterwards the Grantee releaſes all his Right in the Land to the Tenant, yet he ſhall have 1 d. becauſe by the Feoffment the Seigniory was ſevered, and two Rents paſſed by the Grant, and there is only one extinguiſhed by the Releaſe, viz. the Rent of 9 d.

57. Two Diſſeizors make a Gift in Tail to hold in Chivalry, and afterwards the Diſſeizee releaſes to one of them, the Donee dies, the Donors ſeize the Wardſhip of his Iſſue, who maries himſelf within Age, and they bring Forfeiture of Marriage, firſt, it ſeems that the Releaſe ſhall enure to both.

58. If the Reverſion is granted to the Tenant for Life and to a Stranger in Fee, now the Jointure of the Fee is ſevered, for the Tenant for Life has a Fee-ſimple in the Moiety of the Land executed preſently. If the Reverſion of Tenant in Tail is granted to him and to another in Fee, the Jointure of the Fee remains in that Caſe. But if the Huſband is Tenant for Life, and the Reverſion is granted to him and to his Wife, the Fee remains in them in Jointure, becauſe there can be no [a] Moieties between Huſband and Wife, and this is clear Law. And if a Leaſe be made to two, habendum the one Moiety to the one, and the other Moiety to the other for Life, and afterwards Confirmation is made to them and their Heirs, the Jointure of the Fee is ſevered, and they are Tenants in Common of the Fee, as they were [b] of the Freehold: For a Confirmation ſhall enure according to the Nature of the Eſtate upon which it enures, and a Confirmation does not alter the Eſtate. See 9 H. 6. 9. for this. But if the Reverſion had been granted to them in Fee, they had been Jointenants of the Fee preſently, for there the Fee in Jointure merges their ſeveral Eſtates of Freehold. But if there are two Tenants in Common for Life, and the Reverſion is jointly in two, and one of them purchaſes the Eſtate of the one Tenant for Life, and the other purchaſes the Eſtate of the other Tenant for Life, there the Jointure is ſevered, for when the one Jointenant purchaſed the Eſtate of the one Tenant for Life, he had his Moiety of the Fee executed to the Moiety of the Freehold, and therefore the Jointure was ſevered preſently, but in the other Caſe they came to the Reverſion at one and the ſame Inſtant; and ſo is the Diverſity. If Land be leaſed to Huſband and Wife, habendum the one Moiety to the Huſband, and the other Moiety to the Wife, and afterwards the Land is confirmed to them in ſpecial Tail, reſerving a Hawk, the Donor ſhall have two Hawks, for the Huſband ſhall have the one Moiety of the Inheritance, becauſe his Poſſeſſion was ſevered from the Poſſeſſion of the Wife, viz. in the Moiety of the Land, ſo that for that Moiety the Huſband is ſeized in his Demeſn as of ſpecial Tail, and the Wife hath nothing in it; and as to the other Moiety whereof the Wife was Tenant in Common with the Huſband, the Huſband was ſeized thereof in Right of the Wife, and then he had a ſufficient Eſtate upon which a Confirmation might enure, wherefore the Confirmation enures jointly to them, and the Caſe is no other than if a Man marries a Woman who is Tenant for Life, and the Leſſor confirms the Land to them in Fee, they are preſently ſeized jointly in Fee, ſo in the Caſe above the Huſband is ſole ſeized of the one Moiety in Tail, and he and his Wife are jointly ſeized of the other Moiety, and then inaſmuch as it ſhall go ſeverally, the Donor ſhall have ſeveral Hawks. So if Land is given to the Huſband for Life, Remainder to the Wife for Life, and their Eſtates are confirmed in Tail, the Huſband alone ſhall have the one Moiety in the Tail, and he and his Wife the other Moiety, and yet the Tail is not executed executed for any Part. Quære, for this is a good Moot Caſe. If Land is given to two, and to the Heirs of their Bodies begotten, and afterwards the Donor confirms the Land to them in Fee, they are not Jointenants in Fee, for the Tail was executed to ſuch Purpoſe, and ſo the Confirmation enures ſeverally. If there is Tenant pur auter vie of the Tenancy, and the Seigniory is granted to him and to another in Fee, the Jointure is ſevered preſently, and if Ceſtuy que vie dies, yet the Seigniory is not in Jointure, inaſmuch as it was not in Jointure at the Begininng. But if a Seigniory is granted to two in Fee, and afterwards one of them takes an Eſtate of the Tenancy pur auter vie, and Ceſtuy que vie dies, now the Jointure remains, becauſe it was joint at the Beginning.

[a] Plowd. 58 (m), 483 (b), and ſee the Books there cited in the Margin.

[b] Plowd. 160 (d), and ſee the Books there cited in the Margin. Poſt § 370.

59 A. has Iſſue two Daughters, and holds Land of the eldeſt by Suit and a Hawk, and dies, and the Daughters aſſign the third Part of their Land to their Mother for Dower, and afterwards make Partition, the Tenant in Dower ſhall not be contributory for any Part of the Services, for the Reverſion remains in Coparcenary between them two, for they cannot make Partition thereof, and then the entire Seigniory is in Suſpence, and ſo there ſhall be no Contribution by the Tenant in Dower: and it ſeems that the youngeſt Daughter ſhall be alſo diſcharged of the Tenure. And yet if land held by a Hawk deſcends upon the Seignioreſs and her Siſter, and they make Partition, the Seignioreſs ſhall have the Hawk, but in that Caſe there is no Suit, for by the Statute of Marlbridge cap. 9. the eldeſt ſhall do it, and the other ſhall be contributory, and then if ſhe is the Seignioreſs, ſhe cannot do it to herſelf. But the Reaſon why the youngeſt ſhall be diſcharged in the principal Caſe is, becauſe the Seigniory is in Suſpence for Part, and it cannot be in eſſe for the other Part. But if the Termor has two Daughters, and the Lord ſeizes the youngeſt who is within Age, it ſeems that he ſhall diſtrain the other for the Moiety of the Seigniory, for the Act of the Law ſhall not prejudice him. Quære, for the Seizure of the Ward is his own Act.

60. Two Femes Diſſeizoreſſes enfeoff their Father, who dies ſeized, ſo that the Land deſcends to them, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to one of them, it ſeems that it ſhall enure to them both, for between themſelves they are in by Title. And if a Diſſeizor dies ſeized, having two Daughters who are Baſtards, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to one of them, this ſhall go to both. And if Tenant for Years enfeoffs two, and the Leſſor releaſes to one of them, this ſhall go to both. For although, as to him, they are Diſſeizors and puniſhable by Aſſize, yet to all other Intents they are in by Title. For if Tenant for Years enfeoffs the Lord of an Acre of Land, the Seigniory ſhall be apportioned. But Quære if the Feoffee was not a Diſſeizor at the Common Law. And if a Man enfeoffs two upon Condition, which is broken, and the Feoffor releaſes to one of them, the Feoffee ſhall not hold his Companion out of the Land, for they are not in by Wrong, and a Releaſe, when it countervails an Entry and Feoffment, does not extend to Titles. And if the Diſſeizee enters upon two Diſſeizors, and they recover falſly in Aſſize againſt the Diſſeizee, and he releaſes to one of them, this ſhall enure to both, for between themſelves and the Diſſeizee alſo they are in by Title. And if an Infant enfeoffs two, and afterwards at his full Age he releaſes to one of them, this ſhall enure to them both. If two Diſſeizors make a Feoffment, and take back an Eſtate, a Releaſe to one ſhall enure to both, for altho' they are Diſſeizors in Reſpect of the Diſſeizee, yet between themſelves they are in by Title. So if a Diſſeizor makes a Feoffment, and takes back an Eſtate for Life, and a Releaſe is made to him, it ſhall enure to him in Reverſion. If Leſſee for Years makes a Feoffment, and the Leſſor dies without Heir, the Lord ſhall not have the Eſcheat, for it is a good Feoffment againſt him.

61. If a Man reſerves Rent upon a Leaſe for Life, he has not a Fee in it, for his Wife ſhall not have Dower of it, nor ſhall the Heir have an Aſſize of Mortdanceſtor, for there is none that can make it to have Continuance longer than for the Life of the Tenant for Life, and then a Woman cannot be endowed of a Thing determined by Life. But if Leſſee for Life grants a Rent in Fee, a Fee paſſes thereby, for by Poſſibility this may be made to endure in Perpetuity, as if the Leſſor confirms it, it ſhall enure in perpetuum by Littlet. And the Caſe of Quintin proves this, that a Fee paſſed before, whereof the Wife of the Grantee was dowable, &c. But if Tenant for Life grants a Rent-charge in Fee to the Leſſor, and he grants it over, yet he ſhall avoid it after the Death of the Tenant for Life, for it cannot enure as a Confirmation, notwithſtanding it was granted by the Words dedimus et concedimus, becauſe the Grantee had no Poſſeſſion of it before, and one and the ſame Word at one and the ſame Time cannot enure as a Grant and as a Confirmation alſo. And therefore if the Diſſeizor grants a Rent-charge to the Diſſeizee, and he grants it over, and afterwards re-enters, he ſhall hold the Land diſcharged, cauſa qua ſupra. But if the Diſſeizor makes a Leaſe for Life, the Remainder in Fee, and the Diſſeizee purchaſes the Remainder in Fee, and grants it over, now he cannot enter upon the Leſſee for Life, for then he would defeat his own Grant, which may not be, for by the Grant of the Remainder it paſſed with all Charges and Titles which the Grantor had to the ſame Thing, and he had Title before to the Fee, which paſſed incluſively. And if Tenant pur auter vie grants a Rent-charge in Fee, and afterwards he has the Reverſion by Deſcent or Releaſe, and Ceſtuy que vie dies, he ſhall hold it diſcharged, for by the ſame Reaſon that a Man may ſay that at the Time of the Rent-charge granted he had nothing in the Land, and by that means avoid the Charge, ſo by the ſame Reaſon he may ſay that he had not an Eſtate pur auter vie. But it ſeems that if after the Fee acquired he had made a Feoffment, the Feoffee ſhould not have avoided the Rent-charge after the Death of the Ceſtuy que vie, but ſhould have held it charged in Fee.

62. If the Diſſeizor makes a Gift in Tail or a Feoffment upon Condition to the Heir of the Diſſeizee, and the Diſſeizee dies, the Heir has the Land in Fee and without Condition, inaſmuch as he has the Right by Deſcent from him whoſe Entry was lawful; but if he had taken a Releaſe of the Diſſeizor, it had been otherwiſe, becauſe it was his own Act. But a Releaſe of the Diſſeizee ſhall avoid all Rights of Entry, and not all Titles, and therefore if the Diſſeizor makes a Leaſe for Life, the Leſſee makes a Feoffment, and afterwards the Diſſeizee releaſes to the Feoffee, now the Right of Entry which the Diſſeizee had is taken away and avoided. By many, if the Son diſſeizes the Father, and grants a Rent, and dies, yet the Land is charged. But if a Stranger diſſeizes the Father, and grants a Rent charge, and enfeoffs the Son, and the Father dies, the Son ſhall hold it diſcharged. * If the Father diſſeizes the Grandfather, and dies, and the Son enters, and charges the Land, and the Grandfather dies, he ſhall hold it diſcharged, although he was of full Age at the Time of the Charge. As if Tenant in Tail enfeoffs his Iſſue within Age, who grants a Rent charge at his full Age, and afterwards the Tenant in Tail dies, the Son ſhall hold it diſcharged, for in both Caſes he is in of another Eſtate. 21 Ed. 4. 94. A Man has two Daughters, the eldeſt diſſeizes the Father, the Father dies, and ſhe has Iſſue, and dies, the other enters claiming her Part of the Moiety, and ſhe brings Aſſize; this was a Moot Caſe. If the Diſſeizor grants a Rent-charge, and is diſſeized, and a Releaſe is made to the ſecond Diſſeizor, the Charge remains, but not the Dower of his Wife, for the Charge is executed, and the Dower is executory only. If the ſecond Diſſeizor makes a Leaſe for Life, Remainder in Fee, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to the Tenant for Life, it ſeems that the Wife of the firſt Diſſeizor ſhall be endowed. And if Tenant for Life is diſſeized by A. who is diſſeized by B. to whom the Leſſor releaſes, the Wife of A. ſhall be endowed, and if the Tenant for Life dies, A. may enter upon B. and ſhall have it for ever.

* Contra Ante § 55.

63. Feoffee with Warranty to him his Heirs and Aſſigns makes a Leaſe for Life, the Tenant for Life in a Plea vouches the firſt Feoffor, and recovers in Value Land held of the Feoffee, if the Feoffee ſhall have his Seigniory and avow for it, is the Queſtion: For if the Reverſion of the Land recovered in Value be in the Feoffee, then he ſhall not avow, and if he ſhall not avow, quære if the Leſſee for Life ſhall vouch as Aſſignee, inaſmuch as he has not the whole Eſtate. And it is clear that if the Feoffee had made a Leaſe for Life, Remainder in Fee, then the Leſſee ſhould have vouched as Aſſignee, and if he had recovered in Value, it ſhould have made the Remainder to be in him in whom it was before. 28 Aſſ. pl. 18. 11 Aſſ. pl. 3.

64. A Woman Leſſee for Life by the Cuſtom of a Manor takes a Huſband by Licenſe, and the Huſband dies, the Lord ſhall have no Heriot, becauſe there is no Alteration of the Tenant. So if Land is leaſed to Huſband and Wife for their Lives according to the Cuſtom, and the Huſband dies, no Heriot ſhall accrue to the Lord by his Death, cauſa qua ſupra. And if a Woman Leſſee for Life takes a Huſband by Licenſe, and ſhe dies, the Lord ſhall have no Heriot, becauſe ſhe has no Goods, for the † Eſpowſals was a Gift in Law of them to the Huſband. Wherefore it ſeems in ſuch Caſe that if the Huſband dies, a Cuſtom that the Lord ſhall have a Heriot after his Death ſtands well with Reaſon, becauſe otherwiſe the Lord might poſſibly have no Heriot, viz. if the Wife dies firſt, and therefore it ſeems that the Danger of loſing the Heriot ſhall make ſuch Preſcription good. And if ſuch Tenant for Life deviſes all his Goods, yet the Lord ſhall have a Heriot, becauſe the Deviſe does not take Effect until after his Death, and then the Lord's Title ſhall be prefer'd. And if a Man has two Horſes at the Time of his Death, and they are his beſt Chattles, one of which is worth 40*s.* and the other is but a Colt, and not worth more than 10*s.* at that Time, and the Lord does not ſeize the Heriot for two Years after the Death of his Tenant, ſo that the Colt becomes worth 5*l.* he ſhall not ſeize the Colt, becauſe he had a Property preſently by the Death of the Tenant in the other, being the beſt Beaſt which the Leſſee had at the Time of his Death. A Cow has three Calves before the Seizin of the Lord, it ſeems that the Lord may ſeize them with the Cow, tamen quære.

† Plowd. 418 (g), and ſee the Books there cited in the Margin.

65. The Tenancy, being a Manor, is held by 12*d.* of another Manor which is the Meſnalty, and which is held by 6*d.* and the Meſne enfeoffs the Tenant of the Manor which is the Meſnalty, now he holds both the Manors of the Lord by one joint Tenure of 6*d.* and the Lord ſhall avow upon the Tenant, becauſe the two Manors are held of him by 6*d.* So had it been if the Tenancy had eſcheated to the Meſnalty, and there the one Manor is parcel of the other Manor, and the Tenancy has not loſt the Name of a Manor, for the Land which was held of the Tenancy is not now held of another Manor which was the Meſnalty, but as it was before. Which ſee adjudged that one Manor may be parcel of another, 32 H. 6. 9. b.

66. After the Vouchee has entered into the Warranty, a collateral Anceſtor of the Demandant releaſes to the Vouchee with Warranty, and dies, now the Vouchee ſhall not plead this Warranty againſt the Demandant, becauſe the Releaſe was void, for although the Vouchee ſhall be Tenant to the Demandant, yet he ſhall not be ſo to a Stranger, for if a Stranger releaſes to him after his Entry into the Warranty, it is merely void, ſo ſhall it be now: But if a collateral Anceſtor had releaſed to the Tenant after the Vouchee had entered into the Warranty, the Vouchee might have pleaded this with Warranty, if he had it ready to ſhew. Quære in the firſt Caſe, although the Releaſe be void, if the Warranty ſhall not be ſaid to be good.

67. In a Quare Impedit againſt the Patron and Incumbent, it is no Plea for the Incumbent to ſay that he is in by ſix Months of the Preſentment of the Patron, for none ſhall have the Plea of Plenarty but he who may thereby gain to himſelf the Patronage, and againſt whom a Writ of Right of Advowſon is maintenable, which ſee 16 Ed. 4. 11. But in a Quare Impedit againſt the Ordinary and Incumbent, the Incumbent may ſay that he is in by ſix Months of the Collation of the Biſhop for Lapſe, becauſe there no Patronage is gained thereby. So Note the Diverſity. 2 R. 2. Fitz. Encumbent 4. 18 Ed. 3. Fitz. Quare Impedit 48. 13 H. 8. 14. 14 H. 8. 31. 39 Ed. 3. 30.

68. A Man makes a Feoffment upon Condition to enfeoff him again, and the Feoffee enfeoffs another to his Uſe, if the Feoffor may enter before Requeſt, or not, is the Queſtion, inaſmuch as it is ſuch a Feoffment as hath broken the Truſt repoſed in the Feoffee. If a Man makes a Feoffment, reſerving Rent, and for default of Payment a re-entry, and the Rent is behind, ſo that that he has Title to enter, and then he releaſes the Rent, now he ſhall not re-enter afterwards, for if he had granted the Rent over after the Title, he ſhould not have enter'd, no more ſhall he now. But if an Annuity is in Arrear to me, and 20 s. nomine pœnæ, tho' I releaſe the Annuity, yet the Penalty remains; for there appears a Diverſity.

69. In many Caſes a man may do a Thing to which he is not compellible by Law, and yet he ſhall not be puniſhed for it. As if Land is leaſed for Life, upon which there is a Houſe which is ruinous and in Decay at the Time of the Leaſe, now the Leſſee is not puniſhable in Waſt if it falls, but yet if he cuts down Trees growing upon the Land, and repairs it with them, it is juſtifiable, 12 H. 8. 1. So he may alſo do, if the Leſſor covenants to repair it, &c. as it there appears. So if a Man leaſes a Houſe with Land upon which there is a Wood, &c. without Impeachment of Waſt for the Houſe, yet if the Houſe becomes ruinous, it ſeems that the Leſſee may cut Timber for the repairing and re-building of it, and he ſhall not be puniſhed in an Action of Waſt. And Note that the Leſſee may take Timber-wood for Firebote, if there is no other Wood growing upon the Land, which ſee in 21 H. 6. 47. Quære if a Man is bound to buy Timber for the repairs of a Houſe leaſed to him, where there is none upon the Land. If Leſſee is bound by Obligation to do no Waſt, or if a Leaſe is made upon Condition that if the Leſſee does Waſt then his Eſtate ſhall ceaſe, and a Stranger does Waſt, this is no Forfeiture of the Leaſe, for the Condition only extends to the Perſon of the Leſſee: So a Prohibition to make to Eſtrepement, which ſee 3 H. 6. 17. But if a Stranger does Waſt upon the Land of the Leſſee for Years, or of Guardian in Chivalry, they ſhall render treble, and ſhall loſe the Ward, as if it had been their own Waſt; the Diverſity appears. But Guardian in Socage ſhall not be puniſhed for the Waſt of a Stranger, for the Heir himſelf ſhall have an Action for it. If the Lord grants his Seigniory by Fine, and before Attornment the Feoffee makes a Feoffment of the Tenancy, if the Feoffee attorns, it is good enough, by all the Juſtices, and yet he is not compellible to attorn, 18 Ed. 4. 10. And if Tenant in Tail attorns, it is good, and yet he is not compellible.

70. If there are two Jointenants for Life, and one of them is bound in a Recognizance, or Judgment is given againſt him, and afterwards he grants over his Eſtate, yet during his Life he ſhall be liable to Execution. But otherwiſe it is of an Eſtate for Years, for in the one Caſe the Land, viz. the Freehold, is bound by Judgment, but in the other Caſe not; for a Man ſhall have ſole Execution of Chattles which the Party has the Day of the Execution ſued; ſo of a Leaſe for Years, 2 H. 4.

71. A Seigniory is granted for Years, the Rent is behind, and the Tenant dies, and his Years are expired, if the Grantee ſhall have an Action of Debt againſt the Heir of the Tenant for the Rent due in the Time of his Father, and alſo for that which is due after the Death of the Father, or if he ſhall have an Action of Debt againſt the Executor of the Father, becauſe it was due in the Life of the Teſtator, or if he is without Remedy for it, is the Queſtion. And ſome ſay that the Heir ſhall not be charged by Action of Debt as Heir, if the Father does not bind himſelf and his Heirs by expreſs Words, and it ſhall not be here ſaid the Debt of the Heir himſelf; and the Executors ſhall not be charged, becauſe they were not chargeable for it by the Death of their Teſtator, for at that Time the Grantee could not have an Action of Debt for it, but his Remedy was by Diſtreſs and Avowry *; ſo that the Grantee is without Remedy for it. And if an Annuity is granted for the Life of J. S. and the Grantee releaſes to the Grantor all Actions of Annuity, it ſeems that he ſhall not have an Action of Debt for the Arrears after the Releaſe and after the Death of J. S. for when they were due, he had no Remedy. And if a Warren, Toll, or a Hundred is leaſed for Life, rendring Rent, and the Tenant for Life dies, the Leſſor has no Remedy for the Rent, becauſe he had no Remedy during the Eſtate.

* For then the Years were not expired, and ſo no Remedy, 9 H. 7. 17. a. 4 Co. 49. Plowd Quær. abridg'd in Engl. 85.

72. If the Plaintiff is bar'd in an Entry ſur diſſeizin, yet he ſhall have a Ceſſavit, if he has Cauſe to have it at the Time, &c. for it is another Title. If the Heir brings a Formedon in Deſcender, and is nonſuited, quære if he ſhall enter, becauſe he had Title of Entry, viz. for the Condition broken. It ſeems that if a Woman has Cauſe to have Dower of one and the ſame Land as the Wife of J. and alſo as the Wife of S. and ſhe is bar'd of Dower as the Wife of J. yet ſhe ſhall have it as the Wife of S. Huſband and Wife make a Feoffment upon Condition, if the Wife of the Huſband in a Cui in vita may enter for the Condition broken, 27 Ed. 3. 55, 56.

73. If the Tenant who holds by one Hawk makes a Feoffment of the Moiety to a Stranger, or of the whole to Mayor and Commonalty and to J. S. now the Lord Paramount ſhall have two Hawks, becauſe theſe are ſeveral Feoffments, for if he had made Livery to one in the Name of both, nothing ſhould have paſſed but to him who took the Livery, and the Lord ſhall be compel'd to make ſeveral Avowries, which proves that he ſhall have ſeveral Hawks. If the Tenant who holds by one Hawk makes a Gift in Tail to two ſeveral Perſons, reſerving Rent, habendum the one Moiety to the one, and the other Moiety to the other, ſo that they are ſeveral Intails, now the Donor ſhall have two Hawks, becauſe the Law makes the Tenure and the Reſervation. But if the Reſervation be made by the ſpecial Words of the Party, as if a Man makes a Leaſe to two, habendum the one Moiety to the one, and the other Moiety to the other, reſerving one Hawk, or a Leaſe pur auter vie to J. S. and to Dean and Chapter, reſerving one Hawk, there becauſe the Land goes at the Beginning two ſeveral Ways, and the Party does but reſerve one Hawk, he ſhall not have more than he reſerved, viz. only one; ſo Note a Diverſity. The ſame Law if the Reverſion at the Beginning goes ſeveral Ways, and is ſeveral at the Beginning of the Reſervation, yet they ſhall only have that which is reſerved, if the Reſervation is ſpecial by the Party. † As if two Tenants in Common make a Leaſe for Life, reſerving one Hawk, they ſhall but have that which is reſerved, becauſe they are Privies to the Reſervation, and it is their own Act, for which Reaſon they cannot have more; ſo that it is all one when the Poſſeſſion is in Common, and when the Reverſion is in Common, if the Reſervation is made by the Party himſelf. But if at the Beginning it is the Reſervation of the Party, and afterwards by the Act of the Party or of the Law the Poſſeſſion is made ſeveral to two, or in common to two, then the whole Rent ſhall follow alſo. As if the Leſſor reſerves a Hawk upon a Leaſe for Life, and afterwards the Leſſee grants over the Moiety to a Stranger, or the whole to Mayor and Commonalty and to J. S. pur auter vie, or if a Man gives Land to two, and to the Heirs of their two Bodies begotten, reſerving one Hawk, and they die, and their Iſſues enter, or if Land is given to two, habendum the one Moiety in Tail to the Heirs Males, and the other Moiety in Tail to the Heirs Females, &c. reſerving one Hawk, and they die, having Iſſue a Son and a Daughter, ſo if the one Acre had been to the Heir Male in Tail, the other to the Heir Female, or if a Man gives one Acre in Borough Engliſh and another in Tail to A. reſerving a Hawk, and the Donee dies, having Iſſue two Sons, or if one Hawk is reſerved upon a Gift in Tail, where the Donee dies, having Iſſue two Daughters, and they make Partition, in all theſe Caſes the Leſſor or Donor ſhall have two Hawks, notwithſtanding he had but one at the Beginning, for where the Poſſeſſion is afterwards ſevered and divided without Folly in the Leſſor or Donor, he ſhall have ſeveral Hawks. The ſame Law if the Reverſion after the Reſervation goes ſeveral Ways, viz. the one Acre in Severalty to the one, and the other Acre in Severalty to the other, or the one Moiety to the one, and the other Moiety to the other, they ſhall have ſeveral Hawks. And therefore if a Man makes a Gift in Tail of one Acre in Borough-Engliſh and of another at Common Law, reſerving a Hawk, and dies, having two Sons, they ſhall have ſeveral Hawks. So if the Donor has the one Acre by Deſcent on the Part of the Mother, and the other on the Part of the Father, and he dies without Iſſue, the ſeveral Heirs ſhall have ſeveral Hawks. So if the Parſon of a Church be the Donor, and gives one Acre of the Glebe by the Aſſent of the Patron and Ordinary, and another Acre of his own Land, reſerving to him his Heirs and Succeſſors one Hawk, and dies, the Heir himſelf ſhall have one Hawk, and the Succeſſor another. So if a Man has an Intail of one Acre to him and to his Heirs Males, and of another Acre to his Heirs Females of his Body, and he makes a Leaſe of both for 21 Years, reſerving one Hawk, and dies, having a Son and a Daughter, each of them ſhall have a Hawk. So if the one Moiety goes one Way, and the other Moiety another Way, as if ſuch Reverſion is granted to Mayor and Commonalty and to J. S. they ſhall have ſeveral Hawks. Quære. If the Tenant holds of two Meſnes by Hawks, and the one Meſne is attainted of Felony, ſo that his Moiety eſcheats to the Lord Paramount, now the Tenant ſhall pay two Hawks. And in all theſe Caſes it is clear Law that the Leſſee, Donee, or Tenant ſhall make two Fealties.

† Plowd. 171 (c). Co. Litt. 197. a. 10 Co. 106. b. Yelv. 189. 1 Brownl. 109. Perk. § 107. 1 Finch 46. 2 Finch 63.

74. If Tenant for Life makes a Feoffment in Fee to the Wife of him in Reverſion, with a Letter of Attorney to the Leſſor to deliver Seizin, who does ſo, now whether the Leſſor is ſeized in Right of his Wife, or in his own Right, inaſmuch as he ſhall be remitted becauſe it was a Forfeiture, is the Queſtion. But if Tenant in Tail enfeoffs the Wife of the Donor, this ſeems to be a Diſcontinuance. If there is Tenant by Curteſy of an Advowſon, and he in the Reverſion is preſented by a Stranger, it ſeems that his Heir ſhall not avoid it, becauſe it was during the Life of the Tenant by the Curteſy, and he ſhall not be ſaid Tenant for Life; and the Stranger has gained the Patronage, tho' he was but Attorney to convey it to him.

75. There ſeems to be a Diverſity between a Releaſe in Deed and a Releaſe in Law. For if the Tenant makes a Leaſe for Life, and the Lord releaſes to the Tenant for Life, all his Right in the Seigniory is utterly extinct, for this is a Releaſe in Deed, and the Law would be the ſame if he had releaſed it but for an Hour. But if the Lord diſtrains the Tenant, and makes a Leaſe for Life, he has not extinguiſhed his Seigniory for ever. As if the Diſſeizee enters upon a Deſcent, and makes a Leaſe for Life, and the Heir re-enters, the Diſſeizee may enter after the Death of the Tenant for Life, for a Releaſe in Law ſhall be taken moſt favourably, otherwiſe of a Releaſe in Deed, for that is the Act of the Party. And if the Tenant makes a Leaſe for Years to the Lord, and he makes a Leaſe for Life, and the Tenant enters, it ſeems that the Seigniory ſhall be revived after the Death of the Tenant for Life, notwithſtanding there was a Diſſeizin, and the Lord was a Diſſeizor by the Statute.

76. If a Man makes a Leaſe for Years, reſerving Rent upon Condition of Entry for Non-payment, and the Leſſee dies, and his Executors break the Condition, ſo that the Leſſor enters, this ſeems to be a devaſtavit in them *, otherwiſe it is if the Condition was performable on the Part of the Leſſor, and he had performed it. Which ſee in Bro. Abr. tit. Extinguiſhment 54, 57.

77. If a Leaſe is made for Years, to commence at Eaſter, Remainder for Life, and Livery is made preſently to the Leſſee, and before the Feaſt of Eaſter the Leſſee releaſes to him in Remainder, if this Releaſe is good is the Queſtion.

78. If Huſband and Wife leaſe the Land of the Wife for Years, rendring Rent, and the Huſband diſtrains and avows, and has the Rent, and dies, it ſeems that the Cattle ſhall be diſcharged, for the Executors cannot detain them, becauſe they are but a Pledge, and foraſmuch as the Executors cannot have the Duty, they cannot detain the Pledge, for the Wife ſhall have the Duty; and this is not like to the Caſe where the Huſband recovers upon an Obligation made to him and his Wife, &c. which ſee 33 H. 6. 38. And if a Woman has ſuch Pledge for a Duty, and ſhe takes Huſband, and a Writ of Detinue is brought againſt him, and he pleads ut ſupra, whereby the Plaintiff takes nothing by his Writ, and the Huſband dies, the Wife ſhall have the Duty, and the Executors ſhall not have the Pledge.

* For every voluntary Act of the Executor, by which the Goods of the Teſtator are conſumed without any Benefit to the Teſtator, is a devaſtavit. But if an Executor, having ſuch a Term as Executor, purchaſes the Reverſion, that is not a devaſtavit, for the Term, as to Aſſets, is in being ſtill. If a man mortgages his Term, and dies, and his Executors don't redeem it, ſome think it is a devaſtavit, if they have Aſſets in their Hands wherewith to redeem it, and the Term be better than the Price of the Redemption. So if an Executor ſells a Term under the Value, by which the Creditors loſe their Debts, this, ſome think, is a devaſtavit: But if a Man be poſſeſſed of a Term, and deviſes it to his Executors to be ſold meliori modo quo poſſunt, for Payment of his Debts, and they ſell it under the Value, that is no devaſtavit, for perhaps it was the beſt Price they could get. Plowd. Quær. abridg'd in Engl. 127.

79. If a Rent-charge is granted in Fee, and the Grantee dies without Heir, the Executors ſhall not have Debt for the Arrears, but if the Grantee had purchaſed a Writ of Annuity, and had recovered, then his Executors ſhould have had Debt for the Arrears, for when the Arrears of any Rent are due, if he to whom they are due had an Inheritance in the Rent, and afterwards the Inheritance is determined, the Arrears are extinct, otherwiſe it is of an Annuity, for that is no Freehold; and here inaſmuch as the Thing is determined, his Executors cannot make it nor plead it as an Annuity. If a Leaſe is made to Huſband and Wife for the Life of the Huſband, Remainder to the right Heirs of the Huſband, and the Huſband dies, the Wife ſhall not have Dower, becauſe ſhe could not diſagree to the Eſtate taken during the Coverture, it being determined. But if an Eſtate for the Life of the Huſband be made to Huſband and Wife by a Diſſeizor, and the Huſband dies, ſhe may diſagree, in order to ſave herſelf from Damages, and yet the Eſtate is determined. And if Land is given to Huſband and Wife in Fee, and the Huſband makes a Feoffment, and a collateral Anceſtor of the Wife releaſes with Warranty, and dies, and the Huſband dies, the Wife cannot diſagree, and claim her Dower, for her Eſtate was bound, and her Right to demand it in a Cui in vita determined by the Warranty, and inaſmuch as her Eſtate was determined, ſhe cannot diſagree to it. If one grants to J. S. for Life a Robe or 20*s.* at the Election of the Grantee, and the Grantee dies before Election, it ſeems that his Executors cannot demand the Arrears by any Means: But it is the Opinion of many that if it be a perſonal Grant, viz. to pay Money only to J. S. there the Executor may demand it. But ſee 28 Aſſ. pl. 11. where one accepted another to be his Tenant at Will after his Death, who entered into the Land where his Entry was not lawful.

80. If a Villain purchaſes an Eſtate in Tail, and the Lord enters, and dies, it ſeems that his Wife ſhall not have Dower, for when the Law gave him his Entry, it did not give him more than the Villain could lawfully give, and that was but an Eſtate pur auter vie, for otherwiſe the Law would do Wrong, if it ſhould ſay that he had a Fee, and ſo diveſt the Reverſion out of the Donor, which the Law will never do. And it ſeems that if a Stranger diſſeizes Tenant in Tail, where the Reverſion is in the King, and the Diſſeizor dies, his Wife ſhall not have Dower, no more than a Diſcontinuance ſhall take away an Entry.

81. Tenant in Tail makes a Feoffment in Fee, and dies, and the Diſcontinuee makes a Gift in Tail, Remainder in Fee to the Iſſue of the firſt Intail, the ſecond Tenant in Tail dies without Iſſue, his Wife privement enſeint with a Son, and the Iſſue of the firſt Tail enters, and afterwards the Iſſue of the ſecond Tail is born, and enters upon him, and he brings an Aſſize, it is not maintenable. See 11 Ed. 4. 1. accordingly.

82. A Leaſe is made to a Man for the Lives of J. S. and J. D. the Leſſee makes a Leaſe for the Life of J. S. only, it ſeems that he hath the Reverſion, notwithſtanding this Leaſe, for he has given a leſſer Eſtate than he had, for he claimed for the Term of their two Lives, and of the longeſt liver of them, and he has not given the whole Eſtate, but in his Eſtate is included all that he has given, and more, and therefore if he had reſerved a Rent, it ſeems that the Reſervation ſhould have been good without Deed. And it is clear that if the ſecond Leſſee dies, living J. S. an Occupant ſhall hold the Land, but if J. S. dies, living J. D. then it ſeems that the firſt Leſſee may have an Ad terminum qui præteriit againſt the Occupant, and ſhall make to himſelf Title from him in the Form and Manner before ſhewn. But others think the contrary, for before he had but a Freehold, and now by the Leaſe to the ſecond Leſſee he has parted with a Freehold, and the Reverſion of the ſame Freehold cannot be in him. But if a Leaſe be made to me for the Life of A. Remainder to me for the Life of B. and I make a Leaſe for the Life of A. now I have a Reverſion for the Life of B. for they were two Eſtates; but in the other Caſe there was but one Eſtate, and the whole Grant was irrevocable if J. S. ſurvived, and then the Poſſibility of the Survivor of J. S. does not make a Reverſion in the firſt Leſſee: But it is as if I being Leſſee for the Life of C. grant my Eſtate to D. upon Condition that if D. dies, living C. I ſhall enter, now I have no Reverſion, notwithſtanding this Condition, for quære if this Condition ſhall be ſufficient for me to enter upon an Occupant after the Death of D. If a Leaſe is made to E. and F. for their Lives, and F. grants all his Moiety to a Stranger for the Life of E. this is a Forfeiture of his Eſtate, becauſe he had no Eſtate for the Life of E. but only in Reſpect of the Jointure, and an Eſtate for the Life of E. does not paſs from the Leſſor in this Moiety but upon a Condition in Law, viz. that the Jointure remains, whereas now he has given it for the Life of E. abſolutely without Condition, for which Reaſon it is a Forfeiture: But if both of them had made a Leaſe for the Life of E. it had not been a Forfeiture, cauſa patet. Note alſo that if Tenant in Tail, Remainder to his right Heirs, makes a Gift in Tail, and dies, and his Iſſue recovers in a Formedon, yet there is a Reverſion of the Tail in the Donee. If Land is given to two, to the one for the Life of J. S. and to the other for the Life of J. D. and one of them dies, it ſeems that the other ſhall make Title againſt an Occupant. If Land is leaſed to me during my Life and the Life of J. S. this is but for my Life only, for that is the greater Eſtate, which merges the other Life. As if I am Leſſee for the Life of A. and I accept a Confirmation for my own Life, this has merged the other Eſtate. [a] But if a Woman Leſſee for Life takes Huſband, and a Confirmation is made to them for their two Lives, this is a Remainder in the Huſband, by Reaſon of the joint Eſtate of the Wife. So if Land is given to A. and B. for the Life of B. and afterwards a Confirmation is made to them for their two Lives, this is a Remainder in A. and the Jointure remains. [b] If a Leaſe is made to two for 40 Years, if they ſo long live, and the one dies, the whole Term ceaſes, for it was a Condition, and not a Limitation of the Eſtate. [c] If Land is leaſed as long as J. and S. ſhall be Juſtices, and J. is diſcharged, the Eſtate is determined, becauſe the Time was in the Copulative, and it was a collateral Determination; [d] but if it had been during their Lives, and the one had died, the Eſtate ſhould have continued. If one has a Leaſe during the Life of Huſband and Wife, and he makes a Leaſe during the

[a] Litt. § 525. Plowd. 31 (i), 160(a). Dy. 126. pl. 48. 9 Co. 139. b. Cro. C. 478. Vin. Abr. tit. Remainder C. 4. pl. 9.

[b] Poſt § 173.

[c] So if a Leaſe is made as long as J. and S. ſhall inhabit in London, and one of them inhabits in another Place, the Eſtate is determined, Poſt § 173.

[d] Poſt § 173.

Coverture between them, it ſeems that the ſecond Leſſee has not the whole Eſtate, but the firſt Leſſee has a Reverſion. So if Leſſee for the Life of the Lord Dyer makes a Leaſe during the Time that he ſhall be Chief Juſtice of the Common Bench, he has a Reverſion, for he ſhall have the Land again if another be made Chief Juſtice in the Life of the Lord Dyer. If two Jointenants make a Leaſe for Life, and afterwards one of them grants his Part of the Reverſion to another for the Life of the Leſſee, it ſeems that this is a Severance of the Jointure.

83. If there are two Tenants in Common, and one of them has a Wife, and a Reverſion is granted to them both, and he who is married dies, his Wife ſhall be endowed of the third Part of the fourth Part, if the Law be ſo that the Reverſion paſſed ſeverally, for then the Reverſion and the Fee is executed for the fourth Part.

84. If a Rent is granted to A. and his Heirs, and if it be behind, that he ſhall diſtrain for the Life of J. S. now during the Life of J. S. this is a Rent-charge, and after that it ſhall be a Rent-ſeck. And it is by no Means inconſiſtent that a Rent during a certain Time ſhall be of one Nature, and afterwards the Party ſhall have an Inheritance in a Rent of another Nature. As if a Man makes a Gift in Tail, rendring Socage-tenure during the Life of the Donor, and afterwards Knights-ſervice, this is a good Reſervation, and ſhall be according to the Words, and his Wife ſhall be endowed of the Knights-ſervice. And a Man may have an Eſtate-tail and an Eſtate in Fee expectant, but thoſe are ſeveral Eſtates in one and the ſame Thing, and in the other Caſes the Things are of ſeveral Natures. And it ſeems that Seizin of a Rent-charge is ſufficient Seizin of a Rent-ſeck to have an Aſſize for it. And it ſeems clearly that if the Seigniory and Tenancy come together, ſo that the Surpluſage of the Meſnalty remains, the Meſne ſhall have an Aſſize for it without any other Seizin, for it comes by the Act of the Law. If a Reverſion is granted, rendring Rent, quære what Rent it is during the particular Eſtate, but after the particular Eſtate is determined, it is a Rent-ſervice. [b] If a Rent is granted out of two Acres, and if the Rent be behind, that he may diſtrain in one of the Acres, this ſeems clearly to be but a Rent-ſeck, for it is but one Rent, which cannot entirely be a Rent-charge, becauſe the other Acre is not charged, but the Diſtreſs is only a Penalty. And if a Rent be granted out of Land to A. in Fee, and if the Rent be behind for two Years, that the Grantee may diſtrain, now it is not a Rent-ſeck during the two Years, but a Rent-charge diſtrainable after the two Years. And if a Rent is granted to A. and if it be behind, that his Heirs ſhall diſtrain, this Diſtreſs is void, for there is no * ſuch Perſon in rerum natura, and it never ſhall be a Rent-charge, becauſe it cannot be a Rent-charge at the Beginning; but if the Diſtreſs had been limited to a Perſon in eſſe, then it had been a Rent-charge, as it is in 46 Ed. 3. 18. If the Lord grants his Seigniory, reſerving Rent, the Seizin before ſhall not be ſufficient Seizin of it. [c] And if a Rent is granted to two, and if it be in Arrear, that one of them ſhall diſtrain, this is a Rent-ſeck for the one Moiety, and a Rent-charge for the other Moiety, becauſe the one has another Benefit than his Companion has. [d] And if a Rent is granted for Life, and afterwards by another Deed the Grantor releaſes to the Grantee all his Right in the Rent, and if it be in Arrear, that he and his Heirs ſhall diſtrain for it, altho' the Heir ſhall have it by Diſtreſs, as it is adjudged in 8 H. 4. 18, yet the Wife ſhall not be endowed thereof, becauſe the Diſtreſs does not alter the Rent, but it is a Rent-ſeck, and the Diſtreſs is but a Penalty, and beſides it is no new Rent which commences after his Death. [e] For if a Rent is granted for Life, and by another Deed the Grantor grants to him that if the Rent is behind he ſhall diſtrain, the Remainder in Fee, the Remainder is void, for he did not take an Eſtate before upon which a Remainder may enure. [f] If a Rent is granted out of the Manor of Dale, and if it be behind, that he ſhall diſtrain in the Manor of Sale, and the Grantee purchaſes Parcel of the Manor of Sale, the Rent remains, and alſo he ſhall diſtrain in the Reſidue, and yet the Penalty was a Thing againſt common Right.

[b] Poſt § 111. Co. Litt. 147. b.

* Nemo eſt hæres viventis.

[c] Contra Co. Litt. 147. b. that this is wholly a Rent-ſeck.

[d] Poſt § 111.

[e] See Poſt § 111.

[f] S. P. Co. Litt. 147. b. at the Top.

85. If Tenant in Tail, where the Remainder is over with Warranty, recovers in Value, and dies before Execution ſued, many are of Opinion that he in Remainder ſhall ſue Execution, if the Tenant in Tail dies without Iſſue, becauſe he is Privy in Eſtate. And if a Seigniory is granted for Life, Remainder in Fee, by Fine, and the Tenant for Life dies, he in Remainder ſhall have a Per quæ ſervitia, becauſe he is Privy in Eſtate. If a Man recovers in Value by Warranty Land in Borough Engliſh, and dies, having two Sons, quære if the youngeſt Son ſhall ſue Execution, or if he ſhall have it and enter upon the eldeſt after he has ſued Execution thereof. But if the Iſſue in Tail recovers in a Formedon, and before Execution he dies without Iſſue, the Donor ſhall not enter afterwards, nor have Execution. If Tenant in Tail diſcontinues, and dies, having a Daughter, his Wife enſeint with a Son, and the Daughter recovers in a Formedon, and dies, and the Son is born afterwards, he ſhall not ſue Execution, nor enter. But if the Iſſue in Tail recovers againſt the Diſcontinuee, and afterwards is attainted of Felony, his Iſſue ſhall ſue Execution, or enter, becauſe he is Privy in Eſtate, altho' he is not Privy in Blood with Regard to the Inheritance in Fee-ſimple. Tenant in Tail recovers in Value by Voucher of the Donor, and is attainted of Felony, his Iſſue ſhall not have Execution, cauſa patet. The continual Claim of Tenant for Life enures to him in Remainder.

86. If a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, rendring Rent for the firſt ſeven Years, he ſhall have an Aſſize for it, for it is adjudged in 7 Ed. 3. 10, that an Action of Debt does not lie for the Rent. But ſee that Debt does lie by Spelman, 28 H. 8. Dyer 23. a.

87. If a Remainder is appointed to the right Heirs Females of the Body of J. S. who dies having a Son and Daughter, the Remainder ſhall be void, becauſe the Daughter cannot have it, inaſmuch a ſhe is not Heir, altho' ſhe be a Female. But if Land be given to one, and to his Heirs Females of his Body, the Female ſhall have it, altho' he has a Son, for ſhe inherits by the Form of the Gift, but in the other Caſe ſhe would take by Purchaſe, and the Name of Purchaſe is not ſufficient for her to take by, becauſe ſhe is not Heir. And Note that if J. S. has Iſſue a Daughter, who dies having Iſſue a Son, and a Remainder is limited to the right Heirs Females of the Body of J. S. the Son ſhall have the Remainder, becauſe he ſhall be as a Purchaſer, but he ſhall not have the Land by Deſcent which was given to J. S. and to his Heirs Females of his Body, cauſa patet, Vide Per Newton 20 H. 6. 43. And if a Man dies, having Iſſue a Son and a Daughter, and Land is given to the Daughter and to her Heirs Females of the Body of her Father begotten, ſhe has not an Eſtate-tail, but only for Life, &c. cauſa qua ſupra. Land is given to A. and to his Heirs Females, and for Default of Iſſue the Remainder to his Heirs Males, and he has Iſſue a Female and a Male, he ſhall never have the Land clearly. J. S. has Iſſue a Son and a Daughter, and dies, the Son has Iſſue a Daughter, and dies, a Remainder is limited to the right Heirs Females of the Body of J. S. the Daughter of the Son ſhall have the whole.

not

88. If two are diſſeized, and one of them releaſes to the Diſſeizor all his Right in the one Moiety, all his Right is extinct in the whole, and yet his Right was per my et per tout the Poſſeſſion, but inaſmuch as he hath releaſed all his Right in the one Moiety, which extends per my et per tout, this is the Reaſon why, &c. So if there are two Diſſeizors, and one of the Diſſeizees releaſes to one of the Diſſeizors, the Law is the ſame as in the Caſe before, for he was ſeized per my et per tout: But if he had releaſed all his Right to one of them, viz. in the Moiety of the ſame one, &c. and not in the Moiety generally, the Law ſeems to be otherwiſe, viz. that his Right remains in the Moiety of the other Moiety.

89. If the Tenant intermarries with the Seignioreſs, or if the Seignioreſs takes an Eſtate for Life of the Tenancy, and afterwards takes Huſband, he ſhall not be Tenant by the Curteſy, becauſe the Freehold of the Tenancy was in Suſpence, and then he cannot be Tenant by the Curteſy of ſuch Reverſion: But if ſhe had taken an Eſtate for Years, or the Tenant had been her Ward, and afterwards ſhe had taken Huſband, and had died during that Eſtate, he ſhould have been Tenant by the Curteſy, becauſe the Freehold was not in Suſpence, but the Poſſeſſion for Years only.

90. If a Woman is endowed of a Manor, ſhe ſhall pay all Services to the Heir as he pays over.

91. If a Recovery is had againſt one Jointenant, who dies, his Companion ſhall not avoid this Recovery, becauſe the Right was bound thereby; but he ſhall avoid Charges, Dowers, and Recognizances, becauſe the Poſſeſſion is only chargeable with them, and the Right is not bound as in the other Caſe. And if one Jointenant in Fee takes a Leaſe for Years by Indenture of his own Moiety from a Stranger, the Survivor ſhall avoid it, as it ſeems.

93. If an Infant is forejudged, he ſhall be bound for ever thereby, and he has no Remedy; but if he makes a Feoffment of a Manor, and the Feoffee is forejudged, yet the Infant may enter into the Manor, and diſtrain for the Meſnalty: The Diverſity is, becauſe in the one Caſe he was Party to the Record, and in the other Caſe the Forejudger was againſt the Feoffee, who had a defeaſible Eſtate, ſo that the Forejudger under it ſhall be defeaſible alſo. A Recovery in Waſt againſt an Infant ſhall bind him, but a Recovery in Waſt againſt his Grantee ſhall not bind him, becauſe the Infant had an elder Title. And a Recovery in a Ceſſavit againſt an Infant ſhall bind him, but a Recovery againſt his Feoffee ſhall not conclude the Infant, unleſs the Title was upon a Ceſſavit before the Feoffment, and then quære. If Tenant in Dower makes a Feoffment, and the Leſſor recovers in Caſu proviſo, ſhe may enter upon him notwithſtanding; this is to be underſtood where the Tenant in Dower is an Infant.

94. If two Coparceners die before Partition, having Iſſues, and a Stranger abates, the Iſſues ſhall not join in a Mortdanceſtor, for the Statute of Glouceſter cap. 7. is only when one Right deſcends to divers, but here every Iſſue claims his Right by his Mother, ſo that a ſeveral Right deſcends to them, and conſequently the Caſe is out of the Statute, and remains at the Common Law. And therefore if two Coparceners are diſſeized, their Iſſues ſhall not join in a Writ of Entry, but they ſhall have ſeveral Writs in Reſpect of their ſeveral Rights, as they ſhall have ſeveral Formedons. And Note that if one of them has Cauſe to have a Writ of Ayel, and the other to have a Writ of Beſayel, they ſhall not join, becauſe they have Cauſe to have ſeveral Writs, and this Caſe is not remedied by the Statute. But where one is entitled to have a Writ of Mortdanceſtor, and the other to have a Writ of Ayel or Beſayel, there they ſhall join. But if none of them can have an Aſſize of Mortdanceſtor, then no Remedy is given by the Statute. Which ſee for the better 2 Ed. 3. 34. Fitzherbert in Writ of Ayel. Contra 48 Ed. 3. 14. and 24 Ed. 3. 13.

95. If a Man has a Seigniory, and marries the Tenant, or has the Tenancy by Diſſeizin or by Feoffment upon Condition, he cannot grant the Seigniory, and yet it is but in Suſpence, but inaſmuch as he hath as high an Eſtate in the one as in the other, he cannot grant it over, becauſe it is incertain whether it ſhall ever be revived. But if he had the Tenancy only for Life or for Years, then he might grant it over, and it ſhould be good to take Effect by Diſtreſs after the Determination of the particular Eſtate, becauſe the Fee was not in Suſpence, but as great an Eſtate as he had in the Land was in Suſpence, and no more, and then the Seigniory might be granted over, notwithſtanding it was not in Poſſeſſion. * For if a Leaſe for Years is made to commence after Michaelmas, or after the Death of J. S. it may be granted over, and yet the Party has it not in Poſſeſſion. So may the Lord grant his Seigniory where the Tenant is in Ward to him, or where the Tenant has diſclaimed; but if there is Tenant for Life of the Tenancy, and the Seigniory is granted to him in Fee, there he cannot grant it over, becauſe he never had Poſſeſſion of it; but if he had once had Poſſeſſion of it, and then it had come into Suſpence by his taking an Eſtate for Life, then he might have granted it over; and ſo is the Diverſity.

* M. 22 Ed. 4. 37. pl. 20. Bro. Grants 110. Plowd. 142 (k). 423 (f). Co. Litt. 46. b. 270. b. 5 Co. 124. b. Cro. E. 15. pl. 4. 127. pl. 8. Cro. J. 60. 1 Finch 309, 310. 3 Bac. Abr. 436. Poſt § 311.

96. If

96. If the Lord deviſes Land to his Villain, it ſeems that he ſhall be infranchiſed againſt the Heir, and yet he was a Villain to the Heir before the Deviſe took Effect, but inaſmuch as the Father had Power to infranchiſe him, he ſhall be infranchiſed before he is in by the Father. As if one delivers an Eſcrow of Infranchiſement to A. to be delivered to his Villain ſeven Years after, and the Lord dies, and after that the Deed is delivered, this ſhall be a good Infranchiſement. So if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, Remainder to the right Heir of J. S. who has Iſſue a Son, who is a Villain by Confeſſion to the Feoffor, and the Feoffor dies, and afterwards J. S. dies, and the Tenant for Life dies, and the Son of J. S. enters, he ſhall be infranchiſed, and yet he was not infranchiſed in the Life of the Feoffor, but now he ſhall be ſaid to be in by him. So if a Man deviſes that his Executors ſhall ſell his Land, and they ſell it to one who was a Villain to the Teſtator, he ſhall be manumiſed againſt the Heir, for he is in in the Per by the Teſtator.

* S. P. Poſt § 109. Co. Litt. 52. a.

97. * If Leſſee for Life makes a Feoffment, with a Letter of Attorney to the Leſſor to make Livery, who accordingly does ſo, yet he ſhall enter for the Forfeiture, becauſe he did it as Attorney to him who could make Livery; but if the Leſſee had only been Leſſee for Years, it ſhould have been otherwiſe, for then he could not have made Livery, and then the Leſſor ſhould not have avoided the Livery made by himſelf. For if Tenant for Years makes a Feoffment, with a Letter of Attorney to a Stranger to make Livery, who accordingly does ſo, yet the Leſſee for Years ſhall not be ſaid a Diſſeizor, becauſe actual Livery is not made by him, but the Attorney only ſhall be ſaid the Diſſeizor; and ſo in the other Caſe the Law would ſay that the Leſſor ſhould not avoid the Livery. But if the Tenant deviſes that his Lord ſhall make a Feoffment of the Tenancy, and he accordingly does ſo, yet his Seigniory is not extinct, any more than a Rent-charge ſhall be extinct where the Grantee makes Livery of the Land as Attorney to the Tenant of the Land, becauſe he does it as a Servant and in Right of another. But before the Statute, if one had a Rent out of another Land, and was Ceſtuy que Uſe of the Land, and entered, and made a Feoffment, the Rent was extinct, becauſe his Feoffment was taken moſt ſtrongly againſt himſelf, ſo that in Conſtruction of Law he did not enter only as Ceſtuy que Uſe, but his whole Intereſt was adjudged to be gone. † So if Leſſee for Years makes Livery as Attorney to the Leſſor, it ſeems clearly that this is a Surrender of the Term, otherwiſe the Livery would be void, which it cannot be by any Poſſibility. But in 34 Eliz. it was ruled in C. B. to be no Surrender.

† Contra Co. Litt. 52. a.

98. If there is Tenant pur auter vie, Remainder to J. S. for his own Life, and J. S. releaſes to the Leſſee, it ſeems that this Releaſe is good, and enures by Way of Creation of an Eſtate, for if a Remainder for the Life of J. S. had been limited to the firſt Tenant, ſuch Remainder had been good, for which Reaſon inaſmuch as there is a ſufficient Tenant for Life and Poſſeſſion upon which the Releaſe may enure, it ſhall be good. But if the firſt Leſſee had held for his own Life, then the Releaſe had enured by Way of Extinguiſhment, and not by Way of Creation of an Eſtate, becauſe the firſt Eſtate was greater with Regard to the Leſſee. And if a Leaſe is made for 40 Years, the Remainder for 10 Years, and he in the Remainder releaſes to the Leſſee for 40 Years, he ſhall have it for 50 Years, for the 40 Years could not have been conſumed if he in Remainder had had 90 Years, no more ſhall the 10 Years, for one Chattle cannot merge another Chattle, for it is as if Leſſee for 40 Years would make a Leaſe for 10 Years, and afterwards would releaſe to the Leſſee, now he ſhall have it for 40 Years, and not for 30, cauſa qua ſupra. If a Leaſe is made for Years, Remainder to A. for Life, Remainder to B. for Life, and B. releaſes to the Leſſee, it ſeems clearly that the Releaſe is good, for there is ſufficient Privity between them, altho' he has not the next Eſtate, and the Releaſe enures by Way of Creation of an Eſtate. But if Leſſee for Years will releaſe to his Leſſor, it is void, becauſe the Leſſee for Years is in Poſſeſſion: So if the Guardian will releaſe to the Heir, it is void, becauſe the Guardian is in Poſſeſſion. If two Diſſeizors make a Leaſe for Life, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to one of them, it ſeems that this ſhall enure to them both, becauſe of Neceſſity it muſt enure to the Leſſee for Life, and conſequently to them in Reverſion, and that is, to two. And if Tenant for Life is diſſeized by two, who are diſſeized by another, and the Leſſor releaſes to the laſt Diſſeizor, now the firſt Diſſeizor may enter upon him, notwithſtanding this Releaſe, becauſe the Entry of the Releaſor was taken away; but if his Entry had been lawful, as if the Tenant for Life had enfeoffed a Stranger, who had been diſſeized, and the Leſſor had releaſed to the Diſſeizor, the Feoffee could not have entered, becauſe the Entry of the Releaſor, who had Title paramount, was lawful. As if a Diſſeizor makes a Leaſe for Life, and the Leſſee makes a Feoffment in Fee, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to the Feoffee, the Leſſor, viz. the Diſſeizor, cannot enter. But if the Heir of the Diſſeizor who is in by Deſcent leaſes for Life, and the Leſſee makes a Feoffment, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to the Feoffee, now the Leſſor may well enter, becauſe the Diſſeizee cannot enter. And ſo in 9 H. 7. 25. per Fineux, if the Diſſeizee enters upon a Deſcent, and makes a Feoffment over, the Heir who was in by Deſcent may enter upon the Feoffee; but if in this and the Caſes before he brings a Writ of Right, he ſhall be bar'd, as it ſeems by Littleton cap. Releaſes. If an Infant leaſes for Life, and the Leſſee grants over his Eſtate with Warranty, and the Infant brings a Dum fuit infra ætatem, and the Grantee, viz. the Tenant, vouches the Grantor, who enters into the Warranty, and loſes, and the Demandant releaſes to him and his Heirs, ſome think that the Releaſe is void, becauſe he is Tenant only to anſwer the Action. But a Releaſe which enures to enlarge an Eſtate ſhall enure upon Privity of Eſtate; and therefore if after the Tenant by the Curteſy has granted over his Eſtate a Releaſe is made to him in Fee, it is void, and yet an Action of Waſt ſhall be maintenable againſt him by the Heir, and he ſhall attorn. And if Tenant for Life leaſes for Years, or Donee in Tail makes a Leaſe for his own Life, and he who has the Fee-ſimple confirms the Eſtate of the Leſſee in Fee, this is void to enlarge the Eſtate for Want of Privity; but otherwiſe in the firſt Caſe, viz. of a Releaſe to the Vouchee, for he has the Poſſeſſion in Law. And therefore if a Leaſe is made for Life *, and the firſt Tenant for Life dies, and before any Entry made by him in the Remainder the Leſſor releaſes to him in Fee, this ſhall enure according to the Words; ſo in the firſt Caſe it ſhall enure by Way of Creation of an Eſtate to the Vouchee. But in a Writ of Entry in the Per if the Tenant vouches him by whom, &c. who enters into the Warranty, and the Demandant releaſes to him, this enures by Way of Extinguiſhment to the Tenant, and ſo is the Diverſity. If a Woman who has Cauſe of Dower releaſes to Guardian in Chivalry, this takes away her Title and Eſtate in the Chattle of the Guardian, viz. in his Poſſeſſion, and the Heir ſhall take Advantage of it. But Tenant for Life cannot ſurrender to him in Remainder for Years, for in this Caſe he has the Freehold in Poſſeſſion; and ſo is the Diverſity. It was ſaid that in the Caſe of the Dum fuit infra ætatem, if he had releaſed in Tail, a greater Eſtate had not paſſed, for altho' it does not appear by the Dum fuit infra ætatem what Eſtate he claims, becauſe the Writ is general, viz. that he demiſed whilſt he was within Age, &c. yet when he enters generally into the Warranty, he ſhall not be ſaid to have a Fee againſt the Demandant, but the Demandant may aver that he only made the Demiſe for Life. A Releaſe made to the Patron when the Church is full ſhall not extinguiſh an Annuity, otherwiſe if it be made in Time of Vacation, as it is held in 21 H. 7. 41. a. but a Releaſe to the Ordinary perhaps will not avail. Quære if a Releaſe of the Glebe made to the Patron in Time of Vacation be good. If Tenant for Life grants a Rent-charge, a Releaſe to him in Reverſion will not extinguiſh it, as it ſeems, any more than a Releaſe of the Grantee to the Tenant for Life will extinguiſh a Rent-charge granted by him in Reverſion, quære inde. If the Chargee in Fee releaſes to the Leſſor, ſhall this diſcharge the Leſſee for Life? It ſeems that it ſhall, but a Grant thereof to him in Reverſion ſhall not extinguiſh it againſt the Leſſee.

* Theſe Words, with Remainder for Life, ſeem to be wanting.

99. † If I grant to A. an Annuity upon Condition that he ſhall promote me to a Benefice within ſeven Years, within which Time I take a Wife, and ſhe dies within the Time, yet A. ſhall not be bound to promote me within the Day, becauſe I who ought to take Advantage of it was once diſabled, at which Time A. had Liberty to tender the Benefice to me, and foraſmuch as I could not then take it, he ſhall be excuſed from tendering it at that Time, and therefore ſeeing that he might have tendered the Benefice at the Time of my Diſability, this ſhall countervail in Law a Tender and Refuſal, in which Caſe a Refuſal once is a Refuſal for ever. So if I am bound to a Woman to marry her at ſuch a Day, and ſhe takes Huſband, and the Huſband dies before the Day, I am not bound to marry her. But if the Perſon who is to be promoted or married is a Stranger to the Obligation, it is otherwiſe. And if I am bound to enfeoff the Obligee before ſuch a Day, and before the Day he accepts a Leaſe for Years, which expire before the Day, yet I am not bound to enfeoff him. But if I am enfeoffed upon Condition to enfeoff the Obligee, and no Day is limited, and he takes a Leaſe, which is determined, yet I ought to enfeoff him, becauſe no Day was limited on which it was to be done, ſo that the Feoffor was not diſabled before Requeſt or Intimation of his Will, and then upon the Requeſt it is feaſible, and not before; but if a Day had been limited, it had been otherwiſe.

† See like Matter, Co. Litt, 224. b.

100. If the Baſtard enters into the Manor, and recovers in a Ceſſavit, ſome think that inaſmuch as the Mulier diſproves the Eſtate of the Baſtard, he ſhall not take Benefit of this Recovery. [a] If the Baſtard dies ſeized of Land, the Mulier being within Age, many think that his Right ſhall not be gone nor bound any more than if the Mulier had been born after the Deſcent. [b] So if the Baſtard enters, and the Mulier dies, his Wife enſeint, and before the Birth the Baſtard dies, and his Iſſue enters, the Mulier ſhall not be bound thereby; but many others are of the contrary Opinion in all theſe Caſes. [c] And if the Baſtard dies ſeized of Land, his Wife enſeint, and before the Birth the Mulier enters, the Iſſue of the Baſtard, when he is born, ſhall be bound thereby, for by the dying ſeized only, [d] without a Deſcent to the Iſſue, the Right of Entry of the Mulier was not taken away; for if the Diſſeizor dies without Heir, the Diſſeizee may enter upon the Lord by Eſcheat, ſo here. If the Baſtard puiſne enters into Land in Borough-Engliſh, and dies ſeized, and his Iſſue enters, they ſay that the Right of the Mulier ſhall be bound, for if the eldeſt Son enters, and dies ſeized of Land in Borough-Engliſh, this Deſcent ſhall not take away the Entry of the youngeſt, any more than the Entry and Deſcent of the youngeſt ſhall take away the Entry of the eldeſt in Land at the Common Law. But Note that ſuch Baſtard puiſne is intended where the firſt Wife, by whom he had the Mulier, dies, and then he has a Baſtard, and afterwards marries the ſame Woman, [e] for, as it ſeems, if a Man marries the Woman by whom he has a Baſtard, and ſhe dies, and afterwards he has a Mulier by another Wife, altho' they are not by one and the ſame Mother, yet ſuch Baſtard ſhall gain the Inheritance to his Iſſue, if he dies without Interruption, and by the ſame Reaſon ſhall the Baſtard puiſne, &c. If the Mulier ouſts the Baſtard, who recovers againſt him in Aſſize, where the Mulier pleads never ſeized, &c. and afterwards dies, this Deſcent ſhall take away the Right of the Mulier, for the Poſſeſſion which he had is abſolutely defeated by the Recovery in Aſſize, for he ſhall have an Aſſize of Mortdanceſtor or a Scire facias where ſuch Poſſeſſion is removed; but otherwiſe it had been if he had entered. [f] If the Baſtard has Iſſue, and dies in the Life of his Father, his Iſſue ſhall be in the ſame Caſe, againſt the Mulier, as the Father ſhould have been, if he dies ſeized without Interruption, or a Deſcent takes away the Right of the Mulier. [g] It was ſaid that the Heir of the Baſtard being in by Deſcent ſhall gain the Land againſt the collateral Heir, or againſt the Lord by Eſcheat, as well as againſt the Mulier puiſne. So Maxims are not taken ſo very ſtrictly. [h] But Dower ex aſſenſu fratris is not good, for the Maxim is of the Aſſent of the [i] Mother and Father only. If the Iſſue of the Baſtard is the firſt who enters, and he dies ſeized, his Iſſue ſhall hold the Land againſt the Mulier, as well as the Iſſue of the Baſtard ſhall hold

[a] Poſt § 280. And ſee the principal Authorities pro et con cited Plowd. 372 (f). in Margine.
[b] Contra Co. Litt. 241. a.
[c] Co Litt. 244. a. accord.
[d] Co Litt. 244. a. accord.
* See Litt. § 399.
[f] Co Litt. 244. b.
[g] Co. Litt. 244. a.
[h] Co. Litt. 35. b. 1 Finch 106. 2 Finch 127.
[i] Co. Litt 35. b. 1 Finch 105. 2 Finch 126.

hold it, where the Baſtard was the firſt who entered. And it is a Maxim that Aid ſhall be granted to make the Son a Knight, or to marry the Daughter, but it does not extend to the Brother or Siſter; and a Man cannot have an Action quare fratrem et hæredem cepit et abduxit. [a] If the Baſtard dies, and his Iſſue endows the Wife of the Baſtard, quære if the Right of the Mulier is bound, or if he may enter upon her. But if the Wife of a common Anceſtor be endowed, the Deſcent of the Reverſion ſhall be to the Mulier, quære inde; for if the Siſter has ſuch a Brother of the half Blood, and afterwards ſhe endows the Wife of the common Anceſtor, quære to whom ſhall the Reverſion go; but if it be the Wife of the Brother, it is otherwiſe, and there it ſeems that the Siſter ſhall have the Reverſion.

[a] S. P. Co. Litt. 241. a. that the Right of the Mulier is bound in this Caſe, and he cannot enter upon the Tenant in Dower.

101. A Man diſſeizes his Leſſee for Life, and afterwards makes a Feoffment to J. S. to the Uſe of the ſame Leſſee for his Life, Remainder in Tail to A. he in Remainder dies, his Heir being within Age, and the Tenant for Life dies ſeized, J. S. ſeizes the Ward of the Donee in Tail, which Ward refuſing the Marriage offered him by J. S. marries himſelf elſewhere, and J. S. brings a Writ of Forfeiture of Marriage.

102. Land is given to two, and to the Heirs of their two Bodies begotten, the Remainder to their right Heirs, which Land was before held by one Hawk, now it ſeems that the Lord ſhall but have one Hawk, and yet, as it ſeems, they are not Jointenants of the Fee-ſimple, which veſts ſeverally in them, but there is no Apportionment in a Moiety. But if a Leaſe is made for Life of two Acres, the Remainder of the one to A. in Fee, the Remainder of the other to B. in Fee, now the Lord ſhall have two Hawks.

103. Land is given for Life, the Remainder in Fee to the right Heirs of J. S. who is dead, leaving a Son, who dies without Iſſue, the Remainder ſhall deſcend to the Heir on the Part of the Father, and not to the Heir on the Part of the Mother, becauſe this is a Purchaſe to the Son in Manner as if the Remainder had been limited to the Son in his own Name, and it is as if Land is given to a Man and to his Heirs on the Part of the Mother begotten, and his Mother is then dead, and afterwards he dies without Iſſue, the Heir on the Part of the Father ſhall have the Land, and (Heir on the Part of the Mother) by which he is named, are but Words of Conveyance to make the Land paſs to him.

104. A Man makes a Leaſe for Life, and dies, having a Son and a Daughter by one Venter, and a Son by another Venter, the eldeſt Son grants the Reverſion in Tail, and the Tenant attorns, and he dies, and afterwards the Grantee in Tail dies without Iſſue, and after that the Tenant for Life dies, it ſeems that the Daughter ſhall have the Land, and not the youngeſt Son.

105. Tenant in Dower of an Advowſon grants her Eſtate to J. S. and to his Heirs, he dies, and his Heir preſents him in Reverſion, and afterwards the Tenant in Dower dies, and after that the Preſentee dies, and his Heir preſents, and is diſturbed by the Heir of J. S. and he brings a Quare Impedit againſt him and the Ordinary, and ſhews the ſaid Preſentment for his Title, and the Heir of J. S. ſhews that the Preſentee was the Anceſtor of the Plaintiff.

106. Tenant in Tail leaſes for 40 Years, rendring Rent, and afterwards dies, and his Heir ſuffers the Leſſee to continue two or three Years after the Death of the Leſſor, and then ouſts him, he has no Remedy by Action of Debt or otherwiſe for the Rent behind after the Death of the Tenant in Tail, any more than the Leſſor hath for the Arrears incur'd after the Breach of a Condition, where he has not enter'd for the Condition broken; and it ſeems that he ſhall not have an Action of Account againſt him as Bailiff of the Land.

[b] Litt. § 346. See this Conſtruction followed by the Ld. Coke in the Commentary thereupon.

[c] Co. Litt. 99. b. 213. b. Ante § 38.

107. Altho' [b] Littleton ſays that a Man cannot reſerve Rent but to the Leſſor or to his Heirs, yet if a Man makes a Leaſe, rendring Rent to his [c] Heir, it is void, for if it ſhould be good, then his Heir ſhould take it as a Purchaſer, and a Stranger too. But Littleton is not ſo to be underſtood, but the disjunctive ſhall there be taken as a Copulative. For if a Man enfeoffs one upon Condition to re-enfeoff him or his Heirs before Eaſter, and before Eaſter the Feoffor dies, now the Feoffee ought to make the Feoffment before Requeſt, becauſe the Heir is a Stranger, for that the Condition was in the Disjunctive. So the Words of Littleton are not to be underſtood literally as above, for then they would be contrary to Law. But the Difference between the principal Caſe and the other is this, the Rent is not a Condition, nor can it be reſerved to the Deviſor, becauſe the Deviſe does not take Effect until after his Death, but where the Rent is reſerved to the Heir, it ought to be reſerved to the Leſſor himſelf, and if it is not, it ſhall be void.

108. A. being ſeized of Land in Socage deviſes it to a Stranger upon Condition in Fee, and if the Stranger breaks the Condition, that his Executors ſhall ſell the Land, it ſeems that this Deviſe, as to the Executors, is void, and yet by the Equity of the Statute a Man may deviſe that his Executors ſhall ſell his Land, and that upon Condition; and here it appears that immediately upon the Death of the Deviſor the Land ſhall be in the Deviſee, and then the Deviſe that his Executors ſhall ſell is annexed only to the Condition, for nothing deſcends to the Heir but the Condition, and it is as if one has a Title of Entry for a Condition broken in Land holden in Socage, in which Caſe ſuch Deviſe is void, for the Heir may enter, if he will, for the Breach of the Condition, and then when he enters, he ſhall hold the Land diſcharged of all Conditions made by his Father after the firſt Feoffment. So ſhall it be in the principal Caſe.

109. A Diſſeizor having a Wife makes a Leaſe for Life, the Leſſee makes a Leaſe to the Wife for the Life of the Wife, and the Huſband accepts the Deed and agrees to it, the Diſſeizee releaſes to the Wife, the Huſband dies, the Wife diſagrees to the Leaſe, her Leſſor enters, againſt whom ſhe brings a Writ of Dower. It was held clearly that if the Diſſeizor having a Wife makes a Leaſe to J. S. for Life, who makes a Leaſe to A. for Life, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to A. the Wife of the Diſſeizor ſhall be endowed, for the Releaſe does not countervail an Entry and Feoffment. But if the Diſſeizor makes a Leaſe for Life, and the Leſſee makes a Feoffment, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to the Feoffee, this takes away the Entry of the Diſſeizor, for ſuch Releaſe ſhall take away all Rights, but not Titles, as Condition or Dower, and becauſe the Diſſeizor had a Right of Entry, he cannot enter. But if the Diſſeizor be diſſeized, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to the ſecond Diſſeizor, this takes away the Dower of the firſt Diſſeizor's Wife. But in the principal Caſe ſupra the Releaſe is clearly void, for by the Leaſe made by the Leſſee to the Wife the Huſband had Title to enter for the Forfeiture, and then when he takes it by the Wife, he ſhall be remitted, and altho' he agrees that the Wife ſhall take the Eſtate, yet this is no Eſtoppel, any more than where the [a] Leſſee makes a Feoffment, and he in the Reverſion being his Attorney makes Livery, in which Caſe he may enter nevertheleſs for the Forfeiture; ſo is it here, and then if the Huſband is remitted, there is no Poſſeſſion in the Wife upon which the Releaſe can enure, for which Reaſon ſhe may then diſagree and have Dower.

[a] S. P. Ante § 97.

110. [b] If a Condition is annexed to the Land of a Feme-covert or an Infant, as the Payment of D. which is not done, by Reaſon whereof an Entry is made, the Wife and the Infant ſhall be bound thereby for ever. But if the Wife be Tenant for Life, and the Huſband makes a Feoffment, and the Leſſor enters, yet the Wife ſhall have the Land after the Death of the Huſband, ſo in the Caſe of an Infant ſuch Forfeiture is voidable, for theſe are Conditions in Law, and an Entry given for them ſhall not be of Force for ever. So alſo it ſeems to be in the Caſe of a Forfeiture made by Aid of a Stranger in a Præcipe quod reddat, or by one who brings a Quod ei deforceat, and claims another Eſtate: ſo that there is a Diverſity between a Condition in Law and a Condition in Deed. But if the Condition is created by Statute, and thereupon there is a Recovery in a Suit to which the Wife is Party, ſhe ſhall be bound by ſuch Recovery, as in the Caſe of [c] Ceſſavit, or Waſt; but if the Condition is given by a Stranger, and there is no Recovery conſequent upon it, as in Caſe of [d] Mortmain, then neither the Wife nor the Infant ſhall be bound. But there are ſome Conditions in Law by which both a Wife and an Infant ſhall be bound, as if an Infant or the Huſband breaks the Condition which the Law annexes to the Grant of a Park, or Stewardſhip, or Office, or Liberty, this ſhall bind the Eſtate for ever. Alſo there is another Condition in Law of this Nature, viz. if the Goods of an Infant are ſtolen, and ſold in Market overt, or if they be waived or ſtrayed, or if the Ordinary preſents for Lapſe to the Advowſon of an Infant, in all theſe Caſes he ſhall be bound. So Note the Nature of the Condition which the Law annexes to the Thing.

[b] See 31 Aſſ. pl. 17. Fitz. Condition 15. Bro. 114. Coverture 71. Plowd. 375 (f).

[c] See as to an Infant, Plowd. 364 (e) and (f), and the Books there cited in the Margin.

[d] See 1 Show. 84, at the Top.

111. [e] A Rent-ſeck is granted out of Land to A. for Life, and afterwards by another Deed the Grantor confirms his Eſtate, and that if the Rent be behind it ſhall be lawful for the Grantee and his Heirs to diſtrain for the ſame Rent, the Grantee takes a Wife, and dies, it ſeems that his Wife ſhall not have Dower of the Rent, and yet his Heir ſhall have it by Deſcent, as it is adjudged in 8 H. 4. 18. for the Rent-ſeck is not yet determined, but the Nature of it ſtill remains, and the Diſtreſs is but in Nature of a Penalty, and he ſhall have a Fee in the Rent-charge, but it ſhall be in him as a Reverſion, and in no other Manner, for he ſhall not have two Rents, and the firſt ſhall not be extinct nor drowned. As if a Lord of a Manor grants to A. the Homage and Fealty of his Tenants, ſaving to himſelf the Rent, this is a Rent-ſeck, and ſhall be Parcel of the Manor, and if afterwards the Tenant will grant to the Lord that he and his Heirs ſhall diſtrain for the ſame Rent, yet the Rent ſhall be always Parcel of the Manor, notwithſtanding this, and the Diſtreſs ſhall be as a Penalty; but if it was a Rent-charge, it ſhould not be ſaid Parcel of the Manor, for then it ſhould be ſaid to commence now. And if the Lord grants the Rent of his Tenant to A. for Life, ſaving to himſelf the Seigniory, and afterwards he grants the Seigniory and the Reverſion of the Rent to the Grantee, yet it ſhall be called a Rent ſeck during the Life of the Grantee, and afterwards it ſhall be called a Rent-ſervice, for the Reverſion of the Rent which was a Rent-ſervice cannot merge the Freehold of the Rent which was of another Nature; no more can the Reverſion of the Rent charge merge the Freehold of the Rent-ſeck in the principal Caſe. But in the laſt Caſe if the Grantee had re-granted the Rent-ſeck to the Grantor who had the Reverſion, it ſhould have enured as a Surrender. Quære what is the Diverſity where the Reverſion comes to the Freehold, and where the Freehold comes to the Reverſion? So if one has a Manor to which an Advowſon is appendant, and he grants the Advowſon to A. for Life, and afterwards enfeoffs him of the Manor with the Appurtenances, now the Freehold of the Advowſon is not appendant, but if the Grantee of the Advowſon had re-granted it to the Grantor, it had been appendant. But if a Man leaſes his Manor for Life, ſaving to himſelf the Advowſon, and afterwards grants the Reverſion of the Manor together with the Advowſon, it is clear that the Advowſon ſhall never afterwards be appendant to the Manor. [f] If a Man grants a Rent out of two Acres, and that if the Rent be behind, he ſhall diſtrain in one of the Acres, this is not a Rent-charge in any Part, becauſe the Diſtreſs is not limited in the whole Land out of which the Rent iſſues. If a Man grants 20*s.* out of his Manor of Dale, and that it ſhall be lawful for the Grantee and his Heirs to diſtrain for theſe 20*s.* and for other 20*s.* in the Manor of Sale, the firſt 20*s.* are a Rent-ſeck, and the Diſtreſs for them is but a [g] Penalty, and the other 20*s.* are a * Rent-charge iſſuing out of the Manor of Sale, ſo that they are ſeveral Rents. But if a Man grants a Rent out of the Manor of Dale, and if it be behind that it ſhall be lawful for the Grantee and his Heirs to diſtrain for it in the Manor of Dale and Sale, this ſeems to be a Rent-charge in the Manor of Dale, and a Penalty in the Manor of Sale. If there is Tenant for Life of a Seigniory, and he in the Reverſion releaſes to the Tenant of the Land, yet it ſeems that he is Tenant for Life of the Seigniory without any Reverſion, 8 H. 6. 24. b. [h] If a Rent is granted to a Man out of Land for the Life of J. S. and afterwards by another Deed the Grantor grants that if the Rent be behind the Grantee ſhall diſtrain for it during his Life, the Remainder in Fee, this is a good Remainder, if ſo be that the firſt Rent be determined; but if the Diſtreſs be appointed for the Life of J. S.

[e] Ante § 84.

[f] Ante § 84. Co. Litt. 147. b.

[g] S. P. Co. Litt. 147. a.

* For here the latter 20*s.* are not expreſsly granted out of any Manor, ſo that there is a Neceſſity for the Law to make a Conſtruction that this Grant of Diſtreſs ſhall amount to a Grant of a Rent; whereas as to the firſt 20*s.* there is no need of ſuch Conſtruction, becauſe they are expreſsly granted to iſſue out of the Manor of Dale, for which Reaſon the Diſtreſs in the Manor of Sale ſhall only be a Penalty, as to them. And when a Man charges Land with Diſtreſs for the Payment of a yearly Sum of Money, and does not expreſsly grant it out of any particular Land, this ever amounts to a Grant of a Rent-charge out of the Land in which the Diſtreſs is given. Litt. § 221.

[h] See Ante § 8.

Or

or J. D. then the Remainder is void, for there it is but a Penalty, but in the other Caſe an Eſtate is alſo given, altho' it is a Penalty during the Time of the Appointment of the Determination of the firſt Rent. If a Rent of 20 s. is granted out of the Manor of Dale, and that it ſhall be lawful for the Grantee and his Heirs to diſtrain for theſe 20 s. and for other 20 s. in the Manor of Dale and Sale, now for the firſt 20 s. this ſhall be a Rent-charge in the Manor of Dale, and a Penalty in the Manor of Sale, and for the other 20 s. it ſhall be a Rent-charge in both the Manors. If a Rent is granted out of two Acres, with Diſtreſs in one, and afterwards the other is recovered by an elder Title, it ſeems that it ſhall be a Rent-ſeck as it was before, for it cannot now be a Rent-charge, if it was a Rent-ſeck before. If a Rent reſerved upon a Leaſe for Life is granted over, and afterwards a Recovery is had in Waſt, yet the Rent remains; as if the Lord grants the Rent, reſerving to himſelf the Homage, the Rent remains after the Eſcheat. And if the Tenant enfeoffs the Lord upon Condition, and the Meſne grants the Surpluſage of the Rent which he has as a Rent-ſeck, and Attornment is had, and afterwards the Condition is broken, yet it ſeems that the Grantee ſhall retain the Rent as a Rent-ſeck, and the Tenant ſhall pay the Remnant of the Rent only to the Meſne.

112. At Lecture a Diverſity was held, viz. that one Siſter, being Seignioreſs, to whom the Tenancy is deſcended, ſhall not have the Rent nor other Charge before Partition, but if ſhe had the Tithe-Corn, ſhe ſhall have them after Severance from the nine Parts before Partition, becauſe they lie in prendre, and ſhe may make Diviſion well-enough with the others, for the Diviſion ſhall be made as Tithes, and ſhe ſhall take them as Parſon, and ſo in another Capacity. So ſhall it be if the Parſon and another purchaſe jointly Land within the Pariſh. If a Woman has 20 Cart-loads of Eſtovers out of the Wood of Dale, as appurtenant to her Manor of Dale, and afterwards the Wood deſcends to her and her Siſter, ſhe may take the Eſtovers before Partition.

113. If the Daughter recovers in Value, by Reaſon of the Warranty of the Anceſtor, before the Birth of the Son, the Son, when he is born, ſhall enter upon her into the Land recovered in Value, for ſhe recovered it as Heir, and it came in lieu of the former Land, and ſo ſhall be in the ſame Degree as the former Land was, as a Recovery in Value by a Warranty on the Part of the Mother ſhall reſort to the Heir on the Part of the Mother. So if after Partition one Parcener recovers by a Warranty of the Anceſtor, becauſe the other will not come in Aid, the Land ſhall be rateable. But if the Daughter has the Land by Reaſon of [a] Mortmain, [b] Conſent to a Raviſher, or Condition performed on her Part, &c. there the Son born after ſhall not have it; ſo of a Recovery by Reaſon of a Warranty made to the Daughter herſelf.

[a] Poſt § 180.

[b] T. 5 Ed. 4. b. a. Bro. Done 28. Plowd. 56 (o). 1 Co. 95. a. 3 Co. 61. b. 1 Leon. 258. Kitch. 215.

114. The Meſne grants the Meſnalty upon Condition that if the Grantee pays a certain Sum to the Grantor or to his Heirs at ſuch a Day, then he ſhall have Fee, and before the Day the Grantor is attainted of Felony, and executed, it ſeems that the Grantee ſhall have the Fee. Firſt, it ſeems clearly that the Fee ſhall not be out of the Grantor preſently, but upon the Performance of the Condition; but here the Act of the Law, which is occaſioned by the Act of the Grantor, viz. by the Felony committed and the Attainder thereupon, has made it impoſſible for the Condition to be performed, and inaſmuch as the Condition cannot be performed either to the Grantor or to his Heirs, becauſe he has no Heir, and there is no Folly or Default in the Grantee, he ſhall not be prejudiced thereby, but the Law will conſtrue the Condition to be performed by him, and then the Fee ſhall be diveſted out of the Lord, as it ſhall out of the Perſon of the Grantor. But quære the Diverſity between this Caſe and that of Pleſington in 6 R. 2. Fitz. Quid juris clamat 20. But if one Jointenant leaſes for five Years, upon Condition that if the Leſſee does ſuch an Act at ſuch a Day, then he ſhall have the Land for twenty Years, and before the Day the Jointenant dies, now the Condition ſhall be void, as to the Survivor; as if a Huſband has 20 Years in Right of his Wife, and grants 3 Years upon ſuch Condition, &c. and before the Day the Huſband dies, the Wife ſhall have the Reſidue of the Term, and ſhall avoid the Condition. Quære, for they claim in of a higher Eſtate, and ſo ſhall avoid a Condition as well as a Charge. But quære when the Condition charges the Poſſeſſion and the Right; as if one Jointenant or Huſband makes a Leaſe to commence at Michaelmas, and they die before the Day, the Leaſe ſhall not be avoided, for there the Poſſeſſion itſelf paſſes preſently, but not in the other Caſes. And therefore if the Leſſor for Life dies, leaving two Sons by divers Venters, and the eldeſt grants to the Leſſee that he ſhall be diſpuniſhable for Waſt, and dies without Iſſue, the youngeſt ſhall notwithſtanding have an Action of Waſt, for the Grant ought to be by the eldeſt and his Heirs, and the youngeſt is not his Heir, but claims by Title paramount, viz. as immediate Heir to the Father, and therefore he ſhall avoid the Charge granted out of the Reverſion. If a Rent-charge is granted to commence the Day after the Grantor is attainted of Felony, here notwithſtanding the Land is forfeited by the Attainder, it ſeems that the Rent-charge is good.

115. Tenant in Tail of Rent diſcontinues it with Warranty, and the Iſſue having a Wife is bar'd in a Formedon by this Warranty with Aſſets, yet it ſeems that his Wife ſhall be endowed of this Rent, for the Grant was void by the Death of the Tenant in Tail, and then the Iſſue had the Poſſeſſion in Law, and might have diſtrained at his Pleaſure, and altho' he has determined his Pleaſure, and has bar'd himſelf by that which the Law has given him, yet his Wife ſhall not be prejudiced thereby.

116. A Rent is granted in Fee out of Land in Borough-Engliſh and Land at the Common Law, the Grantee dies, leaving two Sons, the eldeſt ſhall have the whole Rent, for it cannot be apportioned when it is one entire Rent, and then the eldeſt, being Heir at the Common Law, ſhall have the whole: As an Aſſize at the Common Law ſhall be maintainable of a Rent granted out of Ancient-Demeſn and out of other Land, 35 H. 6. 4. a. Per Aſhton accord.

117. A Leaſe for Life is made, upon Condition that if the Leſſor aliens the Reverſion, then the Leſſee ſhall have Fee, the Leſſor grants the Reverſion by Fine for Life, it ſeems that the Grantee ſhall have it for Life, and the Leſſee ſhall have a Fee executed after the Eſtate of the Grantee, and not before; yet if the Condition had been that if the Leſſee pay 20*l.* he ſhall have Fee, &c. it ſhould have diveſted the Poſſeſſion out of the Part of the Grantee. Note the Diverſity.

118. If two Women diſſeize A. and one of them takes a Huſband, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to the Huſband in Fee, it ſeems that this ſhall enure by Way of Extinguiſhment to both the Women, for it ſhall not enure as an Entry and Feoffment to the one Woman, becauſe ſhe is not privy to the Deed, and as an Entry and Feoffment to the Huſband it ſhall not enure, becauſe he is in by Title, and if the Releaſe had been made to the other Woman, it ſeems that it ſhould not have diveſted the Poſſeſſion out of the Huſband. And if Tenant for Life is diſſeized by two, and he releaſes to one of them, this ſhall enure to both, for if it ſhould enure to the one only, then ſhould it enure as an Entry and Grant of his Eſtate, whereby the Reverſion would be reſtored, which cannot be, nor can the one be diveſted of his Part of the Reverſion, nor have any Reverſion dependant upon the Eſtate of his Companion who joined in the Diſſeizin with him. And if he in the Reverſion had joined in the Releaſe with the Tenant for Life, quære how it ſhould have enured? And if two Diſſeizors make a Feoffment, and take back an Eſtate for Life, a Releaſe to one of them ſhall enure to both.

[a] S. P. 26 H. 8. 7. pl. 33 dubitatur. But ſee that the Adminiſtrator ſhall not ſue Execution here, O. Bendl. 2, pl. 5. N. Bendl. 18, pl. 24. Moor 4, pl. 13. 139. 680, pl. 931. 1 And. 23. pl. 49. 1 Co. 96. a. 5 Co. 9. b. W. Jones 214, 248. March 9, pl. 24. 2 Brownl. 144. Noy 81, 82. Style 251. Yelv. 33, 83. 2 Saund. 149. 1 Sid. 29. 2 Sid. 122. Cro. E. 435, pl. 49. Cro. J. 4, 394. Cro. C. 167, 227, 451, 459. 1 Finch 10. 2 Finch 13. But if the Executor had ſued out Execution, and before the Debt levied had died inteſtate, then the Adminiſtrator de bonis non ſhould take Advantage of this Execution, becauſe it is a Thing veſted, Hill. 12 Car. 2. B. R. Harriſon v. Bowden 1 Sid. 29. And now by the Statute of 17 Car. 2. cap. 8. made perpetual by 1 Jac. 2. cap. 17. § 5. an Adminiſtrator de bonis non may ſue out a Scire facias and take Execution upon a Judgment after a Verdict recovered by any Executor or Adminiſtrator.

119. A Huſband having 20 Years in Right of his Wife grants 2 Years to a Stranger, upon Condition that the Grantee ſhall not grant over his Term, and if he does, that the Huſband his Executors and Aſſigns may enter, and afterwards the Huſband dies, and the Leſſee grants over his Term, it ſeems clearly that the Executors of the Huſband cannot enter, becauſe this is a Condition annexed to the Reverſion, and if they might enter, they would defeat the Reverſion of the Wife, for it is clear that the Wife ſhall have the Reverſion of the Term, and if they ſhould enter, they muſt be in the ſame Caſe and Condition as their Teſtator was, and he was ſeized of the whole Land in Right of his Wife, which the Executor cannot be. And therefore if I make a Leaſe for Life, rendring Rent, and for default of Payment a Re-entry, and I grant the Reverſion to a Stranger, by the Common Law I cannot enter, becauſe I cannot be ſeized in the ſame Plight as I was before the Livery or Leaſe made, for then I ſhould diveſt the Reverſion out of my Grantee, and defeat my own Grant, which I cannot do. And therefore the eldeſt Son cannot enter upon the particular Eſtate, where the Reverſion is deſcended to the youngeſt by the Cuſtom of Borough-Engliſh or a ſpecial Tail, nor the Heir on the Part of the Father, where the Reverſion goes to the Heirs on the Part of the Mother, nor the Executor of one Jointenant, where the Teſtator has made a Leaſe for Years upon ſuch Condition, and dies, and the other ſurvives, for then they would diveſt the Reverſion out of the other, which cannot be done. And in the principal Caſe it ſeems that the Wife cannot enter, for it ſeems that ſhe is not privy to the Condition, nor does ſhe claim under the Eſtate of the Huſband, but by Title above it, ſo that ſhe is not Party to the Privity of the Condition; as if one Jointenant grants his Part for Years upon ſuch Condition, the Survivor ſhall not take Advantage of it, cauſa qua ſupra. And it is clear that the Statute of 32 H. 8. does not extend to enable the Wife to take Advantage of this Condition, becauſe ſhe is not the Grantee of the Reverſion, nor comes in by Privity of the Law. But it is clear that if the Huſband had granted over his Eſtate, viz. the whole 20 Years, upon ſuch Condition, or if the Father had made a Feoffment in Fee of the Land aforeſaid in Borough-Engliſh, he ſhould have entered, for there he claims by the Father, and under his Eſtate, and inaſmuch as he is Heir by the Cuſtom, he ſhall enter by the Common Law; ſo in the other like Caſes. And others are of a contrary Opinion, viz. that the Condition is gone, as if a man makes a Leaſe for Years upon Condition ut ſupra, and dies, leaving Iſſue a Son and a Daughter by one Venter, and a Son by another Venter, the eldeſt gets Poſſeſſion of the Rent, and dies, now the Siſter ſhall have the Reverſion, and the Condition is gone, for ſhe is not Heir. If a Man gives Land in Tail which came on the Part of the Mother, rendring Rent, and dies without Iſſue, the Heir on the Part of the Mother ſhall have the Rent with the Reverſion, and why ſhall not ſhe as well have the Condition? Some ſay that the Rent is incident to the Reverſion, and goes along with it in the Grant of it, but the Condition does not. And, it was ſaid, if there are two Diſſeizors, and one of them leaſes the Moiety for Years, rendering Rent with Re-entry for Non-payment, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to the other who made no Leaſe, it ſeems that he ſhall have the entire Freehold in the whole Land, and the Leſſee ſhall not pay the Rent to him, for he comes to the Reverſion by Title paramount, and not by any Privity. [a] It was ſaid that if the Executor brings Debt, and recovers, and before Execution dies inteſtate, whereby Adminiſtration is committed of the Goods of the firſt Teſtator, the Adminiſtrator ſhall not have Execution, for there is no Privity between him and the Executor, and his Power has Relation antecedent to the Teſtament; quære tamen, for it ſeems to me to the contrary, for the Executor who is ſevered ſhall have Execution of a Thing recovered by his Companion, for his Death abates the Writ, in 38 Ed. 3. 13. It was ſaid that if the Seigniory is granted in Tail, and there is an Alienation in Mortmain, and the Grantee in Tail dies within the Year without Iſſue, the Donor ſhall enter as he in Reverſion ſhould do, for there is Privity in Eſtate. If the Heir within Age had endowed his Mother of more than ſhe ought to have, the Guardian in Chivalry could not have Admeaſurement until the Statute of Weſtminſter 2.

120. [b] If I recover in Aſſize, and afterwards am re-diſſeized by him againſt whom, &c. and by another, I cannot have Rediſſeizin, for the [c] Statute gives the Rediſſeizin againſt the ſame Perſon, &c. and it is a penal Statute. So if two Coparceners by Record make Partition of an Advowſon, ſo that the eldeſt firſt preſents, and afterwards the youngeſt, and the eldeſt and a [b] S. P. Poſt § 126. So if an Aſſize be brought againſt A. and B. and A. is found the Diſſeizor, and B. the Tenant, and the Plaintiff recovers, and B. the Tenant diſſeizes the Plaintiff again, the Plaintiff ſhall have no Rediſſeizin, but a Poſt-diſſeizin, becauſe a Rediſſeizin lies not but againſt him that was Party to the former Diſſeizin. 2 Inſt. 417. Poſt § 126.

[c] Stat. Merton cap. 3.

Stranger preſent in the Turn of the youngeſt, the youngeſt ſhall not have a Scire facias againſt them, for the Statute of [a] Weſtminſter 2. gives it againſt the Perſon who is Party to the Record, but in this Caſe ſhe may have a Scire facias againſt the eldeſt only, and omit the other. But in the firſt Caſe Rediſſeizin does not lie only againſt the Rediſſeizor, for he may plead [b] Jointenancy with a Stranger, but in the laſt Caſe it is no Plea that another preſented with her, for ſhe may have a Quare Impedit againſt both of them, or ſeveral Actions, as a Man may have for a Treſpaſs done by two, ſo that the Scire facias is maintenable againſt the one only. [c] So if the Lord diſtrains the Tenant, and he ſues a Replevin, and afterwards the Lord diſtrains an Ox of a Stranger, and another Ox of the Tenant, now the Tenant ſhall have Recaption, [d] but if the Lord had diſtrained again the Cattle which the Tenant and a Stranger had in Common, no Recaption ſhould lie, for they ought to join in Action for the Cattle laſt taken, and the Stranger cannot join in Recaption. So if a Commoner has ſurcharged and is admeaſured, and afterwards he and another put in their Cattle beyond the Number, viz. each of them three, now Superoneration lies againſt the Commoner; but if he and a Stranger have ſurcharged before with Cattle which they have in common, then the Action fails, for it does not lie againſt them both, becauſe one of them did not ſurcharge before, and it does not lie againſt the other only, becauſe he alone did not ſurcharge again. If an Abator makes a Feoffment, and takes an Eſtate back again to himſelf and another with Warranty, they ſhall vouch, for it cannot be counterpleaded that both of them abated, H. 46 Ed. 3. 2. a. per Perſay. If two Coparceners make a Compoſition to preſent by Turn, and afterwards one of them and a Stranger preſents in the Turn of the other, now this puts her out of Poſſeſſion, but if the Stranger dies, ſo that ſhe has the whole by Survivorſhip, then ſhe is not out of Turn, this is a cunning Caſe. But if the youngeſt Brother and a Stranger abate, and the Stranger dies, now a Mortdanceſtor does not lie, or if an Abator makes a Feoffment, and takes back an Eſtate to him and to another, and the other dies, now Voucher does not lie for him, and yet before an Aſſize of Mortdanceſtor and Voucher lay. If A. knowing Goods to be ſtolen and B. buy them in Market-overt, and afterwards B. dies, now A. ſhall take all the Goods, and the Property was not altered at the Beginning but only for a Moiety. If Tenant in Tail enfeoffs the Donor and a Stranger, this is a Diſcontinuance for the whole, for the Benefit of the Stranger; but if the Donor has the whole by Survivorſhip, quære if the Diſcontinuance is purged. If the Wife be Plaintiff in Replevin, the Huſband and Wife ſhall not have ſecond Deliverance, nor the Executors, for the Statute of [e] Weſtminſter 2. is, deliberet ei averia prius ei returnata.

[a] Weſtm. 2. cap. 5.

[b] 2 Inſt. 83.

[c] So vice verſa if the Lord firſt diſtrains the Cattle of two Men, and afterwards diſtrains the Cattle of one of them for the ſame Thing, he alone ſhall have a Recaption. 12 Ed. 1. Itin. Wilt, Fitz. Recaption 13. F. N. B. 71. i. 2 Finch 353.

[d] F. N. B. 72. e. But put the Caſe vice verſa, viz. that he firſt diſtrains the Cattle which the Tenant and a Stranger have in common, and afterwards the Cattle which belong to the Tenant alone, there 'tis ſaid that the Tenant ſhould have a Recaption, Ibid. 2 Finch 354. ſed volo perquirere differentiam.

[e] Weſtm. 2. cap. 2.

121. If a Man makes a Feoffment with Warranty to the Feoffee his Heirs and Aſſigns, and he makes a Feoffment over, and the ſecond Feoffee re-enfeoffs the firſt Feoffee, he ſhall vouch, for he may be Aſſignee of his Father, inaſmuch as he does not claim as Heir. It was ſaid that the Lord by Eſcheat, or Mortmain, or of a Villain, or he who enters for Conſent to a Raviſher, ſhall not be called Aſſignees; but yet they ſhall rebut, for every one who comes in of another Eſtate, if he comes in under the Warranty, ſhall rebut, as the Caſe is in 45 Ed. 3. 18. But if he comes in by force of a Condition broken, which Condition was before, or as Survivor where the Warranty was made to his Companion, there he ſhall not rebut, or if it was made to the Daughter, and afterwards a Son is born, and he has the Land, &c.

122. If a Leaſe is made for Years, and afterwards the Leſſor makes a Leaſe to another for Life to commence after the Term, this ſecond Leaſe is clearly void, altho' Attornment is had, for there is no Need of Attornment, becauſe it is not a Grant of the Reverſion, but it is void inaſmuch as a Freehold cannot paſs out of the Perſon of any one who has a greater Eſtate, reſerving to himſelf an Eſtate until the Freehold commences, for then he would have a mean Eſtate, which cannot be, and therefore the Grant is void. So is it if the firſt Eſtate was for Life, and the ſecond alſo for Life, to commence after the End of the firſt Eſtate. [f] But if the ſecond Leaſe be for Years, it is otherwiſe, for that ſhall be good to the Leſſee, and in the mean Time the Leſſor ſhall have the Rent reſerved upon the firſt Leaſe; and the Reaſon thereof is, becauſe a Leaſe for Years is but a Contract, which a Man ſhall have when the Time of the Promiſe comes. But it is not ſo with Regard to a Freehold, nor is that like to the Caſe of a Leaſe for Years upon Condition to have a Freehold upon the Performance of ſuch an Act, for there the Condition is annexed to an Eſtate, viz. to the Leaſe for Years, but here there is no Eſtate precedent to which a Condition may be annexed, but a Condition without an Eſtate, which ſhall never gain a Freehold; and ſo is the Diverſity. [g] Note, if a Man makes a Leaſe for 10 Years to commence at Michaelmas, and afterwards makes a Leaſe for 20 Years to commence at Eaſter, the ſecond Leaſe ſhall only be good for 10 Years, altho' the firſt Leſſee ſurrenders before, and within a Day afterwards the ſecond Term commences, becauſe it was void for 10 Years at firſt. [h] By the ſame Reaſon if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, and afterwards makes a Leaſe for Years to commence preſently, the ſecond Leaſe ſhall be void, altho' the firſt Leſſee dies a Day afterwards. If a Leaſe for Years be made to commence at Eaſter, and before Eaſter the Leſſee accepts another Leaſe to commence preſently, if this ſhall be a Surrender is the Queſtion, but there cannot be a [i] Surrender in Deed before Eaſter. The Heir aſſigns Dower of the third Part of a Manor, and afterwards by Deed gives the two Parts together with the third Part after the Death of the Tenant in Dower, the third Part paſſes preſently, as it is adjudged. Quære then the Diverſity between this Caſe and the firſt.

[f] S. P. admitted Poſt § 157. Plowd. 432.

123. If a Rent is granted in Fee out of Land, and the Grantee grants it over for Years, the Grantee for Years ſhall have no Remedy for it if it be denied, for he ſhall not have a Writ of Annuity, becauſe that Election is given only to the firſt Grantee and his Heirs, and the Election runs in Privity, which is wanting in the ſecond Grantee. If a Rent incident to a Reverſion is granted to one for Years, ſaving the Reverſion, the Grantee has no Remedy for the Rent if it be [g] S. P. 26 H. 8. Bro. Leaſe 48. Plowd. 432 (d). Cro. E. 160 Per Gawdy. 3 Bac. Abr. 439. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 231.

[h] S. P. accord Poſt § 161. Sed Contra P. 37 H. 8. Bro. Leaſes 48. Plowd. 422 (c), 433 (d). 1 Co. 155. a. Moor 344. Cro. E. 160. Wentw. Off. of Exec. 230, 231.

[i] S. P. Poſt § 311.

be detained, for he ſhall not have an Action of Debt, altho' the Leaſe out of which the Rent was reſerved was for Years, for an Action of Debt is not maintenable but where there is Privity, and that is wanting in the Grantee, becauſe he has not the Reverſion which makes the Privity. If two Acres are given to J. S. habendum the one in Fee, the other for Life, and J. S. gives over both the Acres, viz. the one in Fee, the other for his own Life, ſhall the ſecond Feoffee have Election? It ſeems clearly that if J. S. had done Waſt in both, or had made a Feoffment in Fee of both, the Leſſor might have entered into which he pleaſed. But quære how the Leſſor ſhould puniſh the Waſt? Or if he had granted the Reverſion of the one Acre in certain, and J. S. had attorned, quære what ſhould have paſſed thereby? If I give two Acres, viz. the one in Fee, the other for Life, and the Donee dies without Heir, quære if the Lord ſhall have Election of the Acres? If a Leaſe is made of two Acres, the Remainder of the one to A. the Remainder of the other to B. and it is not certainly ſhewn in which of them the ſeveral Remainders ſhall be, he that firſt enters into the one after the Death of the Tenant for Life ſhall have Election. If Land is leaſed to two, habendum the one Acre in Fee, the other for Life, rendring Rent, quære how the Leſſor ſhall avow? but his Executor ſhall not have Remedy by the Statute of 31 H. 8.

124. If Tenant for Life ſurrenders upon Condition, and afterwards the Leſſor takes a Wife, and dies, and the Wife is endowed againſt the Heir, and afterwards the Tenant for Life enters for the Condition broken by the Wife, and there is no Default in the Heir, yet the Wife ſhall not have the Reverſion of the Land after the Entry of the Tenant for Life, for the Freehold, which was the Cauſe of the Wife's Dower, was clearly taken away by an elder Title. So if the Grandmother recovers Dower againſt the Mother, ſhe has taken away the whole Eſtate of the Mother, inaſmuch as ſhe recovers upon an elder Title than the Deſcent to the Father was; but if the Father had been enfeoffed, it had been otherwiſe. So if the Leſſor diſſeizes his Tenant for Life, and takes a Wife, and dies, and the Wife is endowed by the Heir, and the Tenant for Life recovers, he has clearly taken away the Dower of the Wife, cauſa qua ſupra: And at the ſame Time it was held, that if the Leſſee for Life had died before the Wife had been endowed, ſhe ſhould not have recovered Dower, for then the Heir had been in and remitted to another Freehold, which ſhould have defeated the Dower of the Mother; or if ſhe had been endowed, and afterwards the Tenant for Life had died, the Heir ſhould have ouſted the Wife, becauſe the Freehold of which ſhe had Dower was defeated. Note, it was there held clearly [a] that if Leſſee pur auter vie leaſes for 20 Years by Indenture, and afterwards purchaſes the Reverſion in Fee, and Ceſtuy que vie dies, the Leſſor may ouſt the Leſſee, nothwithſtanding the Years continue, becauſe he has now a new Eſtate, and he may confeſs and avoid the Concluſion. [b] But if J. S. by Indenture leaſes Land for Years in which he has nothing, and afterwards purchaſes the Land, the Leſſee may eſtop him, and he cannot confeſs and avoid the Indenture as in the other Caſe, becauſe he had no Eſtate at the Time of the Leaſe. If the Mother recovers Dower againſt the Son, and afterwards the Grandmother recovers againſt the Mother, and dies, it ſeems that the Son ſhall enter, and not the Mother; but if the Dower of the Mother had been by the Aſſignment of the Heir, it had been otherwiſe, for he ſhould have been concluded by his own Aſſignment. Quære, for by the Opinion of many the Reverſion is not taken out of the Mother in the laſt Caſe but one.

[a] S. P. Co. Litt. 47. b.

[b] S. P. Co. Litt. 47. b. Plowd. 434 (c).

125. [c] A Man ſhall not have an Action of Debt for [d] Relief or Eſcuage given to him, becauſe it is a Thing mixed in the Realty, but his Executors ſhall have an Action of Debt for it, altho' their Teſtator had no Remedy but [e] Diſtreſs. [f] So the Lord ſhall not have Debt for Aid to marry his Daughter or to make his Son a Knight, but if he dies before the ſame is levied, it ſeems that the Tenant ſhall be diſcharged thereof.

[c] S. P. Co. Litt. 47. b. 83. a. b.

[d] M. 7 H. 6. 13. a. Per Rolf. Bro. Dette 194. Relief 11. 32 H. 8. Rot. 528.

[e] M. 34 Ed. 1. Fitz. Avowry 233.

[f] S. P. Co. Litt. 47. b.

126. If one recovers in Aſſize, and afterwards leaſes the Land for Years to the Diſſeizor, and he makes a Feoffment, the Leſſor ſhall not have Rediſſeizin, for this is a Diſſeizin by Statute, and the Recovery before was of a Diſſeizin by the Common Law. So if Tenant by Statute-merchant recovers in Aſſize, and afterwards the Reverſion comes to him, and he is diſſeized again, he ſhall not have Rediſſeizin, for the firſt Eſtate is merged; but if the firſt Eſtate had been for Life, it had been otherwiſe, quære. If a Seigniory is granted for Years upon Condition to have Fee, and afterwards the Fee is veſted by Reaſon of the Performance of the Condition, the Arrearages due before ſeem to be extinct, for the Term is extinct. If one recovers by Aſſize an Office at Weſtminſter, and afterwards the Court is removed to St. Albans, and there the Party is diſſeized again, he ſhall not have Rediſſeizin, for how can it be tried per proximos et primos Juratores, &c. et aſſumptis ſecum cuſtodibus coronæ, ſeeing it is in another County, for which Reaſon the Rediſſeizin fails. And if a Rent-ſervice is recovered in Aſſize, and afterwards it is become a Rent-ſeck, and a Rediſſeizin is made, Rediſſeizin is maintenable, for it is the ſame Rent. [g] And if upon a Gift in Tail a Rent is reſerved for three Years, and afterwards 20*s.* annually, and the firſt three Years he recovers by Aſſize, as he well may, and after the three Years he diſtrains, and a Reſcous is made, he ſhall have a Rediſſeizin. If two Jointenants recover in Aſſize, and afterwards one of them dies, or releaſes, and the other is re-diſſeized, a Rediſſeizin is maintenable; but if there be two Coparceners, and they recover in Aſſize, and afterwards one of them dies without Iſſue, or releaſes, and the other is re-diſſeized, ſhe ſhall not have a Rediſſeizin but only for the Moiety, the Reaſon whereof is apparent. [h] And if the firſt Diſſeizor and another make a Rediſſeizin, no Rediſſeizin lies. [i] If a Diſſeizor makes a Feoffment, and a Recovery is had in Aſſize againſt the Diſſeizor and the Tenant, and afterwards the Tenant re-diſſeizes the Recoveror, he ſhall have no Rediſſeizin: See the Statute of Merton cap. 3. which ſays, if the ſame Diſſeizors ſhall diſſeize the ſame Plaintiff, &c. which Words are refer'd to the Diſſeizor himſelf. So if a Recovery is had againſt the Huſband by Aſſize upon a Diſſeizin done by the Wife before the Coverture, and afterwards they re-diſſeize the Recoveror, no Re-diſſeizin lies, for it appears by the Aſſize (but quære of this) that the Huſband was only named by Reaſon of the Coverture. If one recovers in Aſſize againſt the Pernor of a Rent-ſervice, and afterwards he grants the Homage, and makes it a Rent-ſeck, and afterwards the Pernor upon Demand gets Seizin again, it ſeems that no Rediſſeizin lies, for now he ought to bring his Aſſize alſo againſt the Tenant of the Land, inaſmuch as it is a Rent-ſeck, and he was not a Diſſeizor before. But quære if the naming of him is otherwiſe than for Form's Sake, and not as a Diſſeizor. If one recovers a Seigniory in Aſſize, and afterwards the Tenancy eſcheats, and he is ouſted by the ſame Diſſeizor, he ſhall not have a Rediſſeizin; otherwiſe if it was parcel of the Manor. But if one Jointenant is ſevered in Aſſize, and the other recovers, and afterwards he who was ſevered enters, there if he has the whole Moiety by Survivorſhip, and is re-diſſeized, quære if he ſhall have a Rediſſeizin?

[g] Vide Plowd. 154 (l). Poſt § 302, for the Reaſon hereof.

[h] S. P. Ante § 120.

[i] S. P. 2 Inſt. 417.

127. If a Rent-charge is granted out of Land in Fee, the Heir of the Grantee ſhall have Election to bring a Writ of Annuity, ſo ſhall the Executor have Election, if the Grant be for Years, for they are Privy, and repreſent the Perſon of their Teſtator. For if a Man grants to another one of his Horſes, and the Grantee dies before Election, the Executor ſhall chuſe; but if the Donee had been outlawed, he ſhould not have forfeited any Horſe, or if he had given all his Goods, the Donee ſhould have had no Horſe, for there was no Property in him before his Election, which his Executor ſhould make, and not the Donee. If the Huſband diſagrees to a Remainder, it ſeems that the Wife ſhall not have Dower, otherwiſe if he diſagrees to a Deſcent. If two Acres are given, the one in Tail, the other in Fee, the Heir of the Donee ſhall make Election which Acre he will have in Fee. So Election ſhall be given to the Heir of a Thing which is inheritable, but not to the Grantee or Feoffee. [a] And in the firſt Caſe if the Grantee dies, and his Wife brings a Writ of Dower, it ſeems clearly that ſhe ſhall be endowed, and the Heir cannot ſay that he will take it as an Annuity, for this Election ſhall be determined by the bringing of an Action, and not otherwiſe, wherefore ſhe ſhall recover Dower. [b] And if ſhe has Dower of the third Part of a Rent by ſuch Recovery, or by Aſſignment of the Heir, it ſeems clearly that the Heir ſhall not have an Annuity of the other two Parts, for his Writ of Annuity ought to be brought upon the Deed, and the Writ ſhall be for the whole, or for no Part, for it cannot be apportionted, becauſe by the bringing of the Annuity he makes it a Thing perſonal, which cannot be apportioned. And therefore if the Grantee has Parcel of Land charged by Deſcent, he ſhall not have a Writ of Annuity for the whole or any Part, cauſa qua ſupra, but his Remedy is only to avow for the Reſidue. So Note that there is no Apportionment of an Annuity or Thing perſonal. And therefore if a Man has Iſſue two Daughters, and binds himſelf and his Heirs in an Obligation to the eldeſt Daughter, and dies ſeized of Land, and the Executors are inſufficient, the Obligation is diſcharged. So if the Son has the Land of the Father and the Land of another in Execution upon a Statute-merchant, and the Father dies, ſo that the Fee deſcends to the Son, the whole Execution is diſcharged; and no Contribution lies for the Feoffee, and therefore the whole Execution is diſcharged where the Conuſee purchaſes one Parcel, and another purchaſes another Parcel. And if a Man is indebted to J. S. in 20*l.* upon Contract, and afterwards he makes him an Obligation of 10*l.* of it, J. S. ſhall not have Remedy for the other 10*l.* for a Contract cannot be ſevered. See the Caſe in P. 3. H. 4. if a Man binds himſelf and his Heirs in 20*l.* and dies, and his Executors have no more than 10*l.* now it ſeems clearly that Debt lies againſt the Heir for the whole, for if he ſhould neceſſarily be driven to have Execution againſt the Executors, he ſhould only have that which they have, and he ſhould not have an Action againſt the Heir for the Reſidue, for his Action ſhall not be apportioned. [c] If the Obligor in 20*l.* having Goods to the Value of 10*l.* only, makes the Obligee his Executor, and dies, and he proves the Teſtament, he may retain this 10*l.* as Part of the Duty, and for the Reſidue have an Action of Debt againſt the Heir: So Note an Apportionment of a Duty by the Act of the Law. But if one recovers againſt the Executors, and they have only Aſſets for Part, he ſhall not charge the Heir for the Reſidue. Note, if two Jointenants grant a Rent-charge, with Proviſo that the Grantee ſhall not charge the Perſon of one of them by Writ of Annuity, it ſeems that he ſhall not charge the other. If a Man makes a Leaſe of two Acres, rendring Rent for Years, and grants the Reverſion of the one Acre, it ſeems that the Rent ſhall be apportioned, for as the Contract is made in Reſpect of the Reverſion, ſo ſhall it be ſevered in Reſpect of the Reverſion. If a Man makes a Leaſe of two Acres, rendring Rent upon Condition, and if the Condition is broken, that he ſhall re-enter into one of the Acres, and he accordingly does ſo, it ſeems in Reaſon that the Rent ſhall be apportioned; and ſo if the Condition had been that he ſhould have a Fee in one of the Acres, which he accordingly has, the Rent ſhall be apportioned. And if a Manor, which is 10*l.* in Demeſn, and 10*l.* in Services, is leaſed, rendring 20*l.* Rent, there if the Tenants will not attorn, he ſhall but pay 10*l.* Rent, becauſe he has no Remedy to compel them to attorn; and it is not like to the Caſe where I leaſe two Acres, in the one of which I have nothing, rendring 2*s.* there the Rent is iſſuing out of the one only, becauſe I had no Title nor Intereſt in the other, whereas he had in the Services, and ſo he might confeſs and avoid the Leaſe. And if a Man leaſes Land and Sheep for 20 Years, rendring Rent, and the Sheep or Land are evicted, the Rent ſhall be apportioned; but if the Leaſe had been for Life, it had been otherwiſe, for there the Rent is a Freehold, which cannot iſſue out of a Thing perſonal, but in the other Caſe it is but a Contract, for which an Action of Debt lies, which Action is not grounded upon a Thing perſonal. But if I have a Leaſe for 20 Years, which I grant over with Stock of Chattles, rendring Rent, by Indenture, and if the Rent be behind, that I ſhall diſtrain, there if the Stock be recovered, the Rent ſhall not be apportioned, for before my Recovery the Remedy was by Diſtreſs and Avowry, and not by

[a] S. P. Co. Litt. 144. b.

[b] S P. Co. Litt. 144. b.

[c] See the contrary Plowd. 185. (i). Wentw. Off. of Exec. 32, 93. Godolph. Orph. Leg. 115, § 3. 199, § 7. Law of Teſtaments, &c. 358. 3 Danv. Abr. 387. pl. 4. Vin. Abr. tit. Executors M. a. pl. 5.

by Action of Debt, for then no Action of Debt lay, ergo no Apportionment for a Chattle deveſted. If the Seigniory deſcends to the Tenant and his Siſter, or if the Tenancy deſcends to the Seignioreſs and her Siſter, ſhe ſhall not have Relief, &c.

128. Land is given to A. and B. and to the Heirs of their Bodies, and afterwards they accept a Confirmation of the Leſſor or Donor in Fee, and make a Leaſe for Life to C. Remainder of the whole to A. B. dies without Iſſue, C. dies, and A. enters, and the collateral Heir of B. ouſts him of the Moiety, and A. brings Aſſize.

129. The Huſband makes a Feoffment of the Land of his Wife upon Condition, the Wife brings a Cui in vita, and is bar'd, afterwards the Condition is broken, and the Heir of the Huſband enters, and the Wife ouſts him, and afterwards the Heir brings Forger of falſe Deeds againſt the Feoffee for Forgery of a Releaſe of the Condition before the Condition broken.

130. If a Man is bound to A. in 20*l.* to pay 10*l.* to J. S. and he releaſes to J. S. 20*l.* which he owes him, it ſeems that this is no Performance of the Condition, for it ought to be a Payment in Fact. And therefore if one is bound to releaſe his Rent-charge which he has in the Manor of Dale, and he purchaſes an Acre of the Manor, now the whole Rent is extinct, but yet the Condition is not performed, for it ought to be a Releaſe in Deed. But if I am bound to infranchiſe my Villain, and I bring an Action againſt him, there I have performed the Condition, for this Word (infranchiſe) ſhall be refer'd to a Generality, viz. to all manner of Infranchiſements, as well as to Deeds of Manumiſſion. So if I am bound to diſcharge an Obligation in which I am bound to A. and I purchaſe the Manor to which A. is a Villain regardant, this is a Performance of the Condition, for the Word (diſcharge) is a general Word, and is refer'd to all manner of diſcharges. If I am enfeoffed upon Condition that I ſhall not alien to J. S. and I ſuffer a feint Recovery to him, or if I ceſs, ſo that he being my Lord recovers in a Ceſſavit, or if I acknowledge myſelf to be his Villain, by Reaſon whereof he enters, or if I make a Feoffment with Warranty, ſo that this Land is recovered by him in Value, I have not broken the Condition, for it extends only to an Alienation in Deed. Note, if I make a Gift in Tail, upon Condition that the Donee ſhall not ſuffer a feint Recovery unleſs it be to the Benefit of his Iſſues, and afterwards in a feint Writ he vouches, and a Recovery is had againſt him, and he recovers in Value, and has Execution, and that is to the juſt Value only, the Condition is not broken. And Note that a Recovery in Value againſt a Stranger is upon Releaſe, the Reaſon is, becauſe the Land recovered in Value is without Condition, and ſo to their Benefit; quære. But Note, if the Donor had been vouched, it ſeems clear that he ſhould not have entered, for when he is vouched, and made a Party to the Breach of the Condition, he ſhall not ſay that the Action is feint, and it ſeems that he cannot enter into the Warranty, ſaving the Condition which is not broken, for it is but a Poſſibility; but if he had an Action or Title of Entry, this ought to be and might be ſaved, 6 Ed. 3. 11. Fitz. Counterplea de Garranty 18.

131. A Feoffment is made to the Uſe of J. S. and afterwards to the Uſe of the Feoffor and his Heirs, the Feoffor dies, if his Iſſue be within Age, he ſhall be in Ward, for the Fee is not in him as a Remainder, but the Limitation of the Uſe to the Feoffor in Fee is merely void, becauſe the Law would have ſaid as much if nothing had been ſpoken of it by the Party; for if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, Remainder to himſelf in Fee, this is in him as a Reverſion, ſo in the other Caſe. But if a Feoffment is made upon Condition to enfeoff J. S. who refuſes, &c. the Feoffor may enter, becauſe there is no Intent that the Feoffee ſhould ever have the Fee to his own Uſe: But if the Condition was, to make a Gift in Tail to J. S. who refuſes, &c. now the Feoffee ſhall have the Land to himſelf in Fee, becauſe the Intent of the Feoffor was ſuch, for inaſmuch as the Feoffee was to make a Gift in Tail, and to execute Livery, this was a ſufficient Cauſe for the Law to intend that he ſhould have the Fee in Recompence for his Labour, but in the other Caſe he is put to no ſuch Trouble, and ſo there is no Conſideration for which it may be intended that he ſhould have the Fee to his own Uſe after the Tail determined, but that it ſhould be to the Uſe of the Feoffor only. But if the Feoffment had been to the Uſe of the Feoffor for Life, then it ſeems that the Feoffee ſhould have had the Fee-ſimple to his own Uſe, for when the Feoffor has reſerved and created a Uſe to himſelf during his Life, the Law ſays that he ſhall not have more than he has reſerved, nor for a longer Time than he has appointed it, ſo that by his own Words he has excluded himſelf of that which the Law would have given him, if he had appointed a particular Eſtate in the Uſe to another, without ſaying any Thing of the Fee. * As if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, reſerving Rent, and does not ſay to whom, nor how long it ſhall continue, he ſhall have it to him and to his Heirs during the Eſtate for Life, † but if he had reſerved it to himſelf during his Life, he ſhould not have had it longer. Others are of a contrary Opinion in the principal Caſe, viz. that he ſhall not have it as a Remainder; for if a Man makes a Feoffment without Conſideration, it is clear that the Feoffor ſhall have the Uſe in Fee, but if he appoints any Uſe, there ſhall be no other Uſe made by the Law but only that which is appointed. For if a Man makes a Feoffment to the Uſe of J. S. for Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of the Feoffor in Tail, it is clear that this Tail is good, ergo he had no Fee in the Uſe before, for if ſo, then he could not give himſelf a leſſer Eſtate. Vide 26 H. 8. 5. And in the Caſe of Bucknam, 28 H. 8. Dyer 10, the Feoffees to the Uſe of Bucknam in Fee at his Requeſt made a Feoffment over to the Uſe of Bucknam and his Wife, and the Heirs of Bucknam, who died, and it was adjudged that his Heir ſhould be in Ward, for there was a Reverſion of the Uſe in Bucknam, and not a Remainder, for it was the ſame Uſe which was in eſſe before, and Bucknam ſhould have had the Uſe if nothing had been ſpoken of it, becauſe the ſecond Feoffees had Notice of the Uſe; but in the firſt Caſe there is no Reverſion of the Uſe, for a Reverſion is a remnant of an Eſtate which was in eſſe before the Creation of the particular Eſtate, but there the Uſe in Fee was not in eſſe before the particular Uſe was made. Note that in Mitford's Caſe Anno 31 Eliz. B. R. it was ruled to be a Reverſion and not a Remainder, upon the Argument of Popham.

* S. P. Ante § 39.

† S. P. Ante § 39.

132. If Land is given to Huſband and Wife, and to the Heirs of the Body of the Huſband, Remainder to the Huſband and Wife in ſpecial Tail, and the Huſband dies without Iſſue, and the Wife keeps herſelf in, it ſeems that ſhe ſhall be puniſhed for Waſt, for the Remainder in ſpecial Tail is void, becauſe it was not poſſible for any Iſſue to be begotten which could inherit the ſpecial Tail, for as long as the Huſband had Iſſue, it ſhould inherit by Force of the general Tail, and if the Huſband died without Iſſue, then the ſpecial Tail could not take Effect, becauſe the Iſſue inheritable to the ſecond Tail muſt be begotten by the Huſband, ſo that the greater Eſtate-tail, viz. the general Tail, has clearly fruſtrated the ſpecial Tail. As if a Man makes a Leaſe for the Life of the Leſſee, Remainder to the Leſſee for the Life of J. S. the Remainder is void. So if a Leaſe is made for Life, rendering Rent, and the Reverſion is granted to the ſame Leſſee for his Life, it ſeems that the Grant is void, and he ſhall pay the Rent; but if the Grant of the Reverſion had been to another for the Life of the Leſſee, it ſeems that it would have been good, for he ſhould have had the Rent, and ſhould have taken a Surrender without Livery. If Tenant for Years purchaſes the Eſtate of the Grantee for Life, the Chattle is merged, but if Tenant for Life purchaſes the Eſtate of the Grantee for Years, the Chattle remains, and the Tenant for Life ſhall be diſcharged of the Rent reſerved upon the Leaſe for Life during the Years.

133. Land is given in Tail to the Heirs Males of the Body of the Donee, upon Condition that if he dies without Heirs Females of his Body, then the Donor ſhall enter, it ſeems that this is a void Condition, becauſe he cannot have an Heir Female whilſt he has an Iſſue Male, for during that Time ſhe ſhall not be called Heir. [a] For if J. S. has Iſſue a Son and a Daughter, and dies, and Land is given to one for Life, Remainder to the right Heirs Females of the Body of J. S. begotten, this is a void Remainder, becauſe there is no ſuch Perſon. [b] But if Land is given to a Man and to his Heirs Females of his Body, &c. and he has Iſſue a Male and Female, there the Female ſhall inherit, for the Diverſity appears. So in the principal Caſe the Condition is void, but if the Condition had been that if he died without Iſſue Female, then, &c. it had been otherwiſe. [c] If Land is given to a Man and to his Heirs Males of his Body, Remainder to his Heirs Females of his Body, the Daughter of his Son ſhall not have the Land, as it ſeems. [d] So if Land is given to a Man, habendum to him and to the Heirs Males of his Body, and to him and his Heirs Females of his Body, he ſhall have it as a Remainder, quære tamen, and the Daughter of the Son ſhall inherit, for, in the laſt Caſe but one, Littleton [e] ſays that the Warranty of the Father ſhall be lineal to the Daughter; and if both had been in ſpecial Tail, and his Wife had died, he having Iſſue a Female only, the ſecond Eſtate-tail ſhould be executed, and he not Tenant after Poſſibility. If Land is given to a Man and to his Heirs Males of his Body, and to his Heirs Females of his Body, it ſeems that if he has Iſſue a Male and a Female, they ſhall take by Moieties ſeverally by Deſcent. So if a Woman has three Sons by ſeveral Huſbands, and Land is given to her and to her Heirs of the Bodies of the firſt and ſecond Huſband begotten, the two Sons ſhall take ſeverally by Moieties, as it ſeems, and yet there was but one Eſtate in the Wife. If a Man gives Land in Frank-marriage with his Daughter, and alſo with another Woman who is his Couſin, to one Man, they ſhall take by Moieties, viz. they ſhall all be Jointenants, and the Man and his Wife ſhall have an Eſtate-tail in the one Moiety, and the Man and his other Wife ſhall have an Eſtate-tail in the other Moiety.

[a] Co. Litt. 24. b.

[b] Litt. § 22.

[c] Co. Litt. 377. a.

[d] Co. Litt. 377. a.

[e] Litt. § 719.

134. [f] If a Man grants to another 20*s.* or a Robe yearly at the Feaſt of Eaſter, there at the Day or before the Day it ſhall be in the Election of the * Grantor to pay which of them he will, becauſe the Thing has Continuance, and if an Obligation be made for the ſame, the Obligor ſhall have Election after the Day. [g] But if a Man grants to another out of his Wood 20 Loads of Wood or 20 Oaks yearly at the Feaſt of Chriſtmas, there after the Day and alſo at the Day it ſeems to be at the Election of the Grantee to take the one or the other, notwithſtanding it is a Thing of Continuance, becauſe it lies in prendre, in which Caſe the Grantor has nothing to do: So that there is a Diverſity between a Thing which conſiſts in Payment and in prendre. 13 Ed. 4. 4. b. [h] If a Leaſe is made for Life, reſerving a Rent or a Robe, at the Day it ſhall be in the Election of the Leſſee to pay which he will, and after the Day it ſhall be in the Election of the Leſſor to have which he will.

[f] M. 9 Ed. 4. 36. b. 37. a. Fitz. Dette 89. Bro. 113. M. 13 Ed. 4. 4. b. Bro. Dette 160. 3 Ed. 3. Fitz. Aſſize 175. Plowd. 13 (f). Co. Litt. 145. a. 2 Co. 37. a. Moor 85. Touch. of Preced. 21.

* In the Original it is (the Grantee) but by the Words (to pay) which immediately follow, and by the ſubſequent Matter, that appears plainly to be an Error of the Preſs.

[g] S. P. Co. Litt. 145. a. 2 Co. 37. a.

[h] S. P. Co. Litt. 145. a. 2 Co. 37. a.

135. Land is given to Huſband and Wife, and to the Heirs of the Huſband, he makes a Feoffment with Warranty, and dies, the Wife brings a Cui in vita, and the Feoffee vouches, and recovers in Value by Reaſon of the ſaid Warranty, it ſeems that after the Death of the Wife he ſhall vouch again by Reaſon of the Warranty aforeſaid. So if the Wife brings a Writ of Dower, and the Feoffee vouches by Reaſon of the Warranty, after the Death of the Wife he ſhall vouch again by Reaſon of the Warranty, becauſe the Voucher and Recovery in Value was only in Reſpect of the Freehold; but if he had once recovered in Value a Fee-ſimple, he ſhould never vouch by Reaſon of the firſt Warranty, for he has the Effect of it, and alſo the Warranty is gone with the Eſtate. But if a Tenant in Frank-marriage recovers in Value, he ſhall vouch again, as it ſeems, otherwiſe it is of Tenant for Life. Tenant in Tail to the Heirs Females, Remainder to him in Fee, makes a Feoffment with Warranty, and dies, the Heir Female recovers, and the Feoffee recovers over in Value, he ſhall vouch again after the Tail is expired, by Reaſon of the firſt Warranty.

136. If there be Tenant for Life of three Acres, and the Reverſion of them is granted, and the Tenant for Life ſurrenders one Acre to the Grantee, he ſhall be ſeized of this Acre in Fee, and this ſhall countervail an Attornment in this Acre, and in no more, becauſe it is but an Attornment in Law: But if he had attorned for the one Acre by Parol, this had been an Attornment for the whole, for if he had attorned to one Grantee, this had been an Attornment to both, as if the Lord takes Cogniſance of one Feoffee, thereby he takes Cogniſance of all. And if there is Lord and Tenant, and the Lord grants his Seigniory, and the Tenant enfeoffs the Grantee of one Acre, the Seigniory is extinct as to this. And it ſeems that if a Man brings a Quid juris clamat, to have Attornment of three Acres, and pending the Writ he enters into one of the Acres, he has not abated his Writ for the Reſidue.

137. The Diſſeizee dies, leaving a Son and a Daughter by one Venter, and a Son by another Venter, the Son enters upon the Heir of the Diſſeizor who is in by Deſcent, and dies without Iſſue, and the Daughter enters, it ſeems clearly that ſhe is not remitted, becauſe ſhe is not Heir to the Father, and here the Poſſeſſion of the Brother was no ſuch Poſſeſſion as made the Siſter to be Heir, becauſe it was by Wrong, for which Reaſon it ſeems that the youngeſt Son ſhall have an Action againſt her. If a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, and dies, and the eldeſt Son grants the Reverſion in Tail, and dies without Iſſue, and the Grantee dies without Iſſue, it ſeems that the Siſter ſhall have the Reverſion, and not the youngeſt Son, for the Reverſion in Fee is now expectant upon the laſt Eſtate, and the Heir of the Brother ſhall have it, becauſe he made the laſt Eſtate. And if a Man has Iſſue a Son and a Daughter by one Venter, and a Son by another Venter, and dies ſeized, and the eldeſt enters, and makes a Leaſe for Life, and the Wife of the Father recovers Dower againſt the Leſſee, and the Son dies, the Daughter ſhall have the Reverſion, and not the youngeſt Son, cauſa qua ſupra: But if the Tenant for Life dies after the Death of the Son, and during the Life of the Tenant in Dower, then quære who ſhall have the Reverſion, the Son or the Daughter? And if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, and has Iſſue a Son and a Daughter by one Venter, and a Son by another Venter, and dies, and the Son diſſeizes the Tenant for Life, and dies, and afterwards the Tenant for Life dies, the youngeſt Son ſhall have the Land from the Daughter, which Caſe is put in the Book of Aſſizes, and the principal Caſe there is, if the eldeſt Son endows his Mother, and dies, ſhall the youngeſt Son, or the collateral Heir of the eldeſt, have the Land after the Death of the Tenant in Dower? And it ſeems that if the Tenant holds of the Meſne by 10*s.* who holds over by 5*s.* and the Lord grants his Seigniory to the Tenant in Fee upon Condition, and afterwards the Meſne dies, leaving a Son and a Daughter by one Venter, and a Son by another Venter, and the Son is ſeized of the Surpluſage, and dies without Iſſue, and the Siſter has it, and afterwards the Lord has his Seigniory again by Reaſon of the Condition broken, in this Caſe the Siſter ſhall hold the 5*s.* and the youngeſt Son ſhall have the entire Seigniory, and the Reſidue of the Rent. Quære bene inde.

138. J. S. dies, leaving Iſſue two Daughters, and the one is attainted of Felony, and a Leaſe is made for Life, Remainder to the right Heirs of J. S. it ſeems that the other Daughter ſhall take nothing in the Remainder, becauſe ſhe who is attainted is alive. For if J. S. has a Son, and dies, and the Son is attainted of Felony, and a Leaſe is made for Life, Remainder to the right Heirs of J. S. this Remainder is clearly void, and the Fee continues in the Perſon of the Leſſor, for he has appointed the Remainder to one who is not in rerum natura; and then for the ſame Reaſon that the Remainder is void in this Caſe, it is alſo void in the firſt, for one of the Daughters alone is not Heir, and the Remainder cannot be divided into Moieties, for the other Daughter ſhall either take the whole Remainder or no Part of it, and the Daughter who is attainted cannot be called the Moiety of the Heir, for which Reaſon the other Daughter ſhall take nothing. And therefore if a Man makes a Gift in Tail, rendring to him during his Life 20*s.* Rent, and after his Death, if his Heir be of full Age, 40*s.* to him and to his Heirs, now if he dies, leaving Iſſue two Daughters, the one within Age, the other of full Age, the Donee ſhall hold only by Fealty, for inaſmuch as both the one and the other is his Heir, and the one is not of Age, ergo his Heir is not of Age, and therefore ſeeing that the Condition is not performed, the Donee ſhall hold by Fealty only, for if he had ſaid nothing of any Tenure after his Death, the Donee ſhould have held by Fealty only, and then when he reſerves the 40*s.* upon Condition to be afterwards performed, which is never performed, it is the ſame as if he had never ſpoken of any Reſervation, in which Caſe the Donee ſhould have held by Fealty, and ſo ſhall he now: But if one of the Daughters had been born out of the King's Allegiance, then the other ſhould have taken the whole Remainder, for ſhe who was born out of the King's Allegiance was never Heir. And when the one is attainted, and afterwards the Father dies, the Moiety of the Land, which deſcends, eſcheats, and the other Daughter ſhall have the other Moiety by Deſcent clearly, and this by the Act and Appointment of the Law in Favour of the Deſcent. But when a Man has appointed a Capacity to take, and that Capacity cannot take according to his Appointment, then the Thing appointed does not paſs as a Remainder to the right Heirs Females of J. S. who is dead, leaving a Son and a Daughter, but it is a void Remainder, for ſhe is not Heir. So note an apparent Diverſity.

139. Lord, Meſne, and Tenant, each holds by Fealty and 12*d.* the Meſne is outlawed for Felony, the Lord confirms the Eſtate of the Tenant to hold by 1*d.* the Heir of the Meſne reverſes the Outlawry by Error, and diſtrains and avows for 12*d.* in this Caſe there ſeems to be a Diverſity, viz. if the Tenant dies without Heir, the Law caſts the Poſſeſſion of the Tenancy upon the Lord, ſo that he has the Poſſeſſion in Law before any Entry; but if the Tenant is attainted of Felony, he ſhall not have the Poſſeſſion in Deed or in Law before Entry, for if the Tenant continues 20 Years in Poſſeſſion after the Attainder, he ſhall be called Tenant; then here the Law did not caſt the Poſſeſſion of the Meſnalty upon the Lord. Further, * it ſeems clearly that if there be Lord, Meſne, and Tenant by Service ut ſupra, and the Lord confirms the Eſtate of the Tenant to hold by 1*d.* this Confirmation is clearly void, becauſe there ought to be Privity, which ſhall be an immediate Tenure where the Confirmation enures to abridge the the Tenure, as if Tenant for Life makes a Leaſe for Years, and he who has the Fee confirms the Eſtate of the Leſſee in Fee, this Confirmation is void, as to enlarging his Eſtate, for Want of Privity. So if Tenant in Tail leaſes for his own Life, and the Donor confirms the Land to the Leſſee in Fee, this is no Enlargement of his Eſtate. So ſhall it alſo be if in theſe Caſes a [a] Releaſe in Fee be made to the Leſſees, or if in the other Caſe the Lord paramount releaſes to the Tenant to hold by 1 d. [b] for where a Releaſe or Confirmation enlarges the Eſtate or abridges the Tenure, there ought to be Privity. Then in the principal Caſe the Confirmation ſhall enure to prove his Agreement to the Eſcheat, or otherwiſe it would be void, which the Law will not ſuffer it to be, and it ſhall enure only upon the Abridgment of the Meſnalty, and not of the Seigniory, for the Meſnalty only was in Poſſeſſion, becauſe it had merged the Seigniory for the Time. But if the Meſne had granted the Meſnalty to the Lord pur auter vie, and afterwards the Lord had made the Confirmation ut ſupra, and then the Ceſtuy que vie had died, there it ſeems that the Meſnalty ſhould have been but 1 d. for the Fee-ſimple of the Seigniory was not in Suſpence, becauſe he had but an Eſtate for Life in the Meſnalty, and therefore the Confirmation goes as well to the Seigniory as to the Meſnalty. But in the principal Caſe he had a Fee in the Meſnalty, as if he had accepted an Eſtate in Fee of it upon Condition, or had diſſeized the Meſne, in which Caſe he could not grant over the Seigniory, and conſequently the Confirmation ſhall not enure to the Seigniory, but only to the Meſnalty. And therefore if the Meſne had died without Heir, his Wife being priviment enſeint, and the Lord had made the Confirmation ut ſupra, and afterwards the Iſſue had been born, the Confirmation ſhould have been fruſtrated, ſo here. But if the Lord had releaſed all his Right in the Tenancy, this would have gone as well to the Seigniory in Suſpence as to the Meſnalty. As if the Tenancy is given to the Lord and to another, and the Heir of the other and the Lord releaſe all their Right in the Land to another, this goes to the Land and alſo to the Seigniory. But if the Meſne had granted his Meſnalty to the Tenant upon Condition, and afterwards the Lord had made the Confirmation ut ſupra, it ſeems clearly that this ſhould have gone to the Meſnalty, becauſe there the Seigniory was in eſſe. And if the Meſnalty is recovered by erroneous Judgment, and afterwards the Lord releaſes to the Tenant, quære if he ſhall have Error?

* S. P. accord Co. Litt. 305. b.

[a] See accordingly as to a Releaſe to Leſſee for Years of Leſſee for Life, Litt. § 517.

[b] S. P. Co. Litt. 296. a. 305. b.

140. [c] If the Tenant vouches, and at the ſequatur ſub ſuo periculo the Tenant and the Vouchee make Default, whereby the Demandant has Judgment to recover againſt the Tenant, and afterwards he brings a Scire facias againſt the Tenant to execute the Judgment, if the Tenant ſhall have a Warrantia Chartæ againſt the Vouchee is the Queſtion. [d] But if a Stranger brings a Præcipe quod reddat againſt the Tenant, it ſeems that he ſhall vouch again, for by the firſt Voucher, and by the Judgment given againſt the Tenant, the Warranty was not annulled, nor the Poſſeſſion of the Tenant. [e] But if the Tenant has Judgment to recover in Value againſt the Vouchee, he ſhall never vouch again by Reaſon of that Warranty, for the Warranty has loſt its Force inaſmuch as he has Judgment to have in Value by Reaſon of it, and if he ſhould recover in Value again, he would have two Recompences by Reaſon of one Warranty. It was held clearly that if the Tenant has Judgment againſt the Vouchee, he ſhall have in Value no Land but that which the Vouchee had at the Time of the [f] Judgment given againſt him. And Note, [g] upon a Summoneas ad warrantizandum if the Sheriff returns the Vouchee warned, and he makes Default, the Tenant ſhall have a Capias ad valentiam, and ſhall recover in Value, but if he returns that he has nothing, then after the Sicut alias and Pluries a Sequatur ſub ſuo periculo ſhall iſſue, and there if the Vouchee makes Default, the Tenant ſhall not have Judgment to recover in Value, for the Warranty is not confeſſed, and it is aſcertained that he has nothing, but in the Capias ad valentiam it appears that he has Aſſets.

[c] See this Point reſolved Co. Litt. 102. a. 303. a. that the Tenant ſhall have a Warrantia chartæ.

[d] S. P. Co. Litt. 102. a. 393. a.

[e] S. P. Co. Litt. 102. a. 393. a.

[f] But ſee that the Recovery in Value ſhall be of the Lands which the Vouchee has at the Time of the Voucher, F. N. B. 134. k. 1 Finch 249, 288.

141. A Rent-charge is granted out of Land to A. in Tail, to the Uſe of J. S. and his Heirs, the Rent is behind, the Donee dies without Iſſue, and J. S. brings Debt for the Arrears.

[g] S. P. Co. Litt. 101. b. 393. a.

142. If two Acres deſcend to J. S. and a Stranger abates into the one, and J. S. enters into the other in the Name of both, it ſeems that this ſhall not gain the Poſſeſſion of the Acre in which the Abatement was made, but if he had entered into the Acre in which the Abatement was made in the Name of both, it ſeems that this ſhould have gained the Poſſeſſion of both. If an Infant makes Livery by View, it ſeems that he ſhall not have an Aſſize if the Feoffee enters, for it is more than a Livery in Law.

143. If a Record of the Common Bench is pleaded in any other of the King's Courts, and it is neceſſary to be ſhewn, it ought to be exemplified under the Great Seal of England, and the Seal of the Court is not ſufficient; but if it be pleaded in the ſame Court, viz. in the Common Bench, there if the Exemplification under the Seal of the ſame Court be ſhewn, it is ſufficient, for in the one Caſe there is the Clauſe Teſte meipſo, and in the other Teſte the Chief Juſtice. 28 Aſſ. pl. 14. 6 Eliz. Dyer 228.

144. If a Man has a Mill or a Houſe, which falls down, and he builds it up again, and a Nuſance is raiſed before the Re-building of it, it ſeems clearly that he ſhall not have an Aſſize of Nuſance, nor can he abate it, becauſe it was not done to the Nuſance of his Freehold, for his Freehold was not then in eſſe, but the Nuſance is elder than the Freehold. It ſeems to be all one if the Nuſance had been raiſed in the Time of the firſt Houſe.

145. If a Man makes a Leaſe for Years, having ouſted the Termor for Years, and the firſt Termor releaſes to the ſecond Termor, it ſeems clearly that the firſt Leſſor may enter, and have the Land againſt the Termors preſently, for by the Releaſe the Right of the firſt Termor is merged and extinct, as much as if a Rent-charge be releaſed to the Diſſeizor, and the Releaſe ſhall not fortify and make good the Eſtate of the ſecond Termor for the Time of the firſt Term, for if the firſt Leaſe was for 20 Years, and the ſecond but for 1 Year, yet by the Releaſe of the firſt Leſſee to the ſecond Leſſee the whole firſt Term ſhould be determined and extinct.

But if the firſt Leſſee had been Tenant for Life, and being diſſeized had releaſed to the Diſſeizor, now during his Life the Leſſor could not have entered, but otherwiſe where he is Tenant for Years, for in the one Caſe the Diſſeizor had the Freehold in him, which might well be made firm, but in the other Caſe he had no Term for Years in him.

146. If a Man makes a Feoffment of a Manor, ſaving to him an Acre for 20 Years, it ſeems that the Feoffor has a Fee in it, and nothing of it paſſes, for it cannot paſs by Livery, nor can it paſs to the Leſſor himſelf or be ſaved by him for a certain Time, for then he would have a Leaſe for Years without a Leſſor, which cannot be.

147. If a Man is enfeoffed of 20 Acres, viz. of one of them to the Uſe of J. S. and it is not certainly ſhewn which Acre that ſhall be, it ſeems that J. S. ſhall take no Advantage of this Feoffment, becauſe the Poſſeſſion cannot be executed, for it is not certain which Acre ſhall paſs to J. S. and J. S. ſhall not have Election becauſe he was not Privy.

148. If the Diſſeizor makes a Leaſe for Life, and dies, it ſeems that the Lord is compellible to avow upon the Heir of the Diſſeizor, but if the Diſſeizor makes a Gift in Tail, and the Donee dies, and his Iſſue enters, the Lord is not compellible to avow upon the Donor, viz. the Diſſeizor.

149. Notwithſtanding the Huſband cannot give any Thing to his Wife immediately, yet if a Diſſeizoreſs makes a Leaſe for Life, Remainder to herſelf in Tail, Remainder to J. S. in Fee, and afterwards intermarries with the Diſſeizee, who releaſes to the Tenant for Life, it ſhall enure to the Wife.

150. If Land is given to one for Life to the Uſe of J. S. and his Heirs, J. S. has a Fee determinable upon the Eſtate for Life, for at the Common Law if Land had been given to one for Years or for Life to the Uſe of J. S. in Fee, there is no Queſtion but that the Heirs of J. S. ſhould have had it for the Life of the Tenant for Life or during the Years, and it was not like to any other ſuch Eſtate by the Common Law. Then here the Law does not alter the Eſtate, and if Tenant in Fee-Simple recovers in Value an Eſtate for Life, it is clear that this ſhall deſcend to his Heir. So an Inheritance ſhall be determinable upon an Eſtate for Life. But there Note, it does not appear that the Eſtate is recovered until the Death of the Tenant for Life.

151. If an Infant Diſſeizor makes a Feoffment, and the Feoffee dies ſeized, and his Heir enters, to whom the Diſſeizee releaſes, yet the Infant ſhall have a Dum fuit infra ætatem, &c. and ſhall recover, becauſe he demands the Poſſeſſion, to which he has more Right than the Diſſeizee, and the Tenant ought to anſwer to the Demiſe, not to the Right. As if the Heir of the Diſſeizor who is in by Deſcent brings an Aſſize againſt his Diſſeizor, it is no Plea for him to plead the Releaſe of the Diſſeizee, for he demands the Poſſeſſion, to which he had more Right than the Diſſeizee. So if the Diſſeizor recovers in Aſſize by erroneous Judgment againſt his Diſſeizor, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to him who has recovered, and afterwards the other brings Error, it is no Plea for him to plead the Releaſe, for the Intent of the Suit is to correct the Errors in the Record. And therefore if a Meſnalty equal to the Seigniory is recovered by erroneous Judgment, and afterwards the Tenant enfeoffs the Lord paramount, yet a Writ of Error lies. But if Tenant par auter vie brings a Writ of Error upon a Recovery againſt him in an Action real, it ſeems to be a good Plea to plead the Death of Ceſtuy que vie, becauſe there is no Poſſibility for his ancient Eſtate to be revived, but in the other Caſe the Feoffment may be defeaſible, and ſo the ancient Eſtate may be revived, and ſo is the Diverſity. And if a Diſſeizor makes a Leaſe for Life, and the Leſſee makes a Feoffment, and the Feoffee gets the Releaſe of the Diſſeizee, and the Diſſeizor brings a Writ in conſimili caſu, he ſhall recover, as it ſeems, but if the Heir of the Feoffee in by Deſcent gets the Releaſe, it is clear that the Diſſeizor may have the Action, and in both Caſes it ſeems that the Tenant ought to anſwer to the Demiſe, and not to the Right of the Land. And where in the Caſes above the Poſſeſſion is taken from him to whom the Right was releaſed, it ſeems that he ſhall not maintain a Writ of Right, becauſe the Poſſeſſion is removed. As if the Diſſeizor enters upon his Feoffee for Condition broken, the Feoffee ſhall not have a Writ of Right, altho' he had the Right of the Diſſeizee releaſed to him before the Condition broken. So if the Diſſeizee enters upon the Heir who is in by Deſcent, and makes a Feoffment, or releaſes to the Diſſeizor of ſuch Heir, and the Heir enters again, or if one who has Title brings a Formedon in Remainder againſt an Abator, and recovers by Default, and afterwards makes a Feoffment and after that the Abator reverſes the Judgment by Writ of Diſceit, and enters, as the Caſe is in 9 H. 7. 25. in all theſe Caſes and the others he to whom the Releaſe was made or the Right given ſhall not have a Writ of Right, but it ſhall go in Advantage of him who removes the Poſſeſſion, for inaſmuch as the one had a Right in Poſſeſſion, and has recontinued it, this ſhall draw the very Right to him, and the Right by itſelf ſhall not be left in the other, but the very Right of the Land ſhall enſue the Right of the Poſſeſſion, and ſo ſhall run in Advantage of the Tenant. Note, in all the foregoing Caſes the Right came after the Poſſeſſion, but if the Right was before the Poſſeſſion, and then the Poſſeſſion is removed, the Right ſhall remain in the Perſon to whom it was given, and he ſhall have a Writ of Right. As if the Heir of the Diſſeizor who is in by Deſcent makes a Feoffment, and divers Feoffments are made, and afterwards the Land comes again to the Heir, and the * Diſſeizee enters upon him, and he ouſts him, now if the Diſſeizee brings a Writ of Right of his firſt Poſſeſſion, he ſhall be greatly delayed by the vouching of the Feoffees, but he may have a Writ of Right of the laſt Poſſeſſion which he had by Diſſeizin, and ouſt all the Vouchers, and altho' the Poſſeſſion was removed, yet this is not material, for, as Littleton ſays, the Effect of the Writ is the mere right. So he in Remainder, as Littleton ſays, ſhall have a Writ of Right, cauſa qua ſupra. So Note where the Right is in one before the Poſſeſſion which is removeable. It was ſaid that if Land is given to A. for Life, Remainder to B. for Life, Remainder to the right Heirs of A. and A. dies, and B. enters, and dies, and a Stranger abates, the Heir of A. ſhall have a Writ of Right of the Poſſeſſion of A. And if Land is given to C. and D. and to the Heirs of C. who dies, and a Recovery is had againſt D. and he dies, the Heir of C. ſhall have a Writ of Right of the whole Land, quære. And if Land is given in Tail, Remainder in Fee to A. and the Donee dies without Iſſue, his Wife being privement enſeint, and he in Remainder enters, and the Iſſue, when born, ouſts him, and dies without Iſſue, he in Remainder ſhall have a Writ of Right. If the Tenant enfeoffs the Lord upon Condition, and enters for the Breach thereof, the Seigniory is revived, but if the Lord grants his Seigniory in Fee upon Condition to one who has the Tenancy, and afterwards the Feoffor enters for the Condition broken before or after, there the Seigniory is gone in both Caſes, which proves the aforeſaid Diverſities. The Huſband diſcontinues in Fee, and takes back an Eſtate to himſelf and his Wife for their Lives, and the Huſband makes a Feoffment in Fee to another, and dies, and the Wife releaſes to the ſecond Feoffee, yet the firſt Feoffee may enter upon him for the Forfeiture, and he has no Remedy, cauſa qua ſupra, this is to be intended before the Statute of 32 H. 8. But if the Wife had not releaſed, but the firſt Feoffee had entered upon the ſecond Feoffee for the Forfeiture, it ſeems that after the Death of the Huſband the Wife might have entered upon him, becauſe ſhe might claim by the Leaſe, and then the Entry for the Forfeiture has avoided the Diſcontinuance, and ſo ſhe might enter in Reſpect of the Leaſe made by the firſt Diſcontinuee. If Tenant for Life is diſſeized, and the Diſſeizor is diſſeized, and the Leſſor releaſes to the ſecond Diſſeizor, and the firſt Diſſeizor ouſts him, he has no Remedy by Writ of Right or otherwiſe, quod nota.

* In the Original it is (Diſſeizor) but that muſt be an Error of the Preſs.

152. If the Parſon and Ordinary grant a Rent-Charge out of the Glebe to the Patron, it ſeems that the Succeſſor ſhall avoid it, for there ought to be an expreſs Aſſent of the Patron and of the Ordinary alſo, where the Succeſſor ſhall be bound, and here it is not expreſſed, but implied only. But if it was agreed that the Patron ſhould have ſuch Rent, they ought all to grant it to J. S. who ſhould re-grant it to the Patron. And in the principal Caſe if the Patron grants it over, this is no full Aſſent, but the Succeſſor may well avoid it.

153. It ſeems that a collateral Warranty is no Bar of Execution of a Recovery in Value, for that is but a Title, to which a Warranty does not extend, any more than it does to bar a Title of Entry for Condition broken, Mortmain, Conſent to a Raviſher, &c. to which it is clear that it does not extend, for this is no Action to demand ſuch Lands, and foraſmuch as the Action is not uſeable, he cannot vouch nor rebut before the firſt Removal of the Poſſeſſion, and conſequently never. Alſo Conditions and ſuch like Titles are always in Poſſeſſion as Rent is, and then a Warranty to the Tenant of the Land does not extinguiſh them.

154. There are two Brothers of the half Blood, the eldeſt releaſes with Warranty to the Diſſeizor of the Uncle, and dies without Iſſue, the Diſſeizor grants a Rent to the Uncle out of an Acre, and if it be behind, that he ſhall diſtrain in that Acre and in the Manor of Dale, the Uncle dies without Iſſue, the youngeſt enters into the Acre, and diſtrains and avows in the Manor of Dale.

155. [a] If a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, rendring Rent with Re-entry, and he has Title of Entry, and afterwards accepts the Rent, now he ſhall never enter, for when he accepts the Rent, he does not accept it as a Debt, for he cannot have an Action of Debt for it, but he accepts it as a Rent, and it cannot be a Rent but in Reſpect that it has Continuance, and then inaſmuch as the Acceptance cannot be called an Acceptance of the Arrears only, becauſe it was not a Debt nor could be called a Debt or Duty before the Leaſe was avoided, his Title of Entry ſhall be waived in a Manner, as much as if he had accepted the Rent due [b] at another Day of Payment which came after the Condition broken, or as if he had joined in Aid to the Leſſee being impleaded in a Præcipe quod reddat, in which Caſes ſuch Act of his ſhould be called an Admittance of the Leaſe and a Waiver of Entry. As if a [c] Woman, or Iſſue in Tail, or Infant accepts a Rent reſerved upon a Leaſe for Years by the Huſband and herſelf, or by the Tenant in Tail, or by himſelf during his Nonage, the Title of Entry is waived. But in the principal Caſe if the Leaſe be for Years, it ſhall be otherwiſe, for there during the Leaſe it ſhall be called a Rent as well as after, and ſo Note a good Diverſity.

156. If a Man for himſelf and his Heirs grants a Rent out of his Land to J. S. pro conſilio impendendo, and does not ſay to whom the Counſel ſhall be given, it ſhall be intended to the Grantor and to his Heirs, but if the Grant is, pro conſilio ſibi impendendo, it ſhall be given to no other but to the Grantor himſelf. But if Dean and Chapter make a Leaſe, rendring Rent to them, their Succeſſors ſhall have the Rent, altho' it be not reſerved to their Succeſſors, becauſe they never die, [d] for if a Leaſe is made to them for their Lives, they ſhall have a Fee.

157. [e] A. makes a Leaſe for 10 Years, and afterwards makes a Leaſe to another for 10 Years, to commence after the firſt Term determined, and the firſt Leſſee ſurrenders, it ſeems that the ſecond Leſſee may enter. Firſt, it ſeems clearly the Surrender to the Leſſor. Otherwiſe it had been if the Reverſion had been granted for 10 Years.

158. If Coparceners make Partition, ſo that the one has the Seigniory, and afterwards the Tenancy eſcheats, and ſhe is impleaded thereof, ſhe ſhall not have Aid of her Coparcener, for Aid ſhall never be granted but of Land deſcended, and if the one recovers by Warranty-anceſtrel, where the other would not come in Aid, ſhe ſhall not have Aid nor pro rata thereof, ſo it is here. Another Reaſon is, becauſe the Tenancy is of more Value than the Seigniory, and if the other ſhould render pro rata, ſhe would be greatly hurt thereby, and therefore if a Tenancy eſcheats to a Manor to which a Warranty is annexed, there ſhall be no Voucher for it. Another Reaſon in the firſt Caſe is, becauſe the Seigniory, whereof the Partition was made, is [a] S. P. 3 Co. 65. a. by the Reporter. And ſee Plowd. 133 (k) and (l) and the Books there cited.

[b] S. P. Co. Litt. 211. b. Cro. E. 3.

[c] So if ſhe takes a ſecond Huſband, who accepts the Rent reſerved by her and her firſt Huſband, it is ſaid that this affirms the Leaſe againſt her. Dy. 159. pl. 36. 1 Rol. Abr. 475. A. pl. 1.

[d] 1 Finch 128.

[e] S. P. adjudged Wrotesley v. Adams Plowd. 189. and ſee the Books there cited at the Head of the Caſe.

to be revived by the Suit, if the Tenancy is ſevered from it. 18. H. 3. Voucher 18, that if the Seigniory is granted with Warranty, and the Tenancy eſcheats, the Warranty does not extend to it, and this is there adjudged. See other Books contrary.

159. If a Woman is Tenant for Life, Remainder for Years to J. S. who marries with the Woman, and commits Waſt, ſhall he loſe his Land? If Tenant for Life makes a Leaſe for Years, and afterwards enters upon the Termor, and commits Waſt, and the Leſſor recovers, the Leſſee ſhall loſe his Term. So if he recovers in a Ceſſavit, the Termor ſhall loſe his Term. But if Tenant for Life makes a Leaſe for Years, and afterwards enters, and makes a Feoffment, or if after the Leaſe made he prays in Aid of a Stranger, in theſe Caſes the Leſſee ſhall not loſe his Term, becauſe theſe Matters in Deed do not defeat the Eſtate of the Leſſee which was older than the Forfeiture; but in the other Caſes altho' the Eſtate of the Termor is older, yet there enſues a Recovery againſt the Tenant to the Freehold, who is Tenant to the Demandant, and ſo the Eſtate is not material, with Regard to the Chattle. And in the two laſt Caſes he ſhall have the Reverſion by Claim, becauſe he cannot enter. But if the Reverſion is granted upon Condition, which is broken, there the Reverſion ſhall be adjudged in the Leſſor without Claim, becauſe the Grantee was privy to the Condition. As if a Condition is annexed to a Feoffment, that if the Feoffee does not ſuch an Act, then he ſhall only have an Eſtate for Life, there if he does not the Act, the Eſtate in Fee which was granted is preſently in the Leſſor without Claim, becauſe he was privy to the Condition. But the Lord ſhall not have a Reverſion granted to his Villain, or in Mortmain, or to his Mother who conſents to a Raviſher, without Claim, for there is no Privity. But in the Caſes above if Waſt is brought againſt the particular Tenant by the Lord or his Son, perhaps the bringing of this Action ſhall countervail a Claim. And Note, that he ought to come upon the Land and make Claim, and he ſhall not be puniſhed for ſo doing, any more than the [a] Leſſor ſhall be puniſhed who comes to ſee if Waſt be done, for this is a Condition annexed by the Law to all theſe Caſes, ſo that an Entry to make ſuch Claim ſhall not be called tortious in Law. If the Heir makes a Feoffment upon Condition, and afterwards his Mother recovers Dower, and after that the Condition is broken, quære if he ſhall have the Reverſion by any Way, for many are of Opinion that if a Woman recovers Dower againſt an Abator, the Heir ſhall not gain the Reverſion by Claim, and if Tenant for Years be ouſted, and the Diſſeizor dies ſeized, and the Termor enters, many ſay that the Diſſeizee ſhall not have the Fee by Claim.

[a] S. P. Plowd. Manxel's Caſe 13 (c). and ſee the Books there cited in the Margin.

160. A Woman makes a Leaſe for Life, and grants the Reverſion to two, the one dies, ſhe marries the other, the Tenant for Life pays 1 d. to the Bailiff of the Grantee in Name of Attornment, and dies, the Huſband enters, and makes a Feoffment, and dies, and ſhe brings a Cui in vita.

161. If the Patron grants the next Avoidance, and afterwards he and the Ordinary and Incumbent make a Leaſe of the Rectory for 20 Years, the Incumbent of the firſt Grantee ſhall avoid the Leaſe, but if he dies during the Leaſe, the Leſſee ſhall have the Reſidue of the Term againſt his Succeſſor. As if Land is given to Huſband and Wife, and to the Heirs of the Huſband, and he makes a Leaſe for Years, and dies, and the Wife ouſts the Leſſee, after the Death of the Wife he ſhall have as much of the Term as remains againſt the Heir of the Huſband, as the Caſe is in 5 Ed. 4. and the Reaſon is, becauſe the Leaſe once took Effect. [b] But if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, and afterwards makes a Leaſe to another for Years to commence preſently, there it is void both as to the Leſſor and as to the Leſſee, for it did not take Effect at the Beginning. If the Donor diſſeizes the Tenant in Tail, and makes a Leaſe for Years, and the Tenant in Tail dies without Iſſue, the Leſſee ſhall have the Reſidue of the Term againſt the Donor; but if the Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe for Years, and the Donor confirms it, and the Iſſue ouſts the Termor, and dies without Iſſue, the Donor ſhall ouſt the Termor, for in the one Caſe he derives his Eſtate from the Donor, in the other from the Donee, and ſo is the Diverſity.

[b] S. P. accord Ante § 122. But ſee the Authorities there cited in the Margin to the contrary.

162. If a Leaſe is made for Years, upon Condition that the Leſſee ſhall not grant over his Eſtate without the Aſſent of the Leſſor, and the Leſſor aſſents that he ſhall grant over his Eſtate upon Condition, which he accordingly does, and re-enters for the Condition broken, after this he may grant it over without his Aſſent, for the Condition was performed by the firſt Aſſent. See the Caſe of Aſſociation 32 H. 6. 10. a.

163. If the Leſſor recovers in Waſt againſt the Leſſee for Life, who comes to the Seigniory after the Title of the Writ, viz. after the Waſt done, it is clear that the Seigniory ſhall be revived, but otherwiſe if the Waſt was done after the Seigniory accrued.

164. Lord, Meſne, and Tenant, the Tenant makes a Gift in Tail, Remainder in Fee, the Remainder eſcheats, upon whom ſhall the Lord avow, and of whom ſhall the Donee hold, is the Queſtion. So if the Tenant makes a Gift in Tail to the Meſne, Remainder in Fee, or makes a Gift in Tail to a Stranger, Remainder in Fee to the Meſne, how the Tenure ſhall be now, is the Queſtion. But in the firſt Caſe if the Meſne had releaſed to him in Remainder, or to the Donee in Tail, it ſeems that the Lord ſhould have avowed upon the Donee in Tail, and that the Donee ſhould have held immediately of the Lord paramount after the Releaſe. Quære if there be any Difference as the Caſe above is.

165. Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe for 40 Years, and dies, the Iſſue in Tail takes a Wife, and dies, if ſhe ſhall avoid the Leaſe by Recovery of her Dower, is the Queſtion. If Tenant in Tail grants a Rent-charge in Fee, and makes a Leaſe for 40 Years, rendring Rent, and dies, and the Iſſue accepts the Rent, it ſeems clearly that the Grantee ſhall have the Rent during the Leaſe and the Life of the Iſſue, altho' the Leſſee ſurrenders: Quære inde, for the Reverſion is diſcharged. If Tenant in Tail grants a Rent in Fee, and dies, and the Iſſue having a Wife dies before Entry, and the Wife is endowed, it ſeems that ſhe ſhall hold it diſcharged. If the Father diſſeizes the Son, and grants a Rent-charge, and the Son endows his Wife in the ſame Land ex aſſenſu patris, and the Father dies, and the Son dies, and the Wife enters as Tenant in Dower, it ſeems that ſhe ſhall hold it charged, for ſhe does not claim from the Poſſeſſion in Law, as it ſeems, but from the Poſſeſſion charged. And if Tenant in Tail grants a Rent-charge, an Abator ſhall hold the Land charged. But if a Diſſeizor dies ſeized, and a Stranger abates, an Entry is not lawful upon him, for there the Point in Iſſue would be only the dying ſeized. And many are clearly of Opinion that the Rent is avoided in the Caſe of the Leaſe before, becauſe the Freehold is diſcharged; and now he ſhall not have an Aſſize of it, cauſa patet, nor can it deſcend, inaſmuch as it is not ſo of a Freehold. Note it is not charged, and conſequently it is extinct. As if the Father diſſeizes the Son, and grants a Rent in Fee, and makes a Leaſe for Years, and the Son confirms the Leaſe, and the Father dies, the Rent is gone. So if a Man grants a Rent in Fee, and makes a Leaſe for Years, and afterwards grants the Reverſion to the King or to the Grantee, the Rent is gone.

dies

166. Father and Son and a third Perſon are Jointenants, the Father makes a Feoffment of the whole with Warranty, and dies, the Son dies, ſome ſay that the third ſhall have an Aſſize of one Part, and no more, and yet the Warranty commenced by Diſſeizin, as to the Son, nevertheleſs the third, viz. the Survivor, cannot deny but that it is a collateral Warranty, for he does not come under the Eſtate of the other. For if a Leaſe be made for Years to the Grandfather, Remainder for Life to the Father, Remainder in Fee to the Son, the Grandfather makes a Feoffment with Warranty, this Warranty commences by Diſſeizin as to the Father, and is collateral as to the Son, for the Feoffment was not a Diſſeizin to the Son. And if a Leaſe is made for Years to the Father, Remainder for Life to the Son, Remainder over for Life, Remainder in Fee to the Son, the Father makes a Feoffment with Warranty, this Warranty commences by Diſſeizin as to the Son, for the Freehold, but for the Fee it is collateral: Quære bene inde. But ſome are of Opinion that in all the Caſes aforeſaid, and in all other Caſes, every Man may avoid a Warranty which commences by Diſſeizin to any Perſon, and this they prove by the Caſe of 31 Ed. 3. Fitz. Garranty 28. where in a Formedon in Reverter the Tenant pleaded the Warranty of the Uncle of the Demandant, to which he ſaid that his Uncle and the Tenant came together upon the Land, and the Uncle enfeoffed him, ſo the Warranty commenced by Diſſeizin to the Donee in Tail, and it was held a good Plea, wherefore the Tenant ſaid that the Uncle was ſole ſeized, quod nota.

167. If two are bound jointly, and one of them delivers the Deed at one Time, and the other delivers it at another Time, this is a good joint Obligation. As if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life of Land in two Counties, rendring Rent, altho' the Liveries of Seizin are ſeveral, as they muſt of Neceſſity be, yet it is one entire Rent, and he ſhall diſtrain in Part in one County for the whole, and ſhall make one Avowry for the whole; but he ſhall have ſeveral Aſſizes, and in each County he ſhall make his Plaint for the whole Rent; but it ſeems that upon a Reſcous in one County he ſhall have an Aſſize in the other County, quære inde. In the ſame Manner if a Man makes a Leaſe of two ſeveral Acres in one County, rendring Rent, and makes Livery in both ſeverally, yet it ſhall be one Rent, notwithſtanding the one Acre paſſed by Livery before the other. So in a Feoffment of a Manor, if Attornment is made, the Services paſs ab initio; and if a Leaſe is made for Life, Remainder to the King, and Livery is made, and afterwards the Deed is inrolled, now the Remainder paſſes to the King as a Remainder ab initio, and yet before Inrollment it did not paſs, which ſee 1 H. 7. 19. per Brian et Collow, and other Matter there upon the like Ground. And if a Man makes a Feoffment of the Manor of Dale, with an Advowſon appendant, by Deed, and makes a Letter of Attorney to make Livery, it ſeems by the Intent that if Livery is not made, the Advowſon appendant ſhall not paſs as in Groſs by the Delivery of the Deed. So if one gives by Deed to A. the Manor of Dale, with all the Wood growing upon it, in Fee, and in the Deed there is a Letter of Attorney, if Livery is not made to A. then his Executors ſhall have the Wood, but if Livery is made, it ſhall deſcend with the Land. And if one makes a Feoffment of a Manor, and Livery is firſt made, and afterwards Attornment in the Manor, * but if it is by Deed, and Attornment is firſt made, and afterwards Livery, the Attornment ſeems to be void, or at leaſt it ſhall never be a Manor, for the Demeſnes are the Principal.

* Here ſeem to be wanting the Words (then the Attornment is good), or Words to the like Effect.

168. If a Stranger makes Reſcous to the Lord, the Lord ſhall not have an Aſſize againſt him alone without the Tenant, becauſe he cannot be ſaid the Tenant of the Rent, but againſt the Pernor alone he may have an Aſſize. And if there be Lord, Meſne, and Tenant, and the Tenant makes Reſcous to the Lord, an Aſſize is not maintenable only againſt the Tenant. And if there be Lord, two Jointenants, Meſne, and Tenant, and the one Meſne and the Tenant makes Reſcous, the Lord ſhall not have an Aſſize againſt the one only, but both the Meſnes ought to be named.

169. If Huſband and Wife make a Feoffment of the Manor of the Wife to which an Advowſon is appendant, and the Feoffee makes a Feoffment of an Acre with the Advowſon, and the Huſband dies, and the Wife recontinues the Manor, ſhe ſhall preſent to the Advowſon before any Recontinuance of the Acre, for it was not appendant to the Acre. For if a Man makes a Feoffment of an Acre Parcel of a Manor, cum pertinentiis, nothing of the Advowſon which is appendant to the Manor paſſes, but if the Feoffment is made of the fourth Part, cum pertinentiis, the fourth Part ſhall paſs, becauſe it is not appendant nor can be appendant to one Acre only, for if a Feoffment is made of an Acre with the Advowſon, without Deed, the Advowſon does not paſs, which proves, &c. But if a Feoffment is made of a Manor, ſaving an Acre, with the Advowſon, this Saving is good without Deed. And ſee 22 Aſſ. in Error in the Caſe of of Thirdbald Grivel, where it was held clearly that if the Patron is outlawed in Treſpaſs, and the Church becomes void, and a Stranger preſents, and his Clerk is in by ſix Months, and the King removes the Incumbent by Quare Impedit, the Patronage is re-continued to the true Patron. If a Stranger uſurps an Advowſon appendant to a Manor which the Diſſeizor hath, and the Diſſeizee enters into the Manor, the Advowſon is re-continued, or the Diſſeizee may preſent before his Entry into the Manor, notwithſtanding the Uſurpation. Vide 26 H. 8, 4. So ſhall it be of a Feoffment, as it is there.

170. A Woman is entitled to have Dower, and afterwards the Heir makes a Leaſe for Years, and Waſt is done, and afterwards the whole Land is recovered for her Dower, it ſeems that he ſhall have an Action of Waſt quia tenuit.

171. Leſſee for 20 Years makes a Leaſe over, and alſo makes another Leaſe of other Land in which he has a Fee, for 20 Years, rendering Rent, without Deed, it ſeems that the whole Rent ſhall iſſue out of the Land in which he has the Fee, for inaſmuch as he has granted over all his Eſtate in the other Land, there cannot be a Reſervation out of it.

172. Tenant in Tail in Uſe, Remainder to his own right Heirs, enters upon the Feoffees, and makes a Feoffment, and takes back an Eſtate-Tail, Remainder to his right Heirs, and afterwards the Statute of 27 H. 8. is made, and after that he dies, by what Method can the Iſſue avoid the ſecond Tail, and have the firſt Tail? It ſeems that he cannot have the firſt Tail by any Means, for when the Tenant entered upon the Feoffees, and made a Feoffment, then there was no Remainder in Fee in him, yet by his Feoffment a Fee-Simple paſſed, not determined by his Death, but defeaſible by Entry of the Feoffees, and then of Neceſſity the Fee-Simple of the Land paſſed, inaſmuch as he had the Uſe to his right Heirs, and when the Statute of 27 H. 8. was made, inaſmuch as the Uſe was not in eſſe, but there was only a Right of Uſe, the Poſſeſſion was executed according to the Right of the Uſe, and then when he died, there was no Remitter to the Eſtate, for it was not in eſſe. And this Caſe proves that if the Eſtate be not executed according to the Right of the Uſe, viz. if the Feoffee marries with the Wife of the Ceſtuy que Uſe, and makes a Feoffment, and afterwards the Statute is made, the Wife is without Remedy, if the Feoffee is without Notice of the Uſe, for the Feoffor has given his Right by the Feoffment, and the Wife ſhall not have the Poſſeſſion executed, cauſa qua ſupra. But if Tenant in Tail makes a Feoffment to his own Uſe for his Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of his Heir, viz. of the eldeſt Son, and afterwards the Statute is made, neither the Father nor the Son ſhall ever be remitted, for the Statute executes the Poſſeſſion according to the Uſe, which was made by the Agreement of the Party himſelf, but the Iſſue of the Son ſhall be remitted, cauſa patet. Further, here the Feoffees cannot enter during the Life of the Tenant in Tail, cauſa patet, and after his Death they cannot enter, for the Deſcent takes away their Entry, and they cannot have an Action, for the firſt Entry was lawful, but if they might enter or recover the Land, then they ſhould recover the firſt Uſe, which ſhould be executed preſently.

173. [a] If a Leaſe is made for the Life of A. and B. and A. dies, yet the Leſſee ſhall have it during the Life of B. in the ſame Manner as if a Leaſe is made to two, they ſhall have it during their Lives or the Life of the Survivor of them, and if they grant it over, the Leſſee ſhall have it during the Life of either of them. [b] But if two make a Leaſe for 60 Years, if they ſo long live, there if either of them dies, the Eſtate is determined, for this is not a Limitation, but a Condition, and ſo held the Juſtices at St. Albans. [c] But if a Leaſe is made during the Time that A. and B. ſhall inhabit in London, there if one of them inhabits in another Place, the Eſtate is determined, for it is a collateral Determination. So Note a Diverſity between a Determination for Life, and another collateral Determination.

[a] Ante § 82.

[b] Ante § 82.

[c] So if a Leaſe is made during the Time that A. and B. ſhall be Juſtices, and one of them is diſcharged, the Eſtate is determined, Ante § 82.

174. [d] If a Man grants a Rent for Life out of his Land, and afterwards by another Deed grants that it ſhall be lawful for the Grantee and his Heirs to diſtrain for the ſame Rent, this ſhall be taken for a Rent of the ſame Value, for the ſame Rent is determinable upon his Death, ſo that his Heirs cannot diſtrain for it, for which Reaſon the Grant would be void as to his Heirs, if it be not taken for a Rent of the ſame Value; and ſo it is adjudged 8 H. 4. 19. [e] And if the King grants to the Mayor and Commonalty of D. the ſame Liberties which the Mayor and Commonalty of L. has, this ſhall be intended Liberties of the ſame Nature. And if a Man grants to me, that whereas he hath made a Leaſe for 40 Years to J. S, I ſhall preſent during the ſame Term to an Advowſon which the Leſſor hath, there although J. S. ſurrenders the Manor, yet I ſhall preſent, for where the Grant was during the ſame Term, this ſhall be intended during the like Time. But if I confirm the Eſtate of my Leſſee for Life, to have and to hold his Eſtate to him and his Heirs, this ſhall not be called the like Eſtate, as to the Heir, for the Heir was not then in eſſe, and he ought to take it as a Purchaſer, &c. And the Juſtices do not preſcribe that all whoſe Eſtates, &c. for they have not the Eſtate of their Predeceſſors, &c. And if a Statute ſaith, [f] they ſhall have the ſame Action as the laſt Predeceſſor ſhould have had, this ſhall be intended the like Action. If a Tenancy eſcheats, and the Lord gives the Tenancy in Tail, to hold of him by the ſame Services as the other Tenant held, this is to be intended by other Services. And in 30 Aſſ. pl. 31. where the King grants to a Subject Curiam ſuam regalem, thereby is to be underſtood ſuch Pleas as the King's Court holds.

[d] 26 Aſſ. pl. 38. Fitz. Aſſize 241. Bro. Confirmation 15. Grants 73. Rents 14. Plowd. 273. And ſee the like Matter Ibid. 141 (h).

[e] S. P. Cro. E. 241. pl. 3. Per Curiam. 1 Finch 45. 2 Finch 62.

[f] See Weſtm. 2. cap. 5.

175. If the Diſſeizee makes a Feoffment by Deed, with a Letter of Attorney in it, it ſeems that the Attorney cannot execute the Command, for when he delivers the Deed of Feoffment as his Deed, at that Time he has nothing in the Land but a Right only, which cannot paſs by the Deed; but it ſeems to be the better if the Deed of Feoffment be delivered as an Eſcrow, to deliver Seizin after Entry, &c. And if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, and afterwards makes a Feoffment with a Letter of Attorney, &c. and then the Tenant for Life dies, can he make Livery there?

176. If the Patron and Ordinary give Licenſe to the Parſon to grant a Rent in Fee, and he does ſo, this ſhall bind the Succeſſor, according to the Opinion in 7 H. 4. 18. But if before the Grant Confirmation had been made to the Grantee, the Grant had been void. The Diverſity lies here, that in the firſt Caſe there is no Need of any Thing but an Aſſent, which may be before, for an Aſſent may be given that ſuch a Thing may be done at a Time to come, and therefore it is ſaid that if a Biſhop makes a Gift in Tail by Deed, and the Dean and Chapter confirm the Deed, et omnia quæ in eo ſunt, according to the common Confirmation in ſuch Caſe, and afterwards Livery and Seizin is delivered, this has been held by all the Juſtices to be a void Confirmation, for the Aſſent was but to the Deed, but a Confirmation of an Eſtate ought to be after the Eſtate made. And ſo is the Diverſity.

177. The Huſband ſurrenders the Freehold, which the Wife has for Life, to him in Reverſion, who dies ſeized, if the Wife may enter after the Death of the Huſband, is the Queſtion, for it ſeems there is a Deſcent.

178. [a] The Father dies ſeized of two Acres, the Son enters into the one Acre, ſaying nothing, if this ſhall be ſufficient Poſſeſſion of the other Acre to make the Siſter to be Heir, was the Queſtion in a Moot. And it was ſaid that it ſhould not, for if the Acre, into which he did not enter, was upon defeaſible Title, and his Entry into the other ſhould be adjudged an Entry into both, from thence it would follow that he could not afterwards diſagree, but ſhould render Damages, which would be againſt Reaſon. To which it was anſwered, that he may enter claiming that Acre only; [b] but if there is a Diſſeizor of 20 Acres, and the Diſſeizee or Feoffor upon Condition enters into one of the Acres, ſaying nothing, it ſeems clear enough that he may have an Aſſize for the Reſidue, for the Poſſeſſion ſhall not be deveſted by the Conſtruction of Law, without a ſpecial Claim of the Party. But in the principal Caſe if the Acres had deſcended ſeverally, viz. the one from the Father, and the other from the Mother, then an Entry into the one without ſaying any Thing ſhould be adjudged an Entry but into that only. [c] But if a Man has a Title of Entry into two Acres ſeverally for the Breach of ſeveral Conditions, an Entry into the one in the Name of both ſhall not ſerve for both, but only for that into which he enters, which was granted by the Court in 9 H. 7. 25. And in the principal Caſe Maudlin ſaid at another Time, that by his Entry into the one Acre the Law will adjudge the whole Land, which deſcends upon the ſame Title, to be moſt for his Advantage, or elſe that he would not have entered, for which Reaſon his Entry into the one Acre ſhall be ſaid an Entry into the whole, but not where they deſcend upon divers Titles. But the Entry of the Baſtard into one Acre only, and his dying ſeized, ſhall but be effectual for that Acre, for he ſhall not diveſt any more from the Mulier, who had the Poſſeſſion in Law, without actual Entry; but Quære if it ſhall be ſo with reſpect to himſelf?

[a] See this Queſtion put M. 21 H. 7. 33. pl. 24. Co. Litt. 15. a. b. where the Lord Coke ſeems to be of Opinion that the Entry into the one Acre ſhall be a ſufficient Poſſeſſion of the other to make the Siſter to be Heir.

[b] Co. Litt. 15. b. 252. b.

[c] Co. Litt. 252. b.

179. If a Man makes a Gift in Tail, or a Leaſe for Life, rendering Rent with Re-entry for Default of Payment, and he has Cauſe of Entry, and afterwards the Tail expires, or the Ceſtuy que vie dies, and after that a Diſſeizin is done to them, or a Deſcent is caſt, or after the Determination of the Eſtate a Stranger enters, and dies ſeized, yet the Donor may enter, notwithſtanding that the Condition was never annexed to that Eſtate, but the Land was always re-continuable by Entry. And if Tenant for Years upon Condition be ouſted after the Term, and a Deſcent is caſt, the Leſſor may enter for the Condition broken, and yet neither the Eſtate nor the Condition (quære hæc) was bound by the Condition. But if a Warranty is made after the Eſtate ended, there is no Rebutter for it.

180. Land is given to J. and to A. his Wife, and to another Huſband and Wife in Fee, they are diſſeized, and J. releaſes to the Diſſeizor, and afterwards J. and A. are divorced for Cauſe which hath Relation, and A. and the Huſband and Wife bring an Aſſize of the Moiety, omitting J. it ſeems to be maintainable. Firſt, when J. and A. are divorced, yet the other Huſband and Wife ſhall hold the Moiety to them, for inaſmuch as the Purchaſe took Effect and the Eſtate veſted by the Livery, and at that Time the Huſband and Wife, not being divorced, took a Moiety, this ſhall remain afterwards, for as to all Strangers J. and A. ſhall be ſaid lawful Huſband and Wife at that Time, although they are now divorced, for if a Stranger had bought of the Huſband the Goods of the Wife, he ſhould have held them after the Divorce, as it is held in 26 H. 8. and if the Huſband had made a Feoffment, the Wife could not have had an Aſſize againſt the Feoffee, but ſhould have been driven to a Cui ante divortium, in which Caſe alſo her Entry is taken away. And then if the Feoffment of the unlawful Huſband ſhall be as favourable to the Feoffee as the Feoffment of a lawful one, inſomuch that it ſhall put the Wife to her Cui in vita, by the ſame Reaſon they ſhall be called lawful Huſband and Wife, with reſpect to another Huſband Wife, in which Caſe the other Huſband and Wife ſhall retain and hold their entire Moiety, ſeeing it veſted in them as a Moiety at the Beginning. And if Land is given to B. who is Abbot of D. and he is afterwards deraigned, yet it ſhall remain in the Houſe, for it veſted in the Houſe at the Time of the Livery. But if a Reverſion is granted to a Huſband and Wife, and to a ſingle Man and a Woman, in Fee, and the ſingle Perſons intermarry, and afterwards the Tenant attorns, now if the Man and Woman laſt married are divorced, the other Huſband and Wife ſhall have but perhaps the third Part, [d] for the Attornment ſhall not change the Grant which was to the ſingle Man and Woman by Moieties, and ſo after the Attornment the third Part ſhall be to each of them. [e] So if a Feoffment is made by Deed to a Man and a Feme ſole, and a Letter of Attorney to deliver Seizin, and before Livery they intermarry, and afterwards Livery is made, they take by Moieties, cauſa qua ſupra. Then in the principal Caſe by the Releaſe of the Huſband all his Right in the Moiety of a Moiety was extinct, and therefore he ſhall not be joined with the other Huſband and Wife but in Reſpect of the Moiety of a Moiety, and for ſo much they are Jointenants, and J. ſhall be omitted in the Action, and this by Reaſon of his Releaſe, inaſmuch as it is an Action poſſeſſory. As if the one Lord releaſes the Avowry, [d] Poſt § 183, agrees herewith, but ſee the contrary Plowd. 483 (c), and the Books there cited in the Margin.

[e] Poſt § 183 accord.

Avowry, it ſhall be only in the Name of the other. And if a Remainder is appointed to the right Heirs of J. S. and he dies, ſo that the Remainder veſts, and afterwards the right Heir is proved to be a Baſtard, or is a Baſtard by Parliament, yet he ſhall hold the Land for ever: [f] As if the Daughter enters in ſuch Caſe, or for [g] Mortmain, and afterwards the Son is born, ſhe ſhall hold the Land, notwithſtanding his Birth, and yet he ſhall be Heir from the Beginning; but otherwiſe it is as to a Deſcent, and as to Things deſcended. And in the ſaid Caſe if the right Heir of J. S. had been attainted of Felony after the Death of the Faaher, yet the Remainder ſhould not have been deveſted out of him.

[f] P. 9 H. 7. 25. Per Wood. Bro. Entry congeable 92. Plowd. 56. (p). 1 Co. 95. a. 3 Co. 61. b. Litt. R. 316. Cro. E. 334, 335. 3 Lev. 408. Kitch. 215. Poſt § 227.

[g] Ante § 113.

181. The Son endows his Wife ex aſſenſu patris, and is attainted of Felony, if the Wife ſhall hold her Dower, is the Queſtion. [a] And it ſeems that ſhe ſhall not, for it is the Dower of the Son, for ſhe claims it from the Son, and if ſhe brings a Writ of Dower for it, never accoupled in lawful Matrimony is a good Plea, and if there be a Diſſeizin of it, a collateral Warranty fallen upon the Wife ſhall not be a Bar, for ſhe had not Title to it but by the Death of the Huſband, and then the Warranty deſcended before her Title accrued, but if it deſcended after her Title, ſhe ſhould be barred, wherefore, &c. And if after the Dower ſo aſſigned ſhe be attainted of Felony, and after that has a Charter of Pardon for her Life, and then the Huſband dies, ſhe ſhall have and retain her Dower, for her Intereſt in it came after the Charter, and yet by the Attainder ſhe forfeited all her Inheritance, Freehold, and Chattles real, wherefore, &c. [b] And it ſeems that if a Man endows his Wife ex aſſenſu patris, ſhe being of the Age of 6 Years, and no more, and afterwards the Huſband dies, ſhe being of the Age of 21 Years, ſhe ſhall hold this Dower, and yet at the Time of the Aſſignment ſhe was not dowable, but at the Time of the Death of the Huſband ſhe is dowable, and therefore ſhe ſhall have it, which proves that the Death of the Huſband is the moſt effectual Cauſe of ſuch Dower, and that ſhe claims it by him, wherefore, &c. * And Britton Tit. Homicides ſays that the Wives of Felons ſhall not hold any Dower of Tenements which were aſſigned to them by their Huſbands. And if a Seigniory is aſſigned in Dower ex aſſenſu patris, there needs no Attornment.

[a] Co. Litt. 37. a. But now ſee the Statute of 1 Edw. 6. cap. 12. as to Attainder of Felony, by which the common Law is altered.

[b] S. P. Co. Litt. 33. a.

* Britt. cap. 5. fo. 15. a.

182. If a Man reſerves upon a Gift in Tail Socage the firſt ten Years, and afterwards Knights-Service, and within the ten Years the Donee dies, his Heir within Age, now if he ſhall be in Ward during the firſt ten Years, or after if they expire during his Nonage, is the Queſtion.

183. If a Reverſion is granted by Deed to a Man and a Feme-ſole, and they intermarry, and afterwards the Tenant attorns, and the particular Eſtate for Life determines, and the Huſband and Wife enter, and make a Feoffment, and a Warranty collateral to the Wife deſcends to the Feoffee, and the Huſband dies, and the Wife brings a Writ of Dower, firſt, [c] it ſeems that after the Attornment there are Moieties between the Huſband and Wife, for the Attornment is grounded upon the Deed, and ſhall reduce the Inheritance according to the Courſe of the Deed, notwithſtanding that the Attornment is made after the Marriage, for which Reaſon there are Moieties between them. [d] As if a Deed of Feoffment is made to a Man and a Woman, and they intermarry, and afterwards Livery is made ſecundum vim, formam, et effectum chartæ, it ſeems that there are Moieties between them. And if a Reverſion is granted to an Infant, and Attornment is made at his full Age, yet when he is in Poſſeſſion he may diſagree to the Eſtate, inaſmuch as the Grant, which is the principal, was made during his Nonage. Further, admitting that there ſhall not be Moieties between them, but that it ſhall be deemed a Purchaſe during the Coverture, yet when his Right to have the Thing again is bound by the collateral Warranty, then it ſeems that ſhe cannot take Dower, for ſhe ſhall have no Election but were two Things remain whereof ſhe may chuſe the one, then a Warranty ſhall be no Bar, for it deſcends before the Wife's Title of Dower is conſummate and given, for the Eſpowſals, the Poſſeſſion, and the Death of the Huſband make her Dower, and the Warranty deſcends before her Title is conſummate, viz. before his Death. For if Huſband and Wife make a Leaſe for Life, and they pray to be received, and afterwards the Huſband makes Default, and upon his Default the Wife is received, as ſhe may be, in which Caſe ſhe admits the Diſcontinuance, there although ſhe is barred, yet ſhe ſhall afterwards have a Cui in vita, for at that Time ſhe had no Title to a Cui in vita, but it was given by the Death of the Huſband. It was ſaid alſo touching the Attornment, [e] that if a Feoffment with Warranty is made to a Man and a Feme-ſole, and they intermarry, and afterwards are impleaded, and recover in Value by Reaſon of the Warranty, and the Huſband dies, the Wife ſhall have Dower of the Land recovered in Value, for there ſhall not be Moieties between them. But if Land is bargained and ſold to a Man and a Feme-ſole, and they intermarry, and afterwards the Deed is enrolled, there they take by Moieties, for this has Relation. But if Huſband and Wife, Tenants for Life before the Coverture, recover in Value by Reaſon of a Reverſion with Rent, there ſhall be Moieties of the Value. And it was ſaid that if a Leaſe is made to a Man and a Feme-ſole for Life, upon Condition to have Fee, and they intermarry, and afterwards the Condition is performed, they ſhall not have Moieties in the Fee, but ſhall take it as Purchaſers during the Coverture. Note, it was ſaid that if a Man is ſeized of the Land of his Wife, and a Warranty is made to them and to the Heirs of the Huſband, and they recover in Value, this ſhall enure to them without Moieties and to the Heirs of the Wife; for if Tenant for Life recovers in Value by Reaſon of a Warranty made to him in Fee, this Recovery ſhall only be for Life, but if he had had an Eſtate in Fee, and had recovered in Value by Reaſon of a Warranty made for Life, he ſhould have recovered in Fee; from whence it follows here that inaſmuch as the Huſband had but in Effect an Eſtate for Life, and the Fee was in the Wife, this Recovery in Value ſhall enſue the Eſtate before. [f] And it was ſaid that if a Reverſion is granted to an Alien, and he is made a Denizen, and afterwards the Tenant attorns, he ſhall not take it to his own Uſe. If a Man has a Wife, and is ſeized of four Acres, and makes a Feoffment of three of the Acres with Warranty, and dies, and the Wife brings a Writ of Dower againſt the Feoffee, [c] Ante § 180 accord, but ſee the contrary Plowd. 483 (c), and the Books there cited in the Margin.

[d] Ante § 180 accord.

[e] S. P. Plowd. 483 (a). Dy. 149. pl. 82. in Margine. Co. Litt. 187. b. Wing. Max. reg. 211. pl. 8. Vin. Abr. tit. Baron and Feme S. a. pl. 13.

[f] See L. P. Plowd. 482 (e). S. P. Contra Poſt § 371.

Feoffee, and he vouches the Heir, now if the Wife may ſtay the Judgment, viz. that ſhe ſhall not recover immediately againſt the Heir, is the Queſtion, for then ſhe has loſt her Dower of the fourth Acre. And it ſeems to ſome that by ſhewing this ſhe ſhall ſtay Judgment, but others are of a contrary Opinion, for ſhe ſhall be barred of Dower of the fourth Acre by her own Folly, for that ſhe did not firſt recover Dower of it.

184. A Woman Leſſee for Life takes Huſband, and they make a Leaſe to J. S. for his Life, rendering Rent, and afterwards the Huſband dies, and the Wife avows for the Rent, or accepts it in Pais, now the Leſſor may enter, and ſhe ſhall be barred of her Cui in vita or Entry for ever, for ſhe has agreed to the Forfeiture by her Avowry or Acceptance of the Rent. If a Præcipe quod reddat is brought againſt the Father for Land which the Son has by Purchaſe, and he appears, and loſes, and the Son brings Error againſt the Recoveror after the Death of his Father, as he ſhall be received by Eſtoppel, and the Judgment is affirmed, it ſeems clearly that the Recoveror may enter upon the Son, and eſtop him to purſue the Writ of Error, for by the bringing of it he ſhall be eſtopped to ſay otherwiſe but that the Father had the Land.

185. [a] A Gift in Tail is made with Warranty accordingly, the Donee releaſes the Warranty to the Donor, and afterwards the Reverſion is granted, and the Donee attorns, if the Iſſue in Tail is impleaded it ſeems that he ſhall not vouch, for the Releaſe has extinguiſhed the Warranty for ever, for the Statute ſpeaks of Tenements given upon Condition, and this is no Tenement, but a Covenant real, which the Releaſe extinguiſhes. [b] As if an Annuity is granted in Tail, it may be extinguiſhed by the Releaſe of the Donee, causâ qua ſupra. If a falſe Verdict paſſes againſt Tenant in Tail, a Releaſe of all the Right by the Tenant in Tail ſhall not bar the Iſſue of his Attaint, but if he releaſes all falſe Oaths to one of the Petty-Jury, quære if the Iſſue ſhall have an Attaint? And a Partitione facienda is maintenable by the Iſſues in Tail by the Equity of the Statute de donis conditionalibus, and alſo a Contra formam feoffamenti, and a Contributione facienda, and perhaps a Quo jure, and a Releaſe of them ſhall not bar the Iſſue, for it is of the Land, [c] and a Uſe in Tail is taken by Equity, Vide [d] 18 H. 8. [e] And Tenant by Copy ſhall be taken by Equity to have an Eſtate-Tail, and he ſhall have a Plaint in Nature of a Formedon. So ſome are of Opinion that in the principal Caſe this Releaſe is no Bar. But Tenant in Tail may by his Releaſe extinguiſh an Acquittal granted by the Donor, and Execution of a Recovery in Value by Reaſon of a Warranty, and not a Recovery pro rata againſt his Coparcener.

186. If a Man binds himſelf and his Heirs to me in 20 l. and dies, and his Executors have Aſſets, and I releaſe to the Heir all Actions of Debt, and afterwards the Executors pay the Aſſets to other Creditors, it ſeems that I may have an Action of Debt againſt the Heir, becauſe at the Time of the Releaſe I was not entitled to have an [f] Action of Debt againſt him; but if neither the Executors nor the Heir have Aſſets, and then the Debt is releaſed to the Heir, and afterwards the Heir recovers Land, ſo that he has Aſſets, it ſeems that the Releaſe is a Bar. A Man deviſes 20 l. to J. S. to be delivered to him when he is of the Age of 26 Years, and if he dies before that Age, then he deviſes it to A. J. S. releaſes to the Executors at the Age of 21 Years, now if he ſhall be barred of the ſaid Debt is the Queſtion. And ſee 21 H. 7. 41. where it is agreed that a Releaſe of an Annuity made to the Patron in the Time of Vacation extinguiſhes the Annuity, but quære if there was a Parſon. And if Tenant for Life does Waſt, and grants over his Eſtate, and the Leſſor releaſes all Actions to the Grantee, yet it ſeems that he ſhall have an Action againſt the Grantor, becauſe he was not entitled to have any Action againſt the Grantee. So of Tenant in Dower or by the Curteſy, who have granted over their Eſtates, or an Abbot who has made a Feoffment, ſuch Releaſe made to the Feoffee ſhall be no Bar to a Contra formam collationis, otherwiſe it is of a Releaſe of Land. See where a Releaſe ſhall be a Bar in a Scire facias.

187. Note, if the Lord procures one to diſſeize the Tenant, who does ſo, and afterwards the Diſſeizor ceſſes, and the Lord recovers againſt him in a Ceſſavit, he ſhall hold the Land againſt the Diſſeizee, for by the Procurement he is not a Diſſeizor, as it appears 50 Ed. 3. 2. But ſee Littleton cap. Remitter contrary, as it ſeems. And the Reaſon here is, for that he has Cauſe to recover of late Time, ſo that his Title is accrued to him ſince the Procurement, but it had been otherwiſe if he had had Title of Ceſſavit at the Time of the Procurement and Diſſeizin. Quære if he had ceſſed a Year before the Diſſeizin, and another Year after the Diſſeizin? As if the Iſſue in Tail procures one to diſſeize the Diſſeizor of his Father, whoſe Heir is in by Deſcent, againſt whom the Heir recovers, and dies, the Iſſue ſhall hold the Land, but if he himſelf had recovered againſt the Diſſeizor upon Title which he had in eſſe at that Time, he ſhould not have been remitted. Quære in that Caſe if his Father Diſſeizee dies, and he recovers againſt the Heir or Diſſeizor by Formedon, if he ſhall be remitted, for the Wrong was done to the Tail at that Time. And if one has Title to a Formedon, and procures another to ouſt the Tenant, to the Intent that he may recover againſt him, and the Stranger ouſts him, and afterwards another Stranger recovers upon Title puiſne to the Procurer, and the other recovers againſt him by Formedon, he is there remitted. And if two Jointenants have Title of Action where their Entry is taken away, and one of them procures a Stranger ut ſupra, againſt whom they two recover, and he who was Party dies, the other is remitted to the whole, but if he who did not procure had firſt died, the other ſhould only have been remitted to the Moiety. Quære inde.

188. By Bradbury Reader, if a Man enters lawfully upon Tenant for Life, upon Title paramount, into one Acre for Condition broken, having the ſame Title to the whole Land, or if he enters into one Acre by Reaſon of a Title for Mortmain, or for Conſent to a Raviſher, or the like, or if the Leſſor himſelf enters into one Acre by Reaſon of a Condition broken, or for that he was within Age at the Time of the Leaſe, where perhaps Part of the Leaſe is good by Reaſon of a Cuſtom which enables an Infant to make a Leaſe, or if the Leſſor accepts a Surrender of [a] S. P. Contra Plowd. Manxel's Caſe 2 (b). Poſt § 321 Per Plowden. Co. Litt. 20. a. 392. b.

[b] S. P. Plowd. Manxel's Caſe 3 (a). Co. Litt. 20. a.

[c] S. P. Plowd. Manxel's Caſe 2. Co. Litt. 20. a. Crompt. J. C. 60. a.

[d] Quære if the Caſe here intended is not T. 19 H. 8. 13. cited in Plowd. Manxel's Caſe 3.

[e] Plowd. Manxel's Caſe 2.

[f] Quære, for at this Day the Law ſeems to be, that though the Executors have Aſſets, yet the Obligee may have an Action of Debt againſt the Heir, if he will, Plowd. 439. 1 And. 7. pl. 13. 3 Lev. 304. though anciently the Law was otherwiſe from the 18 Ed. 2. till. 7 H. 4. when it was changed in this Point, O Bendl. 162. Poph. 155 Per Dodder. J. And therefore in Debt againſt the Heir, Aſſets in the Hands of the Executors the Day of the Writ purchaſed is no Plea at this Day. T. 27 Ed. 3. 6. pl. 23. T. 7 Ed. 4. 13. a. Per Brian. M. 10 H. 7. 8. b. Per Vaviſor. Plowd. 439. Dy. 204. pl. 2. 3 Lev. 289, 304, 305.

Parcel,

Parcel, or recovers Parcel in Waſt, or if he or a Stranger enters into the Moiety, or into a third Part not known in certain, as the Caſe is in 21 H. 6. 48. or if one Jointenant enters into his Moiety for Condition broken, in all theſe Caſes the Rent ſhall be apportioned. But if at the Time of the Leaſe the Land was diſcharged of a Rent which is afterwards revived, ſo that the Value of the Land is impaired to the Leſſee, there the Rent ſhall not be apportioned, for the Land, out of which the Rent iſſues, remains entirely, and ſo is the Diverſity. But if a Man has Title of Entry upon his Leſſee for Life into 20 Acres in two Counties, and he enters into one Acre only, quære if the Rent ſhall be apportioned in that Caſe?

189. A Tenant who holds by Homage and 10*s.* Rent makes a Leaſe for Life, Remainder in Tail, without ſaying any Thing of any Reſervation, it ſeems that the Tenant for Life, although he ſhall not hold by Homage, ſhall hold by Fealty and 10*s.* inaſmuch as both the Eſtates are now but one; but if a Gift had been made in Tail, Remainder for Life after the Tail determined, the Tenant for Life ſhould not have held by the like Services as the Donee, cauſa patet. If two Jointenants and to the Heirs of the one, who hold ut ſupra, make a Gift in Tail, the Donee ſhall hold of them both by the like Services, and yet the Freehold is not the Cauſe of the Tenure; quære there, for ſome ſay that he who has the Fee ſhall have the entire Tenure, becauſe the Inheritance paſſes only from him, quære inde. And if Tenant for Life and he in Reverſion make a Gift in Tail, quære how the Donee ſhall hold. If a Leaſe for Life is made, Remainder for Years with Warranty, quære if this Warranty ſhall give Benefit to him in Remainder, ſeeing that the Eſtate precedent is of another Nature. If a Leaſe is made for Life, Remainder in Frank-Marriage, it ſeems that the Tenant for Life ſhall hold by Fealty only until the fourth Degree be paſt. But if a Leaſe is made for Life, the Heir of him in Remainder ſhall not be in Ward during the Life of the Tenant for Life, quod nota.

190. A Reverſion is granted to one for Life, and before Attornment it is granted to him again in Fee, and afterwards the Tenant attorns, it ſeems that the Grantee may chuſe to take the one Eſtate or the other at his Pleaſure to be afterwards determined. But if a Reverſion is granted to one Man, and afterwards it is granted to another, and the Tenant comes to both, and ſays, "My Maſters, I attorn to you," it ſeems that for the Incertainty neither of them ſhall have it, for it is incertain which of them ſhall be preferred. [a] If a Reverſion is granted to a Man and to his Heirs, and afterwards by another Deed it is granted to him and to his Succeſſors, and then the Tenant attorns, quære in what Capacity it ſhall veſt. If a Feoffment is made with a Letter of Attorney, &c. and the Deed is delivered to the Grantee, before Livery of Seizin the Feoffor may countermand Livery, but if he ſays to the Feoffee, "it is my Intent that you ſhall not take by Livery," this is nothing to the Purpoſe. If Land is given to a Man and a Feme-ſole, upon Condition that whichever of them firſt marries ſhall have Fee, and they intermarry, neither of them ſhall have the Fee for the Incertainty. So in the Caſe before [b] if the Reverſion of Black-Acre or of White-Acre is granted, to be choſen by the Grantee, it is worthy of Conſideration whether the Attornment be good or not, inaſmuch as the Thing is incertain, and does not paſs preſently. And Note the Opinion of Brook in the principal Caſe, that the Grant ſhall be void for the Incertainty, as 20 H. 6. and this ſeems to be very reaſonable. [c] And Note in 21 R. 2. the Avowries abated, as if a Man brings two Writs of Præcipe quod reddat returnable at one and the ſame Day, both the Writs ſhall abate, as it appears.

[a] Vide Co. Litt. 310. b.

[b] S. P. Co. Litt. 310. b. ſays that the Attornment is good.

[c] P. 21 R. 2. Fitz. Avowry 262. Bellew's C. 58. P. 3 H. 6. 44. b. Per Martin. Bro. Avowry 6, in fine. 5 Co. 19. a. 38. b. Plowd. Manxel's Caſe 10. Poſt § 210.

191. A Feoffment is made upon Condition that the Feoffee ſhall make a Gift in Frank-marriage to ſuch a Woman who is Couſin to the Feoffor, and not to the Feoffee, quære if he is bound to make any other Eſtate than for Life, ſeeing that the Intent of the Feoffor cannot be performed by Law? So if the Condition be to make a Gift in Frank marriage to a religious Man, &c.

192. [d] A Man makes a Leaſe for Life, and grants a Rent out of the Reverſion, now if the Grantee grants it over, it ſeems that the Grantor ought to attorn, and not the Tenant for Life, becauſe the Rent is nothing to him, for a Releaſe made by the Grantee to him does not extinguiſh the Rent: So if a Rent be granted by Tenant for Life out of Land, &c. a Releaſe made by the Grantee to him in Reverſion does not extinguiſh the Rent, &c.

[d] S. P. Co. Litt. 311. b.

193. The Reverſion of Tenant for Life with the Rent is granted, the Tenant for Life grants his Eſtate to another to hold of the Grantee, it was ſaid at Lecture that this was an Attornment, for when he grants it to hold of him, the Tenant for Life takes Notice of the Grant, and it is an Agreement to the Grant as lawful. And although ſome ſay that this is not proved but by the Grant, at which Time the Eſtate, which he had, paſſed from him, ſo that he is not Tenant for Life, and therefore it cannot be ſaid an Attornment by him, although this is true, yet it ſhall be an Attornment by the Grantee of the Eſtate of the Leſſee, foraſmuch as he accepted it; for which Reaſon there is nothing that ſtands in the Way, unleſs it be that it was ſpoken in the Abſence of the Grantee, and that is nothing to the Indenture, for a Man may agree to a Thing ſpoken in his Abſence. As if one diſſeizes another to the Uſe of J. S. or ſurrenders to the Steward of J. S, for J. S. or gives Goods to J. S. in his Abſence, he may take the ſame by a ſubſequent Agreement. But a Diſagreement cannot be made in the Abſence of the Party as in [e] Wheeler's Caſe.

[e] Vide H. 14 H. 8. 17. b.

194. In Debt upon a Recovery in Treſpaſs, if the Plaintiff recovers in the Court where the Action of Debt is brought, pending a Writ of Error in the King's Bench upon the Treſpaſs, and after the Judgment given in Debt, the Judgment in Treſpaſs is reverſed, quære what Remedy he ſhall have for the Debt recovered, for this is a Recovery in the Common Bench, which he cannot reverſe in another Court, and although he might, yet ſeeing that Execution of the Debt is had, he cannot be reſtored to it by the Reverſal in the firſt Writ of Error upon the Treſpaſs.

195. After

195. After the Death of the Inteſtate A. gets Poſſeſſion of the Goods, and gives them to B. and afterwards is made Adminiſtrator, now he ſhall not take the Goods out of the Poſſeſſion of B. The Reaſon hereof is, that by the firſt Seizure he had the Goods to the Uſe of the Inteſtate, as the Law ſays, for he was chargeable as Executor of his own wrong, and ſo after the Adminiſtration committed he ſhall be ſaid to have them to the ſame Uſe, and therefore he has no other Capacity, for which Reaſon he cannot take them. But if J. S. wrongfully takes the Goods of K. and gives them to L. and afterwards K. makes J. S. his Executor, now he may take the Goods out of the Poſſeſſion of L. for he has another Capacity now than he had at the Time of giving them, viz. the Intereſt of another Perſon. As if a Diſſeizor makes a Feoffment, and afterwards intermarries with the Diſſeizee who is a Woman, now he may enter. But in the firſt Caſe if after the Adminiſtration committed A. had releaſed to a Debtor of the Inteſtate's, he ſhould have had an Action notwithſtanding his Releaſe, for of Things in Action he cannot gain Poſſeſſion, nor can he be ſaid Executor of ſuch Things, but only of thoſe which a Man may ſeize, as Goods, or into which he may enter, as a Leaſe for Years. But if there was a Leaſe to commence at Eaſter, and before the Day A. had granted the Term over, and afterwards, and before Eaſter he had taken the Adminiſtration, and afterwards had granted it to another, the ſecond Grantee ſhould have enjoyed it. So if a Rent-Charge had been granted for Years to the Inteſtate, and A. had compelled the Tenant by Coercion of Diſtreſs to pay it to him, and he had granted it over, and afterwards had taken the Adminiſtration, there he ſhould have avoided his ſaid Grant, becauſe the Poſſeſſion which he had ſhall not be called the Poſſeſſion of the ſame Term, but it ſhall be called a Kind of voluntary Payment of the Tenant, and not a Payment to him of the Rent which was granted to the Inteſtate, for none can be ſaid to have it but only he who has Right to have it.

196. If the Tenant makes Reſcous to the Lord, and afterwards enfeoffs A. of one Parcel of the Tenancy, and B. of another Parcel, and dies, the Lord has no Remedy by Action for the Rent. If the Tenant makes Reſcous to the Lord, and he brings an Aſſize of the Seigniory, and afterwards the Tenant dies, leaving Iſſue two Daughters, who make Partition of the Land, the Lord has no Remedy for the Seigniory by Action.

197. A Man grants a Rent-Charge out of his Land to A. upon Condition, and afterwards the Grantor makes a Feoffment of the Land, and after that the Condition is broken, and the Rent is behind, and the Grantee diſtrains, and Reſcous is made, and he brings Aſſize, if the Condition is extinct by the Feoffment, ſeeing that the Feoffor cannot have the Land again, by the Breach of the Condition, in the ſame Manner as he might when the Grant was made, or who ſhall have Benefit of the Condition, is the Queſtion. But divers are of Opinion that if the Grant be upon Condition, and for the Non-performance the Rent ceaſes, there the Feoffee ſhall have the Benefit, for the Rent is extinguiſhed. As if a Man makes a Leaſe for Years upon Condition, and for the Breach of it that the Eſtate ſhall ceaſe, and he grants the Reverſion, and then the Condition is broken, the Grantee may enter. Quære inde. See Richill's Caſe in Littleton.

198. A Leaſe is made to A. and B. for their Lives, and afterwards the Reverſion is granted to C. during the Lives of A. and B. they make Partition, A. dies, the Queſtion is if the firſt Leſſor or C. ſhall have A's Part after his Death. Firſt, it ſeems that the Grant of the Reverſion was good, for if the Tenants for Life had entered into Religion, C. ſhould have had the Land. Note the Reverſion paſſed, and the Tenant ſhall have the Rent as a Rent-Service, and he ſhall have Fealty by the paſſing of the Reverſion, and if the firſt Eſtate had been upon Condition to ceaſe, for which it had ceaſed, C. ſhould have had it during their Lives, wherefore, &c. Then, further, it ſeems that the Partition ſevered the Reverſion, for although by the firſt Grant he was intitled to have the Reverſion as long as either of them was alive, this was in Reſpect of the Jointure, and when that was ſevered, ſo was the Reverſion. So the firſt Leſſor ſhall have it again after the Death of the Tenant for Life, and not C. Quære. If a Leaſe is made for 20 Years, rendering Rent, and the Reverſion is granted for 10 Years, this is a good Grant, and he ſhall diſtrain for the Rent, Nota.

199. If a Feoffment is made to A. to the Uſe of B. in Fee, it was ſaid that the Wife of A. ſhall be endowed, for the Land cannot be in Abeyance but in Reſpect that it veſts in A. For it is not like to the Caſe where before the Statute Ceſtuy que Uſe entered, and made a Feoffment, becauſe there he had no Poſſeſſion, but only a Power to make a Feoffment, as an Attorney, or as he who is appointed by Will to ſell the Land; but now the Feoffee has Poſſeſſion. For if one who is attainted of Felony is enfeoffed to the Uſe of another, the Poſſeſſion ſhall never veſt in the other, foraſmuch as it is once ſettled in him, and cannot be deveſted out of him who is attainted, all whoſe Lands veſted eſcheat. But yet he who is ſo attainted may be Attorney, ſo is the Diverſity. And if he who has Land on the Part of his Mother makes a Feoffment to the Uſe of the Feoffor, it ſhall reſort to the Heir on the Part of the Father, if he dies without Iſſue.

200. If a Man makes a Feoffment upon Condition, and the Feoffee makes a Leaſe for Life, and dies, ſo that the Reverſion deſcends to the Feoffor, if the Condition is extinct, is the Queſtion.

201. If Goods ſtolen are ſold bona fide in Market-overt, and the Vendor afterwards buys them again, the firſt Owner cannot take them, for by the firſt Sale the Property was clearly gone for ever, inaſmuch as it was without Covin, for he could not have an Action for them then. But if the Diſſeizor comes to the Poſſeſſion again after a Deſcent, the Entry of the Diſſeizee is revived, for an Action remained to him after the Deſcent, for he might have a Writ of Right, or a Writ of Entry, ſo note the Diverſity. So if a Feoffee to Uſe upon Condition enfeoffs a Stranger ignorant ignorant of the Uſe, who re-enfeoffs him, he ſhall not be ſeized to the firſt Uſe, for the Uſe was extinct by the Feoffment to the Stranger, inaſmuch as no Subpœna lay againſt him, and the Feoffee ſhall be in the ſame Courſe. So if the Tenant enfeoffs a Stranger by Covin to enfeoff his Heir, and he makes a Feoffment over upon Conſideration bona fide, and the Tenant dies; and afterwards the firſt Feoffee is re enfeoffed, now the Lord ſhall not aver Colluſion, as it is ſaid in 33 H. 6. 15. for inaſmuch as a Writ of Right of Ward was not maintenable againſt the Feoffee bona fide, it ſhall not be maintenable againſt the other, for the Covin ought to purſue, and ſhall not be revived. But if a Stranger had made the Feoffment upon Condition, or the Sale of the Goods; or if the Feoffment by Ceſtuy que Uſe had been upon Condition, and a Re-Entry had been made for the Breach of it, there the Property, Uſe, and Covin ſhould have been revived. But if a Baſtard dies ſeized, having Iſſue, who endows his Mother, there the Mulier may enter, and yet he had no Action nor other Remedy before the Endowment, but the Wife is endowed upon an elder Title, and ſo the Right is revived, ſo that it differs from the other Caſes. And if the Diſſeizee enters upon a Deſcent, and dies ſeized, and his Heir enters; now the other has no Remedy, but if the Heir endows his Mother, the Entry of him who was in by Deſcent is revived, cauſa qua ſupra. If one diſſeizes another to the Uſe of J. S. and makes a Feoffment bona fide, and takes back an Eſtate, he ſhall not be ſeized to the firſt Uſe.

202. Land is given to two Women quamdiu ſimul vixerint, Remainder to the right Heirs of her who dies firſt, one of them takes Huſband, and has Iſſue, and dies, it ſeems that the Huſband ſhall not be Tenant by the Curteſy, for ſhe had not the ſole Poſſeſſion. Further, it ſeems that the Remainder is good, notwithſtanding the Incertainty. But if this Remainder ſhall be Aſſets in a Formedon, or in Debt againſt the Heir, is the Queſtion. And it ſeems that it ſhall not; for the Remainder was never in the Mother becauſe it commenced by the Death of the Mother, ſo that the Death preceded the Remainder, and at the ſame Inſtant that the Death happened, the Remainder alſo happened, ſo that it never veſted in the Mother. * As if a Leaſe is made for Life, upon Condition that if the Leſſee does ſuch an Act he ſhall have Fee, now the Condition precedes the Performance which veſts the Fee. So the Death veſts the Fee in the principal Caſe. And it is not like the Grant of a Rent-Charge in Fee to J. S. to commence after his Death, for there the Heir ſhall have it by Deſcent, although the Anceſtor could never take it. And if one grants a Rent-Seck to A. for Life, and afterwards by another Deed grants that he and his Heirs ſhall diſtrain for the Rent, now during the Life of the Grantee the Rent is ſeck, although he may diſtrain for it, but the Heir ſhall have it as a Rent-Charge, and that by Deſcent. * Plowd. 41.

203. Mortgagee makes a Feoffment in Mortgage to the Heir of the Mortgagor to be firſt paid, after the firſt Day the firſt Mortgagor dies, the Heir tenders the Money to the firſt Mortgagee at the Day, and he refuſes, and he tenders the Money to the Heir, &c. at the Day, and he refuſes, the firſt Mortgagee enters, and the other ouſts him, and he brings Aſſize, it ſeems not to be maintenable. Firſt, it ſeems that the Son may perform the Condition, for it is not ſuſpended, inaſmuch as it is a collateral Condition; ſee for this the Caſe of the Corody in 21 Ed. 4. Then, it ſeems, the Payment ought to be made to the Mortgagee, notwithſtanding he has made a Feoffment of the Land, as it ſhould be to the Executors, and not to the Heir, and 17 Ed. 3. 2. is not Law. Further, upon the firſt Refuſal the Heir is not remitted, for he ſhall not be remitted upon a Title, but if he had taken an Eſtate only for Life or for Years, he ſhould have had it in Fee, which ſee 20 Ed. 4. But the chief Point is, when the Mortgagee has entered upon the Son, as he may, if the Son may enter upon him for the firſt Condition broken. And it ſeems that he may, for if the Tenant enfeoffs the Heir of the Lord upon Condition, and the Lord dies, and afterwards the Condition is broken, and an Entry made, the Seigniory is revived. So ſhall the Condition here be. So if the Diſſeizor enfeoffs the Heir of the Diſſeizee upon Condition, and the Diſſeizee dies, and the Condition is broken, and afterwards the Diſſeizor enters as he may, now the Heir may enter upon him, becauſe the Right ſhall be revived, otherwiſe it is, if the Diſſeizee had releaſed to his Heir, for there the Right is extinct, and not revived by the Entry of the Diſſeizor. But in the principal Caſe if the Condition upon the ſecond Feoffment had been that the Son ſhould not do ſuch an Act, and the Condition had been broken by him, it ſhould have been otherwiſe, as it ſeems, becauſe it was the Act of the Son himſelf, for this ſhould not abate a Præcipe brought againſt him, where an Entry is made for the Condition broken.

204. [a] If a Man takes a Wife, and ſells his Land, and afterwards the Wife comes to the Age of nine Years, and the Huſband dies, it ſeems that ſhe ſhall have Dower of the Land, notwithſtanding the Huſband had no Poſſeſſion of it after ſhe was of the Age of nine Years. [b] For if the Huſband aliens his Land, and afterwards the Wife is attainted of Felony, and after that has a Charter of Pardon, and the Huſband dies, ſhe ſhall have Dower. And if the Wife elopes, and afterwards the Huſband purchaſes Land, and aliens it, and afterwards the Wife is reconciled, and the Huſband dies, ſhe ſhall have Dower, and yet at the Time of the Alienation ſhe was barrable, but her Title was not conſummate until the Death of the Huſband, and then lawful Poſſeſſion, and Eſpowſals, and the Death make her Dower. [c] But if a Man takes an Alien to Wife, and afterwards aliens his Land, and then ſhe is made a Denizen, and the Huſband dies, ſhe ſhall not be endowed. Quære.

[a] S. P. Co. Litt. 33. a.

[b] S. P. Co. Litt. 33. a.

[c] S. P, Co. Litt. 33. a. Poſt § 371.

205. Upon a Plea in Bar of Aſſize the Parties are adjourned, and afterwards the Tenant pleads a Releaſe made after the laſt Continuance bearing Date in a foreign County, and afterwards at the Return of the Venire facias the Tenant pleads that after the laſt Continuance he had purchaſed the Manor to which the Plaintiff is a Villain, he ſhall not have this Plea, for he ſhall not delay the Plaintiff but by one Plea or Matter in Deed happening of late Time, and he ſuffers no Miſchief thereby if he is ſure that his Plea is true: But in ſhewing of a Record he ſhall afterwards plead, if they are in the ſame Court, ſo that the Plaintiff ſhall not be delayed by ſhewing of them; and here the Villain ſhall not be infranchiſed, for the Plea was pleaded before he ought to maintain it; but if he anſwers, his Villain de novo, thereby he ſhall be infranchiſed.

206. A Man makes a Leaſe for Life, rendering Rent in Fee, and afterwards grants the Reverſion with Attornment, and reſerves the Rent in Fee, and dies, the Rent is extinguiſhed, for it cannot deſcend, inaſmuch as it is reſerved upon an Eſtate but for Life. So if Tenant in Tail of Rent grants it in Fee, this is no Diſcontinuance to the Heir of the Grantee, for it was but granted during the Life of the Grantor.

207. If two Acres in ſeveral Counties are held by one entire Rent, no Ceſſavit lies, for it cannot be brought but upon the entire Tenure, and for the whole Land out of which the entire iſſues. So Note that after Ceſſer if the Tenant makes a Gift in Tail of Parcel, no Ceſſavit lies, for although the Seigniory is now ſevered, yet he ſhall not have a Ceſſavit, becauſe he cannot ſuppoſe the Ceſſer in the one only, for they two ceſſed, and he cannot have a Ceſſavit in the Degrees. But if a Tenant of two Acres ceſſes, and afterwards makes a Feoffment of one of the Acres, yet a Ceſſavit remains for the Acre in his Poſſeſſion, for he alone ceſſed in that Acre: But Quære, for the Seigniory is now divided, and he cannot ſuppoſe that he holds the Acre of him by any certain Rent.

208. If a Feme-Tenant in a Præcipe quod reddat takes Huſband pending the Writ, all the Reſidue of the Pleading and of the Proceſs, as the Grand Cape, ſhall be awarded againſt the Wife only. But it ſeems that ſhe ſhall not bind the Vouchee to Warranty, for the Summoneas ad warrantizandum is a new original, and the Vouchee is a Stranger to the firſt Original, and therefore he may ſay that ſhe is a Feme-Covert, but her Recovery by the Warranty ſhall be by Warrantia Chartæ. But if a Reverſion is granted to a Woman, who takes Huſband, he ſhall join with his Wife in a Quid juris clamat, as it ſeems in 11 H. 4. for that does not iſſue out of an original Writ, as in the principal Caſe.

209. If Attornment be made upon Condition, which is broken by the Grantee upon Condition, yet the Reverſion is not deveſted, for the Aſſent cannot be [a] conditional, becauſe he does not claim the Reverſion from him who attorns, but from the Grantor, and it cannot be made conditional by the Act of a Stranger to the Grant. For if Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe for Years, rendering Rent, and the Iſſue accepts the Rent, upon Condition that it ſhall be no Prejudice or Hindrance to his Entry to avoid the Leaſe, yet he ſhall never defeat the Leaſe, for the Aſſent is a Thing executed, which will not admit of any Condition to be performed or broken by any Act to come, [b] but if the Condition precedes the Aſſent, and the Aſſent is ſubſequent, then the Condition is good, but if the Aſſent precedes, and the Condition follows, the Condition is void, becauſe it is the Nature of the Aſſent to be executed. And therefore if a Woman Tenant for Life takes Huſband, who attorns to the Grantee of the Reverſion, and afterwards they are divorced, yet the Attornment ſhall bind the Wife. And if Feoffee upon Condition attorns to the Grantee of a Seigniory, and the Feoffor enters for the Condition broken, yet the Attornment ſhall bind him. And as the Law ſays that the Attornment of the Feoffee upon Condition ſhall not be avoided by the Condition, ſo for the ſame Reaſon the Law ſays that an Attornment upon Condition ſhall not be deſtroyed by the Condition. [c] But a Releaſe of a Right may be upon Condition, as a Seigniory may be releaſed to the Tenant upon Condition, and ſo one Jointenant may releaſe to his Companion upon Condition, for there the Thing veſted in his Perſon is deveſted, to which a Condition may be annexed; but not ſo of an Aſſent. And if the Patron aſſents upon Condition to the Charge of the Parſon, this is a good Condition, becauſe the Aſſent is an Intereſt in Law, for if he had but the Patronage in Tail, for Life, or upon Condition, and his Eſtate in the Patronage is avoided, the Aſſent is void as to the ſecond Patron. And if the Mulier attorns to the Grantee of the Seigniory, although the Baſtard dies ſeized, ſo that the Mulier ſhall never be Heir, yet the Attornment remains good. So an Attornment by a Deviſee, or by him to whom a Remainder is appointed, remains good, notwithſtanding they afterwards diſagree to the Eſtate, and yet it ſhall never be called a Tenancy. If the Reverſion of Tenant in Tail, or of Tenant for Life with Remainder for Life, is granted, and the Iſſue in Tail, or he in Remainder for Life, attorns, having nothing but this Poſſeſſion in Law, it is void, as it ſeems. And in the Caſe of the Deviſee and Remainder-Man, they have but a Poſſeſſion in Law, for they have not Poſſeſſion in Deed before their Entry, and conſequently he in Reverſion has not Poſſeſſion in Deed of the Reverſion, but Poſſeſſion in Law. And alſo in one of the Caſes the Grantee had a Reverſion depending upon the Eſtates of two Tenants for Life, which is altered when one of them is dead. But he who has only a Poſſeſſion in Law may attorn to the Grantee of a Seigniory well enough, for no other can attorn but he who was Tenant at the Time of the Grant, as Quintin's Caſe is in [d] 26 Aſſ. And ſo note the Diverſity.

[a] That an Attornment cannot be upon Condition, Co. Litt. 274. b. 1 Rol. Abr. 412. M. 5 Co. 81. a. b.

[b] Co. Litt. 274. b.

[c] Co. Litt. 274. b.

[d] 26 Aſſ. pl. 38.

210. Before the Statute of Quia emptores terrarum a Man makes a Feoffment of an Acre, to hold of two Manors which the Feoffor has, after the Statute he enfeoffs A. of the one Manor, and B. of the other, the Tenant dies, his Heir being within Age, who ſhall have the Wardſhip of him is the Queſtion. And firſt it is to be conſidered if the Tenant ſhall hold the one Moiety of the one, and the other of the other, or if he ſhall hold ſeverally the Parcels of Land, and if the Rent ſhall be apportioned, viz. the one to have ſo much, and the other ſo much. (But it ſeems that there is no Apportionment by the Grant of the Seigniory, but only by the Feoffment of the Tenancy). And it ſeems here that he ſhall hold by Moieties, and then there is no Priority. It was ſaid that if a Woman be endowed of a Villain in groſs, and afterwards the Tenant in Dower and the Heir enter together into Land purchaſed by the Villain, it is good to be conſi-dered in whom the Freehold ſhall be. Note the Caſe of * 21 R. 2. of Diſtreſs by two ſeverally of one Horſe for Damage-feaſant and for Rent, where both Avowries abated. So if he had been a Villain to an Abbot and a ſecular Man, for his entire Body is an entire Villain to each of them, for each ſhall diſable him in any Action. So ſhall the Heir and the Tenant in Dower be. But in the firſt Caſe if he had not made a Feoffment of the ſaid Manors, but had died ſeized of them, having two Daughters and Heirs, and one of them had been in Ward, or if they two had been in Ward, and the Lord had committed the one Manor to one, and the other Manor to another, and then the Tenant had died, his Heir being within Age, quære which ſhould be prefer'd. And if the Grantee for Life of a Villain and he in Reverſion enter into Land purchaſed by the Villain, it ſeems to me that the Tenant for Life ſhall gain the whole, but many think that he in Reverſion in an Action ſhall diſable him.

* P. 21 R 2. Fitz. Avowry 262. Bellew's C. 58. Ante § 190. and the other Books there cited in the Margin.

211 If there is a Leaſe for Life, Remainder for Years, and he in Remainder releaſes all his Right in the Land to the Tenant for Life, the Years are extinct, but if the Releaſe is, to have and to hold the Land to him during the Years, then the Years are in eſſe. As if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, and afterwards releaſes to the Tenant for Life, to have and to hold the Land to him for 40 Years after the Leaſe for Life ended, he ſhall have it as the Words are. And if a Man leaſes Land to J. for Life and 20 Years over, it ſeems that he ſhall have the Years, notwithſtanding Livery of the Land is not made. And ſome ſay that a Releaſe of Tenant for Years to the Leſſor extinguiſhes the Term, otherwiſe of a Releaſe of Tenant for Life, as if Tenant for Years being ejected releaſes to the Diſſeizor, the Leſſor may enter, otherwiſe of the Releaſe of Tenant for Life. And if a Man makes a Leaſe for Years to commence at Eaſter, and before Eaſter he releaſes all his Right to the Leſſor, the Years ſhall be extinct in the Land, as in the principal Caſe. And if a Man makes a Leaſe for 20 Years without Impeachment of Waſt, and afterwards confirms it for 40 Years, the Leſſee ſhall be diſpuniſhable of Waſt for 20 Years. And if a Woman has a Leaſe for 20 Years, and the Leſſor confirms it to the Huſband for 40 Years, who dies, ſhe ſhall have the Reſidue of the 20 Years, quod nota.

212. If the Diſſeizor makes a Gift in Tail or a Leaſe for Life to J. S. to whom the Diſſeizee confirms, yet after the Eſtate is determined he ſhall enter upon him in Reverſion, for that Eſtate only was fortified; but if the Confirmation was only to the Diſſeizor who was in the Reverſion, he ſhould not enter upon the particular Tenant, any more than if a Warranty had been made to him in Reverſion, and it had deſcended, in which Caſe he ſhould not have entered upon the particular Tenant. But if the Diſſeizor had given the Land to A. and B. and to the Heirs of B. and the Diſſeizee had confirmed the Eſtate of A. quære in that Caſe? but it ſeems clearly that if he had confirmed the Eſtate of B. he ſhould never have entered upon the Heir of B. but the Eſtate which A. had was but for Life only, and therefore perhaps it ſhall not go beyond it, but where the Confirmation is made to B. it ſeems to be otherwiſe. For if the Diſſeizor gives Land to C. in Tail, the Remainder to the right Heirs of C. and the Diſſeizee confirms the Eſtate-Tail to C. this goes alſo to the Fee clearly. And if the Diſſeizor gives Land to A. for Life, Remainder to B. for Life, Remainder to A. in Fee, and the Diſſeizee confirms the Eſtate for Life to A. only, quære there.

213. If the Huſband has a Term of 50 Years in Right of his Wife, and grants to a Stranger all the Years which remain after the Death of him and his Wife, if this Grant is good is the Queſtion.

214. If I diſſeize one to the Uſe of me and J. S. who afterwards agrees to it, we are Jointenants, ſo that by the Agreement the Moiety ſhall be in him, &c. And this is proved by the Caſe of 21 Aſſ. pl. 49. where the one Siſter in Tail entered upon the Diſcontinuee of her Father, claiming to herſelf and to her Siſter, and the Diſcontinuee ouſted her, and ſhe recovered in Aſſize againſt him, and it was there adjudged that the other Siſter ſhould have the Moiety by her Agreement. But if I diſſeize one to the Uſe of A. after 20 l. levied by me of the Profits of the Land, or to the Uſe of myſelf for Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of A. in Fee, or to the Uſe of A. for Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of myſelf in Fee, there he ſhall have nothing by his Agreement, becauſe I cannot apportion the Wrong ſo, for he ought to have the whole Eſtate or nothing in the Part appointed. And if the Diſſeizin was to the Uſe of A. if he pays me 20 l. it ſeems that the Condition is good, for the Eſtate is not divided. And ſo if the Condition was, to the Uſe of A. if he will agree to it, this is a good Condition. And if I diſſeize my Tenant for Life to the Uſe of J. S. he ſhall have but a Freehold by his Agreement. And it was ſaid that if the Iſſue in Tail within Age by Covin commands A. to diſſeize the Diſcontinuee of his Father, and A. diſſeizes him to the Uſe of B. for Life, and afterwards to the Uſe of his own Right Heir, and B. agrees, and A. dies, and B. dies, and the Heir of A. enters, and enfeoffs the Iſſue in Tail, he is remitted, becauſe he is now within Age.

215. The Huſband is bound in a Statute-Merchant, and afterwards he and the Wife levy a Fine of the Land of the Wife to J. S. and the Huſband dies, Execution of the Statute ſhall not be made in the Land in the Hands of J. S. becauſe nothing paſſed from the Huſband but the Eſtate which the Huſband had during the Coverture, which is determined by his Death, and J. S. ſhall have the like Benefit as the Heir ſhould have, or as he himſelf ſhould have had if the Wife had been diſcovert, and had granted the Land, for it is lawful for a Feme-covert to grant her Eſtate by Fine, and then if the Grantee ſhall not have the ſame Advantage as the Wife herſelf ſhould have, it would be againſt Reaſon. But if the Huſband had made a Leaſe for Years, or had granted a Rent-Charge in Fee before the Grant to J. S. J. S. ſhould never have avoided the Term nor the Charge, any more than if the Land had been in Execution, for there the Thing is executed, and veſts at the Time of the Grant of the Land to J. S. in ſuch Manner and Degree as the Act is, for J. S. ſhall ever be ſaid to be in in the Per by the Huſband and Wife, and the Death of the Huſband does not alter it, for the Degree of the Act was given and veſted at the ſame Inſtant, and the Title was executed, but the Execution, ut ſupra, is executory. And if Tenant for Life and he in the Reverſion give the Land by Fine to A. this ſhall be liable to a Statute made by the Tenant for Life, during his Life only, and ſhall never be liable to a Statute made by him in Reverſion, for notwithſtanding the Words of the Fine are joint, yet he may confeſs and avoid them by ſhewing the Truth of the Matter. So in the principal Caſe he may ſhew that the Eſtate on the Part of the Huſband was during the Coverture only, and altho' the Huſband had the Fee in Right of his Wife, yet the Fee ſhall not be ſaid to paſs from him longer than during the Coverture, for the Law annexes ſuch a Condition to his Eſtate, &c. And if the Huſband and Wife accept a Fine of the Wife's Land from B. ſur conuſance de droit come ceo, &c. and render back to him in Tail, yet the Reverſion is in the Wife only, and the Huſband has nothing but by Reaſon of the Coverture, et Vide diligenter 40 Aſſ. pl. 4. And Note, if Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe for Years to commence at Eaſter, rendring Rent, and dies, and the Iſſue in Tail enters, and makes a Feoffment before Eaſter, many are of Opinion that the Feoffee ſhall never avoid the Leaſe, becauſe the Leaſe was not avoided by the Entry of the Iſſue, for the Acceptance of the Rent affirmed the Leaſe, but the Leaſe was voidable, wherefore, &c. So if Huſband and Wife make a Leaſe to commence at a Day to come, and before the Time the Huſband dies, and the Wife makes a Feoffment, the Feoffee ſhall not avoid it, cauſa qua ſupra. So if an Infant makes a Leaſe ut ſupra, and before the Time he being within Age or at full Age makes a Feoffment, the Feoffee ſhall never avoid the Leaſe, &c. But many others are of a contrary Opinion, for they ſay that an Infant, or the Iſſue in Tail, by his own Act, or by the Act of the Anceſtor, ſhall not have any thing executory againſt him, for if he does not avoid it by his Poſſeſſion before the Commencement of the Term, he has no Means to avoid it, &c. before, &c. But it is clear enough that if Tenant in Tail dies after he has diſcontinued, and the Diſcontinuee makes a Leaſe for Years to commence, &c. and dies, the Heir in Tail being his Heir, who enters, and makes a Feoffment, there the Leaſe is avoided, becauſe the Iſſue is remitted, and has another Eſtate than the Diſcontinuee had, and not any Privity of that Eſtate which is avoided, &c.

[a] See the whole of this Section accord, Co. Litt. 102. a. b. And ſee 2 Bac. Abr. 362.

216. [a] Upon a Judgment in Debt Execution ſhall only be had of the Land which the Party has at the Time of the Judgment given, and not of that which he has at the Day of the Writ purchaſed. So in Caſe of an Amercement of the Plaintiff for a Nonſuit, the Land which he has at that Time ſhall only be charged, and not the Land which he had when he found Pledges, by 22 Aſſ. pl. 32. But in Debt againſt the Heir, if he aliens pending the Writ, this ſhall be liable to Execution, altho' the Alienation was before the Judgment, for there the Action was brought againſt him in Conſideration of the Land. So Iſſues ſhall be levied againſt the Feoffee of a Juror, altho' the Alienation was before the Iſſues forfeited, for he was ſworn in Reſpect and by Reaſon of the Land. But in the firſt Caſe the Action was brought in Reſpect of the Perſon, and not in Reſpect of the Land, and ſo it is not like to the other Caſes. Note the Diverſity.

217. If a Man makes a Gift in Tail, upon Condition that the Donee ſhall make a Feoffment in Fee to J. S. and he accordingly does ſo, yet the Iſſue ſhall have a Formedon, for if he had not performed the Condition, the Donor could not have entered, but when he has performed it, yet the Condition ſhall not defeat the Eſtate of the Iſſue, &c. And if a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, upon Condition that the Leſſee ſhall make a Feoffment to J. S. and he accordingly does ſo, the Leſſor may enter for the Condition in Law, viz. for the Forfeiture. So if the Leaſe had been upon Condition that he might make a Feoffment, it had been all one. If a Man enfeoffs an Infant, upon Condition that he enfeoffs another, and he does ſo, yet the Infant may afterwards enter and hold in Fee, for he has performed the Condition.

218. If Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe for the Life of the Leſſee, and afterwards diſſeizes him, and makes a Feoffment in Fee, and the Leſſee dies, and afterwards the Tenant in Tail dies, this ſeems to be no Diſcontinuance, becauſe the Fee was not executed by lawful Means. As if Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe for Life, and afterwards grants the Reverſion, and the Grantee diſſeizes the Tenant for Life, and the Tenant for Life dies, and afterwards the Tenant in Tail dies, this is no Diſcontinuance, for the Fee was not executed according to the Grant, any more than in the Caſe in Littleton of the Eſcheat of the Grantee. But withont Doubt if Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe for his own Life, and afterwards diſſeizes the Tenant for Life, and makes a Feoffment, this is no Diſcontinuance, for by the Diſſeizin he was ſeized in Fee, and he diveſted the Fee out of the Donor, and then he was not Tenant in Tail, and conſequently there was no Diſcontinuance. And it ſeems that the firſt Caſes are more clear, if the Tenant in Tail dies in the Life of the Leſſee for Life. If Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe for the Life of the Leſſee, who is diſſeized, and the Tenant in Tail releaſes to the Diſſeizor without Warranty, and the Tenant for Life dies, and afterwards the Tenant in Tail dies, this is a Diſcontinuance in Fee, becauſe the Diſſeizor had the ſame Fee executed in the Life of the Tenant in Tail which was firſt made, as if he had releaſed after the Death of the Tenant for Life, in which Caſe it would have countervailed an Entry and Feoffment, by Anthony Brown. But quære, and ſee Littleton to the contrary in the laſt Caſe.

[b] S. P. Co. Litt. 13. a.

219. [b] If there are Grandfather, Father, and Son, and the Father is attainted of Treaſon, and dies, and afterwards the Grandfather dies ſeized of Land, the Lord of whom the Land is held ſhall have it by Eſcheat, and not the King, becauſe the Father had it not at the Time of the Attainder, and inaſmuch as the Grandfather died without Heir, the Land ſhall eſcheat. So if the Father is attainted of Treaſon, and the Grandfather dies in the Life of the Father, it ſhall eſcheat to the Lord of whom, &c. and the King ſhall not have it.

220. If

220. If there are two Jointenants for Life, and one of them makes a Leaſe for 20 Years, and dies, the other, who has the Freehold by Survivorſhip, ſhall not ouſt the Leſſee, becauſe the ſame Eſtate which the Leſſor had continues now, and there is no Difference between this Caſe and if they were Jointenants in Fee, for there the Eſtate is determined in the Leſſor, and continues in the Survivor, and ſo it does in the other Caſe. But many are of Opinion to the contrary, becauſe in the one Caſe the Survivor has the Eſtate in Fee of his Companion, but here the Survivor has not the Freehold of his Companion, viz. the Leaſe for the Life of him who is dead, but for his own Life, for by the Death of his Companion his Freehold is determined, but the Fee which he had yet remains. But all agree that if a Leaſe is made to A. and B. for the Life of C. and A. makes a Leaſe for Years, and dies, B. ſhall not ouſt the Leſſee, becauſe the Eſtate which he had continues.

221. If a Man makes ſeveral Teſtaments of ſeveral Dates, and dies, and the Executor of the laſt Teſtament refuſes before the Ordinary, yet the firſt Teſtament is clearly annulled, and yet the Refuſal is peremptory. But it is not ſo where one Executor refuſes, and his Companion proves the Teſtament, for the Probate by him is ſufficient for both. And the Reaſon of it's being annulled is the Intent of the Teſtator, for altho' by the Refuſal the ſecond Teſtament is as it were null, yet the Intent is apparent. And if an Executor releaſes a Debt due to the Teſtator, this is an Adminiſtration in Law, but if afterwards he avoids the Releaſe becauſe he was unletter'd, and it was read to him in other Form, then he may refuſe, for the Reaſon why he has accepted the Adminiſtration is void, and ſo nihil operatur. But in the firſt Caſe altho' the Cauſe of the firſt Teſtament's being annulled is avoided, yet the Intent of the Teſtator is not avoided, and the ſecond Teſtament was a Teſtament before the Refuſal, for which Reaſon it was ſufficient to avoid the firſt Teſtament. And if a Man makes a Letter of Attorney to A. to deliver Seizin, and afterwards makes another Letter of Attorney to B. to deliver Seizin, and B. dies before Livery, yet the firſt Power is determined. If a Man makes a Leaſe at Will, and afterwards makes a Feoffment by Deed, and Livery is not made, yet his Will is determined in Deed, altho' the Leaſe is not avoided, and he ſhall have an Action of Treſpaſs againſt the Leſſee for the Occupation afterwards. If a Woman makes a Letter of Attorney to deliver Seizin, and afterwards ſhe takes Huſband, and he dies, the Attorney cannot make Livery, for the taking Huſband was a Countermand. [a] And if a Woman makes a Teſtament, and afterwards takes Huſband, who dies, quære if this be a Countermand of the Teſtament?

[a] See S. P. put by Manwood in the Negative, Plowd. 343 (c).

222. If a Feme-Covert is enfeoffed, the Huſband being beyond Sea, who returns, and diſagrees to the Feoffment, yet before Entry made the Freehold ſhall not be diveſted, but the Feoffor may enter; but if the Huſband dies before his Entry, then is the Wife remitted, and the Title of Entry, which the Feoffor had, is taken away, ſo that now he ſhall not avoid the Eſtate.

223. If a Man ſeized of the Manor of Dale grants a Rent-Charge out of it, provided that the Grantee ſhall not charge the Manor, this is good, for he may charge the Perſon; but if the Proviſo was, that he ſhall not charge ſuch Parcel of the Manor, that is a void Proviſo, for the Proviſo ought to diſcharge his Perſon or the whole Land charged. But others are of a contrary Opinion, and ſay that true it is if the Grant be out of Acres, he ſhall not diſcharge Part of them, but otherwiſe it is if the Grant be out of a Manor. [b] For a Feoffment of a Manor, except an Acre, is good, [c] but if a Feoffment be made of 20 Acres, except one, it is a void Exception. But if the Proviſo was, that he ſhall not charge the Manor, nor any Thing but 20 Acres only of the Demeſns, that ſhould be a void Proviſo, for it diſcharges the groſs Name of the Manor. So if Rent is granted out of a Manor, percipiendum in two Acres of it, this Limitation does not diſcharge the Manor. 17 Aſſ. pl. 10. A Leaſe was made of Land and Wood for Life, rendring 20*s.* Rent, viz. 10*s.* for the Land, and 10*s.* for the Wood, and by this Declaration the Rents were ſeveral.

[b] S. P. Dy. 264. b. Margine. Co. Litt. 47. a.

[c] S. P. Plowd. 153 (c).

224. If a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, upon Condition that if the Leſſee does ſuch an Act he ſhall have Fee, and he warrants the Land in forma prædicta, now this Warranty extends to the Fee, but if the Feoffor dies, and afterwards the Condition is performed, then if the Warranty is available is the Queſtion, inaſmuch as the Leſſor was not bound to warrant during his Life, and then the Warranty which was annexed to the Freehold is gone, ſeeing that the greater Eſtate merges the leſſer, viz. the Freehold, and ſo diſcharges it of the Warranty. For if a Man deviſes Land with Warranty, this Warranty is void, inaſmuch as the Deviſor was not bound to the Warranty during his Life. And to prove that the greater ſhall merge the Warranty, it was ſaid that if Tenant in Tail be with Warranty to him his Heirs and Aſſigns, his Feoffee in Fee ſhall not be ſaid Aſſignee, nor ſhall vouch, becauſe he has no Part of the Eſtate-Tail. Alſo it was ſaid that in the firſt Caſe if the Condition had been performed in the Life of the Leſſor, the Warranty ſhould not extend to it, for it cannot be annexed to any Thing but to that which is in Poſſeſſion. But a Leaſe for Years upon Condition to have Freehold diſpuniſhable of Waſt ſhall make the Leaſe diſpuniſhable of Waſt, for that may commence by Parol without Deed, as it is ſaid in 5 Ed. 3. Others take a Diverſity, viz. where a Leaſe is made for Years upon Condition to have Fee, the Warranty in forma prædicta does not extend to the Fee when it is performed, becauſe the firſt Eſtate was but for Years, and of another Nature than a Freehold, but if it was an Eſtate for Life, it ſhould be otherwiſe, and ſo there ſeems to be a good Diverſity, for in the one Caſe he ſhall only have an Action of Covenant upon the Warranty. And it was ſaid that if a Man makes a Leaſe for Years, Remainder in Fee with Warranty, he in Remainder ſhall not take Advantage of the Warranty, becauſe he is not privy to the firſt Deed, and then he ſhall not take it as an immediate Warranty, becauſe the firſt Eſtate was of another Nature. And Note that this Caſe was put at Lecture, viz. the Reverſion deſcends to Huſband and Wife Leſſees for Life, as to the Iſſues of two Parceners (as it way well enough), and the Huſband dies, the Wife ſhall

ſhall have the entire Freehold as Survivor, and the Fee ſhall be executed for the Moiety, becauſe the other Moiety goes another Way, viz. to the Heir of the Huſband, and he ſhall deraign the Warranty annexed in Deed to the firſt Eſtate for the Moiety, and not for the other Moiety, becauſe the Fee is executed, and ſo the Eſtate of Freehold is merged, and conſequently he is in of another Eſtate. As if Parceners after Partition make a Feoffment, and take back an Eſtate in Fee, the one ſhall not have Aid, nor recover pro rata, becauſe ſhe is in of another Eſtate, for if ſhe recovers in Value of that Moiety, it ſhall be in Fee-Simple, for ſhe has not now an Eſtate for Life in poſſeſſion, and the Fee was not warranted, wherefore, &c. If Land is bargained and ſold by Indenture in Fee with Warranty, and the Indenture is delivered, and afterwards it is inrolled within ſix Months, it was moved whether or no he ſhould vouch, becauſe it is the Nature of a Covenant to take Effect preſently by the Delivery of the Deed, and then the Warranty was void, for that the Land did not paſs at that Inſtant, and altho' the Inrollment ſhall make the Land to paſs by Relation from the Beginning, yet it ſhall not make a void Warranty to be good: To which it was ſaid that if one makes a Feoffment with a Letter of Attorney, and there is a Warranty in the Deed, by the Livery the Warranty ſhall be good, and yet the Deed was delivered before.

225. A. being ſeized in Fee of three Acres of Land, viz. of two Acres at the Common Law, and of the third in Borough-Engliſh, gives one of the two Acres to a Stranger in Tail, and dies, the Donee is impleaded, and vouches to Warranty the eldeſt Son, and recovers in Value the ſaid Acre out of his Poſſeſſion, (as he ſhall do in this Caſe, foraſmuch as he vouches him alone, and not the youngeſt Son, where the eldeſt has Aſſets) the Queſtion is, if he being impleaded of the Acre which he has recovered ſhall vouch the eldeſt and the youngeſt Son; and if the Acre in Borough-Engliſh ſhall be liable by the ſaid Warranty in Law, ſeeing it is not the Warranty which deſcends, viz. the Reverſion which the Father made, but the Warranty in Law commenced firſt in the eldeſt Son, for altho' the Recovery in Value ſhall be deemed in lieu of the firſt Land given, yet this is always to be intended (having Regard to the Eſtate of the Reverſion deſcended from the Father) the Reverſion left in the eldeſt Son, and then the Acre of the youngeſt is not liable to that Warranty. So if the Father gives a Seigniory to the eldeſt Son in Tail, and dies ſeized of Land in Borough-Engliſh, which deſcends to the youngeſt Son, and afterwards the Tenancy eſcheats, the eldeſt being impleaded ſhall vouch himſelf to ſave the Tail, but if the Land of the youngeſt ſhall be liable, is the Queſtion.

226. Before Partition one Coparcener leaſes an Acre to J. S. for 20 Years, and afterwards they make Partition, ſo that the other has this Acre allotted to her, it ſeems that ſhe may ouſt the Leſſee of the whole Acre, becauſe the Partition ſhall have Relation to the Death of the Anceſtor, and yet at that Time ſhe had full Power to make a Leaſe of a Moiety of it. So it ſeems that ſhe ſhall avoid the Grant of a Rent-Charge made by her Siſter, as if the Huſband makes a Leaſe or grants a Rent out of an Acre which is afterwards aſſigned to his Wife by Recovery in Dower upon Title which ſhe had at that Time, ſhe ſhall avoid the whole Leaſe or Charge. Quære in both Caſes if the one Coparcener recovers pro rata againſt her Companion, if ſhe ſhall avoid a Charge made by her in the Land recovered, as an Exchangee ſhall do.

227. It ſeems that if a Leaſe is made to one for Life, Remainder to the right Heirs of J. S. who is then dead, having Iſſue a Daughter, and his Wife enſeint with a Son, and he warrants the Land in forma prædicta, and afterwards the Son is born, the Daughter ſhall never vouch by Reaſon of the Warranty, and yet clearly the Son ſhall * not ouſt her out of the Land, becauſe it was executed in her, and veſted before the Birth of the Son, but the Warranty is a Thing executory, which ſhall not be deraigned but by the right Heir of J. S. which the Daughter is not. For if a Feoffment is made with Warranty to a Son, who dies without Iſſue, ſo that the Land comes to the Uncle, and from the Uncle to the Father, he ſhall not deraign the Warranty as Heir to his Son. So tho' poſſeſſio fratris makes the Siſter to be Heir, yet ſhe ſhall not vouch, as Danby ſays 35 H. 6. 34. But ſhe may be vouched as Heir of the Poſſeſſion, and ſo may the Father in the Caſe before, and ſo may the youngeſt Son in Borough-Engliſh, but ſhe ſhall not vouch by Reaſon of a Warranty anceſtrel. See this well debated Fitz Voucher 94. in the like Matter, and 35 H. 6. 33. in the Caſe of Eſtoppel. If Land is given to two Brothers in Fee, with Warranty to the eldeſt, and the eldeſt dies, having Iſſue, and afterwards the youngeſt dies without Iſſue, the Iſſue of the eldeſt being his Heir, by Reaſon whereof he enters, he ſhall not take Advantage of the Warranty by Voucher nor Rebutter, becauſe the Warranty was void with Regard to the Survivor, for that his Title has Relation antecedent to the Warranty, and does not come under the Warranty, as that of a Diſſeizor does.

* S. P. Ante § 180, and ſee the Books there cited in the Margin.

228. Note that Carus in his Reading ſaid that the Tenant ſhall not recover in Value by Warranty of Homage anceſtrel, becauſe the Warranty is anceſtrel, and no Land ſhall be put in Value but that which deſcends from the ſame Anceſtor, and it cannot be tried from whom the lien deſcended, becauſe it is by Preſcription, and ſo foraſmuch as it is not triable from whom the lien deſcended, for that it deſcended from no certain Perſon, for the ſame Reaſon it is not triable from whom the Land, which ſhall be put in Execution of the Aſſets, deſcended; and therefore I cannot preſcribe againſt the Heir to have an Annuity, becauſe it cannot be known whether or no he has Aſſets by Deſcent from the ſame Anceſtor by whom the Annuity commenced. So Note a good Reaſon.

229. A. dies, leaving three Daughters, two of whom enter after the Death of the Father, and afterwards one of them dies, and the other enters, if the third ſhall have a Nuper obiit, or two Writs, viz. the one upon the firſt Deſcent, and the other upon the ſecond Deſcent, is the Queſtion. It was ſaid that if three Coparceners make Partition, and are ſeverally impleaded, and each of them prays in Aid of the other ſeverally, and afterwards one of them dies without Iſſue, and the others enter, now it ſeems that the one ſhall not recover againſt the other pro rata but of the third Part againſt the one only, and not for the Part laſt deſcended, without praying in Aid de novo, as it ſhould have been done if the Iſſue of the other had entered; and it ſeems that by the New-praying in Aid, altho' Partition of the third Part laſt deſcended is not made, yet ſhe ſhall recover, becauſe ſhe comes under the firſt Partition, in Reſpect of which Aid ſhall be granted. And ſee this Matter well touched 9 Ed. 3. 9. as it was ſaid, and ſee alſo 17 Ed. 3. 12. et nota diligenter, aut non percipies. And it ſeems clearly that if the Prayer in Aid had been of the half Blood, ſo that the whole had deſcended to the other, by the new Praying in Aid ſhe ſhould have recovered pro rata, and of this laſt Part alſo.

230. If a Parſon is Patron of a Church, and the Parſon with the Aſſent of the Ordinary grants a Rent Charge, or makes a Leaſe for Years, the Aſſent of the Patron is not good to make this endure for ever, without the Aſſent of his Patron and Ordinary, any more than the Aſſent of the Biſhop who is Patron is good without the Aſſent of his Chapter, or than the Aſſent of Tenant in Tail or for Life who is Patron, for that is not good, as Littleton ſays; but if the Parſon has a Fee, then it is otherwiſe.

231. If there are two Coparceners, and one of them makes a Leaſe for Life, yet the Lord ſhall avow upon them both, but if there are two Jointenants, and one of them makes a Leaſe for Life, now the Lord ſhall make ſeveral Avowries upon them, becauſe the Jointure is ſevered, and perhaps the Lord ſhall have two Hawks, if the Tenant before held by one Hawk. So if there are two Femes Coparceners Meſnes, and one of them takes the Tenant to Huſband, the Avowry of the Lord is not ſevered, but if they had been Jointenants, it had been otherwiſe, for by the taking Huſband the Moiety of the Meſnalty had been ſuſpended, and could not be in Jointure with the other Moiety which was not in eſſe, ſo that it is a Partition in Law for the Time, and the Jointure is ſevered, and conſequently the Lord ought to make two ſeveral Avowries. And if A. holds a Manor of B. and makes a Leaſe of the whole Manor, except an Acre, now the Inheritance or Fee of the Acre is diſappendant to the Manor during the Leaſe for Life, by 38 H. 6. and the Lord ought to make two ſeveral Avowries; but the Diſappendancy was only a Condition, and it ſhall be appendant again after the Leaſe is determined.

232. If Tenant in Tail of a Rent grants it in Fee, and dies, and his Iſſue, having a Wife, dies, and his Iſſue recovers in a Formedon, it ſeems that the Wife of the Father ſhall be endowed, becauſe the Rent was in her Huſband, for the Grant of the Rent was determined by the Death of the Grandfather, and then the Poſſeſſion in Law was preſently caſt upon the Father, and notwithſtanding the bringing of the Formedon by the Son, the Wife being a Stranger may ſay that her Huſband had the Poſſeſſion in Law, as if the Iſſue recovers by Annuity a Rent Charge granted to the Father, yet the Wife ſhall have Dower. But quære if in the principal Caſe the Tenant in Tail had purchaſed the Land, and made a Feoffment, ſhould the Wife of the Father have had Dower? And if the Poſſeſſion in Law is caſt upon the Heir who has a Wife, and a Stranger abates, and he dies, altho' his Iſſue recovers in a Writ of Ayel, yet the Mother ſhall have Dower, and the Abatement ſhall not have Relation to take away her Dower, and if after ſuch Poſſeſſion in Law caſt he dies, and his Brother of the half Blood enters, ſhe ſhall have Dower againſt him.

233. [a] If a Rent is granted to one until he has received 20*l.* of it, and the Rent is 20*s.* per Ann. the Grantee has not an Eſtate for Life, but only for 20 Years, becauſe it is certain that he will receive the Money in that Time. So if a Rent is granted to one until J. S. is of full Age, he has but an Eſtate for Years. [b] But if Land of the Value of 20*s.* per Ann. is given to one until he has received 20*l.* of the Iſſues of it, and Livery is made, there he has an Eſtate for Life. But if a Leaſe is made for Years, and Livery is made according to the Form of the Deed, the Eſtate ſhall only be for Years, becauſe the Livery does not increaſe nor diminiſh the Eſtate, if the Determination of it is certain. But the Reaſon why he ſhall have a Freehold in the Caſe next before is, in Reſpect of the Incertainty of the Iſſues, which ſee 21 Aſſ. So it ſeems that the Eſtate of the Guardian, who recovers for the double Value, and the Eſtate of Tenant by [c] Statute-Merchant, ſhall be more than for Years. [d] And if a Leaſe is made for Life, rendring Rent, and if it be behind, that he ſhall enter and hold the Land until he has received the Rent out of the Iſſues of the Land, the whole Eſtate of the Leſſee is there defeated, for he ſhall have an [e] Action of Debt for that which was due before, as it is in 30 Ed. 3. 7. in the like Caſe: Nota, ſequitur as before. And if Waſt is done by a Stranger, and afterwards the Tenant for Life (in the Caſe before put) enters after the Leſſor has received the Rent, or is paid, quære if this Waſt be then puniſhable in him?

[a] S. P. Plowd. 273 (e) Co. Litt. 42. a. 6 Co. 35. b. 3 Bac. Abr. 431.

[b] S. P. Co. Litt. 42. a.

[c] Contra Co. Litt. 42. a.

[d] Contra Co. Litt. 203. a.

[e] Contra Ibid. and that the Book of 30 Ed. 3. 7. here cited is falſe printed, and the true Caſe there was of a Leaſe for Years.

234 [f] If the Executor has a Villain which his Teſtator had, and he enters into Land purchaſed by the Villain, it ſhall be Aſſets, altho' he have the Fee, as Land in Fee deſcended to the Heir ſhall be Aſſets to a Chattle, viz. to the Debt of a Stranger; and the Reaſon why he ſhall have it to the Uſe of the Teſtator is, becauſe he had the Villain in Right of another, and therefore he ſhall have the Perquiſite in the ſame Right. So if a Guardian in Socage of a Manor, to which a Villain is regardant, enters into Land purchaſed by the Villain, it ſhall be to the Uſe of the Infant. [g] So if a Biſhop enters into Land purchaſed by a Villain, whom he had in Right of his Church, he ſhall have the Land to the ſame Uſe, as appears in 42 Ed. 3. 24. becauſe it ſhould be Mortmain, if it was the Purchaſe of the Villain. [h] But if a Man has a Villain for Years in his own Right he ſhall have a Fee in the Land purchaſed by his Villain. It was ſaid that if a Man is entitled to be Tenant by the Curteſy of a Villain, and he enters into Land purchaſed by him, he ſhall be ſaid to be ſeized of it to his own Uſe, and not in Right of his Wife, becauſe he has the Villain in his own Right: But quære if ſo be he was not entitled to be Tenant by the Curteſy.

[f] S. P. Plowd. 292 (f), and ſee the Books there cited in the Margin.

[g] M. 41 Ed. 3. 21. pl. 8. Fitz. Mortmain 5. Bro. 5. Plowd. 235 (c), and ſee the other Books there cited in the Margin.

[h] Dr. and Stud. lib. 2. cap. 18. fo. 170. Co. Litt. 117. a.

235. Tenant in Tail levies a Fine, and takes back an Eſtate in Fee upon Condition, and dies, the Heir enters, and is remitted, and afterwards the Proclamations paſs, if this takes away the Remitter, and if the Condition remains, is the Queſtion.

236. If a Man deviſes Land which he has for Years, and dies, and his Executors do Waſt, and afterwards deliver the Leaſe to the Deviſee, an Action of Waſt lies againſt the Executors for the Waſt aforeſaid in the tenuerunt, &c. notwithſtanding that againſt the Executors it ſhall have Relation. So if Tenant for Years grants his Term upon Condition, and afterwards the Grantee commits Waſt, and then the Tenant for Years enters for the Condition broken, an Action of Waſt ſhall be maintenable againſt the Grantee.

237. If Huſband and Wife make a Leaſe for Life, rendring Rent, Remainder for Life, the Huſband dies, the Wife accepts the Rent, if ſhe ſhall ouſt him in Remainder after the Death of the firſt Leſſee, is the Queſtion. And it ſeems that ſhe ſhall not, becauſe the whole is but the ſame Eſtate, and by her Acceptance ſhe affirmed the whole, for ſhe agreed to it, and an Agreement cannot be to part of an Eſtate, and not to the Reſidue. [a] For if a Reverſion is granted for Life, Remainder for Life, and the Tenant attorns to the firſt Grantee, ſaying that he will not attorn to the Remainder, yet this Declaration is nothing to the Purpoſe, for the Attornment is good for the whole. And ſo if the Tenant makes a Feoffment to divers, the Agreement to and Acceptance of the Services of the one ſhall be ſufficient for the whole, becauſe the whole is but one Eſtate. So if Huſband and Wife make a Leaſe of the Land of the Wife to two for their Lives, rendring Rent during the Life of the one, and after the Death of the Huſband the Wife accepts the Rent, ſhe ſhall not ouſt the other Leſſee being Survivor, cauſa qua ſupra. Same Law if an Infant who accepts at his full Age a Rent reſerved upon ſuch a Leaſe made by him within Age. But in the principal Caſe if the Rent had iſſued out of both the Eſtates, there had been no Doubt but the Acceptance ſhould have bound the Wife, as the Acceptance of Fealty ſhall do, and ſo of an Acceptance of Homage upon an Eſtate-Tail where the Remainder is over in Tail, but if for Life, it is as in the principal Caſe. But here if there had been a Confirmation in Deed made by the Wife, or if the Infant at full Age had confirmed the one Eſtate, this ſhould not have extended to the Remainder, any more than in the Caſe in Littleton. Quære if there is not a Diverſity, for a Confirmation is only of the Eſtate rehearſed. Note 29 Aſſ. pl. 17.

[a] Co. Litt. 310. a.

238. It ſeems that if an Acre is given to A. habendum in Fee or in Tail, he ſhall chuſe the Eſtate, and ſhall have it by his Election. And as to the Caſe where he commits Waſt in both Acres, it ſeems that by the doing of Waſt he has determined his Election, viz. that he ſhall have a Fee in it, for the Law ſays that he ſhall have a Fee in it rather than he ſhall be puniſhed. [b] And if Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe for Life, the Law ſays that it is for his own Life, rather than for the Life of the Leſſee, becauſe that would be a wrongful Eſtate. So by the firſt Waſt the Election was clearly determined. And if A. binds himſelf in an Obligation to B. or covenants with B. to enfeoff him of the Manor of Dale or Sale, there the Election is given to the Obligor, becauſe he is Agent, and ought to do the Act, and to ſuch is the Election given: So if the Obligation or Covenant was to wait upon him on Monday or Friday, the Election ſhall be given to the Agent, and not to B. [c] But if I give my black Horſe or my white Horſe, there the Donee ſhall take which he pleaſes, becauſe no Act is to be done by me, but by the Donee only, viz. by taking him, ſo that he is Agent therein; but if the Words had been that I ſhould deliver alſo, &c. then I had been Agent, and ſhould have had the Election. And if I enfeoff A. and B. and warrant the Land to the one or to the other, this is a void Warranty, becauſe the Election is not given to any. But if a Man is bound in an Obligation to me to pay Money to A. or B. he ſhall pay it to which of them he pleaſes, becauſe here paying is the firſt Act, but in the other Caſe taking and demanding are the firſt Acts, ſo that each will ſtrive to demand, and ſo there is a great Diverſity. A. gives two Acres to B. habendum the one for Life, the other in Fee, rendring Rent, without Deed, or a Robe, and does not ſhew in certain which Acre the Donee ſhall have for Life, &c. and afterwards B. makes a Feoffment over of both Acres, and then the Rent is in Arrear, and A. diſtrains in the one Acre only, and makes Avowry for the Robe in that Acre; quære bene.

[b] Co. Litt. 42. a. b.

[c] Co. Litt. 145. a. 1 Finch 43. 2 Finch 60.

239. If a Man makes a Leaſe for Life of arable Land, rendring Rent at Michaelmas and at the Annunciation of our Lady by equal Portions, and the Land is all ſown at Michaelmas, and the Leſſee dies, now if the Executors ſhall have the Land until the Corn is ripe, the Queſtion is if they ſhall pay Rent for it. And many are of Opinion that by an Action on the Caſe the Leſſor ſhall recover the Rent for the Land, becauſe the Executors ſhall have the Profits of the Land until, &c. and there is no Folly in the Leſſor, conſequently by common Reaſon they ſhall render the Value of the Land for the Time, altho' the Eſtate is determined. As if a Man makes a Gift in Tail, rendring 30*s.* &c. and the Donee dies without Iſſue, and his Wife is endowed, ſhe ſhall be attendant by 10*s.* and yet the Eſtate is determined, but ſhe claims affirming the Eſtate, &c. So is it in the other Caſe, notwithſtanding that ſome make a Diverſity between the Caſes, becauſe the Wife has the Land itſelf, [d] for if I will licenſe one to occupy my Land until ſuch Corn is ripe, this is a Leaſe, wherefore, &c. Same Law if the Leſſee at Will will relinquiſh the Land, ſaving the Corn. But perhaps if the Leſſor will determine his Will, the Leſſee ſhall have the Corn without giving any Recompence for the Land, becauſe it happens by the Default of the Leſſor. Quære if any may determine his Will for the Land which is ſown, during the Time that it is ſown, and upon good Conſideration? It ſeems that they cannot for that Land. But perhaps the Executors of Tenant in Fee-Simple ſhall have the Corn without paying for it. It was ſaid that if Tenant at Will is outlawed by the Leſſor, his Will is determined; ſee for this 5 H. 5. 3. in a Quare Impedit, where Tenant at Will was outlawed.

[d] Vide M. 5 H. 7. 1.

240. Note,

240. Note, if a Gift in Tail is made, with Warranty to him his Heirs and Aſſigns, and the Donee makes a Feoffment, and dies without Iſſue, this Warranty ſhall be no Bar in a Formedon in Reverter, as it ſeems to me, notwithſtanding 39 & 45 Ed. 3. 4. for the Cauſe of Action came after the Warranty made, and altho' the Gift, which was firſt, was but Conveyance, yet it is not the Subſtance of his Action. And if the Lord confirms the Eſtate of the Tennat, with Warranty, and afterwards the Tenant ceſſes, the Warranty ſhall be no Bar in a Ceſſavit, notwithſtanding that the Seigniory, which was in eſſe before the Warranty made, was the Conveyance to his Action, for the Action ariſes upon Cauſe afterwards. So in Waſt, &c. And further in the principal Caſe the Warranty is but in Tail, which is ended, for the Word (Aſſigns) is of the ſame Nature and Time as the Eſtate was before. For if I give Land to one and to his Aſſigns for ever, and further grant to him and to his Aſſigns that they ſhall have annually 20 Loads of Wood for ever, and the Tenant for Life grants over his Eſtate, and dies, the Aſſignee ſhall not have them, cauſa qua ſupra. It ſeems that the Warranty is a Fee-Simple conditional, and cannot be within the Equity of the Statute, becauſe the Statute abridges the Eſtates, &c. as a Cuſtom, or Condition, and then if it is out of the Statute, the Condition is not performed, becauſe he is dead without Iſſue, and then the Warranty is determined, ſo that without Iſſue non habuit poteſtatem alienandi.

241. In Debt againſt Executors they plead that the Releaſe of the Plaintiff bore Date after the Death of the Teſtator, with Averment that it was delivered to the Teſtator, and they cannot have Averment of the Delivery before the Date, for they who plead a Deed ſhall not ſay that it has a falſe Date, and ſee the Caſe adjudged 12 H. 6. 1. So if a Feme-Sole at the Feaſt of Michaelmas makes a Writing bearing Date at the Feaſt of Chriſtmas next afterwards, and before Chriſtmas ſhe takes Huſband, the other ſhall never take Advantage of this Deed, for the Huſband, and, after his Death, the Wife, ſhall ſay that ſhe was covert, &c. and he ſhall not aver the Delivery before, cauſa qua ſupra. So perhaps it ſhall be if one makes and delivers an Obligation at the Feaſt of Michaelmas, which bears Date at the Feaſt of Chriſtmas after the Delivery, and at the Feaſt of All Saints he releaſes all Actions to the Obligor, and after Chriſtmas he brings an Action of Debt, it ſeems that he ſhall plead the Releaſe, and ſay that the Obligation was delivered at Michaelmas, and that his Releaſe was delivered at the Feaſt of All Saints according to the Date thereof, and he, viz. the Obligor, ſhall not be eſtopped, but ſhall have this Plea, for altho' he who uſes the Deed ſhall be eſtopped to ſay that it has a falſe Date, as in the Caſes before, yet he who pleads againſt the Deed ſhall not be eſtopped, altho' he made the Deed, for the Falſity ſhall be in him who uſes the Deed having a falſe Date. But it is clear that if an Obligation is made and delivered at the Feaſt of St. Michael, and bears Date at the Feaſt of Chriſtmas afterwards, there if he uſes the Deed before the Feaſt of Chriſtmas (as he may well enough), the Date ſhall be void, but if he ſuffers the Feaſt to paſs, then he ſhall be eſtopped. But both Parties ſhall be eſtopped to vary from the Place of the Date contained in the Obligation. But it ſeems clearly that if an Infant makes and delivers an Obligation which bears Date two Years afterwards, and at the End of the two Years he is at full Age, he ſhall not be eſtopped to ſhew the Delivery before the Date, any more than a Feme-Covert ſhall, and this is clear, altho' there be ſome Doubt in the ſaid Caſe of a Releaſe, for otherwiſe every Infant might be deluded.

242. If the Grantee of a Rent-Charge dies without Heir, the Land ſhall be bound by a Statute-Merchant made by him, becauſe altho' it is determined, the Determination ſhall not have Relation, for if the Tenant is bound in ſuch Statute, and dies without Heir, the Statute ſhall be executed againſt the Lord by Eſcheat, ſo it ſhall not have more Relation in the other Caſe. And if one manumiſes a Villain, a Statute in which he was bound ſhall be executed upon him, if ſo be that a Writ of Execution iſſued before againſt him. And it was ſaid that if the Grantee of a Rent-Charge in Fee grants to a Stranger that if he pays ſuch a Sum to him or his Executors at ſuch a Day, he ſhall have the Rent in Fee, and the firſt Grantee dies without Heir, and the ſecond Grantee pays the Money to his Executors, it ſhall revive the Rent; but it was ſaid that inaſmuch as there was no Eſtate given to which a Condition might be annexed, both the Condition and the Grant are void, but if upon ſuch Condition he grants a Rent out of his Land, there the Condition and Grant are good. And many were of a contrary Opinion in the principal Caſe, and yet they ſaid that the Wife of the Grantee ſhould be endowed, for they ſaid if the Tenancy eſcheats, the Wife of the Lord ſhall not be afterwards endowed of the Seigniory; tamen quære, for the Caſes are not alike, as it ſeems to me.

243. Note that Juſtice Hinde ſaid in C. B. if I deviſe that my Executors ſhall ſell my Land, and one of them ſells the one Moiety, and the other ſells the other Moiety, this Sale is not warranted by the Teſtament, and if the Vendee enters, he is a Diſſeizor, becauſe the Authority ought to be jointly executed, as a Letter of Attorney to two to make Livery ought to be jointly executed. But if I deviſe my Land to my Executors to ſell, and one of them ſells the one Moiety, and the other ſells the other Moiety, this is warranted well enough, becauſe here the Executors have the Land by the Deviſe, and then they cannot properly be called Inſtruments, and inaſmuch as the Intent is performed, it is good enough. And therefore if I enfeoff two, upon Condition that they ſhall enfeoff J. S. and one of them enfeoffs him of the one Moiety, and the other enfeoffs him of the other Moiety, this is a Performance of the Condition, which Montague and Shelley denied. And if a Man makes two Attornies conjunctim, or if the King makes two Commiſſioners to hear and determine, &c. and one of them dies, the Power of the other is determined. But if two make a Feoffment, upon Condition to re-enfeoff one, and one of the Feoffees dies, the other may perform the Condition, ergo they are not in the Caſe of Miniſters. Vide 35 Aſſ. pl. 1.

244. If a Man being ſeized of two Acres in Fee has Iſſue two Daughters, and grants a Rent-Charge out of one of the Acres to the eldeſt Daughter, and dies, and the Land deſcends to them, and they make Partition, by which the eldeſt has the Land charged allotted to her, and the other being impleaded recovers againſt the eldeſt pro rata, ſhe ſhall hold the Land recovered in Value pro rata, with the Portion of the Rent.

and

245. If two Jointenants in Fee are diſſeized by the Father of the one, who dies ſeized, and his Son enters, it ſeems clearly that he is remitted to the whole Land, and his Companion ſhall enter with him; and it is not like to the Caſe where two are diſſeized, and a Deſcent is caſt during the Nonage of the one, and he enters, and is remitted for the Moiety, for there his Companion ſhall not enter, becauſe the Advancement is given to him in Reſpect of his Perſon more than in Reſpect of the Land; neither is it like as where Tenant in Tail enfeoffs the one Daughter, and dies, ſhe being within Age, for there ſhe is remitted, and her Companion ſhall not have Advantage of it, becauſe the Right was not in them before, nor is it like as where they have a joint Title of Formedon by Deſcent, and the Land deſcends to one only, there his Companion perhaps ſhall not take Advantage of it, becauſe the Tail was taken away, whereas here it was not. But perhaps if the Grandfather had diſſeized, &c. and the Land had deſcended to the Father, and from the Father to him, it had been otherwiſe, for there his Companion ſhould not have had Advantage of it, becauſe the Entry was taken away before. So if they had been diſſeized by a Stranger, who had died ſeized, and his Heir had entered, and had made a Leaſe for Life, Remainder over, and the Tenant for Life had died, now the whole ſhould have gone to him to whom the Remainder was appointed, quod Nota.

246. If Feoffee to Uſe bargains and ſells the Land to another, who has no Notice of the firſt Uſe, and Livery is not made, it ſeems clearly that the Bargainee ſhall have no Uſe in the Land, becauſe if he ſhould have a Uſe, there would be two Uſes of one and the ſame Land, which there ſhall never be, and here it cannot be ſo, for inaſmuch as the Land itſelf ſhall not paſs, the firſt Uſe cannot be extinct nor altered, becauſe there is no Tranſmutation of the Poſſeſſion. But if a Feoffment had been made to a Stranger upon good Conſideration, who had had no Notice, he had been ſeized to his own Uſe, and the firſt Uſe had been extinct, becauſe the Subſtance, viz. the Demeſn, is changed, and altered, and tranſpoſed. But if a Man commits a Diſſeizin to the Uſe of J. S. and bargains the Land, &c. it ſeems that the Bargainee has a Uſe, and J. S. may alſo agree, becauſe this Uſe is not of the Nature of another Uſe, quod Nota.

247. If the Iſſue in Tail is attainted of Felony, and is pardoned, and his Father dies, and a Stranger has Cauſe of Action, the Queſtion is, againſt whom he ſhall bring it before Entry by any. And ſome ſay that the Donor has the Freehold in Law, as if Tenant in Tail dies, having Iſſue in Ventre ſa mere, before the Birth of the Iſſue the Donor ſhall have the Land, ſo it is here, inaſmuch as for the Time he is dead without Heir. And others are of a contrary Opinion, viz. that there is none againſt whom, &c. as if Tenant for Life grants over his Eſtate to B. who dies, now before Entry there is none againſt whom, &c.

248. If a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, rendring Rent, upon Condition that if the Rent be behind, he ſhall enter and retain the Land until he be ſatisfied of the Arrears, and the Rent is behind, and he enters, and dies ſeized, it ſeems that the Executors ſhall not retain the Land, becauſe altho' by the Statute of 32 H. 8. they ſhall have the Arrears, yet foraſmuch as at the Beginning the Arrears were not a Chattle, they ſhall not retain the Land as a Pledge, as they ſhall do for the double Value, which was a Chattle at the Beginning. And here the Heir ſhall not retain it, becauſe he ſhall not have any Thing for which the Retainer ſhould be. As in 15 Ed. 4. 10. in Reſcous, it is ſaid that if the Defendant in Replevin avows for Rent due to him and his Wife, and thereupon has a Return, and dies, the Tenant ſhall have his Cattle again without any Agreement, becauſe the Executors cannot have Diſtreſs, inaſmuch as they cannot have the Rent itſelf, but the Wife ſhall have it, and the Wife cannot retain the Diſtreſs, for altho' ſhe ſhall have the Rent itſelf, yet ſhe is not Privy; ſo here.

249. If a Man makes a Feoffment by Deed of three Acres, and afterwards purchaſes another Acre, and makes Livery in that Acre, in the Name of that and of the other three, if the other three ſhall paſs, is the Queſtion.

250. If a Leaſe is made for Years, Remainder in Tail, and he in Remainder in Tail grants it over in Fee, and the Leſſee attorns, and the Years expire, and the Grantee enters, and dies ſeized, and the Tenant in Tail dies, his Iſſue may enter, becauſe the Grant was only during the Life of the Tenant in Tail, and then he did not die ſeized in Fee: And it ſeems that if the dying ſeized had been after the Death of the Tenant in Tail, it ſhould not have taken away his Entry, quære. But if the Iſſue of the Iſſue of the Grantee had entered, and died ſeized, his Entry had been taken away. And if Tenant in Tail enfeoffs his Donor, who dies ſeized, many are of Opinion that this Deſcent takes away the Entry of the Iſſue.

251. If there are two Diſſeizors, and one of them grants a Rent-Charge to a Stranger, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to the other in Fee, it ſeems that he ſhall hold the Land diſcharged, becauſe he claims merely from the Diſſeizee, and not from his Companion. But if a Man has two Sons by divers Venters, and dies, and before Entry the eldeſt grants a Rent Charge, and dies without Iſſue, and the youngeſt of the half Blood has the Land, now he ſhall be ſaid to be in immediately from the Father, and he does not claim from the Brother, and yet he ſhall hold the Land charged, by the Opinion of many, becauſe the eldeſt ſhall hold the Eſtate, &c. for if the Son, who granted the Rent-charge, had died without Iſſue, and the Land had gone to the Uncle, and from the Uncle to the Father, there altho' the Father could not be ſaid Heir to the Son, yet inaſmuch as the Land was charged, he ſhould have held it charged; ſo in the other Caſe. Quære, for in that Caſe there is a mean Deſcent, and it has no Relation.

252. If Land is given to A. and B. for their Lives, Remainder to the right Heirs of him who ſurvives, and B. grants a Rent-Charge in Fee out of the Land, and afterwards A. dies, the Queſtion is, if the Heir of B. ſhall hold the Land diſcharged, or not. If the Land had been given to them quamdiu inſimul vixerint, Remainder to the Heirs of him who dies firſt, it ſeems that the Heir ſhould not have taken the Land by Deſcent, but ſhould have taken the Fee by Purchaſe.

253. If Land is given by Deed to J. S. and to a Dean and his Succeſſors, and Livery is made to J. S. only in the Name of both, this does not veſt the Land in the Dean, becauſe they take it ſeverally, viz. [a] in common, and not jointly, inaſmuch as their Capacities are ſeveral, ſo that there is no Privity between them, for a Releaſe to one Tenant in common ſhall not enure to his Companion. But if the Diſcontinuee in Tail enfeoffs the Iſſue in Tail within Age and another, and makes Livery to the Infant in the Name of both, altho' the Infant ſhall be remitted for the one Moiety, yet the other Moiety veſts in the other, and they ſhall be Tenants in common, for their Capacities are not ſeveral, but they take it ſeverally by Operation of Law, and it enures to the Infant ſecondarily in Point of Operation, for firſt it veſts in him, and then he is remitted, ſo Note the Diverſity. So if the Reverſion is granted to the Tenant for Life and another, [b] or if the Seigniory is granted to the Tenant and another, this Acceptance ſhall be a ſufficient Attornment to the other, and yet the Jointure is ſevered in both Caſes; ſo Note the Reaſon thereof. But if there are two Tenants for Years, and the Reverſion is granted to one of them in Fee, quære if he ſhall take any more than the Moiety without the Attornment of his Companion, becauſe the Jointure was there ſevered by the Grant.

[a] Vide Litt. § 297.

[b] Co. Litt. 313. a.

254. If a Rent is granted to two, habendum to the one until he is married, and to the other until he is advanced to 10 l. per Ann. quære if they are Tenants in common, or Jointenants, and if they are, then when the one performs the Condition, quære if the other ſhall have the whole. So if a Rent is granted to two, habendum to the one for his Life, and to the other for his Life, quære if they are Tenants in common.

255. If a Rent-Charge iſſues out of two Acres, and the Tenant of the Land makes a Feoffment of one of the Acres, ſo that the one of them is in the one Perſon, and the other in the other Perſon, now the Grantee of the Rent may diſtrain in either of the Acres for the whole, but if the one Tenant pays him the Rent, and the other is diſtrained, he ſhall plead Payment by his Companion, becauſe it diſcharges the whole Tenancy. So, as it ſeems, was the Law before the Statute of Quia emptores terrarum, if the Tenant had made a Feoffment of Parcel, quære inde. So if a Man has a Wife, and makes ſeveral Feoffments with Warranty, and the Wife brings Dower againſt one of the Feoffees, he ſhall plead that the Heir has endowed her, having Regard to the whole Land; but Note that in that Caſe there is great Privity between the Tenant and the Heir, for the Tenant might have vouched the Heir, and if he had not come in, the Wife might have had immediate Judgment againſt him, and perhaps this ſhall be the Reaſon there; but it ſeems to me that he may alſo plead that one of the Feoffees had endowed the Wife, ut ſupra, becauſe this goes in Diſcharge of the Tenancy. So if the Conuſor in a Statute-Merchant makes a Feoffment of one Parcel to one, and of another Parcel to another, it ſeems that if he ſues Execution againſt the one Feoffee, he ſhall have an Audita Querela againſt the Conuſee, and ſhall ſay that the other Feoffee has paid him, and ſo has diſcharged his Land.

256. If a Woman entitled to have Dower enters into the ſame Land, and diſſeizes the Tenant, and afterwards ſhe is diſſeized by another to whom the Diſſeizee releaſes, it ſeems clearly that the Wife ſhall never have her Dower, for when ſhe was diſſeized, her Dower was ſuſpended in the Poſſeſſion of the Diſſeizor, as well as it was in her own Poſſeſſion; for the Diſſeizor came in in the Poſt, and ſhall be in as the Wife was, for if the Wife had charged the Land, the Diſſeizor ſhould have held it charged alſo, which proves that he ſhall be in the ſame Caſe as the Wife was; and altho' her Dower ſhould have been revived if the Diſſeizee had entered, yet the Releaſe ſhall not countervail an Entry in this Caſe.

257. Land is given to Huſband and Wife and to a third Perſon in Fee, the Huſband makes a Leaſe for Years, and dies, and the Wife dies, if the third Perſon ſhall avoid the Leaſe is the Queſtion. Some ſay clearly that the Leaſe is determined by the Death of the Huſband, but if ſhe had joined in the Leaſe, altho' no Rent had been reſerved, yet if ſhe had done no Act afterwards to diſprove it, it ſeems that he ſhould not avoid it. And where Huſband and Wife are Tenants in Tail, and the Huſband makes a Leaſe for Years, and dies, and the Wife dies, the Queſtion is, if the Acceptance of the Rent by the Iſſue ſhall make the Leaſe good.

258. Note upon the Caſe of 35 Aſſ. pl. ult. &c. if two Femes Jointenants in Fee have Huſbands, who make ſeveral Feoffments of their Moieties, and die, the Women ſhall not join in a Writ of Right, becauſe their Right was diſcontinued at ſeveral Times. So if one Jointenant diſſeizes the other, and afterwards being within Age makes a Feoffment, and dies, or if two Infants Jointenants in Fee make ſeveral Feoffments, and the one dies, the other ſhall have no Remedy for the Moiety; but if the Wrong had been done to them at one Time, altho' it had been by ſeveral Ways, it had been otherwiſe. For if the one Jointenant within Age makes a Feoffment of the whole Land, and dies, or if the two Huſbands join in the Feoffment, there the Survivor ſhall have it, becauſe they might join in a Writ of Right, ſo it ſeems that the Right ſhall ſurvive. And if two Jointenants are diſſeized, the one being within Age, and a Deſcent is caſt during the Non-age, and the other dies, the Infant may enter into the whole, for when he ſurvives, it is as if he had been diſſeized of the whole. But in the principal Caſe the Survivor does not claim under the Diſcontinuee, nor ſhall take away the Diſcontinuance, but he claims upon Title paramount.

259. If two Parceners make Partition, and the one of them has one Acre in Tail, and the other has another Acre in Fee, and he who has the Acre in Tail makes a Feoffment thereof, and a Stranger enters into the Acre upon Title paramount, it ſeems that the Iſſue of him who had the Fee cannot enter, but is driven to his Formedon for the Moiety of the Acre in Tail: Yet quære, for, as to him, the other was not ſeized in Tail of the whole Acre, but only of the Moiety.

260. If A. exchanges Land with B. in Fee, who makes a Feoffment over to a Stranger, and one enters upon Title paramount into the Land of A. it ſeems that he cannot enter upon the Feoffee of B. becauſe the Privity of the Exchange is utterly annulled by the Feoffment of B. As if two Coparceners make Partition, and one of them aliens in Fee, and a Stranger enters upon the other upon Title paramount, ſhe ſhall not enter and occupy the Land with the Feoffee, becauſe the Privity is diſſolved, for ſhe ſhall not recover thereof pro rata after the Feoffment, as appears in 11 H. 4. in a Cui in vita; ſo in the other Caſe the Privity of the Exchange is merely diſſolved. And Note, if A. and B. make an Exchange, and A. leaſes for Life, and B. is impleaded, and recovers in Warrantia chartæ, and has Execution of other Land, as he ſhall have, and afterwards the Tenant for Life dies, and A. enters, upon whom a Stranger enters upon Title paramount, it ſeems that he has no Remedy for the Land rendered in Value, for that does not go in Privity, as the Exchange does. But yet in Dower if a Recovery is had in Value, and the Tenant in Dower dies, he may enter into the Value again, as it ſeems. If A. and B. exchange Land, and A. dies, and in a Præcipe againſt B. he vouches the Heir of A. who enters into the Warranty, and cannot bar the Demandant, by which he recovers, and B. recovers over in Value, and the Demandant enters, the Queſtion is, if B. may enter upon the Heir, or ſhall be driven to an Habere facias ad valentiam. And it ſeems that he may enter, for the Deſcent is not material againſt ſuch a Condition as this is, for if there had been an expreſs Condition, he might have entered, and ſo he may now, and the one Coparcener may enter upon the Iſſue of the other after a Deſcent, if an Entry is had upon her. Further here put the Caſe that the whole Land is recovered, there he might waive the Benefit of Voucher, and enter, if an Entry was made upon B. without Suit brought, and ſo may he now, for if he ſhould be driven to an Habere facias ad valentiam, he might be greatly hurt thereby, becauſe perhaps the Land which the Demandant recovers is leſs in Value than the whole Land of the other, ſo that by that Means he ſhould but have according to the Portion. But if Part of the Land given in Exchange had been recovered againſt B. he could not have entered, becauſe he ſhall not be his own Judge of the Portion, but where the whole is recovered, the whole Exchange is annulled, for which Reaſon he may enter, as if after Partition the whole Land is recovered againſt the one Coparcener, who has prayed in Aid of her Companion, ſhe may enter upon her Siſter, and avoid the whole Partition, without ſuing Execution pro rata, notwithſtanding that ſhe had the leſſer Part, and was of full Age at the Time of the Partition, ſo that Folly might be imputed to her; Nota. And it ſeems clearly that if the one Exchangee makes a Feoffment of his Part, the other ſhall not enter upon the Feoffee, for the Condition is broken and diſſolved, as it is between Coparceners, &c. quod vide 11 H. 4. But quære if after a Feoffment made by one Exchangee, the other vouches him, if he ſhall recover of his own Land. If two Acres are exchanged for a Manor, and a Stranger enters into one of the Acres upon Title paramount, he ſhall enter into the whole Manor, becauſe it is an entire Thing, and quære if he ſhall retain the other Acre.

261. Tenant by the Curteſy of a Seigniory, to which a Tenancy eſcheats, makes a Feoffment thereof with Warranty, if this ſhall be a Bar to the Iſſue without Aſſets is the Queſtion.

262. Note, if a Dean has a Rent-Charge in Fee out of Land, and the Tenant aliens the Land to the Dean in Fee, and the Lord enters for Mortmain, it ſeems that he ſhall hold the Land diſcharged of the Rent, becauſe when he enters for Mortmain, he has not annulled the Livery, but he affirms it by his Entry, for he ſhall not diſprove the Cauſe of his Entry. So if the Dean, before the Feoffment, had been bound in a Statute-Merchant, the Lord, who enters for Mortmain, ſhould hold it diſcharged of Execution. But if Tenant for Life aliens in Fee to him who has a Rent-Charge iſſuing out of the Land in Fee, and the Leſſor enters for the Forfeiture, it ſeems that the Rent ſhall not be extinct, for there the Leſſor has the ſame Fee Simple which he had before the Leaſe made, and he is in of his own Eſtate, and not of the Eſtate which the Leſſee gave to the Feoffee, and ſo is the Diverſity. And if a Woman Tenant for Life takes Huſband, who aliens in Fee, and the Leſſor enters, and the Huſband dies, it ſeems that the Wife may enter, vide de hoc. But many are of the contrary Opinion in the firſt Caſe, for his Eſtate in the Land was always defeaſible. If a Feme-Covert be enfeoffed, and diſſeized by a Stranger, and afterwards the Huſband diſagrees to the firſt Eſtate, and dies, the Wife may enter, and retain it againſt the firſt Feoffor, for the Diſagreement was frivolous, the Wife having then a Right only, quod Nota.

263. If a Man dies ſeized of one Acre in Tail, and of another Acre in Fee, having Iſſue two Daughters, and they make Partition, ſo that the youngeſt has the Acre in Tail, and the eldeſt enters into the Acre in Fee, it ſeems that the Lord, of whom the Acre in Fee is held, ſhall take Notice of this Partition, and is compellible to take the eldeſt for his Tenant, and to avow upon her; otherwiſe it ſeems as to the Donor of the Acre in Tail, for he ſhall not be bound by this Partition unduly made, any more than the Iſſue in Tail ſhall, notwithſtanding that between the Parties who made the Partition, being of full Age, it ſhall be concluſive. But if one Acre in Tail be allotted to one, and another to the other, the Donor ſhall be bound thereby.

264. If a Leaſe for Life is made, rendring Rent, the Remainder for Life, and the Leſſor grants the Reverſion to him in Remainder, and the firſt Tenant for Life attorns, he ſhall not have the Rent, becauſe the Fee-Simple merges the Remainder to ſome Purpoſes, yet for this Purpoſe it is in eſſe, and he is in the firſt Eſtate, others contrary, and that he ſhall have an Action of Waſt now, Nota.

265. * Note if a Feme Jointenant for Years with another takes Huſband, and dies, it ſeems that the Survivor ſhall have the whole Term, for if ſhe alone had had the Term, and the Huſband had died, ſhe ſhould have had it, and not his Executors, ergo ſhe had it alone, and he had

* S. P. Plowd. 418 (b). Co. Litt. 185. b.

it

it in right of his Wife. * But otherwiſe it is of Chattles perſonal. But if an Obligation is made to a Feme-Sole and another, and ſhe takes Huſband, and dies, the Survivor ſhall have the whole Duty, for the Huſband cannot have a Choſe in Action due to the Wife unleſs as her Executor, &c. And it ſeems to ſome that if a Feme-Sole has a Term for Years, and takes Huſband, and dies, the Ordinary may commit Adminiſtration thereof to a Stranger, for the Huſband ſhall not have it unleſs as Executor or Adminiſtrator of the Wife, for otherwiſe he cannot retain it againſt the Ordinary; but the Law ſeems to be contrary, for the Marriage is a Gift in Law of it as ſtrong as a Gift in Deed.

* Plowd. 418(g), and ſee the Books there cited in the Margin.

266. If Land is given to Huſband and Wife in Fee, and the Huſband dies, and the Wife waives the Poſſeſſion, and recovers in Dower againſt the Heir, ſhe ſhall have Damages, for when ſhe refuſes, the Huſband ſhall be ſaid to die ſeized, and ſo within the Compaſs of the Statute. And if a Man has a Wife, and makes a Feoffment, and takes back an Eſtate to him and another in Fee, and the Huſband dies, the Wife ſhall not recover Damages, for he did not die ſeized of ſuch Eſtate for which ſhe ſhall recover, but her Dower was of the Eſtate before; ſo if he had taken back an Eſtate in Fee upon Condition, &c. for the Law ſays that ſhe is endowed of the firſt Eſtate, and not under the Condition.

267. A Man has two Sons, the youngeſt has two Daughters, and the Grandfather is ſeized of two Acres at the Common Law, and of twenty Acres in Borough-Engliſh, and gives the two Acres to the youngeſt Daughter in Frank Marriage, the youngeſt Son dies, and the Grandfather dies ſeized, it ſeems that the twenty Acres ſhall deſcend equally to the two Daughters, and the two Acres ſhall not be put in Hotchpot, becauſe the Deſcent merely is not their Title, but the Cuſtom alſo. As if the Grandfather was the Donor, where the Father ſurvives him, who dies before Entry, there the Land deſcended from the Grandfather ſhall be equally divided between them, becauſe they claim the Poſſeſſion as Heir to the Grandfather, but the Right from the Father, ſo that the Deſcent does not come entirely from the Grandfather. So if Part of the Lands which deſcend on the Part of the Mother be given to one of the Heirs on the Part of the Mother, and the Donor dies without Iſſue, this Land ſhall not be put in Hotchpot, cauſa qua ſupra.

268. Lord, Meſne, and Tenant by 10*s.* and Owelty, the Meſne grants the 10*s.* for Term of Life, ſo that it is a Rent-Seck, this is recovered, and afterwards the Tenant enfeoffs the Lord, if he ſhall have a Quod ei deforceat is the Queſtion.

269. A Man grants a Rent-Charge in Tail, and afterwards enfeoffs the Grantee of the Land in Fee, who makes a Gift in Tail of the Land, rendring to him as many Services as he pays over to the Lord paramount, and dies, it ſeems that the Iſſue ſhall not have a Formedon of the Rent, inaſmuch as here he has a Warranty, viz. the Reverſion of the Land, which is a good Warranty, becauſe the Land is diſcharged at the Time of the Gift in Tail, as 31 Ed. 3. Scire facias and it is not like to the Caſe of 38 Ed. 3. for the Reverſion of the ſame Thing demands no Aſſets, here it is of another Thing, viz. of the Land, and the Demand is of the Rent, and the Services reſerved are beneficial to the Heir by the Covin of the Father, altho' the Law would have reſerved them without thoſe Words. And then it is to be ſeen if this Service, which is allowed barely to be conveyed over to the Lord, and ſo not beneficial to the Heir, may be Aſſets. And it ſeems that it is, becauſe it is eſpecially reſerved for the Land; but without ſuch Aſſets the Reverſion upon a Gift in Tail cannot be Aſſets, becauſe ſubject to a common Recovery. The ſame Reaſon holds as to the Rent, as it ſeems. Further, this Reverſion here, in which the Rent was ſuſpended, is deſcended to the Iſſue, ſo that during that Suſpenſion there is no Action to charge the Poſſeſſion, becauſe he hath the Reverſion diſcharged, as a Confirmation ſhall go to the Benefit of the Poſſeſſion. See alſo if this may be a Waiver of the Reverſion, as 13 R. 2. Scire facias, Brief 645.

270. Leſſee for 20 Years makes a Leaſe for 10 Years to J. S. who purchaſes the Reverſion of the firſt Leſſor, with Attornment of the firſt Leſſee, the Executor of the Leſſee for 10 Years ſhall not have the Reſidue of the Term, but the Heir, and yet he ſhall pay the firſt Rent reſerved to the Leſſee for 20 Years, in Nature of a Rent-charge granted by him, for the Term is in eſſe with Reſpect to that; mirum eſt if the firſt Leſſee cannot diſtrain.

271. Note that the Goods of thoſe who are attainted by Verdict, or Outlawry, or Confeſſion, are called Catalla felonum. And if a Man flies for Felony, the Goods which he has at that Time are called bona waiviata, and if he is attainted afterwards, yet they ſhall be ſo called. But if a Man flies for Felony, and afterwards is taken and acquitted, there his Goods are forfeited as catalla fugitivorum; ſo in all theſe Caſes the Property was in him who fled or was a Felon. And alſo, by ſome, bona waiviata are thoſe Goods which are ſtolen by a Felon who leaves them; and no freſh Suit ſhall be but by Appeal. Vide 29 Ed. 3 et 12 Ed. 4. 6.

272. Land is given to Huſband and Wife and to a third Perſon, and to the Heir of the Huſband begotten upon the Wife, they have Iſſue, the Huſband dies, the Tenant for Life aliens the Moiety in Fee, the Wife makes continual Claim, the Iſſue dies without Iſſue, quære if the Wife may enter afterwards upon the Heir of the Feoffee who dies within the Year after continual Claim. It ſeems that altho' at the Time of the continual Claim ſhe had a Right of Entry, yet now the Eſtate is changed, and ſhe ſhall not enter. Quære how continual Claim may be made by a Tenant in common for the Poſſeſſion pro indiviſo. Note, if the Diſſeizee makes continual Claim, and dies, and after his Death a Deſcent is caſt within a Year after the Claim, the Heir of the Diſſeizee cannot enter, becauſe it ſhall only give Title for the Advantage of the Perſon who durſt not enter; but if the Deſcent had been in the Life of the Diſſeizee, then the Heir of the Diſſeizee might well have had Benefit of it, becauſe a Title of Entry deſcended. But if Tenant for Life with Remainder over be diſſeized, and makes continual Claim, and dies, he in Remainder ſhall avoid a Deſcent happening within a Year after the Claim, becauſe by the continual Claim his Intereſt was reduced. Otherwiſe it is of the Son in the Life of the Father, for he has no Title, for his Title

Title is only by the Death of the Father, but he in Remainder claims by the firſt Livery. Quære if two Jointenants are diſſeized, and one of them makes continual Claim, and dies, and afterwards a Deſcent is caſt? Littleton puts the the Caſe of him in Remainder, that the Deſcent is had in the Life of the Tenant for Life, and then clearly the Remainder over. It ſeems that if the Diſſeizee makes continual Claim, and dies, and within the Year afterwards a Deſcent is had, the Lord ſhall alter his Avowry before Notice, for he is not Privy to this paravail, nor ſhall he have the Iſſue in Ward, nor ſhall he have any Eſcheat after the Deſcent upon the dying of the Diſſeizee without Heir.

273. If there are two Coparceners of Land in Tail, and one of them grants a Rent to the other for Equality of Partition, this Rent is in Tail, and of the ſame Condition as the firſt is, 2 H. 7. 5. This is true by Plowden, but Note that he held that the Eſtate in the Rent ſhall be of the ſame Nature with the Eſtate in the Reſidue received, and not of the ſame Nature with the Eſtate in the Land out of which it iſſues. And therefore if there are two Coparceners of one Acre in Fee, and of another Acre in Tail, and upon Partition ſhe who has the Acre in Fee grants a Rent to the other who has the Acre in Tail, this Rent ſhall be in Tail, and not in Fee; but if ſhe who has the Acre in Tail grants a Rent to the other who has the Acre in Fee, this Rent ſhall be in Fee, and not in Tail, for if ſhe dies without Iſſue, her Heir ſhall have it as long as the other has an Heir of her Body, for until that Time the Partition ſhall ſtand in Force on each Side. But if there are four Acres, three of which are in Fee, and one in Tail, and ſhe who has two Acres in Fee grants a Rent to the other for Equality, this Rent ſhall be in Fee, and not in Tail, quia ſequitur magis principale, quod Nota.

274. If the Seignioreſs ſeizes the Wardſhip of the Body and Land of the Heir of the Tenant, and afterwards intermarries with the Villain in groſs of the Heir, and they do Waſt, and the Heir brings an Action of Waſt, it ſeems clearly that his Body is out of Ward; and alſo foraſmuch as the Reaſon why the Land is in Ward, is, becauſe Knight's-Service cannot be done by the Infant, ſo that the Cauſe is executory, and in Conſideration that the Seigniory remains, and now, during the Coverture, by the Intermarriage with the Villain the Seigniory is determined in the Tenancy without any Claim, and ſo the Freehold and Inheritance of the Seigniory is merged in the Tenancy by the Act of Law, notwithſtanding that the Chattle and Poſſeſſion of the Seigniory is ſuſpended by Reaſon of the Chattle in the Tenancy, viz. the Wardſhip of the Land, becauſe the Huſband ſhall be Tenant by the Curteſy of it, and it may be granted over, notwithſtanding this Suſpenſion, by Reaſon of the Chattle in the Tenancy, and by the ſame Reaſon it ſhall be a Releaſe in Law to the Lord of the Villain by the Act of the Law, and therefore the Land ſhall be out of Ward, nam ceſſante cauſa, &c. And yet if they had granted the Seigniory to another, he ſhould have remained in Ward, but when it comes to the Infant himſelf, it is extinguiſhed for the Time, and therefore he ſhall be out of Ward. But here perhaps the bringing of the Action of Waſt notifies the Election of the Infant, viz. that he will not take Advantage of the Seigniory by Extinguiſhment, and againſt his Will it ſhall not be in him. For if there is Lord, Meſne, and Tenant, and the Tenant holds by 12*d.* and the Meſne by 20*s.* and the Villain of the Tenant purchaſes the Meſnalty, or it deſcends to him, there if this ſhould be a Diſcharge of the Meſnalty in the Tenancy by a Releaſe in Law againſt his Will, then he ſhould hold by 20*s.* and perhaps he would rather manumiſe the Villain than do ſo, for which Reaſon the Law ſays that where there is no Prejudice done, there ſhall be Extinguiſhment without Claim, otherwiſe not. Quære wherefore, for the Infant ſhall not reſeize the Land for a Perquiſite, as if Leſſee for Years of the Father marries with the Villain in Groſs of the Heir who is an Infant, the Infant may clearly enter into the Term as a Perquiſite.

275. If a Woman who has a Rent-Charge in Fee marries with the Tenant of the Land, and a Stranger releaſes to the Tenant with Warranty, it ſeems that no Remedy can be had for the Warranty, as to the Rent, either by Voucher or by Warrantia chartæ, becauſe the Warranty does not extend to the Land diſcharged of the Rent, for the Rent was ſuſpended by Act of the Law, and neither the Wife, after the Death of the Huſband, nor the Heir of the Wife, in the Huſband's Life-Time, can have any Action for the Rent upon Title before the Warranty made, for if the Heir of the Wife brings a Mortdanceſtor, this is of later Time, and ſubſequent to the Warranty. So if the Grantee of a Rent grants it to the Tenant upon Condition, who makes a Feoffment of the Land with Warranty, this Warranty cannot extend to the Rent, and yet the Land was diſcharged of the Rent, but all the Actions ſhall be conſidered as a Cauſe of Action ariſing afterwards, for if the Condition is broken, and afterwards an Action is given, this ariſes after the Warranty made. But if a Woman who has a Rent intermarries with the Tenant, who makes a Feoffment of the Land with Warranty, and dies, and the Wife brings a Cui in Vita of the Rent, the Feoffee ſhall vouch as of Land diſcharged. So if Tenant in Tail of a Rent purchaſes the Land, and makes a Feoffment, and the Feoffee aliens with Warranty, or if the Tenant in Tail of a Rent releaſes to the Tenant of the Land, who aliens over with Warranty, there if the Iſſue brings a Formedon, he ſhall vouch as of Land diſcharged. So if an Infant has a Rent, and diſſeizes the Tenant, and is diſſeized by another, who aliens with Warranty, this Warranty extends to the Rent, becauſe in all theſe Caſes the Land was diſcharged of the Rent at the Time of the Feoffment in Fee, and the Action is conceived upon an Action paramount the Warranty. But if a Man grants a Rent-Charge out of Land to commence at Michaelmas, and the Tenant makes a Feoffment with Warranty, or if Reſcous is made, and afterwards a Feoffment is made of the Land with Warranty, as in 31 Ed. 3. in Warrantia chartæ, there the Warranty does not go to the Rent, becauſe the Rent was not in eſſe at that Time; but if upon Reſcous he brings Aſſize, and is non-ſuited, and afterwards the Tenant makes a Feoffment of the Land with Warranty, this Warranty does well extend to the Rent, quod Nota.

276. If there is Lord and Tenant, and the Lord grants the Seigniory, and the Tenant is diſſeized, and afterwards attorns, it is good; but if the Lord grants the Rent, ſaving the Seigniory, and the Tenant is afterwards diſſeized, and attorns, it is void, becauſe it is now a Rent-ſeck, in which there is no Attendancy, but a Charge to the Land. And if a Man grants a Rent reſerved upon a Leaſe for Life, ſaving the Reverſion, this is a good Rent-ſeck, if Attornment of the Tenant be had; but if a Rent reſerved upon a Leaſe for Years be granted over, ſaving the Reverſion, it is void, for Debt ſhall not lie for the Grantee, and he cannot have any other Action, nota ideo.

277. Tenant in Tail makes a Feoffment in Fee, and dies, the Feoffee makes a Leaſe for Life, and grants the Reverſion to the Iſſue, he ſhall not have a Formedon againſt the Tenant for Life, for he has aſſented to the Reverſion expectant upon the Leaſe for Life. But if Tenant in Tail makes a Leaſe pur auter vie, and dies, notwithſtanding the Deſcent of the Reverſion in Fee, the Iſſue ſhall have a Formedon, for the Reverſion is waived by the bringing of the Action. And therefore if a Man aliens in Fee upon Condition, and the Feoffee makes a Leaſe for Life, and afterwards grants the Reverſion to the Feoffor, he ſhall not enter upon the Tenant for Life for the Condition broken, becauſe the Condition was annexed to the whole Fee, and he cannot avoid the whole, ergo he ſhall not avoid Part, and if he has Cauſe to have a Writ of Right, or other real Action, he cannot have it againſt the Tenant for Life, the Reverſion being in himſelf by his own Acceptance. And therefore if the Diſcontinuee makes a Leaſe to the Iſſue in Tail and another, with Livery to the other, and afterwards grants the Reverſion to the Iſſue, and the other dies, ſo that the Freehold is caſt upon the Iſſue without his Folly, yet he ſhall not be remitted, cauſa qua ſupra.

278. Diſſeizor dies without Heir, his Wife priviment enſeint, the Lord enters, the Son is born, the Diſſeizee enters upon the Lord, and he brings Aſſize, if the Entry had been before the Birth of the Son, it had been clearly lawful, and he had been remitted, and the Birth afterwards ſhould not have avoided the Remitter. As if the Diſcontinuee makes a Gift in Tail, Remainder to the Iſſue in Tail, and the firſt Donee dies without Iſſue, his Wife priviment enſeint, now the Iſſue of the firſt Tenant is remitted, and although the Iſſue of the ſecond Donee be afterwards born, the Remitter continues. But in the firſt Caſe the Entry is not until after the Birth of the Son, for if a Stranger had abated, the Diſſeizor having Iſſue, or if after Abatement the Son had been born, the Diſſeizee could not have entered, for the Abator might ſay that the Land deſcended to the Iſſue, whoſe Eſtate he hath; but here the Lord is not puniſhable for his firſt Entry, becauſe it was then lawful, and the ſame Eſtate continued until an Entry in Deed, for if a Guardian holds himſelf in at the full Age of the Heir, and afterwards, no Mortdanceſtor lies againſt him at the common Law, quod nota et quære.

279. If the Diſſeizee releaſes all Actions to the Diſſeizor, and dies, and afterwards the Diſſeizor dies, and his Heir enters, and dies, and the Land deſcends to the Heir of the Diſſeizee, is he remitted? It ſeems that by the Releaſe all Actions which he had or might have afterwards by Reaſon of the ſame Right are releaſed, ſame Law of Actions which his Heir might have for the ſame Diſſeizin, ſo that a Writ of Entry in the Quibus is releaſed, although the Heir had not Cauſe of Action at that Time, and therefore the Caſe is the ſame, as to the Extinguiſhment of Action, as if he had releaſed after the Deſcent. Then it ſeems that inaſmuch as he had Right, notwithſtanding this Releaſe, ſo that he might have entered, this Right ſhall not be gone by the Deſcent afterwards, but he ſhall be remitted. And yet ſome ſay that a Remitter ſhall never be where there is a Cauſe of Action, ſo that without his Folly there is nobody againſt whom he may bring his Action, but although he has no Action here, he has not loſt it by the Law, but by his own Act, and the Right remains, which is the Cauſe of the Remitter, and in many Caſes a Right ſhall remain without an Action. As if there be Tenant for Life of a Seigniory, and the Tenancy eſcheats, and a Stranger intrudes, and the Tenant for Life dies before Entry, he in Reverſion cannot have any Action, but he may enter as upon the Diſſeizor of his Tenant, but if he dies, and his Heir is in by Deſcent, there he cannot enter, and yet he has a Right, and ſhall be remitted upon the Deſcent. And if a Man deviſes Land, and afterwards a Deſcent is had, there is no Entry in this Caſe for the Deviſee, that is, when a Stranger intrudes, &c. and not upon a Deſcent in the Heir of the Deviſor to his Heir, and perhaps in this Caſe upon a Deſcent to the Deviſee afterwards there is no Remitter, becauſe he had not a Right but only a Title. And it ſeems that a Releaſe of Actions is but a Concluſion which goes in Privity of Blood, and not of Eſtate, and therefore after ſuch Releaſe to the Diſſeizor, if he aliens over, this Releaſe is not pleadable by the Alienee, becauſe he is not Privy, and it does not go with the Eſtate. So if the Diſſeizor makes a Leaſe for Life, Remainder over, and Diſſeizee releaſes all Actions real to the Tenant for Life, who dies, he in Remainder ſhall never plead this, as he ſhould have done if it had been a Releaſe of Right, and therefore if a Releaſe of all Actions had been made to him in Remainder, it had been merely void to all Purpoſes, and he ſhould never have pleaded it. So it ſeems that ſuch Releaſe of Actions does not extinguiſh the Right, if the Entry be taken away, otherwiſe than by Eſtoppel, which being removed by the Deſcent in Law, the Releaſe ſhall ceaſe to be concluſive afterwards. And it ſeems that if the Heir of the Diſſeizor enfeoffs two, and the Diſſeizee releaſes all Actions to one of them, and he dies, the other ſhall never plead this Releaſe. And ſo if two are diſſeized, and one of them releaſes all Actions to him who is in by Deſcent, and dies, the other, as Survivor, ſhall have an Action for the whole Land. And it was ſaid that if a Man dies without Heir, his Wife priviment enſeint, and the Lord by Eſcheat enters, and afterwards the Iſſue is born, he ſhall have no Action againſt the Lord, for a Mortdanceſtor does not lie but againſt an Abator, but his Remedy is by Entry.

280. If a Man has Iſſue Baſtard eigne and Mulier puiſne, and makes a Leaſe for Years, and dies, and the Years expire, and the Baſtard enters, and dies ſeized, and his Iſſue enters, the Right of the Mulier is not bound, becauſe the Poſſeſſion of the Tenant for Years before the Expiration of the Term was the Poſſeſſion in Deed of the Mulier, and then inaſmuch as he was once ſeized in Deed, ſo that he ſhall have an Aſſize, and not a Mortdanceſtor, and ſuch Poſſeſſion ſhould make poſſeſſio fratris, from thence it follows that this ſhall not take away the Right of the Mulier. And if a Man has Iſſue Baſtard eigne and Mulier puiſne, and dies ſeized of a Manor, and the Baſtard enters, and gets Seizin of the Services of all the Tenants, and afterwards one of the Tenants makes a Leaſe for Life to the Baſtard, who dies ſeized, and his Iſſue enters into the Manor, it ſeems that the Mulier may diſtrain the Tenant, who made the Leaſe for Life, for all the Services due after the Death of the Father, becauſe his Entry was not taken away for the Service of this Tenancy, the Seigniory of the ſame Tenancy being ſuſpended in the Eſtate for Life, and therefore there was no Deſcent thereof: But if the Leaſe had been for Years it had been otherwiſe. And if a Man has Iſſue Baſtard eigne and Mulier puiſne, and is diſſeized, and dies, and the Baſtard ouſts the Diſſeizor, and dies ſeized, now foraſmuch as no Poſſeſſion in Law deſcended from the Father, but a naked Right which veſted in the Mulier, for this Reaſon the Deſcent of the Baſtard ſhall not take away the Right of the Mulier. But if the Father had died ſeized, and a Stranger had abated, upon whom the Baſtard had entered, and died ſeized, there the Mulier ſhould have been barred by many, becauſe the Poſſeſſion in Law deſcended: But Quære, for the Entry of the Abator veſts a Right of Action in the Mulier, which cannot be deveſted by the Entry of the Baſtard, who by his own Entry ſubjects himſelf to an Aſſize by the Abator, and therefore if the youngeſt Son enters upon the Abator, and dies, the eldeſt cannot enter upon the Son of the youngeſt, but is anſwerable to the Action of the Abator, and ſo in another Courſe than the Caſe in Littleton. And if a Man has a Son who is Baſtard eigne, and a Daughter who is Mulier puiſne, and dies ſeized of a Rent, the Daughter having a Huſband, and afterwards the Baſtard gets Seizin of the Rent, and dies ſeized thereof, and it deſcends to his Iſſue, yet the Huſband ſhall be Tenant by the Curteſy, and many are of Opinion that the Mulier ſhall not be bound thereby, becauſe at the Time of the Deſcent the Rent was in eſſe in the Daughter, although ſhe had not Aſſets, and the Daughter might chuſe whether ſhe would be out of Poſſeſſion of the Rent, or not, and therefore it was at her Election whether or no any Wrong ſhould be done to her of the ſame Rent. [a] And if a Man dies ſeized, having a Son Baſtard eigne, and a Daughter Mulier puiſne, who is Covert at that Time, and the Baſtard enters, and dies ſeized without Interruption, and his Iſſue enters, and the Huſband dies, perhaps the Wife ſhall not be bound any more than an [b] Infant ſhould in ſuch Caſe; but if the Baſtard had entered, and afterwards ſhe had taken Huſband, and then the Baſtard had died, it had been otherwiſe. And if a Man has a Daughter Baſtard eigne, and a Son Mulier puiſne, perhaps there the Maxim does not hold Place, becauſe ſhe had not Colour by any Law.

[a] Contra Co. Litt. 241. a.

[b] See the Books cited pro et con, as to this Point, Plowd. 372, in the Margin. Ante § 100.

281. Three Coparceners in Tail make a Feoffment with Warranty, firſt the eldeſt and then the youngeſt die without Iſſue, the middle Parcener has Iſſue and dies, and the Iſſue brings a Formedon, it ſeems that he ſhall recover the Moiety of the Part of the eldeſt, and alſo the Moiety of the Part of the youngeſt, and no more, becauſe the Warranty of the eldeſt was collateral to the middle Parcener, as to the Part of the middle, for that, as to her Part, he cannot make himſelf Heir to her who made the Warranty, but yet as to the Part of the eldeſt, the Warranty is lineal both to the middle and to the youngeſt, becauſe they may inherit it as Heir to the eldeſt, and with Regard to the Part of the youngeſt, as to the youngeſt herſelf and her Heirs for their third Part, the Warranty of the eldeſt is collateral, becauſe neither the youngeſt nor her Heirs can poſſibly make themſelves Heirs of the third Part thereof to the eldeſt who made the Warranty, and ſo the Warranty of the eldeſt ſhall enure in Manner as aforeſaid. Then when the youngeſt afterwards died, her Warranty was collateral as to the Part of the middle, and as to her Iſſues alſo, becauſe they could not by any Poſſibility make themſelves Heirs to the youngeſt for that Part, and the Warranty of the youngeſt was lineal, as to a Moiety of the eldeſt, and collateral, as to another Moiety, becauſe by Poſſibility the youngeſt and the middle might have had the Part of the eldeſt by Deſcent, if the eldeſt had died firſt (as ſhe did), and then if the youngeſt had died without Iſſue, the Moiety of the third Part, which deſcended to her from the eldeſt, ſhould have deſcended to the middle, as Heir to the youngeſt, and then, as to the other Part of the eldeſt, the Warranty of the youngeſt was collateral to the middle, becauſe, as to that Moiety of the third Part, the middle could not have had it as Heir to the youngeſt who made the Warranty, but ſhould have been in as immediate Heir to the eldeſt; and as to her own Part, her Warranty, as to the middle, was lineal, becauſe by Poſſibility ſhe might have had this third Part as Heir to the youngeſt, and ſo the Warranty of the youngeſt ſhall enure to the whole Land in Manner as is aforeſaid. Then inaſmuch as the youngeſt is dead without Iſſue, the Warranty of the eldeſt as to a Moiety of the Part of the youngeſt, is lineal, and as to the other Moiety of this Part, it is collateral to the middle, becauſe by Poſſibility the youngeſt might have died firſt, and then her Part had deſcended to the eldeſt and to the middle, and ſo the Moiety thereof might have deſcended from the eldeſt to the middle, as Heir to the eldeſt, and therefore by Reaſon of this Poſſibility the Warranty of the eldeſt ſhall be lineal for the one Moiety of the youngeſt, and collateral for the other Moiety of the youngeſt, and ſo the Warranty of the eldeſt, which upon the Deſcent was collateral to the youngeſt, for the Part of the youngeſt, and to her Iſſues, is now changed for the Moiety, and become a lineal Warranty for the Moiety. As if Tenant in Tail has Iſſue three Sons, and diſcontinues, the Warranty of the middle ſhall be collateral to the eldeſt for the whole, but to the youngeſt it ſhall be lineal for the whole, and if the eldeſt dies without Iſſue, then the Warranty of the middle, which deſcends only upon his Heir, is lineal for the whole to his Iſſue, becauſe the Iſſue might by Poſſibility convey the whole Land as Heir to the middle, who might ſurvive the two others. And as to the Warranty of the eldeſt and youngeſt Parcener in the firſt Caſe, they are to the Iſſue in the ſame Degree as they were to his Mother, viz. as it is ſaid above, ſo that for the third Part which belonged to his Mother, there is a double Bar to the Iſſue, viz. the Warranty both of the eldeſt and of the youngeſt, and for the Moiety of the one Aunt and of the other he is barred by their ſeveral Warranties, and ſo he ſhall recover the third Part of the whole Land, as it is ſaid before. Note at firſt, that the Warranty of each goes to every Part, as you may ſee 9 H. 5. 12. in a Scire facias, and therefore in [a] 4 H. 7. 18. b. it is ſaid that if three Coparceners alien in Fee with Warranty, each Warranty ſhall be collateral to the other, by Brian et Fairfax, and Huſſey ſaid, although it be ſo, it ſhall ſerve nothing; quære bene.

[a] Fitz. Garranty 6. Bro. 56, quære.

282. [b] If a Feoffment is made by one Deed in Fee and by another Deed in Tail to one and the ſame Perſon, and Livery is made according to both Deeds, it ſeems that it ſhall enure by Moieties, for otherwiſe the Livery could not enure upon each Deed, becauſe if he ſhould have the whole Land in Tail, the Remainder in Fee, then the Livery would only operate upon the Deed in Tail, and the other would be but a Deed of Confirmation, and ſo the Livery would not enure upon both Deeds, but only upon one Deed. And if Livery had been made only upon the Deed in Tail after the Delivery of both Deeds, he ſhould have been Tenant in Tail, with Remainder in Fee, becauſe if there is Tenant in Tail, and the Donor confirms in Fee, this is a Grant of the Reverſion in Law, and in this Caſe the Lord in his Avowry ſhall not make Mention of the Eſtate-Tail, but in the other Caſe he ought, becauſe the Fee paſſes in the ſame Inſtant that the Tail is created by the Livery, and therefore it ſhall be a Remainder. Then in the principal Caſe inaſmuch as there ſhould have been a Remainder, if no Livery had been made upon the Fee, for this Reaſon it cannot now enure as a Remainder, becauſe Livery is made according to both Deeds, and therefore it ſhall paſs an Eſtate upon both Deeds, and ſo of Neceſſity it muſt enure by Moieties.

[b] S. P. Co. Litt. 21. a.

283. A Feme-ſole has a Rent-ſeck, and takes Huſband, the Tenant of the Land grants to the Huſband that he and his Heirs may diſtrain for the Rent, the Huſband and Wife die without Iſſue, it ſeems that the Diſtreſs is now extinct, becauſe the Heirs of the Huſband are only Privies to diſtrain, and they cannot diſtrain for a Rent due to another, viz. to the Heirs of the Wife, any more than one may enter by Force of a Condition for Rent due by Law to another. But if a Man has a Rent ſeck on the Part of his Mother, and the Tenant grants that he and his Heirs may diſtrain for the Rent, and he dies without Iſſue, the Diſtreſs ſhall go with the Rent, viz. to the Heirs on the Part of the Mother, and if they grant the ſame Rent to a Stranger, the Grantee may well diſtrain. Yet if the Tenant grants to the Lord of the Manor that he may diſtrain, ut ſupra, and he aliens the Manor, the Grantee ſhall not diſtrain out of the Manor, and in this Caſe the Penalty of Diſtreſs by the Deed is gone, ſo in the other Caſe the Grant being of a Diſtreſs in the ſame Place out of which the Rent iſſues, it is now a Rent-Charge, and conſequently the Diſtreſs ſhall paſs to the Grantee; but if the Grant of Diſtreſs had been in another Place, then it had been only a Penalty, and conſequently ſhould not have gone to the Heir on the Part of the Mother, nor to the Aſſignee of the ſame Rent, and therefore by the Severance of the Penalty by Act in Law or in Deed from the Subſtance in which it ſubſiſts, the Penalty ſhall ceaſe. And if there be Lord and Feme-Tenant, and the Lord grants Acquittal to the Huſband of the Feme in Fee, and the Huſband and Wife have Iſſue, and die, perhaps the Iſſue ſhall take Benefit of the Acquittal in one Right, viz. as Heir to the Father, although he has the Tenancy on the Part of the Mother, but if the Huſband had been dead without Iſſue, then clearly it had been extinct, and if, after the Acquittal, the Land had deſcended upon the Son of the Huſband and Wife, and upon the Death of the Son without Iſſue the Land had come to the Heir on the Part of the Mother, the Acquittal alſo ſhould have been attendant to the ſame Intereſt, becauſe it was once veſted in the ſame Subſtance in one Perſon. Quære de hoc, for 38 Ed. 3. 10. is, that if a Feme-ſole binds herſelf to Acquittal of the Tenant in Fee, and takes Huſband, to whom the Tenant releaſes, and grants that neither he nor his Heirs ſhall demand Acquittal of the Huſband and his Heirs, and they die, leaving Iſſue, this Iſſue, who is charged as Heir to the Wife, ſhall not be diſcharged as Heir to the Huſband, but ſhall be bound to the Acquittal. And in 18 Ed. 3. 9. Land is given to Huſband and Wife and to the Heirs of the Huſband, who makes a Gift in Tail, the Wife recovers againſt the Donee in Tail in a Cui in vita, ſuppoſing that ſhe had the Fee, and dies, and the Donee in Tail dies, and the Iſſue of the Huſband and Wife brings a Formedon in Reverter againſt the Feoffee, now, notwithſtanding he is Heir to the Wife, he ſhall be eſtopped to ſay that he has a leſſer Eſtate than a Fee, yet the Iſſue who claims by the Huſband ſhall not be bound by an Eſtoppel made by the Wife, ergo, if the Iſſue claims from the Father, he ſhall not claim further, nor ſhall he be prejudiced by Acts or Eſtoppels made by the Mother.

284. If a Diſſeizee, where his Entry is taken away, and a Stranger enters upon the Heir in by Deſcent, and the Diſſeizee confirms the Eſtate of the Stranger, it ſeems that though the Confirmation gives no Poſſeſſion of the Freehold to his Companion, yet his ancient Right is gone for ever, ſo that if the Heir re-enters, he ſhall hold it for ever, if he can ſhew his Deed of Confirmation. But if the Heir who is in by Deſcent is diſſeized by A. who leaſes for Life to B. whoſe Eſtate the firſt Diſſeizee confirms, and afterwards the Heir enters, the Diſſeizee ſhall have no Remedy during the the Life of B. for the Confirmation continues ſo long, and no longer, as Littleton ſays, and then the Heir has the Right of B. and by the ſame Reaſon that the Diſſeizee cannot have an Action againſt B. by the ſame Reaſon he cannot have an Action againſt him who has his Eſtate, in Reſpect of the firſt Diſſeizee. Same Law if the Heir who is in by Deſcent makes a Leaſe to the Diſſeizee and a Stranger for their Lives, and the Diſſeizee confirms the Eſtate of his Companion, no Action lies for the Diſſeizee during his own Life, although the Heir re-enters, cauſa patet, but his Heir ſhall have good Remedy, although there had been no Remedy if the Stranger had ſurvived; but ſome ſay that after the Entry of the Heir the Diſſeizee ſhall have Remedy, becauſe it was but a Concluſion which goes in Privity, and not in Extinguiſhment of the Right, as it ſhall be upon a Releaſe. And in the firſt Caſe ſome ſay that the Confirmation does not extend to the Right which is ſuſpended, as a Releaſe ſhall do, any more than if one who has a Rent-Charge and a Stranger diſſeize the Tenant of the Land, and he who had the Rent confirms the Eſtate of his Companion, and the Diſſeizee re-enters, the Rent is revived, becauſe as the Rent was not grantable, it being ſuſpended in the Inheritance, ſo could not the Confirmation extend to it nor touch it.

285. If the Tenant makes a Feoffment, pending a Præcipe againſt him, and afterwards the Demandant recovers, after which Recovery the Feoffee dies ſeized, and the Heir is in by Deſcent, it ſeems that the Demandant cannot enter upon the Heir, for although his Tenancy was made pending the Writ, yet the dying ſeized was after the Judgment, and tantamount as if the Feoffment and Deſcent had been both after the Judgment, and then the Entry is clearly taken away, and the Deſcent is the Title, and not the Feoffment, for that would be double, and therefore the Deſcent being after the Judgment is ſufficient; but if the dying ſeized had been pending the Writ, it is clear that the Entry of the Demandant had not been taken away. But if there is Tenant for Life, Remainder over in Fee, and a Recovery is had againſt the Tenant for Life, and he dies, and afterwards he in Remainder enters, and dies ſeized, this Deſcent ſhall not take away the Entry of the Recoveror, becauſe the whole Eſtate was recovered, and he in Remainder is as much Privy as if the Recovery had been immediately againſt himſelf, ſo of him in Reverſion. Bro. Entry congeable 116.

286. If Tenant for Life grants over his Eſtate, rendering Rent by Indenture with Re-entry, and a Title of Entry is given, and the Grantee makes a Feoffment in Fee, and the Leſſor in Reverſion in Fee enters for the Forfeiture, ſome think that the firſt Leſſee for Life may re enter upon him. As if an Infant Tenant for Life grants over his Eſtate by Livery of himſelf, and his Aſſignee aliens in Fee, and the Leſſor enters for the Forfeiture, yet the Right of the Infant is not taken away, but he ſhall have a Dum fuit infra ætatem. So if a Feme covert Tenant for Life and her Huſband alien in Fee, ſhe ſhall have the Land again by Cui in vita. And if Tenant for Life leaſes for Years, and makes a Feoffment, and the firſt Leſſor enters, yet the Term continues during the Life of the Tenant for Life, although his Waſt ſhall forfeit the Term, as Ceſſer ſhall do after his Leaſe; but herein note a Default of the Leſſee in not preſerving the Poſſeſſion without ſuch Prejudice to the firſt Leſſor, and in all the Caſes aforegoing the Waſt by the Aſſignee of the Infant or Feme-covert ſhall take away their ſpecial Right of Infancy, Coverture, or for Condition, otherwiſe of Waſt done by themſelves, and an Action brought againſt them for it. But in the firſt Caſe the Title of Entry for Forfeiture is merely by the common Law, which ſhall never deſtroy another Title for Rent reſerved coming in Reſpect of the Eſtate, and not merely as a Grant. And if the Leſſee or Grantee had granted over the Rent, it is clear that the Forfeiture ſhould never have taken away that Intereſt; but, it being in Reſpect of the Eſtate, therefore ſome hold that the Rent ſhall be gone.

287. Lord and Tenant, the Lord dies, having a Son, the Tenant makes a Feoffment, the Son has Seizin of the Rent by the Hands of the Feoffor, if this Seizin be ſufficient to enable the Son to have an Aſſize againſt his Diſſeizor afterwards, is the Queſtion. It ſeems that the Son cannot have Cuſtoms and Services againſt the Feoffor after the Feoffment made, nor is his Attornment ſufficient, and a Releaſe to him does not extinguiſh the Seigniory, but that he may avow upon the Feoffee, for theſe Acts are in the Right. So upon Reſcous by a Stranger, an Aſſize is not maintenable againſt the Reſcouſor and the Feoffor, becauſe the Tenant is not named; and in Aſſize the Surpluſage encroached ſhall be avoided by Plea. Nevertheleſs it ſeems that the Seizin is good by the Hands of the Feoffor, after the Feoffment and before Notice, becauſe he is Tenant to the Avowry, and ſhall charge the Feoffee, for it is reaſonable that it ſhould be a good Seizin by his Hands upon whom he is to avow, for Avowry is an Action in the Poſſeſſion. And yet a Releaſe made to the Feoffee is available to the Feoffor, and he ſhall plead it, and not the Feoffee, becauſe the Feoffor, being Tenant to the Avowry, ought to plead to the Action of Avowry; as if Tenant for Life does Waſt, and grants over his Eſtate, in Waſt brought againſt him he may well plead a Releaſe in the Land, and yet he has nothing in the Land, ſo ſhall Tenant in Dower do in Waſt, and Vouchee in a Præcipe quod reddat, and Feoffee in a Contra formam collationis. And if the Feoffee upon Condition pays 10 s. to the Lord, where the Tenure is by 5 s. the Feoffor, after his Entry for the Condition broken, ſhall be bound thereby in Replevin. So if there is Leſſee for Life upon Condition to have Fee, and the Leſſor gives more Rent to the Lord than he ought, and afterwards the Condition is performed, the Leſſee is bound in Replevin. So if a Seigniory of 20 s. is granted by Fine, and the Tenant aliens over, and afterwards pays 40 s. to the Lord, this ſhall bind the Feoffee.

288. If there is Lord and Tenant, and the Tenant aliens in Mortmain, and within the Year the Lord confirms the Eſtate of the Feoffee, and the Year expires, the Queſtion is if the next

Lord

Lord ſhall have another half Year, becauſe he (the next Lord) has loſt his Advantage by the Confirmation. And it ſeems that he ſhall, becauſe the Statute is, that he ſhall enter to avoid the Mortmain, and Power is not given to him to approve of it, for then by ſuch Means if the Tenant and Lord immediate would aſſent, they might amortiſe the Land without the Conſent of any other Lord, which is not convenient.

289. A Gift is made to a Man and to two Women Couſins of the Donor in Frankmarriage, or to a Man and two Women, and to the Heirs of their Bodies begotten, or to two Men and two Women, and to the Heirs of their Bodies, in every of theſe Caſes each has an Eſtate-Tail ſeverally in the one Part, and they ſhall be Jointenants of the Freehold, and none of theſe Caſes ſhall be a ſpecial Tail. So when Land is given to three, the one Moiety to Huſband and Wife in Frankmarriage, or in ſpecial Tail, and the other Moiety to the ſame Man and another Woman in ſpecial Tail, or when it is given to a Man and two Women, or to two Men and two Women, and to the Heirs of their Bodies, this is as much as to ſay, the Heirs of all their Bodies, ſo that by the Words the Heir, who ought to inherit, ought to be Heir of all their Bodies, which is impoſſible, and therefore inaſmuch as the Words cannot be literally performed, the Law will make the beſt Expoſition of them, viz. that there ſhall be ſeveral Tails in each of them, and a joint Freehold, quod nota clearly.

290. If A. by Parol requires or authoriſes B. to write, ſeal, and deliver a Grant of a Rent-Charge of 20*s.* out of the Land of A. and this in the Name of A. and B. accordingly does ſo, it ſeems that the Grant is effectual. For if I make a Grant of a Rent-Charge, and command A. to deliver it, he may well do ſo without Writing. So if I by Parol deliver it to him as an Eſcrow, to be delivered as my Deed upon the Performance of a certain Condition, and he accordingly does ſo, this Delivery of A. by Force of my Words is good and effectual. So in the firſt Caſe my Words gave him Authority, and the Writing and Sealing is not material, but the Delivery, and that may well be done without any Writing to authoriſe it. But an Authority to an Attorney to make Livery of Seizin ought to be by Deed, and ſo the Wife ſhall not aver the Aſſent of the Father to Dower ex aſſenſu patris, * but it ought to be by Deed, and the Leſſor cannot authorize the Tenant for Life to do Waſt without Deed, for in theſe Caſes an Intereſt in the Land paſſes, but in the firſt Caſe there is nothing but an Aſſent to the Deed charging the Land.

* See Litt. § 40.

291. If there is Lord and Tenant by Fealty and 20*s.* and the Tenant makes a Gift in Frankmarriage to hold of him and his Heirs by Fealty only, until the fourth Degree be paſt, and after the fourth Degree is paſt, by 20*s.* and Chivalry, in this Caſe after the fourth Degree is paſt he ſhall not have 20*s.* nor Chivalry, becauſe although he reſerves only Fealty until the fourth Degree is paſt, yet it is an entire Reſervation preſently, and the Services are in him, although they are not feaſible until the fourth Degree is paſt, and Seizin of the Fealty ſhall be Seizin of the Reſidue, wherefore ſeeing that the Reſervation is entire, for this Cauſe it is void for the whole, becauſe the whole cannot be reſerved upon the Gift in Frankmarriage.

292. If a Woman Tenant in Tail general takes an Infant to Huſband, who aliens, and dies, and his Heir enters upon the Feoffee, and the Wife re-enters, ſhe is not remitted. Firſt, it ſeems that the Wife cannot enter upon the Feoffee, becauſe ſhe is not Privy in Blood to the Infant, and Privity in Eſtate is not ſufficient. For if two Jointenants, the one within Age, are diſſeized, and the Diſſeizor dies ſeized, and the Jointenant within Age dies, the other ſhall not enter into the Moiety, as the Infant might have done; and neither the Lord by Eſcheat, nor the Donor in Reverſion, ſhall take Advantage of Nonage, but the Iſſue well may. And if Land is given to an Infant and to the Heirs Females of his Body, and he aliens within Age, and dies, having a Son and a Daughter, the Daughter ſhall not enter, for although ſhe is Heir ſecundum formam doni, yet that is to the Land only, and ſhe is not Heir general, nor does the Eſtoppel run to her, 35 H. 6. Note, ſhe ſhall not take Benefit of the Nonage of her Father, quære tamen. Then in the principal Caſe if the Wife ſhall not enter, it is to be conſidered whether the Heir of the Infant ſhall enter. It ſeems that if the Wife had had a Fee-ſimple, the Heir of the Infant ſhould not have entered upon the Alienation, as Littleton ſays, becauſe the Right was in the Wife, and ſhould ſurvive to the Wife, and a Title of Entry, which was in Right of the Wife, cannot deſcend to the Heir of the Huſband, any more than if the Huſband and Wife had been diſſeized; but here inaſmuch as the Huſband has given a Fee-ſimple, and had but an Eſtate-tail in Right of the Wife, ſo he has given more than he had in Right of the Wife, and the whole of this cannot ſurvive to the Wife, becauſe ſhe had it not before, ex quo ſequitur that more Doubt ariſes here than in the Caſe in Littleton. Nevertheleſs it ſeems that the Heir may enter, becauſe he cannot have an Eſtate-tail, nor the ſame Eſtate which his Anceſtor had: Another Reaſon is, becauſe the Entry of the Heir ſhall not be in Reſpect of the Eſtate given, but of the Eſtate which his Anceſtor had at the Time of the Gift, which was a Fee-tail, the Right whereof ſurvives to the Wife. For if Land is given in Tail to an Infant, who makes a Feoffment, and dies without Iſſue, his collateral Heir cannot enter, becauſe the Eſtate, which the Infant had at the Time of the Gift, is determined. For if an Infant Tenant pur auter vie aliens in Fee, and Ceſtuy que vie dies, the Infant himſelf cannot re-enter, contra 5 Ed. 4. 5. where it is ſaid that if an Infant Tenant at Will aliens in Fee, and dies, his Heir ſhall have a Dum fuit infra ætatem, and nothing ſhall be traverſed but the Demiſe. But in the principal Caſe perhaps if the Infant had made a Gift in Tail, his Iſſue might have entered by Reaſon of the Reverſion in him, (contrary, as Heir to the Infant) which would have enabled him to have an Action or Entry, otherwiſe it is where no Eſtate deſcends from the Infant to him. And if a Dean within Age aliens in Fee, the Heir of the Dean cannot enter, becauſe at the Time of the Livery the Poſſeſſion was in auter droit, but it ſeems an Action lies for the Heir of the Dean, and although the Dean had made but a Gift in Tail, yet the Dean ſhould have had the Reverſion in Succeſſion, otherwiſe it is in the Caſe of the Huſband ſeized in Right of his Wife, unleſs the Wife joins in the Gift. But if the Huſband had made a Feoffment upon Condition, his Heir ſhould have entered for the Condition broken, becauſe here it is not in Reſpect of the Right, as in the principal Caſe, but of a Title reſerved to him and his Heirs upon the Livery, which is a new Purchaſe, and ſhall enure to the Heirs on the Part of the Father of the Infant. And if Tenant in Tail to his Heirs Females makes a Feoffment, and dies within Age, having a Son and a Daughter, the Son ſhall not enter any more than the Daughter; and ſo if it was in Borough Engliſh, the youngeſt Son ſhould have a Writ of Error, becauſe the Right goes to him with the Land, but not the Infancy of the Perſon. And if Tenant in Tail makes a Feoffment within Age, and afterwards is attainted of Felony, his Iſſue ſhall not enter, for he is Privy in Eſtate by the Statute de donis, but he is diſabled in Blood to take Advantage of the Infancy, becauſe the Infant has no Heir.

293. A Man has Common without Number in Tail granted to him out of two Acres, and he purchaſes the one Acre, and has Iſſue, and dies, ſo that the Common and the one Acre deſcend to the ſame Iſſue, if the Common ſhall be revived in the other Acre is the Queſtion. If the Iſſue had recovered one Acre againſt the Grantor upon Title before the Grant, then the Common ſhould have remained in the other for the whole, for there was but one rightly charged at the Beginning. But upon the Deſcent there can be no Apportionment without Queſtion, for either it is gone and ſuſpended for the whole, or revived in the Reſidue for the whole, for Common without Number is a Thing entire which cannot be ſevered. But if it was Common certain, as for 10 Cattle, then upon the Deſcent it might well be apportioned, becauſe that is apportionable as Rent is, otherwiſe it is of a Thing incertain which cannot be apportioned. And if one has Eſtovers in certain in 10 Acres of Wood, and 5 of the Acres deſcend to him, now it ſeems againſt Reaſon that he ſhould have the whole Eſtovers in the 5 Acres, for then perhaps they would not be ſufficient to ſupply his Eſtovers, and ſo the Grantor would have nothing for his Eſtovers. So in the principal Caſe, but yet foraſmuch as each Acre was charged, &c. and Part remains, in which, before the Deſcent and the Purchaſe, he had Common without Number, it ſeems againſt Reaſon that the Act of the Tenant in Tail or of the Law ſhould diſcharge the Reſidue; but if Part of the Land was in the Hands of the King, the whole ſhould be diſcharged for the Time, as it ſeems by 29 Aſſ. pl. 10. Further, ſome think that inaſmuch as the Common is in Tail, it alters the Caſe, for if I have a Rent Charge in Tail, and Part of the Land deſcends to me, it cannot be apportioned, if it was not to endure for the whole Time, but here it is only ſuſpended in the Land deſcended, for if he aliens it, the Rent ſhall be revived to the Iſſue out of that Acre, wherefore upon a Suſpenſion there can be no Apportionment. Vide 29 Aſſ. pl. 21.

294. A Man dies ſeized of an Acre of Land in Borough Engliſh in Tail, having three Sons, the youngeſt enters, and leaſes to the ſecond for Years, who makes a Feoffment with Warranty, and dies without Iſſue, the youngeſt dies without Iſſue, the eldeſt brings a Formedon, if he ſhall be barred by the Warranty is the Queſtion. It ſeems that although the Warranty deſcends to the eldeſt, where it was a Diſſeizin to the youngeſt, yet when the Right of the Land comes to him, he ſhall ſay that the Warranty commenced by Diſſeizin, becauſe now he is Privy to the Warranty and to the Eſtate. For if the Father, being ſeized in Fee, makes a Leaſe for Years to the Grandfather, who makes a Feoffment with Warranty, and dies, and the Father dies, this Warranty ſhall be no Bar to the Son, becauſe it commenced by Diſſeizin to him whoſe Heir he is now. And if a Man has Iſſue two Sons, and the youngeſt leaſes for Years to the Father, who dies after a Feoffment with Warranty, and afterwards the eldeſt Son dies without Iſſue, and the Warranty deſcends to the youngeſt, this ſhall be no Bar, becauſe it commenced by Diſſeizin. And altho' the Land does not come immediately to him upon whom the Warranty deſcends, (as it was in the principal Caſe) or although the Warranty does not immediately deſcend upon the Tenant of the Land as Heir to him who made the Warranty, yet it is all one Warranty which commences by Diſſeizin, and in all Caſes where the Warranty commences by Diſſeizin, and at the ſame Time a Wrong is done to him upon whom the Warranty afterwards deſcends, although this Wrong was not a Diſſeizin to him, yet it is, as to him, a Warranty which commences by Diſſeizin. As if a collateral Anceſtor of the Donor diſſeizes the Donee, to the Intent to make a Feoffment with Warranty, and accordingly does ſo, and the Warranty deſcends upon the Donor, and afterwards the Tenant in Tail dies without Iſſue, in a Formedon in Reverter the Warranty ſhall be no Bar, becauſe it commenced by Diſſeizin to the Tenant in Tail, at which Time a Wrong was done to him in Reverſion, and therefore he ſhall ſay that the Warranty commenced by Diſſeizin, which ſee 31 Ed. 3. Fitz. Garranty 28. And if the Father, being Leſſee for Years of the Leaſe of the Son, aliens with Warranty, and dies, the Son ſhall not be vouched by this Warranty, no more than rebutt, Vide tamen 50 Ed. 3. 12. But if a Man makes a Feoffment with Warranty, which is a Diſſeizin to a Stranger, and dies, the Heir of the Feoffor (if he has not the Right of the Land deſcended to him afterwards) ſhall be vouched for this Warranty clearly, wherefore, &c. Then in the principal Caſe if the eldeſt cannot ſay that the Warranty commenced by Diſſeizin, yet it ſhall be lineal againſt him, for by Poſſibility he might have made himſelf Heir to him that made the Warranty, for the Land may deſcend to the youngeſt Heir, as well as it ſhall do to the youngeſt Son, and ſo to the youngeſt Uncle, for the Reaſon is all one, for the youngeſt Brother ſhall be in as youngeſt Son to the common Anceſtor, and then it deſcends to him to whom it ought to have deſcended if the youngeſt Son had not been born. But ſome ſay that the Reaſon of theſe two Caſes is not the ſame, for as to the Father, it is intended that a youngeſt Son is worſe advanced, and for the moſt Part within Age at the Time of the Death of his Father, but the youngeſt Brother or youngeſt Uncle is preſumed to be more able than the deceaſed, and ſo more capable of helping himſelf than the youngeſt Son of any.

295. It ſeems that in Dower the Guardian in Deed ſhall not plead Detinue of the Body of the Heir, becauſe none ſhall plead this but he whoſe Title commences when the Dower commences; but the Guardian in Right may plead it. And if the Heir makes a Feoffment, the Feoffee ſhall not plead Detinue of Evidences, for his Title in the Land does not commence with the Title to Dower, but is younger than it. And if the Heir be once poſſeſſed of the Charters, or the Guardian of the Heir, and afterwards the Wife gets Poſſeſſion of the Charters, or of the Body of the Heir, Detinue of them ſhall not be pleaded in a Writ of Dower, for that the Cauſe ariſes after the Title of Dower. See 17 Ed. 3. 58. that Guardian in Deed ſhall plead Eloignment of the Heir in Dower againſt him. 6 Eliz. Dyer 230, Detinue of Evidences no Plea for any unleſs for the Heir being Tenant in Fee of the Land by Deſcent, and of the ſame Land concerning which the Demand is in the Writ of Dower.

296. If an Infant be diſſeized, and a Deſcent is caſt during his Nonage, and afterwards he comes of full Age, and then the Heir of the Diſſeizor dies before any Entry made by him, ſhall this Deſcent take away his Entry? It ſeems that it ſhall not, for he who laſt died ſeized had not Poſſeſſion in Deed, but Poſſeſſion in Law only; and although his Wife ſhall have Dower, and the Land is liable to a Statute, yet to take away Entry there ought to be a Poſſeſſion in Fee in him who died ſeized, for otherwiſe he ſhall be in immediately as Heir to him who was laſt ſeized in Deed, and he ſhall not render in Value this Land by Reaſon of any Warranty made by him who had the Poſſeſſion in Law, as 24 Ed. 3. 47. is. So if the Grandfather be a Diſſeizor, who dies ſeized within the Year after continual Claim made, and after the Year and before Entry the Father dies, and the Son enters, the Diſſeizee may enter upon him. Quære, for others are of a contrary Opinion.

297. If the Lord diſſeizes the Tenant, and is diſſeized, he cannot diſtrain for his Seigniory, becauſe he has Title in the Land againſt him, but if the Diſſeizee re-enters, the Seigniory ſhall be revived, for now the Seigniory and Tenancy are lawfully disjoined, but if the Diſſeizee releaſes to the Diſſeizor of the Lord, the Seigniory is extinct, becauſe this does not countervail an Entry and Feoffment, with Reſpect to the Lord, but it extinguiſhes the Right of the Lord to the Land, in which Right to the Land the Right which he had to the Seigniory was ſuſpended. But if the Lord and a Stranger diſſeize the Tenant, and the Tenant releaſes to the Stranger, the Seigniory is revived; becauſe there the Releaſe enures to an Entry and Feoffment, with Reſpect to the Lord, and the Lord has not the Right to the Land; ſo if the Lord dies, and the other has it by Survivorſhip. But if the Lord diſſeizes the Tenant, and is diſſeized by two, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to one of them, quære.

298. If A. gives to B. 20 Acres in Exchange for 10 Acres, each Acre of equal Value, and B. being impleaded vouches A. and loſes 10 Acres of the ſaid 20, and recovers in Value, he ſhall have back again all the 10 Acres which he gave to A. and he ſhall retain the other 10 Acres for the Folly of A. without Warranty. So if the eldeſt Parcener has two Acres, and the youngeſt but one Acre, and the eldeſt loſes one of the Acres which ſhe has, ſhe ſhall have the whole Acre of the youngeſt, by Reaſon of the Folly of the youngeſt; Contra * Littleton, who ſays that ſhe ſhall enter with the other, and compel her to make Partition de novo.

* Vide Litt. § 263.

299. The Lord has the Wardſhip of the Meſne, and enters into the Tenancy for Mortmain, if the Ward ſhall be out of Ward? for he does not enter in Reſpect of the Seigniory, but in Reſpect of the Meſnalty. Yet many think that he ſhall have the Fee, becauſe the Statute is, quod retinebit in feodo, and then the Seigniory and Meſnalty alſo ſhall be determined, and conſequently he ſhall be out of Ward.

300. The Conuſor of a Statute-merchant is in Execution, and his Land alſo, the Conuſee releaſes to him all his Debts, and afterwards the Conuſor is let at large by the Goaler, if the Goaler ſhall be charged for this Eſcape? It ſeems that the Execution is diſchargeable by this Releaſe, becauſe, until the Profits are entirely levied, the Debt remains in eſſe, otherwiſe the Execution ſhould not remain, as the Heir continues in Ward until he is able to do the Services, but if the Seigniory be releaſed to the Tenant, now he ſhall be out of Ward for the Body and Land, and if a Man leaſes for Years, upon Condition to retain for all that is in Arrear, there alſo if the Rent be in Arrear, the Pledge is gone, ſee 30 Ed. 3. 7. that he ſhall have the Duty over and above the Profits. Then as to the principal Matter, although the Execution be by this Releaſe diſchargeable by the Party by Scire facias ad cognoſcendum finem vel audiendum querelam, yet before it is diſcharged in Deed, he ſhall be adjudged in Execution, for which Reaſon the Goaler cannot ſay but that he is in Execution. And therefore if an Obligation be delivered en owel main to J. who breaks the Seal, in Detinue if he does not plead a Releaſe to the Obligor, he ſhall be at great Miſchief. Vide tamen 9 H. 6. 19. b. Per Paſton, the Keeper ſhall not plead a Releaſe made to him that eſcapes.

301. If the Lord of a Villain gives Land by Fine to the Villain, which is Land in Ancient Demeſn, and the Lord of Ancient Demeſn reverſes the Fine by Diſceit, ſome think that the Manumiſſion is deſtroyed, becauſe it does not appear of Record; otherwiſe it is if he enfeoffs his Villain upon Condition, and enters for the Breach of it. And if a Villain confeſſes an Action brought by Baron and Feme, this is no Manumiſſion againſt the Feme, becauſe it is but a Manumiſſion in Law, upon which ſhe ſhall not be examined.

302. If

302. If a Man makes a Leaſe for Life, rendering the four firſt Years a Roſe, and afterwards an annual Rent of 20 s. and the Leſſor grants the Rent of 20 s. to commence after the End of the four Years, it ſeems that this is a void Grant, becauſe the Rent of the Roſe and the 20 s. is all [a] one Rent, and then if the Grant was good, the Grantor would have a Term in the Roſe for four Years, where before it was a Freehold; and it is like the Caſe [b] where a Man has a Rent in Fee, and grants it after four Years, this is a void Grant, otherwiſe it is of a Rent created de novo, 8 H. 7. 3.

[a] Plowd. 154 (l). Vide Ante § 126.

[b] S. P. Plowd. 152 (b). 155 (m). 1 6 (c) and (d). 197 (d) and (e), and ſee the other Books there cited in the Margin.

303. If Land is given to two, to the one for Life, and to the other for Years, they are Tenants in common, and not Jointenants; but if a Gift is made to Huſband and Wife and a third Perſon, viz. to the third for Life, to the Huſband in Tail, and to the Wife for Years, there the third Perſon ſhall take a Moiety, and quære how the Huſband and Wife ſhall take, viz. jointly, or ſeverally, or how much ſeverally.

304. If A. deviſes 20 s. annually to B. for 20 Years, and dies, it ſeems that the Deviſee has no Remedy for it, becauſe it is not iſſuing out of any Land, for he cannot take it as a Legacy and a Sum in groſs, and an Annuity will not lie for it againſt the Executors, although they have Aſſets, becauſe their Perſon ſhall not be charged where the Teſtator was never charged, any more than the Heir ſhall be charged upon a Warranty [c] by Deviſe.

[c] Litt. § 734. Ante § 38.

305. * If a Man covenants for Money and Marriage to ſtand ſeized to the Uſe of Huſband and Wife in Tail. and the Deed is not inrolled, yet the Uſe ſhall riſe, becauſe it is not only a Bargain and Sale, otherwiſe it is if Money be the only Conſideration. And if one covenants with me to ſtand ſeized to the Uſe of my Daughter after Marriage, and I before the Time, &c. releaſe all Covenants, yet if the Marriage is had, the Uſe is changed, for it is not ſuch a Thing or Covenant upon which a Writ of Covenant lies, nor ſhall the Uſe be performed in Reſpect of the Continuance of the Covenant, for if, after the Covenant, he with whom the Covenant was made be attainted of Felony and executed, yet upon the Marriage the Uſe and Poſſeſſion ſhall be changed; and if the Covenant was, that he and all thoſe who were ſeized of the Land ſhall be ſeized to the Uſe, and before the Marriage he bargains the Land by Deed inrolled for Money to one who has Notice of the Uſe, and then the Marriage is had, the Uſe ſhall riſe well enough out of the Poſſeſſion, and yet if he had been ſeized of the Land to Uſe, the Uſe ſhould have been extinguiſhed thereby, but yet the Title of the Uſe ſhall not be extinguiſhed, but ſhall commence, becauſe the Land is charged with the Agreement real, [d] as in Caſe of a Leaſe for Life with Condition to encreaſe, and afterwards the Leſſor is attainted, and then the Condition is performed, the Eſtate ſhall be enlarged. So there is a great Diverſity between a Confidence in Perſon, and a Truſt in the Land paramount.

* S. P. Plowd. Manxel's Caſe 4. Crompt. J.C. 60. a.

[d] S. P. held Plowd. 486. 8 Co. 76. a. Vin. Abr. tit. Condition T. pl. 26. in Margine. T. d. pl. 4. in Margine.

306. If the Tenant enfeoffs the Villain of the Lord and a Stranger upon Colluſion, the Queſtion is how the Lord can come at the Ward without Damage, for if he brings a Writ of Ward, the Villain ſhall be manumiſed, and if he enters upon the Villain, he annuls the Colluſion for ever, and ſhall retain the Land, but then he ſhall be Tenant in common with the other, and ſo he ſhall have no Writ of Ward for the other Moiety.

307. Lord, Meſne, and Tenant by Equality of Services, the Tenant forejudges the Meſne, the Lord dies, having Baſtard eigne and Mulier puiſne, the Baſtard has Iſſue, and dies ſeized after having intermarried with the Tenant, the Wife dies, the Meſne reverſes the Forejudger by Error, the Queſtion is, if the Mulier ſhall have the Rent of the Seigniory. It ſeems that the Maxim holds Place of Rent as well as of Land, as it is held 14 Ed. 2. Fitz. Baſtardy 26. and it ſeems that although the Rent was ſuſpended by the Marriage, yet the Maxim holds Place, for there was a dying ſeized of the Rent without Interruption. For if a Man has a Rent in Fee, and becomes Tenant by the Curteſy of the Land, and dies, his Heir ſhall have a Mortdanceſtor of the Rent, which he ſhould not have had, if his Anceſtor had not died ſeized. So if an Aſſize be brought againſt the Pernor of Rent, and afterwards the Plaintiff is non-ſuited, the Diſſeizee of the Rent is driven to his Action for the Rent, (viz. where firſt the Pernor has an Eſtate for Life in the Tenancy) becauſe the dying ſeized took away his Entry. Then as to the other Point, the Writ of Error does not lie, becauſe the Right of the Meſnalty is extinct by the Unity of the Poſſeſſion of the Seigniory in the Iſſue of the Baſtard, as in 5 H. 7. 31. b. upon a Releaſe made by the Lord to the Tenant after the Forejudger, a Writ of Error cannot revive the Meſnalty.

308. Three Siſters make Partition, the eldeſt has one Acre in Fee, the ſecond has another Acre in Fee, and the youngeſt has an Acre in Tail, all being of full Age, the eldeſt dies, her Iſſue enters upon the youngeſt, as ſhe may, it ſeems that the ſecond may alſo enter, and the whole Partition is defeated, for when the youngeſt is ouſted, the ſecond ſhall have Part of that to which the Iſſue of the eldeſt is remitted, as ſhe ſhould have had if ſhe had recovered in a Formedon; and if the ſecond does not enter, it will be a Miſchief to her, for ſhe cannot have Aid becauſe the other holds pro indiviſo. As if two Jointenants, the one within Age, the other of full Age, make Exchange, and after Execution the Infant re enters, the whole Exchange is avoided, for when it is annulled againſt one, it is annulled againſt all, otherwiſe it is when it is annulled for Parcel of the Land not being entire, as it is agreed 14 Ed. 4. 3. and it is not all one Perſon.

309. If a Man diſſeizes Tenant for Life to the Uſe of him in Reverſion, and he agrees to the Diſſeizin, the Queſtion is, if he ſhall have a new Fee, or the ancient one, for now he is a Diſſeizor [e] ab initio, and if he had been the immediate Diſſeizor, he had only gained a Freehold by Wrong, but now he agrees to that which the other has done, and this makes him to have the Fee by Wrong.

[e] See Plowd. 8 (h).

310. If

310. If he in Reverſion of the Seigniory releaſes to his Grantee for Years and to the Tenant of the Land, and to their Heirs, quære how this Releaſe ſhall enure? But if the Releaſe had been to them without more ſaying, it ſeems clearly that the Eſtate for Years and the whole Seigniory had been extinct, for although it enlarges his Eſtate for Life, and no more, yet without the Word (Heirs) the whole Reverſion is extinct, and conſequently the Eſtate for Years, quod negatur 8 H. 6. 24. But if it had been of a Rent-Charge, and the Releaſe had been to them, the Grantee ſhould have taken the whole for his Life, becauſe it is nearer to him, and the other the Fee, and ſo it ſhould have enured to both.

311. Leſſee for 20 Years leaſes for 10 Years, rendering Rent, and afterwards makes a Leaſe to the ſame Leſſee for 10 Years, to commence after his firſt Eſtate ended, it ſeems that the firſt Leſſee ſhall have, during the firſt 10 Years, the Rent reſerved, as a Rent-Service, and ſhall diſtrain for it, for the laſt 10 Years are not out of the firſt Leſſee, nor ſhall they be diveſted out of him and veſted in the other until the Commencement of the Term, and in the mean Time he has but a Right or Title to the Term. [a] And therefore Littleton ſays that a Releaſe to the Termor before Entry is void, becauſe he has not Poſſeſſion, but only a Right, and this Word (only) is excluſive, and proves that he has not the Chattle in him. [b] And in 4 H. 7. 10. it is agreed that the Leſſee cannot ſurrender before Entry, and Keble ſaid that he has not the Eſtate, but a Right to the Term, which none contradicted; and in 22 Ed. 4. 36, Suliard, Neal, and Brian held the Surrender void, becauſe nothing was in him at the Time of the Surrender, which proves that the Term is not out of the Leſſor before Entry. And therefore in the firſt Caſe the laſt 10 Years were never out of the firſt Leſſee, nor veſted in the ſecond, and then it follows that he cannot ſurrender to the firſt Leſſor, viz. to him who has the Fee, and a Releaſe made to the ſame Leſſor during the firſt 10 Years is void for want of Intereſt and Privity. And if a Diſſeizor makes a Leaſe for 10 Years to commence at Michaelmas, before which the Diſſeizee confirms his Eſtate, and afterwards enters, the Leaſe is avoided. [c] And altho' the Leſſee for Years may forfeit or grant the Term before it is in him, yet this does not prove that the Eſtate is in him, for ſometimes a Man may grant a Right and Title real, as if a Man has a Rent-Charge for 20 Years with a Penalty, as in 39 H. 6. 35. b. with Warranty annexed to the Land, he may grant it over, and it is a diſtinct Thing. And if a Leaſe be made for Years, Remainder for Years, Remainder to the firſt Leſſee in Fee, he in Remainder may ſurrender to him, and yet he has nothing in Poſſeſſion. So if a Leaſe is made for Years, Remainder for Years, and the Fee deſcends to the firſt Termor, he in Remainder may ſurrender.

[a] Litt. § 459. Plowd. 423 (c), and ſee the Books there cited in the Margin.

[b] S. P. Ante § 122.

[c] Plowd. 142 (k). 423 (f). Ante § 95. and ſee the Books there cited in the Margin.

312. A. makes a Gift in Tail to B. who makes a Gift in Tail to C. who makes a Feoffment in Fee, and dies without Iſſue, it ſeems that the Iſſue of B. may enter, for nothing was a Diſcontinuance to the Iſſue of B. but the Livery of B. whereby the Reverſion of the Donor was diſcontinued, but when C. dies without Iſſue, now the Livery is determined, and therefore the Diſcontinuance is purged, and the Feoffment of C. who is a Stranger to the firſt Tail, cannot diſcontinue it, eſpecially when there was but a Right of the Tail diſcontinued by the Livery of B. and a Right cannot be diſcontinued by Feoffment, quod Nota.

313. Huſband has Land for Life, Remainder to the Wife for Life, Remainder to the Heirs of the Body of the Huſband, the Queſtion was, how the Huſband might diſcontinue this Eſtate-Tail, without barring the Tail; and the Device was, that the Huſband and Wife ſhould make a Leaſe to A. for the Life of the Huſband and Wife, and of the Survivor of them, which A. ſhould grant his Eſtate to the Huſband, and then he ſhould make a Feoffment, which would prove a Diſcontinuance. For upon the Grant of the Huſband and Wife A. ſhall have two Eſtates, viz. firſt for the Life of the Huſband, and then for the Life of the Wife, ſo that if he recovers in Aſſize during the Life of the Huſband, who dies, he ſhall not have a Re-diſſeizin during the Life of the Wife, becauſe it is another Eſtate, and the Execution of the firſt Eſtate is not an Execution of the ſecond, but he may have again a Scire facias to execute the ſecond Eſtate. Then, if the Law be ſo, when both the Eſtates come to the Huſband, the latter is extinct, for when he hath it for his own Life, he cannot have a Remainder over for the Life of another, becauſe the firſt Eſtate is the greater, and conſequently when he is Tenant for his own Life, Remainder to the Heirs of his Body, he is Tenant in Tail preſently (Aſſumptio falſa), and ſo may diſcontinue by Feoffment. And if the Remainder in Tail be diſcontinued, becauſe by the Grant of the Fee it paſſed as an Eſtate determinable upon their two Lives, and foraſmuch as they could not lawfully grant any ſuch Eſtate, the Remainder ſhall be thereby altered, and thereby they ſhall have the Fee now; then that cannot endure longer than the Eſtate which was the Cauſe of it, and when the Huſband purchaſed the Eſtate, then was that extinct, and ſo the Huſband was Tenant in Tail. Quære tamen, ſeeing that the Wife was in Remainder alſo, but if the Eſtate of the Wife had been for the Life of the Huſband, Remainder for the Life of the Wife, then the Matter had been clear.

314. A. bargains and ſells Land to B. by Indenture, and afterwards both of them grant a Rent-Charge to C. and then the Indenture is inrolled, it ſeems that the Rent is gone, for it was the Grant of A. and the Inrollment has Relation to the Delivery, which avoids the Grant, notwithſtanding the Confirmation of the other, who had nothing at the Time of the Grant and Confirmation.

315. Tenant for Life and he in Reverſion grant a Rent-Charge, the Grantee releaſes all his Right to the Reverſioner, the Queſtion is, if the Rent ſhall be extinct. [d] And if two Tenants in common or ſeveral Tenants grant a Rent of 20*s.* to A. this ſhall be a ſeveral Grant of 20*s.* by each of them, and therefore by a Releaſe to the one the Rent ſhall not be extinct as to the other. And ſo ſome think it ſhall be in the principal Caſe, for, their Eſtates being ſeveral, the Grant ſhall enure ſeverally, and then the Releaſe of the Grantee to him in Reverſion ſhall not extinguiſh the Rent of him in Poſſeſſion, becauſe the Poſſeſſion is not charged with the Rent releaſed. And if it ſhould be taken as the Grant of the Tenant for Life, and the Confirmation of him in Reverſion, yet it ſeems that the Releaſe to the Reverſioner ſhall not extinguiſh the Rent, as to him in Poſſeſſion, becauſe altho' he purchaſes the Reverſion, he ſhall have the Rent during the Life of the Tenant for Life. And if they be ſeveral Grants, a Releaſe to the Tenant for Life will not extinguiſh the Rent iſſuing out of the Reverſion, becauſe as to that Charge the Tenant needs not to attorn.

[d] S. P. Plowd. 140 (i), and ſee the Books there cited in the Margin.

316. If there are two Iſſues of Coparceners, or Heirs in Gavelkind, and one of them has a Wife, and dies without Iſſue, and the other endows the Widow of the third Part of the Moiety, and afterwards re-infeoffs her of all the Reſidue in Fee, and ſhe takes a ſecond Huſband, who makes a Leaſe according to the Statute of 32 H. 8. and afterwards the other Parcener releaſes to the Wife, and the Huſband dies, ſhe ſhall be bound for two Parts of the whole Land divided into ſix Parts, and for the Reſidue ſhe ſhall avoid the Leaſe. For when the Wife was endowed, yet a Præcipe ſhould have been maintenable againſt the Tenant in Dower, and the Heir of the Huſband (if he had had Iſſue), and the other Parcener, as in 9 Ed. 4. 14, againſt Tenant by the Curteſy and the other Parcener, and by the ſame Reaſon againſt Tenant in Dower, ſo in 21 Ed. 3. a Scire facias brought againſt Tenant by the Curteſy and the other Parcener was held maintenable. Then it ſeems that the other could not enfeoff the Tenant by the Curteſy, no more could ſhe the Tenant in Dower, in Reſpect of the Unity of the Eſtate as to her Moiety, but ſhe might releaſe, and that for the whole Moiety, altho' ſhe had not the whole. As if the one Parcener has Iſſue 20 Daughters, and dies, the other may releaſe her entire Part to each of them. But if there are two Jointenants of 20 Acres, and the one makes a Feoffment of all his Part in 18 Acres, there perhaps the other cannot releaſe all his Right in the 18 Acres, but only in the two Acres. But if Huſband and Wife and a Stranger are Jointenants, the Stranger may releaſe all his Right to the Wife only, and it ſhall enure accordingly. Then further, it ſeems that, as to the Heir of the Huſband, for the two Parts ſhe is Tenant in common, altho' ſhe continues in Parcenary with the other as to the Moiety of the other, for that is divided, becauſe ſhe has the Freehold only, and the other the Reverſion of the third Part of the Moiety, and the two Parts of this Moiety are as it were ſevered in the Right of that Part. Quære tamen if ſeveral Actions ſhall be brought againſt the Huſband, as there ſhould if the Huſband had been Tenant in common with the other.

317. A. gives White-Acre and Black-Acre to B. and C. viz. the one Acre in Fee, the other in Tail, B. aliens White-Acre in Fee, C. aliens Black-Acre in Fee, they die, the Queſtion is, what Remedy their Iſſue has. It ſeems that the Iſſue of B. ſhall have a Formedon for the Moiety of Black-Acre, and the Iſſue of C. ſhall have an Entry in the Quibus for the Moiety of White-Acre, and a Formedon for the Moiety of Black-Acre. For, firſt, the one Acre ought to be entirely in Fee, and the other entirely in Tail, and not by Moieties of each Acre, becauſe the one Acre was given in Tail, the other in Fee. Then the Feoffment of B. was an Election for both to have a Fee in White-Acre, as if a Rent-Charge be granted to two, and the one diſtrains and avows for himſelf, and makes Cognizance for his Companion, this is a peremptory Election for both never to have an Annuity, altho' he ſurvives, ſo here. Then the Feoffment of B. was a Diſſeizin to C. for the one Moiety, whereof an Entry in the Quibus is given to the Iſſue, and conſequently the entire Tail is in Black-Acre, whereof the Feoffment of C. for the one Moiety is a Diſcontinuance to his Iſſue, and for the other Moiety being a Diſſeizin to B. the Iſſue can have no Action anceſtrel but a Formedon. Others think that the Election of the one for the Inheritance is not peremptory to the other, as it ſhall be for Chattles, as if I give one of my Horſes to two, and one of them makes Election, this is peremptory to the other.

318. If Land is given to A. and to his Heirs Males, &c. as long as he has Iſſue Female of his Body, and A. dies, leaving Iſſue a Female, his Wife is endowed, and afterwards the Daughter of A. dies without Iſſue, the Wife ſhall loſe her Dower, for there is a Diverſity between a Condition in Deed and a Condition in Law, for if Tenant in Tail dies without Iſſue, his Wife ſhall have Dower, becauſe this is a Condition in Law by which the Eſtate is ended; but here it is a Condition in Deed, for if the Gift had been made upon Condition that if A. had died without Iſſue Male, &c. it had been a clear Caſe that the Wife ſhould have loſt her Dower, and when he ſays, "as long as he has Iſſue Female," this is all one Sentence, and pronounced in divers Parts. But if Land be given to A. in Tail, upon Condition that if he dies without Iſſue the Donor ſhall re-enter, there the Wife of A. ſhall not loſe her Dower, for the Condition does not take Effect until the Eſtate is firſt determined by the Condition in Law, upon which Determination ſhe is dowable.

319. If a Man has Land by Deſcent on the Part of the Mother, and makes a Feoffment to his Father in Fee, upon Condition to be performed on the Part of him or his Heirs, and the Father dies, ſo that the Land deſcends to him in Fee, now the Condition is extinct, altho' he dies without Iſſue, becauſe altho' he had the Land on the Part of the Mother, yet the Condition, being a new Thing, goes to the Heirs on the Part of the Father, as in Caſe of a Feoffment of Land in Borough-Engliſh in Fee upon Condition, the eldeſt Son ſhall enter for the Condition broken, as the Heir Male ſhall do upon a Condition to the Female. And foraſmuch as the Condition in the firſt Caſe is now deſcendible to the Heirs on the Part of the Father, and they have not the Land by Deſcent, therefore this is an Extinguiſhment of the Condition. But on the other Hand, if Land deſcends to the Son from his Father, and he makes a Feoffment thereof to his Mother in Fee upon Condition, and the Mother dies, and afterwards the Son dies without Iſſue, the Heir on the Part of the Father ſhall perform the Condition, and the Heir on the Part of the Mother ſhall have have the Land in the mean Time, as if a Man has a Seigniory on the Part of his Father, and a Tenancy on the Part of his Mother, and dies without Iſſue, the Seigniory ſhall go one Way, and the Tenancy another, and if the Condition had been broken in the Life of the Mother, it had been all one, viz. the Heir on the Part of the Father might have entered, for the Son is not remitted by the Deſcent. The Caſe was, that after ſuch Entry the Son granted a Rent-Charge, and died without Iſſue, if the Heir on the Part of the Father ſhould hold it diſcharged? And it ſeems that he ſhall, by Catlin Reader.

320. If Land be given for Life, upon Condition that if the Leſſee has no Iſſue during his Life, then it ſhall remain to J. S. in Fee, and he dies without Iſſue, the Remainder is void, for altho' the Remainder might commence upon Condition, yet the Condition ought to be performed in the Life of the Tenant for Life, and that it could not be here. But if the Condition was, that if he has Iſſue during his Life, that then it ſhould remain over, there the Remainder ſhould be good, if he has Iſſue, ſo there is a Diverſity. See 7 H. 4. 6. a Rent granted to one for the Life of A. Remainder to the right Heirs of A. this cannot be during the Life of A. and yet the Remainder was awarded good, becauſe it veſted at the ſame Inſtant when the firſt Eſtate was determined.

321. If Tenant in Tail is diſſeized, and releaſes to the Diſſeizor with Warranty, and afterwards is attainted of Felony, and has a Charter of Pardon, and dies, it ſeems that this is a Diſcontinuance, for if he had purchaſed the Land after his Pardon, it ſhould have deſcended to his Heir, which proves that the Blood between him and his Heir is not corrupted, as it is between him and his Anceſtor, and then inaſmuch as the Warranty was in eſſe at the Time of his Death, there is no Impediment to its deſcending. But if Tenant in Tail, who has a Warranty annexed to his Eſtate, be attainted of Felony, and executed, many think that his Iſſue ſhall not inherit the Voucher for the Warranty, altho' he has the Land, for the Warranty is out of the Statute de donis conditionalibus, which ſpeaks of Lands and Tenements given upon Condition; * but Plowden thinks otherwiſe, and that by the Equity of the Statute this is preſerved as well as † Charters, 21 H. 6. 2. a. Per Markham. et 9 H. 6. 60. b. Cott. as to Charters.

322. A Man makes a Feoffment to a Feme-Sole, with a Letter of Attorney to make Livery of Seizin, and afterwards the Feoffor intermarries with the Feoffee, and they are divorced, the Queſtion is, if the Attorney may make Livery; it is countermanded.

323. Tenant for Life with Remainder over in Fee makes a Gift in Tail, Remainder in Fee, he who had the firſt Remainder releaſes all his Right to the Donee in Tail, not ſaying and to his Heirs, and afterwards grants a Rent-Charge to a Stranger out of the Remainder in Fee, and dies, the Donee dies without Iſſue, the Heir of him in Remainder enters, if he ſhall hold it charged is the Queſtion, for if he be remitted to the ancient Right, then the Land is diſcharged againſt him. And ſome think that the Releaſe cannot give to the Releaſee the Right in Fee which the Releaſor had, for then in a Manner he might releaſe to himſelf; and if the Releaſe enures but as a Confirmation, then without Queſtion the Heir ſhall be remitted, and ſhall hold it diſcharged. But if the Remainder had been limited in Tail to him who had the firſt Remainder in Fee, Remainder over in Fee, then the Releaſe ſhould have enured to the firſt Eſtate-Tail, and to the Fee, and then if the laſt Fee be forfeited, the mean Remainder is eſtabliſhed, and ſo the Releaſe enures to himſelf. But as to the other Point which may be moved, viz. if the Remainder be good to him who had the Remainder before, ſeeing that it is out of him and in him all at one Inſtant, it is good enough without Queſtion.

324. If a Man leaſes two Acres for Years, rendring Rent, upon Condition performable by the Leſſee to have Fee in one Acre, not naming in which Acre, and he makes Livery in both, as he ought, and afterwards the Leſſee performs the Condition, the Queſtion is, what Rent the Leſſor ſhall have, for it is conſiderable whether it ſhall be apportioned, ſeeing that Part of the Reverſion, to which the Rent is united, is now in the Leſſee by an Act which hath Relation, ſo that it may now be ſaid that no Rent was ever reſerved for that Acre, but for the other Acre only, which ſeems to be of the ſame Effect as if the Gift had been of two Acres, the one in Fee, the other for Years, rendring Rent, in which Caſe the Rent ſhall be only of the one Acre, becauſe he may diſtrain of common Right, and out of the other Acre there is no Remedy but after Seizin. Alſo in the firſt Caſe if the Leſſor will diſtrain in the one Acre, the Leſſee may take his Election, and ſay that he has a Fee in it, and ſo exclude the Leſſor. But if the Leſſor had appointed the Acre in certain, then the Matter in Queſtion ſhould only have been upon the firſt Point.

325. If one diſſeizes another to the Uſe of J. S. and the Diſſeizee releaſes to the Diſſeizor, yet J. S. may agree to the Diſſeizin, for the Title is not taken away by the Releaſe, any more than a Condition ſhould be, or a Rent-Charge granted by him, or if he had covenanted to be ſeized to a Uſe executory upon Marriage, ſuch Uſe ſhould not have been taken away by the Releaſe. But if there had been two Diſſeizors to the Uſe of J. S. and the Diſſeizee had releaſed to one of them, this had taken away the whole Title to the Uſe, cauſa patet. So if Tenant for Life releaſes to his Diſſeizor, this does not reſtore the Reverſion, but if he releaſes to one of the Diſſeizors, it is otherwiſe.

326. The Son leaſes to the Father for Life, who leaſes to A. for Life, Remainder in Fee to the Son, the Son grants a Rent-Charge out of the Remainder, and then releaſes all his Right in the Land to A. and his Heirs, the Father and A. die, the Queſtion is, if his Iſſue ſhall hold it charged. Firſt, it ſeems clearly that the rightful Fee is diveſted, and the wrongful Fee veſted, in the Son all at one Inſtant. As if Tenant in Tail leaſes for Life, the Inheritance of the Tail is diveſted, and the Fee-Simple veſted, all at one Inſtant. So if the Huſband makes a Leaſe for Life of the Land of the Wife, the Fee, which the Huſband had in Right of his Wife, is diveſted, and the new Fee in himſelf in his own Right is veſted, at the ſame Time. So is it in the principal Caſe.

Then

* With the Opinion of Plowden here agrees Plowd. Manxel's Caſe 2 (a). Co. Litt. 20. a. 392. b. Sed Contra Ante § 185.

† S. P. Plowd. Manxel's Caſe 2 (c).

Then when the Rent was granted out of the Reverſion, it was all one as if it had been granted out of the Remainder, becauſe the Reverſion and Remainder are but one Thing in Subſtance, viz. terra revertens, and when the Son releaſed his Right to A. and his Heirs, this did not enure as an Entry and Feoffment, becauſe A. was in by Title without Diſſeizin, and then that did not give him the Remainder as if he had releaſed to him all his Eſtate in the Land, or as if he had releaſed all his Right, habendum the Land in Fee, for there the Fee paſſes, but here he had both a Right and Eſtate, and then a Releaſe of the Right ſhall not enure to the Eſtate. Further, ſome think that the Right in Fee could not merge in the Eſtate for Life, and in the Remainder it could not merge, for then he releaſed in Fact to himſelf. But if a Woman Diſſeizoreſs leaſes for Life, and afterwards marries with the Diſſeizee, who releaſes in Fee to the Tenant for Life, there it ſeems that the Fee merges in auter droit, for the Benefit of the Eſtate in Fee, in the Reverſion. Then, if the Releaſe does not perfect the Remainder, does the Grant of the Rent, which is an Aſſent of the Remainder, ſo inſeperably conjoin the Remainder, and the Rent, and the Right, that the Right ſhall be merged in the Eſtate for the Preſervation of the Rent? And it ſeems that it does not, for if the Diſſeizee takes an Eſtate in Fee from him who has the Land by Deſcent, he agrees to it, and yet if he dies ſeized, his Heir ſhall be remitted, and ſo the Rent-Charge avoided. But ſome think that inaſmuch as by the Grant of the Rent-Charge he has agreed to the Remainder, and ſo to the Livery, he can never enter upon the Tenant for Life, nor do any Wrong to him, and then the Releaſe gives the Remainder, and ſo the Land is charged.

327. If the Tenant holds of the Lord as of his Manor of Dale by Fealty and 20*s.* and the Lord leaſes the Manor for Years, rendering 40*s.* with Attornment, and afterwards the Leſſor releaſes all his Right to the Tenant, the Queſtion is, if the Rent of 40*s.* ſhall be apportioned. For firſt it ſeems that by the Releaſe the Tenant is diſcharged of 20*s.* as well againſt the Leſſee as againſt the Leſſor, becauſe now the Tenant holds of the Lord Paramount, ergo he does not hold of the Leſſee, for he cannot enter and hold one and the ſame Land of two ſeveral Lords. Alſo it ſeems that the Rent of 40*s.* was payable as well for the Services as for the Demeſns, altho' no Diſtreſs could be taken in the Demeſns for it, as in the Caſe of 12 H. 13. of Sheep. But the laſt Point is, inaſmuch as the 20*s.* are loſt not by Title paramount, but by an Act of late Time, and that by the Leſſor, if now it ſhall be apportioned or not? See the Caſe of the Dean of Windſor in an Action of Debt 21 H. 7. 6. b.

328. The Lord in Gavelkind has Iſſue two Sons, the Tenant aliens in Mortmain, the Lord dies, the eldeſt Son enters into both Parts, firſt, it ſeems that the Seigniory ſhall deſcend as the Tenancy, and alſo that the Title of Entry ſhall deſcend within the Year. But it ſeems that when the Land (admitting a Licenſe had been obtained) is aliened in Mortmain, now the Cuſtom is extinct, and the Land remains at the Common Law, and by the ſame Reaſon the Seigniory ſhall deſcend to the eldeſt Son; and it is not like as if the Alienation had been upon Condition, or as if the Corporation had been the Diſſeizors of it, for there upon the defeating of the Eſtate, the Cuſtom is revived, but here the Eſtate is not defeaſible, and therefore the Cuſtom is extinct. Further, it ſeems that the Livery here is not diſproved, for if the Alienees in Mortmain had had a Rent Charge before, and the Lord had entered, yet the Rent had been extinct, otherwiſe upon a Diſſeizin and Re-entry by the Diſſeizee. And if Tenant for Life aliens in Fee to the Grantee of Rent in Fee by his Leſſor, and the Leſſor enters for the Forfeiture, the Rent is revived, the Diverſity is apparent. And in the firſt Caſe the Lord claims under, which proves that in that Caſe the Alienation is affirmed, and then it had extinguiſhed the Cuſtom, and ſo made the eldeſt Son inheritable to the Seigniory.

329. If one Jointenant leaſes his Part for Years, and a Stranger enters, claiming the Moiety of the other, who waives the Poſſeſſion, it ſeems that this is a Diſſeizin to him, notwithſtanding that the Termor continues in, becauſe they were Tenants in common, and notwithſtanding that he in Reverſion, who had a joint Freehold with him, continues in Poſſeſſion thereof by Force of the Poſſeſſion of the Leſſee. But on the other Hand, if the Termor had waived the Poſſeſſion, and the other had continued in, it ſeems that he in Reverſion could not have been out of Poſſeſſion, becauſe his joint Companion held himſelf in.

330. If the Tenant vouches the eldeſt Son as Heir to the Warranty, and the youngeſt as Heir to Land in Borough-Engliſh, and the eldeſt vouches over, the Queſtion is, how the Recovery ſhall be againſt the Vouchee, viz. if the eldeſt or the youngeſt ſhall have the Recompence in Value. For the youngeſt loſes the Land, rendering in Value to the whole, and if the eldeſt ſhould have the Recompence, it would be very unreaſonable, becauſe he loſt nothing, * for by the Law the Tenant ſhall never ſue Execution in Value againſt the Vouchee, until the Demandant has ſued Execution againſt him, and here Execution was never ſued againſt the eldeſt, for he has not the Land by Deſcent, and the youngeſt has not the Warranty by Deſcent, altho' he has the Land, and therefore he cannot vouch by Reaſon of the Warranty, and then to ſay that he ſhall recover in Value by Reaſon of a Warranty to which he is not privy, and which he cannot deraign, would be very hard. Quære how the Recovery in Value ſhall be, and quære if an Action of Debt ſhall be maintenable againſt the Heir and his younger Brother in Borough-Engliſh, where the eldeſt has nothing by Deſcent, as it ſhall be againſt the Heir in Gavelkind: And it ſeems that it ſhall not, for in Gavelkind he may have a joint Judgment againſt all, and not againſt the eldeſt in the other Caſe, becauſe he has nothing whereof it may be levied, quod Nota.

* S. P. Plowd. Manxel's Caſe 11. Co. Litt. 376. b. 1 Co. 96. a. Pig on Recov. 31.

331. If a Donee in Tail to him and the Heirs Males of his Body, and for Default of ſuch Iſſue, to him and the Heirs Females of his Body, makes a Leaſe for Years, rendering Rent, and dies without Iſſue Male, and the Female accepts the Rent, ſhe ſhall be bound thereby, inaſmuch as the Leaſe was derived out of both the Eſtates, and ſhe came by Deſcent to the Eſtate, &c. But if the Heir Male had made the Leaſe, and had died without Iſſue, the Heir Female could not have made it good by Acceptance.

if

332. If the one Acre is given to the eldeſt Daughter in Frank-Marriage, and the other in Fee deſcends to the other Daughter, viz. to the youngeſt, the Queſtion is, how ſhe ſhall deraign the Warranty for it, or if ſhe ſhall have Aid.

333. If the Tenant enfeoffs the Lord to the Uſe of J. S. or if the Lord of a Manor enfeoffs the Tenant of the Manor to the Uſe of J. S. in Fee, the Queſtion is, if the Seigniory remains. Note the Cauſe.

334. If a Man leaſes for 40 Years upon collateral Condition, and the Leſſee makes a Leaſe for 20 Years, and afterwards ſurrenders to the Leſſor, ſome think that the Condition is extinct for the Reſidue, becauſe he has Part of the Eſtate by his own Act, ſo that if he re-enters, he ſhall not be in the ſame Plight as he was before, inaſmuch as he ſhall not avoid the whole Eſtate. For if the Leſſee for 40 Years had granted a Rent-Charge, now for the 20 Years ſurrender'd, he ſhould never have avoided it. For if Feoffee upon Condition makes a Leaſe for Life, and afterwards the Feoffor releaſes the Condition to him in Reverſion, the Eſtate for Life is diſcharged of the Condition, and it ſeems to them to be all one, and that the Eſtate for Life is diſcharged, whether it be a Releaſe in Deed of the Condition, or a Releaſe in Law, viz. if he had had the Reverſion by Grant. As if the Iſſue in Tail, who has a Cauſe of Formedon upon a Diſcontinuance in Fee, accepts from the Diſcontinuee the Reverſion upon an Eſtate for Life made by the Diſcontinuee, now he ſhall not have a Formedon, for ſuch Action is to recover the Inheritance, and the Tenant for Life has not the Inheritance, but the Iſſue in Tail himſelf has it by his own Acceptance, and then inaſmuch as he cannot recover the whole Eſtate which was diſcontinued, his Action is gone. So ſhall it be of a Condition, if he cannot have the whole Eſtate again; but ſome put a Difference between a Condition and a Right, as to this Purpoſe. And Note, if the Feoffee in Fee upon Condition leaſes for Life, a Releaſe of the Condition to the Tenant for Life extends to the whole Condition againſt the Feoffee in Fee, as it ſhall do of a Right, or a Rent. And it ſeems clearly that if there be Feoffee of two Acres upon Condition, and the Feoffor releaſes the Condition in the one Acre, this being collateral, it ſhall remain in the other Acre, as it ſhall be in Caſe of a Warranty annexed to two Acres, which, tho' releaſed in the one, yet remains in the other, for the Condition is ſeveral for each Acre as the Right is, and therefore it ſhall remain in Part of the Land as the Right ſhall do, notwithſtanding the Releaſe. But if the Condition be made by two, or to two, there a Releaſe made by the one or to the one ſhall extinguiſh the whole Condition, as it ſhould a Warranty. But if one has two Acres, the one to him and Heirs Males, &c. the other to him and his Heirs Females, &c. and he leaſes them for Years, rendring Rent upon Condition, and dies, leaving a Son and a Daughter, there the Condition remains to the Son for the one Acre; and is extinguiſhed for the other Acre; and if the Leſſee for Years rendring Rent with Re-entry ſurrenders the one Acre, the Condition remains for the other Acre. Nota.

335. If A. leaſes for Years to B. to commence at Michaelmas, and before the Day he enfeoffs B. in Fee, and B. dies before the Day, and his Heir enters, the Queſtion is, if the Executor may enter upon the Heir.

336. Feoffee with Warranty is diſſeized by the Feoffor, who dies ſeized, the Feoffee ouſts the Iſſue, who brings a Writ of Right, and the Miſe is joined upon the mere Right, and the Demandant is bar'd, the Queſtion is, if the Feoffee, being impleaded by a Stranger, ſhall deraign the Warranty againſt the Iſſue.

337. There are two Jointenants for Life of two Acres, and the Land is confirmed to them in Fee to Uſe, viz. the one Acre to the Uſe of one, and the other Acre to the Uſe of another, in Fee, now it ſeems that they are ſeveral Tenants of the Freehold of the ſeveral Acres, for the Freehold is merged by the Confirmation in Fee to Uſe, and is become according to the Uſe, as if it had been before the Statute of 27 H. 8. for at that Time if Tenant for Life to his own Uſe had accepted a Confirmation in Fee to the Uſe of another, thereby he had the Freehold to the Uſe of the other, as a Condition or Rent annexed to the Reverſion charges the Freehold alſo, when the Freehold and Reverſion are conjoined by the Act of the Party.

338. If after the dying ſeized of the Diſſeizor the Diſſeizee abates, or diſſeizes the Heir of the Diſſeizor, againſt whom the Wife of the Diſſeizor brings a Writ of Dower, and recovers by Confeſſion, as ſhe ſhall do of Right in both Caſes, the Queſtion is, if the Diſſeizee may enter upon her, as he might if ſhe had recovered againſt the Heir of the Diſſeizor.

339. A. diſſeizes B. of 20 Acres in C. B. brings a Writ of Entry upon a Diſſeizin in 10 Acres, and recovers againſt A. and afterwards comes upon the Land, and enters into one Acre in the Name of all recovered, and thereof preſently enfeoffs D. who enters into the other 9 Acres, and for thoſe 9 Acres A brings an Aſſize, it ſeems to be maintenable, becauſe by the Entry of B. into one Acre, in the Name of all that were recovered, nothing was veſted in him but that Acre only, for it was not a Determination of his Election which 9 Acres he would have, becauſe it was not certain, and then nothing paſſed by the Feoffment but the one Acre only, for the Feoffee being a Stranger ſhall not make Election, which always goes in Privity.

340. A. leaſes for 20 Years to commence preſently, and afterwards leaſes for 40 Years to C. to commence after the End and Determination of the firſt Leaſe by whatever Manner, and then leaſes to the firſt Leſſee for 30 Years, it ſeems that the Leaſe of C. ſhall not commence preſently, becauſe there is nothing which extinguiſhes or avoids the Leaſe but only the taking of the ſecond Eſtate, and here the Leaſe of C. is an Impediment to the Commencement of the ſecond Eſtate, becauſe his Leaſe is to commence before it, for which Reaſon it ſeems that the firſt Leaſe continues and is not determined.

341. [a] A Parſon leaſes for 20 Years to A. and the Patron and Ordinary confirm it for 10 Years, it ſeems that inaſmuch as it is one entire Thing, it cannot be confirmed in Part only, but the Confirmation ſhall go to the whole, as the Confirmation of the Diſſeizee to the Diſſeizor; tamen quære, for the Aſſent of the Patron cannot be reſembled to that.

[a] Vide et Nota Foord's Caſe 5 Co. 81. which ſeems contrary to this Section, in the Latitude it is here laid down.

342. Tenant for Life leaſes for Life, Remainder to his Leſſor and a Stranger in Fee, are they Jointenants, or how ſhall it enure? It ſeems that the Stranger ſhall take the whole, for he cannot give a Fee in any Part to him who had the Fee before, [b] as if the Tenant in Tail enfeoffs the Donor, he does not give him the Fee, and then foraſmuch as the Leſſor ſhall take nothing, the other ſhall take the whole. As if one Jointenant enfeoffs his Companion and a Stranger, the Stranger ſhall take the whole. And if in the principal Caſe he had made a Leaſe pur auter vie, Remainder ut ſupra, there perhaps it would have enured jointly; but here the Limitation of the Fee made the Wrong, and it cannot be a Wrong where it was limited to him that had it before, and here it is for the Benefit of the Leſſor, if the other ſhould take the whole, for then his Action remains, yet if he brings his Action for the whole, it is a Diſagreement to the whole.

[b] Dy. 10. pl. 32. 12. pl. 54. Mich. 33 Geo. 2. B. R. Hurſt v. the Earl of Winchelſea, Per Lord Mansfield C. J. 9 Ed. 4. 24. b. Per Littleton. Fitz. Diſcontinuance 28. Bro. 24. Litt. § 625. Plowd. 560 (b).

343. Feoffee upon Condition, after the Condition broken, is diſſeized by two, and the Feoffor releaſes to one of them, quære how it ſhall enure, whether to purge the mean Diſſeizin, or to enure by Way of Entry and Feoffment for the whole, or otherwiſe.

344. A Legacy is bequeathed to J. S. and the Executor delivers it upon Condition, the Queſtion is, if it be good; it ſeems not.

345. Tenant in Tail of a Seigniory purchaſes the Tenancy, and thereof, before the Statute of Quia emptores terrarum, makes a Feoffment, rendering a new Rent, and dies, having Iſſue, it ſeems that the Iſſue ſhall not have Election to have the one Seigniory or the other, but muſt of Neceſſity have the latter Seigniory, for that ſuſpends the former. As if the Lord in Tail purchaſes the Meſnalty in Fee, the Iſſue of him in whom both are ſuſpended cannot diſtrain for the Rent of the Seigniory, and chuſe to have it by Deſcent, for the Meſnalty by Deſcent caſt upon him is not waivable, for, notwithſtanding any Act which he may do to waive it, yet the Freehold and the Fee remain in him before any other has it by Pernancy, but it ſeems that if any one takes it before the Iſſue does any Act to ſhew that he will diſſent to it, then he may diſtrain for the Seigniory, but not after. As if Tenant in Tail of a Seigniory purchaſes the Tenancy, and dies, the Iſſue may diſtrain, if any other enters into the Land before him, but if he enters, and then another ouſts him, he cannot afterwards diſtrain for the Seigniory. So in the other Caſe the Seigniory newly reſerved is as a Meſnalty, and therefore the Election of the Seigniory cannot be waived of that Meſnalty. But if the new Seigniory had deſcended to the eldeſt Son, and the Seigniory in Tail to the ſecond Son as Heir in Tail to his Father and Mother, there the eldeſt Son ſhould have been Meſne, and the youngeſt might have diſtrained; but if the ſecond Son was Tenant in Tail of the Seigniory, as aforeſaid, (and for Default of ſuch Iſſue begotten on the Body of the Huſband and Wife, the Remainder to the right Heirs of the Body of the Father) and afterwards the Father makes the new Seigniory, there the Seigniory in Tail is utterly extinct, and the Tenant is diſcharged of it for ever, Cauſa patet. And this is a good Caſe for Argument.

346. If Tenant in Tail of a Manor, to which a Villain is regardant, leaſes to the Villain for 21 Years, rendering Rent, according to the Statute of 32 H. 8. and dies within the Term, the Queſtion is, if the Iſſue being remitted to the Freehold of his Villain may enter into the Manor, and ouſt the Villain. And herein it is to be conſidered that if the Statute ſhall be intended to reach to the Eſtate demiſed, he ſhall not avoid it, but if there be any other Imperfection in any Reſpect or Title, then he well may.

347. If A. dies, having two Daughters, and the eldeſt gives Land to the youngeſt, and to the Heirs of the Body of the Father begotten, it ſeems that an Eſtate for Life only paſſes, becauſe the Donor is one of the Heirs, and it cannot be an Intail in her of her own making, and it cannot enure to the other, becauſe ſhe is not Heir, but half Heir only, and therefore foraſmuch as the Name is entire, ſhe cannot take the Eſtate; but if it had been given to the youngeſt Son, the eldeſt being born out of the Realm, ſuch Gift ſhould have gone to him.

348. The Iſſue in Tail within Age, having Cauſe of Formedon, accepts of the Diſcontinuee a Bargain and Sale by Deed inrolled, it ſeems that he ſhall not be remitted, as he ſhould upon a Feoffment, becauſe he is in by Reaſon of the Poſſeſſion conveyed to Uſe, which he ſhall have in the ſame Degree as he had the Uſe. So, it ſeems, if he be within Age at the Time of the Bargain and Sale, and the other dies, and afterwards the Deed is inrolled, he ſhall never be remitted.

349. The Debtee and another are made Executors to the Debtor, the Debtee recovers againſt the other, and afterwards adminiſters with the other who proved the Teſtament, and afterwards ſues Execution by Scire facias, if the other ſhall have an Audita querela, and if it ſhall be ſued in his Name only, or if the Property ſhall be altered in the Recoveror, or if the Execution be diſcharged, or how it ſhall enure? And it ſeems that nothing can ſtay the Execution, but by the Execution the Property ſhall not be changed, but he ſhall have it to the Uſe of the Teſtator.

350. [a] A. ſeized in Fee takes a Wife, and grants a Rent-Charge, and afterwards aliens, and takes back an Eſtate in Fee or in Tail, and dies ſeized, and his Wife recovers in Dower by Reddition, dition, and afterwards ſhe ſurmiſes that the Huſband died ſeized, and prays a Writ to enquire of the Damages, as appears in 14 H. 8. 6. in a Writ of Dower, it ſeems that ſhe ſhall hold the the Land charged, for by her Prayer ſhe has admitted herſelf dowable of the ſecond Eſtate, becauſe of the firſt Eſtate preceding the Grant whereof ſhe was dowable her Huſband did not die ſeized, ſo that ſhe has eſtopped herſelf.

[a] S. P. Co. Litt. 33. a.

351. Land is given to a Man and a Feme-ſole, and to the Heirs of the Body of the Woman begotten by the Man, they intermarry, and have Iſſue, and afterwards the Huſband aliens the Moiety, and dies, and then the Iſſue dies without Iſſue, the Queſtion is, if the Wife may enter into the Moiety for a Forfeiture, or not, ſince ſhe could not enter at the Time of the Alienation, and alſo ſhe is now Tenant in Tail after Poſſibility, in which Caſe ſhe has but a Freehold in Remainder, as ſhe had before; but otherwiſe if her Eſtate had been in Tail in Remainder after the Eſtate, 45 Aſſ. pl. 6.

352. If the Son be Tenant in Tail, Remainder to the Father in Fee, and the Father is bound in a Statute-merchant, and dies, ſo that the Remainder deſcends upon the Son, and he aliens in Fee, or ſuffers a common Recovery, the Land ſhall be bound to Execution preſently. As if the Lord recovers in a Ceſſavit againſt ſuch Tenant in Tail, the Remainder over being charged, the Lord ſhall hold it charged preſently to the Execution of a Statute acknowledged by him in Remainder, as it ſhall be to the Grant of a Rent by him, although it was not liable as a Remainder.

353. The Caſe between * Auſtin and Baker had this Point, viz. ‡ Tenant in Tail leaſed for 36 Years, and died, the King, being Donor, had reſerved Chivalry, and this was found by Office, and that the Heir was of full Age, whereby he ſued Livery, and afterwards the Heir accepted the Rent, and the Queſtion was, if the Leaſe was avoided, or not, ſo that the Acceptance of the Rent ſhould not bind the Iſſue. And it was ſaid not, becauſe the Primer-Seizin of the King ſhall not take away the Election of the Iſſue, who perhaps had more Benefit by the Rent than by the Land, which might be greater, in which Caſe the Leſſee could not waive the Land after the Land deſcended to the Iſſue. And if Tenant in Tail takes a Wife, and afterwards makes a Leaſe ut ſupra, and the Wife is endowed of the third Part, now ſhe ſhall avoid the Leaſe for her Time, but if ſhe dies during the Term, the Leſſee ſhall have the Term againſt the Heir, if the Leſſee enters, and pays the Rent to the Iſſue, and he accepts it. And if Tenant in Tail leaſes for Years, and afterwards takes a Wife, and dies without Iſſue, and the Donor enters, now the Leaſe is avoided, but if the Wife recovers in Dower, the Leſſee ſhall re-enter, and retain the third Part againſt the Wife being Tenant in Dower, for ſince ſhe claims the Eſtate as upon the Continuance of the Tail, ſhe ſhall not be received to ſay againſt the Leſſee that the Tail is determined, becauſe her Dower maintains Parcel of the Eſtate-Tail, and her Dower is younger than the Leaſe, and therefore the Leaſe ſhall be preferred. But if the Patron grants the next Avoidance, and afterwards he and the Parſon and Ordinary make a Leaſe for Years, and the Incumbent dies, he who comes in by the Grantee ſhall avoid the Leaſe, and it ſhall not be good againſt the third Incumbent, becauſe the whole Inheritance in the Thing is void by the Entry of the ſecond Incumbent; ſo that this is like the Caſe in 17 Ed. 3. 52. where the Huſband entered into the Land whereof the Wife levied a Fine as a Feme-ſole, and there the whole Inheritance was revoked, ſo here, although the King ſhall avoid it, it is not determined againſt the Heir. Another Point in the ſaid Caſe of Auſtin and Baker was this, viz. * if the King ſhall avoid it, where the Iſſue in Tail who accepts the Rent is attainted of Treaſon. And this was reſembled to the Caſe where the Iſſue levies a Fine with Proclamations to the King, thereby the Iſſues are barred, but the King ſhall be in as a Purchaſer, and not as in his Reverter. For if the Grandfather is Tenant in Tail, and the Father is attainted of Treaſon, and executed, the Son ſhall inherit the Tail as Heir to the Grandfather, and the Iſſues are not diſabled as if the Father had been a Baſtard. And it was ſaid that if the Tenant in Tail had entered into Religion, the King ſhould not have avoided the Leaſe before made, although it is now become as a Reverter, if he who enters has not Iſſue. But as to this Point, Note that the Caſe was ruled for the King, and againſt the Leſſee, as appears in † Walſingham's Caſe.

* S. C. Dy. 115. pl. 65. Plowd. 560.

‡ S. P. Co. Litt. 46. a.

* Vide Plowd. 560.

† Plowd. ubi ſupra.

354. Tenant for Life leaſes for Years, upon Condition to have the Land for the Life of the Tenant for Life, the Leſſee dies, his Executors perform the Condition, yet the Freehold ſhall not accrue to them, for when the Leſſee for Years died, the Condition was gone, for the Executors are not able to perform a Condition to encreaſe a Freehold, as they may a Condition to encreaſe a Term, becauſe the one is teſtamentary, and the other not, and therefore the Executors are privy to the one, and not to the other.

355. Tenant for Life of a Seigniory purchaſes the Tenancy pur auter vie, if the Lord releaſes to him and his Heirs all his Right in the Tenancy, this ſeems to enure by Way of Extinguiſhment, but if he releaſes to him and his Heirs all his Right in the Seigniory, this ſhall enure as an Enlargement of the Seigniory. So if the Meſne being a Woman intermarries with the Tenant, and the Lord releaſes to the Wife and her Heirs all his Right in the Seigniory, this ſhall enure as an Extinguiſhment of the Seigniory only, and not of the Meſnalty; but if he had releaſed to the Huſband all the Right which he had in the Seigniory, or in the Tenancy, both the Meſnalty and Seigniory had been extinct; but a Releaſe to the Wife of all his Right in the Tenancy had been void; but if the Lord had releaſed to the Huſband and Wife all his Right in the Seigniory, quære thereof, and it ſeems that it would have extinguiſhed only the Seigniory, and not the Meſnalty.

356. If the Lord brings an Aſſize of the Seigniory againſt the Diſſeizor of the Tenancy, as againſt a Deforceor, as before, and pending the ſame the Diſſeizee enters, &c.

357. Tenant in Tail, Remainder to his right Heirs, leaſes to the Iſſue within Age; upon Condition to have Fee, and at full Age during the Term he performs the Condition, and afterwards grants a Rent-Charge, and the Grantee is ſeized and diſſeized, and brings an Aſſize, and pending the ſame the Tenant in Tail dies, it ſeems that the Aſſize, which was well purchaſed, is now abated by the Remitter, although the Performance of the Condition was at full Age, becauſe the Contract, which was the Ground of the Matter, was during the Minority. As if an Infant delivers a Deed as an Eſcrow to be delivered as his Deed when he comes to his full Age, and receives the Money of the Party to whom, &c. yet he ſhall avoid the Deed. And Debt by Executors ſhall be in the Detinet only; although it be for Arrearages after the Death of the Teſtator; ſo ſhall it be againſt Auditors aſſigned to Executors for an Account due to the Teſtator. The other Matter in the principal Caſe is, that inaſmuch as he himſelf has charged the Reverſion, and ſo has agreed to the Livery upon the Diſcontinuance of the Tail, yet it ſeems that he ſhall avoid the Charge, as well as in the Caſe where he himſelf, upon a Purchaſe during the Minority, takes the Iſſues at full Age in the Life of the Father, which is an Agreement in Law to the firſt Livery.

358. [a] A Rent is granted in Fee out of Land upon Condition to ceaſe during the Nonage of every Heir within Age, the Grantee dies, his Heir within Age, it is adjudged in 24 Ed. 3. and 5 Ed. 2. Fitz. Dower 143. that the Wife of the Grantee ſhall recover Dower, but Execution ſhall be ſtayed; and ſee the Caſes of 12 Ed. 3. and 22 Ed. 3. Fitz. Condition 11, 12. But Note, in all the Books the Writ of Dower was brought againſt the Tenant of the Land, and therefore it ſeems that if ſhe recovers againſt the Heir within Age, and the Heir afterwards dies without Heir, the Tenant of the Land ſhall falſify the Recovery, becauſe it is not duly recovered. Alſo from hence it ſeems that the Wife of the Heir who dies within Age ſhall not have Dower, any more than the Wife of a Grantee of Rent to commence Anno domini 1560. ſhall, where the Grantee dies before the Day, and yet his Heir ſhall inherit after the Day. So if the Condition is, that, during the Eſpowſals of every Heir, the Rent ſhall ceaſe, there no Wife ſhall be endowed, and the Reaſon is, becauſe the levying of the Rent is not ſuſpended, but the Fee is ſuſpended during that Time, for if it was not, the Wife in the firſt Caſe ſhould have Dower againſt the Heir, and not againſt the Tenant of the Land, but the Fee ſhall ceaſe during the Time. As if a Man makes a Feoffment upon Condition that, if the Rent be behind, he ſhall enter and retain the Land, there no Wife of the Feoffee taken after ſuch Retainer ſhall ever have Dower, becauſe the Fee is defeated for the Time, and the Land deſcends to the Heir of the Feoffor, and his Executors ſhall not have it; Quære if the Rent be not gone, and note the Caſe of 30 Ed. 3. 7. where Debt upon ſuch Retainer lies againſt Leſſee for Life, which proves, ut ſupra, and there if he dies, the Land ſhall deſcend to his Heir, and an Occupant ſhall not have it. Notwithſtanding all this, the Wife in the firſt Caſe ſhall be endowed, for the Condition determines the Rent, as if the Grantee had died without Heir, and it is not as if the Condition had taken it away with Relation, for there is no Relation here, quod nota, for it is a fine Point. And it is put in the Caſes before, that if the Grantee grants over his Rent, and the Tenant attorns, the Rent ſhall not ceaſe during the Minority of the Aſſignee, and it is the Folly of the Tenant that he would attorn.

[a] S. P. Plowd. 156 (a). Ante § 29. And ſee the Books there cited in the Margin.

359. If a Recovery is had againſt Tenant for Life upon a falſe Oath, and he in Reverſion dies without Heir, and then the Tenant for Life brings Attaint, and reverſes the Oath and the Judgment, the Queſtion is, to whom the Reverſion is recovered.

360. If the Mulier Daughter and Baſtard Daughter make Partition, and the Baſtard dies ſeized without Iſſue, the Lord ſhall have no Eſcheat, for if the Lord would ſay that, becauſe ſhe was a Baſtard, he ſhall have the Eſcheat, the Mulier ſhould ſay againſt him that ſhe herſelf is a Mulier, and therefore entire Tenant in Law; and if the Lord would ſay that they made Partition, whereby the Mulier had admitted her to be inheritable, and ſo would take benefit of the Concluſion, then the Mulier ſhould ſay again, "'tis true I admitted her to be my Siſter, and "conſequently ſhe did not die without Heir, for I, being her Siſter, ſhall be her Heir," and ſo the Lord is clearly eſtopped every Way.

361. [b] A Man leaſes for Years, Remainder in Fee, and makes Livery to the Leſſee within the View, this Livery is not good to him in Remainder, becauſe it ſhall never ſerve but for him who takes it. [c] And if there are two Leſſees for Years, Remainder over in Fee, and Livery is made to the one only, many think that this is not good to the Remainder over in Fee. [d] So if it is made to one Attorney, where there are two jointly. And if a Leaſe be made to A. and B. upon Condition that, if A. does ſuch an Act, he ſhall have Fee, and Livery is made to B. only, this will not enlarge the Eſtate of A. for he that took the Livery has no Privity with the other, as to that.

[b] S. P. Co. Litt. 49. b.

[c] Contra Co. Litt. 49. b. ſays that if it is made to the one Leſſee in the Name of both, it ſhall be good to veſt the Remainder; and it differs from the Caſe of two joint Attornies to receive Livery for another, and Livery is made to one of them only.

[d] S. P. Co. Litt. 49. b.

362. A. being ſeized of Rent in Fee grants it to B. for 20 Years from the Time of the Attornment, and dies, and afterwards the Tenant attorns, the Queſtion is, if it is a good Grant.

363. A Man deviſes certain Rent out of the Manor of Dale to his Wife for Life, in Conſideration that ſhe ſhall have no Jointure, and dies, and the Wife recovers by Default in Dower the third Part of the Land, ſhe ſhall have the entire Rent out of the two Parts, becauſe the Recovery is upon good Title, for a Deviſe cannot be averred to be for a Jointure within the Statute of 27 H. 8. becauſe at that Time neither Land nor Rent were deviſeable, and foraſmuch as ſhe was diſcovert when the Deviſe took Effect, therefore it is out of the Words and Equity of the Act, Act, cauſa qua ſupra, and then ſeeing that the Title to the Land has a Relation higher than the Title to the Rent, the whole Rent ſhall remain.

364. If two Jointenants make a Feoffment, with a Letter of Attorney to make Livery, and one of them makes a Feoffment and Livery in Perſon, it ſeems that this is a Countermand of the entire Livery, becauſe the Letter of Attorney was not ſeveral for each of them, but joint for them both, and therefore being countermanded by the one it ſhall be void as to the other.

365. A. deviſes Land to one for Life, Remainder to him who ſhall be his firſt Son, Remainder in Fee, and dies, and the Tenant for Life aliens in Fee, if he in Remainder in Fee may enter for the Forfeiture, becauſe the mean Remainder ſeems clearly to be good.

366. The Donor diſſeizes the Tenant in Tail, and dies, the Tenant in Tail and the Heir who is in by Deſcent leaſe to the Iſſue within Age for Life, Remainder in Fee, the Tenant in Tail dies, although the Iſſue is remitted, yet it ſeems that the Remainder in Fee ſhall be good, becauſe Livery was once made, and the Remitter came ſubſequent to it. As if the Leſſor diſſeizes his Tenant for Life, and leaſes to a Stranger for the Life of the Diſſeizee, Remainder in Fee, and the Diſſeizee enters, yet he to whom the Fee was limited ſhall hold it, but in both Caſes it is a Reverſion, and no Remainder, Quære the firſt Caſe.

367. There are two Jointenants in Fee of a Rent-Charge, a Stranger takes it to the Uſe of J. S. one of them releaſes to the Pernor, and the other releaſes to the Tenant, now if by the laſt Releaſe he ſhall be deemed in Poſſeſſion ab initio, then the firſt Releaſe to the Pernor is void, becauſe the Poſſeſſion of one is the Poſſeſſion of both, and many think that here ſhall be an Election afterwards, as if he had granted his Part to a Stranger. And ſo if two Diſſeizors grant a Rent-Charge, and the Diſſeizee releaſes to one of them, he ſhall hold the whole diſcharged, for, as to the Grant of the other, by this Releaſe it is diſcharged, and the Grant being but one ſhall be void in all or good in all, and then the Pernor ſhall hold it ſubject to the Agreement of J. S.

368. Grandfather, Father, and Son Jointenants, the Grandfather grants a Rent-Charge in Fee to the Father upon Condition, who grants it to the Son and his Wife, the Grandfather releaſes to the Father and Son, and the Son dies, the Condition is broken, and the Grandfather claims the Rent, it ſeems that the Wife ſhall hold it diſcharged of the Condition, if the Poſſeſſion of the Son (her Huſband) ſhall be an Attornment in Law; but it ſeems that it ſhall not, for his Attornment alone without the Attornment of the Father, who was a Jointenant, is not ſufficient, becauſe both ought to attorn: But if the Grandfather ſhould have the Rent again for the Breach of the Condition, then he ſhould be in of his own Grant, and ſhould be both Grantor and Grantee. But if the Father had died in the Life of the Son, it ſeems that it would have been a good Attornment in Law.

369. A Man has three Daughters, viz. two by one Venter, and the third by another Venter, the youngeſt, being ſeized of three Acres, each of equal Value, grants a Rent of 3*s.* to the Father in Fee, and afterwards enfeoffs the ſecond Daughter of one Acre, who dies without Iſſue, ſo that it deſcends to the eldeſt, and afterwards the Father dies, now the eldeſt ſhall have the Rent, but if the ſecond Daughter had enfeoffed the eldeſt of the Acre, then ſhe ſhould have had nothing; for in the firſt Caſe ſhe has the Land by Deſcent and the Rent alſo, in which Caſe by the Deſcent of the Land the Rent ſhall be apportioned, but in the other Caſe ſhe has the Land by Purchaſe, in which Caſe the Rent-Charge ſhall be extinct, whether ſhe has the Rent by Deſcent, or not, and whether the Purchaſe was before the Deſcent, or after. And if a Man has a Rent-Charge of 20*s.* out of 20 Acres, each of equal Value, and one of the Acres deſcends to his Wife, it ſeems that the whole Rent is ſuſpended, for it cannot be apportioned when he is ſeized of Part of the Land in auter droit, but if ſhe dies, and he is Tenant by the Curteſy, it ſhall be apportioned, becauſe the Land continues in him by the Act of the Law, which is equal to a Deſcent. And if the Rent be in Tail, and Part of the Land deſcends to him in Fee, or if the Rent be in Fee, and Part of the Land deſcends to him in Tail, there ſhall be no Apportionment.

370. If Land be given to four, habendum the one Moiety to the firſt two in Fee, and the other Moiety to the ſecond two in Fee, with a Letter of Attorney to make Livery to the firſt, to make Livery to the other according to the Form of the Deed, who makes Livery to the other, if the Livery be good to receive it thereby, then it ſeems that they ſhall be Jointenants of the Freehold, and the one ſhall have the Moiety, viz. the fourth Part of the whole, in Jointure with the one, and the other the fourth Part with the other. But if he ſays, habendum the third Part to each, they ſhall be Tenants in common of the Freehold, becauſe there each has the whole Inheritance, as he hath in the Poſſeſſion. And this is like the Caſe in Littleton, and as if a Man leaſes to four, habendum the one Moiety to the firſt two, and the other Moiety to the other two in Fee, there the firſt two are Tenants in common with the other two, and yet between themſelves they are not Tenants in common, and ſo are the laſt two: As if two Tenants in common die, leaving each two Daughters, the Siſters. as to themſelves, are Parceners of the Moieties, but they are Tenants in common of the Entirety. And in the laſt Caſe but one two Præcipes quod reddat ſhall be ſued againſt the four, and for the four, but for the two, a joint Præcipe ſhall be ſued againſt them and for them. And if the Father has Iſſue two Daughters his Heirs, and leaſes Land to them two for their Lives, and dies, ſo that the Reverſion deſcends to them, and one of them dies, the other ſhall not have the whole by Survivorſhip, becauſe the joint Inheritance merged the joint Freehold, but in theſe Caſes each has his Part, that is, the Inheritance is equal to his Part of the Freehold; but in the firſt Caſe the joint Gift gives to each the third Part of the whole, and when he limits the Moiety to the firſt two, the firſt of that Moiety has but the fourth Part of the whole, which is leſs than the Part limited before the habendum, and therefore it cannot, for the Repugnancy, take away the Jointure of the Freehold, but the Inheritance is ſeveral, viz. the one Moiety is in Jointure to the firſt two, and the other to the other two, ſo that if the firſt dies, the others are in Jointure of the entire Freehold, the Moiety being to the one, and the other to him and the other in Fee not executed, and if the ſecond dies firſt, the other two ſhall be Tenants in common of the Fee and Freehold, for their ſeveral Fees in common merge the joint Freehold, as if it had been firſt ſo appointed, as in Caſe of a Deſcent to two Tenants in common of the Freehold, they are entire Parceners of the Poſſeſſion. Quære tamen, for Littleton * ſays that if Land is given to two, and to their Heirs of their two Bodies, they are Jointenants of the Freehold, and have ſeveral Inheritances.

* See Litt. § 283.

371. [a] If a Man leaſes a Houſe for Years to an Alien, upon Condition to have Fee, and afterwards he is made a Denizen, and has a Licenſe to purchaſe, and then performs the Condition, it ſeems that the King ſhall not have the Fee, becauſe it has not Relation, as to the deveſting of the Fee, further than the Performance of the Condition, although for avoiding of Charges and Incumbrances it has a higher Retroſpect. For if the Land is held of the King, and the Party has no Licenſe in ſuch Caſe, and between the Leaſe and the Performance of the Condition he has a Pardon for Alienation, yet he ſhall pay a Fine. [b] And if, in the mean Time between the Grant of a Reverſion to an Alien and Attornment, he is made a Denizen, the King ſhall not have the Land. And if an Alien Diſſeizor be made a Denizen, the King ſhall not have the Land, if the Diſſeizee afterwards releaſes to him; but if the Alien be the Feoffee of the Diſſeizor, it ſhall be otherwiſe, the Reaſon whereof is, it is a new Purchaſe in the one Caſe, and but an Extinguiſhment of a Right in the other. And it ſeems that the Iſſue of ſuch Alien, born within the Realm, ſhall be in Ward, during the Life of the Alien, for Land deſcended to him on the Part of his Mother, if he be not Heir apparent. And a Man born in England cannot make himſelf Heir in ſpecial Tail to a Huſband and Wife, whereof the one is an Alien, nor ſhall he have an Appeal of the Death of ſuch Father or Mother Alien. But if a Man deviſes Land to an Alien, and he is made a Denizen, and afterwards the Deviſor dies, there he ſhall take it clearly, for the whole takes Effect after the Death of the Deviſor. But in the principal Caſe, if upon Office finding the whole Matter, the Leaſe ſhould be adjudged in the King from the Beginning by Relation, the Condition would be taken away, and then he could not acquire a Fee by his Performance of it. [c] But many think that an Alien has Capacity to purchaſe a Leaſe for Years of a Houſe for the Neceſſity of Habitation, but not a Leaſe for Years of Land, nor the Freehold of a Houſe. [d] And if a Man being ſeized in Fee takes an Alien to Wife, and afterwards makes a Feoffment, and then ſhe is made a Denizen, and after that the Huſband dies, ſhe ſhall never have any Dower.

a With this Opinion agrees Plowd. 482, by the Reporter. 2 Leon. 139 Per Drew, arguendo.

b Contra Ante § 185.

c Co. Litt. 2. b.

d Co. Litt. 33. 2. Ante § 204.

372. If A. grants a Rent-ſeck to B. and afterwards grants to him by Deed that he may diſtrain in the ſame Land, and then B. brings a Writ of Annuity, the Queſtion is, if he may afterwards diſtrain for it. And herein it is to be ſeen whether it be one Rent, or two Rents.

373. The King is ſeized of a Manor, A. intrudes into an Acre Parcel of it, and builds a Houſe, the King alienes the Manor, A. continues, and dies ſeized, the Queſtion is, what Remedy the Alienee has. It ſeems that by the Intruſion and Building A. has not gained any [e] Eſtate or Poſſeſſion, for he is not able to have an [f] Action of Treſpaſs againſt a Stranger, [g] and an Intruſion does not lie with Continuance, ex quo ſequitur that the Continuance after the Patent ſealed and delivered gained an Eſtate in Fee, and conſequently a Deſcent to the Heir, and the Patentee cannot have a Scire facias upon the Patent, nor a Writ of Right, nor any other Action, inaſmuch as he had not Eſplees nor Poſſeſſion, ſo that peradventure it will be a Title, in which Caſe the Deſcent ſhall not take away his Entry; as if Land be deviſed to J. S. and a Stranger abates, and dies, the Deviſee may enter, becauſe he has no Action.

e Plowd. 546 (d).

f Plowd. 546 (a), Hardr. 422.

g Plowd. 546 (e). 1 Finch 241.

374. If a Biſhop makes a Grant in Fee to the King by Deed, which is confirmed by Dean and Chapter, and the Deed of the Biſhop is inrolled, and the other not, it ſeems that it ſhall bind the Succeſſor, for the Aſſent is to the Deed of the Biſhop, not as a Confirmation, as an Abbot may make Livery, where it is the Deed of the Abbot and Convent, ſo in this Caſe of the Aſſent, the Biſhop may deliver the Deed of him and the Dean and Chapter.

375. A. leaſes for 40 Years, provided that if J. S. dies within the Term, then the Term ſhall only be for 20 Years, J. S. dies at the End of 24 Years, the Leſſor brings a Writ of Waſt in the tenuit for Waſt done between the 22d and 23d Years, it ſeems to be maintainable, becauſe he was Leſſee for Years at the Time of the Waſt done, for the Leaſe not being determined until the Death of J. S. in the mean Time it is a Term. And ſome think that if a Rent be granted for 40 Years with ſuch Condition ut ſupra, and he dies ut ſupra, the Tenant of the Land may have a Writ of Account for the Rent received after the 20 Years, for now upon the Matter the Grant ended after 20 Years.

376. If a Man commits Felony, and the Lord grants his Seigniory, and afterwards the Man makes a Feoffment upon Condition, and is attainted, and has a Charter of Pardon, and then re-enters for the Condition broken, and dies, the Queſtion is, if the Occupant, or the Iſſue, or the Lord, ſhall have the Land.

F I N I S.

A

TABLE

OF THE

PRINCIPAL MATTERS

CONTAINED IN THESE

REPORTS.

N. B. The Pages contained within Crotchets, thus [ ], refer to MANXEL's Caſe at the End of the REPORTS.

Abatement of Writs.

PLEAS in Abatement of Writs ought to be certain, Pages 33 56

Where a Recovery by nient dedire upon eigne Title pending the Writ is no Plea in Abatement, 55

Where it appears to the Court that the Plaintiff has no Cauſe of Action, they ought ex officio to abate the Writ, although the Defendant has admitted it to be good, 66. 69. 84, 85. vide 264

If there may be a Demurrer in Abatement of the Writ, 73

Writs abateable if the Chancellor exceeds his Authority, or unduly executes it, in awarding them, 74

Writ abateable for Partiality in the Sheriff, ibid.

Where a miſ-recital of any Thing ſhall abate a Writ, and where not, 83, 84,

Where the Writ ſhall abate by Reaſon of Falſhood, or being ill-grounded, 84

Where a Writ ſhall abate for the miſ-recital of that which is Surpluſage, 79. 81. 84

What ſhall make the Writ to abate in Caſe of the King, 85

Upon what Pleas a Writ againſt many ſhall abate againſt all, and upon what not, 90

Where upon a Plea in Abatement of Aſſize, the Matter of the Plea ſhall be firſt enquired by the Aſſize, before the Point of Law ariſing thereupon ſhall come in Debate, 91

To what Pleas in Abatement of an Aſſize the Demandant ſhall anſwer ſpecially, and to what not, ibid.

By what Entry into Land, pending a Suit, the Writ ſhall or ſhall not be abated, 92, 93

Where the Death of Ceſtuy que vie, pending a Writ againſt Tenant pur auter vie, ſhall not abate the Writ until an Entry made by the Leſſor, 139

Where in an Action againſt Executors, the Death of one ſhall abate the Writ, 186

Where Surpluſage ſhall not abate a Writ, 199

Where the Writ ſhall abate, when the Plaintiff lays his Demand for more than he has a Right to, 424

Where two ſeveral Writs being returned at the ſame Day, both ſhall abate, [10]

Abeyance.

Where a Remainder ſhall be in Abeyance, 25. 29. 35. 554. 556. 563

Where an Eſtate-tail ſhall be in Abeyance, 35

Where Tenant in Tail makes a Feoffment in Fee, or where he grants over all his Eſtate, the Eſtate-tail ſhall not be in Abeyance during the Life of the Tenant in Tail, and why, 556. 561. 563

To what Purpoſe and Intent Things ſhall be in Abeyance, 556

For whoſe Benefit and Advantage Things ſhall be in Abeyance, and for whoſe not. 563

The Property of Goods and Chattels cannot paſs in Abeyance, 564

THE TABLE.

Acceptance.

Where Acceptance of Rent of the particular Tenant ſhall be an Aſſent to him in Remainder, ſo that the Leſſor ſhall never ouſt him afterwards, 546

Acceſſary. See Principal.

Accord. See Arbitrement.

Accord without Execution not pleadable in Bar to Treſpaſs, 5, 6

Action of Debt does not lie after the Day upon ſuch executory Accord, 5

An Accord, which does not import any Satisfaction for the Wrong done, is not good, ibid.

Where there is an Accord to do divers Things, it is not pleadable in Bar to an Action, unleſs it be executed in the whole, and not in Part only, before the Action brought, 11

Account.

Where upon Accountants being found in Arrears before Auditors, the Auditors ſhall commit them to Priſon preſently, or never, 17

Where Adminiſtrators ſhall have Account as well as Executors, 53

Lay not againſt Executors at Common Law, unleſs for the King only, 320. 322

Does not lie againſt a Diſſeizor, or other wrong Doer, 542

Actions, real, perſonal, &c.

What is the End and Effect of every Action, 36

A perſonal Action once ſuſpended is diſcharged for ever, ibid. 184

An Action real does not lie but againſt him that has a Freehold, 87

Action, how defined, 484

In what County the Action ſhall be brought upon an Annuity granted in one County by a Prebendary of a Cathedral Church in another County, 529, 530

Actions on the Caſe.

Proceſs of Outlawry lay not herein, until the Statute of 19 H. 7. cap. 9. 228

Additions.

Muſt be given in Indictments as well as other Actions, 236. 240

Adminiſtrator. See Executors.

Admiral.

If he holds Plea of a Thing done within the Body of a County, it is void, and coram non judice, 37

Ad terminum qui præteriit.

The Commencement and End of the Leaſe muſt be expreſsed herein, 274

Advowſon.

An Advowſon may paſs by the Grant of a Church, 157

The Nomination of an Advowſon, and the Advowſon itſelf, are in effect the ſame Thing, 157. 529. 542

Where an Advowſon appendant ſhall paſs by a Grant of a Manor, without ſpecial Words, and where not, 238, 239 243. 330

Agreement.

Every Agreement ought to be full and compleat, and either executed with a Recompence, or ſo certain as to give a Remedy for a Recompence, elſe it is only a nude Communication, 5. 11

Where Agreements which are at firſt incertain, but may be reduced to Certainty by collateral Circumſtances, ſhall countervail a certain Agreement from the Beginning, 6. 17

Where Agreements, which are not reduced to Certainty by the Parties, ſhall only be deemed a vain Communication and Diſcourſe, and not ſuch an Agreement as will ſupport an Action, 7

Where the Word (Agreement) ſhall include every Agreement, as an Agreement on Condition, 8. 14. 17

How many Sorts of Agreements there are in the Law, 8

Where a Conſent to a Raviſher ſhall be called an Agreement, ibid.

Agreements executory, how divided, 9

Where Agreements, upon which no Remedy is given, are void in Law, and ſhall not be good in Bar, 11

Where Agreements conditional ſhall be good after the Condition is performed, but not before, ibid.

It's Difinition, and whence derived, 13. 17

Where an Agreement upon Condition ſhall not be pleaded, unleſs it is ſhewn to be fulfilled, 14

Where a Freehold may paſs from one to another by an Aſſent, or Agreement, 27. 31

Where the ſpecial Agreement of every Man ſhall alter the Courſe of the Law, 29

Where an Agreement becoming impoſſible, by the Act of God, or other Accident, to be performed according to the Words, ſhall be performed as near the Intent as may be, 290. 291

Where an Agreement ſhall be diſſolved and determined by the Death of the Perſon to whom the Thing was agreed to be done, and where not, 290

Where an Agreement ſhall not be ſaid to be performed, although the Words of it are ſatisfied, if the Intent is not, 291

How many Ways Agreements may be made, 308

What Agreements ſhall bind without Conſideration, and what not, 308, 309

Aid.

Where Aid ſhall be had of the King before Iſſue joined, though it be not of Lands which he holds in Right of his Crown, 216. 221

Where Parſon praying in Aid of Patron and Ordinary ſhall ſay, loci illius Ordinarii, 277

Alien 40.

Alienation.

At what Time the King ſhould have in Fee the Land holden of him, for an Alienation without Licenſe, 322

Amercement. See Jurors.

Where the Tenant in a Formedon comes the firſt Day, and renders the Land, he ſhall not be amerced, 41

Annuity.

Annuity pro conſilio impendendo, the Grantee ſhall have a Writ of Annuity, without ſhewing that he has given Counſel, 32

In a Grant of an Annuity, it is the Part of the Grantor to offer the Annuity at the Day, 71

Where an Annuity ſhall ceaſe by the Default of the Grantee to do the Thing for which it was granted, 134. 456

Annuity pro conſilio impendendo is granted to one who has divers Faculties, in what Faculty the Counſel ſhall be given, 160

Annuity granted by reaſon of an Office is determinable with the Office, 161. 381

Where an Annuity is granted, payable at two Days yearly, and the Day laſt named comes firſt, how it ſhall be paid, 172

How an Annuity may be granted by the King, 192

Where an Annuity, granted for Service to be done to a Stranger, ſhall be determinable by the Non feaſance of the Service, as well as if the Service was appointed to be done to the Grantor himſelf, 455

Where an Annuity granted to one for Life, for Service to be done, ſhall not be determined by the Death of the Grantor, or of him to whom the Service is to be done, but the Grantee ſhall hold it for his Life, 456

Where an Annuity granted by a Prebendary before Induction is not good to charge the Prebend, 528

THE TABLE.

Appeal.

Where an Appeal againſt many ſhall not abate, when one of the Apellees was dead before the Writ purchaſed, 98

The Count in every Appeal againſt Principals, is, that every Principal wounded the Party, and ſtruck him mortally, but theſe are but Words of Form, 100

What the Defendant in Appeal ſhall forfeit, if he be killed, or only overcome by the Appellor in Battle, 260, 261, 262

Father is killed, who ſhall bring the Appeal, 304

The ancient Method of Execution in an Appeal of Murder, 306

Appendant and Appurtenant.

Land cannot be appurtenant to a Meſſuage, in the true and proper Nature of an Appurtenance, 85. 168. 170

Where a Thing in Reverſion may be Parcel of, or appendant to, a Thing in Poſſeſſion, but not e contra, 103

What Thing may be appendant or appurtenant to, or Parcel of, another Thing, and what not, 168, 169, 170

Where an Averment cannot make that to be appurtenant, which the Law will not ſuffer to be appurtenant, 170

Where the Word (appertaining) ſhall be taken in the Senſe of (uſually occupied with) or (lying to), 170, 171

Where a Franchiſe, or Advowſon, which is appendant to a Manor, ſhall paſs from the King by a Grant of the Manor, without ſpecial Words, and where not, 238, 239. 243. 330

Where Things which are appurtenant to others cannot be granted away, nor ſevered from the Things to which they are appurtenant, 381

Appropriation.

What ſhall be a good Appropriation, 495. 501

Who is capable of an Appropriation by the Common Law, and who not, 496

The Effect and Deſign of it in it's original Inſtitution, ibid.

To what Perſons Appropriations were made at firſt, and to whom afterwards by the Corruption of the Times, 496, 497

Not grantable over, ibid.

Diſappropriated by the Diſſolution of the Corporation to which they are appropriated, 497 501

Vicar deviſed to ſupply the Defects in the Perſons to whom Appropriations were made, 497

What Perſons ought to aſſent to them, 497, 498

Appropriations made by the Pope alone, as Supreme Ordinary, formerly good, ibid.

Where the King may make it without the Ordinary, 498

How the Right and Inheritance of the Patron is affected by it, ibid.

Where an Appropriation is made without the King's Licence, what is the Conſequence, 499

At what Time it may be made, 499, 500

What is the Nature, Effect, and Operation of an Appropriation when the Church is full, 500

At what Time a Corporation, to which a Church is appropriated, cannot make a Leaſe for years of the Rectory, ibid.

No Diſappropriation of a Church by Uſurpation upon the Parſon Imparſonee, 500, 501

Diſappropriated by Preſentation, 501

Cannot be diſappropriated by any tortious Act againſt the Will of the Parſon Imparſonee, ibid.

Where a Corporation is ſeized of a Manor, to which an Advowſon is appendant, and the Church is appropriated to them, and they make a Feoffment or Leaſe of the Manor cum pertinentiis, if this ſhall diſappropriate the Church, ibid.

If neceſſary to have expreſs Words in an Appropriation to a Corporation to make them Parſons, or if they may be expreſſed by Periphraſis, 501, 503

Arbitrement.

An Arbitrement without Execution pleadable in Bar to Treſpaſs, 6

Debt lies at the Day upon ſuch an Award, ibid.

An Award of an Acre of Land not good in Bar of an Action, unleſs delivered, 11

How an Arbitrement ſhall be traverſed, 95

Where upon a joint Submiſſion to Arbitration, between two of the one Part, and one of the other Part, the Arbitrators may make an Award diſtributively between the one Party and either of the other two ſeverally by himſelf of the other Part, 289

Arbitrement made upon a Thing not refer'd is void, 396

Archdeacon.

Only the Miniſter of the Biſhop, and to what Purpoſe, 528

Cannot induct a Prebend, 528, 529

Arraignment.

He that is indicted for being preſent and abetting a Felony may be arraigned, though he that did the Fact itſelf is not attainted, 97, 98. 100

Where there are many Principals, ſome of whom are preſent, and ſome abſent, and one is indicted as Acceſſary to them all, his Arraignment ſhall be ſtaid, until he may be arraigned as Acceſſary to them all at once, and why, 98, 99

In ſuch Caſe, if he is arraigned as Acceſſary to thoſe who are preſent, and is acquitted, may he be afterwards arraigned as Acceſſary to the reſt who are abſent, in Caſe they ſhould be taken, arraigned, and attainted, 99

If reſpiting the Arraignment in ſuch Caſe is Matter of Diſcretion in the Court, or of Neceſſity, ibid.

Arſon.

One maliciouſly intends to burn the Houſe of A. only, and in burning it the Houſe of B. happens to be burnt, the burning of the Houſe of B. is Felony, 475

Aſſets.

Where a Leaſe for Years recovered by the Executor, by reaſon of a Covenant made to the Teſtator, ſhall be Aſſets in his Hands, 292

Shall never be ſaid to be wanting in the Crown, 457

Aſſigns, Aſſignment.

Where the Word (Aſſigns), being taken in the Senſe of a Limitation, ſhall be merely nugatory and void, 287

Leaſe to a Man for ſo many Years in certain ſhall go to his Aſſigns, as well as if it had been leaſed to him and his Aſſigns, ibid.

Where an Aſſignee ſhall vouch by reaſon of a Warranty ibid.

The different Senſes of the Word (Aſſigns), 287, 288

Aſſigns in Deed, and Aſſigns in Law, and who are ſuch, 288

Aſſize.

Moſt expeditious Suit in the Law, 75. 89

All Pleas, or Things, that tend to retard or abate Aſſizes, abhorred in the Law, 75. 89

At what Time a Writ of Aſſize may be directed to the Coroners, upon a Surmiſe by the Plaintiff that the Sheriff is his Couſin, 76

In Aſſize the Panel is made the firſt Day, ibid.

In Aſſize againſt many, what Pleas ſhall not abate the Aſſize againſt all, 89, 90

None ſhall be vouched in Aſſize unleſs he be preſent, 89

A Protection will not defend the Party againſt an Aſſize, ibid.

Such Exceptions as will abate other Writs will not abate Aſſizes, if ſo be there is a Diſſeizor and Tenant, ibid.

The Writ, altho' general, ſhall be intended to be brought of all that is contained in the Plaint, 90

In what reſpect a Quare Impedit may be reſembled to to an Aſſize, ibid.

In what reſpect an Aſſize cannot be reſembled to Treſpaſs, ibid.

Aſſizes of freſh force purſue the Order and Pleading of Aſſizes at Common Law, ibid.

Where upon a Plea in Abatement of the Aſſize, the Matter of the Plea ſhall be firſt enquired by the Aſſize, before the Point of Law ariſing thereupon ſhall come in Debate, 91

To what Pleas in Abatement of the Aſſize the Demandant ſhall anſwer ſpecially, and to what not, ibid.

In

THE TABLE.

In Aſſize one may not appear as Bailiff to a Corporation without a Warrant in Writing, 91
Where a Writ of Certificate of Aſſize ſhall be had, 92
If Termor is ouſted, he in Reverſion may have Aſſize, 191

Aſſumpſit.

Every Contract executory is an Aſſumpſit in itſelf, 182

Attainder.

By Deſcent of the Crown upon a Perſon attainted, the Attainter is ipſo facto void, 238. 244
Lands ſhall not eſcheat for Felony, nor the Wife's Dower be loſt, nor the Blood be corrupted, without an Attainder in Fact, 260, 261
Where Goods and Chattels ſhall be forfeited without Attainder in Fact, 260
Where the Law will ſupply the Want of an Attainder by other Means, to work a Forfeiture of Lands or Goods, when an Attainder in Fact cannot be had, 260. 263
If a Subject is ſlain in the Field in War againſt the King, this is an Attainder in Fact, without any Thing further, 262
Where an Attainder ſhall be void, and coram non judice, by reaſon of an Error, or Miſrecital, in the Commiſſion under which it was done, 390. 393. 394
Where an Attainder may be falſified by Plea, without Writ of Error, 394, 395, 396
Cannot be twice for the ſame Offence, 397
Where a Perſon attainted may be arraigned for another Offence, and where not, ibid.

Attaint.

No Superſedeas lies upon Attaint, 49
Statutes which give Attaints not to be extended by Equity, 86
Where Attaint lies againſt the Jury, though every Word of the Verdict is true, 292

Attornment.

For what purpoſe Attornment was originally ordained, 25
Neceſſary to the Grant of every Rent or Reverſion, until the Statute of 4 & 5 Anne, cap. 16. 31. 153. 196
Where a Surrender ſhall be an Attornment, 87
If Attornment be pleaded, the Place where it was made ought to be ſhewn, 149, 150. 191
Not neceſſary in Contracts or Chattels real, 159
Where Attornment ſhall not make more to paſs than was contained in the Intent of the Grant upon which the Attornment is made, 344
Where a Reverſion is granted to a Man and a Feme-ſole, by Attornment to them after Marriage, they take no Moieties, 483
A Reverſion is granted for Life, remainder in Fee, the Attornment of the particular Tenant to the Grantee for Life, ſhall enure to him in remainder, 545. 546

Audita Querela.

Where the Conuſor is put to an Audita Querela upon a Surmiſe which extinguiſhes the Recognizance, 72
Where it may be returnable into Chancery, ibid.
One Feoffee of the Conuſor (if his Land only is put in Execution) ſhall have it againſt all the other Feoffees, and againſt the Conuſor alſo, (if he has reſerved Part in his Hands) to make them contributory; but the Conuſor ſhall not have it againſt any of the Feoffees to make them contributory, if the Part left in his Hands is put in Execution for the whole, ibid.

Authority.

Where an Authority being exceeded ſhall be wholly void, 68
Where an Authority being miſtaken ſhall be void, and all that is done under it erroneous, 390. 393. 396
Where the Authority of an Officer ought to be ſhewn, and where not, 485

Authors. See Books.

Averment.

Where not neceſſary to aver that which of Neceſſity ſhall be intended, 8
Where the Performance of a Condition ſhall be averred, and where not, 25
Where the Life of Ceſtuy que vie ſhall be averred, 31
Where a ſpecial Averment of that which is apparent is vain, 49. 51. 55. 81. 87
Not neceſſary in Avowry, 163, 342
Where it ſhall not be taken upon a Thing of no Effect, 191. 455
Where (virtute cujus) is no poſitive Averment, 206
Averment againſt the Seal of the Ordinary, 282
Where it needs not be taken of a Matter which is paſſed and executed, and not executory, 454. 455
Not to be taken againſt a Record, 491

Avoidance.

Where an Eſtate in Land may be avoided ab initio, and yet the Party not puniſhable as a Treſpaſſor for the mean Profits received, 107

Avowry.

Where the Tenant ſhall traverſe the Seizin in Avowry, and where the Tenure, 94
Quantity of the Thing not traverſable in Avowry, but the Quality only, ibid.
Avowry for Damage-feaſant in the Place which is alledged to be the Freehold of the Avowant, 269
Where the Lord may avow upon his ancient Tenant, and not upon the Feoffee of his Tenant, 279
Where Notice given by Tenant for Life ſhall be ſufficient for him in Remainder, to compel the Lord to avow upon him after the Death of the Tenant for Life, 546
Tenant in Tail makes a Feoffment in Fee, upon whom ſhall the Donor avow, 561

Bail and Mainprize.

WHAT Perſons were bailable at Common Law, and what not, 67
Where one Surety taken by the Sheriff upon Bail ſhall not be ſufficient, 69

Bailiff.

What Payments made by a Bailiff of a Manor ſhall be allowed in his Account, and what not, 14. 282
Where one may or may not appear as Bailiff to a Corporation, without a Warrant in Writing, 91
The Difference between a Bailiff in Aſſize and a Bailiff of a Manor, ibid.
A Bailiff of a Manor ſhall not have an Action of Debt for his Salary againſt a Corporation without Deed, ibid.
For what Purpoſe a Bailiff of a Manor may juſtify cutting down Trees, and for what not, 283

Bar. See Pleadings, Day, Time.

Where a Bar is good, if it is certain to common Intent, 26, 28. 30, 31. 33. 56. 431
Where a Bar ſhall not be good, if part of the Subſtance of it is omitted; but when Things of ſpecial Intendment, and not of general Intendment, are omitted, it may be good, 27, 31
What are the Purpoſes for which a Plea in Bar is made, 28
Where Bars are good to a common Intent, that common Intent ſhall not be ſuch an Intent as ſtands indifferent, but ſuch as hath a more vehement Preſumption than any other Intent, 31
Ne dona pas, a good Bar in a Formedon, ibid.
Where in Debt upon an Obligation, a Releaſe bearing date after the Obligation is not a good Bar, unleſs it be ſhewn that it was delivered after the Obligation, ibid.
Where he that pleads in Bar is preſcribed to a certain Time, he ought to ſhew the Day of his Act certainly; as he that pleads in Bar by Entry for Mortmain, he that juſtifies for Common between ſuch and ſuch a Day, and he that juſtifies by Licence, Warrant, or Authority, 33

THE TABLE.

A Releaſe generally is no Bar in Treſpaſs, 46
Difference between Pleas in Bar and Replications as to Certainty, 56.
Where a Bar ſhall not be anſwered argumentatively, 104
Where a Bar to one of the Places only, in which the Treſpaſs is aſſigned, is not good, 138
Where upon a falſe Plea pleaded the Demandant ſhall be barred of all that he has demanded by his Writ, 440

Bargain and Sale.

What, 303
If by a Bargain and Sale the Bargainee may have a Fee Simple without the Word (Heirs), 539

Baron and Feme.

For Reſceipt of Femes-Covert, See Reſceipt.

There are no Moieties between Huſband and Wife, 58. 259. 483
The Agreement of the Huſband is an Agreement for him and his Wife during the Coverture, 111
If a Huſband being ſeized of Lands in Tail in Right of his Wife, makes a Feoffment to the Uſe of himſelf and Wife for Life, with Remainder over, and charges the Land, and dies, how the Wife may avoid the Incumbrances after his Death, 114
If Huſband has a Freehold or Chattle real in Right of his Wife, in what Manner it ſhall be pleaded that he is ſeized or poſſeſſed thereof, 191
What Things of the Wife are deveſted out of her and given to the Huſband by the Inter-marriage, and what not, 191, 192. 418
Where Feme-Coverts ſhall be excepted out of the general Words and Penalty of Statutes, 205
Huſband and Wife being Jointenants of a Leaſe for Years, each takes the Whole, 259
Huſband and Wife Jointenants of a Leaſe for Years, the Huſband dies, the Wife claims by the firſt Leſſor, and not by her Huſband, ibid.
Huſband and Wife Jointenants of a Leaſe for Years, the Huſband charges the Land, after his death ſhe ſhall avoid the Charge, ibid.
Huſband aliens the Trees growing upon the Land which he has in Right of his Wife, and dies before they are cut down, the Alienee ſhall not cut them down, ibid.
Huſband and Wife being Jointenants of a Leaſe for Years, the Huſband may grant or forfeit the Term in his life time, 260
Where Huſband and Wife being Jointenants of a Term for Years, and the Huſband dying, the Term in the Hands of the Wife ſhall be ſubject to the Execution of the King for a Debt due to him by the Huſband, 261. 263. 321.
Where a Leaſe for Years made by the Huſband of Land which the Wife has in Right of another ſhall not bind her after his death, 293, 294
Huſband may diſpoſe of the Chattles real or perſonal of the Wife in his life time, 294. 419
Where a Sale of Lands by the Wife to the Huſband ſhall be good, and where not, 414
Where the Inter-marriage ſhall diſſolve the Jointenancy of a Chattle between a Feme-Covert and a Stranger, ſo that it ſhall not go to the Survivor of the Wife or the Stranger, and where not, 417, 418
Where an Eſtate of Inheritance in the Huſband ſhall not extinguiſh a Term for Years, which he has in Right of his Wife, 417, 418
Where the Wife ought to join with the Huſband in bringing an Ejectione firmæ, 418
By what means the Huſband may diſpoſe of the Term of his Wife, and by what not, 418, 419
Where the Charge of the Huſband upon the Chattle of the Wife ſhall not bind the Wife ſurviving, 418
Where a Leaſe by Huſband and Wife, of the Land of the Wife, ſhall not bind her after his Death, 431
Where it is neceſſary in pleading a Leaſe made by Huſband and Wife, of the Land of the Wife, to aver it to be by Deed, or to aver the Lives of them, ibid.
Where a Feoffment is made with Warrantry to a Man and a Feme-ſole, by Voucher and Recovery in Value after Marriage they ſhall have no Moieties, 483
Where a Reverſion is granted to a Man and a Feme-ſole by an Attornment to them after Marriage they have no Moieties, ibid.

Baſtardy.

How general Baſtardy ſhall be tried, 14
Where the dying ſeized of Baſtard eigne without Interruption ſhall take away the Right of the Mulier, and where not, 57
If the dying ſeized of Baſtard eigne, during the Nonage of Mulier puiſne, ſhall take away the Right of the Mulier, 372.

Battle.

Where Brothers or Siſters ſhall not wage Battle, 306
Where Battle cannot be waged againſt the King, 335, 336
Where it cannot be waged againſt the Citizens of London, 336

Biſhop.

A Biſhop may purchaſe to him and to his Heirs, or to him and to his Succeſſors, as he pleaſes, 234
In what Capacity Lands given to a Biſhop and to his Heirs ſhall veſt in him, 250
Hath the Cure of the Souls of the Pariſhioners within his Dioceſe, 497

Blood.

Where a Perſon ſhall be intended to be Couſin of the whole Blood, if it is not ſhewn to the contrary, 77
Whether Male or Female Blood more worthy, 444
How many Bloods a Man has in him, 445. 448

Bona Notabilia.

What ſhall be deemed bona notabilia, to entitle the Metropolitan to commit Adminiſtration, 281

Books.

Britton, contains many Errors, 58
Littleton, the trueſt and ſureſt Regiſter of the Grounds and Principles of the Laws of England, ibid.
The Regiſter, the Foundation of the Law touching Writs, 77
Bracton and Glanvil not Authors in the Law, 357, 358
Glanvil, who he was, and where he died, 368

Canon Law. See Law.

Caſtle-Gard.

THE Lord cannot grant the Caſtle-gard, reſerving the Caſtle, 162

Cathedral Church.

If the Name of the Saint of a Cathedral Church ought to be alledged in Pleading, 529, 530

Cauſa Matrimonii prælocuti.

If a Woman gives Land Cauſa, &c. and he will not marry her, ſhe ſhall have the Land again, 58

Certainty.

Where, upon a Gift of all the Money in my Purſe, the Donee ſhall not have an Action for it, without alledging the Certainty of it, 14
The Neceſſity of Certainty in all Conveyances, 25
Where Certainty ſhall be ſhewn in Pleading, and where not, 33
Where Certainty to every Intent is not requiſite in Pleas, 52
Where Certainty is requiſite in Replications, Titles, Pleas in Abatement, and Eſtoppels, 56
He that is Actor in the Cauſe ought always to alledge Certainty, 56, 57
Where Certainty is requiſite in Declarations, 84. 193. 202

THE TABLE.

Where Certainty ought to appear in the Count or Writ, where in the Replication, and where in the Verdict, 84

Where Certainty ſhall be ſhewn by him who is Privy, or when the Matter is the Effect of the Action, 85

Where Certainty ſhall not be ſhewn by him who is a Stranger, 80, 81, 84, 85

Where a Perſon ſhall not be compelled to ſhew Certainty, when it does not lie within his Knowledge, or when it concerns Things of an infinite Number, 123. 126, 127 128. 129

Where Certainty added to a Thing which was certain enough before ſhall be of no Effect; otherwiſe, if the Thing was incertain before, 191, 192. 395

Where Certainty is requiſite in an Information for the King, 329

Where Certainty is not as requſite in Evidence as in Pleadings, but that which appears probable ſhall be accepted, and why, 411, 412

Ceſſavit.

Does not lie without a Tenure, 132

Challenge.

If ſeveral are indicted for the ſame Offence by one Indictment, every Priſoner is allowed his Challenge of twenty peremptorily, 100

If but one Venire facias awarded to try them all, Perſons challenged by one ſhall be drawn againſt all, and ſo in Appeal, ibid.

A good Challenge to the Array, that no Knight is returned when a Peer of the Realm is Party, 117

A good principal Challenge in every Action to ſay that the Juror is Brother or Couſin to one of the Parties, 306

Where Couſinage in the Sheriff, though in the ninth Degree, ſhall be a good principal Challenge to the Array, and why, 425, 426

What ſhall be good Limits to Challenges of Blood, 425

Champerty.

In Champerty the Plaintiff ſhall ſhew the Certainty of the firſt Plea, 85

Feoffment by the Father to his Son and Heir, pending the Suit, not Champerty, 88. 304

Where it does not lie upon Livery of Land after the Writ purchaſed, 465

Charters.

Charters of Inheritance in a Box ſealed or open, to whom the Box ſhall go, 323

Chattle.

An Intereſſe termini is a Chattle, 150

The Property of Chattles not ſuffered to be in Suſpence, 280

Chattles real more precious than Chattles perſonal, 418

Civil Law. See Law.

Coin.

None but the King can put the Print or Value upon Coin, 316

Coining Money High Treaſon at Common Law, before the Statute of 25 Ed. 3. cap. 2. ibid.

Colour.

Where Colour needs not be given by the Defendant, though it appears upon the Face of the Pleading that the Plaintiff has no Title, 264

Colluſion.

The King cannot have Benefit of Colluſion found generally upon the Statute Marlb. cap. 6. without the ſpecial Cauſe ſhewn, 49

Where Colluſion apparent need not be averred ſpecially, ibid.

Commiſſion.

Special Commiſſion iſſued to determine in foreign County an Indictment taken before Juſtices of Oyer and Terminer for an Offence committed in proper County, 385

Where an Error or Miſrecital in the Commiſſion ſhall make all the Proceedings done under it to be void, and coram non judice, 390. 393, 394

Where the Authority of Commiſſioners ought to be ſhewn, and that they acted agreeably and purſuant to the Authority given them by the Commiſſion, 485

Common.

How Title muſt be made to Common granted de novo out of Land, 89

A Grant of Common for all Cattle ſhall not extend to Beaſts not commonable, 161 Condition. See Pleadings, Remainder.

Where it is ſufficient if the Intent of a Condition is performed as near as may be, though the Words are not, 7 291. 345

Where a Leaſe and Releaſe ſhall be a good Performance of a Condition to make a Feoffment, 7

Where, no Time being limited for the Performance of a Condition, the Law will leave it to be done at the Will of him who ſhall take Benefit by the Performance of it, 16

Where a Condition ſhall not be ſaid to be performed, although the Words of it are ſatisfied, if the Intent of it is not fulfilled, 34. 291

Who ſhall take Advantage of the Breach of a Condition by the Common Law, 24, 25. 34

Where none but Privies ſhall take a new Eſtate by Performance of a Condition, 24, 25

Every Condition is incertain, in that it may be performed or broken, 25

Where an Eſtate is limited to A. if B. die, &c. whether this Word (if) ſhall be a Condition or a Limitation, 25 32, 33

On what ſide a Condition ſhall be ſhewn, where it precedes the Thing demanded, and where it is ſubſequent to it, and goes in Defeaſance of it, 25. 30. 32. 34

Where upon a Condition precedent, the Eſtate ſhall not paſs out of the Donor until the Condition is firſt performed, 25, 26. 172. 482

Where the Words of a Condition having two Intendments ſhall be taken moſt ſtrongly againſt him that ſpeaks them, 30

Where no Time being limited for the Performance of a Condition, the Party ſhall have all the Time during his Life to perform it, ibid.

Whether the Word (vellet) ſhall make a Condition, 30. 33

Conditions ſhall always have a reaſonable Conſtruction, 30. 34

Where Conditions impoſſible, or againſt Law, or repugnant, are void, and the Obligation or Feoffment to which they are annexed ſhall be ſingle, 32. 34. 133

Where a Feoffment upon Condition not to take the Profits is ſimple, and the Condition is void, 32

Words which make a Condition are properly ſuch as reſtrain the Thing given, 33

Where the Word (if) ſhall be taken as a Limitation, and not as a Condition, when it limits the Time when an Eſtate ſhall commence, and tends to reſtrain the Eſtate, ibid. 34

Every Condition is in it's Nature compulſive, and attended with ſome Prejudice to the Party, if it is not performed, and therefore ſuch Words as refer a Thing to the free Choice and Election of the Party to do it, or not, without Prejudice in either Caſe, do not make a Condition, 33, 34. 138, 139

By the Statute of 32 Hen. 8. cap. 34. the Grantees and Patentees of the King ſhall take Advantage of Conditions, 34. 177, 178

Where a Perſon ſhall not take Benefit of the Breach of a Condition without ſhewing himſelf able to do it, 34

Where a Freehold may paſs well enough by a Condition, which is expreſſed at the Time of the Livery, ibid.

Where a Fine may be levied upon Condition, ibid.

Where a Condition annexed to an Eſtate ſhall be broken, although the Act, by which it is broken, be defeaſible, 55

Where the Reſtriction of Alienation by the Condition of a Feoffment is good, and where repugnant, 77

Where

THE TABLE.

Where the Condition of an Eſtate may be pleaded without ſhewing what the Condition was, 81

Where the Words (ita quod, ſo that) ſhall not be a Condition, 109

Where a Condition, which is referred to a Thing not in being, ſhall be void, 132. 137. 139

A Condition ought to be reſerved by the Words of him who parts with the Eſtate, and who ſhall take Advantage of it by Re-entry, if it be broken, 133, 138

Whether a Covenant and Grant by the Leſſee that if the Rent be behind, the Leaſe ſhall be void, ſhall be a good Condition, 131. 133. 135. 138, 139. 142

Where a Condition of Re-entry ſhall enure to him by whom it was reſerved, only for ſo much of the Eſtate as he parted with, 133

Where a Man may take Advantage of a Condition without Entry or Claim, and where not, ibid.

Where upon a Condition broken for non-payment of Rent, Diſtreſs, or an Acquittance at a Day after, ſhall be a good Diſpenſation, 135. 136

Where the Cauſe of a Grant ſhall amount to a Condition, 134. 141

Where the Words (Proviſo) or (ſi contingat) ſhall make a Condition, 135. 138. 142

What are conditional Words, 138

Where the Words (Proviſo ſemper) do not make a Condition, 138, 139

Where Words, which imply the Intent of the Parties to be conditional, ſhall be ſufficient to make a Condition, although they are not the uſual Words, 142

Where the Words, (ad ſolvendum,) or (ad erudiendum), ſhall make a Condition, 142

Where the Word (return) ſhall make a Condition, 157 159

Grantees of Reverſions of every common Perſon may enter for Conditions broken by the Letter of the Statute of 32 Hen. 8. cap. 34. 175, 176

The King may take Advantage of a Condition of Re-entry for Default of Payment of Rent without any Demand, although he holds the Land in his natural Capacity, 213. 243

A Condition annexed to a Freehold or Inheritance cannot be pleaded without ſhewing the Deed thereof to the Court, 230

Where the Feoffor cannot enter upon the King for a Condition broken, though the King holds the Lands in his natural Capacity, 239

What is a Condition in Deed, and what a Condition in Law, and how many Kinds of the latter, 242

Diverſity between an Eſtate conditional and a Condition to have an Eſtate, 272

Where Conditions ſhall be ſaid to be performed, though the Words thereof are not complied with, if the Effect and Subſtance of them are fulfilled, 291

Where the Intent of a Condition ſhall be performed, when the Words thereof cannot, 345

Where the Words (ad effectum) make a Condition, 399

Where Words in a Will, which ſeemingly tend to a Condition, ſhall not be taken for a Condition, but a Limitation, 408. 412, 413, 414

He that re-enters for a Condition broken is in of ſuch Eſtate as he had before the Condition made, 412

What are Words of Limitation and not of Condition, 413

To what Purpoſes a Condition to encreaſe an Eſtate may have Relation to the Time of the Livery, and to what not, 482, 483

Where a Leaſe for Life is made to one upon Condition to have Fee, in what manner the Fee ſhall enure to the Leſſee, upon the Performance of the Condition, 483

Where an Eſtate is to encreaſe by Force of a Condition, the Privity of the Eſtate muſt continue in the Leſſee or Grantee until the Encreaſe happens, 483, 484

Where an Eſtate is to encreaſe by Force of a Condition, the Encreaſe muſt veſt at the ſame Inſtant when the Condition is performed, or never, 485. 489

Where an Eſtate is to encreaſe by Force of a Condition, the Privity of the Eſtate needs not continue in the Leſſor or Grantor until the Encreaſe happens, 486, 487 for addition of residence, see 291.

Confirmation.

Where a Confirmation is made to Huſband and Wife, the Wife being Tenant for Life, it ſhall enure to the Huſband as a Remainder, 31. 160

Where a Deed ſhall enure by way of Confirmation, though there is no Word of Confirmation therein, 140

Where the Words (Dedi et Conceſſi) ſhall enure as a Confirmation, 154

Where a Deed of Feoffment may be pleaded as a Confirmation, 156

If Diſſeizor makes a Leaſe for Life, and Diſſeizee confirms the Eſtate of the Diſſeizor, he ſhall not enter upon the Tenant for Life, 349

Does not create a new Thing, but gives Strength to a Thing which was before, 397

Where Clauſes in a Grant or Act of Confirmation ſhall enure as a Grant or Act de novo, and be ſo made uſe of, and where as Clauſes of Confirmation only, 396, 397

Confirmation cannot be pleaded without firſt ſhewing the Thing confirmed, 398

Where a Confirmation by Parliament ſhall make the Thing to which it refers to be good and effectual, and where not, 398, 399

Tenant for Life and Reverſioner in Fee confirm by one Deed the Eſtate of Leſſee for Years of Tenant for Life, habendum the Land to him in Fee, how theſe Confirmations ſhall take Effect, and which ſhall precede, and which follow, 540, 541

Conſpiracy.

Cannot be but between two at leaſt, 212

Conſultation.

What is the beſt and moſt regular Method of Proceeding to attain a Conſultation, 471

Continual Claim.

Where continual Claim ſhall not be adjudged an Entry to the Diſadvantage of the Diſſeizee, 93

Claim, how defined, 359

Where Claim ſhall amount to a Seizure, 435

Contra formam feoffamenti.

Where this Writ ſhall be had, 94

Contract. See Agreement.

Where Contracts which are originally uncertain, but are capable of being afterwards reduced to Certainty, ſhall be good from the Beginning, 6

Where Contracts conditional ſhall be good after the Condition is performed, but not before, 11

Where the Effect and Subſtance of Words made Uſe of in Contracts is more regarded than any preciſe Order and Form of Expreſſion, 140

The Intention of the Parties chiefly regarded in Contracts, 140. 290, 291

In Contracts it is not material which of the Parties ſpeaks the Words, if ſo be the other agrees to them, for the Agreement of the Parties is moſtly conſidered, 140

The Force and Effect of a Contract is in the Intent of the Parties, and not in the ſtrict Senſe of the Letter, 161

What are the eſſential Things for the compleating of a Contract, ibid.

The Words of a Contract are no more than the Teſtimony of it, ibid.

Where a Contract becoming impoſſible to be performed according to the Words by the Act of God, or other Accident, ſhall be performed as near the Intent as may be, 290, 291

Where a Contract ſhall be diſſolved and determined by the Death of the Perſon to whom the Thing agreed upon was to be done, and where not, 290

Where a Contract ſhall not be ſaid to be performed, altho' the Words of it are ſatisfied, if the Intent is not, 291

What ſhall be ſaid a nude Contract, whereupon an Action cannot be grounded, and what not, 302. 308, 309

How many ways Contracts may be made, 308

What Contracts ſhall bind without Conſideration, and what not, 308, 309

Where Contracts for the Tranſmutation of Property ſhall be void, if the Party has no Property in the Thing which he agrees to transfer, 432

THE TABLE.

Conuſance of Pleas.

Conuſance granted to A. of every Parcel of the Manor of D. he ſhall not have Conuſance of a Tenancy afterwards eſcheated, 130

Copyhold.

Cuſtom that if a Copyhold is not claimed within a Year and a Day after the Death of the Anceſtor, it ſhall be loſt for ever, good, 372

Admittance of the Lord neceſſary to give the party Seizin, upon the Deſcent of a Copyhold, 529

Coroner. See Jury.

If one indicted for Murder on Coroner's Inqueſt is found not guilty, the Jury ſhall ſay who killed the deceaſed, 12

At what Time an Original or Judicial Writ ſhall be directed to the Coroners, upon a Surmiſe of Partiality or Favour in the Sheriff, 74. 76. 208

Where upon a Surmiſe by one of the Parties that the Sheriff is his Couſin, and upon Prayer to have the Venire facias directed to the Coroners, the other Party ſhall be examined to the Truth of the Surmiſe, and where not, 74. 76

What is the moſt proper Time to find Fault with the Direction of a Writ to the Coroners, which is made upon a Surmiſe by the Plaintiff of Couſinage in the Sheriff, 74, 75

Who is Coroner in the County, and who is Coroner of the County, 75

At what Time a Writ of Aſſize may be directed to the Coroner, upon a Surmiſe by the Plaintiff that the Sheriff is his Couſin, 76

Where Writs directed to the Coroners in the County, &c. ſhall be good, ibid.

Where a Writ directed to the Coroners of a County, with an Exception of A. one of the Coroners at the End of it, ſhall be good, 77

Corporation.

Where one may appear as Bailiff to a Corporation without a Warrant in Writing, and where not, 91

How Seizin in Fee in a Corporation ſhall be pleaded, and where it ſhall be ſhewn in what Capacity the Seizin is, and where not, 102, 103

What Corporations have two Capacities, and what not, 102

A Corporation cannot be ſeized to Uſe, and why, 103. 538

If the Deed of a Corporation, as of an Abbot and Convent, be denied, where it ſhall be tried, 149

A Corporation aggregate, as Abbot and Convent, cannot make a Leaſe without Deed, 150

Prior and Convent cannot make a Demiſe, but it is called the Demiſe of the Prior only, 199

Where Corporations have a double Capacity, they may take by Deſcent or Purchaſe in either, and the one Capacity is not confounded by the other, 234

Diſtinctions of Bodies politic, and where ſuch may purchaſe in Succeſſion by the Name of Heirs, and where not, 242

What Corporations ſhall be bound by a Fine and five Years nonclaim, by Equity of the Statute 4 Hen. 7. and what not, 375. 537, 538

Where the Succeſſors of a Corporation ſhall be bound by the Grant or Obligation of the Predeceſſor, without Mention of Succeſſors therein, 457

What Miſnomer of a Corporation ſhall avoid a Grant by them, 536, 537

Count. See Declaration.

Counterplea of Voucher. See Voucher.

Courts.

Where the Juriſdiction of Courts ſhall not be taken away by the affirmative Words of Statutes, without expreſs Words of Reſtraint, 207

Records of a Court the moſt effectual Proof of the Law, in relation to Things there treated of, 320, 321

The Courſe of a Court makes a Law, and ſtands for Law in every other Court throughout the Realm, 320, 321

Court of Chancery.

Where the Chancellor muſt adjudge according to the Courſe of the Common Law, and where according to Conſcience, 72

The Power of the Chancellor concerning Writs of the Common Law is circumſcribed and defined by the Common Law, 74

The Chancellor cannot, upon a bare Surmiſe, change the proper Officer appointed to execute Writs, nor the Form of the Writ, nor the Juriſdiction of the proper Court, ibid.

Writ of Debt never returnable into the Chancery, 208

Court of Common Bench.

Of what Matters and Pleas this Court has Juriſdiction, 320

Sollicitor General admitted to ſpeak within the Bar of the Common Bench, 425

Court of Exchequer. See Information.

If it is a Court to hold all Common Pleas between the King's Subjects, 208, 209

What Perſons may ſue or be ſued here by Reaſon of Privilege, 208

Surmiſe of Privilege neceſſary to be made by Plaintiff, in order to give Juriſdiction to the Court, ibid.

Cannot hold Plea of an Action of Debt upon an Obligation, ibid.

Of what Matters and Things this Court has Juriſdiction, 320

Has a Chancellor and a Seal, and where Writs uſed in the Chancery there are more ancient than the Regiſter, 321

Court of King's Bench.

Of what Matters and Things this Court has Juriſdiction, 320

Covenants.

In Debt upon an Obligation, with Condition for the Performance of all the Covenants contained in an Indenture, if the Defendant alledges the Performance of particular Covenants it is ſufficient, without ſaying that the Covenants alledged are all, 26

Where a Man's own Covenant ſhall alter the general Courſe of the Law, 29

Where a Man is bound to perform the Covenants in ſuch an Indenture, this is to be intended all the Covenants, 34

Whether a Covenant and Grant, that if the Rent be in arrear, the Leaſe ſhall be actually void, ſhall ipſo facto determine the Leaſe without Entry, 135, 136. 138. 139

Upon what Covenant an Action of Covenant will lie or not, 138

Where an Action of Covenant will lie, and where not, 308

Covin, Fraud, &c.

Whether a general Averment of Covin be good, 43. 46. 49. 54, 55

The Definition of Covin 46. 54

In what Caſe ſpecial Cauſe of Covin ſhall be ſhewn, 46. 49

Whenever the Title is confeſſed, Covin cannot be averred generally, but ſame ſpecial Wrong muſt be ſhewn in him that has the Title, 48, 49

There can be no Covin if the Title is good, and no Wrong in him that has it, 49

Covin is always taken in malam partem, and therefore where Right is done, there is no Covin, for Covin is not without Wrong, ibid.

Where Covin needs not to be averred ſpecially, when it is apparent, 49. 55

What Acts ſhall make Covin apparent, 49. 51. 55

Where a general Averment of Covin is good, when grounded upon a Statute which ſpeaks of Covin generally, 49, 50, 51. 55. vide 54

Where there may be Covin, though the Title is good, and why, 50. 54

Where Covin practiſed by him who has a good Title ſhall take from him the Benefit of his Title, 51. 54

Covin

Covin cannot be but between two, 54
Of a Recovery by Covin againſt Tenant for Life, ibid.
Covin and feint Pleading all one, 55
Where an Averment of Covin being given by Statute or Common Law, a general Averment ſhall be good, where there cannot be any ſpecial Cauſe thereof; but otherwiſe where there may be a ſpecial Cauſe, 55

Cui in Vita. See Parol Demur.

Where the bringing a Cui in vita ſhall be a Diſagreement in the Wife, 114
Where the Cui in vita may be brought againſt him in the next Remainder, and where againſt the Feoffor or his Heir, ibid.
If the Heirs claims a Fee Tail, he cannot have a Sur cui in vita, but a Formedon, 246, 252
How the Demandant in a Cui in vita ought to make Title in his Writ, to maintain it, 252

Curteſy.

Where the ſecond Huſband ſhould have been Tenant by the Curteſy before the Statute de donis, and where not, 242. 245, 246, 247
Where a Man ſhall be Tenant by the Curteſy of an Office, 379

Cuſtom, Uſage, &c.

Where the Cuſtom and Uſage of former Times may be a Means to find out the Intent of a Statute, 18
The Cuſtoms of London are confirmed by Statutes, and therefore they may preſcribe againſt ſuch Statutes as are contrary to their Cuſtoms, 36, 37
Non-Uſage a good Argument for the Diſproof of any Matter, 75
Where a Cuſtom, Liberty, or Privilege, which has anciently been within a certain Diſtrict, ſhall not be extended further, although the Diſtrict itſelf be enlarged, but ſhall be confined to the original Limits of the Place, 124. 129, 130
Where Uſage and Continuance may make a Law, and where not, 170
Where private Cuſtoms ſhall not bind the King, 243
Continual Uſage cannot be called wrongful, 319
Where Uſage is the beſt Interpreter of the Law, 336
Confirmation by Parliament of a void Cuſtom, is alſo void, 399
Muſt not be contrary to Law or Reaſon, for then no Cuſtom, notwithſtanding the Uſage, ibid.

Damages.

WHERE Damages ſhall be recovered upon a Nonſuit in ſecond Deliverance, 82
Where the Jury ſhall aſſeſs Damages ſeverally, and Coſts entire, 91
Damages given againſt Defendant where he demurs without Cauſe, 179
Where upon a Feoffment by a Diſſeizor to divers Perſons, the Survivor not agreeing to the Feoffment ſhall be excuſed of Damages in a Writ of Entry, 204
In a Demurrer upon Evidence Jury put to aſſeſs Damages conditionally, 408

Day.

Where in a Plea in Bar the Day ſhall be ſhewn in certain, when the Time is iſſuable, and is part of the Subſtance of the Matter, or when the Party is preſcribed to a certain Time, 24. 27. 33.

Debt.

Where Debt will not lie for Rent reſerved upon an Eſtate in Fee, otherwiſe where the Rent is but a Chattle, 26
Lay for an Eſcape by the Common Law, 36
Where it lies although there be no Contract between the Parties, nor any Privity in Words, ibid.
Lies upon a Liberate delivered to the Clerk of the Hanaper who has Aſſets in his Hands, ibid. 186
Where it is the uſual Form in Debt to recite the Matter by the Word (cum) 123
The Words (licet ſæpius requiſitus) in Debt are not the Effect nor Subſtance of the Matter, nor traverſable, 128
Where it lies upon a Contract touching Matrimony, and where not, 305. 309
What ſhall be a good Conſideration to ſupport an Action of Debt, 305, 306.
Where Debt does not lie for Rent againſt Leſſee for Years, 423

Decies Tantum.

Plaintiff herein ought to ſhew the Certainty of the Sum received, 85

Declaration.

Where a Declaration upon a Statute, which ſpeaks generally, ſhall be general as the Statute is, 51
Difference between Declarations and Titles, as to Certainty, 56
Where a Declaration ſhall abate for the Miſrecital of a Statute, as in the Day of the making of it, 79. 84
Shall not abate for want of Form, if it has Subſtance, 83. 190
Where it ought to contain Certainty and Truth, 84. 193. 202
Where Certainty ought to be alledged herein by expreſs and affirmative Words, and not by Implication only, 121, 122. 127
Where Certainty needs not be ſhewn in the Declaration, when the Matter does not lie within the Perſon's Knowledge, 123. 126, 127, 128
Where it ſhall be bad, if it alledges the Continuance of the Treſpaſs beyond the Time that his Eſtate endured, 143
Where Declarations ſhall be held good by Intendment, 193
Where a Declaration has two Intendments, one of which makes for the Plaintiff, and the other againſt him, in which Senſe it ſhall be taken, 202, 203
Where a Fault in the Declaration ſhall not be cured by a Verdict, nor be remedied by the Statute of Jeofails, 209

Deeds.

Where an Executor ſhall ſhew the Teſtament, and where not, 46. 81
Where a Deed ſhall not be ſhewn by him to whom it does not belong, 55. 81. 148. 231. 277
Where an Adminiſtrator ſhall ſhew the Letters of Adminiſtration, and where not, 52. 277
Where in a Formedon upon a Remainder in Tail the Iſſue ſhall ſhew the Deed, and where not, 52
Diverſity between a Remainder and a Reverſion executed, as to ſhewing the Deed thereof, 57
Where he that makes Title to himſelf ought to ſhew the Deed, notwithſtanding the Thing be executed, 57
How the Words (at the Time of making a Deed) ſhall be expounded, 108
Diverſity as to the Conſtruction of the Words of an Indenture and a Deed Poll, 134
All the Words of a Deed take Effect at one Inſtant, viz. at the Delivery of the Deed, 135
Where a Deed ſhall not be ſhewn, when the Eſtate contained in it is determined, 149
Where a Deed ſhall not be ſhewn when the Thing is executed, ibid.
Where a Leaſe may be granted over without Deed, though it could not be made at firſt without Deed, 150
The Premiſes and Habendum, though ſeveral Parts of the Deed, make but one Deed, 153
Where a Deed alledged ſhall not be ſhewn when not material to the Demand, 192
What is the office of the Premiſes of a Deed, 196
Deed good, though there be no Place nor Day of Date in it, 231
Deeds pleaded bearing Date 200 Years ago, 274
Of the ſhewing of Letters teſtamentary, 275

In Detinue by an Executor againſt the Vendee of Goods ſold by an Adminiſtrator before the Will proved, Defendant needs not ſhew the Letters of Adminiſtration, 276, 277
The great Deliberation uſed in making and paſſing Deeds, 308
Deeds more binding than parol Contracts, 308, 309
Where the Cauſe or Conſideration is not examinable in a Deed, 308, 309
Every Deed imports in itſelf a Conſideration, 309
Where the Conſtruction of a Deed ought to be made upon Conſideration of all the Parts of it together, and not of one Part only by itſelf, 395, 396
To what Time a Deed has Relation, 491

Default.

What ſhall excuſe Default in a Præcipe, 18, 19
Abhorred in Law, becauſe a Contempt of the Court, 18, 19

Defeaſance.

What Things may be defeated by a Defeaſance made after the Eſtate, and what not, 133. 137

Defence.

Full Defence in Replevin, 269

Demurrer.

For Demurrers upon Evidence, See Evidence.
Is a Confeſſion of all Matters of Fact before alledged, 13. 50. 85. 172. 411.
Where it ſhall make a bad Plea good, 50
Where one demurs ſpecially, he loſes the Advantage of every other Matter than of that which is mentioned in the Demurrer; otherwiſe where he demurs generally, 66
If there may be a Demurrer in Abatement of the Writ, 73
Where a Demurrer ſhall not bind the Court, though the Party himſelf is concluded thereby as to Matters of Fact, 84, 85
Of Demurrers without Cauſe, or where the Party ought to join Iſſue, 179

Deodand.

Where a Chariot and Horſes kill a Man, what ſhall be forfeited as a Deodand, 323

Departure.

What ſhall be a Departure in Pleading, 8. 105
Where the Rejoinder containing Matter ſubſequent to the Bar ſhall be a Departure, and where not, 105

Deſcent.

How the Inheritance deſcended amongſt the ancient Britons and Saxons, 129
Where the Perſon of the King ſhall alter the Courſe of a Deſcent, 246, 247
Where the more worthy in blood ſhall be preferred in Deſcent before the nearer, 444, 448
Where the Heirs of the blood of the Male Line on the Part of the Father aſcending ſhall be preferred in Deſcent before the Heirs of the Blood of the Female Line on the part of the Father aſcending, and why, 444, 445
Where the Heirs of the Blood of the Male Line on the Part of the Mother aſcending ſhall be preferred in Deſcent before the Heirs of the Blood of the Female Line on the Part of the Mother aſcending, 445
Where Lands ſhall deſcend to the Heirs on the Part of the Mother, for want of Heirs on the Part of the Father, and where not, 445, 446. 448
Where none ſhall take Lands by Deſcent, but he who is of the Blood of the firſt Purchaſer, 446, 447
Where the Heirs on the part of the Father ſhall be preferred in Deſcent before the Heirs on the part of the Mother, 448
Rules of Deſcents laid down by Bracton and Britton, 448, 449
Where the neareſt of Blood ſhall be preferred in Deſcent, and where not, 450

Deviſe.

Where a Perſon ſhall take an Eſtate by Implication in a Deviſe, 158. 414. 521
Deviſe to one and his Heirs, Deviſee dies in the Life of the Deviſor, his Heirs ſhall take nothing by the Deviſe, 341. 344, 345
Where Lands purchaſed after the making of a Will ſhall not paſs by a Deviſe of all his Lands, 342, 343, 344
Where by a Deviſe in the Generality the Deviſor ſhall have Things purchaſed after the Will made, 343
Where by a Deviſe of Land wherein the Deviſor has nothing at the Time, but afterwards purchaſes it, the Land ſo purchaſed ſhall paſs, 344
Where the Effect and Intent of a Deviſe ſhall be fufilled, although the Form and Manner of it is not ſtrictly adhered to, 344, 345
Deviſe void, if the Deviſee has not Power and Capacity to take the Thing deviſed at the Time when it ought to veſt, 345
Where the Executors ſhall not take a Thing deviſed to their Teſtator, who dies in the Life of the Deviſor, ibid.
Where Deviſee in Fee dies in the Life of the Deviſor, if a verbal Declaration afterwards by the Deviſor to the Heir of the Deviſee, that he ſhall have the Land, ſhall be ſufficient to give it to him, ibid.
How a Deviſe of Land by force of the Statute of Wills may be pleaded, 376
Where the Intent in a Deviſe ſhall make Eſtates to paſs contrary to the Rules of the Common Law in Deeds or other Gifts, 414
Where by a Deviſe to his Wife to ſell his Land, a Sale to a ſecond Huſband ſhall be good, ibid.
If upon a Deviſe to a Man in Tail to the Heirs Males of his Body, the Son of a Daughter ſhall inherit, ibid.
Where Deviſor is diſſeized of the Land, and dies, the Deviſee ſhall never have it, 485
Where the Law will marſhal the Words of a Deviſe, and tranſpoſe Sentences and Eſtates therein, in order to preſerve the Intent of the Deviſor, and make all the Deviſes effectual, 523. 540, 541
Where the Words of a Deviſe ſhall receive ſuch Senſe and Conſtruction as may beſt preſerve the Intent of the Deviſor, and make the Deviſe to take Effect rather than be void, 523
Where a Deviſe that his Feoffees ſhall be ſeized to the Uſe of A. ſhall be good Deviſe of the Land to the Deviſee, ibid.
Where a Deviſe ſhall be good, though to take Effect upon a Poſſibility or incertain Contingent, 523, 524
A Deviſe of the Occupation and Profits of Land is a Deviſe of the Land itſelf, 524. 541, 542 543
Where the Occupation of a Leaſe for Years is deviſed to one for as many of the Years as he ſhall live, Remainder of the Years unexpired to another, what Intereſt or Eſtate the firſt Deviſee has in the Term, 524
Where a Man cannot deviſe any Thing but what he has to his own Uſe, 525, 526
Where a Deviſe may be good, though it be a Poſſibility upon a Poſſibility, 539
Where the latter Deviſe ſhall repeal the firſt, when they are contrary to each other, 541
Where the Deviſe of the Occupation of a Thing ſhall be a Deviſe of the Thing itſelf, and where not, 542
Where a Deviſe ſhall be void, when no more is given by it than the Law would have given without it, 543. 545
Deviſe to his Son and Heir in Fee Simple void, otherwiſe of a Deviſe in Tail to him, 545
Deviſe of a Leaſe for Years to the Executor, to the Intent that with the Profits of the Leaſe he may educate the Iſſues of the Teſtator, and ſee his laſt Will performed, is a good Deviſe, ibid.

Diſcent. See Deſcent.

THE TABLE.

Diſcontinuance.

Where a Recovery againſt Tenant in Tail is no Diſcontinuance, 49

If the Grant of the King (being Tenant in Tail) by his Letters Patent ſhall make a Diſcontinuance, 232, 233

Where a Surrender of a Copyhold ſhall amount to a Diſcontinuance, 233

Every Diſcontinuance is a Wrong, ibid.

No Diſcontinuance of an Eſtate Tail, where the Party that makes the Diſcontinuance was never ſeized by force of the Tail, ibid.

Where a Grant by Fine ſhall not make a Diſcontinuance, 435

Tenant in Tail enfeoffs Donor in Fee, no Diſcontinuance, 560

Tenant in Tail, the Reverſion in the King, makes a Feoffment, this does not diſcontinue the Eſtate Tail, nor the Reverſion in the Crown, 552, 553. 562

Diſſeizin, Diſſeizor.

Where an Agreement to a Diſſeizin ſhall make one a Diſſeizor ab initio, 8

Where an Agreement to a Diſſeizin ſhall transfer the Land to one, 27. 31

A Diſſeizin is no Purchaſe, 47

Where a Denial of Rent-ſeck ſhall be a Diſſeizin of it, and where not, 71

A. has an Office of Stewardſhip, and a Fee for it, if another keeps the Courts, it is a Diſſeizin of the Fee, 544

Diſtreſs.

Where a Diſtreſs taken in one County may be carried into another, notwithſtanding the Statute of Marlbridge cap. 4. 9. 18. 204

Where the Lord may diſtrain the Cattle of his Tenant out of his Fee, and where not, 37, 38

Where Cattle diſtrained are impounded, who ſhall find them Meat, 67

Diſtreſs may be taken in a Piſcary, 154

The King may diſtrain for the Arrears of Rent in all the Tenant's Lands holden of others, though he has the Seigniory in his Body natural; ſo for the Arrears of a Rent Charge granted to him, 239. 243

Diſtreſs for Rent cannot be made in the Land of the King, though he has it in his natural Capacity, 242

Where the Heir may diſtrain Damage-feaſant, after the Death of the Teſtator, the Goods and Chattles left in the Houſe and Lands deſcended to him, 280, 281

Where Poſſeſſion, without any rightful Eſtate, ſhall be ſufficient to enable one to diſtrain, 431

Double Plea.

Where a Perſon, who has ſeveral Titles, ſhall hold himſelf to one, and ſhall not plead double, 57

What ſhall be a double Plea, and what not, 86. 139. 140. 142

If Rent ſhewn to be in Arrear at two Days ſhall be double, 139. 142

Where an Averment of a Feoffment to be by Colluſion and upon Condition ſhall make the Plea double, 139, 140

Where two ſeveral Seizins alledged in Avowry ſhall make the Plea double, 140

Where two continual Claims alledged to avoid a Deſcent ſhall make the Plea double, ibid.

Where an Allegation of two Deſcents ſhall make the Plea double, and where not, ibid.

Where a Man pleads two Matters, when he is compelled to ſhew them both, it does not make the Plea double, 140. 193, 194

In Debt againſt an Executor, fully adminiſtered, and ſo nothing in his Hands, does not make the Plea double, 140

Where the King's Declaration ſhall not be double by the Allegation of ſeveral Matters, 243

Dower.

A Woman ſhall not be endowed of a Recovery without Execution, 43

In Dower of a Rent Charge, ſhe needs not ſhew the Deed of Grant, 46. 81

Where a Recovery againſt the Huſband in a real Action ſhould hinder the Wife of Dower at Common Law, and where not, 49

Where Dower obtained by Covin ſhall be avoided, 51. 54

If in Dower the Heir pleads in Bar Detinue of Evidences, he ſhall ſhew the Certainty of them, otherwiſe if of a Bag ſealed with Charters, 85

Where a Woman ſhall not have Dower when the Nature of the Eſtate, to which ſhe has Title of Dower, becomes changed before the Execution of her Eſtate, 155

Where a Woman may be endowed of a Rent which ceaſes for a Time, and where not, 156

Where a Woman ſhall loſe her Dower for the Treaſon of her Huſband without any Attainder of him in Fact, 262

Where a Woman ſhall have Dower Ad oſtium Eccleſiæ, and where not, 304

How many Things are the Cauſe of Dower, 373

Where a Woman ſhall be endowed of an Office, 379

Where a Woman cannot refuſe her Jointure, and take her Dower, 396

Where a Woman recovers Dower, ſhe cannot enter without Seizin delivered to her by the Sheriff, 529

Where a Woman ſhall not be endowed of a deſcendible Freehold, 556

Where a Woman ſhall not be endowed of a baſe Fee, 557

Dureſs.

Shall avoid an Obligation, 19

Dutchy of Lancaſter.

Where a Leaſe under the Dutchy Seal of Land Parcel of the Dutchy made by the King within Age, to commence after the End of a former Leaſe in eſſe, is good, and not avoidable by reaſon of his Nonage, 212. 221

How the Dutchy of Lancaſter became united to the Crown by Deſcent to King Hen. 4. 214

By what Mannner of Conveyance the Poſſeſſions of the Dutchy paſſed before the Duke's Acceſſion to the Crown, and how afterwards, ibid.

The Name of Duke of Lancaſter, and all the Juriſdictions of the Dutchy, drowned in the Name of King, and in the Juriſdiction Royal, by the Acceſſion of the Eſtate Royal to the Perſon of the Duke, 214. 217. 222

Charter of Hen. 4. of Separation of the Lands and Poſſeſſions of the Dutchy from the Crown, and the Cauſes of making the ſame, and the Effects thereof; and in what reſpects the Poſſeſſions of the Dutchy are ſeparated from the Crown, and in what not, 214, 215, 216, 217

The King may have a Clauſe of (Non omittas propter aliquam libertatem) in his Writ, where he only demands a Thing as Parcel of the Dutchy, 216. 239

Aid may be had of the King before Iſſue joined, touching his Lands which he holds in Right of his Dutchy, 216. 221

If after the Charter of Hen. 4. the King gives Lands Parcel of the Dutchy, by what Name he ſhall be ſtiled in the Grant, 217

Statute of 3 Hen. 5. concerning the Dutchy Seal, and the Cauſes of making the ſame, and the Effects thereof, 217, 218

Statute of 1 Ed. 4. of incorporating and confiſcating for ever the Dutchy of Lancaſter to the Crown, and the Cauſes of making the ſame, and the Effects thereof, 218, 219

Where Livery and Attornment is neceſſary to a Grant of Lands Parcel of the Dutchy, and where not, 215. 219

Statute of 1 Hen. 7. of Repeal of a Feoffment of Lands Parcel of the Dutchy made by King Ed. 4. by Act of Parliament in the 12th Year of his Reign, and the Cauſes of making the ſame, and in what Capacity the Dutchy became veſted in King Hen. 7. by that Statute; and other Effects thereof, 220, 221

If the King makes a Feoffment of Land of the Dutchy out of the County Palatine, to hold of him in capite, the Feoffee ſhall hold of him in capite as of his Crown of England, 223

Ejectione

THE TABLE.

Ejectione Firmæ.

DOES not lie of a Reverſion, 159
Where the Writ ſhall be good without any Clauſe concerning the taking away of Goods and Chattles, 199, 228, 229
The Proceſs in the Writ of Ejectione Firmæ, 228
Lies of a Pool, or of Paſture for an Ox, 228, 229
Where the Clauſe concerning the taking of Goods and Chattles ſhall be inſerted in the Writ of Ejectione Firmæ, according to the Regiſter, and where not, 229
Entry alledged in Ejectment without an actual Diſſeizin not good, nor ſhall it gain to the Party the Poſſeſſion whereupon he may make a Leaſe, 233 Election.

Where the Grantor or Donor ſhall have Election, and where the Grantee or Donee, 13
Where the Tenure is by ſeveral Things in the Disjunctive, in whom ſhall the Election be, viz. in the Tenant to pay, or in the Lord to take, which he pleaſes, 96
Where the Lord may elect to have the Wardſhip of the Land, or to take himſelf to his Seigniory, and where not, 230
Where the Privilege of Election may be transferred over, 437

Encroachment. See Incroachment.

Entry.

The dying ſeized of an Abator within five Years ſhall take away the Entry of him that has Right, 47
Where the dying ſeized of a Diſſeizor within five Years ſhall take away the Entry of him in Reverſion or Remainder, ibid.
What Entry into the Land, pending an Aſſize, ſhall be ſuch an Entry as ſhall abate the Writ, and what not, 92, 93
Where an Entry is neceſſary to avoid an Eſtate, and where not, 133. 135, 136, 137, 138, 139. 142, 413
If an Entry is neceſſary to avoid an Eſtate for Years, and to ſupport a new Leaſe by the Leſſor, notwithſtanding a Covenant and Grant by the Leſſee that if the Rent be in Arrears the Leaſe ſhall be extinct and void, 133. 135, 136, 137, 138, 139. 142
Entry neceſſary by the Leſſor to avoid the Eſtate of Tenant pur auter vie after the Death of Ceſtuy que vie, 139
Entry neceſſary to diveſt the Poſſeſſion and Intereſt out of the Termor who holds over, ibid.
Where a Man may make a Leaſe of Land before Entry, though he ſhall not have Treſpaſs, 137. 142
Where an Entry may be alledged upon a Feoffment pleaded, 232
An Entry without an actual Diſſeizin does not gain the Poſſeſſion, 233
Where the Deſcent of the younger Brother ſhall not take away the Entry of the eldeſt, 306
Where an Entry needs not be alledged in Pleading, 503

Equity.

How defined, 375. 465. 467
How divided, 465. 467
Where it corrects and abridges the general Words of a Law, 465, 466
Called Epichaia, 465
A neceſſary Ingredient in the Expoſition of all Laws, 466
No part of the Law, but a moral Virtue which corrects the Law, ibid.
How to know when the Words of a Law ſhall be reſtrained or enlarged by Equity, 467
Knows no Difference between penal Laws and others, 468

Error.

Where Writ of Error lies upon an erroneous Recovery againſt a Tenant, and where not, 241
Where Error in the latter Judgment ſhall not reverſe the firſt Judgment, though the laſt is grounded upon the firſt, but Error in the firſt Judgment ſhall reverſe both, 266
Where Error in a Record may be avoided by Plea as well as by Writ of Error, 266, 267
Where a Miſrecital of Time, Place, or Number, ſhall make the whole erroneous and void, 392, 393
Writ of Error maintainable by one not Party nor Privy, 393
Where Error lies in the King's Bench upon a Judgment in Chancery, ibid.
Where Judgment given ſhall not be void, but voidable by Error, 394
Writ of Error in the Exchequer Chamber abated by the Death of the Lord Keeper, 565

Eſcape.

Debt brought againſt the Sheriff by the Adminiſtrator of the Creditor upon the Eſcape of the Debtor who was in Execution, 35
Where a Perſon in Execution eſcapes, the Plaintiff ſhall never have Remedy againſt him again, nor can the Goaler retake him, 36
The Reaſon why Debt lies by the Creditor againſt the Goaler upon an Eſcape of the Debtor being in Execution, ibid.
Debt lay upon an Eſcape at Common Law before the Statute of 1 R. 2. cap. 12. ibid.
Where any other beſides the Warden of the Fleet lets a Priſoner in Execution go out by Mainprize, Bail, or Baſton, it is an Eſcape by Equity of the Statute of 1 R. 2. cap. 12. unleſs in Caſe of the Sheriffs of London in Places within their Juriſdiction, ibid.
If a Priſoner marries a Woman who is Keeper of the Priſon, it is an Eſcape in her, 37
Where a Priſoner in Execution in one County goes into another County, though with a Servant of the Sheriffs, it is an Eſcape, 35. 37
Sheriff lets a Priſoner go at large, and he goes into another County, Debt lies againſt the Sheriff for an Eſcape in the other County, for it is an Eſcape in every County into which he who is let at large ſhall go, 37
Where a Sheriff may juſtify taking a Priſoner in another County upon freſh Suit made within the View, ibid.
If a Bill of Debt lies upon an Eſcape by Equity of the Statutes of Weſtm. 2 cap. 11. and 1 R. 2. cap. 12. 38
Letting one in Execution go at large is an Eſcape, and a Thing contrary to Law, 63, 64
Where a voluntary Eſcape between the Time of the Wound given and the Death of the Party wounded ſhall not be Felony, 258. 263. 401
To make an Eſcape Felony in the Goaler he that was ſuffered to eſcape ought to be a Felon at the Time of the Eſcape, 263
Where a voluntary Eſcape ſhall be Felony in the Goaler, though the Party was not a Felon to the King at the Time, 476

Eſcheat.

How many Writs of Eſcheat there are upon Attainder of Felony, 262

Eſcuage.

Upon what Occaſion firſt invented, 126. 129

Eſtate.

Where one may take an Eſtate by Implication, 158. 414
Where an Eſtate ſhall be ſaid to continue always in him in whom it is repoſed, unleſs the contrary be ſhewn, 193. 431
Where an Eſtate ſhall be ſaid to have Continuance, and where to be determined for the benefit of a Stranger, 198
Where a Man may have an Eſtate of Inheritance in his own Right, and a Chattle in Right of another, but not a Chattle in his own Right, 417, 418, 419, 420
Where a Man cannot have a Freehold in another's Right, and a Chattle in his own Right, in the ſame Thing, but the greater Eſtate ſhall merge the leſs, 420

Where

Where an Eſtate of Freehold cannot be derived out of a Chattle, 521, 525
Leaſe to a Man and his Heirs during the Life of J. S. what Eſtate the Leſſee hath, 556. 563

Eſtoppel.

Ought to comprehend Certainty, 56
Where one ſhall never be eſtopped to ſhew Matter which the Law would not permit him to ſhew before, 57
Where one ſhall not be eſtopped by that which is not material, 81
Where Seizin of many Services is an Eſtoppel, 95
Who ſhall be Heir to an Eſtoppel, 136
Who one ſhall be eſtopped by his own Recital by Matter in Deed, 396
Where a Recital in an Act of Parliament ſhall be no Eſtoppel, 398. 400
Where an Indenture or Fine ſhall be Eſtoppels, 434

Evidence.

If one Party may demur on Evidence without Conſent of the other, 4
What ſhall be good Evidence to prove the Iſſue if one agrees with a Collector for the Subſidy of Merchandize, ibid.
What Evidence does or does not maintain the Iſſue, 7, 8. 14
Evidence in the Negative void, 8
Where a Demurrer is upon the whole Evidence, and one of the Witneſſes proves againſt the Defendant, if Judgment ſhall be given for the Plaintiff, ibid.
If in a Formedon in Deſcender upon a Gift in Frank marriage the Gift is traverſed, a Deed of Gift in Frank marriage, with Remainder over in Fee, cannot be given in Evidence, 14
Upon the general Iſſue in Treſpaſs, a Licence cannot be given in Evidence, ibid.
Where, upon Traverſe of a Leaſe for Years alledged without Deed, a Leaſe by Deed ſhall not be given in Evidence, ibid.
Where, upon Nul tiel Recognizance pleaded, Evidence of a Recognizance upon Condition proves the Iſſue, ibid.
Where Circumſtances may be given in Evidence to prove the Intent of the Party in a Conveyance, 85
What may be given in Evidence upon Iſſue whether the Defendant was within Age at the Time of making a Deed, 108
In a Demurrer upon Evidence Jury put to aſſeſs Damages conditionally, 408
Where part of a Teſtament may be given in Evidence, 410
Where the Chirograph of a Fine may be given in Evidence, being without Seal, ibid.
Where a Recovery may be given in Evidence without Seal, 411
Whatever the Jury may take Cognizance of of themſelves may be given in Evidence by Parol, or by Copies, or by other Arguments of Truth, ibid.
Demurrer on Evidence confeſſes the Truth of the Facts given in Evidence, but denies the Operation of the Law thereupon, ibid.
Where Certainty is not requiſite in Evidence, as it is in Pleadings, but that which appears probable ſhall be accepted, and why, 412
Every Man's Evidence ſhall be applied and taken according as he intends it, viz. for his own Advantage, ibid.
Herald's Books admitted good Evidence to prove Couſinage, 426

Exception.

Where an Exception in a Leaſe, though it comes under the per Nomen, goes to the Thing before demiſed, and reſtrains the Demiſe in Part, 104
Leaſe of two Acres, excepting one, is a void Exception, 153
Where the Words (other than) ſhall have the Senſe of an Exception, 195
Where that which is excepted out of general Words is as clearly exempted as if nothing had been ſpoken of it, 361
Diverſity between an Exception and a Saving, ibid.
Where an Exception of a Thing not contained before in the general Words ſhall be void, 370
Where an Exception of the Profits upon a Leaſe ſhall be good, 524

Excommunication.

Where upon a Plea of Excommunication the Judges have fought Counſel of the Canoniſts, 125

Execution.

The Order of Execution upon Statutes-Merchant, Staple, and Recognizances, 62
Where the Execution of a Recognizance ſhall be diſcharged in the whole by the Conuſee's Purchaſe of part of the Land which the Conuſor had at the Time of the Recognizance entered into, and where not, 72
A Diſcharge of part of a Thing in Execution is a Diſcharge of the whole, ibid.
Where the Conuſee of a Recognizance ſhall have Execution of the Land againſt a Stranger, and where not, ibid.
Where the Conuſee himſelf is one of the Feoffees of the Conuſor, his entire Execution of the Land ſhall be diſcharged againſt all the others, but if the Conuſor has reſerved part of the Land to himſelf, the Conuſee may have Execution of that part which remains in his Hands, ibid.
Execution of a Seigniory cannot be had in the Land of the King, though he has it in his natural Capacity, 242
What might be put in Execution for Debt at the Common Law, and what not, 441
If Execution upon a Recognizance or Statute Staple is ſued againſt Termor for Years, the Sheriff has Election either to ſell the Term abſolutely, or to extend it at the annual Value, 524

Executor and Adminiſtrator.

Where plene adminiſtravit the Day of the Writ purchaſed, and ſo nothing in his Hands, ſhall be a good Plea by an Executor, 26. 31
Debt brought againſt the Goaler by the Adminiſtrator of the Creditor for the Eſcape of the Debtor who was in Execution, 35
Where Debtor and another are made Executors to Debtee, the Debt is extinct for ever, 36
Where an Adminiſtrator coming firſt by Diſtreſs ſhall anſwer as well as an Executor, ibid. 178. 467
Where an Executor ſhall ſhew the Teſtament in an Action brought by him, and where not, 46. 81
Nothing in his Hands the Day of the Writ purchaſed, without ſaying, or ever after, no Plea by an Executor, 50
Where Adminiſtrators ſhall ſhew the Letters of Adminiſtration, and where not, 52. 277
Adminiſtrators ſhall have an Action of Account as well as Executors, 53
If the Teſtator commits the Adminiſtration to one in his Will, by thoſe Words he ſhall be his Executor, 157
Action on the Caſe againſt an Executor upon a ſimple Contract of the Teſtator, 181, 182, 183
Where an Executor by pleading to an Action ſhall make himſelf liable to it, which otherwiſe he ſhould not have been if he had demurred to it at firſt, 182
Where the Teſtator cannot wage his Law, an Action lies againſt his Executor, ibid.
An Executor cannot convert the Reſidue of the Teſtator's Goods to his own Uſe, ibid.
Executors are only Miniſters and Diſtributors of the Goods of the Dead, ibid.
In an Action on the Caſe againſt an Executor upon the ſimple Contract of the Teſtator, the Plaintiff needs not aver that the Defendant has Aſſets to pay Legacies, 183
A Creditor being made Executor to his Debtor may retain Goods to pay himſelf, 184, 185, 186. 543
Where Acceptance of the Executorſhip by the Debtee extinguiſhes his Action for ever, though not the Debt, 184, 185
Where Debtor and another are made Executors to the Debtee, the Action is gone, though the Debt remains as Aſſets, 184. 186

THE TABLE.

So the Action is gone in such Case, though the Debtor dies first, and did not administer at all, 184

An Executor refusing to administer must be named in every Action brought by the other Executors for a Duty done to the Testator, ibid.

Where Debtee and another being made Executors to Debtor, and Debtee dying first, his Executors shall have an Action against the surviving Executor, and where not, ibid.

Where the Inter-marriage of the Creditor with one of the Executors of the Debtor shall extinguish his Action, and where not, ibid.

Where an Executor cannot pay a Chose in Action, 185

Without an Executor a Will is void, ibid.

How the Administration of the Debtee Executor to Debtor causes an Alteration of the Property of the Testator's Goods in his Hands, towards Satisfaction of his own Debt, ibid.

If the Creditor be made Executor to the Debtor, and there is not Assets to pay his own Debt, he may have an Action against the Heir, ibid.

Creditor being made Executor to Debtor cannot retain for Part of his Debt, and have an Action against the Heir for the Residue, but he must either retain the whole, or have an Action for the whole, 185, 186

If Executors pay the Testator's Debts with their own Money, they may retain to the Value out of the Testator's Goods, as their own proper Goods, 186

Where in an Action against Executors, the Death of one shall abate the Writ, ibid.

What Acts done by the Administrator before the Executor has proved the Will, shall be good and indefeasible against the Executor, and what not, 276. 282, 283

An Executor cannot be without a Testament, 276

If in pleading Administration it shall be averred that the Ordinary who committed it is the Ordinary of the Place where the Party died, 277

Letters of Administration not binding in our Law, but may be denied, and how they shall be tried in such Case, ibid.

Administrators might be appointed by the Ordinary before the Statute of 31 Ed. 3. cap. 11. and their Interest and Power, and how chargeable, 278. 280. 290

An Executor cannot have an Action of Debt, nor release a Debt due to the Testator, before Probate, 278. 281

Where no Notice of the Testament shall be a good Ground for the Ordinary to commit Administration, 278. 279. 281

Where the Executor may pay the Assets in his Hands to a Creditor of the Testator, pending the Writ of another Creditor which was sued before the Payment, 279

In what Cases Administration may be committed where the deceased did not die intestate, but made Executors and a Testament, and the Acts of such Administrator shall not be avoided, 279. 281

If a Man makes his Executors, and enters into Religion, and is afterwards deraigned, he shall not avoid the Acts of the Executors done in the mean Time, 279

How the Power of an Executor may be specially limited and qualified by the Testator, ibid.

How many Persons have to do with the Goods of the deceased, and who they are, and from whence each of them derive their Authority, 279, 280

Where Debt lies against the Executors of the Ordinary for the Debts of the Intestate, 280

To what Purposes the Executors have an Interest and Authority in the Goods of the Testator before Probate, and to what not, 280, 281

What Act done by the Executor shall amount to an Administration, 280

Where the Executor has once administered, his Refusal afterwards may be refused, ibid.

Executors must before Probate remove the Goods and Chattles out of the House and Lands of the Testator descended to the Heir, or else the Heir may distrain them Damage-feasant, 280, 281

Where Trespass, or Replevin, is maintainable by Executors before Probate, 281

The Property and Possession of the Goods of the Testator cannot be in the Executor and Administrator at one and the same Time, ibid.

The Effect and Relation of the Probate of a Testament, ibid.

Where the Probate of the Will shall make good a Release made by the Executor before Probate, ibid.

Where Administration granted by one, and all Acts done by the Administrator, shall be disproved and avoided by a second Administration granted by another, ibid.

Where Trespass may be brought against the Administrator of the Ordinary, by the Administrator of the Metropolitan, ibid.

Who shall commit Administration, where the Intestate dies leaving Goods to the Value of 10 l. in divers Dioceses, ibid.

Where the Power of an Administrator shall be disproved and avoided by the Probate of the Testament, ibid.

What the Ordinary ought to do before he commits Administration, where there is an Executor made, ibid.

Where a Man shall be said to die intestate, although he makes a Testament and Executors, 281, 282

How Letters of Administration may be avoided, 282

What Acts done by an Executor of his own Wrong shall be good and indefeasible against the lawful Executor, ibid.

To what purposes Executors shall be reputed in Law Assigns, 286. 288

If Executor of an Executor might have Debt or other Action for a Duty due to the first Testator, before the Statute of 25 Ed. 3. cap. 5. 286, 290

Where the Executor of an Executor shall have an Action upon a Covenant made to the first Testator, 286. 290

Executor of an Executor is immediate Executor to the first Testator, and is in the like Degree as the first Executor was, 290. 525

At the Common Law, Executors could not have Actions of Account or of Trespass for Goods carried away, until given them by Statutes, 290

In what Right Executors shall be possessed of Things which come to them by reason of other Things, which they have in Right of the Testator, 292

Where a Lease for Years recovered by the Executor, by reason of a Covenant made to the Testator, shall be Assets in his Hands, ibid.

If an Executor assigns Auditors to one who was an Accountant to the Testator, and he is found in Arrears, how the Action of Debt by the Executor shall be, and in what Capacity this Debt shall be vested in him, ibid.

In what Right an Executor, having a Villain of the Testator for Years, shall be seized of the Perquisite of such Villain, ibid.

Account lay not against Executors at Common Law, unless for the King, 320. 322

Where upon a false Plea pleaded by an Executor, nothing shall be put in Execution but the Goods of the Testator, 440

Where an Executor is also Legatee, he is not compellible to take the Legacy against his Will, but he has Election which Title he will stand to, and the Election of the one confounds the other Title, 520. 543

Were an Executor is also Legatee, his first Title is as Executor, 520. 543

Executor may alien a Term before Entry, 520

Where the Executor's Assent to the Devise of a Profit out of Land, or other Thing, shall be no Assent to the Devise of the Land, or Thing itself, 521. 541

Where the Executor's Assent to the first Devisee shall enure to him in Remainder, 521. 545

Where the Executor's Assent to a Devise of the Occupation of Land for a Time is an Assent to a Devise of the Land itself to another afterwards, 524. 541. 542. 545, 546

An Executor cannot devise the Goods which he has as Executor, 525

Where the Goods of the Testator shall not be put in Execution for the Debt of the Executor, ibid.

An Assent of the Executor to a void Legacy is also void, 526

What Remedy an Executor being also Legatee has for the Legacy, 542. 543

Where an Executor is also Legatee, at what Time the Property of the Legacy shall be adjudged in him, and how, and in what Degree, 543

Gift of all one's Goods to his Executor to perform his Will, is void, ibid.

Executors ought to take an Oath to perform the Will, 544

Where the Executor is also Legatee, what Act shall be an Election in him to take the Thing as a Legacy, ibid.

Where the Executor may pay one Legatee his whole Legacy, there not being Assets to pay all the Legacies bequeathed, ed, and the other Legatees ſhall have no Remedy; ſo if the Executor himſelf is Legatee, he may prefer himſelf, 545

Where Executors ſhall not diſtrain in Land for the Arrears of Rent, when it is in the Poſſeſſion of him who does not only claim it by Deſcent, but by another Title alſo, [4]

Exigent. See Outlawry.

Expoſition of Words.

Of the Word (Agreement), 8. 14

Of the Word (Fee), and where it ſhall be taken for Fee-ſimple, 11

Of the Extent of the Word (Purchaſe), and where a Gift of all his Lands purchaſed ſhall paſs Lands which he has by Gift without Conſideration, or by Way of Remainder, ibid.

Of the Words (durante termino), 23. 27. 30

Of the Word (then), and the Relation of it, 24, 25. 32

Of the Word (if), whether a Condition or a Limitation, 25. 32, 33

Of the Word (vellet), if conditional, 30. 33

Of the Words (quorum præmiſſorum prætextu), and their Operation and Force, 52. 56. 193

Of the Word (ſame), and to what it ſhall be referred, where ſeveral Things are named before, 64, 65

Of the Word (aforeſaid), and where it has Relation as well to Things excepted, as otherwiſe, 64. 67

Of the Words (colore officii), and (virtute or ratione officii) and the Difference between them, 64. 68

Where the Words (in) and (of) ſhall receive the ſame Conſtruction, 76

Where the Word (ſaid), ſhall vitiate, or not, when there is nothing before mentioned to which it can be refered, 86

How the Words (at the Time of the making), ſhall be expounded, 108

Of the Word (only), 109

Of the Words (ita quod), ibid.

Where the Judges have conſulted with Grammarians, and have purſued the Senſe of the Grammar, in the Conſtruction of Latin Words, 122

Renunciavit toti communiæ, good Latin, ibid.

Pentecoſt, how defined, ibid.

Imaginavit, bad Latin, ibid.

Of the Words (puri auri), ibid.

Licet is a Conjunction adverſative, and alſo an Adverb affirmative, ibid. 125

Licet is a direct and preciſe Affirmation, 125, 126, 127 128

Cum, the uſual Form of Recital in Debt upon Obligations, 123

Licet, without other Matter, is neither an Affirmative nor a Negative, but is governed according to the Matter which comes after it, 127

Where the Words (cum, tanquam, ut, tam, and quam), are preciſe Affirmations, and traverſable, 128

Of the Words (licet ſæpius requiſitus), in Debt, ibid.

Of the Word (Farm), the ſame in Effect with Rent, 132. 195

Where one Word ſhall enure as another, in order to preſerve the Intent of the Parties, 134. 141, 142. 154. 157 159. 170, 171

Where Words ſpoken by one ſhall be taken as if ſpoken by another, and where not, 134. 136. 138. 141

Where miſnaming Words ſhall not hurt, if there are Words of Subſtance put for them, 135

Where the Effect and Subſtance of Words ſhall be more regarded in Contracts than the Form of them, and Words which are ſeldom uſed ſhall be held equivalent to uſual Words, if they have Subſtance in them tending to the Effect propoſed, 140, 141

Where the Word (renounce) ſhall enure as a Releaſe, 140

Of the Word (Covenant) how it may enure, 141

Where the Word (ſame) ſhall be taken for (the like), and where not, 141, 142. 272, 273

Of the Words (ſtagnum, aqua, et piſcaria), what they conſiſt of, and what ſhall paſs by a Grant of them, 151. 154 157

Where the Word (Tenements) ſhall comprehend a Reverſion, 153. 155

Where a Word includes another Thing, the Thing included ſhall paſs by the Word, 154. 157

Where the Word (deſcend) ſhall be taken for (remain), 159. 542

Where the Words (recipere terram) ſhall be taken in the Senſe of (re-enter), 159

Of compound Words, and where they ſhall contain ſeveral Things, 168. 170

Where the common Phraſe and Language of the Country ſhall be obſerved and purſued, 169

Of the Words (Oxgang of Land, Yard-land, and Bovate of Land), and what they contain, 168

Of the Word (Toft), what it is that ſhall be ſo called, 170

Of the Words (as if), and what Effect they ſhall have by Relation, 175

Of the Words (nuper) and (quondam), and to what part of Time they relate, 190

Of the Word (Demeſn), and what it is properly applied to, 191

Where the Word (demiſe) ſhall be taken in the Senſe of (granted over), and that as well where the Thing is granted over by the Act of the Law, as by the Act of the Party, 92

Of the Words (other than), and where they ſhall have the Senſe of an Exception, 195

Of the Word (Term), what it contains, and what ſhall paſs by a Grant thereof, 198

Of the Words (end and expiration of a Term of Years), and where they ſhall extend to a Surrender of it, ibid.

Of the Word (foreign), where it ſhall be taken in the Senſe of (former), 204

Where the Words (virtute cujus) are not a poſitive Averment, 206

Of the Word (Terminus), and where it may be referred to Time and Place, 273

Of the Words (out of memory), and to what Part of Time they ſhall be referred, and what ſhall be intended thereby, 274

Where a Sentence is in the Disjunctive, and one Part cannot be performed, and the other may, the Party ſhall be forced to perform that which may be performed, 286

Where a Copulative ſhall be taken as a Disjunctive, et vice verſa, 288, 289

The Effect of all Words reſts in a reaſonable Senſe and Conſtruction of them, and in ſuch Senſe they ought always to be taken, 329

Of the Word (conclude), and from whence derived, 369

Of the Word (Intereſt), and where it ſhall comprehend a Term for Years, 374

Of the Word (aforeſaid), and if it ſhall abate a Writ, where the Matter to which it was referred was not mentioned before, 515 Extent.

Where a Leaſe for Years may be extended at the annual Value as well as a Freehold, 524

Extinguiſhment.

Where Debtor and another are made Executors to Debtee, the Debt ſhall be extinguiſhed, 36

If the Tenant enfeoffs the Lord in Fee, the Seigniory is extinct, 106

Where Acceptance of the Executorſhip by the Debtee is an Extinguiſhment of his Action for ever, though not of the Debt, 184, 185

Where Debtor and another being made Executors to Debtee, the Action is extinguiſhed, though the Debt remains as Aſſets, 184. 186

So the Action is extinct in ſuch Caſe, though the Debtor dies firſt, and did not adminiſter at all, 184

Where the Intermarriage of the Creditor with one of the Executors of the Debtor ſhall extinguiſh his Action, and where not, ibid.

Where the Action for a Thing is extinguiſhed, the Thing itſelf is alſo extinguiſhed, ibid.

The Inter-marriage of the Obligor with one of the Obligees is an Extinguiſhment of the whole Debt againſt both, ibid.

Where an Eſtate of Inheritance ſhall extinguiſh a Chattle in the ſame Land, and where not, 419, 420

If a Rent be granted to a Tenant of the Land, and to a Stranger in Fee, it is extinct for a Moiety, 419

Where the Acceſſion of a Freehold in auter droit ſhall extinguiſh a Term which a Man has in his own Right, 420

Leſſor has a Term for Years as Executor of Leſſee, the Term is not extinguiſhed, 420
Where by a Feoffment of a Manor which Huſband has in Fee, the Moiety of a Leaſe for Years which he has in the ſame Manor in Right of his Wife Jointenant with a Stranger, ſhall not paſs by Way of Extinguiſhment, 422, 423, 424
Where the Poſſeſſion and Eſtate of the Land comes to him who has the Profits thereof, it merges the Profits a prendre for the Time, 542

Extortion.

What ſhall be ſaid Extortion in Sheriffs, or other Officers, 68
The Odiouſneſs of the Crime, ibid.

Failer de Record.

WHERE in an Action of Debt upon a Recognizance the Defendant pleads Nul tiel Recognizance, and the Plaintiff certifies a Recognizance on Condition, he has not failed of his Record, 14
If at the Day the Party brings in a Record which varies in the Year or Term, he has failed of his Record, 79

Farm.

Where it has the ſame Senſe with Rent, 132. 195
How called in ſeveral Counties, 160
What it is, and how much it may contain, and what ſhall paſs by a Grant or Deviſe thereof, 191. 195

Fee Simple. See Expoſition of Words.

Where a Man is ſaid to be ſeized in Fee, this ſhall be taken in Fee Simple, 11
A Gift to a Man et hæredibus ſhall be a Fee Simple, though (ſuis) be omitted, 28
Every Fee Simple which has a Man has, is his Inheritance, 50
Where a Fee Simple ſhall be intended to continue always in him in whom it is repoſed, unleſs it be ſhewn how it is otherwiſe deveſted, 193
A Fee Simple in Poſſeſſion, and a Fee Tail in Poſſeſſion, cannot ſtand together in one and the ſame Perſon, at one and the ſame Time, 230
At the Common Law all Eſtates of Inheritance were either Fee Simple abſolute or conditional, and what thoſe were, 235. 239. 241. 245. 562
A Remainder not limitable over upon a Fee Simple, 235. 239. 248, 249
What Remedy the Iſſue of Tenant of a Fee Simple conditional had before the Statute de donis againſt an Abator, 239
Where there may be two Fees Simple of the ſame Land at one and the ſame Time, and where not, 248, 349. 554 555. 557. 560
One Fee Simple cannot depend upon another, 248
A Gift of Lands by Fine Sur Conuſance de droit come ceo que il ad de ſon done, ſhall be a Fee Simple, ibid.
Where a Fee Simple ſhall not merge an Eſtate-tail precedent, 296
Where a Gift of Land to one and to his Heirs Males is a Fee Simple, and where not, 335
How many Sorts of Eſtates in Fee there are, 557
What is a Fee Simple abſolute, ibid.
What is a Fee Simple determinable, ibid.
What is a baſe Fee, ibid.

Felo de ſe.

If Huſband and Wife are Jointenants of a Term for Years, and the Huſband becomes Felo de ſe, the Leaſe is forfeited, 257
What are the Things which conſtitute this Felony, 258
What ſhall be judged the Cauſe of the Death of a Felo de ſe, as of one that drowns himſelf, 258, 259. 261, 262
How the Forfeiture ſhall relate, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263
Why, and to what Purpoſe, the finding of his Death by the Coroner is equivalent to an Attainder in Fact, 258. 260 263
Cannot make his Executors, or a Teſtament, and why, 258. 261
How far the King ſhall be intitled to his Goods, 258
At what Time he ſhall be deemed a Felo de ſe, ibid.
Where one joint Obligee becoming Felo de ſe, the Survivor ſhall ſue the Obligation, and not the King, 259
How many parts the Act of a Felo de ſe conſiſts of, and which is the moſt material in the Eye of the Law, ibid.
Wherein the Puniſhment of a Felo de ſe varies from the Puniſhment of other Felonies, 260
Villain gives himſelf a mortal Wound, Lord ſeizes the Goods, Villain dies, the King ſhall have them, ibid.
The Reaſon why a Felo de ſe ſhall not forfeit his Land, ibid.
The Quality of the Offence of a Felo de ſe, 261
Againſt whom the Offence of a Felo de ſe is committed, ibid.
What a Felo de ſe ſhall forfeit, ibid.
The Reaſon why the King ſhall have the Goods and Chattles of a Felo de ſe, ibid.
From what Time the Felony ſhall be dated, 262
Death muſt enſue within a Year after the Stroke, ibid.

Felon, Felony, &c.

Where killing another ſhall not be Felony, when done by Compulſion, 19
Where an Infant of tender Age, or Man non ſanæ memoriæ, kills another, not Felony, ibid.
Where Drunkenneſs ſhall be no Excuſe for Felony, ibid.
Where a Felon flies into a foreign County, and is there taken, in what County he ſhall be impriſoned, 37
Where a Gift of the Goods of a Felon between the Wound and the Death of the Party wounded ſhall be good, 258
Imagination or Reſolution to do a Felony not puniſhable, unleſs it be actually done, 259
Lunatic wounding himſelf mortally ſhall not be a Felon, though he dies in his Senſes, 260
Where the Law regards the Cauſe and Beginning of every felonious Act, ibid.

Feoffment.

Where a Leaſe and Releaſe ſhall amount to Feoffment, 7
Where Ceſtuy que Uſe and his Feoffees after the Statute of 1 Rich. 3. and before 27 Hen. 8. join in a Feoffment, whoſe Feoffment it ſhall be conſtrued, 59
Where Tenant for Life and he in Reverſion join in a Feoffment, how it ſhall be conſtrued, 59. 140
Where he who is ſeized in Fee, and another that has nothing in the Land, join in a Feoffment, how it ſhall be conſtrued, 59
Where the Reſtriction of Alienation by the Condition of a Feoffment is good, and where repugnant, 77
If Feoffor enters upon Feoffee for Condition broken, yet he has not ſo avoided the Feoffment as to puniſh Feoffee for taking the mean Profits, 107
Where a Feoffment is made to the Uſe of one in Fee, who refuſes, it is as if it had been appointed to the Uſe of a dead Perſon in Law, or of an inanimate Thing, and ſo it is a Feoffment without Conſideration, and ſhall be to the Uſe of the Feoffor, 114
Where Tenant for Years and the Leſſor join in a Feoffment in Fee, how it ſhall be conſtrued, 140
A Leaſe for Years and Releaſe may be pleaded as a Feoffment, 156
Where a Deed of Feoffment may be pleaded as a Confirmation, ibid.
Where in pleading a Feoffment, an Entry may be alledged, 232
Where a Feoffment is pleaded without ſhewing any Uſe or Conſideration, to whoſe Uſe it ſhall be intended, 477

Fines.

Where a Fine may be levied upon Condition, 34
A Fine levied of a Reverſion is a Record before Attornment, 46
How a Fine levied by Huſband and Wife may be pleaded, 105
How the Writ of Covenant ſhall be, when a Fine is levied of the Reverſion of Land, 157

What

THE TABLE.

What is the uſual Form of the Concord of a Fine, by which the Reverſion of Land is granted, 157

Fine pleaded without any Concluſion of prout patet, &c. 224

When a Remainder cannot be limited upon a Fine, Sur conuſance de droit come ceo que il ad de ſon done, 248

If any of the Proclamations upon a Fine according to the Statute of 4 Hen. 7. be made on a Sunday, it makes all the Proclamations erroneous, but does not make the Fine void, which remains a Diſcontinuance as a Fine at Common Law, 265

A Fine may be levied according to the Common Law without Proclamations, or according to the Statute of 4 Hen. 7. with Proclamations, ibid.

Form of Fines not altered by the Statute of 4 Hen. 7. ibid.

The Fine and the Proclamations upon it are not one intire Matter of Record, but ſeveral, 265, 266

Error in the Proclamations is not Error in the Fine, but Error in the Fine makes the Proclamations void, 266

Error in the Proclamations of a Fine may be avoided by Plea as well as by Writ of Error, 266, 267

Where an Infant ſhall be bound to make his Claim within the firſt five Years after his full Age, 355. 375

The Antiquity, Nature, and Puiſſance of Fines, at the Common Law, 357. 368, 369

Why ſo called, 357. 369

What Time was allowed by the Common Law to make Claim, &c. after a Fine levied, and againſt what Perſons the Fine was thereby annulled, 357, 358

Where Non-Claim by a Year and Day after a Fine levied was no Bar by the Common Law, 357

Why termed finis legis, et fructus legis, et exitus legis, et effectus legis, 358

The Preſervation of ancient Rights touched by Fines, how regarded by the Common Law, ibid.

Where the Eſtate, which paſſed by the Fine being defeated, the Right paramount which before was bound ſhall be reſtored, ibid.

Where Judgment and Execution ſeven Years after the Proclamations (ſince the Statute of 4 Hen. 7.) ſhall defeat and annul the Fine, and againſt whom, ibid.

Where continual Claim upon the Land, or amongſt the Neighbours out of the Land, ſhall diſturb the Fine, ibid.

Where Claim entered in the Record of the Foot of the Fine was good and ſufficient, and what was the Form of the Entry, and at what Time it muſt be made, ibid.

How many Sorts of Claims there were at the Common Law to avoid Fines, 359

Who ought to make Claim to avoid a Fine, and who were excuſed by the Common Law from ſo doing, not only within the Time limited, but for ever, ibid.

Where he in Remainder or Reverſion was bound for ever by the Non-Claim of the particular Tenant to avoid the Fine, ibid.

Feme Covert bound by Non-Claim to avoid a Fine, and why, 360

The Validity and Reputation of Fines much impaired by the Statute which ouſted Non Claim; but were reſtored to their former Force and Puiſſance by the Statute of 4 Hen. 7. ibid.

Where one who falls under Diſability meſne between the Proclamations made and the Expiration of the five Years, and ſo continues all the five Years, ſhall be bound by Latches, and where not, 366

Why originally deviſed, 368

Fine upon the Statute of 4 Hen. 7. compared to Janus, otherwiſe Noah, 369

Infant levies a Fine, after Proclamations paſt he ſhall not have a Writ of Error, 370

Againſt whom a Fine with Proclamations may be pleaded without examining the Right, 361. 370

Upon a Fine levied at Common Law by Tenant in ancient Demeſne, the Lord may have a Writ of Deceit twenty Years after the Proclamations, and annul the Fine, 370

Fine with Proclamations levied by Huſband, and five Years paſs before his death, the Wife ſhall be bound to five Years after his Death to purchaſe her Writ of Dower, 373

Where the Lord ſhall have Ceſſavit twenty Years after the Proclamations upon a Fine, ibid.

If Remainder-Man in Fee expectant upon an Eſtate for Life ſhall have five Years after the Death of Tenant for Life, to avoid a Fine with Proclamations levied by the Feoffee of Tenant for Life, ibid.

Where a Fine and five Years Non-Claim ſhall bind a Corporation, and where not, and where every Succeſſor ſhall be bound by five Years Non Claim for his own Time, 375. 537, 538

How a Fine may be pleaded in Bar, 376.

Fine levied without an Original, not void, but voidable by Error, 394

Where it ſhall be a good Form of Pleading a Fine to ſay, that a final Concord was made, 431

Where in Pleading a Fine, the Party needs not ſhew that it was levied in the Common Bench, ibid.

What makes it to be a Fine, and to what Purpoſes it ſhall be called a Fine before it is engroſſed, ibid.

Where it is an Eſtoppel, 434

Where the Eſtate given, upon which the Fine is levied by Tenant in Tail, being abſolutely defeated before the Proclamations paſſed, the Fine and all the Proclamations afterwards made are void, and of no Force, and the Tail not barred, 434, 435

To what Purpoſe Proclamations upon a Fine were ordained, 434

What Sort of Claim made by the Iſſue in Tail before the Proclamations paſt ſhall be ſufficient to defeat the Fine and the Proclamations afterwards made, and what not, 435

Where a Fine with Proclamations levied by Tenant in Tail of another Thing than that which was entailed, ſhall not bind the Iſſue, ibid.

Where the Iſſue in Tail may aver Continuance of the Poſſeſſion againſt the Fine of his Anceſtor, and where not, 435, 436, 437

Where a Fine does not alter the Eſtate, nor diveſt the Land out of the Conuſor, until Execution ſued by the Conuſee, 437

Where Proclamations upon a Fine levied by Tenant in Tail, being made after his Death, ſhall bind the Tail, and where not, 434. 436, 437

Fines levied to Corporations without ſhewing any Licenſe of the King, 502

Where in pleading a Fine, an Entry needs not be alledged, 503

Forfeiture.

Where the Goods of a Felon ſhall not be removed out of his Hands until Attainder, 68

Where Leſſee for Life is charged not to alien in Fee, if he aliens in Tail only, it ſhall be a Forfeiture, 85

At what Time Lands in Tail became forfeitable for Treaſon, 237. 251. 554

Feoffment of Tenant for Life a Forfeiture for which Leſſor may enter, 241

How the Forfeiture of Goods for Felony ſhall relate, 258. 260. 262

Lunatic wounding himſelf mortally ſhall not forfeit his Goods, though he afterwards dies in his Senſes, 260

Land ſhall not be forfeited without an Attainder in Fact, 260, 261

Where a Man ſhall forfeit his Goods, though he be never attainted, 260

What the Defendant in Appeal ſhall forfeit if he be killed, or only overcome, by the Appellor in Battle, 260, 261, 262

Where a Felon being ſlain in Reſiſtance of an Arreſt ſhall forfeit his Goods and Chattles, 260

Where the Forfeiture of Goods and Chattles ſhall have Relation to the Wound given, or Act done, which cauſed the Death, for the avoiding of Gifts or Alienations thereof, 260. 262

Huſband and Wife being Jointenants of a Leaſe for Years, it may be forfeited by the Outlawry or Attainder of the Huſband; ſo if he becomes a Felo de ſe, it ſhall be forfeited, 257. 260

Where Perſons endeavouring to ſhun the Trial or Sentence of the Law for Felony ſhall forfeit their Goods and Chattles, 262

If a Man commits Felony and flies for it, he ſhall forfeit his Goods from the Time of the fugam fecit found, 262, 263

If a Man arraigned for Felony challenges peremptorily above Thirty-five, he ſhall forfeit his Goods and Chattles by the Common Law, and from what Time, 262, 263

If he that is found guilty of Felony takes his Clergy, he ſhall forfeit his Goods, and from what Time, 262, 263
If one arraigned for Felony ſtands mute, and will not anſwer, he ſhall forfeit his Goods, and from what Time, 262, 263
If a Subject joining the King's Enemies in Battle againſt the King within the Realm is ſlain in the Field, what he ſhall forfeit, 263
In Murder, the Title of the Lord by Eſcheat has Relation to the Stroke given, ibid.
Where Offices of Skill and Diligence may be forfeited by Attainder of Treaſon, and where not, 379
Where by the Attainder of one Grantee of an Office, the Office or any Part of it ſhall not be forfeited, 380
A Rent granted for the Exerciſe of an Office is not forfeited by the Attainder of the Officer, if the Office itſelf is not forfeited, 381
Annuity pro conſilio impendendo nor forfeitable by the Attainder of the Grantee, 381, 382
Tenant in Tail of the Gift of the Crown makes a Feoffment in Fee, the Reverſion being ſtill in the Crown, and afterwards is attainted of Treaſon, the Intail is forfeited to the Crown, 552

Forger of falſe Deeds.

Lies tho' the Title only be diſturbed, 54
Does not lie for forging and publiſhing a falſe Deed of a Leaſe for Years, 80
Lies for forging one falſe Deed only, 86
Where the Writ is quod falſa conſpiratione habita, &c. yet good, tho' againſt one Perſon only, 123

Formedon.

Where in a Formedon upon a Remainder in Tail, the Iſſue may declare upon an immediate Gift, 52. 57
It lies de gurgite, 154
What Formedon lies for the Grantee in Tail of a Reverſion depending upon an Eſtate for Life, 159
How the Death of Tenant in Tail without Heir of his Body ought to be pleaded in a Formedon in Remainder, 233
Formedon in Reverter lay at the Common Law before the Statute de donis, and in what Caſes, 235. 245
Formedon in Remainder lay not at the Common Law before the Statute de donis, 235. 239
In what Caſe a Formedon in Deſcender lay at the Common Law, 239
Where a Formedon lies for the Heir, and not a Sur cui in vita, 246
Where Proclamations ſhall be made in a Formedon before Judgment, 358
Where the Demandant in a Formedon upon a falſe Plea pleaded ſhall be barred of all that he has demanded by his Writ, 440
Form of Declaration in a Formedon in Deſcender, 561

Franchiſe.

All Franchiſes coming again to the Crown by Eſcheat or otherwiſe are extinguiſhed in the Crown from whence they are derived, 219
Where a Franchiſe which is appendant to a Manor ſhall not paſs by a Grant of the Manor, 238, 239

Frankalmoigne.

What the Tenant is bound to do for the Donor, 305
Donor to acquit the Tenant of all Rents and Services, ibid.

Frank-Marriage.

If Land is given in Frank-Marriage, and the Parties are afterwards divorced, the Woman ſhall have the whole Land, 58
Not ſubject to Payment of Rent until fourth Degree be paſt, 305

Freehold.

Of greater Eſtimation in Law than other Things, 25
Where a Freehold may paſs from one to another by a bare Aſſent or Agreement, 27. 31
Where a Freehold, by Agreement had upon the Livery, may be transferred from one to another by Matter ex poſt facto, 31
Freehold not ſuffered to be in Suſpence, 280
Where a Man may have a Freehold in his own Right, and a Chattle in auter droit, in the ſame Thing, but not a Chattle in his own Right, 417, 418, 419, 420
Where a Man cannot have a Freehold in auter droit and a Chattle in his own Right in the ſame thing, but the greater ſhall merge the leſs, 420
Where a Freehold cannot be derived out of a Chattle, 524, 525

Gavelkind.

THIS the Law of Inheritance among the ancient Britons before they were expelled by the Saxons out of this Part of the Realm called England, and it continued among them after they fled into Wales until the Time of King Henry 8, 129
How Gavelkind Lands ſhall deſcend in the Caſe of the King who dies ſeized thereof to him and to his Heirs, leaving two Sons, 234. 247
If Gavelkind Lands deſcend to the King and his Brother, each ſhall take but a Moiety, 247

General Iſſue.

What Evidence may or may not be given on this Iſſue, ſee Tit. Evidence.

Grammar.

Where the Judges have purſued the Rules of Grammar in the Conſtruction of Latin Words, 122. 125. 127

Grant.

Where Grants ſhall be good, tho' at firſt incertain, if by Circumſtances or ſome future Matter they may be made certain, 6. 12. 13
Every Grant ſhall be taken moſt ſtrongly againſt the Grantor, and moſt beneficially for the Grantee, 10. 103. 154. 156. 160. 238. 243. 287
It is the Nature of every Gift and Grant to be executed preſently, 12
Every Gift and Grant is an Agreement between the Parties, ibid. 13
Where a Grant of Liberties within a certain Precinct ſhall not be extended further, altho' the Precinct is afterwards enlarged, 129, 130
Where Grants which refer to another Thing ſhall be good, and ſhall enure as the other Thing, with an Averment what the other Thing is, 130
Where a Grant of a Reverſion of Land ſhall enure as a Remainder, et e contra, 134. 141. 157. 170, 171
Grant of a Rent-Charge by two Tenants in common ſhall enure as ſeveral Grants, 140. 161. 171
Where a Leaſe may be granted over without Deed, tho' it could not be made at firſt without Deed, 150
A Grant ſhall never be void, if by any reaſonable Intendment it can be made good and effectual, 154. 156. 159, 160
Where the Words of a Grant ſhall be taken out of their proper and uſual Signification to perform the Intent of the Parties, 154. 159. 170, 171
A Grant of the Reverſion of Land, habendum the Land, is a good Grant of the Land itſelf, 147. 153, 154. 160. 197, 198
What ſhall paſs by a Grant of ſtagnum, aqua, piſcaria, gurges, Turbary, &c. 151. 154. 157
Where a Word includes another Thing, the Thing included ſhall paſs by the Word, 154. 157
Where the Premiſes of a Deed ſhall be corrected and explained by ſubſequent Words, 155. 161. 173. 541
Where the Time is material in Grants, and if the Thing cannot paſs at the Time limited, it ſhall be void, 156
He to whom a Grant is made has Election to uſe it in ſuch Senſe as ſerves beſt to his own Purpoſe, ibid.
An Advowſon may paſs by the Grant of a Church, 157
Every Grant ſhall be conſtrued according to the Intent rather than according to the Letter, 160
Where the general Words of a Grant ſhall be reſtrained by a ſubſequent Clauſe, 161. 173. 541

Where Grants ſhall be equitably expounded, ſo that they ſhall not be taken unreaſonably againſt the Grantor, and yet ſhall be extended liberally for the Grantee, 161

If a Corody is granted to one for him and his Servant to ſit at Meſs, the Grantee may not bring one that has a noiſome Diſeaſe, ibid.

Upon a Grant of Eſtovers out of a Manor, the Grantee may not cut down Fruit-Trees, ibid.

A Grant of Common for all Cattle ſhall not extend to Beaſts not commonable, ibid.

Where Grants ſhall be void, notwithſtanding the Intent appears, if the Intent is not according to Law, 162

Where the common Phraſe and Language of the Country where Grants are made ſhall be obſerved and purſued in the Conſtruction of them, 169

Diverſity where the Grantor is deceived in Matter of Fact, and where in Matter of Law, 170

Where Certainty in Grants added to that which was certain enough before ſhall be of no Effect, otherwiſe where there was no Certainty before, 191, 192

A Grant ſhall never be expounded ſo as to deſtroy the Text itſelf, 196. 288. 308. 317. 396

Grants ſhall be expounded ſo as that all the Parts thereof may ſtand together, and be conſiſtent, 196, 197

If a Man grants to another all his Term in Land, what paſſes thereby, 198

If Termor grants a Rent-Charge, and after ſurrenders his Eſtate, yet the Land ſhall remain charged during the Term, and, as to the Grantee, the Term ſhall be ſaid to have Continuance, ibid.

If he in Reverſion grants a Rent-Charge, to commence after the Term ended, and the Leſſee ſurrenders, the Rent ſhall be paid preſently, and, as to the Grantee, the Term ſhall be ſaid to be determined, ibid.

The King's Grant ſhall be taken moſt ſtrongly againſt the Grantee, and moſt favourably for the King, 243

Where a Franchiſe or Advowſon appendant to a Manor ſhall paſs from the King by a Grant of the Manor without ſpecial Words, and where not, 238, 239. 243. 330

A Choſe in Action cannot be granted but by the King, 243

Where the Form in which a Thing is given or granted ought to be obſerved and complied with, and not violated, 247

Where a Grant of a Rent-Charge by two Perſons out of all their Lands ſhall enure as ſeveral Grants, 289

Where a Grant in the Copulative ſhall enure disjunctively, ibid.

Where the Conſtruction of a Grant ought to be made upon Conſideration of all the Parts of it, and not of one Part only by itſelf, 295, 396

Where by a Grant of all his Lands and Tenements a Leaſe for Years ſhall paſs, 423, 424

Leſſee for Years grants his Term to another during his Life, it is as much as if he had granted it during all the Years, 520

Leſſee for Years grants to another all his Term which ſhall be to come after his Death, the Grant is void, ibid.

Leſſee for Years grants by Deed all his Term to another, habendum from the Time of the Death of the Grantor, the habendum is void, and the Term ſhall paſs preſenttly, ibid.

What Words in a Grant ſhall amount to a Limitation for Life, 522

Where Grants ſhall be good, tho' the Thing granted be to veſt upon an incertain Contingency, 524

Where the Law will marſhal the Words of a Grant, contrary to the Order in which they are placed in the Deed, in Order to preſerve the Intent of the Party, and make that to precede, and that to follow, which properly ought to precede and follow, 540, 541

In every Gift or Grant there ought to be a Donor, Donee, and Thing given, 563

Guardian.

Where the Guardian ſhall have Election to take the Wardſhip of the Land, or to diſtrain for the Seigniory, and where not, 230

Feme Guardian in Socage marries, and ſhe and the Huſband make a Leaſe for Years of the Infant's Land, it ſhall not bind her after the Huſbands Death, 293, 294

Guardianſhip in Socage, to whom committed, 293

Guardian in Socage to account to the Infant for the Reſt of the Profits over and above his Maintenance, 293, 294

To whoſe Uſe the Guardian in Socage holds the Land, 293

To whom the Guardianſhip in Socage ſhall go after the Death of the Guardian, ibid.

Guardian in Socage cannot forfeit his Intereſt, 294

Feme Guardian in Socage takes Huſband, and dies, the Huſband's Intereſt ceaſes, ibid.

Where two are in equal Degree of Affinity to the Infant, who ſhall be Guardian in Socage, 295, 296

Where he ſhall be Guardian to whom there may be any Poſſibility of Deſcent, 295 in the Margin.

Where he that firſt gets Poſſeſſion ſhall be Guardian in Socage, 296

Habendum.

WHERE the Reverſion of Land is granted in the Premiſes, habendum the Land itſelf, this is a good habendum, and ſtands well with the Premiſes, 147. 154. 155. 157, 158, 159, 160, 161. 197, 198

Where the habendum ſhall not be ſaid purſuant to the Premiſes, tho' of a Thing contained in the Premiſes, when it is limited in another Degree, 151, 152

Where an habendum, which is of a Thing not granted in the Premiſes, ſhall be void, and nothing ſhall paſs by it, 152

What is the Nature and Office of an habendum in a Deed 152. 171. 196

Where the Limitation in the habendum ſhall take Place, when the Premiſes are general, 152

Where the habendum ſhall be void, if repugnant to the Eſtate before, 152, 153

Grant to A. and his Heirs, habendum for Life, the habendum is void, 153.

Where the habendum may not abridge the Premiſes, 153, at the Top

Two Acres are given to two, if the habendum is, the one Acre to the one, and the other Acre to the other, it is void, 153

Where the habendum ſhall be good and purſuant to the Premiſes, altho' it varies from them in Words, if ſo be the Subſtance of both is the ſame, 154

Where a Thing is comprehended in the Premiſes, and has another Name in the habendum, which contains the Thing, the habendum is good, 157, 158

If the Nomination of an Advowſon is granted in the Premiſes, habendum the Advowſon, the habendum is good, 157

If a Manor is granted, habendum the Services, it is a good habendum, ibid.

If a Manor be granted or rendered by Fine, habendum an Acre Parcel of the Manor to him and his Heirs, he ſhall have the Manor for Life, and the Acre in Fee, ibid.

If an Acre Parcel of a Manor is let to one for Life, and afterwards the Manor is given, habendum the Reverſion of the Acre in Fee, this is a good habendum for the Acre, and he ſhall have the Manor only for Life, 157, 158

Gift of all his Land in Dale, habendum Black-Acre, is a good habendum, if Black-Acre lies there, 158

Where an habendum the Land ſhall be good, tho' no Land was given in the Premiſes, but only an Eſtate in the Land confirmed, ibid.

Where one named after the habendum ſhall take an Eſtate thereby, ibid. 160

Where an habendum ſhall give an Eſtate, when nothing was given in the Premiſes, 160

Where the ſeveral Limitations in the habendum ſhall deſtroy the joint Implication of the Premiſes, ibid.

Where the habendum ſhall be good, when the Thing named in it is comprehended in the Premiſes, tho' named by a different Name, ibid.

Feoffment of a Carve, habendum the Manor of D. is good, if the Carve conſtitutes the Manor, 162

Not neceſſary in the habendum to repeat the Thing named in the Premiſes, but the habendum when put generally ſhall be refer'd to the Thing mentioned before, 196, 197

Where the habendum ſhall be void, and the Thing paſs by the Premiſes, when the habendum and Premiſes cannot ſtand together, rather than the habendum ſhall deſtroy the whole, 520

THE TABLE.

Heir.

For Matters touching the Succeſſions to Inheritances; and what Heir ſhall be prefer'd before another, ſee Tit. Deſcent.

The Heir has no Title in the Life of the Anceſtor, 55. 48, 49.

Where Lands veſted in the Daughter as Heir, for Default of a Son in rerum natura, ſhall be afterwards diveſted by the Birth of a Son, and where not, 51. 56.

Where the Heir on the Part of the Father ſhall enter for the Breach of a Condition, but the Heir on the Part of the Mother ſhall ouſt him, 57.

In Debt againſt the Heir, Plaintiff needs not ſhew that the Executors have not Aſſets, 193.

Heir Male a greater Bleſſing than Heir Female, 305.

Where the Judgment againſt the Heir ſhall be ſpecial, and where general, according as he demeans himſelf in Pleading, 438. 440.

Where the Obligee has Election to ſue the Heir, or Executor, or Adminiſtrator of the Obligor, 439.

In Debt againſt the Heir, Aſſets in the Hands of the Executors no Plea at this Day, 439.

How the Writ againſt the Heir ſhall be, 441.

Where ſpecial Judgment is given againſt the Heir, what Manner of Execution the Plaintiff may have, ibid.

Heir of the Heir not chargeable in Debt upon the Obligation of the Father of the Heir, ibid.

Where the Heir on the Part of the Mother ſhall have Benefit of a Diſcharge granted by the King to one and his Heirs, 445.

Where the Heir ſhall not be charged by the Obligation, Grant, or Warranty of his Anceſtor, 457.

Heriot.

Where in Avowry for Heriot-Service it ſhall be ſhewn what is the beſt Beaſt, and the Price thereof, 94.

Heriot-Service lies in render, 95.

Where hors de ſon fee ſhall be a good Plea in Avowry for a Heriot, and where not, 96.

What Remedy the Lord has for Heriot-Service and Heriot-Cuſtom, 95, 96.

Homicide.

Any Man may kill another in his own Defence, or as Champion in Trial of a Writ of Right, 9. 13.

Where Homicide ſhall not be Felony, being done by Compulſion, 19.

Where Drunkenneſs ſhall be no Excuſe for Homicide, ibid.

What it is, 261.

Hors de ſon Fee.

No good Plea to an Avowry for the taking of his own beaſt, 96.

Hoſtler.

Where he ſhall be charged for the Goods of the Gueſt loſt or ſtolen out of his Houſe, and where not 9.

In Action in the Caſe againſt an Hoſtler by him whoſe Goods are ſtolen out of the Inn, the Writ is generally quidam malefactores, and does not name any Names, 129.

Jeofails.

FAULTS in the Matter of the Count are not remedied by the Statute of Jeofails, but remain at Common Law, 209.

Ignorance.

Where involuntary Ignorance ſhall excuſe one for breaking the Law, 19.

Where involuntary Ignorance is the Cauſe of an Act, it is ſaid to be done ex ignorantia, ibid.

Where voluntary Ignorance ſhall not excuſe one for breaking the Law, ibid.

Where voluntary Ignorance is the Cauſe of an Act, it is ſaid to be done ignoranter, ibid.

No Man ſhall be preſumed to be ignorant of the Law, 184. 342.

Ignorance of the Law no Excuſe, 342.

Impriſonment. See Tit. Priſon.

Incidents.

Not ſeverable, 381.

Incroachment.

Where an Incroachment of Services ſhall not hurt, but ſhall be avoided in Replevin, 95.

Where the very Lord cannot make Title by Incroachment, ibid.

Incumbent.

By what Means he may transfer his Parſonage to another, and by what not, 496, 497.

There cannot be two Incumbents of the ſame Church at one and the ſame Time, 500.

Indenture. See Deeds.

How the Law conſtrues the Words of an Indenture, 134. 136.

Where miſnaming of Words in an Indenture ſhall not hurt, if ſo be there are Words of Subſtance put for them, 135.

Where it is an Eſtoppel, 434.

Indictment.

An Indictment of Murder de quodam ignoto, or of ſtealing the Goods cujuſdam ignoti, is good, 85. 129.

A. is indicted as having given the mortal Stroke, and B. and C. as preſent and aiding, if proved that B. gave the mortal Stroke, and that A. and C. were preſent and aiding, it maintains the Indictment, 98.

If an Indictment laying the Offence on Thurſday after the Day of Penteceſt be good, 122.

Appeal of an Approver accepted as an Indictment, [6]

Induction.

The Effect and Operation thereof, and to what Purpoſes neceſſary, 528, 529.

By whom to be done, 528.

Infant.

Where an Infant of tender Age kills another, it is not Felony, 19.

Where an Infant ſhall not be within the general Penalty of a Statute, altho' he is within the Letter, 364, 465.

Bound by the Statutes of Ceſſavit and of Waſt, 364.

Where Latches in an Infant ſhall be prejudicial to him, and where not, ibid.

Where Acts done by Infants by Reaſon of their Office, or for Neceſſity, ſhall bind them, ibid.

Where an Infant ſhall be bound by a Condition annexed to an Eſtate, 375.

If an Infant makes a Leaſe for Years, with Remainder over, rendring Rent, and at full Age he accepts the Rent of the Tenant for Years, this ſhall be an Aſſent to him in Remainder, ſo that he ſhall not ouſt him after, 546.

Information.

Where an Informer in the Exchequer upon a penal Law ſhall give his Information on Oath, 1.

An Information of Intruſion into the Lands of the Crown general without ſpecifying the certain Quantity of the Acres, 310.

How the Offence is laid in Information of Intruſion, ibid.

An Information for the King is the King's Declaration, and ought to contain Certainty, 329.

Inheritance.

What Difference between an Inheritance and Purchaſe, 47. 58.

Every

Every Fee-Simple is an Inheritance, 50. 58.
Every Eſtate which may be inherited by the Heir is an Inheritance, 58.
Inheritances corporate and incorporate, and what is ſuch, 170.
Where an Eſtate of Inheritance ſhall be intended to continue always in him in whom it is repoſed, unleſs it be ſhewn how it is otherwiſe diveſted, 193. 431.
Where a Man may have an Inheritance in his own Right, and a Chattle in Right of another, in the ſame Thing, 417, 418.
An Eſtate to a Man and his Heirs during the Life of J. S. is not an Inheritance, but a deſcendible Freehold, 556. 563.

Innholder. See Hoſtler.

Inrollment.

Where the Inrollment of a Deed to the King may be pleaded generally without ſhewing in what Manner it was done, 105.

Inſtant.

How defined in Logic, 110.
Where in Things of an Inſtant there ſhall be a Priority of Time in Conſideration of Law, 258.
Every Inſtant contains the End of one Time, and the Beginning of another, ibid.

Intent and Intendment.

Where a Plea has two Intendments, that ſhall be taken which is moſt ſtrong againſt him that pleads it, 46.
Where the Intent of the Party may be made to appear by the Evidence of collateral Circumſtances, 85.
Where the Intent and Meaning of the Party may be diſcovered by the Phraſe of Speech made Uſe of, 85, 86.
Where the Intent of the Parties, and the Effect and Subſtance of their Words, are more regarded in Contracts than the preciſe Form of Expreſſion, 140.
Where one Word ſhall be taken for another, in order to preſerve the Intent of the Parties, 134. 141. 154, 159.
Every Grant ſhall be conſtrued according to the Intent, and not according to the Letter, 160.
Where the Intent ſhall be ſet aſide, if it is not agreeable with the Law, and expreſſed by apt Words, 162.
Where the Intent expreſſed in a Gift ought to be obſerved, and it is tortious and wrong to break it, 247.
Where the Intent of a Contract or Condition ſhall be performed as near as may be, when the Words cannot, 290, 291.
The Intent is to be reſpected in every Matter, 292. 344.
Where the Intent ſhall direct the Operation of a Deed, 344.
Where an Eſtate ſhall be defeated by the Intent of the Party, without an expreſs Condition, 413.

Intereſſe termini.

Where an Intereſſe termini may be granted over without Deed, 150.
An Intereſſe termini is a Chattle, ibid.
Where Leſſee ſhall be ſaid to have only an Intereſſe termini, 423.
Cannot be enlarged by Releaſe, ibid.

Intereſt.

What it may comprehend, 374. 487.
How defined, 484.

Intruder, and Intruſion.

Bill of Intruſion but a perſonal Suit, and in Effect no more than Treſpaſs, 337. 561.
An Intruder cannot gain any Eſtate or Poſſeſſion againſt the King, 546.
How Continuance may be alledged by the King in Intruſion, and how not, ibid.
Where a Perſon is convicted in the Exchequer of an Intruſion into the Lands of the Crown, upon a Bill of Intruſion there brought, how he ſhall be put out of Poſſeſſion, 561.

Jointenancy and Jointenants.

Where in a Plea of Jointenancy the Party ſhall ſhew of whoſe Feoffment it is, and where not, 55. 84.
If one Jointenant takes all the Profits, the other has no Remedy by the Common Law, 247.
Where a Grant of his Eſtate by one Jointenant, to commence after his Death, ſhall be good againſt the Survivor, and where not, 263.
Where by the Death of the Wife Jointenant for Years with a Stranger, the Term ſhall ſurvive to the other Jointenant, and not to the Huſband, 417, 418.
Where a Jointenant ſhall have the Moiety of his Companion by Survivorſhip, and where not, 419.
Where one Jointenant ſhall have a Quod ei deforceat, and the other a Writ of Right, 419, 420.
Where Plea of Jointenancy with another ſhall abate the Writ, and where not, [6]

Jointure. See Stat. 11 H. 7. cap. 20.

Where a Covenant, in Conſideration of Marriage, to ſtand ſeized to the Uſe of one and his Wife, ſhall operate as a Jointure to the Wife, 307.
Where a Woman cannot refuſe her Jointure, and take her Dower, 396.

Ireland.

Another Realm, and where one who is there ſhall be ſaid to be out of the Realm, 368.

Iſſue.

For Matters of Evidence which may or may not be given on this or that Iſſue, See Evidence.

Where Iſſue joined upon the Matter of an inſufficient Plea ſhall make the Plea good, if the Matter pleaded is found to be falſe, 50.
Where Iſſue joined upon an Incertainty ſhall be good, 52.
Where two Affirmatives and two Negatives ſhall make two Iſſues without a Traverſe, 172.

Judges, Judgment.

Judgment given againſt the King by Privy Seal, 20.
Where it appears to the Court upon the Record that the Plaintiff has no Cauſe of Action, they ought ex officio to give Judgment againſt him, altho' the Defendant has admitted the Action to be good, 66. 69. 84, 85. 264.
How far Judges may make Uſe of their private Knowledge of Facts, 83.
Where the Judges ought to take Notice of Statutes which appear to them judicially, altho' they are not pleaded, ibid.
Formerly ſix Judges in K. B. and ſix in C. B. 231.
Where the Law ſupplies the want of Judgment by other Means, when Judgment cannot be given, 260.
Where the Demandant ſhall have Judgment as a Thing purſuant, and not as the principal Point, 306.
Form of Judgment in High Treaſon, 387.
Where Judgment given ſhall not be void, but voidable by Error, 394.
Motion for Leave to enter Judgment, which remained unentered four Years thro' the Party's own Default, 438.

Jurors and Jury. See Witneſs, Coroner, Verdict.

The Jury may give a Verdict contrary to the Witneſſes, 8.
If one indicted for Murder on the Coroner's Inqueſt is found not guilty, the Jury ſhall ſay who killed the deceaſed, 12.
Where the Witneſſes are joined to the Inqueſt, and they cannot agree with the Jurors, the Verdict of the 12 ſhall be taken, and the Witneſſes ſhall be rejected, ibid.
Where the Jurors ſhall not be amerced, tho' they depart without Leave of the Court after they are ſworn, 13.
Where Ceſtuy que Uſe may be a Juror, 58.
'Tis the Office of a Jury to enquire of Matters of Fact, and not of Matters of Law, 114. 231. 259. 496.
If the Jury find the Matter of Fact at large, and further conclude againſt Law, the Verdict finding the Matter of Fact is good, and the Concluſion void, 114.

Where after privy Verdict, and at their own Expences, the Jury may eat and drink, until, &c. 211.
After privy Verdict given, the Jury remain in the Cuſtody of the Bailiff until it is pronounced openly in Court, 212.
Where the finding of the Jury ſhall not bind the Party, if the Law be otherwiſe, 259.
In a Demurrer upon Evidence Jury put to aſſeſs Damages conditionally before diſcharged, 408.
Where the Jury may find Matters of Record upon their own Knowledge, or upon the Credit of others who have ſeen them, without their being ſhewn in Evidence, 410, 411.
Where the Jury ſhall not be forced upon Pain of Attaint to find a Record, 411.
One Juror fin'd and impriſon'd for having Sweet-Meats about him after Charge given, 518.

Juriſdiction.

Where the Juriſdiction of a Court ſhall not be taken away without Surmiſe or Cauſe ſhewn, 74. 76. 208.
Where the Juriſdiction of a Court ſhall not be taken away by the affirmative Words of Statutes without expreſs Words of Reſtraint. 207.

Juſtice of Peace.

Where a Juſtice of Peace in one County has no Authority in another County in which he is not a Juſtice, 37.

King. See Prerogative.

Land.

WHERE the Land ſhall enſue the Nature of the Perſon of him that holds it, 238.
In what Caſe Land might be taken in Execution at the Common Law, and in what not, 441.

Lapſe.

How the Time of preſenting to an Advowſon ſhall devolve for Lapſe, 498.

Law, Common, Civil, and Canon.

For Rules and Conſtructions of Law, ſee Maxims.

Law of England, how divided, 9. 243.
Law of England does not deſpiſe other Sciences, but frequently applies to them for Aid in Caſes which touch upon them, 122. 124, 125.
Where the Judges of the Common Law have heard the Civilians and Canoniſts in Caſes touching upon thoſe Laws, 124. 125.
Common Law nothing but common Uſe, 195. 319.
The Law of England will never do Wrong or Prejudice to another, 248. 418.
Law of Nature how greatly reſpected and purſued in the Laws of England, 304, 305, 306.
Common Law no other than pure and tried Reaſon, 316.
Quiet and Repoſe the End of the Law, 357. 368.
Law of England in all its Operations ſtudies the Diſpoſitions of Mankind, 445.
No Law can provide againſt every Emergency, 466.

Leaſe.

Where Leaſes, which are incertain at firſt, ſhall be made good ab initio by Matter ex poſt facto, 6. 13.
Where Leſſee for Years of Leſſee for Life ſhall have a reaſonable Time to avoid after the Death of Tenant for Life, and where he ſhall be bound to drive out his Cattle without Notice, 30. 272.
Leſſee for Years has a Right, Eſtate, and Title in the Land, 83.
Where a Perſon, having a Leaſe in Land, takes a new Leaſe of the ſame Land, to commence preſently, how far the former Leaſe ſhall be ſaid to be in eſſe and to have Continuance at the Time of making the ſecond Leaſe, and to what Intent it ſhall be ſaid to be determined, 107, 108.
Where a Leaſe may be in eſſe and determined at one and the ſame Time, 108.
Leaſe for as many Years as J. S. hath in the Manor of D. good, 130.
To what Purpoſes the Party ſhall be ſaid Leſſee for Years before Entry, and to what not, 142, 143.
The Place where a Leaſe is made ought to be ſhewn in Pleading, 149, 150.
Where a Licenſe may be pleaded as a Leaſe, 154. 542.
A Man cannot be Leſſor to himſelf, 155. 197.
Houſe is leaſed, ſo that the Leſſee may make his Profit of the Houſe, yet he may not pull it down, nor do Waſt in it, 160.
Where a Leaſe ſhall be ſaid to be demiſed to one, when in Fact it was granted over to him by another or by the Act of the Law, 192.
Where a Man cannot have two Leaſes of one and the ſame Land at one and the ſame Time, 194.
How a ſecond Leaſe made to one who has a former Leaſe in the ſame Land ſhall be pleaded to be made, ibid.
Where a Leaſe ſhall be ſaid to have Continuance, and where to be determined, for the Benefit of a Stranger, 198.
Leaſe for Life, to commence after the End and Expiration of a former Term, the firſt Termor ſurrenders, the ſecond Leaſe ſhall commence as well as if the firſt Term had been ended by Effluxion of Time, ibid.
By whom Leaſes ſhall be ſaid to be made in Caſe of Prior and Convent, 199.
Where a Leaſe for Years ſhall be void by the Death of the Leſſor, and where only voidable, 264.
Leaſe for ten Years by Indenture, and that if the Leſſee pays ſo much at the End and Term of every ten Years, then he ſhall have a perpetual Demiſe of the Land from ten Years to ten Years continually following and out of the Memory of Man, this is a good Leaſe for no more than ten Years, 271, 272, 273, 274.
Leaſe for Years from the Day of St. Michael the Arch-Angel, rendring Rent at the End of the Term, if the Day of St. Michael be Parcel of the Leaſe, and on what Day the Rent ſhall be paid, 271, 272.
What Certainty is requiſite in every Leaſe, 272. 274.
Diverſity between a Leaſe conditional, and a Condition to have a Leaſe, 272.
What ſhall be ſaid ſufficient Certainty whereupon a Leaſe for Years may depend, and what not, 273, 274. 522, 523, 524.
Where Leaſes made, whilſt other Leaſes for Life or for the ſame or a leſſer Number of Years are in Being, ſhall be good, and for what Time, and where not, and when they ſhall commence, and of what Effect they ſhall be when made by Indenture, or by Deed Poll with or without Attornment of the firſt Leſſee, or by Parol, 420, 421, 422. 432, 433, 434. 521.
Where a Leaſe for Years may be extended at the annual Value, upon Execution of a Recognizance or Statute-ſtaple, as well as Freehold, 524.
Leſſee for Years grants a Rent-Charge out of the Land for the Life of the Grantee, what Eſtate the Grantee ſhall have in the Rent, 524, 525.
The Word (Leaſe) comprehends the Land itſelf, 541.

Legacy, Legatee.

How a Legatee ſhall ſue for a Legacy, 542, 543.
What Remedy an Executor being alſo Legatee has for the Legacy, 542, 543.
Where the Law will adjudge a Legacy to be executed before Debts paid, when there are Aſſets of other Goods, and where not, 544, 545.
Where a Legacy can't be ſold by the Executor for the Payment of Debts, there being Aſſets of other Goods, 544.
Where the Executor may pay one Legatee his whole Legacy, there not being Aſſets to pay all the Legacies bequeathed, and the other Legatees ſhall have no Remedy, 545.
Term of Years is deviſed to the Executor, to the Intent that with the Profits of the Leaſe he may educate the Iſſues of the Teſtator, this is no Legacy to the Iſſues, ibid.

Levari facias.

What might be put in Execution for Debt by Force hereof at the Common Law, 441.

THE TABLE.

Licenſe.

Where a Licenſe being exceeded ſhall be wholly void, 68.
Where it may be pleaded as a Leaſe, 154. 542.
Where a Licenſe by the King ſhall ſerve in the Time of another King, and where not, 457.

Livery of Seizin,

Why originally ordained, 25. 302. 554.
Where every Man's Livery ſhall be taken moſt ſtrongly againſt himſelf, 28, 29.
Where Tenant for Life and he in Reverſion join in a Feoffment, whoſe Livery it ſhall be, 59.
Where Livery of Seizin upon a Freehold ſhall be intended to be made, without being pleaded, as well in the Caſe of a Corporation as of another Perſon, 149.
If Tenant for Years, with Remainder over in Fee, enters before Livery, the Leaſe is good, but not the Remainder, 156.
Where a Remainder limited upon a Leaſe for Years ſhall not be good, altho' Livery is made to the Leſſee, ibid.
Where the Time is ſo material in Feoffments that it ſhall annul and deſtroy the Livery of Seizin, ibid.
Livery of Seizin not neceſſary in Caſe of a Leaſe for Years, 159.
The King cannot make Livery of Seizin, 213.
Where Lands ſhall paſs to or from the King without Livery, 213. 242.

Livery out of the Hands of the King.

Where by the Livery of a Manor, or of the Temporalties to a Biſhop, Knight's-Fees and Advowſons ſhall paſs from the King without ſpecial Mention, 252.

Maihem.

EVIDENCE of Surjeons taken in Appeal of Maihem, 125.

Maintenance.

For Matters concerning the buying of pretended Titles, ſee Statute of 32 H. 8. cap. 9.

Not neceſſary to recite the Statute of Maintenance in the Count, 79.
What ſhall be a ſufficient Intereſt in Land in Judgment of Law to enable one to maintain, 83. 524.
Where the Son may maintain the Father, 88. 304.

Manor.

Leaſe for Life of a Manor, except 20 Acres of it, theſe 20 Acres are not Parcel of the Reverſion, but are ſevered from the Manor for the Time; but if a Leaſe is made of 20 Acres Parcel of a Manor, the Reverſion of them is Parcel of the Manor, 103, 104. 422, 423.
Leaſe of a Manor, except an Acre, this Acre is no Part of the Manor, as to the Leſſor, but as to him that has Right to demand the Manor by elder Title, it remains Parcel, and therefore he ſhall make no Forpriſe in his Writ, 104.
Where the Seigniory of a Manor remains Parcel of the Manor, and ſhall paſs by a Feoffment of the Manor, tho' the Poſſeſſion of the Seigniory is ſuſpended, ibid.
If a Man leaſes his Manor for Life or Years, except his Villains, now they are in groſs, and not regardant, ibid.
Leaſe of a Manor for Life, except the Services of J. S. who holds of the Manor, neither the Services nor any Part of the Eſtate therein are Parcel of the Reverſion during the Leaſe, ibid.
Where a Writ of Right againſt a Tenant of a Manor for Land holden of the Manor ſhall not be maintained in the Court of the Manor, ibid.
What a Manor is, and of what it conſiſts, 157.
A Manor may paſs by the Name of a Knight's Fee, 154.
Manor is a compound Word, and what Things it may contain, 168. 170.
What it is that conſtitutes a Manor, 169.
Where a Franchiſe or Advowſon appendant to a Manor ſhall paſs from the King by a Grant of the Manor, without ſpecial Words, and where not, 238, 239. 243. 330.
Gift in Tail or Leaſe for Life of Parcel of a Manor, during theſe Eſtates the Land is not Parcel of the Manor, 422.
Where by a Feoffment of a Manor a Leaſe for Years which the Feoffor has in it in auter droit ſhall not paſs to the Feoffee by Way of Extinguiſhment, 422, 423, 424.

Manſlaughter. See Murder.

Marriage.

How reſpected and favoured in the Law, 58.
Ordained by God, and for what Purpoſes, 303.
The only Sanction to Procreation, 303. 445.
The Education and Nouriſhment of the Iſſues begotten therein how inculcated by Nature, 303, 304.
Why Marriages within the levitical Degrees were prohibited by God, 306.
In whom was the firſt Marriage, 444.
Encouraged among all Nations, ibid.
May be ſaid to proceed de jure gentium, 445.
Approved by the Laws of God, ibid.

Marſhal.

If he holds Plea of a Thing done out of the Verge, it is void, and coram non judice, 37.

Maſter and Servant.

Where the Maſter ſhall be bound by the Act of his Servant, 11.

Maxims, Rules and Conſtructions of Law.

Where a Man is driven by ſudden and urgent Emergencies, which he could not foreſee nor prevent, to act contrary to the Direction of the Law, he ſhall not be puniſhed, 9. 13. 18, 19.
The Law appoints every Thing to be done by him who has the greateſt Knowledge and Skill to do it, 15.
Where a Man has an Intereſt in any Thing, the Law always gives him Means to come to it, and licenſes him to do ſuch neceſſary Acts, without which the Thing itſelf cannot be enjoyed, 15, 16. 317.
If the Scope and End of a Thing is ſatisfied, then is the Thing itſelf and the Intent thereof ſatisfied, 18.
Where a Breach of the Words of the Law is no Breach of the Law, if the Intent of the Law is not broken, ibid.
Where a Man ſhall not be puniſhed for breaking the Words of the Law, when it is done to avoid a greater Inconvenience, or thro' Neceſſity, or by Compulſion, or involuntary Ignorance, 18, 19.
Maxims are the Foundations of the Law, and the Concluſions of Reaſon, and therefore their Authority ought never to be impugned, 27.
Where Maxims may by the Help of Reaſon be oppoſed to, and diſtinguiſhed from, each other, ibid.
Where the Law will interpret the Words and Actions of every Man moſt ſtrongly againſt himſelf, 29. 31.
Every Man may convey and diſpoſe of his Property where, when, and how he pleaſes, ſo that his Intent is not contrary to Law or Reaſon, nor repugnant in itſelf, 31. 34.
Where Things which are done in Prejudice of others ſhall be void, 32.
The Law will never compel a Man to ſhew that which it preſumes lies not in his Knowledge, 46. 55. 123. 126, 127, 128, 129.
No Man is compellible to ſtand in Defence of a bad Title, 48, 49.
The Law will never try the Title of any Man between Strangers, where he that has the Title is not Party, 54.
Where one ſhall be ſaid to beat the Buſh, and another to have the Bird, 57.
Where many join in an Act, the Thing ſhall paſs from him that has the greateſt Right and Authority to give it, 59.
Where one Thing is refer'd to another, it ſhall enure as the Thing to which it is refer'd, 130.
Where the Law will ſupply the Deficiency in Words, when the Ground of a Thing appears, 134.

THE TABLE.

A Man cannot be Leſſor to himſelf, nor diminiſh his own Eſtate, reſerving a leſſer Eſtate to himſelf, without an Alteration of the whole, 155

Where a Thing had by reaſon of another Thing ſhall be had in the ſame Capacity in which the other Thing, which was the Cauſe thereof, is enjoyed, 235. 292

Where the Common Law permits Things to be done, which are tortious and wrong, 247

Qui ſentit commodum, ſentire debet et onus, 249

Common Error ſometimes taken for Law, 251, 252

No Man is puniſhable for imagining or reſolving to do Wrong, unleſs he actually does ſo, 259

Where the Law has Reſpect to the Beginning of every Act, 260

Ceſſante cauſa ceſſabit effectus, 72. 268. 294

Where the Law reſpects the Conſideration of Nature, and divers Maxims and Rules in the Law of England grounded thereupon, 304, 305, 306

Naturæ vis maxima, 307. 309

Omne magis dignum trahit ad ſe minus dignum, 323

De minimis non curat lex, 329

Quando duo jura in una perſona concurrunt, æquum eſt ac ſi eſſent in diverſis, 368

Lex quæ majori parti proſpiciat, utilis eſt. 369. 371

Omne majus continet minus, but not vice verſa, 393, 394

No Law can provide againſt every Emergency, 466

Qui hæret in litera hæret in cortice, 467

Where the Law will never puniſh an innocent Perſon for the Offence of another, 478

The Law gives Credit to every Man where he acts or ſpeaks to his own Diſadvantage, [6]

Medietas linguæ. See Trial.

Meſſuage,

What may be Parcel of it, 86. 171

What ſhall paſs by a Grant of it, or be recovered by a Demand of it, 168

Where by the Help of an Averment Land ſhall paſs by the Demiſe of a Meſſuage, with the Appurtenances, 168, 169

What it conſiſts of, 170

Mines. See Prerogative.

A natural Proviſion of Treaſure for the Defence of the Realm, 315

Where the Subject may preſcribe to dig in Mines againſt the Crown, 328

Where by the King's Grant of Land, in which there is Gold or Silver Ore (the Vein whereof is not open, but cloſe) the Ore itſelf ſhall not paſs without expreſs and determinate Words, 332, 333. 337

Where by the King's Grant of all Mines in certain Land, Mines Royal ſhall not paſs without expreſs and determinate Words, 333. 335, 336, 337

What are Mines Royal, and what baſe Mines, 333

Where by the King's Grant of all Mines which he has in the Soil of another a Mine Royal ſhall paſs, 337

A Vein of Ore not open but cloſe may be called a Mine, ibid.

How a Mine ſhall be called which has in it diſtinct Veins of Ore without Mixture of other Metals, ibid.

From whence Mines containing Variety of Ores ſhall take their Name and Denomination, 338. 339

How many Kinds of Ores or Metals there are in the Earth, 339

No Mine of baſe Metal without ſome Ore of Gold or Silver, more or leſs, 328. 339

Where in an Information for Mines the Defendant ought to take an Averment of the Value of the Gold or Silver Ore contained in them, 336. 340

Miſnomer.

What Miſnomer of a Corporation ſhall avoid a Grant made by them, 536

Miſrecital.

Where a Miſrecital of Time, Place, or Number ſhall make all void, 392. 393

Monſtrans de Faits. See Deeds.

Monſtraverunt.

The Writ is general, without ſhewing the Names of all the Perſons, 129

Lies of a Piſcary, 154

Mortdanceſtor.

Where an Aſſize of Mortdanceſtor lay for the Iſſue of Tenant of a Fee ſimple conditional before the Statute de donis conditionalibus, 239

One Point of the Writ is, to enquire if the Demandant be next Heir to his Father, ibid.

Where Mortdanceſtor lies not for the eldeſt Son againſt the youngeſt, 306

Where it ſhall not lie for the Heir of a deſcendible Freehold, 556

Mortmain.

A Recovery upon feint Title not Mortmain until the Statute of Weſtm. 2. cap. 32. 43

Whence ſo called, 193

Where he that makes Title as Lord by Entry for Mortmain ſhall ſhew the certain Time of his Entry, 202

Where the Iſſue in Tail ſhall not be barred by the Alienation of Tenant in Tail in Mortmain, 238

Mortuary.

Property thereof not in the Parſon before Seizure to maintain Treſpaſs or Replevin, 281

Murder and Manſlaughter.

Where the killing of a Man without Malice prepenſe, though done in the Company of others who had Malice prepenſe againſt the Perſon killed, ſhall only be Manſlaughter in them who had no Malice prepenſe, but Murder in them that had, 100, 101

If A. aſſaults one upon Malice prepenſe to kill him, and another, who defends the Perſon aſſaulted, is killed, it is Murder in A. 101

On Indictment of Murder, though the Party is acquitted thereof, he may be found guilty of Manſlaughter, and upon ſuch Verdict he ſhall receive Judgment as if he had been indicted of Manſlaughter, for the Offence is in Subſtance the ſame, ibid,

Upon an Indictment of Murder the Jury may find that he killed him in his own Defence, ibid.

What is Murder, 261

The ancient Method of executing one found guilty in an Appeal of Murder, 306

Where Malice prepenſe to take away the Life of one Man, whereby another, againſt whom the Party had no Malice, happens to be killed, and not the Perſon intended, ſhall make the Offender guilty of Murder, 473, 474

Where Ignorance ſhall excuſe one from the Crime of Murder, 474

Poiſon is laid to kill Rats, A. eats it, and dies, not Felony in the Party that laid it, ibid.

Name.

NAMES of Offices or Dignity don't leave a Man by his going from one Place to another, 75

Where Names of Baptiſm are included in Names of Dignity, 244

Where the Surname of a Perſon is changed by Marriage, and where not, 305

Neceſſity.

Where Things are excepted out of the general Proviſion of the Law for Neceſſity's ſake, and to avoid a greater Evil, 13

Where the Law of England, as well as all other Laws, gives Place to Neceſſity, 18, 19

Ne Injuſte vexes.

Where it ſhall be had, 94

Nient

THE TABLE.

Nient dedire.

Not ill, if the Title is good, 48, 49
Where a recovery by nient dedire upon eigne Title pending the Writ is no Plea in Abatement, 55
Nient dedire is no more than a Confeſſion of the Tenant, ibid.

Non eſt factum.

Where the Defendant ſhall conclude Non eſt factum, and where Judgment ſi Actio, 66

Nonſuit.

Where Damages ſhall be recovered upon a Nonſuit in ſecond Deliverance, 82

Notice.

Where Notice ought to be given of a Thing ſecret, 278, 279
Where the Lord is not bound to take Notice of the Feoffment of his Tenant, but may avow upon his ancient Tenant, and not upon the Feoffee, 279
Where Notice given by Tenant for Life ſhall be ſufficient for him in Remainder, ſo that the Lord ſhall be compelled to avow upon him after the Death of the Tenant for Life, 546

Nudum Pactum.

What ſhall be ſaid Nudum pactum, and what not, 302. 308, 309
How defined in the Civil Law, 309

Nuper obiit.

Where it lies between Brothers and Siſters, and for what Purpoſe, 306

Obligation.

WHERE in a Condition of an Obligation to ſhew a ſufficient Diſcharge of an Annuity, the Party ſhall plead the Certainty of the Diſcharge to the Court, 7
Obligation made by Dureſs ſhall be void, 19
Where in Debt upon an Obligation a Releaſe bearing Date after the Obligation is not a good Bar, unleſs it be ſhewn expreſsly that the Releaſe was delivered after the Obligation, 31
An Obligation indorſed upon a Condition impoſſible, or againſt Law, or repugnant, is ſingle, 32
Where Obligations made to ſave a Man harmleſs from the doing of a Tort or wrong, are void by the Common Law, 64
Where an Obligation is made contrary to the Statute of Sheriffs, the Defendant ſhall plead Non eſt factum, 66
In an Obligation for the Payment of Money, it is the Part of the Obligor to offer the Money at the Day, 71
Where the Obligor is bound to ſeek the Obligee at the Day whereſoever he ſhall be, ibid.
Where the Obligor ſhall be a Treſpaſſer by coming into a Houſe to pay the Money, and where not, ibid.
If an Obligation is made to pay Money ſuch a Day at L. to every one that ſhall be Coroner in the County of L. to whom he ought to pay it, 75
Obligation to give one Meat and Drink for the Time he is in making his Houſe or Account, how long he ſhall give it him, 108
If in Debt upon an Obligation the Bond is alledged by Way of Recital only, it is not good, 122. 127
In Debt upon Obligations it is the uſual Form to recite the ſame by the Word (cum), 123
Where an Obligation ſhall be good, notwithſtanding a Miſtake in the ſolvendum, and the Plaintiff may declare upon a ſolvendum to himſelf, 141
Obligation by a Receiver to his Maſter to pay him omnia recepta et recipienda, to what it ſhall extend, 160
In Debt upon an Obligation, the Place where it was made ought to be ſhewn in the Count, 191
Conſideration upon which an Obligation was made not enquirable, 309
Where the Obligee has Election to ſue the Heir, or Executor, or Adminiſtrator of the Obligor, but not both, 439 Occupant.

Of what Eſtate there may be an Occupancy, 28. 558
No Occupancy of an Eſtate Tail, 558

Office.

Annuity granted by reaſon of an Office is determinable with the Office, 162. 381
Where Land ſhall paſs by the Grant of an Office, 162
Where Offices of Skill and Diligence may be forfeited by Attainder of Treaſon, and where not, 379
How many Things are requiſite to the Office of Keeper of a Park, ibid.
Where an Officer may grant over his Office to another, and where not, ibid.
Where an Officer cannot make a Deputy, or being incapable himſelf of exerciſing the Office, no other can do it without the Aſſent of the Grantor, ibid.
Where an Office ſhall be forfeited by non-uſer, 379, 380
Where an Officer being attainted of Felony or Treaſon ſhall be reſtored to the Office again by a Charter of Pardon, and where not, 379, 380
Where by the Attainder of one Grantee of an Office the whole Office ſhall be forfeited, and where no Part of it, 380
To what Purpoſe the King may have an Office of Service, 381
A Rent granted for the Exerciſe of an Office cannot be ſevered from the Office but by Extinguiſhment of both, ibid.
Where an Office of Service to be done to the Prince is diſcharged by the Acceſſion of the Eſtate Royal to him, and where not, 455, 456
Where there cannot be two ſeveral Officers of the ſame Office at one and the ſame Time, but the laſt Grant ſhall be void, 500

Office or Inquiſition.

Where an Office is neceſſary to enable the King to enter, and where not, 213. 229
Where Leſſor may enter upon the King Leſſee for Life, by force of a Condition, without Office found, and where not, 230
Where an Eſtate ſhall be diveſted out of a Subject and veſted in the King, by the Relation of an Office, 263, 264
Where an Office to entitle the King to a Chattle by Way of Forfeiture for Felony ought to find preciſely that the Party was poſſeſſed thereof at the Time of the Felony done, 264
Where the Authority of a Perſon, by whom an Inquiſition is pleaded to be taken, ought to be ſhewn, and where not, 485
Where the Lands of one attainted for Treaſon are forfeited by Act of Parliament from ſuch a Day, an Office to entitle the King ought to find certainly what Lands the Party attainted was ſeized of at the Day, or it ſhall be void, ibid.
Office neceſſary in all Caſes (before the Statute of 33 H. 8. cap. 20) to veſt the Lands of a Perſon attainted of Treaſon in the King, 486
In whom ſhall the Freehold of a Perſon attainted of Treaſon remain by the Common Law in the Life of the Perſon attainted, and after his Death, until Office found, ibid.
To what Purpoſes an Office ſhall have Relation to the Time of the Offence committed, and to what Purpoſes to the Time of the Attainder only, 488, 489

Ordinary.

If in pleading Letters of Adminiſtration it ſhall be averred that the Ordinary who granted them is Ordinary of the Place where the Party died, 277
The Seal of the Ordinary is no Eſtoppel in our Law, but iſſuable, and an Averment may be taken againſt it, and how it ſhall be tried in ſuch Caſe, 277. 282
What Intereſt he had in the Goods of an Inteſtate before the Statute of Weſtm. 2 cap. 19. 277. 280
Why the Care of Inteſtate's Goods was committed to him, 277. 279, 280
Not chargeable at the Common Law to Actions of Creditors for Debts due by Inteſtates, 277. 280

Cannot ſue for or releaſe any Debts due to Inteſtates, and the Reaſon thereof, 277, 278
Might commit Adminiſtration of the Goods of Inteſtates before the Statute of 31 Ed. 3. cap. 11. and ſuch Adminiſtrators were in all Reſpects in the ſame Plight with the Ordinary himſelf, 278. 280. 290
Where the Ordinary may commit Adminiſtration, though the deceaſed did not die inteſtate, but made a Teſtament and Executors, 279
Where Debt lies againſt the Executors of the Ordinary for the Debts of the Inteſtate, 280
What the Ordinary ought to do before he commits Adminiſtration, where there is a Will and an Executor, 281
How the Seal of the Ordinary may be repealed and avoided, 282
Pope was formerly looked upon as ſupreme Ordinary, and what he did as ſuch, 497, 498

Ouſter le main.

Where Leſſor may enter upon the King Leſſee for Life, by force of a Condition, without Ouſter le main ſued, and where not, 230

Outlawry.

Where the Exigent againſt the Acceſſary ſhall ſtay until all the Principals are attainted, and where not, 99
In what Writs Proceſs of Outlawry lay at the Common Law, and in what not, 228
Where Outlawry ſhall be erroneous if the five County Courts, at which the Party is demanded, do not follow one another ſucceſſively without Intermiſſion, 371
What Intereſt the King has in the Land of Tenant in Fee-ſimple upon his Outlawry in a perſonal Action, 541

Parceners and Partition.

A Rent granted for Equality of Partition may be in Fee-Simple without the Word (Heirs) 134
Where a Man dies ſeized of Land having two Daughters and no Son, both Daughters ſhall inherit as Parceners, 246, 247
Where upon Deſcent of an Advowſon to divers Parceners, the eldeſt ſhall preſent, 333
Where Partition may be pleaded inter alia, 431

Pardon.

Where a Pardon of all Riots ſhall be good, though it contains no Certainty, 13
Where in pleading a Pardon with an Exception, the Party ſhall aver that he is not a Perſon excepted, and where not, 103. 484. 488
Where a Pardon ſhall be taken generally, and where ſtrictly, 331
Where a Pardon meſne between the Stroke and Death ſhall pardon the Felony, 401
Where the King cannot pardon a Thing wherein all the Subjects of the Realm have an Intereſt, 334. 487
Cannot reſtore the Blood to its former Purity, 558

Parliament.

Where a Conveyance by Parliament does not make the Parliament the Donor of an Eſtate, 59
Where the Parliament will not do Prejudice to any, ibid.
How the Voices are taken in the upper and lower Houſe of Parliament, 126
Where a Matter confirmed by Parliament is made indefeaſible, though it were defeaſible before, 394
The Parliament is a Court of the greateſt Honour and Juſtice, of which none can imagine a diſhonourable Thing, 398
Where the Parliament may be miſtaken as well as other Courts, 398. 400

Parol Demur.

Where the Parol ſhall demur in a Cui in vita for the Nonage of the Heir of a Stranger, 17
Where the Parol ſhall not demur in a Sur cui in vita by the King, for the Nonage of the Heir of the Huſband, 243

Parſon.

In what Right a Parſon holds the Freehold of the Parſonage, 420
At what Time a Parſon ſhall be ſaid to have the Cure of Souls, 528

Partition, See Parceners.

Patents.

In pleading Patents, not neceſſary to ſhew the Place where they were made, 21
Letters Patent good, though there be no Place nor Day of Date therein, 231, 232
Where Letters Patent ſhall be good, and out of the Act of 18 Hen. 6. cap. 1. 231, 232. 491, 492
The King's Grant taken moſt ſtrongly againſt the Grantee, and moſt favourably for the King, 243
What is implied by the Words (de gratia ſua ſpeciali, certa ſcientia, et mero motu) in the King's Patents, 330
Where Patents having the Words de gratia ſua ſpeciali, certa ſcientia, et mero motu, or any of them, ſhall be conſtrued moſt beneficially for the Patentee, and moſt ſtrongly againſt the King, 331, 332,
Where Patents having the Words, ex gratia ſpeciali, certa ſcientia, et mero motu, ſhall not paſs Things wherein the Crown has a ſpecial Prerogative, without expreſs and determinate Words for that Purpoſe, 332, 333, 334, 335. 337
Where ſuch Words in the King's Patents ſhall not make other Things to paſs than are expreſſed, 333
Where Words in the King's Patents, which comprehend Things annexed to the Crown, and Things of a baſe Nature ſhall be conſtrued to convey the baſe Things only to the Patentees, 333, 334
Where the King's Patents ſhall be taken only to a common Intent, 334, 335. 337
Where the King's Patents ſhall not diſcharge a ſpecial Matter wherein all the Subjects of the Realm have an Intereſt, 334
Where the King's Grant ſhall be void, when it appears in the Body of it that he is deceived, 335
Where a Recital of a Matter of Fact in the King's Grant is not material, whether it be true or falſe, 454, 455
Where the King's Grant of a Licence to purchaſe ſhall ſerve the Grantee to purchaſe in the Time of another King, 457
Where the King's Grant ſhall comprehend and bind his Succeſſors, although no Mention be made of them in the Patent, and where not, 457, 458, 459
To what Time the Letters Patent of the King have Relation, 491
Patents under the Great Seal by the Common Law, without Warrant to the Chancellor, good and ſureſt, 492
Where the King's Grant ſhall not be taken to two Intents, 501, 502
Where the King's Grant ſhall diſpenſe with the Penalty of a Statute without any Clauſe of non obſtante, and where it ſhall be neceſſary to have ſuch Clauſe, 502

Per Nomen.

Where the per nomen ought to agree with the Premiſſes of the Deed, and what Variance between them ſhall make a Plea bad or not, 150, 151

Petition.

Not neceſſary to be made to the King where the Eſtate which the King had is determined, 380
Where an Office ſhall be deveſted out of the King without Petition, and where not, 380, 381
Petition made to the Court of Exchequer for Rent out of Land in the King's Hands, and how the Judgment ſhall be executed, 383

Place.

When the Place where a Thing is done, or a Deed made, ſhall be ſhewn in pleading, and when not, 149, 150, 190, 191, 231
To what Purpoſe the Place where a Deed is made is ſhewn in pleading, 231

When

When the Place where the Lands lie ſhall be ſet forth in the Declaration, for the Direction of the Viſne, and when not, 337

Where a Miſrecital of Place ſhall make all void, 393

Pleadings. See Covenants, Obligations.

Where the Concluſion of a Plea, being in the Affirmative or Negative, ſhall waive the ſpecial Matter before pleaded, and where not, 14, 15

No Man ſhall be compelled to diſcloſe Matter which makes againſt him, but it ſhall come on the contrary Side, 16, 32

Where in a Plea in Bar the Defendant ſhall ſhew the Day in certain, where the Time is iſſuable, and is Part of the Subſtance of the Bar, 24, 27, 33

Where he who pleads in the Negative ſhall never ſhew that which he denies to be done, but it ſhall be ſhewn by the other Party who is in the Affirmative, 24

Where the Condition precedes the Thing demanded, the Plaintiff ſhall ſhew in his Count the Performance of it, otherwiſe where the Condition is ſubſequent, and goes in Defeaſance of the Thing, 25

Where plene adminiſtravit the Goods of the deceaſed, the Day of the Writ purchaſed, and ſo nothing in his Hands, ſhall be a good Bar, 26, 31

Where the Certainty of Time ſhall be ſhewn, and where not, 26

Where Surpluſage being wholly omitted, or ill and miſrecited, ſhall make a Plea bad or not, 30, 32, 34, 79, 81, 84, 503.

Where Matter of Conveyance or Inducement needs not be ſo certainly pleaded as that which is Matter of Subſtance, 32, 65, 81, 191

Where a Perſon is preſcribed to a certain Time he ought to ſhew the Day of his Act certainly, as he that pleads in Bar by Entry for Mortmain, he that juſtifies for Common between ſuch and ſuch a Day, and ſo he that juſtifies by Licence, Warrant, or Authority, 33

He that pleads in the Negative needs not to plead certainly, ibid.

He that pleads in Abatement of the Writ, or a Plea after the laſt Continuance, muſt plead them certainly, ibid.

Whether it ſhall or ſhall not be ſufficient for him who will take Benefit of a Statute, which gives an Entry generally to him that ſhall be in ſuch Degree, to ſhew generally that he is the Perſon intended, but alſo to ſhew how, and to ſet forth his Title in certain, 42, 43, 51, 54, 56

Where a Plea which has two Intendments ſhall be taken moſt ſtrongly againſt him that pleads it, 46, 103, 104.

Where a Perſon ſhall ſhew how he is Heir, and where not, 46, 52

When a Thing is ſhewn in Pleading, and is not afterwards traverſed, nor averred ſpecially to the contrary, it ſhall be taken to be confeſſed, 48

Where a Plea, which was bad in itſelf, may be made good by Matter ex poſt facto. 50

Where a Perſon ſhall not be forced to ſhew his Title ſpecially, when it conſiſts of ſeveral Cauſes 51, 52

Where a Thing is executed, the Party needs not plead ſo ſpecially as where he demands the Execution of it, 52

Where Certainty to every Intent is not requiſite in Pleas, ibid.

Where a Statute may be pleaded inter alia, 65

Where a Record may be pleaded inter alia, and where it ought to be entirely and certainly recited, 65, 81, 232, 410

Where in pleading a Statute, Mention may be made of one Branch of it only, and where one ſhall be bound to plead a Proviſo or Exception contained in it, 65, 105, 410

Where a Party concludes or demurs ſpecially, he loſes the Advantage of every other Matter than of that which is mentioned in the Concluſion or Demurrer, otherwiſe where he concludes or demurs generally. 66

Where Miſrecital of a Statute, which needs not be recited, ſhall vitiate, 79, 84

Where the uſual Forms of Pleading are to be obſerved, 123

Where one ſhall not be compelled to ſhew Certainty in Pleading, when he can't be ſuppoſed to have Knowledge of it, or when it concerns Things of an infinite Number, 123, 126, 127, 128, 129

Where a Matter pleaded by continetur ſhall be ill, and where not, 126, 143

Where the Condition of a Leaſe is, that if the Rent is behind after two Months, &c. whether it be well pleaded to ſay, that it was behind by the Space of two Months, &c. 143

Where Pleas which do not anſwer the direct Words, but contain the Matter by neceſſary Conſequence, ſhall be good, 144

When the Place where a Thing is done ſhall be ſhewn in pleading, and when not, 149, 150, 190, 191

Where two Affirmatives and two Negatives ſhall make two Iſſues without a Traverſe 172

Where in pleading he in Reverſion ſhall be ſaid to be ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee, and where not, 191

Where in pleading the Party ſhall conclude virtute cujus ſtatuti, where the Seizin is wrought as well by a Grant as by Statute, 193

What Part of the Record is called the Pleading, and what not, 209

Where a bad Plea ſhall be made good by the Affirmative of the other Party, and he who might have taken Advantage of it ſhall be eſtopped by ſuch Affirmance from ſo doing, 230

Where in pleading a Feoffment the Party may alledge an Entry, 232

Where Surpluſage ſhall not make a Plea bad, ibid.

How the Death of Tenant in Tail without Heir of his Body ought to be pleaded by him who claims a Remainder upon the Tail, 233

Where an Entry pleaded without a Diſſeizin alledged is not good, nor ſhall gain the Poſſeſſion to the Party, ibid.

Where the Town or Place where the Lands lie ſhall be ſet forth, for the Direction of the Viſne, and where not, 337

Where in pleading a Matter by Force of a Statute, a reſtrictive Clauſe in the Act ought to be averred, and where not, 376

Where a Miſrecital of Place ſhall vitiate a Plea, 393

Where in pleading there is no Neceſſity to ſhew more than what ſerves his Purpoſe, 410

No Title can be made to a Record in Pleading without ſhewing it under the Great Seal, 411

Where it is not neceſſary in pleading a Leaſe made by Huſband and Wife of the Land of the Wife to aver it to be by Deed, or to aver their Lives, 431

Where Partition pleaded inter alia ſhall be good, ibid.

Where it ſhall be a good Form of pleading a Fine to ſay that a final Concord was made, ibid.

Where in pleading a Fine the Party needs not ſhew that it was levied in C. B. ibid.

Where a Perſon is not tied up to one particular Form of Pleading, but if he ſhews the Subſtance of the Matter, it is ſufficient, ibid.

Where in pleading a Pardon with an Exception, the Party ſhall aver that he is not a Perſon excepted, and where not, 103, 484, 488

Where an Entry needs not be alledged in pleading, 503

If a Dean and Chapter, being Parſons Imparſonees of the Church of D. demand the whole Church, &c. they ſhall ſay in pleading, that they were ſeized in jure Eccleſiæ Cathedralis, be if they claim Part of the Glebe only, they ſhall ſay that they were ſeized in jure Eccleſiæ de D. 503

Where Matter not pleaded in due Time ſhall be taken for nothing, 564

Plenarty.

Where Plenarty is no good Plea againſt the King, 244

Where a Parſon Imparſonee cannot plead Plenarty, 501

How pleaded at common Law, ibid.

Pope.

Where looked upon as ſupreme Ordinary in the Realm, and what he uſed to do as ſuch, 497, 498

Called by the Name of Apoſtle, 498

The Authority which the Pope exerciſed in this Realm acknowledged by the Parliament to be in the King, ibid.

Uſed to make Proviſions to Benefices, 500

THE TABLE.

Poſſeſſio fratris.

No Poſſeſſio fratris of an Eſtate-tail to make the Siſter Heir, 57
There may be Poſſeſſio fratris of a Uſe, 58

Poſſeſſion.

If the Poſſeſſion of Land comes to him that has Right or Title to it, the Right or Title is extinct or ſuſpended, 88
Where a Thing in Poſſeſſion may not be Parcel of, or appendant to, a Thing in Reverſion, but a Thing in Reverſion may be Parcel of, or appendant to, a Thing in Poſſeſion, 103, 104
Where a Perſon has an Action given him to recontinue the Poſſeſſion, and will not uſe it, but comes to the Poſſeſſion by other Means, he ſhall take it in ſuch Order and with ſuch Appendances as the Law limits to the Means by which he comes to it, 112, 113
Where two are upon Land, claiming Title to it, to which of them the Law will adjudge the Poſſeſſion, 233
What Things Poſſeſſion, without any rightful Eſtate, ſhall enable a Man to do in the Land, 431, 546

Præcipe.

No Præcipe lies againſt the King, 244
There ought to be two Summoners, 393

Præmunire.

He that procures another to ſue to the Court of Rome is in the ſame Degree of Præmunire as he that ſues, 97

Prebend and Prebendary.

At what Time an Annuity granted by a Prebendary is not good to charge the Prebend, 528
By whom the Inſtallation of a Prebend is to be done, 528, 529
If upon pleading the Confirmation of the Biſhop to the Grant of an Annuity by a Prebendary, the calling him Patron and not Ordinary ſhall be good, 529, 530

Precedents.

Precedents and the uſual Forms of Pleading to be adhered to, 123

Prerogative.

Where a Remainder is limited to the King upon an Eſtate for Life by Deed, and Livery of Seizin is made, the Remainder does not paſs until the Deed is inrolled, 31
The King may waive Iſſue and demur in Law, or e contra, but if he and the Party are at Iſſue, he cannot change his Iſſue in another Term, 85, 236, 322
The King ſhall be bound by Miſrecital, Miſuſer, and Miſconceiver of Action, and for ſuch Matters his Writ ſhall abate as well where he is ſole Party, as where he is Party with another, 85
Where the Inrollment of a Deed to the King may be pleaded generally, without ſhewing in what Manner it was done, for it ſhall be intended to be duly made, 105
Where the King cannot take a Surrender without Matter of Record, ibid.
Where Statutes naming the King ſhall be conſtrued to include his Heirs and Succeſſors, 176, 177, 458
King a Name of Continuance, which endures as long as the People itſelf, 177
The King never dies, but his Death is called the Demiſe of the King, 177, 234, 457
Where Acts done by the King, in Relation to Things which he poſſeſſes in the Capacity of the Body politic or Body natural, ſhall not be avoided by Reaſon of Nonage, 213, 244
How many Bodies or Capacities the King has in him, and how they are conſolidated together, and what are the Effects thereof, 213, 217, 234, 238, 244, 250
The King cannot make Livery of Seizin, 213
Where Lands ſhall paſs to or from the King in the Capacity of the Body natural without Livery, 213, 214, 242
The King cannot take or part with any Thing but by Matter of Record, 213, 484, 552, 562
The King may take Advantage of a Forfeiture by Reentry for Default of Payment of Rent without any Demand, although he holds the Land in the Capacity of his Body natural, 213, 243
The King cannot enter for a Condition broken until Office found, 213
Where the natural Capacity of the King is not drowned by the Union of the politic Capacity, but remains capable of taking Lands by Deſcent or Purchaſe, and how ſuch Lands ſhall go upon his being removed from his Royal Eſtate, 214, 234, 242, 250
Where the King may avoid an Act done in his Nonage before he was King, 214
The Name of King drowns every inferior Name of Dignity which the King may have, 214, 250
Where the King may have a Clauſe of Non omittas propter aliquam libertatem in his Writs, although he does not demand a Thing as Parcel of his Crown, 216, 239, 243
None but the Sheriff ſhall execute the King's Writ, tho' it be within a Franchiſe, 216, 243
The King is bound by the Statute de donis as well as a common Perſon, 227, 236, 237, 238, 248, 249, 251, 252
Every Subject has an Intereſt in the King, and by the ſame Reaſon in the Queen his Wife, 231
If the Patent of the King (being Tenant in Tail) ſhall make a Diſcontinuance, 232, 233
King's Prerogative no Warrant to him to do Wrong, 233, 246, 247, 248, 249
The natural and politic Capacities of the King not confounded by each other, but remain diſtinct, 234, 238, 242, 250
In what Capacity Lands purchaſed by the King to him and his Heirs ſhall veſt, 234, 245
If the King dies ſeized of Lands parcel of the Crown, and parcel by Purchaſe, having a Son and a Daughter by one Venter, and a Son by another Venter, and the Son enters, and dies without Iſſue, how the Lands purchaſed ſhall go, 234
How Gavelkind Lands ſhall deſcend in the Caſe of the King who dies ſeized thereof to him and his Heirs, leaving two Sons, 234, 247
In what Capacity the King ſhall hold Things which accrue to him by Reaſon of other Things which he has in Right of his Crown, 235
Where the Prerogatives of the Crown are ſo admeaſured that they ſhall not take away nor prejudice the Inheritance of any, 236
What kind of Toll the King ſhall be excuſed from paying by Reaſon of his Prerogative, and what not, ibid.
Where the King ſhall be included in the general Words of Statutes made to preſerve the Subject's Inheritances, or for the public Good, although he is not named therein, ibid.
Where the King is bound by the Statute of Additions, and where not, 236, 240
Where the King is not bound by the general Words of Statutes of Reſtraint, unleſs ſpecially named, 236, 239, 240, 244
Power, Juſtice, and Mercy, three Attributes of the King, and how they are reſpectively exerciſed, 237
That the King ſhall not have as great Prerogative in what he poſſeſſes in his natural Capacity as in what he has in his politic Capacity, 238
The King may have Heirs as well in the Body natural as in the Body politic, ibid.
Where the natural Capacity of the King and what he poſſeſſes therein ſhall partake of the Prerogative of the Body politic, 238, 239, 242
If the Crown deſcends upon a Perſon attainted, the Attainder is ipſo facto void, 238, 244
If the Crown deſcends upon one who is ſeized to a Uſe, the Uſe is ipſo facto gone, for the King cannot be ſeized to a Uſe, 238, 242
Where the Perſon of the King ſhall make the Land which he holds to enſue the Nature of the Perſon, and to be demeaned according to his Privileges and Prerogatives, 238
The King may diſtrain for the Arrears of Rent in all the Tenants Lands holden of others, though he has the Seigniory in his Body natural; ſo for the Arrears of a Rent-Charge granted to him, 239, 242, 323

Where

Where the Feoffor cannot enter upon the King for a Condition broken, although he took the Land in his natural Capacity, 239
The King is favoured in all Expoſitions of Statutes, ibid.
If the King has an Intereſt at common Law, and a Statute is made which takes away the Liberty of all Men, yet the King's Liberty is not taken away, unleſs he is ſpecially named in the Act, 240
Where the King for his Advantage may ſay that his Donee has a Fee-Simple conditional, as before the Statute de donis, and that he himſelf is not bound by the Act, 241
The King ſhall not be received upon Default of his Tenant for Life, and why, ibid. 553
None can count againſt the King, but muſt ſue to him by Petition, 241, 553
What Things the King comes to as King, and what not, 242
Where an Eſtate is given to the King by the Name of Baptiſm, and alſo by the Name of King, and to the Heirs Males of his Body, in what Capacity he ſhall take it, 242, 245, 250
A Gift to the King and to his Heirs and Succeſſors is good to the Body politic in both the Limitations, for he may have both Heirs and Succeſſors in the Body politic, 242
None can diſtrain for, or have Execution of, a Seigniory or Rent in the Land of the King, though he holds it in his natural Capacity, ibid.
If the King grants Land in Fee which he has in his natural Capacity, the Grantee ſhall hold of him by Knight's-ſervice in capite, ibid.
The King is the Fountain of Juſtice, Tranquility, and Repoſe, ibid.
What ſpecial Favour the common Law, Cuſtoms, and Statutes ſhew the King in all his Affairs, and what Prerogatives and Exemptions he has therein, 243
The King may grant a Choſe in Action, which no other can do, ibid.
If part of a Thing entire comes to the King, as by Outlawry, he ſhall have the whole, 243, 323, 324
If, upon a Grant to the King of the next Avoidance of an Advowſon, or of all Preſentments which ſhall happen within ſuch a Time, his Latches of preſenting to the next Avoidance, or to any of the Preſentments, ſhall not bind him, ſo that he may take his Preſentment after the Time limited in the Grant, 243, 249
Where the dying ſeized of a Diſſeizor ſhall not take away the Entry of the King, 243
Nullum tempus occurrit regi, 243, 261, 264, 321, 559
Where Latches of Entry or Seizure ſhall not prejudice the King of the Lands or Goods of his Villain, 243, 321, 322
Where the King's Declaration ſhall not be double, by alledging ſeveral Matters, 243
If the King's Title is traverſed by the Party, the King may maintain his Title againſt the Traverſe of the other, or may traverſe the Affirmative of the other, ibid.
The King may amend his Declaration the ſame Term that it is put in, ibid.
The King may waive Demurrer, and traverſe the Plea of the other, ibid.
Upon the King's Grant of Land in Fee with Warranty, the Patentee ſhall not have in Value upon Recovery, without expreſs Words to that Purpoſe, ibid. 334
The King may reſerve Rent to a Stranger, 243
If Title appears for the King upon pleading between other Parties, the Court ſhall ex officio adjudge for the King, ibid.
Where the King ſhall not be bound by private Cuſtoms, ibid.
Cuſtom in London that Pawnee may retain Goods pawned until he is paid, &c. does not bind the King, where his Goods are pawned by a Stranger, ibid.
Where Sale of the King's Goods in Market overt ſhall not alter the Property, ibid.
Where the Property of the King's Goods ſhall not be altered by being wrecked, waived, or eſtrayed, ibid.
Where the King ſhall take Advantage of Statutes, though he is not named in them, ibid.
If the King as Heir to his Mother brings a Sur cui in vita, the Plea ſhall not be delayed for the Nonage of the Heir of the Huſband, ibid.
Where Plenarty is no good Plea againſt the King, 244
In the Conſtruction of Statutes nothing ſhall be taken by Equity againſt the King, ibid.
The King cannot ſuffer a Recovery, for no Præcipe lies againſt him, ibid.
By what Name the King ſhall be named in all his Purchaſes, Patents, or Writs, ibid. 250
Where a Purchaſe by the King to him and his Heirs ſhall go in Succeſſion with the Crown, 245
The Body politic of the King cannot beget Iſſues, ibid. 250
Where a Gift by or to the King, and to the Heirs of his Body, before the Statute de donis, ſhould have been a Fee-Simple conditional in all Reſpects, as well as if a common Perſon had been Donor or Donee, ibid.
Where upon a Gift to the King and to the Heirs of his Body, before the Statute de donis, an Alienation by him before Iſſue was not good, 246
Where the Perſon of the King ſhall alter the Courſe of a Deſcent, ibid. 247
If the King purchaſes Land, and dies, leaving two Daughters, and no Son, the eldeſt Daughter only ſhall inherit the whole, and not both, 247
Where Land deſcending to the King and another, each ſhall take but a Moiety, ibid.
If the King kills a Man, there is no Remedy, ibid.
Where the King ſhall be bound by the Reſtraint and Condition under which he takes an Eſtate, and ſhall not be exempted therefrom by Reaſon of his Prerogative, 248, 251
Where the King ſhall be reſtrained by Statutes which reſtrain all Men generally from doing Wrong, 248
Only one Perſon can bear the Name of King in this Realm, 250
The Name of King contains both the King's natural and politic Capacities, ibid.
The Word (Succeſſors) uſed only of late Time in the King's Grants, ibid.
Where Land may be entailed to the King as well as to a common Perſon, ibid.
Where the King's Prerogative ſhall have no Favour nor Exemption in Matters of Reſtitution, 252
Where the Title of the King and of a Subject coming together at the ſame Time the Subject's Title ſhall be preferred, and where the King's, 259, 264
Where Title being once given to the King ſhall not be loſt by Latches of Purſuit, 261, 263, 264
Where, Huſband and Wife being Jointenants of a Term for Years, the King ſhall have Execution of the Term in the Hands of the Wife, after the Death of the Huſband, for the Debt due to him by the Huſband, 261, 263, 321
A Title may be as firmly attached in the King by the Act of the Law as by the Grant of the Party, 263
The King's Villain and his Wife are Jointenants of a Leaſe for Years, the Villain dies, and the Wife is in by ſurvivor, the King upon Office found ſhall have the Leaſe, 263, 264
Land deſcends to a Villain by Birth, the Lord enters, and afterwards the Villain is found an Ideot by Office, the King ſhall have the Land, 264
A Woman takes Huſband, and has Iſſue, and Land deſcends to her, and the Huſband enters, and afterwards the Wife is found an Ideot by Office, the King ſhall have the Land, ibid.
What Intereſt or Prerogative the Crown has in Mines of Gold or Silver, or in Mines of baſe Metal wherein there is any Gold or Silver Ore, and what Means to come to the ſame, and in what Mines the Crown ſhall have no Prerogative, 313, 315, 317, 319, 320, 321, 323, 328, 329, 336, 339
The King's Prerogative in Mines ought to be meaſured by the Value, and not by the Quantity only, of the Gold or Silver Ore contained therein, and of what Value the ſame ought to be, 328, 329, 339
Why the Crown ſhall have all Mines and Ores of Gold and Silver within the Realm, in whatſoever Land they are found, 315, 316
Sturgeons and Whales given to the King by Reaſon of his Preroga ive, 315
The King is bound by his Office to preſerve his ſubjects, ibid.
What Inconvenience attends the Subject's being ſuperior to the King in Treaſure and Subſtance, 316
Where a Perſon is Accountant to the King, or if any Money, or Goods or Chattles perſonal of the King come to the Hands of a Subject by Matter of Record or in fait, the Land of such subject is charged therewith, and liable to the Seizure of the King, into whatsoever Hands it comes afterwards, be it by Descent or Purchase or otherwise, 321, 322

Where the King has many Prerogatives which are not recited in the Treatise de Prerogativa regis, 322

Formerly the King should have had in Fee the Land holden of him for an Alienation without License, ibid.

Where the King may have in Satisfaction of his Debt Money delivered in Court in Execution to the King's Debtor, ibid.

Where the King shall present to an Advowson for Lapse, and in what Respect, ibid. 498

Usage is a good Proof of Prerogative, 322

Every Prerogative contains in itself a Prescription, ibid.

Where the King shall have Prerogative in Things which affect the Freehold of others, ibid. 323

Where the King by his Prerogative may break a Stew of a Subject, and take away the Fish, 323

The King's Presence is a Protection to a Villain from the Seizure of the Lord, ibid.

Where no Part of the Prerogative of the Crown shall pass in the King's Grants without express and determinate Words, 332, 333, 334, 335

Where upon Descent of an Advowson to divers Coparceners the King shall by Prerogative have the Presentation alone from all of them, 383

Where the King cannot discharge a Thing wherein all the Subjects of the Realm have an Interest, 334, 487

The King cannot make a new Course of Inheritance, 335

Where the King may grant over his Prerogative to another, 335, 336

Battle cannot be waged against the King, 335, 336

If the King's Goods are taken wrongfully, he may seize the Party's Goods until he has made Restitution, 336

The King swears at his Coronation to preserve the Peace, 368

Where the King's Prerogative shall do no Prejudice or Injury to Strangers, 487

Where an Estate vested in the King shall be devested out of him by the Act and Operation of the Law, without Monstrans de droit, or other Matter of Record, and where not, 488, 489

All Lands are held either mediately or immediately of the King, 498. [13]

Ignorance of the Law not to be presumed in the King, 502

Where the King's Grant shall dispense with the Penalty of a Statute without any Clause of Non obstante, and where it shall be necessary to have such Clause, ibid.

An Intruder cannot gain any Estate or Possession against the King, 546

Tenant in Tail, the Reversion in the King, makes a Feoffment, this does not discontinue nor devest the Reversion out of the King, 552, 553

Where the Reversion in the Crown may be devested by Matter in Deed and in Law together, without making the King privy, 553

No Tenant at Sufferance of the King's Land, 559

Prescription.

Where the Citizens of London may prescribe against such Statutes as are contrary to their Customs. 36, 37

To what Things a Subject may have Title by Prescription in the Freehold or Inheritance of the King, or e contra, 322

Where a Man cannot prescribe to do that which he may do without any Prescription, 545

Presentation.

Where the Presentation shall pass to a Man by a Grant of the Nomination of a Clerk, and where not, 157

Where upon Descent of an Advowson to divers Parceners, the eldest shall have the first Presentation, 333

Where upon Descent of an Advowson to divers Parceners, the King shall have the Presentation alone, and not any of the Parceners, ibid.

The Patron cannot present an Incumbent when the Church is full, 499, 500

The Chancellor presents to all the King's Churches under the annual Value of 20 Marks, 528

Where the King shall have the Presentation, if the Temporalties come into his Hands by the Death of the Bishop, or if the Church comes into his Hands by the Death of the Patron, before Induction of the Clerk, ibid.

Principal and Accessary.

He who is present and abetting another to commit Murder or other Felony, is a Principal in the first Degree to all Intents as much as he that did the Fact, 97, 98, 100

If he who is indicted for the principal Fact be acquitted by Verdict, this shall also be an Acquittal of him who is indicted for being present and abetting, 97

If it be necessary, in order to make the Abetter who is present a Principal, that the Person, on whom the Felony is committed, should be under any Terror from the Abetter, 98

He that is indicted for being present at and abetting a Felony may be arraigned, though he that did the Fact itself is not attainted, or is dead so that he cannot be arraigned, 97, 98, 100

Where there are many Principals, some of which are absent, and some present, and one is indicted as Accessary to them all, his Arraignment shall be staid until he may be arraigned as Accessary to all at once, and why, 98, 99

Attainder of the Principal at the Suit of the King upon an Indictment is not sufficient to put the Accessary to answer in an Appeal at the Suit of the Party, 99

In Appeal or Indictment against two as Principals, and against another as Accessary to them both, the Exigent shall not be awarded against the Accessary until both the Principals are attainted; otherwise if he is appealed or indicted as Accessary only to one of them who is attainted, ibid.

If one, who is indicted as accessary to several Principals, some of which are absent, and some present, should be arraigned as accessary to those who are present, and should be acquitted, whether he may be afterwards arraigned as accessary to the Rest who are absent, in Case they should be taken, arraigned and attainted, ibid.

If respiting the Arraignment in such Case is Matter of Discretion in the Court, or of Necessity, ibid.

Where the Command of an Accessary shall not be carried over to any other than to the Person intended by him, so as to make him guilty of Murder, 475

Where one shall be adjudged accessary to other Offences which happen in the Execution of his Command, and where not, ibid.

What Variance in the Execution of the Command shall discharge an Accessary, and what not, ibid. 476

Where Repentance shall discharge an Accessary, and where not, 476

If the Receipt of a Felon, who is pardoned by the King, but still liable to an Appeal, shall make the Receiver an Accessary, ibid.

No Accessary without an Offence to the Crown, ibid.

Prison, Prisoner, Prison-breaking, and Imprisonment.

Where breaking Prison by a Felon shall not be Felony, 13

No Man in Judgment of Law can be in Prison without a Keeper or Officer, 37. 68

Where a Prisoner shall be adjudged in Law to be out of Prison, by the Descent of the Office of Keeper of the Prison upon him, 37

In what County a Felon shall be imprisoned who flies into a foreign County, and is there taken, ibid.

Every Restraint of Liberty is an Imprisonment, 38

Where the King lets a Prisoner go at large with a Servant by Baston, and he goes into another County, the Attendance of the Servant upon him there is an Imprisonment, for which an Action of false Imprisonment will lie against him, ibid.

Letting a Prisoner, who is not bailable, go at large by Mainprize, is a Tort, and contrary to Law, 64

He that is imprisoned ought to live of his own, and neither the Plaintiff nor the Sheriff is bound to give him Meat and Drink, 67

Where

Where a Priſoner, though acquitted by the Court, ſhall not be ſaid to be out of Cuſtody until he has paid his Fees, 465

Property.

Where there may be a Tranſmutation of Property by the Operation of Law, without Suit or Execution, 185, 186 543

The Origin of Property, and how aſcertained and ſettled, 308

Where he who transfers the Property of any Thing to another, ought to have the Property of the ſame Thing in him at the Time of the Contract, 432

Where two ſeveral Perſons may have ſeveral Properties in one and the ſame Thing at one and the ſame Time, 524

Protection.

Will not defend the Party againſt an Aſſize, 89

Proteſtation.

Where it is contrary to a Thing expreſſed by Implication or expreſs Words, it is to no Purpoſe, 48

At what Time it ought regularly to be taken, 276

Muſt not be ſuperfluous or repugnant, ibid.

How defined, ibid.

Cannot be taken to the Ground of the Suit, ibid.

Proviſions by the Pope.

What, 500

Purchaſe.

What ſhall paſs by a Gift of all one's Lands purchaſed, 11

What Difference between an Inheritance and a Purchaſe, 47. 58. 464

A Purchaſe is always intended by Title, therfore a Diſſeizin is no Purchaſe, 47

Quare Impedit.

IN what reſpect a Quare Impedit may be reſembled to an Aſſize, 90

In a Quare Impedit againſt many, upon what Plea it ſhall abate againſt all, and upon what not, ibid.

Quare Impedit lies in the Common Pleas here for an Advowſon in Wales, 129

In a Quare Impedit the King may alledge two Preſentments, or twelve Matters in Bar, and his Count ſhall not be double, 243

In whom the Plaintiff ſhall alledge Preſentment, [4]

Que Eſtate.

Where Que Eſtate may be pleaded generally, without ſhewing how he came to the Eſtate, and where not, 56. 84

Quid juris clamat.

What is the Form of a Quid juris clamat brought by the Conuſee of a Reverſion of Land by Fine, 157

At what Time it ſhall be brought upon a Fine levied, and at what not, 431

Quod ei deforceat.

Where, two loſing by Default, one ſhall have a Quod ei deforceat, and the other a Writ of Right, 419, 420

Rape.

NOT Felony before the Statute of Weſtm. 2. cap. 34, 124

Where in Appeal of Rape the Abettors ſhall be inquired of, ibid.

Recognizance.

For Matters touching Execution upon Recognizances, See Execution.

Record.

If a Fine levied of a Reverſion is a Record before Attornment, 46

Where a Record pleaded ſhall be recited fully, certainly, and in good Order, 63

Where an ancient Record ſhall ſtand in Force until it be annulled by Error, 64

Where a Record, though erroneous, ſhall be recited as it is, ibid.

Where a Record may be pleaded inter alia, and where not, and where it ought to be entirely and certainly recited, 65. 81. 232. 410

Any Patent or Writing made in the Name of the King, though without Warrant, to which the King's Seal is put, is Matter of Record preſently, and ſhall bind the King, 76

Where a Record pleaded by Way of Recital, as inter Recorda continetur, is not good, 126. 143

How a Record ſhall be tried, if it be denied, 231

Where nul tiel Record may be pleaded, and where not, 232

The Records of every Court are the moſt effectual Proof of the Law, in relation to the Things there treated of, 320, 421

The Records of Courts of greater Weight and Authority than printed Reports of Law, 321

Where a Man may make himſelf Title by a Record without ſhewing it under Seal, and where not, 411

Where a Man ſhall have a Day to bring in a Record under the Great Seal, and where not, ibid.

Records preſumed to carry in themſelves abſolute Truth, 491

No Averment againſt a Record, ibid.

Recovery.

Whether a Recovery ſhall be alledged to be executed where a Statute ſpeaks generally of Recoveries, 43. 46. 49. 50, 51. 54

Upon a Recovery without Execution the Recoveror is not Tenant, nor has the Poſſeſſion, 43

Upon ſuch Recovery the Wife of the Recoveror ſhall not be endowed, nor ſhall ſuch Recovery by the Brother make the Siſter to be Heir, ibid.

Where the Common Law gives the greateſt Credit to Recoveries, and intends them always to be true, and upon good Cauſe, ibid.

What Remedy the Wife had at the Common Law, (before the Statute of Weſtm. 2. cap. 3.) upon a Recovery by Default againſt her and her Huſband of her Land, ibid.

What Remedy he in Remainder had before the ſame Statute, upon a feint Recovery againſt Tenant for Life, ibid.

A Recovery by feint Title was out of the Statute de Religioſis until the Statute Weſtm. 2. cap. 32. put it in the ſame Plight with a Feoffment in Mormain, ibid.

A Recovery without Execution is a Recovery, 46. 50. 55.

Where upon a Recovery againſt Tenant in Tail who dies before Execution, his Iſſue may falſify the Recovery, and where not, 49. 55

A Recovery without Execution is no Diſcontinuance, 49

The Iſſue in Tail might falſify a feint Recovery by Covin, before the Statute of 11 Hen. 7. cap. 20. 50. 53

Where it ſhall not be neceſſary to alledge a Recovery to be executed, which is void in itſelf, 51

Where a Recovery pleaded inter alia is not good, 65

A Termor may falſify a feint Recovery againſt his Leſſor by the Common Law, 83

If a Recovery of Land is reverſed by Error, it is not ſo avoided as to ſubject the Recoveror to Treſpaſs for taking the Profits in the mean Time, 107

Where a Recovery pleaded by way of Recital, as inter recorda continetur, is not good, 126

By a Recovery of the Land againſt the Tenant for Life, the Reverſion ſhall be deveſted, 157

Every Tenant in Tail may ſuffer a Common Recovery, 244

The King cannot ſuffer a Recovery, ibid.

Where a common Recovery with Voucher againſt Tenant in Tail and another who has nothing in the Land ſhall bar the Eſtate-Tail, 514, 515

The reaſon why an Eſtate-Tail is barred by a common Recovery, 514

To

THE TABLE.

To what Purpoſe Women are commonly named in common Recoveries had againſt their Huſbands, 515

Common Uſage in common Recoveries to be regarded and purſued, ibid.

By the Common Law a common Recovery againſt the King's Tenant in Tail could not deveſt the Reverſion out of the King, although the Iſſue in Tail was bound, 553, 554

That an Eſtate-tail may be barred by a common Recovery is not now to be diſputed, [2]

A common Recovery by Ceſtuy que Uſe could not bar the Eſtate-Tail in Uſe at Common Law, [3]

Where a common Recovery by Ceſtuy que Uſe ſhall not bar the Eſtate-Tail in Uſe by the Statute of 1 Rich. 3. cap. 1. [4]

Where a common Recovery ſuffered by Ceſtuy que Uſe ſhall not bar the Iſſue who does not claim only as Heir but by another Title alſo, [ibid.]

Where a common Recovery ſhall bar an Eſtate-Tail, where the Tenant in Tail comes in as Vouchee, [8]

Where a common Recovery ſhall not bar an Eſtate-Tail, when the Tenant in Tail at the Time of the Recovery is not ſeized of the ſame Tail, but of another Tail, or other Eſtate, [ibid]

Where a common Recovery ſhall bar an Eſtate-Tail, though the Tenants to the Præcipe are not Tenants of the Land, [11]

In common Recoveries the Tenant to the Præcipe ſhall never ſue Execution of the Value againſt the Vouchee, until the Demandant has ſued Execution againſt him, and ſo of the firſt Vouchee againſt the ſecond Vouchee, [ibid.]

Recovery in Value.

Where upon a Grant of Lands in Fee with Warranty, the Grantee ſhall not have in Value upon Recovery without expreſs Words to that Purpoſe in the Grant, 243, 334

Where a Recovery being had againſt Tenant in Tail and his Wife who has nothing, upon a Recovery over the Recompence ſhall enure to the Huſband only, 514, 515

In common Recoveries the Tenant to the Præcipe ſhall never ſue Execution of the Value againſt the Vouchee, until the Demandant has ſued Execution againſt him, and ſo of the firſt Vouchee againſt the ſecond Vouchee, [ibid.]

Relation.

Where a Relation to that which is not makes the Thing referred void, 395

To what purpoſes an Eſcheat or Forfeiture ſhall have Relation to the Time of the Offence committed, and to what Purpoſes only to the Time of the Attainder, 488, 489

To what Time the King's Charters have Relation, and to what Time the Deeds of Subjects, 491

Releaſe.

Where the Word (renounce) ſhall enure as a Releaſe, 140

A Releaſe of all the Right in the Land to him in Reverſion is good, 157. 161

Leſſor releaſes all his Right to the Leſſee for Years, where it ſhall be enlarged for the Life of the Leſſee, and where only for the Life of the Leſſor, 161

Where the Addition of Certainty in a Releaſe ſhall make it good, and where not, 191. 395

Where a Releaſe of all Actions to two Perſons jointly ſhall enure to each of them ſeverally, 289

Where a Releaſe delivered as an Eſcrow, to be delivered over to the Releaſee at a future Day, ſhall not operate according to the Time of it's Delivery over, but according to the Intent of the Releaſor at the Time when it was made and written, 344

Releaſe by the Leſſor of all his Right to Leſſee for Years before Entry is void, 423

Deſſeizor and Diſſeizee releaſe by one Deed to Leſſee for Years of Diſſeizor, which Releaſe ſhall take Effect firſt, and which laſt, 540

Where the Releaſe of Tenant in Tail of all his Right to his Leſſee ſhall not enlarge his Eſtate, 556 Relief.

May be reſerved payable upon a Succeſſion or Alienation, 94

Remainder.

Where a Remainder, which is appointed to take Effect during the particular Eſtate, is void, 24. vide 33

Whether a Remainder limited to commence upon Condition be good, or not, 24, 25. 27. 30. 33, 34

How many Things are requiſite in the Eſſence of a good and perfect Remainder, 25

Where Leſſor confirms the Eſtate of Leſſee, Remainder in Fee, if a good Remainder, 25. 160

Where the particular Eſtate muſt be made at the ſame Time with the Remainder, or the Remainder is not good, 25

A Remainder cannot be limited upon Dower, ibid.

Where the particular Eſtate muſt continue at the Time when the Remainder veſts, ibid. 33. 155

Whether every Remainder ſhall paſs out of the Leſſor at the Time of Livery and Seizin made to the particular Tenant, or not, 25. 28. 31

Where a Remainder ſhall be in Abeyance, 25. 29. 35

Where a Remainder limited to one, who is not capable of taking it at the Time it is appointed, is not good, 27, 28

The reaſon why a Remainder limited to the right Heirs of J. S. who is then alive, is good, 28. 563

Where a Remainder may commence upon Livery made to the particular Tenant, but not perfectly veſt in the Appointee until a future Event, and in the mean Time ſhall be in pendenti, or as a Thing ambiguous, 29. 35

Whether a Remainder limited upon Condition to a Stranger be good, 25. 29. 31. 34

What are the progreſſive Steps of a Remainder from it's firſt Appointment to it's Perfection, 29

Where a Remainder ſhall be good, if the Appointee is able to take it when the Poſſeſſion in Law is caſt, ibid.

Where a Gift of Land to A. et filio ſuo primogenito, he having no Son at that Time, but afterwards has a Son, ſhall enure to the Son by way of Remainder, ibid.

Where a Gift of Land to Huſband and Wife, and to one Heir of their Bodies, and to one Heir of that Heir only, they having no Iſſue at that Time, ſhall enure to the Son born afterwards by way of Remainder, ibid.

Where a Remainder limited upon a Contrariety, is void, ibid.

Where a Remainder cannot be limited upon a Fee Simple, though it be a determinable Fee, ibid. 235. 239. 248, 249

Leaſe for Life, and that after the Death of Leſſee the Land ſhall return or deſcend to a Stranger, this is a good Remainder, 29. 170. 542

Where a Confirmation to Huſband and Wife, the Wife being Tenant for Life, ſhall enure to the Huſband as a Remainder, 31. 160

Where a Remainder ſhall be charged with a Rent reſerved out of the particular Eſtate and it, 32

Where he in Remainder ſhall have an Action of Waſt, ibid.

Where a Remainder limited to the Prejudice of an Eſtate precedent ſhall be void, ibid.

Where a Remainder limited to commence upon an Impoſſibility precedent, or upon a Thing againſt Law, or upon a Repugnancy, ſhall be void, ibid. 34. 35

Where a Remainder may commence and veſt during the particular Eſtate, 33

Where a Fine may be levied in Tail with Remainder upon Condition, 34

Where a Gift in Tail is made upon Condition that if the Donee aliens, it ſhall remain over, this is not a good Remainder, 35

Every Remainder ought to have an Eſtate precedent to ſupport it, ibid. 83

Where a Remainder limited upon an Eſtate precedent made to an incapable Perſon, is void, 35

Where a Remainder ſhall be void, if the Eſtate precedent, upon which it is limited, was not in eſſe before, as if it be limited upon a Rent de novo granted out of Land, ibid.

Where a Remainder for Years, Remainder over for Life, limited upon an Eſtate for Life precedent, ſhall only be one Title, 57

A Remainder

THE TABLE.

A Remainder in Fee limited upon an Eſtate for Years is good, 83

Where he, to whom the particular Eſtate is limited, refuſes, the Poſſeſſion ſhall veſt in him in the next Remainder, as if the particular Tenant had never been named, or had been a dead Perſon in Law, 114

Where a Remainder granted by the Name of a Reverſion ſhall be good, notwithſtanding the Miſnomer, and where not, 141, 142

The Difference between a Reverſion and a Remainder, 154

A Remainder in Land cannot veſt as a Remainder when the Land is become in Poſſeſſion after the particular Eſtate ended, 155

Where a Remainder limited upon a Leaſe for Years ſhall not be good without Livery to the Leſſee, 156

Where a Remainder limited upon a Leaſe for Years ſhall not be good, although Livery of Seizin be made to the Leſſee, ibid.

Wherein a Remainder and a Reverſion reſemble each other, 159

Where a Remainder of Land is taken for the Land itſelf which ſhall remain after the particular Eſtate, ibid.

Where the Word (deſcend) ſhall be taken for (remain), 159. 542

Where one ſhall take a Remainder by the Intent of the Party, without any immediate Gift to him, or any habendum in the Deed, 160

Where a Remainder cannot be limited upon a Fine ſur conuſance de droit come ceo que il ad de ſon done, 248

Remitter.

Whether Covin ſhall hinder a Remitter, where the Perſon to be remitted knew nothing of the Covin, 48. 51

Where Covin practiſed by him that has a good Title, in order to come to it, ſhall hinder a Remitter, 48, 54

Where Poſſeſſion executed by the Statute of Uſes ſhall not work a Remitter, 111. 114

At what Time the Remitter ſhall take Place upon a Conveyance of the Poſſeſſion to the Diſſeizee where his Entry is taken away, or otherwiſe, 112. 114

If the Huſband diſcontinues the Land of the Wife, and a Re-feoffment is made to her and her Huſband, this ſhall not be adjudged a Remitter in the Wife, if ſhe dies, and her Huſband ſurvives her, 114

Where a Deſcent of the Right of the Land without the Poſſeſſion ſhall not work a Remitter, 246

What ſhall work a Remitter, 543

Rent.

Where the Grantee of a Rent-Charge may avow or have a Writ of Annuity, 13

Where a Rent reſerved out of the particular Eſtate and the Remainder ſhall charge the Remainder, 32

On what Day, and Time of the Day, the Leſſor ſhall demand the Rent, or the Leſſee tender it, where it is reſerved payable at certain Feaſts, with Condition of Re-entry if it be behind for ſo many Days after Day of Payment, 70. 172, 173

Where a Rent is reſerved payable at H. a Place out of the Land, and if it be behind by 40 Days, then &c. it ſhall be paid at H. the laſt of the 40 Days, as well as it ſhould the firſt Day on which it was due, 70

Where the Leſſor is bound to demand the Rent, and where not, 70, 71

Where in Aſſize for Rent the Land ſhall be put in View, 71

Where, if the Land be recovered upon eigne Title, the Perſon of the Leſſee ſhall be diſcharged of the Rent, 71. 134

A Rent payable out of the Land cannot properly be called a Rent, but a Sum in groſs, 71

Where a Denial of a Rent-ſeck ſhall be a Diſſeizin of it, and where not, ibid.

Where the Leſſee ſhall not be a Treſpaſſer by coming upon the Land of a Stranger to pay the Rent, ibid.

How Title muſt be made to a Rent granted de novo out of Land, 89

Where Seizin of Rent ſhall be alledged, 94

Where a Rent at one and the ſame Time may be in eſſe, and not determined, and at one and the ſame Time may be in eſſe, and determined, 108

Whether a Covenant and Grant by Indenture by the Leſſee to pay annually a certain Rent for the Tenements leaſed, ſhall amount to a good Rent, 131, 132. 134. 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141

How many Sorts of Rents there are, 132

A Rent cannot be but where it iſſues out of Land, 132 139

Every Rent-Service ought to be reſerved by the Donor or Leſſor, and by apt Words for the ſame, 132. 139

What Rent ſhall not be annexed to the Reverſion, nor deſcend with the Reverſion, 132

Rent and Farm are all one in Effect, ibid.

Whether a Rent granted for the Land, and executory for the Land, ſhall be adjudged to iſſue out of it, 134. 137

A Rent granted for Equality of Partition may be in Fee Simple without the Word (Heirs), 134

Where the calling of a Sum in groſs, a Rent, ſhall be of the ſame Effect as if it was called a Sum in groſs, and where not, 135. 138, 141, 142

What is neceſſary to ſupport an Action of Debt for Rent reſerved by the Words, tenendo, reddendo, ſolvendo, &c. 138

Where a Grant to diſtrain ſhall amount to a Grant of a Rent, 139

Where a Rent may be granted at a Day to come, as after the Death of J. S. and where not, 152. 155, 156. 197

Where a Rent for a Time may be in eſſe, and for a Time not in eſſe, and where not, 156

Where a Rent-Charge granted out of the Land ſhall charge the Reverſion, 157

A Rent granted out of the Land by him in Reverſion ſhall be good, 161

At what Place Rent ſhall be demanded to enter for a Condition broken upon a Leaſe of a Houſe and Land together, 169

Leſſor is not bound to demand the Rent before the Leſſee is bound to pay it, 172

Where the Leſſor is bound to demand the Rent, in order to take Advantage of a Condition of Re-entry, 173

Where Leſſee is bound to pay the Rent a convenient Time before Sun ſet, ibid.

If Termor grants a Rent-Charge, and after ſurrenders, yet the Rent ſhall be paid during the Term, and as to the Grantee, the Term ſhall be ſaid to have Continuance, 198

If he in Reverſion grants a Rent to commence after the Term ended, and the Leſſee ſurrenders, the Rent ſhall be paid preſently, and as to the Grantee, the Term ſhall be ſaid to be determined, ibid.

Where Rent is reſerved payable at the End of the Term, upon a Leaſe for Years from the D y of St. Michael, on what Day it ſhall be paid, 271. 272

Repleader.

Repleader after Demurrer, 138. 179

If the Bar is naught, and a Replication is made to it, and a Demurrer is upon the Replication, or if the Replication is bad, and a Rejoinder is made to it, and a Demurrer is upon the Rejoinder, the Judgment ought to be that the Parties ſhall replead, 179

Replevin.

The particular Place, where the taking was, muſt be aſſigned in the Count, as well as the Town, 269

Full Defence in Replevin, ibid.

Where Cognizance in Replevin ſhall be good to a common Intent, 431

Replication.

Where Replications ought to be certain, and why, 56. 84

Difference between Pleas in Bar and Replications, as to Certainty, 56

Every Replication ought to be directly contrary to the Bar, and ought to traverſe, or elſe confeſs and avoid it, ibid.

Where Replications ſhall be taken moſt ſtrongly againſt him that pleads them, 103, 104

Where a Replication, which anſwers the Bar argumentatively, is not good, 104

Where the Replication ſhall be good without a Traverſe to a Matter alledged in the Bar, 232

THE TABLE.

Reſceipt.

Where a Feme-Covert being received may pray in Aid or vouch, 13

Where he in Reverſion is received upon Default of Tenant for Life, he ſhall ſhew ſpecially how he came to the Reverſion, but the Cauſe ſhewn is not traverſable, 43. 52. 56

Where he in Remainder ſhall be received, 53

Where Receipt ſhall be had for feint defending, as well as for feint pleading, ibid.

What is the Form of Entry for him that prays to be received upon Default of Tenant for Life, 158

The King ſhall not be received upon Default of his Tenant for Life, and why, 241

Reſervation.

Where a Reſervation ſhall be good, though in it's Creation incertain, if it may be reduced to Certainty by Circumſtances, 6. 17

A Reſervation of Rent during the Term ſhall be intended during the whole Term, 30

Whether a Covenant and Grant by Indenture by the Leſſee, to pay annually a certain Rent for the Tenements leaſed, ſhall amount to a good Reſervation of Rent, 131 132. 134. 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141

Where Words of Covenant and Grant ſhall enure as Words of Reſervation, et vice verſa, 134

The Aſſent of the Parties the moſt eſſential Thing to make a good Reſervation of Rent, and it is not ſo material who ſpeaks the Words, 137, 138

What is neceſſary to ſupport an Action of Debt for Rent reſerved by the Words, tenendo, reddendo, ſolvendo, &c. 138

What is the Effect of a Reſervation of Rent upon a Term for Years, 140

Reſervation of Profits void, 153

Where the Donor reſerves the three firſt Years a Roſe, and afterwards 20*s.* this is but one Reſervation, and not ſeveral, 154

A Man cannot reſerve to himſelf a leſſer Eſtate than he had before, 155. 197

If a Man grants all his Fiſhery from ſuch a Place to ſuch a Place, reſerving Stagnum molendini, what it is that ſhall be ſaved, 161

Where Rent is reſerved payable at two Days yearly, and the Day laſt named comes firſt, how it ſhall be paid, 171

How Reſervations ſhall be conſtrued and taken, ibid.

Two Tenants in common make a Leaſe, reſerving 20*s.* Rent, how it ſhall enure, ibid.

Where Rent is reſerved generally, or to the Leſſor only, to whom it ſhall extend, ibid.

Where Rent may be reſerved to a Stranger, 243

Return of Writs. See Sheriff.

Reverſion.

Where a Remainder limited to one ſhall enure as a Grant of the Reverſion, 33

Where he in Reverſion is received upon Default of Tenant for Life, he ſhall ſhew ſpecially how he came to the Reverſion, but the Cauſe ſhewn is not traverſable, 43. 52

Where a Thing in Reverſion may be parcel of, or appendant to, a Thing in Poſſeſſion, but not vice verſa, 103, 104

Where a Reverſion ſhall enure as a Remainder, et è contra, 134. 141. 157. 170, 171

What a Reverſion is, it's ſeveral Senſes, of what it conſiſts, and from whence derived, 151. 153. 157, 158. 160 196

How diſtinguiſhed from the Poſſeſſion, 151

No Reverſion but where there is a particular Eſtate in Poſſeſſion, ibid.

If the Poſſeſſion and Reverſion become united, the Reverſion is deſtroyed, 151. 163. 196

The Subſtance of both the Poſſeſſion and Reverſion is the Thing of which they conſiſt, 151. 153

How Land in Poſſeſſion may paſs by a Grant of the Reverſion, 151. 196

A Reverſion comprehended in the Word (Tenements), 153. 155

A Reverſion ceaſes to be ſuch, upon the Determination of the particular Eſtate, 153. 155. 197

A Reverſion cannot be granted to take Effect at a Day to come, 153. 155. 197. 483

Where by a Grant of the Reverſion the Land itſelf ſhall paſs, 147. 153, 154. 159, 160, 161, 162. 197, 198

Where by a Grant of Land, a Reverſion ſhall paſs, 154, 155. 161, 162. 422. 433

The Difference between a Reverſion and a Remainder, 154

A Reverſion cannot veſt in a Stranger as a Reverſion when the Land is become in Poſſeſſion, after the particular Eſtate ended, 153. 155

Where the Land itſelf is compriſed in the Nature of a Reverſion, and it is not the Attornment that makes the Land to paſs, 157. 196

Where a Rent-Charge granted out of the Land ſhall charge the Reverſion, 157

By a Recovery of the Land againſt Tenant for Life the Reverſion ſhall be deveſted, ibid.

Where a Fine is levied of a Reverſion of Land, the Writ of Covenant ſpeaks of the Land itſelf, ibid.

What is the uſual Form of the Concord of a Fine by which a Reverſion of Land is granted, ibid. 159

What is the Form of a Quid juris clamat brought by the Conuſee of a Reverſion of Land by Fine, 157

Where the Reverſion of Tenant for Life is granted in Tail, in a Formedon by the Iſſue the Writ ſpeaks of the Land itſelf, ibid. 159

Where one ſhall have the Land in Poſſeſſion preſently by a Grant of the Reverſion, 157

Where the Reverſion of Land is taken for the Land itſelf reverting after the particular Eſtate ended, 158, 159, 160

Wherein a Reverſion and Remainder reſemble each other, 159

Where the Reverſion of Tenant for Life is granted in Tail, what Formedon the Grantee ſhall have, ibid.

One cannot properly be Farmer of a Reverſion, nor does an Ejectione firmæ lie of a Reverſion, ibid.

Where he in Reverſion may be ſaid to be ſeized in his Demeſn as of Fee, and where not, 191

If Termor for Years is ouſted, he in Reverſion may have Aſſize, ibid.

A Reverſion cannot properly be ſaid to be in Demeſn, ibid.

Where Land may revert to one, and yet he to whom it reverts has no Reverſion therein, 247

What it is that makes a Reverſion, 423

Right.

Writ of Right in London not taken away by the Statute de donis, 59

To whom a Writ of Right ſhall be directed where Land is holden of a Manor, 74

In a Writ of Right the Lord's Court ſhall not be taken away, until his Aſſent is firſt certified, 74, 76, 208

If the Poſſeſſion of Land comes to him that has a Right to it, the Right is extinct or ſuſpended, 88

Where a Writ of Right againſt a Tenant of a Manor, for Land holden of the Manor, ſhall not be maintained in the Court of the Manor, 104

Where Battle ſhall not be waged in a Writ of Right, 306

Where a Writ of Right de rationabili parte lies between Brothers and Siſters, ibid.

Where a Recovery by Writ of Right was a peremptory Bar by the Common Law, if Claim was not made within a Year and a Day, and where not, 357

Where Proclamations are made in a Writ of Right before Judgment, 357, 358

Right, how defined, 484

What may be comprehended under the Word (Right), 487, 488

How many Sorts of Rights there are, 487

Where a Writ of Right of Advowſon ſhall lie, and where not, and where an Action of Treſpaſs or Aſſize, 500, 501

Writ of Right of Advowſon not maintainable before Induction of the Clerk, 528

In whom Eſplees ſhall be alledged in a Writ of Right of Advowſon, ibid.

No Right but where Wrong was done before, 554

THE TABLE.

Sanctuary.

IF he that takes Sanctuary goes out, any one may take him, 37

Scire facias.

Scire facias to execute a Remainder lies againſt a Pernor of Profits, 59

Not maintenable for the Arrears of a Rent-Service or other Rent iſſuing out of Land, which is executed, 137

Scotland.

Where one who is there ſhall be ſaid to be out of the Realm, 368. 376

Se defendendo. See Homicide.

Seizin.

Where Seizin of Rent ſhall be alledged, 94

How Seizin in Fee in a Corporation ſhall be pleaded, and where it is neceſſary to ſhew in what Capacity the Seizin is, and where not, 102, 103

Where not neceſſary at all to alledge Seizin in a Corporation, 193

Where an Aſſize of Novel Diſſeizin lies for Rent without Seizin, ibid.

Serjeanty.

Tenure of the King to find a Man to War within the four Seas, Grand-Serjeanty, 321

Sheriff.

Where a falſe Return of the Writ ſhall make the Sheriff a Treſpaſſer ab initio, 16

The Power of a Sheriff does not extend beyond his County, 37

Where, and to what Purpoſes, there may be in Judgment of Law two Sheriffs in the ſame County, ibid.

Where a Sheriff may juſtify taking a Priſoner in another County upon freſh Suit within the View, ibid.

Where Bonds made to the Sheriff are void by the Statute of 23 H. 6. cap. 10, 62

The Day appointed for the Return of a Writ is always a Day to come, and not a Day paſſed, 63

The Name and Surname of the Sheriff is always put to the Return of a Writ, but the Writ is directed generally to the Sheriff of ſuch a County, without naming his Name, ibid.

Where a ſimple Obligation made to the Sheriff is void, 64. 67

Where an Obligation made to the Sheriff containing in the Condition what is required by the Statute, and alſo other Matter, ſhall be void, 64. 67

The Shifts and Practices made Uſe of at the Common Law by Sheriffs in letting thoſe who were not bailable go at large, 67

Where an Obligation taken by the Sheriff colore officii ſhall be void, and where it ſhall be ſaid to be ſo taken, 68

Obligation taken by the Sheriff of the Priſoner for Meat and Drink ſhall be void, ibid.

The Power of the Sheriff to take Obligations of Priſoners very narrow and confined, ibid.

Where an Obligation made to another than to the Sheriff, upon the Condition expreſſed in the Statute ſhall be void, ibid.

Where an Obligation to the Sheriff ſhall be ſaid to be made in other Form than the Statute limits, ibid. 96

Where one Suerty taken by the Sheriff ſhall not be ſufficient, 69

The Sheriff is the Officer to all the Courts to execute Writs, 74

The Law preſumes the Sheriff to be indifferent between Party and Party, ibid.

Where the Sheriff ſhall be Judge of a Matter contained in the Writ, ibid.

Before the Return of an original Writ the Defendant has no Day in Court, ibid.

Where the Array ſhall be quaſhed, if the Writ is directed to the Sheriff himſelf, ibid.

The Sheriff is only the King's Miniſter, and has no Profit, but only an Allowance for his Labour, and therefore if the King appoints another to execute a Writ, no Wrong is done thereby to the Sheriff, 76

Not puniſhable as a Treſpaſſer for entering into Land to execute the Proceſs of the Law, tho' the Parties to the Suit are mere Strangers to the Land, and never had any Thing in it, [13]

Non-Tenancy not a good Return to Writs of Seizin or Summons, [ibid.]

Socage.

For Matters touching Guardian in Socage, ſee Guardian.

Spoliation.

Does not lie before Induction, 528

Statutes.

Concerning Statutes in general.

Where penal Statutes ſhall be taken liberally according to the Intention of the Makers, 10. 86

Where the Words of Statutes, which are made for the Benefit and Advancement of the King, ſhall be conſtrued in ſuch Senſe as is moſt beneficial for the King, 10

Where Statutes ſhall be conſtrued according to the Reaſon of the Common Law, 10. 363. 365

A Principle in the Law that penal Statutes ſhall be taken ſtrictly, and not extended by Equity to the Prejudice of thoſe upon whom the Penalty is inflicted, but ſhall be taken favourably for them, 17. 46, 47. 86

Where the general Words of penal Statutes ſhall be reſtrained and abridged in Favour of him upon whom the Penalty is inflicted, but not to his Prejudice, 17

Where the Intent of a Statute may be collected from the Practice and Uſage of former Times, 18

Where penal Statutes ſhall be extended by Equity, when the equitable Conſtruction is more beneficial than prejudicial to the greater Number of People, 36

No ſure Ground that penal Statutes ſhall not be taken by Equity, 46. 468

Where general Statutes need not be pleaded certainly, 53. 81. 84

The Intention of the Makers of a Statute a good Rule and Guide in the Conſtruction of it, 53. 57. 205. 231. 464

Where Statutes, which are made in Reſtraint of a Liberty allowed by the Common Law to the Prejudice of others ſhall be extended by Equity, 53, 54

Every Subject of the Realm is Party and Privy to an Act of Parliament, 59. 396

Where an Act of Parliament will not do Prejudice to any, 59

Where Statutes, which tend to the Suppreſſion of Covin and Deceit, and to the Advancement of Right and Truth, ſhall be extended by Equity, ibid.

Every Statute which is extended by Equity reſtrains ſome Body, and is penal to ſome Body, ibid.

Statutes are made to remedy common Miſchiefs, and not thoſe which ſeldom happen, 63. 173 306

Where an Act may be called particular in a Generality, 65

Where the Court is bound to take Notice of Statutes, without their being pleaded or recited, and where not, 65. 81. 83, 84. 231

Where a Statute pleaded inter alia is good, 85

Where Statutes ſpeaking in the plural Number ſhall not be ſatisfied by the ſingular, 69

Where the Miſrecital of a Statute, tho' not neceſſary to be recited, ſhall abate the Count, 79

The Aſſent of how many is neceſſary to conſtitute an Act of Parliament, ibid.

At what Time the King's Aſſent is moſt commonly given to an Act of Parliament, and until his Aſſent it is like an Iſſue in Ventre ſa mere, ibid.

Where a Statute ſhall have Relation to the firſt Day of the Parliament, and where to the firſt Day of the Seſſion, ibid.

It is never to be intended that Words are put in Statutes in vain, 80

THE TABLE.

The Life of a Statute does not conſiſt in the Words, but in the Senſe and Meaning of it, 82. 363. 465

To whom the Conſtruction of Statutes belongs, 82

Where penal Statutes may be taken by Equity, if it appears that the Intent of the Legiſlature was ſuch, ibid.

Where penal Statutes, ſpeaking in the plural Number, ſhall comprehend Caſes in the ſingular Number, 86

Where Things which are allowed by Law and Reaſon ſhall be out of the Penalty of Statutes, notwithſtanding the Words thereof, 88

Where a Statute gives Land to the King his Heirs and Succeſſors, he ſhall be ſaid to be ſeized thereof in Right of his Crown, 105

Where the Words of Statutes ſhall be conſtrued quite contrary to the Text, and Things be taken by Equity contrary to the Text, in order to make the Words agree with Reaſon and Equity, 109, 110. 204, 205

Where affirmative Statutes cannot alter the Common Law, nor reſtrain that which the Common Law ſuffers, 112, 113

Where Statutes in the Affirmative, being introductory of a new Law, imply in themſelves a Negative, 113. 206, 207

Where penal Statutes ſhall not be extended beyond the expreſs Words, 124

Where the general Words of a Statute ſhall extend to another Thing newly made by the ſame Statute, ibid.

Where Statutes made touching a certain Thing ſhall extend to another Thing in like Degree made at the ſame Parliament, or at a Parliament long after, 127

Where Statutes naming the King ſhall be conſtrued to include his Heirs and Succeſſors, 176, 177. 458

Where Statutes, which tend to take away a Thing from another, ſhall be taken ſtrictly, 177, 178

Where penal Statutes ſhall be extended by Equity to other Things, Places, and Perſons, in order to aid Caſes which are in equal Miſchief, 178

Where Statutes, which are made to relieve People from Trouble, and to remedy Miſchiefs, ſhall be extended by Equity, ibid.

The Style of an Act is a Means to find out the general Scope and Intent of it, 203

Where the Implication and Intent of an Act ſhall be equivalent to expreſs Words in it, 204. 248

Where the general Words of Statutes ſhall receive a particular Interpretation, when the Intent of the Makers is particular, 204, 205

By what Means the Intent of the Makers of an Act of Parliament may chiefly be collected and diſcovered, 205

Where an Act prohibits the doing of a Thing, and afterwards a Penalty is given by another Act, he who ſues for the Forfeiture ſhall recite both the Acts, 206

Where the Place, Order, and Form of Suits appointed by Statutes ſhall not be varied from, 206. 393

Where affirmative Statutes, which appoint a Thing to be done in a particular Form, imply in themſelves a Negative, 206, 207

Where the affirmative Words of Statutes ſhall not take away the Juriſdiction of a Court, 207

Where the Words of a Statute ſhall never receive ſuch Conſtruction as tends to confound the Order, Uſage, and Juriſdiction of Courts, 208

Where a Statute gives a Penalty to be recovered in any of the King's Courts of Record by Bill, Plaint, or Action of Debt, how thoſe Words ſhall be conſtrued and expounded, ibid.

Statutes made concerning the King and Queen are general Statutes, which concern the whole Realm, and therefore the Court is bound to take Notice of them without being pleaded, 231

Where Statutes made for the Safety of Inheritances, or for the public good, ſhall be conſtrued to include the King, altho' he is not named, 236

Where the general Words of Statutes of Reſtraint ſhall not bind the King, unleſs he is ſpecially named, 236. 239. 240. 244

The King is favoured in all Expoſitions of Statutes, 239

Where Statutes, which take away the Liberty of all Men, ſhall not take away an Intereſt or Liberty which the King has at the Common Law, unleſs he is ſpecially named, 240

In the Conſtruction of Statutes nothing ſhall be taken by Equity againſt the King, 244

Where Statutes, which reſtrain all Men generally from doing Wrong, ſhall alſo reſtrain the King, 248

That which is excepted out of an Act is out of the Proviſion of the Act, and is as fully exempted out of the Act as if the Act had never been made, 361

Where the Intent of a Clauſe in an Act may be collected from other Branches or Clauſes therein, when the expreſs Letter fails, 362. 365

Every Statute conſiſts of two Parts, viz. the Words, and the Senſe, 363. 465

Where the Letter of a Statute ſhall receive ſuch Conſtruction as avoids all Rigour and Miſchief, and ſtands with Equity and good Reaſon, 363, 364

Where the Violence of the Letter of a Statute ſhall be mitigated and ſoftened by Diſcretion, 364

Where Things, which are within the Intent of a Statute, ſhall be comprehended in the Purview of it, altho' they are not within the Letter, 366. 467

Where Statutes ſhall be conſtrued in a benign Senſe, in order to ſoften the Rigour of the Text, 366

The Preamble of an Act is a Key to open the Minds of the Makers of it, 369

That is the moſt reaſonable Law which provides for the Majority of People, tho' ſome Individuals ſuffer by it, 369. 371

Where all Men are limited by Statutes to a certain Time, no Time ſhall be gained by Expoſition or Equity beyond the expreſs Words, 371

No ſuch Expoſition of a Statute ought to be made as deſtroys the Text itſelf, 396

Where a Statute of Confirmation ſhall give Force and Effect to the Thing to which it refers, and where not, 398, 399

Where Statutes ſhall be conſtrued according to the Intent and Meaning, rather than according to the Words, 464

Where the general Words of a Statute ſhall be abridged and corrected by Equity, 465, 466

Where Things, which are within the Letter of a Statute, ſhall be out of the Purview of it, 465, 466

No Law-Maker can foreſee every Thing which may happen, 466

Where Things which are in like Degree ſhall be taken by Equity within the Intent and Purview of an Act, 467

How to form a right Judgment when the Letter of a Statute is reſtrained or enlarged by Equity, ibid.

Where it is not neceſſary to have a Saving of the Rights of Strangers in an Act which creates a Forfeiture of Lands, 487

Where the Words of Statutes ſhall be conſtrued ſo as to do no Wrong or Injury to Strangers, ibid.

Where a Saving of the Leaſes of Strangers in an Act of Attainder ſhall not extend to ſuch Leaſes as are derived out of an Eſtate determined, 565

Where Savings or Proviſos in Statutes may be called flattering Proviſos, ibid.

Where a Saving in an Act, which is repugnant to the Body of the Act, ſhall be void, ibid.

Statuta Edit. Temp. Hen. 3,

Magna Charta, 9 Hen. 3. cap. 3. what was the Common Law before this Statute, 268

——— cap. 8. extends only to the King, and not to common Perſons, and repealed by the Statute of 33 Hen. 8. cap. 39. 439, 440

——— cap. 10. does not extend to give Remedy againſt the King for Incroachment, becauſe he is not named, 244

Ne injuſte vexes founded hereupon, ibid.

——— cap. 11. does not bind the King, 236. 240. 244

——— cap. 12. by Equity hereof the Judges may adjourn Aſſizes before themſelves at Weſtminſter, 178

——— cap. 21. before this Statute the King by his Prerogative might take Trees out of the Woods of others for the Repairs of his Caſtles, 322

——— cap. 34. where the Court ought ex officio to abate an Appeal brought by a Woman contrary to this Statute, although the Defendant has admitted it to be good, 66. 85

Charta Foreſtæ, 9 Hen. 3. cap. 1. before this Statute the King might afforeſt the Woods of others, and thereby the Subject was reſtrained from cutting down his own Woods without Licence, 322

Merton, 20 Hen. 3. cap. 2. explanatory of the Common Law, 127

— cap.

——— cap. 3. of Rediſſeizin, where the Writ ſhall abate if the Sheriff only takes one Coroner with him, 393
——— cap. 5. binds the King, though not named, 236
——— cap. 6. does not extend to Infants who are Raviſhers, 364
——— cap. 10. thereby one may make his Attorney to do his Suit in the King's Court, 236
Marlbridge, 52 Hen. 3. cap. 4. does not extend to prohibit Diſtreſſes from being driven out of the County where they are taken, when the Seigniory and Tenancy are in different Counties, 9. 18. 204
——— cap. 6. The King cannot have Benefit of Colluſion found generally hereupon, without the ſpecial Cauſe thereof, 49
Extended by Equity to a Leaſe for Life or a Gift in Tail to the Iſſue, 53
Extended by Equity to a Feoffment made to the ſecond Son, the firſt being dead, and alſo to a Fine, 59
Extended by Equity to a Feoffment made to the collateral Heir, 82
——— cap. 9. does not extend to Land held of the King, in which Caſe all the Copartners ſhall do the Suit, and not the eldeſt only, 240

Statuta Edit. temp. Ed. I.

Weſtminſter 1. 3 Ed. 1. cap. 4. of Wreck, where a Sale by the Sheriff of periſhable Goods within the Year ſhall not be within the Penalty of the Statute, 466
——— cap. 20. de malefactoribus in parcis, extends to no other Treſpaſs in a Park beſides Hunting, 88
Does not extend malefactoribus in foreſtis, 124
——— cap. 25. of Maintenance, includes a Leaſe for Years, 80
——— cap. 28. of Maintenance, the Writ and Count hereupon ſhall be general, 51
——— cap. 39. of Counterplea of Voucher, where one may counterplead without reciting this Statute, 81
By Equity hereof it is a good Counterplea to ſay that his Predeceſſor was the firſt that abated, 178
Glouceſter, 6 Ed. 1. cap. 1. expounded, that upon a Feoffment to divers Perſons, the Survivor not agreeing to the Feoffment ſhall be excuſed of Damages in a Writ of Entry, 204
——— cap. 3. Expoſition of the Words (whereof no Fine is levied in the King's Court), 57, 82
Where taken by Equity, that the Tenant ſhall have a Scire facias to have the Aſſets, and not the Land entailed, 110
By Equity hereof a lineal Warranty is no Bar to the Iſſue in Tail without Aſſets, 127. 178
——— cap. 4. Expoſition of the Word (Farm) 132
——— cap. 5. by Equity hereof Waſt lies againſt him who holds ex legatione, 10
By Equity hereof Waſt lies againſt him who holds but for a Year, or for half a Year, or for twenty Weeks, 178. 467
——— cap. 11. How Tenant for Years being received hereby to defend his Term ſhall take Benefit of Covin, 48. 55
De religioſis, 7 Ed. 1. how the Lord ſhall entitle himſelf in Pleading by Entry for Mortmain, 43
Does not extend to a Recovery by feint Title, ibid.
A Leaſe for Years not within the Danger hereof, 87
Does not extend to prohibit religious Men from taking Lands of the King, 240
Of Rutland, 10 Ed. 1. no Statute, but an Ordinance, 208, 209
Action Burnel, 11 Ed. 1. By Equity hereof the Lands of the Conuſor of a Statute-merchant being extended too high ſhall be delivered to the Extenders at the Rate they ſet upon them, 82. 127. 205
Expoſition of the Words (ſhall preſently anſwer), 205
Weſtminſter 2, 13 Ed. 1. cap. 1. Extends to reſtrain the Iſſue in Tail from Alienation as well as the immediate Donee, 13. 178. vide 244
Extended by Equity to other Eſtates not ſpecified in the Statute, and what thoſe Eſtates are, 53. 244. 248. 251
How far a Fine levied of Lands in Tail is void by this Statute, and how far not, 57. 82. 137. 235
Speaks of the Reverſion of Land as of the Land itſelf reverting, 160
The King is bound hereby as well as a common Perſon, 227. 236, 237, 238. 248, 249. 251, 252
What was the Common Law before this Statute, and the Miſchiefs which it was made to redreſs, and how general the Proviſion of it was intended to be, 235, 236. 241, 242. 245. 247. 250
Reſtrictive in three Points, and what they are, 242. 244
Expoſition of the Words (to Gifts made before), 246
What are the Words in the Act which redreſs the whole Grievance at the Common Law, and what Words therein are only conſequential and explanatory, and not of Subſtance, 247. 250, 251
What Alteration is made in the Eſtate and Power of the Donee in Tail by this Act, 251
Hereby every Thing that is contrary to the Will of the Donor is reformed, and every Thing that is his Will is made a Law, ibid.
This Statute is made for the Furtherance of Reſtitutions, ibid. 252
What Things may be intailed within the Equity of this Statute, and what not, [2, 3].
——— cap. 2. the Writ of Deliverance cannot be ſued out of any other Court than that which is limited by the Statute, 206
——— cap. 3. Where a Feme-Covert being received hereby may pray in Aid or vouch, 13
He in Reverſion being received hereby upon Default of Tenant for Life ſhall ſhew ſpecially how he came to the Reverſion, 43
He in Remainder ſhall be received by Equity hereof, 53
Where the Wife might enter at the Common Law, and where ſhe was driven to her Writ of Right, 57
Cui ante divortium lies by the Equity hereof, 58, 50. 178
Does not extend to give Receipt to the King, 241. 553
——— cap. 4. Where a Woman ſhould have Dower at the Common Law, in Caſe of a Recovery againſt her Huſband in a real Action, and where not, 49
Where the Demandant ſhall not vouch, if the former Action was ſuch wherein he might not vouch, 113. 206
——— cap. 5. does not give Remedy to a Feme-Covert who has an Advowſon by Purchaſe, 58
It calls the Reverſion of an Advowſon the Advowſon itſelf returning, 158
Wherein it binds the King, though not named, 236
Advowſons by Purchaſe not within the Remedy or Purview of the Act, ibid.
Plenarty not pleadable hereby againſt the King, though he does not purſue the Quare impedit within ten Months, 244
——— cap. 11. Accountants found in Arrears before Auditors to be committed to Priſon immediately or never, 17
If Debt lies hereby againſt a Goaler for the Eſcape of one in Execution, 37
If extended by Equity to a Bill of Debt, 38
Extended to ſupport an Action againſt a Goaler for the Eſcape of one who was commited upon Condemnation for Debt, 178
Accountants found in Arrears to be ſent to the next Goal, though it be in another County, 206
Does not extend to puniſh an Infant Bailiff or Receiver who is found in Arrears before Auditors, 364
Accountant found in Arrears before one Auditor only cannot be committed to Goal, 393
——— cap. 12. Does not extend to the Heir who abetts his Mother to bring an Appeal, 88. 304
Extends to an Appeal of Rape, 124
——— cap. 16. does not extend to reſtrain the King, but he ſhall have the Wardſhip, though the Anceſtor held of him by Poſteriority, 240
——— cap. 18. of Elegit, extended by Equity to an Elegit of the Moiety of Rent, 178
——— cap. 19. who had the Diſpoſal of Inteſtate's Goods before this Statute, 277. 280
The Ordinary was not chargeable for the Debts of Inteſtates before this Statute, 277

THE TABLE.

Expoſition of the Words (bounden to ſome other for Debt), and what Debts of Inteſtates are comprehended therein, ibid.

By Equity hereof Debt lay againſt Adminiſtrators before the Statute of 31 Ed. 3. cap. 11. 278. 280

——— cap. 20. of Ceſſavit, if the Demandant in a Ceſſavit dies, the Heir ſhall not have a Ceſſavit thereby, 110

——— cap. 25. that Aſſizes are feſtinum remedium, 75

Does not extend to adjudge a Feme-Covert a Diſſeiſoreſs without taking the Aſſize, 205

Does not extend to impriſon an Infant, who vouches a Record and fails at the Day, 364

——— cap. 30. of finding the Verdict ſpecially, extended by Equity to other Caſes beſides Aſſizes, 92

——— cap. 40. where in a Cui in vita the Parol ſhall demur for the Nonage of the Heir of a Stranger, 17

Does not reſtrain the Feoffee of the Purchaſer from vouching, 46, 47

The King ſhall take Advantage hereof, though not named, 243

——— cap. 41. of Ceſſavit of a Chantery, 58

——— cap. 48. In what Caſes View ſhall be had in the ſecond Writ, notwithſtanding it was had in the firſt. 205

——— cap. 49. of Champerty, includes a Leaſe for Years, 80

Where Livery of Land after the Writ purchaſed purſuant to a Bargain made before the Writ brought ſhall not be within the Statute, 465

De circumſpecte agatis, 13 Ed. 1. extended by Equity to all other Biſhops, 36

Weſtminſter 3. 18 Ed. 1. cap. 2. Expoſition of the Words (ſecundum quantitatem terræ), and that they ſhall be intended ſecundum valorem terræ, 10. 82

Does not reſtrain the King, but he may have the whole Services of the Tenancy by the Hands of the Feoffee of Part, 240

What was the Common Law before this Statute, ibid.

De modo levandi fines, 18 Ed. 1. the Reading of a Clauſe therein corrected, 359

Articuli ſuper chartas, 28 Ed. 1. cap. 4. of Common Pleas in the Exchequer, 208

——— cap. 11. does not extend to a Feoffment made by the Tenant to his Son and Heir apparent, pending the Writ, 88. 304

Statuta Edit. temp. Ed. 2.

De Prærogativa regis, 17 Ed. 2. cap. 1. expounded that the King ſhall have the Wardſhip of Lands in Tail held by Knight's-ſervice in capite, 11

Is to be intended to give the King a Prerogative only where the Lands holden of him and the Lands holden of another deſcend to one and the ſame Heir, 204

——— cap. 2. declaratory of the Common Law, 240

——— cap. 3. does not extend to give the King Primer ſeizin, where his Tenant holds of him by Socage in Chief only, 109. 204

——— cap. 11. declarative of the Common Law, 315

Statuta Edit. temp. Ed. 3.

1 Ed. 3. Before this Statute the King ſhould have had in Fee the Land holden of him for an Alienation without Licence, 322

4 Ed. 3. cap. 7. of Treſpaſs de bonis aſportatis, extended by Equity to Adminiſtrators, 178

9 Ed. 3. cap. 3. by Equity hereof the Adminiſtrator who comes firſt by Diſtreſs ſhall anſwer, 36. 178. 467

14 Ed. 3. cap. ult. Stat. 1. of finding Sureties to bring Bullion, &c. for every Sack of Wool, &c. 10

25 Ed. 3. Stat. 3. cap. 7. by Equity hereof the Incumbent ſhall plead againſt all other Patrons beſides the King, 178

——— Stat. 4. cap. 3. of Cloths, 8

——— Stat. 5. cap 2. of Treaſon, where it ſhall not be conſtrued by Equity 86

——— cap. 5. Where it needs not be recited, 81

What was the Common Law before this Statute, as to Actions brought by Executors of Executors, 286, 287. 290

By Equity hereof Executors of Executors may have Actions of Covenant for a Covenant made to the firſt Teſtator, 290

——— cap. 16. of Abatement of Writs by Exception of Nontenure, expounded to extend only to Writs where the Things demanded are ſeveral, as Acres, but not where the Thing demanded is entire, as a Manor, 109. 205

31 Ed. 3. cap. 11. what was the Common Law before this Statute, 277, 278. 290

The Ordinary might commit Adminiſtration of the Goods of Inteſtates before this Act, 278. 280

Where the Ordinary may commit Adminiſtration within the Intent of the Act, although the Party does not die inteſtate, 279

——— cap. 12. of Error in the Exchequer, that it muſt be corrected before the Perſons limited in the Act, and no others, 206

34 Ed. 3. cap. 16. of Ouſter of Nonclaim, what was the Cauſe of making it, 359, 360

By Equity hereof Law of Nonclaim taken away in a Writ of Right, 360

The Validity and Reputation of Fines much impaired hereby, 360. 369

36 Ed. 3. cap. 15. that no Count ſhall abate for Want of Form, if it has Subſtance, 83

45 Ed. 3. cap. 3. What ſhall be intended great Wood within this Statute, ſo as to be excuſed from paying Tithe at the Age of twenty Years, and what not, 470

Declarative of the Common Law, ibid.

Statuta Edit. temp. Rich. 2.

1 R. 2. cap. 9. of Pernors of Profits, how far Ceſtuy que uſe is enabled hereby to loſe the Land of the Feoffees in a Præcipe brought againſt him, and how far not, [3]

——— cap. 12. of Debt upon Eſcape againſt the Warden of the Fleet, made in Affirmance of the Common Law, 36

Extended by Equity to all other Goalers, ibid.

If extended by Equity to a Bill of Debt, 38

Damages recoverable againſt the Warden by Equity, 82

5 R. 2. cap. 7. of Entry into Lands againſt Law, that the Writ and Count upon this Statute ſhall be general, without ſhewing any Cauſe why the Entry of the Defendant is not lawful, 51

An Entry into one Tenement only is within the Penalty of the Statute, 86

6 R. 2. cap. 6. of Conſent to a Raviſher, he who will take Benefit of Entry given hereby ſhall ſhew ſpecially how he is the Perſon intended by the Act, 42, 43

To whom the immediate Title of Entry is given, 45

If the Daughter enters as next of Blood for Conſent to the Raviſher, a Son born afterwards ſhall not ouſt her, 56

Does not extend to give an Entry to the next of Blood for the Conſent of a Feme Infant to a Raviſher, 364

9 R. 2. cap. 3. the King may take Advantage hereof, though not named herein, 243

13 R. 2. cap. 17. of general Averment of feint Pleading, 50, 55

Extended by Equity to Reſceipt for feint defending, 53

Statuta Edit. temp. Hen. 4.

4 Hen. 4. cap. 7. of Pernors of Profits, how far Ceſtuy que uſe is enabled hereby to loſe the Land of the Feoffees in a Præcipe brought againſt him, and how far not, [3]

——— cap. 8. Double Damages recovered for a Nuſance by Equity hereof, 467

7 Hen. 4. cap. 15. of the Manner of Election of Knights to Parliament, did not extend to a falſe Return of the Sheriff until the Statute of 11 Hen. 4. was made, 124

Statuta Edit. temp. Hen. 5.

1 Hen. 5. cap. 3. of Forger of falſe Deeds; the Diſtinction between an Inheritance and a Purchaſe, 47

If the Title only is diſturbed, it is within the Danger of the Statute, 54

Forging and publiſhing a falſe Deed of a Leaſe for Years not within the Danger of the Statute, 80

Forging one falſe Deed only is within the Penalty of the Statute, 86

Publiſhing only a falſe Deed is within the Penalty of the Statute, 88

THE TABLE.

It muſt be aver'd that the Party publiſhed the ſame to trouble the Poſſeſſion and Title of the Plaintiff, ibid.

——— cap. 5. of Additions, binds the King in Indictments, 236. 240

Statuta Edit. temp. Hen. 6.

8. Hen. 6. cap. 7. of the Qualifications of Knights to Parliament, extended to Wales ſince the Statute of 27 Hen. 8. by which Wales is united to England, 124

——— cap. 9. of forcible Entries, the Writ or Count hereupon ſhall be general, without ſhewing Title to the Land, 51

Where a Writ of forcible Entry brought upon both the Points of the Statute ſhall be good, 86

Does not extend to give treble Damages in a Writ of Entry in Nature of an Aſſize, 124

——— cap. 10. of Proceſs of Outlawry, expounded that the Outlawry ſhall be avoided by Writ of Error, if the Proceſs is miſawarded, 137

11 Hen. 6. cap. 3. of Pernors of Profits, does not extend to a Pernor of the Profits, who has only a Uſe for Years, the Freehold of the Uſe being in another, 87

How far Ceſtuy que uſe is enabled hereby to loſe the Land of the Feoffees in a Præcipe brought againſt him, and how far not, [3]

18 Hen. 6. cap. 1. of Letters-Patent, the Expoſition of the ſeveral Parts hereof, and what was the Miſchief at Common Law, which this Statute was made to redreſs, and what Caſes are within it, and what not, 231, 232. 491, 492

23 Hen. 6. cap. 10. of Sheriffs expounded, 63, 64, 67

Shall not be extended by Equity, being penal, 63

A ſimple Obligation taken by the Sheriff is void, 64. 67

Who are excepted out of it, 68

An Obligation taken of one at large is within the Statute as well as if it be taken of the Priſoner himſelf, 69

If a Leaſe by the Sheriff of a Hundred Parcel of his County is within the Intent of the Prohibition, 87. 124

Taking a Bar-fee by Cuſtom is not within the Penalty of this Statute, 465

——— cap. 15. of Knights to Parliament, in Debt hereupon againſt the Sheriff, the Statute not touched in the Writ, but in the Count, 118

Extends to Wales ſince the Statute of 27 Hen. 8. by which Wales is united to England, 120. 126, 127. 130

Statuta Edit. temp. Rich. 3.

1 R. 3. cap. 1. What Ceſtuy que uſe is enabled hereby to make a Feoffment, and what not, 348, 349, 350. [5]

Expoſition of the Words (having or claiming only), 350. [4, 5]

Where it does not enable Ceſtuy que uſe in Tail to bar the Eſtate Tail in Uſe by a Common Recovery, [4]

Expoſition of the Words (againſt), [4, 5]

Statuta Edit. temp. Hen. 7.

1 Hen. 7. cap. 1. By Equity hereof a Scire facias to execute a Remainder is maintainable againſt a Pernor of Profits, 59. 178

3 Hen. 7. cap. 1. of the Court of Star Chamber, who are Judges, and who only Aidants and Aſſiſtants by this Statute, and it is Error if the Chancellor, Treaſurer, &c. do not call to their Aſſiſtance the Perſons herein mentioned, 393

4 Hen. 7. cap. 17. by Equity hereof the Lord ſhall have the Ward, where Ceſtuy que uſe declares a Will in Tail, 53

What Prerogative of Wardſhip the King has in Lands in Uſe, 59

——— cap. 20. of a general Averment of Covin, 50

——— cap. 24. of Fines, what was the Deſign and Intention of making it, and wherein the Makers hereof have purſued the Reaſon of the ancient Common Law in Fines before the Statute which ouſted Nonclaim, 360. 365. 369

Wherein the Body of the Act conſiſts, and the Expoſition thereof, 360, 361

Expoſition of the Exception contained herein, and who ſhall be intended to be excepted thereby, 361, 362

Expoſition of the Words (having any Right or Title, &c.) and to what Time the Word (having) ſhall be referred, 362. 370

Who is a Privy, and who is a Stranger within this Act, 363

Expoſition of the Words (ſo that they and their Heirs purſue their Title, Claim, or Intereſt, by Way of Action or lawful Entry, within five Years after the Proclamations had or made), and who are the Heirs thereby intended to be bound to the Purſuit of the Right, 363. 365. 366

Expoſition of the Words (ſo that they and their Heirs take their Actions or lawful Entry within five Years next after they come and be of full Age, &c.) 365

Expoſition of the Words (that Infants and their Heirs ſhall take their Action or Entry within five Years next after they be of the full Age of twenty-one Years), and where the Heir of an Infant ſhall have five Years by the Intent of this Clauſe, tho' the Infant himſelf never came to the Age of twenty-one Years, 366

Expoſition of the Words (that Infants ſhall take their Action or lawful Entry within five Years after they come of full Age), and where an Infant ſhall be at Liberty to enter or bring his Action within twenty Years after his full Age, by the Intent of this Clauſe, ibid.

Where one in Ventre ſa mere ſhall be comprehended in the Intent of the Exception in the Act, which excepts all Perſons being within the Age of twenty one Years at the Time of the Fine levied, ibid.

Expoſition of the Words (that every Perſon within Age at the Time of the Fine levied and engroſſed, and by the Act before excepted, having any Right, &c. to the Lands, ſhall take their Actions &c. within five Years after they come of full Age), and where one who was an Infant at the Time of the engroſſing only, and not at the Time of the Fine levied, ſhall be bound to five Years after his full Age, ibid.

Where one who is an Infant at the Commencement of the five Years ſhall be comprehended in the Intent of the Exception in the Act, although he had no Right at the Time of the Fine levied, ibid.

Where one who becomes diſabled between the Fine levied and engroſſed and the laſt Proclamation, and ſo continues all the five Years, ſhall have five Years after his Diſability removed by the Intent of the Act, ibid.

Expoſition of the Words (ſaving to all other Perſons ſuch Right as ſhall firſt accrue, remain, deſcend, or come to them after the Proclamations made, by force of any Gift in Tail, or by any other Cauſe or Matter had or done before the Fine levied), and where the Eſtate or Right, being one or divers, and coming in other Manner, ſhall be comprehended within this Saving, and who ſhall be other Perſons within the Intent hereof, and how many Things he who would take Benefit hereof ought to prove, 367, 368. 372

Expoſition of the Words (out of the Realm), and where one ſhall be ſaid to be ſo, 368

Who ſhall be ſaid to be of unſound Mind, within the Exception of the Act, ibid.

Fines upon this Act compared to Janus otherwiſe Noah, 369

The Intention of this Act is not ſo much to preſerve former Rights, as to extinguiſh them, and to favour the new, ibid. 538

Againſt what Perſons the Purview of the Act was made, and againſt what not, 361. 370

Expoſition of the Words in the ſaving (to all Perſons, and their Heirs, &c,) and what Heirs are comprehended therein, 371

Wherein there was a Miſchief in the Words of this Act, which could not be ſupplied by Expoſition or Equity, until the Statute of 1 Mary cap. 7. ibid.

Wherein the Words of the Purview and Body of this Act differ from that of 1 R. 3. cap. 7. 372

Expoſition of the Words (ſhall firſt accrue, remain, deſcend, or come), and to whom the Right or Title ſhall be ſaid firſt to accrue &c. to give them Benefit of this Branch, 373, 374

Where this Act ſhall not be taken by Equity, 375

Where a Perſon lies under three or four of the Defects or Impediments mentioned in the Act, at what Time the five Years given him by the Statute for Purſuit of his Right ſhall commence, ibid.

Where a Perſon, whoſe Defects are once removed, ſhortly after falls into any of the Defects again, or dies, his Heir being within Age, the five Years ſo commenced ſhall proceed, and Nonclaim within them ſhall bind, ibid.

THE TABLE.

Where Perſons falling into Defects between the Fine levied and the laſt Proclamation ſhall not be bound to five Years next after the laſt Proclamation, ibid.

What Corporations ſhall be bound by a Fine and five Years Nonclaim, by Equity of this Statute, and what not, 375. 537, 538

11 Hen. 7. cap. 20. of Women's Jointures, and the Diſcontinuance thereof, expounded, 42. 44. 53. 58

He who will take Benefit of the Entry given hereby ſhall ſhew ſpecially how he is the Perſon intended by the Act, 42

To what Eſtates of Women the Penalty of the Statute extends, 44

What Eſtates in Jointure are not within the Words of the Statute (of the Inheritance or Purchaſe of the Huſband), ibid.

To whom the immediate Entry is given for the Forfeiture, 45. 48, 49, 50. 60

If it may be taken by Equity, being penal, 46

What Eſtates in Jointure are within the Words (claimed from any one ſeized to the Uſe of the Huſband), and what not, 47

What Recoveries are within the Danger of the Statute, and what not, 49, 50

Expoſition of the Words (the Woman ſhall be barred and excluded of her Title and Intereſt in the ſame Land), 49

It prohibits Covin in Recoveries upon good Title, as well as upon falſe or feigned Titles, 49, 50

What Acts Women are hereby reſtrained from doing, which they might have done at the Common Law, 50

Where the Daughter enters as Heir for the Forfeiture, for Default of a Son in rerum natura, if the Land ſhall be diveſted out of her by a Son born afterwards, 51. 56. 113

Where an Eſtate Tail, which a Woman has jointly with her Huſband in Uſe ariſing out of Land, which was once the Inheritance of the Huſband, ſhall be taken as a Jointure within the Intent of this Statute, 53. 58. 464

It ſhall be conſtrued moſt rigorouſly againſt the Woman, and moſt favourably for the Heir, 58. 464

Where a Covenant, in Conſideration of Marriage, to ſtand ſeized to the Uſe of one and his Wife for Life ſhall be conſtrued a Jointure to the Wife within this Statute, 307

Where a Diſcontinuance by a Woman of Land which originally moved from herſelf, and where the Jointure was made by her to her Huſband, and not by her Huſband to her, ſhall not be within the Intent and Meaning of this Statute, 463, 464

Statuta Edit. temp. Hen. 8.

7 Hen. 8. cap. 4. By Equity hereof Damages ſhall be recovered upon a Nonſuit in ſecond Deliverance, 82

26 Hen. 8. cap. 3. of Payment of firſt Fruits, 9

——— cap. 6. of Enquiry of Offences done in the County of Merioneth in Wales, before the Juſtices of the Counties of Carnarvon and Angleſey, expounded that the affirmative Words thereof do not take away the Inquiry of the Juſtice of the proper County where the Offence was committed, 207

——— cap. 13. Lands in Tail not forfeitable for Treaſon before this Statute, and what are the Words therein which make them forfeitable, 237. 559

27 Hen. 8. cap. 10. of Uſes, works no Remitter, 111. 114. 207

Though in the affirmative, it contains in itſelf a Negative, being introductory of a new Law, 113. 207

To what Rights, Titles, and Actions the Saving herein extends, 114

What was the Cauſe of making it, 302

Executes no Poſſeſſion to the Uſe but where there was a Uſe before, 301

Executes no Poſſeſſion to a Right of Uſe, but to a Uſe in eſſe, 351

——— cap. 16. of Inrollments, what was the Cauſe of making it, 302

Extends only to Bargains and Sales, and not to Covenants and Grants upon Conſideration. 307

Does not extend to hinder the Change of the Uſe or Poſſeſſion of Land without Inrollment, where the Uſe is not made only by reaſon of a Bargain and Sale, but of another Thing alſo, [4]

——— cap. 17. Of Servants imbezziling the Goods of their Maſters, that it is repealed by the Statute of 1 Edw. 6. cap. 12. notwithſtanding the Branch therein to the contrary, 399. 400

——— cap. 27. If, by the general Words which make Wales parcel of the Realm of England, Knights ſhould have come out of Wales to the Parliament of England, if it had not been expreſsly ordained ſo by the Statute, 123. 126. 127

Enables a Perſon born in Wales to take Benefit of the Statute of 23 Hen. 6. for not returning him a Knight of a Welch County to the Parliament of England, 120. 126, 127. 130

By the Words hereof all the Laws of England, as well Common as Statute Laws, ſhall take Place in Wales, 126

That the general Words, which annex Wales to England, ſhould not have made the Laws uſed before in England to extend to Wales, if there had not been an expreſs Proviſion to that Purpoſe, 129, 130

31 Hen. 8. cap. 13. Of Monaſteries expounded, 106, 107, 108, 109

Where the King ſhall be ſa'd to be ſeized of the Lands given to him by Force of this Statute in Right of his Crown, 105

How it ſhall be averred that the ſecond Leaſe made to one who has a former Leaſe in Being, is void by this Statute, ibid.

It ought to be ſhewn in Pleading that the ancient Rent was reſerved upon the ſecond Leaſe, 106

By the taking of a ſecond Leaſe within this Statute the firſt is ſurrendered, though the ſecond is void by the Statute, 106, 107

Where a Perſon, having a Leaſe for ſixty Years, takes a new Leaſe within a Year next before the making of the Statute, for fifty Years, to commence preſently, this ſecond Leaſe ſhall be good for twenty-one Years only, to be accounted from the Time of making it, 106

Expoſition of the Words (in which an Eſtate for Years, at the Time of making ſuch new Leaſe, then had it's Being or Continuance, and then was not determined, finiſhed, or expired,) 106. 108

Expoſition of the Words (ſo that the ſame Leaſe or Leaſes do not exceed twenty-one Years), 106, 107. 109

If one, have a Leaſe for ten Years, takes a new Leaſe, within a Year of the making of the Statute, for forty Years, to commence after the firſt Leaſe ended, the Leſſee ſhall hold the Land until twenty-one Years only, to be accounted from the Time of making the laſt Leaſe, 110

This Statute does not give any Monaſteries, nor Lands of Monaſteries, to the King, but only expreſſes in what Manner the King ſhall hold ſuch Lands of Monaſteries as were then come, or ſhould afterwards come, to his Hands, 193

Extends only to Lands of Monaſteries diſſolved, ſuppreſſed, &c. and therefore, if Seizin is pleaded in the King by Force thereof, the Party ought to ſhew that the Monaſtery itſelf came to the Hands of the King, 194

Though in the Affirmative it contains in itſelf a Negative, 207

Where by this Statute the King ſhall have the Poſſeſſions of a College void of Leaſes made by the College, before they came into his Hands, ibid.

32 Hen. 8. cap. 1. Of Wills, Expoſition of the Word (having), and the Force thereof, 344

No Will within this Statute but that which is in Writing, 345

——— cap. 2. Of Limitations, does not bind the King, 244

Wherein there was a Miſchief in the Words hereof, which remained unredreſſed until the Statute of 1 Mary cap. 5. 371

——— cap. 9. Of buying pretended Titles, expounded, 78. 80. 82. 89

How it ought to be taken Notice of in the Count, 79. 81. 84

If neceſſary to aver in the Count that it is a pretended Right of Title, 80, 81, 82, 83. 87. 88. 89

What Eſtate is not within the Danger of the Statute, though within the Words, 80, 81

Where the Plaintiff counts of a Leaſe for Years bargained contrary to the Statute, he needs not ſhew the Commencement and End of the Leaſe, 81. 85

Where a Leaſe for Years is within the Danger of the Statute, as well as a greater Eſtate, 81. 83. 87

For

For what uſeful Purpoſes this Statute was made, 82
Where a Right which is bargained ſhall be within the Danger of the Statute, whether it be pretenced, or not, 82, 83
A Right or Title in the ſingular Number is within the Statute, although it ſpeaks in the plural, 82. 86
Wherein this Statute differs from all other Statutes made concerning Maintainance and Champerty, 83
If the Eſtate bargained be for an Hour or for 100 Years, it is all one, 85
If the Words (bargained, granted, and demiſed to Farm), ſhall make the Declaration double, 86
Cannot be extended by Equity, being penal, ibid.
The whole Fee ſhall be forfeited for a Bargain of a Leaſe for Years contrary to the Statute, 87
Where a Leaſe for Years made by him who has not been in Poſſeſſion, nor received the Profits, for a Year, ſhall be out of the Penalty of the Statute, 87, 88
What is a pretended Right or Title, 88
Was made in Affirmance of the Common Law, and has only added to that which was contrary to the Common Law before, ibid.
What Bargains and Promiſes the Statute was intended to avoid, and what not, ibid.
Bargains and Promiſes made by him who is in Poſſeſſion, though he has not been in Poſſeſſion for a Day, or an Hour, are good, and out of the Danger of the Statute, 88, 89
Where a Feoffment or Leaſe, though made by one who has taken the Profits for a Year, is within the Danger of the Statute, 89
——— cap. 33. not extended by Equity to an Abator, 47
——— cap. 34. Of Conditions, and the Expoſition of the ſeveral Parts thereof, and what Perſons ſhall take Advantage of Conditions within this Statute, 34. 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178
——— cap. 37. Of Diſtreſs by Executors for the Arrears of Rent, and where Executors cannot diſtrain within this Statute, [4] 33 Hen. 8. cap. 20. Before this Statute Office was neceſſary in all Caſes to veſt the Lands of Perſons attainted in the King, 486
——— cap. 39. Of Erection of the Court of Surveyors, that the Branch therein concerning Extortions committed by Receivers extends only to the Receivers of the King, and not of common Perſons, 203
What Remedy the King had for his Debt before this Statute, 439
34 & 35 Hen. 8. cap. 13. Before this Statute, Knights or Burgeſſes had not Seats in Parliament for the County of Cheſter, 123
——— cap. 26. Of the Ordinance of Wales, expounded, and whether the affirmative Words thereof tend to take away the Juriſdiction of other Courts, or only to give the Juſtices there a concurrent Juriſdiction, 206, 207
35 Hen. 8. cap. . Of the Capacity of the Queen, a general Act, whereof the Court is bound to take Notice without its being pleaded, 231
37 Hen. 8. cap. 4. Of Commiſſioners to enter upon and ſuppreſs Colleges, Chantries, &c. did not extend to the Heirs and Succeſſors of the King, 177

Statuta Edit. temp. Ed. 6.

1 Ed. 6. cap. 8. Of Confirmation of Letters-Patent, 222
——— cap. 12. Of Clergy for ſtealing Horſes, the Scrupuloſity of the Judges diſcommended, who conſtrued this Act not to extend to him that ſtole one Horſe only, 467
——— cap. 13. Of Agreement for the Subſidy of Merchandize, 5
——— cap. 14. Parſonages and Vicarages not given to the King by the Intent and Meaning hereof, 466
7 Ed. 6. cap. 1. Of Extortions committed by Receivers, for the Payment of Fees and Penſions, and the Expoſition of the ſeveral Parts hereof, 203
In Count hereupon the Place ſhall be ſpecified where the Extortion was committed, 200
Where the Count hereupon ſhall be inſufficient, if it is not ſhewn whether the Defendant be Receiver to a common Perſon, or to the King, 202, 203
What Receivers are within the Purview and Penalty of this Statute, and what not, 203, 204. 206. 209
What was the Miſchief at the Common Law, which this Statute was made to redreſs, 203 205, 206
This Statute was made in Confirmation of a Branch of the Act of 33 Hen. 8. of Erection of the Court of Surveyors, 203
What Receivers might take Money for the Payment of Fees, Penſions, &c. before this Statute, and what not, 204
In the Count hereupon the Plaintiff ought to recite the Branch of the Act of 33 Hen. 8. upon which this Statute is grounded, 206
If the Penalty given by this Statute may be ſued for elſewhere than in Wales, 206, 207
If it may be ſued for by original Writ of Debt in the Exchequer, without Surmiſe by the Plaintiff that he is priviledged there, 207, 208, 209
——— cap. 3. Of Confirmation of Letters-Patent, 222

Statuta Edit. temp. Phil. & Mary.

4 & 5 Phil. & Ma. cap. Of Confirmation of Letters-Patent, 335

Statutes Merchant.

Upon an Extent of the Lands of the Conuſor of a Statute Merchant, they ſhall be delivered to the Extenders, if they extend them too high, 82

Suerty. See Bail.

Sunday.

Is Dies non juridicus, and where legal Proceedings done on that Day ſhall be void, 265

Superſedeas.

Where it ſhall be had, and where not, 49

Surpluſage. See Pleadings, Writ.

Surrender.

Where a Surrender to the King is not good without Matter of Record, 105
If he who is poſſeſſed of a Term for Years takes a new Leaſe of the ſame Tenements to commence preſently, this is a Surrender of the firſt Leaſe, 106, 107
Where, by the taking of ſuch ſecond Leaſe during the firſt, the Surrender of the firſt ſhall remain good, though the ſecond Leaſe be actually void, or be afterwards defeated by ſubſequent Matter, 107
Feoffment by Tenant for Years and by the Leſſor ſhall enure as the Feoffment of the Leſſor, and as the Surrender of the Tenant for Years, 140
Where an Eſtate made to commence after the End and Expiration of a former Leaſe, ſhall commence upon the Surrender of it, 198
Leſſee for thirty Years leaſes for ten Years, and both of them ſurrender by one Deed to him in Reverſion in Fee, how theſe Surrenders ſhall take Effect, and which ſhall precede, and which follow, 541

Suſpence.

Where a Thing once ſuſpended is diſcharged for ever, 36. 184
What Things the Law will not ſuffer to be in Suſpence, 280
That which is ſuſpended is not in eſſe for the Time, 419
Where a Term may be ſuſpended for a Time, and revive again, 420

Suſpicion.

One may juſtify Impriſonment for Suſpicion of Felony, without ſhewing any Cauſe of Suſpicion, 46

THE TABLE.

Tail. See Statute Weſtminſter 2. cap. 1.

THE Iſſue in Tail is reſtrained by the Statute de donis, &c. from aliening as well as the firſt Donee, 13. vid. 244

A Gift of Land to a Man that has a Wife, and to a Woman that has a Huſband, and to the Heirs of their two Bodies begotten, is a Fee Tail preſently, for the Poſſibility that they may intermarry, but the Tail is in Abeyance until the Poſſibility happens, 35

How many Eſtates Tail are expreſſed in the Statute de donis conditionalibus, 53, 251

What ſhall be an Eſtate-Tail within the Equity of that Statute, 53. 244. 248. 251. 541. [2]

The Miſchiefs and Injuries occaſioned at the Common Law by the Diſcontinuance of Tenant in Tail, 54

Where a Man after the Statute of 1 R. 3. and before the Statute of 27 H. 8. makes a Feoffment to the Uſe of himſelf and his Wife in Tail, and afterwards the Poſſeſſion is executed to the Uſe by the Statute of 27 H. 8. who ſhall now be adjudged in Law the Donor, 59

Where a Man cannot be the Donor of an Eſtate-Tail to himſelf, ibid.

A Fee-Simple in Poſſeſſion, and a Fee-Tail in Poſſeſſion, cannot ſtand together in one and the ſame Perſon at one and the ſame Time, 230

At what Time the Fee veſted in the Tenant in Tail before the Statute de donis, and of what Effect the having of Iſſue was, 233. 235. 239. 242. 245, 246, 247. 250

How the Death of Tenant in Tail without Heir of his Body ought to be pleaded by him who claims a Remainder upon the Tail, 233

What if the Donee at the Common Law had died without Iſſue, or if he had had Iſſue, and that Iſſue had died without Iſſue, or if at the Time of the Alienation he had no Iſſue, but after the Alienation had Iſſue, who had died without Iſſue, 235. 241. 245. 247

Where the Alienation of the Donee at the Common Law ſhould have bound his Iſſue, or the Donor, and where not, 235. 239. 242. 245, 246

At what Time Lands in Tail became forfeitable for Treaſon, 237. 251. 554

Where the Iſſue in Tail ſhall not be barred by the Alienation of Tenant in Tail in Mortmain, 238

Eſtates Tail were Fee-Simple at the Common Law, 239. 242

If Lands in Tail ſhall be charged in the Hands of the Heir for the King's Debt due by the Anceſtor, 240. 249

In what Reſpect an Eſtate to a Man and to the Heirs of his Body, before the Statute de donis, was greater than a bare Eſtate for Life, 241

If Donee at the Common Law had aliened before Iſſue had, Donor ſhould not have enter'd for a Forfeiture, ibid.

What was the Nature of that Eſtate at the Common Law which is now called an Eſtate-Tail, and what is the Nature of it ſince the Statute, 241, 242. 247

Where a Gift to one and to the Heirs Males of his Body, ſhall be an Eſtate-Tail, by Equity of the Statute de donis, 244. 248. 251

Every Tenant in Tail may ſuffer a Common Recovery, 244

To what Purpoſes the Inheritance was not conſummate in the Donee before the Statute de donis, until Iſſue had, 245, 246. 250

Where other Iſſue than ſuch as was appointed by the Gift might inherit the Eſtate before the Statute de donis, and where not, 246, 247

Where the Iſſue in Tail ſhall have a Formedon in Deſcender after the Statute de donis, upon an Alienation made by the Tenant in Tail before the Statute, and where not, 246

The Alienation of the Donee after Iſſue had at the Common Law was tortious and wrong, notwithſtanding it was permitted by the Law, 247, 248

How the Eſtate of the Donee became divided by the Statute de donis, ſo that the Fee-Simple remains in the Donor, and the Donee has a leſſer Eſtate than he had before, 247, 248. 251

An Eſtate-Tail is an Eſtate of Inheritance certainly limited, 248

Every Eſtate, which is within the Intent of the Donor, is an Intail within the Statute, as fully as if it had been preciſely expreſſed, 248. 251

Where the Eſtate of the Donee ſhould have deſcended to the collateral Heir at the Common Law, 250

A Gift in Tail to one and to the Heirs Females of his Body is an Intail by Equity of the Statute de donis, 251

The Eſtates-Tail ſpecified in the Statute de donis are only put there for Examples, ibid.

The Etymology and Derivation of the Word (Tail), ibid.

In what Reſpects the Eſtate and Power of the Donee in Tail is altered by the Statute of Weſtm. 2. ibid.

Tenant in Tail aliens the Trees growing upon the Land, and dies before they are cut down, the Alienee ſhall not cut them down, 259. 437

Where an Eſtate-Tail precedent ſhall not be merged by a Fee-Simple, 296

The Eſtate-Tail is amortiſed to the Iſſues of the Body of the Donee by the Statute of Weſtm. 2. 304

Where the Iſſue Male inheritable per formam doni ought to convey himſelf by Males, and not by Females, 414

Where the Eſtate given, upon which a Fine is levied by Tenant in Tail, being abſolutely defeated before the Proclamations paſſed, the Fine and all the Proclamations afterwards made are void, to bar the Tail, 434, 435

What Sort of Claim made by the Iſſue in Tail before the Proclamations paſſed ſhall be ſufficient to defeat the Fine and the Proclamations afterwards made, and what not, 435

Where a Fine with Proclamations levied by Tenant in Tail of another Thing than that which is entailed, ſhall not bind the Iſſue in Tail, ibid.

Where the Iſſue in Tail may aver Continuance of the Poſſeſſion againſt the Fine of his Anceſtor, and where not, 435, 436

Where a Charge made upon the Land by Tenant in Tail, ſhall not bind the Iſſue, 436, 437

What Acts of Tenant in Tail ſhall be avoidable by his Iſſue, and what not, 436, 437. 466. [14]

What Condition or Power of Alienation limited upon a Gift in Tail ſhall be good, 436

Where the Iſſue in Tail may falſify a Recovery againſt Tenant in Tail, and where not, 436. [14]

Where the Alienation of Tenant in Tail with Warranty ſhall bind the Iſſue, 436

Where the Feoffee of the Iſſue in Tail may have the ſame Election for the Allowance or Diſallowance of a Leaſe made by Tenant in Tail as the Iſſue had, 437

Where the Deſcent of a Remainder in Tail upon the Iſſue ſhall not be an Avoidance of a Leaſe for Years executory made by Tenant in Tail in Remainder by Fine, upon which the Proclamations were made after his Death, 430, 436, 437

Where the Entry of the Iſſue in Fine after the Death of the Anceſtor ſhall diſcharge and avoid Incumbrances made by him, 437

Where Proclamations upon a Tail levied by Tenant in Tail, being made after his Death, ſhall bind the Tail, and where not, 434, 435. 437

Where the Iſſue in Tail may plead his Remitter in Bar of a Scire facias by the Conuſee to execute a Fine levied by the Anceſtor, 437

Where the Tail ſhall be barred by a common Recovery with Voucher had againſt Tenant in Tail and another who has nothing in the Land, 514, 515

The Reaſon why an Eſtate-Tail is permitted to be barred by a common Recovery, 514

Where the Iſſue in Tail ſhall not be bound by any Eſtoppel which his Father admitted by joining in Voucher with one who has nothing in the Lands recovered againſt him, —— 515

Feoffment by Deed to one and to his Heirs, and if it happen that the Feoffee dies without Heir of his Body, the Land to revert, this is a Fee-Tail, 541

Tenant in Tail, the Reverſion in the King, makes a Feoffment, this does not diſcontinue nor diveſt the Reverſion out of the King, 552, 553

By the Common Law, a common Recovery againſt the King's Tenant in Tail could not diveſt the Reverſion out of the King, altho' the Iſſue in Tail was bound, 553

Before the Statute de donis there was no Reverſion of an Eſtate-Tail, but the whole was a Fee-Simple conditional, ibid.

A Uſe cannot be limited upon an Eſtate-Tail, 555

Where Tenant in Tail makes a Feoffment in Fee, what Eſtate paſſes thereby, 555. 558. 561, 562

Where Tenant in Tail makes a Feoffment in Fee, or where he grants over all his Eſtate, the Eſtate-Tail ſhall not be be in Abeyance during the Life of Tenant in Tail, and why, 556. 561. 563

Where Tenant in Tail, the Reverſion in the Crown, makes a Feoffment in Fee, to what Intent ſhall the Tail be ſaid to be in Abeyance, and to what Intent ſhall it be ſaid to continue in the Tenant in Tail, 558. 564

Where Tenant in Tail, the Reverſion in the King, commits Treaſon, the King ſhall have the Land in Nature of a Reverter, and not by Way Forfeiture, as he ſhall have it where the Reverſion is in a common Perſon, 559. 561

Where Leaſes or Charges made by Tenant in Tail, who is afterwards attainted of Treaſon, ſhall be void againſt the King, 560

That an Eſtate-Tail may be barred by a common Recovery is not now to be diſputed, [2]

A Uſe in Tail is an Eſtate-Tail by the Equity of the Statute de donis, [ibid.]

Warranty intailed by the Equity of the Statute de donis, [ibid.]

Deeds intailed by the Equity of the Statute, [ibid.]

Copyholds intailed by the Equity of the Statute, [ibid.]

What Offices may be intailed by the Equity of the Statute de donis, and what not, [ibid.]

Annuity cannot be intailed, [3]

Ceſtuy que Uſe cannot bar an Eſtate-Tail in Uſe by a common Recovery by the common Law, [ibid.]

The Statutes touching Pernors of Profits do not enable Ceſtuy que Uſe to bar the Tail in Uſe by a common Recovery, [ibid.]

Where an Eſtate-Tail ſhall be barred by a common Recovery where the Tenant in Tail comes in as Vouchee, [8]

Where an Eſtate-Tail ſhall not be barred by a common Recovery, when the Tenant in Tail at the Time of the Recovery is not ſeized of the ſame Tail, but of another Tail, or of another Eſtate, [ibid]

Where an Eſtate-Tail ſhall be bar'd by a common Recovery, altho' the Tenants to the Præcipe are not Tenants of the Land, [11]

Tales.

Tales awarded by Juſtices of Goal Delivery, returnable immediately, 100

Where before Juſtices of Goal Delivery the Tales along with the firſt Parcel may be ſevered, tho' the Venire facias was at firſt awarded jointly, ibid.

Tenant for Life.

If Tenant for Life makes a Feoffment, the Leſſor may enter for a Forfeiture, 241

Upon an erroneous Recovery againſt Tenant for Life Writ of Error lies, ibid.

Tenants in common.

A Grant of a Rent-Charge by two Tenants in common ſhall enure as ſeveral Grants, 140. 161. 171

Otherwiſe of a Reſervation by them, 171

If the King and another purchaſe lands jointly, they ſhall be Tenants in common, 239

Tenure.

Where the Donee in Tail of the Gift of the King's Tenant ſhall hold of the Donor, and not of the King, 237, 238

Where the King gives Land to a Man and to the Heirs of his Body, without expreſſing any Service, how the Grantee ſhall hold of him, 240, 241

Where a Man holds of the King by Reaſon of another Thing, as of a Manor, this is not a Tenure in capite, 241

If the King's Tenant makes a Gift in Tail, the King has Election to take the Donor or the Donee for his Tenant, but if he accepts the Services of the one, whether by this Acceptance he is eſtopped from taking the other for his Tenant afterwards, ibid. 249

Where the King's Grantee ſhall hold by Knight's Service in capite, tho' it be of Land which the King has in his natural Capacity, 242

All Lands are held either mediately or immediately of the King, 498. [13]

Teſtament.

The Intent of the Teſtator the principal Thing to be regarded in Teſtaments, 162. 413. 522, 523. 540

Teſtator preſumed in Law to be inops conſilii at the Time he makes his Will, 162, 163. 413. 540

How Teſtaments are reſpected and favoured in the Law, 185

Without an Executor a Will is void, ibid.

How long Teſtaments have been in Uſe, 280

To what Purpoſes a Teſtament ſhall be deemed a good Teſtament before Probate, 280, 281

The Effect and Relation of the Probate of a Teſtament, 281

At what Time a Will takes Effect, and is conſummate, 342

Where Wills ſhall not be conſidered according to the Date of them, but according to the Time of the Teſtator's Death, 343

Where the Will of a Feme-Sole ſhall be good, notwithſtanding her ſubſequent Marriage, ibid.

How many Parts the making of a Teſtament conſiſts of, ibid.

Teſtament, how defined, and of what compounded, ibid.

Where Wills which are bad in their Commencement ſhall not be good, ibid 344

Where Republication of a Will ſhall make Lands to paſs thereby which are purchaſed after the making of the Will, 344

The Intent and Effect of Wills is more to be regarded than the Form, ibid.

What ſhall make a Limitation, and not a Condition in a Will, 408. 412, 413, 414

A laſt Will compared to an Act of Parliament, 413

Where the Intent in a Will ſhall make Eſtates to paſs contrary to the Rules of the Common Law in Deeds or other Gifts, 414

Where the Law will marſhal the Words of a Will, and tranſpoſe Sentences and Eſtates, in order to preſerve the Intent of a Will, 523

Where the Words of a Will ſhall receive ſuch Senſe and Conſtruction as may beſt preſerve the Intent of the Teſtator, and make the Will to take Effect, rather than be void, ibid.

Where the latter Part of a Will ſhall repeal the firſt, when they are contrary to each other, 541

Teſtimony. See Witneſs.

Time.

Where the Time is iſſuable, and is Part of the Subſtance of the Matter, the Day ſhall be ſhewn in certain, 24. 27

Where the Certainty of Time ſhall be ſhewn in Pleading, and where not, 26

The Reaſonableneſs of Time ſhall be tried by the Diſcretion of the Juſtices, 30

Where Leſſee for Years of Leſſee for Life ſhall have reaſonable Time to avoid after the Death of Tenant for Life, ibid. 272

Where one is preſcribed to a certain Time, he ought to ſhew the Day of his Act certainly, 33

Where the Time ſhall be ſo material in Grants, that if the Thing can't paſs at the Time limited, it ſhall be void, 156

Where the Law allows convenient Time for the doing of Things, 272

Where Time being commenced ought to be continued without Intermiſſion, 371

Where a Miſrecital of Time ſhall make all void, 392, 393

Time for Life is in Judgment of Law larger than a Time for Years, 520

Tithes.

Where the Property and Poſſeſſion of Tithes ſhall be deemed in the Parſon before Seizure, to maintain Treſpaſs, 281

Where Tithes ſhall be paid of the Loppings and Toppings of Trees, altho' they are of the Age of 20 Years and more, and where not, 470

THE TABLE.

Title.

No Man's Title ſhall be tried between Strangers, where he himſelf is not Party, 54
Titles ought to be pleaded certainly, 56, 57
Difference between Titles and Writs and Declarations, as to Certainty, 56
A Title for Years is a Title, 83
If the Poſſeſſion of Land comes to him that has Title to it, it extinguiſhes or ſuſpends the Title, 88
In what Caſes Title cannot be made unleſs de puiſne temps, 89
How defined, 484

Toll.

Where the King ſhall be excuſed from paying Toll, and where not, 236

Traverſe.

Where he in Reverſion is received upon Default of Tenant for Life, the ſpecial Cauſe ſhewn is not traverſable, 52
Surmiſes not traverſable, 76
Where the Tenant ſhall traverſe the Seizin in Avowry, and where the Tenure, 94
The Quantity of the Thing is not traverſable in Avowry, but the Quality only, ibid.
In what Manner a Traverſe of the Tenure in Avowry ſhall be taken, where the Tenure is alledged to be of divers Things entirely, 95
How an Arbitrement ſhall be traverſed, ibid.
Where an argumentative Traverſe is not good, 104
Where a Traverſe cannot be taken to an imperfect Sentence, 123
Where Sentences which come under the Words licet, cum, tanquam, ut, tam, and quam, are traverſable, 128
Why the Words (licet ſæpius requiſitus) are not traverſable in Debt, ibid.
Where the Bar may be croſſed by the Replication without a Traverſe, 230, 231
A Traverſe ſhall never be taken to Matter of Law, but to Matter of Fact only, 231
Where a Thing immaterially alledged needs not be traverſed, 232
Where the King's Title is traverſed, he may maintain his Title againſt the Traverſe, or may traverſe the Affirmative of the other, 243
Where a Thing materially alledged in the Count ſhall not be traverſed in the Bar, 496

Treaſon High and Petit.

If a Servant kills his Miſtreſs, it is Treaſon, 86
If a Servant kills his Maſter out of his Service, upon Malice conceived againſt him whilſt his Servant, it is Treaſon, 260
Coining Money was High Treaſon at common Law before the Statute of 25 Ed. 3. cap. 2. 316
Killing the King's Meſſenger Treaſon, 333
Lands of Perſons attainted of Treaſon not veſted in the King by the common Law before Office found, 486
In whom the Freehold of a Perſon attainted of Treaſon ſhall remain by the common Law until office found, in the Life of the Perſon attainted, and in whom after his Death, ibid.
Where an Act is made to attaint one of Treaſon, and that he ſhall forfeit all his Lands, it is unneceſſary to put in a Saving of the Rights of Strangers, 487

Treaſure.

The Sinews of War, 315

Treaſure-trove.

In what Reſpect it belongs to the Crown, 242, 322
Theſauri de terra not Treaſure-trove, 322

Treſpaſs, Treſpaſſor.

Where a falſe Return of a Writ ſhall make the Sheriff a Treſpaſſer ab initio, 16
Where the Plaintiff counts of a Treſpaſs done Part in a former King's Time, and Part in the preſent King's Time, he ſhall alledge it to be againſt the Peace of both Kings, 38
Where the Leſſee ſhall not be a Treſpaſſer by coming upon the Land of a Stranger to pay the Rent, 71
Where the Obligor ſhall be a Treſpaſſer by coming into a Houſe to pay the Money, and where not, ibid.
What ſhall be good Pleas in Abatement of a Writ of Treſpaſs, 90
In Treſpaſs one may juſtify as Bailiff to a Corporation without Deed, 91
Where the Eſtate or Intereſt which a Man has in Land may be defeated ab initio, and yet he not puniſhable as a Treſpaſſer for the mean Profits received, 107
Treſpaſs does not lie for the Leſſor after the Breach of a Condition by Non-payment of Rent, and before Entry for the ſame, 138, 142
The Heir ſhall not have Treſpaſs before Entry into the Land deſcended to him, 142
Where a Leaſe is made for Years to commence at a Day to come, the Leſſee ſhall not have Treſpaſs before Entry, ibid.
Where Treſpaſs cannot be alledged after the Time that the Eſtate of the Party is determined, 143
Where Treſpaſs does not lie by the Patentee of Lands of one attainted of Treaſon, the Attainder being afterwards repealed by Parliament. and the Party attainted reſtored, 175
New Aſſignment in Treſpaſs, 253
If Treſpaſs is aſſigned before the Commencement of the Plaintiff's Eſtate in the Land, the Action fails of itſelf, and Colour needs not be given by the Defendant, 264
Treſpaſs is not maintenable by an Intruder upon the Lands of the Crown, 546
For what Purpoſes one may enter into the Land of another, without being puniſhable as a Treſpaſſer, [13]

Trial.

How general Baſtardy ſhall be tried, 14
Where the Deed of an Abbot and Convent ſhall be tried, if it be denied, 149
Of Trials per medietatem linguæ, 2

Uncore priſt.

WHERE to be pleaded, 291

Union.

Where the Aſſent of both Biſhops ſhall be to a Union, 497

Uſage. See Cuſtom.

Uſe.

The Diverſity betwen the Uſe itſelf in Land, and the Land to the Uſe, 44
Where one has an Eſtate ſolely in the Land or Thing out of which the Uſe iſſues, he cannot have any Uſe therein, ibid.
Two may have Land to the Uſe of one of them, ibid.
The Injuries occaſioned by the Introduction of Uſes, 53
He that recovers Land is never ſeized to another's Uſe, 54
A Uſe is an Hereditament. 58
There may be poſſeſſio fratris of a Uſe, ibid.
Where Ceſtuy que Uſe may be a Juror, ibid.
What is the common Form of pleading a Uſe, 79
A Corporation cannot be ſeized to a Uſe, and why, 103, 538
Where a Feoffment is made to the Uſe of one in Fee, who refuſes, it is as if it had been appointed to the Uſe of a dead Perſon in Law, or of an inanimate Thing, ſo that it is a Feoffment without Conſideration, and ſhall be to the Uſe of the Feoffor, 114
By the Deſcent of the Crown to one who is ſeized to Uſe, the Uſe is ipſo facto gone, for the King cannot be ſeized to Uſe, 238, 242
What are ſufficient Conſiderations to raiſe a Uſe in Land by Way of Covenant, and what not, 300, 302, 303, 305, 307, 309
By how many Ways a Man may raiſe a Uſe in Land to a Stranger, 301

What

What is a Uſe, 301, 352
What Remedy the Ceſtuy que Uſe has by the common Law to come to it,
Where a good Conſideration is requiſite to create a Uſe de novo in Land, and what ſhall be deemed a good and ſufficient Conſideration, 301, 302, 303
Who ought to have Benefit by the Conſideration and Recompence for the raiſing a Uſe, 302
Where a Uſe in eſſe may paſs without Conſideration, ibid.
Uſe in eſſe deviſeable, ibid.
The Statute of Uſes executes no Poſſeſſion, but where there was an Uſe before at common Law, 303
By how many Ways a Uſe may be raiſed at common Law, without Tranſmutation of the Poſſeſſion, ibid.
If the Marriage of the Brother of the Covenantor is a ſufficient Conſideration to raiſe a Uſe to the Brother's Wife, 307
Where upon Conſideration a Uſe may be raiſed to Strangers to the Conſideration, and where not, ibid.
Where a Uſe ſhall not be raiſed by Way of Covenant in the future Senſe, which is in the Diſjunctive, and incertain, ibid.
Where Uſes may be raiſed by Deed without other Conſideration, 308, 309
Nature a good Conſideration to raiſe a Uſe, 309
What Intereſt or Power Ceſtuy que Uſe has in the Land by the Common Law, 349. [3]
What Ceſtuy que Uſe may make a Feoffment within the Intent of the Statute of 1 Rich. 3. cap. 1. and what not, 348, 349, 350. 352. [5]
What Eſtates or Charges Ceſtuy que Uſe in Remainder may make, and what not, 350, 351
Where by a Feoffment over the new Feoffees ſhall ſtand ſeized to the firſt Uſe, and where by ſuch Feoffment all the firſt Uſes ſhall be diſcontinued, 351
Poſſeſſion not executed by the Statute of 27 Hen. 8. to a Right of Uſe, but to a Uſe in eſſe, ibid.
Where the Releaſe or Feoffment of Ceſtuy que Uſe after the Statute of 1 Rich. 3. ſhall extinguiſh the Right of the Feoffees, although there is no Uſe but only a Right of Uſe in the Ceſtuy que Uſe at the Time of the Releaſe or Feoffment made, 351, 352
Dangerous to make particular Eſtates of the Uſe ſubject to the Will of them in Remainder or Reverſion in Fee of the Uſe, 352
Feoffment of Ceſtuy que Uſe in Remainder reſts at Common Law, 351, 352
Where the ancient Feoffees re-enter upon the Feoffee of the Remainder-Man in Fee of the Uſe, to revive the particular Uſes, in what Perſon the Fee-Simple of the Uſe ſhall be revived, and in whom executed by the Statute of 27 Hen. 8. 352, 353
Where the Feoffees re-entered upon the Feoffee of Ceſtuy que Uſe, before the Statute of 1 Rich. 3. to whoſe Uſe they ſhould have been ſeized, 352
How a Feoffment or Grant of Ceſtuy que Uſe ought to be pleaded, 376
A Uſe cannot be limited upon an Eſtate-Tail, 555
A Uſe in Tail is an Eſtate-Tail, within the Equity of the Statute de donis, [2]
Ceſtuy que Uſe cannot bar an Eſtate Tail in Uſe by a common Recovery by the Common Law, [3]
The Statutes concerning pernors of Profits do not enable Ceſtuy que Uſe to bar the Tail in Uſe by common Recovery, [ibid.]

Venire facias.

Where upon a Surmiſe by one of the Parties that the Sheriff is his Couſin, and upon Prayer to have the Venire facias directed to the Coroners, the other Party ſhall be examined to the Truth of the Surmiſe, and where not, 74. 76
If upon an Indictment or Appeal againſt ſeveral for the ſame Offence, the Venire facias is awarded jointly againſt all, ſuch Jurors as are challenged by one ſhall be drawn againſt all, 100
Where the Juſtices of Goal Delivery may ſever the firſt Panel and the Tales, although the Venire facias was at firſt awarded jointly, ibid.
Never awarded to the Coroners without Cauſe ſhewn to take away the Direction to the Sheriff, 208

Verdict. See Jury.

What Credit the Law gives to the Verdict of twelve Men, 49
Where Certainty ſhall appear in the Verdict, 84
Where a ſpecial Verdict may be given, 92, 93
Where a Verdict finding that which is not given in Charge to them expreſsly, but by Incluſion and Implication, ſhall not be ſo much believed by the Court as the Verdict which is charged upon the expreſs Fact only, 97
Where a Verdict finding the Effect and Subſtance of an Indictment ſhall be ſufficient to maintain it, although it varies in Circumſtances, 98. 101
Where the Subſtance of the Fact, and the Manner of the Fact, are put in Iſſue together, if the Jurors find the Subſtance and not the Manner, yet the Judgment ſhall be given according to the Subſtance, 101
Upon an Indictment of Murder, the Jury may find that he killed him in his own Defence, ibid.
If the Jury find the Matter of Fact at large, and further conclude againſt Law, the Verdict finding the Matter of Fact is good, and the Concluſion void, 114
Where a Verdict ſhall not cure a Fault in the Declaration, 209
Where the Jury give a privy Verdict, and the Day following give an open Verdict in Court contrary to their privy Verdict, which of them ſhall be good, 210, 211
Why privy Verdicts are received and admitted, 211
Privy Verdict not looked upon as the Verdict of the Jury, until it is openly pronounced in Court, ibid.
Upon what Verdict given the Plaintiff ſhall be called, and may be nonſuited, and upon what not, ibid.
Verdict not of Force but when Plaintiff may be called and be nonſuited at the Time it is given, ibid.
At what Time the Jury may change or contradict their Verdict, and for what Cauſes, 211, 212
After privy Verdict, Jury remain in Cuſtody of the Bailiff until it is pronounced openly in Court, 211
Where after privy Verdict, and at their own Expences, the Jury may eat and drink, until, &c. ibid.
Where every Word of the Verdict may be true, and yet the Verdict falſe, 292

Vicar.

For what Purpoſe originally deviſed, 497

View.

Where View ſhall be granted in the ſecond Writ, when the Party after View abated the firſt Writ by Exception, and where not, 205

Villain.

Where a Villain regardant to a Manor may become in groſs, 104
In what Right the King having a Villain in Right of his Crown, or a Biſhop in Right of his Church, or an Executor as Executor, ſhall be ſaid ſeized of the Perquiſites of ſuch Villain, 235. 292
Free Land purchaſed by a Villain ſhall become Villain Land, 238
Where Latches of Entry or Seizure ſhall not prejudice the King of the Lands or Goods of his Villain, 243. 321, 322
Lord cannot ſeize his Villain in the King's Preſence, 323
Where Non-Claim of a Villain ſhall prejudice the Lord, 372
Where Claim of the Lord ſhall be ſufficient to deveſt the Property of Goods out of the Villain, and to veſt them in himſelf, 435
Where the Lord enters into Lands in Tail of the Purchaſe of his Villain, what Eſtate he ſhall have, 555. 557

Viſne.

Where the Town or Place where the Lands lie ſhall be ſet forth for the Direction of the Viſne, and where not, 337

Voucher.

If the Tenant in a Præcipe quod reddat vouches one of the Demandants, he ſhall ſhew Cauſe, 43

Where the Feoffee of a Purchaſer may vouch, notwithſtanding the Words of the Statute of Weſtm. 2. cap. 40. 47

He that counterpleads Voucher ſhall conclude to the Country, et de hoc petit quod inquiratur per patriam, 52

Huſband and Wife being vouched, ſhall be intended to be vouched in Right of the Wife, 103

What ſhall be a good Counterplea upon Voucher of Huſband and Wife, ibid.

If the Land be warranted to him in Reverſion, he ſhall vouch, 161

Where the Heir on the Part of the Mother ſhall be vouched, 445

How the Iſſue in Tail in a Formedon brought by him ſhall counterplead the Voucher of the Tenant, [4]

Where Vouchee enters into the Warranty, he is in of the ſame Eſtate and Intereſt as he was before, to all Intents and Purpoſes, [7]

Where the Father enfeoffs the Son and Heir with Warranty, and dies, the Son in a Præcipe againſt him may vouch the Feoffor of his Father, but he cannot vouch himſelf, [ibid.]

Where the Vouchee is not compellible to enter into the Warranty, when the Tenants to the Præcipe may abate the Writ, [12]

Where the Vouchee by entering into the Warranty ſhall eſtop himſelf to take Advantage of Matter, which he might have pleaded before in Abatement of the Writ, [ibid]

Wager of Law.

DOES not lie in Debt for Salary by one retained in Huſbandry, 122

Does not lie in Actions on the Caſe, 182

Wales.

When it became Parcel of the Realm of England, and ſubject to and ruled by the Laws of England, 121. 123. 129

How it originally belonged to the Crown of England, and how it became inhabited by the ancient Britons, 126. 129 131

Who was the firſt Prince of Wales, 126

The ſucceſſive Alterations made in the State of Wales, ibid.

How the Law of Inheritance ſtood among the antient Britons who inhabited Wales, 129

Where an Action lay in the Common Pleas here for a Thing in Wales, before Wales was annexed to the Crown of England by the Statute of 27 Hen. 8. but the Proceſs was not directed into Wales, but to the Sheriff of the adjoining County, 129, 131

How the Biſhoprics in Wales came to be of the Patronage of the Kings of England, 131

Wardſhip.

Where the King ſhall have the Wardſhip of Lands in Tail held by Knight's Service in capite, upon the Statute De Prærogativa Regis, cap. 1. 11

Where the King ſhall have his Prerogative of Wardſhip of Lands in Uſe, holden of other Lords. 59

Where the Guardian may be at Liberty to take the Wardſhip of the Land, or to diſtrain for the Seigniory, and where not, 230

Where the King's Tenant makes a Gift in Tail, and the Donee dies, his Iſſue being within Age, if the King or the Donor ſhall have the Wardſhip, 237. 241. 249

If the Ward is an Apprentice, the Lord may take him out of the Poſſeſſion of his Maſter, 259

Where the Heir being made a Knight in the Life of his Anceſtor ſhall not be in Ward, nor pay Value for his Marriage, 267, 268

The Reaſon why the Wardſhip of the Body and Land of the Heir within Age was given to the Lord in Chivalry, 267

Warranty.

Where a Warranty ſhall be ſaid to commence by Diſſeizin, 51

Lineal Warranty no Bar to the Iſſue in Tail without Aſſets, 127

Where upon a Grant of Land in Fee with Warranty, the Grantee ſhall not have in Value upon Recovery, without expreſs Words to that Purpoſe in the Grant, 243

Where a collateral Warranty ſhall be a Bar without Aſſets, 306

Where the Feoffor being vouched ſhall not warrant more than the Land was worth at the Time of the Feoffment, and where he ſhall warrant as much as it is worth at the Time of the Voucher, 323

If Vouchee enters into the Warranty without demanding a lien, none ſhall be received to ſay that there was no Warranty in Fact, [5, 6]

When Vouchee enters into the Warranty, he is in of the ſame Eſtate and Intereſt as he was before, to all Intents and Purpoſes, [7]

Where the Father enfeoffs his Son and Heir with Warranty, and dies, the Son in a Præcipe againſt him may vouch the Feoffor of his Father, but he cannot vouch himſelf, [ibid.]

Where the Vouchee is not compellible to enter into the Warranty, when the Tenants to the Præcipe may abate the Writ, [12]

Where Vouchee by entering into the Warranty ſhall eſtop himſelf to take Advantage of Matter, which he might have pleaded before in the Abatement of the Writ, [ibid.]

Warren.

Warren granted to A. in all his Lands in D. he ſhall not have a Warren in Lands afterwards purchaſed in D. 130

Waſt.

Where Waſt ſhall lie by the Equity of the Statute againſt him who holds ex legatione, 10

Where Tenant for Years ſhall be excuſed for Waſt done, 29

Where by his own Covenant one ſhall be chargeable for Waſt, which otherwiſe the Law would have excuſed him from, ibid.

Where he in Remainder ſhall have an Action of Waſt, ibid.

Where Grantee of the Reverſion of Tenant for Life ſhall have an Action of Waſt againſt the Tenant for Life, 159

A Houſe is Leaſed, ſo that the Leſſee may make his Profit of it, yet he may not do Waſt in it, 160

How the Writ of Waſt ſhall be, when brought by the Leſſor againſt the Grantee of his Leſſee, 192

In Waſt brought by the Grantee of the Reverſion againſt Tenant for Life, it ought to be ſhewn that the Waſt was done after the Attornment, 202

Tenant for Years or for Life not puniſhable for Waſt at Common Law, 247

Where Waſt of ſmall Value is not puniſhable, 329

Lies againſt the Deviſee of the Occupation of a Term for Years, 524

Why Waſt is not maintainable by Tenant in Tail againſt the Grantee of his Eſtate, 556

Where it lies againſt the Heir of a deſcendible Freehold, ibid.

Witneſs.

If the Common Law requires more than one Witneſs in a Trial by Jury, 8

Where the Party may have the ſame Advantage of the Knowledge of his Witneſſes, when they are impannelled on the Jury, as he ſhould have had otherwiſe, ibid.

Witneſſes not material in a Trial by Jury, for a Verdict may be given contrary to the Witneſſes, or without the Witneſſes, 12

Two Witneſſes neceſſary where the Matter is to be tried by Witneſſes only, as in the Civil Law, ibid.

Where the Witneſſes are joined to the Inqueſt, and they cannot agree together, the Verdict of the twelve ſhall be taken, and the Witneſſes ſhall be rejected, ibid.

Wreck.

Wreck of the Sea granted to a Man in all his Lands ſhall shall not extend to Land whereof he was disseized at the Time of the Grant, and into which he afterwards re-enters, 130

Wreck of the King's Goods shall not alter the Property of them, 243

Writ of Right. See Right.

Writ.

Where a Writ grounded upon a Statute, which gives a Cause of Action generally, shall be general as the Statute itself is, 51

Diversity between Writs and Titles as to Certainty, 56

Where one Part of a Writ shall be good, and the other Part void, and that which is good shall be sufficient, and the other Part Surplusage, 63

Where a Writ though bad, being an ancient Record, shall stand in Force until it be annulled by Error, 63. 64

Where the Recital of a bad Writ shall be according to it, 63, 64

What shall be a good Recital of the Return of a Writ, 64

Where a Writ given by Statute shall be made void by the Addition of other Words in it, 68

All original Writs are awarded out of the Chancery by the Chancellor, 74

The Power of the Chancellor concerning Writs of the Common Law is circumscribed and defined by the Common Law, and if he exceeds his Authority, or exercises it unduly, the Writ is abateable by Exception, ibid.

Writ abateable for Partiality in the Sheriff, ibid.

At what Time an original or judicial Writ shall be directed to the Coroners upon a Surmise of Partiality or Favour in the Sheriff, ibid. 76

The Chancellor cannot upon a Surmise change the proper Officer appointed to execute Writs, nor the Form of the Writ, nor the Jurisdiction of the proper Court, 74

Where in a Writ to remove a Replevin out of the base Court of the Lord, the Cause of Removal shall be expressed, ibid. 76

Before the Return of an original Writ, the Defendant has no Day in Court, 74

What is the most proper Time to find Fault with the Direction of a Writ to the Coroners, upon a Surmise by the Plaintiff of Cousinage in the Sheriff, ibid. 75

The Direction of the Writ is the Act of the King, and not of the Chancellor, 76

Where a Writ directed to the Coroners in the County of &c. shall be good, ibid.

Where the Intent in the Direction of a Writ shall be pursued, ibid.

Writs directed to the Sheriff are to the Sheriff of the County, and Writs directed to the Coroners are to the Coroners in the County, ibid.

The Register is the Foundation of the Law concerning Writs, 77

Where a Writ directed to the Coroners of a County, with an Exception of A. one of the Coroners at the End of it, shall be good, ibid.

Where in an Action on a penal Statute which gives one Moiety to the King, and the other to the Informer, the Writ is to answer as well the Lord the King as the Informer, &c. ibid.

Where a Misrecital shall abate the Writ, and where not, 83, 84

Where Writs shall be general without specifying the Certainty, when the Certainty cannot be known, 129

The Order in which Things are demanded in Writs, 169

Where Surplusage shall not abate a Writ, 199

Where a Writ may be good, though it does not pursue the precise Form of the Register, when the Truth of the Matter will not bear it, 199. 228. 229

New Form of Writs, or a New Register, cannot be made at this Day, 228

In many Cases the Writ shall be general, and the Declaration special, according to the Truth of the Case, ibid.

Where a Man shall not complain in his Writ of more Things than he has Cause, 229

Where it shall be a good Argument in Proof or Disproof of the Law to say, that there is no such Writ in the Register, 262

How Particulars shall be demanded in a Writ, 424

Where a Man has Title only to a Moiety, how he ought to lay his demand in the Writ, ibid.

Where two several Writs for the same Thing, and against the same Person, are returned at the same Day, both shall abate, [10]

Year and Day.

IN what Cases this Time is prescribed by Law, and where Non-Claim by a Year and Day shall lose the Right, 357. 372.

Dedit Deus his quoque finem.

ERRATA.

PAGE.

18. Line 28. after usual add in, and dele past.
29. at Catch-word, for continues r. construes.
36. in the Margin at Letter (h) for 168. r. 178.
55. l. 66. for J. M. r. J. S.
56. l. 56. after should add hold.
79. l. 29. dele it.
88. l. 62. for no r. any.
91. l. 33. dele not.
94. l. 14, 15, 36. for Tenants r. Tenements.
96. l. 19. for Propriety r. Property.
103. l. 33. for a r. the.
108. l. 37. after was add not.

PAGE.

121. l. 56. for 8. r. 6.
122. l. 10. dele not.
126. l. 1. for as r. is.
ibid. in the Margin at Letter (g), for Escheat r. Escuage.
167. in the Margin at the Head of the Case, l. 19. for Letter r. Equity.
176. l. 30. dele but.
203. l. 23. for this r. it.
239. l. 16. for Feoffee r. Feoffor.
278. l. 63. after is add not.
524. l. 49. for are r. in.
528. l. 20. for Induction r. Institution.

FH MVSEVM
BRITANNICVM